Juveniles may be charged with C-City Lake break-ins

Three juveniles could possibly be charged with burglary of a habitat, burglary of a building, criminal mischief, disorderly conduct and deadly conduct, Mitchell County Sheriff Patrick Toombs said.

This comes as a result of their implication in ten different break-ins at Lakeview Camp at Lake Colorado City.

The youths, ages 12 to 15, are residents of Lake Colorado City who have moved to the lake within the past year.

Toombs said the case started when a resident of Lake View Camp reported three rifles and some liquor stolen from his trailer. In addition, extensive damage had been done.

Investigators began examining other trailers at the park and found that at least ten had been broken into and damaged.

"They didn't take anything from the rest of the trailers; they just damaged them," Toombs said.

Bullet holes created by the stolen rifles were found in some of the trailers. Where they came through the building could have killed someone had they been on the premises, Toombs added.

"I don't know what the kids were thinking about when they were doing this," he said.

According to Toombs the case had been solved in little over a day thanks to a report of a drunk juvenile.

"We knew who did the break-ins because we talked to the grandmother of the drunk juvenile to find out where he got the alcohol," Toombs said.

From there, the investigators

Ruddick pleads guilty to theft

Former Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick pleaded guilty to a second degree felony charge of theft by public servant Thursday morning in district court.

The state agreed to a plea bargain whereby Ruddick would defer adjudication and receive three years of probation.

Ruddick also agreed to pay court costs, a $3,000 fine and restitution to Mitchell County of $8,395.11.

Ruddick made restitution immediately pursuant to his plea.

Without the plea bargain Ruddick would have faced two to 20 years in prison and a fine of no more than $10 thousand.

The court also heard a statement from Ruddick in which he admitted that he did commit the acts described in the indictment.

Ruddick resigned as JP in July amid controversy of his handling of finances for the office.

According to a spokesman for the county, the investigation into Ruddick was launched when the county auditor found money unaccounted for.

The Mitchell County Grand Jury returned an indictment against him on August 18.

After the hearing Ruddick said he hoped to put everything behind him and make a clean start.

HS principal job draws
22 applicants

Colorado ISD Superintendent Russell Merket said he hopes to have a new principal hired and ready for work at the high school by January 2.

Merket said the committee to help screen applications for the job will meet and choose between three and five applicants to be interviewed.

CISD currently has 22 applicants for the job.

"To have this many applicants this late in the year is pretty good," Merket said.

He added that some of the applications were local, but the majority were from out of town.

Interviews for the job will begin October 15 with candidates being narrowed down to three by October 31.

Merket said the three candidates will then have an opportunity to visit the high school and by November 19 they will be narrowed down to two candidates who will

CHS plans changes
in parking situation

Administrators at Colorado High School are hoping that parking at the campus will become safer for students and teachers.

According to interim principal Jerry Reynolds there have already been three accidents in the school's parking lot and one on Lone Wolf Boulevard so far this school year.

"When you get that many cars in one place, odds are you're going to have an accident," he said.

Reynolds said that part of the problem is that drivers are not sure in which direction to proceed while on school grounds.

He added that at one time the

Watson seeking votes
on Education Board

Richard Watson

State Board of Education Republican candidate Richard Watson of Gorman visited Mitchell County

Wednesday afternoon to discuss his positions on the educational issues facing Texas.

Watson is seeking to succeed Bill Hudson of Wichita Falls, who is stepping down from his District 14 seat on the state board.

District 14 consists of 56 counties including Mitchell, Scurry, Nolan and Fisher counties.

There are six main issues that Watson's campaign is focusing on.

The selection of textbooks that do not undermine parental authority or rewrite history; reducing top-heavy educational bureaucracy; eliminating unfunded mandates; restoration of local control of the school systems; preventing schools from becoming centers for social service; and relieving the paperwork load on teachers are all issues that Watson said he believes need to be

Christmas in April
applications sought

The Mitchell County Christmas in April program will be taking applications at the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce until November 1.

Jan Lemons, the project's president, said in order to get on the list, all a person needs to do is call the Chamber office.

