Alex Haley finds

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Trustees digging through boxes at Alex Haley's farm have made more discoveries after finding draft manuscripts of the "Autobiography of Malcolm X" and notes from the slain civil rights leader. Among the newest finds are completed chapters of Haley's unpublished book "Queen," which traces his mother's family history and is being filmed as a CBS miniseries for next year. Also discovered were "Henning," a completed book based on Haley's hometown just north of Memphis, and "Booker," a three-act play, said Paul Coleman, an attorney for Haley's estate. The manuscripts were stored for years in boxes on Haley's 127-acre farm in Norris, about 20 miles northwest of Knoxville. Haley died of a heart attack in February in Seattle.

Guards change

LONDON — Women will take part for the first time in the 155-year-old tradition of the changing of the guard ceremony, performed outside Buckingham Palace. The Royal Air Force Central Band, which has nine women members, will take part in today's ceremony. The women, who tuck their hair up inside the fur busbies and wear the same blue uniforms as the men, were surprised by the attention. "I honestly cannot believe the fuss that's being made of all this," said Junior Technician Constanze Melton, a 27-year-old clarinet player. Wing Cmdr. Barrie Hingley said the female recruits had the royal seal of approval. "The queen is absolutely delighted," he said. Last year the Royal Air Force became the first of the three military services to recruit professionally trained women musicians for their bands.

Movie starts shoot

BRACKETTVILLE — The made-for-television movie will be set in the old West, but it's a pretty good bet that someone will do some singing. "Rio Diablo," which begins filming next week, stars several Nashville names. Kenny Rogers will portray an old bounty hunter, Travis Tritt will star as a young man seeking to revenge the killing of his wife, and Naomi Judd will play a madam. The movie is being filmed at Alamo Village, a movie set and tourist town since 1957.

Hurricane pounds Hawaii

Ferocious storm slams into island of Kauai

■ Official says Iniki is most powerful tempest in Hawaiian islands this century, compares it to Hurricane Andrew.

Associated Press

LIHUE, Hawaii — Hurricane Iniki dealt a direct blow to Kauai Island on Friday with wind gusting to 160 mph and torrential rain. Twenty-foot waves crashed over coastal highways and the island lost all power and telephone service even before the worst of the storm hit.

It was the most powerful hurricane in the Hawaiian islands this century, said Bob Sheets, director of the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, Fla. He said Iniki was about as strong as devastating Hurricane Andrew, which roared through the Bahamas, south Florida and Louisiana last month.

Hurricane Iniki's fiercest winds covered all of Kauai, said Saul Price, a National Weather Service forecaster in Honolulu. The island is roughly circular and 30 miles across and has a population of more than 50,000. The extent of damage couldn't be determined immediately.

Oahu, the state's most populated island with 800,000 people, is separated from Kauai by an 80-mile-wide channel and was spared the brunt of the storm. But a 10- to 20-foot surf pounded Oahu's southern coast, heavy rain fell, power lines were blown down and roofs to some houses were damaged.

Iniki had sustained wind to 130 mph and gusts to 160 mph as it passed over Kauai, the weather service said. That was down from 145 mph sustained wind and 175 mph gusts earlier Friday.

Kauai Mayor JoAnn Yukimura was talking with Gov. John Waihee via two-way radio as the storm swept over

Amarillo teen opens fire on students

AMARILLO (AP) — A high school shooting incident Friday that left seven teen-agers injured, one critically, was gang-related, student witnesses said.

Six youths were shot and one trampled when a 17-year-old male student opened fire in a hallway at Palo Duro High School following a football pep rally, authorities said.

The teen-ager and a second student in possession of a gun were taken into custody shortly after the 10 a.m. shooting, said Amarillo Police spokeswoman Helen Smith.

The 17-year-old, reportedly a new student at Palo Duro, was being held at the Potter County Jail. Neither suspect was immediately identified.

"It (the shooting) was about colors. It was a gang thing," said one Palo Duro junior who refused to give his name citing safety concerns.

"Me and my boys was looking for him (the gunman) to fight. When we found him, my friend punched him in the face. He ducked down and came up with a gun and started firing.

"I was freaking out. Gunpowder was spraying on my face. I thought I was going to get it, too."

An 18-year-old student, Delmond Carruthers, was taken to Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center where he was upgraded to serious condition Friday afternoon with .22-caliber bullet wounds to the chest, shoulder and leg, said Northwest Hospital spokesman Dalton Stewart.

Other students wounded by gunfire were Donyel Austin, 15, who was being prepared for surgery in seri-

Bush announces $9 billion F-15 deal

■ President OKs sale of jets to Saudi Arabia

By Andrew Rosenthal

ST. LOUIS — President Bush tore apart his campaign schedule Friday to put on another demonstration of the powers of the Oval Office, dropping into St. Louis to hand out a $9 billion deal to sell advanced F-15 fighters to Saudi Arabia.

It was the second time in nine days that Bush had dispensed this sort of plum contract to the American arms industry, helping secure thousands of jobs in states like Missouri, Texas and California, where a major part of the battle for the presidency will be fought this fall.

Guerrero doesn't have college degree

■ Railroad Commission chairman admits she didn't graduate from the University of Texas.

Associated Press

AUSTIN — Railroad Commission chairman Lena Guerrero, who is seeking election in November, on Friday acknowledged that she didn't earn a college degree and apologized to "anyone who has been misled."

Her opponent, Republican Barry Williamson, charged that Ms. Guerrero had "faked her resume to make it look good for political ambitions."

Ms. Guerrero, a Democrat appointed by Gov. Ann Richards in 1991, issued a statement saying she has thought for the past 12 years that she met graduation requirements of the University of Texas and was awarded a degree.

However, she said, she checked with UT officials on Thursday after being questioned

Midland violates its contract; TWC slaps city with $83,000 fine

By Darren J. Waggoner
Staff writer

Deluged with unusually heavy rainfall for the last six years, the city of Midland had long ago expected to be fined for wastewater treatment violations at its main plant.

But they had held out hope it would be a small fine.

Instead the Texas Water Commission slapped fines totaling $83,000 on the city — $68,000 for using emergency ponds 18 days more than allowed in 1990.

"Our contract gave us 30 days, but due to the increased rainfall we had to use them 48 days," said city manager Fred Poe.

"We had hoped they would give us a little more credit for improvements we've made and so on. But there is no question we violated the permit — we had no alternative," he said.

But, Poe said, the TWC could legally have fined the city much more.

The penalties also resulted from the wastewater system's inability to handle additional flow.

"We just don't have enough land to handle between 10 and 11 million gallons a day," Poe said. "When we put in the ponds about seven years ago, they told us to quit using the emergency ponds — other than for the 30 days — because of leaking."

The city is negotiating to buy about 1,000 acres and lease about 300 more from a local farmer for effluent irrigation.

"Under our contract we're not allowed to use draws because of our method of treatment," Poe said. "Therefore we have to keep it contained."

In contrast, under contract with the TWC, the city of Odessa regularly uses draws for drainage.

"They give their water a secondary treatment which allows them to use the draws," Poe said. "But that secondary treatment is relatively expensive and they have had to deal with angry property owners who have land on the draw and are suing."

Glenwood Hospital opens new day treatment program for adolescents

Staff report

Glenwood Hospital has opened a new day treatment program for adolescents.

"The new program is specially designed to meet the needs of the patient and the patient's family," said Richard A. Waxler, the hospital's administrator. "The patient's family plays an important part in the program."

The program will treat boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 17 with alcohol or drug problems, and those with psychological difficulties, Waxler added.

"We're excited about this new alternative in treatment because it allows the family full involvement in the child's recovery and lets the patient spend his evenings at home," added Pat Larum, manager of the day treatment program.

The Adolescent Day Treatment Program meets Monday-Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and features activities designed to improve the patient's confidence, coping skills and relationships within the family. The program also allows students to keep up with their schooling.

The new program is covered by most health insurances. "One of the things I'm pleased about is the fact that we can offer this treatment for significantly less than inpatient care," Waxler said.

Glenwood specializes in the treatment of psychological illnesses and addictive diseases. The 64-bed hospital, located on Farm-to-Market Road 1788 between Midland and Odessa, is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. It has been in existence since 1987.

MERCO seeks injunction against attorney general

Staff report

MERCO Joint Venture announced Friday it has filed a motion in federal court to seek an injunction against Attorney General Dan Morales in an on-going battle with him over the company's beneficial use project near Sierra Blanca in West Texas. MERCO claims that Morales is exerting improper political pressure on the TWC in an effort to circumvent Federal Judge Lucius Bunton's prior ruling denying Morales' request for a preliminary injunction.

MERCO says the TWCs approval of the company's beneficial use registrations were based on science and the law — not a political agenda. By joining TWC to the suit, MERCO seeks to stop the attorney general from exerting the alleged political pressure on the agency. MERCO claims that Morales' actions are an improper effort to achieve through the "back door" what the state was unsuccessful in achieving at an earlier hearing.

"The attorney general's actions against MERCO set an ominous precedent against enviromentally-sound alternatives for dealing with biosolids," said George Fore, MERCO's Director of Ranching Operations.

WEATHER SUMMARY
Temperatures drop to 80s

Staff report

Today's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a high in the upper 80s and south winds at 10 to 20 mph. Tonight should be partly cloudy with a low in the lower 60s.

Sunday should be mostly cloudy with a high in the lower 90s.

After an overnight low of 62, Friday's high reached 75 compared with the record high for that date of 102 set in 1930. The record low for that date is 51 set in 1975.

STATE

The cold front that fingered its way through Texas was spawning some heavy rains Friday and still lingering off the coast.

South Texas skies were mostly cloudy as thunderstorms kept temperatures in the lower 80s.

Clouds prevailed Friday afternoon over West Texas. But a few breaks in the overcast were reported in the Panhandle and Permian Basin. Clear skies were reported in the far west.

Skies up North were partly cloudy, defying the surface high pressure system that continues to dominate the region. The cloud cover and surface high pressure combined to keep the temperatures well below normal.

The state's high at 6 p.m. was Houston's 91 degrees. The low of 71 degrees was marked in Guadalupe Pass.

The forecast for South Texas calls for decreasing clouds. Highs will be in 80s and 90s. Lows will be in the 60s and 70s.

North Texans should see partly cloudy skies through Sunday. It will be warmer today.

NATION

Chilly weather hung over parts of the South and Great Lakes region Friday, while rain was widely scattered across the Atlantic Coast.

Meanwhile, rain and thunderstorms Friday dampened southeast New England, the South Carolina coast, east-central Georgia, Florida, south Texas, Washington state, the Idaho panhandle and northwest Montana.

Heavier rainfall during the six-hour period ending at 1 p.m. CDT included .96 of an inch at Alice, Texas.

Across the Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and in parts of Alaska, temperatures were unseasonbly cool.

Record lows in Alaska included 25 in Bethel, 29 in Kodiak and 30 in St. Paul Island.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

STORM: Iniki slams into Hawaiian islands

the island and reported that the roof of the state office building in Lihue was torn off and windows of the county building were blown out, said Waihee's press secretary, Carolyn Tanaka.

Yukimura said wind was exceeding 100 mph and debris was blowing everywhere, but she didn't know how extensive the damage was, Tanaka said. Then communications with Yukimura were lost.

Wilcox Hospital, the largest on Kauai, reported via radio after the storm had slackened that they had not had any storm-related injuries, state Civil Defense spokeswoman Barbara Hendrie said.

Hendrie said the Army was preparing to fly a mobile tactical satellite unit to Kauai to establish better communication with island officials.

The eye of the fast-moving hurricane passed over Kauai starting at about 4 p.m. (9 p.m. CDT), said Andy Chun, lead forecaster at the weather service in Honolulu. An hour later the eye was reported to be about 50 miles north of Kauai, back over the North Pacific.

Chun said the eye of Iniki passed over the western part of Kauai, where there are many sugar cane plantations. Most of the island's resorts and other development are concentrated on the easternmost part of Kauai, where Lihue, the largest city, is located.

Torrential rain fell on Kauai and Niihau, an island 25 miles to the west that is populated by about 300 native Hawaiians.

Before the worst of the hurricane struck, streets of Lihue were virtually deserted as intensifying winds bent palm trees sideways and rocked parked cars. Heavy rains drenched the area.

And 20-foot waves along Kauai's southern coast sent waves over roads and highways, the weather service said.

JETS: Bush announces $9 billion F-15 deal

(From 1A)

when it poses the least political risk. With the Labor Party's ascension to power in Israel and clear signs of progress in the Middle East peace process, neither the Israeli government nor American Jews are likely to put up the sort of oppostiiton to the sale that they might have just a few months ago.

Congress, which has 30 days to try to block the sale if it chooses to do so, is unlikely to oppose a job-saving deal of this kind during a campaign that is turning on the nation's sluggish economy. With the nation's high unemployment rate, few politicians are likely to make an issue of fighting an arms sale that will preserve thousands of jobs — particulary less than two months before the elections.

Bush has now given out more than $23 billion in federal subsidies, foreign arms sales contracts and hurricane-related disaster assistance in slightly more than a week as he campaigns for re-election in a nation gripped by recession and, according to opinion polls, unhappy with Bush's economic performance.

Some of this largesse, notably the disaster relief, comes at the expense of taxpayers. But the arms sales, particularly, bring new money into the country.

Last week Bush flew to Fort Worth to announce a $6 billion sale of 150 F-16 fighters to Taiwan. Friday he canceled an appearance at a trucking company in Joplin, Mo., at the last minute and flew to the McDonnell Douglas aircraft plant in St. Louis for about a half-hour to tell a cheering crowd that he was approving the sale of 72 F-15 fighter planes to the Saudis.

Standing in front of a newly minted F-15, its cockpit canopy ajar, Bush told the workers that "the military technology you produce is the finest in the world" — the same compliment that he paid to the F-16 production line at the General Dynamics plant in Texas last week.

RIVERA: Jury sentences man to life in prison

(From 1A)

told the jury minutes before they began deliberating Rivera's punishment.

Rivera, 28, admitted to shooting 20-year-old Angela Frescaz three times at close range with a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun as she sat in her car at Furr's Supermarket at Wadley Avenue and Garfield Street on Feb. 25.

Jurors met for only about 20 minutes before they assessed the maximum punishment for the crime. In addition to the life sentence, the jury fined Rivera the maximum $10,000 allowable for the offense.

Rivera remained composed as the sentence was read.

The convicted man will be eligible for parole in 15 years.

Schorre, who prosecuted the case, described the crime as "one of the more notorious murder cases in some time" in Midland.

Luis and Lydia Frescaz, parents of the victim, said they were "very happy" with the punishment verdict and thanked the district attorney and the court for doing their jobs.

But the fate of Rivera doesn't console their loss, they said.

"We won't let her be forgotten," Mrs. Frescaz said.

The Frescazes are pushing for passage of stalking laws in Texas. In January, they plan to speak before the Legislature in Austin.

Rivera violated a restraining order and tracked down Ms. Frescaz with the intention of killing her, the prosecution presented in testimony.

Rivera also was depicted as a selfish and manipulating individual.

"They didn't paint half the picture of Gilbert Rivera," Frescaz said.

Conversely, the defense sought to show that the turbulent relationship of Ms. Frescaz and Rivera led to the shooting.

The victim's mother refuted that idea.

"Nobody did this to you (Rivera). You did it to yourself," she told reporters as her message to Rivera after the punishment was handed down.

Testimony showed that Rivera met Ms. Frescaz in November 1989 and they moved in together a few months later before being married a year from the date they met.

Mrs. Frescaz testified that the couple experienced problems before the marriage.

Other testimony indicated that Rivera and his wife separated and reconciled several times during their relationship. Ms. Frescaz had a child on April 5, 1991, a time when the couple was apart.

