Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Time for paying is at heavy new federal finance the defense are necessary and government is preparing higher income taxes, lower personal expenses and perhaps place on payrolls to raise money. It was inevitable that the period of law-giving for public purposes would have to be a saner balance of columns with disbursements the country maintained a fiscal condition. It is to hurt. Incidentally hear little nowadays that school of New argument that recovery prosperity can be brought about by public financing that the country can have its cake and eat it, too.

Federal taxes are but the tip of the growing burden that America must pay. There are state taxes, county taxes, school taxes and taxes—taxes which will pile up into an impressive and a heavy burden on the productive capacity of the nation. Timely, indeed is the warning which is printed in last week's issue of the Texas Weekly's Digest, which the reprint:

Those who contend that increases in federal taxes are just ahead, making more than ever necessary that state taxes be held to the lowest possible level, are not engaging in talk. Two members of the senate finance committee—Senator George of Texas and Senator Taft of Ohio—agreed the other day congress might have to do existing personal income taxes and raise the corporation rate to 30 per cent to help finance national and British aid expenditures.

The agreement of these authorities on the federal picture should give us some idea of the state of affairs. The state of Texas is not alone in the federal government's individual income tax now is 4 per cent of net income above $2,000 for married persons and above $1,000 for unmarried persons. Senator George, ranking member of the senate finance committee, was quoted in a recent dispatch that the rate might have to be raised to 8 per cent.

The corporation rate is now 12 per cent on companies with a net income of more than $25,000 annually. The senator said that if it were increased to 30 per cent and the personal rate doubled, the government would collect at least a billion dollars additional each year.

He added that the next measure would be designed to raise between one-half and two billion dollars of new revenue. In addition to those levied by higher income taxes, he said, might be raised by excise, excess profits, and other "special" levies. Senator Taft expressed the view that the normal tax rate would have

Flood Rages in Oklahoma

Flooded street scenes in Picher, Oklahoma, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Picture shows flooded Picher, which was one of several towns isolated by high waters. Highway and train service both were disrupted. Heavy rains sent creeks and rivers out of banks inundating thousands of acres of land. (NEA Photo).

Ranger to Vote Third Time on Street Comm'r

RANGER, April 21 (Spe.)—The voters of Ranger will go back to the polls again Tuesday, April 22, in the third attempt to elect a street commissioner because of the 316-to-316 deadlock in the runoff election between Calvin Brown and V. V. Cooper, Jr.

The Ranger city commission, in a special meeting Saturday morning, canvassed the returns of the election held Friday, and declared that the race between the two candidates had ended in a dead heat and that another election would have to be held to determine the winner.

The city charter of Ranger provides that where a candidate does not have a clear majority over all opponents a runoff must be held not less than 10 days nor more than 30 days after the election.

In the regular election, held Tuesday, April 1, Cooper received 298 votes, Brown polled 294 and C. J. Moore, present street commissioner, received 134 votes, throwing Cooper and Brown into the runoff.

At the meeting Saturday morning the commission voted that another runoff must be held, and Tuesday, April 22, was set as the earliest possible date.

Other oddities in the election occurred, other than the tie. R. C. Stidham, voted in the first election on April 1 at 12 noon and cast vote No. 200. Friday he voted at exactly 12 noon and again cast ballot No. 200.

With less than one minute to go, and all votes counted, one voter cast ballot No. 632, which was another vote in making the election a tie. At the time the vote stood 315 to 316, though election officials did not specify which candidate was leading.

At no time during the day, election officials revealed, was the count more than seven in favor of either candidate, with the lead switching from one to the other many times during the day.

This is the second election year in the history of Ranger that a runoff election has been necessary.

Wool Market Hits New High Point

BRADY, Texas, April 21.—The 1941 wool market hit a new high mark here this week when Roddie & Company, local buyers, purchased the Harry L. Curtis twelve-months' clip for 43c per pound. The clip will come from 3,200 fleeces on the Curtis Z-Bar ranch in North McCulloch county.