There are currently 16 applications in. "Last year the Christmas in April project did 40 homes in Mitchell County," Lemons said. "This year the Board has decided that it was necessary to cut down in order to do more in depth and complete jobs during the one day blitz."

Westbrook and Lorraine will inform Christmas in April how many homes they plan on doing at a later date, Lemons said.

Although the warehouse is not open on a weekly basis yet, Lemons said anyone having donations can contact Robert Henderson at 728-3992 or Jesse Wiggins at 728-5539.

Any and all donations are welcome.

Lemons said the organization is grateful to all those who donated last year and hopes they will consider donating again.

She added an extra thank you to the $300 Foundation Sponsors who "keep this worthwhile project going."

Lemons said any group or organization interested in adopting a house this year may contact her at 728-3678.

Mitchell County Sheriff Patrick Toombs has been asked to represent the small and rural community sheriffs of the state on a committee formed by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement and Education to help cut costs on mandated in-service training for law enforcement officers.

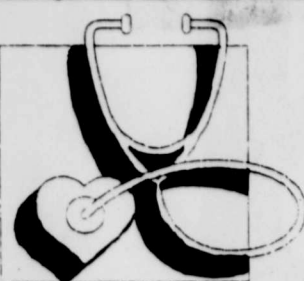

There are 13 members on the committee, four of whom are sheriffs.

Toombs said the committee will be charged with looking into alternative training that would not cut into man hours or budgets.

Currently all law enforcement officers are required to have 40 hours of in-service training every two years.

Toombs said that law enforcement departments believe in the

FOR YOUR HEALTH

Alzheimer's affects caregivers, too

According to the Alzheimer's Association, although Alzheimer's disease strikes men and women equally it is becoming a major health issue for women because more women have the disease than men.

Caring for loved ones with this disease can lead to extreme stress, especially for women caregivers who may be elderly spouses or mothers of growing families.

Seventy percent of family caregivers are women, usually the wife or daughter of the person with Alzheimer's disease. The vast majority of Alzheimer's care givers prefer to keep their loved ones at home, rather than in a nursing home, believing they can provide better care.

Alzheimer's care ranges from answering the same questions over and over again, to preventing home accidents such as stoves left unattended, to feeding and toileting adults who don't remember how or why to care for themselves.

Many caregivers become exhausted by the 24-hour-a-day physical and emotional demands of Alzheimer care.

Studies have shown that 80 percent of caregivers suffer from high levels of stress-induced psychological symptoms such as sleeplessness, guilt and hopelessness and nearly 50 percent have been found to be clinically depressed.

Often these people do not recognize their own needs, fail to do anything about them or simply do not know where to go.

Rhonda Montgomery, Ph.D., author of a study on the implications of caregiving, said, "Women need to recognize the increased stress that comes with caring for a loved one can destroy their own health unless they get help."

According to Montgomery, women rely on the support of their social network of family and friends more than men do and as a result have an intense need for this support at a time when their own physical resources are declining and they must provide more care.

When support is unavailable women experience heightened stress and a sense of isolation, Montgomery added.

Ironically, women are also more likely to acquire Alzheimer's disease simply because they live longer than men and the disease is more common after the age of 65.

The Alzheimer's Association is the only national voluntary organization dedicated to research for the cause and treatment of the disease. To contact the local chapter of the organization call (915) 550-9960.

closely looked at.

Watson said he has been gaining wide support for his proposal to represent the consumers of education and reducing the power of the Texas Education Association to return more power to the local school boards.

"Too often it seems we forget the people education is all about—the children who attend schools and their parents," he said. "Those are the real consumers of education and those are whom we need to serve."

Watson said he felt strongly that a large part of educational control should be taken away from the TEA and returned to the individual school districts.

"An individual district cannot do anything without TEA regulators constantly glancing over its shoulders," he said. "That's not the way schools should be run [because] it's nothing but red tape."

Watson added that he would like to see better control over the purchase of textbooks that he felt may compromise traditional values.

He noted health textbooks adopted last year amid protests from parents and teachers.

