Shultz To Head New Agency

Office Of Budget, Management Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has selected Labor Secretary George P. Shultz to head an ambitious new project to bring "business management at the highest level" to the sprawling $200 billion-a-year federal bureaucracy.

The appointment, announced Wednesday, could make Shultz the key man in the administration because his office of executive management and budget will have a finger on every government program.

Nixon also promoted Labor Undersecretary James D. Hodgson to succeed Shultz and named Federal Trade Commissioner (FTC) Chairman Caspar W. Weinberger as deputy director of the new management agency. Weinberger will have responsibility for preparing the annual government budget.

It was the second Cabinet shakeup in five days. Nixon announced Saturday that Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson would replace Robert H. Finch as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and Finch would beocme a White House counselor.

On Capitol Hill, reaction from both parties was favorable. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the transfers of Shultz and Finch "would help to better the administration's outlook."

Both Finch and Shultz have broad outlooks on the nation's economy and feelings," Mansfield said.

The agency Shultz will head was created under a reorganization plan drafted by Nixon earlier this year and approved by Congress. It combines the duties of the old Budget Bureau —which it replaces—with a first-time effort to bring effective management control to the federal establishment.

Robert P. Mayo, who served as budget director since Nixon took office, was shifted to the White House as a counselor.

Nixon told newsmen gathered in the sun-drenched White House rose garden the new job "finally brings real business management at the very highest level into the executive branch of government."

In a related development, the White House announced presidential counsel John D. Ehrlichman would serve as chief of staff for the newly created Domestic Affairs Council.

Nixon will act as chairman of the council, which will include all Cabinet members except Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Shultz said the council will "determine what is to be done and the office of executive management will determine how to do it and how well." He said there would be substantial overlap between the two functions.

NUMBER UNCERTAIN

Sale Of Jets To Israel To Be Announced By US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing to announce some time next week agreement on the sale of a limited number of jet warplanes to Israel, while making a top-level, behind-the-scenes bid to Egypt to begin peace talks.

While declining to disclose the number of jets involved, administration officials indicated it would be a small fraction of the 125 Phantoms and Skyhawks Israel wants to buy on easy credit terms.

President Nixon and the State Department have informed Arab leaders great "restraint" will be exercised regarding the number of planes at least for the time being, while an effort is made to persuade Egypt President Gamal Abdel Nasser to open indirect negotiations with the neighboring state.

The U.S. decision to make a direct approach to Egypt probably in a letter from Nixon to Nasser, will be one of the new "initiatives" Secretary of State William P. Rogers has promised will be taken by the United States in the Middle East.

Officials acknowledged this would mean bypassing the Soviet-American negotiations as well as the Big Four talks at the United Nations. They said the aim would be the same: To get Israeli-Egyptian agreement on a formula for negotiations under the auspices of U.N. Mediator Gunnar Jarring of Sweden.

Officials contended they still were uncertain whether the announcement on warplanes to Israel would mention any specific number, but they doubted it.

They said it would be more likely pegged to replacing Isralei losses and making up for a certain percentage of gradual obsolescence.

Nixon, when he met late last week with Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki of Morocco, gave Laraki a message to King Hussein of Jordan, which according to officials here, promised the Israeli plane deal would involve very few aircraft at this time. Laraki had brought an appeal from Hussein for refusal of any planes to Israel.

The ambassadors of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Jordan, who called on Undersecretary of State Elliott Richardson Friday to argue against planes for Israel, were given similar assurances the United States would act with restraint.

The Israeli government is dismayed over evidence the United States is going to parcel out warplanes a few at a time.

They wanted announcement of an agreement to sell a large number of planes, arguing that this was necessary as a "psychological blow" to persuade the Soviets against increasing their already considerable military involvement in Egypt's defense.

HUSSEIN

Amman Returning To Normal After Four Days Of Fighting

BEIRUT (UPI) — — Jordan King Hussein said today things were returning to normal in Amman following four days of fighting between Jordanian troops and Palestinian guerrillas demanding the right to launch unrestricted raids into Israel.

Hussein sent cables to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Premier Moammar al-Khadafy of Libya that said, "the situation is improving very quickly."

Jordan central committee of the Palestine Resistance Movement and other guerrilla organizations again demanded that "the Jordanian cabinet and national assembly directly shoulder their responsibility toward traitorous and conspiring elements" and demanded they be thrown out of Jordan.

Casualties were high in the four days of fighting in Amman. The Egyptian Middle East News Agency (MENA) said at least 500 persons had been killed, including 150 dead on Tuesday. Some estimates were higher.

One of the victims of Wednesday's violence was Maj. Robert P. Perry, U.S. Army attache. He was killed by Arab guerrillas demanding entry into his home in Amman.

King Hussein went on Amman Radio Wednesday night to appeal for an end to the fighting.

"It is a shame that the weapons of Arabs should be aimed at other Arabs," Hussein said.

Neighboring Syria said it would not stand with arms folded if the fighting continued.

"We are with the Palestinian resistance to the very end . . . and shall not tolerate any attempt to weaken or liquidate the resistance movement," an official broadcast by Damascus Radio said.

Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla group, said Crown Prince Hassan, supported by "lackeys" of Western powers, was trying to sweep Hussein from the throne.

Amman Radio said calm had returned to the capital at 8 p.m. Wednesday and that joint army-guerrilla patrols had the situation under control. Al Fatah spokesmen said Jordanian artillery was pounding Arab refugee camps in Amman "indiscriminately," injuring scores of women and children.

Appeals for calm came from several Arab nations, including Iraq, Kuwait, Egypt, Libya and the Sudan.

JAMES ALLEN FIRED

Democrats Say Commissioner Gave Administration No Choice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats said today Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. had given the Nixon administration "no choice" but to fire him.

They cited Allen's public criticism of President Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia and his statements calling for elimination of segregated schools, in his words, "no matter how difficult the problems. . ."

"Whatever the reasons, I think the commissioner has been sort of leading up to it," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

"He left the administration no choice. He's been at odds with the administration."

When the decision to fire Allen did come, it was announced abruptly. A three-sentence statement from the office, of outgoing Secretary Robert H. Finch of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare late Wednesday afternoon said Finch "has asked for and received" Allen's resignation and it "is effective immediately." The White House said Nixon concurred.

Allen told reporters later he had no advance warning. He scheduled a news conference at noon EDT today to tell his story.

Finch's action cleared the way for Elliot L. Richardson, HEW secretary-designate, to appoint his own commissioner and not be directly linked with Allen's dismissal.

Informed sources said Glenn S. Dumke, 53, chancelor of the California State College in Los Angeles since 1962, was a leading choice to replace Allen.

Pampa Girl Treated And Released After Pickup-Pedestrian Mishap

A pickup-pedestrian accident at 123 S. Ballard shortly before 10 a.m. today sent a 4-year-old Pampa girl to Highland General Hospital with leg injuries.

Police said the driver of the pickup, Charles Harris Browder, 605 Red Deer, was entering the service station parking lot when the girl ran into the truck.

The girl was taken to the hospital by Carmichael-Whatley Ambulance where she was treated and released.

Kennedy Announces Campaign Plans

BOSTON (UPI)—U.S. Senate Majority Whip Edward M. Kennedy, fulfilling a promise made last summer after Mary Jo Kopechne died in his car, announced today he would seek re-election to a full six-year term, ruling himself out of the 1972 presidential campaign.

The 38-year-old Democrat, one of the most frequent and outspoken of antiwar critics, made the announcement in his Boston apartment overlooking the Charles River.

Kennedy's opponent will be former Republican State Committee Chairman Josiah Spaulding.

Kennedy first was elected to the Senate in 1962 in a special election to fill the unexpired term of his brother John when he was elected President. Benjamin Smith, former roommate of John F. Kennedy when they were at Harvard, had filled the Senate seat by appointment after the older Kennedy had been elected to the White House and before the special election.

In 1964, Kennedy severely injured his back in a plane crash while flying to the Democratic state convention in West Springfield. He was hospitalized until Christmas but still swamped his Republican opponent, Howard Wihtemore, in the November election.

Prisoner's Wife Refuses To Open Hanoi Letters

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The wife of a Vietnam War prisoner says she has refused to open letters apparently sent by her husband because they come from Hanoi through a U.S. Peace group she believes is "working to promote the interests" of North Vietnam.

