AVIATRIX SAID TO BE MISSING

WHERABOUTS OF EDNA COOPER UNKNOWN; SEARCH BEGUN

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26—Edna May Cooper, 26, co-holder of the world endurance refueling flight record for women and former film actress, was sought by the police missing persons detail today.

Aid of the officers was asked last night by Mrs. Mary Cooper, who said her daughter left their Hollywood residence Tuesday and had not been heard from since.

Always Told Her

"Edna May has never remained away over night without telling me in advance," Mrs. Cooper said. "She said she was going to a downtown office, but when I called there at noon they told me she had not arrived."

Mrs. Cooper said the fact that her daughter wore a diamond ring and diamond studded wrist watch with a total value of $4,500 added to her fears.

Miss Cooper is the divorced wife of Karl Brown, motion picture director, and mother of Karl, jr., 8 years old. Bobbie Trout and Miss Cooper established a world endurance refueling flight record for women of 122 hours, 50 minutes here January 9 last.

TEXAS SOLONS FACING MAJOR RESOLUTIONS

HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE, ABOLITION OF TAX, OIL, UTILITIES UP

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 26—The legislature faced another busy day today but it promised to be dull compared with yesterday when the peak of the committee hearing period probably was reached.

Among proposals heard yesterday were the $200,000,000 state highway bond issue, abolition of the state ad valorem tax, the oil divorcing bill, public utilities regulations and a bill to legalize chiropractors.

Given Favorable Report

The senate constitutional amendments committee voted 5 to 2 to give the highway bond issue a favorable report. This was the first test vote on the proposal in either house.

Under the Woodul-Hubbard resolution, a limit of $200,000,000 would be fixed. Of this amount $100,000,000 or as much thereof as necessary would be used in reimbursing coun-

WEST TEXANS PROTEST BILL

OPPOSITION TO GRAVES BILL IS PRESENTED AT PECOS MEET

(By The Associated Press)

PECOS, Feb. 26—Nineteen counties and a great portion of West Texas were represented at a meeting here yesterday when 200 West Texas landowners organized in an endeavor to have the legislature validate mineral titles on lands purcased from the state.

The organization appointed committees to work for the defeat of the Graves Bill No. 612 in the house, which would provide that the state hereafter receive all revenue from minerals on lands purchased from it, and to seek passage of the Small Bill No. 310 in the senate, which would validate titles of landowners to mineral and grazing lands bought from the state.

K. M. Regan, who served as temporary chairman, asserted passage of the Graves bill would virtually bankrupt many West Texas land owners and indirectly affect every citizen of many counties in this part of the state.

THEIR DAYS IN CAPITAL NUMBERED

After March 4 many familiar faces will be missing in the senate as retiring senators return to their homes, either of their own volition, or through defeat at the polls. Among those who will depart are (1) Furnfold McL. Simmons of North Carolina, (2) Daniel F. Steck of Iowa, (3) J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, (4) Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, (5) Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, (6) Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, (7) Guy D. Goff of West Virginia, and (8) Coleman L. Blease of South Carolina. Simmons, Steck, Heflin, Ransdell and Blease are Democrats; Deneen, Gillett and Goff are Republicans.

Kallas Answers Senator Parrish On Eggs Charge

GUST SAYS GAS HIGH BUT IF SENATE SUPPLY WERE AVAILABLE HERE COULD GET RATES CUT; INVITES PINK HOME TO CHEAP EGGS

A semi-humorous resolution, offered in the upper house of the legislature at Austin yesterday by Senator Pink L. Parrish, of Lubbock, drew fire here this morning from Gust Kallas, local restaurant proprietor.

In his resolution, Senator Parrish, who at one time operated a restaurant in Lubbock, noted before his colleagues that hotel and restaurant men of Texas "are making the meager sum of 1,250 percent profit on the eggs which they serve."

The Senator noted that farmers were selling the eggs for from "seven to ten cents per dozen" and that cafe men were serving two eggs per order "for 25 cents, the cost of preparing the order not exceeding more than two cents."

Included in his resolution was the warning that "the time might come in the near future when it would be necessary to establish a state board or commission to look into this meager profit."

Not to be outdone by the Senator who is a personal friend, Restauranteer Kallas this morning composed a telegram, which read as follows:

"Senator Pinky Levi Parrish, An Ex-Restaurant Man, Austin, Texas.

"Gas high here, hens working full time. If we had Senate's supply of gas could get that reduction. Introduce gas bill then come home where raw eggs are cheap."

The message was signed by Gust Kallas.

PRESIDENT TO RETURN VETS LOANS BILL

QUICK ACTION SLATED FOR RE-PASSAGE OF MEASURE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Congress set itself for quick action today on President Hoover's veto of the veterans loan bill.

The message of disapproval was expected to reach the capitol late in the afternoon. Speaker Longworth determined to give consideration of the veto right of way other pending matters so the house could register without loss of time its determination to pass the legislation regardless.

Must Be Two-Thirds

If the expected overwhelming majority develops, the bill will be sent directly to the senate which in turn must line up two-thirds of its membership to override the president's will.

House consideration was slated first as the bill, permitting veterans to borrow up to 50 per cent of the face value of their compensation certificates, originated there.

Both senate and house proponents of the legislation were confident a crushing defeat would be handed the administration. The house passed the bill, estimated to cost the government $750,00,000 or more, on Monday of last week by 363 to 39. The senated brushed administration opposition aside with a vote of 72 to 12 the following Thursday.

Margin Too Great

Although a few votes may be gained by the administration as a result of the veto message, proponents were confident this swing would not affect the outcome. The margin above the needed two-thirds was too great.

Mr. Rogers' address here will not be of a technical nature but will be easily understood by the man who knows little of city planning and yet is interested in Lubbock maging up and carrying out such a program.

RAY LAWHON'S BODY CRUSHED LAST NIGHT

HOLD ON TRAIN SLIPS AND HE FALLS UNDER WHEELS IN YARDS

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, Feb. 26.—Disregarding the advice of a railroad officer and determined to reach his home near Post by the 'blind baggage' route, Ray Lawhon, 20-year-old Garza county youth, was killed here last night, his body ground beneath the wheels of the fast Lubbock-Dallas passenger train.

Young Lawhon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lawhon, of Garza county, left his home near the Pleasant Valley community, last Tuesday, going to Lubbock. After spending two days there he sought to return home by 'hooking a ride' on the night passenger train which he evidently boarded at Lubbock at 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Stopped By Officer

When the train stopped at the division point here, W. O. West, special Santa Fe officer, observed the lad and advised him to stay in Slaton for the night. He told the boy that he would se that he got a place to sleep.

When the train started up again at 10:40 p. m., Lawhon attempted to board it at a point opposite the Santa Fe reading room. A jerk of the train sent him beneath the wheels to almost instant death.

Funeral Today

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock today at Southland, 10 miles southeast of here and interment will follow in the cemetery there. The youth is survived by his parents and seven brothers and sisters.

The Lawhon family, after residing in Garza county for a number of years, moved to Terry county more than a year ago but returned to live near the Pleasant Valley community several weeks ago.

G. O. P. PLANS HOUSE RULE

INDEPENDENTS TO BE ABSENT TONIGHT IN FIRST SESSION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Ranks thinned by the purposeful absence of independent-minded members, the Republicans of the house will meet in caucus tonight to select candidates for offices in the next congress.

The independents, mostly from western states, want a free hand next December, are unwilling to commit themselves now to the present Republican leadership, and are determined to gain greater recognition for their group.

Those Due For Offices

Among the regulars as meeting time approached there was no sign of opposition to Nicholas Longworth of Ohio for renomination as speaker. He has held the chair for six years. The other officers also appeared slated for renomination without opposition: John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, floor leader; William Tyler Page, clerk; Joseph G. Rodgers, sergeant at arms, and Bert W. Kennedy, doorkeeper.

