State Commission To Consider 21 Miles Blacktop Road

County Ante for Loop Road Upped To $90,000 at Board Meet Monday

To the State Highway Commission meeting in Santa Fe today was a proposal that a 21-mile blacktop road connecting U.S. 62 with New Mexico 83 may be constructed.

The road, loosely known as the "field-potash-loop," would connect Artesia with the Potash Corporation of America's mine, extending from there to the Southwest Wash minesite and thence 16 miles to 83, coming in at 12-mile according to Bob Koonce, manager of Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

If the Highway Commission approves, contract could be announced within a fortnight. No specific date has been set as to when work would start but it was indicated that the Eddy County Board of Commissioners held in Carlsbad yesterday morning that the road would be prompt.

In the session, attended by county commissioners, representatives of Artesia and of Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, it was agreed that the sum of $90,000 would be allocated by the county for the road, with the balance to be paid by the state.

The $90,000 is divided into two parts, one of $40,000, previously approved, and a second of $50,000, and would be set up in episodes, not payable all at one time.

Burton Dwyer, state highway engineer, was the target of searching questions at the meeting, held from 10:30 to 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning in the district courtroom on the third floor of the Eddy County courthouse.

Endemic Caliche Roads
Asked what his recommendation would be, Dwyer indicated he would not oppose the proposal. He reiterated his protest at construction of caliche roads, saying an invariable rule was that topping out immediately after requested of the highway department was in the spot.

In another part of his comment, estimated cost of 6.3 miles of proposed road at $7000 a mile, being this for sealing alone. In all, there were 35 persons at the hearing, more than half of them from Artesia.

A vivid contrast to the argument that has raged since last March, eight months ago, there was a spirit of co-operation and "let's get this done" manifest.

Emery Carper, one of the Artesia group, laid it right on the line, when he frankly told the assembly that Artesia expected to profit from the oil field and potash trade the road would bring.

He flayed comment he said had appeared in a newspaper, which he did not name, that tagging the proposed road as being "for quail hunters."

"When you put a road there, you spoil it for hunting," he countered. Want Complete Job

The meeting started a half hour late but was completed before noon.

There was a tangled skein of questions on road costs, procedure of the highway department, emphasis on construction of the road for the entire route, one overall contract.

Those present included: Joe Lusk, Carlsbad, chairman of the County Commissioners Board; Bob James, Malaga, board member; W. T. (Doc) Haldeman, member of the board from Artesia; E. C. Spurlin, Black River, county commissioner-elect.

Burton Dwyer, state highway engineer; R. A. Wilcox, chief deputy county clerk.

Adair Gossett, Carlsbad, president, New Mexico Junior Chamber of Commerce; Joe Gant, formerly Democratic county chairman; R. A. (Dick) Westaway, county assessor and county Democratic chairman; Fred Stewart, Southwest Potash superintendent; Gene Lusk, assistant district attorney; George Reese, attorney for Southwest Potash.

Bill Siegenthaler, president, Bob Koonce, manager, J. D. Smith, Wayne Paulin, Thad Cox, directors, Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

S. P. Yates, Judah Terry, Mayor Oren C. Roberts, Buster Mulcock, Emery Carper, "Doc" Haldeman.

Betty Nell Bolton, radio station KSPV, and E. B. Emerson, The Artesia Advocate.

Gen. C. G. Sage To Be Speaker At Guard Banquet

Adjutant general and assistant adjutant general of New Mexico, Brig. Gen. Charles G. Sage and Col. John P. McFarland, both of Santa Fe, will be the featured speakers at the third anniversary banquet of Battery C, 69th Anti-Aircraft Artillery, Automatic Weapons Battalion, at 8 o'clock Thursday night, Nov. 2, in the United Veterans Building.

The supper will come after an open house at the armory from 6 to 8 o'clock, where the public will see an exhibit of the battery's guns, vehicles, and equipment. Location of the armory is on Centre Avenue, west of Roselawn.

Date of the open house and banquet marks the third anniversary of federal recognition of the Artesia unit, which is led by Capt. Marshall Belshe.

Meaning of the National Guard to the individual, community, and nation will be the theme of General Sage's speech.

For Artesia, speakers will be Bill Siegenthaler, lawyer and president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Oren C. Roberts.

Captain Belshe will be master of ceremonies.

The anniversary open house and banquet is timed with start of a recruiting campaign by the local battery in conjunction with a national drive.

Halloween Fun Expected, But Don't Overstep

Spooks and goblins and witches will be at large tonight —for it will be Halloween.

Everyone expects the youngsters to take part in the annual event and most people welcome innocent devilry on the part of the kids.

But it must end there, according to Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, who said all parts of the city will be patrolled until a late hour, in order to see that the pranks are not destructive, and that they do not cause hazards, from which others might be injured.

For one thing, there must be no street or sidewalk obstructions, which could injure persons or cause damage to vehicles.

The good, old game of "trick-or-treat" is smiled on kindly by police officers as well as others. And jack-o'-lanterns and false faces are all part of the fun, the chief said. But officers are being instructed to stand for no destruction or traffic hazards.

Three Boys, One Girl Are Born at Artesia General

Three boys and one girl were born in Artesia General Hospital from Friday of last week to Sunday. They were:

A son, born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Romero. He weighed eight pounds eight ounces and was named George.

Harold Ray, a son, was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Payne. He weighed seven pounds six ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Lopez Hernandez are the parents of a daughter, Esperanza, born Saturday. She weighed six pounds seven ounces.

