Quail Faculty Completed in Friday Meeting

The Quail School faculty for 1968-69 was completed Friday night, March 15, in a meeting of the trustees, Supt. E. P. Haynie announced.

Strengthening the science department in the school has received considerable study by the board in several meetings, and Mr. Haynie reported the election of Mrs. Eunice Ratliff of Hollis, Okla., to teach in that field next year.

Science also will be extended into the grades. Mrs. Ratliff will teach fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade science, and general science and chemistry in high school.

Biology is offered in high school this year. Beginning with the 1968-69 term, chemistry and general science will be alternated with biology and physics.

Mrs. Ratliff will probably teach public school music, Mr. Haynie said.

The superintendent and school principal, Mrs. Lewis Morris, were elected earlier by the board.

Classroom teachers are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, math; Bill Wilson, coach; Larry Hight, English and Spanish; John Alf Thomas, fifth and sixth grades; W. F. Howard, home room teacher, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Jim Lowe, first and second grades.

Election of an agriculture instructor was tabled until it is determined if the department will go to half time, Mr. Haynie said.

Cameron Chorus to Sing Here

The Cameron College Chorus from Lawton, Okla., will present an assembly program on Monday, March 25 at 1 a.m., in the Wellington High School auditorium, E. W. Clement, principal, has announced.

The public is invited to attend, he added.

This 38-voice choir, directed by Gene Brooks, is touring Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming during March, Mr. Clement said.

It will give two concerts at the HemisFair, and the chorus also gave nine performances at the 1965 New York World's Fair.

At San Antonio

Pfc. Pullum Recovers from Vietnam Wounds

Pfc. Sammy L. Pullum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Oldham of Samnorwood, has arrived at Brooke General Hospital, Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, after being wounded in Vietnam on Feb. 25.

This is the second time the young Samnorwood paratrooper has received wounds in the Vietnam fighting.

His present condition is considered to be satisfactory and he is able to be up and about the ward and will undergo specialized treatment, doctors at Brooke General Hospital have notified his parents.

According to information Mr. and Mrs. Oldham received from Major General Kenneth G. Wickham, the adjutant general, Pfc. Pullum received multiple metal fragment wounds to the left arm, left leg and chest.

He was on a combat mission when he was hit by fragments from a hostile mine. His wounds were not considered serious and he was held at the 3rd Medical Battalion in Vietnam, the telegram from Gen. Kickham continued.

Mrs. Oldham said that her son was wounded in one arm in June 1967. He remained in Vietnam.

Pfc. Pullum has been out on the front lines much of the time since he arrived in Vietnam in April 1967, his mother said.

Observing his 20th birthday March 11, the day he reached Brooke General Hospital, Pfc. Pullum entered service in October 1965 and trained at Fort Polk, La., Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Jackson, S.C., before going overseas.

Don Jackson Dies in Calif.

Relatives here have received word of the death of Don Jackson, Norwalk, Calif., on Sunday night, March 17. He was critically injured in a car accident Saturday morning.

Mr. Jackson was the husband of the former Alta Mae West, who grew up here.

Funeral services were set for Thursday.

Leaving immediately to attend the funeral were Mrs. Jackson's son, Phillip Cobb of Amarillo; and her sisters, Mrs. Harris Royal of Wellington and Mrs. Shang Cocke of Leadville, Colo.

A brother, Willie West, was unable to attend.

MONEY FOR MUSICIANS

The big grin on the face of Band Booster Club President Jimmy Cochran comes from the $50 check he is receiving from the 1954 Study Club. Making the presentation is Mrs.

Sam McGill of the club. The money is to help finance the work the Boosters do with the award-winning Wellington School Bands.

More Moisture

Snow Flurry Ushers In Spring March 20

The first richly-blooming flowers came to the Wellington area as Winter ended—but bowed to the flurry of snow that arrived with Spring on Wednesday morning, March 20.

More moisture was added to the county's already abundant supply.

Rain that came in from the southeast Monday evening gave Wellington one-half inch, but to the south and southeast, in the Loco-Arle area, as much as an inch and a half was measured.

Dodson received an inch.

The rain grew lighter north of Wellington, and the area beyond Salt Fork River received only a shower.

Moisture was also lighter west of town, and not enough fell in the west part of the county to stop plowing.

Snow began in the early hours Wednesday and was still falling at mid-morning, accompanied by some wind. With the temperature hovering at the freezing mark, the snow stuck on the grass, but melted as it hit the streets and paved highways.

Kin of City Family Killed

Mrs. Myrtle West was notified Monday, March 18, that her nephew, James C. Thomas, Jr., 48, of Clovis, N.M., died of a bullet wound received in an apparent hunting accident. He was co-owner of the Clovis Cattle Commission Co.

Relatives here plan to attend the funeral, which will be on Thursday.

Survivors include his wife, son, daughter, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas, Sr., of Plainview, formerly of the Hollis area, a brother, and three grandchildren.

Pickup Stolen Here Saturday

A 1959 Chevrolet half-ton pickup, belonging to Judge R. L. Templeton, was reported stolen Saturday, March 16, Sheriff John Rainey said.

A warrant charging theft by bailie was issued Monday against a Wellington man, he added.

Neither the pickup nor the man has been located.

Work Week End Planned at Scout Camp

The first of three Council-wide work week ends at the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Reservation is scheduled Saturday and Sunday, March 23 and 24, Dave Agnew, Comanche district executive, has announced.

Work will be continued toward improving the new camp, located between Wheeler and Mobeetie, which was begun late last year.