Mrs. Edwin A. Schuman III told a House internal security subcommittee Wednesday she would rather deal with the Communists than with the New Mobilization Committee to End the war in Vietnam (New Mobe).

Senate Faces Critical Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) —After four weeks of debate, the Senate was to have reached decision today on legislation that would allow President Nixon to reinvade Cambodia if necessary to protect U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Both sides believed the vote, scheduled for 1 p.m. EDT, would be extremely close.

The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., would grant an exemption from proposed Cooper - Church Amendment which would cut off funds for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia after July 1.

Byrd's proviso would permit a new incursion into Cambodia after U.S. troops are withdrawn if Nixon deems it necessary for the protection of American forces in South Vietnam.

The fate of the Cooper-Church Amendment depends heavily on today's vote.

If the Byrd Amendment is defeated, opponents of the Cooper - Church Amendment plan to delay a showdown vote until after U.S. troops are withdrawn from Cambodia.

If the Byrd Amendment was withdrawn from Cambodia. passed, even key supporters of the Cooper-Church Amendment planned to vote against their own proposal which then easily would have been defeated.

Communists Return To Tourist Center

PHOM PENH (UPI)—Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops seized part of the ancient ruins of Angkor Wat today and launched an attack on the Siem Reap airport, from which Communist forces were driven last weekend.

"It is a classical Viet Cong maneuver of useing churches and temples as sanctuaries from which to launch attacks," said a Cambodian military spokesman.

In South Vietnam, Viet Cong units killed 70 civilians and wounded 71 others in wiping out a village in the nation's northern quarter. U.S. military spokesmen said 156 homes were destroyed by the Viet Cong at Ba Ren, 13 miles southeast of Da Nang.

The military spokesman estimated an entire North Vietnamese division of from 8,000 to 10,000 men was massed in the Siem Reap and Kompong Thom area.

He said no Thai aircraft or troops had helped Cambodia in the defense of Siem Reap despite persistent reports Thailand had sent planes to Cambodia's aid.

The renewed fighting near Siem Reap airport first flared late Wednesday afternoon when Cambodians repulsed an apparent probing attack. Fighting broke out with more vigor at 1 a.m. today and grew in intensity.

Another communique told of an attack by 300 Viet Cong against Vihear Suor, 13 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. Cambodian forces repelled the attack.

A military spokesman said the road to Kompong Som, Cambodia's only deep water port, was clear and that Tuesday's attack at Kampong Seilu, 70 miles west-southwest of Phnom Penh, was against military barracks and was not an attempt to cut the highway.

In Cambodia's Fish Hook region, American troops fought two battles with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces Wednesday and found tons of arms and ammunition.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Pollution of Texas beaches brought strong recommendations to Senate committees for curbs on offshore oil exploration, vigorous enforcement of anti-spill regulations and creation of a national oil company.

Senate beach and pipeline study committees listened to a full day of testimony. Highlights included:

—Complaint of pipeline committee consultant Terrence O'Rourke that state agencies seldom file cases to collect fines for oil spill pollutions. O'Rourke said that he believes Texas would have a fund of "millions of dollars" from fines to combat pollution of strong enforcement were the rule. Railroad Commission Chief Enforcement Officer Roy Payne acknowledged under questioning that the Commission has never filed lawsuit to punish accidental pollution through spills.

—Statement by Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston that the oil industry should not be permitted to drill in coastal waters until it can give assurances it has technology to prevent spills.

Recommendation of Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur that double safety devices be installed on huge coastal rigs so emergency manual shut-offs could be used when automated equipment fails or is destroyed by fires.

Suggestion by Austin journalist Ronnie Dugger that a national oil company be established to produce oil on public lands. Dugger said former Gov. Ross Sterling, himself an oil company executive, as far back as 1931 had proposed the state drill its own oil and that President Nixon's task force wants the federal government to finance exploration and development of an emergency standby reserve.

—Recommendation by governor's aide John Shanahan Jr. for tighter rules over oil industry operating in state waters and legislative designation of responsibility for oil spill contingency planning.

COURTS SPEAK — In district court cases at Houston and El Paso, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin won first judicial orders checking air pollution by trash burning and industrial smoke. Civil penalties were assessed in the Robert's Dump case, Houston. An El Paso smelting and refining firm was given deadlines for installing anti-pollution devices.

Supreme Court held that cities under 5,000 (Lindale) can't annex territory without consent of the people living in the area.

High Court set July arguments on the issue of whether an insurance company (Allstate) issuing uninsured motorist coverage should be allowed to enter court against its own policy holder on the side of uninsured drivers to prove its client was partly at fault or his injuries less than claimed.

Supreme Court reversed the $42,892 judgment awarded a 79-year-old woman injured in a stairway fall at Houston's Astrodome.

Attorney General announced acceptance of voluntary compliance from a Beaumont housewares franchiser, agreeing to discontinue advertising and sales practices questioned as deceptive.

APPOINTMENTS — Former State Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline is the new director of hearings and permits for Texas Water Quality Board. Jim Showen, who served as acting director, will continue to serve as senior hearing examiner.

Houston Mayor Louis Welch was named to a vacancy (succeeding Al Henry, also of Houston) on the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

San Antonio public relations man Jim Battersby was named executive vice-president of Discover Texas Association to replace James M. Gaines, who became director of HemisFair Plaza in San Antonio. Headquarters of the privately-supported tourist-promotion group also moved with Battersby from Austin to San Antonio.

SHOULD JP'S BE LAWYERS? — State Bar will take up a resolution at its San Antonio convention July 2 urging the legislature to require urban county judges and justices of the peace have credentials as lawyers.

Resolution suggests attorney qualifications for judges of counties over 50,000 and for JP's in counties over 200,000. Among other resolutions on the agenda is one seeking higher pay for lawyers in military service.

REGULATORY AUTHORITY SOUGHT — State Department of Agriculture has requested power to outlaw chemical compounds harmful to public.

Commissioner John C. White also proposed in a meeting of the Interin Legislative Study Committee on Land Use and Environmental Control that the legislative regulate disposing of pesticides and chemical compounds that are no longer needed, no longer used or banned from use.

Committee called the meeting following a report on cumulative effects of the pesticide DDT on animals.

White repeated his previous statement that he knows of no case in which humans have been harmed as a result of the use of DDT in agriculture.

Same Committee was told by a Florida biologist that oysters taken from the Arroyo Colorado area of Laguna Madre had the highest DDT concentrations of any in the nation. This, the biologist said, is a reflection of intense agricultural activity in the Rio Grande Valley. Oysters, according to the same authority, are not killed by DDT, but fish that eat them are.

A Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman said hydrocarbons (such as DDT) cannot continue to be used without serious degradation of the world ecological system.

OBSCENITY CRACKDOWN —Federal court in Dallas held that almost all of the new state obscenity control law is constitutional, and Attorney General Martin predicted a crackdown on distribution of obscene material will result.

Only section of the law invalidated was one allowing seizure of material without a hearing.

Ruling rejected requests for injunction by book stores and movie house in Dallas, Amarillo and Lubbock.

SMALL TOWNS IN TROUBLE — Noting preliminary census figures discouraging to many communities, Gov. Preston Smith said revitalizing the small towns of Texas may be tougher than starting them.

"Right now," said Smith in a speech at Crane, "the people of Texas — whether they live in the largest city or the smallest rural community — have some problems as tough for them as were those that confronted the 'frontier busters.' In many respects, our challenge and our task are more demanding and much more complex. The preliminary reports on the census of so many of our smaller cities spell out in box-car size letters that as much tenacity — just plain guts — is required to tackle that job as the old-timers needed."

WEIGHTS EQUIPMENT ACCEPTED—National Bureau of Standards presented the state with $80,000 worth of weights and measures standards and calibration equipment.

Precision instruments will be used in the new Department of Agriculture Weights and Measures Laboratory just dedicated here. Equipment is first of kind officially issued to states by the federal government since the 1840's, and the Governor said it will benefit industry, commerce and consumers by insuring just and fair transactions.

SHORT SNORTS

State received a $35,000 federal grant for its training program for local government personnel.

School teachers attending in-service training during August must be paid at higher new salary schedules for 1970-71, Attorney General Martin held in a recent opinion.