Roddie & Company also purchased the twelve-months' clip of Corriedale cross wool from Tommy Brook at 46c per pound. This clip will be from 2,000 fleeces.

Bodies of Two Drowned Friday Are Recovered

CROSS PLAINS, April 21.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cavanaugh, missing since they left Coleman Friday afternoon were found late Sunday in their automobile, partially submerged in high waters of Pecan bayou, 18 miles southwest of here.

Not found, and presumably drowned also, was Miss Kayola Cavanaugh, about 30, their daughter. A party of about 200 persons was looking for her body Sunday night.

The car, with only its top visible, was discovered by two grandsons of the victims. The youths remembered that on a previous occasion, the Cavaughns had taken a short cut from Coleman to Cross Plains, which crosses the ordinarily dry bayou bed at a ford.

The new sedan was dragged close to the bank of the stream by a winch, and the bodies of the couple brought to a funeral home here.

Visited Hatchery
The Cavaughns and their daughter had left Coleman about 4 p. m. Friday after visiting a chick hatchery to make purchases for their farm seven miles southwest of Cross Plains.

Friends theorized that they took the short cut toward home, and headed into the ford without realizing the water was so deep. Hard rains had sent it on a quick rise.

The car had washed about 300 yards downstream from the crossing.

Miss Cavanaugh was thought to have drowned when she made an exit from the automobile and was unable to swim out of the swirling water. Persons living near the crossing said they heard screams Friday afternoon, but attached no particular significance to the outcry because they lasted only a few seconds.

Pecan bayou is one of the two main streams which flow into Lake Brownwood, 20 miles from the site of the ford.

Cavanaugh was about 70, and his wife approximately five years younger. They had resided near Cross Plains for many years, and owned considerable acreage.

Survivors include three sons and three daughters. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

Desdemona 4-H Club Boy Wins District Award

Bobby Revels of the Desdemona 4-H club was a district winner in the Extension 4-H poultry program, which entitles him to 25 baby beef type turkeys. The poult will be of the breed selected by Bobby and will be purchased from an outstanding breeder, according to John A. Wright, assistant county agent.

Each contestant was required to have been an active poultry member of a club during the previous year, and completed at least one full year of club work involving result demonstrations.

The contest was judged and the winners determined by the club delegate's record of club achievements, and his participation in club or community activities, such as exhibits, team demonstrations, judging contests, meetings, and community affairs in relation to the agricultural program.

Bobby, is 17 years old, lives on a farm, and has been in 4-H club work for five years. Most of his demonstrations were poultry, and he has always carried out a good one.

Colored Woman Shot to Death: Another Charged

A charge of murder was filed against Gertrude Williams, colored, in justice court here yesterday afternoon following a shooting in front of the Gertrude Williams home in north Cisco about 2 o'clock and the wounded woman, shot once through the left breast just above the heart with a .32 caliber revolver bullet, died en route to a doctor, investigating officers said.

Details of the shooting and the cause of it were not clear to the investigating officers. So far as could be determined this morning there were no eye witnesses other than the two women involved.

According to evidence adduced at the inquest before Justice W. E. Brown, the Smith woman was standing in front of the Williams home and after the shot was fired staggered across the street to her own residence before which she collapsed.

George Smith, husband of the dead woman, was in his home at the time. Bubba Grayson and Hopper Smith, two colored men, placed the Smith woman in her own car and drove to a doctor's residence, but she died en route.

The Williams woman went immediately to the city hall, where she surrendered to officers and handed them a .32 caliber revolver from which two shots had recently been fired. After charges were filed, she was placed in county jail at Eastland.

W. H. Hayes of Fort Worth spent the week-end here.

CIVIL STRIFE IN RUMANIA NOW RAGING

Iron Guardists and Regular Troops Fight Furiously

Refugees fleeing across the Rumanian border today told of fierce fighting in Rumania where troops of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard were fighting with Rumanian regulars. In some sections, it was reported, the struggle is raging at white heat.