Watson said the books contained explicit language on how to engage in sexual activity, including homosexual activity.

"Both the language and illustrations in those books, in a co-ed class, definitely present embarrassing situations that I believe are counterproductive to discussing AIDS prevention and preventing pregnancy," Watson added.

necessity of specially trained officers, but the time and costs to do this have become a burden on departments throughout the state.

"No one has anything against training—it just comes down to cost and available manpower," he said. "We feel like everyone should receive as much training as possible."

Toombs explained that some departments are so small that they cannot afford to let someone leave for one or two days to take in-service or other specialized training and that getting someone else to cover the open shifts adds extra costs to the department's finances.

"We're going to look at some of the training mandated by the legislature, but not provided with a source of funding," he said. "With the economy the way it is, it puts a strain on the department every time you have to do something new."

Some of the ways the committee is looking at easing the burden of state law enforcement departments includes bringing the in-service and specialized training to the local areas; recommending changes of some of the rules and regulations set up by TCLESE; and alternative training methods, including the use of videotape.

Toombs said he felt it was a privilege to be able to serve on the committee.

"What I'm helping to change will make it easier for law enforcement agencies in Mitchell County to receive the training needed closer to home and at a cheaper cost to the departments," he said.

parking area had arrows designating in which direction drivers should go.

"Over the years the paint [designating arrows and parking lanes] has worn out," he said.

Reynolds added that the school would be initiating changes to prevent more accidents from happening.

"For the first time, we now have in place enter and exit only signs," he said.

Reynolds added that the arrows would be repainted on the parking lot asphalt, parking lanes would be remarked and that maps have been handed out to students showing them in which directions to proceed.

"We're asking for everyone's cooperation," he said. "We want the school to be safe."

Merket said that the committee was looking for someone with the experience and qualifications to step into the principal's position during the middle of the school year.

went to the parents of the boy who had apparently given away the alcohol and were able to locate the other two juveniles, Toombs added.

All three rifles and what was left of the liquor were recovered, he said.

Toombs said that because most of the people who own trailers and cabins on Lake Colorado City only visit once every month or so it may take a while before incidents such as this are reported.

Toombs said he expected the juveniles to face between ten to 14 different charges each. They will most likely pay restitution for all the damage done and could possibly serve time in a juvenile detention facility, he added.

In spite of this incident, Toombs said occurrences such as this are isolated.

"We're pretty lucky with all the cabins and houses on the lake that we haven't had more problems than we do," he said.

A RIBBON CUTTING TO CELEBRATE THE OPENING OF THE RAIN STICK took place Saturday October 1. Ambassadors from the Chamber of Commerce looked on as owners Sharon and Donnie Gilbreath cut the ribbon.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

An expression of "Thanks" is in order to each of you who participated in raising funds for the Heart of West Texas Museum during the fair.

With your help, we raised $682. Thank you for each dollar you donated.

A very special thanks to the one who donated the beef. Juan Molina was the lucky winner. Congratulations, Juan!

There are several things I'd like to mention at this time. About 10 or 12 months ago, signs advertising the antique malls and the museum were erected on I-20 East and I-20 West.

These billboards, beautifully designed by Mary Kay Williamson, attract many tourists from all over the United States who keep downtown rather busy in the malls.

Recently an article came out in the RECORD praising businesses and individuals who were responsible for purchasing and participating in this worthwhile project.

The Heart of West Texas Museum was inadvertently omitted. The museum contributed generously in purchasing two signs. We are sorry the error was made.

The museum is open daily except Monday. Please feel free and welcome to visit, volunteer your talents or donate often. It is your museum, Mitchell County; enjoy it and support it.

Thank you,
A.W. Rowe, President
Heart of West Texas Working Board

Dear Editor:

The Chamber of Commerce would like to thank everyone who came out and made the Mitchell County Fair a success. Over 5,000 people attended the event.

A special thanks to Jim Dockrey, George Hardegree, Bob Chalker, Richard Munoz, Mike Jordan, the County Commissioners, Warden Rodney Cooper and the inmates that helped to set up the booths.

