HASKELL FAIR RACE DRIVER KILLED

Record Crowd Jams Grounds at T-O Fair

AUTO RACE TO FEATURE CARD FOR THIS P. M.

Exhibits Shown This Year Are Classed Finest In Fair History

With an evening crowd that jammed the grounds in a record-breaking throng, the fifth annual Texas-Oklahoma fair finished its first day Saturday in a manner that augured well for the coming sessions.

The big exposition which has attracted to Wichita Falls the finest array of exhibits ever gathered under one roof in Northwest Texas, was officially opened at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and from then on drew constantly increasing crowds. It climaxed the day with the gorgeous pageant of progress and coronation of the queen in the evening.

Exhibits Excell

Detailed description of most of the exhibits are carried elsewhere in this morning's Record News. Suffice it to say here that they comprise an amazing variety of amazing quality and represent the cream of products to be found in North Texas and southern Oklahoma.

For the opening day a well balanced program was provided. In the afternoon, motorcycle races on the speedway developed considerable speed and not a few thrills. The carnival attractions swung into operation on the midway and in exhibit halls were opened early.

The Municipal band under the direction of R. A. Brollier was on duty early and late, giving a concert on the downtown streets in the morning, another on the grounds in the afternoon and playing for the coronation and pageant in the evening.

Cadet Band Here

The famous Chicago Cadet band which has been a prime favorite in Wichita Falls in years gone past will be here for the fair Sunday.

This afternoon will feature automobile races on the speedway, staged under A. A. A. supervision with several of the country's most noted speed kings competing. In the evening, vaudeville stunts and Foghorn Clancy's first big rodeo performance will be given in front of the grandstand.

TEXAS-OKLAHOMA FAIR SUNDAY, OCT. 3

7 a. m.—Gates open for second day.

11 a. m.—Special sacred musical program, to be broadcast to all parts of ground and all buildings by loud speakers.

2:30 p. m.—Automobile races, A. A. A. rules, D. H. Jeffries, A. A. A. representative for Texas in charge. No dust, track packed with calcium chloride; five big events with fast drivers entered in all.

8 p. m.—First performance of Fog Horn Clancey's rodeo; horse show in connection; music by Chicago cadet band.

All hours—Exhibit halls open. Wortham shows on the midway.

Automobile show open.

Postal Receipts In Steady Climb Here

Postal receipts for the first nine months of 1926, through September 30, show a gain of almost $36,000 over the same period of 1925, according to a report from the local post office Saturday. For the first nine months of 1925, postal receipts totaled $198,032.40, and for the same period of 1926 were $234,112.93.

For the last quarter, ending September 30, 1926, the postal receipts were $81,918.92 and for that time in 1925 was $64,819.56, a gain this year of more than $17,000.

AGED PIONEER DIES

Death Claims 'Uncle Joe Weakley at Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—J. C. Weakley, known widely as "Uncle Joe," died at his home here today, age 87. He was the father of the Brownwood fire department, was connected with many business enterprises and had served several terms as mayor. Funeral was set for next Tuesday.

$25 REWARD

A reward of $25 will be paid by The Record News for the arrest of any one caught removing or in any way tampering with the furniture fixtures or decorations of the Garden of Dreams in Westmoreland addition.

This offer remains in effect for the balance of the time the new home is open to the public.

The Record News

All Who Enter It Leave Gloom Behind---

RECORD NEWS' 'GARDEN OF DREAMS'

By night a sombre mass of subdued color splashed with lights and shadows—by day a flashing mass of brilliant hue, bright but not gaudy—

Such was the impression of those who returned Saturday afternoon to El Jardin de los Suenos to feast their eyes again on the lavish spread of beauty revealed to them for the first time Friday night when The Record News Garden of Dreams was formally opened.

For the second time in two days, the new home in Westmoreland addition, built by The Record News as an example of what tasteful designing and careful work can do, was opened to the public Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2:30 and 6. And, as was the case Friday night when eight thousand persons left the place dazed with wonderment at its beauty, the throngs that surged through Saturday found themselves speechless. It was a revealation to all, a place that defied description and which, from the opening hall to the closing kitchen door was an unending series of delights and surprises.

Today the home will be opened from 2:30 in the afternoon until 6 in the evening and the public is cordially invited to inspect it. Special hostesse will be on hand in each room to explain various features and details.

HEAVY LOSSES AFTER FLOODS

Oklahoma Rivers Burst Over Banks As Rain Falls in Deluge

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Hundreds of families fled from their homes in the Illinois river valley today as the Mississippi and Illinois rivers aproached or exceeded flood stage with levees at the breaking point. Two lives were lost in the valley region.

Helen Hanson, 11, of Drake station, near Whitehall, Ills., was drowned in the flood waters of Hurricane creek when her father attempted to carry her to safety when the Hanson home was threatened. Louis Mead, 33, of Clarksdale, was killed by lightning when a bolt struck a school building in which he had sought shelter.

SERIOUS LOSSES IN OKLAHOMA STORM

MIAMI, Okla., Oct. 2. (AP)—Thousands of dollars damage was inflicted in Ottawa county last night and early today by a rain and electrical storm. Three inches of rain fell in five hours, flooding business houses at Picher, inundating state highway No. 7 at Cardin and driving a score of families in that city from their homes in the low lands along Tar creek, washing out two small bridges on the northeast Oklahoma railroad an interurban line, and flooding several lead and zinc mines.

OKLAHOMA RIVERS OVERFLOW BANKS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2. (AP)—The northeastern part of Oklahoma tonight had suffered from floods for the second time within two weeks and the northern section in general from rains Friday night and this mornng, which somewhat crippled motor transportation.

The Neosho, Verdigris and Caney rivers were at flood stage.

FARMERS WARNED OF COMING FLOOD

COFFEYVILLE, Kansas, Oct. 2. (AP)—The Verdigris river was expected to leave its banks here before daylight tomorrow on the basis of river stage readings early tonight. The stream was fifteen feet above the water works dam northwest of the city. At nineteen feet above the dam the river reaches flood stage and overflows.

Reports from Independence, Neodesha and Altoona, Kans., said that the river was rising at all of those points more than twelve inches per hour and that it had already left its banks at the latter two points.

FAVORS BLANKET TAX.

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Members of the house committee investigating the $10.50 compulsory student activities or "blanket tax" at Texas university are virtually agreed the fee should be optional, Representative George Purl of Dallas, chairman, said Saturday.

THE WEATHER

Local weather conditions for the past 24 hour period reported by the Wichita Falls Electric company bureau: Maximum temperature 92 degrees; minimum temperature 74 degrees; at 5 p. m. Saturday 90 degrees; no precipitation; south breeze; partly cloudy; average wind velocity 7 miles per hour; maximum wind velocity 13 miles per hour; barometer 29.05.

OKLAHOMA: Sunday and Monday partly cloudy to cloudy.

EAST TEXAS: Sunday and Monday partly cloudy to cloudy, probably scattered showers. Light to fresh southeast winds on the coast.

WEST TEXAS: Sunday partly cloudy, probably scattered showers in north and east portions; Monday partly cloudy.

M'CONNELL TO ERECT STORE

Three-Story Building Will Be Erected At Once On Indiana Avenue

Announcement of plans for a modern, three story building which will house one of the finest furniture establishments in Texas was made yesterday by L. E. McConnell of McConnell Brothers Furniture company, which has just purchased two lots on Indiana avenue, south of the Perkins-Snider building and between that structure and the Majestic theatre. Ground will be broken within 30 days for the building, Mr. McConnell stated.

The consideration announced in the deal was not made public, it is known to have represented a very high figure. The property has a frontage of 150 feet and is 150 feet deep. The new McConnell store will occupy 75 feet of the frontage, while the remainder of the property will be divided up for four stores and office space.

With this last gap closed on Indiana avenue, the business district will prevent an unbroken "white way" along that thoroughfare.

BIG BORDER RESORT

$5,000,000 To Be Invested By Tex Rickard's Associates

LAREDO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Representatives of the Madison Square Garden association of New York have been in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the border from Laredo, the last two days making preliminary plans for a $5,000,000 amusement resort which they state the New York organization is planning. The concession for the resort has been obtained from the Mexican government, it was stated. The representatives expect to leave Sunday for New York to submit their report to the Madison Square Garden officials, among whom is Tex Rickard. Tentative plans are said to call for race track stables, a hotel and a dancing pavilion.

OPPOSE NEW COURT

M'KINNEY, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP) The Collin county bar association meeting here Friday adopted resolutions opposing inclusion of this supreme judicial district. Copies of the resolution were forwarded to Governor Ferguson, Senator Joe B. Moore of Greensville, author of the measure, and Representative Sam Bateman and C. A. Barker.

SARGENT SCORES WETS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2 (AP)—The plea of "personal liberty" as an excuse for violation of the prohibition act was assailed by Attorney General Sargent before the Missouri State Bar association today.

12 INCHES OF RAIN

CEDARVALE, Kansas, Oct. 2. (AP)—With twelve inches of rain received here the past week, eight inches yesterday, Cedarvale is cut off from the rest of the world. Both the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific tracks are washed out.

OIL MEN LOSE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The government won another point in the naval oil lease cases today when the court of appeals of the District of Columbia dismissed a petition of E. L. Doheny, Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, attacking certain of the indictments returned here.

THE PROGRAM

The Garden of Dreams will remain open each afternoon through Thursday, from 2 to 6 a. m. During the coming week the home will be open for inspection of the public on one or two evenings from 7:30 until 9:30 p. m. The evening dates will be announced later.

WOMEN HAVE GREAT EXHIBIT AT T-O FAIR

All Booths Packed With Wide Variety of Fancy Goods Shown

With almost every exhibit in place, booths in the Woman's building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair were making an attractive showing Saturday when with Mrs. Raymond Gutzler, chairman in charge, everything was in a hustle placing the various articles for display.

Exhibits in this building will include domestic art, domestic science, farm women's club exhibits, plants and flowers. And in the domestic arts department are found a wonderful display of house furnishings including fancy work of all kinds, quilts, bed spreads, hand-woven rugs, handkerchiefs, fancy pillows, decorative art such as card tables, lamp shades, plaques, wearing apparel for both women and children, machine and fancy sewing, lace work, aged women's work and children's work.

A Regular Larder.

In the domestic science department of which Mrs. Arch Dawson is superintendent, are entered all kinds of pies, cakes, home-made candies, cookies, pastries, fruits, preserves, pams, marmalades, butters, pickles and miscellaneous.

The girl's department which is an attractive feature of the building is open for entries from girls up to 16 years of age, and includes an exhibit of all kinds of bread, cakes, meats and other cookery.

Another display in the Woman's building of interest to feminity in general are the rural club booths under the direction of Miss Louise Webb, county demonstration agent, and in these booths are all knids of home canned fruits, preserves, jellies and work done by clubs in communities surrounding Wichita Falls. Those having displays include, County Line club, Harding, Clara, Barwise Home Dew club, Lakedale and Pleasant Valley.

Among the many booths receiving unusual attention is the Iowa Park display of fancy work where is shown a loom for making bed spreads and other chenille fancy work. A spread is shown in the making.

In the antique booth which is also of special interest are many articles dating back more than 100 years. A bed-spread woven 69 years ago by the mother of E. B. and O. T. Gorsline, attracts lovers of the antique, while a tucked and embroidery domestic flounce, the tucking done on the first Howe sewing machine in existence by the same woman, won a blue ribbon in this booth. In here is also shown a quilt made in the year of 1848 which has been in use for 78 years and a counterpane woven in the year of 1809 with the interesting label "for the hope chest." The counterpane was made by the grandmother of Mrs. A. H. Estes.

Century Old Sampler.

A sampler more than 100 years old is among a number of interesting antiques being displayed by Mrs. Mamie Dale Brown of Iowa Park, also hand-made hickory chair with rawhide bottom which has served five generations, the property of Mrs. S. A. Moore.

Of interest to lovers of antique manuscript is the Bible printed in the year of 1826 and owned by Mrs. A. H. Estes of Iowa Park, and a New York Herald containing the story of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. A book of essay and the valedictory address by a number of the first graduates of Columbia university at Lebanon, Tenn., is the property of Misses Alice and Helen Hartman and belonged to their great grandmother, is also of interest to present day students and others. Most of the articles mentioned received blue ribbons in the antique display.

Fancy Work.

The exhibit of fancy work by small girls and boys from five to 14 years of age in Mrs. D. J. Carither's booth will prove of interest not only to children but to grown-ups as well, and will make up a large part of the educational program of the fair. This display includes sewing of all kinds, spreads, luncheon sets, crochet, knitting, polychrome work an deven a miniature doll house furnished with complete living room set and bed room with doll reclining on a couch made by a small girl.

Mrs. C. L. Granberry is in charge of the hard-woven rug booth, which is an entirely new display in the woman's building, and in here are shown all kinds, patterns and shapes of hand-made rugs which are proving a popular novelty in house furnishings at present.

The Six Arts club probably has the most varied collection of all kinds of fancy work on display and include in the exhibit all kinds of hand-painted plaques, fancy work and hand-made flowers.

Local horticulturists have a remarkable display of home-grown roses, princess feather and all kinds of potted plants and cut flowers on display, and the campfire girls and boy scouts are arranging attractive booths.

Texas Writer Who Interviews Aimee Semple McPherson Says 'God Pity Her' If the Mob That Worships Her Now Should Ever Turn Against Her.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL.
Special Correspondent to The Record News.
Copyright, 1926 by the Consolidated Press Ass'n.

MARCELLUS E. FOSTER, former publisher of the Houston, Texas Chronicle and just now indulging, in long felt ambition to be a dilectante writer, has been sojourning for several weeks in Los Angeles and while there has made a most interesting study of Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Kennedy, both of whom have been in court the past week facing charges of criminal conspiracy in connection with Mrs. McPherson's story of kidnaping and detention in a lonely shack somewhere in Mexico.

The McPherson case is without doubt one of the strangest which ever has held the attention of the American public. Mr. Foster depicts the situation today in Los Angeles in this fashion:

She Is Worshipped.

"Thus far Aimee is worshipped by her followers. They believe in her. They are ready to fight for her. One wave of her white hand and they do her will. God help her if they should ever turn against this great woman crusader.

"The mob applauds today. The mob destroys tomorrow. Today Aimee Semple McPherson, despite reports regarding her that are damnable, has the faith of her followers. They believe she is leading them to heaven. If they should ever become convinced she is a fraud, a trickster, a weak, hypocritical, sinful sister herself, God have mercy upon them and upon her. They might thrust her into hell."

"For their sake, for her sake, for the sake of the Christian religion she upholds, let us pray their faith has not been misplaced."

"Aimee is a remarkable woman. Her mother, smart and pleasant of appearance also is a genius. Have I faith in them. Only that they are both in earnest and that they have built up a great organization to save souls. I marvel at their power. I do not give the good Lord as much credit for their success as they do. I think they deserve most of the praise themselves. They may be instruments in His hands, but they do not overlook anything. They work day and night. They plan constantly for new efforts and new recruits. It is an ever ending revival. They must keep up the interest."

Describing his first meeting with the evangelist, Mr. Foster says:

Striking Red Hair.

"Aimee approached. Her red hair was very striking. Her brown eyes were beaming. She wore a plain house dress and it seemed she had donned her costume hurriedly. Her black stockings didn't fit firmly about the ankles. They sagged. When Mrs. McPherson talks to you, though you soon forget everything but her hair, her eyes and her voice. She radiates good will, cheerfulness and activity. She is not dainty and winsome, but large and striking of appearance. She is not in any sense ungainly, however, but on the contrary is well constructed physically and seems a perfect speciman of womanhood. She swims, rides and walks."

After viewing the Angelus temple, the McPherson home and the six-story school building, all on the same block of ground, Mr. Foster made so bold as to inquire:

"Who owns all this property?"

She Owns It.

"I do," promptly replied the evangelist. "It was given to me and my mother by contributions which came voluntarily from here and all parts of the country. Why not? Billy Sunday is paid for his revival work. He puts his money into oil wells and ranches. I put mine into a great temple and into buildings dedicated to the Lord's work. I could make much more if I went forth as a lecturer. I use my brains, my faith and all my energy in this work. This land and these buildings belong to me, but they are dedicated to the Lord."

Run to the Rail.

IN ANY discussion or a "future invasion" of France by the soldiers of the A. E. F., the war liner Leviathan comes inevitably to mind. The big vessel always is a never ending source of interest to hightseers when tied to her dock in New York. A small army of ship attendants is kept busy showing visitors over the pride of the surviving American merchant marine.

One visitor during a recent inspection marvelled at the luxurious splendor of the presidential and premier suites of the liner. He was duly impressed by the three bedrooms, the magnificent tiled baths, the sun parlor, the private dining room and then he shook his head:

"But what could you do with all this," he said, "if you were seasick?"

YANKEES STAR IN FIRST TILT TO BEAT CARDS

World Series Opener Goes To New York While 62,000 Watch

By ALAN J. GOULD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The southpaw wizardry of willowy Herb Pennock and the punch in the big bats of Burly Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig today carried the New York Yankees to triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opening skirmish of the 1926 battle for the world's baseball championship.

A crowd of close to 62,000, falling just short of record proportions, but nevertheless, forming a spectacular background to the conflict in the Yankee stadium saw victory perch on the banner of the American league champions by the narrow margin of 2 to 1.

Ground Is Hazy.

Fought out on a hazy battleground, occasionally moistened by light showers, it was a close and tensely-waged struggle from start to finish, even if it failed to reach particularly thrilling heights. It was a convincing victory for the Yankees, nevertheless, for they outsteadied, outeneraled and outplayed the first team that St. Louis ever has sent in quest of baseball's premier crown.

Pennock, twirling with cool and baffling skill, held the slugging National league champions to three hits and allowing not the semblance of a safety over a seven-inning stretch from the first to the ninth frames.

His Third Victory.

Registering his third triumph in world's series competition, Pennock gave a masterful exhibition, yielding his only run in the first inning on a double by Douthit and a scratch single by Bottomley then mowing down the Cardinals with machine like regularity until the eighth, when the Yankee ace pulled himself together after a brief spell of wildness.

Willie Sherdel, portside star of the Cardinal staff, matched his slow ball against Pennock's cross fire, but contributed to his own fall by an erratic start in the first inning while Yankee bats got to him for the winning run in the sixth. He gave way in the eighth to Jess Haines after being replaced at bat by a pinch hitter.

Ruth Leads Sortie.

Babe Ruth led the sortie that gave the Yankees their winning run in the sixth inning and brought about the downfall for Sherdel. Singling sharply through third base the Babe advanced on Bob Meusel's neatly placed sacrifice bunt and raced home on Lou Gehrig's rousing single to right field.

When Lazzeri followed with another single it looked as though the Yankees were about to stage one of their characteristic batting explosions. Gehrig, however, was thrown out at third and Severeid hit into a force-out after Lester Bell, Cardinal third sacker, had juggled Dugan's smash, failing either to make the throw to first or tag Lazzeri at the far corner.

Sherdel Is Shaky.

The first Yankee run, in the opening inning was a gift for Sherdel, unable to control his slow ball walked Combs, Ruth and Meusel to fill the bags with only one out. Combs crossed the plate on Gehrig's infield rap that forced Meusel at second base.

Sherdel settled down after this spasm and successfully checked the Yankees until the sixth, although he was frequently on the border line of danger as the American leaguers got men as far as second base in the second and third innings. A snappy double play, engineered by Thevenow and Hornsby, clocked off a Yankee spurt in the fifth.

Big Guns Silent.

Such big guns as Rogers Hornsby, Bob O'Farrell and Lester Bell, failed at any time to get the range of Pennock's slants. Hornsby, St. Louis leader, got the ball out of the infield only once in four attempts. Still visibly grief stricken by the recent death of his mother, Hornsby gamely battled for every advantage, but the zest and dash so characteristic of his individual play was missing.

Pennock had brilliant support, too, on the few occasions he needed it. The famous Yankee kid infield distinguished itself in every department of play. Mark Koenig, young shortstop, pulled the most dazzling fielding stunt of the game in the second inning when he raced back to bag Hafey's sharp hit and threw the runner out at first with a marvelous bullet-like throw.

Lou Gehrig Stars.

"Coumbia, Lou!" Gehrig's bat struck the blows that brought home both Yankee runs, while Tony Lazzeri, second baseman and third of the infield recruits, handled himself like a veteran. Then again when Herb Pennock, in his only wavering moment, issued two passes in the eighth, Earl Combs, fleet young Kentuckian dashed in from center field to make a brilliant catch of a short fly by Holm, pinch hitting for Southworth. Hornsby rushed reserves to the front in rapid-fire order, but without avail as he sought to take advantage of this eighth inning opportunity.

Pass Starts It.

A pass to O'Farrell started the rally and a sacrifice bunt by Thevenow put the catcher on second base. Flowers, batting for Sherdel, hit to Pennock and O'Farrell was run down between second and

FIELDS WHITE WITH COTTON; PICKERS FEW

Thousands Of Bales Remain Unpicked In Fields Below Wichita

Thousands of bales of cotton are open in the fields south and west of Wichita Falls with no pickers available to take in the harvest, a survey of farms adjoining state highways leading as far out as 100 miles from this city revealed Saturday.

Conditions between Seymour and Munday on State Highway No. 20 and west from Munday to Knox City and Benjamin are particularly acute, Saturday's check revealed with farmers declaring themselves unable to obtain pickers at any wage reasonably proportionate to the price now being paid for cotton on delivery to gins.

Gins Run Busily

Despite the shortage of pickers, however, gins in the section affected are running full speed with some expecting to go on night shift operations Saturday night due to increasing harvest following the last two days of rain. Most of the fields which are being picked are giving excellent yields, it is reported.

Good cotton at the gnis was Saturday bringing around 12 and one-half cents with the poorer grades yielding as much as a cent less according to information obtained from gin operators. Comparatively little of the cotton now being ginned is held by the farmers who are compelled to sell in order to obtain funds for running expenses. With good yields several farmers declared that they would show good profits while others viewed the declining price of cotton pessimistically.

Good Yields Seen

Definite ginning figures not being available Saturday, it could not be ascertained how ginnings to date compare with the records for last year, but ginners estimated that there has been a considerable increase so far. The cotton in the main is declared to be of good quality with some damage to the grade that already opened during the rains of the last week.

NEW YORK FUTURES CONTINUE TO DROP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (By the Associated Press).—Crushed under a weight of bales, with prospects of the biggest yield on record if good weather continues for the next few weeks, prices of future contracts on the New York cotton exchange plunged to new levels today amid the heaviest selling of the week. Much of the pressure came from the south, where it is becoming increasingly evident that nature had mantled the entire cotton area in an abnormally heavy blanket of white.

WEEK BRINGS IN NEW POOL

Simms-Burns Well Opens Up New Area For Drilling

The excessive rainfall in northwest Texas tended to slow up oil field operations during the early part of the past week but the sun finally "came out" and with it came the refreshing news that a new pool had been opened up in Archer county. Although completions were about as numerous as usual a large number were delayed until the mud dries up. Several wells were last reported shutdown on the sand due to the inclement weather.

About three quarters of a mile north and east of the Simms, Texas, company and other production in sections 172 and 171 of the Robt. Carson survey in Archer county L. T. "Bobby" Burney and the Simms Oil company are preparing to place on the pump a new producer in section 146 which came in Friday swabbing between 100 and 150 barrels of oil daily. This well is fully a quarter of a mile east of the American and Wandered production in block 150 of the same survey and opinions differ as to whether the strike is in a distinct pool or an extension of either of the other pay areas. It is certain however, that it proves the production on the Turbville lands is far from its top mark. Both the Simms company and Burns are reported to have made two drilling locations each near the new find are expected t ostart an in SHR and other producing companies are expected to start an intensive campaign of development in that vicinity.

Another feature of the week was the completion of Cooke county's biggest well to date, the John Hooser No. 7 Dennis in the Hooser pool on the Moss survey. This well swabbed 325 barrels in the first 24 hours from the said at 1,184-87 feet. C. C. Lanier finished up two wells on his Hyman lease in the Moss survey, No. 3 being good for 75 barrels and No. 2 being estimated at 40 barrels.

In the Nacona field the Gulf Production company No. 2 Howard swabbed 126 barrels in the first 16 hours from sand at 1,160 feet. The Texhoma No. A-5 Bouldin had sand at 1,050-62 feet and swabbed 26 barrels in the first three hours. The same company's No. 12 J .W. Rowland had 140 feet of oil in the hole from sand at 1,085-90 feet.

In the Sunshine Hill district of Wichita county Bridwell and Heydrick and the United Producers company have drilled out the plug at 1,830 feet on their No. 9 Ward and Todd but the bit is tussling with a granite-like formation a few feet deeper. Southwest of Iowa Park the Magnolia Petroleum company appears to have a better well in No. 3 Fassett and Tuttle than is No. 1.

The number of new locations increased in the district during the week and lease buying has been resumed by a number of companies which had previously been playing a waiting gabe. The steady gain of the pipeline runs has brought the district over 100,000 barrels in daily production and with the greatly increased drilling over the entire district, it will be surprising if the present high mark is not maintained.

FIVE FLIERS DIE.

PENSHURT, England, Oct. 2. (AP)—Five passengers, the pilot and a mechanician were burned to death today when a French passenger airplane en route to the Croydon airdrome, London, crashed near here.

Doctor Admits He Shot Self; Dies

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—Dr. A. M. Freels, 40, was fatally shot at his home here today. Two pistol bullets were sent through his head. In a statement he is said to have made following the shooting the doctor admitted that he shot himself and said he wanted o live. He formerly was commander of the Fred W. Wilson American Legion post.

U. S. STORM WARNING.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The weather bureau today issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory 10 a. m. Vessel reports this morning would appear to indicate that the tropical disturbance that was between Bermuda and the Bahamas has disappeared."

TO CLOSE OPERA

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—The municipal opera at Kiel, once the scene of many gala performances for admirals and nobility when the city was Germany's foremost naval base, will be closed because opera without a big navy does not pay. The city council since the war has had to subsidize the undertaking to the extent of $150,000 a season. The appropriation for next year has now been cut to $90,000. The directors say the receipts cannot possibly increase sufficiently to make up the difference and they will not re-engage talent.

OCTOPUS MEAT STARTS FIGHT

That's Why Wars are Ever Breaking Out Anew In Balkan States

BY JESSIE HENDERSON,
Special Dispatch to The Record News.
Copyright, 1926, by The Consolidated Press Association.

ALONG THE DALMATION COAST, Oct. 2.—There's a good deal to be said for heredity. But there's more to be said for digestion. If the people who want world peace would attend less to what the Balkans and their environs mean in history as Jugic, Slavic, Serbic, Slovick and Czechic units and more to what they eat, the whole problem of the Balkan unrest would be solved in short order.

The thing indeed would unroll itself like a cross-word puzzle. Exasperation in seven letters would develop as ravioli—the kind which has been kept in a Sebonico kitchen till it was long past its first youth and heavy as an ultimatum. The Irridenta, even, might dissolve into spaghetti powdered with a certain local pepper calculated to make you take an intense interest in, among other things, the local water supply and any adjacent rivers.

Goat Meat Stew.

Undoubtedly what gives to the Jugo and the Czech that interesting temperament is goat's meat seasoned with everything handy.

If an army marches on its tummy, so even more does a nation. Statesmen from the milder countries, who think the little nations are going to be satisfied with a few hard boiled mandates, ought to reflect on the fact that for a thousand years these little ones have subsisted on wild, strange foods, which would long since have decimated the effete west but which have resulted hereabouts in sturdy physique, marvelous complexions, and handsome black-eyes, together with an ability to take punishment, indifference to the western ideas of cause and effect and pessimistic outlook on life which have more than once upset diplomatic negotiations.

Of course a big percentage of the European wars have started in the vicinity of the Dalmatian coast. Eat there for a week and you'll understand wry. Divorces are cooked up in the kitchen as every American husband knows. And when you see what comes out of a Dalmatian kitchen, it doesn't surprise you when international trouble follows. A people whose shore dwellers are, digestively speaking, little brothers to the Octopus and the sea-going snail, ought not to be blamed if they feel they can tackle anything.

It was funny about the Octopus. Of course, the lobsters were rather funny, too — tiny, six-inch ones from roundabout Spalato where they have no laws anent short lobsters; odd red, little creatures that looked like lipsticks and tasted like ambrosia. Upon th esame enormous platter were interesting odds and ends of fish, camouflaged with oil, peppers, and what not, and tasting so much in spite of everything like the good old haddock which brightens the New England seashore hotel, that you demanded a second big helping and a third.

They Eat Octopi.

The Englishman who knew all about everythihg as Englishman so often do, was discoursing on strange sea food and he gave a remarkably vivid description of the ways and means of Octopi. It was a choppy sea roundabout lunch time and you had begun to wish he'd talk about habits of the wild flowers—because it seems the Octopi often darken their immediate surroundings with an inky fluid very dense and poisonous—when the Englishman remarked:

"I'm told that on some of the more remote islands further south—Greece, you know—the blighters actually eat 'em. It's like those African chaps who eat the flesh of—poisonous snakes."

The captain, munching steadily, chose that instant to observe we were all eating octopus at the moment. Still—inky fluid or not—nothing untoward happened. At least, nothing which doesn't often happen during a choppy sea.

Hyde-Mills Sleuth Sought On Warrant

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 2. (AP)—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of Felix Di Martini as accessory after the murder of the Reverend Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills. Di Mirtini was the chief of the private detectives employed by the Hall family four years ago.

BEER AND PROPAGANDA.

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Beer and propaganda have been joined in a unique manner by a Berlin brewer who furnishes his customers with paste board beer mats containing slogans in favor of the restoration of Germany's colonial possessions. As the imbiber waits for the kellner to fill a stein he can spend his time reading the printed mats. "Germans don't forget our colonies," reads one inscription. "Without colonies there is no certainty of obtaining raw materials," is another. "British colonial possessions are one hundred times as large as the mother country. And Germany?" proclaims a third in blue type.

STAR IS HONORED

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Emile Jannings, hero of the film drama, is being signally honored prior to his departure Oct. 8 for the United States, where he is to star in a picture under the direction of Ernest Lubitsch. Moving picture houses in Berlin and several other cities will devote a week to producing each night a Jannings film to show the public the whole creer of Germany's most popular screen star. Numerous farewell parties also have been arranged, including a banquet which will be attended by Berlin's entire movie colony.

TO WATCH CLOSELY

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—President Von Hindenburg, Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann and members of the cabinet are going to keep a close watch on reichstag proceedings this year. The system of telephonic microphones and amplifiers has been extended so that virtually every high official will be able to hear the debates without leaving his office. Loud speakers have supplanted earphones. Colored lights in the offices will call attention to the fact that important speakers are mounting the rostrum.

REPAIR TREASURERS

The government has appropriated $500,000 to repair Turkey's archaeological treasures. A large part of this sum will be devoted to the mosque of St. Sophia, built nearly 2,000 years ago.

Irrigation Permits Granted On Border

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Marvin Goodwin of Mission has been granted permit by the state board of water engineers to take water from the Rio Grande to irrigate 25,000 acres, it was announced Saturday. The board stipulated that earth ditching and the canal system of concrete lines must be used and the maximum is limited to two acre feet of water per acre per annum.

The board also granted Starr county water improvement district number one, permit to take water from the Rio Grande under the same conditions as the Goodwin project, to irrigate 38,000 acres.

Governor Ferguson Denies News Story

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP).—Governor Miram A. Ferguson Saturday denied a staff special story in the Dallas Morning News predicting the appointment of new highway commissioners in the place of Hal Mosely and John Cage.

The governor said neither Mosely nor Cage have resigned and that she was awaiting developments. She said that no action had been taken.

The senate in special session has postponed confirmation of appointments of Mosely and Cage and S. G. Granberry, state prison commissioner.

GREAT WRITERS MEET

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—The custom of having Shakespeare gree Goethe once a year, and Goethe reciprocating in kind, has been resumed for the first time since the war. Since 1864 Germans have sent a wreath of leaves picked fro mtrees in the garden of the Goethe house in Frankfort to Stratford-On-Avon on the occasion of Shakespeare's birthday anniversary, April 21. British have returned the compliment on Aug. 28, with a wreath of leaves picked in the gardens of the Shakespeare house. The practice was resumed by the trustees and guardians of Shakespeare's house on Goethe's birthday and will be continued next April by the trustees of the Goethe house.

OW — — — —

PARIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—M. Poincare, like most noted men has his double. He has even several. The most striking came into a boulevard cafe. He had the same closely trimmed, pointed white bear, the same vigorous carriage, the same piercing glance. On the waistline was a little more pronounced than that of France's premier, but so little that several of those present really believed that it was M. Poincare himself and stood up to honor him. Then the man began to talk. He spoke German.

FOUNTAINS OPENED

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Almost coincidently with the return of the former crown price and princess to their Potsdam castle, Cecilienhof, the fountains in the nearby gardens of San Souci were set playing as they did during the days of the monarchy. All the fountains spout on Sundays. The great gusher in front of San Souchi terrace operates also on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

College Degree For Life Insurance Men

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 2. (AP).—A college degree for insurance men, with the title Certified Life Insurance Underwriter, to be conferred by a national insurance college, is a plan to be discussed at the semi-annual meeting of the Texas Association of Life Insurance Underwriters here October 21-22.

TWELVE "COWBOYS" HURT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 2.(AP) Twelve film cowboys were injured, four of them seriously, last night in the "shooting" of a spectacular of a "western" at the Universal studio near here. The accident occurred when one of 50 horses became unmanageable and ran wild, throwing his rider. The other horses, blinded by the Kleig lights, stampeded.

CHINESE SEIZE AMERICAN SHIP

Vessel Commandeered to Haul Sen's Troops On Yangtse River

PEKING, Oct. 2. (AP)—A message from Hankow says General Yang Sen's troops at Kweichowfu, on the Yangtse river, commandeered the American steamer Ileng and compelled her to transport soldiers to a point near Ichang.

It was the seizue of two British vessels by Yang Sen's forces which caused the recent international incident at Wanhsien, with both British and Chinese casualties.

GERMANS IRED OVER ARRESTS

French Soldier's Assailant Jailed At London In Trouble on Border

GERMERSHEIM, Germany, Oct. 2. (AP)—Herr Holzmann, one of the three Germans shot by the French lieutenant Roucier here Monday has been arrested by the French authorities on the charge that he struck at Roucier during the affray. The arrest was made after Holzmann and the lieutenant had been brought together for examination at Landau. The population at Germersheim is displaying indignation over the arrest.

The French foreign office said official investigation showed that Lieutenant Roucier, who killed one German and wounded two others, fired in self defense. Reports from the military authorities in the occupied area, it was added, indicated that recent agitation there was due to the infiltration of young nationalists, who entered the territory for the purpose of provoking disorders.

Lieutenant Roucier was said to have been threatened twice the night of the shooting by different crowds of young Germans.

On the second occasion, according to the French version, he fired into the air and did not turn his pistol against the Germans until they raised their canes to strike him.

Naval Board Quiz In Officer's Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.(AP) A naval board of inquiry today continued its investigation into the death of Colonel Alexander S. Williams, who was drowned when his automobile plunged into the bay here yesterday.

Although naval authorities and police are agreed the distinguished marine corps officer came to his death accidentally, the matter of how he came to drive his car into the bay remains unexplained. The possibility that the officer committed suicide has been scouted and an autopsy disclosed that he had not been drinking before the accident.

NO PAY

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Mayfair is having a good laugh at the expense of an American who came all the way to Europe to trace his ancestor of some three hundred years ago, who was a tax payer in Holborn, a section of London.

The books were brought down from their dusty shelves and in due time the name of the ancestor was found. Opposite his name was the remark. "Absconded without paying his rates."

Try This Simple Method For Blackheads

If you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes, get two ounces of Calonite powder from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth and rub over the blackheads. In a few minutes every blackhead, big or little, will be dissolved away entirely.—Adv.

HIGH PRAISE IS HEAPED ON LAVISH HOME

Living Room of the Garden Takes Its Place As A Point of Beauty

Exacting the highest praise from a number of the city's most discriminating artists, The Record News Garden of Dreams has unquestionably taken its place as one of the outstanding beauty spots of North Texas.

Shown in the accompanying picture is the spacious living room at "El Jardin de los Suenos." This is looking from the hall from the main entrance. The gorgeous Spanish effect is forcefully carried out in the living room as well as in every detail of the architecture of this remarkable home.

The walls of plaster, tastefully tinted lend a dreamy air to the entire interior. Charles E. Watson, who had complete charge of the interior decoration, secured most of his inspiration from an inspection tour to Florida and Cuba, where he visited the outstanding examples of Spanish treatment in interior decoration. The living room is unusually large, being 20x30 feet and having a 14-foot ceiling.

The old cypress beams are artificially aged and are set out beautifully by the color treatment of the ceiling proper.

The Furnishings.

To Ivan Murchison of the Freear Furniture company belongs the credit for the furnishing and drapery treatment in the Garden of Dreams. Two trips east and special courses under the foremost exponents of Spanish furnishing in the country were required to present the picture seen above.

The graceful arches of the doors leading to the patio, and to the front grass court, are enhanced in beauty by the quiet charm of an absolutely new treatment in draping. These drapes were specially designed and manufactured by the drapery department at Freears and were the cause of much comment during the opening.

The individual pieces of furniture need no detailed description. Each is a perfect piece of Spanish furniture, purchased specially for the Garden of Dreams by Mr. Murchison. The rug is one of the most beautiful ever shown here and gracefully lends the Spanish atmosphere to the stone floor. This floor, by the way, is a rich golden color and feels like rubber under the feet.

From the old Spanish galleon on the handsome mantel to the quaint Spanish love bench the furnishings are perfect. A handsome tapestry adorns one wall, while well chosen pictures are used to bring out the finished effect. A special model Brunswick Panatrope in its rich walnut finish adds to the charm of the room.

The mantel is a hand carved cretan finished off with black marble and tile floor. It is a massive piece of work and was specially purchased and installed by the Wichita Falls Builders Supply company.