The fighting started, it was said, when pro-Nazi Iron Guardists started a revolution apparently aimed at the overthrow of the government of Premier Ion Antonescu. The regular army, however, remained loyal and Premier Antonescu ordered its forces into action against the Guardists, whom he called "rebels."

It was predicted in London that the situation likely would result in complete Nazi occupation of both Rumania and Bulgaria.

Taken as Break

A strongly worded patriotic message from Antonescu Sunday to his people was taken as indicating a clean break with the axis powers.

The Rumanians were reported to have halted traffic along the Bulgarian and Hungarian border, with shots heard day and night by guards shooting anyone who attempted to leave the country.

Antonescu, in an Easter message (Sunday is the Orthodox Easter) spoke of Rumanian reverses and loss of territory, but declared: "Justice and God's love will save us and the Rumanian people will rise again for death."

He also said the Rumanian army was ready to fight and quoted an order of his army command that "It is the holy duty of the army to wipe out the shameful blot of 1940."

If the premier's message meant that he has broken with the axis, some Hungarians asserted he was running the risk of being crushed between the millstones of the Iron Guard and the axis powers.

Inflammatory leaflets strongly reminiscent of former Iron Guard writings again are being distributed by the thousands, Hungarian reports said.

Antonescu, who last week threatened immediate execution for terrorists after uncovering a plot to assassinate him during Easter week, published a decree requiring all printers to register with police every page printed by them. A five-year prison sentence was threatened for failure to comply.

The premier in his Easter message quoted an army order of General Jacobici, in which the commander-in-chief declared: "It is the holy duty of the army to wipe out the shameful blot of 1940. I am convinced every member of the army understands his duty and is ready to fulfill it."

One Rumanian newspaper commented the order, calling also for the army to blot out the shame of 1940.

The Hungarian press answered sharply that Antonescu could not invalidate by armed force the axis Vienna arbitration of last year, which handed part of Transylvania to Hungary.

Hungarian circles expressed the opinion that Antonescu was trying to divert Croat political unrest and increasing food difficulties into channels of anti-Hungarian revisionism.

Informed Budapest circles said the axis powers already are laying plans for a Vienna conference of southeastern European states after the Balkan war to make final decisions on disposition of disputed territorial questions as well as to promulgate a new order for the area.

British May Quit Greek Peninsula

There were well-founded reports in London today that the British were preparing to evacuate the Greek peninsula and withdraw their army to North Africa to continue the struggle against the axis. It was taken as a possibility that the British would remove as much of the Greek army as possible with them and that the Greek government would be removed to function in exile.

Athens admitted that the allied forces were falling back in the face of furious German assaults but denied that the defense line had been broken at any point.

Berlin asserted that the war in Greece had developed into a hot chase across the plains of Thessaly with the Greeks and British in full retreat.

In pieces, according to Berlin reports, the Greek army was falling to pieces, while the British were trying in greatest haste to reach ports.

Through Mountain Defenses
The German high command announced earlier that the Nazi forces had stormed through the British mountain defenses to Trikkala on the Thessalonian plains, while the Greeks on the west were falling back, apparently disbanding in some places before the Italian advance.

The commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said the British were heading for Lams and the ports of Volos and Khalkis.

It declared there was only one highway south of Larisa and the Nazi air force was concentrating its attacks on this road.

The words a second Dunkerque appeared with increasing frequency in the German dispatches.

Several reports told of Greek surrenders in company and regimental units. The supposition here of considerable confusion and disintegration among the Greek forces was based on the fact that prisoners represented various divisions.

Governor to Name Senator at San Jacinto

BULLETIN
SAN JACINTO BATTLEFIELD, April 21.—Gov. W. W. Lee O'Daniel today named Andrew Jackson Houston, 87-year-old sole surviving son of the liberator of Texas as United States senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Morris Sheppard until the June 28 election.

SAN JACINTO BATTLEFIELD, April 21.—Rain threatened to dampen the ceremony here today in observance of the 105th anniversary of Texas independence won at the battle of San Jacinto in which a force of Texans under General Sam Houston defeated a Mexican army led by Santa Anna.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel was to make the principal address at 3 o'clock under the shadow of the towering monument erected to the heroes of that battle.