The prosecution depicted Rivera as a physically abusive husband. Rivera testified that his wife was the aggressor at times.

The relationship came to an end the night Rivera shot Ms. Frescaz, who died as a result 10 days later.

Elida Contreras, 21, a girlfriend of Rivera's, testified that she and Rivera drove to Midland Park Mall from Lamesa the night of the shooting. They waited two hours for Ms. Frescaz, who worked in the mall, to emerge.

When Ms. Frescaz departed, she drove to the grocery store and was followed by the couple.

After dropping Rivera off, Ms. Contreras returned to Lamesa.

Rivera admitted to the jury that he shot Ms. Frescaz, who was 5½ months pregnant with his child.

Several witnesses to the shooting, including one who identified Rivera as the assailant, testified during the trial.

Rivera, who ran from the scene, was apprehended at a northwest apartment complex the next evening.

During his testimony, Rivera admitted to an auto theft, insurance fraud and cocaine use.

Rivera's past criminal history also includes convictions for unlawfully carrying a weapon and driving while license suspended, and being placed on probation for a deferred adjudication on a burglary of a building charge.

Rivera's admission to events in his relationship was part of his defense.

Defense attorneys Paul Williams and Sara Spector attempted to show that Rivera acted "under the immediate influence of sudden passion arising from an adequate cause" and get a lesser conviction of voluntary manslaughter.

Although some of Rivera's testimony appeared self-incriminating, the decision to have Rivera — the only witness for the defense — take the stand was that of Rivera and his two attorneys, Williams and Ms. Spector said.

"All things considered, it was the best thing," Williams said. "It was a difficult case to defend."

"I think Gilbert, for all his faults, is one of the most candid clients I've ever had," he said.

During the punishment phase of the trial, Rivera testified about how he felt concerning the shooting and Ms. Frescaz's death.

"I feel a lot of sorrow and regret because I know I'll never get to see her again," Rivera told jurors.

Schorre pointed out to the jury that Rivera's answer centered on himself and not Ms. Frescaz, the couple's son or the family of Ms. Frescaz.

Schorre asked Rivera if he would ever walk out of prison.

"Possibly, maybe," Rivera replied.

But "Angela isn't going to walk out of that grave is she?" Schorre shot back.

"I don't think so," Rivera said softly.

COLLEGE: Guerrero admits she doesn't have degree

by a news reporter. That's when she discovered she had completed only 116 semester hours of college class work — four hours short of degree requirements.

"I was devastated to learn that I have not received a degree," Ms. Guerrero said. "I am hurt and embarrassed by this revelation. College was something I did for me. And now I have been told that I didn't quite make it."

Her challenger for the $73,000 a year post accused Ms. Guerrero of having repeatedly exaggerated her academic achievements in speeches, campaign literature and Railroad Commission confirmation proceedings.

He produced a three-page list of campaign brochures and news interviews in which Ms. Guerrero was described as a UT graduate, in some cases as an honors graduate.

"This was not a casual mistake," Williamson said.

"How could you forget you never made it to graduation day? That you never rented cap and gown, or threw your cap in the air at commencement? How could you forget you never got a diploma, or what it said?

"This shocking news is a real insight into the character of Lena Guerrero. Once confidence in her integrity has been lost, it can never be regained," Williamson said.

Campaign spokesman Jeff Norwood said Williamson received a bachelor's degree from the University of Arkansas in 1979 and a law degree from that university in 1982.

In an official campaign biography issued earlier this year, Ms. Guerrero, 34, listed herself as a UT graduate. She said she received a degree in broadcasting in 1980.

In 1991, she was named an Outstanding Young Texas Ex by the Ex-Students Association.

Gov. Richards' press secretary, Bill Cryer, said the question about her education didn't arise as Richards appointed Ms. Guerrero to the three-member commission that regulates oil, gas and transportation.

"The governor has absolute faith that Lena's version of the events is true. There's no reason to doubt her," Cryer said.

"Here's a woman who has a resume that would make someone twice her age proud. Why would she make up something about a degree?" he asked.

In her statement Friday, Ms. Guerrero, a former Texas House member who as a child spent summers as a farmworker, said she enrolled at UT in September 1976. She said she worked her way through school and attended classes until December 1979.

"It was my understanding that I was included in the graduating class in the spring of 1980," she said. "In January of 1980, I went to work full time — under the assumption that I had completed all of my degree requirements."

Ms. Guerrero said that in listing herself as a UT graduate, she never intended to misrepresent her background.

"I apologize to anyone who has been misled. I apologize to everyone who I have let down with this mistake," she said.

"My life has been very public. I have tried to be honest and open about my personal record and accomplishments, and this news comes as a great disappointment to me. I will set the record straight," Ms. Guerrero said.

Goddard Homework Hotline hopes to open communication lines

By Myra Lee Salcedo
Staff writer

Operating the Homework Hotline is as simple as recording a message on an answering machine, according to Goddard Junior High School principal Karen Wentworth.

"Our teachers have been recording messages all morning. It's been a blast," Ms. Wentworth said Friday, before a news conference featuring the hotline.

"Once you know what to do, it's easy," she said. "I recorded my message over and over until I liked it, about 15 times in 10 minutes."

The principal, who is pioneering the Reporter-Telegram Cityline service in her junior high school, said she tended to sound too stern.

"I decided I didn't like how I sounded after I listened to the coaches' messages," she said. "They even had cheers in their messages."

The Goddard hotline system will be open for calls Monday. Teachers at the school have already been trained and have practiced recording messages.

"This should really open up the lines of communication between the community and the schools," the principal said. "Unless you are literally in the schools every day, it's hard to keep up with what's going on. The hotline will answer questions like: 'When is that test going to be?' and "What time is band practice today?' "

Even better, Ms. Wentworth said parents will have an opportunity to leave recorded messages for teachers. "It will eliminate a longer process of getting messages from the office to the teachers," she said.

Cityline is operating the hotline and providing teacher training. Hotline corporate sponsors Coca-Cola and Associated Publishing are funding the program.

Joseph Baressi Jr., superintendent of Midland Independent School District — who was on hand to see system demonstrated Friday — said the hotline program is an example of an "ideal partnership between business, the community, parents and the schools."

Baressi said the program is getting started in the junior high schools — following a successful six-week summer school pilot project — since middle school students seem to have more problems with class assignments.

"I have an eighth-grader who is concerned about mom knowing what he should be doing as far as schoolwork," the superintendent said, laughing.

The superintendent said teachers should be commended for their efforts in learning to use the system and for making the commitment to record daily messages.

"It's not obvious on the surface, but teachers are taking their time to do this," he said.

Principal Wentworth noted that a recorded voice on the hotline instructs users on what steps to take to access teachers, principals, coaches, student council information, lunch menus or listings of sports events.

"We are delighted to offer this technology to the school district — which we have been pursuing since March," said Cityline manger Trish Kile.

San Jacinto Junior High School's hotline will be launched Wednesday and Alamo Junior High's will open Friday.

MISD superintendent Baressi said, "We constantly say we need more parents involved. This will allow parents to communicate with teachers."

Mario Pena, advertising director for the Reporter-Telegram, said "We have officially sanctioned the 'No more excuses hotline.' "

A touch-tone telephone is needed to use the hotline.

Goddard parents and interested persons may call the hotline Monday by dialing 560-2400.

When the recorded message says "enter a category number please," enter Goddard's four-digit code 2040. A menu of recordings — including information from the principal's office, general announcements, sports, national honor society news, spirit club, and a teachers directory — will be available.

After listening to the message, the caller may leave a message by pressing 1.

AMARILLO:
Shooting injures seven students

(From 1A)

ous condition; Marcus Stiles, no age available, Norman Winifred, 17, Bobby Archie, 15, and Matthew Mitchell, 16, were all in satisfactory condition, Stewart said.

Millicent Hudson, 16, who was trampled in the hallway, was treated and released.

School remained in session following the shooting, though several hundred of Palo Duro's about 1,500 students went home, said John Williams, executive director of student performance for Amarillo Independent School District.

Williams said a hand-held metal detector had been ordered "as a preventive measure" about a month ago, but he was uncertain whether it had arrived at the school.

"It makes you nervous to come back to school on Monday," said junior Ryan Long. "They need to beef up security, put metal detectors in and have more searches."

Heather Fisher, who said she was a friend of Carruthers', said she watched him punch the gunman in the face. The gunman then hunched over, pulled out a gun and fired a shot into Carruthers' torso.

"I said it was a cap gun and to hit him again," she said. "Then he fired another shot into Delmond's arm and I saw the blood."

She said the gunman walked 10 steps and then ran through the hallway firing shots to clear his way.

"I don't think he meant to shoot anyone else. He was just trying to get out of there. It was total chaos," she said.

Todd Barnes, starting tailback on the Palo Duro football team, said he thought the incident was gang-related. Barnes said Carruthers had spent time as a gang member, but had recently aligned with a rival gang.

Williams dismissed those reports as speculation.

"We don't believe it was gang related," he said. "So far we have been able to keep gang-related activity out of the schools."

Stiles is a Palo Duro football player. Athletic Director Sonny Lang and AISD Superintendent John Wilson, who was in Austin, said Friday night's game at Hereford would be played as scheduled, and Palo Duro won the game, 44-19. Hereford officials boosted the number of off-duty police for the game to 10 from the customary 6, and no untoward incidents were reported.

Palo Duro High School sits in a blue-collar residential section on Amarillo's northeast side.

Surgeon General urges health care for minorities

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. Surgeon General Antonia Novello said Friday that health care must be improved for the growing minority population, which suffers more often from disease than whites.

Speaking to the Statewide Minority Health Strategic Planning Conference, Ms. Novello said the health problems facing women and minorities must be faced with education, individual responsibility and volunteerism.

She said the task is tough because "it seems to me that when you are a minority you are forever viewed in a negative light."

But as the first Hispanic and first woman surgeon general, she said, "Don't let anyone tell you that the American dream is not alive and well because I am the best example."

Citing national statistics, Ms. Novello said that cancer and heart disease are more prevalent among minorities than whites.

The average life span for blacks is 69 years, while for whites it has climbed to 75. Infant mortality among blacks is almost twice that for whites, she said.

"We have to create a new vision of public health," she said, by adapting to the needs of the minority community.

She also decried the increase in smoking among women, as well as increasing incidents of family violence.

A pregnant woman who smokes risks reducing the birth weight of her child, she said. And Ms. Novello added that the more than 4 million women who smoke and take oral contraceptive increase their chances of having a heart attack by 10 times.

She said continued education is needed to combat the spread of AIDS and reduce the incidence of battered women.

"A well-informed woman is a national treasure," she said.

She also said health research studies must include women, and she criticized past cancer and heart disease studies that focused only on men.

Biologist shot on ranch while searching for rare animals

GEORGETOWN (AP) — James Reddell, a biologist who has spent 30 years studying endangered species, has been shot in the leg by a cattleman wielding a .44-caliber Magnum pistol, authorities said.

"I couldn't believe it was happening at the time, and I still have a hard time believing it," said Reddell, curator of Texas Memorial Museum and one of Austin's best-known biologists.

While Reddell nursed a left leg that still contains two pieces of the hollow-point slug, Williamson County law enforcement authorities pondered whether the man who shot him on Monday had committed any crime.

They told the Austin American-Statesman that the cattleman believed Reddell and his assistant, Jose Reyes — who were searching for endangered species for the Lower Colorado River Authority along one of its power line rights of way — were trespassers.

He fired the shot only as a warning, the officials said.

District Attorney Ken Anderson said the incident was described to him by the investigating officer, Lt. James Simonson of the Georgetown Police Department.

"He (Simonson) said he didn't think it was a crime, and I said I don't know if it's a crime, either," Anderson said.

The incident outraged LCRA officials.

"I can't have people running around acting like John Wayne shooting people working on our right of way," said Mark Rose, LCRA general manager. "It's very clear that we have the right to do that. It's a very serious incident and we're going to pursue it. We will never tolerate it."

LCRA is preparing to double the capacity of its power line to Georgetown, a wholesale customer, to serve new businesses. Under federal law, the river authority must ensure that rare animals and plants won't be hurt by the project.

The LCRA hired Reddell to look for endangered invertebrates in caves and sinkholes along its 100-foot right of way.

Reddell, 54, is an expert on cave biology and has had two endangered species named for him: the Bee Creek cave harvestman, which has the scientific name of Texella reddelli, and the Kretschmarr cave mold beetle, or Texamaurops reddelli. Reddell discovered the cave invertebrates and first described them in scientific journals.

Prison board asks Legislature for record $4 billion

GATESVILLE (AP) — The Texas Board of Criminal Justice unanimously agreed Friday to ask the Legislature for an unprecedented nearly $4 billion to run the state prison system in the next two years.

Some prison board members suggested the expenditure, which was termed "staggering," could require a tax increase.

"With a $2 billion operational request, the people of Texas are going to have to gulp," Chairman Selden Hale said.

"Everybody says 'Lock them (criminals) up and throw away the key.' If they want to do that, they're going to have to pay for it. We've got some real hard decisions for the people of Texas ... for what will soon be the country's largest prison system."

The request, which amounts to $1.997 billion for fiscal year 1994 and $1.91 billion for 1995, compares with a $1.18 billion fiscal year 1993 budget.

"Two billion dollars is a tremendous amount of money, somewhat staggering, but we have a serious crime problem in this state and it's not stagnating," board member Allan Polunsky said. "We're going to need additional beds and additional beds are going to require a tax increase."

Another board member, Jerry Hodge, noted that three years ago the average prisoner was serving 20 percent of his sentence. That figure now is 16 percent, he said.

"We're not out of the fire yet," he said.

"It sure looks like what we're doing is not working," Hale added.

Included in the request is a proposal to build four new prisons totaling 7,750 beds at a cost of $283 million.

Officials said the huge budget increases are needed to run the prisons under construction as part of an equally large building program now under way.

Expansion efforts of the last five years will add about 39,500 prison beds and another 12,000 drug-treatment beds, giving the Texas prison system space for more than 93,000 inmates, a 250-percent capacity increase from 1980, according to state figures.

The department's institutional division, which includes the prisons themselves, would get the bulk of the budget — $915 million in 1994 and $1.1 billion the following year.

"If you take the figures and look at them, in a few months we will have about nearly 70,000 beds on line," Hale said. "The system is growing by leaps and bounds. It's going to be over 100,000 beds by 1995.

"Our operating costs by 1995 will be over $2 billion. That's a huge amount of money. Every bed we open up, this operating thing goes up."

"Getting buildings is the cheaper part," board member F.L. Stephens said. "Now we've got to have the money to run them."

One significant item in the budget request will be nearly $177 million in fiscal year 1994 in payments to counties which house state inmates because the state prison system has no room. The proposal for 1995 is for $174 million. The present budget allocates $12 million for such payments, although payments to counties have left prison system with a $100 million shortfall.

Hale said the bulk of the money in that portion of the request would go to Harris County, which is holding thousands of state inmates.

The board on Friday also adopted new rules governing the release of people convicted of capital offenses.

Under the change, the full 18-member Board of Pardons and Paroles must act on release of capital offenders. Previously, a three-member panel of the board was sufficient.

The revision comes in the wake of murder charges filed against former death row inmate Kenneth McDuff.

Prison inmates create ways to light up despite smoking ban

HOUSTON (AP) — There's a ban on lighting up at the Harris County Jail, but of course that hasn't stopped some inmates from finding a crude, but enterprising, way to smoke anyway.

Cigarettes and matches aren't available anymore at the jail since a smoking ban in all county buildings took effect after July 1, but chewing tobacco still can be bought at the commissary.

So, some inmates are drying out the moist chewing tobacco leaves and rolling them in anything from toilet paper to newspapers, the Houston Chronicle reported Friday.