The independents have not entirely rebelled against this leadership but the significance of their abstentations lay in the close margin between the Republicans and Democrats in the next house. In a block, that dozen or fifteen votes could elect either slate or force a compromise on the ticket or in committee selections. They have given no sign, however, of wishing to join the democrats.

Owners Of Property Confiscated Sought

Lubbock police today are searching for owners of supposedly stolen property, which was confiscated Wednesday night when a 20-year-old Lubbock man was arrested here and lodged in the city jail. No charges have as yet been filed against him.

When arrested the man had a suitcase in his possesion which contained a large number of articles thought to have been taken from homes.

Included in the lot are several watches, watch bands, rings, lockets, pens and pencils, purses, a 38 automatic pistol and a quantity of foreign coins. One pencil bears the initials R. A. H. while another bears the name B. E. Norris.

Anyone missing any such articles is requested to call at police headquarters and identify them.

NEW METHOD OF DETERMINING AGE OF EARTH IS BEING PREPARED

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 26 (AP)—A new method of reading the earth's age by counting certain peculiar layers in her crust, just as tree rings are read, is in preparation here.

The layers are "varves," the geological name for thin annual earth deposits laid down many thousand years ago by the glaciers. The reader is Prof. A. E. Douglass, director of Steward observatory of the University of Arizona.

In one of the most amazing feats of modern science Douglass discovered a method of tree ring reading that identifies trees which were growing when the pyramids were building, that tells the dates of constructing prehistoric wooden houses of the American southwest, that identifies even the drouth years of past ages.

Now he proposes to apply this method to the varves. He has spent much time studying these deposits with their discoverer, the famous Swedish professor, De Geer.

LIQUOR RAIDS IN PHILADELPHIA AND NEW YORK NET BIG HAULS; THOUSAND PHYSICIANS AND FOUR HUNDRED DRUG MEN UNDER INVESTIGATION IN NEW YORK RUM SYNDICATE

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—The Manufacturers' club, one of Philadelphia's most exclusive institutions, was raided early today by a special police detail personally directed by Major Lemuel B. Schofield, director of public safety, a member of the club.

Armed with a warrant issued by Magistrate Edward P. Carney, the raiding party entered the club shortly before two o'clock. In a suite of rooms on an upper floor, Director Schofield said, he found a regular old fashioned bar, and about 100 lockers, many of which contained liquor.

Manager Is Held

From the lockers and bar the raiders said they removed between 500 and 800 quarts of liquors, including cordials, champagnes, rye, scotch and gin. The manager of the club, August Bolli, was arrested on a charge of possession.

Immediately after the raid Director Schofield tendered his resignation as a member of the club and issued the following statement:

"The only way to enforce the prohibition law is to arrest the big fellow along with the little fellows. To the police, Broad and Walnut

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Suspected of conspiracy in what federal authorities called the largest liquor-prescription syndicate ever uncovered, 1,000 physicians and 400 druggists were under investigation, today.

Directed by Horace J. Simmons, special treasury agent, 100 agents made 14 simultaneous raids on 12 drug stores, an office building and a hotel yesterday and arrested more than 30 men. Signed prescriptions totalling 1,432 were seized in the apartment of Nathan Bernstein.

Eleven prisoners were taken at the headquarters of the syndicate in Union Square. Twelve druggists and employes were arrested at their stores in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. Morris Sweetwood, an ex-convict, was arrested at the hotel Alba. Small quantities of liquor were confiscated at each place.

The complaints named 47 physicians as conspirators. Additional names of physicians and druggists will go to a federal grand jury. Simmons said the syndicate had transacted a business of $3,000,000 a year for the last six or eight years by diverting medicinal liquor through the illegal use of prescriptions.

The chickens, he said, apparently picked their roosting place where he was delivering some cattle to a farm house near Norris, S. D.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

HAPPY CHILD HOLDS SELF CORRECTLY

YOU AND I have been guilty of saying to the child of five or of fifteen, "Sit up" or, "Don't stand that way." It made us feel better to issue such commands. It relieved our conscience, suggesting to us we had done our duty to the child. Incidentally, it reminded us of our power and importance. The trouble is we have had an unintelligent conscience and a feeble-minded sense of power.

You and I may keep on "hollering our heads off" at our children to improve their posture, with no result except to make their posture worse and lessen their respect for us.

When the toddler or adolescent feels well and comfortable and full of vim, when he is happy, when the world looks bright and promising to him, and when he feels awareness of his personality as a worthy one among this family and his comrades, he holds up his head, stiffens up his spine, pulls his stomach in, and practically always sits and stands and walks erect.

When we nag at him continuously about anything, we create in him an uncomfortable attitude, make him feel less worthwhile, less optimistic toward himself and toward the world; and, therefore, more inclined to slouch.

Any child who is not tip-top physically, who is not well nourished, who is underweight, who meets continuous discouragements in his work or play who has many emotional conflicts, and is forever being supervised and disciplined, almost surely has had posture. Bad posture is one of the first signs of malnourishment or nervousness or bad adjustment to his family and playmates.

When, therefore, you find your child habitually sitting, walking slouchily, say nothing to him about posture. First go with him to your physician to make sure about his physical welfare. This guaranteed, study his habits and emotional expressions. See that you avoid all unnecessary annoyances to him and work out ways of helping him acquire more happiness through more successes in relation to his home conduct, his work at school and his contacts with other children. All the while keep wholly quiet about posture, except to compliment him for all evidence of good form. Avoid such destructive comments as "Why don't you always stand that way?" or "I wish you would learn to walk and stand as Martha does".

Said a psychologist to me the other day: "A year ago I found myself suggesting to my adolescent boy that he should try to keep his head and shoulders up. I guess I repeated the suggestion several times. Always my remarks seemed merely to annoy him.

"In the meanwhile numerous good things have come his way. He has been selected in his school as student director of intra-mural sports, elected to High "I" and to the National Honor Society, and has become the captain of his church basketball team.

"What a change has come over him! I wish I might emulate his posture now. So far as I can figure out, the difference has been wholly psychological."

In proportion to population, more patents are issued to Swiss inventors throughout the world than to residents of any other nation.

Friend Hubby Just Sits By Silently

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. (AP) — Silence from friend husband and lots of it may win bridge games.

Mrs. Trudie Fennish, crowned as champion woman bridge player of the Chicago area last night, gave the tip to a curious reporter.

"Does friend husband ever criticize your plays?" she was asked.

"Absolutely not," she replied. "He'd no more tell me how to play bridge than I'd tell him how to run his law business."

And there may be something to it for Robert W. Halpin, the man champion, said the same thing about his better half.

"She," he said, "just sits by—silently."

BANDITS MAKE BIG HAULS

SEVENTEEN MEN TAKE $85,000, FROM FOUR BANKS WEDNESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Seventeen bandits harvest about $85,000 in four bank robberies yesterday at Hastings, Neb., Dayton, Ohio, New Orleans, and Burlington, Wis.

The robberies at Hastings and Dayton took place early in the day. Three bandits entered the Hastings bank at 6 a. m. and bound and gagged 13 officers and employes as they appeared. The 13 all had been taken to the basement when the time lock on the bank's safe opened at 8:45. The robbers scopped up $27,173 in gold, silver and currency and fled.

Just As Bank Opens

The holdup at Dayton came 10 minutes after the bank opened. Three men entered the central branch of the Union Trust company, forced employes into a rear room and escaped with between $18,000 and $20,000.

Five men robbed the bank of Burlington at Burlington, Wis., using a machine gun. They took between $10,000 and $12,000.