BAKERS MEET HAS LARGEST REGISTRATION

Judge Coombs Appeals for Return to Simple Democratic Virtues

Civilization is at the cross roads with all the signs torn down, Judge Charles E. Coombs, veteran Stamford attorney, told the convention of the Independent Bakers association last night in an eloquent appeal for return to the ancient principles which made American democracy great.

The banquet, attended by more than 100 bakers and their guests, took place at the Laguna hotel at 8 o'clock last night.

"I am speaking," said Judge Coombs, "to one of the few organizations of business men in this country who are really independent. There is scarcely an industry in America which is really free in this day of governmental regulation and dictation. I congratulate you. It is up to you and the other business men and people of America to restore the signboards which have been torn down."

First Signboard
"The first of these signboards at the crossroads which America faces points the diverging paths of morality and immorality."

"Another that must be erected again if our civilization survives is that which points to the restoration of the sanctity of the home as the basis for democracy, rather than control of our social life and the training of our children as dependents upon government. Another would point to restoration of loyalty to the church and faith in God. I am not preaching you a sermon. I am merely talking facts. The church is really our protector. It is our insurance of life. And I do not speak this in terms of the hereafter, but in terms of this life. The influence of the church actually protects us against the murderer. It protects us against the thief and the criminal who would burn our property. It is the greatest insurance for an orderly and happy society that we have."

Spiced With Humor
The Stamford attorney, whose long career parallels the development of west Texas from days of savagery to the present, was roundly cheered as he appealed for a return to democratic fundamentals of simple living, work and self-dependence. His address was spiced with characteristic humor which sent his audience into gales of laughter as he employed anecdote and story to press home the points he emphasized.

He was introduced by E. H. Whitehead, toastmaster and manager of the Temple chamber of commerce, who is a former Ciscoan. Whitehead paid tribute to west Texas.

President Tony Beinhorn of Rosebud introduced Whitehead.

Entertainment for the banquet was arranged by the junior chamber of commerce under the direction of Neil Lane, committee chairman. It consisted of piano numbers by Mrs. Stanley Webb, a solo by Mr. Webb and readings by little Miss Mary Phillipot. Frequent encores were demanded by the audience, and for one of them Mr. Webb presented a male trio in negro camp meeting songs.

Biggest Registration
Registration at the convention, Mr. Whitehead told the banquet, exceeded that of any previous meeting of the comparatively recently organized association. Total registrations shortly before the banquet numbered above 100, including bakers, members of their families and representatives of allied trades.

The two-day session, which opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, will conclude with a business meeting, followed by a motion picture sponsored by Swift and company this afternoon. Winners in the bakers contest, displays of which are located in the blue room on the mezzanine floor of the hotel, were to be announced at this meeting.

The Bitter Lesson

EXPERIENCE may be the best teacher, but sometimes exacts a bitter, bitter price.

Fortunate is he who may see the experience of another, learn from it, profit by it, without paying all of the price.

Norman Angell spent a lifetime working for peace. In 1912 he won the Nobel prize for work of that kind. He can scarcely be cited as a war-monger.

What is the lesson of the past few years as Angell learned it? He has told it, in words fraught with all the bitterness of "it might have been." Hear him:

"Because we would not listen to the cries of Chinese children massacred by the invader, we have now, overnight, to listen to the cries of English children, victims of that same invader's ally."

"Because we were indifferent when Italian submarines sank the ships of republican Spain we must now listen to the cries of children from the torpedoed refugee ship going down in the tempest 500 miles from land."

No one, anywhere, has arraigned more bitterly than this Englishman the course of England in the past 10 years. If Europe, 10 years ago, had united to say "no!" when the first aggressions began in 1931 in Asia, and in 1935 in Africa, to say nothing of Spain, things might have been different. But today is today. Nothing is more hopeless than to turn back 10 years and sigh "If only—"

TODAY is today, and what is done today molds our tomorrows. What was not done 10 years ago, made today what it is. Today we mold tomorrow.