A number of Collingsworth County Scout leaders will be at the camp, Mr. Agnew said. Glen McLain and Lynn Wright

To Live at Turkey

Denver Powell Retires After 45 Years at WT

On April 1, Denver C. Powell will retire from the West Texas Utilities Company after 45 years of service in Southeast Panhandle towns. He has been manager of the Wellington office five years. Thirty-five years of his tenure has been as a WTU manager.

As he had some vacation time due, Friday, March 15, was the last day in his office for this man who has given so many hours of volunteer work in a variety of civic enterprises here.

Saturday he and Mrs. Powell moved to Turkey, their home for a number of years before coming to Wellington.

Both emphasized they are burning no bridges behind them.

Not long out of high school, Mr. Powell joined the West Texas Utilities Company in its construction department, June 6, 1923, at Childress. About 1932 he moved to Matador, then returned to Childress, then to Hedley as manager of that office. In 1936, he was transferred to Turkey, where he was to remain in charge of WTU until he came to Wellington.

"If I had it to do over, I would go back into the utility business," Mr. Powell declared as retirement neared. "I think it has the greatest opportunity for service of any other business."

Two federally sponsored programs to help youth and children are being considered, Collingsworth County Judge Zook Thomas has announced. First of these is a Community Action Program, the other a Youth-Work Program for high school and college age students.

A meeting of the Commissioners Courts of Collingsworth, Childress, Hall, Briscoe and Donley counties will be held in Wellington Wednesday, March 27 at 10 a.m., to hear an explanation of the Community Action Program, the county judge said.

Here to explain the program will be Argus Burnett of Amarillo, director of the Potter-Randall County Community Action Corp., and Joe Meador of Lubbock, the governor's representative of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The meeting here is an outgrowth of a trip which Judge Thomas and Commissioners Woody Wood, Clyde Emmert and Melvin Seale made to Lubbock to explain the county's need for the Community Action Program.

A variety of local programs are available under the Community Action Program, and these will be explained in the March 27 meeting.

Need exists here, Judge Thomas believes, for a day care center for pre-school children of low income families. In some instances, Judge Thomas has found upon investigation, tiny children are being left alone in families where both parents work, with the oldest child present being only five or six years of age.

There may be other programs that would benefit Collingsworth and its neighbors, and this is what the Commissioners Court wants to find out.

On the return trip from Lubbock, the Collingsworth County men visited Joe A. Gibson at West Texas State University, who is in charge of the youth work program in this part of the state.

They made specific inquiries in regard to a program for Collingsworth County.

"Mr. Gibson said he would qualify us to begin the youth work program in either June or July," Judge Thomas said. Under this program, non-profit organizations such as the county, city, cemetery association, federal agencies such as the Soil Conservation Service and others like them can employ boys and girls of low income families through the summer months. This is an attempt to help these young people get employment that will enable them to go to school.

Programs Sought to Aid Children, Youth

It is limited to boys and girls from 16 to 21 years of age and there is a limit to the number for whom employment may be had.

This is not a school, Judge Thomas emphasized, but a work program for the summer months.

Long Range Plan

Landscaping Program Planned for Schools

The Wellington School Board in a recent meeting approved the improvement and landscaping of the school campuses, then turned the job over to one of its members, John Sherman. He is to develop the landscaping as he sees fit.

It is not a job that is going to be done in a year, Mr. Sherman pointed out, and part of the plans will be developed as the work progresses. This week, however, he outlined some of the basic plans for the improvement work.

The high school and junior high campuses will be plowed up and resodded in grass.

"We can't do much until school is out," Mr. Sherman said. "We'll have to let the spring rains get behind us." On the other hand, the grass will have to be drilled in by June 15 if there is to be enough growth to survive next year's use.

Old shrubbery and at least part of the trees will be taken out and new shrubs will be set out next fall.

The present bus barn and storage will be moved off and replaced by a paved parking area.

A new 30x40 foot bus shop of concrete block construction and metal roof will be constructed on the present tennis courts, across the street south of the bus barn. There will be storage space on the back.

New sidewalks will be laid to connect the high school and junior high buildings to the new physical education-homemaking-agriculture building.

At elementary school, Mr. Sherman said the playground will be filled and sodded and ple get employment that will enable them to go to school.

It is limited to boys and girls from 16 to 21 years of age and there is a limit to the number for whom employment may be had.

This is not a school, Judge Thomas emphasized, but a work program for the summer months.

Sam Kennedy, Show Business Veteran, Dies

Sam Kennedy, a veteran of many years in show business, including the greatest of them all, Ringling Brothers Circus, died at his home in Wellington Wednesday, March 13. He was 79 years old and had been in failing health for a number of months.

He left show business and in September 1927 came to Wellington to visit a few weeks. He stayed more than 40 weeks. Until he retired in 1964, Mr. Kennedy operated shoe shine stands in local barber shops.

Sam, as the Wellington area knew him affectionately, was born Christmas Day, 1888, at Ladonia, the youngest of 18 children of Joe and Mary Kennedy. He was the last to survive.

With a song and dance routine, he went into show business when he was 16, and before he left, he had played in all of the 48 continental United States and in Canada.

The minstrel shows he worked with were famous in their day, some playing coast to coast every year. For many years Sam Kennedy and his wife worked in vaudeville during the winter, then in the minstrels during the spring and summer.

He joined Ringling Brothers the first year the circus carried a Negro band, traveling in its own train. He played in the band, then went on with his own comedy routine several times a day.

One season he was at the Orpheum Theatre in New York City. He wrote a number of songs that he worked into his own routine.

A deeply religious man, he was a member of the Church of Christ. Although his life for many years was that of one-night stands, he had a great capacity for friendship, and in Wellington it extended throughout both the White and Negro communities.

It was part of these friends who filled West Avenue Church

Nominations Open for 1968 Senior Citizen of the Year

Collingsworth's senior citizens will be honored again this year at the annual Senior Citizen Tea and Program planned for Monday, May 13.