All the booths and exhibits were wonderful. The many, many volunteer hours that went into the fair helped make it a great success.

We would like to thank anyone we may have left out and everyone who attended the event.

Thank you,
Dori Shutt,
Chamber Executive Director

Dear Editor:

This year at Colorado Middle School we've begun a new program to honor our flag and all that it stands for. Every Monday morning at 7:55 we gather around the flag pole to say the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by "The Star Spangled Banner."

The flag represents our freedom, our country and most of all, the people who fought and died for us. CMS believes we should show respect for our flag and our country by standing at attention quietly, our hands over our hearts. Also, hats should be removed.

Please join Colorado Middle School at school and sporting events by saying the Pledge and singing the "Star Spangled Banner" proudly. If students and adults join together in this effort, we will have a proud community for all to see.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Arthur's Eighth Grade

STOP - THE DENIAL OF GANGS AND SATANISM IN OUR COMMUNITY

"The community cannot afford to become insensitive to what is going on around it... denying the existence of gangs, satanism and drugs. We have a serious problem that won't go away and cannot be solved with quick fixes. Someone is going to have to reach out with compassion. Will you be that someone?"

Applicants must be single with no dependents and at least 17 years old but not past their 22nd birthday upon admission into the academy on July 1, 1995.

Cotton Industry awards Sims

The Texas Cotton Industry presented Senator Bill Sims with an award for his efforts on boll weevil eradication in Texas.

Sims was the sponsor of Senate Bill 30, in the 1993 Legislative session, which was the starting point for eradication of the boll weevil in Texas.

According to Ron Riley, president of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association, "Senator Sims' hard work and commitment to this project does not go unnoticed in our industry. The senator is a friend to everyone involved in the cotton industry."

The award was presented in conjunction with the Texas Agriculture for Bill Sims dinner in Abilene. The events were held Saturday evening at the Lytle Bend Ranch.

Woody Anderson, presenting the award and representing cotton producers in Texas, said, "Without the Senator's support and dedication, cotton producers in Texas would not have the opportunity to eradicate the costly boll weevil. The cotton industry is thankful for his commitment to our concerns."

Senator Sims will be on the November 8 ballot for senator from District 24.

NTU Campaign Fund endorses Stenholm

The political arm of the nation's largest taxpayer group, National Taxpayers Union (NTU), has endorsed Charles Stenholm for Congress.

"Representative Charles Stenholm has compiled a solid pro-taxpayer voting record in Congress and deserves re-election," David Keating said. Keating is president of the NTU Campaign Fund.

"We especially appreciate his strong leadership in the effort to pass the Balanced Budget Amendment and other key reforms, his opposition to President Clinton's 1993 tax increase and his support on several critical votes to cut spending."

Keating said "Charles Stenholm consistently demonstrated that he puts the plight of overburdened taxpayers before the political aspirations of the big-spending House leadership."

To be a fiscally responsible member of Congress requires the courage to stand up for the best interests of taxpayers, even when that means opposing powerful members of his own party. Representative Stenholm has proven that he is the right man for this demanding job," Keating continued.

National Taxpayers Union Campaign Fund is the political arm of the 250,000-member National Taxpayers Union. Endorsement decisions are made by a unanimous vote on a nonpartisan basis by a six-member endorsement committee that includes two Democrats, three Republicans and one independent.

National Taxpayers Union, founded in 1969, created the NTU Campaign Fund in 1994. NTU has led the national fight for constitutional amendments to require a balanced budget and limited taxes.

#10 JASON CASTILLO pitches back to #20 Aerial Emerson as #50 Frank Casares and #62 Tim Edwards block upfield. The Wolves lost to Crane 14-13 Friday night.

Crane wins nail-biter

The Colorado City Wolves lost their second straight nail-biter Friday night in Wolf Stadium to the Crane Golden Cranes 14-13.

The Wolves fumbled on the first play of the game and Crane recovered to take over at the Wolf 26-yard line. An off side penalty against the Wolves gave Crane a much needed first down and 2 plays later Crane tailback Quinton Robinson punched in from the one to take a 7-0 lead with 8:38 to go in the first quarter.