Using pencil lead, wire and an electrical outlet, the inmates are able to produce heat intense enough to fire up the homemade cigarette.

The result is a stogy that can make them "sick enough to puke," said Sheriff Johnny Klevenhagen.

"These guys, they could make a lunar launch module retriever out of a transistor radio, bubble gum and some paper clips," Jim Johnson of the Harris County Deputy Sheriff's Union said. "The mother of invention is living at the jail. If these guys would take the same energy and use it in a positive role, they'd undoubtedly be much better people."

Commissioner El Franco Lee suggested Commissioners Court ban the sale of all tobacco products from the commissary, but Klevenhagen said he presumed that would not deter inmate smoking.

"They'd smoke paint off the walls if they could scrape it off," he said.

But James Oitzinger, attorney for county inmates on their long-standing jail conditions lawsuit, said that while smoking is detrimental to inmate health, the smoking ban has increased the level of stress in the overcrowded facility.

"As long as you've got overcrowding, you've got to do everything you can to relieve stress," Oitzinger said. "I see a potential for violence when you force a population that is already under stressful conditions to give up a habit that is hard to break."

DNA tests could allow murder victims to be identified

HOUSTON (AP) — The torture-slayings of 27 young men, many of them runaways, shocked the nation nearly two decades ago. Now, new technology may allow authorities to finally identify three of those victims.

The Harris County medical examiners office will begin DNA tests to identify three sets of skeletal remains recovered in the 1973 murder cases involving Dean Corll, David Owen Brooks and Elmer Wayne Henley.

The victims, who ranged in age from 13 to 20, were tortured, sexually assaulted, killed and then buried in unmarked graves. All but four eventually were identified.

However, the Houston Chronicle reported Friday that investigators have strong leads on three of those victims and that DNA testing and comparisons should provide positive identification.

"It really would be great if they could identify them," said retired Houston Police homicide Lt. Breck Porter, who worked on the case.

"It was just a horrible and gruesome case," Porter said. "I sure hope they can do it because it would mean a lot to some parents who, after all these years, don't know for sure what happened to their children."

The slayings came to light Aug. 8, 1973, when Henley called police in nearby Pasadena to say he had shot a man at Corll's house. Police found Corll's nude body on the home's floor with some torture devices.

Henley, then 17, led authorities to the bodies. Brooks, 18 at the time, made a statement to police, telling them Henley and Corll, 33, killed the young men.

Henley is in prison serving six consecutive 99-year terms. Brooks is serving a life sentence for four of the murders.

While the others were identified through such things as dental records and personal effects, the four remaining victims never had any dental work. And because of decomposition and other factors, there has been no way to positively identify them.

But a process called Polymerase Chain Reaction now will be used to try to identify them with DNA information.

Cecil Wingo, the medical examiner's chief investigator, said investigators must have an idea about who the person is to obtain some sort of sample for DNA comparison purposes.

DNA testing involves taking a very small sample of bone and then basically cloning it in a laboratory to grow a larger quantity for comparison.

Next, investigators must obtain a blood sample from the parents and then compare their DNA to the material taken from the remains.

Company accuses Morales of using political pressure in dump dispute

AUSTIN (AP) — The company that wants to dump New York City sewage sludge in West Texas filed a motion Friday to block Attorney General Dan Morales from trying to stop the operation.

MERCO Joint Venture accused Morales of exerting "improper political pressure" in his efforts to keep the sludge from being spread in Hudspeth County, about 90 miles southeast of El Paso.

"It is most disturbing that Mr. Morales, based solely on the hope of political heroism, seeks to impede a productive, proven and environmentally-superior solution," said George Fore, director of ranching operations for the Oklahoma-based MERCO.

MERCO filed its motion with U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton to keep Morales from stopping their operation.

On Thursday, Morales asked the Texas Water Commission to review the permit under which MERCO is operating.

It's not enough just to meet Texas' requirements on the wastes, Morales says.

Texas law prohibits the disposal of out-of-state sewage sludge that doesn't meet the more stringent requirements of the two states, which in this case is New York's, Morales said in a letter to the agency.

"We will not be the dumping ground for the nation. If this sludge is so beneficial and in full compliance with the state of New York's regulations, I find it curious that the city of New York would spend tens of millions of dollars to ship it 1,500 miles instead of spreading it on their own soil," he said.

MERCO officials said they are required only to comply with Texas regulations.

Rabin wants Syria to show it's ready

■ Israel will not discuss territory until Syria declares it's willing to negotiate.

■ More national news/4C

Associated Press

TEL AVIV, Israel — Israel will not discuss giving up territory in the Golan Heights until Syria declares it is ready for real peace and willing to keep negotiating even if the talks get bogged down, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said Friday.

Rabin praised Syrian President Hafez Assad's recent pro-peace declarations on Syrian television as "a good sign" that Syria's position toward Israel has softened.

But the Syrian leader must make more dramatic gestures to persuade the Israeli public that he is no longer the Jewish state's most implacable foe, Rabin told a news conference.

Rabin needs strong public backing because he has come under fire from the 12,000 Jewish settlers in the Golan Heights and a large pro-Golan lobby in Parliament. Still, surveys indicate that backing for returning some land has risen from 5 percent to 45 percent over five years.

Recalling the strong Israeli support for making peace with Egypt after the late Anwar Sadat visited Jerusalem, Rabin said: "This is not the feeling of the people of Israel vis-a-vis Syria."

"We haven't seen any attempt by the Syrian leadership to convince the people of Israel that they intend seriously ... to go to peace," he said.

Assad was quoted Friday as saying he could settle all the issues in a brief talk with Rabin.

Unidentified Golan Arabs were quoted by the daily Maariv as saying Assad told them: "If I were to sit with Rabin for five minutes, we could solve all the problems. We both sincerely want a true peace between Syria and Israel. We've had enough shooting and enough dead."

Rabin warned against expecting too much too soon from the talks, which resume Monday in Washington after a 10-day recess.

"We are only at the beginning of going into the real issues," he said. "In the Middle East, bargaining is like a ... bazaar, and therefore it's a prolonged process."

Rabin's stated policy until recently was to focus on talks with the Palestinians on autonomy in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip at the expense of negotiations with the Syrians, believed then to be the toughest track.

Asked Friday whether he was surprised by the rapid developments concerning Syria, Rabin said: "We will go wherever it looks more promising. We'll see. If it goes better with Syria, the Palestinians will have to wait."

Rabin reiterated that Israel is ready to discuss territorial compromise in the Golan, captured in the 1967 Middle East war.

World powers plan to seize blocked funds

UNITED NATIONS (NYT) — The United States, Britain, and France are planning a new Security Council resolution in the coming weeks to seize blocked Iraqi funds so as to buy food and medicine for needy Iraqi Kurds and start compensating victims of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait.

On Thursday, the U.N. secretary general, Boutros Boutros-Ghali, warned the Security Council that more than 3 million Kurds living in the mountains of northern Iraq, who are already short of food and fuel as a result of a 10-month blockade by the Iraqi army, face the threat of famine and extreme hardship when the winter snows arrive.

As a result, the United Nations is now drawing up plans for a new relief operation that would bring food, fuel, and shelter to the Kurds from neighboring Turkey and Iran unless Baghdad begins to cooperate with U.N. relief activities in the region.

To help finance this and other relief operations in Iraq, the three Western nations that are permanent members of the Security Council are preparing a new resolution authorizing the United Nations to take possession of $1 billion or so of the roughly $4 billion worth of Iraq's overseas assets that were frozen after the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait in 1990. The bulk of these assets are believed to be in the United States.

Under the Western proposal, 30 percent of these unblocked funds would be given to the Geneva-based body that the Security Council has already created to receive, assess, and pay compensation claims arising out of Iraq's takeover of Kuwait and the widespread destruction of property that followed. The total compensation bill has been estimated at $100 billion.

A smaller portion of the funds would be used to cover the expenses of the special commission the Security Council set up to find and destroy Iraq's weapons of mass destruction. These expenses are running at about $30 million a year.

The United Nations would try to spend the remainder of the money on the purchase and distribution of food, medicine, and other essentials to needy Iraqis.

The United States and its allies began working on their plan to seize some of Iraq's blocked assets after President Saddam Hussein rejected a Security Council offer this summer to allow Iraq to sell $1.6 billion worth of oil every six months to finance essential imports and compensate those who suffered during the Kuwait takeover.

Rebels maul Socorro

■ Midland Lee junior Undra Graves returns the opening kickoff for a touchdown and senior Sherman Dedrick adds three more rushing TDs as the Rebels defeat El Paso Socorro, 49-12.

By Bill Price
Staff writer

When Midland Lee's Undra Graves returned the game's opening kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown, El Paso Socorro could have been buried right then and there.

That's because Graves' score was just the first of many the Rebels dug up in Friday night's 49-12 win over the Bulldogs at Memorial Stadium, as Sherman Dedrick ran for 133 yards and three touchdowns while Scott McLeod gained 97 yards and two TDs.

The win upped Lee's season record to 2-0, with both victories coming over El Paso teams (Lee defeated El Paso Andress 21-7 last week). Socorro fell to 0-2 with the loss.

The Rebels dominated the first half and took a 35-0 lead into the intermission, and only allowed the Bulldogs to score after a number second-teamers were mixing in with the defense in the second half.

The game's final statistics show the Rebs owning a 418-226 edge in total offensive yardage, as Lee gained 26 first downs to Socorro's 17.

Midland High hosts Monterey

By Terry Williamson
Sports editor

Midland High and Lubbock Monterey have played 35 times and it will still take today's 8 p.m. game at Memorial Stadium to determine which of those teams will have a leg up in the overall series.

Both teams own 17 victories and 17 defeats. There has been one tie. Monterey is coming off a 27-0 victory over the Bulldogs from a year ago, but you might just trash all the past statistics.

Monterey, like Midland High, is under a new coach in Buster Leaf, who is coaching at the Class 5A level for the first time since moving to the Lubbock school from Levelland. He won his debut last week on the road in Roswell, N.M., 14-6. MHS, under new head coach Ronnie Reeger, lost its opener to El Paso Irvin, 36-16, last week.

So, both schools are under new leadership and both are striving to build new programs.

■ Lubbock Monterey vs. Midland High, 8 p.m., Memorial Stadium.

"We won our first game last week," say Leaf, "but we are just like Ronnie (Reeger at Midland) in that we are just trying to get our programs started. We're both in the process of teaching a new way of doing things, so I don't think this game will really have any bearing on what has happened in the past.

"We're one of the smallest Class 5A teams you will ever see. There is a reason why the guy that was here before me (Bob Brown) ended up in Denison, Texas. Monterey had a huge team last year, but all those guys are now attending other schools."

Still, Leaf got 101 yards rushing out of 190-pound fullback Gary Sheppard on 17 carries last week against Roswell and quarterback Wil Leftwich completed four of six passes for 70 yards and a touchdown in Leaf's multiple I set.

Andrews has no fear of Eagles

By Joe Wyatt
Staff writer

ANDREWS — Andrews quarterback Bryan Lepard was not the least bit impressed when Hobbs scored twice in a span of 19 seconds in the fourth quarter to take a 21-20 lead here Friday night.

"I knew we could take them the whole time," Lepard said. "I mean, they're from New Mexico and we're Texans.

"That's just how it is."

Indeed, the Mustangs responded to the wake-up call with three fourth-quarter touchdowns to hand the Eagles a good, old-fashioned Lone Star licking, 40-21.

And they did it on the Texas tundra, racking up 441 yards rushing as three Mustang runners surpassed the 100-yard barrier.

"The line did a super job tonight," Andrews head coach W.T. Stapler said after his team moved to 2-0 for the season. "It was a great effort."

But the quick-strike Eagles, who were limited to just three first downs and seven paltry rushing yards en route to a 14-0 haltime deficit, helped make the Mustangs' effort a very necessary one in the second half. Hobbs scored touchdowns on both the first and second plays of the fourth quarter to lead for the first time, 21-20 with 11:36 left in the game.

The TDs — the first one ending a nine-play drive that began late in the third quarter and the other one coming on a 51-yard pass following an Andrews fumble on very next play — forced the Mustangs to rev up their offense once more. And behind the running of Lepard, Xavy Emiliano and Jonathan McDonald, they revved it up not once, but thrice more.

With Lepard at the controls, Andrews put together TD marches of 53, 56 and 53 yards without allowing Hobbs a first down in the interim, finally putting the Eagles away for good on McDonald's nine-yard burst with 59 seconds remaining.

"You have to hand it to Hobbs," Stapler said. "They just took it to us in

Wolves trip up Stanton, 14-13

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

STANTON — The Stanton faithful watched as their Buffaloes netted 367 yards of total offense and limited Colorado City to 111 yards.

But they also watched in disbelief as the Buffs fell 14-13 to the Wolves Friday night.

Stanton dominated the game in every offensive category. It also led the game in turnovers, giving up five fumbles and two interceptions. But as any football coach will tell you, it's what's on the scoreboard that counts in the end.

For almost a quarter and a half the game was as interesting as a trip to granny's house. That was until Stanton's Philip Hinojosa nailed quarterback David Castillo at the five yard line. Castillo fumbled the ball and Hinojosa picked it up and ran into the end zone.

The fun had just begun.

Moments later, punt return man Doug Conner of Colorado City took a kick at midfield, followed his wall of blockers and raced down the sidelines for the tying score.

The scores before the half lit up two teams that were going nowhere fast.

"We came out very tense before the game. I could see that our guys really weren't fired up in the warmups," said Stanton coach Bill Grissom.

Whatever Grisson told them at the half seemed to work. After a Colorado City punt pinned Stanton at its two, the Buffs went on a 8:30, 16-play, 67-yard drive only to see it stall on a fumble at the CC 31.

"Those turnovers really killed us in key situations," Grissom said.

One fourth quarter fumble almost nailed the coffin shut on Stanton as it fumbled at the CC 36. Seven plays later, CC cashed in on the gift when Ashley Walthall's second effort at the goal

Lady 'Dogs, Rebs serve up district opener

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant sports editor

The way things have been going lately for the Midland Lee Lady Rebel volleyball team, they just may grab one of the three playoff spots in District 4-5A on sheer determination alone.

"Intestinal fortitude," is the way Lee head coch Anita Corder explains it. At last weekend's San Angelo tournament, the 10-3 Lady Rebels walked off the court with the tourney's championship trophy. But not without exerting some of that grit Corder says her team possesses.

"We were down 8-2 in the second game of the championship finals (against Borger)," Corder recalls, "and (Junior) Carrie (Zamora) walked back to serve and she said to everyone 'I'm serving us to 15.' It got everybody sparked, and she went all the way to 12. We went up 12-8 and never looked back from there. They're a very determined group.

■ Midland High Lady Bulldogs at Midland Lee Lady Rebels, 1:15 p.m. JV; 2:30 p.m. varsity, Rebel Gym.

"We're vastly different (from last year). No question. At least that's what people are telling me already."

The Midland High Lady Bulldogs, who will travel to Lee for a 2:30 p.m. district opening match today, have run into a bit of trouble so far this season. Coach Sonja Pittman, who's team is 4-8 in non-district play, likes to refer to this year's team as one that's "under construction" rather than in a rebuilding mode.

"This particular group has been either awesome or awful," Pittman said. "We have been shooting ourself in the foot. We've scored more points for the other team than they have scored for themselves.

"But I feel confident with any six of the nine girls I have. It's just a matter of finding which six are clicking at the time."

The Lady Bulldogs, despite their sub-.500 record, took consolation championship honors at last weekend's Seminole tournament.