At New Orleans police chased the three hooded bandits who, with a confederate in the car, were escaping, taking $26,000 from the St. Roch branch of the Whitney Bank and Trust company. Several shots were fired in the chase, one pedestrian was hit by a wild shot, but the robbers escaped. Shots were exchanged over a quarter of a mile.

People in the narrow streets dropped to safety from the flying bullets. The pedestrian who was hit was not seriously hurt.

Thought For Today

I know that my redeemer liveth.—Job. 19:25.

We are made partakers of the redemption purchased by Christ, by the effectual application of it to us by His Holy Spirit.—Westminster Catechism.

Incurious

In a little middle-western town there lives an old man named Benjamin Silvernail, whose claim to fame is surely one of the most unusual in all America.

Benjamin Silvernail is 83. He has spent all of his life in or near this town. Thirty miles away is one of America's greatest cities—a busy place of more than a million inhabitants. But Benjamin Silvernail has never visited it, and he says he never will.

"I never had any business there," he said resently, when someone asked him why, with the city so near, he had never gone there.

This, surely, is as odd a record as any American can claim. Nowhere has the city been such a magnet as in this country. It has pulled men from farm and village by the million. It has overtaken, and all but wrecked, the rural society on which the nation was founded. It has become America's supreme achievement, in some ways, and it has bred a race of restless, eternally-curious folk who are always moving, always ready to be uprooted.

But here, 30 miles away from one of the greatest of these cities, is an old chap who simply hasn't bothered to go and see what the city is like. The idea just don't appeal to him. He will take all of the city's marvels on somebody else's evidence. Progress and change don't interest him.

There is a kind of existence, close to the soil, that has no eyes for anything else; a vegetative, placid, incurious sort of life is content to let its horizon be limited by the nearest range of hills. But while we who are used to cities tend to look down on that kind of life as if it were somehow bovine and stupid, it may be that our lofty condescension is a bit misplaced.

After all, the modern city, even in America, is not quite a heaven-on-earth. There are times when even the most enthusiastic city dweller has to admit that the city is a poor sort of place to live. The open country can be dull and monotonous, but at least it does not rush a man into old age before he quite realizes that his youth has passed. It permits a man to realize his kinship with the living earth. It lets him partake of the ever-recurring miracles of opening bud and unfolding leaf.

It is quite posible that this Benjamin Silvernail is not nearly as eccentric as we might suppose.

Lost

The greatest defeat of the short session of Congress is the fact that many meritorious bills fell of passage simply because the shortage of time prevents them from getting a hearing.

A case in point is the bill now pending to repeal the war-time espionage act. This act—an emergency war measure—is still a law, although inoperative except for a section which gives the Postoffice Department the power to exclude from the mails any matter it considers seditious. Senator Walsh of Montana has introduced a repealer, which the Senate has passed; but the extreme congestion of the House calendar makes it probable that the repealer will simply die of neglect.

It would be a good thing for the country to get this law off its statute books. It is a pity that the legislative jam which is an inevitable accompaniment of the outmoded short session is apt to prevent its passage.

A scientist says that a man's energy is worth a cent an hour. That's what we thought after we saw our first heavyweight fight.

Pre Evind Svinhuvud has been elected president of Finland. And there, as the Pines are saying, is a name to conjure with.

A writer asks what the scrawls on a telephone pad mean. Probably that the operator is having difficulty getting the number.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says her boy friend is thinking of going into the coffee business—learning it from the ground up!

A LUBBOCK teacher was testing the powers of observation in one of her classes.

Slapping a half-dollar sharply on the desk, she asked sharply,

"What's that?"

And a little boy in the back of the room jumped to his feet and yelled:

"It's tails!"

The Plainsman has a letter on a matter that he's heard about before—not only heard about it, but has had some first hand experience. The letter is about high school football sweaters and wearing them in college, and reads as follows:

"Dear Mr. Plainsman: Tech college football boys have some inferior rule which says the boys with high school sweaters must cut the letter off of their sweater or leave them at home.

"I fought several years for the Westerners. I fought my heart out against Amarillo, Wichita Falls, etc., but since I started to Tech college I have had to discard my sweater which I love and am very proud of.

"What is the use to have a sweater that you have won and cannot wear?

"I think something should be done about this.

"A True Westerner."

It's mighty hard, there's no doubt about that, for a boy to win a football sweater and then not be allowed to wear it. But the idea of the rule at Tech—and every college The Plainsman knows anything about has a similar rule—is to teach the boys allegiance to Tech alone.

BACK more years ago than he likes to admit, The Plainsman faced a situation like 'True Westerner' is facing now. And there wasn't anything to do but take the letter off the sweater and like it. The college in question was the University of Oklahoma and permitted on its campus only letters from schools of equal standing.

The rule further said that high school sweaters could not be worn on the campus, which gave the boys their opportunity to wear them when visiting in their own home towns. Boys who lived in the town where the university was located were permitted to wear their sweaters, but not on the campus.

A fellow who had won a football letter at University of Texas and had transferred to Oklahoma, was permitted to wear his varsity 'T'. But transfers from teachers' colleges, junior colleges and the like were not granted the privilege.

PERHAPS the Lubbock boys at Tech can make a trade with the varsity men to make the rule so they can wear their sweaters off the campus. But don't feel hard toward the Matadors, 'True Westerner', because the idea is a good one and unless you had chosen some unimportant college you'd had to keep the same rule—no matter where you were.

That Man on Avenue Q says those who don't put anything aside for a rainy day will have a hard time keeping their heads above water.

IT LOOKS like the people of Chicago like this gang war business. You could have knocked The Plainsman over with a feather when Big Bill Thompson was renominated over a man like Judge Lyle. Nobody in the Southwest thought Big Bill had a Chinaman's chance and then he up and got renominated.

Well, it's no skin off The Plainsman's nose and if the folks up that way want to go on having booze wars, bombings and machine-gun murders, that's their business. But it does seem to be something to hang one's head over—when America's second largest city chooses to approve that kind of government.

When a husband puts his foot down he generally finds that he hasn't a leg to stand on.

MEBBE the preference of gentlemen hasn't anything to do with it but the Philadelphia Hairdressers association is out with the announcement that women are dyeing in huge numbers—women who have never dyed before.

* * *

"Hardly a woman now-adays leaves her hair as it is", explained the president of the organization. "They either touch it up, dye it or bleach it. Brunettes become blondes but blondes never become brunettes."

The Plainsman hasn't any idea why the ladies want to look differently from what nature intended but if they want to do it, there's nothing that can stop them. And if it will make 'em look any better, let 'em have it. This writer is one male who admits being an admirer of feminine pulchritude and instead of joining the anvil chorus against beauty parlors, cosmetics, rouge and powder, is highly in favor of all of them.

There is nothing in the world prettier than a pretty, well kept woman—and fewer things uglier than a slovenly, careless woman. The Plainsman doesn't mean that a woman has to spend a lot of money on herself to stay out of the latter class but personal care certainly does help.

"Without-Or-With, Offense To Friends Or Foes, We Sketch Your World Exactly As It Goes"—Byron

Many Government Officials, From Cabinet Members On Down, Now Do Their Traveling By Plane; Young Leader

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A not inconsiderable portion of the government is now accustomed to traveling about by air.

In the cabinet, in the "little cabinet" of assistant secretaries in Congress and generally among several of the government departments are found officials who do most or nearly all of their traveling by plane. Those who pilot their own machines are usually found in the War, Navy and Commerce departments, to which are assigned about all of Uncle Sam's aircraft.