The Wolves punted on their ensuing possession, but held the Cranes in 4 plays to get the ball at their own 20. The Wolves would later score from 87 yards out when freshman running back Aerial Emerson ran off right tackle, broke a tackle, then turned on the speed and outran the Crane defense for the tying score.

The Wolves recovered the Crane fumble to begin the second quarter but were stopped on 4th & goal from the one. The two teams then traded punts until half-time.

The second half began with 3 punts among the two teams before the Wolves' second scoring drive began. Espinoza carried the ball five of the eight plays including the two-yard touchdown that gave the Wolves a 13-7 lead. Chris Ramirez point-after-try was blocked.

Crane waited until 5:48 was left in the game to start their game-winning drive. It took the Cranes 4:23 to drive 44 yards to finish out the scoring at 14-13. Crane. The Wolves tried to score again but their hopes were lost when Jason Castillo through an interception with 28 seconds to go and Crane ran out the clock.

The Wolves turned in their best performance all year in this heartbreaking loss, although there were several questionable non-calls by the officials.

Next week the Wolves face Sonora in Sonora at 7:30 p.m.

Vietnam Memorial to open

For more than six years, a small group of volunteers have pursued the dream of building a memorial to the individuals of West Texas who served during the Vietnam Conflict.

On November 12 at 3 p.m. that dream will become a reality.

The project was conceived by Randy Gilliam, a local vet who served with the 101st Airborne in 1969.

With the architectural guidance of Pate & Associates of Midland and under the watchful eye of Cecil Davis, also a local vet, of Campbell Construction, the tribute is nearing completion.

The memorial will consist of a Texas-shaped piece of polished sunset-red granite, etched with 30 West Texas Permian Basin Counties and a masonry wall to serve as a backdrop.

The site will include an 80-foot granite Lone Star set in the ground. The angular tip of the star will connect to the replica of the state of Texas and will be inscribed with the names of 225 veterans who were killed or listed as missing in action.

The star's center will be raised to form a pentagon with the symbols of the five branches of the military in bronze that will provide a base for an eternal flame.

A "Walk of Honor" will be located in close proximity to the memorial.

The memorial is located in the 9900 block of Wright Drive, immediately north of Midland International Airport and west of the headquarters/museum of the Confederate Air Force.

The memorial can be reached by taking the Airport exit from U.S. Highway 80 or Interstate Highway 20, halfway between Midland and Odessa.

Immediately adjacent to the memorial site, a park will be constructed by local Rotary Clubs of both Midland and Odessa.

John Philbeck, president of the Permian Basin Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee, recalled the to do; they fought and died for each other and their sacrifices must not emotions he felt during his first visit to the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C. He believes that the Memorial in West Texas will have a continuous ripple effect of healing.

"A memorial like this will allow people to deal with emotions in their own way and in their own time," he said.

"These guys did what they had to. Freedom does have a high price...the blood of men and women who give it freely for the love of one another and not for a political cause," Philbeck added.

Six young men from Mitchell County died in the Vietnam Conflict: Curtis M. Ashton, AE1, Navy; Robert W. Cooper, SP4, Army; Robert O. Davis, PFC, Army; Manuel G. Martinez, SP4, Army; Ralph M. Smith, CPL, Army; and James G. Standefer, SGT, Army.

The 7th Grade Colorado Wolves lost their fourth straight game to the Crane Golden Cranes Thursday night at Wolf Stadium, 40-0.

The Wolves only highlight in the first half was a 12 yard pass from Jeffrey Babb to Drew Potter.

The Cranes picked up a safety during the second half of play when the Wolves were forced to put out of their own end zone and the ball was snapped over the punter's head.

Colorado City Apts.:

I moved to Colorado City Apts. about three months ago, and I really enjoy it here.

The apartments are very clean and a very quiet place to be.

The people here are very friendly, plus our manager, Jo Yancy, is a real nice person.

Lupe Clifton

Colorado City Apts.:

I moved into the apartments here the last of August of this year.