To turn back to yesterday is valuable only if, seeing the mistakes made then, we use that knowledge to avoid making them again today. Europe and the world turned a deaf ear to the cries of the victims of aggression then. Now had that world had paid a bitter penalty for its indifference.

Shall the rest of the world remain deaf until the lesson comes home to it as it has been taught to Angell and to his England?

The past is the past, and it is gone. Today is today, and on our resolute determination not to make again all those old fatal errors hangs the future.

Certain people we think of are all right in their way. The trouble is, they're always getting in ours.

Consider the postage stamp—it gets there by sticking.

Remember the old hymn, "From Green-land's icy mountains, from India's coral strand?" We never knew then that those were going to be the boundary of the American defense zone.

Funny, but it's possible to be a higher-up and pretty low-down, all at the same time.

The handwriting on the wall is still sometimes prophetic—of a looking for Little Johnny who put it there.

A pleasant smile goes a long way, and the best part of it is, it almost always comes back.

"Faster!"

U. S. and Canada To Collaborate in Arms Production

NYDE PARK, N. Y., April 21
— President Roosevelt and Canada's Prime Minister W. L.
Mackenzie King, declared Sunday night in a joint statement that they had discussed the most prompt and effective productive facilities and for assistance to Britain and other democracies and for hemisphere defense.

"It was agreed as a general principle," they said, "that in explaining the resources of this continent, each country should provide the other with a defense article which it is best able to produce, and above all, produce quickly, and that production programs should be co-ordinated to this end."

The decision was reached while King was a guest of the chief executive for nearly eight hours at Mr. Roosevelt's Hudson Valley home.

They said in their statement that it was hoped Canada, during the next year, could supply the country with $200,000,000 to $300-$400,000,000 worth of defense articles urgently required by the United States.

They mentioned certain kinds of munitions, strategic materials, ammunition and ships.
While technical and financial details remained to be worked out, it was understood between the two executives of the two nations that Canada would receive payment for the supplies as well as part of the cost of Canadian increase purchases in this country.

Canadian purchases, the joint statement said, would be even greater at the coming year than in the past.

"Trade in Canada's defense purchases in the United States amount of equipment parts to be used in equipment and munitions which Canada is producing for Great Britain," the formal statement said, "it was also agreed that Great Britain will obtain these parts under the lease-lend act and forward them to Canada for inclusion in the finished articles."

Warship orders have increased 40 per cent in number and 25 per cent in value since 1935. Congress reports that there are 17,000 various types of warships whose total cost is only slightly less than one billion dollars.

Club Boy Gets Shorthorn Calf

Billy Johnson, Eastland county 4-H club boy, has recently acquired a prize Shorthorn calf from Mr. Dow Miller of De Leon, according to John A. Wright, county agent.
Mr. Wright said the calf's sire and dam are both registered, and that many people believe the sire is a mutation because of his low set, compact, blocky type. Many people have seen his calves, and say that they have never seen Shorthorns so close to the ground as the calves from this sire, which Mr. Miller purchased from a Shorthorn breeder in Kansas to produce the type of cattle that the judges are desiring in the show ring.
Billy plans to enter the calf in several livestock shows and is dising a very fine job of feeding the calf, so he purchased a very good cure one and is feeding him a balanced ration.

IF YOU LIVE IN

West Central Texas

YOU'RE IN THE OIL BUSINESS

I am a farmer who knows what oil means to West Central Texas.

All of us who live in this section share in one way or another in the income which oil creates.

Nearly three and one-half million acres of our land are now under lease. Each year our lease and royalty income is an extra cash crop of over 6 million dollars.

Almost 30,000 residents of this area, including oil workers and their families, get their entire living from the petroleum industry. All told, this industry spends nearly 28 million dollars a year in West Central Texas.

This money is spent and respent until every farmer, merchant, business and professional man...in fact everyone...in our section gets his share of it.

Everyone living in West Central Texas today has an important stake in the oil industry and its future in Texas.