John Eugene, a son, was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Melton. He weighed eight pounds.

Unique Contests Mark School Dance

A quintet of contests ranging from "cutest couple" to "pinup boy" featured the Artesia Bulldogs' Parents' Halloween dance held from 9 o'clock to midnight Friday in Central School gymnasium.

A sample of the awards: Three safety pins to the "pinup boy," oil can to the smoothest dancer.

Music was by Tony King's orchestra. Gerald Johnson and Tawnya Tinson were adjudged the "cutest couple," Pug Garner and Betty Crow, smoothest dancers; Reese Booker, best sportsman, whose partner was Mrs. Joe Collier; Bus Brown, whose partner was Anna Marie Dunn, pinup boy; Sonny Garner, Ilomita Callahan, best dressed. Joe Collier was master of ceremonies.

'Know Your Endorser,' Says Chief

With the breaking up of two alleged wholesale forgery attempts in Artesia the last week, Police Chief Earl D. Westfall again issued the often-repeated warning:

"Know your endorser!"

It was somewhat understandable how merchants offered checks "for cotton picking" by Mexican nationals, and written in a good hand, might be misled. But the old rule still stands, said the chief:

"Know your endorser!"

While police and other officers do all in their power to protect businessmen, they should in turn do all possible to protect themselves, and perhaps the best way to do this is:

"Know your endorser!"

The banks on which legitimate checks are drawn may not know Juan from Jesus, or Pablo from Carlos. But they do know their depositors. So, the chief advises, either send "braceros" to the bank to cash their check, or:

"Know your endorser!"

Four Good Oil Wells Are Put On Production

Four good producers were among six wells completed in the Eddy County oil fields the last week, the other two of which were plugged and abandoned. Five new locations were staked during the week.

In addition, announcement was made that businessmen of Grand Rapids, Mich., will drill a test well about eight miles west of Artesia on a location selected by William Dooley of Artesia.

It will be located on the Conrad S. Johnson-United States oil and gas lease in NW SW 30-17-25, where drilling equipment is now being moved.

The drilling operator is John E. Ritsema of Grand Rapids, who came here about two weeks ago to look over the situation. On Sunday he returned to Grand Rapids to bring his family to Artesia.

The completions:

City Will Continue to Give Fire Truck Protection to Rural Areas

The Artesia City Council has gone on record making its stand clear as to the use of city fire equipment in the rural areas, with the passing of a resolution setting forth the desire to continue to give the service.

The action, completed Monday with approval of final drafting of a resolution by Mayor Oren C. Roberts and members of the council, was taken after agitation in the rural areas for the purchase of a fire truck to be housed at the Artesia fire station and manned by members of the Artesia Fire Department for use outside the city.

Mayor Roberts said that after considerable study of the matter by the council over a long period of time, it was decided the city will continue its policy, asking, however, that the Eddy County Board of Commissioners continue to make an annual appropriation.

It was brought out in the resolution that the city plans in the near future to purchase another fire truck. This, said the mayor, will give ample protection at all times.

The resolution in full:

"Whereas, there has been some agitation in the rural area surrounding Artesia for the purchase of a fire truck to be housed in Artesia for rural areas, and
"Whereas, the Fire Department of the city of Artesia, N. M., has in the past maintained a policy of answering calls and combatting fires with its city equipment and personnel in rural areas surrounding the city of Artesia, and
"Whereas, the City Council of the city of Artesia, N. M., has always been willing to continue the policy of serving the rural areas surrounding Artesia with the City Fire Department and desires to continue to do so and is willing to do so, and
"Whereas, any indication that the city of Artesia, N. M., is unwilling to continue its policy of using its equipment to combat fires in rural areas around Artesia is incorrect, as the City Council of the city of Artesia is willing to continue this established policy, and in fact, intends to purchase a new fire truck in the near future, to add to its fire-fighting equipment and to be better able to serve the rural areas around Artesia, as well as the city itself.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the City Council of the city of Artesia, N. M., that the City Council go on record as being entirely willing and desirous of answering all fire calls to the rural areas, and "Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be furnished to The Artesia Advocate so that this action of the council be generally known, and
"Be it further resolved that the County Commissioners of Eddy County be furnished with a copy of this resolution."

Cpl. Pacheco, 20, Shot in Korea, Seriously Hurt

Abdomen gunshot wound of Cpl. Narciso Pacheco, 20, son of Mrs. Cipriana Pacheco, 903 State, previously reported as slight, has now been given as serious, according to a letter received Sunday by the soldier's mother.

The corporal, a former Artesia High School student, was wounded in action in Korea on Sept. 18 and is in Osaka, Japan, an Army hospital headquarters.

His condition for the 10 days prior to receipt of the letter was described as unchanged by Col. Allen A. Craig, Medical Corps, in which branch the corporal was serving.

Corporal Pacheco had been in the Army since January, 1949; went to Japan July 2 of this year, then was sent to the war in Korea.

Conservationist To Speak Tonight At Public Meet

Don Dailey of Boulder, Colo., executive secretary of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, is in Artesia today to meet all persons of this sector interested in soil and water conservation.

The soil-saving expert will preside at a meeting called for 7 o'clock tonight, Oct. 31, in Artesia city hall, according to an announcement by Dallas Rierson, Carlsbad, county extension agent, and G. L. Beene, Artesia, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Concerning Dailey, the two county men say:
"He is quite an enthusiast in this field and we believe you will be glad you could hear what this man has to say about the greatest asset of our nation."