The aeronautics branch of the Commerce Department, which has supervision and regulations of civil aviation, has about a hundred pilots on its staff and there is no official more air-minded than Assistant Secretary of Commerce Clarence M. Young, head of the aeronautics division. Young goes everywhere by air, flying a modern single-engine plane of about nine hours' cruising range and a speed of about 140 miles. He usually flies alone.

Has Flown 30,000 Miles

The other day he flew down to Florida. Not long ago he flew a Canadian ship from Ottawa to Montreal, the temperature of 23 below zero contrasting with about 70 above in Florida. Young has been flying for 14 years, including war service, and last year made about 30,000 miles in the air.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who recently flew to Topeka for a speech, makes most of his official trips by air. He doesn't take off or land, but likes to take the controls and pilot the ship while flying well above ground. Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne also travels mostly in an army plane.

High officials in the army and navy air forces, perhaps naturally enough, usually are veteran flyers who almost live above ground.

F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aeronautics, is an old army flyer. He cracked up while training in war time and his feet still bother him to the extent that he usually carries a pilot who can take the controls if necessary. Early in February he flew to New York to attend a dinner and returned the same night by train. Acout once a week he drives over to Bolling Field for an aerial spin, in case official duties have not been taking him out of the city.

Generals J. E. Fechet and B. D. Foulois, chief and assistant chief of the army air corps, fly everywhere, of course. Foulois was the original army pilot. The Wright brothers built the army a plane in 1908 and Congress voted $300 for its fueling and maintenance during experimentation. It was Foulois who took it to Texas to find out what it could do.

The navy's most prominent flyers are Assistant Secretaries Ernest Lee Jahncke and David S. Ingalls and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, head of the aeronautics bureau. Ingalls, assistant secretary for air, was the only American naval ace in the World War. He brought down five planes along the North Sea coast as a member of a bombing group.

Last fall he flew by himself to San Diego and is now attending the maneuvers at Panama, having been flown first to Miami and then to the Canal Zone. Palmcke is not a pilot, but uses planes to get places and has flown from Washington to his home in New Orleans and to the Pacific Coast.

The outstanding congressional flyer is Representative Melvin J. Maas of Minnesota, who served as a marine aviator in the war and is a major in the marine corps reserve. Maas was a "guest pilot" of Pan-American airways on a trip to Central America during the Christmas holidays, but he generally uses an army plane with a pilot and customarily goes by air when returning to his home in St. Paul.

LaGuardia Was War Flyer

Congressman LaGuardia of New York, another war pilot, also flies frequently, but no longer pilots. Senator Bingham of Connecticut, deeply interested in military aviation, also has flown considerably but has not been off the ground since he attended last summer's air races. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania demonstrated a fondness for travel in government planes when he was secretary of labor. Congressman W. Frank James of Michigan, chairman of the House military affairs committee, is frequently flown on official business.

Members of Congress are still able to ride in government planes but do not take as many by rides as they used to. In a nice way, the War and Navy departments have encouraged them to use the commercial air lines so that the service pilots may fly on their own.

Theoretically, army and navy planes are now used by members of Congress only for official business. It is necessary to obtain permission from the secretary of war for an army plane. After Congressman William Kirk Kaynor of Massachusetts was killed while being taken away for a vacation in an army plane the demand from Congress for free trips dropped off decidedly.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 5 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Associations, 1433 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Hygiene of Women," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

BOOK TELLS PRINCIPLES OF SCIENCE

No one can begin to know about the human body and its management in health and disease unless he knows something of the fundamental principle of the basic sciences. For this purpose I recommend a thoroughly up-to-date book by H. G. Wells, Julian Huxley and G. P. Wells, called "The Science of Life."

Dr. Clendening

To begin with, I like the title, "The Science of Life," rather than the more formal, and now overused word "biology."

It indicates the avoidance of technical terms and scholastic airs characteristic of the contents of the book.

It is an account of life processes sufficiently comprehensive to meet the needs of any person even of the broadest modern culture. It is the most complete work of its kind I have ever seen, and contains the meat of a dozen volumes.

Thomas A. Edison is recently quoted as saying that it seems very hard nowadays to find a good doctor.

An astonishing statement! We are supposed to be better off for doctors than we ever were. About 25 years ago Dr. Abraham Flexner, who has just published a book on "Universities" revolutionized the teaching of medicine in the United States. His report caused all the little medical schools with insufficient equipment to shut up shop. American medical schools were all remodeled on the plan of Johns Hopkins or Harvard. The amount of money spent on medical education in the interval has been staggering. Bequests of 15 or 20 millions of dollars on the medical schools of such places as Vanderbilt university, Columbia, Californit and Leland Stanford have become commonplaces.

Thousands of physicians from such institutions are put into circulation every year. And yet Mr. Edison says it is hard nowadays to find a good doctor. What have the medical faculties to say about this?

Is is possible that the machinery of medical education today has been made too elaborate? That such schools turn out merely research workers and dreamers?

Mr. Edison has always been distinguished for two qualities—the ability to see and voice a general need, and a strong grasp of the practical requirements of a situation. What he says cannot be ignored.

Questions From Readers

Mrs. C. S., Ohio: "Can a woman safely give birth to a healthy child for the first time at forty?"

Answer: Certainly. I once attended a woman who married late in life and contributed twins to the world at the age of forty-two. Medical history records some remarkable cases. The Cincinnati Enquirer, in January, 1863, printed the following article: "Dr. W. MacCathy was in attendance on a lady of sixty-nine years, on Thursday night, last, who gave birth to a fine boy. The father of the child is seventy-four years old, and the mother and child are doing well."

"Can you refer me to any books?"

Answer: Send a stamped, return envelope and 2 cents to the Central Press Association, 1433 12th street, Cleveland, O., for a "List of Books for the Expectant Mother."

SWAN

In Barbary With Gilbert Swan

MARRAKECH, Morocco, Feb. 26.—The Coney Island of North Africa happens to be a huge square drenched in the blood of another century.

And if the ballyhoo men of Coney are still worrying about the decline of good spielers, I recommend heartily at least a dozen out here who learned their trade from ancestral showmen of other countries.

The gentle art of drawing a crowd is far more adroitly practiced by these half-clad natives than by any Barnum of the boardwalks.

At any rate, afternoon in the "Square of the Sinners"—otherwise known as Place Djema el Fna—is like nothing to be found elsewhere under the sun, moon or stars.

HERE you'll find the fanatical Aissaouian who' jumps and dances on glass and, for so many extra pennies, will eat a bit of it.

Here you'll find the cobra tamer who needs no flute, but can imitate its shrill notes with some trick of whistling through his teeth. For a few extra pennies, when he has gathered the crowd around, he will undertake to let two snakes fasten their fangs in either ear lobe and then he will swing into a mad twirl until the snakes become parallel with the earth.

And here, too, you will find the Amos and Andy of this section of the world. For, strange as it may seem, the boys and girls who come down to market from the hills and mountains and desert seek out their fun, even as you and I. And two of the gents who provide it go into a hilarious blackface act. To make it funnier they effect wornout American clothes, like comedy Negroes in a Harlem show. Of course the very sight of a tattered pair of white man's pants is enough to send any good Spahi, Moor or Berber into convulsions. The act is straight slapstick and should be "caught" by some of our better Broadway critics, for here is true primitive pantomime, accompanied by a concern amount of patter that I am unable to translate, being in Arabic.

The next big laugh act has its counterpart in any American circus. It's our old friend the clown and the comedy mule.

It appears that this number is only about a thousand years old, which is why we still laugh at it.

The mule in this case is a diminutive burro and two clowns go through what Variety would call "comedy business." That is, they keep kicking the burro which tries to kick back but always misses him. Then a huge Negro, who could readily hold the little animal in one hand, stands on its back and does a quick flop. So it goes, and the men in burnooses and beards laugh just as heartily as you and you and you and me.