The chandelier, one of the most elaborate ever shown in North Texas was installed and furnished by the Hudgens Electric company. The special lamps and decorative features were selected and placed by Mr. Murchison.

The Garden of Dreams will be open to the public each afternoon this week, including today. The program of inspection includes two evenings, the exact day to be announced.

The public is cordially invited to inspect the Garden of Dreams.

Garden Of Dreams Exceeds Beauty Of Sesqui Attempt

While the Record News was the recipient of many congratulations upon the Garden of Dreams at the formal opening Friday night, perhaps the most interesting statement came from Mrs. Dave Paul.

Mrs. Paul recently returned from the Sesqui-centennial celebration at Philadelphia and while there inspected the model Spanish home on the Sesqui grounds.

"The Record News Garden of Dreams is far more attractive and impressive than the one at the exposion," said Mrs. Paul, and I feel sure that Wichita Falls should feel proud of this beautiful example of the old Spanish, combined with modern conveniences.

Pate-Thompson Win Honorable Mention For New Court House

Pate & Thompson, local architects, received honorable mention in the August number of the American Builder, a building and structural magazine of the highest order, upon the completion of their plans for the new court house at Shreveport, La. The building is being erected at a cost of one million dollars and will house all the departments of the city government, as well as the county agricultural departments.

A fine picture of the new building appears on the cover of the magazine, and the article accompanying it is very complimentary to the Record News Garden of Dreams which has just been opened here.

This firm designed the Record News Garden of Dreams which has been opened here.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fry Wear, of Pearl street, who have been in Philadelphia to attend the national dog show are now in New York City and from there they will go to Boston and into Canada for several weeks, according to word received by friends Saturday.

J. C. Shows, of Ardmore, Okla., and Boyd pharmacy on Fifteenth and Boyd pharmacy on Fifteenth and Holliday and has taken charge of the establishment. He is a son-in-law of H. L. Hunter and with Mrs. Shows will be at home at 1310 1-2 Tenth.

Mrs. G. Y. Bains has returned from Smithville where she spent several days visiting.

Kelley's Body Goes To Crandall Saturday

F. J. Kelley, 65, who died in a local hospital at 4:30 Saturday morning, was sent to Crandall by Merkles for burial.

He is survived by his wife and three daughters; Mrs. Maggie Ellington, Mrs. Ida Stanfield and Mrs. Edna Cooper all of Kaufman.

SCHOOLS HAVE FINE EXHIBITS

Samples of Pupils' Work And Methods of Study Are Shown

Evolution in the curriculum of public schools is pointed out plainly by the exhibits of the educational building of the Texas-Oklahoma fair which are among the finest yet exhibited in the fair since its establishment five years ago. It was only a few years ago that an education was considered mainly on the reading, writing, arithmetic, with features of fine arts, and little practical teaching.

Exhibits from 13 schools and a junior college show work has been done artistically and well under the management of capable teachers. The displays are handwork of children from the first grades through the junior high school and junior college, including the following entries:

Pencil sketch, water color, pastel, charcoal free hand letters, colored maps, commercial posters, individual mechanical drawing display, applied design problem, pencil sketch, crayola, language posters, story illustration, arithmetic poster, display of paper tearing or cutting; and then there are exhibits from other departments bearing out more forcibly the idea of evolution. Dressmaking, baking, manual training, practical subjects are now everyday courses in the high schools and colleges.

A charming array of dresses, fancy, sports and gowns for afternoon or evening wear have been made by high school girls. Cedar chests, victrola or phonograph consoles, tables, writing desks, stools, reading lamps and other useful articles have been made by boys in the manual training classes. Bread, rolls, jelles, preserves, canned fruits, and vegetables have been made by the young women in the classes.

Basketry, sculpturing, woodwork and other displays are shown in the entries of the schools of the counties represented.

Schools having displays at the Texas-Oklahoma fair in the educational building are the following:

Burkburnett, Wichita Falls, Wichita Falls Junior college, Weeth, Iowa Park, Cashion, Howard, County Line, Electra, Academy of Mary Immaculate, Barwise, Clara, Enterprise and Sunshine.

Study of insect life has had its influence in the schools and a number of mounted specimens are exhibited. Butterflies, moths and other insects were included in the collection; lizards, snakes, centipedes, frogs were preserved in alcohol in order that the students might study them.

Unusual displays are to be seen in the poster sections and story illustrations done by the younger pupils.

Keen competition is offered by the students of the schools whose work exhibited and will be finished probably today. Three silver loving cups to the schools having the best general exhibit. The competition is to be judged as follows:

Schools having ten or more teachers; schools having four and less than 10; schools having three teachers or less.

INFANT SON DIES

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bunger of Charlie, who died Friday in a local hospital, was taken to Charlie by Merkles for burial.

Misses Anna Keevil and Sadie Texis are leaving today for a two weeks visit to the latter's sister, Mrs. H. L. Zeigler who lives in Mirando City. They expect to visit in San Antonio on their return home.

ARCHITECTS TO DRAW PLANS

Will Submit Drawings For New Auditorium For Wichita Falls

A meeting of local architects who are drawing plans in a competitive test for the new Wichita Falls auditorium, was held yesterday morning and agreed on a plan of selection of the one to receive the job. It was decided to have one or more architects examine the plans offered and to select the winning plan from them. This architect would be selected from an entirely disinterested organization, and would decide without any untoward influence whatsoever.

City Clerk W. E. McBroom dispatched a telegram yesterday to the American Institute of Architects asking them to submit the names of several architects who might be called on to judge the contest, and specified that such architects must not be a member of the Texas chapter of the organization. It is possible that an Oklahoma or Colorado architect will do the selecting.

Local architects participating in the competition are Voelcker & Dixon, Pate & Thompson, J. M. Schaefer, Harris H. Roberts, Storey & Vahlberg. They will all have their plans ready to submit to the city council within a few days, and the winning architect will probably be announced by the 18th of this month.

SHEEP ARRIVE

The first arrival of sheep entries for the Texas-Oklahoma fair came in yesterday and were placed in the sheep section of the livestock department. They were a shipment of fine Karakule ewes and rams from the big sheep ranch of Alex Albright at Dundee.

There will be many other exhibits of sheep at the fair but most of them will not arrive here until Monday. No judging of livestock will be held until Monday, it was announced yesterday, as there are a great many entries to arrive yet.

Woodward L. Bass, city judge, and W. E. Wilson have formed a partnership in practicing law and will be located in the Perkins-Snider building in rooms 211-13, it was said yesterday.

Clay Co. Wildcat Shows Gas and Oil In Sand At 377 Ft.

A telephone message from Henrietta Saturday night elicited the news that the O. H. Foster wildcat test on the Henry Senzenbacher land in block 42 of the Grayton county school land, Clay county, has a good showing of oil accompanied with some gas in sand at 377 to 380 feet. The test is drilling ahead to an expected sand around 600 feet but the shallower showing will be tested with a spudder rig on a location near the wildcat test, it was said.

This test, which is three miles east of Blue Grove, has attracted much attention since it was spudded due to the fact that it is near a test drilled several years ago on the same land which had several shewings of oil, the best of which was at 615 feet.

Alamo Mothers In Fall Meeting

Two hundred mothers and teachers of Alamo school were present for the first meeting of the fall Friday afternoon at the school when Mrs. Marvin Smith, president, president at the meeting, and gave a short talk on the aims of the organization for the year. Mrs. T. H. Lawson, former president, led in the devotional.

As a part of the program, Lena Mae Leslie gave a reading and and Miss Monterey Lewis played a violin sole with piano accompaniment by her mother, Mrs. M. A. Lewis.

In the business session, the report from the executive board read by Mrs. Rhea Howard said "The Alamo club goes on record for earlier dismissal of the fourth, fifth and sixth grade children." Reports were given by the chairmen of committees and indications are that a constructive program will be carried out by the organization.

First place in attendance was won by Miss Abiline Fields' room.

PRAISE GIVEN FAIR STALLS

Kansas Exhibitor Asserts He Finds Local Buildings To Be Best

J. C. Robison, well known breeder and fancier of Short Horn cattle, has brought a fine lot of his best prize winning bulls here for the fair. Mr. Robison has a big far mat Towanda, Kans., where he keeps the best of his herds when they are not on the road.

"This is the finest show room for cattle and hogs that I have ever seen," Mr. Robison stated yesterday, as he was directing the arranging of his cattle in one of the big hanger buildings of the livestock department. "I have been showing in more than a dozen fairs and shows this year," he added, "and this is by far the best arrangements I have seen. My cattle are doing fine here, as the stalls are roomy and there is plenty of ventilation."

MERCHANTS IN BIG DISPLAY

Exhibit Hall Shows Varied Lines Of Quality Merchandise

What Wichita Falls carries in the lines of retail and wholesale merchandise is often guessed by her citizens, but a visit to the merchants' exhibit building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair will give an idea, speaking truthfully, for itself what is to be found in "The City That Faith Built."

From the finest wearing apparel for men, women and children, made from American material and from imported merchandise, from articles manufactured here in the city to products brought from a distance, merchandise in all lines are to be seen in this building. Furniture, dry goods, ready-to-wear, groceries of all kinds, drinks, water softeners, educational institutions, in fact, the merchants' building is a store house of knowledge to find what retailers and wholesalers in this city have.

Booths made into replicas of the down-town store windows, featuring the very best in window decorations, and display spaces have been made into attractive displays.

Those Who Show.

Those merchants who are taking part in the annual exhibition are the following: Wichita Hardware company; W. S. Radio Supplies; De Luxe Water Softener; Charles E. Where the Master of the Garden of Dreams May Really Live

White paper and black ink cannot adequately portray the beauty of the spacious living room of El Jardin de los Suenos—the Record News Garden of Dreams in Westmoreland addition.

The picture shows the general style and arrangement of the furnishings, but it cannot show the colors, tints, the lights and shadows nor the richness of the whole effect.

The high arched ceiling, the raftered covering, the heavily draped windows, rich tapestries and period furniture are all combined in a room of amazing beauty and comfort.

FAIR OFFERS WORKS OF ART

Many Amateur Paintings Of High Quality Shown At Exposition

Amateur paintings of the better class predominate in the art exhibit of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair for 1926. The display contains a marvelous collection of paintings by famous artists of America and federated art clubs of the United States. Although the Art building is not crowded with pictures as it was last year, the exhibits are of a higher quality and standard than before.

The only out of town exhibitor this year is Mrs. Kendall of San Angelo who has sent to the fair an unusual series of pictures a number of them setting forth the idea of that section of Texas.

A number of plaques hand painted china, basketry and other features are to be found in the Art building.

Among the pictures loaned for the fair are "Thatched Cottage," by A. M. Gorter; "Making Port by Moonlight," McCord; "Fishing Boats," Rip; "Connecticut Landscape," George Howell Gay; "Apple Blossoms," George Howell Gay; "Memories," by S. R. Wright; "Road to the Lake," "Blue Mountain Lake," and others by Gustava Wiegand; "After the Shower," by Joseph H. Boston," "Meadow Lake on Long Island," Bruce Crane, "October," Frank A. Barney; "Nature's Battle," Alexander Bower; "Twixt the Devil and A White Horse," Amick, as well as many others.

Judging was made Saturday and the winners in the various sections will be announced soon.

SMASHING OF SINCLAIR

AND it has come to pass that the United States circuit court of appeals, in an opinion handed down by Presiding Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa has invalidated the Tea Pot Dome oil leases obtained by Harry Sinclair and associates from the government while Albert B. Fall was secretary of the interior in the cabinet of Warren G. Harding. Furthermore the decision is sweeping and instructs the lower court to cancel the Mammoth Oil company's leases and to enjoin it from further trespassing on federal government lands.

Furthermore again, the decision declares the Sinclair leases to have been fraudulent and the lower court is instructed to ask the Mammoth Oil company, a Sinclair concern, for an accounting of all oil and petroleum product taken from the naval oil reserves of the government during its tenure. This was a slap in the face of Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy of Wyoming who held in the trial of the case that the allegation or fraud advanced by the legal representatives of the federal government had not been proved and Kennedy's decision left Sinclair and his associates in possession of the Tea Pot Dome naval reserves.

In its decision, handed down by Presiding Judge Kenyon, a former senator from Iowa, the judges declared "our conclusion is that the government sustained its claim that the lease and contracts were procured by fraud and corruption and that they should be cancelled. A trail of deceit, falsehood, subterfuge, bad faith and corruption, at times indistinct, but nevertheless discernible, runs through the transactions incident to and surrounding the making of the lease. It should not receive the approval of the court."

It is said that justice travels mighty hard with a leaden heel but it strikes mighty hard. Justice in this instance struck mighty hard at Albert B. Fall. It struck hard at Harry F. Sinclair and associates. It struck mighty hard at the executive heads of great oil companies now fugitives from justice in hiding in France. It struck mighty hard at all concerned. It would have struck mighty hard at Warren G. Harding, had he been in the land of the living.

These leases were made by Harding's secretary of the interior, they had the tacit approval of the secretary of the navy at the time, they had the tacit approval of the Harding administration. This decision by the United States court of appeals is farreaching, and by the way the three judges of this court of appeals are republicans and were appointed to the federal bench by republican presidents.

Harry F. Daugherty of Ohio was the attorney general when the leases were made. He is on trial in a federal court for conspiracy to defraud his government. Albert B. Fall is in his palatial ranch in New Mexico. He is a broken and discredited man although a rich citizen of the republica. Edward F. Doheny, who obtained the naval oil leases in California, is on the rack. He was all powerful until Fall, as secretary of the interior granted him naval oil leases which were worth millions.

A WISE INVESTOR

ACCORDING to the government prosecutors, former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty invested some of his commissions in General Motors stock. This, at the time that General Motors was climbing. If Daugherty did this, it is a tip that he knows where to find his hat.

However, the former attorney general is presumed to be an innocent man until a jury has returned a verdict otherwise and the higher courts have affirmed the verdict.

Always give the man in the ditch an even break. Some day you may be in the ditch yourself.

GUESSING ON THE CROP

Commerce and Finance estimates the yield of American cotton this year at 14,398,000 bales and 2,890 cotton producers, merchants and manufacturers did the guessing for Colonel Price and his newspaper.

A NOCK-OUT AND A SLUMP

WALL STREET bet four to one that the Hobo would defeat the Marine. Wall street lost. The Marine whipped the Hobo. It was a great day for the pugilistic fans and the pugilistic reading world. It was a rotten day for the cotton growers and all those who are interested in cotton. Price of cotton slumped $4.10 per bale a few hours before the Californian slumped in the presence of the victorious Marine and the world welcomed another champion.

James Joseph Tooney, alias Gene Tunney, the pride of the fistic world, won his earlier spurs in France where he was a fighting soldier of the A. E. F. Dempsey may have been a slacker when the world war was on, but he never appeared in the ring as a slacker. He is a thorough going sportsman and cheerfully admitted after the decision had been rendered by the referee that the best man had won.

However, the best man did not win the big end of the money, the gate receipts. Hobo Dempsey fought ten rounds and lost, but he got away with $650,000, and his beauty nose did not bear a scratch. All the world would have yelled approval if the Marine had smashed the smeller of the erstwhile gladiator from California.

COTTON AND ITS PROSPECT

"EXPRESSED in statistical bales of 500 pounds, the 1925-26 crop of lint cotton trails some 31,000 bales behind the 1914-15 crop, the previous record, but owing to the lighter weight of the present bale, it is about 200,000 bales larger in running bales and if we add linters, this giant crop overtops its nearest mate by half a million bales," writes Carl Geller, in Commerce and Finance. "And while the 1914-15 crop was worth, including seed, only $720,000,000, the value of the last crop with seeds runs well above $1,800,000,000."

Now what will be the value of the 1926-27 crop? What will be the total yield after the picking has been finished and the ginning has been completed? It will be well for the guessers to keep silent until the coming month of December. After the first of December there will be an open season for the guessers and guessing.

MRS. BRENNAN ON THE STUMP

GEORGE E. BRENNAN is known as the democratic political boss of Illinois. He is the nominee of his party for United States Senator. While out campaigning an automobile accident sent him to the hospital where he will remain for some time. This was unfortunate as the campaign was on.

Mrs. Brennan solved the problem. She announced that she would fill the speaking dates of her husband. She is said to be an adroit politicish, a splendid mixer and a very convincing speaker. It is a hundred to one shot that Brennan may be the boss of the Illinois democrats but he isn't the boss of the Brennan household.

Now the real boss of the household is going to look the voter in the eye and tell him to vote for George. This appears to be woman's age. She is everywhere and in everything.

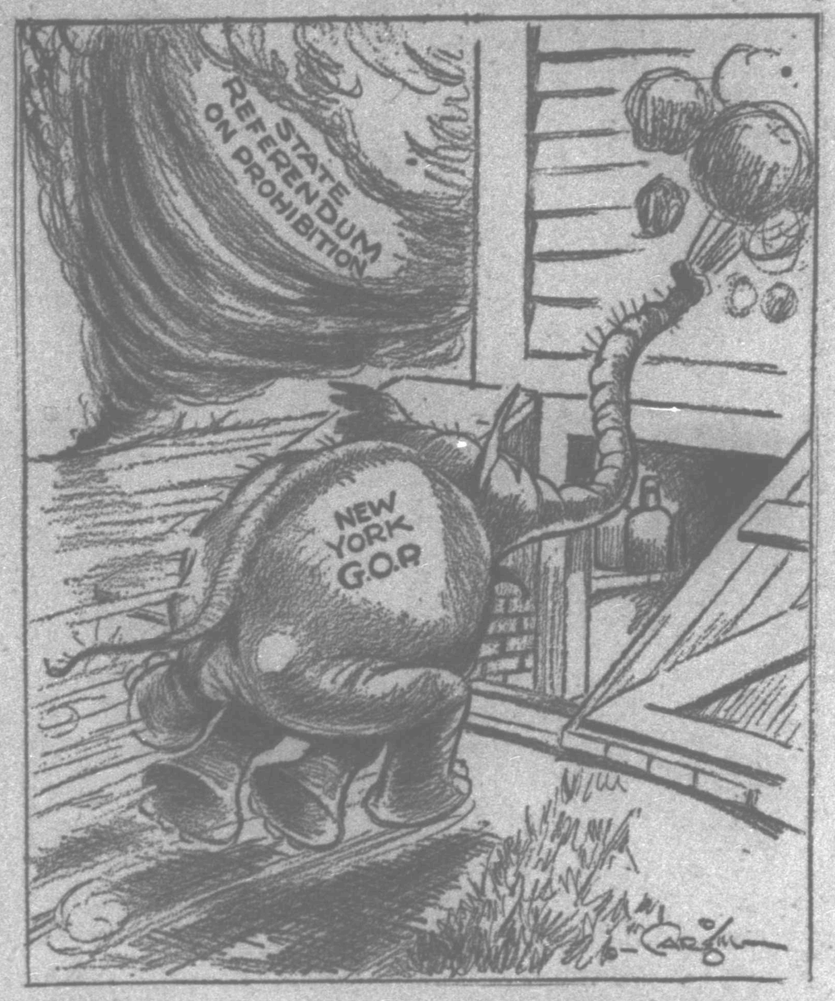

MONEY AND ITS MAKER

ACCORDING to a Washington correspondent a survey of the tax returns made to the Internal Revenue department shows that 1,200 corporations in the United States stand to make total profits of more than five billion dollars for the fiscal year 1926, while the remaining 398,000 smaller combines all told, will make not quite that much. Within the 1,200 group, each of a 168 corporations made a profit of more than $13,500,000 during the last fiscal year. Their profits aggregated nearly $2,300,000,000. These figures may not interest the cotton growers of the south or the wheat and corn growers of the west and the northwest.

HOW DEBTS ARE BEING PAID

JOHN MAYNARD KEYNES, one of the foremost economists of Europe, tells the readers of the London Nation that German reparations and the allied debts are being paid by the United States. This is the way it happens: America loans to Germany, Germany transfers to the allies and the allies transfer back to Washington. He adds: "With nothing real passing and nobody in Europe a penny the worse." Finance is a science. It must be wonderful to be a Dawes financial scientist if Keynes has the correct dope.

The New Cyclone Cellar

Rapid Shooting —By James J. Montague

All his life, Ralph Waldo Emerson wanted to write an essay on Compensation. This desire he did not achieve till well past middle age. But because he was honest and sober and industrious he finally accomplished it. I cherished no such ambition, either in childhood or adulthood—if there is such a word,—but I did want to be a swift water pilot and shoot rapids, probably just as much as Emerson wanted to write about Compensation. And because I have been honest and reasonably sober and industrious — the standards of neither of these virtues are what they were in the time of the Sage of Concord,—I too finally accomplished my desire—or half of it anyway, for I am not yet an accredited swift water pilot.

For Ten, Twenty, Thirty Minutes We Zigzagged First Toward One Bank and then to the Other, Both Banks Being Formidably Toothed With Sharp Granite.

It was Mark Twain, in his "Life on the Mississippi" who first lit in my bosom the spark of ambition which, when finally achieved, left me a nervous wreck. He spoke so alluringly of the joy of river steamers through chutes, dodging snags and sand bars, and bringing them safe and smiling into the still water below, that I made up my mind then and there that I must do the same thing before I died. Later on I stood on the shores of the Cascades of the Columbia between Oregon and Washington and watched Captain Jim Troupe topple the steamer Harvest Queen into the raging torrent, spin her round a dozen times like a toe dancer, and finally slide her out unscathed into the more calmly behaved section of the river. To me that was something to be done, and to be done as early as possible, lest death step in and render it impossible.

But fourteen year old boys are not permitted to shoot rapids in long and flimsy steamboats, and after I grew up I couldn't find any boat owner that would trust me to make experiments with his craft. So I stowed my purpose in the back of my mind and waited. I waited till last week. Then opportunity came, as it does to all who are patient and long suffering and firm of purpose.

On the eventful morning of which I speak Lucius Hitchcock, a veteran navigator of the treacherous tidal waters that wind inland from the ocean to the state of Maine invited me to voyage with him from the city of Southport to the City of Bath, which is twelve miles distant and up stream. Mr. Hitchcock has a smart and tidy boat, called the 41144-all boats in Maine are numbered instead of named, the people there being mathematically minded.

I inquired if the water was swift, and was told that it was. I asked if I might steer the boat, and was told to my surprise that I could. So I donned wha tI considered t obe the proper clothing for a pilot, stepping aboard, took the wheel, and we were off.

In Maine the streams have a curious fashion of running inland part of the time and seaward the rest of it. This is something I cannot explain. That belongs more properly to Mr. Emerson, who knows about Compensation. Anyway, they are never in much of a hurry at first, but toward the end of their journey they glance at the sun, notice that there is little time left before the hour of arrival, and begin to push along. Where the beds are narrow, and more water has got to be got to given place in a given time, they move faster. There are several such points between Southport and Bath.

Being prudent, we started when the water was going up stream. It loafed along for a while, and I began to think that piloting wasn't so much after all, when suddenly I noticed that although we were apparently standing still in the water, we were passing the shore at the speed of an express train.

This disquieted me, especially as there was directly ahead a smother of white water which I took to be a reef. I turned to Mr. Hitchcock and suggested that he take the wheel. He waved his hand deprecatingly. "Keep her going," he said.

"But we're running into a reef."

"Oh, we'll slide over it. Keep her just as she is."

Well, it was his boat. If he wanted her piled up on the rocks it was none of my business. I held her to her course, and as we neared the lathery place shut my eyes and prepared to jump. "Look out!" I yelled.

"Ducks—yes, I see them, said Mr. Hitchcock, looking at some stub-tailed birds which were flying over head. I opened my eyes. We were in still water again, but the shore was still flying by.

"Wasn't that a reef?" I cried.

"Just a tide rip," Mr. Hitchcock lit his pipe and puffed serenely.

Presently we came to an extremely narrow place, and the water began to boil around us. The boat spun around twice in one direction, three times in the other, and then five times in the first.

I appealed to Mr. Hitchcok to take the wheel.

"You're doing fine," he said. "Keep her steady."

I tried to keep her steady, but you might as well try to keep a sea serpent steady.

She would shoot off a wave diricetly at a rock, dodge the rock, aim her bow at another rock, dodge that, turn round a couple of times and then duck her bow till a shower of spray fell over us. I gripped the wheel and hoped. But on we went. For ten, twenty- thirty minutes we zigzagged first toward one bank and then to the other, but banks being formidably toothed with sharp granite, and I twisted the wheel excitedly, exercising no control whatever over the motion or direction of the craft. Mr. Hitchcock smoked on, now and then calling attention to the beauty of the landscape, or to the nest of a fish eagle, known to cross-word puzzlers as an erne, in the top of a tall spruce. Never for an instant did he seem to appreciate the fact that not only his life but an extremely smart boat was in deadly peril.

By and by we were sucked into a tunnel between two cliffs, nearly capsized by a series of giant waves that rose and combed over in the middle of the passage, and then lo! we shot forth on the bosom of the Kennebec river, with Bath just across the way.

I had attained my cherished ambition—I was a swift water pilot, and had shot rapids. It was with a proud smile that I stepped off the boat. From childhood I had known that I could do this thing, and at my first chance, I had done it successfully, untaught and uncoached. Instinct had led me aright. I was pale and shaken, but—

"I think I did pretty well—for a beginner, Lucius," I said, as I stepped off on the landing stage. Naturally, I expected expressions of wonderment and admiration. I knew now why he had given me no instructions. He had recognized the measter hand.

Mr. Hitchcock was lighting another pipe.

"Oh! he said, "You can't go wrong in one of these tideways. There's a current right down the channel that would pull a barge through without a bump."

Then I didn't feel quite so elated.

PAYS MORE FOR TOBACCO

One of the curious bits of statistical information recently brought to light by a telephone cost engineer is the fact that the American public pays out more each year for the tobacco it smokes and chews than it does for the telephones it uses.

EGGS DROPPED 1,200 FEET.

As a means of testing the packing of eggs, a crate full of eggs packed in regulation crates was allowed to fall from a plane 1,200 feet in the air, but not an egg was broken. A parachute was used in this test, but a crate dropped 110 feet without a parachute sustained the impact so well that only nine of thirty dozen were broken.

PHILOSOPHY IDEALISTIC.

Greeks as a people have a philosophy of life that is quite different from that of Americans. Their desire is to be rounded out human beings, and having an interest more in beauty and life itself than in material successes. Harshness in personal relations is exceptional and as a rule their habits are temperate. They show a liking for the mere process of thinking.

MOSES CALLED INVENTOR.

Jens Juergens, a German engineer, has written a book in which he produces Biblical references to prove his assertion that Moses was a "powder, nitro-glycerine and dynamite merchant." He maintains that Moses held back the Egyptians by laying land mines which he exploded by well-timed fuses. The writer says the tabernacle was a well-equipped laboratory.

HOOKS AND EYES IN SURGERY

When H. L. Smith of Eureka, Kan., suffered a bad scalp wound in an auto accident, the attending surgeon was unable to draw the ends of the wound together in the usual way. He did, however, sew hooks on one side of the wound and eyes on the other, and by the use of rubber bands gradually drew the scalp together with good results.

ASSESSORS USE PLANES

In Connecticut tax assessors are using with good effect photographs of interior lands, to help in their assessments. In one county the tax list recorded 1,551 barns, garages and sheds but when the air photographers had finished their task it was found there were 2,902 such buildings in that area with the result that the tax list increased in value more than $10,000,000.

CHINESE IN SIAM ASTIR

Chinese in Siam have suddenly awakened to the fact that their children who are brought up there are ignorant of Chinese reading, writing and customs. Consequently Chinese schools are being established there to remedy the situation. Wealthy Chinese are fostering the move though without encouragement from the Siam government. The Chinese comprise one-fourth the population of Siam.

The Married Life of Helen And Warren

"You're right, that's been pried out," Warren squinted through the magnifying glass at the stoneless ring.

"This afternoon—after I left," persisted Helen with tearful conviction.

"And Nora wasn't here?"

"No, it's her Thursday. She left before I did—about two. Of course, she might've come back—but dear, I DON'T thing she'd do it."

"No, I don't either," scowlingly turning the ring on the tip of his little finger.

"It's someone who knew I was out. But why didn't they take the ring? Why pry out the diamond?"

"To make you thing you'd lost it. Amateur job, all right, again examining the setting under her dressing table lamp. "Rotten light," tilting the silk shade. "Look how that prong's bent."

"Oh, I'm just sick over it. I'll never get it back.

"Why in blazes'd you leave it here? Oughtn't to have rings if you haven't sense enough to take care of 'em."

"Dear, I told you—it caught in my hair-net. I took it off—not to tear it. Then Mrs. Stevens came by for me an I forgot—"

"Hair-net!" he snorted. "More of your brainless economy. Risk a five-hundred-buck ring for a ten-cent hair-net!"

"It was one I got in Vienna. I didn't want to tear it—you can't get them here like that. Oh, if I'd only—"

"Well, cut the whining and get down to brass tacks. How 'bout the dumbwaiter? Let's have a look at that."

Out to the kitchen. Closed. Dark. The Thursday-night disolation.

The lights switched on showed the dumbwaiter securely fastened. No entrance that way.

"Just look—those tea towels! That's the third time she's gone off without washing them. And I've told her—"

"Now, never mind the tea towels. A carat stone swiped—and you start fussin' about tea towels! Come on, we'll have another look around."

Back in Helen's room, they reexamined floor and dresser. No clues. Nothing disturbed. Nothing missing except the diamond.

Plainly the intention to make it seem a lose. To divert any suspicion of theft.

"Huh, might've put it over, if they hadn't bungled the job prying it out. Somebody in the house, all right. I'll get Thompson up. Get a line on these boys."

At the house phone in the hall closet, Warren called down to the superintendent.

"That you, Mr. Thompson? I want to see you. Can you come up? . . . Yes, right away."

"Dear, it can't be the day boys," again rummaging her dressing table, to be sure nothing else had been taken. "They've both been here so long. But this new night man—yet how could he get a key?"

"Lost yours last week, didn't you?"

"Yes, but how would he know? Only on a ribbon—nothing to make it—"

"Huh, bet you left it in the door. Be just like you!"

"You know I didn't," indignantly. "I'm always very careful."

"Darn careful about that ring! Went off and left in sticking to a hair-net. Anybody as feather-brained as that—"

"Oh, there's Mr. Thompson," as the bell rang. "Dear, don't say anything about the nigh tboy. See what he says first.

"Now, I'll handle this without any coaching from you," stalking to the door.

The superintendent was most sympathetic when informed of the loss.

"You sure it was pried out? You didn't lose it?"

"Look at those prongs." Warren handed him the magniffing glass. "Bungled job."

"Might've caught on something—and the stone dropped out."

"No, that's been pried back—you can see the marks. Besides, Mrs. Curtis has dead sure proof she didn't lose it. She—"

"It caught on my hair-net," Helen broke in excitedly. "I was trying to get it out when Mrs. Stevens called. I rushed off with her—and left it here on my dressing table."

"Your maid?" still fingering the setting. "Was she here?"

"No, it's her afternoon off—she went out before I did. But we feel sure it isn't Nora."

"How about the hall boys?" demanded Warren. "George and Ben been here a long time—they're all right. But this new night man—what do you know about him?"

"He had good references — but you can't always go by that." Then, accusingly, "Mrs. Curis, that key you lost—anybody who found it could get in here."

"How would they know whose key it was?"

"If it was picked up in the house—they could try all the doors. These delivery men—I can't watch them all."

"No, it's an inside job," insisted Warren. "Somebody who knew the coast was clear. Took time to pry it out—"

Helen heard no more. He eyes riveted to Mr. Thompson's right arm.

On his coat sleeve button — a hair-net!

A dizzy second. Then she KNEW!

A rush of memories—now incriminating!

That day she found him in the apartment—his mumbled explanation about a leak. Their steamer rug missing from that basement trunk. That package from Ardman's—never received.

What to do? How to let Warren know?

"Well, I'll have a talk with the night man—he's on now," moving towards the door.

No, no, he must not go! The net might drop off—the proof gone.

"Oh, wait, Mr. Thompson, look at that window. Could anyone climb in there?"

His back turned, Helen wildly pantomimed. But Warren, with his usual density to her signals, only glared blankly.

"No, Mrs. Curtis, no one could get in there."

"Couldn't they swing down from above? Look again," urged Helen.

Now he leaned far out, she managed a nudging, under-her breath: "The hair-net! His sleeve button!"

"No, no one could net in these windown. Well, I'll have a talk with John."

Again he edged towards the door. Frantically she gazed at Warren.

Hadn't he heard? Yes, his eyes—that steely glint!

"Hold on, Thompson! Let's see that hair-net on your sleeve. No, the other arm."

"Hair-net!" tearing it off. "Must be the wife's," jabbing it into his pocket.

"Let me see it! grimly. "We're interested in hair-nets just now."

"What do you mean?" bristling.

"Let me see that net!"

His face now brick red, he drew it from his pocket.

"Isn't Mrs. Thompson's hair black?" Warren held up the light brown web.

"What if it is?" belligerently. "I'm in half a dozen apartments every day. Pick it up anywhere."

Tremuously Helen snatched a hair-net envelope from her dressing table.

The new web in its tissue paper—exact shade and texture of the one from the superintendent's sleeve.

"Well, what does that prove?" he blustered. "Plenty of light brown hairnets."

"Not like these," flamed Helen. "I got them in Vienna," holding up the foreign envelope.

"Then I picked it up since I came in here—"

"No you didn't!" exploded Warren. "Don't know much about hair-nets, but I know a few things about shifty eyes. I've got the goods on you, Thompson. Now come across with the stone."

"You'll pay for this," he spluttered. "There's such things as damages. You can't accuse an innocent man—"

"Snap out of it! Want to hand over that stone to me—or to the police?"

A desperate lunge for the door—intercepted by Warren's outflung foot.

Deftly tripped, he lay in sprawling ignominy. Then, with menacing profanity, struggled to his feet.

"You keep out of this," growled Warren, shaking off Helen's terrified hold. "Now do I get that stone—or do I call a cop?"

Venomous mutterings as a worn wallet was produced. From this, a folded bit of newspaper.

A verifying glance at its contents, and Warrent turned on him with a savage, "Now I'll give you a week to chuck your job here—and clear out! What's that? Your wife? That's why I'm not sending you up the river. A week. Not a day longer! Now get out of here—and don't let me see your sneaking mug again."

Straightening his tie, pulling himself together, with surly bravado he slunk out into the hall.

The door banged after him. A vicious bang.

Shudderingly Helen buried her face.

"Yes, that gives you a jolt," shrugged Warren. "How long's he been here? Two years?"

"Almost three. Dear, I'd never have suspected him!"

"Knew he drank — but didn't know he was a crook."

"That steamer rug—now we know who took it! And that other trunk in the basement—we haven't looked in that."

"He's welcome to any of that junk. But this was pretty raw," holding the stone to the light. "Well, he didn't get away with it. I called that trick, all right. When it comes to pulling a Sherlock Holmes—I'm not so bad, eh?"

"But dear, I saw that hair-net! If I hadn't—"

"Huh, shaky evidence," depreciatingly. "Dead right when he claimed he might've picked it up just now. Pretty thin ice there—notice how I skated 'round. Wasn't till his lamps got shifty that I put on the screws."

Then placing the stone in an inner pocket of his wallet. "Now give me that setting. I'll have it put in tomorrow. And hereafter if you can't take care of your rings, keep 'em on your digets! Way you park your traps around—wonder you have anything. Huh, that's what these crooks live on," he snorted. "Vacuum-brained females like you. Regular meal tickets for porch climbers!"

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

LIBRA.

Today's planetary aspects are high, without being actively favorable. Customary Sunday observances and recreations will afford mere comfort and pleasure than is ordinarily experienced. Along towards the evening, there will arise some disturbing factors, but self-control and a due sense of proportion will rob them of their baneful influence. The signs denote that today there may be a surprise in store, and although its character cannot be foretold, it will be of a pleasing variety.

Children born today will, during infancy, suffer much from illness, and although well-regulated alimenation may contribute successfully to its amelioration, it will be necessary to enlist skilled assistance. On the approach of "teenhood" these early tendencies to weakness will have been dissipated and normal physical conditions will prevail, indicative of healthy manhood or womanhood. In disposition, they will be gentle and kind, although quick to resent an apparent injustice. They will be unduly sensitive and this, naturally will torment them. They will be excessively self-conscious and too introspective for their own good. They will attract by their natural charm, and will, in both childho odand adulthood, have many loyal and sincere friends.

If today is your birthday, your ability is unquestioned, both by yourself and others. You are, by your keen mind and shrewd judgment, entitled to a great degree of success. You, however, fall short of attainment by lack of convincing personality. You are not a good salesman of your own talent as when you boost yourself, although justified in doing so, your boosting implies a criticism of others and their methods. However, faulty people maybe, and although they realize it, they do not relish the idea of being belittled at the expense of another—regardless of merit or ability. In the intimate relations of life, you aretrustworthy and faithful, but less demonstrative than circumstances warrant. A well-chosen word sometimes a kiss or even a look, means more than months of unbroken constancy and steady affection.

Successful people born this day are:

William Gaston, Lawier, Ex-Governor of Massachusetts.

Charles Gordon Ames, Clergyman and author.

Edward E. Noyes, Soldier and politician, ex-governor of Ohio.

Charles A. Pillsbury, Manufacturer.

General Gorgas, Sanitation Expert.

Hugh Chalmers, Automobile manufacturer.

Junior College Upsets Dope With Cordell Win

Stephenson and Bland Lead Ludgate's Tribe To 13-9 Defeat of the Oklahoma Christian College

BY R. O. JONAS

Glory a-plenty was the reward of the Indian invasion of Oklahoma Saturday when the Wichita Falls lads won a wonderful 13-9 victory over the powerful Oklahoma Christian college eleven on the latter's home gridiron. This was the first loss for the Cordell team since year before last and the second time they have been scored on in the same time. Last year the Christians sailed through an undefeated season with only one score marked up against them and this year they have a strong part of the same team back. All the more glory for the Maroon and Gold of Captain Stephenson, who were given very little chance to win, even by home dopesters.