Dailey is also scheduled to speak at the Rotary Club luncheon this noon.

ARTESIA TEACHER HONORED BY SCIENCE SECTION

Mrs. Cathryn Hayes, instructor in social science at the Artesia Junior High School was elected state president of the social science section Thursday at the New Mexico state teachers' convention held at Albuquerque.

This section is made up of all the social science teachers from the state of New Mexico. Mrs. Hayes was on the program, addressing the group on "Curriculum Revision at Artesia."

Henry Boggs from Hagerman was elected vice president, and the president appointed Miss Alma Sue Felix, also of Artesia, as secretary. The officers for the last year were: J. D. Pipkin, Albuquerque, president; R. V. Barot, Hot Springs, vice president, and Warren Smart, Albuquerque, secretary.

Two Wholesale Forgery Attempts Here Are Broken Up By Police

Two wholesale forgery attempts here, one believed to involve Mexican "braceros," have been broken up by the Artesia Police Department the last few days, in connection with which six men have been filed on on state charges.

In the more widespread of the attempts, Moses Isadore Archeluta, 30, a local Spanish-American, who has a criminal record, is specifically charged with forging two checks, one each for $18.54 and $21.76, which were cashed at The Sportsman.

In addition to the two checks, which are in the hands of state authorities, Police Chief Earl D. Westfall has 19 others which are believed to be in the same handwriting. The 21 checks total $576.29, and Chief Westfall said there may be others not in yet.

Although Archeluta signed a confession to forgery of "eight or nine checks," he entered a plea of not guilty Friday, when arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey.

Arraigned with him at the same time were three Mexican nationals, all of whom entered pleas of guilty to being accomplices to forgery.

All were bound over to the action of the Eddy County District Court under bond of $1000 each, which Archeluta has furnished. The Mexicans are being held in jail.

The "braceros" are Jesus Martinez Sosa, 22, Jimenes, Chihuahua; Carlos Rosales Estrada, 35, Durango; and Jesus Inojosa Villa, Chihuahua. All were employed as cotton pickers on the W. Leslie Martin farm.

F.F.A. and 4-H Annual Exhibit-Sale Premiums Sponsored By Kiwanis

Backing the Eddy County 4-H and Future Farmers of America exhibit and sale, to be held Saturday, Nov. 4, in Carlsbad, donations have been received from 43 persons totaling $766 for premiums in a move sponsored by Artesia Kiwanis Club.

The junior livestock show will include the showing of beef and dairy cattle, sheep, goats, swine, poultry, rabbits, cotton clothing, foods, sorghum, leathercraft, and record books.

All exhibits must be listed in the county agent's office by 9 o'clock Saturday morning, all livestock and poultry must be in place at the same time, and all exhibits a half hour later, except clothing, in which the deadline is 10 o'clock.

Nine local individuals and concerns have agreed to buy calves at a premium at the sale, according to Tom Hymer, one of the Kiwanis committee members.

They are John Cochran, Clyde Guy, V. S. Welch, Ray Bartlett, J. L. Taylor, and Meyers Company, Carper Drilling, Peoples State and First National Banks. The latter has agreed to purchase three calves.

Justin Newman, president of the Kiwanis Club, listed as among the exhibitors from the northern part of Eddy:

Donald and Norma Jo Thigpen, Charles Farmwalt, Norma Jo Grey, Gene Parnell, Paul and Bill Savoie, Hunt and Perry Zumwalt, La Vern and Lionell Grimlan, Donald Jones, Marshall Martin, Travis Zeleny, Robert Hnulik, Mary Evelyn Price, and Kenneth Taylor.

The names of those participating in making cash donations to the project, as listed by Hymer, is given below. This list may be supplemented as additional names are added.

Three $100 contributions top the list. They are Donald Fanning, J. L. Taylor, and W. Leslie Martin. B. C. Aaron gave $50; James Norris, Charlie Martin, Ellis Hnulik.

Quentin B. Rodgers is to be in charge of special sidewalk white-wash signs in connection with the project.

Easter Lilies Are in Bloom In Artesia

Easter lilies are in bloom in Artesia!

Despite the fact today is Oct. 31 and last Friday was Oct. 27, two beautiful lilies bloomed in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, 809 West Grand Avenue, on Friday.

One was in full bloom early Friday morning and the other opened during the day.

The lilies attracted considerable attention, so much, in fact, that a neighbor's dog, investigating the great to-do, was also attracted to them.

He was not satisfied just to admire the unseasonable blooms, but he had to take a nip out of one of them.

While leaves are fast turning to fall colors and some trees are shedding them rapidly, buds on fruit trees in some yards have been swelling somewhat because of the unusually warm fall.

Although there have been rare instances in the past in which fruit trees have blossomed in the fall, none has been reported here thus far this year. But with Easter lilies in bloom, almost anything can happen.

Chief Westfall said it is believed another Mexican national is involved but that he has returned to Mexico.

In his written statement, Archeluta said: "I have written eight or nine checks since Oct. 14. I have made them out to be cashed by three of the Mexican nationals that was arrested with me tonight (Thursday). I received half of the money on each check cashed."

The checks involved were written on both the First National and Peoples State Banks and all were in a reasonably good handwriting. They were signed with a number of different names and all were made payable to persons with Spanish names.

Each check bore the notation: "For cotton picking."

They varied in amount from $17.34 to $34.68 and each was in odd cents, making them seem more genuine.

Officers said the "braceros" presented the checks at the various stores for small purchases and that they were readily cashed in most places. Not until some of them began to "bounce" was there suspicion of a ring in operation.

