Turkish Troops Violate 12 Cease-Fire Provisions

United Press International

Turkish forces drove Greek Cypriot national guardsmen off a ridge overlooking the village of Pyroi south of the Cyprus capital of Nicosia Saturday in one of 12 alleged cease-fire violations on the strife-torn Mediterranean island.

Turkish Defense Minister Hasan Esat Isik told newsmen in Ankara that the 40,000-man Turkish invasion force, which sliced off a third of the island in a three-day offensive ending Friday, "will fully abide by the United Nations cease-fire."

But the Greek Cypriot-dominated Cyprus government listed 12 separate Turkish truce violations across the island and said President Glafkos Cleridos had made "strong representations" to the U.N. in protest.

An emergency committee of representatives from the Cyprus goverment and international and local Red Cross organizations asked Red Cross headquarters in Geneva for 50 tons of protein-rich food for an estimated 100,000 Greek Cypriot refugees driven from their homes by the Turkish advances of the past weeks. The refugees account for about one-fifth of the entire Greek Chpriot population.

A spokesman for the committee said the U.N. had offered to fly in large quantities of baby food and a mobile hospital from Beirut for the refugees, who pose an "emergency problem."

Turkish army Chief of Staff Gen. semih Sancar said in Ankara that Turkish troops suffered 250 killed and 550 wounded since the July 20 invasion, staged to ceate a autonomous zone for the Turkish minority on the island.

No comprehensive casualty figures are available for the Greek Cypriot national guard or for the intercommunal fighting between Greeks and Turks on the island since the coup by national guard officers favoring "enosis" —union of Cyprus with Greece —against President Archbishop Makarios July 15.

On the political front, Turkish Cypriot community leader Rauf Denktash said in Ankara that his constituents will set up their own goernment in the Turkish zone soon unless the Greeks agree to negotiate a federated Cyprus state in a new round of peace talks.

"If Greece and the Greek Cypriot administration reject a proposal for the resumption of the Geneva peace conference, then the Turkish community will establish its own administration on its own territories," Denktash told a news conference.

But Greece, which on Thursday decided not to enter the conflict because of oerwhelming military ods against it, rejects any new talks until the Turks give up the fruits on their aggression, diplomatic sources in Athens said.

In the most serious truce violation Saturday, Turkish forces captured the heights overlooking Pyroi —a village 21 miles southeast of Nicosia halfway between the capital and Larnaca —in a six-hour tank and artillery duel.

The village is now within range of Turish guns installed on the ridge, the Cypriot government said. It lies south of the 65-mile Attica line established by Turkish troops Friday from Lefka in the west to Famagusta in the east, which Turkey said was all it wanted to accomplish.

In another icident, the Turks bombarded the road from Nicsia to the international airport, where Canadian U.N. troops have held out since July 23 despite repeated shellings. The Canadians have orders to fire if fired upon, a U.N. spokesman said.

"The Turks want to try to get control of the airport," a U.N. source said. "They want to try to isolate the U.N. troops there so they will give up the airport."

In Famagusta, a Turkish commander said some of the 12,000 Greek Cypriots who fled the city earlier in the week had tried to return to their homes.

"We are not letting anyone into Famagusta just yet," he said. "I don't know when these people will be able to return to their homes.

Diplomatic sources said both British Ambassador Sir Robin Hooper who visited the Greek Foreign Ministry and U.S. envoy Hnry J. Tasca who met Premier Constanine Karamanlis were told the government was opposed to further negotiations under present conditons in Cyprus.

Greece would not go back to the negotiating table unless Turkish forces return to positions held prior to their thrust to the Attila Line which gave them one third of Cyprus and drove 100,000 Greek Cypriot refugees from their homes, the sources said.

Several hundred youthful demonstrators shouted "Americans out," "Kissinger murderer" and other anti-American slogans outside Karamanlis' Hotel Grande Bretagne residence.

New reports said a large anti-American demonstration took place Friday night in Heraklio, Crete, near an American communications base. They said three U.S. owned cars were burned by demonstrators.

An American spokesman said military personnel were advised to avoid moving outside their bases unless on duty or to go home.

The current wave of anti-Americanism in Greece was caused by disappointment over the American government's failure to prevent the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

Ethiopian Resignations Could Force Takeover

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Prime Miniter Michael Imru and at least four cabinet ministers were reported Saturday to have resigned in a move which could force an army takeover of the government of Ethiopia.

The resignations were reported by diplomatic sources to have been made after the army arrested Emperor Haile Selassie's chief of the 4,000-man force responsible for the Emperor's personal safety.

The sources said top army leaders were trying to persuade Imru to stay on and an amy spokesman termed the resignation reports "absolutely untrue."

But the sources insisted Imru was determined to step down rather than allow the army to arrest the four ministers, who have been charged with courruption.

"The Prime Minister has placed the army on the spot by thretening to quit," one diplomat aid.

"At the moment the military doesn' want to take over the country, but if the prime minister does resgn, it may be forced to form a full military government and this could spark another crisis here."

The ailing 82-year-old Selassie closeted himself in a downtown church for most of the day.

Imru and the cabinet ministers submitted the resignations after an emergency cabinet meeting called to discuss the military show of strength through the capital Friday.

The military coordinating committee which effectively runs the country announced it had arrested Maj. Gen. Taseffa Lemma, commander of the emperor's personal bodyguard.

Diplomatic observers said the arrest indicated that the elite royal force which had been split on whether to remain loyal to Selassie had now fully joined the army movement.

The diplomats said the arrest was another step in removing trusted aides to the emperor who ruled Ethiopia for 56 years under the title "King of Kings, Elect of God, Lion of Judah."

The army stripped Selassie of his remaining constitutional powers Friday by abolishing his crown council, military advisory council and court of justice.

The army revolted in February, demanding widespread reforms in the impoverished East African kingdom. Since then it has arrested at least 150 prominent Ethiopians accused of corruption under former governments.

Government sources said the army has stepped up its pressure on Imru to agree to the arrest of four of ministers in the cabinet he formed only three weeks ago but that the prime minister has threatened to resign if the men are arrested.

Although a proposed constitution drafted by the military would retain the monarchy while stripping the emperor of many of his traditional powers, diplomats described Selassie as a man without a throne and an emperor in name only.

They said that if the civilian cabinet did step down it would probably pave the way for a full military takeover of the country.

LA Airport Bomber Strikes Bus Terminal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Isaac Rasim, the so-called "alphabet bomber" who claimed responsibility for the fatal Aug. 6 blast at International Airport and another attempt at a bus terminal, called a newspaper Saturday to postpone a threatened bomb explosion in the city Sunday.

Leo Batt, assistant city editor of the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, said the newspaper received a telephone call Saturday afternoon from Rasim on behalf of Aliens of America.

"The Los Angeles Herald Examiner has received a new telephone communication from Aliens of America saying it has postponed its previously announced plan to detonate a bomb in a public place on Sunday," Batt said.

"The spokesman identified himself in the same manner as in previous calls to this newspaper," he said. "The Los Angeles Police Department and Federal Bureau of investigation have been informed of this latest telephone call."

Batt said Rasim, who has contacted the newspaper various times by telephone and tape cassettes, did not indicate when or if another bomb would be planted in the Los Angeles area.

The telephone call came as Los Angeles police were preparing to assign an extra 1,000 officers to try to prevent a bomb explosion which had earlier been threatened by Rasim at a crowded area of the city.

Lt. Pete Hagan said investigators were questioning the newspaper about the telephone call and gave no indication whether plans for the beefed up security would be changed.

The bomber last struck Friday night at the downtown Greyhound bus terminal, where he planted a 25-pound bomb in a locker, police said.

Police evacuated more than 1,000 persons from the terminal before finding the device and removing it to a bomb squad truck where its detonator device went off. No one was injured. The device was found after Rasim called the Herald Examiner Friday evening, pinpointing its location and threatening a new wave of violence in which the letters of "Aliens of America" would be "spelled out in blood across America."

FIRST WEEK ENDS

Ford Meets With Advisors

United Press International

Puttingin a longer day than he had planned, President Ford met Saturday with seven top advisers for talks devoted mainly to foreign policy, the economy and transition of power at the Whie House.

The President had planned a quiet afternoon t home with his family. But he worked late into the afternoon at the White House before going to a private dinner at the northern Virginia home of Gardner Britt, whose son dates Ford's daughter Susan.

White House officials maintained silence on prospective vice presidential nominees, saying only that Ford would announce his selection about Tuesday or Wednesday.

Part of Ford's day Saturday was devoted to dealing with what was described by the White House as an attempt to discredit vice presidential possibility Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Press Secretary Jerry terHorst reported after meeting with Ford that an extremist group apparently was behind anonymous allegations that Rockefeller had provided money to help disrupt the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

"President Ford has advised me that former (New York) Gov. Rockefeller has been and remains under consideration for the vice presidential nomination," terHorst said.

Ford, who danced until after midnight Friday at a party for Jordan's King Hussein, left his home in surburban Alexandria, Va., a half hour later than usual Saturday morning and arrived at the White House at 8:15 a.m. EDT.

He started the day's round of meetings 15 minutes later with Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., his chief of staff, and NATO Ambassador Donald Rumsfeld, a key member of Ford's transition team.

By noon, the President had conferred with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on a general review of foreign policy matters —especially the fragile truce on Cyprus —and held a lengthy discussion on the economy with White House counselor Kenneth Rush and L. William Seidman, a Michigan businessman temporarily advising on economic matters.

Ford scheduled no formal appointments for Sunday but was expected, as usual, to attend worship services at his neighborhood Episcopal church in Alexandria. The Ford family plans to move into the White from their Alexandria home on Monday.

Late in the day, the White House said Ford had signed two bills.

The first directs the secretary of agriculture to set up longrange planning and budgeting for replenishing trees and other resources in national forests.

The second authorizes the Atomic Energy Commission to provide more nuclear materials to foreign nations than had been previously allowed. It also gives Congress 60 days to veto such actions.

President Ford plunged into foreign affairs with a dinner for King Hussein Friday night, promising that the United States will keep working for peace in the Middle East.

Hussein, considered a friend of the United States, became the first visiting head of state of the week-old Ford administration. He was the guest of honor at a state dinner in the White House.

The President addressed Hussein directly in a toast. "By your wisdom and cooperation you set an example for all of us to follow," he said.

Cabot Gets Big Gun Tube Order

A $6,393,868 contract for the forging of 105 - millimeter M - 68 gun tubes has been awarded to Cabot Corp. of Pampa by the Department of the Army.

The announcement was made Saturday by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, and also by the office of US Senator John Tower.

The new contract is one in a series of gun tube orders received by Cabot for manufacture in the company's Machinery Division west of Pampa.

A company spokesman said Saturday the new contract, with delivery to start in February, 1975, would be completed in 10 months to one year.

He said the M - 68 gun is for the Main Battle Tank and that no new personnel or expansion of facilities would be necessary for the new order.

"We got the contract," he noted, "because we were the low bidder, but also because of our reputation for high quality workmanship and for delivery on schedule."

Rockefeller Spokesman Says Accusation 'Absurd'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's office has investigated and dismissed allegations that former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller helped finance disruption of the 1972 Democratic National Convention, the White House said Saturday.

Press Secretary Jerry terHorst told reporters that Jaworski's staff considers the matter completely closed." And a Rockefeller spokesman in Seal Harbor, Maine, described as "absurd" the accusation which was first made by an anonymous caller.

Rockefeller aide Hugh Murrow said members of the Rockefeller family, including the former governor, contributed to the 1972 presidential campaign "only after three months of negotiations produced an assurance that all funds from the Rockefellers would be used only New York State under the supervision of R. Burdell Bixby, our own state campaign manager."

The sequence of events left Rockefeller's status as a vice presidential contender in doubt. The fact that President Ford planned to announce his choice next Tuesday or Wednesday, although Jaworski's investigation might have been still incomplete at that time, could indicate that Rockefeller already had been eliminated for one reason or another.

It remained to be determined whether the allegations were made in a deliberate attempt to discredit Rockefeller.

They came from an anonymous caller who telephoned the White House last Sunday and asked to speak to Philip Buchen, Ford's old law partner who has since been named a presidential counsel.

Buchen talked on the telephone with the caller who would identify himself only as "Mr. Long," and later met with him in person in the Executive Office Building.

"Mr. Long" claimed to know the location of some 7,000 document in seven boxs which once belonged to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt and had been believed destroyed on orders of officials in the Nixon re-election campaign organization.

The caller said that among other things the papers contained evidence that Rockefeller money had been used to help finance the hiring of rowdies to disrupt the Democratic nominating convention as part of the continuing campaign strategy of trying to promote George McGovern's nomination.

Buchen relayed "Mr. Long's" information to Ford, who asked him to turn it over to Jaworski.

On Friday, the Chicago Tribune reported the incident, and early Saturday a White House official confirmed the story. Later, terHorst said that Ford had not actually requestd an investigation, but said he understood that one was under way and that investigators were hopeful of finding the papers, or copies of them, soon.

Less than an hour later he reported that the investigation had been concluded, that investigators had opened two bank deposit boxes where the tipster had said copies were located, and had found nothing.

"It (Jaworski's office) considers the matter completely closed," terHorst said, and indicated that he agreed.

TerHorst said it was now clear that the allegations against Rockefeller were "without foundation" and that "therefore it would appear that this matter should have no bearing on President Ford's consideration of a vice presidential nominee."

The unidentified tipster also told Buchen that the Hunt documents included evidence establishing links between former Attorney General John Mitchell and organized crime circles in New York. TerHorst said it was clear to him that this allegation also was unfounded.

President Ford not only still considers Nelson A. Rockefeller a vice presidential possibility but believes there was a deliberate attempt to discredit the former New York governor with anonymous allegations, the White House said Saturday.

Presidential Press Secretary Jerry terHorst reported Ford's position and the possible involvement of an extremist organization after announcing that the office of Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski had concluded from an investigation there was no truth to allegations that Rockefeller had provided money to help disrupt the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

"President Ford has advised me that former Gov. Rockefeller has been and remains under consideration for the vice presidential nomination," terHorst said.

The allegations came last Sunday from an anonymous informer who claimed that evidence documenting Rockefeller's involvement in the 1972 "dirty tricks" was contained in missing records which once were in the custody of convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

The incident and Ford's reaction to it prompted speculation that Rockefeller no longer was in the running.

Wallace Launches Attack On Democratic Party

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) —George Wallace, who insists the business at hand is for him to win election to another term as governor of Alabama, continued his attack Saturday on the party that may choose him as its Presidential nominee in 1976.

"Average men and women who have been Democrats all their lives do not associate themselves or relate with what they saw at the 1972 national Democratic convention," Wallace told the national committee meeting of the Young Deemocrats.

"The people spoke in explicit language that they do not want the so-called new left," Wallace said.

Wallace, the American Independent Party presidential candidate in 1968 and a Democratic contender for the nomination in 1972 until he was felled by a would-be assassin's bullet, left for an appearance in Lynchburg, Va., after addressing the Albuquerque gathering.

He touched on issues that catapulted him into national prominence in the past two presidential elections during his two appearances in Albuquerque. Wallace called for the restoration of state's rights and a revamping of the Democratic Party, primarily involving the selection process for its next presidential nominee.

Wallace called for a national primary system to broaden the party's selection process for presidential nominees. He also warned that the party's experience with a convention win by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., in 1972 might happen again in a similar set of circumstances.

"It is important for the party to come up with some type of primary system such as regional primaries or maybe national primaries that would give the people a more active role in the selection of the candidate."

Asked by newsmen whether he was a presidential candidate, Wallace said merely, "I'm a candidate for re-election as governor of Alabama.

IN LOUISIANA

Voters Decide Futures

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Faced with an off-year election in the uncertain wake of Watergate, small numbers of Louisiana voters Saturday decided the political future of Democratic Sen. Russell B. Long and seven incumbent congressmen.

Long, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, was expected to defeat Louisiana Insurance Commissioner Sherman Bernard aand Annie B. Smart, a momother of 13, for reereelection, but he wawas taking no chances.

The son of former Louisiana Gov. Huey P. Long reported he spent $235,000 in his re-election bid, while his two challengers combined raised only $11,000 for their campaigns.

The Senate race was the only statewide election, but voters in seven of Louisiana's eight congressional districts named party nominees for the November general elections.

Heading the list of incumbent representatives seeking to return to congress were F. Edward Hebert and Lindy Boggs.

Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, faced only token opposition in his bid for an 18th consecutive term.

Mrs. Boggs sought her first full term in Congress. She was elected last year to fill the unexpired term of her husband, former House majority leader Hale Boggs, who died in an Alaskan plane crash.

The stiffest non-congressional race was for a seat on the louisiana Supreme Court. Incumbent Pascal Calogero of New Orleans faced Jefferson Parish Sheriff Alwyn Cronvich and former New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison, who was attempting a political comeback.

Besides Hebert and Boggs, four other Louisiana Democratic congressmen faced minor opposition. They were Rep. Otto Passman, Joe Waggonner, John Breaux and Gillis Long.

Rep. John Rarick was opposed by three candidates but the conservative incumbent appeared well ahead in the race.

Louisiana's only Republican congressman, Rep. Dave Treen of suburban New Orleans, faced no primary opposition. He will meet state Rep. Charles Grisbaum in the November elections.

Da Nang Shelled

DA NANG (UPI) — Seven rockets slammed into Da Nang today in the heaviest day of fighting yet in the two-month Communist offensive against South Vietnam's second largest city.

North and South Vietnamese forces fought a seesaw battle for control of strategic Hill 52, about 19 miles southwest of Da Nang, military sources said.

Far to the south, opposing forces battled through a third night Friday on two fields within 50 miles of Saigon, the military command said.

Police sources at Da Nang, 370 miles north of Saigon, said five of the seven rockets fired just before dawn hit Voa Vang village at the edge of the city's airbase.

At least five civilians were killed and 15 wounded by the barrage of Soviet-made 122mm rockets, police said. There were no military casualties, but a C47 cago plane was damaged.

It was the fifth shelling of Da Nang since the Communist offensive began here July 17, spokesmen said. At least 112 rockets have hit the city and airbase.

Choir Record Now On Sale

The Pampa High School Choral Department has announced that the record of the 1973 - 74 Harvester Choirs has been received and will be on sale at Tarpley Music Store.

Those who purchased a record last spring are requested to pick theirs up at the music building at high school.

This record features songs that the award - winning choirs performed last year. Included in the album is the Concert Choir, mixed choir and the sophomore girls.

The Concert Choir recently received an invitation to the Vienna Austria Three City Music Festival, but director John Woicikowfski has indicated the invitation will be declined because the cost of the trip would inflict a severe financial hardship of the choir parents and the townspeople.

The public is urged to delay renewal and - or new subscriptions of magazines until the annual choir magazine drive starting Aug. 27th.

This is one of the ways the choirs serves the community and also raises money for its activities, according to Woicikowfski.

ABA Says Nixon Not Eligible For Immunity

HONOLULU (UPI) — In week-long sessions of the American Bar Association, the nation's top lawyers examined political ethics and ended by resolving that ex-President Richard Nixon should not get immunity but that the young men who refused to serve in Vietnam should get amnesty.

The 6,000 attorneys who attended the ABA's 97th annual convention here, returned home or relaxed on beaches Saturday after the final session in which they heard a message from President Gerald Ford telling them that the nation has "passed through some of its darkest hours." The talk was read by an aide to the President.

Leaders of the ABA faced the issueof Nimon immunity early in the meeting, but, because the delegates were occupie elsewhere, the House of Delegates could not gather a quorum to vote on it.

The resolution was later weakened and Nixon's name was taken out of it, leaving a general statement of the principle that no man is above the law. It was approved Tursday without debate.

In another resolution, acknowledging that the activities of man lawyers involved in the Watergate scandal was a reflection on the profession, the ABA affirmed that its professiona standards apply in politics as well as anywhere else.

Outgoing ABA President Chesterfield Smith, in his address to the convention, called fo legislation granting amnesty to the 30,000 young men who fled the country or went into hiding rather than serve in the armed forces during the Vietnam War.

The convention House of Delegates approved a resolution calling for "earned amnesty" for draft evaders now willing to serve in the armed forces or to provide alternative service.

In Ford's speech, read by Deputy U.S. Attorney General Lawrence H. Silberman, the President said the country has come through its recent trials "in a manner that can make lawyers proud of the laws of our land."

"Our nation has passed through some of its darkest hours," he said. "But the life of our land is perpetuated —and even regenerated -because of the righteousness of America, the wisdom of our judicial and legislative system, and the strength of character of the American people."

James D. Fellers, an Oklahoma City lawyer, became the ne president of the 185, member organization, succeeding Smith, who is from Lakeland, Fla.

Correction

Shooting Incident Reported

Two Pampa men remained in city jail Saturday following their arrest Friday night as a result of a shooting incident.

Police were called at 10:30 p.m. Friday to the 100 block of East Sunset Drive following a report that a gun had been fired during an altercation.

Jimmy Edward Victor, of 2700 Rosewood, was taken to Highland General Hospital where he was treated for a minor wound, then released. He later said he would not file charges in the incident.

Police arrested and booked for disorderly conduct the following persons:

William John Peppard, 18, of 628 ½ N. Russell; Roy Wathern Talbott, 23, same address; Michael Stone, 26, Pampa; and Max Roy Doan, 31 of 110 N. Faulkner.

Talbott was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon and was taken before Justice of the Peace E.L. Anderson, who set bond at $500.

In Municipal Court Talbott and Peppard were assessed fines of $202.50 each. They remain in custody in lieu of payment of fines.

The two other men posted bonds and were released.

California Boy Wins Derby

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Curtis Yarborough, 11, of Elk Grove, Calif., captured the 37th running of the All-American Soap Box Derby Saturday at Derby Downs with a photo finish decision over Mark Raber of New Philadelphia, Ohio, and Edward Myers of Conshohocken, Pa.

Yarborough, whose brother Bret finished second in last year's race but was declared the winner when James Gronen was disqualified, was clocked in 27.15 seconds as he guided his sleek golden racer down the 954-foot hill.

Kimberly Etchison of Anderson, Ind., was the only girl contestant to place in the top nine finishers. She took fourth place after gaining the semifinals with a close decision over Debra Meade of Muncie, Ind., and Vickie McKinney of Ventura, Calif.

Yarborough received a $3,000 scholarship for his victory. Raber, 12, won a $2,000 grant for second place, and Mayers, 12, was awarded a $1,000 scholarship for third place.

Other finishers were: fifth, Gregory Mock of Zanesville, Ohio; sixth, Layne Bryan of Hamilton, Ohio; seventh, Barry Cherney of Berea, Ohio; eighth, Kenneth Stead of Morrisville, Pa.; and ninth, Todd Shroyer of Troy, Ohio.

A screen door had been cut in order to gain entry. Missing items include a .270 bolt action rifle (either Winchester or Remington); a Remington 3006 slide action rifle; two cameras; two pairs of boots; a western hat; and other items including a coin collection.

Four Reps Endorse Clayton

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Four state representatives, including two committee heads and two Republican leaders, Saturday announced they will support Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, for speaker of the 1975 House.

The four—Reps. Ben Bynum, D-Amarillo, Joe Hubenak, D-Rosenberg, Robert Maloney, R-Dallas, and Ray Hutchison, R-Dallas — said Clayton is "the only candidate in the race with an unquestioned record of fairness to all members."

Clayton, Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, and Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, are considered the three leading candidates to succeed Speaker Price Daniel Jr., who is not seeking re-election.

Head appeared to have an early lead in the race, but that slipped somewhat when he joined ranks with the 63 Clayton both voted for the new constitution.

"We regard the claims made by the other candidates in the race to have 60 or 80 pledges apiece to be factually absurd," the four representatives said in a joint statement.

International Living Plan Student Guest In Pampa

Learning many things, about herself and the American culture, Mei-Chao Miranda Hu, born in Hsinchu, called "Wind Town" Republic of China, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kilgore, 1900 Holly Lane.

Miss Hu, following her 10-day stay in Pampa, will enroll at the University of Texas at El Paso, through the Experiment International Living Program.

Founded in 1932, the experiment is an independent, nonprofit, educational organization financed by fees, foundation grants, gifts and government contacts.

The Experiment's programs are based on the conviction that one best learns to understand another people and their culture by living among them as a member of the family.

Her Buddhists parents are both public officials and she is the second of six children (four sisters and a brother.)

Miss Hu, a gradate of the Department of Physics at National Taiwan Normal University in July, 1972, teaches Physics at Taipei Jen - Ai Junior Middle School.

Reading good books, collecting stamps, taking walks, watching TV and movies, climbing mountains, and playing soft ball and ping - pong and the zither, are among her interests.

Mei is accustomed to eating fresh fruits and vegetables, rice, fish and pork and has not yet found a favorite American food, but ice cream.

Following her two - year stay at the University and in Texas, Miss Hu will return to her former teaching position.

Party Set August 20th

Pampa City Panhellenic, an organization of local women who belong to national college sororities, will be holding an informal backyard party Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Stowers, 2015 Charles.

Panhellenic members encourage anyone who belongs to a college sorority which is affiliated with the National Panhellenic organization to attend the early fall event.

The backyard party will mark the beginning of the organization's 1974 - 75 year. New officers will be elected during the September meeting, and they will be installed at the installation banquet Oct. 15.

The organization's chief function is to acquaint high school graduates with national college sororities. Each spring, Pampa Panhellenic holds a coke party for high school senior girls, during which members explain the scope of life in a college sorority.

New Names, Probation Award For Confessions

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — Two admitted murderers were given probation and new identities Saturday in return for confessions that ultimately led to the conviction of former United Mine Workers president W.A. "Tony" Boyle for the 1969 Yablonski slayings.

Another admitted Yablonski assassin had his murder charges dismissed by President Judge Charles G. Sweet of Washington County Court.

Silous Huddleston, 65, and his daughter, Mrs. Annette Gilly, 34, were sentenced to two years in prison and placed on 10 years' probation by Sweet, who said the pair also would be taken "quite aways from Pennsylvania and given new identities."

But Sweet waived the two-year prison terms since Huddleston and Mrs. Gilly already had been in custody more than four years.

The judge also dropped state murder charges against William J. Turnblazer, former UMW District 19 president, whose confession and testimony led directly to Boyle's conviction last April.

Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter were assassinated while they slept in their Clarksville, Pa. home on New Year's Eve, 1969. The murders came three weeks after a bitter UMW election in which Yablonski unsuccessfully attempted to unseat Boyle.

Boyle, 72, is appealing his life prison term on state murder charges. In the meantime, he is serving a three-year federal term for diverting union funds to political campaigns.

Sweet said Huddleston and Gilly would be transported from Pennsylania to some other location in about a month. Court sources said the father and daughter would probably alter their physical appearances, perhaps by changing the color of their hair, and assume new names.

Mrs. Gilly's husband, Paul, and Aubran Martin were convicted of actually killing the Yablonskis. Another Cleveland man, Claude Vealey, confessed to also taking prt in the slayings.

Turnblazer, of Middlesboro, Ky., is currently serving a maximum 15-year federal term in connection with the Yablonski case.

The confessions of Huddleston and Mrs. Gilly in 1972 led to the convictions of two former UMW officials, William J. Prater, a union organizer from Huddleston's home of LaFollette, Tenn., and Albert E. Pass, District 19 secretary-treasurer.

Hostage Murder Tests Set

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — A justice of the peace Saturday said four .38-caliber slugs removed from the body of one of the hostages slain in desparado Fred Gomez Carrasoc's escape attempt will undergo ballistics tests to determine who fired the fatal shots.

J. W. Beler said it was believed the bullets which killed Julia Standley were fired from the pistol of inmate Rudolfo Dominguez. He said the state ballistics tests were routine.

Dominguez, Carrasco, Mrs. Standley and hostage Elizabeth Beseda were killed Aug. 3 in the shootout that ended the convicts' 11-day siege at the central prison unit.

Another inmate, Ignacio Cuevas participated in the escape attempt but was unhurt.

Beeler said an examination of Mrs. Beseda's body showed the bullet took a downward path indicating she was kneeling when executed by Carrasco who fired a powerful .357 magnum revolver.

He said bullets were recovered from only Mrs. Standley's body after the shootout.

Arts In Action Festival

AMARILLO — The Third annual Arts In Action Festival will take place at the Amarillo Civic Center Nov. 23 and 24.

According to Marshall Benjamin, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sub-committee in charge of the event, artists and craftsmen who are likely to participate in the show and sales are now being contacted.

"And the welcome mat is out to others," Benjamin contined. "We're anxious to have exhibitors from a five-state area at this year's festival."

More than 7,500 onlookers attended Arts In Action during the two - day show and sale in 1973. A larger audience is expected this year.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The Greater Lesson

For those who will listen, the case of Richard Nixon has served the cause of individual liberty. The American people now have seen the brutal face of poltical power, and if there is any collective widsom in the masses it will be used to reduce the power that high political office holds.

We have indicted the political system and suggest that the mere resignation of Richard Nixon from office will not of itself benefit the cause of individual liberty.

We do believe, however, that the full exposure of all the power dealings and the manner in which political friends and foes dealt with the issues are a valuable experience for the tax payer who has seen that the holder of political office is not a saint, either in the White House, the Senate or the House.

Public attention has been focused on the system of political government at the federal level as never before, and the thoughtful American surely has seen that entirely too much power exists. This, we believe is worthwhile.

It is imperative that more individual Americans realize the danger in a political system directed by an all - powerful executive branch which for the most part has no accountability to the tax payer.

It has become a system in which the mere philosophy of the chief executive, a frame of mind, a simple suggestion can set in motion an involved chain of events which plays havoc with the private economy and personal lives of individuals.

Mr. Nixon was as much a victim of the system as is the individual tax payer. We finally learned by his own admission, which came only when he was compelled to release more damaging evidence, that he used his high office to interfere with an investigation of a criminal act.

For the rational layman, the case is closed. All that remains is talk, that peculiar manipulation of the English language which seeks to minimize, justify or rationalize overt criminal action.

Mr. Nixon, of course, rationalized his actions as necessary in defense of the Presidency. Whether he truly believed it or not, he stuck to his claim that what he did was not an impeachable offense. For anyone else, obstruction of justice is a crime. For the President, it is not. That is the rationalization we have been asked to accept.

Clearly the awesome power of the Presidency does strange things to the human mind. Mr. Nixon suggested the President was above the law, and although many of his allies deserted he still has some support in that belief.

Americans will now take comfort in the fact that an impeachment process exists under the Constitution, an assurance that there still are limits to the exercise of power.

Now, that the air has cleared, it has been suggested that the government is clean and wholesome once again.

Perhaps the new President will tread more softly lest any extreme measures rekindle the public fury. But it is not the extreme which should concern us. The danger to individual liberty is the normal activity of the powerful political state.

Watergate has shown us that the power has been there all along.

The most valuable lesson we can learn from it is that the monstrous error of America has been the construction of a political machine which somehow is to miraculously take over the business of living from individual responsibility.

STAY WELL WITH CHIP

How To Be Solvent While Ill

by VICTOR RIESEL

These days acronyms run wild. There is, for example, CHIP — standing for Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan. But what is the plan which ex - President Nixon saw as the answer to the needs of the people, namely, quality health care for all the people, without bankrupting them? I asked former newsman, Cap Weinberger, now Secretary of HEW, to explain. Here he does, in a reply written exclusively for this column:

By C. WEINBERGER
HEW Secretary

WASHINGTON — Over the decades, step by step, a generous and compassionate America has created unmatched personal security benefits for each and every citizen — always with the hope that we were not dampening individual incentive for personal achievement.

For those who retire there is Social Security. For those who lose a job there are unemploymnet benefits. And for those unable to survive on their own, at least temporarily, there is welfare.

In the past 25 years particularly, we have made remarkable progress toward providing equal opportunity for all to lead a full, productive life. The doors to opportunity have been opened to millions of our fellow countrymen in such key areas as education, jobs and voting.

And, in the last 15 years, the combination of judicious government programs and the great uplifting force of a private enterprise economic system have joined to bring about a major decrease in our low - income population of some 42 percent — from 39.5 million down to 23 million. And in the past six years we have cut taxes by $3 million a year for those with income of $5,000 or less.

Our next step in this field must be to insure that the public - private partnership continues to reduce the problem of low income without providing any incentives to stay on the public assistance rolls.

Right now the administration is proposing another advance in the building of equal opportunities — with its Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan (CHIP). As the President has noted:

"Without adequate health care, no one can make full use of his or her talents and opportunities. It is thus just as important that economic, racial and social barriers not stand in the way of good health care as it is to eliminate those barriers to a good education and a good job."