YESTERDAY Spud Delaney drove at the truck carrying the box as a saloonkeeper watches. A lot of his legs and falls, Carolyn, a home, suddenly tears a wrenching wail.

X-99 ON A KAMPAGE

CHAPTER II

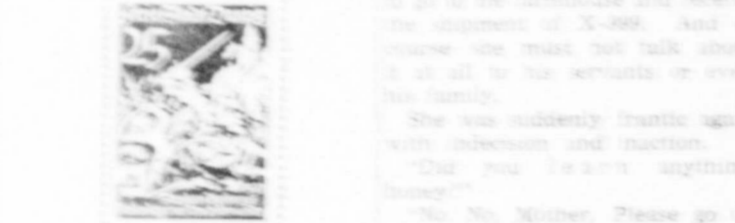

Frank asked Carolyn, had her mother?

"Yes," she said, "but mother called me 'Dad's girl'."

"The mother?"

"Yes," she said, "but mother called me 'Dad's girl'."

Violence

This picture catches all the meaning of the word "violence." A woman's scream is heard as she is pushed through the doorway.

Carolyn was startled when she saw the man in the doorway. She had never seen him before. He was a man of about 35, with dark hair and a mustache. He was wearing a dark jacket and light-colored pants. He was looking at her with a strange expression.

"Who are you?" she asked.

"I'm a man of business," he said. "I'm here to see you."

"What business?" she asked.

Bombs for Italy From Britain

Almost all pictures taken from attacking planes show only indistinct blurs for what is claimed to be bomb damage. This photo, just released by the British Air Ministry, is therefore unusual because it clearly shows what is happening to a military objective purported to be the great Caproni workshops at Mai Edaga, Italy. 1—bombs bursting on field and buildings; 2—hangars; 3—parts of damaged planes; 4—direct hits on Caproni workshops; 5—demolished store buildings; 6—ammunition dumps damaged in previous attacks.

Nazi Attacks Upon Tobruk Unsuccessful

(By the Associated Press) CAIRO, Egypt, April 21.—The Germans still vainly are trying to take the fortified Libyan city of Tobruk from its British defenders, a general headquarters communique said Sunday, and in the latest assault lost four out of a dozen tanks which penetrated the outer defenses. The other eight tanks had been destroyed, the communique said.

The German high command said today that planes dropped heavy caliber bombs on the port facilities of Tobruk and on other military objectives in the area on Friday night and again Saturday. Many direct hits were followed by great fires and heavy explosions, the communique said.

Fighting still went on in the area of Salam, the little post just within the Egyptian frontier. The British communique said British mobile columns and patrols "again caused the enemy serious losses and a number of prisoners has been taken."

Britain's Army of the Nile is preparing when the moment is ripe, a strong counteroffensive against the axis thrust into Egypt, informed British quarters said Sunday night.

marketed in excess of the marketing quota are subject to a penalty of 25 per cent, payment of which is not required if excess peanuts are delivered to an agency designated for handling surplus peanuts. The former, in this case, receives for his excess peanuts the price for oil, usually considerably lower than the market price for edible peanuts.

The quota will remain in effect only if approved by two-thirds or more of the peanut farmers in the referendum. The vote is for a three-year period, affecting the crops of 1941, 1942 and 1943.

O'Daniel Asks Prayers to Guide Senate Decision

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—Declaring he burned with desire to serve where he could do most good, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel Sunday asked the advice and prayers of the people of Texas in deciding whether to run for the United States senate.

He made the request in his regular Sunday radio talk from the executive mansion, at the same time reading the recent resolution of the house of representatives endorsing him for the senate vacancy caused by the death of Morris Sheppard.

Also read was his special message in reply to the house resolution in which he said action on fundamentals of his legislative program would enable him to make up his mind what to do.

He discussed the senatorial situation as it applies to him after noting that Monday is the 105th anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto and paying tribute to the heroes of that struggle to free Texas from Mexico.

"A momentous suggestion has been presented for me to decide," O'Daniel said. "I want the advice and suggestions and prayers of all my friends in making this momentous decision."