Places of business which cashed one or more of the forged checks were Northside Bar, Camp Mac, The Sportsman, Collins Grocery, Larer Grocery, Skelly Service Station, State Distributors, Artesia Shoe Store, Owl Bar, W. W. Virtue Company, Inc., Juarez Cafe, and C. R. Anthony Company.

Artesia police officers did considerable work on the case, evi-

State Commission To Consider 21 Miles Blacktop Road

County Ante for Loop Road Upped to $90,000 at Board Meet Monday

The State Highway Commission meeting in Santa Fe today proposed that a 21-mile blacktop road connecting U.S. 62 in New Mexico 83 may be constructed.

The road, loosely known as the "field-potash-loop," would connect Artesia with the Potash Corporation of America's mine, extending from there to the Southwest ash mines and thence 16 miles to 83, coming in at 12-mile according to Bob Koonce, manager of Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

The Highway Commission appears, contract could be announced within a fortnight. No specific date has been set as to when work would start but it was indicated at meeting of the Eddy County Board of Commissioners held in Carlsbad yesterday morning that work would be prompt.

In the session, attended by county commissioners, representatives of Artesia and of Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, it was agreed that the sum of $90,000 would be paid by the county for the road, with the balance to be paid by the state.

The $90,000 is divided into two parts, one of $40,000, previously approved, and a second of $50,000, and would be set up in episodes, not paid all at one time.

Burton Dwyer, state highway engineer, was the target of searchlight questions at the meeting, held from 10:30 to 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning in the district courtroom on the third floor of the Eddy County courthouse.

Adams Caliche Roads. Asked what his recommendation would be, Dwyer indicated he did not oppose the proposal. He reiterated his protest at construction of caliche roads, saying an invariable rule was that topping up immediately after requested by the highway department was "the spot."

In another part of his comment, estimated cost of 6.3 miles of proposed road at $7000 a mile, saying this was for sealing alone. In all, there were 35 persons at the hearing, more than half of them from Artesia.

In vivid contrast to the argument that has raged since last March, eight months ago, there was a spirit of co-operation and "let's get this done" manifest.

Emery Carper, one of the Artesia group, laid it right on the line, when he frankly told the assembly that Artesia expected to profit from the oil field and potash trade the road would bring.

He flayed comment he said had appeared in a newspaper, which he did not name, that tagged the proposed road as being "for quail hunters."

"When you put a road there, you spoil it for hunting," he countered. "Want Complete Job"

The meeting started a half hour late but was completed before noon. There was a tangled skein of questions on road costs, procedure of the highway department, emphasis on construction of the road for the entire route, one overall contract.

Those present included: Joe Lusk, Carlsbad, chairman of the County Commissioners Board; Bob James, Malaga, board member; W. T. (Doc) Haldeman, member of the board from Artesia; E. C. Spurlin, Black River, county commissioner-elect.

Burton Dwyer, state highway engineer; R. A. Wilcox, chief deputy county clerk.

Adair Gossett, Carlsbad, president, New Mexico Junior Chamber of Commerce; Joe Gant, formerly Democratic county chairman; R. A. (Dick) Westaway, county assessor and county Democratic chairman; Fred Stewart, Southwest Potash superintendent; Gene Lusk, assistant district attorney, George Reese, attorney for Southwest Potash.

Bill Siegenthaler, president, Bob Koonce, manager, J. D. Smith, Wayne Paulin, Thad Cox, directors, Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Halloween Fun Expected, But Don't Overstep

Spooks and goblins and witches will be at large tonight and tomorrow night in Carlsbad.

Everyone expects the youngsters to take part in the annual event and most people welcome innocent devilry on the part of the kids. But it must end there, according to Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, who said all parts of the city will be patrolled until a late hour, in order to see that the pranksters are not destructive, and that they do not cause hazards, from which others might be injured.

For one thing, there must be no street or sidewalk obstructions, which could injure persons or cause damage to vehicles.

The good, old game of "trick-or-treat" is smiled on kindly by police officers as well as others. And jack-o'-lanterns and false faces are all part of the fun, the chief said. But officers are being instructed to stand for no destruction or traffic hazards.

Joe Collier was master of ceremonies.

'Know Your Endorser,' Says Chief

With the breaking up of two alleged wholesale forgery attempts in Artesia the last week, Police Chief Earl D. Westfall again issued the oft-repeated warning:

"Know your endorser!" It was somewhat understandable how merchants offered checks "for cotton picking" by Mexican nationals, and written in a good hand, might be misled. But the old rule still stands, said the chief:

"Know your endorser!" While police and other officers do all in their power to protect businessmen, they should in turn do all possible to protect themselves, and perhaps the best way to do this is:

"Know your endorser!" The banks on which legitimate checks are drawn may not know Juan from Jesus, or Pablo from Carlos. But they do know their depositors. So, the chief advises, either send "braceros" to the bank to cash their check, or:

"Know your endorser!"

City Will Continue to Give Fire Truck Protection to Rural Areas

The Artesia City Council has gone on record making its stand clear as to the use of city fire equipment in the rural areas, with the passing of a resolution setting forth the desire to continue to give the service.

The action, completed Monday with approval of final drafting of a resolution by Mayor Oren C. Roberts and members of the council, was taken after agitation in the rural areas for the purchase of a fire truck to be housed at the Artesia fire station and manned by members of the Artesia Fire Department for use outside the city.