Removal of litter from Texas highways cost $1.9 million a year — enough to build 45 miles of farm- to- market roads or three miles of primary highways — says Texas Highway Department.

Liberal Democrat "Rebuilding Committee" has launched a campaign against Democratic Gov. Preston Smith and Democratic Senate nominee Lloyd Bentsen.

Speaking Of Camp Cookery It's Cinch With Know-How

So you're camping out this year! How's your camp cookery? It can be wonderful fun and very easy, too, with a bag of charcoal briquets on hand and a few tips on ember cookery.

Some foods don't need foil packets because they have packets of their own, thanks to Mother Nature. Eggs, for instance, can be baked in their shells over glowing charcoal briquets. Pierce the small end of an egg with a pin; stand it small end upright in the coals to bake, for 10 to 20 minutes. Serve on hot buttered toast with salt and pepper. A breakfast dish fit for a camping king!

All campers use their skillets when camping and know what to cook in them. Bring the charcoal briquets to the gray ash stage for skillet cookery so that you will have sustained even heat. Coat the outside of your skillet with soap before placing it on the fire to make for easier cleaning.

And now for a delicious camp cook-out . . . . here are the menu and recipes:

CAMP COOK-OUT MENU
Tomato Juice Cocktail
Burger Stew
Grill Garlic Bread
Ember Baked Apples
Camp Coffee

BURGER STEW
(For each serving:
¼ lb. ground beef
Salt and pepper
1 medium potato, pared
½ onion, sliced
1 slice bacon, cut in half . . . . .

Season ground beef with salt and pepper and form into hamburger patty. Place in center of 12-inch piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Cut potato and carrot into sticks about 1½ inches long. Place around hamburger on foil. Place onion slices on top of meat and vegetables and place bacon strips over all. Fold foil over all ingredients making sure to seal all edges to prevent steam from escaping during cooking. When folding the foil packet leave room around ingredients to allow for expansion. Place directly on charcoal briquets that have reached the light gray ash stge (or red glow at night) and cook for 25 to 30 minutes. Poke holes in the top of foil package with fork before opening to allow steam to escape, open and eat directly from foil package.

GRILL GARLIC BREAD
1-3 cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 loaf French bread . . . .

Melt butter and add garlic salt. Slice bread at an angle, leaving slices joined at the bottom. Brush with melted garlic butter in the slashes. Wrap in heavy-duty aluminum foil and heat about 10 minutes along side of grill or at side of charcoal briquets that have reached the light gray ash stage (or a red glow at night).

EMBER BAKED APPLES
(For each serving):
1 large apple
1 teaspoon chopped nuts
1 teaspoon shredded cocoanut
1 teaspoon raisins
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 marshmallow . . . . .

Remove core from apple, making sure skin is intact at one end. Fill the hole with nuts, cocoanut and raisins. Sprinkle with brown sugar. For a juicier apple, place filled apple on heavy-duty aluminum foil, bring edges of foil up around apple and seal well so that the packet is air tight. Place packet on charcoal briquets that have reached the light gray ash stage (or red glow at night). For a charcoal flavor, place filled apple directly in the coals so that the bottom and sides are covered. Bake about 30 minutes, until tender. Toast a marshmallow and place on top of apple.

Corn Flakes For Dad's Day

Father deserves his day of recognition. In his realm he is a man of many faces — a craftsman with toys and house repairs, a philosopher of moral values for his children, a statesman for family disputes and, above all, a prolific dispenser of good sense and justice. On Father's Day his children might want to honor him with more than neckties and handkerchiefs; they may want to create something special, to begin his day with a father-pleasing breakfast.

Dixie Corn Cakes are easy enough for any child to make, but extraordinary enough for Father's special day. A muffin mix is the basis for these griddle cakes, and the mix is combined with the enrichments of corn and crumbled bacon. Dixie Corn Cakes should arrive at Father's place hot off the griddle, with butter melting over them. Then his cooks can bring on pitchers of hot maple or apple syrup and steaming cups of coffee.

To make sure Father's coffee is perfect, use one Approved Coffee Measure of coffee to six ounces of water. Make sure you brew plenty — —it's a drink fit for the family king.

For Fathers

Award Winning Chicken Dish

Fathers deserve the best. And as we make preparations for honoring them on Sunday, June 21, one of the most important considerations should be the dinner menu for the day.

The official dish for Father's Day is chicken. This is an ideal choice because good tasting chicken is also good for family well-being. It is low in calories, cholesterol and fat. In addition to being an ideal food for weight watchers, it is helpful in preventing heart attacks and other coronary problems. Also, this traditional Sunday dish is high in protein, vitamins and minerals.

Here is the prize recipe for Father's Day, 1970. It is a National Chicken Cooking Contest winner that Chef Edmund Kaspar of New York's Americana Hotel has selected to be served at the Annual National Father of the Year Awards Luncheon.

Chicken Imperial

2 broiler-fryer chickens, halved
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup margarine
½ cup dry sherry
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon dried leaf oregano
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

Sprinkle both sides of chicken with salt. Place in large shallow baking pan. Mix remaining ingredients in small saucepan; stir over medium heat until margarine melts and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; brush generously over chicken. Bake chicken in moderate oven (350°) for 1 to 1½ hours or until tender, basting and turning chicken every 10 to 15 minutes. Garnish with spiced peaches and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Note: For an extra flair prepare this recipe with boned chicken breasts.

DIXIE CORN CAKES
1 pkg. (12 ozs.) corn muffin mix
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup milk
6 strips bacon, cooked and crumbled
2 tablespoons melted bacon fat
1 cup well-drained whole kernel corn . . . . .

Combine all ingredients; stir briskly until thoroughly blended. Bake on hot griddle, turning once. Serve with butter and hot maple or apple syrup. Makes about 20 cakes, each four inches in diameter.

Spicy Shrimp And Icy Coffee Make Pretty Shower Luncheon

The happy excitment of brides, bridesmaids, wedding plans and showers begins in earnest this season. For the most feminine and pretty of shower luncheons, here is a wonderful new deviled specialty, baked and served in gracious shell-shaped ramekins. The ramekins hold a delectable variation of more familiar deviled dishes and star the shrimp.

Smooth and spicy, Deviled Shrimp is a compliment-winner on every occasion. It's particularly welcome during the warm-weather months because it takes a minimum of cooking time for a maximum of eating pleasure. Once the sauce has been blended and the shrimp added, the ramekins are baked for just ten minutes. Each is garnished attracitvely with a whole shrimp just before serving.

As a cool complement to this tangy treat, serve your finest, frostiest coffee. To keep iced coffee full of flavor, brew it extra strength using four ounces of water to one Approved Coffee Measure and pour it into ice-filled glasses. Just remember to prepare plenty of iced coffee — your guests will ask for another glass or two of this refreshing cooler.

DEVILED SHRIMP
¼ cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup flour
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 lbs. medium shrimp, cooked
Buttered bread crumbs . . . . .

Melt butter and blend in next 5 ingredients. Combine milk and cream and add all at once. Stir over low heat until smooth and thickened. Add a little of the hot sauce to egg yolks and blend. Return egg mixture to sauce and blend. Save a few whole shrimps for garnish; dice remainder and add to sauce.

Sour Cream Cake Is Distinctive

The fresh, distinctive flavor of Sour Cream Pound Cake is one you and your family will savor. Its simple elegance allows you to serve this cake "as is" during any entertainment you may plan.

SOUR CREAM POUND CAKE
3 Cups sugar
2 Sticks margarine (1 cup)
6 Eggs, separated
3 Cups flour, sifted
1 Cup sour cream
¼ tsp. Soda
1 tsp. Vanilla
1 tsp. Almond Extract
2 tsp. Butter Flavoring
1 tsp. Lemon Extract . . . . .