A highlight again will be the selection of the Senior Citizen of the Year.

The committee on aging, an affiliate of the County Home Demonstration Council, has begun plans for this year's event. Mrs. Leta Hill, home demonstration agent, has reported. Members of this committee are Mrs. Emil Kersten, chairman, Mrs. J. B. Killian, Mrs. A. M. Saunders and Mrs. Ike Rogers.

The tea this year will be sponsored by the County Home Demonstration Council, as was that last year, to honor the nominees for Senior Citizen of the Year and announce the winner.

Collingsworth County has asked to become a unit of the Governor's Committee on Aging. Mrs. Hill said. Mrs. Carter Clopton, executive director, will contact the Council if this is possible.

Senior citizens were honored for the first time in 1967, when Mrs. Rob Isbell was selected the 1967 Collingsworth County Senior Citizen of the Year.

The 1968 rules and regulations will be similar to those last year, the committee on aging has decided. The members expressed the hope that nominees should have contributed much to the progress of the county through the years.

Unless the Governor's Committee on Aging makes changes, the person nominated for 1968 Collingsworth County Senior Citizen of the Year must be 65 years of age or older and must be a resident of Collingsworth County and a citizen.

The nominee can be either a man or woman and does not have to be a member of a Home Demonstration Club or any Extension related organization.

Any individual, club, school or organization can sponsor or nominate a senior citizen. All that must be done is to submit the name of the nominee and a resume of his or her activities and a statement of why that person is qualified to be named Collingsworth County Senior Citizen of the Year.

"Of course, pictures and clippings help tell the judges more about this nominee and what the person has done for the county," Mrs. Hill said.

Out of county judges will be used who do not know the nominees. They will select the winner on the basis of community service performed in the years he or she has resided in Collingsworth County.

"They will be looking for people who have helped make Collingsworth County what it is today," Mrs. Hill emphasized.

The deadline for submitting nominees is Monday, May 6, and they should be turned in to the County Home Demonstration Agent's office.

Any of those who were nominated last year can be nominated again this year.

Macaroni

Macaroni is an "easy" food. It is easy on the eye because of its 170 interesting shapes; easy on the tummy because of its digestibility. It is easy to combine with more expensive foods because of its wheaty, mild flavor, and it is easy on the budget. The only thing that is difficult about macaroni is its untraceable history.

Many colorful stories attribute the introduction of macaroni to Europe to Marco Polo. In recent years, scholars have questioned the Marco Polo theory. The mystery would clear considerably if we could find out where "he" got his recipe. The history of macaroni in the United States is a bit easier to trace.

In 1785, Jefferson went to Europe to serve as our minister to France. When Jefferson returned to the United States, he brought back seeds from European gardens, a French cook, and fond memories of a dish called macaroni. These memories were not enough, however, and in 1789 a Mr. Short was sent to Italy by Thomas Jefferson to see exactly how macaroni was made, and also to purchase a macaroni machine. Mr. Short's trip was a success, and by the time Jefferson was elected President, macaroni pie was one of his favorite dishes. He featured it frequently on White House menus.

Macaroni reached its full popularity after our Civil War, when the influx of people from Italy created an even greater demand for this delicious food. Now, macaroni, spaghetti and noodles are as American as apple pie, and our country has joined ranks with the Germans, the Chinese and others whose cuisine includes a sufficiently large number of pasta dishes to lay claim to macaroni products as a national favorite.

Macaroni is the general term used to describe the group of foods commonly known as spaghetti, macaroni and noodles. Now macaroni products have yellow food coloring added, and they cannot be packaged in colored cellophane or plastic. The golden color of spaghetti and macaroni is the color of the durum wheat itself.

A recipe in a 1792 colonial cookbook gave instructions to cook macaroni in water for three hours, then in broth for an additional ten minutes. After this lengthy cooking, it was to be mixed with bread in a soup tureen!

We, of course, do not endorse this method of macaroni cookery. Today's macaroni foods either cook faster or make a better product when they cook only a few minutes.

Product Pointers

1. Federal law prohibits the addition of artificial coloring to any macaroni product. A golden color is one discernible measure of quality. Look for it.

2. Use one gallon of water and two tablespoons of salt for every pound of macaroni product. A small amount of oil helps prevent sticking and boil-overs.

3. Water must be boiling vigorously before the macaroni is added. Add product slowly so water maintains boiling temperature.

4. Always read manufacturer's directions for cooking a product and cook only until tender, yet firm. DO NOT OVERCOOK.

5. If the macaroni is to be combined with other ingredients in a dish that requires further cooking, cut the recommended cooking time by one third.

6. Macaroni products made from durum do not have to be rinsed if they are to be served immediately. They can be rinsed with cold water before refrigerating to cool and prevent further softening.

Alice Harris, Jackie Hunt Marry Recently in Quiet Amarillo Rites

Miss Alice Ruth Harris of Childress and Jackie Wayne Hunt of Wellington, now serving in the United States Army, were married in a quiet ceremony at the home of the Rev. Clifton Parker, minister of an Amarillo Christian Church on Saturday, March 9 at 7:30 in the evening.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harris of Childress and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hunt.

Rev. Parker performed the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white lace dress in street length. Designed in shift style, it also featured long sleeves.

Witnessing the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mills; Dwight Marchbanks, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Parker, all of Amarillo.

The bride is a senior in Childress High School and will continue her studies there. The bridegroom, who attended the Wellington Schools, entered the Army September 5 and has completed training at Fort Polk, La., and Fort Benning, Ga. He will leave later this month for Oakland, Calif., awaiting transfer to Vietnam.