Midland High swept Lee in their two games last season as the Bulldogs rolled to a second-place finish in district. That will not be quite as easy this year, accord-

Edberg puts away Lendl

Seles, Sanchez Vicario to meet in women's finals

By Steve Wilstein
AP Tennis Writer

NEW YORK — Stefan Edberg leaned over and kissed the net cord in gratitude when a volley in the fifth-set tiebreaker trickled over, then he leaped over the net in relief after two rare flubs by Ivan Lendl.

In those two moments Friday in the U.S. Open, nearly 20 hours after the two former champions began their rain-interrupted match, Edberg turned a potential disaster into a shaky triumph that put him in the semifinals against Michael Chang.

Edberg, quick on his feet and slick at the net, and Lendl, the ultimate tennis workhorse, put on a high-class show, every point crucial and tense to the end before Edberg finally won 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 5-7, 7-6 (7-3).

It was the polar opposite of the two lopsided, uninspired women's semifinals that followed. Monica Seles beat Mary Joe Fernandez 6-3, 6-2 and will defend her Open championship today against Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, a 6-2, 6-1 victor over Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere.

All that separated Edberg and Lendl was a touch of luck on three key shots in the tiebreaker.

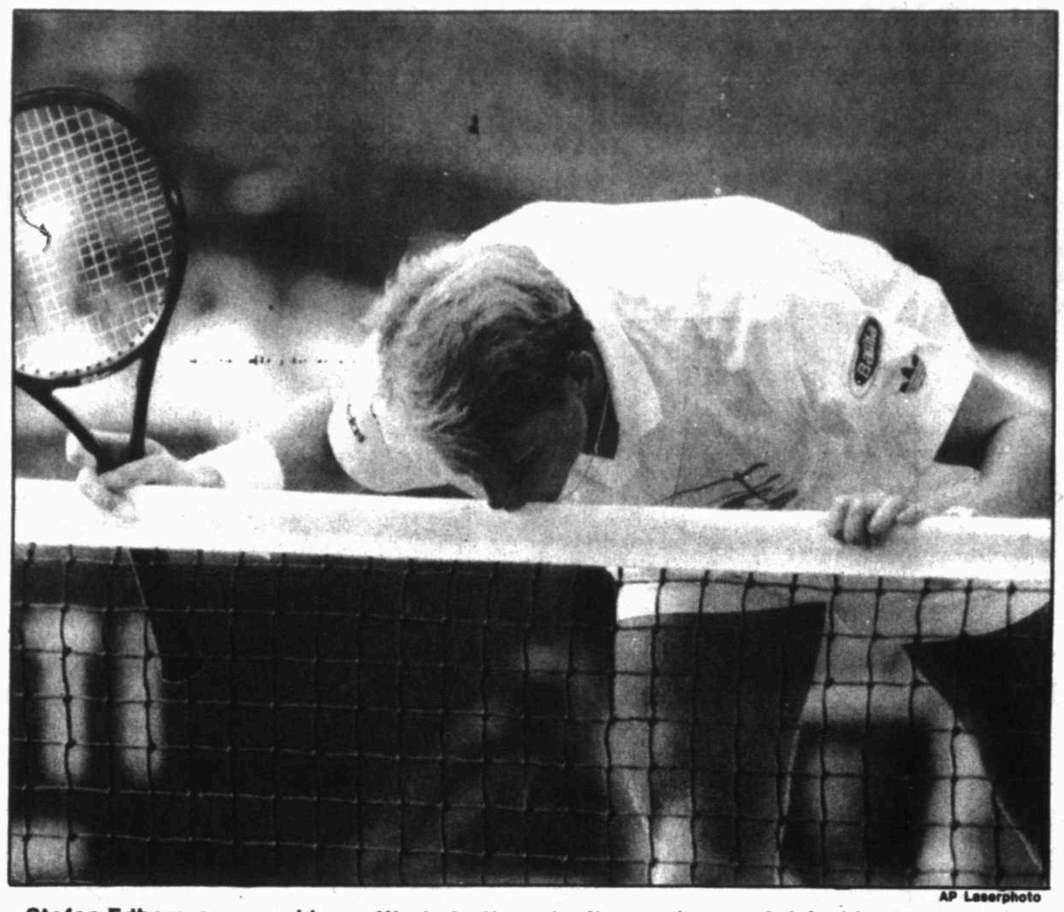
The first came at 2-2, Edberg serving, as Lendl drove a backhand hard from the baseline trying to pass him. Edberg slapped a forehand volley that clipped the net cord, popped up a few inches and seemed to hang suspended in the air while everyone watched breathlessly to see which way it would fall. When it landed softly on Lendl's side, Edberg bent down to thank the net with a kiss.

"It was great," Edberg said, "because it was a shot that I never should have missed anyway, and I sort of didn't punch it enough. It made a huge difference. It really did. It was a little bit of luck that I needed on that one."

Kissing the net, he said, "was the thing to do."

Lendl first thought the ball dropped on Edberg's side, but then saw it dribble toward him and thought, "Look, you can't let it worry you. You have to keep going."

The tiebreaker was still on serve, and Edberg smacked a backhand long on Lendl's serve to tie it 3-3. Then came a huge blunder by Lendl, a mis-hit backhand that drifted long. Edberg made it 6-3 with two service winners, and closed it out with the help of another Lendl mis-hit off the frame that went wide after Edberg's deep, skidding return of serve.



AP Laserphoto

Edberg jumped over the net, shook Lendl's hand and embraced him warmly — two rivals who had played 26 times before this match, splitting them evenly.

Lendl, a new American citizen, endeared himself to the crowd as he never did in the past when he saved four match points in the fourth set at 5-4 Thursday night.

When he came back Friday, trailing 2-1 on serve in the fifth, Lendl had most of the 20,000 fans cheering for him. They were his enemies when he beat Jimmy Connors in the second round, they were indifferent to him when he beat Boris Becker in the fourth round, but now Lendl's grim resolve to keep fighting at age 32, to refuse to fold, won them over. He might make the odd mistake, but everyone knew he wouldn't quit. He lost the first set of every match he played, yet he came within a few shots of continuing toward his fourth U.S. Open title and 10th semifinal.

Neither Lendl nor Edberg ever show much emotion on court, but it was their tennis that captivated the crowd rather than any theatrics. Lendl didn't just stand on the baseline and bunt the ball, as Connors said in belittling him graceless-ly last week. Lendl pummeled the ball with risky groundstrokes, going for winners, and took his chances at the net where he won 39 of 58 approaches. If he doesn't hit with the same power he once had, he at least hits with as much authority and consistency as all but the very best players.

Edberg, a true serve-and-volleyer, won nearly 100 points more at the net — 138 of 198 approaches. But the numbers reflected simply a difference in style and tactics, rather than a difference of effort.

Edberg's victory marked the first time since 1985 that the top four seeds in the men's draw reached the semifinals. Top seed Jim Courier will play No. 3 Pete Sampras, the 1990 champion, after Edberg, No. 2, plays Chang, No. 4.

Minutes after Chang's victory Thursday night, the second deluge of the day drenched the stadium and forced the suspension of the Edberg-Lendl match with Edberg ahead 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 5-6. Lendl was up a break in the fourth set, serving to tie the match and send it into a fifth set, when play was stopped at 10:36 p.m.

Edberg had four match points at 5-4 in the fourth as he got Lendl in a 0-40 hole on his serve in the 10th game. Lendl refused to yield, though, and crawled back to deuce with an ace. An overhead by Edberg gave him another match point, but Lendl saved it with a service winner en route to holding service.

Lendl then returned the favor, getting Edberg down 0-40, but Edberg couldn't come back the same way. He saved two break points, then pushed a backhand volley wide.

The match was developing drama, but it didn't resume for another hour and 10 minutes. Lendl promptly held service at 40-15 with a blistering forehand crosscourt that almost knocked the racket out of Edberg's hand as he sent it wide. That set up a fifth set starting shortly before midnight, but they had to leave the court again with another rain suspension 16 minutes later at 12:02. This time they didn't return until Friday afternoon.

Edberg said he went home Thursday night impressed by Lendl's ability to escape the four break points.

"Somehow, he managed to pull it out," he said. "I am not sure how, but he did it."

Buckley, Packers agree

Associated Press

GREEN BAY, Wis. — First-round draft choice Terrell Buckley ended his 50-day holdout with the Green Bay Packers on Friday and said he will be "scrapping and scrounging" to play this weekend.

"It was all smiles on both sides," said Buckley, the last of the 28 NFL first-round draft picks to sign. "I'm ready to play now."

Buckley's agent, Carl Poston, cited a confidentiality clause when asked for details.

The Green Bay Press-Gazette reported that Buckley, chosen No. 5 in the NFL draft, would sign a four-year contract worth $7.1 million, which would make him the highest-paid player in the team's history.

The deal includes a $3.2 million signing bonus and tops the five-year, $7.5 million deal No. 3 pick Sean Gilbert received from the Los Angeles Rams, the newspaper said.

Quarterback Don Majkowski's $1.7 million-a-year contract made him the highest-paid player in the team's history.

"I think I bring pizzazz and excitement to the team," said Buckley, a cornerback from Florida State who also signed a contract to play professional baseball with the Atlanta Braves organization.

"I know how to have fun," he said. "But more than that, I know how to win."

After a brief appearance in Green Bay, Buckley left with the team for Tampa, Fla., to prepare for Sunday's game against Tampa Bay.

"I'll be scrapping and scrounging to play," he said.

First-year Packers coach Mike Holmgren didn't say whether Buckley would play Sunday.

"The important thing is he's in," Holmgren said. "He's going to be with the Packers for a long time.

BULLDOGS: Injury, illness working against 0-1 MHS

(From 1B)

"We're going to have to stop the fullback first and then the quarterback and tight end (Theo Unbehagen)," Reeger said. "Then they had Jonathan Bennings come off the bench against Roswell at tailback and he seemed to spark the team.

"We just can't give up the long play, but we haven't been consistent enough to do that so far. If we can make a team drive for scores, we'll have more success. Monterey plays a five-man front and tries to penetrate real hard. They have quick kids and we had a hard time with Big Spring's quickness in our scrimmage."

But Leaf, too, has concerns about the Bulldogs.

"Midland is huge. They have the biggest offensive and defensive lines that we will see all year," Leaf said. "I just hope we can utilize our quickness against their size."

The Bulldogs are battling to end a 10-game losing streak, extending back over last season, but that isn't the major problem this week. Some key players may be out.

Tight end Kris Lundberg, who looked good against Irvin, is out with a leg injury. Quarterback Brad Heidelberg has been sick all week with a virus and could miss the game. Fullback Roland Chambers, the leading MHS rusher last week with 65 yards and a touchdown, will be held out of the game for undisclosed reasons.

If Heidelberg can't go, Reeger will probably use both sophomore Blake Henry and junior John Parades at quarterback. Speedy tailback Marcus Anderson will be back, however, allowing sophomore Michael Acrey and defensive back Corey Emerson to share fullback duties. Acrey and Anderson will both play at tailback as the need arises to give all rest.

VOLLEYBALL: JV begins at 1:15 p.m.

(From 1B)

ing to Pittman.

"We barely swept them last year," Pittman noted. "We sort of brushed by them. I have said since the end of last season that Lee has the best athleticism of any team in the district. I certainly think they have an outstanding coach."

A couple of harsh realities staring Lee in the face are injuries and illness. Phyllis Turner has been out several days with both a viral infection and a flu, and is not expected back for Saturday's game. Available but hurting will be Heather Huff, who strained a rotator cuff. Next month, senior Kimberlee Blackburn will have back surgery and will miss several games.

Despite the injuries and sickness at Lee, and the on-court problems which have visited MHS this season, the two teams, as usual, will look at today's match-up differently due to the closeness of the schools and players.

"A lot of these girls are friends and have known each other growing up," Corder said. "We scrimmaged them earlier this year and it's nice off the court, but different when you go on the court."

The friendship between so many of the players at both schools has grown to the point that Lee has invited MHS players to a pre-game brunch today at noon.

"I foresee a great match," Pittman said. "Every statistic and record and every positive, you can take it out of the picuture when Midland High and Lee play in any sport. But we're healthy, eager, and we're working on being confident."

Junior varsity action begins at the Rebel gym at 1:15 p.m.

Bucs' Testaverde out Sunday

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Vinny Testaverde was added to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' injury report Friday with the flu. He is listed as questionable for this weekend's game against the Green Bay Packers.

If Testaverde, who threw for 167 yards and one touchdown in the Bucs' 23-7 season-opening victory over the Phoenix Cardinals, cannot start he will be replaced Sunday by Steve DeBerg.

The Bucs also said tight end Ron Hall is questionable for the game after pulling a hamstring in Thursday's practice. He did not work out with the team Friday and would be replaced in the lineup by rookie Tyji Armstrong.

Testaverde, who developed the flu overnight, attended meetings but did not practice Friday.

Linebacker Ed Brady (hamstring) and defensive end Ray Seals (calf) were still listed as probable, while safety Tony Covington (knee) is out.

Garden City slips past Ozona in 7-6 squeaker

By Pete Herndon
MRT Correspondent

GARDEN CITY — It took Garden City Coach Dennis Bryant a few minutes to gather himself after his team's 7-6 win over Ozona Friday night.

Standing in the middle of Bearkat Stadium, the first-year coach reflected on the game's final play. The strands of hair matted to his forehead and the shirt sticking to his chest pretty much told the story.

With Ozona needing 73 yards for the game-winning touchdown, wide receiver Alex Borrego slipped behind the secondary as running back Michael Faye launched the football. The pass, however, slipped through Borrego's hands and bounced off the numbers on his jersey.

Bryant's home debut was a success.

Jody Bradford's first quarter, four-yard touchdown run and ensuing extra-point had been enough. Bradford finished the night with 143 yards rushing on 32 carries.

The Bearkats, who won in Forsan last week, are 2-0. The Lions, who opened with a 37-0 loss to Reagan County, are 0-2.

The collective sigh of several hundred people in the home stands following the final play summed up Bryant's feelings.

"He was behind them a little," Bryant said of the play. "If he would have caught it, we would have been in trouble."

Borrego had to slow down for the ball and the secondary had closed the gap. Still, a reception would have made for an interesting finish.

Garden City linebacker Matt Seidenberger said he had seen enough interesting plays for one evening.

Midway through the final quarter, Ozona drew within a point when quarterback Justin Castro snuck across from a yard out to cap an 11-play, 40-yard drive. On the conversion attempt, Castro's pass to Borrego was deflected in the corner of the end zone.

After a scramble for the Texas League-style pop-up, Garden City's Bradford came down with the ball, saving the lead and the game.

"I saw the ball go up and looked over," said Seidenberger, who was largely responsible for holding Ozona to 61 yards rushing. "I saw Jody and thought he had intercepted it. It was a great feeling."

Seidenberger, who started as a sophomore last year when the Bearkats started the season ranked No. 1 in Class A, said he expects more finishes like that.

This year, there are not a fistful of all-state candidates. There are no rankings. If Garden City is going to win regionals for the fifth consecutive year, it will be with a sophomore quarterback.

"The number one ranking is really a curse," Seidenberger said. "Everybody comes at you a little harder. It's easier to come from the bottom and work your way up."

Bradford began working early.

The 5-foot-9, 175-pound senior carried the ball nine times on Garden City's opening drive. It took the Bearkats 17 plays and six minutes, three seconds to drive 71 yards for what proved to be the game-winner.

Bradford ran for three yards on a fourth-and-one from Ozona's 46-yard line to keep the drive alive.

"He got it on forth down when we needed it," Bryant said. "He ran well."

Twice in the second quarter Ozona drove inside Garden City's 20, but a fumble on fourth-and-one killed one drive and a Castro pass slipped off the fingertips of Chris Sanchez on fourth-and-eight from the 13.

"I thought our defense played extremely well," Bryant said of limiting Ozona to 160 yards. "Our offense still has some work to do, though."