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream sugar and margarine until very creamy. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift flour three times. Add soda to sour cream; stir well. Add flour and cream alternately to the sugar-margarine mixture. Blend well. Add vanilla, almond extract, butter flavoring and lemon extract. Beat egg whites until stiff, then fold into mixture. Pour into well greased, lightly floured stem pan (or loaf pan). Bake at 350 degrees for about 1½ hours, or until toothpick inserted into center comes out clean.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Short Ribs.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. Short ribs come from the thinnest section of the ribs between plate and rib beef. The short ribs contain the rib bones (cross section of which is exposed) and alternating layers of lean and fat. They are usually rectangular in shape.
Q. How are they prepared?
A. By braising or by broiling, in range or on outdoor grill, after precooking. To braise, brown the ribs over low heat in a covered frying-pan for 1 hour, turning occasionally. Pour off drippings, season as desired and add a small amount of liquid. Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 1 hour longer or until meat is tender. To broil, first braise as directed. Then brush the ribs with barbecue sauce and broil 3 inches from the heat on an outdoor grill or in range broiler. Brush with sauce and turn occasionally for 20 to 30 minutes.

Sihanouk Replies To Journalists

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Cambodian Prince Sihanouk has replied to a number of Washington-based journalists who cabled him their concern about newsmen being held by Communist forces in Cambodia.

In a telegram addressed to UPI reporter Nicholas Daniloff, Sihanouk said in part: "It is with great sympathy that I have noted your very moving message."

"The commander of our popular army of liberation has just sent us a message according to which research (to find the journalists) has not yet had positive results. He informs us that this research is made very difficult due to the massive invasion and incessant bombardment of Cambodia by the American and satellite forces," the telegram said.

"Please believe that we have no interest of any sort to detain journalists and other reporters, even American.

Senate Candidates Differ On Merits Of Debate

DALLAS (UPI) — The subject of a debate is one issue in which the two candidates running for the U.S. Senate from Texas are of different opinions.

U.S. Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., says he would like to debate his Democratic opponent because such a debate "would be very worthwhile in clarifying the issues of this campaign."

Democratic nominee Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. says "The issues in this campaign will be developed by each of the candidates as we go along. I see no reason for a debate."

Bentsen and Bush are running for the seat now held by U.S. Sen. Ralph W Yarborough, D-Tex.

"Debates generally generate more heat than light," Bentsen said Tuesday. "I disagree with my opponent that they would be that worthwhile."

Bentsen wasted little time in killing Bush's debate idea. Bentsen's refusal came just one day after Bush asked for the meeting.

"Debates generally benefit the candidate who is behind," Bentsen said. "And I remember quite well that Bush refused to debate his primary opponent."

Bentsen made campaign stops in Dallas to talk to the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Associatio meeting of oil and gas pr ers; and in San Antonio t to the Texas Chamber of merce Managers' Conferen

Your Horoscope
JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, JUNE 12

Your birthday Friday: The path ahead wanders a bit but reasonable efforts will better your way of life. Material reward accompanies the intangible improvements. Sentinenial interests find less opportunity. Friday's natives often have an unusual gift for making correct guesses, sometimes show a great talent for mathematics.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): During this quiet day attend to your needs, earnings, and health. Simply stay busy doing the best you know how.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Creative ventures fare better. Your ideas run into opposition, but there is no need for emotional defense. Good music in the evening brings rest to the spirit.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Check your facts and figures as you go. Aside from the chance of some squabbles in the family, it's a rather pleasant time. Find or give a small party at night.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Contrive a quiet path through the uneven, complex mixture of opportunities and unanswered questions. Change pace in the evening and have some fun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You gain a bit Friday, amid the general confusion. Sundown is a time to seek a solitary pause. The evening promises much more enjoyable conditions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You now need all the information you can gather. Completely new ventures do not seem to meet with immediate success. Impatience presents you a challenge in self-restraint.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): This is a better day for emotional expression than for doing business. Romantic ventures are encouraged and exciting, with some memories that will last.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The people around you have their own troubles and are sensitive to some of your casual habits. Share some deep emotional experience later in the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): With routine effort, you should produce fairly good results. Avoid quibbling over trivia or answering any heckling from bystanders.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are, as usual, more thoroughly organized than most of your friends. Bear with them, and prepare to go on without full cooperation. Personal plans thrive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your judgment is not of the best Friday, so take a middle course. Family affairs bring some passing moments of drama, an incident of good feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 19- March 20): Follow plans already started; let the world's hullabaloo pass by. Pay no attention to rumors or what seem to be quotations of people you know.

Minis Won't Catch His Eye When You Beautify Yours

By PATRICIA KING
NEA Beauty Editor

NEW YORK — The vacation season is in full swing and while you think a miniskirt may catch his eye, it's the meaningful glance that may capture his heart and hold it forever.

It's no secret that empires have been known to rise and fall at the blink of a beautiful lash fringing the beckoning eye. While the empire of the au courant woman is her home or office, she has a feminine interest in achieving man-killing eyes, more expressively speaking the language understood everywhere.

It was not too long ago that false eyelashes were considered a special occasion item tucked away in your dressing table to be worn very infrequently. Today, fake lashes are so natural-looking and easy to apply that no one would suspect they weren't your own.

The first step in applying lashes (top left) is to test them for size.

One major company in the eye make-up field has introduced natural hair eyelashes that are prefeathered and contoured. Since the length of each eye from inner to outer corners varies with the individual, it may be necessary to snip off a tiny bit of the lash at the inner end of the lash strip.

Next, take a toothpick and spread a fine, thin thread of lash adhesive along the base of the back strip of the lashes and bend them into a horseshoe shape, holding for a brief second while the adhesive dries a little.

Then, tilting the head back and looking down into the mirror (use a magnifying mirror if your vision requires it), position the lash by placing it as close as possible to your own lashes at the center of your lid (top, center). Press gently all along the lid and hold briefly (top, right) at inner and outer corners to secure it.

Now you're ready to line your eyes with eyeliner, stroking in a thin line from inner to outer corner along the lash line. Eyeliner not only emphasizes the beauty of your eyes and makes them appear larger but it also covers the line where the lashes meet your own.

The final step in achieving eye glamor is to add mascara, blending the fake lashes with your own to create luxurious

Noise Listed Prime Pollution Threat

NEW YORK (UPI)—The concern that man ultimately will destroy the good earth reaches right to our teen-agers. In some cases, it reaches into their classrooms.

I know, because a column I did recently on noise pollution became an assignment for comment from some 60 ninth graders, 14 and 15-year-olds, at Monticello Junior High School in Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

In brief, the column said that noise pollution was one of the "silent" or least publicized types but that according to authorities we were up to our ears in it. Even in the home with several electrical appliances going, the decibel (noise measurement) level could reach that of a boiler factory.

To Dave Young of that ninth grade class, the household problem ssemed a big "exaggeration (sic) because "household appliances are never all turned on at the same time . . . I agree that airplanes and industries can be pretty loud."

"We do not need all these radios and loud entertainment to ruin our ears," said Marry Russell.

Barb Thompson (the way she signed her paper) thought we'd never be rid of noise, we'd just "learn to put up with it" as our technology grew.

"What may cause pain for us now may be an average amount of noise for the next generation," she wrote.

Arthur Olson, the junior high school's science teacher who asked the youngsters5 for comment, said the assignment came after the column appeared in the Cleveland Press. All year long, he said via telephone, the youngsters had been studying other types of pollution and the solutions. He sent along some of their papers on the noise problem.

"Why don't people start to realize the health hazards that may come from too much noise?" asked Martha Coskadel. " . . . .More noise preventions should be discovered and used. People should become aware of different organizations for anti-noise."

The column mentione that the chief organized anti-noise groups were the Citizens for a Quiet City in New York, the Citizens Against the Sonic Boom in Cabridge, Mass., and the gnational Council on Noise Abatement, Washington, D.C.

Several of the students felt that we'd always have a high noise level. As Jeff Furman put it: "Because we are an industrial nation."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I need an impartial opinion. I have a friend who is in his sixties. He claims he cares for me. He is perfectly charming when we are in the company of women who are older or less attractive than I. But if there is a younger or prettier woman around, he is sure to say something like, "I think I'll dump her (pointing to me), and take you out instead." In the past I've just smiled and ignored it, even though I was deeply hurt inside.

The last time he did this, I lost my temper. He started making over a cocktail waitress and offered to "see her home safely." (She declined.) On the way home, I let him know exactly how I felt about his behavior, and I really lost my temper. He said I was having a "menopause fit."

I haven't heard from him in a week. Should I call and apologize for losing my temper?