So many handicaps faced the Maroon and Gold warriors that the victory is all the more to their credit. Finding the roads so bad that they could make it only to Frederick yesterday, they were forced to drive all morning Saturday and did not arrive till 2:15 or a little more than an hour before the game at 3:30. Upon arrival Stephenson and Bland both found themselves nursing violent sick feelings that threatened to keep them from work.

The game opened with Cordell taking the offensive and pushing across a score early in the first two minutes of play, a forty-yard end run being good for a touchdown. Soon after this play Cordell counted again by sailing a field goal between the posts to raise the count to 9.

Stage Comeback

Nothing daunted by the apparent odds, the Maroon and Gold flashed a furious comeback early in the second period that knew no defeat. Stephenson heaved a beautiful 2-yard pass to Bland, who made his way for a thirty-yard run additional to cross the goal. Attempt to kick extra point failed.

The entire Maroon line was now raging a powerful game to hold the Christians on the defense and to smash their resistance against the Indian offensive. Near the end of the second quarter Cordell made a miscue on an end run, fumbling the ball when the Indians had pushed them dangerously into their own territory. Captain Stephenson's alertness stood him in good stead and he scooped up the ball to run fifteen yards for another touchdown. To make the victory surer Stee this time safely booted the extra point to raise the score to 13.

During the remainder of the game the two teams settled down to an airtight defensive struggle with neither side getting in a mood to give and the game ended with the Maroon and Gold of Wichita Falls Junior college holding the ribbon end of the score.

Line a Stone Wall

For the Wichitans the entire line played a consistently strong game, the whole forward wall working like a surging unit with each player taking care of the necessary starring for his position. Bland, Thompson, and Scoggin at ends; Burks and Gilchrist at tackles; Ricks and Trevathan at guards, and Patterson at center—formed a first line of defense and offense that showed itself very much present throughout the melee.

In the backfield Captain Stephenson was again the offensive and defensive star, doing the passing, the kicking, the strongest defending, the most of the running, and even the quarterback's job of calling signals.

Keller, starting his first game at half, played a whale of a defensive battle. Harvey at quarter playing his first football game of any sort, and McAnloch at fullback rounded the Wichita backfield. On he whole, except for the playing of Captain Stephenson, the backfield play did not come up to the standard of the line.

Coach Ludgate and sixteen of his warriors made the trip to Cordell in cars Friday and Saturday. On account of the bad roads the return has been postponed till Sunday, according to a message from Ludgate.

Philadelphia Mother Ascends Golf Dias In Brilliant Upset

HAVERFORD, Pa., Oct. 2.(AP)—Mrs. G. Henry Stetson of Philadelphia veteran of 12 playing seasons and mother of a debutante daughter today succeeded to the vacant throne of youthful Glenna Collett.

Standing off a brave rally by her opponent on the last nine holes, she defeated Mrs. Wright D. Goss Jr., of Shot Hills, N. J., in the final round of the women's national championship over the links of the Merion Cricket club, three up and one to play.

By her unexpected triumph, Mrs. Stetson became the fifth matron to take up the sceptive in the thirty two years history of the event. Mrs. Goss had ruled a strong favorite on the basis of her fine medal scores in the previous match play rounds, but today her putter failed her, and Mrs. Stetson was required to play only safe, conservative golf to score her victory.

Defeat virtually came to Mrs Gos sin the morning round, when she took no less than forty four putts on the eighteen greens. On six she required three stokes to hole out. While on a seventh she needed four. Later in the match she was able to bring the truant club under better control, but Mrs. Stetson, realizing that she needed only to save her comfortable lead, played safely and carefully through Merion's maze of traps to hold her margin to the end.

Sharp Aerial Drive Routs Doc's Longhorns By 13-3 Score

MANHATTAN, Kansas, Oct. 2. (AP)—Waking up in the second half with a flash exhibition of aerial attack the Kansas Aggies this afternoon scored two touchdowns and won the initial football game of the season over the Texas Longhorns, 13 to 3.

The Texans scored eight minutes after the whistle, blocking a punt of Enns, Aggie quarter, and gaining possession of the ball which bounced out of bounds at the 15-yard line. King, Texas fullback, gave the Longhorns a three point advantage by kicking goal. The score remained the same during the rest of the half.

Efficiency in the forward passing game decided the conflict. The Aggies completed 11 out of 20 attempts and the Longhorns got away with only four out of 17. Yardage by the air route showed the Aggies 142 and the Texans 68. The Aggies made six of their nine first downs by passes while the Texans made one of their four first downs by this method. The Longhorns had a slight edge on the punting largely due to the toe of Slover, left end.

The summary:

Score by periods:

Texas	3	0	0	0	—3
Kansas Aggies	0	0	6	7	—13

Texas scoring: goal from field, King.

Kansas Aggies scoring: touchdowns, Edwards, Holsinger; point from try after touchdown, Enns.

Coyotes Battle Decatur Friday

Much experience in intensive doses is still the program for Bud McCallum's Coyotes in preparation of the opening of the league schedule at Electra October 23. Decatur Baptist college will furnish the opposition for the high school lads at Wichita Falls next Friday.

In the Cameron Aggie mix-up Friday the Coyotes had shown much improvement in line play and also showed considerable reserve power in the backfield with a substitute bunch of backs doing much of the pounding for the Red and Black. There are so many cripples who may not round into form by the opening of the league contests that a thorough schooling of the substitutes by the heavy game route will do no particular harm but may come in mighty handy later.

Decatur Signs With Redskins

Decatur Baptist college will oppose the Wichita Falls Junior college here in the Thanksgiving game this year, the final contracts having just been signed by officials of both institutions. For some time on account of the split in the conference, there was some doubt as to Decatur's return. Wichita Falls took a drubbing at Decatur last year and is looking forward to some revenge for the present season.

Yaqui Joe Draws Hard One In Preliminary To Matsuda-Gorman Bout

Dutch Bethe Rougher Than Mantell and Uglier Than Anderson; Jap Did Not Want Jack

Yaqui Joe, Wichita Falls' Indian wrestling favorite, has been signed to wrestle in a finish match preliminary to the world's championship battle scheduled between Jack Gorman, San Angelo challenger, and Matty Matsuda of El Paso, world's welterweight king, Friday night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena.

The popular Redskin athlete has drawn a difficult assignment in Dutch Bethe, Chicago junior middleweight, who is said to be rougher than Dutch Mantell, looks more like an ape than Mantell and is uglier than Gus Anderson.

The Indian, if after seeing Bethe doesn't get scared and ump out of the ring and if staying in can stand his rough stuff is granted a fairly even chance to cop the victor's laurels.

Matsuda declared in telephone conversation from El Paso Saturday morning that the Gorman match is absolutely the last of his career and that he is determined to retire with title intact and his belt retained. He said: "Gorman gave me my hardest match of all I wrestled in Wichita Falls, but I'm not letting that make me afraid. I'm going to beat him!"

Then, as an aside, the Jap laughingly remarked: "I wish Mantell had won instead of Gorman so that he would have to meet me. I would have liked to beat Dutch as my last match," or words of similar meaning. Gorman beat Mantell Thursday in an elimination bout.

Gorman declared Friday before leaving for San Angelo, where he is training, "that Jap isn't going to beat me this time. I'll make him stay in that ring all night before he wins. I'm going to stop him for all time."

Olney Moleskin Stock On Boom

Football stock in Olney is on the boom these days, especially since the Cubs' 6 to 0 defeat of the heavy Weatherford team Friday.

The game was arranged Thursday night and played Friday because the originally scheduled contest with Bellevue fell through.

The Cubs were outweighed easily 10 pounds to the man, but the speedy Olney outfit out-generaled and out-fought their adversaries all the way, making 10 first downs to Weatherford's three.

The lone touchdown came in the first period when after Olney had pushed down to eight yards from the goal, Russell passed over the line to Suite, right end.

Olney's starting lineup was as follows:

FROGS DEFEAT GENTS, 24-14

Texans Rally From Rear With Hidden Punch To Win

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2. (AP)—Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs were the fighting Frogs they're supposed to be Saturday. They came from behind here at Clark Stadium to wrest a glorious 24 to 14 victory from the powerful gentlemen from Centenary college of Shreveport. Showing an unexpected punch after the first quarter, when in a stiff wind, "Bear" Alday's superior punting and Big Glenn Letteer's plunges through the middle of the line combined to score two touchdowns for the giant invaders who were favored to carry off the victory.

Superior physical condition, a sustained attack and all-around smart and alert football won the game for T. C. U.

The Frogs started the game without Herman Clark at quarterback but the little all-conference field general disregarded injuries and jumped into the thick of the fight in the second quarter. From then on it was a different story. He righted the team he captained last year and brought it out in a truly marvelous manner. He was the man behind the recovery but without Blackie Williams he would have been lost. The two collaborated like wear and tear on the gentlemen and were the principal ones to bring them down to the dirty finish. However, under Clark's leadership the whole team looked great. Marlin Toler, Harold Charson and Harry Taylor helped carry the ramming running attack to its successful conclusion. From the very start Horace "Bully Boy Tubby" Brewster showed the class that last year ranked him as the greatest tackle in the southwest conference, and along with him Luther Scarbrough played a fine game at the other tackle while Albert Acker and Orin Steadman guarded their ends well. Under the cool and persistent example set by the veteran linesmen the reserve men in the middle of the forward wall found their bearing after the early minutes and in the last three quarters they turned back the best thrusts of the gents with regularity.

World Series Stacks Up Like Draw Affair If You Look At Paper Statistics

Yanks Bat .289, Cards .286 With Seven .300 Wallopers Against Six For The Huggins Outfit

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Figured on paper, the world's series looks like just about a draw affair.

The Yankees go into the games as a club hitting .289, while the Cardinals have a season's average of .286 to exhibit with the National League flag. Statistics on fielding on the whole, are decidedly in favor of the Hornsby crew. The Cardinals during the year made more double plays, triple play put outs and assists than the Yanks and were charged with fewer bobbles.

Babe Ruth's .372 hitting is considerably better than anything the Cardinals have, but despite the Yankees better slugging as a team, seven St. Louis players finished the season with percentages of .300 and beyond, as compared with six of their series opponents.

Pitchers records for the year are so varied in every respect that there is little chance for comparison, but survey of the flinging performances for the two clubs leaves little basis for choice.

The unofficial final figures released today show the 1926 majors records in all departments generally outranked by those of the year before.

One new all-time mark was set, however, in the 64 doubles collected by George Burns of Cleveland.

Ruth 12 Homers Short

Ruth fell 13 short of his world's record in home runs, but carried off two other American League records in addition to having the most circuit drives of the season. The Yankee slugger's stick-work brought him the most runs, 139, and the most total bases, 36.

Manush of Detroit was the leading hitter with the high year's average of .380. Gehrig of the Yankees led in triples, with eighteen.

Bib Falk of Chicago was the only player in the league in every game in his team's schedule. Rice of the Senators led in total hits with 217 but Burns of Cleveland was only one behind and had a total base count of 298 against Rice's 287. Johnny Mostil of the White Sox led in base stealing with 34, nine below his league leading total of 1925. His teammate, Hunnefield showed the way in sacrifices.

Washington led in club batting, with a .292 average, and Chicago in team fielding, with a percentage of .978.

George Uhle led the pitchers with a total of 27 victories for Cleveland somewhat off-set by 11 lost.

Leading hitters of the season: Manush, Detroit, .380; Ruth, New York, .372; Fothergill, Detroit, .364; Heilmann, Detroit, .363; Burns, Cleveland .359; Goslin, Washington, .353; Collins, Chicago, .344; Falk, Chicago, .343; E. Rice, Washington, .339; Simmons, Philadelphia, .339; Cobb, Detroit, .339.

Hazen Cuyler of the Pirates walked off with two individual records in the National, making more runs than any other player, 112, and leading with 35 stolen bases. He shared honors with Thevenow of the Cardinals in playing in all games on their respective schedules.

Bressler Leads Nationals

Although idle at the end of the season, Bressler of Cincinnati had the best batting average, .357. Brown of Boston led the league with 202 hits, Hack Wilson of the Cubs was the home run leader with 21, Bottomley of St. Louis led in doubles with 39 and Waner's 22 triples for the Pirates led the circuit. Douthit of the Cards was credited with the most sacrifices, 37.

Cincinnati was pace maker in team hitting, with a year's average of .290, while the Cubs were best defensively, with a fielding percentage of .975.

Rhem of the Cardinals topped the winning pitchers with a string of 21, being credited with seven defeats.

P-o-o-r Baseball Players

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The official paid attendance for today's opening world's series game was 61,658 and the total receipts $198,978. Both marks fell just below the record figures set on October 14, 1923, at the Yankee stadium in the fifth game of the series between the Yankees and Giants. The totals that day were 62,817 and $201,-459, but they will have to withstand another attack tomorrow with a Sunday throng seeking admission to the second game here.

The division of today's receipts follows:

Players' share $101,477.76.

Advisory council's share $29,-946.40.

Clubs' and leagues' share, $67,651.84.

Fair Races Open With Bang And Give Fans Real Thrill

Texas-Oklahoma racing events opened with a bang Saturday afternoon when Austin Cathcart of Dallas topped a card of real speedsters for first money in the six-round motorcycle classic at the Fair Stadium. Officer Joe Persky of the police department presided over the festivities as starter, together with Don Weldon as supervising clerk.

The new track showed up considably faster than in former years, although several bad soft spots developed early to make the turns somewhat treacherous. Several good times were rung up by the cyclists, especially by Cathcart, Athens and Murray. The only serious mishap of the afternoon occurred in the third event when Lawrence Smith and Ellis Sommers crashed into a heap on the turn. Smith was unconscious for ten minutes but neither was reported as seriously injured.

Between races the audience was regaled with a concert by the Chicago Cadet Band and by a few Chukkers of polo. Two local teams, consisting of Major J. H. Fletcher, Lieutenant J. H. Palmer, and Sergeant Richard Goodman as the Reds and Horace Robbins, C. H. Featherston, and Lane White, as the Blues, fought out a close battle with the Reds gathering in a couple of markers for the victory.

Events and winners follow:

1. Time trials for one mile—Austin Catcheart of Dallass, first, with a time of 1:3 3-5; Roel Murray of Ranger, second; Roy McGee of Amarillo third. Only first counted in the money in this event. Purse $30.

2. Eight mile race for all riders—Catheart, first, time 8:55 2-5; Murray, second, time 9; Roy McGee, third, 9.10. Purse $50, $30, $15.

3. Five miles, restricted to stock cars—Tess Bristow of Fort Worth, first, time 7:34; Lee Meyers of Wichita Falls, second, time 7:39; Fred Bauers of Wichita Falls third, time 7.36. Purse $30, $20, and $10.

4. Ten miles, open to all comers—Murphy, first, time 11:18; Catcheart, second, time 11:24 2-5; Meyers third, two laps behind. Purse $60, $40, $25.

5. Five miles, for stock cars not winning in the third event—Charles Athens of Fort Worth, first, time 7:7; Jack Wall of Wichita Falls, second, time 7:15; Melvin Johnson, Wichita Falls, third, lap behind. Purse $15, $10, $5.

6. Five miles, consolation for all not winning $25 on previous races—McGee, first, time 7:3; Athens, second, time 7:6; Bauers, third; Johnson fourth. Purses $25, $20, $15, $10.

Rice Slams It On Pedagogues

Schroeder Rips Bearcats' Defense For 20 to 0 Victory

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—Rice Institute Owls annexed their second game of the 1926 grid season Saturday afternoon defeating Sam Houston State Teachers college of Huntsville, 20 to 0.

The Owls, showing a marked improvement of team play, ripped through the opposition in the closing periods of the game for two touchdowns. The first touchdown came late in the second period.

Schroeder bore through the Bearcat defense on several occasions and registered long gains. He was assisted by Harting, Bennettt and Davis, other backfield men who came in for their share of the glory.

The Rice defense was working so well that the visitors failed to make a first down during the game.

In the opening period Sam Houston offered a stiff defense and held Rice scoreless. Late in the second period Herling carried over the Owls' first score.

Sam Houston was unable to carry on at the pace it had set and in the last two periods Rice worked deep into the Bearcat's territory, putting over two more scores.

Razorbacks Take Ole Miss, 21 to 6

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 2. (AP)—Arkansas opened her southwestern conference season here today with a smashing 21 to 6 victory over Mississippi university. Twice in the second period and once in the final grid Coach Smidt's Razorbacks pounded their way through and over Hazel's machine for touchdowns and each time Cole added the extra point with place-kicks. Only once did vaunted Mississippi juggernaut display the attack near the end of the second quarter with part of the Arkansas regulars absent from the lineup. Arkansas threatened in the first period, following punting duels between Cole and Walker, with Arkansas halfback missing a field goal.

Midshipmen Turn Back Purdue, 17-13

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2. (AP) By the margin of afield goal and an extra point after touchdown, both the foot work of Tom Hamilton, Middy quarterback, the Navy turned back the powerful Purdue eloven of the western conference here today 17 to 13. Both teams pushed across a pair of touchdowns the soldiers scoring first when Hannegan raced 25 yards through center for six points. Hamilton annexed a seventh counter.

Dartmouth's Green Biffs Hobard, 50-0

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 2. (AP)—Dartmouth's big green eleven continued its high scoring today, defeating Hobard on a soggy field, 50 to 0. Lane, at left half for Dartmouth, featured with several long runs. One spring of 45 yards resulted in a score. His catch of a 40-yard forward pass from Dooley wa sanother high spot of the contest.

Princeton Shades Amherst, 14 to 7

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 2.(AP)—A hard fighting Amherst line kept the Princton eleven guessing for three periods of the opening game of the season in Palmer stadium today before the Tigers got under way and won in the final moments, 14 to 7.

Junior High To Play Burk Next

The Class league tussle will continue this coming week when Wichita Falls Junior high school will oppose Burkburnett for the second league contest. The Coyote Cubs have already taken two drubbings but little is known of the probable league strength of the Oil town entry.

PITTSBURGH IN 6-6 TIE.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 2. (AP) The University of Pittsburgh-Georgetown university football game here today ended in a six-six deadlock after the visiting gridders had all but won the contest in the final quarter.

Jones Southpaws Cubs to 1-0 Win Over City Rivals

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Percy Jones southpawed the Cubs to a 1 to 0 victory over the White Sox in the third game of the series in a pitching battle against Tommy Thomas, the former Baltimore star.

The Cubs now lead in the titular series, two games to one.

After holding the National leaguers scoreless until the eighth inning Ray Morehart, playing second for the White Sox, spoiled Thomas' record by permitting Gonzales' grounder to get through him with an easy out in sight. Cooney had started the rally with a single. Jones followed with a single which sent Cooney home with the only run of the game.

The scene of activity will switch tomorrow to the north side, the home of the Cubs.

Michigan Sloughs Oklahoma Aggies

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 2.(AP) Wavering only in parts of the final two periods when a flood of substitutions weakened its forward wall, the University of Michigan, big ten champions, defeated the Oklahoma Aggies, 42 to 3 in the Perry field football inaugural today. Friedman's passing and open field running, Osterbaan's smart defensive and offensive play and Molenda's line smashing stood out.

VALOROUS GRABS PRIZE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2. (AP)—Running on a track hoof-deep in mud and water, H. P. Whitney's Valorous won the Kentucky Jockey club stake at Churchill Downs today. Boccalan, coupled with Valorous in the entry beat Candy Queen for second place. The time for the mile was 1:43 2-5. The race was worth $24,235 net to the winner.

Leafs Make It Four Straight Over Colonels

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2 (AP).—The Leafs made it four straight in the little world series by defeating Louisville 4 to 2 in another fight hitting game here today, and need but one more victory to clinch the series with the American association champion. The teams jump to Louisille for the fifth game tomorrow.

Doyle and Tincup, who provided a great pitching duel in the first game on Tuesday started again today, but the former was driven from the mound in the fifth when he was hit for four singles, all that the Colonels secured in the game, which were turned into three runs. Fisher replaced him with two on base but stopped the rally. In the following inning Fisher was inclined to be wild, but managed to come through safely.

FRENCH SHOW MODESTY

Conquerors of Tilden and Johnston Say They Were Lucky.

PARIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, conquerors of "Big Bill" Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnston in the singles of the American lawn tennis championships, received a great ovation on their arrival at the Saint Lazaire station from Havre this afternoon.

"Tilden was unlucky; watch him next year," Cochet told the newspaper men.

"I was very lucky to beat Johnston," Borotra declared, adding "we had a remarkable trip. The Americans treated us fine, even when we defeated their champion."

Three Reasons Why Yankees Copped World Series Opener

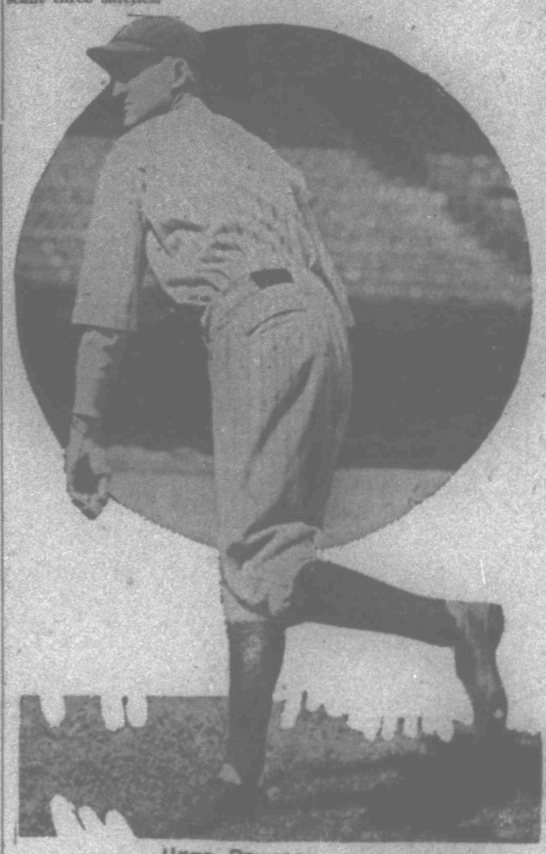

Babe Ruth.

To Happy Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth and Herb Pennock goes the credit for the Yank victory over the Cardinals at New York Saturday in the world's series opener.

'Twas Happy Lou who drove in the runs that gave Pennock the 2 to 1 win. His force-out of Meusel in the first inning sent Combs scurrying home. Combs had drawn a base on balls to get on. Ruth led off the sixth stanza with a single and went to second on Meusel's sacrifice. Gehrig drove the Bambino home with a rippling single to right.

Pennock proved himself the money pitcher, hurling one of the greatest games of his career and holding the National Leaguers to a scant three safeties.

Chillicothe Loses To Quanah, 13-0

"Police" Put Up Good Fight First Three-Quarters Of Tilt

Cowden's Chillicothe "Police" dropped a hard-fought game to Quanah Friday at Chillicothe, 13 to 0.

The light Chillicothe eleven fought their opponents to a standstill throughout the first half which was scoreless, but succumbed late in the third quarter tlo a touchdown and then another late in the fourth quarter.

The Chillicothe lads had realized very little practice all week and had but 12 men from which to pick a team. Lacking substitutes, the "Police" became weary late in the game and were forced to give ground.

Roland Hansford, Chillicothe half back, featured with a spectacular 38-yard end run at one stage. Conwell White, at end, completed several nifty forward passes. Jim Carter, guard, broke through the opposing line many times to break up plays with beautiful tackles.

Junior Creighton was out of the game with a bad arm.

Chillicothe will defend the fort against Jim Reese's Electra Tigers next Friday afternoon.

Bears Fall Victims To Draft By Majors

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2.(AP) Fears of Bruin baseball officials proved well founded and today the hardest working member of the 1926 San Antonio staff, Homer (Tiny) Owens is a major leaguer. Owens was drafted by the Detroit Tigers Friday night at the annual major league drafting session in New York. Owens attracted Detroit's attention by his unusual relief pitching performance. A one stretch, he pitched two days in succession. He worked in 57 games, a new league record, was one of the leading strike-out pitchers with 115, allowed an average of only 2.88 earned runs, per game, and won 22 while losing 14.

Detroit players will train in San Antonio next spring and local fans will see "Tiny" in action as a Tiger. If he does not make the big league grade, he undoubtedly will be sold back to the Bear club, in view of friendly relations established between the San Antonio and Detroit managements.

Stagg's Maroons Beat Florida, 12-6

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Coach Stagg displayed to forty thousand spectators that his Maroons could play open football unprecedented in University of Chicago football history when his charges took the air to defeat the University of Florida today, 12 to 6.

The Gators lost at their own game when the Maroons opened up with a passing attack which kept the southerners on the defensive. Florida battled gallantly against the odds of weight and an early Chicago lead acquired a long pass, tied the score and forced the Maroons to drop kick twice for their winning points.

YALE WINS, 51-0

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2. (AP)—Yale opened its fifty-fourth football season today by smothering Boston university 51 to 0. The Yale coaches sent more than two complete teams into the game, using 39 men. The first varsity played only the first half and left the game with the count standing 21 to 0. Yale launched an aerial attack that gained much ground and accounted for some of the touchdowns. Eight passes were completed by the Elis for a total of 178 yards.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.(AP) Gene Malcewicz of Utica, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated Pat McGuire, Irish heavyweight in two straight falls here last night. Malcewicz weighed 198 pounds, McGuire 228.

NOTES ON SERIES

(By The Associated Press)

The opening game crowd included a host of notable figures in all walks of life. Tex Rickard, recuperating from staging his record-breaking boxing spectacle, the Dempsey-Tunney fight was there, and so was Charles C. Fyle, accompanied by the aces of his professional tennis troupe, Suzanne Lenglen and Vincent Richards.

Mlle Lenglen attired in a stylish beige hat, took a keen interest in her first view of American baseball. She admitted afterwards it was "so interesting" but also a bit "complicated."

The big crowd took the battle calmly. It came prepared for thrills and got few, if any, out of the play. There was more cheering for Babe Ruth during batting practice than there was during the game itself. There were boos, too, in the first frame when Sherdel walked Ruth on four straight balls.

Ruth and Hornsby were the favored idols of the crowd but the babe was the only one who gave them anything to cheer about. Both were accorded ovations on their first trips to the plate but Ruth's single, vital though it was, the best either batting star could do in response to appeals to "knock it out of the park."

Manager Miller Huggins was not called on to do much master minding, except for a hint here and there to Pennock and an order for Meusel to sacrifice in the sixth. This old fashioned strategy was successful for the babe trotted over the winning run a moment later on Gehrig's hit.

Lester Bell made the only error of the game in the sixth inning, but the mis-play did not figure in the scoring. With Lazzeri on second, Dugan hit to Bell, who fumbled. He recovered the ball and made an unsuccessful effort to touch Lazzeri sliding into third base.

"Sunny Jim" Bottomley, Cardinal first sacker was the only player to get more than one safe hit. His two safe blows gave him a batting average of .500. Ruth hit .333. The supply of base hits was unusually meager with nine safe blows totalling only ten bases. Douthit's first inning double was the only extra base wallop.

Hornsby was awarded with a good break after he had made a sensational stop in the seventh inning. He slipped as he threw to first on a ball from Combs' bat that started as though it was to be a hit. The Card manager released the ball before he intended to throw but it bounded into Bottomley's hands on a perfect hop.

MICKS SINK VIKINGS

SOUTH BEND, Oct. 2. (AP) Notre Dame romped over Beloit here this afternoon 77 to 0. Coach Knute Rockne used sixty men during the play. It was the second largest score ever rolled up by Notre Dame in an opening game. The Vikings held Notre Dame last season to a 19 to 3 score. Two touchdowns were made from the kickoff and the others were the result of long runs.

Northwestern Licks South Dakota, 34-0

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP). — Northwestern university uncovered a wealth of backfield brilliance today and celebrated occupancy of its new stadium by romping over the University of South Dakota 34 to 0.

Led by Captain "Moon" Baker, Gustafson and Schumacher the Wild Cats scored twice in each of the first two periods, and again in the fourth quarter meanwhile holding the Coyotes to a pair of fist downs.

Eddie Shea, Chicago, and Dan Davis, Chicago, featherweights, boxed a draw, 10 rounds.

JOIN PRO-TENNIS RANKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP) Howard O. Kinsey of San Francisco, sixth ranking tennis player in the United States and Harvey W. Snodgrass, Los Angeles, today were added to the star professional list of Charles C. Pyle to accompany Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen on her tour through North America, starting at Madison Square Gardens next Saturday.

ABILENE CHRISTIANS WIN

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 2. (AP)—A field goal by Powell, right halfback, from the 18-yard line, five minutes before the game ended, won for Abilene Christian college of Abilene over Sul Ross State Teachers college in football here today, 3 0.

GOPHERS WIN EASILY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 2. (AP) — Minnesota celebrated the opening of the 1926 football season by smashing and passing its way to an easy 51 to 0 victory over the University of North Dakota in the memorial stadium today before a record opening day crowd of 25,000 fans.

ALLEN NOSES BEAUMONT.

BEAUMONT, Te as, Oct. 2 (AP).—Murphy's 15-yard place kick squarely through the goal posts with but 15 seconds to play gave Allen Academy a 2-0 victory over Beaumont high school this afternoon in one of the finest defensive games ever played here.

Aggies Smother Pirates, 35 to 0

Relentless Driving Attack Of Farmer Backs Can't Be Halted

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 2. (AP)—The Texas Aggies smothered the Southwestern Pirates 35 to 0 here Saturday in the opening battle of the season at Kyle field.

Beginning with a safety, scored by the Aggies in the first few minutes of play, the Farmers annexed the remaining 33 points in relentless succession of drives through the Pirates' line.

Woodman, Colgin Simmons and Joel Hunt, the latter the Aggie quarterback, flashed repeatedly through the succession of plays that piled up the A&M score. Burgess, another backfield, shared in the honors of advancing the pigskin and in blocking tactics. Jelly Woodman, Austin, however, was probably in more single plays than any other member of the Aggie team. He scored two touchdowns, intercepted passes, kicked goals and was generally in the melee.

The Aggie line proved invincible and held Southwestern to a single first down. The Farmers made a total of 23 first downs.

Blackburn and Young were stars for Southwestern.

Score by quarters:

S. U.	0	0	0	0	0—0
A&M	2	20	7	6	—35

Summary: Touchdowns Woodman (2;) Colvin, Burgess, Hunt. Points other than touchdowns, Woodman 2; Hunt. First down A&M 25; Southwestern 1. Officials, Kinney (Mississippi A&M,) referee; Anderson, (Nebraska,) umpire; Bluestein (Texas,) head linesman.

Pro Golf Matches Gain In Favor

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Professional golfing circles are displaying considerable interest in the talked-of arrangement for annual matches along Walker cup lines between teams of American and British "pros." The project as viewed from this side does not appear to have reached a very definite stage, but it has at least matured far enough to give rise to animated discussion as to what conditions ought to be imposed as to the nationality of the participants.

Of course there will be no question on the British end, as there is no suggestion of putting any but players born in the United Kingdom on the British team. But apparently there would be serious objection raised in some sections of the golfing world if other than American born and bred "pros" were selected for the American team.

CHANCE PLAY WINS POTOMAC

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Oct. 2. (AP)—Chance Play won the Potomac handicap $15,000 added, for three year olds at a mile and a sixteenth today. Graffsman was second and Pompey third. Chance Play's time, with Sande up, was 1:47. A $2 parimutuel ticket on the winner paid $4.30 to win, $4.10 to place and $2.10 to show.

SYRACUSE WHIPS VERMONT

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 2.(AP) Syracuse university's football team swept Vermont off its feet today with an annihilating running attack that netted nine touchdowns in forty-two minutes of play and a 62 to 0 victory. Vermont was uniable at any time to check the rush. Gotch Carey stood out in the Orange offensive.

SHOCKER TO FACE MIGHTY ALEX TODAY

Yanks Jubilant Outfit But Rajah's Cards Stil "Proud"

BY BRAIN BELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Scenes in the club houses of the New York Yankees, winners of a sensationaid wirld series opener, and the St. Louis Cardinals glorious in defeat vere not unlike the anti-climax of dressing after a contest during the regular campionship season.

Some festive spirits among the Yankees exhibted a little enthusiasm immediately after leaving the field but tis soon wore itself out and gettinginto street fogs was made the special order.

Pennock, hob of the game, came out of the brilant contest with no semblance of a sore arm but suffered a sore back from repeated slapping and thumping by his jubilant teammates.

"What can I say, but point with pride to Herb," said Manager Miller Huggins ofthe Yankees. "The game was all pitching. You can't take any credt away from a pitcher who hols a team like the Cardinals to three hits and one run. Sherdel itched great ball too. All in all, the pitchers were the whole game.

"There was no 'deep stuff' about it. The game jut went along and played itself. We are right after 'em again tomorow and I think Pennock has setsuch a good example Shocker will follow with some more fine pitching. Shocker is my choice for omorrow's pitching.

Youngsters stand Gaff.

"I would like to say something about the youngsters on my ball club. They were here under fire and you know th world series makes a pretty hot fire. Koenig and Lazzeri did no show any nervousness that I cold see from the bench.

"It looks like agreat series if this first game is ay indication of what we may expec in the others."

The Cardinals were cheerful enough in the face of a defeat that left them nothing to pe ashamed of. "We'll get 'em," cheused the Cardinals willing to stp dressing to pose as prophets.

"We didn't hit," said Rogers Hornsby, the Cardinal chieftain. "Of course they didn't hit much either, but they hit enough. We got some great pitcing and the fielding was all right. The only note off the key was the hitting and we will change that in the other games.

"The boys played jut like it was a regular game of te season if anything, a little better than they did to win the pennat. Pennock pitched great ball against us but I liked the way Sherdel worked too. He will give the Yankees a lot of trouble before the serls is over.

"Jim Bottomley showed us the way of getting two hits against left hand pitching, but we couldn't keep up with him.

Not Downhearted.

"We are not downhearted."

Hornsby said hat he would not be able to decide is pitching selection until tomorrow.

"I think it will be Alex (Grover Cleveland Alexandr) or Reinhart. Either one should o well."

Manager Huggins has not mapped out his piching program beyond tomorrow's game but he said that he was no divulging any of his strategy when he announced that Pennock will b back on the mound after a few days' rest.

GENEVA BEATS HARVARD 16-7

Crimson Stumbles in First Game With McMillan's Eleven

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Oct. 2.(AP)—Harvard lost the first opening game in its long football history here today to the scrappy little Geneva college team 16 to 7. "Bo" McMillin's Pennsylvania team clearly outplayed Harvard in every way.

Flenniken Geneva, fullback, scored the first touchdown in the second period. Later in that period he carried the ball twenty yards to Harvard's 20-yard line. Schachern dropkicked over the Crimson cross bar from the 27-yard line.

The second Geneva touchdown was made in the fourth period. After Flenniken carried the ball 9 yards in nine plays, it rested on Harvard's one-yard line on Geneva's fourth down. Schachern circled his right end and scored. Harvard scored late in the second period after Pratt recovered Emerick's fumble on Geneva's 30-yard line. Sayles, on the next play, picked his way through a broken field and crossed the goal line.

Wilson's Archer City Eleven Stacks Up As Best Team In Years Turned Out By The "Cats"

"Corn-Fed Country Lads" Develop Fighting Machine That May Bid For State Grid Championship

By SELDON HALE

ARCHER CITY, Oct. 2.—Coach W. S. Wilson is making Archer City known for more than law suits over road bonds and oil wells this year by having one of the best, if not the best, class B. football teams in the state of Texas, nothing excluded.

Archer City's football team is christened as the "Wildcats" for more reasons than one.

History has proven that a school produces a good football team every five years and 1926 is Archer City's year winning state honors in class B. football and we don't mean maybe.

Archer City has a squad of 24 men fighting ceaselessly for their respective position. Thirteen of the squad of 24 are letter men, having played from one to three years successfully.

The team as a whole will average about 170 pounds, while the line will average 180 pounds. The team is composed for the most part of "corn-fed country boys," the kind that are ceaseless fighters and the very best of sports.

Graham Powell, right tackle, is the "Cat's" Red Grange. Powell is a city product, but has 180 pounds of muscles which he has developed on an ice wagon.

B. Larkin is a star player on the right half position, having made more gains in the game with Electra than all the Electra team combined.

Black, the best quarterback in the state, has again shown his skill and knowledge as a quarterback by showing the opposing teams what a quarterback should do.

Hull, the Cat's 196-pound center, is just a country boy come to town, trying to get along and he certainly gets his share of tackles and smashes on the opposing team's men.

Love, Gholson, Spann and T. Larkin are known far and wide as hard hitters and ceaseless fighters and play the game for all it is worth by putting their body, mind and soul in for the team.

Ed. Robertson, 123-pounder, the Cat's midget in size but a whale when it comes to playing, gets his share of all tackles.

Hutchison, the star track man, is making things hot as left half.

Hodges, the all-star athlete of Archer City, is doing his part as he always does at half and full.

Morrison, full back, believes one good year deserves another so he is filling his usual position as full back for the Cats.

Captain Cross, the best freckled-faced boy known, is keeping the squad in the best of spirits at all times. And his many kind words help many of the squad over stumbling stones in the game.

The Cats have played five games this season and have not been scratched on up to date. Four of these games were for practice, one with Wichita Falls Junior High was a conference game. One, the encounter with Electra, was with a class A. team.

The games played so far are as follows:

September 4 at Craterville Park, Okla.; Archer City 48, Childress 0.

September 5 at Craterville Park, Okla.; Archer City 24, Childress 0.

September 17 at Archer City; Archer City 14, Iowa Park 0.

September 24 at Archer City; Archer City 3, Electra 0.

October 1 at Archer City; Archer City 71, Wichita Falls Junior High School 0.

The Wildcats' next conference game is with Seymour, Texas, Friday, October 8 at Archer City.