FTA Chapter Honors Four Teachers at Annual Tea on Monday Afternoon

The Wellington Chapter of the Future Teachers of America was host at its annual tea honoring the faculty and other personnel of the school Monday afternoon in the high school library.

Four women of the school faculty were honored, Mrs. Les White, Mrs. Gus Barton and Mrs. Bernice Welch, each of whom has taught in the Wellington schools 20 years or longer, and Mrs. Dee Coleman, who has taught homemaking here 11 years and who is retiring at the end of this semester. Carnations were presented to each.

Nancy Sikes was master of ceremonies and also presented an original tribute to the teachers in Irish dialect.

Cherry Lewis welcomed the teachers and Mrs. Ralph Word responded. Nancy Thomas sang "I'll Walk with God," accompanied by Cherry.

Refreshments were served by Mary Bearden, Jane Thompson, Janice White and Glenda Kiker.

Mrs. Barton has taught in the Wellington elementary school 24 years, Mrs. White 25, and Mrs. Welch 20.

Mrs. Coleman has taught altogether 26 years. She was Paralee Brock when she came here in 1929 as Collingsworth County Home Demonstration Agent after teaching at Dodson. She and Mr. Coleman were married and this became her home. She taught two years at Dozier and from 1939 to 1941 at Samnorwood. Then she "quit teaching for good."

But World War II came about that time and she continued. Mrs. Coleman taught homemaking nine years in McLean before she and Mr. Coleman left their ranch, built a new home in Wellington and she joined the faculty here.

Exchange Student from Italy Speaks for 1924 Club, High School Girls

By Tanya Horton

An American Field Service student living in Shamrock was the guest speaker for the 1924 Study Club March 14 at the Greenbelt Room. Silvana "Bunny" Bianca of Italy, whose American parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Richerson of Shamrock, spoke to a group which included most of the senior girls of Wellington High School. Bunny told the group some things about her country and how it differed with the United States. She said that the most difficult task for her to adjust to was eating all her food together. In Italy, one course is served at a time.

In her country, everyone does not go to the same high school. There are different high schools, depending on one's particular interests. For instance, Bunny went to a foreign language high school.

The greatest difference in the schools of Italy and American schools is the fact that American high school students take an average of six subjects while Italian students take 12.

FORT PARKER CEMETERY RECALLS EARLY HISTORY

MEXIA. — Old Springfield Cemetery, the only reminder of a flourishing community in Limestone County during the 1830s, has now been closed to further burial by order from the 77th District Court, Groesbeck, according to Mark Gosdin, park services director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Following the closure, work crews cleared the site of brush and undergrowth. Further plans call for installing a fence around the four-acre site, located between the park headquarters building and the main use area in Fort Parker State Recreation Park, eight miles south of here.

The old cemetery, which had been used until recently, could not be maintained by Department personnel until it was closed by court order, according to Murphy Walton, park superintendent. Until the closure, burial was free but was limited to descendants of Negro slaves owned by Springfield inhabitants.

"There are between 150 and 175 graves in the old cemetery," says Seth Wilson, park attendant. "Many of them are unmarked so we don't know for sure."

Tombstones in the old cemetery tell a good bit of the history of the town. One large professionally carved stone reads: "Dr. N. Brookins, born eastern New York, Jan. 24, 1819, died by Mexican violence, slain Oct. 1854 for gold."

Twenty small stones mark the graves of youngsters who died of smallpox in an 1855 epidemic. The Stroud family, original owners of the site, has an enclosed burial plot for six members of the family, including a servant.

The State of Texas has erected two stones: one for Sander Walker, a veteran of the War of Independence; and another for Joseph Penn Lynch, who served in the San Jacinto Campaign.

Couple Seeks Loco Info

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Maurer of Temple are Texans by choice, and when something occurs in their adopted state that interests them, they come to see it first hand.

So it was that last week they came to Loco, a visit prompted by news articles concerning unidentified flying objects.

Loco is shown on the latest road maps, and the highway sign says Loco is two miles to the east. The Temple couple drove two miles and found—not a small town, but a single house! Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Mayhugh, the present owners, invited the couple in and answered their questions about the community and its history.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurer then drove to Wellington to spend the night at Cherokee Inn.

They have lived in Texas since 1960. Formerly of St. Louis, Mr. Maurer is a retired engineer who was with Ralston Purina 33 years. Mrs. Maurer taught in the East St. Louis public schools and St. Louis Jewish Parochial Schools 37 years. They came to Temple to be near a daughter. Last year, they said, they traveled in Europe, including Russia and Siberia.

Game Wardens Get New Names

AUSTIN.—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is completely out of game wardens. Their titles have been changed to wildlife management officers.

"We've conducted a thorough study of game warden activities and duties and have found they use only 35% of their time enforcing game laws, and the rest assisting with wildlife management projects or meeting with the public," says Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director of the department.

"I was very surprised to find out how much time the average warden spends talking to scouts, school children, civic and church groups."

Mauermann explained that the whole concept of law enforcement has changed since the name "game warden" was selected.

"In the early days, the hook and draw was effective law enforcement. Today, the best law enforcement comes from a better informed public. Today's hunter and fisherman are mostly urbanites who understand the philosophy behind the game laws. They know, for instance, that bag limits are established to protect the game breeding stock so their children and grandchildren can enjoy the same sport they themselves enjoy."

In reality, Mauermann said, the game warden duties and activities will not change from what they are now.

"They'll still issue the necessary citations, walk the same wildlife census lines and continue importing the same knowledge of the out-of-doors to our youngsters," he said.

Farm Research Program Begins Year's Work, Reviews 1967

One of the county's most influential agencies operates quietly and without much publicity. It is the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program, sponsored jointly by the Extension Service and the Texas Experiment Station.