BUFFALOED

DEAR BUFFALOED: That depends upon how you "lost your temper." If you let loose with a right to his jaw, then apologize. But if you simply said what you meant and meant what you said, no apology is necessary. If you lose him, you lose him. Who needs a man who humiliates you in public, and makes cruel references to your "time of life" in private?

DEAR ABBY: While in a parking lot, I was shocked when a young man rolled down his car window and yelled obscenities at an elderly woman driver, even though she was obviously a very poor driver.

Now, it happens that my husband is considering recommending this same young man to a very important and responsible position with his firm. In view of this young man's rude and immature behavior, I hate to see my husband back him.

Should I mention this to my husband? What is your opinion of such a person? This has really upset me.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: My opinion of this person is the same as yours. He's rude and immature. Yes, mention it to your husband. One glimpse of a man's behavior when he doesn't know he's being observed is worth a 10-page "aptitude" test. If your husband's firm wants a patient, courteous, controled, mature man — your young friend doesn't qualify.

DEAR ABBY: It seems only logical to me that when a woman becomes a widow at an age when she can no longer live alone, she should go to live with one of her children. (Preferably a daughter.)

Not my mother-in-law. Oh, no! She prefers to remain "independent." Ha, that's a laugh. Without any income whatsoever. She went through every dime of her insurance money in three years. Now she's sitting pretty in a fancy senior citizens' residence. And who do you think is paying for it? Her children, of course. She has five,who share the expense equally.

The other four can manage nicely, but it puts a real strain on us. In fact, I had to go back to work so his mother could be "independent."

My mother-in-law is only 19 years older than I am, and I wouldn't mind retiring in a fancy senior citizens' residence myself. Do you care to comment?

WEARY IN DETROIT

DEAR WEARY: I think you've said it all.

Congress Makes Plans To Bail Out Railroad

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congressional leaders and top officials of the Nixon administration have announced agreement on a plan to bail the Penn Central Railroad out of financial troubles by extending federal credit guarantees totaling $800 million.

The emergency action was viewed as an effort to stave off developments that could lead to the huge company's collapse and could damage administration attempts to maintain confidence in the economy.

Senate sources said agreement to provide special legislation was reached at a closed meeting of House and Senate leaders of both parties, representatives of the Departments of Treasury, Defense and Transportation.

Teamsters Endorse Bush In Senate Race

DALLAS (UPI) —Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., picked up support in his race for the Senate against Democrat Lloyd Bentsen Jr. with the endorsement of the Texas Conference of the Teamsters Union.

Union representatives met with both men, with Bentsen Monday and Bush last month, and made the announcement.

Conference president Ralph Dixon said Bentsen appeared to "be a (former Gov.) John Connally man."

Dixon said the teamsters thought Bush was the best man in the race despite party affiliation.

"There has been no effort on the part of such (Connally) Democrats in the past to do anything for the teamsters," Dixon said.

The Teamsters union represents about 30,000 men in Texas.

Hooten To Start For UT Friday

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —Texas baseball coach Cliff Gustafson has not yet decided whether he will use injured pitching star James Street in the College World Series double-elimination tournament at Omaha, Neb.

The Longhorns leave for Omaha today. Burt Hooten, the most valuable pitcher in last year's tournament, will start the opening game Friday against the University of Delaware.

Then Gustafson must decide whether to risk reinjury to Street's pulled groin muscle, which he aggravated two weeks ago.

"I feel real good," Street said Wednesday. "I still have a little tenderness, though. I was throwing the other night, but it was just going half speed."

Street said he did not think he would test the injury until he got into a game situation. "I'll just have to go out into the game," he said. "It's the first time I'll get to try it."

The Longhorns are looking for their third national baseball title and their first in 20 years. It will be Texas' 14th appearance in the College World Series.

Street thinks Texas will have an advantage this year because the school has gone to Omaha for the past five years.

"We (the seniors) have been up there three years and kind of know what it's like performing against the big teams across the nation," he said. "It is really a big asset."

Neither 1969 champion Arizona State nor runner-up Tulsa made the championships this year.

MHS Meets Aldine Today

AUSTIN (UPI)— — Lubbock Monterey will be trying for the third time to win a state high school baseball championship when it takes on Houston Aldine tonight in the semifinals of the staze schoolboy AAAA baseball tournament.

Aldine (23-5) is playing in the tournament for the first time. Monterey (27-7) has competed twice before for the title.

Houston Bellaire (31-5), a class AAAA favorite, meets Alice (21-8), which is also playing in the tournament for the first time.

In the Class AAA semifinals Dumas (15-6-1) meets Fort Worth Carter-Riverside (21-6) and Brenham (25-2) plays Eagle Pass ((18-7).

The finals will be played Friday night, with the AAA championship game at 7 p.m. and the AAAA contest at 9 p.m.

Bellaire knocked off defending AAA champion Houston Lamar in bidistrict play to reach the semifinals.

Boswell Knows How To Get Attention

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Boswell is like every pitcher you ever heard of. He wants to pitch.

Boswell was a 20-game winner for the Minnesota Twins last year. This year he's 2-5 with them and holding.

His arm, the right one, the one he pitches with, has never been better. His back is a different matter. It's killing him, and has been for some time.

Boswell doesn't like to alibi so he kept his back condition quiet. Maybe too quiet. He woke up here Tuesday and decided he should finally do something about it. So he talked to Calvin Griffith, the Twins' owner who is also here, and told him about it.

"That's the first I ever knew Boswell's back was even bothering him," Calvin Griffith says.

By May 10th Boswell's record was 0-5. He won his next two starts although he failed to finish either and shortly after he was kayoed in less than two innings by the Angels, Bill Rigney, the Twins' manager, had a little talk with him.

"We're gonna try Bill Zepp a coupla times," Rigney told Boswell. "Meanwhile you can get some work in the bullpen."

So Boswell went to the bullpen. He sat and sat and sat and then sat some more. He never even got so much as a call to warm up.

The one thing you have to say about Dave Boswell is that he knows how to get somebody's attention.

So when Manager Bill Rigney called a meeting in Boston before a ball game with the Red Sox last week, all the Minnesota players attended with one exception. Dave Boswell. The rest of the Twins were inside the clubhouse. Boswell sat in the dugout all by himself.

When the meeting was over, Rigney called Boswell into his office.

"What do you think you're doing?" he said.

"You're mad," Boswell replied. "Good! I'm mad, too. I'm mad because I'm not pitching."

That's when the two got to know each other much better.

Boswell made his first start in two weeks last Sunday against Washington. He gave up three runs in 4 1-3 innings but was encouraged because his arm felt fine, he was getting on top of the ball again and his left shoulder was pointing at the hitters the same way it was last year when he won 20. The Twins won the game, 10-9, in 11 innings and after everybody had trooped into the clubhouse Bill Rigney told Dave Boswell "welcome to the club."

Big Name Stars In Western Golf Tourney Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—Most of pro golf's name stars, headed by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, among a field of 156 players will begin the $130,000 Western Open on tough Beverly Country Club today.

Nicklaus, a two-time winner of the Western, was the top favorite, even though he has not been up to his usual form recently.

"It's not a course for big hitters," former Masters champion Bob Goalby said. "The big hitter is going to hit himself into trouble, and the players who reason out their game will do well."

Goalby himself, his game apparently improved recently, could be in contention all the way and so could Palmer, Jluius Boros, George Archer and Gay Brewer.

Two of the name stars withdrew from the tourney this week, defending champion Billy Casper due to a hand injury and former National Open champion Lee Trevino, who said he had entered by mistake. Last year's Open winner, Orville Moody, did not enter.

Pepitone HR Lifts Astros

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

Joe Pepitone belted a grand slam homer, his first as a National Leaguer, and a double Wednesday night in leading the Houston Astros to a 5-3 victory over New York and he credited Mets first base coach Yogi Berra with his fine performance.

"He (Berra) inspires the hell out of me," said Pepitone.

Jim McGlothlin, who posted less than mediocre 33-43 record in five seasons with the California Angels, is now 8-3 after pitching a nifty three-hitter for Cincinnati as the Reds beat the Montreal Expos, 7-0, for their fifth straight victory.

"I guess you can just say I've been fortunate," said McGlothlin, referring to the trade which brought him to Cincinnati from California.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Philadelphia, 5-1; San Diego held off Chicago, 11-8; Los Angeles tripped St. Louis, 4-2; and San Francisco downed Pittsburgh, 4-2.