We believe a reformed health care system that would provide quality care for all is vital; but the change must preserve the freedoms of all segments of our existing health care system and the personal doctor - patient relationship. CHIP would build on and improve the historic accomplishments of our private health system, which has given us the finest health care in the world — closing its gaps, and providing every American with access to quality health care regardless of economic status.

CHIP, of course, would require financial contributions from every person, but on an afforadable sliding scale with definite dollar limitations. If some contribution based on ability to pay is not required, then the European experience shows the system would be so overloaded with marginally necessary coverage that those really in need of treatment would suffer. When necessary, state and federal governments would provide subsidies but no new federal taxes would be required.

A very broad package of health benefits — identical for all — would be available. For example, every individual would be guaranteed protection against the cost of a lengthy serious illness. The maximum family liability in any one year would be $1,500 — less for low - income and elderly people. Presently, individuals with lingering illnesses can be hit by medical costs which can soar into the tens of thousands of dollars in a single year. Most existing health plans do not supply adequate financial protection against such catastrophes, and about 25 million people do not participate in private insurance plans at all.

CHIP would provide for out - of - hospital prescription drug costs, in addition to in - hospital drugs. A $50 per person deductible would be charged.

Hospital and physicain services would be covered without dollar ceilings. These medical services, however, would be subject to evaluation by Professional Standards Review Organizations. PSROs would necessary care, hospital admission and length of hospital stay.

Special and preventive services for children, without dollar limitations, would be included. It is a well - known fact that preventive health care services are particularly important in maintaining good health and should be used at regular intervals. Statistics show rhat use of these types of services have a high long - term economic payoff; however, these services are the ones least used by low - income families. We expect CHIP to encourage the use of such services as well as child care, eye and ear examinations, vision care and routine dental care.

Mental health care (including drug abuse and alcoholism), post - hospital extended care and home health visits would be provided.

Every subscribing American would be issued a health card — a "charge now, pay later" system for the payment of expenses borne by the individual, since this health card would guarantee payment, admission to health facilities would be eased and discriminations against patients would be eliminated.

CHIP is a plan that would minimize federal activity in health care while at the same time guaranteeing that comprehensive, identical benefits are available to all Americans at costs they can afford. It is a rational reform which is in my opinion, overdue — and I hope that the Congress enacts it this ear.

Saved By God's Plan

Christ means more to me than I could ever tell. I was born with a very common birth defect, cerebral palsy. The doctors gave no hope for me and very little for my mother. But thank God that He had a plan for both our lives. My mother has gone through a lot for me and I thank God for her. It has not been easy for either one of us, but I feel that it has been well worth it all. I know that God makes no mistakes, and I also know that His plan is going to work. I can walk, talk, use my hands, read, write and do so many things that seem impossible with man. But the Bible tells me that I can do all things through Christ which strengthens me.

I have been saved for almost eight years and I thank God for it. It's great to know I have a home in Heaven and that all my family can meet around God's throne eternal someday. I have heard people talk about what they would like to do the first ten thousand years in glory. But the things I would like most to do when I get to Heaven is to praise the Lord and do the things I cannot do down here.

I am so thankful for the strength God has given me that I could type and share my testimony with you. I truly hope you will receive a blessing from it. I have a speech defect and so many people can't understand me, so this is one way I can tell others what Christ has done for me.

Keep up the good work. See you in Heaven.

WONDER HOW many have forgotten the frustration caused last winter by the current year - around Daylight Savings Time Law?

Well, since the law was put into effect for two years, the same thing will be happening again this winter unless the whole Congress takes heed of a recommendation turned in a few days ago by a House subcommittee recommending that Standard Time be reinstated at least for the four shortest winter months.

Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, it is understood, joined with a number of congressmen in an effort to have the Daylight Savings Time year - around law taken off the books.

The current law probably hits Pampa and this area of the Central Time zone harder than sections in the middle and eastern parts of the zone. Pampa is slightly more than 100 miles from the western edge of the time zone and the sun rises and sets nearly an hour later. Morning is when it causes the trouble. Of course, it adds a lot of daylight in the evening.

A return to Standard Time during November, December, January and February should bring a happy solution to the time controversy.

★★★

TALKING WITH a couple of Pampa housewives, it was discovered that manufacturing home - made ice cream isn't the inexpensive fun it used to be.

For instance —

One has a 6 - quart freezer and it costs her $5.70 for all the ingredients that go into producing a gallon and a half of ice cream.

Broken down the cost is as follows: ice, $1.49; sugar, 75 cents; whipping cream, 45 cents; eggs, 50 cents; milk, $1.47, and two cans of evaporated milk, 84 cents. Total, $5.70.

Of course, if you add labor at the minimum wage the cost of six quarts of home - made ice cream would jump $2 or $3 more.

Six quarts of the best grade of ice cream could be bought in a store for less than $2.

However, don't throw away the freezer. In spite of the additional cost, you'll find members of the family love the taste of your home - made ice cream. Besides that — look at all the fun you have making it.

QUITE A bit of conversation has been going the rounds over what many say came as a surprise in these days of inflation which engulfs just about everything.

The "surprise" to most was the announcement of a reduction in the local school tax rate from $1.84 to $1.80.

Why is it, one woman asked, that the school tax rate can be cut 4 cents and the city tax rate is increased 23 cents? Well, that sounds like a pretty good question.

We suspect, however, that if she will call the mayor or city manager or any one of the city commissioners they can give her the answer very quickly.

The school system gets help from the state. The city doesn't. The school system is not faced with digging up around $130,000 to pay salary increases.

Taxpayers keep demanding more and better services. The school system doesn't have to dig up the money for garbage collection, street paving, sewage treatment, water distribution, park development, etc.

Except for a federal grant here and there that pays part of some costs, all city services are paid for out of local tax money.

And to top it all off, there is word from City Hall that if the nation's inflationary trend does not take an appreciable down - turn the city tax rate may have to be hiked again for fiscal 1975 - 75.

THE COURT House Cat came out of hiding a couple of days ago to report all is not serene on proposed salary increases for the county judge and major elected county officials.

The raises, which still are being studied, range all the way from $400 a month for the judge, $200 a month each for sheriff, tax collector, treasurer, county clerk, district clerk, and county attorney; $100 a month for county commissioners, justices of the peace and constables, and around $50 to $75 a month for other county employes.

The Cat tells us some changes may be made before it's all finalized in mid - September.

Questionnaire For Parents?

By DR. M. RAFFERTY

Q — "Is there some questionnaire that could be sent home for parents to evaluate teachers and yet protect teachers from irate parents? Last year here there was one teacher who was rehired, much to the chagrin of many parents. We've hesitated to keep complaining. That would make us look like troublemakers and possibly create bad feeling that would result in some unfair treatment of the child in that room. Too, we felt that this teacher's obvious lack of ability would be apparent, but a reshuffle in administrative personnel made it impossible for those doing the rehiring to know each teacher that well. The parents were not ased for their opinion.

"To keep this from happening again, could you offer us a suggestion?" — Mrs. B.H., Orlando, Fla.

A — I know of no questionnaire for parental use in evaluating teachers. If any of my readers know of one, how about letting me know?

However, Mrs. B.H., nothing prevents you from suggesting to your school board and superintendent the idea of a parents' advisory committee which would be given the responsibility of constructing just such a device.

Q — "I'm enclosing a clipping about something called a 'middle school' to be created in the Valley Park School District (a St. Louis suburb). It's going to feature 'miniclasses' and 'departmentalized instruction.'

"Can you translate all this into plain English?" — E.E.B., Kirkwood, Mo.

A — Sure:

1 — A "middle school" is just a junior school containing grades 6, 7 and 8 instead of only grades 7 and 8. The theory here is that sixth graders have more in common with seventh and eighth graders than they do with fifth graders. I know of no research which demonstrates that this is true, but I see no particular harm in it.

2 — A "miniclass" is a class held for a fewer number of weeks than a regular semester.

3 — "Departmentalized instruction" means exposing elementary school pupils to separate classes in such areas as science, math, history, music and so on, instead of having one teacher teach all the subjects.

Q — "Speaking of the current confusion of words and what's happening to the English language, what do you think of this one?

"I bought a scatter rug for the kitchen in one of our stores. On the tag attached, there was this:

"'Rug pile: 100 percent miscellaneous fibers of undetermined origin.'

"I thought perhaps it was made in Hong Kong, but no. 'Made in U.S.A.' was also on the tag." — A.H., Sioux City, Iowa

A — How intriguing! Maybe the fibers are extraterrestrial in origin. A UFO rug, perhaps? Have you considered the possibility that you are the possessor of a flying carpet? Try issuing commands to it, but wear your crash helmet.

Q — "Amen — to your column on importing 'Red professors' from Chile. I wish you would write one on having Congress cleaned up. Audit each member's tax payments for the last five years. I'm sure the country would be richer and we would have some badly needed new faces in Washington.

"Why don't you?" — M.L.G., Gadsden, Ala.

A — For two reasons:

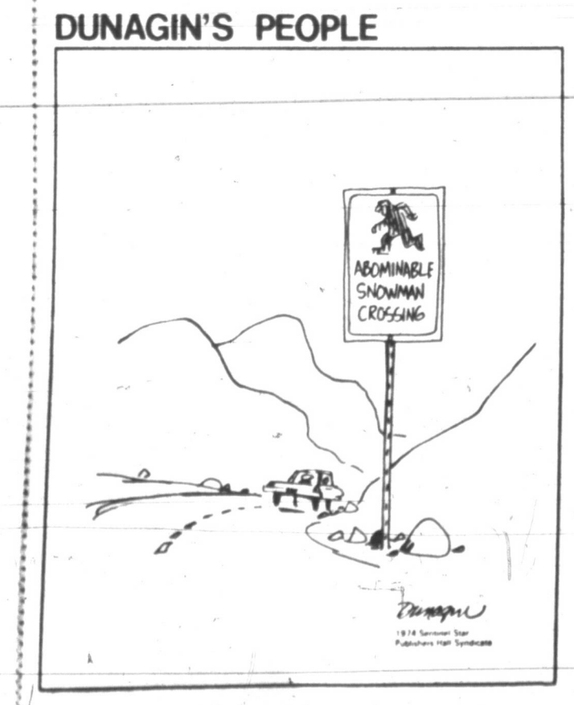

1 — I try to concentrate on educational topics, with a few exceptions now and then.

2 — If we were to do as you suggested I fear we would have no Congress at all. Then we would have to depend completely on TV for comedy relief.

(Dr. Rafferty welcomes questions for use in this column once each week, but regrets he cannot answer all mail personally. Please send your questions to him in care of this paper.)

'Irene' Brings Glamour Back To Old Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is refreshing in these uncertain years of the theater to find a long term commitment being carried out, as in the case of the "Irene" musical.

Such contracts can be drawn in good faith by all parties concerned, yet, after a couple of years, there can be various developments beyond control of any of those involved that nullify the original plans. There have been numerous examples.

So, when I talked to Debbie Reynolds way back there in the fall of 1972 as she was rehearsing for the revised revival of 1919's "Irene," I made a mental reservation, out of experience, when she told me that she would be taking a leave of absence from the show after a year, then come back to it for a long tour.

Matter of fact, who knew at that time that "Irene" would run a year on Broadway?

Well, it has done so, and beyond that, and here comes Miss Reynolds back off the big time night club circuit, including London, to take up where she left off last February, just as promised.

Jane Powell moved into the title role of the musical at the Minskoff Theater last February when Miss Reynolds had to leave to meet prior commitments to night clubs. Miss Powell kept the nostalgic entertainment afloat in good fashion for more than seven months.

Miss Reynolds returns to the cast for the show's final New York week, Sept. 2 through Sept. 7. She will continue with it as an extensive national tour is undertaken, beginning with an engagement at the Arie Crown Theater in Chicago on Sept. 11.

Ensuing engagements include Dallas, Los Angeles, Houston, and Oklahoma City, where current bookings end next Jan. 25. If the tour continues after that, Miss Powell may have to spell Miss Reynolds because the latter again will have other commitments to meet.

But, if the producers decide to take the production to London after that, as well they might, don't bet that Miss Reynolds won't be aboard.

Frank Loesser, noted compser and lyricist, has been dead these several years, but there is a new show of his in the making.

Research Finds New Acupuncture Use

By ELDON BARRETT

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— Three University of Washington medial researchers say acupuncture as a dental anesthesia has effects similar to those of 33 percent nitrous oxide.

Acupncture is an ancient Chinese technique of manipulating needles in sensitive spots in the body to relieve pain. Nitrous oxide is a form of anesthesia commonly known as laughing gas.

Dr. C. Richard Chapman, assistant professor holding joint appointments in the university's departments of anesthesiology, psychiatry and psychology, says the findings of him and his colleagues suggest that acupuncture techniques could be developed for the treatment of dental patients who are too sick or too weak to take normal dental anesthesia.

Acupuncture could also be used for those patients who are unwilling to accept an anesthetic injected in the mouth but who will accept acupuncture needling in the hand, he said.

The research also shows that acupuncture produces partial rather than complete pain relief.

Chapman and Drs. John D. Gehrig, professor of oral surgery in the dentistry school, and Michael Wilson of the anesthesiology department simulated dental pain by applying several intensities of electrical shock to the teeth of experiment volunteers.

Some of the volunteers received acupuncture stimulation in the fleshy part of the hand between the thumb and forefinger. Others were administered nitrous oxide. A third group, used as experiment controls, received neither.

Chapman said that compared with the control group, both the nitrous oxide and acupuncture groups showed a significant, though small, decrease in sensitivity to pain.

"The real payoff from the use of acupuncture in dentistry will be what we will learn about the nature of dental pain," said Chapman.

Chapman recently returned from the People's Republic of China, where he accompanied 11 other pain researchers and physicians on a three-week tour of medical facilities in Peking, Canton and Shanghai.

The group witnessed 48 operations with the use of acupuncture, including oral surgery. One oral surgeon told Chapman that although he uses a local anestheti for most of his cases to save time, he prefers acupuncture and has actually used acupuncture anesthesia for approximately 2,000 cases.

The Chinese surgeon told Chapman that the acupuncture technique in China is safe and the dental patient recovers more quickly than with other forms of anesthesis.

Surveyors Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon were accused of star gazing when they set a large flint stone and a telescope on a farm in Chester County near Philadelphia in 1764. They used both as surveying aids in establishing the boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Sails May Replace Cargo Ships' Fuel

By DOUGH ORSON

SYDNEY (UPI) — It costs a lot of money, and fuel, to power modern cargo ships: $1,050 for seven or eight tons of oil consumed a day. And the bill grows bigger all the time.

So why not, figures an Australian naval architect, bring sails back and put them to work moving freight across the seas. Like the fabled windjammers of old.

That's exactly what Warwick Hood is designing: A cargocarrying sailing vessel that would save its operators hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in fuel costs.

The sailing ship will be a 275-foot four-masted steel-hulled schooner of 2,200 deadweight tonnage carrying 33,000 square feet of sail.

Hood said the schooner was ordered by a group with extensive trade interests in the Pacific and would carry mainly timber, although the design would allow the transport of other types of cargo.

"A conventional ship of similar size would have an operating fuel consumption of about seven or eight tons a day," Hood said.

"A cargo sailing vessel designed to make use of modern technology would therefore save about 700 Australian dollars ($1,050 U.S.) a day, or about $200,000 annually infuel costs."

"My client's fuel bill has jumped by nearly 50 percent in the past few months and a sailing vessel is a common sense, practical solution to a situation that could become critical in the future," Hood said.

Hood said the vessel will have scheduled ports of call and "won't be tramping around the Pacific looking for cargo."

The schooner will have a year round average operating speed of 12 knots —slightly slower than a similar size conventional ship.

It will be equipped with a 400 h.p. auxiliary engine, compressed airdriven winches and satellite weather guidance systems.

"AT WIT'S END"

By ERMA BOMBECK

The way everyone talks about recycling you'd think it was something new. Big deal. Our family has been doing it for years.

We never throw anything away ... clothes, furniture, appliances, toys, canning jars, maternity clothes ... cars ... we just call up the family and say, "I'm weeding out my treasures so if you want to look through before I give them the pitch" ... and before you can hang up there are 30 cars in the driveway.