Mayor Roberts said that after considerable study of the matter by the council over a long period of time, it was decided the city will continue its policy, asking, however, that the Eddy County Board of Commissioners continue to make an annual appropriation.

It was brought out in the resolution that the city plans in the near future to purchase another fire truck. This, said the mayor, will give ample protection at all times.

The resolution in full: "Whereas, there has been some agitation in the rural area surrounding Artesia for the purchase of a fire truck to be housed in Artesia for rural areas, and,

"Whereas, the Fire Department of the city of Artesia, N. M., has in the past maintained a policy of an-

Cpl. Pacheco, 20, Shot in Korea, Seriously Hurt

Abdomen gunshot wound of Cpl. Narcisco Pacheco, 20, son of Mrs. Cipriana Pacheco, 903 State, previously reported as slight, has now been given as serious, according to a letter received Sunday by the soldier's mother.

The corporal, a former Artesia High School student, was wounded in action in Korea on Sept. 18 and is in Osaka, Japan, an Army hospital headquarters.

His condition for the 10 days prior to receipt of the letter was described as unchanged by Col. Allen A. Craig, Medical Corps, in which branch the corporal was serving.

Corporal Pacheco had been in the Army since January, 1949; went to Japan July 2 of this year, then was sent to the war in Korea.

Conservationist To Speak Tonight At Public Meet

Don Dailey of Boulder, Colo., executive secretary of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, is in Artesia today to meet all persons of this sector interested in soil and water conservation.

The soil-saving expert will preside at a meeting called for 7 o'clock tonight, Oct. 31, in Artesia city hall, according to an announcement by Dallas Kierston, Carlsbad, county extension agent, and G. L. Beene, Artesia, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Concerning Dailey, the two county men say:

"He is quite an enthusiast in this field and we believe you will be glad you could hear what this man has to say about the greatest asset of our nation."

Dailey is also scheduled to speak at the Rotary Club luncheon this noon.

"Whereas, the City Council of the city of Artesia, N. M., has always been willing to continue the policy of serving the rural areas surrounding Artesia with the City Fire Department and desires to continue to do so and is willing to do so, and,

Jaycees Follow Through on Try For Record Vote

Following through with the movement started last spring, Artesia Junior Chamber of Commerce is again beating the war drums to draw a record number of voters to the polls in the general election, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Through newspaper stories, distribution of 5000 circulars, radio talks, and two special downtown stunts, the Jaycees will seek to get every eligible voter to cast his ballot.

At the time of the primary the Jaycees conducted a similar campaign.

Kicking off the second phase, the Jaycees put out 8000 printed circulars early last month. Some of these were distributed at the Artesia High School-New Mexico Military Institute football game here Oct. 6.

Others were put out from store car to car by local Boy Scouts directed by John Rogers.

Distribution of the new batch is slated for Saturday, Nov. 4, three days in advance of the election. Milford Estill, lawyer, is in charge of radio talks over KSPV, boosting the campaign.

Red tags are to be put out to voters after they have cast their ballots. This work will be done by Boy Scouts stationed near the polling places, according to Rooster Durbin, chairman of the Jaycees' get-out-the-vote committee.

Quentin B. Rodgers is to be in charge of special sidewalk whitewash signs in connection with the project.

Fire Damages Chester Auto Lab Sunday Afternoon

Damage estimated at several hundred dollars was done by fire from an unknown cause at the Bud Chester Auto Laboratory, 612 North First Street, about 5:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon, as firemen answered the second alarm from within 100 feet in a matter of three hours.

The earlier alarm, at 2:45 o'clock, sent firemen to Pat Fairley's junk yard, where burlap sacking around small pieces of junk in the rear of a truck became ignited from an unknown cause.

The Fairley truck was undamaged and there was no loss other than that of the sacks and the time of racking the small parts.

The fire at the Chester place apparently started between the office desk and a bench-counter, possibly in a wastepaper basket. However, Chester was out of town and the possibility of a burning cigarette starting the blaze was discounted.

The desk was badly charred at one end, and an adding machine on it was destroyed. Records, although burned on the edges, were saved.

Further damage was done to the counter and contents.

Two Wholesale Forgery Attempts Here Are Broken Up By Police

Two wholesale forgery attempts here, one believed to involve Mexican "braceros," have been broken up by the Artesia Police Department the last few days, in connection with which six men have been filed on on state charges.

In the more widespread of the attempts, Moses Isadore Archeluta, 30, a local Spanish-American, who has a criminal record, is specifically charged with forging two checks, one each for $18.54 and $21.76, which were cashed at The Sportsman.

In addition to the two checks, which are in the hands of state authorities, Police Chief Earl D. Westfall has 19 others which are believed to be in the same hand-writing. The 21 checks total $576.29, and Chief Westfall said there may be others not in yet.

Although Archeluta signed a confession to forgery of "eight or nine checks," he entered a plea of not guilty Friday, when arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey.

Arraigned with him at the same time were three Mexican nationals, all of whom entered pleas of guilty to being accomplices to forgery. All were bound over to the action of the Eddy County District Court under bond of $1000 each, which Archeluta has furnished. The Mexicans are being held in jail.

The "braceros" are Jesus Martinez Sosa, 22, Jimenes, Chihuahua; Carlos Rosales Estrada, 35, Durango, and Jesus Inojosa Villa, Chihuahua. All were employed as cotton pickers on the W. Leslie Martin farm.

Chief Westfall said it is believed another Mexican national is involved but that he has returned to Mexico.