In the next circle and the next and the next squat the story-tellers, the truest actors I have ever looked upon. They are venerable old fellows capable of amazing facial and vocal registration—the sort that the high salaried movie actors strive for but seldom achieve. Here it has to be more than an art—it's a necessity, a livelihood. If a story-teller loses his crowd he loses his pennies. For everything depends on the passing of the hat and the tossing of coins. There is more competition among the tale spinners than any others in this strange arena. They tell the colorful tales handed down from generations and centuries—they tell the tales of grandfathers and great-grandfathers. And crowds of white-draped figures stand, kneel or squat in circles about them for hours in motionless attention. If the story be not so good, they wander to the next and the next. So it goes.

ALL the time, the air is hideous with the whanging of a hundred drums and the tooting of strangely-pitched pipes; the strumming of nasal instruments and the shrieking of native singers. There are the boy dancers from Andalusia, who dance like girls and make up their eyebrows and cheeks; the blackamoor dancers from the Sengalese belt and the troupers from over the mountains in Sudan. . . . The herb doctors and the fortune tellers. . . . The sweetmeat venders and the travelling doctors who pull teeth. . . . Traveling barbers shaving patrons in outdoor seats. . . . The peddlers selling dried locusts instead of peanuts and the cobblers mending sandals while you wait.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hey! Quit it!" Clowny loudly cried. "I wonder how I will get dried. The elephant can sure aim right. He soaked me through and through. Perhaps, with him, that's simply play, but I think I'll be on my way, I only wish that he would soak one of the rest of you."

Said Scouty, "Well, sir, as for me, I'll be as scarce as I can be. I fear the husky elephant is full of tricks like that." The elephant raised his trunk up high and, as wee Scouty scampered by, he snorted with his limber trunk and off went Scouty's hat.

The Travel Man then said, "Well, we will find some other sights to see. This zoo is full of animals. Come on, we'll see them all. But, lest you want some sudden scares, stay far away from all the bears." And then they stepped and listened to a squeaky sort of call.

"What's that?" asked Carpy. "Lets go see! It sounded funny as could be." "Why that came from the monkey cage," the Travel Man replied. "We'll visit there before we're through, but there are other things to do." He turned into a lane, with all the Tinies by his side.

"Oh, look!" cried Coppy. "Ma, oh my! That thing's head's way up near the sky. I like giraffes. Let's call on him and see what he will do." "All right," snapped Scouty. I am game." They found the big giraffe was tame. Then Clowny shouted, "Watch me, lads. Ill show you something new."

He walked up to the big giraffe and all the bunch began to laugh. Then Clowpy cried, "I'll try a stunt. I may wind up a wreck." He promptly proved he had the knack of getting on the slim beast's back and then, amid the cheers of all, he climbed right up its neck.

(A little monkey plays a trick on Clowny in the next story.)

NEW MUSIC FOR TECH SONG OK'D

Formal adoption of the new Matador song was made at a convocation of students of Texas Technological college, held Wednesday morning at the college gymnasium.

Harry LeMaire, writer of the music, and Frank Stone, introduced the new melody to the students, first through a piano and accordion duet, followed by a presentation with the entire personnel of the Texas Tech band joining.

Controversies that the Matador song was similar to that of the Victory song of Notre Dame brought about the change. The same words as were in the old song will still be used.

Meeting the approval of the students, the new music was adopted unanimously and plans are going forward to get the song copyrighted.

Copies are to be printed in sheet music and placed in the college book store for students wishing them as souvenirs, according to Conner Cole, manager of the store. The seniors are planning to have the song, music and words, printed on their invitations to be sent out in the spring.

Owning Island Not So Good In This Case

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP)—This business of owning an island has its drawbacks.

Robert L. Brooks, who owns San Nicolas Island, off Ventura, Calif., is being sued in superior court here for $10,000 damages because of the death of Steve Semerenko, fisherman. Mrs. Efrosinia Semerenko charges her son was killed by a rifle bullet fired from the defendant's island last February 25.

Milton W. Prentice, 18-year-old ranch hand, pleaded guilty last May to killing Semerenko and was sentenced to serve from five years to life in prison. Witnesses at Prentice's preliminary hearing testified there was a bitter feud between the island ranchers and fishermen because of the theft of sheep and cattle.

Take Pepsin This New Way and End Stubborn Indigestion

If you have a weak, bad acting, easily rebellious stomach, it won't take but 2 or 3 doses to prove you can turn it into a strong, healthy one, capable of digesting the heartiest meal without after-distress.

Nature says your stomach needs pepsin—needs it three times a day, every meal and the stomach remedy that you need most of all is Dare's Mentha Pepsin. It will do you more good in two weeks than all the old time relievers will do in a lifetime.

That's just the reason that its sales in good drug stores all over America are enormous—that's why Bowen's Drug and Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy are selling dozens of bottles every week.

Take it and you'll learn the secret of how to always have and keep a strong, healthy stomach. If after taking one bottle you are not completely satisfied — money back.—Adv.

THE HOUSE FLY JOINS THE LIST

* * * * * * * * * *

COMMON INSECT SPECIALIZES IN SPOILING OF MOTION PICTURES; COST THOUSANDS DAILY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—And now the common house fly takes its place with the corn borer, the cotton boll weevil and the Mediterranean fruit fly as a scourge to a great industry.

The house fly, however, specializes in spoiling motion pictures.

"The fly costs the motion picture industry between $5,000 and $10,000 daily in retakes," Melville Brown director said as he rested while the cameramen and actors on his set were preparing to retake a love scene.

The scene, hundreds of feet, had been spoiled a few seconds before by a fly, which buzzed around a while and then lighted on the pretty nose of Mary Astor just as she was being kissed by Ricardo Cortez in the fadeout.

"There was nothing unusual about the ruination of that scene," Brown went on. "Some of the best shots and sequences ever made were spoiled by a fly. It happens every day at every studio. One can't just cut that part in which the fly decides to park on the lense or a nose. The whole thing has to be redone, because a fly never lights except at the climax."

The sound supervisor put in a word in the general indictment against the fly. "Not only that," he said, "but when a couple of flies decide to play tag near a microphone the film sounds like a naval battle."

How Good Doctors Treat Bad Colds

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish,—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store. (adv.)

WALKER MAY GIVE HEAVIES HARD FIGHT

FORMER MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION IS IMPRESSIVE IN WIN OVER RISKO IN MIAMI LAST NIGHT; WAS OUTWEIGHED

BY ALAN GOULD

MIAMI Fla., Feb. 26. (AP)—They may have to move over later, if not this year to make room for Mickey Walker in the scramble for the world's heavyweight championship.

Less than six pounds over the limit for the middleweight class, in which he holds the world' title, Walker packer enough stamina and wallop in his 165½ pounds last night to hand a convincing pasting to 194 pound Johnny Risko of Cleveland, somewhat battered reminder of the one-time spoiler of heavyweight ambitions.

Walker won the unanimous verdict of three judges after ten slashing, bruising rounds of punch-tossing. Mickey was held close to even terms for the first eight rounds, due to Johnny's bull like charges and aggressive hammering, but Walker won the last two rounds by a wide margin. Risko was groggy in the ninth and tenth under Walker's vicious left hooks and right crosses to the chin. The Associated Press score-sheet gave Mickey six rounds and Risko four.

In fine condition, Walker overcame big handicaps in weight and reach to demonstrate his ability to mix successfully in bigger company. He has not defended the middleweight crown in over a year and apparently intends to leave it on the shelf while he battles for a spot in the heavyweight picture.