More junk has been reprieved from the jaws of the Goodwill and Salvation Army than anyone wants to admit.

When I was first married it wasn't unusual for me to drop the phone and head for the car shouting, "Pat is getting rid of her hot water heater." My husband said I clocked more hours in a U - Haul than I did in my marriage bed.

There wasn't anything too tacky to be used again. A maternity dress with a knot in the drawstring ... a sleeping bag without a zipper ... a freezer that heated up ... a washer with parts available only behind the Iron Curtain ... a dress that could be worn and used to dust the piano at the same time ... a pair of boots with a hole in the sole ... all were goodies that we fought over like feeding time at the zoo.

I guess nothing generated more excitement than when one member of the family bought something new. I recall when my Aunt Louise bought a new chair, everyone moved up a chair. Her daughter inherited her old chair that had survived three cats in diapers. With the cat chair, her chair with the faded slipcover went to my mother. Mother's chair with the grease stains from Dad's hair dressing went to my sister. Her chair with the spring that came through the cushions came to me and my chair with the rip in the cording went to my cousin, Virginia. Her chair ... well, all in all, 15 people played the game of musical chairs.

The handing down of clothes was probably worse. Wearing a discarded dress out was like going to a Hollywood wedding. It was risky to make any comment as everyone at one time or another had had custody of the dress.

The other day I collected a large pile of stuff in the garage. "I think the economy is worse in this country than it has ever been before," I said to my husband.

"What makes you say that?"

"Look at the quality of this junk," I said picking up a Nehru jacket.

"This stuff looks familiar," he said.

"It should," I sighed. "It's EXACTLY the same pile of junk I offered ten years ago and now it has all come back full cycle. I don't know what the world is coming to."

The Newest You
BY ANN D. ALLEN

Food costs continue to spiral up, sad to relate. Economy's still the watchword in most American families.

Fortunately, the summer months make that economy easier because a hearty salad can be the mainstay of the meal. Everyone is familiar with the old favorite, potato salad, when fortified with frankfurters, cold cuts or deviled eggs.

There are others, too. One favorite is a tuna salad which can be made in many ways. Another is poached fish fillets to which is added a bit of shrimp or crab meat; the latter two are fairly expensive, but they are neatly extended with plain fillets, flaked and cooled.

Still another interesting main dish salad calls for noodles, cooked and chilled. Then they're mixed with cottage cheese, dairy sour cream, caraway seeds, grated raw carrots and radishes.

Or, what about mixing cooked, chilled noodles with cubes of Swiss or Muenster cheese and some crunchy foods like chopped celery and green pepper, then ringing the bowl with bright, cheeky cherry tomatoes? If you like, add just a taste of meat with thin-sliced smoked ham from a 3-ounce package or sliced, spunky salami.

Altrusa Delegates Will Attend Waco Conference

Delegates and alternates for the District Nine Conference of Altursa International, Inc. were elected at the regular business meeting recently of the Pampa Club. Geneva Tidwell, president and Glyndene Shelton, vice - president of the local club will be delegates on Oct. 18 - 20 in Waco, Tex.

Vermell Meador, District Nine First Vice - Governor and Genevieve Henderson, who is completing her term as membership committee member for the district, will be alternates.

Mildred Prince introduced the speaker, Mrs. Alice Gray, director of the Community Day Care Center. Mrs. Gray told requirements for employees, volunteeers, and the children as set - up by the federal guide lines.

Since they have not yet qualified for funds to provide food for the children, local church groups and clubs have been supplying them with breakfast mid - morning supplement, lunch and mid - afternoon supplement. They do receive milk from the milk fund.

Household items are needed, especially cribs and training panties since a major portion of their enrollment of 40, is under three years of age. A dishwasher is needed in order to decrease spread of germs among the children.

Any item the center cannot use, will be sold to raise money for needed items.

Mrs. Gray said, "We are also in need of volunteer help, especially men with carpentry knowledge or abilities."

Blondie wonders: should she "resist an officer?"

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: While I was driving my car, a traffic officer suddenly appeared, and signaled for me to pull over. I promptly obeyed and asked him what I had done wrong.

He asked me to get out of the car, and when I did, he looked me over—but good. Then he asked me for my driver's license, which I gave him. Meanwhile, I was trembling like a leaf.

I noticed that he made a note of my name and address. Then he said: "You were exceeding the 35 mile-per-hour speed limit—but if you let me see you when I'm off duty, I'll call this a 'warning'." Then he smiled and told me his first name.

Abby, I was NOT going over the speed limit, and I was angry because he tricked me into stopping. Besides, I have a boyfriend and I'm not interested in seeing anyone else, but I didn't want a ticket so I said, "Okay."

Now, what if he calls me? BLONDIE

DEAR BLONDIE: Tell him if he wants to charge you with "resisting an officer" to go ahead, because he's not all that irresistible.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you had something in your column about people who have a misdemeanor on their record and how to get it removed.

At age 18, I was wrongly accused of being an accomplice to a minor shoplifting offense. (Ten dollars.) Being very much upset by the whole thing, I didn't fight the charge. I just went to court, paid the fine and it was put on my record.

I am now 21, married and want to apply for employment, but the previous job (where the shoplifting incident took place) was the only one I've ever had, so I wonder if you can help me.

I don't think a person should be penalized the rest of his life for one minor mistake at an early age.

If it's possible to get this off my record, how do I go about it? BEWILDERED

DEAR BE: If you have been in no legal difficulty for a year following the incident, go to the Probation Department and inquire about the possibility of "sealing" your records. Once they are sealed, it is as though they never existed and you may apply for a job without mentioning the fact that at one time you had this on your record. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Was I ever glad to see that letter in your column from "Foolish Question," whose mother kept insisting that she felt pain in her leg—which had been amputated.

It was not a foolish question, and I am glad you didn't tell her she was "nutty" as so many call me when I tell them that my toes itch when, indeed, I have no toes.

I had my leg amputated below the knee, and one day when I was all alone sitting on my bed, the stump started jumping up and down on the bed. I couldn't even hold it still with my hands!

By the time the doctor arrived, it had stopped jumping, but he explained that nature, which is a wonderful thing, was "rebelling." There should be more nerves in my leg than I had, and nature was letting me know it.

You did a lot of amputees a big favor by printing that letter. Now, when we tell people that some part of our anatomy that isn't there is itching or throbbing or giving us pain, they won't look at us like we're loony.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 18

Your birthday today: Personal adjustment features your year. Make sure standards for changes are your own. Much of this year's activity relates to interests far beyond personal concerns, so don't be overly selfish. Devote yourself to, and be truthful in, relations. Today's natives are sympathetic, generally good-humored, often talented in literature.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: This Sunday is apt to be strenuous, so pace yourself evenly. Attend to the usual amenities on schedule, earlier if possible, then take things as easy as circumstances permit.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Emotional expression is mixed and volatile. In many enterprises it's better to go it alone. You are unwittingly extravagant, despite efforts at economy.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Express less than usual and listen attentively. Try to learn and to avoid misunderstandings. Leave repairs or mechanical chores to technicians or experts.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Staying home or nearby saves confusion and inconvenience. Impatient moves unavoidably result in extra work. Intuition can lead you satisfactorily through today's complexities.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Spending proves nothing and adds nothing to your prestige. Be conservative, confer with others concerned before taking action.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: You tend to demand perfection today. Due care and courtesy in driving is criticially important. Solitude and early rest are helpful.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Laziness is beneficial this Sunday. Do as little as the situation permits; prefer mental to physical pastimes. If you must visit, make them brief.

Scorpio [Oct 23-Nov. 21]: The more people you gather for social ventures, the less likely you are to get expected results. Be reasonable, dignified in proceeding with Sunday ceremonies.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Home life doesn't readily settle. Proceed tactfully and patiently. Be easy on yourself, find some pleasant pastime.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Long journeys are better postponed until later. There's something you need to take care of. Short trips yield surprises, some final results.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Long-range rather than short-term economy is of prime consideration. Make no sweeping promises, since conditions will shift to make them unfeasible.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Keep peace by ignoring idle words and trouble. Go with the mainstream, rather than with mavericks.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, AUGUST 19

Your birthday today: Brings on an average, "grin-and-bear it" kind of year, in which you learn to let well enough alone while you gather experience. All relationships require genuine consideration, candor. Much of this year's vocational activity is distributed so pleasantly it seems like play. Today's natives have a strong talent for developing other people's ideas coherently.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Let the week get underway slowly, add nothing to create a stir. Home life vastly improves late in evening.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: It's time to bring partially completed projects back to the point of departure from plan, and prepare to begin over again. Be serene, accept quiet moments in romance.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Errors right themselves if you're not in there pressuring and irritating people. Admit your own blunders and get started on a better path.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Mental pursuits intrigue you while your regular job palls. Just be sure to get your normal quota done. Make no promises; double-check anything you hear.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Completed routines are enough achievement today. Time spent in pleasant diversions proves more profitable than the results of pressing issues.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: "Live and let live" is today's philosophy. Much that seemed settled unravels—a bit of repair and maintenance or their theoretic counterparts are desperately needed.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Your main business should be preparations, rehearsals. Leave final decisions and settlements for tomorrow. Quit early to get full benefit from lively prospects this evening.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Attend to and bring up to date recently neglected items. Keeping busy fortunately diverts you from a premature start on a new enterprise.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Do what you can to make this an easy day. Avoid both haste and fatigue. You gain better perspective by discussing human qualities, subjective experience.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Self-improvement programs persist, despite resistance, bad suggestions. Concentration on long-standing questions or problems offers unexpected insights.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Keep your sense of humor while finishing left-over work and solving crises from the weekend. Let new projects momentarily wait.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Financial affairs are really more complicated than they seem. Spend the day checking up before you take forceful action. Work steadily and systematically.

Vocational Training Becoming Leader In Specialized Study

With the increased interest in vocational training on the part of many high school graduates today, parents are looking with great interest at the costs involved in proprietary (private, profit-seeking) postsecondary vocational schools. What they find is quite encouraging.

First, the cost is much less than a college education. The average tuition cost of attending a year - long course in a proprietary school is about $900 annually as compared to $2,000 for a private college.

Furthermore, the period of training is relatively short. Trade and technical school training, zeroing in on only those skills needed to do a job, may last anywhere from three months to two years as compared to four years for college. So the total cost is much less than the cost of college training.

Secondly, students are in a far better position to help themselves financially during the period of training. A survey of nearly 700 students at a New York City proprietary school reports that only 33 percent of the students listed parents as the primary source of their support during the training period. Other primary sources of support were employment, 24 percent; savings, 8 percent; loans, 9 percent; GI Bill, 18 percent; state aid, 6 percent; and other, 2 percent.

The potential of obtaining loans for vocational education is good because the training equips the individual with immediate earning capacity which will enable him to repay the loan. A survey of 128 member schools of the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools (NATTS) indicates that two - fifths of the schools surveyed had students who received loans either from banks directly or from school funds.

A deferred payment system has been the most important form of direct financial assistance to students by private vocational schools. More than 60 percent of the 126 responding NATTS schools indicated they used this systeem which is, of course, a form of short - term credit.

Students who pay their tuition in advance are in many schools, charged less than those making deferred payments.

Most students attending trade and technical schools work either part time or full time when they are attending school. More than ⅔ of the students in the New York City study were employed. They worked an average of twenty - two hours weekly and about 14 percent of the students worked thirty - six hours or more weekly.

Only 10 percent of the working students indicated that they worked only for the purpose of paying for tuition and books. Most working students had to earn amounts that covered more than just their expenses for tuition and books.

A number of federal programs also supply funds ffor vocational training which are available on a contract basis to students attending proprietary schools.

As noted above, 18 percent of the students in the New York City study were financed by the GI Bill. This percentage would be much greater today because of the large number of veterans taking advantage of the opportunity for training after returning from Vietnam.

Another federal program available is the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (Basic Grants) which is available to those entering an institution beyond high school for the first time, on a full - time basis.

This program, like its sister program, the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant which is available to those entering an institution beyond high school for the first time, on full - time basis.

The Guaranteed Student Loan Program, another federal program, allows the student to borrow money from a bank, credit union, savings and loan association and other approved lenders and the federal government insures the loan.

This program is available to the student regardless of family need, though if the family's adjusted income is below $15,000 a year, the government pays the interest while the student is in school.

Students in private vocational scoools are also eligible to participate in the Work Study Program, where the eligible student may be assigned to a job arranged by the school which is related to his studies.

In short, students and parents will find a variety of methods by which to finance vocational training. For more information and a directory of trade and technical schools, write to the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, 2021 L. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

States Should Do The Same

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas has pumped its oil wells at maximum capacity for more than two years to meet the nation's energy demands and Congress should force other states to do the same, the chairman of the State Railroad Commission said Thursday.

"It's high time that the Congress of the United States consider the effort of the individual states to meet our energy needs," Jim C. Langdon said. "It is obvious that Texas is doing its best to meet the energy demands of the state and nation."

The commission regulates oil production and Thursday authorized another all-out month of production for September. State regulated wells have pumped at 100 per cent capacity since April, 1972.

Langdon said some states don't "maximize" their energy potentials and restrict development of potential sources of coal gasification, oil shale, tar sands and nuclear power plants.

Nominations for Texas crude for September totaled 4,074,272 barrels daily, a drop of 17,959 barrels a day from August.

Life everlasting does not belong to us because we do, but because we have the potential of becoming. It is not what we do, but what we are.

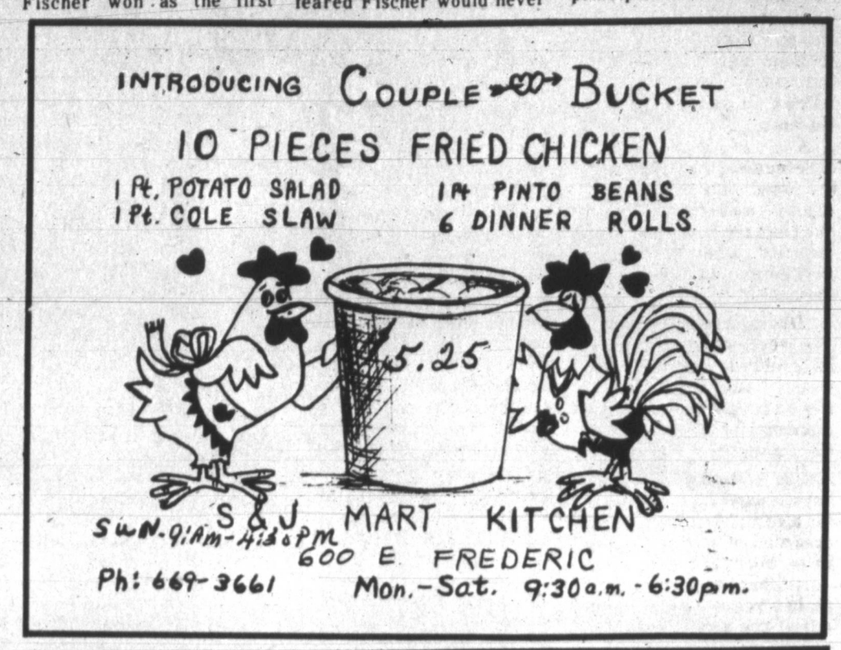

Chess Champ Continues Battle With Federation

SOLINGEN, Germany (UPI) — Chess World Champion Bobby Fischer is fighting his favorite windmill again —The International Chess Federation (FIDE).

This time the stakes could not be higher—the crown Fischer won as the first American with his defeat of Boris Spassky in the chess match of the century two years ago in Iceland.

Less than 12 months before Bobby's first scheduled title defense, FIDE President Prof. Max Euwe of Holland said he feared Fischer would never move a pawn as world champion.

"I am very pessimistic about the whole thing," said the former world champion in an interview. "We all know how stubborn Bobby can be when he feels his principles are involved."

Kindergarten Blues May Overtake Student

(Editor's Note: This is the final segment of a four-part series prepared by the Office of Early Childhood Development.)

After being in school for two weeks, things looked good for Joey. He seemed to like kindergarten. His mother was pleased and began to focus her attention elsewhere.

But the third Monday, it was as if it were the first day all over again. Joey burst into tears, saying that he wanted to stay home with Mommie.

As most child development specialists will tell you, this happens to many children. Most theorists see it as a period of letdown after the initial excitement of school has worn off.