This is my first experience in apartment living since 1956 and I have been pleasantly surprised. The apartment is reasonably priced, the management friendly. The yards are well-kept, the apartment well-maintained.

The other tenants are quiet, so we are looking forward to a pleasant stay here.

John Thornberry

I just moved to Colorado City two months ago—and I had never lived in an apartment before because I thought it would be too much of a hassle.

But I have found that living here in the Colorado City Apartments is nice, quiet and a place I can call home.

Mary Martinez

P.S. And management is great.

My husband, our two children and I moved to Colorado City from Anson five months ago.

After looking around the area for housing, we decided that the Colorado City Apartments best suited our needs.

Upon moving in, we found our apartment clean, quiet and very affordable.

Our children enjoy playing on the playground very much.

Ramiro, Stephanie, Lana and Daniel Perez

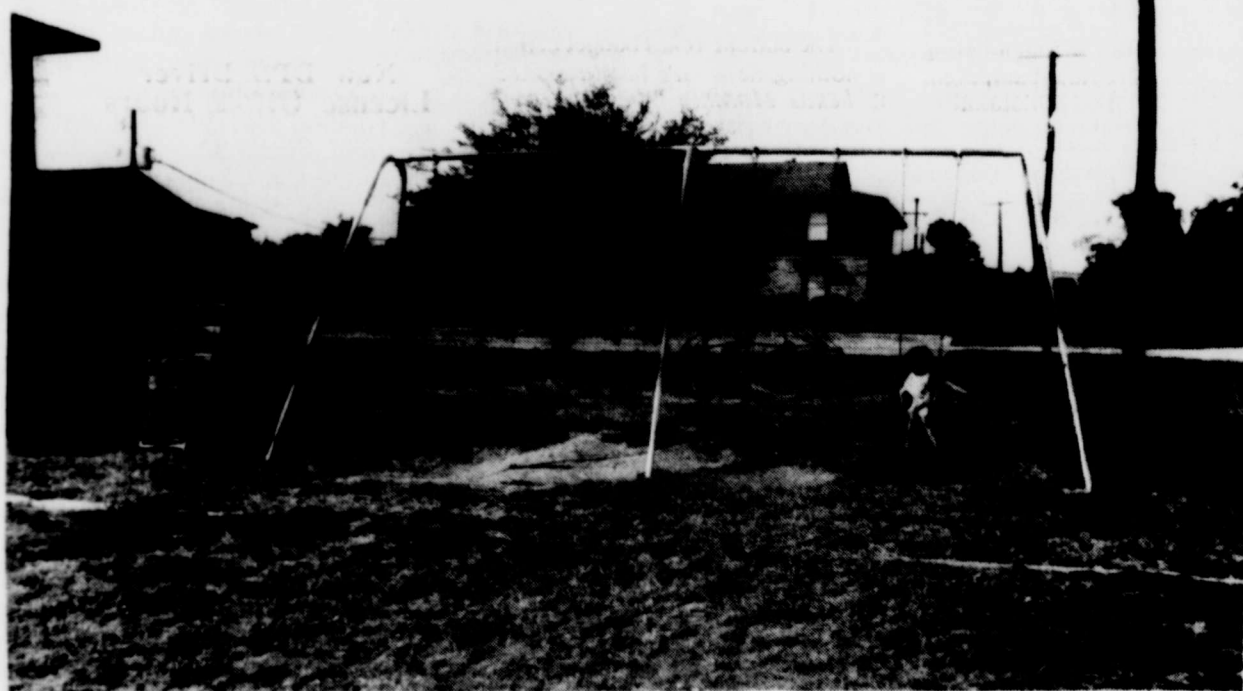

Since coming to the Colorado City Apartments as manager some two months ago, I've been surprised and pleased with the family-like atmosphere! The tenants are all friendly to one another and to me.

It's a quiet place to live and the tenants take pride in their homes, helping to keep the outside clean and neat.