Mustangs rip 'Dogs, 41-19

Midland Christian won for the second time this year with a 41-19 home victory over the Ira Bulldogs in a six-man battle.

Mustang quarterback Andy Awtrey threw three TD passes of under 10 yards and Kyle Jackson scored twice to lead Midland Christian. Jody Duncan, Neil Truex and Wes Adams all scored for MC while Clay Gunter had a 68-yard kickoff return late in the game to produce the final margin.

Ira scored only two points in the first three quarters of play, but put 17 points on the boards in the final period. The damage was done by then, however.

Midland Christian, now 2-0 on the year, hits the road for the first time this season with a trip to Loraine next Friday.

line gave CC the lead, 14-7.

The Buffs answered with a 60-yard, five-play drive of their own. Sherman Bryand determined his way 13 yards for the touchdown with 4:17 left to play.

Electing to go for the win, Stanton went for the two-point conversion, only to see J.J. Ortiz's pass batted away by Frank Briseno of the Wolves.

With the game seemingly in Colorado City's grasp, the Wolves began to lose the handle on the win on their next possession, as they fumbled the ball at its own 29.

Stanton drove again to the seven. Facing fourth and a yard, the Buffs tried a field goal, but it was blocked by Briseno with 25 seconds to play.

Having dodged another bullet, the Wolves gave the ball right back on a fumble at their own 26.

The Buffs had one more shot at the win, but an Ortiz pass was picked off in the end zone with five seconds left.

In a game where the Buffs won on paper, a disappointing loss like this one, hopefully, will make the team better, according to Grissom.

"I believe the kids will learn from a tough loss like this. It will give them confidence to comeback Monday and get ready for Post next Friday," Grissom said.

MUSTANGS: Andrews 2-0 with 40-21 victory over Hobbs Eagles

the second half. But if our kids were going to give up, they had their chance tonight and they didn't do it."

McDonald led Andrews' ground assault with 134 yards on 18 carries, including TD runs of two, seven and nine yards.

Lepard was close behind with 123 yards on 14 runs. And Emiliano, who plunged into the end zone from one and two yards out, had 115 yards on 17 tries.

"We knew we had to get our momentum back and play our own game," Lepard said. "They got a little something going off our mistakes, but we were not about to let them keep it up."

Andrews bolted out to a quick 14-0 lead on Emiliano's one-yard TD dive midway through the first quarter and McDonald's two-yarder in the second.

And the Mustangs picked up in the second half where they left off in the first, using the first seven plays of the third period to drive down field for Emiliano's second TD and a 20-0 advantage.

But then, Hobbs, playing without head coach Rex Henington, who was suspended indefinitely from his duties after a classroom altercation with a student earlier in the week, got its first big play of the night.

Kendall Lipscomb broke loose for a 36-yard TD run that put the Eagles on the scoreboard with 6:55 left in the third quarter. And when Lepard fumbled right into the hands of defensive tackle Chris White, Hobbs found itself sitting on the Andrews' 47-yard line.

The quarter ended, but the drive needed one more play before Lipscomb found pay dirt again, this time from a mere yard out and the gap was narrowed to 20-14.

When Heath McBeth fumbled the ball away on Andrews' next play, the Eagles used the turnover to score on a Billy Hicks-to-Ron Warner pass of 51 yards and take the lead.

Carroll ties consecutive win record

SOUTHLAKE, Texas (AP) — Class 3A's top-ranked Southlake Carroll tied a 16-year-old state record with its 53rd consecutive regular-season victory by crushing No. 4 Gainesville 46-6.

The Dragons have won every regular season game since 1987 and won the 3A title in 1988. Big Sandy built its streak from 1970-76.

Carroll (2-0) can break the record next Friday when it faces Azle.

The Dragons have a good chance to extend the record to as much as 61 by season's end. None of their next eight opponents have received votes in The Associated Press schoolboy poll this year.

Carroll erupted for a 32-0 halftime behind a 24-point second quarter at Dragons Stadium.

UTEP center of betting probe

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — UTEP's athletic director Brad Hovious is investigating an allegation that a school academic counselor in the athletic department bet on college football, a violation of NCAA rules.

Rick Iager, director of student services for the University of Texas at El Paso, was quoted in the El Paso Times saying he placed a bet last week on a combination of college games at the Sports Book, where betting is legal, across the border in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico.

UTEP's game against Brigham Young University was not one of the games he bet on.

NCAA rules say athletic department employees and athletes may not participate in any gambling activity that involves intercollegiate athletics.

Iager told the El Paso Times he didn't know such a bet was a violation of NCAA rules.

The Times quoted Hovious saying Iager later told him he had not placed a bet but was at the Sports Book with his brother to collect a bet for a friend.

Hovious was not in his office when called by The Associated Press Friday morning.

McGwire activated

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Mark McGwire, sidelined for three weeks with a rib cage injury, was activated from the disabled list Friday night by the Oakland Athletics.

McGwire, however, is still a few days away from being able to play.

He was batting .270 with 38 homers and 93 RBIs at the time of the injury. He was leading the majors in home runs when he was hurt.

McGwire strained his right side during an Aug. 21 game at Baltimore.

REBELS: Socorro scoreless until third

(From 1B)

■ More Sports/8B

With halfback Dedrick and fullback McLeod teaming for more than half the Rebels' offensive yardage, it was easy to tell the emphasis of the Lee wishbone was on the ground.

"It feels pretty good (to get his first 100-yard game of the season). The linemen blocked real well and I"had some good blocks from my fellow backs," said Dedrick, who was the team's leading rusher a year ago with 841 yards.

Dedrick's biggest run of the night came on Lee's first possession after the kickoff return with the score 7-0. On what seemed a sure passing down — third-and-24 on the Lee 45-yard line — quarterback Courtney Turner faked to a diving McLeod and juked left down the line of scrimmage nearly to the sideline before pitching to Dedrick. With the Bulldogs caught off guard, Dedrick dashed down the sideline for 53 yards, giving Lee a first-and-goal at the Socorro 2-yard line.

"It's the kind of play that stresses forcing the safeties off and a quick pitch at the end. The play is a called pitch, and we executed it real well and I was able to get outside and make some yardage," Dedrick said.

On the very next play McLeod carried the ball over for Lee's second score. Devin Gilbert's second of seven perfect point-after kicks gave Lee a 14-0 lead.

The Bulldogs did attempt a comeback in the first quarter, as they put together a march led by quarterback Johnny Dominquez, who finished the night 13-for-32 passing with two interceptions.

Socorro made it all the way to the Rebel 2-yard line before the Lee defense stiffened and held the Bulldogs out of the end zone on four straight plays.

The goal-line stand gave Lee the ball at its own 1-yard line as the second quarter began, and the Rebels fashioned a 99-yard drive that was highlighted by a 13-yard McLeod run, and Turner passes to Corodon Watson (17 yards) and Marlon Henry (26 yards).

Dedrick capped the march with a nine-yard touchdown run.

And, according to Lee head coach Earl Miller, that drive was what put the Rebs over the edge.

"When we took it and drove it all the way down field to score again, it really crushed them," Miller said.

But Lee wasn't done in the first half. After Tony Olivas intercepted Dominquez and returned it one yard with eight minutes left in the half, the Rebel offense went to work at its own 36-yard line.

The Rebs took just six plays to move the ball 64 yards, as Dedrick finished the march with an eight-yard run. The next time Socorro had the ball, Nathan Lambert picked Dominquez off, taking his interception 48 yards to the Bulldog 9 with 4 minutes left in the half.

Three plays netted Lee only two yards, but on fourth-and-goal from the seven, Lee called Dedrick's number again and he answered with a TD run off left tackle.

Socorro finally got on the scoreboard with 2:25 remaining in the third quarter, as Willie Grandara went over from three yards out, but Lee's next possession yielded a 65-yard drive that McLeod finished with a 1-yard TD.

The Rebs' final score came with 3:05 left in the game, as Phillip Sims scored on a four-yard run. The Bulldogs snuck a final TD in with 13 seconds remaining in the game, with Mario Jimenez taking a two-yard plunge.

"Whenever you make as many mistakes against a good team as we did tonight, you're going to get you butts kicked," said Socorro coach Jim Carson. "I'm very disappointed in the way we tackled. I probably should be worried about other stuff, but that really bothers me.

"And I'm tired of these kickoff returns (Carlsbad, N.M., took one to the Bulldog five to score the final TD in a 19-18 win over Socorro last week). We worked on it and worked on it, and it still happened."

"It (Graves' return) sure helped. The ball bounced a bunch of different ways before he picked it up and they got a little out of position. We were able to set a wall and Graves did a good job of running. It really set the tempo," Miller said.

DISTRICT 4-5A REPORT

Mojo's 18 game win streak ends

TEMPLE — Temple's Clarence Marion recovered an Odessa Permian fumble with 16 seconds remaining as the third-ranked Wildcats held on to defeat the No. 1 Panthers 20-14.

The defeat snapped an 18-game winning streak for Permian (1-1), which was 16-0 while racing to a record sixth state championship in Class 5A Division II last year.

Quarterback Adrian Woodson completed 14 of 19 passes for 231 yards and two touchdowns to lead Temple. Permian fullback John Williams ran 20 times for 180 yards and a score.

After Williams' 7-yard touchdown on the Panthers' first possession, Temple's Delarrius Wilson capped a 66-yard drive with a 2-yard scoring run.

Temple (2-0) took a 14-7 lead just before halftime on Woodson's 58-yard touchdown pass to Damion Johnson. Permian tied the game again in the third quarter on a 48-yard touchdown pass from Dennis Graham to Kendrick Parrett.

The winning score came with 8:40 remaining, when Woodson threw an 8-yard touchdown pass to Greg Watson. The extra-point kick was blocked.

Permian's ensuing drive was stopped by the fumble at the Wildcats' 31.

Eagles fall to Mustangs

SWEETWATER — The quick start last week by the Abilene High Eagles went by the boards here Friday night with a 20-7 loss to Class 4A Sweetwater, a team that was upset by Snyder last week.

The Mustangs broke open a 13-7 lead in the fourth period when James Moore scored from 14 yards out to lock down the win.

Chris Hines led Sweetwater with 152 yards rushing while Moore had 126 yards in a 301 rushing yard offense.

Abilene's Rusty Oglesby threw for 149 yards, completing 11 of 16 passes and one touchdown.

Both teams are now 1-1 on the season.

Late score saves OHS

ODESSA — Thomas Henderson scored on a 41-yard run with 4:27 left to play Friday night as Odessa High came from behind to defeat Lubbock Coronado, 25-24.

Coronado, a playoff team a year ago, took a 24-19 lead with 14 second half points on a 90-yard punt return by Jimmie McGrew and a 15-yard run by Gilbert Rodriquez.

Odessa High also had a 90-yard kickoff return by Bryan Jones in the first quarter to give OHS a brief 7-3 lead. OHS led 13-10 at the half.

Rodriquez rushed for 143 yards for Coronado.

San Angelo beats Ellison

KILLEEN — Aubrey Mitchell returned an interception 16 yards for a touchdown and Kyle Doty added another on a blocked punt to help San Angelo defeat Killeen Ellison, 41-33, in a non-district Class 5A football game Friday night.

Central, which lost to Killeen High 40-36 last week, is 1-1. Ellison is 1-1.

Doty and Mitchell both scored in the second quarter as the Bobcats rolled up a 27-13 lead at the half.

Ellison's Donald Sellers scored on runs of five and 56 yards yards in the third quarter to draw his team close, but San Angelo's ground game kept the ball just long enough to let the Bobcats escape with a win.

San Angelo's Bennie Jones ran for 168 yards and Ben Montgomery had 164. Montgomery also passed for 111 yards, including a pair of touchdowns to Ryan King.

Michigan, Notre Dame highlights day's action

Associated Press

Forget the bragging rights. This game is for laughing rights — No. 6 Michigan at No. 3 Notre Dame.

Just ask Jerome Bettis.

In a 24-14 victory last year, Michigan held Bettis, a fullback, to 28 yards rushing. Michigan flanker Walter Smith is still poking fun at his old high school teammate.

"He kept bragging about how they beat up on us," Bettis said. "I tried to come back, but it boiled down to they won the game, so he always got the last laugh."

Bettis ran for a school-record 20 touchdowns last year, but he, by no means, represents the sum of the offense that will be on display.

Each team also has an experienced, premier quarterback, Elvis Grbac of Michigan and Rick Mirer of Notre Dame.

The game is Michigan's season opener. The Irish debuted last week with a 42-7 victory over Northwestern.

The rest of Saturday's schedule features Wisconsin (0-0) at No. 2 Washington (1-0), Kentucky (1-0) at No. 4 Florida (0-0), No. 5 Florida State (1-0) at No. 15 Clemson (1-0), Tulsa (1-0) at No. 7 Texas A&M (2-0), Southern Mississippi (1-0) at No. 8 Alabama (1-0), Texas (0-1) at No. 9 Syracuse (1-0), Temple (1-0) at No. 10 Penn State (1-0), Middle Tennessee State (1-0) at No. 11 Nebraska (1-0), No. 12 Colorado (1-0) at Baylor (0-1), Arkansas State (0-1) at No. 13 Oklahoma (1-0), and No. 20 Tennessee (1-0) at No. 14 Georgia (1-0).

Also, there's Cal State-Fullerton (1-0) at No. 16 UCLA (0-0), No. 17 California (1-0) at Purdue (0-0), No. 18 Mississippi State (1-0) at Louisiana State (0-1), No. 19 North Carolina State (2-0) at Maryland (0-1), Oregon (0-1) at No. 21 Stanford (0-1), Bowling Green (1-0) at No. 22 Ohio State (1-0), No. 23 Virginia (1-0) at Navy (0-0), and Western Carolina (1-0) at No. 24 Georgia Tech (0-0).

Wisconsin coach Barry Alvarez is certain of two things: His Badgers have no business playing Washington on Saturday, and his kickoff team will have as little business as possible with Napoleon Kaufman.

Kaufman, a sophomore, rushed for 159 yards, including a 63-yard touchdown, on six carries in Washington's 31-7 victory at Arizona State last Saturday. While a backup to senior Jay Barry, Kaufman will handle all kickoff and punt returns, if he can get to them.

And Kaufman, says Alvarez, is "a guy you have to consider not kicking the football to."

With his 4.22 speed in the 40-yard dash, Washington coach Don James says Kaufman is the fastest tailback he's ever had at the school.

The Huskies are 33-point favorites.

Last year, Kentucky rallied from a 28-6 deficit to trail Florida only 28-26 with seven minutes left before losing 35-26. Wildcats coach Bill Curry isn't sure what his team will remember from that game, the good or the bad.

"It's hard for this age group of kids to remember the day before yesterday, let alone last year," Curry said.

Kentucky was 0-7 in Southeastern Conference play last year, and that, for sure, is something they'd all like to forget.

Curry calls playing at Florida "perhaps the ultimate test in college football." The Gators are 12-0 at Florida Field under coach Steve Spurrier.

It's early, but already Florida State and Clemson are beginning to think about the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. And their game could go a long way toward deciding the title.

"I see the setting of a great game," Florida State coach Bobby Bowden said. "I can sense the intensity of it now."

Clemson is the defending ACC champ. Florida State, a longtime independent power, joined the conference this year.

The last time these teams met in 1989, the Tigers won 34-23, handing Florida State its worst loss in 35 games.

Canseco diagnosed with shoulder tendinitis

N.Y. Times News Service

ARLINGTON, Texas — A magnetic resonance imaging exam on Texas Rangers outfielder Jose Canseco's shoulder Friday revealed the injury is nothing more serious than tendinitis.

Canseco, who has been bothered by the injury since midseason, will continue to be treated with an exercise program and anti-inflammatory medication. He will be rested as necessary.