There's not much chance of his figuring in the big program for 1931, however. Before Walker fought the main go last night, Max Schmeling, the German who was bequeathed the heavyweight title by boxing authorities, and his American challenger, Young Stribling, appeared in exhibitions. The winner of the Schmeling-Stribling bout, in June, is slated to defend the title against Primo Carnera.

Carnera was a spectator last night and is booked to meet Jimmy Maloney of Boston here on March 5 in the battle of the cracked rib.

NEW A. A. U. MARKS SET

GARDEN MEET'S EVENTS TURN OUT FAST

TWO NEW RECORDS ARE ON BOOKS FOLLOWING MEET LAST NIGHT

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. (AP)—Two new world records were on the books, eight of the nation's best wore their first National A. A. U. championship medals while six others were in possession of their second successive title today as the result of indoor track and field championship held in Madison Square garden last night.

Percy Beard, a long striding youngster from Alabama Poly clipped one-fifth of a second off the existing world's record for the 70-yard high hurdles. He beat Lee Sentman of University of Illinois, co-holder of the record in :08 5-10. The University of Pennsylvania medley relay team, with the diminutive Carl Coan running the anchor lap, slashed 5 1-5 seconds off the eight-year-old record in the one and seven-eighths medley relay time to defeat Bates college in 7:30 2-10. The old record was hung up by a quartet from the Illinois athletic club.

Conger Wins

The two new world records were made in a program that saw Ray Conger take the 1,000 yard championship with his famous bell lap kick; Leo Lermond gave 'em a flash of his old time speed to win the two-mile title and Fred Sturdy leaped 13 feet, 11 inches to retain his pole vault crown.

Phil Edwards and Hans Assert, of New York City, were the only champions to repeat on the track. Edwards conquered Sera Martin, world's 800 metre champion from France, to keep his 660 yard title while Assert led a large pack over the two mile steeplechase.

Osborn, Burg Win

The 1930 champions swept through the field events.—Harold Osborn repeated in the standing high jump. Anton Burg turned back Osborn and a classy field of youngsters in the running high jump. William Werner took the standing broad jump.

Five times Little Bill Carr of the University of Pennsylvania was forced to travel the 300 yards before gaining the decision over John Lewis, the chunky negro champion from Detroit City college. The pair ran twice to qualify for the finals and then fought through the last lap of the deciding race to a dead heat. In the run off, Carr nipped the titleholder at the tape.

The Illionis Athletic club retained its team championship, scoring 16 points with victories by Conger, Burg and Osborn and a fourth place by the latter in the running high jump. Pennsylvania placed second with 13 points and the New York Athletic club third with eleven.

TEXAS TECH MATADORS EVEN COUNT WITH NEW MEXICO U. QUINTET WITH 29-24 VICTORY; PLAY MINERS NEXT

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 26.—Texas Tech got revenge last night from the New Mexico university Lobos by winning, 29 to 24. The game was almost an exact duplicate of Tuesday night's game which the Loboe won 32 to 29 except that the two teams traded sides.

Tech got off to a good lead as the game started. Hodges and Fisher couldn't miss and they took a 13 to 0 lead over the Lobos. At that point Tech abandoned its fast breaking offense and used a slow delayed game. The half ended, 17 to 6, favoring Tech.

Hodges kept hitting to increase Tech's lead to 22 to 8 and then the Lobos hit their stride. With five minutes to go New Mexico rallied to bring the score to 26 to 21.

The teams traded two baskets apiece as the game ended in a cyclone finish.

Intramural Athletics Are In Limelight At Tech Now

LARGEST PROGRAM IN SCHOOL'S HISTORY IS BEING HELD

To take the place of intercollegiate competition this spring and at the same time to furnish athletic activity for about 400 boys, Texas Tech plans the largest intramural program of the school's history for this spring. Curtailment of athletics last week by the athletic council to the extent of doing away with tennis, track and baseball as competitive sports for the remainder of the year has made it urgent that sports on an intramural basis be offered.

Campus schedules of boxing, wrestling, basketball, tennis, track and baseball will be arranged by the athletic department heads. Del Morgan, assistant football mentor and freshman basketball coach, has called a meeting of all boxers and wrestlers in every class for tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 in the Tech gymnasium. Plans will be worked out for a program of eliminations and dates for important bouts will be set. Finals may be postponed until the next college fun night program for men.

Cage Season Opens Soon

W. L. Golightly will have charge of the intramural basketball. The season will start soon after the disbanding of the varsity cage team next week, and it is thought that Golightly will meet with the prospective cagers next Tuesday. The basketball program will include some 200 boys, it is thought, with nearly ever active organization on the campus submitting an entry in the lists.

Campus programs of tennis, baseball and track will be worked out at a later date.

'POP' WARNER, FOOTBALL'S GREATEST STRATEGIST, THINKS HE SHOULD HAVE STUCK TO BASEBALL; GREAT MECHANIC

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 26. (AP)—Glenn Scobey Warner, at 60, is one of football's greatest strategists. His teams have made gridiron history, but he thinks he should have stuck to baseball.

For it was baseball—not the game to which he has contributed so brilliantly—that gave him his greatest thrill. That came the time he caught his first ball game, at Springville, N. Y., in the late eighties. He got two hits. Still insists the umpire gypped him out of a third.

He's Great Creator

The rules of football have been changed time and again because of his creative genius. He brought out the hidden ball trick in 1897. The backfield man stuck the ball up the back of his jersey. Rules were changed to meet the emergency. Then he sewed halves of cheap footballs on the players' jersies. More rule changes.

He introduced the football crouch. He gave the game the wing back formation, also the unbalanced backfield. He originated the screened pass, devised the solid thigh pads; improved shoulder pads, remodeled many other appliances.

Won Cornell Title

Yet none of his football achievements give him more satisfaction than telling of the time he was heavyweight boxing champion at Cornell. He will stop in the middle of a street to demonstrate his

ROVING THE SPORTS WORLD

WITH COLLIER PARRIS
JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

When Bill Holmes won the Tech student golf tournament the other day at the Meadowbrook club, he was put down as a first class golfer with plenty of skill and endurance and final analysis. When he stepped into Pete Cawthon's sanctum yesterday morning in answer to an invitation he looked like first class football players and lightly-heavyweight fighters ought to look in nothing but trunks and gymnasium shoes.

Holmes entered school last fall as a freshman, coming from Shamrock High school. According to a check-up at the registrar's office yesterday he "is still a freshman". He did not report for freshman football last fall. He did not come out for the intramural games this winter. He was little known until he won the golf championship two weeks ago. Then Cawthon spotted him in a workout this week and sent for him.

Holmes may never be heard of again, but this department stakes the best dinner in town that the Shamrock lad will be bursting into print rather frequently for the next three years in Lubbock as an athlete. He came into Cawthon's office yesterday, hot and perspiring from a workout, flushed and handsome, as neat a piece of human furniture to ever grace a dressing room. Tall enough, built like a boxer but with not an ounce of surplus flesh, the husky freshman who looks intelligent enough for a senior, rather timidly heard Cawthon upbraid him for not turning out for football.

* * *

"Where've you been all my life?" Cawthon inquired. Holmes tried to dig a hole in the floor with a rubber sole and remarked, "Here. And there."

"Did you come out for freshman football last fall?"

"No, sir."

"Did you play with an intramural team?"

"No, sir."

"Then why the hell didn't you?" Cawthon wanted to say but didn't.

"I'm not so hot," Holmes wanted to say but hated to lie. "I am coming out for intramural basketball—maybe", he continued suggestively.

"And you're comin' out for spring football training in April, too, if I know anything", proposed the Tech head man.

"Did you play football in high school?" the questioning continued.

"A little." Cawthon already knew that he had, for a letter from a Shamrock citizen came the other day asking why Holmes had never played football here and stating that in high school he was nothing less than a wow.

"What position?"