FATOR ON CATALAN COPS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2, (AP)—Catalan of the Bedford Farms stable, ridden by Jockey Fator, captured the ninth running of the Continental handicap, $4,000 added, the feature at the Jamaica race track Saturday. High Star was second in front of the favorite, Sarazen, which finished third. The time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:44.

third. Douthit walked but Combs' catch of Holm's blow ended the inning and blasted the last real Cardinal hope.

Outside of the first and eighth, the Cardinals got men on base in only two other innings. Bell walked but got no further than first base in the fourth inning while Bottomley, singling with one out in the ninth, likewise was stranded.

DOG RACES IN DUTCH.

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 2. (AP)—Informations were filed here today against 18 persons charging them with felony and misdemeanor in connection with operation of the Mid-South Kennel club in Arkansas just across the Mississippi river from Memphis. The club has been operating dog races and the felony charge involves alleged gambling on the races.

Manufacturers of Lithuania are advocating an industrial bank to issue mortgage loans.

Mustangs Rip Trinity, 38-0

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 2. (AP)—Southern Methodist university Mustangs paraded through and over and around a fast-fading Trinity university line at Owenby stadium Saturday and swamped the Tigers by the score of 48 to 0. A crowd of 8,000 persons witnessed the game, which formally opened and dedicated the new S. M. U. stadium.

Coach Morrison used virtually every member of his squad, while the Tiger coach likewise made frequent substitutions throughout the game.

On the first play of the game, Captain Ferguson of Trinity, raced through the left side of the Mustang line, eluding every man except Lynch, who was playing safety. The Tigers made a first down on the Mustang 28-yard line, but the young team of ponies threw the Tigers, that being their last stand. Late in the second quarter, the Mustang regulars took the ball in midfield and went over for a touchdown in four plays. Another touchdown followed a few minutes later and the Trinity team was hopelessly crushed.

Captain Wade of the Mustangs accounted for two touchdowns.

MOTOR ESSENCE

The Perfect Gasoline

The Perfect Gasoline

He Thought There Would Never Be A Better Car

Don't Make the Same Mistake About Gasoline

There is as much difference between the performance of the ordinary gasoline and MOTOR ESSENCE as between this pioneer automobile and the present day luxurious eight cylinder power plant.

MOTOR ESSENCE gives the silky smoothness to your motor under any operating conditions. It gets you out of tight places when quick acceleration and surplus speed are necessary.

Do you know that crank case dilution is caused by poor combustion of low grade gasoline in your cylinders. If you do not get a clean, perfect explosion, the compression in your cylinders forces the heavy unused portion of the gasoline down by the piston rings into your lubricating oil which gives it cutting qualities instead of lubrication.

MOTOR ESSENCE saves you 25 per cent on your lubricating oil as you can use the oil one-fourth to one-half longer without destroying the lubricating qualities. We have users of MOTOR ESSENCE who have operated their cars ten thousand miles without having to remove their spark plugs for any reason. This indicates a minimum carbon deposit and perfect lubrication.

Some philosopher has fittingly said "If you build a better mouse trap than your neighbor, the world will beat a path to your door." The dealers named below are not so conveniently located, but once you put MOTOR ESSENCE in your car you will virtually beat a path to their stations regardless of locations, as the merits of MOTOR ESSENCE will immediately be recognized when you fill your tank the first time.

WEST END SPECIALS
BY WRIGHT

We have a client who has seven (7) different houses in town and is anxious to dispose of all.

One six-room modern, very close in, near school, double garage, chicken yard and cow lot, nice lawn, shrubs and many flowers. Price $4,250. $350 cash, balance like rent.

Two six-room duplexes and very good revenue, also a dandy place for a home. And they are priced right, $3,750 and $4,000 with $300 cash and balance less than rent.

One new four-room bungalow on one acre of land close in and very good soil. A fine place for a chicken farm. Any of the above can be handled on your own terms.

We also have to offer you some more exceptional bargains such as:

A beautiful five-room, new and modern bungalow on a paved street and close in. Every built-in feature, breakfast nook, sidewalks, driv way, garage, all for $3,950. $350 cash, balance $50 per month including the interest.

Another new five-rom east front cottage, modern to the minute. Hardwood floors, street being paved, screened in back porch, garage, driveway, sidewalks, on Buchanan, two blocks of school, four blocks of new high school, six blocks Junior college, all for $5,000 including the pavement. $500 cash and the balance about $45 per month.

Better look at this one. Five-room strictly modern home, east front lot on Buchanan, 2400 block. All built-in features, garage, servant house, fenced back yard, street being paved, one block of school and car line near new high school and Junior college. The Price is $4,000, $500 cash, balance about $55 per month including interest.

We stand back of all the above statements and are ready to show you we can deliver at that price.

IS IT NOT WONDERFUL?
That back in the hard times of '21 a little company should start with nothing, pioneering a new idea to a community, asking people to invest money in something that they knew nothing about and struggling along for its first seven months before it could proudly state its assets to the world as $35,000.00.
Is it not wonderful, we say, that this same company today has more than TWO MILLION FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND dollars safely loaned on more than 1,400 homes?
And has never lost a dollar of the funds entrusted to it?
And has never taken a man's home away from him?
And has never had a law suit or entanglement with its people?
And has paid every request for withdrawal instanter?
And has paid out loan funds without ever a single delay?
And has earned 10% for its shareholders?
And has thousands of investors who own its shares?
And has become the largest institution of thrift and home-ownership in Texas, west of Fort Worth and San Antonio?
This is the kind of company that offers YOU its services if you want a real estate loan or want to safely accumulate money by ownership of its shares. We thank you and will welcome a visit from you to our office.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.(AP)—The short Saturday session today was a very active affair, trading being heavy and prices experienced an important decline which at one time amounted to 60 points or three dollars a bale compared with the close of yesterday. The depressing influences were the continued favorable weather in the belt increasing crop views and heavy hedge selling against the expanding movement of cotton to market in the interior. As cables were lower than due at the start and as the weather was shown by the map as favorable the market opened 16 to 23 points down and prices continued on the downgrade throughout the session with only brief rallies on trade buying until near the close prices showed losses of 54 to 60 points. The close was near the bottom and called barely steady, showing net losses for the day of 52 to 55 points.

First trades here were 13.45 for October, 13.60 for December and 13.62 for January and these initial prices proved to be the highs of the day. Within the first half hour October dropped to 13.26, December to 13.46 and January to 13.57 or 27 to 29 points below the previous close. The market then rallied four to seven points but soon eased off again at 13.38 for December or 24 points and the A stock duplicated their previous minimum figures.

A brisk demand for the Barnsdal issues featured the oil group which also was favorably influenced by the reported reduction in gasoline stocks.

RAJAH NEVER SMOKES

SHERMAN, Oct. 2.—An athlete and a gentleman, who is in mourning, ye tis participating in a sporting classic because his dying mother wished it, does not drink, smoke or chew. Mrs. Hornsby asked her son Rogers to avoid temptation when he started in baseball and he has. The revelation comes from Roy M. Finley, who helped find the star in the bushes.

BOYS DROP FAGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—As the result of a talk by Gene Tunney, boys at an orphanage have decided voluntarily not to smoke. Cardinal Hayes told about this when the champion visited him. The prelate believes the boys of the whole country look to the champion as a good example, and that he will not fail them.

TO WAR ON INDIANS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—The chamber of deputies has passed an appropriation of 3,000,000 pesos for a campaign against rebellious Yaqui Indians.

Rebels Thursday released the prisoners and burned the city hall and court house at Jenjamo.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.(AP)—Price movements lacked uniformity in today's stock market, the frequent shifts in speculative sentiment proving bewildering to both traders and investors. A strong opening was quickly followed by a period of weakness in which many of the early gains were canceled, but the majority of issues were again upward at the close.

There was nothing in the day's news ton influence the market movements. No new call money rates are posted on Saturday, the Friday closing figure of 5½ per cent carrying over the week-end. Thee weekly clearing house estatement issued after the market closed, showed a rather large deficit in reserve, but this is not unusual in the week when there is a heavy shifting of funds incidental to dividend and interest payments. Call money is expected to continue relatively firm until after the middle of the month with opinion divided as to the permanent trend of money rates later in the year.

General Motors and U. S. Steel were again the outstanding features of today's market. General Motors were quickly bid up to a new record high at 171½, broke to 169 around the end of the first hour and then rallied to 170 for a small fractional gain on the day. Steel closed fractionally lower at 183¾ after having touched 184¾, or within 4 points of the record high. DuPont, which has large General Motors holdings and usually moves in sympathy with the latter stock, touched a new record top at 260 and then slipped back to 255¾, up 2¾ pojnts on the day.

New 1926 peak prices also were recorded by American Sumatra Tobacco, Colorado and Southern, International Harvester and Norfolk and Western. On the other hand, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies common and Maracibo Oil touched new low prices for the year, and continental Baking common and the A stock duplicated their previous minimum figures.

A brisk demand for the Barnsdal issues featured the oil group which also was favorably influenced by the reported reduction in gasoline stocks.

His appeal is pending.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.(AP)—Prospects that the Canadian wheat visible supply total on Monday will be enlarged as much as 2,000,000 bushels did a good deal today to send wheat values lower. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy at ¾ to 1¾c net decline, whereas corn showed 1¼c to 1½c advance, with oats unchanged to ¼c up. Provisions finished unchanged to 30 cents down.

Corn scored liberal gains for day, although best prices were shaded, eastern houses were credited with much of the buying of corn and in this connection a belief was expressed in some quarters that speculative interests which were reported as having been recent active purchasers of wheat had now taken a hand in supporting corn. At any rate a wave of buying orders in the corn pit today quickly absorbed the surplus offerings and brought about a sharp upturn in price, notwithstanding that weather conditions were somewhat better. Oats sympathized with corn.

With only moderate selling provisions showed a disposition to sag as a result of lack of support.

ELECTRA

T. E. L. CLASS MEETS.

The T. E. L. Sunday school class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a most delightful social in the T. E. L. class room at 2:30 Friday afternoon. The social came as the conclusion of a contest between three groups the T. E. L.'s, which has been running for some months, with Mesdames J. Cone Davis, J. T. Wofford and J. N. Brister as leaders. Mrs. Davis' group won and were entertained by the two remaining groups. The Wofford, the first vice-president presided in the absence of Mrs. M. L. Sanderson in the business session, at which time the officers who were elected recently were asked to stand and be introduced.

Mrs. John Brownlee assisted by Miss Letrice Wofford in the carrying out the program. The first part of the program was devoted to stunts and music, and the inverted quartet was given by Mesdames Martin Smit, M. J. Holcomb, R. S. Vanhoove and J. T. Wofford which was very unique and amusing. Several ladies who were classed with the "fats" were told that they were going to be put through a series of reducing exercises by Mrs. E. R. Holcomb, a small instructor. This caused much merriment.

The lovely plate luncheon, carrying out the Hallowe'en color scheme of yellow and green, with beautiful autumn flowers was used, with other decorations also suggestive of autumn. Refreshments were served to 65 ladies, a large number of which were guests. Mesdames L. H. Owens and Earl Allen were in charge of the refreshment committee.

LAMPAS CLUB.

The Lampas club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Richardson, on the Burk-Electra highway. The following program was given the first thing being a book review, taking up the life of "Mother Ross, the Missionary from the Church." Mrs. Paul Talley and C. M. Bryson made interesting reports on the life of the missionary. The hostess served a splendid one-course luncheon, to Mesdames Fred Cummings, J. M. Knight, J. M. Ashley, Dannie Dale, Jack Dale, Troy Ray, C. M. Bryson, Russell Scheurer, Frank Butler, Earl Hemby, Paul Talley, Claud Suggs, Kirk Moore, Claud Conyers, Denning.

BOY SCOUTS.

The Boy Scouts met Friday evening in the gymnasium of the local high school with 59 regular members in attendance and ten visitors. Assistant Scoutmaster Eugene Wilkins was in charge of the meeting, and the meeting was opened by the flag raising, and then games were played the first being "capture the ball." Autumn Business Shows Startling Gains; Nation's Business Outlook Encouraging, W. S. Abbott Asserts

Increased Industrial Activity As Summer Season Wanes; Coal Textile and Agriculture Showing Signs of Strong Recovery; Freight Loadings Go High

Autumn business conditions in the United States and the world generally are increasing with even more than ordinary rapidity, according to W. S. Abbott, assistant cashier of the City National bank, who, in a statement Saturday, traced some of the factors that were making the country's business conditions of the best.

Increased industrial activity and prosperity, which everyone expects in autumn when business resumes operation at full force, is perhaps even more apparent this year than usual," Abbott asserts.

"At any rate, this conclusion seems to follow naturally from the developments of the past few weeks, which have been marked by unusual activity in wholesale and retail lines, greater buoyancy in prices, and advances in industries, which until recently have been laggards.

"One of these industries is anthracite coal, which enjoyed one of the most prosperous summers in its history, and which is making new strides forward every week. The public is assured of at least four years of labor peace in this industry, during which time it is hoped some means will be evolved to prevent coal strikes. The hard coal business is a great enterprise upon which a large percentage of the people are dependent and consequently its prosperity is vital to the nation.

Textile Trade Better.

"Another hithertofore backward industry which gives definite signs of making an advance, is the textile trade in New England. Whatever improvement is manifested will be a splendid thing for national prosperity, as it will increase the productive capacity and buying power of one of the most important economic units in the country.

"The farmers as a whole are in better financial condition than at this time a year ago, and their increased income has in no small way influenced the general trend towards greater industrial prosperity. The heavy winter wheat movement has especially had its effect on business, in that it has put a large amount of ready money at the disposal of western farmers.

"Just to give an example of how vast the movement of both farm and industrial products have been recently, over 1,000,000 cars were loaded on the railroads during the week ending August 28, this being the fourteenth week in 1926 that car loadings have exceeded the million mark. It has always been a familiar axiom that when the carriers of the United States load 1,000,000 cars in a week, the country is prosperous. By this token, one might contend that the country is 100 per cent more prosperous this year than last because weekly car loadings crossed the million mark fourteen times in the first seven months of 1926 in comparison with seven times during the corresponding period of 1925.

Germany Impressive.

"The person who would analyze domestic prosperity must of necessity give a great deal of his attention to studying European affairs in these hectic months of reconstruction. And while all the news coming from Europe is not favorable, it may be said without fear of overstatement that Germany's election to the council of the league of nations is one of the most encouraging events of the year. Not ony is it a step towards accord between European nations, but it is a symbol of Germany's financial recovery, of her ability to maintain payments under the Dawes' plan.

"Meanwhile one of the most significant happenings on this side of the water was Professor Ripley's article in the Atlantic Monthly in which he urged that large corporations supply more complete information as to their condition and progress to stockholders and bondholders. Professor Ripley's article has attracted world-wide attention and is just one more link in a chain of events which has had as its purpose to make investing safer for the public. Practically all authorities have commended Professor Ripley for his position in this matter. In fact, many of them go further and say that the small investor, who can't afford to take risks, should confine his funds to investments that are easily investigated and that are of proven safety.

"Following such a program means better investing, and better investing means utilizing present prosperity to produce greater prosperity in the future."

WOMAN HELD FOR THIEVERY

Jailed On Charges Of Taking Valuable Merchandise At McClurkan's

Charges of theft are to be filed against a woman, now held prisoner in the county jail and whose arrest Saturday is believed to have cleared up the mystery surrounding the loss of several high priced garments from the McClurkan store ready-to-wear department.

Two expensive coats valued at about $100 each and one of which disappeared from the store last spring were found in her home when it was searched. Other garments stolen from the store over a period of 12 months or more are also believed to have been taken by her.

The woman, store officials stated was a careful observer and spent considerable time in the store looking over articles of the highest grade. Familiarizing herself with the location of the merchandise and with the habits of clerks, she was able by careful planning and timing to slip into a garment or walk out with it without arousing suspicion.

COUNTRY CLUB

The Electra Country club ladies will be hostess to the feminine members of the Wichita Country club, Oct. 16th, with an all-day meeting. Splendid arrangements are being made for this entertainment, which will include the golf tournament in the forenoon, a luncheon in the dining room at 12:00 and the afternoon is to be devoted to games of bridge in the club lounge and on the veranda.

These arrangements were discussed at the regular meeting of the club Friday afternoon at the club, and will be completed at a called meeting next Saturday. Mrs. S. B. Marchant, the secretary, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. R. Miller, who is away from the city.

Those present were Mesdames H. T. S. Totten, I. K. Williams, E. R. Brown, George McGann, Grace Jennings, E. G. Latimer, C. E. McDonald, A. T. McDonald, Frank LeBus, G. R. Davidson, S. B. Marchant, Henry Krohn, B. V. Mages, B. B. Williams, George F. LeBus, Paul Green, Morris Persky, and Miss Bina Magee.

PRIMO BRIDGE CLUB

The first meeting of the year of the Primo Bridge club was held Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ed Campbell on East Ida avenue. Two tables of bridge were played, with Mrs. E. E. Merkt receiving high score, and Mrs. C. H. Schulkey, the cut prize, both of which were lovely gifts. Cut flowers were used in the decorations and a plate luncheon was served to Mesdames B. V. Magee, E. E. Merkt, J. T. McDonald, I. K. Williams, A. B. Haaf, M. D. Goldsmith, C. P. P. Engelking-A-K, ETAOIN SH Engelking, C. H. Schulkey, Mrs. C. P. Engelking will be hostess next week.

TWO ITEMS

CLEVELAND—Two new stories appear simultaneously, and with a fine ironic gesture—presuming that items can gesture, and why not—ask the world to make the most of a coincidence. The first item concerns a western writer who, with his family and a friend, is sailing in a small boat for Tahiti in search of peace and quiet, away from all modern noise and bothertion . . . The second item is hidden away in a commercial report. It states simply that there is an increasing demand for phonographs and powerful radio instruments among the natives and white settlers of south sea islands . . Go ahead, try to get away from noise!

FIRM MONEY HURTS BONDS

Sales During Week Dull As Money Conditions Casts Shadow on Market

BY BYRON SELLER
Special Correspondent
(Copyright 1926 by the Consolidated Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Firm money cast a shadow over the market this week, with the result that prices were rather heavy and trading was dull.

More or less of a price deadlock exists at present. Sellers refuse to make concessions asked by buyers. The latter are equally stubborn in declining to pay asked prices. As an outcome, the actual turnover in the market for outstanding issues is small and has been for some time.

The level quotations is admittedly high, although it averages about 3-4 of a point below the peak reached last June. That high level in itself constitutes a barrier to activity pending clearing up of the money situation.

Call money went as high as six per cent this week, and time money which is a better standard for measurement of bond prices, was quoted as high as 5 1-2 per cent, a new minimum for fixed date money this year. The firmness of money was not an abnormal development. It is usual for rates to stiffen over October 1. However, it also is normal for money rates to ease up after October 1 settlement are completed and the market should ease up very soon, although it also is likely to harden by the end of the month.

Will street is talking of the possibility of an advance in the federal reserve bank rates before the end of the year. It is no secret that some bankers expect such a development. This in a nutshell is the reason the bond market is sluggish and buyers are coy. A higher bank rate would mean also a higher level of interest rates generally, which would react against bonds until the seasonal tightness of money disappears.

Of course, a certain amount of buying is done all of the time by institutions. Insurance companies as a rule invest their income promptly. They have found that in the long run it does not pay to waith for drops in bond prices. Over a period of years prices have a habit of averaging up. But institutional buying has not been active. Savings banks also buy whenever they have surplus funds. But the savings banks have been going in more for real estate mortgages than corporation bonds.

Railroad bonds were inclined to to droop this week. However, there were exceptions. St. Louis and San Francisco income 6s were active around 96. These bonds sold "ex" interest on Octover 1, and there was large investment demand on the theory that they would recover after interest came off. Chicago," Rock Island and Pacific bons also were pretty well absorbed because of the company's record for earnings this year. Seaboard junior bonds were well taken on the road's showing for the first eight months.

In the local traction group, the feature was quiet buying of Third Avenue adjustment 5s and refunding 4s. The company's report for the last two months showed a good surplus, compared with a deficit for the corresponding period of last year.

In the industrial division, demand ran to sugar and copper bonds because prices of both sugar and copper have been stronger with the prospect of better earnings for the companies concerned.

The demand for foreign bonds, which was so good recently, petered out with the result that recessions were the rule. Much of the buying in the last few weeks had come from abroad where bankers are closer to the scene and are in a better postion than our investors to ascertain the true situation. However, foreign demand has failed for the time being.

Financing this week reached a volume in excess of $104,000,000. It included a broad variety of foreign issues and domestic industrial, public utility, municipal and other bonds. The feature of the market for new bonds was the paucity of really high grade securities.

The largest single piece of new financing was an offering of $16,500,000 Argentine government 34 year six per cent bonds. They were sold at 89 1-4 to yield 6.10 per cent. At the same time it was announced by the bankers of Argentina that they had marketed privately $20,000,000 of six months Argentina government treasury notes on a five and a quarter per cent basis. The bonds were a public offering. The Argentina government bond offering was the largest piece of South American financing arranged in the New York market this year.

WELLS IRES KING

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Every time another installment of the latest novel of H. G. Wells comes out there is another sensation. The latest is the characterization of King George as "a worthy, conscientious and entirely unmeaning and uninteresting son of Plump old Edward VII." The author insists he is not responsible for the opinions of characters in the book.

THIRD DEGREE STARVING

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 2.—A great discovery in criminology has been made by L. A. Dillon, a merchant. Perhaps it was suggested by the Nebraska diet for prohibition law violators. Anyhow, Dillon has wired the police of 150 cities that the way to make a crook confess is to keep him in a cell hungry for two days and then make him watch 20 policemen eat a square meal.

Scholastic Scoops

Copies of the Wichitan, joint publication of the college and high school, were sold as fast as they could be brought to the school Friday morning, and students valued their papers highly as the first issue of the third year of its existence. The paper, which is regularly an eight-page weekly, is edited by students of both the Junior college and the high school, the college students holding the higher offices on the staff. This year, as has been the annual custom, a Junior college student was chosen for the position of Editor-in-chief, Miss Dorothy Reed being accorded the honor.

Special features of the paper include Campus news, Polly's advice athletics, organization and "Dock Pink's Lineup," 'a new column. Contributions to the paper are dropped in a box displayed in a prominent place in the corridor, the design of which is modeled after the Junior college building.

RESERVES MEET.

Junior High Annex Girl Reserves enjoy a discussion program Thursday afternoon at their regular meeting time. The topic "Ideas for Boys and Girls," was discussed by all present, led by the president, Lucia Allred. Girl Reserve songs were sung, the Girl Reserve code was repeated and sentence prayers were led by Mary Albritton. A reading was given by Gretchen Steel, after which the meeting was adjourned by singing "Follow the Gleam," and repeating the benediction. Thirty-five members were present, and seven new members were added, making a total enrollment of 57.

BIG DIGEST ORDER.

Wichita Falls high school and college students order the Literary Digest in what is believed to be the second largest single order in the United States, the largest going to a New York high school. All those who take history in the college or high school study the Literary Digest in connection with their regular lessons, and order all magazines in one large bunch.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN.

Junior High Girl Reserves gave an entertaining program Thursday afternoon, when the program included several ukulele solos by Miss Eleanor Pitman and a piano solo by Miss Lolis Baber. Miss Dorris Smith made a few announcements and led in Girl Reserve songs, after which the meeting was adjourned. Miss Helen Willgus, president, had charge of the program.

MANY ATTEND MEETING.

A large number of girls were reported present at the regular meeting of the Junior college and high school Girl Reserves, the largest organization of any in the city school, Friday morning when an interesting program was given.

Miss Dorris Smith led the devotional, after which the regular program for the morning was presented. John Robinson gave a saxophone solo, accompanied by Dorothy McCloud. Dorothy Reed gave a reading "Aren't Husbands Queer."

CLUB TO REORGANIZE.

Old members of the Writers' club honorary organization in the Junior college, met Friday morning to discuss re-organization for the year 1926-1927, and to decide on basis for admittance of new members. The following committees were appointed by Morell Trevathan, 1925-1926 president and Miss Eva Weber, faculty sponsor. Membership, Dorothy Reed, chairman, Eleanor Fleming and Dolores Pravy; nomination, Harriet Roe, chairman, and Morell Trevathan; program, Isla Ccthran, chairman and Ruth Turner.

The Writers' club was organized during the past year by a few of the students most interested in literary efforts. Requirements for membership include a high scholastic standing, an especially high grade in English courses and literary ability.

A large number of teachers, parents and friends of students in the Sam Houston school enjoyed a housewarming party at the school Friday night, given by the Parent-Teacher association in honor of the teachers, when the following program was given:

Violin solos, "Minuet" and "Listen to the Mocking Bird"—Mrs. Joe Crouch.

Reading, "A High School Girl on the Trolley"—Lucile Ballard.

Songs—Alva Willgus.

Talk—Judge Thompson.

'Miss America' Gown To Be Shown At Fair Shown By M'Clurkan

Tuesday night, which is style show night at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, will have as a distinguishing note contributed by W. B. McClurkan company, a stunning creation styled after a model worn by Miss Norma Smallwood, "Miss America" of Tulsa at the Atlantic City contest. This will be worn by Miss Josephine Cummings in the elaborate display of gowns shown by the leading department stores of the city.

For either street or afternoon wear, this model of black satin will meet with the approval of every discriminating style-lover. Bolero style with bloused back and the new V and A sleeves complete a background of simplicity for the rich hand-embroidered of valencia blue, chanel red and gold and contrast vividly with the front of gold cloth. The skirt accentuated the latest mode with a scalloped bottom of the full pleats placed with an individual touch.

McClurkan & company obtained this model through Glantz and Sapphire to be shown Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murphree and family of Iowa Park attended the opening day of Texas-Oklahoma fair Saturday.

MARQUIS IS CLUB SPEAKER

Denton Educator Featured At Noonday Club Meet Here

An enthusiastic meeting of the University club was held aturday at noon when 125 members and teachers of the city were present to hear the address given by Dr. R. L. Marquis, president of the North Texas Normal college at Denton.

Dr. Marquis told a series of after-dinner stories before launching into his address on the responsibility to public education of public expense. "We have in our public education program an ever changing program for boys and girls." He told how at the present time many boys and girls wish to work their way through and desire to stay in that town, and if there is no work to do, they still wish to stay, there is the temptation of doing nothing, spending much time on the street. "That problem confronts us now, and it is just as real as duty of the public schools to turn the students away self-supporting and self-respecting as it is to teach them to read and write," the speaker declared.

Key To The Question.

"Public education is the key to the solution," and he spoke on the investment side of education.

"There is a serious situation in Austin now, concerning the tax on gasoline and the tax on other things to run the public schools. We must, as loyal citizens, not draw any line between the kindergarten, the university, the technological school of industrial schools. The institution of higher learning has existed thousands of years before there was education for the common man."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. J. W. Cantwell.

Burl Bryant, newly elected president, presided at the meeting which was attended by school teachers from various points in the county and by teachers in the city schools.

A sing-song was led by Alva Willgus, and a violin solo was given by Jacob Rabinowitz with Mrs. E. J. Dementel at the piano. Young Rabinowitz, a student of violin under Eithel Allen Nelson, won the recent radio contest conducted at the Olympic theatre, and goes to Dallas for the state contest in which twelve Texas cities will be represented. He played "Nocturne in E flat," Chopin.

E. E. Fisher announced the informa party to be given for the teachers of the city and their friends on the evening of October 15, at the gymnasium-cafeteria of Aalmo school.

SUPERINTENDENT TO TALK.

Mrs. R. L. Cubertsoon of San Antonio, superintendent of the San Antonio Mission home and Training school, who is in the city, will present the work of the home Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church, south. She will have a thrilling heart story to tell, it was said yesterday.

While here Mrs. Cubertson is the guest of Miss Katherine Hen[illegible] superintendent of the Texas [illegible] dren's home and Aid society.

The Kemp public library, it was announced yesterday, will be closed after 1 o'clock Tuesday for the rest of the afternoon in keeping with observance of Wichita Falls Day at the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

Society Circles of Wichita Falls Have Busy Week

—"Who's Who" Locally

KITTY MY DEAR: This week almost found me too busy to pen my letter to you, but pleasure before duty, my child, if you would live long and be happy. The realtors convention with its attendant social affairs filled the past week to overflowing with interest and left just one day in which to catch your breath and snatch a little beauty sleep before the opening of the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

And when I speak of the opening of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, I have in mind the elaborate pageant and the ball, the queen's tea and the numerous luncheons and dinners, where the beautiful queen reigns supreme surrounded by a bevy of attractive princess and duchesses. Queen Sybil of the house of Kell, a true daughter of Wichita Falls, who has lived here all of her life, and is a shining light in the social affairs of the younger set. Charming local young women who are enjoying the royal festivities with the queen are her ladies in waiting, Helen Snider, Bernice Martin, Gene Nelson, Mary Brown, Helen Grisham and Jo Betsy Miller.

With the gorgeous dance which followed the pageant Saturday night to start the ball rolling, the social calendar for the week is filled with affairs for royalty. The atmosphere is already beginning to be permeated with royal graces. So if you detect an unusually aristocratic sound to my letter don't be surprised and think it will be permanent, it is only temporary, and if you find it that way I will tell you right here that it was caused by association.

AND this week will also see the beginning of the Woman's Forum activities, which mean the the real opening of the fall social season. The first affair will be Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wichita club and will be what the women term "re-assembly" day. At this time an attractive Spanish program will be given and more than 300 members of all departments will get together. Every member is also privileged to bring with her a friend or women who wish to join on this first day. The initiation fee is announced as three dollars and dues five dollars. The proposed member must be indorsed by two older members who are known to the officers and chairman of the Forum.

The Forum slogan for fall as of the spring is "build the club house" and immediately following the fair active work will begin among the members in raising the remaining funds with which to begin work on the new building. Thursday the art department with Mrs. G. L. Shapard, chairman, is holding a studio tea at the home of Mrs. W. W. Silk and these two events will launch the organization in its fall and winter work which is expected to be exceptionally interesting and attractive.

* * * *

THE opening of the schools, first meetings of reading clubs, and other events of a cultural nature, reminds me, Kitty, of one woman in our midst, who is proving herself a boone to students wishing to "brush-up credits in foreign languages. You know, my dear, that few of us speak more than one language, and feel that if we have mastered it to the extent that our pronounciation and sentence construction are near-correct, we are "smart." But when you think about a plain little Dutch woman from Holland keeping her house, rearing three children, who speaks five or six languages fluently and teaches two, I am sure like me, you stop for breath and wonder when she found time to learn so much. Surely people of Holland have more time for study than we do. The one of whom I speak is none other than Madam Freida Van Emden who is teaching both French and German at her home, and is making for herself somewhat of a reputation as an efficient instructor in these languages. Madam Van Emden expresses herself as being somewhat surprised at the number of students making application to enroll for lessons in German, as this is the first time since the World war that many have seemed interested in this language. The increase in interest in the German language is wide spread, it is said.

We have been seeing and hearing a good deal of the vanishing American in Wichita Falls recently through the media of the films but it occurs to me, Kitty, that there is another type that is vanishing much faster and more surely than the Indian. I mean the Rube, the countryman who used to try to blow out the mazda lamps and whose trousers ended about half way between the knees and ankles. Between the automobile the radio he hardly exists any more, except in vaudeville and in the imagination of city writers attempting to put local color into stories of rural life.

Really, Kitty, I believe our country cousins of today are beginning to get a bit of advantage and their new ability to see and hear the world.

* * * *

THIS summer I spent my vacation a blessed two weeks, away from the "grind" in the country. And there, Kitty, we got returns on the state election by radio without [illegible] from our rocking chairs (remember how we stand long hours on the street corner in Wichita Falls,) and when we grew tired of vote counting we "tuned in" on an orchestra concert that would have delighted the heart of the most exacting music lover.

Oh, yes, and we discussed the trend in motor car manufacture, what colors were going to be worn this winter, Will Rogers, the Florida boom and the latest movies.

No, Kitty, I was not visiting the country estate of a wealthy city family. They were honest-to-goodness tillers of the soil. Hayseeds, if you please of yesteryear.

A few weeks ago I read that "Peaches" Browning and her fairy godfather husband, dining in a smart New York hotel, caused such a crowd to gather on the sidewalk that police had to be called, and the officers only succeeded in dispersing the mob of curious by requesting the couple to take a table in full view from the street. This, my little one, was on blase Broadway. Who are the provincials?

* * * *

I have always said that there are no cleverer women in the world than our very own. Just stop a few minutes, Kitty, and merely start a mental "Who's Who" of Wichita Falls women—those that accomplish real things with hands and brains, pens, brushes and various other media. There's a wonderful array of them and some of those we know best are continually surprising us with their fresh ideas.

The past week during the meeting of the state realtors' convention, I had the privilege of listening to some of our women preside as toastmistresses at luncheon, on programs and in original sketches written to exactly fit the atmosphere of the meeting. The cleverness portrayed by these local artists in their respective talent never cease to interest and astonish me.

* * * *

ONE especially amusing as well as charming "bit of fun'" for the entertainment of the visitors at the banquet Thursday night, the "take-off" on real estate dealers, written by Jaunita Kinsey and put on by her , assisted by other local women, proved a scream from start to finsh.

Well, old dear, I hear an auto horn blowing and maybe it's some one coming to take me to the fair, if so I'll not refuse to go and you'll have to wait another week for the last word from—

In The Glow Of The Camp Fire

The Temskatawa Camp Fire Girls met at headquarters Friday afternoon and worked on decorations for the exhibit at the fair.

At the business session, the following officers were elected: President, Nadine Loofbourrow; vice-president, Maxine Duffy; secretary, Olive Humphrey; treasurer, Nell Duffy. Miss Viola Chewning, who will take the group as guardian, met with the girls and discussed plans for the next meeting. The next meeting will be a "surprise." All girls are to meet at headquarters at 4 o'clock. Those attending were: Edith Long, Nadine Loofbourrow, Marjorie Dalton, Eunice Sommerville, Olive Humphries, Nell and Maxine Duffy.

Cantawayua Group.

The Cantawayua Camp Fire Girls met at home of Mary Katherine Ward, 703 Filmore, Friday afternoon. After a short business session, the girls gave a program of piano selections, readings and violin selections.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess and her mother and Mrs. Bell, to the following members and visitors, Edith Brown, Winnelle Ward, Laura Mae Cowley, Mary Hyatt, Dorothy Sommerville, Lee Ellen Beardman, Bernice Trevathen, Lois Corbin, Vilet Trevathen.

Cantipi Camp.

The Cantipi Camp Fire Girls met at home of Guardain, Mrs. W. D. Cook, Friday afternoon when the meeting opened with Camp Fire songs, after which a short program was given as follows: Lorretta Morgan and Ruth Nellson readings, Marie Moore piano solo. An interesting meeting was planned for next week to include an educational tour. The process of smoke printing was explained, the girls to actually do the work later. Others attending the meeting were: Euls Gilbreth, Mattie Cook, Minnie Mansell, Elizabeth and Thelma James, Juanita Shields, Florine Angell, Mrs. Hazel Shultz and Mrs. W. D. Cook.

Camp Fire Girls exhibit at the fair is in the east end of the woman's building.

Huey P. T. A. Holds Meeting At School

The Huey Parent-Teacher association met at the school Thursday afternoon when the session was opened with devotionals led by Mrs. J. D. Scarbrough and the singing of America led by Mrs. McClure. The program included songs by the school children and brief talks by the principal, Miss Ester Berry, and two of the new teachers, Misses McClure and Rosie Lee Thompson.

There were 17 members present and Miss Berry's room received the picture for the largest attendance of mothers.

Intermediate B. Y. P. U. Entertain With Party

Members of the Intermediate B. Y. P. U. of the Floral Heights Baptist church enjoyed a party at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. McClung Friday evening when games were played and in the contests, prizes were awarded to Pansy Whatley and Morris Lee.

In The Pictures

Mrs. Mark Lindsey before her marriage recently, was Miss Elizabeth Oakes of Weslaco, Texas. After a honeymoon spent in El Paso, Mr. and Mrs Lindsey will be at home here.

Mrs. Nydia Joiner Young, one of Wichita Falls' talented readers and teacher of expression, has recently moved into her new home on Westlake Drive.

Mrs. Jack Wages of 1720 Elizabeth street is one of the city's younger matrons and popular in local social circles.

Woman's Forum Opens Its Fall And Winter Work With Big Reception

Beginning with "reassembly day" on Wednesday afternoon the Woman's Forum of Wichita Falls will start the fall and winter work in every department. This affair will be in the form of a reception at the Wichita club in the afternoon at 3 o'clock when the hostesses will include members of the executive board and social committee of the organization.

On Tuesday afternoon the art department will be hostess at a studio tea exhibit at the home of Mrs. W. W. Silk and on Oct. 14, the literature department will present a program.

A meeting of the executive board will be held at 9:30 on Tuesday the nineteenth while on the same date in the afternoon the drama department will present two one-act plays. The writers department will begin activities with a luncheon Wednesday, Oct. 20 and on Oct. 27 Mrs. Maggie W. Barrie of A. & M. college will give a lecture on health. The music department will be hostess at a musical tea Tuesday afternoon Oct. 26 and Oct. 28 the literature department will hold a regular session.

That the fall and winter program is filled with attractive programs can not be disputed by one who is fortunate enough to have a glance at the elaborate books for 1926-27.

During the month of November the General Forum will present Charles Brandon Booth and the Writers department, Florence M. Sterling, editor of the Woman's Viewpoint. Ada Ward in a lecture on "Faces in the Crow," will be an attractive feature on the December program and in January the General Forum will present the Russian Symphonic choir and the Literature department, a lecture by DeWitt McMurray of Dallas.

Mrs. W. Chamberlin of John Tarleton college will be on the health department program during the month and on Tuesday the first day of February Miss Irene Bewley, reader, will be a General Forum attraction. On February 24 Grant Overton of New York will be presented by the Literature department.