This project has completed 11 years of testing and research to learn farming methods and crop varieties are best adapted here. Some of the recommendations are best adopted by the sponsoring agencies for use throughout Texas.

Results of the 1967 demonstrations will be released in booklet form within a few days. Those concerned with agriculture in Collingsworth County and the immediate area, will be interested in the results. Dwane Scott, farm demonstration assistant, and Sammy Helmers, county agent, can discuss the work with you. Or a more thorough study of the tests and results can be made by obtaining one of these books.

Already plans are made for the 1968 "on the farm" research program. Like the work in other years, this year's tests will add valuable information on Collingsworth farming.

OTHER EDITORS SAY . . .

Danger of Dictation In Farm Program

One part of the administration's new farm proposal—aptly described by Agricultural Secretary Orville L. Freeman as "the most significant and far-reaching" he has helped to prepare—merits cautious consideration before it's allowed to become law.

Euphemistically styled "the national food bank" plan, it's actually a replacement for the present commodity price support program.

Under the present program, the government lends farmers money on specified food surplus crops and pays to have the food stored. If the farmer defaults on the loan, and only then, the government takes possession. Then the government is charged to sell the stored commodity at the first opportunity.

The new plan would allow the government to buy the surplus commodities outright, hold them in storage and then sell or release them at any time it seemed desirable to do so.

Such provisions would give the federal government a considerably stronger controlling influence than it already has on the agricultural economy. If enlarged upon, as government programs almost invariably are, it could become almost dictatorial management.

A far more likely development, however, is that the authority created under the bill would through misuse result in hideous economic distortions. Theoretically, the government would buy foods in times of shortage to combat inflation. But the plan probably would work like the "new economics," with political rather than economic considerations wielding the dominant influence over its operations. Thus, in an election year the government would be no more disposed to dump stored surpluses on the market to prevent farm price rises than it is now inclined to enact a tax increase to combat general inflation.

The proposal appears to have potential as an instrument for achieving agricultural price stability. But it certainly needs the kind of airing that will get the people, farmers and consumers alike, informed of what they are getting and the dangers it poses. Since economic and political policy are inseparable in their practical application, the political implications of measures presented purely on their theoretical economic merit must be given the most careful attention.

AUSTIN.—All those candidates for governor got a hefty bit of pressure off them when both the state Democratic and Republican executive committees decided to put the question of liquor-by-the-drink on the May 4 ballot.

With increasing concern over liquor-law enforcement and the Texas Liquor Control Board, coupled with Gov. John Connally's push for liquor-by-the-drink, gubernatorial candidates have been pressured hard for their stand on the issue.

Now, with the question being put to the voters in a referendum, all the candidates have to say it that they will abide by the wishes of the voters.

Also on the ballot as referendums will be the question of pari-mutuel horse race betting and the creation of a Texas Dairy Commission with power to regulate and fix the price of milk and other dairy products.

Although none of the voters' answers to the three questions will be binding, the issues do assure a high turnout of the more than 4,000,000 registered voters. It will take an act of the Legislature to put any of them in effect. Ballots will merely say: "This proposition is only an expression of public opinion and has no force or effect as law."

Legislature directed the first primary vote on local option pari-mutuel gambling. Petitions signed by 119,000 voters called for voter opinion on creating a Texas Dairy Commission with power to regulate milk prices.

Both party leaders decided the liquor-by-the-drink issue is hot enough to warrant a check on that, too. This referendum will be the first opportunity Texas voters have had to express their opinions statewide since the repeal of prohibition in the 1930s.

Campaigns already are shaping up on the high-voltage drinking and gambling issues. Opponents of a dairy commission also are organized for battle. Anti-Crime Council of Texas has formed to combat organized crime and defeat the racing proposition. Committee for Tourism and Regulated Sale of Mixed Drinks stands ready to get back into action. Dry spokesmen report they have organized to fight liquor-by-the-drink. Texas Racing Association is ready with a campaign for a wagering proposal.

Meanwhile, House committee studying liquor laws has asked for an attorney general's opinion on constitutionality of a mixed drink local option bill.

Parks Improved

While finishing touches were applied to the $1,000,000 renovation of the Davis Mountains State Scenic Park near Fort Davis, new federal grants were approved for four other state parks.

Federal funds of $104,150, matched by a state appropriation of like amount will finance a 498-acre park 14 miles southwest of Cleburne.

Federal funds of $28,500, also matched by legislative appropriation, is earmarked for Mission San Francisco del Los Tejas Historic Park northwest of Crockett, a 118-acre historical park in the Piney Woods.

Lake Brownwood State Recreation Park near Brownwood will get $117,150 federal money matched by the state for its 538-acre park.

Another federal grant of $99,900, matched by state funds, will create the 588-acre Bentzen-Roi Grande Valley State Scenic Park near Mission.

Dedication tentatively is set for March 28 of the Davis Mountains Park. Also slated for dedication by Governor Connally that same day at the Park is scenic Texas Mountain Trail, one of ten unveiled by Connally last January to lure tourists off the beaten path and into Texas areas of outstanding beauty and historic interest.

Screwworm Cases Cut

Texas' screwworm eradication program cut reported cases of infestation from 49,494 in 1962 to 1,219 in 1967. So reports Auditor C. H. Cavness in his audit of the Animal Health Commission.

Commission's share of the program has been turned over to the federal government except for security supervision of the Rio Grande Valley screwworm fly production plant and the required inspection force.

Courts Speak

State won its $1,000 civil penalty suit against a Bellville contractor under a water permit law. The road builder was first permanently enjoined from using public waters without permit from the Texas Water Rights Commission.

State Supreme Court denied rehearing of decision that Hillsboro cannot enforce a peddlers and vendors ordinance against an insurance company.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a six-year probation sentence for a Houston lawyer who encouraged his client to lie on the witness stand.