"During the first four or five weeks of school, almost all children show signs of strain," says Dr. Laura L. Dittman, professor at the Institute for Child Study at the University of Maryland.

It is understandable, she says, and there is no cause for alarm. "For months he's dreamed of school. He may have been afraid of what would happen, especially if he has heard older children tell of the awful things that go on."

"Sometimes it is a sign of illness," but not often, says Dr. James L. Hymes, Jr., California early childhood consultant. The child may simply have had enough of school for a while. "He wants to be your "baby" again."

Be prepared for any of a number of tip-off signs: biting nails, loss of appetite, greater irritability and more crying than usual, to a reversion to bedwetting or thumbsucking.

Hymes says that, "A word of encouragement, patience, and talking things over may help.

Accompanying the child to school and staying with him in class a while again may also help him get over his uneasy feelings.

Being accepting, though not necessarily encouraging, is a good attitude to take during a period of reversion, say the specialists.

But if the symptoms do not disappear fairly soon — within another week or two, make and appointment and talk it over with the teacher. There might really be something wrong: "A conflict with another child, some activity which your younster can't abide, a rule that gets him down," Hymes suggests.

"This is a good time to talk with the teacher. Often the two of you can iron the rumple out and life goes on smoothly."

Hymes has one more hint.

"It is wise to take this as a signal to do more with your child after school and on weekends. He finds school good but the price he pays is seeing less of you. You may have to find some ways to make that price less steep."

FPC Registration Schedules Released

Registration for the 1974-75 fall semester at Frank Phillips College in Borger will be held Thursday and Friday, August 29 and 30 in the James W. Dillard Library according to Dr. William E. Raab, president. Adopting the new slogan, "Attend FPC, the Fastest Growing College in West Texas", Dr. Raab, emphasises the interest Frank Phillips has in all area students considering joining the college's growth in quality education and achievement. The college experienced a 35 percent increase in enrollment the Spring Semester of 1974, and over 40 percent increases in the Summer Session enrollments precluding the adoption of the new slogan.

"We feel Frank Phillips has a great deal to offer in terms of outstanding instruction and the individual opportunity for self-realization and personal growth," stated the new president, "and we want all area young people and citizens to know we welcome their inquiries and interest."

Frank Phillips College has two student-designed dormitories complete with recreation areas, snack bars, and modern rooms with built-in desks, bureaus, and storage areas.

The refrigerated air-conditioned dorms house 120 men and 80 women. Newest additions for student activities is a Student Activity Center game room, card room, and TV room.

New programs and course offerings for this fall include: Journalism 213, basic principles in gathering and reporting news; Engineering Technology (petroleum, chemcial, and mechanical engineering options); Welding Technology; Surveying Technology; Cosmetology; and Animal Health Technology. Many are offered also in the evening to accomodate the working person, and are available along with the fully accredited Academic transfer programs and others in Occupational and Technological Education.

Mother Earth News

YOU CAN MAKE YOUR DREAMS COME TRUE

By J. SHUTTLEWORTH

It's that time of year again! The time when you find unemployed "home from college" students lying all over the front room ... and not a decent seasonal job in sight. Or is there?

"Yep," says Joel Ellis, "there certainly is. Summer is the ideal time for any able-bodied young man (or woman!) to get out and drum up a few house-painting jobs. That's what I do ... and I've found that it brings me a good income and many fringe benefits: outdoor work, varied locations, a choice of hours and the chance to meet new and interesting people.

"My part-time business also gives me the satisfaction of performing a valuable service. A home, after all, is a lifetime investment which its owner wants to protect ... and I help provide that protection."

Joel has several ways — all inexpensive — of landing the jobs he does.

"I use as many free sources of publicity as possible, such as the community bulletin boards in super markets and laundromats. You can do the same. Just remember to word your handprinted notices for maximum appeal to a particular neighborhood.

"Or try the old standby, 'Student Seeks House-Painting Jobs.' An offer of 'free estimates' is also attractive.

"Cut the bottom of your note into eight or 10 slips, write the phrase 'House Painter' and your phone number on each one ... and tear off a couple to make business look good! That should be enough to give you a start."

Ellis recommends that you further promote your service by having it listed in the local radio or newspaper swap column (or you can spend $3 to $5 for a classified ad). Another good source of jobs and information, he says, is the nearest paint store ... one that carries a reliable line and does a high volume of business.

The best way of all to contract work, however, is by word of mouth.

"One satisfied customer tells another," says Ellis, "and the system goes to work for you as soon as you've landed your first assignment in a given neighborhood. A second homeowner sees you in action, approaches casually, asks a few questions ... and minutes later you're across the street quoting a potential job."

After you've painted a few places, you'll have a feel for making estimates ... but that won't be of much help the first time a potential customer requests a quote.

Joel, though, notes that some of the larger paint stores send out special representatives during the summer home-improvement season. Their job is to advise folks on the quantity of paint they'll need for a particular job and the best manner of application.

If you can, get one of these experienced troubleshooters to help you size up your initial quotes.

"I estimate a job one side at a time," Joel says. "Two man-hours for the eaves, two and a half for the peak, two for the windows, four for the space above, below and between the windows ... or whatever.

"Be warned in advance that unboxed eaves, dormers that have eaves and siding, French windows, patios, awnings which must be removed, leaks, minor repairs and a generally bad surface can slow you down. Allow extra for them."

Although Ellis feels that everyone must set his or her own hourly rate for painting, Donald W. Geary — another part-timer in the business — straightforwardly recommends asking a minimum of $4 an hour for such work.

"If you have any experience at all, that should be fair to both you and the homeowner," he says. "Later, as you improve, you can charge more."

Joel feels that any "for hire" house painter should always insist on using first-grade, high-quality paints and thinners. You can, of course, (1) buy such products yourself and have them billed directly to your customers, (2) purchase what you need and add it to your estimate or (3) have the homeowner you're working for obtain the necessary materials.

Ellis likes a 2½-inch wide nylon brush with a round handle, a 6-to-8 foot wooden stepladder and a 12-to-14 foot wooden extension ladder.

He also considers as essential painting gear the following: dropcloths (old sheets will do), scrapers, putty knives, rags, old newspapers, safety glasses, a hammer, nails, adjustable wrench, pliers, wire cutter, screwdriver, used nylon stockings (for straining scummy paint), painting clothes, shoes with steel shanks (for better support when he stands on a ladder all day) and a wooden box to carry everything in.

Utility Consultant Fears Electric System Outcome

NEW YORK (UPI) — The eletric utility industry in the United States is in such precarious position it may have to be taken over by government, a prominent utility rate consultant said today.

Theodore Maynard, head of National Utility Service, said the troubles of New York's Consolidated Edison Co. are just the beginning.

"Most countries don't have private electric systems like ours," Maynard said. "If the present trend continues, it seems likely the big private electric utilities will go down one after another with the government stepping in much the same as it did to bail out Lockheed and the Penn Central Railroad."

Waste and inefficiency are so rampant in the utility industry the companies will get scant sympathy from the public in their troubles, Maynard added. "Wastage of power generated may exceed 30 percent," he said, "and rates are often grossly unfair."

When Con Ed passed its dividend last spring for the first time since 1885, utility people said it was an isolated affair, not symptomatic of trouble in the rest of the industry.

But so much has happened since then that recently a vice-president of the Edison Electric Institue warned that unless things improve the country may be in for difficult times in terms of the power supply.

Here are some of the industry's problems:

—Demand for power fell 0.7 per cent in the first quarter of this year.

—The avrage price of utility shares dropped 20 per cent when the rest of the stock list was declining by less than 10 per cent. Common stocks of some utilities are selling for less than half book value.

—Bonds of almost a score of electric utilities have been downgraded by rating agencies. Utilities are having to pay 11 percent for money, if they can find buyers for their securities.

—Many utilities have cut back on their capital outlay programs by hundreds of millions of dollars, thus creating the threat of big future power shortages.

—Rates have been raised sharply.

Maynard says from the point of view of industry and the public the big question is not the future of the private utility companies but how the nation is to be assured more abundant and cheaper power. He says he sees a clue to a possible solution in what is happening in San Francisco where Pacific Gas & Electroc Co. is the target of lawsuits to enforce a law called the Raker Act passed by Congress in 1913.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

It's Not An Uncommon Problem

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has retired and I think my trouble is him. I am not complaining to get pity because he has been a good husband.

But when he retired he said, "I am going to rest a few days and then I am going to work on our place." That was in 1968. He still is resting.

I have a shadow wherever I go. I know I should be glad that I still have him but my nerves are so bad; he doesn't think for himself.

His doctor told him to get off his back and keep busy and try to get away from his smoking habit — his lungs are bad and he has had three slight strokes, but came out pretty luckily.

But I am a nervous wreck and would like a little time of my own. My blood pressure is high. — Y.F.

You aren't alone — which may be the wrong wording, because you'd like to be alone some of the time. What I mean is that yours is not an uncommon problem, and I've even known of sympathy cards being sent to the wives of retiring husbands.

Six years is a long "rest" and he's undoubtedly fixed in the habit. It may take some ingenuity on your part to get him off his duff, but it will be worth it both to you and to him — "just sitting" is the road to deterioration, and I wish he realized it. His habit will just grow stronger unless you start weaning him.

Refuse to take him shopping with you. Maybe you can sign up for volunteer work a few days a week, in a hospital or in the many groups that use volunteers.

Visit friends. I don't think it would be a sin to have a friend send a note inviting you for "an afternoon with the girls," even if it really meant only you and your friend. Hubby would have to realize that men aren't invited.

Join some women's groups at the church. Join clubs. (Even let yourself get "trapped" into committees.) Get yourself invited for a visit with relatives in some other city — if he has to shift for himself for a few days, he'll discover that he can. This thought seems to have escaped him.

And since he won't "think for himself," give him some choices that he has to settle. Ask him what color he's going to paint the porch and firmly refuse to make the decision yourself. Keep asking him what he has decided. Ask him which ought to come first, cleaning out the garage or the attic. Ask him which kind of shrubs to plant in the yard. Maybe even threaten to take down the screen door and go out in the yard and start putting on new screening. Ask him what the neighbors will say if they see you doing it. Then send (not take) him down to the hardware store for some new screen.

Use all your ingeniousness. You've got to get him off dead center, and it will take, I'm afraid, some assiduous doing for at least a little while.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My joints crack and snap. Ankles, knees, hips, wrists, elbows and shoulders, when I move them. Am I lacking a vitamin? Any explanation? — Mrs. R.L.

No, it doesn't mean lack of any vitamin. Some folks have looser joint capsules than others do, but it isn't harmful.

Note to Mrs. E.N.: You've been misinformed, at least to some extent. Leukoplakia (whitish, thickening patches on a mucous surface, as in the mouth or on the lip) can be treated, by removing them surgically. Leukoplakia can develop into cancer, and if not removed, should be examined from time to time. Removal of the irritant — smoking, chewing tobacco, jagged teeth — helps.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to him in care of Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120, enclosing a long, self - addressed envelope and 25 cents.

Birthday Parties Institutions

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — President Ford made us conscious of being Americans with his "My fellow Americans" remarks — and we do have some imperishable institutions — and also some peculiar tribal habits.

Such as singing "Happy Birthday" and cutting a cake as we did as kids.

So there was this party where Ethel Merman, Myrna Loy, Arlene Dahl, Maureen Stapleton, Anne Jackson, Eli Wallach, Ruth Warrick, Josh Logan, and Arlene Francis, Martin Gabel, Lynn Redgrave, Jan Sterling and Anita Loos were lifting their voices in "Happy Birthday" to agent Milton Goldman, a big boy of 60 years old.

Singing lustily beside us was French star Jean - Pierre Aumont.

"How do you [illegible] French ing 'Happy Birthday'?" I asked him.

"We DON'T," he said loftily — and resumed singing.

Liz Taylor and Henry Wynberg danced cheek to cheek at Jimmy Weston's and Liz had her eyes closed as the tall young man in the turtle neck clasped her. I suppose some people might think that a couple that was inseparable for 3 months might be getting married. But you are not going to trap me into prophesying anything like that. (I've been burned before.)

Secret Stuff: One of the biggest female stars is anxious to return to the Broadway stage immediately but producers are having difficulty getting the backer money ... Miss Universe (Amparo Munoz) and her boy friend who flew from Spain had dinner at Le Mistral with the Harold Glassers. She'll take a 3-wk Berlitz course to learn how to say "No" in English.

Maureen Stapleton told a friend who wanted to remodel her apartment. "I want to have a realhome. What do I do?" she said. The friend said, "Move."

Alan Ostroff, gen. mgr. of the NY Hilton, will shortly walk across 53d St. and become vice president of both the Americana and City Squire hotels, replacing Stanley Cox ... Jack Dempsey revealed at "Irene" where he got a long ovation that he was Judge Sirica's best man. Sirica, former amateur boxer, said that but for Dempsey's encouragement, he'd never have made it as a lawyer.

Sherry Britton and LaVerne Andrews were discussing how they got married. Sherry said, "I married the first guy who didn't make advances." LaVerne said, "That's funny. I married the first guy who did."

"I wonder what Nixon will do now?" said a customer at Catch a Rising Star which brought a retort, "I wonder who David Frye will do now?" ... Rabbi Samuel M. Silver of Stamford, Conn., says "Now it's perfectly clear. What Nixon's been aiming at all this time has been early retirement."

The new weight - reducing group, Diet Workshop, says you can't reduce by messaging. Dr. Morton B. Glenn, nutritional consultant, says the only person who loses weight from that exercising is the masseuse or masseur.

Twentieth C - Fox'll have a major shakeup ... Joe Levine's "Night Porter" made Charlotte Rampling a hot property, with four pictures in release ... Socialite Dorothy Strelsin will be in Leonard Sillman's "New Faces," he says she's got the most beautiful legs in town ... Guy Lombardo's "Fiddler" passed the $1 million mark at Jones Beach.

A hot film idol doesn't pay for clothes — he keeps the outfits from his films ... Toots Shor table - hopped at La Scala and accepted a brandy from Eddie Bracken ... Joey Heatherton had eggs at P.J. Clarke's.

Show Biz Quiz: In what film were all three male leads nominated for Best Actor (and all lost)? Ans. to yesterday's: Walt Disney won the most Oscars — 2 ½

Mayor Beame apologized to Shelley Berman for being robbed while doing "Room Service" at Queens Playhouse ... Rocky Aokie opens his Benihana Village at the Las Vegas Hilton next month ... Bravos: Silk and Steel group at Dover House; Joanne Myrh at Gaslight Club ... Louis Prima, recently recovered from a heart attack, opened with Pat Cooper at Westbury Music Fair.

Women Democrats Want Convention Date Changed

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Two leading women in state Democratic Party politics warned Friday they will challenge the Texas delegation to the December national convention in Kansas City unless party officials change the date of the Sept. 17 state convention.

That is the same date as the Jewish holy day Rosh Hashana, and about 200 of the 1,700 delegates say they will not be allowed to attend the convention because of the strict religious observance.

Frances Farenthold, two-time candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor and chairperson of the National Women's Political Caucus, said state party officials are obligated under national party rules to change the date.

In an Aug. 12 letter to state party Chairman Calvin Guest which officials released Friday, Mrs. Farenthold said "We will have to consider at the appropriate time a challenge of the results of the compliance committee of the 1974 conference on Democratic Party organization and policy."

Guest was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

Meanwhile, Democratic National Committeewomen Billie Carr called a news conference to charge that Guest and Gov. Dolph Briscoe persuaded "their rubber stamp flunkies" on the State Democratic Executive Committee to vote against the convention date change.

M. Carr also attacked Guest, state executive committee member John Brunson and convention arrangements committee Chairman Gordon Wynne Jr. of fixing the hotel accommodations for the convention so that liberals would be housed in towns outside Austin.

"It taxes the intelligence of even the least of us to believe that John Brunson honestly held a midnight drawing where, lo and behold, his own delegation ended up at a downtown Austin hotel and every delegation which even smelled a little liberal ended splintered between San Antonio and Bastrop and God-onlyknows-where out in the Hill Country," Ms. Carr said.

She said the alleged mistreatment of liberal delegates may cause a rump convention to be held and the refusal to change the date for the Jewish delegates will leave the Texas delegation open to challenge "as well it should be."

"The delegations from Texas' counterfeit conventions have been jackasses at the national conventions before, and obviously it will happen again. It is regrettable, but it is xecessary," Ms. Carr said.