In his written statement, Archeluta said: "I have written eight or nine checks since Oct. 14. I have made them out to be cashed by three of the Mexican nationals that were arrested with me tonight (Thursday). I received half of the money on each check cashed."

The checks involved were written on both the First National and Peoples State Banks and all were in a reasonably good handwriting. They were signed with a number of different names and all were made payable to persons with Spanish names.

Each check bore the notation: "For cotton picking."

They varied in amount from $17.34 to $34.68 and each was in odd cents, making them seem more genuine.

Officers said the "braceros" presented the checks at the various stores for small purchases and that they were readily cashed in most places. Not until some of them began to "bounce" was there suspicion of a ring in operation.

Places of business which cashed one or more of the forged checks were Northside Bar, Camp Mac, The Sportsman, Collins Grocery, Larez Grocery, Skelly Service Station, State Distributors, Artesia Shoe Store, Owl Bar, W. V. Virtue Company, Inc., Juarez Cafe, and C. R. Anthony Company.

Artesia police officers did considerable work on the case, evi-

Easter Lilies Are in Bloom In Artesia

Easter lilies are in bloom in Artesia!

Despite the fact today is Oct. 31 and last Friday was Oct. 27, two beautiful lilies bloomed in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, 809 West Grand Avenue, on Friday.

One was in full bloom early Friday morning and the other opened during the day.

The lilies attracted considerable attention, so much, in fact, that a neighbor's dog, investigating the great to-do, was also attracted to them.

He was not satisfied just to admire the unseasonable blooms, but he had to take a nip out of one of them.

While leaves are fast turning to fall colors and some trees are shedding them rapidly, buds on fruit trees in some yards have been swelling somewhat because of the unusually warm fall.

Although there have been rare instances in the past in which fruit trees have blossomed in the fall, none has been reported here thus far this year. But with Easter lilies in bloom, almost anything can happen.

Bonnie Fletcher, Howard Plowman Exchange Vows Friday Morning

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony at 10 o'clock Friday morning of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fletcher, Miss Bonnie Fletcher became the bride of Howard Plowman of Carlsbad. Allen Johnson, minister of the Church of Christ at Roswell, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a medley of bridal music, "I Love You Truly" and "Because" were played followed by the traditional wedding march.

White tapers in branched candelabra, baskets of white and yellow pompon chrysanthemums and woodwardia fern formed the background before the fireplace. The mantel was banked with white and yellow pompons and ferns.

The candle lighters were Miss Mary Plowman and Mrs. Charles Culbertson, wearing matching corsages of yellow carnations.

The beautiful bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a street-length dress of navy blue and matching accessories.

For the traditional something old, the bride carried a white Bible belonging to Mrs. L. P. Glasscock, topped with a bouquet of pink roses with showers of satin ribbon and blossoms caught at intervals in love knots; something new was her cameo necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, something borrowed was a pink lace-trimmed handkerchief belonging to her sister-in-law, Mrs. I. B. Looney; for something blue, she wore the blue garter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, of which she is a member and in her shoe she wore an old coin for good luck.

Miss Audie Everett was maid of honor. She wore a gold corsage dress and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Tom Plowman was best man for his brother. The usher was Charles Culbertson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fletcher chose a navy and white crepe dress. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Plowman, mother of the bridegroom, was unable to attend because of the illness of Mr. Plowman, but she was presented a corsage of red rosebuds at her home in Carlsbad.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a lace cloth centered with yellow and pink tapers and a wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink and yellow chrysanthemums encircled the wedding cake. At the end of the table was placed a crystal punch bowl. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Viola Fletcher and Miss Audie Everett. Miss Ruby Plowman presided at the guestbook.

For a short honeymoon trip, the bride donned a beige wool gabardine suit and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride graduated from Artesia High School in 1943, and attended the Abilene (Texas) Christian College.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Plowman of Carlsbad, one of New Mexico's pioneer families. He attended schools in Carlsbad and Hope, where he graduated in 1937. Miss Peggy Johnson Becomes Bride Of Lyle Terpening Here on Sunday

Miss Peggy Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Marie Johnson, became the bride of Lyle Terpening, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Terpening, Sr., at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, with Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor, officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

A large arch over the altar was of large and white carnations and chrysanthemums and greenery. The altar was flanked on each side by huge baskets filled with chrysanthemums, dahlias and carnations of pastel colors. White tapers in seven-branched candelabra were on each side. The candle lighters were Mrs. Merle Tidwell and Mrs. Don Menefee.

Proceeding the ceremony, H. O. Miller sang, accompanied by D. Lenning at the organ. Mr. Lenning also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride entered on the arm of Sy Edgerton, an old friend of the family. She wore a two-piece suit of light weight mannish wool beige. Her accessories were brown. She carried a white Bible belonging to Ross Clanton, a nephew of the bride. The Bible was topped with pink rosebuds with showers of satin ribbons and tiny pink rosebuds caught at intervals in love knots.

For the old tradition, something new was a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom; for something old, she wore a wide, gold ring that belonged to her mother, a family heirloom; something borrowed was the Bible, she wore a blue garter and for luck she wore a coin in her shoe.

Mrs. Anna Jane Clanton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a black velvet two-piece dress with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A. L. Terpening, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Calvin Terpening, cousin of the bridegroom and John Henry Terpening, brother of the bridegroom. All the men wore traditional dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece brown gabardine suit with beige and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Terpening, wore a black crepe two-piece dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Tidwell and Mrs. Menefee wore two-piece yellow suits with black accessories and corsages of white carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the educational building of the church. A three-tiered decorated wedding cake was on one end of the table, which was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and at the other end was a large crystal punch bowl.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the first piece of cake, Mrs. Gene Show presided. She was dressed in a pink dress with gold trimmings. She wore a small black picture hat. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Miss Reba Baker presided at the punch bowl. She wore a pink dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Leon Self, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Louisiana. They plan to return Friday and will make Artesia their home.