Canseco was in the lineup Friday but at designated hitter. Rangers manager Toby Harrah was concerned about Canseco aggravating his sore back by slipping on the wet outfield grass.

Nolan Ryan continues to make progress in recovering from a strained left hip that scratched him from today's start against the Blue Jays.

Ryan went through a 30-minute workout Friday fielding ground balls on flat ground. He had to cancel a similar workout Tuesday because of pain in the hip.

"It's slowly getting better," Ryan said.

MHS JV wins again

SAN ANGELO — The Midland High junior varsity defeated San Angelo 31-13 here Thursday night as the Bullpups climbed to 2-0 for the season.

Lee Matson scored MHS' last TD with 5:13 left in the game and Rusty Milner added the extra point for the final margin. Craig Coleman also hit Michael Ramirez with a 39-yard TD pass in the game.

San Angelo scored its TDs on a 50-yard pass and a 30-yard return of a fumble.

Lee Maroon wins

Lee Freshman Maroon got two touchdowns from Isreal Boyd and another from B.J. Honeyman Thursday to produce a 20-15 win over Odessa Bowie in Maroon's season opener.

Joel Warren had a two-point conversion pass.

Angels finally give Abbott support

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS — Jim Abbott got more support in one inning than he has in all but four games this season, and made it count by pitching the California Angels past the Minnesota Twins, 8-0.

Abbott (7-13) struck out a season-high 10 in 8 1-3 innings. He gave up eight hits and walked one.

Abbott has been baseball's hard-luck pitcher this year, rarely winning despite a 2.71 ERA that ranks among the AL's best.

California, the AL's worst-hitting and lowest-scoring team, averaged only 2.4 runs in his first 25 starts. Only four times all season had the Angels scored four runs for Abbott before they did so in Friday's second inning against John Smiley (14-8).

Smiley began the second inning by walking Damion Easley, who went to third on Gary DiSarcina's single and scored on Mike Fitzgerald's single. The runners advanced on John Orton's sacrifice before Luis Polonia singled in one run and Luis Sojo singled home two more.

AL Roundup

Yankees 2, Royals 1

NEW YORK — Danny Tartabull singled home the go-ahead run in the eighth inning and the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Royals for their fifth straight victory.

Tartabull has 11 RBIs in three games. Kansas City has lost three in a row and is 16 games under .500, matching its low point of the season.

Randy Velarde singled off Mike Magnante (4-8) with one out in the eighth and advanced on a two-out wild pitch by Rusty Meacham. Tartabull grounded a hard single to right field.

Rich Monteleone (7-2) pitched two innings of one-hit relief. Steve Farr pitched the ninth for his 25th save.

Jim Leyritz homered in the sixth off Chris Haney, giving the Yankees a tie at 1. Haney, making his third major league start, gave up four hits in seven innings.

Orioles 3, Brewers 2

BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Orioles snapped a four-game losing streak, using a strong pitching performance by Mike Mussina to beat the Milwaukee Brewers.

Milwaukee's Robin Yount, seeking his 3,001st hit and sole possession of 16th on the all-time list, went 0 for 4 with two strikouts.

Mussina (15-5) allowed two runs and six hits in his sixth complete game, and fourth straight victory. He walked four and struck out eight.

The loss dropped the Brewers three games behind the second-place Orioles in the AL East.

Down 2-1 in the sixth, the Orioles got four straight hits off Bill Wegman (12-13) to take a 3-2 lead. Mike Devereaux opened with his AL-best 11th triple and scored on an infield hit by Glenn Davis. Cal Ripken followed with a double and Joe Orsulak singled home Davis.

Wegman gave up 10 hits and walked one in his sixth complete game. It was his third loss in 10 lifetime decisions against the Orioles.

Blue Jays 7, Rangers 5

ARLINGTON — Devon White led off the game with a home run, and Kelly Gruber homered during a sixth-inning rally that sent the Toronto Blue Jays past Texas in the first game of a doubleheader.

Juan Guzman (14-3) won despite giving up three runs on eight hits in five innings. Tom Henke pitched the ninth for his 27th save.

White hit his 15th homer of the season, and his fifth leading off the first inning. His shot off Scott Chiamparino (0-2) gave him 11 leadoff homers in two seasons with Toronto.

Red Sox 7, Tigers 6

BOSTON — Boston won its basement battle with Detroit as Bob Zupcic singled home the tiebreaking run in the sixth inning and the Red Sox went on to beat the Tigers.

Detroit dropped into last place in the AL East with a 65-77 record as it lost for the 10th time in 12 games. Boston and Cleveland, which both won, jumped ahead of the Tigers at 65-75.

The Tigers had 18 hits, all singles, but left 14 men on base.

Astros held to four hits in 7-0 loss

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Pete Smith pitched a four-hitter and Damon Berryhill drove in three runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 7-0 victory over the Houston Astros.

The win was the Braves' seventh straight and their 12th straight against Houston in the Astrodome as they moved closer to the NL West title. The Braves started the night nine games ahead of second-place San Diego.

Smith's shutout was the Braves' 21st of the season, matching the franchise record set in 1974.

Smith (5-0) allowed four singles and only one base runner to advance as far as third. He walked two and struck out six.

Smith, who joined Atlanta on July 29 after being called up from Triple-A, pitched his first shutout and his second complete game of the season.

Darryl Kyle (3-10) was the loser. Kyle pitched 6 1-3 innings, giving up five runs on nine hits, while striking out seven and walking two.

Atlanta took a 1-0 lead in the second as Sid Bream singled, stole second, and scored on a double by Berryhill.

The Braves increased their lead to 3-0 in the third. Otis Nixon singled, stole second and scored ahead of Dave Justice's 15th homer.

Atlanta increased its lead to 7-0 in seventh when Ron Gant singled home two runs Berryhill doubled home two more.

NL Roundup

Expos 4, Mets 3

MONTREAL — Bret Barberie's pinch two-run single with the bases loaded in the eighth lifted the Montreal Expos over the New York Mets.

Barberie's hit came with two out off Bret Saberhagen (3-4), who was working out of the bullpen for the first time since pitching with Kansas City in 1989.

Jeff Fassero (7-5) pitched two scoreless innings for the win. John Wetteland got the last three outs for his 33rd save in 42 opportunities.

With the victory, the Expos kept the pressure on the first-place Pirates in the NL East. The Expos, who had lost four of their previous five games, cut Pittsburgh's lead to four games.

After striking out Larry Walker to start the eighth, Saberhagen issued a single to Greg Colbrunn before getting Tim Wallach to fly out. Will Cordero kept the rally going with a single to put men at first and second. Then pinch- hitter John Vander Wal drew a walk to load the bases for Barberie.

Phillies 5, Pirates 2

PHILADELPHIA — National League RBI leader Darren Daulton drove in four runs, three with a homer, as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates for their third straight win.

The loss cut the Pirates' lead in the NL East to four games over Montreal, which beat New York 4-3.

Daulton's RBIs gave him 99, breaking a Phillies' record for one season for a catcher. Stan Lopata had 95 in 1956.

With the score tied at 1 in the sixth, Mickey Morandini singled and moved to third on John Kruk's single. Daulton then hit his 26th homer to left-center.

Ben Rivera (5-3) allowed six hits, struck out five and walked three over eight innings and has now won five of his last six decisions. Mitch Williams got the final three outs for his 25th save.

Reds 4, Padres 1

SAN DIEGO — Rookie Tim Pugh pitched allowed five hits over eight innings in just his third big-league start as the Cincinnati Reds beat the San Diego Padres to regain second place in the NL West.

The Reds ended a three-game losing streak and dropped the Padres back into third place, but remained 9½ games behind Atlanta.

Lietzke takes mid-way lead at Canadian Open

Associated Press

OAKVILLE, Ontario — Bruce Lietzke converted the combination of a favorite golf course and an exceptional effort into a 4-stroke lead Friday at the halfway point of the Canadian Open.

The low-key veteran, rarely given to superlatives, used the words "phenomenal" and "incredible" after a bogey-free round of 64 under difficult conditions on the Glen Abbey Golf Club course.

While the 8-under-par score was better than he expected "from me or anyone else under these conditions," Lietzke said the references were directed at some of the best ball-striking of his 18-season PGA Tour career.

Despite chilly, gusty, swirling winds, he did not miss a green and hit the par-5 18th in two, which, by Lietzke's tongue-in-cheek count means "I hit 19 greens."

Only three times did he have the ball more than 15 feet from the flag. One of those three hit the putting surface 12 feet from the flag, then spun back and another was 25 feet away but "right where I'd aimed it."

The third, well, it was his poorest of the day — about 20 feet from the pin.

"Considering the wind, and that it's a long, hard golf course, that's the best long-iron play I've ever had for 18 holes," said the 41-year-old veteran who scored the 12th victory of his career in the Colonial earlier this season.

Lietzke, seeking a third victory in this national championship, completed 36 holes in 135, 9 under par on the Jack Nicklaus-designed course.

Greg Norman and Nick Price, whose careers have moved in opposite directions in recent months, shared second at 139.

Crafter's sizzling 8-under good for LPGA Ping lead

Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore. — Jane Crafter matched the tournament record with an 8-under-par 64 Friday for a two-shot lead after the first round of the $450,000 Ping-Cellular One Golf Championship.

Crafter curled in a 5-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole to tie the record set by Danielle Ammaccapane in the final round two years ago.

"I would say it would be the best round I've ever played in my career," the 36-year-old Australian said. "It was pretty easy. I didn't miss many shots."

Tina Barrett, a winner as a rookie three years ago but never since then, was at 6-under-par 66, thanks to a 40-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

Kim Williams and Missie Berteotti were three shots back at 67. Seven others were at 68 in the lowest-scoring round in the history of the tournament.

LPGA

Crafter said she had shot 64 twice before in her 11-year LPGA career, but never on a course as difficult as the par-72, 6,266-yard Columbia-Edgewater Country Club layout.

She had eight birdies and no bogeys, and praised the condition of the greens.

"These greens are awesome," she said. "If the tour could take these greens with us we'd all be able to shoot better scores. They're holding beautifully and they're so smooth."

Crafter said experience paid off after she began her round with consecutive birdies on the first and second holes.

"When you've been out here a few years you start to learn when you are making birdies not to get scared of making some more," she said.

Dill passes Floyd at Senior event

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Terry Dill birdied the last two holes Friday to take a 1-stroke lead while rookie Raymond Floyd was four back after the first round of the Bank One Senior Golf Classic.

Dill, a non-winner in his fourth season on the Senior PGA Tour, had six birdies and one bogey in a 5-under 67 on the 6,768-yard Kearney Hill Golf Links layout.

Floyd, who ranks ninth in earnings on the PGA Tour, had a lackluster round that included three birdies and two bogeys.

Defending champion DeWitt Weaver led a contingent of five at 68 that included Tommy Aycock, Babe Hiskey, Gibby Gilbert and Rolf Deming in the $500,000 event.

Dill dropped a 20-foot birdie putt on the first hole, and rolled in a 20-footer for another birdie on No. 3, both par-4 holes, to get off to a strong start under sunny conditions with a temperature in the mid-70s.

After a bogey on the par-4 fourth, when he missed a 10-foot putt after going over the green with a 7-iron, Dill came back with an approach to within a foot for birdie on No. 11.

Dill then finished strongly, using a pitching wedge to set up an 8-foot birdie putt on No. 17 and sinking a 12-foot birdie putt on the par-5 18th.

Weaver, whose only senior tour victory came on the Kearney Hill course, turned in a solid round of five birdies, including a 30-foot putt on the par-5 14th.

After a 37 on the front nine, Aycock had four birdies in the last five holes. Hiskey had an eagle at 14, only to double bogey the par-3 15th, then closed with birdies on the last two holes.

Two strokes behind the leader at 69 were Bob Charles, John Paul Cain, Don January, Bruce Crampton, Mike Hill and Robert Gaona. Seven golfers were tied at 70 and five others shot 71.

Small group fighting for piece of music market

AUSTIN (AP) — In a cramped Austin office with one window and no sign on the door sits Urgent Music Group — a small but bold Christian record company surviving by its wit and wiles.

With 14 recording artists and an attitude, Urgent plies its trade in the backwaters of the Christian music industry — far from Nashville's power center or Los Angeles' money.

And it seems to be succeeding.

Four songs have topped the Christian charts, sales are rising, and a nagging debt — which almost killed Urgent five years ago — is almost paid off.

"We're a small, guerrilla marketing, somewhat rebellious company," said Phillip Sandifer, the 33-year-old president and founder of the four-employee business. "We tend to really hustle."

That Urgent must fight five industry giants for a piece of the Christian market indicates how far the genre has matured — and not only financially.

Prim, simplistic songs have been replaced by chirpy, danceable tunes about God's love. Agonized soul searching about a failed marriage competes for air time with worried musings on raising a family.

Punk rockers, heavy-metal longhairs and rappers also are making thunderous contributions — though adult contemporary remains the genre's bread and butter.

But the most telling statistic about Christian music's coming of age is monetary. While overall music industry profits doubled in the 1980s, Christian music's revenue tripled to half a billion dollars. Artists are making slick music videos, and ZTV, a cable music channel, is scheduled to begin this fall.

As a little fish in a big pond, Urgent survives by taking risks and paying strict attention to quality.

In that respect and many others, the company mirrors its founder, Sandifer. Urgent's energetic-yet-laid-back, idealistic-yet-practical leader is among the label's best-selling artists.

Sandifer's first album was a custom effort financed by a $17,000 loan co-signed by an aunt. He was a 22-year-old University of Texas student betting in 1981 that his future was in music.

"I figured if it took me forever to pay it back, obviously nobody's responding to my music. Then I'd keep on my degree plan and go to law school," Sandifer said.

But the Christian music and campus ministry grapevine picked up on the album, and in 1982 Sandifer performed more than 100 concerts nationwide. The record paid for itself. College would wait.

This year, despite running a company and raising three children, Sandifer expects to perform about 160 concerts. To save money, he drives a '78 Oldsmobile, taking his acoustic guitar through a string of cities a few hours' drive apart.

"I really travel weird," he said. "I typically get up about 6 in the morning, drive to the next town, get a room and plug in the fax and computer to work on record business."

After about 10 days on the road, he'll park his Olds at an airport and fly home. A week later, he's back in his car.

"It definitely plays havoc with our personal lives," Sandifer said, but reaching people is important to him. He performs for campus groups, Christian radio concerts and any denomination that will have him. Often he gets paid by passing a hat.

Urgent was born in 1984 in Los Angeles, the brainchild of Sandifer and his then-manager, who ran the company while Sandifer wrote songs and performed. But by 1987, the company was in debt and on the brink of bankruptcy, Sandifer said.

Taking over Urgent's assets, Sandifer entered the business side of music and moved back to Austin.

"I'm a big believer in Austin," he said. "And I feel it's healthy to be a little bit outside the loop so your decisions are not made on what's 'in' this year or what 'direction' the music is going."

The Urgent president is outspoken in his criticism of the industry that's grown around his music.

"To keep a business or industry alive, you have to make a profit, but often honesty about the Gospel is sacrificed for the sake of record sales, and that's very, very wrong," he said.

"Christian music is ... founded more on belief than style. I don't see how it can be sales driven. The Gospel isn't sold."

With that in mind, Urgent will release "There's No Such Thing as Divorce," Californian Bob Bennett's attempt to explain his feelings of failure and sadness to his children.

"That's sort of a taboo thing among Christians, but it happens," Sandifer said. "It's a big risk to send a song like that to Christian radio."

But it was a risk to record the song in the first place.

"We had a decision to make last year. Do we get him to write about the emotions and feelings he went through, or do we get him off the road for two years and let everybody forget about his divorce?