Same court ordered a new trial for the man who received the death penalty for the shooting death of a potato chip salesman in Chambers County.

Appointments

John Stokes of Lufkin is the new executive director and special counsel for the Republican Party of Texas. He succeeds Al Allison of Dallas who resigned to accept a private business offer.

Gubernatorial candidate John Hill named Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin as executive director of his statewide campaign.

Gov. Connally appointed A. E. Fawcett, Jr. of Houston and R. F. (Bob) Byers of Dallas to the Texas Water Well Drillers Board.

House Speaker Ben Barnes has appointed Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock as chairman of the House Interim Committee to study egg importation and grading.

William J. Harding will direct activities of the new Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies.

John Peace of San Antonio, a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas System, has been appointed by Chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr., as a member of the Board for Lease of University Lands.

Moratorium Asked

The Texas Animal Health Commission has joined the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in asking the U.S. Department of Agriculture to delay a proposed new regulation prohibiting interstate shipment of cattle from counties not certified for brucellosis control.

Under the proposed regulation, cattle in uncertified counties could be sold for consumption only in Texas, unless the cattleman had his herd qualified himself, which involves personal expense.

Ninety-five Texas counties are not certified, and one AHC official estimates that three years will be required for compliance. As the regulation now reads, it will go into effect sometime between May 1 and Jan. 1, 1969.

The USDA regulation is being sought by those states that are completely certified and do not want infected cattle shipped in from states not so certified.

Short Snorts

City of Abilene has received permission from the Texas Water Rights Commission to divert water from the Brazos River's Clear Fork as long as flow in the Fork is not reduced to less than 200 cubic feet per second.

Rio Grande cotton farmers have been given a 13-day planting extension (until April 13) because excessive rains and low soil temperatures have made planting impractical under the old schedule, says Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

State Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls, who is unopposed for re-election, has taken a leave of absence from the Wichita Falls Record-News and Times to handle press relations for Dolph Briscoe in his campaign for governor.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee, sustained a heart attack in Austin after attending a meeting of the special House subcommittee on liquor-law revision.

Atty. General Martin in a new opinion has held that the highest-ranking officers eligible for Texas National Guard Army Board membership are Brig. Gen. D. A. Thompson, Col. Lewis E. Bracy Jr., and Col. Charles A. Francis.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

It is sure nice for us gullible country-type consumers to have a beautiful lady like Miss Betty Furness at bat for us against tricky labeling and advertising and salesmen with credibility gaps.

But it has to be admitted, sadly, that she has not lifted one cut eyebrow at the most depredatious gang of consumer-robbers in the business.

Not a word has she said in our defense against the ravaging of a spend-crazy Congress which is plundering our pocketbooks for a lot more than the giant quart can ever gouge us for.

Easter Seal Society Offers Help to Handicapped of Area

Persons with physical handicaps who need treatment and service in Collingsworth County may find the services they need through Jack Neeley, who is the Collingsworth County representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

The Easter Seal Society offers rehabilitation services to children and adults with physical disabilities including speech and hearing problems, according to Mr. Neeley.

The Society also offers an information and referral service that will direct residents of Collingsworth County to other appropriate sources of health and welfare aid in the area, he said.

Mr. Neeley urged parents, doctors, nurses, clergymen and other individuals and organizations to refer handicapped persons who need assistance to the Easter Seal Society by contacting him at the Wellington State Bank, Wellington, Texas 79095.

The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment centers where services are provided to crippled children and adults regardless of their ability to pay. Physical, occupational and speech therapy are offered to help the handicapped to overcome their disabilities.

The Easter Seal program is financed by contributions made during the Easter Seal Campaign which is now under way and will continue until April 14, Easter Sunday.

The seniors, with the length of time they have been in the band, and their hours, are:

22 Report for Draft April 8

Texas Local Board No. 20, Selective Service System, which includes Collingsworth County, has a call for 22 registrants to be forwarded for induction and 35 registrants for armed forces physical examination on April 8.

State draft boards are being called upon to furnish 2,378 men for the Army and Marines in April, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

This compares to a quota of 1,948 for the Army in March and is the largest monthly call for the draft boards since October 1966, when the share was 2,845.

The draft boards will forward 8,500 men to the armed forces examining and entrance stations in April for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in preparation to fill future quotas.

This compares to 7,200 being forwarded for this purpose in March, 4,590 sent in February and 5,455 in January. The March pre-induction quota originally was 4,200, but was increased because of higher induction quotas.

The April induction and pre-induction quotas were mailed to local boards by state Selective Service headquarters on March 13.

The April call of 2,378 men for Texas is the state's share of a national quota of 48,000, the Army to get 44,000 of this number, and the Marine Corps 4,000.

The order of selection to fill the April and March induction calls may be from among examined and acceptable men who are:

(1) delinquents 19 years old and older, (2) volunteers under age 26, and (3) nonvolunteers 19 through 25 years old, single and married, with those married after Aug. 26, 1965 being selected ahead of those married on or before that date.

April 1 Final Day for Two Medicare Parts

April 1 is the deadline for two parts of Medicare, Travis C. Briggs, manager of the Amarillo social security office warned today.

This is the last day older people not previously enrolled in the voluntary doctor bill insurance under medicare can sign up with coverage to begin effective next July 1.

Although most older people in the Panhandle are now enrolled, some still need to take action by April 1.

Those who miss out on this second chance to enroll will have to wait another year, and pay a premium that is 10% higher for each full year they could have had the medical protection, but were not enrolled.

Those who wait three years past their first chance to sign up for the medical insurance will not be able to sign up at all.