Fannie Hurst, highest paid and best known short story writer in the world wil appear here in a lecture under the auspices of the General Forum about the middle of March while the first week in April Miss Rebecca Smith of T. C. U. will be presented, also April 14, Rabbi David Lefovitch of Dallas.

Officers of the Forum this year are Mrs. Ola Hamlin, president; Ben G. O'Neal, first vice president; Mrs. R. R. Bleakley, second vice president; Mrs. Ben Bean, third vice president; Mrs. J. M. Isbell, recording secretary; Mrs. Claude B. Woods, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hubert M. Harrison, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Cabiness, auditor; Mrs. Orville Bullington, parliamentarian; Mrs. P. P. Handshaking Season Again In Swing As Delegations Of "What-Nots" Call On U. S. President

Dresses Will Be Longer This Winter Say Washington Fashion Experts Who Are "In the Know" as the First "Ground-Sweepers" Make Appearance

BY JEAN JARVIS
Special Correspondent of The Record News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Once again the first lady of the land has taken on the duty of shaking hands with this, that and the other delegation of notables, native and foreign, who are just now arriving thick as hops at the capital.

Between times, for the more intimate groups—the little companies who arrive by special appointment—the tea table is once again set going. All trigged out in its spotless napery; the tea napkins esquisitely embroidered affairs of kins very fine white linen; the lovely "White House china and the equally lovely old bits of silver doing service; the cosy little table, which is usually set in the Red Parlour, is about the most invtting sight imaginable, and also about the most unpretentious one.

Thrill in Spoons

The White House spoons, my dears, the very, very old-timers with the oblong bowls ending in a very definite point, carry such engaging legends as "President's house." The lettering is in very old and rather florid script. It surely does give one a real thrill to "sip tea" from a little old silver spoon which, maybe, one time served the identical purpose for any one of a dozen or more historical Madison's gay and happy day to the present.

The program for the formal functions of the winter, state dinners, receptions,and the like, which has been announced earlier than usual begins Dec. 2 and concludes Feb. 17, 1927.

The New Year's fete on Saturday, Jan. 1, will begin at 11 A. M., when the president and Mrs. Coolidge receive the diplomatic corps and others of high official station. It concludes at 1:30 p. m., the general public being admitted at the close of the formal reception.

The first of the series of state dinners, with cabinet members and their wives as chief guests, is slated for Thursday, Dec. 2, Thursday's Dec. 16, Jan. 20 adn February 10, are set apart for dinners arranged, respectively in honor of the diplomatic corps, the chief justice of the United States supreme court and the associate justices and their wives, and the speaker of the house and Mrs. Longworth.

Thursdays Dec. 9, Jan. 13, Feb. 3 and Feb. 17, at 9 p. m., are respectively set down as dates for the diplomatic, judicial, congressional and Army-Navy receptions.

White House Party

The president and Mrs. Coolidge both had a part in the reception given at the White House this week in honor of the delegates to the first Pan-American congress of public health directors now in session here.

All sorts of parties, big and little, marked the visit of this group. The secretary of state and Mrs. Kellogg gave a very brilliant reception for them at the Pan-American building. Mrs. Kellogg, who has been taking a holiday at her old home in St. Paul, returned the day before the big party, looking very fit and rested. All through the evening there was a great howde-doing, everybody apparently having just got back from somewhere and all glad enough to meet old friends.

It was a very smartly dressed assemblage, too. There were comparatively few jewels but the gowns were splinter new and very stunning. And the skirts my dears—they ranged bewilderingly from the knee cap to the floor, generally those with the knee-cap adroitly presented to view had the call. But tricksy skirts showed up in slick little wrap-around effects and in downright buffantly billowy swirls tightly gathered at a fairly normal waist line and reaching almost mid-way between the knees and the ankles.

Skirts Longer Again

One very distinguished youngish woman whom everybody was bent on meeting, arrived in an inky black costume of dull chiffon draped snugly to a long waisted effect and finished off with a skirt that touched the floor all the way around and trailed off impudently into two short side trains.

"Skirts are going to be longer," says the very knowing ones, for the smartly-daring are appearing in the "ground sweepers." Can it be that the petticoat days and the chignons are on the way back? Surely, the bobbed head and the sweeping skirt won't "assemble" successfully and what with her majesty of Roumanic bearing down upon us with a bobbed head the sartorialans is by way of being most complicated.

Miss Johnson Hostess To Number of Friends

Miss Evelyn Johnson was hostess to a number of friends at her home Friday evening when dancing and games were enjoyed throughout the evening.

Refreshments were served to Misses Una Gose, Ruth Keevil, Winifred Hudgins, Tommie Vaughn, Helen Hamilton, Evadna Ashton, Gladys Plumber, Lotta May Green, Ethel Johnson and Messrs. Jerry Elliott, Elmer Ramming, Herbert Wilson, Charles Wilson, Clarence Ashton, Jack Carstarvin, Bob Carstarvin, Lucas Pitts, Edd Moran, Johnnie White, Douglas Thompson, Lipscomb Johnson, Harold Robinson, Burban Wheeler and Max Lester.

Travel Club Meets With Mrs. E. T. Duff

Mrs. E. T. Duff was hostess to the Travel club in the first meeting of the year when Mrs. W. F. Killingsworth led the lesson on "Fabulous Forties" by Meade Minnigerode. Mrs. C. H. Clark discussed the manners and customs of the times while the amusements were discussed by Mrs. Killingsworth. Mrs. Duff discussed "Ho for California."

Those present were: Mesdames W. W. Cook, Leslie Humphrey, C. N. Alexander, John Martin, Q. E. Lee, Guy Rogers, T. A. Hicks, John Thomas, G. L. Shapard, W. F. Pagan, L. R. Sproles and C. H. Clark.

The Manuscript club will meet at the parish house in open session Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present.

Popular Seymour Girl Weds Young Attorney In Pretty Ceremony

SEYMOUR, Oct. 2. — Solemnizing of one of the most elaborate and beautiful weddings of many a season was held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church when Miss Grace Brooks Cardwell became the bride of J. Donnell Dickson. The wedding was of interest to a host of friends, who crowded the church auditorium.

Dutton J. Bailes sang as the pre-nuptial solo, Cadman's "At Dawning," and was accompanied by Mrs. Bailes, who was a college mate of the bride and who announced the coming of the bridal party by the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride's maids entered from the left, the groomsmen from the right, proceeding down the aisles together. Miss Georgia Britton in a tiered frock of georgette in shaded tones of pink with Roscoe Caldwell as groomsman. Miss Christine Caldwell in orchid georgette with sequin and rhinestone trimmings accompanied by Wilbur Dickinson; Miss Pauline Knox in pink georgette with pear and rhinestone trimming with J. D. Montgomery as groomsman. The maids wore poke bonnets and satin slippers to match their costumes and carried arm boquets of pink carnations and fern.

Miss Jo Lee Dickson sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor and was lovely in orchid georgette.

Mesdames Clyde Faucher, aunt of the bride and Ruth Willoughby, sister of the groom were matrons of honor. Mrs. Fancher wore pink georgette, silk lace trimmed and Mrs. Willoughby, orchid georgette over pink satin trimmed in sequin and tulle trimmings. Both wore picture hats.

Mrs. Bailes wore white chiffon and lace with pearl trimmings. Little Misses Mary Ann Nugent and Margaret Jane Bunkley were charming little flower girls in ruffled frocks of pink crepe de chine. Master Jack Jackson wearing white satin suit was bearer of the ring.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, O. P. Caldwell, who gave her in marriage, while from the opposite aisle the groom entered with his father, Judge Jo A. P. Dickinson. The bride, carrying in her bouquet, sweetheart roses in shower of lilies of the valley, was gowned in flesh-crepe amour, ornamented with hand-made roses with train of pulted crepe and hand-made roses. Her veil was of white plaited chiffon and real lace and fell from a headdress of orange blossoms and tulle.

The setting for the ceremony was of a garden wedding. A trellis featured the decorations, festooned with greenery and flowers of pink and orchid hue, the bride's chosen colors. The ring ceremony was read by Rev. E. C. Cargill.

The bride is the only daughter of O. P. Caldwell who is president of the Board of Education. She has been the center of the social activities since the announcement of her marriage on Sept. 8. She is a graduate of the high school and later attended Baylor university.

The groom is the eldest son of Judge and Mrs. Jo. A. P. Dickinson, who are pioneer residents of this county. He is also a graduate of the high school and attended State university, getting his degree in law from Cumberland university at Lebanan, Tenn., and is now the junior member of the firm of Dickinson, Newton and Dickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson left following the ceremony on the evening train and will spend their honeymoon in San Antonio and other southern points. They will be at home in the Hilliard apartment on their return.

Woman's Council Board Luncheon

Members of the executive board of the First Christian church Women's Council met at the home of Mrs. O. H. Karr Friday with Mesdames L. L. Boardman, Amos Morris and T. W. Casky, assistant hostesses.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Eichelberger who gave a feeling address and a lovely luncheon was served. All committees and divisions gave reports extending home and foreign mission work and plans were made for the one-day convention to be held October 13. Miss Nunn, missionary in Mexico was given happy thought and favorable consideration for the work she is doing under such adverse circumstances.

Covers were laid for Mesdames J. L. Keevil, G. I. Ellis, A. D. Patillo, L. L. Boardman, J. M. Isbell, Amos Morris, S. P. Jones, Harry Hines, L. E. Trout, J. L. Downing, S. L. Conn, J. E. Strong, A. R. Protho, W. R. Ferguson, R. E. Shephard, T. M. Conrey, T. A. Bradley and Mrs. Bash and mother.

The meeting was concluded with enthusiastic anticipation of the general meeting to be held Monday.

First Baptist Dorcas Class Holds Meeting

Raub Pupils Appear In Violin Recital

An enthusiastic audience composed of parents of the pupils of Stanley Raub attended the violin recital given at the Raub studio Friday evening when a part of the students appeared in solo and duet numbers prepared since the opening of the fall term, September sixth.

This is the first of a series of monthly programs in which the pupils will be presented in solos learned and memorized within the month.

The junior and senior orchestras have been organized and will appear on succeeding programs, according to Mr. Raub.

Those who played on the Friday evening program were Noreta Sims, Mary Ellen Shaw, Sam Wallace Jones, Mary C. Boone, Barbara Martin, Georgiana Davidson, Mildred Murrell, Johnnie Green Hawkins, Mary Ann Walker, Sidney Covington, Loraine Mathis, Thelma Norvell and Claudean McCarty.

Coterie Club With Mrs. E. B. Bailey

Mrs. E. B. Bailey was hostess to the Coterie club at her home on Huff avenue Friday afternoon in the first meeting of the year. Roll call was responded to with the names of actors and actresses of today and the lesson on modern drama included a review of Kelly's "Craig's Wife" and "The Great God Brown" by O'Neal, by Mrs. J. H. Massie.

During the social hour refreshments were served to Mesdames A. R. Bleakley, J. W. Boller, C. P. Burton, Arch Collins, S. M. Goss Sr., Hubert Harrison, A. G. Holmes, Lester Jones, J. H. Martin, J. H. Massie, J. C. Mytinger, Horrace Robbins and John Waggoner.

When Likker Was 75 Cents a Gallon —Here In Texas

YOAKUM, Texas, Oct. 3 (AP) An old newspaper printed nearly 75 years ago has been unearthed in Lavaca county, mentioning the old county seat, Petersburg, a town that no longer exists. The old advertisements tell graphically the history of the days before the Civil war.

The paper was printed in February, 1853, and advertises negroes for sale, for cash or cattle; recites the sale of an old tavern and quotes the price of whiskey in the county as 25 cents a gallon for rectified and 75 cents a gallon for monogohels.

Emphasizing the change of times but not of methods, the new tavern owner seeks to draw guests by telling of the quality of his stables, as modern hostelries seek to attract patrons by describing their private garages. The new tavern owner declared in the phraseology of 1853 that "his table will be well supplied at all times with all the necessaries and as many of the delicacies of life as can be had.

25-YEAR SENNTENCE

Her Hair Fairly SPARKLES Now!

The woman who knows what to do after waving her hair doesn't fear the effect of hot irons. Nor of frequent washings. A few drops of Danderine—on comb or towel—and the hair is soft and lustrous, and behaves beautifully.

A bit of Danderine rubbed lightly into the scalp, is the one sure way to dissolve every particle of dandruff. But a few drops more makes a dressing that is simply marvelous. A sheen that rivals brilliantine, and no grease!

RICH SOPHISTICATION

Is a Style Note Pleasingly Evidenced In These New Pumps, Plain or Brocaded

Garniture is quite lavishly used on the frocks and gowns of Fall. There is about them an air of rich sophistication. And so, also in the pumps created to accompany them. Yet models seemingly elaborate at first glance, as among some strap designs, are unobtrusive when on the foot, so cleverly are they conceived.

SEYMOUR

BRIDE ELECT HONOREE

One of the loviest affairs of the week given in honor of Miss Grace Brooks Caldwell, who becomes the bride of J. Donnell Dickson on Wednesday evening, was the miscellaneous shower given on Friday afternoon at the spacious R. R. Kellum home, with Mrs. Kellum joined by Mrs. I. A. Newton as hostess.

Iced punch, served by Miss Lois Drane refreshed the guests, who were then asked to register in the bride's book, a lovely booklet in the form of a golden slipper, tied with pink maline and presided over by Miss Georgia Britton, Mrs. M. E. Tarver then seated the guests to await a unique program which was opened by Mrs. F. H. Bunkley.

Miss Pauline Knox immediately appeared, attired in stripe doveralls and cap as the "news boy" and calling out her wares, gave to each guest a copy of a magazine romance, the blanks to be filled out by name of a magazine.

Miss Rebecca Meadors and Miss Dorothy McCloudy of Wichita Falls were guests of Miss Lois Drane, and Miss Meadors gave a group of violin selections, accompanied by Miss McCloud.

A contest for the girls was next. Mrs. Newton tried to find out the next bride. She appeared with a tray of spools and asked each maiden to take a full one and an empty one. The first to wind the thread from the full spool to the empty one, was declared to be the next bride, Miss Lois Drane was the lucky one.

Other enjoyable members of the afternoon were a vocal solo, "At Dawning" by Miss Thelma Dickson, accompanied by Mrs. Lee Coy and two readings by Miss Margaret Crozier.

Another happy surprise followed when Walton Newton entered, dressed in all the completeness of a real colored gen'lem'n, with his white trousers, cut-away coat, high topped hat and red necktie. He sang, "O, Those Golden Slippers" and the dance, which added to its effectiveness.

The real golden slipper filled with handsome and lovely gifts for the bride was drawn in by little Misses Margaret Jane Bunkly and Mary Ann Nugent in fluffy frocks of white and driven by Master Jack Jackson Jr., as cupid dressed in white satin slip with airy wings.

After all gifts were unwrapped by the bride and passed to the guests, A delightful salad course was served, with tiny golden slippers filled with rice as plate favors. Those enjoying the elaborate affair were: Miss Grace Brooks Caldwell, honoree, Misses Rebecca Meadors and Dorothy McCloud of Wichita Falls, Thelma Dickson, Lucille Rupe, Lois Drane, Jo Lee Dickson, Margaret Crozier, Georgia Britton, Gladys Waller, Pauline Knox, Mesdames Jo Dickson, Seth Cockrell, J. T. Lively, J. H. Milam, C. L. Downing, S. W. Pitsole, John Stewart, R. O. Tolson, R. T. Dickson, J. F. Bunkley, Mary Kenan, George Plants, O. McDaniel, Lee Coy, Robert Jones, J. W. Cope, S. Drane, A. D. Kerr, A. A. Grossman, E. A. Rogers, E. H. Bunkley, T. K. Jackson, C. S. Johnson, Elizabeth Shupee, E. C. Cargill, R. C. Plants, Frank Nugent, Stone Knox, M. E. Tarver, Luther Briggs, I. O. Newton, R. R. Kellum, J. F. Kemp, H. G. Taylor, Margaret Jane Bunkley, Mary Ann Nugent, Walton Newton, Jack Jackson.

MISS CALDWELL HONORED

The Bridge club met on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Nugent and in compliment to Miss Grace Brooks Caldwell, one of its most popular members, whose approaching marriage will be the event of Wednesday, presented her with an irridescent tea set as the gift from the club. Mrs. D. B. Daugherty presented the gift to the honoree as president of the club.

Five tables were arranged for bridge, high score a pretty vase going to Mrs. D. B. Daugherty and a novelty dial for low score won by Mrs. Frank Fancher.

Those enjoying the games for the afternoon were the honoree, Miss Caldwell and Misses Pauline Knox, Lois Drane, Lucille Rupe, Georgia Britton, Rebecca Meadors and Dorothy McCloud of Wichita falls; Mesdames Luther Briggs, H. K. Jackson, Whit Whiteside, C. M. Ruesey, Seth Cockrell, H. A. Nicholson, T. H. Bunkley, J. H. Milam, Margaret McCracken, J. G. Rollins, D. B. Daugherty, Hugh Colwell and Frank Fancher.

MRS. BRITAIN HOSTESS

On Thursday afternoon members of the U. D. club enjoyed such a pleasant social meeting with their president, Mrs. James A. Britain before beginning the fall study. The guests were asked to bring their fancy work and the hours were whiled away most happily while the needles were kept busy. In the business meeting four new members were added to the club roster, Mesdames Gene Culver, H. K. Jackson, W. F. Kirkland and MacKinley.

Fresh peach ice cream with yellow and white angel food cake was served the guests by Mrs. Britain. Those enjoying the club were: Mesdames Mort Langford, Fleming Culver, Claude Daugherty, R. D. Mugg, J. T. Lively, W. T. McWilliams, Morris Randal, Chloe Shawver, McKinley, C. F. Johnson, E. A. Rogers, Frank Davis, Alva Hill, C. E. Cogswell, James A. Britain and Miss Luville Rupe.

PIERIAN CLUB.

The Pierian club had a very delightful meeting with Mrs. Horace Kerr on Thursday afternoon. The Pierians are beginning the study of southern literature and at this time studied the short story of Louisiana with Mrs. J. M. Roach as leader, the lesson being very interesting and exhaustive.

In the business session at which Mrs. S. W. Pistole, the president, was in charge. Three new members were added, Misses Gladys Waller, Esta Donohue and Mrs. W. F. Kirkland.

Refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake were served while an hour was enjoyed together socially. Members present were: Mesdames S. W. Pistole, J. M. Edwards, A. W. Parmer, Mattie E. Taylor, J. M. Roach, Chester N. Jarrell, G. S. Plants, Charles Randal, E. L. Naugle, J. A. Ballew, S. Drane, Will Harris, M. R. Surratt, and the hostess, Mrs. Horace Kerr.

WAURIKA

Sorosis club met Friday afternoon, having as hostess Mrs. Milo Bernard and Mrs. W. H. Gresham leader of the interesting lesson. Magazine roll call, which is in innovation this year with the local club, was interesting and instructive, proving its value as a magazine review. The program followed a business session under the direction of the president, Mrs. W. G. Turnage.

The hostess served a collation at the close of the afternoon.

VISITOR HONORED

Miss Elizabeth Ritzler of Altus, who has been a Waurika visitor, was honored by her hostess, Miss Hazel Turnage, last Friday night when she entertained with a bridge party. The lovely Turnage home was gay with garden flowers. High score for the three tables of players was won by Mrs. G. F. Robinson, who was remembered with a jar of bath salts, while the consolation, a tiny bridge bell, went to Miss Mary Slaughter. The honor guest and the other out of town guest, Mrs. Walter Kokernot of Alpine, Texas, were each remembered with gifts.

Mrs. W. G. Turnage, the mother of the hostess, served punch throughout the evening. A lovely iced collation consisting of ice cream a la mode, was served at the close of the games to the honoree and to Misses Mary Slaughter, Holleen Thomson, Beth Johnston, Fae Pepin, Marjory Sneed, and Mesdames G. F. Robinson, Paul Ketchen, Walter Kokernot, Herschel Alexander and Ruby Dunkin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Landon entertained last Saturday evening with bridge, to compliment their house guests, Mrs. Ed V. Parsons and Mrs. Ethel Phillips of Fort Worth. There were five tables of players with Mrs. W. T. F. Bush winning high score for the ladies and the prize a deck of cards, while G. A. Nelson with high score for the man was given a cigar holder. The honor guests were remembered with a bridge score pad and a lace handkerchief. A delicious plate luncheon was served at the close of the evening to the honor guests and Messrs. and Mesdames P. F. Dawson, W. T. F. Bush, G. A. Nelson, J. L. Vertress, E. B. Ellis, A. D. Cummings, Miles Murphy, W. Y. Dilley, Mesdames J. N. Johnston, D. M. Bridges and to M. F. Walsh.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

Wesley class of the Methodist church was entertained Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. E. R. Esser, Mrs. Jeff Goodger and Mrs. C. M. Maupin assistant hostesses.

The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. C. F. Brown after which roll call was "The Biography of the Composer of My Favorite Hymn." The afternoon lesson was "Hymn Study" and was led by Mrs. Bert Thompson. A verse of each of several hymns were sung and the circumstances under which the song was written were related, giving a much deeper meaning to many of the old songs.

After the lesson Misses Winnie Bell Sparks and Lavelle Harrel gave some piano selections that were much enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon at the church for a lesson from the Missionary Voice, which was led by Mrs. W. G. Turnage. The lesson subject was: "If Jesus came today would we share his views in regard to other nations?"

Mrs. C. M. Maupin and Mrs. Bert Thompson each gave interesting map talks on the missionary work in Brazil, locating the various schools on the map. Mrs. M. C. Groseclose had the social service part of the program. The lesson was much enjoyed.

KUREANS HOLD MEET

Despite unfavorable weather conditions there were 17 Kureans gathered at the home of Mrs. C. H. Davidson Monday night for the first regular meeting of the new society year.

The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. D. C. Goode, with Rev. G. Lyle Smith, pastor of the church who was a guest for the evening, offering the invocation.

The program consisted of a round table discussion of plans for the ensuing year, the appointment of committees and a talk by Mrs. O. E. Heacock, the Kurean president, on the Kurean aims and ideals for the ensuing year. Miss Polly Anna Heacock favored the crowd with two violin selections which were much enjoyed.

Following the lesson a social hour was enjoyed at which time, after a pleasant custom of the Kureans, when one of the Sunday school girls marry, Mrs. Henry Nall, a recent bride, was presented with a hammered silver salt and pepper shakers as a gift from the Kureans, and also a big rose trimmed basket of gifts from the members of the society. The honoree responded in a charming manner for the courtesy shown her.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Paul Ketchens, served a plate luncheon to the Kurean members and to Mrs. Robert Newsome of El Reno, the house guest of the Cole family, and to

COMPLIMENT

To compliment Mrs. Henry Nall, a recent bride, the Semper Fidelis club entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Ann Louise Aydelotte, with a post nuptial variety shower.

Among the contests was one in which the guests were blindfolded and required to pin a chimney on the house of the bride and groom. Mrs. Walter Kokernot won the prize for placing the chimney in the most nearly correct position. She presented the prize to the honor guest.

In the poetical contest in which the last two lines of a jingle had to be written, Mrs. G. F. Robinson and Miss Fae Pepin tied for honors, Miss Pepin winning the cut prize which she presented to Mrs. Nall. There were several musical numbers which were greatly enjoyed, Miss Ann Louise Aydelotte singing, and also a trio composed of Misses Maurine Clifton, Ann Louise Aydelotte and Alpha Price. After a short Charleston contest Miss Ann Louise Aydelotte sang "If the Rose Were You," after which Misses Yvonne Biffle and Wanda Jasper presented the gifts in the heart of a big pink rose. The honoree made a clever little talk in which she expressed her appreciation for the charming courtesy that had been shown her.

A lovely collation was served with the ice glasses disguised as pink roses with the plate covered with the green rose leaves.

The guests included the honor guest and Mesdames G. F. Robinson, Robert N. Dunn, Tom Nall, Herschel Alexander, O. E. Heacock and Walter Kokernot of Alpine, Texas; Misses Hazel Turnage, Maurine Clifton, Fae Pepin, Beth Johnson and Elizabeth Ditzler of Altus, who is the house guest of Miss Hazel Turnage.

BURKBURNETT

CHURCH RALLY TODAY

Rally day in the Burkburnett Presbyterian church this week marked a special occasion in the religious and financial program of the Sunday school and congregation.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather a goodly number of men, women and children were present and took part in the scheduled program of the denomination sent out by the national committee.

In the latter each department division of the Sunday school was represented and the program featured by two special numbers, a violin solo by Mrs. Piersalle, orchestra director of the high school, and a reading, "The Ninety and Nine," by Miss Hunt, teacher of expression in the city schools. Also a solo by Mrs. N. G. Goodlett and Ed Dever, respectively.

Dr. Moore, the pastor, made a good talk on the objectives of the day and its relation t othe church in general, and closed his remarks by announcing the winners of his own little contest—a prize to the oldest Sunday school member, which was Mrs. Ellen Knapp; to the youngest scholar present, which was Baby Drummond, tw omonths old: last, to the largest family present. This last honor fell to the L. O. Smith family of the Tidal Western refinery where Mr. Smith is superintendent. The entire six members of the family were present.

A generous donation was given for the national educational fund.

UNIVERISTY STUDY CLUB

The last meeting of the University Study club was held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Cunningham at the Magnolia headquarters yard and the attendance included the entire membership of the club with the exception of two who were out of the city.

The program opened with a previously assigned number in which Mrs. Rex Smith gave a good paper on the history of the Spanish and Portugese colonies of South America in the sixteenth century. Other excellent papers and talks on the growth, etc., of the South American colonies of this period were given by Mrs. John E. Haynes, I. E. Harwell and Joe Davis.

During the business hour Mrs. Johnny Vann was voted into the club as a member.

The study session was followed by a social hour in which the hostess served a treat of chicken salad, ice tea and cake.

Those present not mentioned above were the following: Mesdames Ed. Williams, W. I. Utts, R. C. Tevis, J. M. Pogue, H. B. Lamb, W. P. Martin, G. R. Kincaid, W. R. Hill, R. M. Gilchrist, Russell Chamberlain, Erwin Blum and J. C. Adams.

KNOW THE WORLD CLUB

The "Know the World" club of thrift held its last meeting with Mrs. C. W. Milton, formerly of that community but now on East Fourth street in this city.

Mrs. William Bradley, the president, presided and also acted as leader in the absence of Mrs. Sims. The program was a club study on "Health" during which the following splendid papers were given, after the respons eto roll-calls with "Health Hints." "Growth, Formation and Cure of the Hair, Nails and Mouth," by Mrs. Bradley; "Child Hygiene," Mrs. C. L. Schock; "Where Our Water Comes From," Mrs. Robert Mahoney.

The program closed with a poem read by the president, entitled: "Just Think You Can."

During a business session Mrs. H. A. Brooks was elected delegate to the state convention to be held in Dallas at the Baker hotel, November 8 to 12.

Following the program the hostess served a refreshment treat of cake, cream and lemonade to the following members and special guests: Mesdames A. A. Bishop, H. A. Brooks, William Bradley, L. W. Falquran, A. C. Howser; F. R. Paulk, J. B. Leith, Robert Mahoney, C. L. Schoch, F. G. Sites, F. A. Hill. Visitors: Mrs. James Minter and Mrs. Davis, a house guest of the hostess.

SURPRISE DINNER PARTY

On September 28 C. W. Gilmore was the honoree of a surprise party, tendered him by Mrs. Gilmore in honor of his fiftieth birthday at their home, 603 Glendale street.

The elegant dinner was featured by a beautiful birthday cake bearing 50 brilliant candles, and a rare collection of gifts beskeaping the esteem and friendship of the guests who were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. White, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Buckner, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones and children, Laurene, Robert and Walter Jones; Miss Beatrice Kaley, Emenuel Gilbore, Leslie Gilmore, Rex Gilmore.

SAVED BY PUNCTURE.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 2.—Broken glass, causing a puncture, probably saved an unknown whisky peddler near Tipton from arrest and imprisonment Thursday morning. Marshal E. E. Taylor of Tipton, came up on the peddler in the act of selling liquor to some negroes. He gave chase. On gaining on the outlaw car the driver threw overboard two gallon jars of liquor which broke and caused the tires on the officer's car to puncture.

PLAINVIEW MAN LEADS

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 2 (AP).—(Special)—Rev. R. M. Hocker, of Plainview, Texas, will have charge of the opening services of the western Oklahoma district assembly of the Nazarene church in Altus when the first meeting of the assembly is conducted here Monday evening.

Wherein Crime Is Graded To Its Various Degrees

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 2.—It is twice as heinous a crime for a man to kill a woman as it is for a woman to kill a man, if the decision of District Judge Frank Mathews Thursday, may be taken as a criterion. Judge Mathews sentenced Roberta Fuller, negress, to ten years for slaying her husband. He sentenced Tommy Wright, negro, to life imprisonment for killing his wife and her paramour.

The judge held in another instance, that it is a more serious offense to possess a forged check than it is to commit felinous assault. Grady Douglas was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on the former charge while Carl Owen was given one year on the latter charge.

Thursday's session ended the criminal docket for the present term on district court in Frederick. Civil cases will be heard October the 18th.

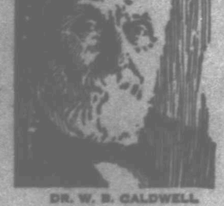

LESSON IN FLIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP).—"Possible the outstanding lesson of this flight is the necessity of developing the hydroairplane immediately for commercial transport," said Alan J. Cobham, the English flier, who returned home yesterday from a round trip flight from Rochester, England, to Australia.

70 ARE CONVICTED

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 2. (Special).—The defendants in 70 of the criminal cases filed in the district, county and justice courts of Jackson county either pleaded guilty or were convicted as charged since March 1, and a much larger percent of the cases have been convicted than not convicted.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 82

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

A PRESENTATION of the MODE for FALL

Every Important Fall Fashion Feature Has Found Smart Interpretation in McClurkan's Fall Showing

Now—McClurkan's is ready with lovely new apparel that reflects smartly the correct mode for Fall. This week, women who would "know the mode" will see the presentation at McClurkan's.

Dresses

Magnificence has taken possession of women's dresses in terms of scintillating mediums—rich satins and crepes, bright embroideries, shining metals. Drapings suggestive of the classical apparel, yet now with an insouciance identified with this modern age. Fringe, tiers, the bolero are in this spirit.

Coats

The dress coats contrast solid colors and black with luxurious fur at collar and cuff. Often fur is used elsewhere for trim. The coat for sport is bright in color, almost loud in pattern. Some use fur. Almost invariably the lines are straight, but, paradoxically, in many cases, softly bloused above the hips.

Frocks

The evening mode is brilliant with glittering sequins, the ever-present cloth of gold, crystal beads and paillettes. Lines are straight or flared, as the wearer chooses.

Knox County To Turn To Grain For Future Prosperity

MUNDAY, Oct. 2.—Many farmers in Knox county and especially in the hail belt in the vicinity of Munday, where cotton is a failure, have announced their intention of planting a large acreage to wheat and oats. With the price of cotton going downward almost daily, those who have come so near a complete failure on their cotton are beginning to turn their attention to grain and diversification. In years past Knox county produced a great quantity of wheat and oats, but the high price of cotton immediately after the war caused most farmers to abandon grain and raise cotton. But the low price of cotton and other unsatisfactory conditions this year is turning the farmers back to wheat, barley and oats, and the indications are that a much smaller acreage of cotton will be planted in 1927.

HASKELL

OPENS CLUB SEASON.

Mrs. Courtney Hune, president of the Magazine club, named her executive board as honorees at a lovely reception and "42" party at the Magazine club rooms last Friday afternoon and her guests were members of the three federated clubs of Haskell, the Harmony, the Child Culture and the Magazine. Mrs. R. R. English met the guests at the door and after they had been presented to the house party, consisting of the executive board and the president of the Harmony club Mrs. D. L. Cummins, they were served punch by Mesdames Guy Mays and John Draper. Decorations were of the club colors, white and yellow, as was the refreshment plats of brick ice cream and cake. There were 14 tables.

SCHOOL ORGANIZES P.-T. A.

On last Friday afternoon at the South ward building, the patrons and teachers together with quite a number of visitors from North ward P.-T. A. organized a Parent-Teachers association with 15 members. Mrs. J. M. Crawford was elected president; Mrs. W. M. Cass, first vice-president; Mrs. John Fouts, treasurer; Miss Maybell Taylor, secretary. The president appointed Mesdames Joe Maples, W. H. Albertson and Earl Roberts to draw up by-laws and constitution. The president of the North ward school P.-T. A., Mrs. Date Anderson, was present and helped with the organization and as a token of appreciation of the help rendered, the new organization presented her with a pennant, with "North Ward P.-T. A." on it, in blue and gold. The South ward P.-T. A. will meet on the first and third Fridays in the fourth grade room of the school.

HARMONY CLUB MEETING.

Mrs. D. L. Cummins, president of the Harmony club called the members in session last week for a short meeting to discuss some necessary matters and to make plans for the Harmony club float in the parade during the Haskell county fair.

ABILENE GIRLS ON TRIP.

Miss Maybell Taylor, daughter of Dr. F. L. Taylor, has recently returned from a trip with chaperone, Miss Willie Ray McDonald, expression teacher of Simmons university, Abilene and Misses Clara Jackson, Pauline Jones and Ruth Whitman all of Abilene. The trip was made by automobile over 6,000 miles. The party visited all points of interest in Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia, and they were especially entertained by John Wylie Whiteker, Haskell boy who has the west Texas exhibit in charge at the Ses-quicentennial. They also visited New York and Canada.

HASKELL PERSONALS.

Mrs. J. U. Fields, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs has returned to her home in Haskell from two meetings, one the exccutive committee at headquarters, Fort Worth and the other at the Baker hotel, Dallas, chairman departments.

YARD WATCHES AIR FOR CRIME

England's Great Police System Keeps Tab On Air Ports

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The growth in traffic form London's airport at Croydon to the continent has increased activity by Coctland Yard in order to catch international crooks. Each passenger who boards or leaves a plane at Croydon is now scrutinized by detectives from the famous British police headquarters.

Scotland Yard is very proud of its record in nabbing law breakers at the numerous seaports of the south of England. A crime is committed in London and the criminal usually dashes for the south coast, which is only 75 miles away. An hour's channel crossing puts him in France and safety—perhaps.

But they rarely get away. The moment a murder is committed, a rich jewel haul is made or a big robbery reported in any part of Britain, Scotland Yard clamps down its vigil on the coast—and, like the Northwest Mounted Police of Canada, Scotland Yard usually gets its man.

The watch at Croydon airport, as a new thread in the net to nab international crooks, already has proved its worth. Jewel robbers, drug smugglers and no end of confidence men have been taken in custody as they have stepped in or out of one of the big passenger planes that fly between England and the continent.

Too Many Tour Great Britain Now

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—British hotel keepers may be strong for the "come to Britain" movement, but there are many Englishmen who think there are already too many tourists in Great Britain and voices are being raised against the effort to attract more foreign visitors.

"The sum of money doesn't exist that can pay a country for becoming the happy hunting ground for world tourists," says Diana Bourbon in the London Evening Standard. "Britain has the right idea. England is the most private country in the world. The very English character is under lock and key. France and Italy have found out too late that their beauty spots have become communal meeting places and their charm destroyed. Their individuality is card indexed and infested by picture post cards and guides."

Announcement that France got the greatest share of the 150,000,000 pounds American visitors are supposed to have spent in Europe last year have aroused British innkeepers and tourist bureaus and boards of trade, however, and the campaign for the betterment of hotels and an extensive advertising campaign to popularize England's historic places goes on apace.

AN EASY JOB

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Police officials admit that in comparison with American metropolitan forces they have an easy time. About 70 percent of German murderers, municipal reports show either commit suicide immediately after their crimes or surrender. Hence the proportion of slayings to be solved is small.

Spanish Net Star Succeeds Lenglen

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Senorita De Alvarez, the Spanish tennis star who is thought in some European sports circles to be the logical heiress to Suzanne Lenglen's crown, expresses admiration for the courage of Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Mary K. Browne in stepping from the amateur into the professional ranks. She thinks the tour of the professionals will be a great success, but believes Miss Browne, while the equal of nearly every other feminine player in the world, never will succeed in running up a large score against the French woman.

"For my part," declared Senorita De Alvarez, "I would never give a peseta to see a Browne-Lenglen match. If Miss Elizabeth Ryan were playing, it would be another matter."

Meanwhile the Spanish girl, playing at French seaside resorts, continued to pile up 6-0 scores with such regularity that tennis enthusiasts express the hope that it may yet be possible for amateurs and professionals to meet, and that she will again cross racquets with Suzanne.

Pope's Grove Phone Exchange Started

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—In opening a new telephone exchange at Twickenham, in the London suburbs, the post office authorities made what is generally conceded to be a happy and appriprate selection in the name. They have called it "Pope's Grove." It was at Twickenham that the poet Pope lived and died. His tomb in the church yard is within a hundred yards of the next exchange.

It is understood that in opening new exchanges hereafter the authorities will seek to preserve the historic associations of the town concerned rather than simply employ the name of the town itself. As for "Pope's Grove," it will serve a district in which lived not only Pope but Turner, the artist, Horace Walpole, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Fielding and not a few others famous in literature or the other arts.

EASES UP ON DEMAND.

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Former Emperor William has eased up on his demands from the state of Prussia for a cash settlement and the return of his castles and estates, valued at approximately 70,000,000 marks. His "agent general for royal reparations," Dr. Friederich von Berg, returning from Doorn announced that the former monarch is willing to relinquish his claim to a number of castles which he considers of cultural and historical significance to the German people. Where these castles are and their value is not yet known, but the Prussian government appears inclined to resume negotiations, as the ex-kaiser's new offer represents about a ten per cent decrease of his previous claim.

A STEPPY STEP.

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The "Steppy Step," as full of action as any step can be is a new dance from London's east end, which is making a strong bid for popularity as an alternative to the Charleston.