"Therefore, it is incumbent on all Democratic delegates who believe in fair play, who believe in a party for the people instead of their patriarchs, to play ahead not just to meet the challengeat the Austin convention but to make the challenge at the Kansas City convention."

Mrs. Farenthold said the national women's political caucus would support the state party if an alternative date would be given to the state convention. She sent copies of her letter to Briscoe, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss, also a Texan.

New Year's Day has its origins in Roman times, when sacrifices were offered to Janus, the two-faced Roman god who was able to look back on the past and forward into the future.

The Stars and Stripes was made the official flag of the United States by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777.

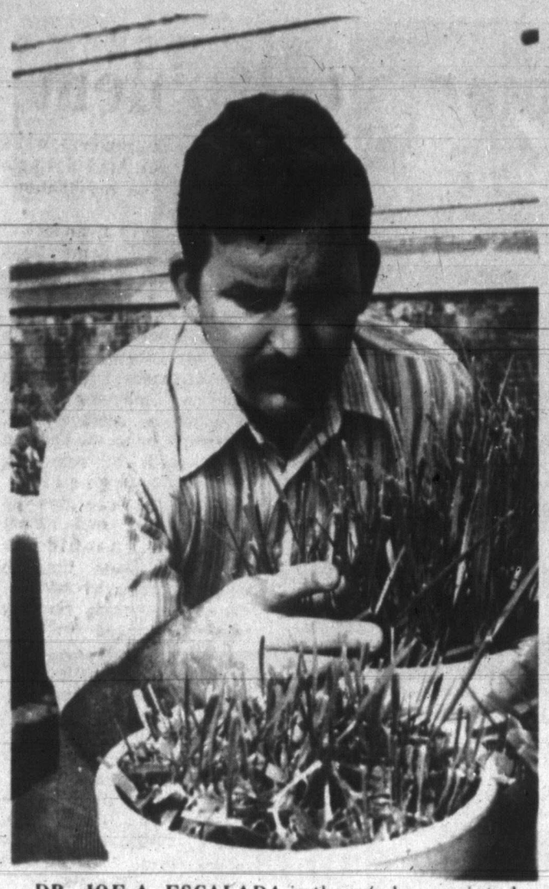

West Malaysia is the world's greatest source of natural rubber. It produced 1,222,600 metric tons in 1970.

Grain Sorghum Plays Important Role On Farm

By MICHAEL WESTER

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—The sunlight—or lack of it—on West Texas plains may well determine whether that beefsteak on your platter burns a hole in your pocketbook.

Grain sorghum, one of the top cash crops in Texas, is a major crop on the High Plains of West Texas. Most of the grain sorghum grown on the High Plains is used by the cattle feeding industry of the area.

Indications are that environmental conditions influence the yield of grain sorghum, according to Dr. Daniel R. Krieg, associate professor of agronomy at Texas Tech University.

Yields Affect Price

Yields affect the price of of grain sorghum to cattle producers, which in turn influences the price the consumer must pay for beef.

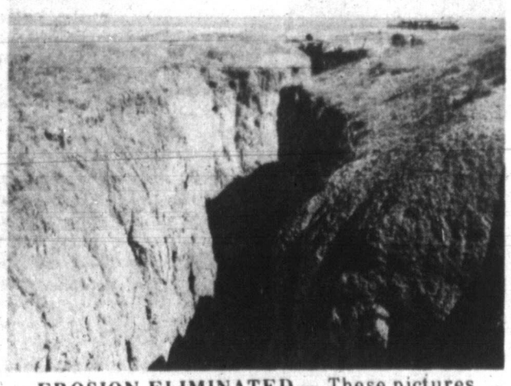

"Grain sorghum yields depend on three variables—the number of seed heads produced, the number of seed produced per head, and the weight of the seed," Krieg said. "Changes in any of the variables affect the yield of the crop."

Krieg is conducting research on the effects two environmental conditions—water availability and light intensity—have on grain sorghum seed development. His findings should provide useful information about crop handling and be helpful in developing grain sorghum varieties which are more resistant to environmental stress.

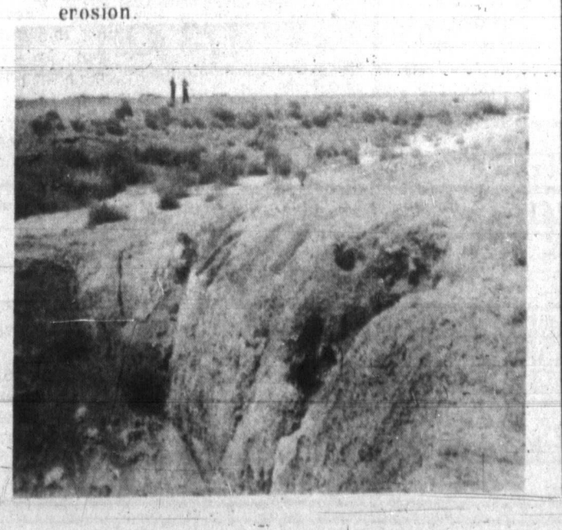

Help Producer

"By understanding the effects of environmental conditions on grain sorghum and finding ways to offset or eliminate stress, we can have greater yields of better and more uniform quality in grain sorghum," he said. "This will benefit the grain producer, his buyers, and, ultimately, the consumer in the supermarket."

Three hybrid varieties of grain sorghum with varying tannin content are being grown for the experiment at Texas Tech's research farm near New Deal—8 miles north of Lubbock. Stress is placed on the plants by withholding irrigation water and by growing the plants under portable nylon mesh sunscreens to reduce light intensity.

EROSION ELIMINATED — These pictures were taken on the Elmer Balch Farm east of Pampa on two consecutive years at the same location. The gully was located at the end of an irrigated field and the beginning of the breaks country. Runoff from rains started the gully and irrigation tailwater added to the problem. Valuable irrigated land was being lost to erosion. To solve the problem, Elmer Balch installed a grade stabilization structure along with a tailwater recovery pit. Engineering assistance was provided by Jim Roach of the Soil Conservation Service. The tailwater recovery pit catches irrigation tailwater for re--use. The grade stabilization structure traps and stores water from excessive rains until it can be released without causing erosion.

4-H CLUB NEWS

ELAINE HOUSTON
County Extension Agent

The Gray County Adult Leader Association is having a membership drive to encourage parents of 4-H members to attend the Adult Leader Association to learn more about the Gray County 4-H Club program.

The Adult Leader Association will meet Monday, August 19 at the Southwestern Public Service meeting room, 315 North Ballard at 7:30 p.m.

Four-H Council committees and committees appointed by the Adult Leader Executive committee will have a chance to meet to discuss plans for the coming year.

The By-laws will be presented by Mrs. Ted Atwood and the program will be 4-H projects, activities, awards, and scholarships available in 4-H club work.

Following the meeting, homemade ice cream will be served.

Individuals and family groups are invited.

The 4-H Better Bake Show was held Wednesday morning August 14 in the Courthouse Annex Meeting room.

Nine 4-H Club members competed for the honor of going to the District 4-H Better Bake Show held in September during the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo.

4-H Club members made banana-nut bread and whole wheat yeast rolls. Judging was based on appearance, color, moisture content, texture, lightness, and flavor of the baked goods. A food record form was also considered in the judging.

Top scoring individual in the show was Bobbie Skaggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skaggs. Second place was won by Sally Brainard and third place vy Amy Brainard, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brainard.

The top three scoring individuals were awarded gift certificates provided by Lee Heaton of Wheeler-Evans Grain Elevator. Bobbie Skaggs will represent Gray County at the District Better Bake Show.

Those participating in the show were — Blue ribbon winners: Bobbie Skaggs, Sally Brainard, Amy Brainard, Berklee Brainard, and Shanna Etheredge.

Red ribbon winners: Carolyn Mumford, Linde Livingston, Tricia Snuggs and Misty Edwards.

Shade Trees Are Damaged

Drouth conditions are combining with disease problems and construction damage to cause the demise of some shade trees in many areas of Texas, reports a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Oak decline, caused by a fungus, is the most common disease affecting shade trees in the state. It weakens root systems, and this is aggravated by dry conditions. Post oaks are sensitive to construction damage while live oaks are more tolerant.

Care should be used to avoid injury to trees.

On Wednesday, August 14 a seven-state cattle on feed report was published.

The report showed a further decrease in numbers of cattle on feed. In the seven main cattle feeding states, there were seven million cattle on feed as of August 1, 1974.

This compares to nine million, one hundred thousand on August 1, 1973 — or a drop of twenty-three percent. Placements in the feedlots were up seven percent compared to a year earlier. No doubt the drouth had some affect on this. Since placements were down a year earlier, when compared to placements in July '72, there was little change.

This article is being written on August 14. By the time you read this you will see a rapid price rise in all types of meat animals. I will go back to a statement I made several months ago.

Before 1974 rolls off the calendar the average housewife will be a great deal more concerned about where she can buy a piece of meat than what it will cost her.

They might have to substitute with ninety cent red beans. We are moving closer to the thing I talked about over two years ago in this column — a severe food shortage in the land of plenty.

The impending price rise in meat animals will be a long sustained situation. The nationwide drouth will assure this. We would hasten to add profits will be slim to producers.

The impending food shortage will not be contrived. It will be very real.

Although I'm opposed to a ban on the export of our agricultural products — I predict enough public sentiment will be generated within the next 12 months to cause a ban on the sale of wheat, milo, corn, and soybeans.

I'm hoping enough lessons in economics have been learned that ceilings on agri-products will not be proposed or accepted. The baby chick drownings drove this point home.

I'm pessimistic from a consumer standpoint. I don't want to be an alarmist but my advise for each American and especially every good Pampan would be to re-read the fable about the grasshopper and the ant.

I hope those that read this column would react like the ant. Many Pampans are already doing just that. Elaine Houston, home demonstration agent, is testing pressure cookers daily. Elaine has one of the best publications on how to can and how freeze I've seen. Call her at 669-7429 — she can be a great help to you in your food problems.

If your freezer is empty, fill it up now with beef. More than likely beef is the cheapest that you will see it for many months to come. Now don't go tell anyone outside the county or everyone will start hoarding. Let's take care of home folks first.

Seriously, we are in for some rough times. It will be especially tough on folks with fixed incomes.

Why do I say farmers and ranchers profit will be thin? — an example — Natural gas for irrigation wells is now costing over 200 percent of the cost 24 months back — Diesel up 250 percent. Tractors that cost $10,000 a short time back now cost double this amount.

Combines that cost little more than $10,000.00 five years ago now cost $30,000.00. No, this is not a misprint — I spell thirty thousand dollars. The price of oil has doubled.

Taxes have risen sharply. In 1949, an eight inch irrigation well could be drilled and a pump installed for fifteen thousand. Today it costs thirty-two thousand.

Fertilizer has gone from $50 per ton to $225 per ton in 18 months.

In short, inflation has hit farmers and ranchers worse than anyone. You see the farmer doesn't add on these inflationary costs to his product. He has to take what the market says his product will bring.

Retirement Plans Require Organizing

A successful retirement must be planned, contends an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Retirement planning is especially important for farmers and ranchers and other self-employed people who often work past the age of 65.

When they do retire, it's often due to poor health or adverse business conditions. With Social Security providing only for the bare living essentials, additional income may come from renting the farm or ranch, selling the farm and investing the money from the sale, or making an installment sale of the farm or ranch.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Panhandle High School has been one of the leading schools of the High Plains of West Texas in stressing water conservation to all of its students. All Senior students of the school are required to write an essay ont the importance of water conservation.

The Agriculture Department and the English Department of the school are keenly aware of the contribution of irrigated agriculture of the economic well being of the area. Janice and Jeannie Bandy, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bandy of Panhandle were among the top five 1974 winners in in the essay contest sponsored by the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District.

When one reads the essays of these students there is the feeling that the future of our area will be left in good hands by these adult citizens of tomorrow. Today we are carrying a portion of the essay by Janice Bandy.

"Texas is a state of infinite diversity, yet held together by a single pre--occuypying challenge. That challenge is water. It is the key to our future."

As a Senator Lyndon Johnson made this statement of his home state. Certainly the key to man's future is water and this key opens many doors in a house of vast importance to mankind. But before he enters this house of many and varied rooms, he should consider what he has seen around the sidewalk as he enters the yard.

On the left side of this concrete slab lies man's reduction of his resources: pollution in all kinds, shapes, and forms. Man has fought for lakes and streams set aside for his recreation, but instead of preserving these, he has destroyed his places of pleasure.

His recreational sites are ruined and also sites that supply his immediate water needs: causing a need for conservation of this valuable resource.

On the right side of the walk can be seen some improvements over the left. But the continued decline and loss of the nation's water is caused by poor management. Careful managment then is an important part of the answer; management by self, employees, neighbors and the water conservation district in the immediate area.

Many things such as irrigation pipelines, good land leveling, sprinkler systems, etc., help increase efficiency, but as good as all these are, they are not the final answer.

Good water management must include: (1) Irrigating at the right time, (2) Applying the right amount of water — enough but no more, and (3) Applying the water at a rate in which the soil can absorb it without excessive run-off.

As man enters the house, there is one thought that must be understood. At long last confronted with shortages and pollutions, it is time for him to discover that dissolving, boiling evaporating, and freezing are not household words.

They are expressions of H2O's keeping us alive. It has become evident that there is a growing shortage of water. Inside the house, man uses the key to open the first door. On the walls of this room can be seen one reason for the growing shortage of sweet water: the explosive growth of population.

There is no new frontier land for man to settle. He must find a place for himself in the cities and his own vast but diminishing countryside. After living on a farm and seeing the well lowered every six months, one becomes aware of the critical situation.

But living in a city where one can turn on a faucet and have water instantly, spoiling many people and their ideas of the water shortage. It is only when those people move to the country and become alarmed because they can not afford to drill the well, then the griping starts.

They realize the growing need for conservation, not only for themselves, but for everyone else concerned. Man's stripping of the land has also swelled the water crisis. The dense forest with its soft, moss-strewn floor is in itself a reservoir.

The rain is held and sifted slowly through the layers of leaf mold and soil until it trickles into a fresh clear water stream or is absorbed into an underground pool.

School Milk Plan Revised

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has made several changes in the federal-state Special Milk Program, which helps pay for milk served to children in schools and other institutions.

Major changes follow:

— The eligibility of needy children for free milk will be determined by the same standards that determine eligibility for free meals.

— In schools and institutions that do not have food service, reimbursement will be provided by the program for up to two half-pints of free milk a day for needy children.

In schools and institutions with food service, reimbursement will be paid for one half-pint of free milk a day for needy children, in addition to the milk served with meals.

— Reimbursement for milk served free to needy children will be based on the average cost the school or institution pays for milk.

— Reimbursement for milk sold to children will be increased to 5 cents a half-pint. In the past this rate varied from 2 to 4 cents, depending on the nature of the program.

The 5-cent reimbursement rate will be adjusted annually to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index's series for food purchased away from home.

TEE-OFF TID-BITS

By Hart Warren

It's almost Top O' Texas time. The big blow out once again filled up in record time. We reached our 210 - player limit early last Sunday. A waiting list is being started by those hoping for a few withdrawals. It is now in excess of 25 players. This shows you how much people enjoy our Labor Day tourney.

The juniors completed their season this past Tuesday with their annual tournament. There are so many names, I wouldn't try to mention them all in fear of leaving out some. I'll just say all the kids enjoyed the season.

It was our largest junior program in the history of Pampa Country Club. To these juniors, I offer a tip of the hat for their manners on and off the course. It has been a pleasure to work with them.

Priscilla Simpson has done a very fine job with the juniors and deserves a very special thanks.

Dr. Joe Donaldson had one of his hot tamale rounds this Friday. His even par 71 made a few quarters and a lot of frowns.

Coyle Winborn jumped into a little trap set by Burt Watkins, former Pampan and now of Benson, Ariz. Coyle's 70 wasn't good enough to bring home the loot. Burt showed him how the pros do it.

A GOOD RULE TO KNOW:

Ball interfering with play — when the ball nearer the hole lies on the putting green, if the competitor considers that the fellow competitor's ball might either be struck by his ball or interfere with his stance or stroke, the competitor may require the fellow competitor to lift or play, at the option of its owner, without penalty.

If the owner of the ball refuses to comply with this rule when required to do so, the competitor making the request may lift the ball and the owner of the ball shall be disqualified.