The bride was born and reared in Artesia and graduated from Artesia High School with the class of 1948. She then attended a business school in Lubbock, Texas. For the last year, she has been employed in the office of the Bethlehem Supply Company.

The bridegroom was a member of the Artesia High School class of 1947. He served in the Navy 18 months. He is employed by the Central Valley Electric Co-operative, Inc.

Rev. V. E. Boyd's New Home Dedicated Here Last Week

Approximately 300 guests, pastors and members of the various Baptist Churches of the Pecos Valley association assembled at the new home of the Pecos Valley association missionary, Rev. V. E. Boyd, 1205 West Mann Avenue, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of last week. The occasion was the dedication of the new home for the Pecos Valley Baptist missionary.

George Ed Rogers, educational director of the First Baptist Church of Carlsbad, presided at the dedication services, after an inspection of the home by the guests, who left on the table and cabinet a generous old-fashioned pounding. He called on M. E. Sibley, also of Carlsbad, who read an appropriate Scripture passage.

Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Artesia, spoke on "A Long Dream Realized." Rev. Boyd responded with "A Look at Our Mission Field." Wilson Atkins, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church, Carlsbad, led the prayer of dedication.

The home is a new three-bedroom structure, occupied by Rev. Boyd and family, owned by the Pecos Valley Baptist Association.

The President of the United States may not be legally arrested for any unlawful act.

'World Community Day' Observation To Be Wednesday

"World Community Day" is to be observed by the Artesia Council of Church Women at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning with a coffee, followed by a worship service and discussion, "Trustship with God," by Mrs. J. H. Walker, former state president, in the ladies' parlor of the First Methodist Church. Theme for the service is "Love Thy Neighbor."

An invitation is extended to all women in Artesia, who are interested in the service to others, to try to bring a light in the darkness of uncertainty and fear that lowers about mankind.

dence of which is being turned over to the state for prosecution.

In the other case, also run down by city police, Arthur Perry McShan, 38, and Johnny Louis Jones, 38, both of Houston, Texas, have been bound over to the District Court on forgery charges. Bond for each was set by Judge Josey at $1000.

Jones was picked up in the C. R. Anthony Company store while attempting to cash a check drawn on a People's State Bank check, on a tip from the store to police that there was suspicion of the man.

The check was made payable to "John L. Jones" and was signed, "Calkins & Fyke, by J. S. Calkins." It carried the notation: "For farm labor." It was drawn in the amount of $67.50.

After Jones was questioned by officers, McShan was picked up in the Folkner Hotel. He had in his possession a number of similar checks, some only partially made out and discarded, and others fully made out.

The two men said they had just arrived in Artesia from California.

when the racers go through, just to watch them hit Petty's Puddle.

Here's the latest on the race from The Little Argus:

"Joe B. Reeves and Bob Woodhead have volunteered their services in connection with the Big Race. That's the auto race of the century, between Frank Kindel and W. A. Cloman, from Carlsbad to Cloudcroft, on a wager of $500. We've assigned Reeves to the post as relief driver for Kindel, and Woodhead to the job as relief driver for Cloman.

"W. E. Rood, editor of The Penasco Valley News of Hope, was in the other day to caution the drivers about going too fast through Hope. He warned about the school-children that may be in the streets, and he reminded the drivers about the sharp curves near Hope.

"That's all right about the curves," Kindell said. "We plan to straighten them out when we go through Hope. But we may have to detour the town a little to stay away from the school zone. What we really need is someone to open and close gates for us. We don't need any relief drivers."

Fritz Moeller, always one to try to turn an honest dollar, has bought the Jumbo Hamburger Joint in Carlsbad, just in time to get it well in hand before the Carlsbad-Artesia football game.

We don't ordinarily give free advertising, but inasmuch as Fritz would hardly be justified in spending any dough in The Advocate for his Carlsbad place, we're happy to give him a little plug, to the effect that we'll see you at the Jumbo while we're eating our free hamburger after the game there Nov. 17—after the Bulldogs have defeated the Cavemen 35-6.

Tip to Bill Colvert, advertising manager of The Current-Argus:

If you don't catch Fritz at the Jumbo, you can contact him at Barq's Bottling Company in Artesia.

The Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal recently published a parody on the 23rd Psalm, which we pass on:

"The state is my shepherd, I shall not work; it maketh me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me by the still factories. It deadens my soul; it leadeth me in the paths of idleness for politics' sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of slothfulness and economic disaster, I will fear no evil, for it will be with me; its dole and paternalism, they comfort me. It prepareth a Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of the frugal; it filleth my head with fool expectations; my mounting inefficiency runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; I shall live on the bounty of the state forever."

Says Old Shep in The Eddy County News, Carlsbad:

"There is a road project near Carlsbad that we believe will interest many local people, and that is the new road up Rocky Arroyo. This has long been one of the sorriest pieces of road that man ever attempted to travel in motorized vehicles, but not anymore. Nine and one-half miles of the roughest part of the road has been blacktopped and is in boulevard condition. There is a lot of nice scenery up the Arroyo, too."

Well, come next week, there'll be plenty of tourists going over that new road and on up into the Guadalupe, for deer season opens at noon Nov. 10.