The second deadline on the same day concerns medical insurance payments for services received during July, August and September 1966.

Anyone who had a "doctor bill" part of medicare during that period and who had bills amounting to more than $50 during the entire last six months of 1966 may be eligible for some medicare payment if it has not already been claimed.

Briggs emphasized that medicare claims may be made even if the bills for services have not yet been paid.

Panhandle residents who need assistance in applying for the medicare benefits, or who wish to enroll in medicare, should get in touch with the social security offices at 1006 S. Adams, Amarillo, or in the Highes Building in Pampa. Field representatives from these two offices visit most of the larger towns in the area regularly.

Farm Bureau Opposes Unions For Agricultural Workers

WACO.—Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean has urged Texas members on Congress to use their "considerable influence" to prevent passage of proposals that would extend the Labor Management Relations Act to agriculture.

In a letter to the two Texas Senators and all of the Texas delegation in the House of Representatives, the Farm Bureau leader from Victoria said passage of the proposed legislation would be detrimental to both farmers and farm workers. He asserted that farmers would be particularly vulnerable to strikes at harvest time, and added that they would be forced to substitute more machinery for hand labor.

H.R. 4769, and S. 8, companion bills, are expected to come before the House and Senate, respectively, in the near future. The bills provide for:

(1) Collective bargaining between a farmer and a union representing a majority of his employees.

(2) Subjecting farmers to the unfair labor practice provisions of the Act if they do anything to discourage unionization.

(3) Authorizing a union and a farmer to sign a pre-employment contract requiring workers to join the union seven days after employment, and providing that the union would have the first opportunity to refer workers to the farmer.

Dean commended the recent, almost unprecedented action of the House Agriculture Committee in adopting a resolution asking the House Education and Labor Committee to reject the bill.

"The Agriculture Committee was exactly right in emphasizing that farmers are uniquely susceptible to strikes, labor disputes, and work lapses because of the perishability of their crops and that passage of the bill would raise farm production costs and further reduce farm income," Dean said.

The head of the state's biggest farm organization said farmers are "uniquely susceptible" because farms cannot be closed down to sit out a strike.

"Strikes called at harvest time, and, of course, this is the time to expect one, could mean that a farmer would lose not only a year's income, but the big capital investment necessary to bring a crop to harvest stage," Dean said. "Under these conditions, a producer would be under terrific economic pressure to capitulate to the union, even though its demands might be arbitrary and unreasonable," he added.

Dean stressed that union members themselves would become ultimate victims of their own actions.

"Farmers have been reducing hired farm labor employment at the rate of 100,000 a year," he explained. "This trend would be accelerated if farms were unionized because there would be additional incentives for farmers to substitute machinery for hand labor."

Dean emphasized that jobs would be lost for those unskilled and semi-skilled workers who are most in need of job opportunities.

Band Wins Honors at Shamrock Competition

That Skyrocket Band was chosen the Outstanding Band in Shamrock's St. Patrick's Day parade Saturday, March 16, then in concert competition it received a first division rating.

Playing in Class AA, but using AAA music for part of the performance, the Wellington High School band received high praise from the judges, J. R. McEntyre of Odessa Permian High School and Dan Gibbs of Monahans High School. Mr. McEntyre commented that the band's rendition of Totem Pole March showed "very nice controlled sound, good tempo, excellent effect—a very excellent rendition of this march." Praise also came for the opening effect, phrasing and percussive effect of the more difficult "Overture in B Flat."

"I'm very sure that you and your director are well aware of most of your problems, because this is an excellent high school band. I enjoyed hearing you play very much."

After commenting on the nice opening of Totem Pole, Mr. Gibbs said:

"You are really doing a good job on this march. The overall sound is generally very, very fine." The overture, he added, showed a "wonderful sounding group, balance very good, an outstanding job on this number."

The judges gave several suggestions for improvement.

These are the numbers That Skyrocket Band will play in the University Interscholastic League concert and sight reading contests five weeks from now, Director James Larson said. The band had practiced only two weeks before the Shamrock contest.

The UIL contest this year will be at Panhandle.

Car Inspections Still Lagging

"With the April 15 deadline for obtaining inspection stickers drawing near, only 46% of the registered vehicles in this county have been inspected," said Sgt. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol supervisor.

In order to avoid the inconvenience of the last minute rush and the possible shortage of seat belts, motorists are urged to get their vehicles inspected promptly.

Any driver operating a vehicle registered in Texas that is required to be inspected, on public roads after April 15 without a valid 1968 inspection sticker will be operating in violation of the law and is punishable by a fine not to exceed $200.

Susan Lowe Wins Race

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe.

Your Money Goes Farther when it stays at home

Round and 'round our dollars go... building local trade volume with every turnover... when we spend them with our own home stores and service establishments.

And every added dollar of trade volume in the community means a little better jobs for us... increased business profits, better property values... a little better support for our churches, schools and other civic facilities... better service to meet our daily and emergency needs.

Just a single dollar... spent at home instead of being used to "pick up" some article in the city... may account for $5 or $6 or more of additional home trade volume as it goes 'round and 'round among us.

Each such dollar put on the home-trade merry-go-round is an investment in enlightened selfishness... as it comes around and back into our own hands again from time to time.

In his forecast for 1968 published in The Leader at the first of the year, Roger Babson predicted that gold speculators stood a better chance of losing than winning. That is what happened this week. The speculators who pushed the price of gold up to $44 an ounce took a beating as they tried to sell their gold back for francs, pounds or dollars. This happened after the seven nations making up the gold pool denied individuals access to their gold stocks and they agreed not to sell gold to any country that sells gold to individuals which takes care of France and an idea that De Gaulle may have had in selling off some of his nation's gold at a profit.