"Tackle." After a pause. "And I did all the puntin' and passin' but that was because there was nobody else to do it." Cawthon had already heard of the youth's ability to pass and punt.

* * *

The conversation continued and only after Holmes had promised to report for spring football training was he allowed to go back to his gym class. Just before he left, "How much work did you pass last term?" "Seventeen hours", says Billy, and Peter Willis sank back exhausted.

When he had regained his composure. "Now there's a number of cases like that, not only here but at all schools. The boy is a football player, but he played in a small high school and he doesn't know it. He's got sense, he's got strength and he's got guts. I wouldn't trade his potentialities for half a dozen 150-pound all-district high school players. Weighs 185 and can weigh more if he wants to. I've heard of him and I've been trying to locate him. The blanked idiot! If I had a dozen like him I'd fire about forty of pseudo-heroes I've got. He'll fit in my scheme, o. k."

The writer was just as impressed. There's a boy who came to college for an education. He was backward about reporting for football because he had never came into prominence as a high school gridster outside of Class B circles. He probably was not encouraged. But he'll get plenty of it from now on. He has a brother, Lyle Holmes, who is also a student at Tech and who has not reported for athletics. They live together "but in town." Lyle was also in the first bracket of student golfers, eliminated after a stiff match in the semi-finals. He'll be looked up, too, and in days to come the Holmes Bros., at least one of them, are more than likely to break into print frequently. Billy showed his willingness to work and his stickability when he won the golf tournament in a driving rain and in cold weather. It's the type that wins.

SHOW'S RODEO TO BE LARGE

MORE THAN 500 HEAD OF ANIMALS WILL BE USED

(Special To The Journal)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 26.—More than 500 head of livestock will be used in the Rodeo of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show which will be formally opened Friday night, March 6.

This includes the 112 outlaw horses which have been shipped here from Chugwater, Wyoming, for bareback riding and bronc riding contests in which the championships of the world will be at stake.

Sixty Brahmas have been rounded up from ranches of Texas, New Mexico and Mexico for the steer riding contests. Sixty steers also have been obtained for the bulldogging events and 65 sturdy calves have been bought for the calf roping. The number of cow ponies that will be used by cowboys and cowgirls in grand entries and the regular events will be in excess of 150.

Manager John B. Davis has declared that the Rodeo livestock will surpass any animals ever rounded up for a Rodeo. A scout was sent to ranches in many parts of the country before a sufficient number of cattle and calves was found.

The bucking broncs are headed by Midnight, the big black horse that never has been ridden and which has spoiled many cowboys' hopes for world championship honors. Other horses among the 112 outlaws are Five Minutes to Midnight, Broken Box, Satan, Shamrock, Invalid, WBAP, School Girl, Go Getter, Jack Dempsey, Ace High, Buttermvilk, Chili Bean, Cross Old Baldy and many others.

Foster And Slaton To Meet Saturday

The girls' basketball teams of Foster and Slaton meet Saturday night at 7:30 on the Texas Tech gymnasium court in a game that will decide the championship of Lubbock county.

In previous county tournaments, Foster's girls emerged victorious in theClass B lists and Slaton won the Class A tournament. The winner of Saturday's game will represent the county in the state meet at Plainview on March 12.

More land has been put to wheat in Mexico this season than a year ago.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. (AP)—With a heavy volume of profit-taking off its chest, the stock market turned strongly upward today, led by the utilities and steels.

Trading was active in the early hours when many new highs for the year were made. U. S. Steel common surged up more than 3 points to 151 3-4, surpassing its previous 1931 top, while Bethlehem with a similar gain was also in new high ground. Other shares rising about 3 included R. H. Macy, Simmons, Worthington and American Water Works, Columbian Carbon, and Eastman Kodak.

Although American Telephone was sluggish, other utilities displayed considerable buoyancy. Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, American Power & Light, Electric Power & Light and North American raillied 2 to 2 3-4. Other stocks in this range were Atchison, North American, Dupont, Allied Chemical and American Can. Montgomery Ward met profit-taking and sagged a point. St. Louis San Francisco was again heavy, losing 4.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 28 (AP) — Cotton was quite active at the opening today but prices showed losses of 2 to 4 points as a result of easier Liverpool cables. The market soon rallied, however, on covering by recent sellers owing to the generally favorable character of the political news from India. May advanced to 11.47 and October to 11.96, or 7 to 12 points above the opening figures and 5 to 7 points above yesterday's close.

At the end of the first hour the market was steady and at the highs.

The market ruled steady all morning, with fairly active trading. Recent sellers bought back what they had sold and there was some trade buying helped by firmness in the stock market. May traded up to 11.48, and October to 11.99, or 10 to 13 points above the early lows, and eight to nine points above yesterday's close.

Near noon, prices eased off three to five points from the highs on indications of profit-taking in stocks.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Cotton opened steady, 2 to 5 points lower under overnight selling orders probably reflecting the rather reactionary sentiment noted late yesterday, while there may also have been some selling on relatively easy Liverpool cables.

The influence of these, however, was offset by continued favorable reports from the cotton cloth market in Manchester and after selling off to 11.37 for May and 11.89 for October, the market steadied on a renewal of trade buying and covering. By the end of the first half hour, May had sold up to 11.45 and October to 11.97 or about 4 points net higher, but the bulges met some further selling and fluctuations were somewhat irregular with the market 1 to 4 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Trading dwindled but the market held steady later in the morning. Offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had been absorbed and appeared to have been quite readily taken by further trade buying or covering. May sold up to 11.48 and October to 12.00, or about 5 to 8 points net higher. The bulges met more or less realizing however and the market at midday was 2 to 3 points off from the best.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady. March 11.10 bid; May 11.35; July 11.63; Oct. 11.89; Dec. 12.08; Jan. 12.17 bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. March 11.14; May 11.37; July 11.61; Oct. 11.89; Dec. 12.09; Jan. 12.19.

The state had asked a life sentence for Jones.

JURY CONVICTS 'LITTLE CHUCK' WILSON

PAMPA, Feb. 26. (AP)—A jury late yesterday convicted Charles "Little Chuck" Wilson of murder for the killing of C. H. Taylor near Le Fors, several weeks ago, and assessed his punishment at 20 years in the penitentiary. Taylor was killed as he sat with Mrs. Wilson in an automobile parked at the side of the highway.

ed that he had known the deceased for a period of years ranging from seven to as high as 43.

Those who testified included Delmar Parrish, J. C. Smith, W. R. Nelson, J. P. Kerlie, G. P. Malone, John Dillard, Edgar Allen, R. W. Mitchell, W. M. Romane, Fred McDermott, J. A. Clendenning, John English, S. A. Elam and R. M. Parrish.

The defense had introduced testimony Wednesday which claimed that Walker had a violent temper and had experienced a great deal of trouble with various persons, including his son.

Arguments Today

Arguments in the case will probably start this afternoon.

Mrs. Pearl Hawkins, wife of the defendant, and daughter of the dead man, testified in defense of her husband Wednesday. During most of her time on the stand Mrs. Hawkins was in tears and twice broke down.

Frank Hawkins, 14-year-old son of the defendant, and Mrs. Hawkins' brother, Walter Walker were also defense witnesses yesterday.

Durwood H. Bradley, district attorney of Lubbock, was called to the stand late Wednesday to explain how he obtained a statement from Mrs. Hawkins the morning following her father's death as result of a shotgun charge. Mrs. Hawkins at that time told him that her father had been standing in the yard near the porch with a hoe resting on his shoulder, but he had made no move to strike Hawkins, Bradley testified.

Tanner had lived in Stonewall county 40 years. Survivors are his widow, the son, Sidney and two daughters, living in Dallas.