In the American League, New York edged Minnesota, 2-1; Baltimore shaded California, 2-1; Oakland topped Cleveland, 6-4; Washington whipped Kansas City, 8-1; Detroit beat Milwaukee, 7-5; and Boston got by Chicago, 7-6, in 14 innings.

Pepitone powered a Nolan Ryan fast ball into the right field seats to cap a five-run fourth inning. Fred Gladding, the last of three Houston relievers, preserved Denny Lemaster's fourth win with three innings of shutout pitching.

Tony Perez and Bernie Carbo backed McGlothlin's fine pitching by belting three-run homers.

Atlanta used a four-run second inning and the three-hit pitching of George Stone to beat Philadelphia. Bob Tillman's two-run bases-loaded single highlighted the Braves' big inning which enabled Stone to coast to his sixth win, and saddled Chris Short with his sixth loss.

Home runs by Ivan Murrell and Ollie Brown paced the Padres past Chicago. Billy Williams, Jim Hickman, Paul Popovich and Johnny Callison homered for Chicago.

YANKEES DOWN TWINS, 2-1

Orioles Win To Stay 4½ In Front Of NY

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

No one is taking the New York Yankees very seriously these days—except the Baltimore Orioles . . . and maybe the Yankees.

"You bet I consider them a threat," Jim Palmer insisted Wednesday night after he pitched an eight-hitter to give the Orioles a 2-1 victory over the California Angels and keep them 4½ games ahead of the surging Yankees.

The Yanks, who became the forgotten team in New York last year when the Mets became folk heroes, ripped off their seventh win in eight games by downing the Minnesota Twins by an identical 2-1 score to keep on the Orioles' heels.

It turned out Wednesday night that a two-run homer by Horace Clarke (his fourth) was all that Mel Stottlemyre needed to boost his record to 6-4. Stottlemyre stopped the Twins on four hits to beat rookie Bert Blyleven, who was making his second big league start.

Merv Rettenmund's two-out triple in the seventh inning snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Baltimore its victory over California. The Orioles had lost three straight games to the Angels but they pinned the loss on Clyde Wright.

In other American League games, Oakland downed Cleveland, 6-4, Washington routed Kansas City, 8-1, Detroit beat Milwaukee, 7-5, and Boston nipped Chicago, 7-6, in 14 innings.

In the National League San Francisco defeated Pittsburgh, 4-2, Cincinnati breezed by Montreal 7-0, Atlanta beat Philadelphia 5-1, Houston triumphed over New York, 5-3, Los Angeles eased past St. Louis 7-1, and San Diego took Chicago, 11-8.

The Boston-Chicago game was a sloppy affair that, typically, was decided on Bill Melton's error in the 14th inning, his second of the game. Melton misplayed Gerry Moses' grounder with two out in the 14th as George Scott scored from third.

Detroit rallied for four runs in the seventh to beat Milwaukee. Al Kaline socked reliever John Gelnar's first pitch for a two-run homer and Gates Brown's two-run pinch single capped the inning.

Frank Howard hit a two-run single in the second inning and Paul Casanova drove in two runs with a double and a single as Washington beat Kansas City.

Oakland jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second inning and then used five pitchers to hang on for the win over Cleveland. Paul Lindblad got the win in relief.

Laird's Moment Of Truth

Inevitably, sooner or later, every authoritarian makes a rhetorical slip and the truth comes through loud and clear. Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of Defense, is no exception.

In an inadvertent moment of truth comparable to the Agnew admission that "we can't win a land war in Asia," Laird pointed up the government's utter inability to solve the problems it has created, much less the individual and personal problems of millions of people. The reasons for this helplessness of government in the area of problem-solving will be touched on later.

Predicting that more than two million men and women will be leaving the armed forces in the next two years, a prediction which we fervently hope comes true, Laird disclosed a plan which other defense officials said would include asking businessmen to set aside a portion of the jobs in their plants, stores and offices specifically for soldiers, airmen, and sailors released from service to the government.

Who created the problem? The government, of course, by drafting unwilling conscripts, now to be released to look for work.

Who is the government asking to solve the problem? Why, private enterprise, naturally; business and industry and productive jobs to offer. Who else?

Defense officials, as if subconsciously aware of the "specifically" coercive implications of the plan, hastened to add, according to AP, that "there would be no compulsion," while voicing the "hope" that many companies can be "persuaded" to participate "voluntarily."

Mr. Laird is to be commended for looking to the only area in which human problems can really be solved; but, at the same time, it must be pointed out that his lack of economic savvy is showing.

Under natural, uncoerced, conditions, there's always a labor shortage; this is so because, with human needs and wants being without end and the amount of human energy needed to satisfy those needs and wants being always limited, there is always undone work to be done and, consequently, a need for workers to do it. Under such natural, uncoerced, conditions — conditions under which businessmen and industrialists were permitetd to accumulate and retain the capital required to expand their operations — the influx of two million released servicemen upon the job market would present no great problem. A profit-motivated and labor-hungry economy would absorb them in short order.

But, as Mr. Laird and his chief, Richard Nixon, both know, we do not have natural, uncoerced conditions. Both businessmen and industrialists, as well as the individual tax payers, from whose savings productive capital must ultimately come, are staggering under an intolerable burden of both taxes and production-inhibiting regulations. Therefore, if Mr. Laird really wants private enterprise to solve the problem of two million former draftees entering the job market during the next two years, he had better get to the ear of his boss with some of the facts of life. That Mr. Nixon is in dire need of some factual information at this point evidenced by his recent proposal, not to reduce taxes, but to impose an additional tax on gasoline; thus, by making needed productive capital even more scarce, to add to the problem Laird knows has to be solved.

Why is government utterly incapable of solving human problems? Basically, the reasons are these:

1. Government, by its very nature, is an agent of force. It has nothing of its own, to use for any purpose, except what it takes from the individual people who earned it. Consequently, when it takes from some people in vain attempts to solve the problems of other people, it is, inevitably, adding to the problems of those taken from. The number and scope of problems grow.

2. Government, which is nothing but people wielding unand immoral powers, is utterly incapable of even knowing what the real problems of individual people (the only kind of people that exist) actually are. And even if the government, through some god-like wisdom which it certainly does not have, was capable of knowing what the problems of individuals are, it would still be at a loss as to what priority the individual would affix in solving them. Thus, even if the government were capable of solving individual problems, which it isn't, it would find itself "solving" problems on which the individual placed the lowest priority, while those carrying the highest priority, perhaps even the problem of sustaining life itself, would have to wait.

These inadvertent moments of candor in government are one of the best means of tax payers educating themselves we know of.

Phony Debt Ceiling Again

Congress is going through the phony motions of increasing the national debt "ceiling" again.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved HR 17802, as requested by the Nixon administration, to increase the "temporary" debt ceiling from $377 billion to $395 billion, and the "permanent" ceiling from $365 billion to $380 billion. Along about this time nearly every year, the President and Congress go through the routine of lifting the "ceiling," so the politicians, regardless of party, can go on spending more money than is taken in.

Secretary of the Treasury Kennedy said presently projected figures show a budget deficit of $3.1 billion for fiscal years 1970 and 1971 instead of previously projected surpluses. This hardly comes as a surprise to those who have been watching the politicians for years make predictions which missed their mark by wide figures.

Meantime, a study by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation showed the unified budget deficit for 1971 will be $4.5 billion instead of the $1.3 billion estimated by the administration. When the trust fund accounts are discounted from the budget, the study estimates the national budget deficit will be $13.6 billion instead of the $10 billion figure of the administration.

Commerce Clearing House, Inc., in its "Week in Congress" report says the differences between the study and the administration figures are the result of divergent estimates in amount of revenue the federal government will take in during fiscal 1971.

We suppose it all depends on who's doing the estimating. From past experience, we believe the larger deficit probably is more in the line with reality.

H. L. Hunt Writes

"VOICE OF YOUTH"

Mr. William Wright of Denver, Colorado, knows and appreciates the great potential in our young people. He devotes much time and effort to helping this potential develop in the right directions.