It is described as something between a tango and a charleston, but can be danced equally well to fast one-step, tango or fox trot music.

Dancing masters say the steppy step will be all the rage this winter.

"A Horrible Time"

"SEVERAL years ago my health was very bad," says Mrs. Alven Jesse, of Shelbyville, Ky., whose picture appears above. "I was very much run-down. I was in such a weak, nervous condition that I was not able to do my housework.

"I struggled to keep up, because I had to, but many a time I spent hours in bed, trying to force enough strength to go through the daily routine. The memory of that horrible time makes me shudder.

"This condition went on for some time, until I heard about Cardui, which some one told me was good for such ailments. I gave it an immediate trial, and, I am thankful to say, my improvement was rapid. I soon was able to do my housework with ease and comfort. I felt fine and I looked so much better.

"This spring I was not as well as I had been. I was ill in the winter with colds, which left me weak. So I sent at once to the store for Cardui and began taking it. In just a little while I was feeling much better, my strength returned and I was able to get my work done easier and with less effort.

"I have told lots of my friends about Cardui because it helped me so much."

WITCHER IN FOR PANNING

Lubbock District Attorney Gets Thorough Scorching At Bledsoe's Hands

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—W. C. Witcher, confirmed by the senate as 72nd district attorney, Thursday upon resubmission by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson as her recess appointee, was scored in a statement read before the body Friday by Senator W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock. The statement, by unanimous consent of the senate, was ordered printed in the journal.

Senator Bledsoe charged that Witcher failed to keep his agreement to resign upon confirmation by the senate, but that he would terminate the matter without asking for re-consideration.

Raps Him Heavily

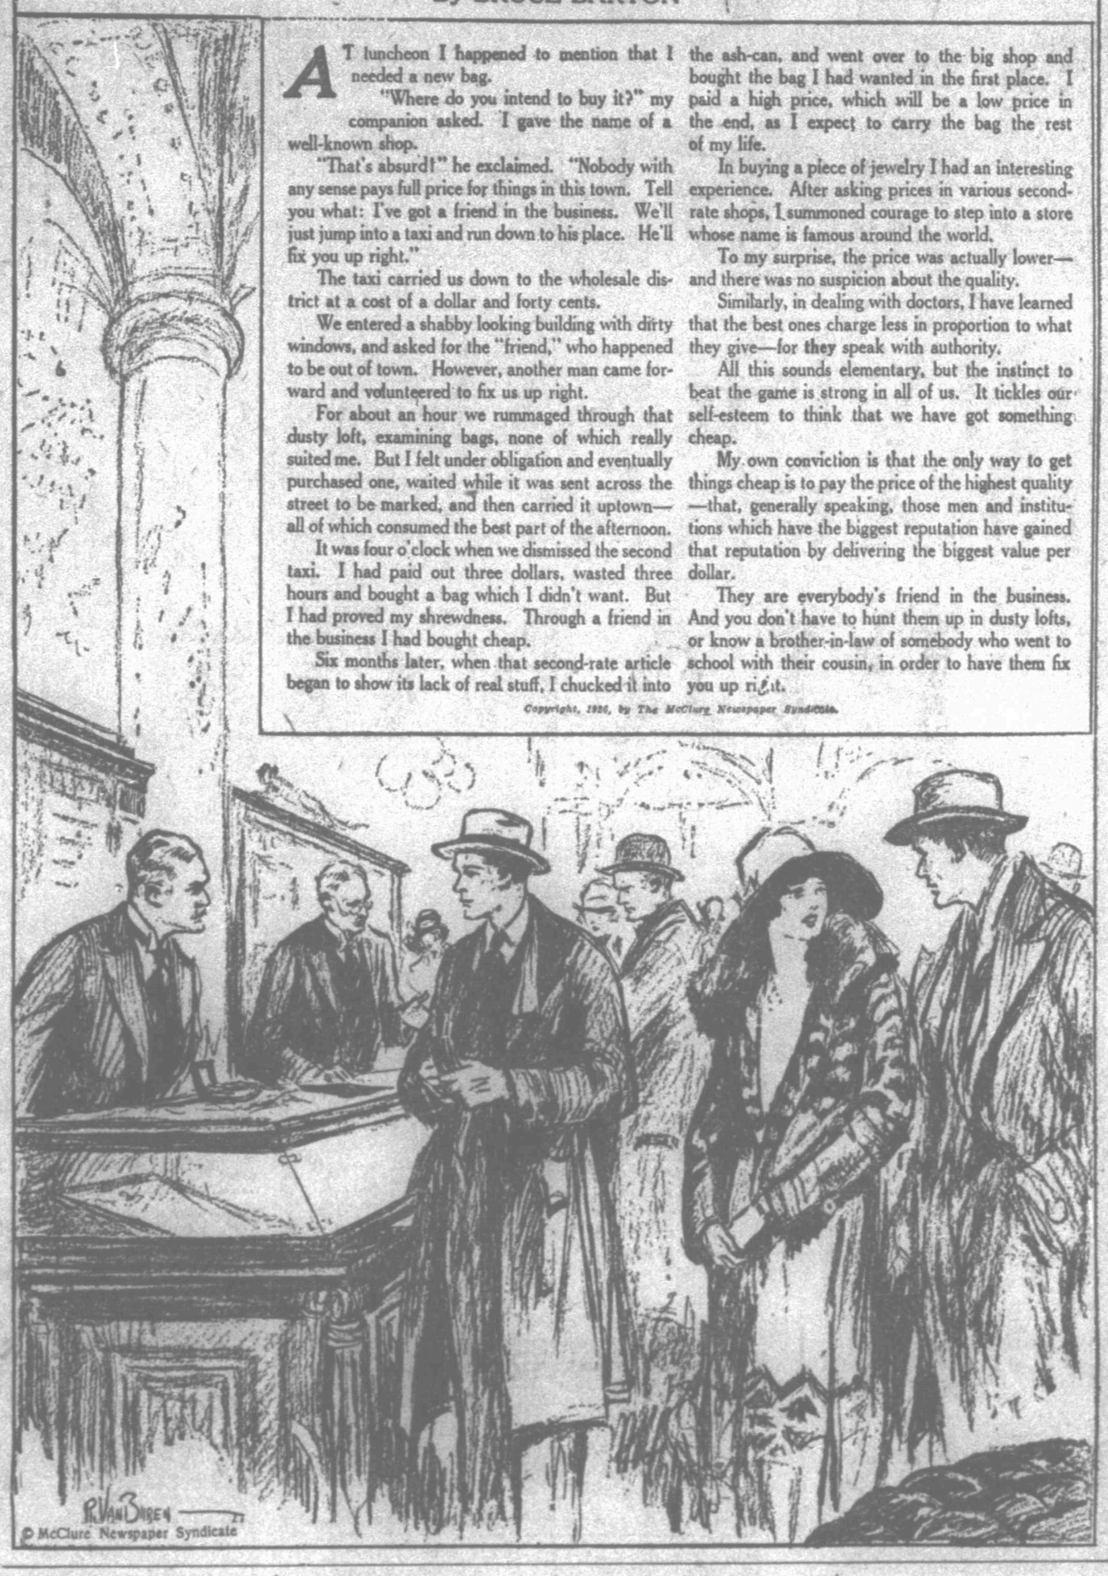

The statement ordered printed in the journal said that "In view of the statement made by Walter C. Witcher, with reference to the methods used by him in securing his confirmation by the senate, I desire to say that when his nomination before the committee, I appeared before them and made charges of incompetency against him, and at the same time said to the committee that Judge Mullican and all of the county officers of Lubbock county, with the exception of the county judge, had filed a protest against him, asking that his nomination be not confirmed. At a subsequent date and on yesterday, Mr. Witcher came to me and asked that I be not too hard on him, saying that the job was but a starvation job and that it was his purpose to resign if he was confirmed. After a conference with him, I agreed that if he would go to the governor's office and file his resignation with the governor and permit the governor to send the name of his successor to the senate on that date, that I would withdraw my opposition to his confirmation and permit the senate to confirm him. That I did this is a matter of record in the senate and in every way I lived up to my agreement with him. I asked the senate to wait on me for some minutes and at the expiration of that time, Witcher came to me and told me that he had filed his resignation with the governor and that his successor would be named during the day. I then returned to the senate and asked the senate to confirm his nomination. This they did.

Made In Good Faith

"This agreement was made in good faith upon my part and I expected Witcher to live up to the agreement made by him. This he has refused to do and is now taking advantage of the nomination secured by fraud. In so far as his statement is concerned, that I did not prefer charges against him and did not make any protests to the committee, it is positively untrue. I made the charges against him, believing that he was unfit for the office and that his record as a prosecutor was such that instead of being proud of it, that it justified me in the position that I took in asking the senate not to confirm him, and had I known that he would not live up to his agreement, I would not have withdrawn my opposition to his nomination. I feel sure that this senate would have refused to confirm him but for my action in asking them to confirm him, and it is a matter of regret to me that I did not permit a vote of the senate to be had upon the issue involved. I made my protest against him, believing him to be unfit for and unworthy to represent the state of Texas in our courts. In this judgment I am confirmed by his action in violating his agreement with me and in refusing to resign. His statement to the effect that I had nothing against him are untrue, for in my judgment he is a man devoid of principle and thoroughly unfit for the high office to which he has been selected by the governor of the state. He has been repudiated at the polls by a decided majority of the electors in my district and while he may be able to hold the office for a short time, intervening before the general election, it is a matter of gratification for me to know that he cannot longer impose upon the people of my district after that time."

Getting "Fixed-Up Right"

By BRUCE BARTON

At luncheon I happened to mention that I needed a new bag.

"Where do you intend to buy it?" my companion asked. I gave the name of a well-known shop.

"That's absurd!" he exclaimed. "Nobody with any sense pays full price for things in this town. Tell you what: I've got a friend in the business. We'll just jump into a taxi and run down to his place. He'll fix you up right."

The taxi carried us down to the wholesale district at a cost of a dollar and forty cents.

We entered a shabby looking building with dirty windows, and asked for the "friend," who happened to be out of town. However, another man came forward and volunteered to fix us up right.

For about an hour we rummaged through that dusty loft, examining bags, none of which really suited me. But I felt under obligation and eventually purchased one, waited while it was sent across the street to be marked, and then carried it uptown—all of which consumed the best part of the afternoon.

It was four o'clock when we dismissed the second taxi. I had paid out three dollars, wasted three hours and bought a bag which I didn't want. But I had proved my shrewdness. Through a friend in the business I had bought cheap.

Six months later, when that second-rate article began to show its lack of real stuff, I chucked it into the ash-can, and went over to the big shop and bought the bag I had wanted in the first place. I paid a high price, which will be a low price in the end, as I expect to carry the bag the rest of my life.

In buying a piece of jewelry I had an interesting experience. After asking prices in various second-rate shops, I summoned courage to step into a store whose name is famous around the world.

To my surprise, the price was actually lower—and there was no suspicion about the quality.

Similarly, in dealing with doctors, I have learned that the best ones charge less in proportion to what they give—for they speak with authority.

All this sounds elementary, but the instinct to beat the game is strong in all of us. It tickles our self-esteem to think that we have got something cheap.

My own conviction is that the only way to get things cheap is to pay the price of the highest quality—that, generally speaking, those men and institutions which have the biggest reputation have gained that reputation by delivering the biggest value per dollar.

They are everybody's friend in the business. And you don't have to hunt them up in dusty lofts, or know a brother-in-law of somebody who went to school with their cousin, in order to have them fix you up right.

VOTING FRAUD IRES JUSTICE

Grand Jury Unable To Set Finger On Culprits In Dallas Case

DALLAS, Oct. 2. (AP)—Investigation of the alleged tampering with Dallas county ballots cast for Sheriff in the first primary this summer is to be continued "for 20 years if necessary," Judge C. A. Pippen announced here Saturday when a grand jury returned a report that they were unable to fix responsibility for the tampering.

Ballots that apparently had been changed were discovered during the recent recount of votes in the sheriff's election contest. Judge Pippen thereupon called the grand jury and charged them to drop everything else and investigate the tampering. He told the jury that "the guilty culprit ought to be apprehended, and hanged by the neck until dead."

The jury today reported that they had pursued every avenue of information but could find no evidence that would lead to a conclusion of guilt.

"I am sorry you were unable to fix responsibility," said Judge Pippen. "I repeat that it is one of the worst crimes in the history of Dalals county. I will submit the matter to the next grand jury and request that it continue the investigation. If the next grand jury should fail to fix responsibility, I shall refer it to the next and so on for the next 20 years, if necessary."

The contest resulted in declaring Sheriff Schuyler B. Marshall, jr., nominated. Allan Seale was his opponent.

WANTS TO SHOOT SON

Omaha Man Would Slay Boy For Chronic Thievery.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2. (AP)—Sam Cosentino, Omaha watch repairer today asked police for the right to shoot my son on sight, to stop him from dragging down my family by his stealing."

Cosentino said his son, Mike, who is 17, was a "natural born thief whose activities only death can stop."

Assistant Detective Chief Franks cooled Cosentino down somewhat, convinced him he was taking the wrong attitude and Cosentino promised he would call the police as soon as he found his son.

Building of the railroad from Puerto Armuelles, Panama to Concepcion, on the Pacific coast, will soon be started.

Popular Rule Couple Married

RULE, Oct. 2.—On Wednesday morning at the bride's home, Miss Rosena Sipes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sipes, and Richard Suite, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Suite, were married in the presence of immediate members of both families.

An improvised altar was arranged at the double doors between the living and dining rooms, where floor vases of cut flowers and potted ferns were banked. Rev. Council officiated awaiting the entry of the bridal couple, who were unattended.

The bride was attired in a bouffant model of white taffeta with net trimmings and wore no head dress. Her flowers were lillies of the valley and bride's roses in a shower bouquet. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Suite left for Mineral Wells, Dallas and other points in south Texas, where they will be away several days. The bride's traveling dress was of brown chiffon velvet with Kolinsky trimmings and accessories in harmonizing shades of the same color.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morris of Gorman, Texas, sister and brother of the bridegroom were the only out of town guests for the wedding.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Suite will be at home here in Olney. Mr. Suite is connected with the Olney Drug company, and is a native of Olney. Mrs. Suite has been in Olney during the past year, where she has made a host of friends.

INDIANS IN OLYMPIC FILM

1,500 Take Part in "The Last Frontier" To Show Here

Approximately 1,500 Indian bucks, squaws and Navajo children appear in scenes in the Metropolitan production of "The Last Frontier," which is to be displayed at the Olympic theatre today. An Indian village reminiscent of the days of the pioneers was built close to the Gap Trading Post where the movie outfit established its headquarters. Hundreds of tepees nestled pescefully in the picturesque Bap canyon and at night they presented an imposing background as the Navajo warriors gathered around their camp fires.

To the south of the canyon rested the tent city thrown up to house the picture company during their period of isolation. Modernity had for the time being supplanted the primeval on the great Painted Desert. With a miniature electric plant installed the incandescents glittered where ones only the stars served as a means of illumination.

Telephone service was one civilized utility that has not as yet reached the wastes that lie between the scene of action and Flagstaff, the nearest city. More than a hundred miles of desert road and wash outs faced the intrepid drivers that grappled the transportation problems between Flagstaff and Gap. It took a skilled pilot at the wheel to navigate the distance that separated the hardy film stars from the last railroad station at "Flag" to the temporary location.

George B. Seitz, who directed "The Last Frontier," for Metropolitan, is enthusiastic in his approval of the natural settings chosen for the picture which is based on the Courtney Ryler Cooper novel. William Boyd, Marguerite De La Motte, J. Farrell Macdonald and Jack Hoxie play the leading roles. The picture is said to be packed with thrill and appeal.

FRIENDS MEET AGAIN

The happy greeting of friends at their first meeting since the summer vacation, the seeming gladness to be at work again, together with an interesting program made the afternoon at Mrs. Raymond H. Fox's home Monday, a very enjoyable affair.

Mrs. Fox, assisted by Mrs. Jass Cumbee and Mrs. Frank Welch entertained members of Circle Two of the Methodist Missionary society. Mrs. C. A. German had charge of the devotional after which Mrs. J. B. Hix, circle chairman, conducted a short business session.

In a report covering the last two months, 145 visits to the sick and strangers were recorded and $40 expended for charity.

Miss Teresa Jones gave a group of readings which were much enjoyed and appreciated.

Mrs. Cumbee had charge of an interesting flower contest. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses to the following:

Mrs. J. B. Hix, Mrs. C. P. Peden, Mrs. L. R. McConnell, Mrs. H. T. Kimbell, Mrs. D. W. Palmer, Mrs. C. A. German, Mrs. T. M. Robinson, Mrs. M. T. Cochran, Miss Sadie Mansfield and Miss Teresa Jones.

FOUR ARE HOSTESSES

Circle Three of the Methodist Women's Missionary society, met Monday afternoon as guests of Mrs. George B. Davis, Mrs. Lee Ewing, Mrs. George Gosselin and Mrs. L. E. Widlake at Mrs Davis' home at 520 East Broadway, in social session.

Vases of garden flowers were artistically arranged in the rooms, where in spite of the cool, rainy day a large group of ladies assembled.

Mrs. Roy Wileman led the devotional. A piano selection, "Meditations," by C. A. Morrison was given by Miss Ruth Highsmith. Miss LaVern German read "Aunt Planner, the Hayseed." Miss Lorene Ford sang, "A Georgia Lullaby," accompanied at the piano by Miss Mildred Austin.

During a pleasant social hour the hostesses served a dainty two-course luncheon. Those present were Mrs. John Stanton, Mrs. Grover Hardcastle, Mrs. W. D. Nance, Mrs. H. K. McGinty, Mrs. Roy Wileman, Mrs. O. S. Lowrey, Mrs. J. N. Kimberlin, Mrs. Stanton Starns, Mrs. C. C. Mansfield, Mrs. Ola Baucum, Mrs. Walter Cox, Mrs. Irby Elkner, Mrs. Floyd Goodloe, Mrs. W. S. Jackson, Mrs. C. S. Highsmith, Mrs. W. R. Gimberlin, Mrs. C. W. Hogsett, Miss Mildred Austin, Miss LaVern German, Miss Ruth Highsmith, Miss Lorine Ford and Miss Evelyn King.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY

Jolly games and contests were features of the afternoon's entertainment Friday when Mrs. R. A. Shields and Mrs. H. E. Hagood were hostesses to their Sunday school classes of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. The party was at Mrs. Shields' home, 620 North Spurgeon street, and a delightful afternoon is reported at the close of which a delicious refreshment course was served.

Those who attended this nice party were Miss Josephine Goodwin, Miss Mary Etta Glasgow, Miss Mary Sue German, Miss Leona Rainey, Miss Mildred Hougham, Miss Erma Lee Ford, Miss Elizabeth Fuqua, Miss Ruby Patton, Miss Odessa Williams, Miss Juanita Conwell, Miss Zeulika Culwell, Miss Patricia Rudell, Miss Marie Spriggs, Miss Irene Wallace, Miss Mattie Grammer, Miss Jone Gibbons, Miss Elkner, Miss Kathleen Fletcher, Miss Helen Whiteside, Miss Ida Mae Polley, Miss Pauline Smart and Miss Ruby Neher.

MUSIC CLUB MEETS

Through the courtesy of the Culp Music company, the Schubert Choral club met in their display rooms, Friday afternoon in the first meeting of the season. Mrs. H. Anderson, president conducted a short business session after which Mrs. J. B. Parrish, who was leader, took charge.

"The Fundamentals of Music Understood," is the subject of a new course of study which has been adopted by the club. The work is outlined for the next three years. There is a book for each year which is divided into eight chapters, one for each meeting of the year.

These lessons will be supervised by the leader, who has three assistants. This course of study has been endorsed by the National Federation of Music and the club is anticipating an excellent year's work. Mrs. Parrish presented the first chapter, Friday, the subject being "The History of the Notation of Music." She used a black board to illustrate piano numbers and records.

Among the numbers contributed was a group of much appreciated selections by Paul Vaandevort, teacher in the Washington ward school.

Mrs. Parrish covered the history of notation from the time when Neums were used to denote pitch, to the present modern methods. Mrs. Parrish was hostess as well as leader, Friday, and had as special guests, Mrs. Harold Lance, Mrs. Nunn, Mrs. Tremaine and Mrs. Art Jackman.

Within two years, it is predicted, hydroelectric plants in Italy will have a capacity of 2,941,000 kilowatts.

Mary Brian To Show Here In Gem Feature Picture

Mary Brian, the unknown girl who became famous over-night in her screen debut as Wendy in "Peter Pan," is featured at the head of the cast playing in support of Raymond Griffith in his first Paramount staring comedy, "He's a Prince!" which comes to the Gem theatre on Wednesday next for a run of one day. The title role in "The Little French Girl" and the feminine lead in Herbert Brenon's "The Street of Forgotten Men" completes Mary's screen experience.

"He's a Prince!" directed by Edward Sutherland, formerly with Chaplin as assistant director, brings Ray to the screen as a young and exceedingly likeable prince of modern times who is not only bored with his lot in life—but miserable because he is required to change his uniform at 15-minute intervals day and night in order to review parades, lay corner stones for public buildings, etc.

The prince declares that he is going to strike for shorter hours and more fun. When he does strike, it's picture audiences that come in for the FUN!

Tyrone Power, Edgar Norton, Jacqueline Gadsen, Nigel de Brulier and Gustav Von Seyffertitz have the leading supporting roles.

RIN TIN TIN AT GARDEN

Famous Dog Star Has Leading Role In Latest Film

If you like dramatic and exciting screen entertainment, then one picture you must not miss is "The Clash of the Wolves," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen starring Rin-Tin-Tin, which opened today at the Garden theatre to a most enthusiastic audience.

Flinty is a favorite with all dog lovers, and the small minority who find no interest in dog pictures would rapidly change their minds if they saw this canine star in his latest production.

Not only does he think, but we are convinced that Rin-Tin-Tin also has a delightful sense of humor as well, and director Noel Smith is to be congratulated upon getting this dog's personality across to film audiences.

The supporting cast of humans selected for Rin-Tin-Tin includes June Marlowe, Charles Farrell, Heinie Conklin, Pat Martigan and Will Walling. Miss Marlowe plays May Barstowe, the pretty girl with whom Farrell, a young prospector, and Hartigan, the villain, are in love. Will Walling plays Miss Marlowe's father, who is joined with the other cattlemen in their hunting down of Lobo (Rin-Tin-Tin), leader of the wolves who have attacked their cattle. Farrell's kindness and protection of Lobo makes the wolf his ally, and when the young man is almost killed by his rival, it is Lobo who saves him.

The story, written by Charles A. Logue, who also adapted it to the screen, is crammed with exciting situations and thrilling moments. In addition to the melodramatic plat, there is the charming romance between Farrell and Miss Marlowe, and a most entertaining characterization of the camp cook, by Heinie Conklin.

You should not miss "The Clash of the Wolves."

LESS FOREIGN BUTTER EATEN

Less butter is imported into the United States today than a year or so ago. During the first half of 1924 there were 16, 965, 772 pounds brought into the United States, but in the same period in 1925 less than 5,000,000 pounds came in and in the same period in 1926 only 2,976,565 pounds were imported.

New Dog Star In Mission Feature Picture Sunday

Heralding the dawn of a new era in dog pictures, "Fighting Fangs," the first of F. B. O.'s starring series for their super-dog, Ranger, is now showing at the Mission theatre. Ranger is truly a super-dog in every respect; one of the best-looking canines that has ever appeared on the screen, he has an almost human intelligence, and displays a nimbleness and agility that put him in a class by himself. A splendid cast, headed by Robert Ramsey and Lotus Thompson, and the clever direction of Henry McCarthy provide much of the balance to Ewart Adamson's novel story of the high Sierras. The theme of the picture is one of regeneration, and carries a powerful and well-balanced plot, with a gripping climax. Ranger's magnificent dash for the life of his master, and the superb photography of the mountain country are exceptional features of a remarkable picture.

"TYPE" IDEA LOSES CASTE

General Opinion On Actors Exploded By New Picture Here

Conflicting a general opinion that an actor must be a certain "type" to successfully play a selected screen role, B. P. Schulberg cast Gilbert Roland, a lad of pure Castillian parentagle, for the part of an "all American" youth in his newest production, "The Plastic Age," which is now playing at the Strand theatre.

Roland is the son of Francisco Alonzo, a few years ago the most famous full fighter in Spain. In his early youth Roland was trained to succeed his father as a matador, but the family was in Mexico at the time of the rebellion and was forced to leave for America. The elder Alonzo had previously been badly gorged in a bull fight, so all thought of returning to Spain was abandoned and Gilbert attended public schools in El Paso, Texas. He forsook a law course at the University of Texas to become a film actor.

He was signed to a long term contract by Schulberg last summer and is seen in his first big part in "The Plastic Age." At the time the contract was signed his name was changed from Luis Alonzo to Gilbert Roland. Despite his Spanish parentage Roland looks and acts like an American youth and will be presented by Schulberg in typical American roles.

"The Plastic Age" is an adaptation by Eve Unsell and Frederica Sagor of the popular novel by Percy Marks. It was filmed under the direction of Wesley Ruggles. Featured in the cast are Clara Bow, Donald Keith, Mary Alden, Henry B. Walthall, David Butler, Joan Standing and others.

No Jazz Allowed By This Italian

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The anti-jazzers of the British musical world are pointing with pride to an Italian tribute to British musicians. A millionaire of Naples sent a special invitation to the Euire Octet of London to travel to Italy to play English tunes for a single evening. All jazz was strictly forbidden.

The occasion was an elaborate Neapolitan fete to celebrate the coming of age of a millionaire's daughter. The orchestra, under the direction of J. H. Squire, played for an hour and a half, and received a fee of 65,000 lire and expenses.

"The engagement was a pleasant compliment to our national music," said Mr. Squire. The members of his orchestra have signed contracts never to play jazz in the theater, for radio broadcasting or for phonograph records.

2 YEARS IN PRISON

Hospital Nurse Sentenced After Babe Is Killed by Rats.

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP)—Charged with responsibility for the death of a five-day-old infant killed by rats in one of Moscow's hospitals, Dr. Maria Baron, prominent woman physician who made a distinguished war record, was sentenced to two years imprisonment today. Two nurses attached to the babies ward of the hospital were sentenced to 18 months' each.

Dr. Baron's defense against a specific charge of failing to render first aid to the infant was that the child was so mutilated by the rats that it was doomed to die because of its terrible wounds. Moreover, she said she was about to begin a serious operation on a woman patient when the infant's case was called to her attention.

DIE FOR PARDONS

Two Men Who Die As Felons Rewarded Too Late.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Oct. 2(AP) Bodies of two men who as felons in the state prison volunteered last night to fight a forest fire which threatened the state capital, were buried here today with pardons beside them in their coffins.

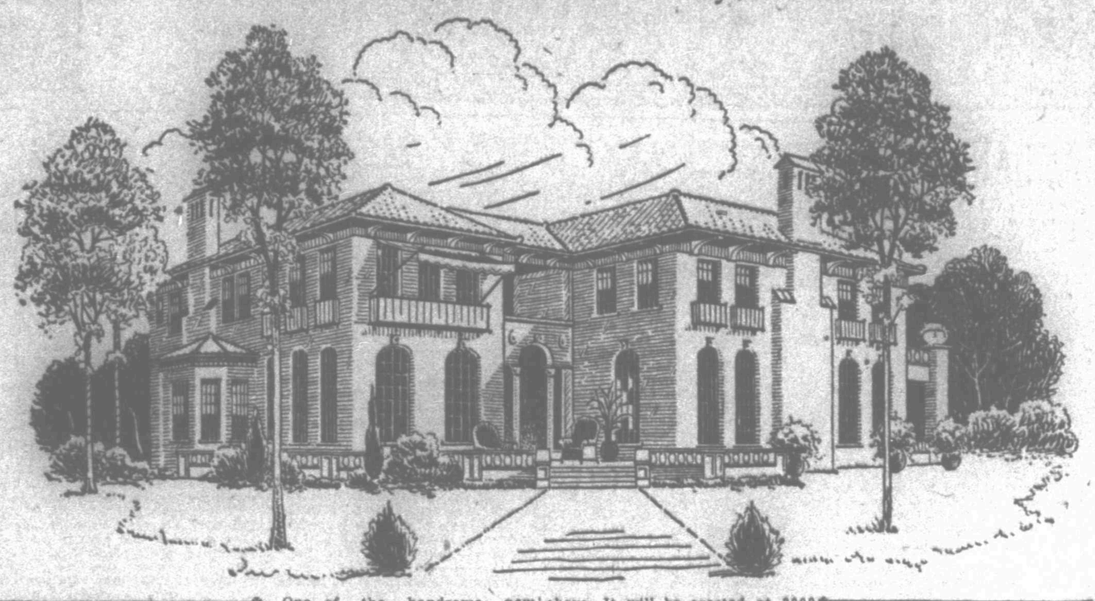

The pardons issued yesterday were predated to Monday. The two men, J. E. Mitchell and George Brown were trusties in the prison.

Tomorrow the third victim of the forest fire, Ralph Morse, a railroad employe will be buried.

Fisher To Erect Palatial Home In Country Club Estates

One of the handsome new home soon to go up in the Country Club Estates is that of J. A. Fisher, who will soon let a contract for the building depicted above. It will be erected at 3002 Hamilton boulevard and will be one of the most palatial residences in the city when completed.

Missing Chicagoan Is Seen In Texas

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP) — Two men who know Lewis E. Larson, former Chicago school board official and real estate man who disappeared three years ago, believe he is living in Texas.

While Larson's son hurried toward Dallas to confirm a report yesterday that his father is in business there, W. G. Saunders announced that he had seen Larson recently on a train bound from Dallas to Houston.

He was positive of the identification, Saunders said, and was recognized by Larson. The former Chicagoan, he said, was with a woman companion.

Texas became the object of the search for Larson, who has been variously reported as a victim of amnesia or dead since he left here in 1923, when J. D. Fasho, a former business associate, asserted he had talked to Larson in Dallas several days ago.

Roaming The Air

That radio, feared in its infancy as a death blow to creative music, is now the greatest incentive for music, was the startling consensus of a large number of music men and musicians who recently met at Elkhart, Ind., for their annual convention. Five years ago the musicians make listeners instead of creators. Today music schools have doubled their attendance and music house owners have sold twice as many instruments in the past year than they did five years ago.

It is predicted, judging from past experience, that more than half a million housewives in the United States and Canada will tune in on Betty Crocker hour when it is resumed on the morning of October 4. Broadcast from 12 stations—WEEI, WEAF, WGR, WFI, KDKA, WTAM, WWJ, WHT, KSD, WCCO, WDAF, KFI, and KPO—these sessions for housewives will be on the air three times a week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. This is the third year of the series. Diplomas are awarded the women who successfully complete the course of 25 lessons.

WPG hangs up long distance claims with the receipt of letters thanking the station for programs heard in every state in the union, Mexico, England, Ireland, Holland, Prince, Central America, South America, Cuba, Porto Rico, Labrador, Alaska, Canada, Novia Scotia and Newfoundland. Practically all of these records were made after the installation of WPG's 5,000-watt transmitter.

Through the American Radio Relay League announcement is made that the amature who played in the foremost part in heralding news of the Florida disaster and in getting messages appealing for assistance through to the proper sources were W. P. Moore, 4IZ, Tampa, and J. V. Halsch, 4KJ, Miami. Moore, as soon as he learned that Miamiwa is out of communication with the rest of the world, began a continuous watch during which he heard Halsch calling on an improvised set. This was early Sunday morning. From then until word was received from other isolated sections, the amatures were continuously busy handling news matter, relief work and personal messages. Their part was highly praised by officials.

Playing direct from the Moulin Rouge, Paul Specht's London Criterion Orchestra inaugurated a semi-weekly dance music program at station WMSG on Sept. 30. The famous dance artist under the personal direction of Paul Specht will be on the air from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock each Thursday and Saturday.

Europe has had its troubles with congestion of wavelengths, but now is about to operate under a new schedule developed at the Office Internationale de Radiophanie at Geneva. Under the reallocation there are 99 channels provided from 201.3 to 588.2 meters. Eighty-thes of these are "exclusive" wave and the other 16 are "common" bands. The exclusive bands will have but one station on each wavelength while the common channels will be given stations of low power and widely separated that they will cause a minimum of heterodyning. Germany gets the most of the exclusive channels, being awarded 12 of them, while France and England will each have nine. The others are divided among the countries of Europe.

Meeting from 7 to 8 o'clock each Thursday evening, the Hobby Club has made a decided hit with children who are listeners in on WBCN. Stamp collecting, coin collecting, drawing, sewing, bicycle riding and many other hobbies are explained by the Hobby Man, Peg Leg and Auntie Babe. The station now numbers more than 50,000 members in the club, and preparations are under way for a rally to be held in Chicago next spring. Here handiwork of the members will be put on display, judged and the young genii given suitable prizes. Last year 20,000 youngsters attended the rally.

At 9:30 o'clock, October 3, a permanent hook-up will be inaugurated between WIP in New York, both owned by the same company. Some of the outstanding features of the two stations have included the first broadcast from a ship at sea—the Leviathan—and the unusual experiment of broadcasting a musical program from an airplane. In the latter case the plane was the ill-fated giant Sikorsky, which crashed as it was taking off on the start of its proposed New York-Paris flight and was destroyed by fire. Practically all of the best features of both stations will be continued and many new and novel events are promised. Programs will originate in both Philadelphia and New York. Through purchase of a large department store in Pittsburgh, Pa., the owners of WGBS and WIP also have become proprietors of WCAE. For the present, however, it will not join the new hookup "on its own." It is announced that WPG will join the chain later in the season.

On October 6, KMOX will devote its time from 8 o'clock at night until 1 o'clock the following morning to the Veiled Prophets ceremonies and ball. This event, which terned after the New Orleans Madri was inaugurated in 1878 and pattern after the Mardi Gras and the Carnival at Nice, is of outstanding importance to all St. Louisans. A symphony concert will be given at 8 o'clock, and the new queen, whose identity is kept secret, will be crowned sometime after 10:30. A reception in her honor and dancing will occupy the remainder of the broadcast.

Closing at noon on October 9, a contest that is unique for radio shows has been announced in connection with the Chicago radio show. The Radio Manufacturers' association will give a silver loving cup to the radio enthusiast who sends in the best letter as to what he or she finds most interesting on the ether, and the reasons for such opinion. Letters should be addressed to the Radio Listeners' contest in care of the Chicago Radio Show.

QUEEN GETS READY

Marie of Rumania Soon Sailing For U. S. Visit

BUCHAREST, Oct. 2. (AP) — The royal summer residence at Sinaf today was the scene of feverish activity as final preparations were made for the departure of Queen Marie and her party on their journey to the United States.

They leave tomorrow after noon on a special train which will connect with the Simplon Express for Paris. After several days in the French capital they will board the United States liner Leviathan which leaves Cherbourg October 12 and arrives in New York October 18.

THE ROYAL ROAD

MODESTO, Calif. Oct. 2 (AP)—J. R. Miles, Oakdale farmer, is in jail here because he believes high school is a road to prison and refused to allow his two sons to attend.

Arraigned in justice court yesterday, Miles told the judge he believed the boys were learning to drink, gamble and forge checks. He was sentenced to five days in jail. The boys remained at work on the farm.

Sons Miss School, Father Put In Jail

MODESTO, Cal., Oct. 2.(AP) J. R. Miles, Oakdale farmer, who went to jail rather than send his two sons to high school, today faced the prospect of spending the entire winter term.

It was declared that he would spend his life in jail rather than change his policy. A. G. Elmore, county superintendent of schools, said charges of violating the compulsory school attendance law would be held against the father as long as his sons remain out of school.

Declaring that high schools are places where boys and girls learn to drink, gamble, forge checks and prepare for San Quentin prison, Miles said that he intends to send the boys to an industrial school after Christmas, but to Oakdale high school "never."

ELECTRA

CIRCLE C MEETS

Circle C of the First Methodist church was most delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Wynn on West Harrison avenue with Mrs. C. B. Hanks as assistant hostess. The discussion of the bazaar was brought up and plans made for it. After the business session a delightful plate luncheon was served to a large group present.

CIRCLE B IN SESSION

Mrs. W. A. Hughes of the Circle B of the First Methodist church was hostess to the circle Monday afternoon, in the monthly social meeting. The subject of Brazil was discussed from several angles by Mesdames A. N. Richardson and L. J. Crawford. The bazaar to be held next Christmas was discussed and plans made for the donations to be small useful articles rather than expensive lingerie. Those present were Mesdames Houser, C. W. Coffey, A. N. Richardson, L. J. Crawford, H. J. Hughes and the hostess.

BOARD MEETING OF P. T. A.

The regular board meeting of the Parent-Teachers association was held at the high school immediately after four o'clock Tuesday afternoon with approximately 40 ladies present. Mrs. Jodie D. Smith, president of the P. T. A's of the city presided, with reports being given from the various Parent-Teachers associations. First Ward, by Mrs. W. P. Kilpatrick; Thompson ward by Mrs. Jim Chisholm; and Waggoner Ward by Mrs. Hal Hughes. Mrs. C. P. Engelking, gave the treasurer's report, and then it was moved to have blanks made for the presidents of the schools reports. Two new members, Mesdames R. B. Magee and John Delashaw were taken into the council. A letter from Roy J. Daniels, state representative was read, saying that he would do every thing possible to have the school appropriation fund raised from the present $11.50 to $18.00 asked for the citizens of this city. The motion was carried to amend the constitution of the P. T. A. and especiallythe name and object. The Nation object to be adopted. Upon the resignations of Mesdames Sam J. Dotson and J. C. Mozley, Mrs. E. R. Keller was elected first vice president and Mrs. John Delashaw second vice president. In October the delegates to the National Mothers congress and state convention of the P. T. A. will elect one delegate to each ten members allowed. This convention will be in Fort Worth, November 15-18. The president, Mrs. Smith, asked the P. T. A. to observe Fire Prevention week October 3-9.