"Here it is, offered to me on a silver platter, as to speak," he said, "as I could have attained this great honor simply by resigning my office of governor, with the exception that the lieutenant governor, after becoming governor, would appoint me to the office of senator as he has done in other states."

The resolution had requested him to resign and accept such appointment.

Specs--

to be at least 8 per cent, and he said he would favor a 10 per cent rate. He also asserted that he would support an increase in the corporation rate to 30 per cent, and he agreed with Senator George that it might also be necessary to lower the present $2,000 and $800 personal tax exemptions.

Senator Taft predicted that expenditures during the fiscal year beginning next July 1 would approximate twenty-five billion dollars. "If we carry out Secretary Morgenthau's recommendation that we finance 60 per cent of current expenditures out of taxes," he said, "that means we will need at least five billion dollars of new revenue."

To raise such an amount, some new form of tax, such as a levy on sales or on pay rolls, would be necessary, he said.

Evidence mounts day by day that this is a time for the state government of Texas to make every possible effort to avoid the imposition of heavy new taxes. Texans must pay their full share of the cost of the defense program and of the cost of aiding the British. Wisdom dictates governmental economy here at home.

Togo Watched Japan Rise 'From Perry to Parity'

JAPAN'S navy backs up Nippon's bid for world power and the credit for building that navy to greatness rests largely upon the achievements of Admiral Heihachiro Togo, pictured on the stamp above.

Togo was six years old in 1854 when Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, representing United States, opened Japan's closed ports to world trade. At his death, 86 years later, Japan was seeking domination of the Orient.

Togo played a most important part in the development of modern Japan, remains one of the nation's greatest heroes. He entered the navy, was sent to England for training.

In 1894 he precipitated the Sino-Japanese war by sinking a Chinese troopship. He also established the Japanese policy of fighting undeclared war.

Admiral Togo's greatest victory was that of the Russo-Japanese war when the Japanese fleet he commanded defeated the Russian armada at Tsushima in May, 1905. Togo was hailed as the "Nelson of Japan."

King in Appeal

King George II, in the dual role of monarch and premier, called upon all Greeks Sunday night to defend their nation to the very end as British and Greek troops fell back before the massed charges of German blitzkrieg.

Just after completing a streamlined cabinet, the king-premier appealed "to the Greek people, to all who are fighting at the front, as well as to all who are contributing to the war efforts behind the lines, to remain united and steadfast, to carry on the fight for the country's honor and independence."

The king indicated he would continue in his twin capacity only temporarily and urged all Hellenes to help perform their supreme duty to the country.

"God save Greece," he said in conclusion.

The British abandoned Mount Olympus to the Germans in a retreat covered by heavy road guard fighting. To the west the Greeks also were reported falling back.

Informed British military sources acknowledged that the situation was serious, but declared that the allied forces were retreating in orderly fashion and maintaining an unbroken line.

The U. S. is the dunker's paradise, according to the census. Doughnuts, crackers and other fried cakes commercially produced amount to over 336 million dozens per year, valued at over $55,000,000.

Contrary to the popular conception, the number of wholesale establishments increased 25 per cent in the last decade, according to the census.

Apparel stores, including shoe stores, have increased 11 per cent in number and 23 per cent in sales since 1935, according to the census.

Fires from scores of municipalities, some 50 and 60 miles away, fought the Lakewood blaze and used dynamite to halt it.

Fifteen soldiers stationed at Fort Dix were injured when an army truck taking them to one fire overturned. Three thousand soldiers battled one major and two minor fires on the Fort Dix artillery range.

Fanned by forty to fifty-mile winds, fires for a time endangered the barracks at Fort Devens, Mass. Several homes were destroyed and many families forced to flee.

Six hundred Fort Devens soldiers joined fire fighters at nearby Leominster and then were called back to battle two blazes inside fort property.

Hundreds of acres were burned over in the Massachusetts fire.

The census reports that the average sized farm in 1940 was 174 acres—up 17 acres in ten years.