When Mr. Wright returned to the U.S. from two years of church-related work in Poland nearly twenty years ago, he discovered that many young people were unaware of the dangers of Communism and socialism and lacked understanding of the value of our free enterprise system. He organized the "Voice of Youth" to, in his words, "Prepare American youth for patriotic leadership in the community, our Nation and the world."

There are now many Voice of Youth chapters throughout the state of Colorado, training young people to seak out for freedom and our country's heritage. A Denver newspaper publishes a column by Voice of Youth members each week, and a local television and radio station have donated time for a weekly program for the past 17 years.

Young people of all races and ethnic backgrounds participate in the Voice of Youth training program. Businessmen and other community leaders donate their time and talents to the project.

Mr. Wright has said: "There is no generation gap, just a philosophy gap." He believes that some of our young people are in revolt against their country because they have not received sound teaching in religion, ethics, and political and economic philosophy. His work has shown that many sound values become enthusiastic defenders of our country's young people who are taught heritage. The Voice of Youth program deserves to be more widely known and imitated throughout the United States.

'There's Only One Door To Security'

By DR. BOB JONES

"I am the Door," said Jesus (John 10:7). He is not talking about the door of a beautiful palace. He is not speaking of the great bronze doors of the temple in Jerusalem. He has no lofty portals in mind. "I am the Door of the sheepfold," He said. How amazing are the humility and condescension of the Lord. That He Who is the God of glory should describe Himsef in such humble, simple terms! He was talking to men who knew the habits and customs of sheep and shepherds. The sheep entered the fold at night for safety and protection from wild beasts. He is describing Himself, therefore, as the door to safety and security.

He is the means of entrance into the safety of eternal life. He is the only way by which men may enter. Some are trying to go in through good works. By their own efforts they are trying to climb a wall too high for them to top. Some try to enter through the practice of the golden rule, some by way of church membership; but Christ says, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life, no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me." (John 14:6).

There are no armed guards to keep poor ordinary folks out. There are no alms boxes fastened to the portal. No fine clothes are necessary. No cards of admission are demanded. Christ has described Himself as a door so humble that no man need feel too poor and vile to pass through. It is a low door, so low that a man cannot go through with his head held high. The stiff neck must bow if he would pass through this Door.

We enter into salvation through Christ. We do not merit it. We cannot deserve it. We simply step through the Door by faith. There are not a half dozen ways out of sin into eternal life. There is only one Way. Christ is not A door. He is the Door, the Door by which any man may enter in.

Is Hanoi Getting Ready To Deliver It's 'Sunday Punch'?

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If Hanoi is following the strategy of Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse-tung, within the next six to nine months the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong will stage some series of dramatic attacks to convince Americans and South Vietnamese they are stronger, more fearful than ever.

The action may be militarily suicidal. It may result in a great sacrifice of junior leaders and agents Hanoi cannot afford to lose.

But it will be designed to convince men and women in the U.S. and South Vietnam that continuing the war is purposeless.

The Tet attacks of early 1968 were an example of this strategy.

They followed (after the normal Hanoi hiatus for planning) a series of U.S.-South Vietnamese attacks similar to those now being made in Cambodia.

These allied attacks were aimed at the supply headquarter complexes the North Vietnamese and VC had built up in the Iron Triangle and adjacent South Vietnamese areas.

In that day, these were the equivalent of the Cambodian bases. Out of these havens the Communists staged repeated forays in the areas north and south of Saigon.

Captured documents show the North Vietnamese and VC were deeply troubled by these attacks on their havens. Morale was so low, these documents indicated, the 1966 Tet attacks were organized in a desperate attempt to recover initiative in the war.

The Tet attacks failed in Vietnam. The Communists lost so many of their leadership cadre they have not yet recovered in wide areas of the south. In these attacks, too, the Communists lost their reputation for invincibility. Both militarily and politically in Vietnam. Tet was a disaster for Hanoi.

The Tet attacks succeeded only in the U.S. — psychologically. Leading American newspapers still refer to the Communist Tet "victories" and look with some contempt on those who call Tet a Communist defeat.

Their American victory, of course, was not lost on the Communists. It led to an end of the bombing of North Vietnam, to an American president deciding not to run, to American troops withdrawals, to dissension in the U.S.

What then will Hanoi attempt?

The likelihood is that Hanoi does not yet know. Interviews this reporter has had over the years with officers who once served in Ho's armies indicate that it normally takes Hanoi six to eight months to make up its mind, plan its strategy in minute detail and then kick off an operation.

There is no reason to believe Hanoi will react more rapidly now.

But if one thinks in Mao-Ho terms there are several possibilities:

— The ambushing and destruction of a major American or South Vietnamese unit. Mao says the deefat of 10 divisions is not nearly so fearful to an enemy as the complete destruction of one. (This, of course, is the danger of South Vietnamese forces continuing to operate in Cambodia once American backup has retired to Vietnam.)

—The capture of one major South Vietnamese city followed by extensive destruction within that city to frighten Americans with Hanoi's ferocity.

(The recent attack on Dalat may have been an experiment in this program, a test to determine the opportunities and the difficulties of such an attack.)

—A series of concentrated terrorist attacks on South Vietnamese or Americans of such magnitude that they would raise public opinion in the U.S. to a fever pitch.

—A sneak suicide bombing attack with airplanes staged from Red Chinese fields. (Most military strategists heavily discount the possibility of such an attack but that is precisely the reason Hanoi and Peking would weigh it seriously.)

—Some maneuver in Laos or Cambodia designed to lure American combat troops back into those countries and thereby wipe out Nixon's credibility.

Wit And Whimsy

Daffynitions: An optimist is a man who keeps checking to see if his marriage license has expired . . . and middle age is that difficult period between juvenile delinquency and senior citizenship when you have to take care of yourself.

One of the shortest measurable intervals of time is between the day you set aside a little extra for a sudden emergency and the arrival of that sudden emergency.

Man (to waiter) — What's our offense? We've been on bread and water for almost an hour.

Small Boy (to his Mother)— I'm in a tough spot. The teacher said I must write more legibly — and if I do she will find out I can't spell.

Two old coon hunters were swapping tall stories about their dogs.

Walt (to his friend) — Why, I had a yaller hound oncet and every time just before I went hunting I'd whittle out a board in the shape of a coon hide stretcher, just to show him the size of the one I wanted, then I'd set it outside where he could see it. Well, sir, one day my wife set the ironin' board outside and that crifter ain't come back yet.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Do you think school riots are something new? Well, I remember a riot at our school and it was one of uncontrolled violence and bloodshed. It was a duzy.

It all happened due to a series of unavoidable conditions of which the students were unaware. This was an Indian boarding school. The daily meals had become increasingly worse.

One evening at supper time, the screen door of the dining hall was torn off and shouts went up that we should destroy the kitchens and the hall. But about half the students insisted we first ask if the meals were to improve.....

The business administrator came out and spoke to the mass gathering. He explained that due to many floods, railroad trestles had been washed out for miles around, making it impossible to get food supplies.

The school raised most of its own vegetables, but the diet became boresome without the supplement of fruit and meat. Some students however, refused to accept this logic. The administrator said—

"I want all students who think we are not trying to do a good job of feeding you to get on the right side — over here, those who think we are doing our best, stand on the other side."

After the shuffling transformation had been accomplished, the overseer came into the crowd and passed out armbands of white and blue cloth, different colors for each side, then returned to the steps—

"Now there is a football field out there," he said. "I want you two groups with differing opinions to go out there and engage in Indian football until it is decided which is right."

In Indian football there are no penalties, no fouls, no whistles. When a player has the ball the opposing team can take it away from him by any means, unless he is able to pass or hand it to another of his own team. The result of this game can be joyful and fun-loving — or it can be a blood-thirsty melee of busted lips, black eyes and cracked ribs.

The mood of this day was not peaceful. All afternoon, the battle went on. And what a beautiful riot it was! At the finish, who had won was immaterial as a school holiday was announced to allow for recuperation.

Everybody won — the tired, bloody and happy students, with a day off — the administration, which soon received necessary supplies, and the dining hall which boasted a new screen door. There wasn't a policeman or national guardsman in sight. They weren't necessary. It was the bloodiest riot I've ever seen, but it was handled with brains—not force .....