A short program was given with Miss Irene Keller rendering a solo, accompanied by Miss Charlotte Andrews of Pennsylvania, her house guest. Miss Marjorie Beasley read "Nebucahanezzar," followed by an encore.

After the program several names were suggested for dutchess to the queen of the T-O fair, in Wichita Falls October 2-7. Miss Bonnie Jenningswas selected.

The meeting closed to meet again the fourth Tuesday in October.

FEDERATED MISSIONARY

The Federated Missionary society held their first meeting for the past three months at the Knights of Columbus hall Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 with the Catholic ladies as hostess. Mrs. A. N. Richardson, first vice president presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Mary Jowell, and the reports from the various churches were given with, Baptist, Mrs. A. F. McCormick; Methodist, Mrs. E. W. Hanks; Christian, Mrs. W. P. Kilpatrick; Presbyterian, Mrs. L. D. Grafton, and Catholic, Mrs. George McGann. Mrs. A. Fisher was elected to take charge of the free milk fundand act as chairman which will include arranging for the distribution of the bottles. Mrs. J. H. Howell gave the report from the charity board, saying that the Federated Missionary society had done more this summer than ever before, having three whole families under their care. A short program was given with Mrs. Bruce Frazier giving two vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Letrice Wofford. M. D. Goldsmith, well known druggist gave a burlesque lecture, known as the "A. B. C. Lecutre." In the social hour, delightful refreshments of cake and coffee were served to 39 members present.

CONCORDIA BRIDGE

Mrs. E. W. Barr was hostess to the Concordia Bridge club at her home on North Main street Tuesday afternoon. A color scheme of red was delightfully carried out in the decorations and refreshments, which was in two courses. Mrs. Jere Barnes won the high score for the club and received a beautiful tray and Miss Katherine Barr won the guest prize and was awarded a lovely piece of linen. Members and guests present were Mesdames J. F. Burton, Jere Barnes, W. D. Cross, George Ezell, G. J. Gillis, J. W. Gookin, Paul Green, Homer Grizzle, E. G. Latimer, Frank Lebus, H. D. 5 GUESTS DIE IN HOTEL FIRE

Sibley, La., Hotel and Entire Block of Buildings In Vicinity Burn

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 2. (AP)—Five persons were burned to death today when fire destroyed the Sibley hotel and an entire block at Sibley, 30 miles east of here. Pratt Ward Minchew, section foreman, his wife, proprietor of the hotel, their two sons, Arthur, 15, and Pratt Ward Jr., 12, and their nephey, Ben O'Gray of Castor, La., are known dead. Three other persons are believed to have been burned to death. A man and his wife and baby were seen to get off the train coming from Vicksburg, Miss., about 9 o'clock last night and go to the hotel and register. They have not been accounted for so far.

Lavish Gambling Club To Be Built

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Representatives of Frank Jay Gould, the American capitalist, and M. Aletti, French hotel proprietor, have startled Europe, with the announcement that they are planning to build Europe's most exclusive and luxurious gaming palace on the nine million franc site they recently purchased on the Promenade Des Angelais, Nice. The original plans calling for the erection of a de luxe hotel have been discarded. Mr. Gould is at present a heavy stockholder in the Casino of Juan Les Pins.

The new casino will be unique on the Riviera as it will be practically a closed club, catering only to the very wealthy. Application has been made for a no limit baccarat play license.

The structure will be furnished as a luxurious American private club with swimming pools and a garage in the basement, a subterranean passage to the beach, private salons, gaming rooms and a private hotel for the use of members on the upper two floor.

Although Mr. Gould is the only American actively interested in such a venture on the Riviera, it is reported that a group of British financiers, are planning to build a rival Monte Carlo on the outskirts of Monaco.

FEW MEN AT C. I. A.

Some Enter Girl's School But Only at Class Time

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—Answering a resolution passed in the Texas Legislature opposing the practice of allowing sons of wealthy faculty members to attend the College of Industrial Arts here, E. V. White, dean of the college, said Friday he knew of no sons of faculty members who were attending the school. He said he knew of two Denton boys who were taking special work at the college that they cannot obtain elsewhere, but he declared that these boys were not enrolled as college students at C. I. A. and are there only at class time.

DENIES "HARVEST CHARGE"

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP).—Charges in the house of the 39th legislature that the hoof and mouth and tick eradication deficiency warrants have been harvests for brokers are false, Leo Callan, chairman of the livestock sanitary commission, told the house appropriations committee Friday night. He said that the deficiency warrants granted by the governor to exterminate the hoof and mouth disease among cattle were just; that in order to save the livestock industry of the state, farmers permitted their cattle to be killed with the promise that they would be paid for their losses.

13,250 Persons Die In Auto Smashes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP) Approximately 13,250 persons were killed and 350,000 injured by automobiles in the United States during the first eight months of the year, the American Road Builders' association reported today. Plans for curbing the number of casualties will be discussed, the statement added, at a special meeting on road builders' day at the Sesquicentennial exposition, Philadelphia, October 20.

FLOODS IN ILLINOIS

JACKSONVILLE, Ills., Oct. 2. (AP)—Flood waters for a second time within a month swept into Jacksonville homes early today. A small stream on the south side of the city, swollen by heavy rains of yesterday and this morning overflowed its banks. Water was reported in more than 100 houses and many residents of the district have left their homes.

PINK BOLL WORMS

MARFA, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—Extension of the pink boll worm quarantine to include Culberson, Jeff Davis and Terrell counties was recommended Friday to George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture at Austin, by the pink boll worm commission which held a hearing here. Many witnesses were heard.

BATTLE ENDS KLAN MEETING

Many Shots Fired But No Casualties Reported In Massachusetts

GROTON, Mass., Oct. 2. (AP) A pitched battle in which between 75 and 100 shots from rifles and pistols were believed to have been fired broke up a meeting of several hundred members of the ku klux klan here early today.

The klansmen, who were assembled in a field, were driven to cover of their automobiles when a party estimated at nearly 100 drove up and opened fire from behind trees which they felled across a highway.

The felled trees compelled klansmen to drive through fields to gain the roadway. Local police summoned the state police, but no casualties were noted. The ground was littered with glass from broken windshields.

Still more STAYING POWER!

EVER since radio has been in popular use, Ray-O-Vac batteries have been known for their astounding staying power.

Now a new type of construction gives them from 10% to 15% still longer life!

In the new Ray-O-Vac batteries no hot pitch is used, so excessive heat has not devitalized the cells . . . and there are no bulging tops . . . no cracked seals or broken connections . . . no internal short circuits . . . no needless weight. At the same time, the life of the battery is increased still more!

And the new Ray-O-Vacs insure better reception than other "B" power units because they have only from one-third to one-sixth as much internal resistance. You can buy Ray-O-Vac batteries at the better radio, electrical and hardware dealers, music and department stores and auto supply shops.

High Quality Steel Has Important Part In Ordinary Car

What gives a motor car dependability, endurance and long life?

According to the chief metallurgist of the largest mill that supplies alloy steels to motor car builders, the cars that have earned the best reputations for dependability, endurance and long life, under such rough hard service as furnishing transportation to the army and to explorers far beyond civilization frontiers owe their good names to the shock-and-wear-resisting properties of the heat treated alloy steels used in their vital parts.

Avoiding the scientific and technical terms of the metallurgist and engineer, he explained to the automobile owner and buyer why the alloy steels are used for the vital parts of the good motor car or truck.

There are two fundamental requirements to long life in motor cars, their expert brought out:

"First, the steel selected for a given part must have the proper composition or chemical analysis for that part. Second, it must be properly heat treated to develop the correct degree of hardness, strength and shock resisting ability.

"Of these two desired qualities the most important to safety is ability to resist shock, and it is in this characteristic that the proper alloy steel is so far superior to any carbon steel.

"Correct composition and correct heat treatment play the same part in the production of the ctital parts of an automobile that the proper proportioning of ingredients, proper mixing and proper baking play in the making of bread, rolls and pastry.

"It is no more possible to make from cheap carbon steel a steering knuckle, steering connection, axle shaft or exhaust valve that posses maximum safety and endurance than it is to make fine pies, cakes and pastry from ordinary bread dough. The success of both the metallurgist and the pastry cook depends upon exact control of the baking as much as upon the materials.

"The alloy steel bar as it comes from the steel mill, the alloy steel forging as it comes from the giant hammers, the 'green' gear or other alloy steel part which has just been machined does not possess these two essential characteristics any more than if made of cheap carbon steel."

At the the request of the local dealer, Dodge Brothers engineering department has supplied some interesting information regarding the amount of alloy steel used in their motor cars.

"According to these figures," states Julian McFall, "over 465 pounds of costly chrome vanadium steel are purchased for making the vital parts of each Dodge Brothers chassis. The other forgings in each chasis require less than 175 pounds of open hearth carbon steel.

"Now Dodge Brothers are using a larger weight of chrome vanadium steel in each chassis than they did a year ago and a much larger weight of this fine costly alloy steel than was used in the Dodge Brothers car which won such a good name in the military service during the World War.

"The front axle I-beam, steering knuckles, steering arms and connections, propeller shaft, drive pinion and ring gear, rear axle shafts, crankshaft, camshaft and many other parts are all heavier than they were in 1917 and are all made of the finest creme vanadium steel and are all scientifically heat treated in the finest electric furnaces in the industry.

"Fpx example a 72-pound piece is cut from a three-inch bar of chrome vanadium steel for forging the present crankshaft—a year ago only a 51-pound piece was required.

"Each axle shaft in a Dodge Brothers Motor Car of 1917 was made from a ten pound bar. For forging the axle shaft of today a specially rolled chrome vanadium steel bar weighing over 17 pounds is used. A Dodge Brothers front spring in 1917 weighed 20 pounds. The front spring today weighs over 28 pounds and, as has always been Dodge Brothers practice, every leaf of every spring is of chrome vanadium steel.

"Significant in that it accounts for the unusual endurance and long life of Dodge Brothers motor car," Mr. McFall continued, 'is the fact that pound for pound Dodge Brothers chassis contains a larger proportion of this costly chrome vanadium steel than does the chassis of any other motor car, regardless of price.

"In building the 207,115 motor vehicles shipped by Dodge Brothers, Inc., to dealers during the first six months of 1926, nearly forty-eight thousand tons of chrome vanadium steel were consumed, approximately twice the amount used by any other marker of motor cars"

Hartz Lockhart And De Paolo Leading In Race For A. A. A. Crown

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The 1925 struggle for the automobile racing championship of America has become one of the tightest races in the history of the speedways, and is being fought out by three hard riding drivers, it is disclosed in an announcement just made by the contest board of the American Automobile association, which supervised all sanctioned speed classics.

Frank Lockhart, young California flash, in winning the Altoona, Pa., 250 mile race on September 18, ousted Peter DePaolo, America's 1925 champion from second place and is driving with a winning complex. Into the championship home stretch accordingly, there are new headed three drivers—the champion to be decided by the outcome of the next three races. These remaining three races begin with that at Salem, N. H., on October 12, followed at Charlotte, N. C. by the second on November 11. The final even will be run at Los Angeles, Calif., on Thanksgiving day.

The closeness of the races was revealed in the A. A. A. contest board's compilation of point standings of speedway drivers. While Harry Harts still leads with a total of 2,349 points, his place is in peril; Lockhard, the most determined driver the speedways have known in many years, is second, coming like the wind; and Peter DePaolo is running third. Lockhart has 1,750 points, DePaolo has 1,475.

Points are awarded first place drivers in each race on the basis of twice as many points as the miles run. All finishers down to tenth place also obtain points on a graduated scale. Although Harts still has a 590 point lead over the hardest driver the Pacific Coast ever produced, his title is not secure. Lockhart is within striking distance but has a hard row to hoe. Should he win a first place at Salem he would garner 450 points, but even then Harts, providing he won none, still would lead by 140. But the contest from there would be anybody's.

DePaolo, the contest board's totals reveal, has the least chance of the three to duplicate his feat of last year and win the championship.. But he does have a chance. He has just had delivered from the Duesenburg Brothers a completely new car to supplant the racer which throughout the year has not performed satisfactorily. Relieved of mechanical handicaps, it would be possible for him to take every first between now and the close of the year, since he admittedly is one of the great drivers of all times.

The Altoona race brought into public notice again the front wheel drive racing car. Two new ones make their appearance in this race, one driven by Leon Duray and one by Peter Kreise. Ironically, these two new cars finished second and third, while the two front drive cars used through the summer by the veterans Cooper and Lewis dropped out with engine trouble.

The standings of the first ten drivers, as revised by the distribution of points in the Altoona event, were announced by the contest board as follows:

Harry Hartz, 2,339; Frank Lockhart, 1,750; Peter DePaolo, 1,475; Bennett Hill, 930; Fred Comer, 629; Norman Batten, 620; Frank Elliott, 587; Earl Devore, 585; Dave Lewis, 550; and Earl Cooper, 465.

OAKLAND ON BIG EXPANSION

Program Designed To Put Out 1,000 Cars a Day Is Launched

The tremendous building and expansion program announced recently by the Oakland Motor Car company looking toward the building of 1,000 Pontiac sixes and 600 great Oakland sixes daily actually got under way this last week when A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the company turned the first spadeful of sod, in the presence of officials and department heads for the construction of the gigantic new separate factory for manufacturing Pontiac sixes.

Mr. Glancy announced that final cost figures for this new building program call for the expenditure of $7,600,000 instead of $5,000,000 as first announced and also for the completion of the building January 1.

There will be nine acres of basement under the gigantic assembly plant alone, which itself will be a quarter of a mile long. In the whole plant there will be approximately 30 acres of floor space under roof. An excavating company has already begun the stupendous task of moving 250,000 cubic yards of earth, at the rate of 100,000 cubic feet amonth. Actual construction operations are scheduled to get under way in three weeks.

A unique feature of this mammoth 30-acre plant is the fact that every pound of incoming and outgoing freight, including all raw materials as well as finished cars will be unloaded and loaded under roof. To accomplish this, plans have been made for the building of nine miles of railroad tracks. Concrete roads, cafeterias and all the other essential necessities for the successful operation of this large plant are included in the plans.

The Fisher Body corporation plant adjacent to the new building is being expanded proportionally to meet the increased demand for bodies for both the Pontiac and greater Oakland sixes.

AND NOW THEY PAY

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Bathing beauties who spent weeks at the Lido and French beaches acquiring a heavy coat of tan now are busy taking wax baths in an effort to bleach themselves for the latest evening gowns.

In one large hotel alone the beauty experts has had as many as fifty women taking the wax treatment. It takes two full days to complete the bleaching.

"I looked like a half cleaned picture when I got into evening clothes," one stage beauty complained when she placed herself in the expert's hands. "I though I looked very fine in a bathing suit, but it didn't go when I put on dainty evening gowns."

London women are wearing anklets.

No Towing To Be Allowed On Drives From Chevrolet

Taking another step forward in the perfection of its drive-away system and to make sure that its cars are delivered into the hands of its customers in perfect condition, the Chevrolet Motor company has sent instructions to all its assembly factories and dealers stating that in the future no cars may be towed on drive-aways.

"Careful study has shown that the practice of towing drive-away may result in impairment to the towing car, the car towed, or both," said C. E. Dawson, assistant general sales manager of Chevrolet, explaining the order.

"The towing of one car by another, no matter how scientifically they are coupled, always places a strain upon the first car. When this is a new car the possibility of damage is increased. Its bearings are tight and its piston clearance is but a few thousandths of an inch, causing a tendency to tighten up and overheat even under normal usage. The chance of overheating is especially great when a new car is used for towing.

"The second car suffers too, in many instances, it has been found. It inevitably gets the first car's dust, which it would escape if following at a normal driving interval, and it sometimes is damaged by stones cast up by the leading car."

The order abolishing towed drive-ways is already in effect.

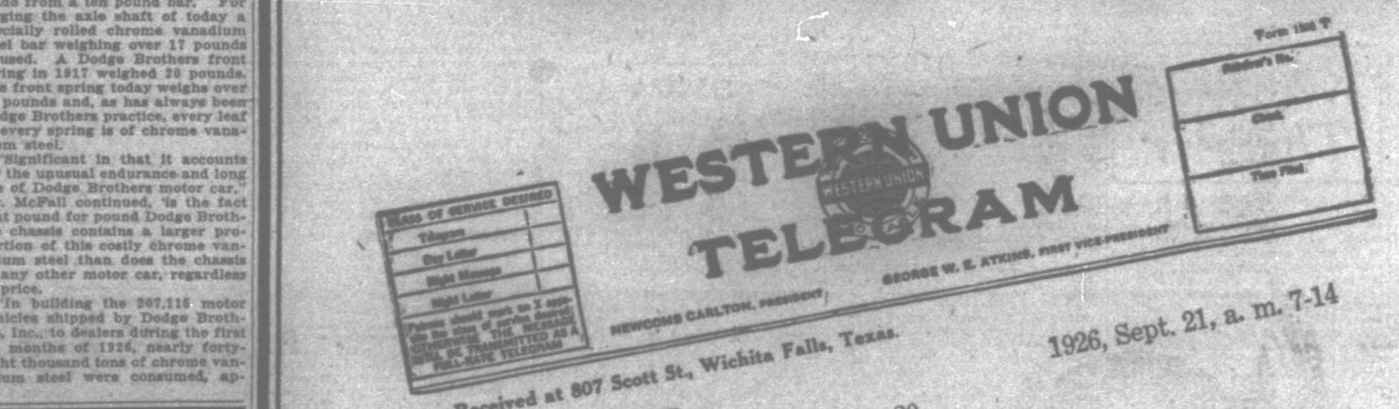

"SHAKESPEARE ARRIVES"

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—After 300 years Shakespeare has at last arrived in London's dockland.

Sir Frank Benson, the veteran actor, who has toured the United States and Canada with a Shakespearian repertory has introduced the board of Avon to an audience at the Canningtown branch of the Dockland settlement. A star company presented "The Merchant of Venice" and many people who live not far from the site of the old Elizabethan Globe theatre heard of Shakespeare for the first time in Canningtown, but no theatres.

There are many movie houses in their lives.

Ford Roadster, Sealed in High Breaks All Former Cross-Country Records Made by Any Car!

Slashing a generous slice off three coveted transcontinental motor records in one swooping drive, "Cannon Ball" Baker of Indianapolis has arrived in Los Angeles, California, driving his own privately owned Ford Roadster sealed in high gear just five days, two hours, thirteen minutes after leaving New York City. He was officially timed at start and finish by Western Union officials.

This cuts 11 days 5 3-4 hours off the old high-gear transcontinental record, which had been made by a six cylinder car selling for three times as much as the Ford. It is also 2 days, 13 3-4 hours faster than the fastest time ever made before by any kind of car with one man driving the entire distance from coast to coast without relay of drivers, the previous one man speed record over this course had been made by Baker in 1920, driving a two thousand dollar car and had never been equalled until he made this flight at the wheel of a lowly flivver. Baker's new record with the Ford is also 16 hours faster than the best time ever made across the continent on a motorcycle.

In other words this was the fastest trip from ocean to ocean that has ever been made by any sort of road vehicle with one man doing all the driving without relief. The car used was a standard type of Ford roadster that was not equipped with overhead valves nor special cams nor counter-balanced crankshaft. It was Baker's seventy-fourth trip across the American continent.

SPEED SAVES LIFE OF GIRL

Whippet Wins In Race With Death To California Hospital

The speed virtues of the Whippet, America's first European type light car introduced a few weeks ago to the automobile market by the Willys-Overland company, are shown in a remarkable run made against death in which the Whippet won. It attained an astonishing speed of 65 miles per hour.

J. P. Strom, Willys-Overland dealer at Richmond, Calif., was recently demonstrating a Whippet when he witnessed an accident. A nine-year-old girl was struck by an automobile truck as she attempted to cross the street.

Volunteering his services to Motorcycle Patrolman Eddie Baker, who arrived on the scene, Strom converted his machine into an ambulance and started to rush the child victim to a hospital.

65 Miles Per Hour.

The motorcycle patrolman, leading the way, clearing traffic as they went, Strom developed 65 miles an hour with the Whippet. This speed was checked, both by the speedometer on the car and by the meter on Baker's motorcycle.

Commenting on the race with death, Strom said: "I have driven many larger cars at high rates of speed through congested traffic, but never have I felt as comfortable as in my recent dash in the Whippet.

Never was there a moment during that thrilling run that the car did not feel under absolute control. One of the outstanding feelings of assurance was brought about by the four-wheel brakes. They allowed me to approach street intersections at 55 and 60 miles an hour. The low swung body and chassis added materially to the stability and driving comfort while turning corners and weaving in and out of traffic."

LICENSE REQUESTED

PARIS, Sept. 2.ETAOINNNN—PARIS, Oct. 2.—The staid old Bibliotheque nationale, France's nationale library, has now a shopkeeper's license. In other words, it can buy and sell and make its own budgets. Appropriate picture postcards are t obe sold in the historic and dignified old building as well as photographic reproductions of old prints and rare manuscripts.

The new ruling has been greeted with joy by booklovers who in the past have been forced to go through an expensive process much bound with red tape, to secure facsiciles of treasures of the library.

Demands from the customers for the names of the men who have prepared supper dishes that have pleased, as well as a realization on the part of the proprietors that it is good business to make the names known have led to the step.

FORTUNE SPENT BY CHEVROLET

One Division of Company Puts Out Huge Sum For Promotion

The Chevrolet Motor company, in one division of its service department, is spending over half a million dollars annually on a Service Promotion Program. This program consists of aiding its dealer organization in improving its shop methods and equipment as well as its personnel, in order to give Chevrolet owners better and more efficient service.

Service Promotion deals with the efficient layout, equipping, and operating of the Dealer's Service Station. It offers a standardized plan of shop layout, making available special Chevrolet tool equipment, and provides assistance to the dealer organization in properly installing these methods. The flat rate method of charging for repair work is suggested in this plan as it insures an equitable charge for both the owner and the dealer.

The proper training of the dealer's personnel is taken care of by the operation of twenty-two permanently located service schools in different parts of the United States. These schools are attended by Chevrolet dealers, their service managers, shop foremen, and mechanics who receive an intensive training course in the proper methods and tools to use in repairing Chevrolet cars. Special courses are provided for dealers, their service managers, and shop foremen, on the subject of shop management.

As a result of this increased efficiency in its dealer's service, Chevrolet is achieving widespread recognition and the quality of its service is becoming more and more a factor in promoting new car sales.

New Finish On Pierce-Arrows Proves Popular

With the introductoon of the new series 36, Pierce-Arrow announces a new method of color finishing, which it is believed, is a distinct advance over any of the present-day methods.

It is one of the most important developments during recent years.

Its name ,s Pierce-Arrow Nitrocellulose Lacquer Finish.

It possesses such a depth and richness of color and such a high gloss that it can hardly be distinguished from the paint and varnish finishes for which Pierce-Arrow has been famous. It has all the beauty and permanence of Pierce - Arrom varnish methods with the added advantage of being more resistant to scratching or marring.

The new process is the result of more than three years of experimentation.

In the south, especially near salt water, are conditions which the average car never meets. Here, Pierce-Arrow Nitrocellulose Lacquer Finish stood the test.

It costs just as much as the paint and varnish method.

The Pierce-Arrow method, however, calls for the same careful, painstaking operations as did Pierce-Arrow varnishing and painting.

The story of Pierce-Arrow's new Nitrocellulose Lacquer Finish is one which will be unusually helpful from a selling standpoint.

PARIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—The error of a Calais city official who ordered black varnish used on the famous Rodin Group "the burghers of Calais" in place of cleaning the bronze figures, has raised a storm of protest in the artistic world.

The group needed cleaning the official thought that good, shiny black varnish would do just as well—and would be much cheaper. Now on account of vehement protests the varnish must be scraped off and the statues restored, all of which will cost the city treasury a pretty penny.

Permission also has been granted for the dignitaries of the church to wear artificial furs instead of real ones, which are becoming exceedingly rare. The order applies to all prelates.

Berlin Duped By Movie Claims

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—American ingenuity, combined with German thoroughness has carried out a movie advertising stunt described by one newspaper as "scandalous."

For a "first night" of the film "Ben Hur," the combination motion picture trust lured out by invitation a silk hat and evening gown audience consisting of six cabinet ministers headed by Chancellor Wilhelm Marx; two ambassadors, including Jacob Gould Schuman; 10 ministers of foreign countries; six Prussian cabinet ministers; five bank presidents, including Hjalmar Schatcht, president of the Reichsbank; 36 theatrical producers and stars and the lord mayor, Gustav Boess.

Fifty police held back the throng that battled in vain to buy tickets. "The Americans make grand opera out of an ordinary movie," said one editorial writer.

BET ON THE SCRIBES.

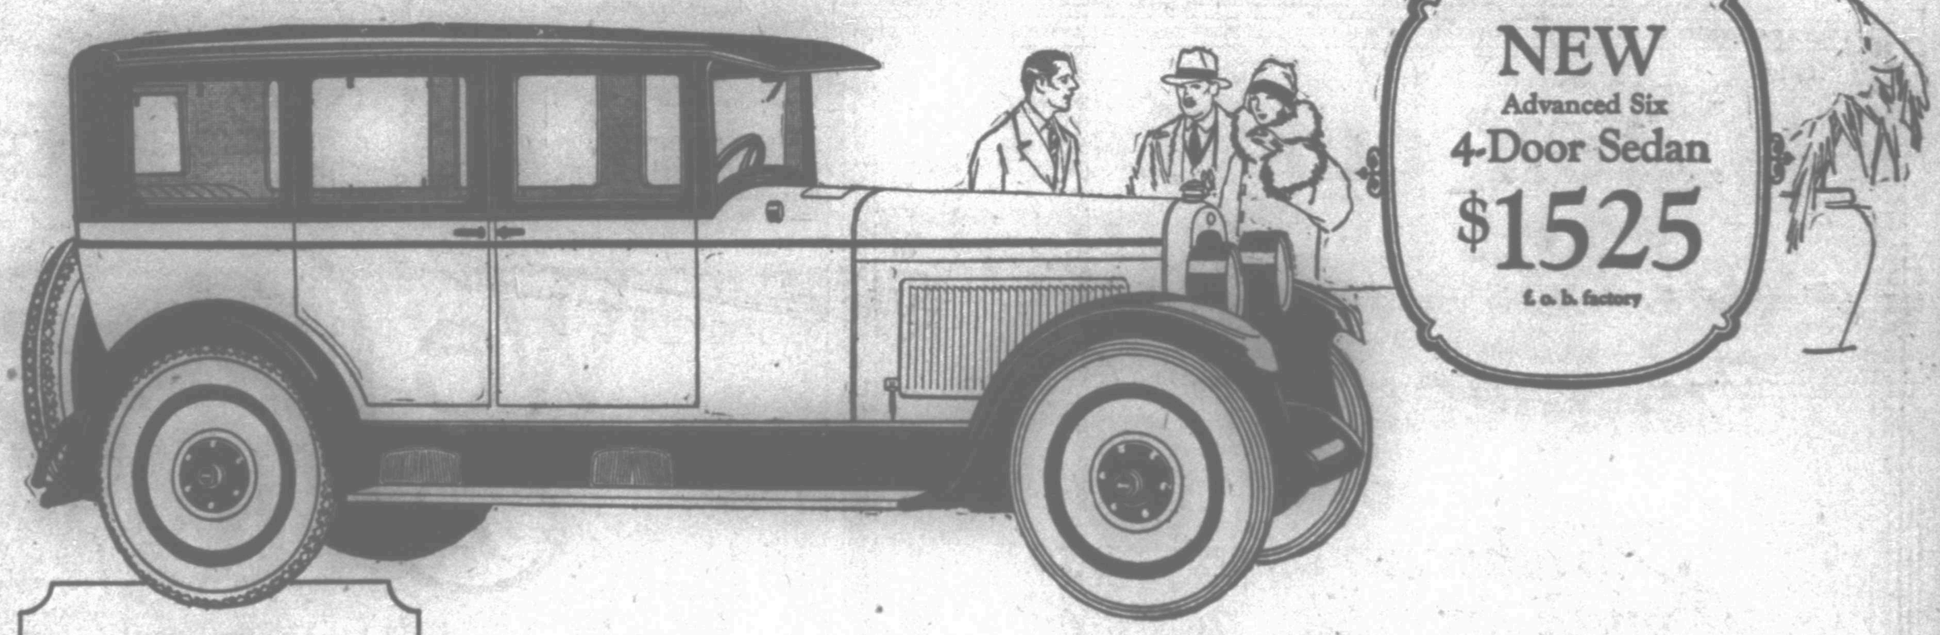

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—"Can you imagine this in the United States," said Joseph Lau, wine merchant, as he looked about his shop the day upon which he had advertised he was going to dispense 10,000 bottles of 400 kinds of choice wine by the glass, free of charge, merely to induce people to drink more German wines. The shop was entirely devoid of persons desiring to quench their thirst.

Two American correspondents alone came to take advantage of the offer which Berliners generally thought a hoax. Lau then issued 10,000 personal invitations and on succeeding days there were crowds to do justice to the various vintages.

Refugees in Greece are becoming more efficient in carpet making and agriculture and are increasing the production in these lines.

WILLYS SETS MOUNTAIN RUN

Colorado Inclines Hold No Terror For Sleeve Valve Stock Car

When the most experienced mountain driver behind the wheel of a powerful motor racing car completes the grand circle from Denver, Colo., over Lookout Mountain, to Berthowd pass to Grand Lake through Miller pass and over Fall river into Estes park in one day of hard driving, it becomes a much talked of feat.

Recently a Willys-Knight Seventy standard sedan, a regular stock car used by the retail store of Willys-Overland in Denver, completed this gruelling test in 4 hours and 37 minutes, establishing new records for speed and performance.

Starting on the run at 2 a. m. the car reached Estes Park at 6:37 a. m. with out a stop.

32.7 Mile Average.

The average speed attained in this remarkable run was 32.7 miles per hour for the entire 10.8 miles despite the fact that the route led upward near 11,800 feet above sea level and was full of narrow curves, sharp turns and "switchbacks." The maximum speed recorded was 65 miles per hour on a stretch between Denver and Golden.

From the summit of Lookout Mountain to Idaho Springs the 21.7 miles was covered in exactly 38 minutes at an average speed of 35.3 miles an hour. Berthoud pass was easily negotiated in high gear at an average rate of 32.5 miles an hour for 14.1 miles from Empire to the summit.

The drop down Berthoud to Grand Lake for a distance of 49.5 miles, during which the elevation changed from 11,306 feet to 8,376 feet, was made at an average speed of 37.1 miles an hour and this speed was maintained up to the start of the climb of Miller pass.

From the bottom of Miller pass to the crest of Fall River pass the climb was covered at a rate of 16.6 miles per hour, the rise being 8,421 feet at a rate of 413 feet per mile. This definitely pronounces the power of the Seventy and its speed endurance.

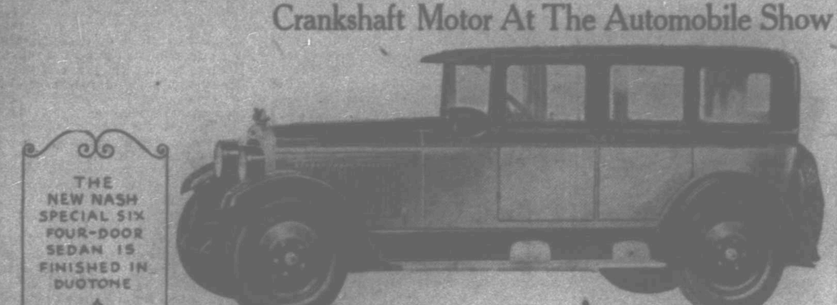

This climb is one which usually calls for frequent recourse to the reserve supply of water generally carried in a tin container or in a water bag as motor car equipment. The Seventy made the ascent without the addition of water and without heating in the cooling system, an achievement which is notable in itself.

From the summit of Fall River pass the drop down to the valley floor is 4,250 feet in 17.6 miles. This road is a steady series of sharp "switchbacks" and cutting corners is made impossible through the use of stone monuments at each of the curves. It is a descent calculated to thoroughly test springs, brakes, chassis, frames and driving ability.

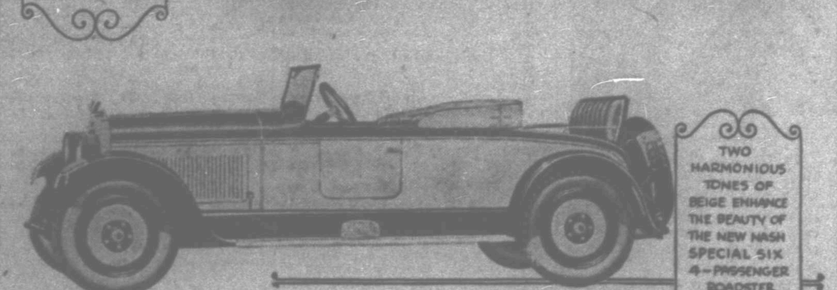

The test run was conducted under the direct supervision and observations of R. H. Kenney and Damon S. Galai of the Rocky Mountain News. These press representatives were equipped with stop watches and checking charts and instruments keeping an accurate log on the run.

In speaking on his record, Geo. Dyer, driver, attributed much of his success to the remarkable and highly efficient cooling of the Knight sleeve-valve motor in the car, to the ability of its power plant to stand up under full load without lost power.

Hupmobile Six a Leader, Also, In Complete, Modern Equipment

What goes into a motor car is vastly more important than what goes on it. You will not buy, of course, on mere externals and non-essentials, but on proven performance, dependability, long life, and low cost of maintenance. To superiority in these fundamentals, however, the Hupmobile Six also joins the latest and most complete equipment to be found on any car in its price class.

Oil filter, gasoline filter—low gasoline consumption, thermostatic heat control, manifolders, vision-ventilating windshield, dash gasoline gauge, clear vision bodies, color options—Mohair upholstery in latest mode, walnut grained panels on instrument board and window ledges, 4-wheel brakes, special vibration damper, headlights with tilting beam lenses and double filament bulbs.

* * *

Sedan, five-passenger, four-door, $1385. Coupe, two-passenger, with rumble seat, $1295. Touring, five-passenger, $1295. Equipment includes 30 x 5.25 balloon tires, four-wheel brakes.

All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus revenue tax.

Our used cars are good buys—not only because they are bargains, but also because they are sold with your complete satisfaction first in mind.

The premium of 10% that Hupmobile spends to insure better materials, more thorough inspection and closer, more accurate measurements, pays handsome returns to the Hupmobile Six owner.

For as the direct result of such scrupulous attention to engineering and manufacturing detail, the Hupmobile owner may expect an addition of at least 25% to the useful life of his car.

That Hupmobile actually delivers this extra value is proved by the number of Hupmobiles driven long after the majority of moderately priced cars are traded in.

Hupmobile today maintains the same high standards in building its Six that it has rigidly adhered to in 18 years of quality manufacture.

The Six is not merely outstanding in smoothness, in power and in acceleration, but it is built to retain those characteristics through the years.

It is a new Six in the sense that it is a development of the past two years—designed without regard to outworn precedents, and constructed to deliver a new type of more brilliant and lasting performance.

You will note on the Hupmobile Six advanced features that you would expect only on cars of much higher price, such as thermostatic control of the cooling system, vibration damper, four-wheel brakes, gasoline filter, oil filter, etc.

But you will find such features added, not as sales points, but engineered into and part of the thorough-going quality that makes up the value-appeal of this fine car.

A telephone call will bring the Six model you wish to inspect to your door—the roomy, family-size five-passenger Sedan or the attractive two-passenger Coupe with handy rumble seat for two extra people. See the Hupmobile Six by all means before investing money in any car.

GERMANS SEE NEW CADILLACS

Prominent Architects Come To Inspect Latest Designs Of New Car

A group of prominent German architects, members of the Bund Deutscher Architeckten, which is the German architectural society, turing the United States under the auspices of the United States Department of Commerce, spent two days in Detroit recently and inspected the plant of the Cadillac Motor Car company and the Fisher Body plant on West Fort street as outstanding examples of industrial architecture.

The German visitors are being conducted through the states by representatives of the North German Lloyd. Cities previously visited included New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and their return trip from Detroit was by way of Buffalo and Boston to New York. The Michigan Society of Architects and the Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Architects cooperated as hosts in Detroit.

At the Cadillac plant the visitors were welcomed by Lawrence P. Fisher, president, and Lynn McNaughton, vice president of the company. The General Motors Export division entertained at a luncheon in the General Motors building and the architects were shown the main features of the corporation's giant office structure.

Their inspections also included downtown structures in course of erection, the new Michigan theatre just completed, building sites, and residential and commercial architecture.

Secrecy Demanded Of French Courts

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Secrecy and more secrecy is the demand of the Americans who place their marital troubles before Rivera courts. Because some one talked too much in Nice, many Americans are appealing to the courts of nearby Grasse, famous perfume making center. Officials of the Grasse courts are still perplexed over their prospective work, which will start next month.