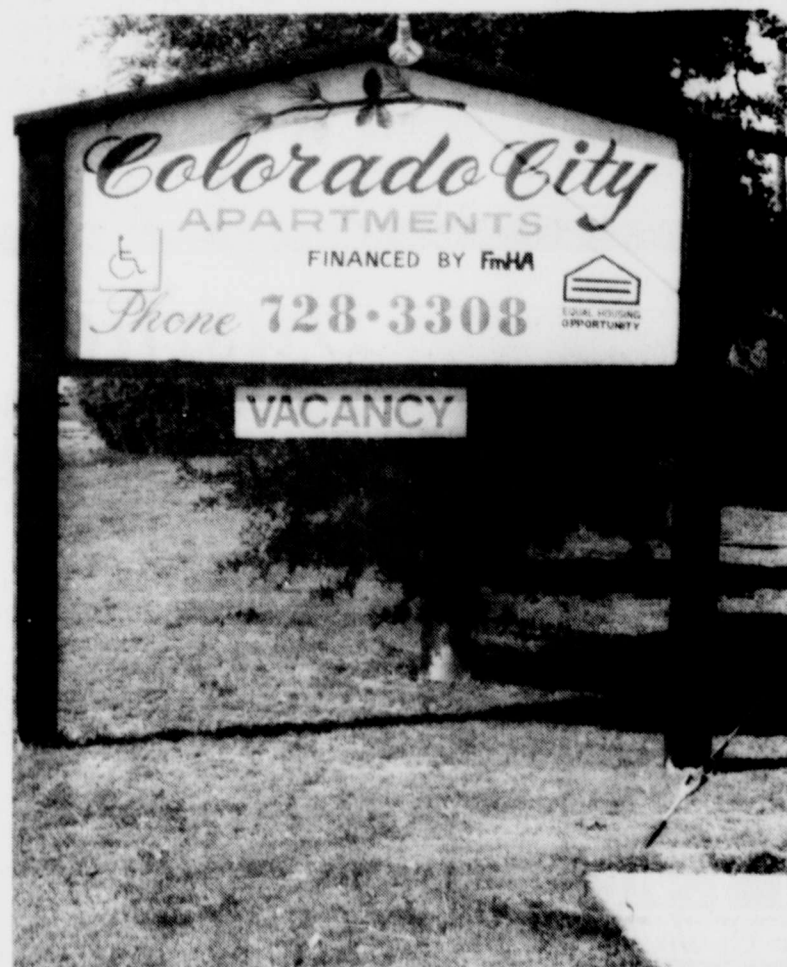

We think we're the best place around.

Stenholm legislation to reorganize USDA approved

Congressman Charles Stenholm has announced that the Senate and the House of Representatives have approved legislation for a major reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The House Agriculture Subcommittee, which Stenholm chairs, drafted the legislation.

It "was the culmination of a painstaking and bipartisan process that began in the last Congress and included hearings in Texas, Washington D.C. and eight other states," Stenholm said.

"The final bill was designed to improve both the USDA's structure and services and will give us a USDA that is more efficient, client-friendly and prepared to face the challenges of tomorrow," he added.

Key provisions of the USDA reorganization package are:

- Reduction of total USDA employment by 7,500 staff over the next five years.
- Close or consolidate approximately 1,100 USDA field offices.
- Combine the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) and Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) into a single Consolidated Farm Service Agency.
- Require the establishment of local Consolidated Farm Service Agency committees, comprised of farmers, to administer and oversee USDA programs for a county or area.

Mitchell SWCD is named honor district

Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District, headquartered in Colorado City, was named an honor district in the annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

Mitchell SWCD was recognized at the 54th annual meeting of directors of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, which was held in Austin.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company sponsored the nationwide competition in cooperation with the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

"Honor district awards are presented to those districts that were top award winners during the previous five years only if those districts ranked among the leaders in the current program. The honor district award was created to recognize continuing excellence by those districts," Ed O'Boyle, Goodyear area sales manager, said.

According to O'Boyle, Mitchell SWCD was chosen because "of the district's accomplishments in soil and water conservation."

Approximately 1,000 SWCD directors and other conservation leaders attended the annual meeting of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts.