Giants Win Battle Of New York City

NEW HAVEN, CONN. (UPI) — Rookie Doug Kotar scored on a 70 yard pass play and raced 13 yards for a second touchdown Saturday to lead the New York Giants to a 21-13 exhibition victory over the New York Jets.

Kotar, 5-foot-11, 205 pound running back from Kentucky obtained from Pittsburgh last month, took a short swing pass from rookie Carl Summerell of East Carolina in the second period and raced up the left sideline to give the Giants a 14 lead. He swept right end for 13 yards and a TD in the third period for a 21-7 lead.

Kotar's second period TD came right after the Jets apparently had taken possession on the Giant 45 on a fumble of a pass reception by rookie John Strada. Both teams had changed units when the pass was ruled incomplete.

Pirates 4, Bums 3

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Al Oliver's eighth inning single scored Rich Hebner with the winning run Saturday and Dave Giusti provided clutch relief pitching that gave Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles for the Pirates' 12th win in the last 14 games and the Dodgers' fifth straight loss.

Twins 7, Bosox 4

BOSTON (UPI) — Jerry Terrell, a goat in the field an inning earlier, tripled home the deciding run in a four - run fifth inning Saturday to boost the Minnesota Twins to a 7 - 4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Jim Perry Throws Shutout As Cleveland Trips Texas, 4-0

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jim Perry hurled his third shutout of the season Saturday to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 4-0 victory over the Texas Rangers.

The 37-year-old Perry notched his 13th victory of the season against eight losses by stopping the Rangers on four hits. He struck out one and didn't walk a batter.

The Rangers managed four base runners with only one of them reaching as far as second base. Jim Spencer singled with one out in the seventh for Texas and moved to second on Lenny Randle's groundout but Perry got Toby Harrah to line out to center to end the inning.

John Lowenstein reached second to open the Indian third when Cesar Tovar dropped his long fly to left for a two base error. He took third on Tom McCraw's groundout and scored Cleveland's first run on Charlie Spikes' ground single to left.

Frank Duffy led off the Cleveland fifth with a single and went to third on Lowenstein's sacrifice. Lolenstein reaching base when Texas starter Steve Hargan booted his bunt. Jack Brohamer then singled to right, scoring Duffy and Lowenstein tallied on Rusty Torres' sacrifice fly.

The Indians final run came in the eighth when Torres doubled, took third on Spikes' flyout and tallied on John Ellis' sacrifice fly.

Linkster Sets World Record

ALMA, Mich. (UPI) — Clark Lincoln shot 653 holes of golf in 24 hours to break a world record and earn a niche in the Guinness World Book of Records.

Lincoln began the grueling performance on the Country Creek Golf Course at 8 p.m. Thursday.

At the end of 24 hours, Lincoln had tallied 2,766 strokes with an average time per round of nine holes of 19.84 minutes.

His lowest score for nine holes was 32 and highest was 45.

Lincoln broke the record for 24 hours of golfing of 576 holes, set by a Tennessee man earlier this year.

A total of $12.5 was collected from fans who pledged money on each hole for the Cystic Fibrosis Society.

Brown Takes Freestyle Win

NEW BRAUNFELS — Ted Brown of Pampa, swimming with the Amarillo Aquatic Club won the 1500 - meter freestyle in 17:15.5 in the 15 - 17 Boys Division of the Texas Age Group Swimming Championships Friday here.

Brown also swam Saturday but results weren't available.

Cowboys Win 19-13 In Sudden Death

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Roger Staubach threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to tie the game with 20 seconds left in regulation Saturday night, and then scurried two yards with five minutes gone in overtime to give the Dallas Cowboys a 19-13 victory over Houston.

The Oilers appeared to have the game won in the final minute, but a bad snap from center on an attempted Houston punt gave Dallas the ball at the Oiler 23 in the closing seconds.

On fourth down at the 23, Staubach hit tight end Ron Howard in a crowd five yards deep in the end zone to tie the game and force a sudden death period.

The Cowboys received the extra period kickoff, but a drive stalled and Dallas was forced to punt from its own 41. Houston safety Jeff Severson, however, fumbled the punt and Mark Washington — who had recoverd the bad punt snap — fell on the ball at th 13.

Five plays later Staubach swept left end for the winning points.

Houston, made up mostly of rookies, had dominated the game until te final moments against the Cowboys, whose starting unit was composed chiefly of veterans.

Ronnie Coleman scored on a four yardsweep midway through the third period to end an 82 yard Houston drive — 60 yards of which was accounted for by Coleman.

The Oilers, after Dallas had narrowed the deficit to 7-6, scored in the final period on a four yard pass from quarterback James Foote to Ken Burrough.

Between Oiler touchdons, the Cowboys had scored on a 66-yard pass from Roger Staubach to Drew Pearson, but the extra point that would have tied the gamewas blocked by the Oilers' Columbus Whittington, who had earlier blocked a Dallas field goal attempt.

Both sides missed scoring opportunities in the scoreless first half.

Workouts To Begin

Pampa High gridsters under head coach John Welborn and staff start fall workouts at 3 p.m. Monday in preparation for the 1974 season which gets underway Sept. 6 in Hereford.

There will be no contact until Friday as this week will be mainly used for getting in shape and brushing up on patterns.

Season tickets are now on sale for home games, according to business manager Homer Craig. Price is $10 and should be mailed to Box 920 or brought by the school business office, 119 N. Frost.

The five home games are (all 7:30 p.m.) Sept. 13 vs. Dumas, Oct. 4 vs. Canyon, Oct. 18 vs. Caprock, Nov. 1 vs. Borger and Nov. 15 vs. Amarillo.

Hargett Traded

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Houston Oilers' quarterback Edd Hargett, who has signed a contract to play for Hawaii of the World Football League in 1975, was traded to the Detroit Lions Friday for a 15th round draft choice next year.

Running back Bill Thomas, a former No. 1 draft choice of the Dalla's Cowboys, also was traded to the Kansas City Chiefs for a seventh-round draft choice in 1975.

Oiler Coach Sid Gillman told Hargett when he reported to camp Wednesday for the two-wee cooling off period of the NFL Players Association strike that he was going to trade him and not to even suit up for practice.

Hargett spent the rest of the week jogging by himself on a separate field from the other players.

"I don't know what they can get for me, but it probably won't be much," Hargett said before the trade was made. "I haven't thrown a pass in the regular season for the last two years.

"I don't want to sound bitter. I'm not. Football has given me a lot. I've come into contact with people I don't care for, but you still have to make the best of it."

Hargett was traded to Houston 17 months ago by New Orleans for defensive tackle Ron Billingsley and quarterback Kent Nix.

The Oilers claimed Thomas off waivers from Dallas last year and he was active for six games. His trade to Kansas City is contingent upon his making the Chiefs' squad.

Pena Dumped By St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Veteran pitcher Orlando Pena has been dropped by the St. Louis Cardinals to make room for Claude Osteen, obtained from the Houston Astros Thursday to bolster the pitching staff for the Cards' drive for the pennant. Pena, 39, was acquired by the Cards in June 1973 from the Baltimore Oriole organization and turned in a 2.13 earned run average in 42 appearances, all in relief. So far this year he has been in 42 games and has a record of 4 - 2.

The Cards did not indicate whether Pena would be traded or released outright.

'AND NEVER GET IT'

Jack Pardee - Some Coaches Sit Around Waiting

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Jack Pardee's football career began on a six-man team in Christoval, Tex. He fought his way to stardom as a college and professional linebacker, was sidelined by cancer, then settled into the anonymous job of an assistant coach in the National Football League.

The cancer was licked in a seven-hour operation at the UCLA Medicel Center 11 years ago. But the 38-year-old former All-America didn't reach his goal until he cast his lot with the fledgling World Football League as head coach of a team called (for the time being) the Florida Blazers.

"This is the job and position I wanted instead of sitting and waiting in the NFL for the same opportunity," said Pardee, who was introduced to big time football at Texas A&M under Paul "Bear" Bryant. "Some coaches sit around waiting all their lives and never get it."

After years in the shadow of the Washington Redskins' George Allen—the coach he admires over all others—Pardee is obviously enjoying being the top man. He doesn't mind talking to sports writers, doesn't mince any words— mainly because his team is winning.

No one really knew what to expect from the Blazers, or any WFL team for that matter. Jimmy "the Greek" Snyder at first said he wouldn't even make odds on the games.

But Florida today sits at the top of the WFL's East Division with a 5-1 record and Pardee, with 17 years experience in the NFL wars, is predicting his team will make it to the World Bowl.

"I'm not at the point I can guarantee it," he said. "We're a long ways away. But barring injuries and other factors beyond our control, I think we will. We're stronger right now than we were at any point in the year." Among the factors beyond the coaches control is the front office threat to move the team to Atlanta, partly because the attendance at home games has been disappointing and partly because Rommie Loudd, the managing general partner, is having his troubles with City Hall.

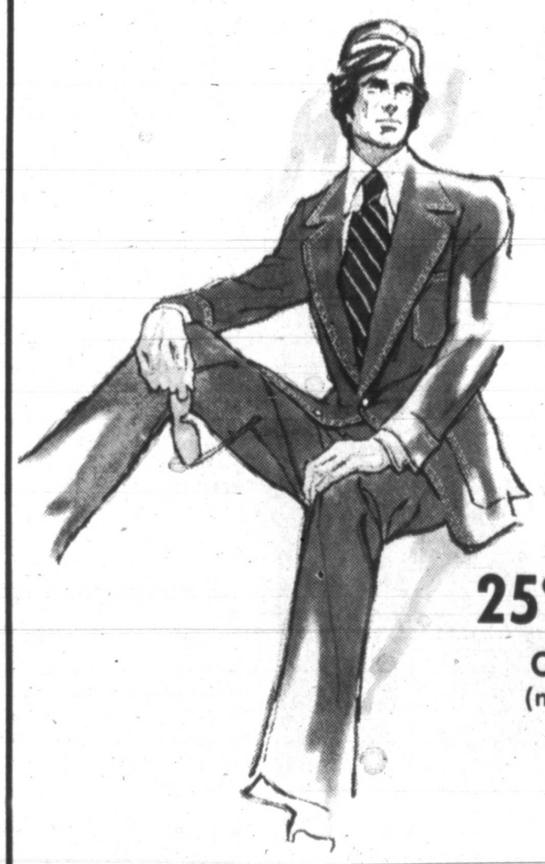

Does the talk of another move (the team formed in Washington, moved to Norfolk, Va., and settled in Orlando in time for the first game) upset the team?

"It's got to be distracting to say the least," said Pardee, the father of five. "Most of the players have families."

Pardee, a dean's list scholar as well as an All America at Texas A&M, was chosen the outstanding player in both the Blue Gray game and the NorthSouth All Star games in 1957. A second round draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams, and an all pro, he retired to coach at his alma mater after the cancer operation.

When Allen took over as Rams coach in 1966, he went back on the field. Later he was traded to the Redskins where he finally became a linebacker coach.

WORKOUTS TO START — The picture here is actually a preview, since it was taken in the spring. John Welborn's Pampa High gridsters and the five other 3 - AAAA teams begin fall workouts tomorrow afternoon. There will be no contact work in pads until Friday for AAAA teams, according to UIL regulations, so teams, including the Harvesters, will use this week to brush up on fundamental and get in shape through various drills and calisthenics.

Crowds Still Little

United Press International

The National Football League's two-week cooling off period is working, but not exactly as had been hoped.

The only cooling off evident has been on the part of the fans, who continued to ignore exhibition games in droves Friday as the Oakland Raiders trounced the Lions in Detroit, 41-10, in the first game since the strike moratorium began.

Detroit had sold only 30,055 tickets for the game, and of that number 9,567 failed to show as the contest began in a driving rainstorm.

Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C., talks were progressing so well that the executive director of the Players Association, Ed Garvey, was throwing around phrases like "union busting."

A contract settlement apparently was not imminent.

After nine and one-half hours of bargaining with the owners Friday, Garvey said, "There is very little difference in terms of money on a new contract and if they don't want to reach an agreement, it's union busting."

In Detroit, Lions' Coach Rick Forzano refused to take Oakland's veteran-studded lineup as an excuse in a post-mortem of the Raiders' victory.

"We played our vets only one quarter—the ones that came in camp this week," Oakland Coach John Madden daid.

"Their consistency was the difference," said Forzano.

"I'm disappointed with our defense. They (Oakland) controlled the play. Every time they got down there, they put the ball in the end zone."

Raider rookie Harold Hart scored twice in the second half, on a two-yard run and on a four-yard pass from former Canadian quarterback Larry Lawrence of Iowa. Lawrence relieved rookie Don Milan of Cal Poly (SLO) after starter Ken Stabler gave Oakland a 14-3 lead.

Stabler hit veteran Bob Moore with a three-yard touchdown and handed off to another vet, Clarence Davis, for a three-yard score.

Rookie Mark Van Eeghen of Colgate startled the crowd and Madden by bursting through the middle for a 63-yard touchdown romp on the last play of the first half. He was running from punt formation.

In Saturday's action, the Jets met the Giants in New Haven, Conn.

Blazer Officials Check On Stadium

ATLANTA (UPI) — Officials of the Florida Blazers arrived in Atlanta Saturday to line up a stadium for the Orlando team if the final decison is made to transfer the World Football League franchise here.

Rommie Loudd, general manager of the Blazers, would say little about the reported move. "I'm here to see a football game tonight and to visit my good friend, Larry Morris," he said.

But Morris, a former all-America center for Georgia Tech and now a successful Atlanta businessman listed as a possible Blazer investor, said "I think he (Loudd) has a proposal to make to the Tech Athletic Board" for use of Grant Field by the Blazers.

Morris said he had discussed the possibility of the Blazers playing at Grant Field with Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd. He quoted Dodd as saying the Tech Athletic Board would be willing to consider proposals from the Blazers either Monday or Tuesday.

Tech President Dr. Joseph Pettit cast doubt on whether the school would be willing to permit the Blazers to use its stadium.

"We have a real responsibility to our own athletic program and particularly to our fine football team. It uses Grant Field intensely, all week all fall. It is hard to imagine that a second team could be based in the same facility."

The final decision would rest with the state Board of Regents, which exercises control over Tech and other statesupported schools.

The Blazers would have to land a facility such as Grant Field if they were to move their franchise to Atlanta. The NFL Atlanta Falcons, which play the Cincinnati Bengals here tonight, have contractual rights to Atlanta Stadium.

If the Blazers should move to Atlanta, it would be their fourth jump since the infant WFL came into being less than a year ago. And it would come amid other indications that the league may be in for hard times.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By B.F. Derman

Oddly enough, football was not always an autumn sport...Back in the old days, some colleges started their regular football seasons in winter or spring...For instance, Georgia opened its season in 1892 by playing its opening football game against Auburn on Feb. 22!...And there were other examples like that.

• • •

When was the last time an Ivy League football team won the national championship?...It hasn't happened for many years...Last time was 1925 when Dartmouth was voted national champs.

• • •

What are the most points a football team can score in the fewest minutes...Well, the all-time record in a big-time game was set by the New York Giants who once scored the incredible total of 21 points in 35 SECONDS!...It happened at Pittsburgh Oct. 7, 1945...With 50 seconds to go in the first half, the Giants scored a TD...Then they kicked-off, Pittsburgh fumbled, the Giants recovered, and on the first play Arnie Herber threw a TD pass...On the next kickoff, Pittsburgh again fumbled, Bill Piccollo Of New York scooped up the ball, and ran for a TD...There were then 15 seconds to go...So, that was 21 points (all extra points were good) in just 35 seconds!

Texas Missing Leaks, Possibly Currin As Fall Workouts To Begin Tuesday

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Their eyes set on a seventh straight Southwest Conference championship, the Texas Longhorns begin workouts this week minus one Heisman Trophy candidate and possibly a starting defensive tackle.

Senior All-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks is the big question mark in Coach Darrel Royal's plans. Leaks tore up his right knee in spring workouts and underwent major surgery.

Doctors at first ruled him out this season, but Leaks' rehabilitation work went so smoothly that Royal now admits Leaks may be added to the lineup after the first few games. Leaks, however, has said he will sit out the season unless he can play in nine of the 11 games.

The Longhorns open the season at Boston college Sept. 14.

About 115 football hopefuls including 29 freshmen will report to practice Tuesday. Two-a-day workouts begin Thursday.