INSIDE REPORT

Fast, All-Out Campaign Is Nixon's Desegregation Plan

By ROWLAND EVANS
And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — With the George Wallace primary out of the way, Nixon administration lawyers now in charge of Deep South school desegregation are finally primed — perhaps too late — for a fast all-out drive, with a statewide court suit almost certain to be filed against Mississippi.

"We don't want any time — bombs in 1971 and 1972," one Southern Republican strategist told us. "We'll take the court suits now and hope it quiets down by the 1972 election."

It is such political reasoning that caused the Nixon administration to wait until last week's Alabama primary for governor before moving in the courts. And the cost of such reasoning may be an autumn of turmoil in the public schools of the Deep South.

Actually, the Nixon lawyers (who took over desegregation from experts in Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) last summer) foresee 95 percent of school districts at some level of desegregation this fall. They admit, however, that President Nixon's extremely narrow construction of Supreme Court integration edicts will leave some schools in the larger cities legally free of any integration at all.

These lawyers, headed by Assistant Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard and Robert Mardian, staff chief of Vice President Spiro Agnew's Cabinet-level committee on school desegregation (a conservative on leave as HEW general counsel), have been hoping against hope that voluntary compliance would obviate the threatened statewide suits. They have been spending more time in the South, badgering recalcitrant school boards to come up with voluntary compliance plans, than in Washington.

Their main target has been small Southern towns, where it is impossible to claim that segregation is de facto— based on housing patterns and thereby legally permissible. The performance of Leonard and Mardian has been creditable, helped tremendously by local Republican leaders who have argued with school officials that a voluntary compliance desegregation plan acceptable to the Nixon administration won't be nearly so harsh as a court-ordered plan. This carrot of Mr. Nixon's carrot and stick plan has paid off.

In Florida, for example, holdout school districts have been reduced to less than 10; in South Carolina, to about a dozen; in Arkansas, to less than 15; and in North Carolina, to eight. State education authorities in each of these states, plus Mississippi, were warned by Leonard that if they did not reduce the holdout school districts they faced the stick of a statewide court suit.

Only Mississippi appears ripe today for such a statewide suit. It must be filed soon, in time for the Federal court to approve desegregation plans before the opening of the new school year in September. In fact, some education experts both in HEW and on the Agnew committee staff think the legal experts have taken a dangerous gamble in waiting this long to bring legal action.

That's because in September, when the schools open, some holdout districts may still not have final court approval of their desegregation plans.

Moreover, Leonard now plans to file individual desegregation suits against most Deep South districts not covered by statewide suits (that is, everywhere except Mississippi). Yet, only 12 weeks remain before the September openings and few individual suits have yet been filed. With lawyers in the Justice Department and HEW's education experts in limited supply, this assures a massive crunch just before school opens.

That isn't the only crunch now facing the Nixon administration's last-minute, pellmell rush to meet the Supreme Court's "instant" desegregation decree of last year. It's plan for an immediate injection or $150 million of technical assistance to newly integrated school districts, which should have been ready for Congressional action when President Nixon first unveiled his $1.5 billion special school fund in March, has only just started its way through Congress.

The brainchild of Agnew's committee, this fund was the target of vicious Admistration infighting before a version acceptable to Senate leaders was finally agreed to on May 25.

Word of the fund has already set off demands from hard-pressed Southern school districts for help and special teacher-training, renovation of old schools, and other desegretation aids. But to accomplish its purpose — helping to ease desegregation three months ahead —the money must be passed out by mid-July at the latest — a nearly impossible goal.

Accordingly, the next few weeks are crucial in Mr. Nixon's belated offensive against Deep South segregation. After 16 months of slow retreat and bitter bureaucratic and political battles inside his Administration, that's only natural.

Freedom To Plan On Own

(The Freeman)

Everywhere you look in American history, you find examples of things seeming to happen by accident — without intention. Americans had no over-all plan. They had something more important. They had personal freedom to plan their own affairs; and the avalanche of that freedom swept from the human energy resulting from Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to the Rio Grande.

In 75 years, within a man's lifetime, France and Russia had vanished from the continent. England had been pushed back on the north; Spain had yielded the Floridas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, and Texas.

The whole vast extent of the country had been covered by one nation, a tumultuous multitude of free men — men of heterogeneous races and creeds — living under the weakest government in all the world. The people who had been left to shift for themselves — who had learned the lessons of realism and learned them the hard way — were creating a new world and carrying forward the revolution which was beginning to shake the foundation of the Old World.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Writer-adventurer George Plimpton gives the appearance of a man whose olfactory senses are constantly assailed by offensive zephyrs.

This facial arrangement combined with his Harvard accent made him a poor prospect to play a horse opera heavy.

But the 6-foot, 4-inch easterner plays a bit part in "Rio Lobo" with John Wayne for a television special he is narrating and, perhaps, a book on feature film-making.

For better or worse, Wayne shoots Plimpton dead in the first reel.

Plimpton, author of "The Paper Lion" and other books in which he involves himself in sports and unlikely professions, is a gracious man with a keen sense of humor and an apparent distaste for territory west and-or south of the Hudson River.

He dislikes being compared with the ficticious Walter Mitty of Thurber fame because it is inaccurate.

"I am not Walter Mitty because he always succeeded in his daydreams," Plimpton said. "I miss success by a long step.

"My participations in various fields of endeavor are a means to reportage. If I weren't a writer I'm sure I wouldn't have a small compusiion to act out my dreams anyhow."

Plimpton found movie-making passive compared to baseball (he pitched before an all-star game), football (he lost 35 yards for the Detroit Lions) and was percussionist for a symphony orchestra, playing bells, triangle, gongs and cymbals.

He also found movies less thrilling than trying his hand at trapeze flying for the circus.

"I had one line in the movie," Plimpton reported ruefully. "It was: 'This here's your warrant, mister.'

"I rehearsed it for a week. But when it came time to shoot the scene they changed it to read: I've got your warrant right here, sheriff."

Thereupon Wayne belts him across the mouth with a rifle and shoots him in the chest. Throughout Plimpton's travels with the picture Wayne called him Plankton. Plimpton was unamused.

"I had hoped to do a really dramatic death scene, you know. Staggering all over the place, and perhaps muttering a line," he said.

"Instead they put a harness on me with two wires attached to the back. And when I was shot, two men off screen jerked the wires to enhance the appearance of my being shot.

"Actually I do little to help or hinder the film."

KEKKONEN TO VISIT

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Urho Kekkonen of Finland has accepted President Nixon's invitation to visit Washington July 22 to 24, the White House announced Wednesday.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also said that King Hussein II of Morocco has postponed his July visit until later in the year because the queen is expecting.

1 BEDROOM - 2 BATH, assume loan balance, low equity, low monthly payments, low interest loan. Call W. D. Blackburn day - phone 665-5796, evening - phone 669-2307.

BRING YOUR GREEN THUMB - a nice 3-bedroom near edge of city with present owner enjoyed her flowers, fruit trees, and shrubs for landscaping. Moved to a smaller home because of physical condition, and is offering this home with attached garage for only $7,200. Less than $1,000 equity and assume loan balance, payable at $74 monthly. MLS 375

IF YOU WANT TO DO THINGS - the minute you see this east side duplex and let your imagination work awhile, you'll say "here's a house that's ADAPTABLE." It's on a long lot streached out between two streets and the house can be converted into a one-family home, having 2-baths, if desided at a minimum of remodeling costs. If you wish to do it yourself. Priced at $4,000 "as is". Financing help available. MLS 359

TAX SAVE LESS THAN YOU'D EXPECT the taxes on this newly repaired and remodeled 2-bedroom east side home on a corner lot, where under $40 last year. It'll be hard to find one comparable in good condition for as little as $50 monthly with owner carrying a substantial amount of $2,000 purchase price, if financing needed and at a low rate of interest. MLS 347

MODERATION IS THE KEYNOTE - especially for a retired couple wanting to be near shopping and a park. $5,200 will buy this north side well located 2-bedroom, 1-bath home with a garage. Somewhat secluded for privacy from street, up on a terraced lot well landscaped. Cash or equity and loan assumption. MLS 221

LARGE COMMERCIAL LOT in city on state highway for only $1,275. Can use for nearly any legitimate purpose under zoning, including a mobile home site. Utilities already installed. MLS 328C