"If Christian music is anything, it needs to be honest."

After half a decade operating under a debt burden, Urgent expects to pay off its obligations within a year.

For the 12 months ending in June, sales were $1.2 million, up from about $750,000 the previous year, Sandifer said.

And two songs off his latest album, "The Other Side of Salvation," have topped the inspirational music charts at Contemporary Christian Music magazine and Christian Research Report.

War in Bosnia takes toll on mental health

By John Pomfret
Associated Press Writer

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — Ten days ago, a mortar round landed near 4-year-old Arman Sadovic as he played in front of his apartment block, blowing the boy apart.

His father, Sado Sadovic, ran to the scene and began piecing the dead child's body together.

Today, Sadovic, a 40-year-old laundry worker, is in the psychiatric ward of Sarajevo's main hospital — one of hundreds and perhaps thousands of people pushed toward madness by the war for Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Sadovic's main fear now is that an artilleryman in the hills overlooking this riverside city has targeted him.

"He is aiming at me," said Sadovic, dressed in blue cotton pajamas and unlaced work boots with no socks. "He wants to shoot me down."

Maria Leovic, a Muslim, had a Serb boyfriend before the war. They were in love and planned to marry. Then fighting erupted and her lover went over to the other side.

For months she tried to get a message to him. Now, on the psychiatric ward, she talks constantly of a sniper aiming at her.

"It's like someone is staring at you from behind," said the 29-year-old sales clerk. "I feel a burning in my back. He wants to kill me to make sure we can never be together."

Leovic and Sadovic are victims of what Dr. Lilijana Oruc, head of the psychiatric ward, calls "Sarajevo syndrome."

But they occupy only the extreme end of a spectrum of Sarajevans who are slouching toward insanity. As the Serb siege of this city enters its six month, Oruc says, the whole town is going slightly mad.

Water and electricity shortages, intermittent food supplies, and shelling or sniper fire that can erupt at any second have many among the 400,000 people here at wits' end. Oruc describes it as a "kind of mass paranoia" born of fear and exhaustion.

At the beginning of the war, people had the energy to run and hide. Now, Oruc said, "only neurotics go to shelters."

'The pressure in Sarajevo is really incredible. I think anyone at any time can snap.'

—Mirodrag Kaluderovic

"No one seems to have the energy to even flinch anymore," she said. "And they've become very suspicious. They don't trust anybody."

When she and a Bosnian television crew tried to interview people in her neighborhood about how they cope, no one would talk to her.

"They thought if they talked on television a mortar would hit them on the head," she said.

When state-run radio broadcast a recent warning for people to stay inside because of possible shelling, and then shelling indeed occurred, people blamed the government for causing the attack.

At the hospital, an orderly was almost beaten when he made a sign reading, "Get water here."

"They thought he was trying to gather people in one spot so the Serbs could shell us," said Miroslav Cunic, a doctor's aide.

From a scientific point of view, Oruc said, her work has become fascinating.

About 100 people visit the psychiatric clinic every day, five times the prewar average. Although it has only 90 beds, 195 patients stay there, some two to a bed, some sleeping on the floor.

Mirodrag Kaluderovic, a 31-year-old accountant, was brought to the psychiatric ward three days ago. He hadn't slept for four days and had lost 33 pounds in two weeks. Asked who he was, he responded: "George Bush."

Since then, his condition has improved.

"The pressure in Sarajevo is really incredible," he said, speaking softly from his hospital bed. "I think anyone at any time can snap."

Yeltsin backs off on threats to oust

■ President decides not to hold elections to drive out his opposition.

Associated Press

MOSCOW — In a sign of growing political weakness, President Boris Yeltsin on Friday backed off on threats to call parliamentary elections to oust hard-line lawmakers who have fought his policies.

Yeltsin's statement, made in a speech broadcast nationwide, came amid claims of victory by Russian nationalists who said they had forced the president two days ago to postpone a long-awaited trip to Japan.

They had threatened to seek Yeltsin's impeachment if he surrendered any of the disputed Kuril Islands to Japan in exchange for badly needed economic assistance.

Yeltsin's comments Friday indicated that with his popularity in the basement, he thinks he might lose a battle to oust hard-line nationalists and ex-Communists who dominate the Supreme Soviet.

But the Russian president sought to put a positive spin on his decision, saying he needs the current legislature to carry out reform.

"The Supreme Soviet is also capable of passing laws which are needed. Needed for Russians and Russia. A global personnel reshuffle can only hamper reforms," Yeltsin told local officials while on a visit to the Volga River city of Cheboksary, 400 miles east of Moscow.

Yeltsin was flanked by acting Prime Minister Yegor Gaidar, who has been the focus of much of the opposition's criticism of the government's economic reforms. There has been persistent speculation that the Supreme Soviet will force him out.

Yeltsin, who has said he would not seek reelection when his term expires in 1996, has been facing increasing political pressure over foreign affairs and the troubled Russian economy.

His government has slowed the pace of its painful economic reforms in recent months, loosening up some of the tight fiscal policies it imposed at the beginning of the year that forced many companies to sink or swim on their own.

On Friday, the chief of Russia's state factory association appealed for slower reforms, continued subsidies and more say over economic policy, putting further pressure on Yeltsin to soften his reforms.

"Under the rules of the game, economic decisions are taken by a group of economists who have never worked at factories and are unfamiliar with production," said Arkady Volsky, the chief of the Russian Manufacturers' Union and a onetime adviser to Yeltsin.

In response, Yeltsin reiterated the need to cut all subsidies. But his practice in the past has been to talk tough while giving ground.

Recent polls have shown Yeltsin's popularity slipping as unemployment caused by the reforms grows.

The percentage of people who trust Yeltsin's economic policies fell to 33 percent in August, from a January high of 58 percent, the daily Izvestia newspaper reported Tuesday. The poll did not give a margin of error.

"The story of the visit to Japan and South Korea that failed to take place testifies to Yeltsin's shaky position and to a weakening of the democratic wing in the Russian leadership," Izvestia said in a commentary Friday.

"The supporters of a moderate course in international affairs have suffered a serious defeat," it said.

Sergei Skvortsov, a leader of the All-Russia Committee for the Defense of the Kuril Islands, called the postponement of the Japan visit "the first real victory for the patriotic forces — Communists and non-Communist patriots."

"It is perfectly clear that the existing regime is unable to change its anti-people policy and should be liquidated," he said.

Yeltsin's unexpected support for lawmakers came less than two weeks before the Supreme Soviet legislature is to convene.

Yeltsin's statement Friday was a clear departure from previous threats to call a national referendum or new elections to remove the former Communists who dominate the legislature and the larger Congress of People's Deputies.

"Now, when the most difficult state of reforms is over, it is important to end all talk about the uselessness of deputies' work," Yeltsin said in his speech in Cheboksary.

Prisoners kill guard, inmate during escape

TROYES, France (AP) — Eight inmates armed with weapons smuggled into prison escaped with two hostages Friday after a shootout that left a guard and another inmate dead, police said.

The men fled in two cars after breaking out of Clairvaux prison near Troyes, about 100 miles east of Paris, police said. The fugitives, whose names weren't released, mostly were serving long sentences — one until 2056 — for armed robbery.

According to police and witnesses, the escape began when two inmates overpowered and took a guard hostage. The prisoners killed another guard in a shootout that left one prisoner dead and two guards wounded.

Guards at the Moulins prison, about 150 miles south of Paris, walked off the job late Friday to protest the Clairvaux breakout. Guards elsewhere planned strikes for today, demanding more staff for prisons.

Authorities arrest boss of Camorra

ROME (AP) — Stepping up the battle against organized crime, authorities on Friday arrested the reputed No. 1 boss of the Naples' underworld who had eluded capture for a decade and a convicted Sicilian Mafia figure.

The arrest makes four gangland fugitives picked up in Italy this week, the first significant victories in the war on the mob declared by the government following the murders of two anti-Mafia crusaders.

German police said Friday they had also arrested an Italian Mafia fugitive and were investigating attempts by the mob to build an organization in Germany.

Italian paramilitary police burst into a villa in Naples before dawn and found Carmine Alfieri, 40, hiding in an underground concrete chamber.

"You have kept me on the run, congratulations," police quoted him as saying as he surrendered along with two bodyguards.

Police said he is considered the top boss of the Camorra, the Naples-based underworld organization. Authorities say it is involved in arms and drug trafficking and extortion, a multimillion-dollar racket throughout southern Italy.

Authorities had sought Alfiero for 10 years. He also has been implicated in a gangland attack on a rival Camorra clan that killed eight people in 1984.

"A fugitive is always a failure for the state," said Carabinieri Col. Carlo Alfiero. "The capture of Carmine Alfieri has allowed us to take away a symbol for other criminals."

In Rome hours later, a pyjama-clad Francesco Cannizzaro, 55, was arrested at his rented apartment in the historic center. Described as a power in the Mafia in Catania, Sicily, he disappeared two years ago after he was sentenced to 10 years in prison on charges of drug trafficking and criminal association.

Munich police on Friday arrested Antonio Riezzo, 46, who in 1987 disappeared after a furlough from jail in Italy. Italian authorities have described him as a leading member of a Mafia-like organization called Sacra Corona Unita.

Clinton condemns intolerance; suggests faith guides service

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Bill Clinton lashed out Friday at Republican "voices of intolerance" and said he offered a presidency rooted in faith and dedicated to "our common values and common good."

At the University of Notre Dame, Clinton declared "We all have the right to wear our religion on our sleeves," but said religious beliefs that drive individuals to seek public service should not cloud their respect for differing views.

"All of us must respect the reflection of God's image in every man and woman," Clinton said. "And so we must value their freedom, not just their political freedom but their freedom of conscience — in matters of philosophy and family and faith."

Religious diversity, he said, is an American strength — and should never be exploited for political gain.

"It is a tribute to the genius and the courage of the American experiment that our government can be the protector of the freedom of every faith because it is the exclusive property of none," Clinton said.

"That is why, like so many Americans, I have been appalled to hear the voices of intolerance raised in recent weeks," the Arkansas governor said.

'All of us must respect the reflection of God's image in every man and woman. And so we must value their freedom, not just their political freedom but their freedom of conscience.'

—Bill Clinton

"Voices that proclaim that some families aren't real families, some Americans aren't real Americans. One even said that what this country needs is a religious war. America doesn't need a religious war, it needs a reaffirmation of the values that, for most of us, are rooted in our religious faith."

Clinton named no names, but his criticism was directed, aides confirmed, at Republican convention speakers including conservatives Patrick J. Buchanan and Pat Robertson among them.

The speech came the same day Bush was speaking to Robertson's Christian Coalition on the grounds of the Christian Broadcasting Network in Virginia Beach, Va., and three weeks after Bush criticized Democrats for not including the word "God" in their platform.

"We all have the right to wear our religion on our sleeves, but we should also hold it in our hearts and live it in our lives," Clinton said. "If we are to truly practice what we preach, Americans of every faith and viewpoint should look for ways to come together to promote the common good."

Clinton and wife Hillary were greeted warmly by the student audience. Still, anti-abortion activists protested outside the hall and several inside repeatedly shouted "Pro-Life" and "What about the babies?" as Clinton spoke.

In his speech, Clinton highlighted his proposal to offer college loans to all students regardless of income and allow them to pay it back through public service.

Clinton said to thunderous applause, "Just think of it: millions of energetic young men and women serving their country by policing the streets, or teaching the children, or caring for the sick, or working with the elderly or people with disabilities, or helping young people to stay off drugs..."

Weak economy keeps inflation down despite soaring fruit costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fruit costs shot up in August by the largest percentage in 20 years, but the weak economy held overall producer-price inflation to a barely perceptible 0.1 percent.

The tiny, seasonally adjusted increase in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index, released Friday, matched the gain in July and, according to economists, was a symptom of weak demand resulting from the near standstill in economic growth.

"For now at least there is little or no inflation," said economist Norman Robertson of Mellon Bank in Pittsburgh. "This is the one positive aspect of having a period of very slow economic growth."

The index measures prices paid by wholesalers to producers such as farms and factories. Although it tracks only the cost of goods, not services, its performance usually foreshadows consumer price movements.

A separate report from the American Bankers Association showed that low interest rates helped consumers catch up on past-due loans in the April-June quarter. The delinquency rate was 2.60 percent, down from a 2½-year high of 2.75 percent three months earlier.

Average rates on 30-year mortgages dropped this week to a 19-year low of 7.84 percent, according to the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. It was the 20th decline in 25 weeks.

In August, declines in the costs of gasoline and fuel oil, tobacco and children's clothing helped offset a 16.9 percent increase in fruit costs, the largest since July 1972, and a 30.2 percent jump in vegetable prices.

Lettuce prices tripled and strawberry prices soared by 70 percent.

Labor Department analysts said alternating hot and cold spells in California's Salinas Valley hurt the lettuce, broccoli, cauliflower and strawberry crops in particular, while floods washed out fields in New York and New Jersey.

Overall, food prices advanced 0.7 percent, the steepest in six months. Costs of chicken, beef and eggs also rose. Prices fell for fish, turkey and cooking oils.

Energy prices edged down 0.1 percent, the second decline after a sharp 2.3 percent jump in June. Gasoline prices fell 1.7 percent and fuel oil costs dropped 4.4 percent. However, natural gas prices rose 1.7 percent.

Ravaged school district opens just 2 weeks late

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — Navy Seabees scrubbed walls, wiped down furniture and books and checked computers that survived Hurricane Andrew intact as schools in Dade County readied to reopen Monday just two weeks behind schedule.

At the Campbell Middle School, the power is on and there's a new roof. "It's temporary, but it's watertight," said principal Greg Zawyer.

All but 10 of Dade County's 288 public schools will open next week — exactly three weeks after Andrew smashed through southern Florida.

The district, the nation's fourth largest with 312,000 students, suffered $300 million in damage, most of it from water, said Superintendent Octavio Visiedo.

But thanks to help from everyone from the maintenance staff to the military, the schools are opening sooner than even he thought possible.

"What we are saying is that, as difficult as things are right now, it's significantly better than we thought it would be by this time," he said.

Visiedo said he was particularly grateful to the Navy SeaBees and the Army Corps of Engineers. "Everyone should go out and see their work — it's remarkable, marvelous," he said at Wednesday's county school board meeting.

■ Aircraft collision leaves at least five dead

INDIANAPOLIS — Two small planes collided Friday afternoon, killing at least five people aboard and raining debris onto a suburban neighborhood below, authorities said. Two other passengers were critically injured but nobody on the ground was hurt.

One plane struck a house, and the other, a propjet, narrowly missed another home a mile away, said Cpl. Dave Henson of the Indiana State Police.

At least four people died in the propjet, said Dr. Dennis Nicholas, the Marion County coroner. The pilot of the other plane was also killed, Nicholas said. The pilot's daughter and another man in the plane were in critical condition with burns.

Authorities said they couldn't be certain of the number of fatalities from the propjet because intense heat and flames initially prevented emergency crews from getting near the craft.

■ Dog saves 8-year-old girl from rattlesnakes

LOVELAND, Colo. — Lady's not a tramp, she's a heroine.

The 9-year-old Husky-retriever mix risked her life to save an 8-year-old girl from some rattlesnakes during a Labor Day outing near here, the youngster says.

Teresa Martinez says she heard the buzz of a rattlesnake — then several rattlers — as she led a pack of children into some bushes.

"I heard a twitching noise like a snake — I saw a snake," the girl recalled. "He didn't look very nice. . . . It sounded like a monster coming up from the ground."

Lady, the family dog, bounded to the rescue.

"Lady got right in there for the kids," said Teresa's mother, Laura.

The dog attacked the snakes and Teresa ran for safety — but not before she saw one of the snakes strike Lady.