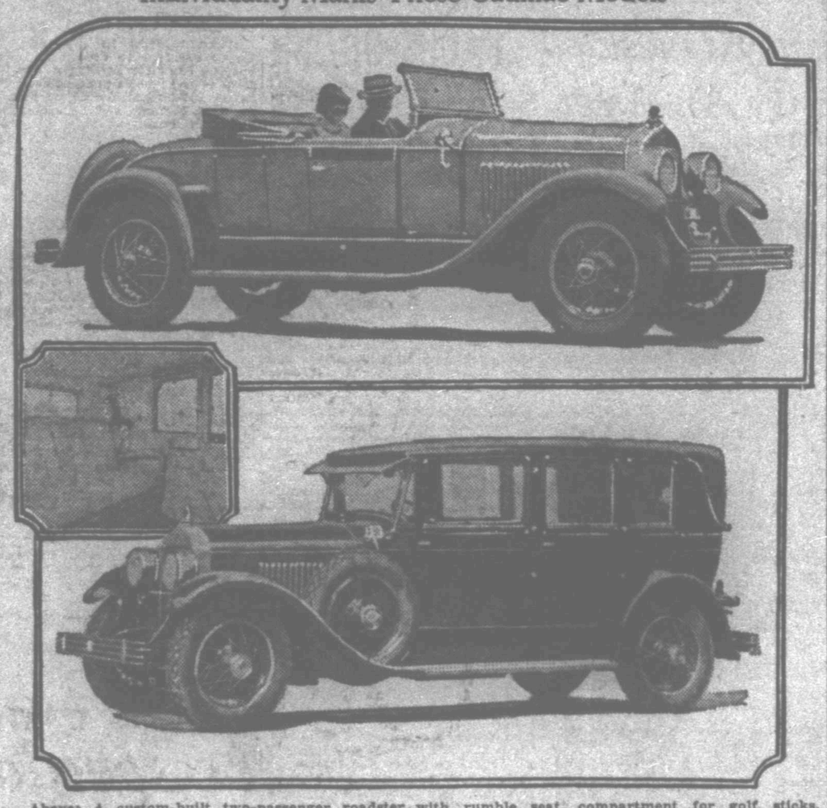

"I think if I were to meet a man crying on the street corner, I would say at once that he was a foreign lawyer who had just met a happily married couple,' is the verdict of one of the court employes, who is concerned with divorces.

"And, as far as I can see," he added, "the only time an American or a British subject doesn't want his or her name in the papers is when a family divorce is in progress. Usually, in France, one of the parties wishes to advertise the fact that a mistake has been corrected."

Individuality Marks These Cadillac Models

HUP DEALER IN LONG RACE

Standard Six Touring Car Places First In 1,250 Mile Grind

A standard Hupmobile Six touring car placed first in a road race through Holland and Northern Belgium over a distance of 1250 miles. Entries in the race included both European and American cars, especially those advertising as high speed and consequently priced much higher than Hupmobile. States a message received by the Hupp Motor Car Corp. from its European representatives.

"The number of contests won by Hupmobile stock cars this year clearly demonstrates its ability to maintain a steady high speed without any danger to its mechanism."

Hupmobile dealers here point out in commenting on this recent victory. "This reliability race covered a course of 1800 kilometers or 1250 miles, greater than the distance from New York to Chicago, which among American tourists is considered an exceptionally long continuous run."

Only Standard Cars Can Enter

"The rules of the contest emphasize the fact that only stock cars can compete. The Hupmobile Six with its 64½ pound crankshaft, vibration damper and extremely durable construction is a smooth car to drive at all speeds, and foreign drivers have been eager to drive the Hupmobile entry for this reason. Its ease of handling enables the driver to go the limit speed throughout the race without tiring. The low hung construction, 9 inch road clearance with adequate spring length and spirited motor gives it an advantage over other cars announcement setting a new record for any new model that Hupmobile has produced."

HINDY 79

BERLIN, Oct. 2.(AP)—President Von Hindenburg toay is celebrating his seventy-ninth birthday. The field marshal has arecord of not having missed a single day from attending t othe duties of his office, which is better than any of his cabinet ministers can claim.

During his summer vacation last year and the present year the president daily attended to his correspondence and received reports from governmental departments. Despite his age he scorns the idea of a physician being in attendance upon him. He believes regular living is the best recipe for health.

Well wishers, as well as critics, who feared the executive duties, especially those of a social nature, would prove too onerous for the aged field marshal now admit they were mistaken.

NEW CHRYSLER IDEA FAVORED

Standardized Quality Policy Is Resulting In Greatly Increased Power

There is great interest amongst motor car owners and builders in the announcement by Chrysler of a decidedly new application of the fundamental principles of engineering and unique methods of manufacture, summarized in two words—standardized quality.

In response to many requests for more detailed information regarding it, the following statement is made:

"Standardized quality, as this company has defined it, bespeaks the use of materials which will withstand, beyond peradventure, the most wracking service to which they could possibly be subjected. It demands rigid adherence to the highest ideals of precision and exactitude in manufacture, constant vigilance in inspection, and tests that might well incapacitate any ordinary mechanism.

"As a result accomplishments of Chrysler and Chrysler cars which are today being characterized as 'amazing' and 'phenomenal' are simply an inevitable consequence of standardized quality.

"Our conception of quality has actually converted what might otherwise be only ordinary, commonplace automobile factories turning out motor cars one after another, into huge laboratories, where each individual unit is scientifically designed, manufactured and tested with unvarying accuracy and precision, unhampered by the exigencies of such varying circumstances as rushing production, inequality of materials or any one of the thousand other factors which commonly beset the producers of automobiles.

"This is but an essential development incident to attaining the new and unique type of quality which is standardized—inexorably—in Chrysler manufacture.

"This genius for engineering originality and constructive forward thinking initiates a new cycle in the trend of motor car manufacture, the effects of which are apparent wherever you turn. We are not dealing in traditions or in the past—no matter how glorious those traditions or that past may have been. We are in the enviable position of emancipation from traditions, conventions and declining theories. We are manufacturing the cars we are building today for today's needs and wants, and are constantly and consistently on the alert to take advantage, immediately, of those changing needs and wants, and to improve, where improvement is possible, on present practise and present motor cars."

SAYS BACHELORS DIE SOONER

Professor George Robertson of Edinburgh Royal college of physicians, has declared that men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five, who continue to be bachelors, die on the average four years sooner than married men. Likewise they run "three times the risk of becoming insane."

Line up Five Cars in Your Mind— How Can You Mistake the Chrysler "50"?

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80"—so that each individual car shall be the Supreme Value in its own class.

With only four other cars of large production in the four-cylinder field, it is exceedingly easy to recognize the outstanding values of the Chrysler "50" and decide which car to buy.

Lining up the five cars side by side in your own mind, you will be startled by the contrast between them—and especially by the contrast between the Chrysler "50" and all the others.

In point of size, seating room, beauty of design, beauty of finish and power, the Chrysler "50" stands out so unmistakably that you recognize the price at once as far and away the greatest offering ever made in four-cylinder cars.

It will continue to yield a sustained speed of 50 miles and more per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, and 25 miles to the gallon—for months and for years, as the result of Chrysler's plan of Quality Standardization.

At last it is possible for you to make a convincing and conclusive comparison of values—studying the comfort, appearance and performance factors of the Chrysler "50" in comparison with everything else offered—and satisfy yourself almost at a glance in which car you should invest your money.

Examine and ride in the new Chrysler "50" and you will not consider any other car in its price class.

FIGHTS EDITOR, LANDS IN JAIL

Grand Jury Indicts Dallas Peace Officer After His Attack on Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 2. (AP)—Hilliard Brite of Garland, former Dallas county deputy sheriff, was indicted here Saturday for an alleged attack on Glenn Pricer, managing editor of the Dallas Dispatch. The indictment charges aggravated assault.

Pricer, who is 45, was struck in the face as he was leaving the court building here last Wednesday. J. R. Bradfield, Dallas Journal reporter, separated Brite and Pricer, but they were fighting again when Deputy Sheriff Roland separated them.

Shortly after the fight Brite pleaded guilty to simple affray and was fined $8.70, the minimum fine. He said he struck Pricer because of a story in the Dallas Dispatch.

One of the witnesses named against Brite, is W. G. Kneeland of Dallas Times-Herald, who was similarly attacked by Brite several weeks ago.

When the district attorney today attempted to dismiss a charge of simple assault lodged against Pricer, the latter protested and demanded that he be placed on trial so he could have a public hearing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The actual condition of Clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows a deficit in reserves of $23,360,720. This is a decrease in reserve of $44,388,380 compared with the week before when excess reserve of $21,027,669 was recorded.

Nerves and Worry Fail To Aid Beauty Quest; Calm Serenity An Asset

By MME. IDA CHERNOFF.

No woman ever was charming who was ill at ease. No woman ever was fully at ease if she was conscious of something lacking in her dress or in her personal appearance.

Even if you are not naturally beautiful there's a lot of comfort in knowing that you have made the most of all available aids to beauty—of the newer helps that science has discovered.

Perhaps illness or worry or the advancing years have read tiny wrinkles into your face. If you have done nothing to correct this condition, you may well be ill at ease.

If, on the other hand, you have used a rejuvenating powder and a cream that feeds the tissues, you will have corrected the condition insofar as it is in your power to do so, and you may cheerfully forget such lines as yet remain in the full consciousness that you are looking your best.

A truly beautiful woman is unconscious of her beauty. Similarly, a woman who has certain natural handicaps will do her best to correct them—and then cheerfully forget them. It is forgetfulness of self that is the course of all true charm.

If you happen to have a poor complexion and do nothing to correct it, you can never be at your best in social contact with others. If, on the contrary, you have given due attention to diet and to exercise, if you have removed surface impurities with a cleansing cream and stimulated the tissues with a night cream and firmed the muscles with a clay—then, in the pleasant consciousness of having done your best, you may face the world with a clean conscience and a cheerful spirit. When your body is tired a bath is restful.

When your brain is tired it is often reflected in the face—and a careful treatment will then do much to remove that wearied look, which is fatal to charm.

Be fair to your face. Do the best for it that you can and then forget such minor shortcomings as may be part of your features.

ASYLUM HEAD FACES ORDER

San Antonio State Hospital Chief Halted In Plan Of Freeing Insane

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2. (AP)—A temporary restraining order, prohibiting Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent at the state hospital here, from releasing patients from the institution was granted Saturday by Judge S. G. Taylor, in the forty-fifth district court.

Two physicians, Doctors H. S. Ogilvie and C. M. Cotham, alleged in a petition for the injunction that Johnson released as cured patients who are a menace to society. They declared that Johnson has been informed by the corps of doctors at the hospital that some of the patients are dangerous, but releases them despite their advice.

They specifically charged that Johnson intended to release Saturday a woman inmate who has threatened the lives of attendants at the hospital, and declared that the woman would be a menace to society.

Hearing on a request for a permanent restraining order has been set for November 11.

GIRL VOICE FROM GRAVE ACCUSES MARRIED SUITOR

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Allegations by a dying girl against Thomas V. Sands, a wealthy farmer, were made in a letter at the inquest of Kate Leesing, aged 20, who poisoned herself. The letter stated: "I have not done this terrible thing because I wanted to die. Mr. Sands told me he was unmarried. I hope he will never know what it is to have a peaceful mind for the rest of his life. It was brought out that Mrs. Sands had instructed a lawyer to institute divorce proceedings, and Miss Leesing was cited as co-respondent.

FREIGHT RIDER KILLED

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP).—Hershel Winkle, 20, of Eureka, Kan., was killed at one o'clock Saturday morning by a Fort Worth & Denver freight train about a mile east of Chillicothe. The young man had boarded the train at Chillicathe with two conmpanions.

FARMERS SEE HOPE

Considerable Interest Shown In Banker Cotton Pool.

DALLAS, Oct. 2. (AP)—A marked interest in the plan of Texas bankers to create a $100,000,000 fund for holding at least a fifth of the state's present crop for better prices has grown up among farmers, bankers and business men of south Texas, Colonel Clarence Ousley, director of the Texas Safe Farming association, said Saturday on his return from the section.

DEMOS HAVE CHANCE

That's Idea Of Former Oklahoma U. S. Senator.

DALLAS, Oct. 2. (AP)—The democratic party has a chance to "come-back" in 1928 if its policies are judiciously handled, Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, former United States senator, said here today. He came here to deliver an address tonight before the Dallas bar association.

CARS RUN AWAY

Cotton Belt Conductor Hurt Trying To Stop Them

CORSICANA, Texas, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two persons were seriously injured in accidents here today.

Horace Carter, 14, fell when he attempted to hop a moving truck. His leg was broken and the base of his skull fractured.

W. M. Woodall, Cotton Belt railroad conductor, fell while trying to stop a string of "runaway" cars in the local yards. One leg was broken. He lives at Tyler.

DRY LAW TOO STRICT, CLAIM

Dallas Grand Jurors Would Have State Dry Law Modified

DALLAS, Oct. 2, (AP)—A Dallas county grand jury today recommended in its oficial report that the state liquor laws should be modified.

Reporting to Judge C. A. Pippen the jury said:

"While we have no right to show our disrespect for a law or let our personal opinions effect our actions in enforcing all the laws, this grand jury desires to take the liberty to suggest that the severe penalty for violation of the Dean law should be modified.

"We believe that if the penalty were not so severe for the first offense that punishment for violation of this law would be more certain. Jurors hesitate to brand a man as a felon because he might have been caught driving an automobile while he was intoxicated. Likewise they hesitate to brand a man as a felon because he might sell a bottle of beer or be caught with a small quantity of liquor in his possession. We think steps should be taken to have the law, in this particular herein set out, modified."

The Thrill of Franklin Power

Just watch it shoot away from the next traffic line-up. Just notice the number that pass you on the long, hard hills. Just note how often you find one waiting for you at the end of a long day's run. But only with your foot on the accelerator and your eye on the speedometer can you fully appreciate its instantaneous pick-up, its relentless power on the hills, its sustained high speed on the straightaway.

And the Franklin speedometer never varies from the exact truth more than 2 per cent. It is a Waltham—the most accurate made.

Power That is 100% Usable

Best of all—and this is the secret of Franklin's matchless speed over the day's run—this power is 100 per cent usable!

Over roads that force other cars to slow down, Franklin's super-flexible construction allows the owner to skim along without perceptible change in riding ease or speed.

Up hills and through mud and sand that shout caution to every water-cooling system, Franklin's advance air-cooling permits its engine to work at full capacity without halt or danger of damage.

And over distances fatiguing for drivers of other cars, Franklin's freedom from unnecessary weight, its advanced steering gear and its non-skid transmission brake encourage maintenance throughout the day of the same fast pace you started out with!

A demonstration gladly given, anytime, anywhere.

Three Big Inventions —By Ring Lardner

The Straw for Drowning Bathers and Introduction of Telephone Marked Century's Close—Disappointing Confusion Resulted From Last Named Boon.

BY RING LARDNER
Chapter 14 of Ring Lardner's Autobiography.

America was now taking its place with the rest of the world in the arts and sciences and the year 1899 saw two great inventions, by citizens of the United States, which were universally hailed as revolutionary and daring. The first of these was the invention of the straw, by Paul Whelton, a Boston newspaperman. Mr. Whelton worked on the paper nights and in the daytime held a position as lifeguard at Revere Beach. In those days the Atlantic ocean in vicinity of Boston was way over your head and Revere bathers were being drowned by the thousands despite the courage and resourcefulness of Mr. Whelton and his two assistants, Nick Flatley and Mel Webb.

New England Camels Sneered At Death

The chief lifeguard sat on the beach day after day, for months and months, watching the drowners drown and trying to figure out what was the matter. The idea came to him all of a heap.

"The idea came to me all of a heap," was the way he afterwards expressed it.

It occurred to him all of a heap that as each drowner was drowning for the third time, he seemed to appear to be clutching. And there was nothing to clutch at!

"If they just had something to clutch at!" thought Mr. Whelton, and that night, as he worked at the copy desk in the newspaper office, the thought suddenly of a straw, and the problem was solved.

Resigning from the paper, he started the quantity manufacture of straw and in a few days appeared on the beach with an armload of the new commodity. As each bather came out of the bath-house Mr. Whelton approached him in a friendly way and said, smilingly, "Have a straw."

(Editor's note: Haverstraw, New Jersey, is said to have been named after Mr. Whelton).

People kept on drowning, but it was soon established that there was less danger if they bathed in straw stacks than in the ocean.

Mr. Whelton would not take money for the straws doled out for clutching purposes, but he soon found two other uses for his invention in which his conscience did not prevent acceptance of financial return. He began selling straws to the weather bureau and to sailors, outfielders and golfers, so they could tell which way the wind was blowing. And so, along about this time, the sport of camel hunting became quite popular through New England. "The ship of the desert" was very good eating as well as sufficiently foxy and elusive to make the pursuit interesting. New England camels, however, were deathly afraid of horses, horses, horses and you had to hunt them on foot.

And after you had walked miles and miles for a camel and finally caught up with him, there was no sure way of bringing him down. He scoffed at bullets, sniggered over knife thrusts and turned up his nose at lethal poison. After endless experimenting by the wealthy nimrods of Beacon street Brookline and South Boston, it was found that a straw would reck havoc with his vertebrae, and Mr. Whelton's fortune was made.

The other invention of that year was the telephone. They are still trying to find the guy.

The first telephone exchange had only one number, Central 1. All the subscribers had to take that for their number and when you called up, there was no telling whom you would get.

(Author's note: You spoke a full quart).

There was no rate by the month, each subscriber being charged a nickel per call. It made interesting gambling, dropping your nickel in the slot and then waiting to find out who would answer; if you expected, for example, to talk to, say Flo Ziegfeld and a sweet voice at the other end of the line announced "This is Neysa McMein," or "This is Florence O'Denishawn," you had the same thrill as when a 50 to 1 shot which you have bet on at the track finishes first. Personally I always played in tough luck. I would call up Marilyn Miller and get Heywood Broun; or try for one of the Dolly Sisters and obtain Percy Hammond. It was an outrage.

The nickel a call system lasted until the repeal of the law permitting women from talking to one another, when women were at length permitted to call each other up, the company went into the hands of a telephone receiver because it was taking in only five cents a day.

In 1900, Robert Fulton invented and tried to introduce the automatic or dial telephone. His invention was turned down unwillingly, by the phone trust in compliance with a petition from people in the then infantile motion picture industry, who argued that the strain of attempting to learn the alphabet would reek havoc with their Art.

Anti-Collar League Receives Support

PARIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—The "anti-collar league," known also as the "anti-pillory league," founded more or less as a joke by a group of French writers, has received the support of eminent critics, musicians and artists. It has advanced so far in importance that it has a club room of its own and a general headquarters. Branch leagues soon are to be established in the provinces.

Prominent in the movement, which pledges its members to do away with the "time discarded" collar and cravat, are Gustave Carpentier, composer of "Louise," and Romain Coolus, eminent critic. Noted writers who have given the league their adherence are Robert de la Peyrad, Jean Herve, Maurice Labbe, and more than a score of others whose names are household words in France.

The collar and cravat are as injurious to men as corsets are to women, says the league. It finds the comparison of modern woman, in her light dinner dress, with her escort in boiled shirt and choker collar, humiliating in the extreme to the man.

Beckett Goes In For Racing Game

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Joe Beckett, former champion heavyweight prize fighter of Great Britain has adopted the profession of race track bookmaker.

With a bookie's satchel swinging from his neck, a sign telling the world of his new calling and a roaring voice bawling odds on horses, Joe is a familiar figure at the race meetings.

Beckett was to have met Phil Scott, the present British champion, at The Dell in Southampton early this summer, but he injured himself shadow boxing and another gladiator was substituted.

There seems little doubt that Beckett is through with the squared circle game for good. He has not issued a challenge to give Tunney a fight. The concensus here is that when a fighter so far forgets his professional duties as to fail to issue challenges on the eve of big matches, he must be ranked among the definitely retired.

Arizona Governor Refuses Extradition

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 2 (AP).—Governor Hunt has declined to honor extradition papers issued by Governor Miram A. Ferguson, of Texas, for the return of Claude Branche, wanted in Dallas on charges of murder and driving a car while intoxicated. A certified copy of an indictment returned by a Dallas county grand jury June 21 charged Branche with killing "Dave Henry."

Governor Hunt in replying to Governor Ferguson's request said he felt Branche's family needed him here.

Grand Jury Indicts Two Men In Killings

COLEMAN, Texas, Oct 2 (AP).—The Coleman county grand jury has returned a bill against C. W. Watson charging him with murder in connection with the killing of Jack McMath, Thursday afternoon. Date of trial was set by Judge J. C. Woodward for Monday, October 11, and a venire of 144 men summoned. The grand jury also indicted D. F. Sanderson, Jr., for murder in connection with the killing of his father on the afternoon of August 31. Trial was set for Monday, October 18, and a venire of 144 men summoned.

Uproar Incident To Hanging Of Quartet

BEIRUT, Syria, Oct. 2. (AP)—Repeated police charges were made to suppress disorders which broke out today before the Grand Serail palace where four men were hanged for murdering a native sergeant wearing the French uniform.

The condemned men shouted insults at the French officials and called upon the crowd to mutiny, continuing their demonstration until the noose tightened about their necks.

THE EEL - By FANNIE HURST

IT was one of those miracles equivalent to the old one that a man is the last to hear of his own family scandal, that old lady Rosalsky did not know that the money which paid for the rental of her snug little flat on Simpson Street was ill begot.

And ill begot by the light, the sun, the moon, the stars and the apple of her eye. Begot, in plentiful sums, by her son Isadore.

It was strange that in a period of six years there had been no flaw in the consistency with which old Mrs. Rosalsky remained in ignorance of what the Bronx, the lower east side and the police records had full knowledge of.

Her little old-fogey, gentle, mincing, trusting attitude toward all of life must have had something to do with it. No one, not in the habit of robbing widows of their mite, and taking proverbial pennies off of dead men's eye-lids, and twisting the arms of babes, could have been guilty of ever informing Mrs. Rosalsky the truth about her son Isadore.

So far as she knew, his steadily advancing position with the woolen-cap concern where he had started as office boy seven years previously was responsible for the fine, five-room flat, and the Alaska seal dolman cape, the radio machine, and the two-seated roadster in which she sometimes rode proudly beside her son.

Isadore, God bless him, had made good. He had softened the long years of her widowhood and attendant poverty by loyal devotion, and more solid comfort than she had ever dreamed the lean years of a lifetime of hard work could yield her.

True, Isadore's work kept him away from home a good part of the time, and the long evenings alone, even with the money in her pocket to treat a neighbor and attend a motion picture show, could pall.

But in the main, there was not a prouder, a more contented, a finer attired old lady in the Bronx than Mrs. Rosalsky.

And on those rare evenings when Isadore did not have to attend a directors' meetings of the firm, or help take inventory, or take a customer to the theatre, or sometimes go off on short trips for the concern, what a prideful procedure of preparation for the mother. The dinner of black lentil soup, and bread klose smothered in browned onions, and Isadore's favorite dish of noodles smothered under stewed cherries, and gefuldte fish prepared by the hand of a past-master, and a dessert called apple strudel, where the fruit juices oozed through pie crust in a thickly rich syrup!

It was as if Mrs. Rosalsky could never tire of her son's chronic effusions upon these occasions.

"Mamma-la, any exposition in the woild would give you a gold medal for this gefuldte!"

"Mamma-la, I should die of indigestion, but anyways it won't be until after I've had a third helping of those noodles!"

"Mamma-la, another piece of that strudel, if it lands me in my grave."

How Mrs. Rosalsky loved to serve her son, handing him the overflowing plates, her hands and her eyes overflowing with her love and her gratitude.

It was the only oasis-spot in his crowded, dangerous, lawless life, this little five-room flat he shared with his mother. It was the only streak of sentiment in a nature that life and environment had calloused into the hardened make-up of a confirmed gangster.

There was scarcely a day of Isadore's life that was not fraught with this or that danger. "Bulls" knew him by name and sight and hated and feared him. In the phraseology of the gang, he was known as "The Eel". In six years of hair-breadth escapes and dangerous encounters he had got by, as the saying goes, by the skin of his teeth.

The Eel had more of a name than a record. The one or two times he had been apprehended, only circumstantial evidence could be scraped up against him.

There was no getting him with the goods.

And so he lived insolently, openly, defiantly, except where his mother was concerned. There the gangster became the youngster. A docile sort of mother-boy, subject to her whims, her desires and even her orders.

She still washed his neck for him, declaring he did it streakily. Laundered and ironed his shirts with her own willing hands. Importuned chest-protectors upon this man-son of hers who directed thefts, furnished the brain power to the blowing of safes and consorted with counterfeiters.

Indeed, some of the moneys that Mrs. Rosalsky doled out for her marketings and the furnishings that made the little five-room flat so homey, were made in a private mint under the control of her son.

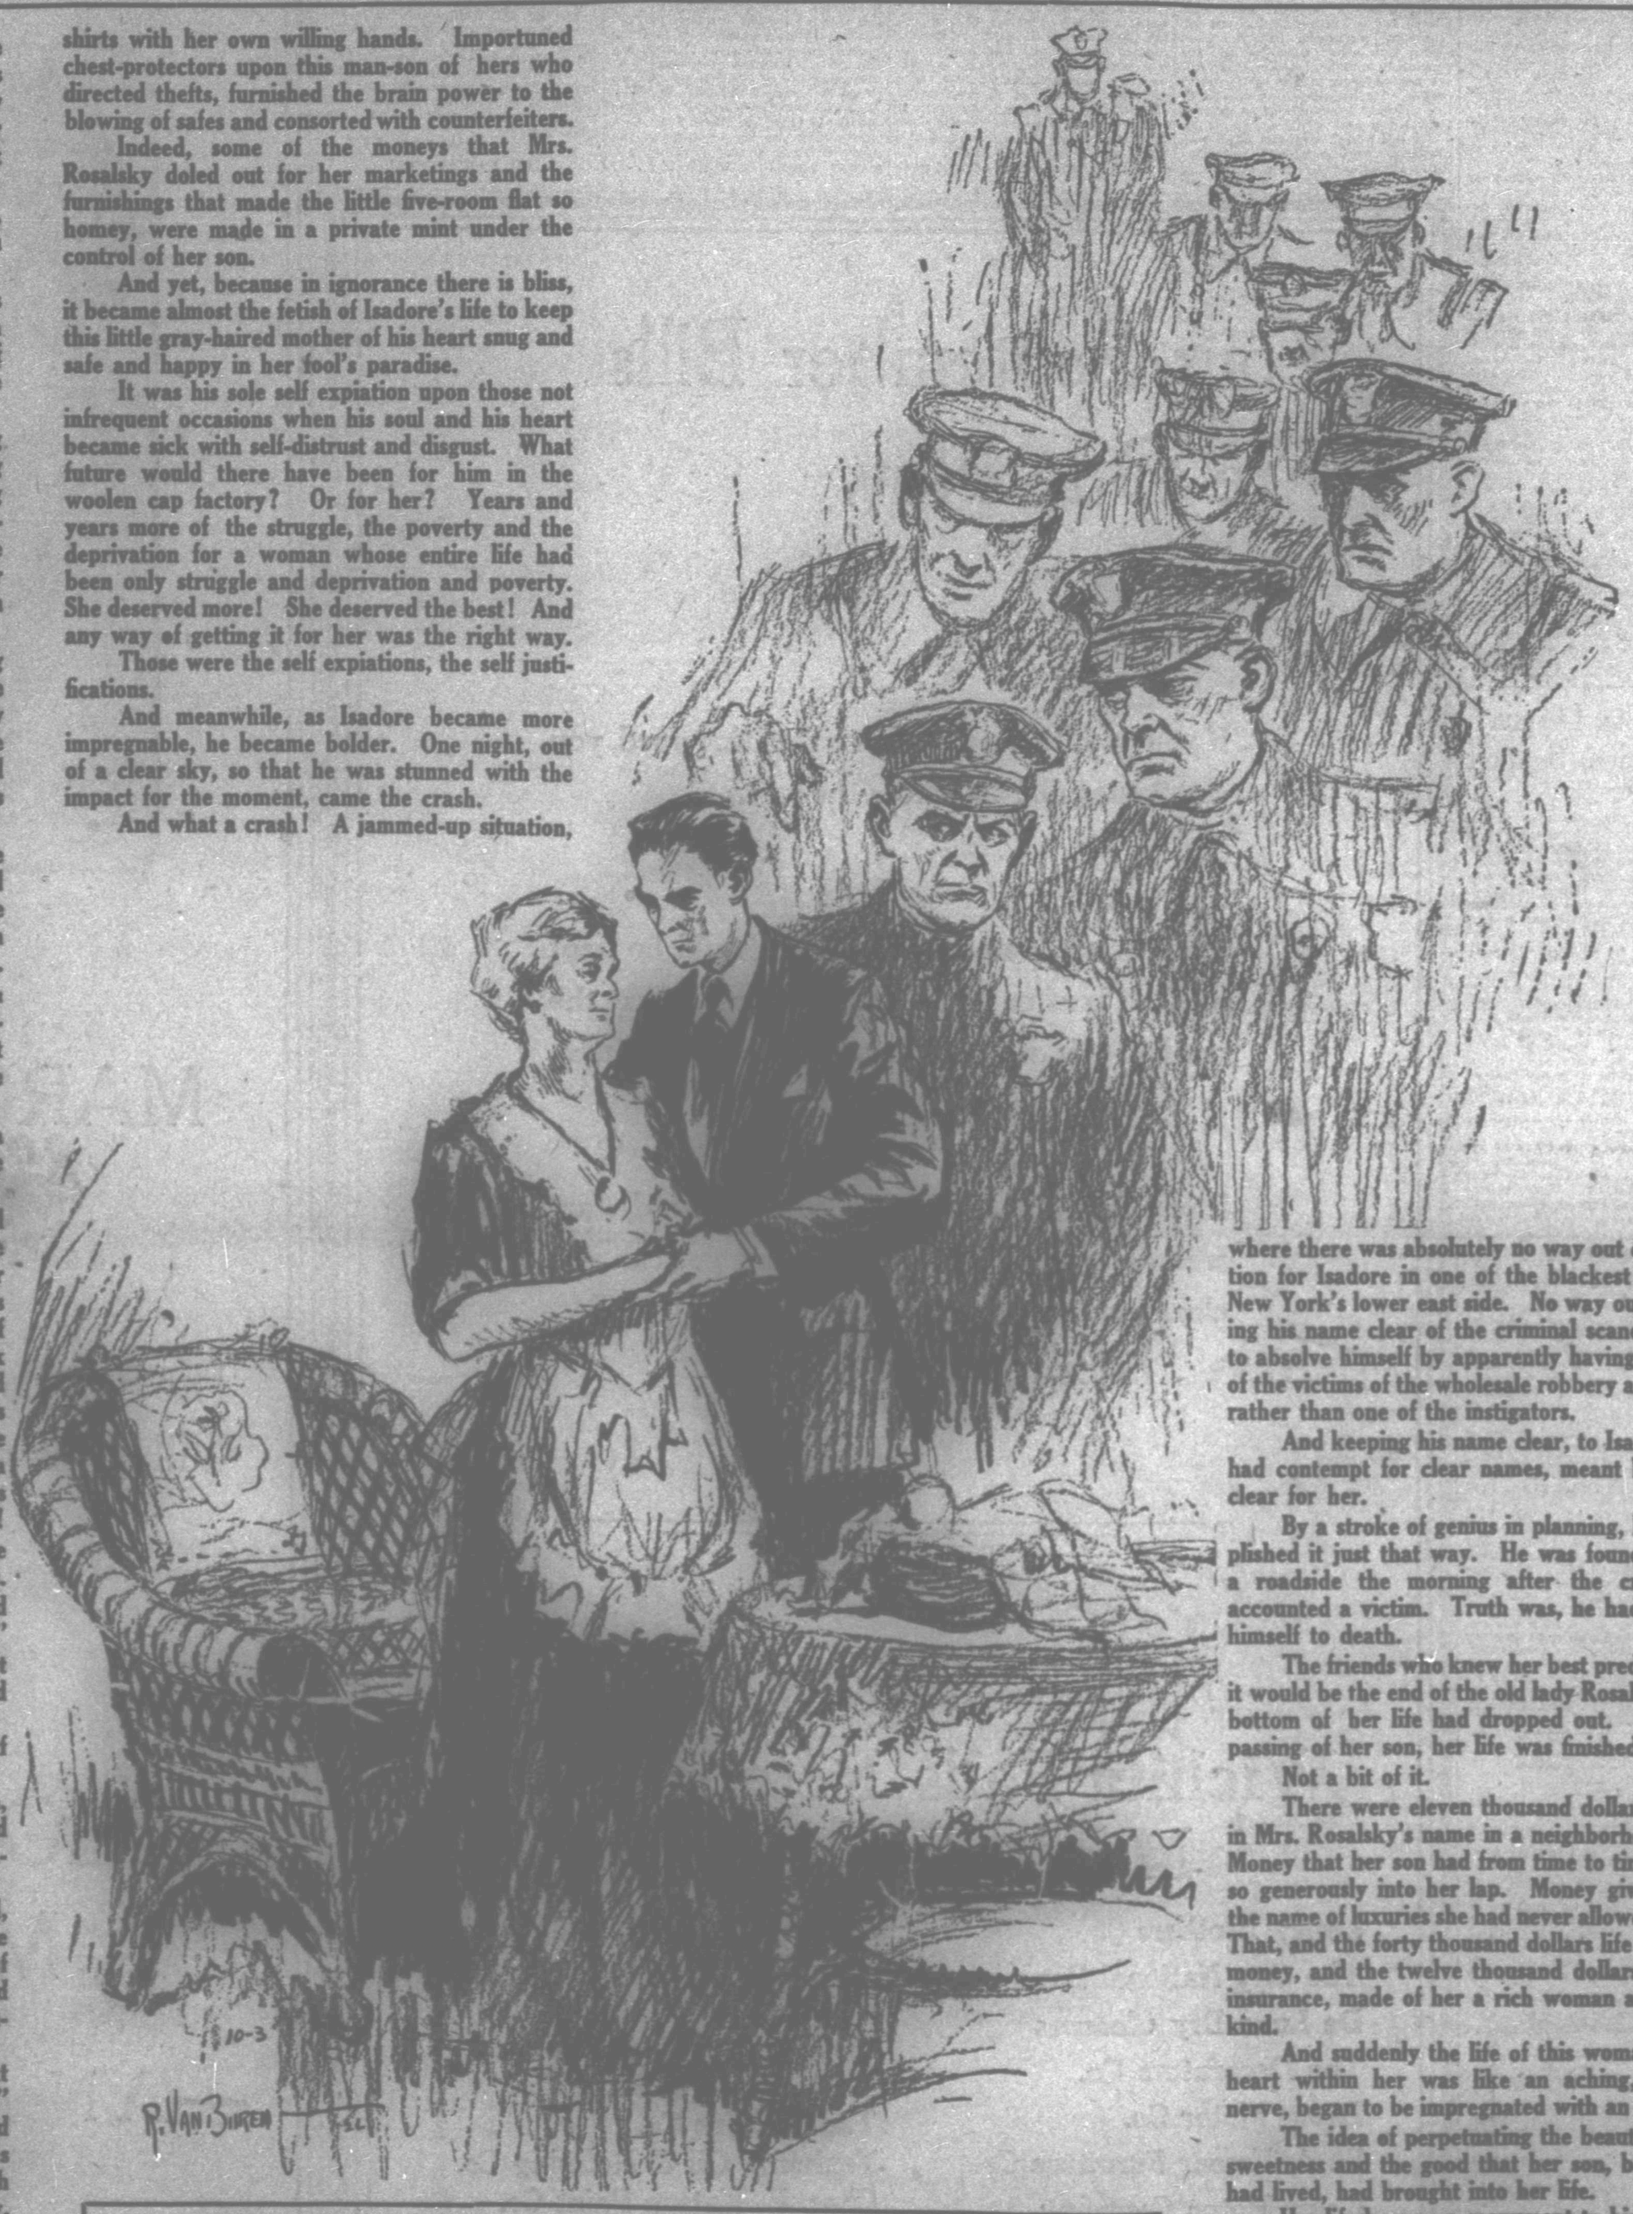

And yet, because in ignorance there is bliss, it became almost the fetish of Isadore's life to keep this little gray-haired mother of his heart snug and safe and happy in her fool's paradise.

It was his sole self expiation upon those not infrequent occasions when his soul and his heart became sick with self-distrust and disgust. What future would there have been for him in the woolen cap factory? Or for her? Years and years more of the struggle, the poverty and the deprivation for a woman whose entire life had been only struggle and deprivation and poverty. She deserved more! She deserved the best! And any way of getting it for her was the right way.

Those were the self expiations, the self justifications.

And meanwhile, as Isadore became more impregnable, he became bolder. One night, out of a clear sky, so that he was stunned with the impact for the moment, came the crash.

And what a crash! A jammed-up situation, where there was absolutely no way out of implication for Isadore in one of the blackest crimes of New York's lower east side. No way out of keeping his name clear of the criminal scandal except to absolve himself by apparently having been one of the victims of the wholesale robbery and killing, rather than one of the instigators.

Somehow, out of the poor mess he had made of it, the life of Isadore Rosalsky at last came to have justification.

Because a deluded and beloved mother kept her illusions about this son of her heart. Because an erring man sacrificed life itself to maintain the bliss of ignorance.

And keeping his name clear, to Isadore, who had contempt for clear names, meant keeping it clear for her.

By a stroke of genius in planning, he accomplished it just that way. He was found dead by a roadside the morning after the crime, and accounted a victim. Truth was, he had mangled himself to death.

The friends who knew her best predicted that it would be the end of the old lady Rosalsky. The bottom of her life had dropped out. With the passing of her son, her life was finished.

Not a bit of it.

There were eleven thousand dollars' savings in Mrs. Rosalsky's name in a neighborhood bank. Money that her son had from time to time poured so generously into her lap. Money given her in the name of luxuries she had never allowed herself. That, and the forty thousand dollars life insurance money, and the twelve thousand dollars accident insurance, made of her a rich woman among her kind.

And suddenly the life of this woman, whose heart within her was like an aching, jumping nerve, began to be impregnated with an idea.

The idea of perpetuating the beauty and the sweetness and the good that her son, because he had lived, had brought into her life.

Her life became a monument to his life.

The sweetest charity in the world, to her way of thinking, was the helping of children. To help the poverty-stricken ones, hampered by environment, toward the light.

And so, in the name of her son, whose light had flowed so profusely over her life, Mrs. Rosalsky started by subscription the now famous Children's Light House, toward which her own fifty thousand dollars was the first donation.

Thus it was, that somehow, out of all the poor mess he had made of it, the life of Isadore Rosalsky at last came to have justification.