Besides Leaks, the only serious injury problem the Longhorns will immediately face will be at defensive tackle, where ailing Fred Currin was scheduled.

LUBBOCK — There are several things that have to be taken care of before hunting season starts Sept. 1, 1974.

A place to hunt should be first in line. Even though it is hot and the fall seasons seem far away, places to hunt and leases are going fast.

Get out and talk to the landowner. You will have to show him that you are a competent hunter, knowing the difference between a deer or quail and a prized hereford.

If you are going to lease property to hunt, make sure that these points are covered in the agreement: what is leased, name of parties, description of tract including size and boundries, the terms of the lease including the amount and time of payment, the duration of the lease, who is to hunt and the species od game animals, fish, game birds and varmints which may be taken.

Many sportsmen find areas to hunt by checking classified ads in local newspapers or attending sportsmens' or farmers and ranchers meetings.

After the lease or place to hunt has been acquired, then you can start getting other details completed.

Don't forget your new 1974 - 75 Texas hunting license. Most bonded vendors will have these new licenses by the 20th of August. Don't wait until the opening day of dove season to buy your license, take care of this responsibility now.

Are you a safe hunter? Maybe you noticed your son or daughter crossing a barbedwire fence with a loaded firearm or you caught yourself leaning on the barrel of a loaded shotgun.

Hunters or potential hunters are invited to attend hunter safety classes given by NRA instructors. Contact your local Texas Parks And Wildlife Dept. District office or local game warden and put your name on the hunter safety class list now.

John Dowdy Blames Mitchell

By E. MICHAEL MYERS

ATHENS, Tex. (UPI) — "I have contempt for the putrid souls who di it to me," John W. Dowdy said in a soft, weak voice from an easy chair in the pink livingroom of his Cayuga Drive home on a hill.

He had just transplanted a cherry laure bush in his sun-scorched back yard and his blue jump suit was splotched with sweat. He perspired from the heat but relaxed inthe cool room of his tan brick home on the west edge of Athens.

"I have never felt bitter," he said between gulps of steaming coffee. "I have too much contempt to be bitter.

'So Low'

"They're so low, it's not worth being bitter. I'll not let pipsqueeks destroy me."

Dowdy, now 62 campaigned on honesty in government in his rural East Texas district and the voters sent him to Congress for 20 years. The government sent him to prison for six months.

Dowdy was convicted by a Baltimore jury in 1971 of eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury for accepting a $25,000 payoff to block a Justice Department investigation of a Maryland construction firm.

Dowdy asserts he is innocent.

He blames his downfall on the ormer law-and-order attorney genera of the Nixon administration — John N. Mitchell.

Dowdy said he is not bitter over his troubles, but the sense occasionally surfaces in his words.

And there is a sense of pleasure over Mitchell's Latergate scandal troubles.

'Deserving Fellow'

"Now Mitchell is indicted — the very ones who did this — it is coming to them dow. For Mitchell, it couldn't happen to a more deserving person."

The Justice Department said Dowdy flew to Atlanta Sept. 22, 1965, and accpted $25,000 in cash in a brief case from Myrvin C. Clark, sales m nager for Monarch Construction Corp. of Baltimore. The firm was doing slum improvement work in Washington and was under investigation for possible fraud.

The next month Dowdy was accused of obtaining government files on Monarch and passing them on to its president, Nathan H. Cohen. The investigation then cooled.

But on Jan. 20, 1970, Cohen was in Dowdy's office, carrying a hidden, FBI supplied tape recorder. He was worried about the government investigators again and mentioned several times the $25,000 — "That, as far as I'm concerned, that's done its job." Cohen was worried about the investigation. Dowdy agreed to make a few calls.

Goes Before Jury

Dowdy testified before a Baltimore grand jury March 4, 1970, on the investig tion. On March 31 he was indicted with Clark on charges of conspiring with Clark and Cohen to block the investigation, perjury and accepting the bribe.

Clark pleaded guilty within a month and he and Cohen later testified against Dowdy.

Dowdy's trial was postponed six times because of his health. He had surgery for a spinal problem and later suffered pneumonia and an intestinal ifection. His weight plunged from 215 to 160. Dowdy sai he was "framed" and "hounded to death."

The trial finally began Nov. 8, 1971, with former U.S. attorney for Maryland Stephen H. Sachs, a Democrat, the special prosecutor. The nine woman, three man jury found Dowdy guilty of all counts Dec. 30. He faced 40 years in prison and a $40,000 fine.

Reduces Sentence

An appeals court lter threw out the convictions except for three perjury counts, reducing the 18 month sentence to 6 months. Dowdy, claiming the sentence would kill him because of poor health, lost all appeals and on Jan. 28, 1974, entered the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo. It was more a hospital than a prison.

On June 21, 1974, Dowdy walked out of prion and returned home to Athens where he began his political career in 1944 with election as district attorney.

"I felt like it (the investigation) was because I was against urban renewal, the graft in public housing," he aaid from his home two months after his release. "There was an ambitious prosecutor in Baltimore. Mitchell wouldn't let him have anyone but me. Mr. Sachs was politically ambitious.

He Was 'Victim'

"'Screwing the opposition' — that's their term, not mine. I was one of their first victims.

"We've got the best system, I guess, there is. But it has rotten people in it. Anything that is human does. All decent people know what happened, realize it. What others may think does not matter. The greatest crime is for a jury to convict a man that is not guilty.

"That tape. It is not a good tape. They made it say what they wanted it to. One spot was spliced. I was not paying attention (to Cohen). If he told me he gave me $25,000 I would have paid attention.

"Immunity caught up with Mitchell. It's a system where you charge one man and he says — 'Let me out, I'll get another one for you.'

"Mitchell — he is just one rotten individual. John Mitchell is already paying. When they try him in Washington they'll convict him. If he gets a fair trial he'll go to the penitentiary.

Dowdy is reluctant to discuss Springfield and the sentnce.

Helped Others

"I spent my time there helping other people," he said. "Thee were people w th all kinds of problems — from family problems to depressions. I drew up writs.

"If I had a problem I did not have time to consider it. They needed somebody to help them."

Dowdy is retired and on full pension for his 20 years House service. He thinks well of President Gerald R. Ford, his ormer House colleague.

"I hope Gerry will do a good job. He w ll try."

But his toughts are on a quiet life with his wife Johnnie Deana, or "J.D." and visits from their two children and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Dowdy is bitter, but won't speak for the record.

Crewmen Subject To Discipline

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Seveventeeen crew members of the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Durable wll be brought before a captain's mast for non judicial punishment because of alleged marijuana smoking aboard the ship.

The Coast Guard's Eighth District headquarters confirmed Thusday the 17 would be subject to the discipline of the ship's captain after he hears both sides of each man's case.

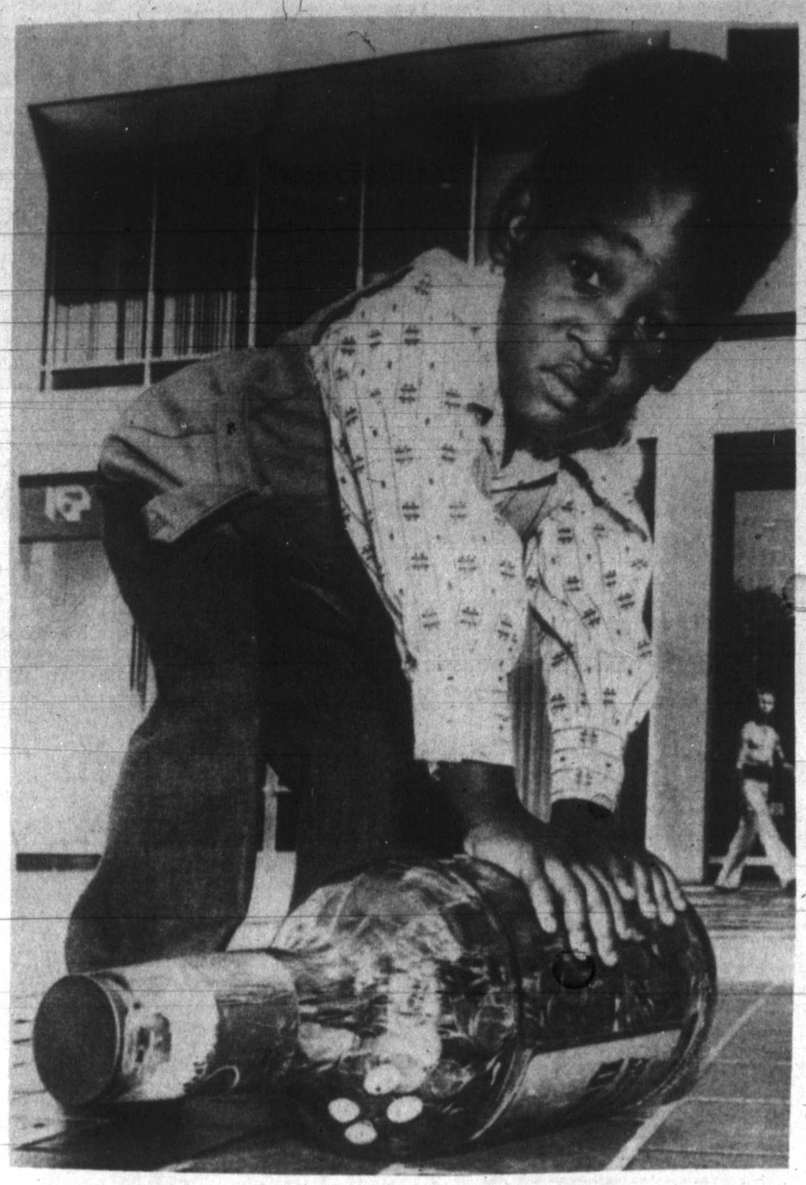

The durable, based in Brownsvile, Tex., is commanded by Cmdr. W. J. Brogden and has a crew of eight officers and 60 enlisted men.

Cmdr. Fred Burgess, the district's legal officer, said as he understood the situation, "There was a sprinkling of this (marijuana smoking) off the ship and on the ship."

Burgess said specific circumstances varied from one case to another.

He said captain's mast is provided for under the Uniform Code of Military Justice and is the least serious of four types of military trials.

After hearing both sides of each man's case, Burgess said, the ship's captain has authority to forfeit up to half of a months pay for two months, to reduce a man to the next lower pay grade, to give two hours extra duty for not more than 45 days and to restrict a man for not more than 60 days.

JAMIE LEWIS, 3, rolled his life's savings into a Fort Worth bank and found he's worth his weight in copper. Jamie's penny collection, housed in a gallon whiskey bottle, weighed 29 lbs. and was worth $39.84. He will buy a pedal car with converted cash. (UPI Photo)

The Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spanish-born Adela Holzer started her U.S. career as a typist. Then with a bank loan of $3,000 and some of her savings, she went into business and parlayed herself into being boss of a multimillion dollar empire of diversified holdings.

"All this she did in 20 years. The beautiful Mrs. Holzer, tawny-haired and suntanned, now is 40. She has two sons, 20 and 14.

Her secrets to be shared with others as a start? "Be prompt in paying your bills," she said. "Be careful to whom you're selling so they too pay promptly. Work hard. I never stop, never stop thinking."

She had thoughts, too, on how women can advance to executive suites in the years ahead— "The rest of the 1970s and the '80s will be the era of womanpower. Women no longer will be segregated into second class citizens."

Said Mrs. Holzer, "To arrive in management, you start like a man does. Background yourself with a good education (she has a doctorate in philosophy). Don't be afraid to go over some subordinate's head. Go to the top with your ideas, even if you have to wait until 5:30 when most everyone else has left the office.

"Come to such conversations with resources, your ideas for innovations in the company. How to reach more people, how to get more sales."

Mrs. Holzer, whose financial interests range from real estate to the Broadway theater, also is thinking of the woman who's in her 40sand 50s and wants to go to work for the first time.

"I'm considering starting a school for housewives who have no general knowledge of business operation," she said. "Some women can't even read a business report."

Mrs. Holzer was born in Madrid of a well-to-do, but strict, family. Married at 17, she came to the United States in 1954 to escape a union that wasn't working out.

With her knowledge of languages (she's fluent in several), a job at the United Nations as interpreter was a natural. She also went to work at the same time as a typist at an advertising agency.

"Father let me use his apartment in New York," she said. "So I saved from both my salaries. I started buying houses on Second and Third Avenues." Then she would resell as both avenues, Third especially, began to develop with high rise apartment and office buildings.

Currently, real estate holdings are in Spain, England, and the United States. These include a townhouse on Manhattan's fashionable upper East Side, and residences in north New Jersey, Madrid and London.

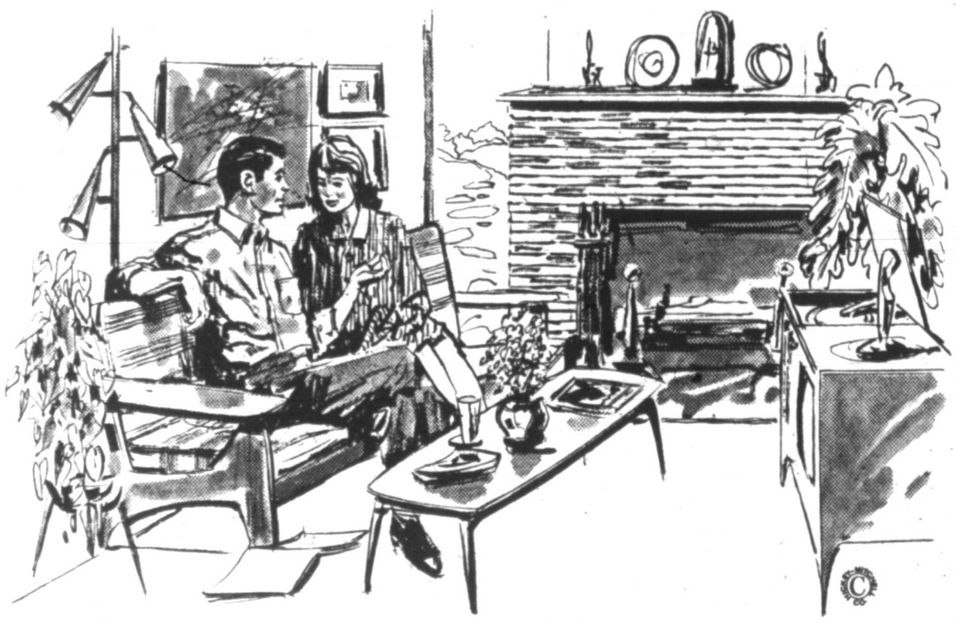

When she remarried, to Walter Dushin, an eminent scientist then working for the Pentagon in Houston, she went into another investment area. With a Houston bank loan of that $3,000 and her savings of about $17,000, she started a hospital supply business.

Dushin died in 1962 and she returned to New York, going into the import-export business, working in the main with South American countries. At the same time, she went to work at Columbia University teaching Spanish and Spanish literature. "I figured if the other business failed, I needed a steady job," she said the other day in an interview.

In her 10 years at Columbia, she also finished her dissertation for her doctorate from the University of Madrid and began writing books.

Now, she's the wife of Peter Holzer, whose family owns a cargo shipping business. She's also expanded her own managemen consultancy, invested in gas and oil properties in Louisiana and Ohio, and of all seemingly unlikely things, the theater.

Her first investment was in "Hair" in 1968, and it was a big hit. Since, there have been "Lenny", "Sleuth", "A Little Night Music", and production of "Bad Habits". She plans production of three more shows for fall and winter on roadway.

Why should our son have a newspaper route?

The living is good. Plenty of money, nice home, nice furnishings, another salary raise in sight; we've never had it so good. Why should our son manage a newspaper route?

Most any educator or businessman will tell you why in three simple words: it builds character.

Oftentimes the youngster who grows up in comfortable circumstances and who gets his weekly "handout" from dad never realizes the value of money or the efforts required to make it and manage it, until he's on his own. By then attitudes and habits are difficult to reverse.

But the newspaperboy quickly learns valuable lessons that stick. While making money on a newspaper route is important, the experience of getting-the-job-done-no-matter-what is more important. When through route management, responsibility and self-confidence are acquired at this early age, a newspaperboy has an advantage over other youngsters that no amount of money can buy.

If you're still wondering whether your son would benefit from newspaper route management, ask a community businessman or civic leader, or better still, phone our Circulation Department.