"It went up, came down, and then she bit," Teresa said.

Lady kept fighting the snakes until all the children were safe. The dog came away with three bites.

■ Defense attorney faults feds with shootout

BOISE, Idaho — The attorney for a white supremacist claimed Friday federal officers triggered a deadly shootout at the man's mountaintop cabin through a campaign of harassment and psychological warfare.

Defense attorney Gerry Spence peppered his questions with words like "trespassing," "massacre" and "paramilitary operation" during a three-hour cross-examination of the federal marshal that Randy Weaver, is accused of shooting at.

U.S. Magistrate Mikel Williams admonished Spence at one point to stop making statements in the form of questions.

Weaver, 44, surrendered Aug. 31 after an 11-day siege at his cabin that began with a shootout in which Deputy U.S. Marshal William Degan and Weaver's 14-year-old son were killed. Weaver's wife, Vicki, was killed in a gun battle the next day.

Friday was the second day of a hearing to determine whether there are grounds for an assault-on-a-federal-officer charge against Weaver and whether Weaver should be freed on bond.

Weaver's friend Kevin Harris, who was wounded during the initial shootout, is hospitalized in Spokane. He has been charged with firing the shot that killed Degan.

Weaver had been wanted since failing to show up for trial 1½ years ago on charges of selling sawed-off shotguns.

Quayle defends his 1969 decision

■ Vice president tells why he joined National Guard.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Vice President Dan Quayle defended anew Friday his decision to join the National Guard in 1969, saying "it was the correct thing for me to do" because he wanted to attend law school at the same time.

Quayle, on a cable television call-in show, said that "in 1969, even President Nixon didn't support the war in Vietnam."

Some Vietnam historians disputed that statement, although they said Nixon came to the White House that year seeking to end the conflict and began a gradual U.S. withdrawal that took until 1973.

Quayle, who was grilled in the 1988 campaign on whether he joined the Guard to avoid being drafted and sent to Vietnam, has criticized Democratic nominee Bill Clinton for steps he took to avoid service in Vietnam. Clinton opposed the war.

Quayle supported "the aim of stopping communism in Southeast Asia," said his spokesman, David Beckwith. "But as the war was being fought in a no-win fashion he, along with everyone else, was against the war as it was being conducted."

Quayle revisited his own military past while fielding questions on a C-SPAN television show.

A Los Angeles woman demanded "a good reason why (Quayle) did not go to the service and who lobbied for him to go to the National Guard?"

Quayle said he had "answered every conceivable question" about his military record in 1988 after he was tapped as George Bush's surprise running mate.

"Let me try to take you back to 1969 when I graduated from DePauw University," said Quayle.

"I feel that joining the National Guard was the correct thing for me to do. I wanted to go on to law school and at that time in 1969, even President Nixon didn't support the war in Vietnam," he said.

Quayle added that he had "the greatest respect and admiration for those that went to Vietnam."

George Herring, a University of Kentucky history professor and author of "America's Longest War: The United States and Vietnam," said Quayle's statement "would come as a surprise to President Nixon."

"Nixon knew the war had to be ended . . . but in a way that to him was honorable to the United States, which meant not a bugout," said Herring.

"It's overstating the case," said Harry G. Summers Jr., editor of Vietnam magazine. "President Nixon had begun the withdrawal. . . . But Nixon had (not) given up on the war."

South Vietnam surrendered to communist North Vietnam in 1975, two years after the last U.S. troops were pulled out. Some 58,000 Americans were killed in Vietnam. Just 100 of those fatalities were National Guardsmen on active duty.

Quayle, Clinton and Al Gore, Clinton's running mate, were all born within an 18-month span during the post-World War II baby boom and came of age in the late 1960s, when the country was ripped by dissent over the war.

George Bush, 68, was a decorated Navy pilot in World War II who flew 58 missions against the Japanese in the Pacific.

Clinton, 46, obtained a deferment so he could complete his final year as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford by promising he would later join a ROTC program at the University of Arkansas law school.

Clinton later decided against attending that law school. He participated in a draft lottery in December 1969, got a high number and was never called.

Gore, 44, enlisted in the Army after graduating from Harvard despite misgivings about the Vietnam War. He spent six months in Vietnam during his two-year stint as an Army journalist.

Quayle, 45, sought family help to get into the Guard. A Quayle uncle asked Wendell C. Phillippi, managing editor of the family-owned Indianapolis News and a former commanding general of the Indiana Guard, to put in a good word for his nephew.

Phillippi recommended Quayle as "a good man" to the Guard commander. But the Indiana Guard reportedly had several vacancies and no waiting list at the time.

Quayle spent six months on active duty and six years overall in the Guard, also serving as a military journalist.

High paid employees threaten to sue Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — The organization representing most of the federal government's highest paid employees — those making $90,000 to $112,000 — said Friday they'd sue President Bush if he cuts their pay.

The Senior Executives Association said Bush has "broken faith with senior federal executives" by proposing that government employees making more than $75,000 a year take a 5 percent pay cut.

Carol Bonosaro, the association president, said the group is asking Congress for legislation to safeguard them from "partisan political manipulation" and is prepared to sue Bush if he reduces their salaries, which he has the authority to do.

Bonosaro said lawyers were exploring grounds on which a suit could be based.

Bush presented a plan Thursday to boost the nation's economy through a 1 percent across-the-board tax reduction and spending cuts that included a 5 percent reduction in the salaries of federal workers making more than $75,000 a year.

Pay cuts for employees making $75,000 to $90,000 would have to be approved by Congress, but the salaries for executives making more than $90,000 can be raised or lowered with with a stroke of the president's pen, said the executive association's attorney, Jerry Shaw.

"That is our biggest fear, that we are going to be used as scapegoats to set an example for the rest of the federal work force," Shaw said. He said he could not get a commitment from the administration that cuts would be delayed until the election.

Bonosaro said "large numbers" of the career executives who are eligible to retire would do so immediately if Bush follows through on his proposal. He said 90 percent of the association's members are civil servants.

Federal judges would not be affected.

About 54,100 federal workers make more than $75,000. Many feel they're underpaid.

Dr. Robert Gallo, the government research scientist whose work on isolating the virus that causes AIDS led to development of a blood test for the disease, said many doctors at the National Institutes of Health are earning just a few thousand over $75,000 — "much less than it is at universities."

At the State Department, where long hours on the job are the rule for many officials, there was widespread grumbling about Bush's proposal.

One official said many of his colleagues felt a fairer approach would have been to raise taxes on wealthy corporate executives rather than to cut the pay of federal employees.

Criticism also came from the Council for Excellence in Government, a bipartisan group of 750 former government executives now in the private sector.

"President Bush's proposed pay cut is a seriously misconceived gesture aimed at tapping into public antipathy to government and will be extremely counterproductive to making our government work better," said council chairman Frank Weil.

A dribbling of federal managers who would talk to the Associated Press showed some willingness to go along with the pay cut — if they had to.

One senior-level political appointee at the Pentagon, for example, said: "I watched the speech. I heard what the president said. And then I gulped. . . . I understand his point. The whole country is sacrificing and getting high-level people in government — those people who are there to serve the people — to do so too is understandable."

"Of course I'd rather get more money than less, but I haven't thought it through as to . . . whether it really does make sense," said a $100,000-a-year employee of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Baptists discuss political campaign during convention

ATLANTA (NYT) — Heart-felt amens echoed late into the night off the walls of a hotel ballroom here as hundreds of black Baptists answered a lineup of preachers dueling for their souls with hoarse but inspired shouts that were, by turn, slyly comic and deeply pious.

Like handicappers, the more knowledgeable of those in the audience, touted the relative strengths of the lineup.

There was the Rev. E.L. McKinney from Memphis, a fireplug of a man whose crescendos were rated among the best. There was the Rev. A. Louis Patterson of Dallas, who gave his sermons a scholarly and intellectual cast and built to an emotional finish.

And finally, around 2 a.m., there was the Rev. Jesse Jackson, who spoke of being humbled by the preaching talents of his fellow ministers, then set the audience to rocking and shouting with his own hourlong sermon.

But the pulse of the convention was not driven by the preaching alone; delegates talked of being buffeted by a host of secular concerns. The presidential campaign and visits to the convention by the candidates and their representatives drew the most attention from delegates this week.

"This is a political year, and as black Baptists we have enough sense to know that our problem in this country is an economic problem," said the Rev. S. Amos Brackeen of Philadelphia after Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, the Democratic presidential candidate, addressed the session.

Still, throughout Clinton's speech, Jackson remained stoned-faced. He later repeated his criticism, albeit restrained, that the Clinton campaign was attempting to shore up moderate Democrats' support by not showcasing many of the issues favored by the party's traditional faithful, including blacks and labor.

The Rev. W.L. Richardson, general secretary of the group, said: "One of the problems Clinton has in the black community is the perception that he is trying to create his own black leaders to deal with, and we told him that in a private meeting here."

Miami Says

"We Will Rebuild."

Will You Help?

In the early morning hours of Monday, August 24, Hurricane Andrew devastated a huge swath of Dade County, Florida, in the region just south of Miami.

The catastrophic result: 63,000 homes destroyed, close to 300,000 left homeless, losses of more than $20 billion.

It was the costliest natural disaster in American history.

Now, the people of Miami and Dade County are digging out, caring for each other, rebuilding their shattered community.

It will be a Herculean effort. No American community has ever faced physical destruction on such an epic scale. And we are determined to build a better, more just and promising community than before, not just restore the world that Andrew's ferocious winds swept away.

The civic and business leaders of Miami and Dade County have come together to get this job done. We have formed a new organization called WE WILL REBUILD, led by many of our mc st committed citizens, drawn from all sectors of our wonderfully diverse community.

This broad-based effort has the full and active support of President George Bush, Governor Lawton Chiles and many, many Miamians dedicated to binding the wounds of today and building a better tomorrow for all our citizens.

WE WILL REBUILD needs your help. Now.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: The months just ahead will bring you to the brink of great achievement. Concentrate on attaining your main goal and the other parts of your life will fall into place. November could find you looking for a different job. Competitive but honest, you are an asset to any organization! A recent investment will pay off in early 1993. Opposition could come from a most unlikely quarter next spring. Do not allow romance to distract you from family commitments.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: country singer George Jones, actress Linda Gray, circus star Gunther Gebel-Williams, actor Peter Scolari.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You must curb an urge to act impulsively if you are to accomplish what you have set out to do. Ignore distractions and outside interference as best you can. Seek out new allies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A good day to escape to the countryside or attend a special sports event. Entertaining at home gives you a wonderful opportunity to repay someone's hospitality.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Creative ideas pay off in a big way now. You find yourself working harder than ever — and loving it! Open up new channels of communication with your relatives.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are riding the crest of enthusiasm today. A shopping trip will yield some great bargains. Entertain someone you would like to know better. The evening could bring news of great financial importance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A community affair you look forward to may not go quite the way you thought it would. Unanticipated expenses could cause tension at home. Say "no" to risky financial ventures.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Spend the morning quietly, saving your big efforts for the afternoon. Call a family conference to discuss finances. Setting a good example is more important than ever.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Exercise caution today. Getting involved in other people's personal affairs will only let you in for a lot of criticism. A telephone call will help you reach a long-overdue decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Play ball with your mate or business partner and whatever good fortune comes to them will eventually benefit you. Joint financial ventures enjoy favorable influences.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A tax refund or financial bonus is featured now. You feel more confident that your plans will work out. Tend to the needs of an older person who has no one else.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): New financial benefits come largely through property matters. You may have a chance to sell your home at a nice profit. Hearing from an old friend gives your spirits a boost.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Family affairs may require your presence at home this weekend. You will have to put obligation ahead of pleasure. A loved one deserves more of your attention. Be affectionate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Haste makes waste. Take your time when doing household tasks. Reading a good book may hold more appeal than engaging in sports this afternoon. Pursue romance during evening hours.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are generous, reliable and proud of their talents. They like to help their parents around the house and show a lot of common sense at an early age. Although these Virgos enjoy receiving compliments, they quickly become suspicious if the flattery is excessive. They have a sixth sense that warns them when someone is up to no good!

Citizen sues Spike Lee for using beating footage

LOS ANGELES — Filmmaker Spike Lee is being sued for alleged copyright infringement over his use of footage from the videotaped beating of motorist Rodney King in his upcoming movie "Malcolm X."

Lee

George Holliday, who videotaped police beating King on March 3, 1991, filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court on Thursday asking that the footage be excised from the film, due for release Nov. 20.

Holliday's attorney, Ronald Grigg, said Lee bought the tape from an agent who had been fired by Holliday and had no authority to negotiate rights to it.

Holliday said he has received threatening calls and letters since the videotape was broadcast nationally on television, and that his wife had gone to Argentina to live "in peaceful obscurity."

He also is seeking $120,000 in damages and a statement from Lee that he had no right to use the tape, which appears in the film's opening sequence.

A telephone message left for Lee at his Forty Acres and a Mule production company in New York was not immediately returned.

Warner Bros., which is backing Lee's film, and its parent, Time Warner, also are named as defendants.

"We are not going to have a comment at this point," Charlotte Kandel, a Warner Bros. spokeswoman, said Friday. She added that the lawsuit will not delay the film's release.

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Gov. John Engler donned black cowboy boots, tight jeans, a braided belt and a large white cowboy hat to meet country music superstar Garth Brooks before a concert at Michigan State University.

"It (the hat) covers places hair used to," joked Engler, described by aides as "a big fan" of Brooks.

Telephone lines were jammed for hours across Michigan the day tickets for Thursday's concert went on sale last month. Even Engler couldn't get a dial tone at his office near the Capitol in Lansing. The 14,000-seat Breslin Center sold out in a record five hours.

Brooks wouldn't model a gag gift he received from the governor: a cowboy hat with a radar scope attached to it as a warning to telephone operators the next time he's in Michigan.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu, in Memphis to receive an award from the museum at the motel where the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain, called the site "holy ground" and called for racial peace.

"When the law of an eye for an eye operates, the people will all end up being blind," Tutu said, paraphrasing King, during a speech Thursday at the National Civil Rights Museum.

The museum, which opened a year ago at The Lorraine Motel where King was murdered in 1968, awarded Tutu, a Nobel Peace Prize recipient, its "international freedom award."

NEW YORK — Author and humorist Erma Bombeck says she coped with breast cancer and a resulting mastectomy with humor, fear and sadness.

Bombeck was told she had a malignant lump in her breast on April 23.

"My reaction wasn't that dramatic," writes Bombeck in the October issue of Redbook magazine.

"As my doctor droned on, the humor that has been such an important part of my life kicked in automatically. I thought of the thousands of luncheons and dinners I had attended where they slapped a nametag on my left bosom. I always smiled and said, 'Now, what shall we name the other one?' That would no longer be a problem."

Bombeck, 65, said her jokes took on an edge after the surgery. Just before she went home from the hospital, the doctor asked her how she felt.

"Does the phrase 'road kill' have any meaning for you?" she replied.

Bombeck says she became obsessed with other women's cleavages and worried that her husband would pity her or be shocked when he saw her scars. But he wasn't.

"I searched his face," she writes. "Only love was there."

SAN ANTONIO — Ozzy Osbourne, who urinated on the Alamo grounds in 1982, has atoned for the action with a $10,000 check to the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

The check was presented Thursday to the organization, which maintains the Texas shrine.

After the incident, Osbourne was arrested for public intoxication and a city ban was instituted against the British heavy metal star.

"In keeping with Mr. Osbourne's wishes, his act of atonement will not be turned into a publicity stunt," Marjorie M. Hardy, chairwoman of the DRT Alamo Committee, said in a written statement. "We accept his donation. . . . We applaud Mr. Osbourne for the progress he has made in turning his life around in a new and positive direction. And we wish him well."