This is high finance about which most of us know very little; but it is evident that the dollar will not be devalued officially as was the British pound. What most of us want to know, however, is how would devaluation of the dollar affect our own pocketbooks. What would it have done to the cost of groceries, drugs and cars? Bankers I have talked with here and elsewhere say it would have been practically nothing. There would be no apparent change.

Here are some of the reasons the money knowledgeable men say there will be no loss in buying power of the dollar even if it should be devaluated. Our official dollar has been the same since 1934; but our real dollar has declined to where it will buy 40¢ as compared to a dollar in 1940. A country's money system does not have to be tied to gold at all if the people who manage the system are wise and honest. These same virtues must be in the leadership of the nation under the gold standard, the silver standard or paper money if the nation is to remain strong.

The strength of a nation depends upon its productivity, upon how much it can create in goods and services. The real strength of its money depends upon the same base. Our money mess is not so much a matter of gold. It is that we are producing less than we are using and giving away. No man can remain solvent pursuing such a course. Can a nation?

In other years Louise and I have had our share of exciting automobile rides. I have written about the drive through torrential rain, sometimes heavy hail and high winds we encountered in June of 1965 coming from Perryton to Wellington. There was also the account of a ride through the blinding snow following the Van Cliburn concert in Amarillo; but we turned in a performance on March 11 that should be the driving highlight of our latter years.

We set forth on a trip to Austin and Houston about 11 o'clock in the morning with steady snow falling between Wellington and Childress at which point we decided to go by Wichita Falls and Mineral Wells due to the fact that we heard the ground was frozen and the roads were being closed near Abilene. Midway between Childress and Quanah we ran into heavy snow and it continued and continued through Wichita Falls, Jacksboro, Mineral Wells, Lampasas and into Austin. It was a 440 mile ride in thick, wet snow and it will probably be a conversation piece when we sit by the fire in our old age; but I had just as soon not have too many of them.

Our trip to Houston was uneventful and the report was satisfactory; but the action started to pick up soon after we returned to Austin. Our car was stolen from the Driskill Hotel; but the doorman did not report it and the loss was not discovered until the next morning. Saturday the car was located across the border from Laredo and what progress the insurance company is making about getting the car out of Mexico is not known at this time. I still have the Driskill claim check, but you can't get much mileage out of a piece of cardboard.

We returned to Wellington in an Avis Rent-A-Car (not No. 1 but they try harder) and for a time our new Dodge and D. E. Scott's new bucket seat Oldsmobile caused people to lift their eyebrows.

Three weeks ago we published The Leader on February 29, an event that had not occurred since 1940 and this week we are publishing the paper on March 21, the first day of Spring, which does not happen too often. What a way to start out the spring! We received three inches of rain in January, three good snows in February and now good rains and wet snow in the middle of March when we sometimes have nothing but wind and sand.

According to the Encyclopedia Americana, the vernal equinox is when the day and the night are both 12 hours in length; but according to the calendar put out by the Farm Bureau, March 18 was the time when the day was 12 hours long and on March 21 the day will be 12 hours and 8 minutes in length. Set Rattlesnake Derby at Mangum

The Mangum Chamber of Commerce has announced the third annual Rattlesnake Derby to be held at Mangum on April 5, 6 and 7. The Flea Market will again be held this year in conjunction with the rattlesnake hunt. New to the week-end event this year will be a domino tournament to be held on Saturday night. These, plus other special features, are planned to provide interest and entertainment for the entire family.

Since the Mangum hunt is still relatively new, many large "rattlers" remain in the extensive hunt areas. This was evidenced by the hundreds of snakes caught last year. Five persons were bitten last year and special precautions will be taken this year to assure proper indoctrination for hunters and medical attention for those who may get bitten. Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded hunters catching the largest, smallest, most pounds, and most snakes. Marked snakes worth $25 each will be released in the hunt areas.

The Venomaires Reptile Hunters Club of Fort Worth will again assist in conducting the hunt. This club has over 40 members and was founded several years ago to "educate the public about snakes and to benefit sportsmen and landowners." They will operate the snake pit full of venomous snakes, demonstrate "milking" of rattlesnakes as well as give instructions on catching and handling rattlesnakes.

A "Miss Derby Princess" contest will be held Friday evening with the winner reigning as queen over the hunt. Dances and a country and western music get-together are scheduled for Saturday night. A carnival will run during the entire hunt. Presentation of awards, auction of snakes and a merchandise drawing for registered hunters will be held on Sunday.

Men in Service

HM/3 George W. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Howard, 707 Childress St., has been assigned since Jan. 1 to a Combined Action Group of the Third Marine Amphibious Force in Vietnam.

His parents received a newsletter-bulletin from his CAP unit and a personal note to them from his chief, which said:

"I only thought you'd be interested in reading this and to know George is doing an outstanding job in CAP. I am very satisfied in his work. You can be proud, as I am of his work in the CAP Program."

His work includes field medicine, treating those who are wounded.

Before being placed in the CAP unit, Howard helped to train South Vietnamese for medical work and also worked among the civilians, event to the delivery of babies, his parents said, and his record in his field of duty is considered outstanding.

His rotation tour is due July 2, 1968.

Another note to Chief P. D. Moriarty to men of Howard's unit was enclosed:

"During the past month there has been several instances of live-saving first aid, long, tough hours under intense fire. We've seen many of our comrades wounded or killed. We've seen our Med-Cap program cut almost 40 percent because of intense VC-NVA activity, but in this time of strife 'The Chief' has seen and observed our Corpsmen come through like 'Champs'. In your hour of test and trial, you have lived up to the motto 'Serving God and Country' with honor, pride and dedication to duty. To you 'Docs' the Chief says 'Well done—keep up the good work, team.'"