Lea county officers wouldn't let the man talk but declared the man had made no statement to them. He was being held until the arrival of Stonewall officers this afternoon.

MOTOR OFFICER IS INJURED

JONES MABRAY IS HIT BY CAR WEDNESDAY IN LITTLEFIELD

Jones Mabray, 28-year-old Littlefield traffic policeman, was struck by a hit-and-run driver about 9 o'clock Wednesday night and today is in the Lubbock sanitarium suffering of a fracture of the right leg and minor bruises and abrasions.

Mabray is brother of William Mabray, Lubbock police patrolman, and formerly lived in this city.

According to Littlefield police, the hit-and-run machine, described as a tan colored Buick coupe, was without lights when it ran down Mabray from the rear.

Immediately after being struck young Mabray dragged himself to the home of Constable Fred Hoover, who lived about two blocks from the scene of the accident. The constable summoned medical aid.

Lubbock officers kept watch on state highway No. 7 last night following a report that the automobile was headed in this direction but reported that it had not been sighted.

ties for money they have spent on state highways. The remainder would go for state highway construction.

Hearings Conducted

The constitutional amendments committees of both houses conducted hearings last night on the proposal to abolish the ad valorem tax.

Former Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, speaking for the proposal, stated abolition of the property tax would pave the way for an income tax. Senator DeBerry of Bogata told the committees that Governor Sterling was for its abolition.

Clarence Wharton of Houston entered vigorous opposition to the proposal. He said the ad valorem had wide distribution, one of the essentials of a good tax. He stated its abolition would shift the burden from 6,000,000 people to 112,000 representatives of big business. Wharton stated local taxes, not state taxes, were proving the heaviest burden on property owners.

Maco Stewart of Galveston advanced elimination of the state property tax, suggesting as substitutes chain store and income levies.

The house committee on public health unanimously killed the bill to legalize chiropractors after a hearing which was addressed and attended by a large number of chiropractors.

GRAHAM MAN KILLED IN OIL EXPLOSION

GRAHAM, Feb. 26 (AP)—Jim Price, 50, was dead and J. E. Rider was in a hospital here today, probably fatally burned, as a result of an explosion and fire late yesterday at the W. B. Hinson well of the Nash and Windfohr interests, a mile north of Graham. A sudden rush of oil from the well sprayed a boiler, the oil catching fire and igniting gas from the well.

NEW METHOD

Water melting from the glaciers in summer deposited a layer of sand and dirt. In winter this deposit stopped. Very hot seasons left their finger marks in the form of extra deep deposits. Through thousands of years these successive layers were each season buried more deeply, pressed flat and hard, but as distinguishable as are tree rings, permanent leaves of history for whoever finds the key to their meaning.

Properly treated the varves are as distinctive as tiger's stripes. De Geer has counted 17,000 of them. The problem is to learn the date of one of the layers in a varve. After that all the other years can be identified in that deposit like counting the rungs of a ladder.

'POP' WARNER

cockscrew punch. It won him the title.

As a boy, his playmates nicknamed him "Butter." He looked like a mound of hay. His brothers Bill of Hermiston, Ore., and Fred of San Clemente, Calif., say he was the laziest kid in Texas. The family lived on a ranch near Wichita Falls. All Glenn wanted to do was make playthings and eat and sleep.

To keep from working, he went to college. His dad gave him a hundred dollars, tuition fee then at Cornell. He got to New York and went to the horse races at Saratoga. The bookmakers pocketed his $100. He borrowed another century note and lost it playing poker. Persuaded Cornell authorities to let him enter on deferred payments. Worked as a waiter and painted and sold pictures of sunsets, trees, cows and what not to pay the tuition.

He played guard for Cornell. Team mates hung the moniker "Pop" on him. He looked like an old man. Didn't set the football world on fire but was captain and coach in his last year—1892. Graduated in law. Practiced a few months. Started coaching at Ames College in 1893. Switched to Georgia the same season. Then to Cornell; over to Carlisle; back to Cornell; again to Carlisle; to Pittsburgh; then Stanford.

Works In Garage

He has a fine home in Palo Alto but spends most of his time in a workshop in his garage.

He is a director in a bank here. When his associates want him for a heavy financial conference they usually have to root him out of the workshop. Owns several houses but is always forgetting to collect the rent. Is a football syndicate writer and writes his own copy. Hasn't the slightest idea how much money he is worth. Mrs. Warner tends to the finances. Spends lots of her time trying to get Pop in to eat, or answer telephone calls. When he is deeply engrossed in taking an auto apart, other business can wait. Kept a party calling from New York waiting on the line for five minutes while he cleaned a sparkplug.

He is not demonstrative in football season. Seldom gets off the bench, where he smokes cigarettes incessantly.

FIGHT ON TO SAVE WOMAN

OMISSION OF FORMS GIVEN AS CAUSE FOR ACTION

(By The Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 26.—Contending that omission of the feminine forms of the personal pronoun from the New Jersey execution law exempts women from electrocution, counsel for Mrs. Hattie Evans plans a fight to save her from the electric chair.

The attorney, Ira F. Smith, pointed out that throughout the law the masculine forms of the pronoun are used, "he, him, and his," but never, "she, her or hers."

Mrs. Evans is under death sentence as an accessory to the murders of her husband, Robert Evans, and Albert Duffy.

FRUIT TREES SEVERELY LASHED FOR NOT BEARING ENOUGH FRUIT IN MEXICO

TEXCOCO, Mexico, Feb. 26. (AP)—Fruit trees of the nearby Huexotla region which bore a poor crop this year were subjected today to a severe lashing, with the admonishment they do better next season.

The peasants of the region believe that the trees require chastiseing when they do not bear well and they make the occasion a motive for gay festivities.

After a series of native dances and other formalities, a score of the best physical specimens of the tribal manhood administer 10 lashes each to upwards of 50 trees, using leather straps especially made for the ceremony.

The whipping takes place at exactly ten A. M.

PRODUCTION DECREASES

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DR. RAY TALKS ON ACIDS BEFORE CLUB

Water no longer is the only system of acid bases and salts, Texas Technological college students at a meeting of the chemistry society were told Tuesday night by Dr. W. L. Ray, who explained the ammonia system.

Doctor Ray, who is professor of organic chemistry at the college, devoted a major portion of his talk to analogies between the two systems. It was found that the ammonia system presented several advantages over the water system. Discovery of a satisfactory method of working with the liquid which boils at 33 degrees centigrade possibly would revolutionize chemistry.

Quoting from Dr. E. C. Franklin, discoverer of the ammonia system, Doctor Ray pointed out ways in which the system could be used.

The discussion by the professor followed a brief resume of scientific current events by Mina Marie Wolf, the review including recent improvements in the vacuum tube, synthetic petroleum, new uses of the rubber tree, and a new super-sensitive film sensitive to red and green light.

A possible reorganization of the whole system of molecular weights, due to the discovery of isotopes of oxygen, was forecast by Miss Wolf.

A seal corresponding to a stone emblem on the east end of the chemistry building was adopted as official for the society.

Purser Does Everything But Work Oars

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. (AP)—Oh for the life of a purser on the high seas.

Outside of editing the ship's newspaper, operating the swimming pool, arranging concerts, looking after the passengers, watching out for crooks, helping to vaccinate all passengers in case of disease breaks out aboard ship, presiding at the funerals of members of the crew and a few other things, the purser hasn't got a thing to do.

James G. Summitt, former Vanderbilt university football star, who is a purser on the Atlantic and formerly was on the Pacific, told members of a club about it yesterday.

"After I got a bit run down after crossing the Pacific for the 125th time," he said, "I went to a doctor and he said, very earnestly:

"'What you need, my man, is a good long sea voyage. That will buck you up'."