And a tip to those deer hunters: Be sure it's legal game before you shoot, for a tombstone is frequently the only thing that has a good word for a fellow when he's down.

The G.P.A. president said it is possible the chapter will go on record protesting to the State Game Department the recent ruling that one may not be in the field with his gun prior to noon on the opening day of deer season, that he must remain in camp until 12 o'clock.

Similar action is being taken by other chapters over the state protesting the ruling, which is felt by many sportsmen to be unjust, in that one may wish to hunt some distance from his camp and to be there at the moment when the season opens.

Plans were also made to show some game pictures at the meeting Wednesday night.

President Russell extended an invitation to non-members to attend, to see what the organization stands for. Such persons were invited to join, either through those in the contest or through other members authorized to collect dues.

University Government Research Division Studies Pre-Primary Law

The pre-primary law of the last legislature is back before the people of New Mexico again.

Prof. Charles B. Judah, politics professor of the University of New Mexico's division of government research, has released a bulletin outlining the pros and cons of the controversial law which helped bring the Democratic party into two years of power during the recent primary.

The party split has been heated, Judah says, but the problem it left behind—what to do with the pre-primary convention—still remains to be settled.

The study finds that New Mexico's primaries for the last decade have been plagued by an unusually large number of persons seeking party's nomination for various offices. The ballot has grown to include the names of more than 100 candidates in some races.

Charges of pay-off filings and filaments designed to split votes of party candidates have been rife in the pre-primary law passed by the legislature. The law sought to correct the situation by causing each party to hold a convention prior to the primary election.

The operation of the law, the study bulletin reveals, was popular with the county for local offices but mandatory for state offices. Under the party convention would ballot on each office. Each person designated as a candidate would receive 25 per cent or more of the total vote of the convention. Under the system a prospective candidate could be the sole designee by getting more than 75 per cent of the convention's vote, or could be a maximum of four party designees if the vote were split evenly four ways. Probably, however, there would be only two candidates designated for the minor offices and one for the more important ones.

The regular party primary then would be in the nature of a run-off primary in which the registered voters of each party would select their candidates from the list provided by the vote of the convention.

As Professor Judah notes, the voters would sometimes have no voice if the designating convention piled up a big vote for one particular candidate for any one of the offices. The law also provides, says Judah, that undesignated candidates can run as independents in a general election.

Professor Judah cites the record of other states which have used similar systems. Three states, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Massachusetts, tried and abandoned the device. Four others, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah, and Rhode Island, have found it good enough to retain.

With regard to the New Mexico law, Judah gives no recommendation, but he says the voters can vote against the measure, vote against the particular system proposed, vote for it because they think it is a good measure, vote for it because they believe that in the long run it will be an improvement over the present nominating system.

Objections to the system are: It would restrict the right of the people to choose their officials, it would tend toward boss-selected candidates, it would eliminate able men without political connections, it would further complicate the system, it would be bad in New Mexico because it is a one-party state which should have a run-off primary instead of a preprimary convention, it would not guarantee at least two candidates for an office and it would eliminate the undesignated candidates from the party ballot, it would foster machine politics because it would allow state and county employees to sit as delegates.

Arguments in favor of the system are: It would restore party responsibility for the action of public officials, the designating body could be used profitably by other social groups in screening candidates, it would result in a balanced ticket, slate-making would be brought into the open and be subject to official regulation, individual campaign expenses would be reduced as would the consequent obligations of public officials to private interests, more intelligent voting would be promoted, it would eliminate or reduce evils developed under the present system.

Smaller Monthly Payments Allowed On GI Loans

Recently announced housing credit restrictions have been adjusted to permit smaller monthly mortgage payments on GI home loans giving the veteran 30 years, if needed, to repay the loan, Veterans Administration has announced.

Under original provisions of the new credit curbs, to obtain a government guaranty on a home loan, the veteran was required to make a down payment ranging from $500 on a $5000 home, to 45 per cent on a home costing $24,250 or more, and repay the loan within 20 years if the home cost more than $7000; within 25 years if $7000 or less.

The amount of the down payments remains unchanged. But, in the exception granted by the adjustment for GI Loans, VA is authorized to approve a maturity up to 30 years on loans of any amount.

lene, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Newberry at Fort Worth, and Mrs. Mattie Ceitch and Mrs. Mary Johnson at Dallas.

Donna Hoskinson had a tonsillectomy in Artesia Saturday.

if necessary to enable the veteran to meet his payments.

Actual need must be demonstrated, and prior approval of VA is required on longer maturity periods up to the 30-year maximum, VA said.

The amount of VA guaranty on the loan the veteran may obtain remains unchanged. For veterans who have not used any part of their loan privileges, VA will guarantee 60 per cent—not to exceed $7,500—of the loan.

The new restrictions do not apply if:

The loan is for the purchase of a new dwelling unit (not previously occupied) on which construction was begun prior to Aug. 3, 1950.

A bona fide contract, in writing, was made prior to Oct. 12, 1950, between a builder or seller and the veteran for the purchase, construction, repair, alteration or improvement of residential property.

A request for determination of reasonable value was received by VA prior to Oct. 12, 1950.

The single structure contains more than two family units.

The loan is made solely for the replacement, reconstruction, or repair of residential property destroyed or substantially damaged by flood, fire or other similar casualty.

Except as listed above, the new restrictions apply to all new and existing housing if the veteran uses a government guaranteed loan. The cash down payment may not be borrowed from any source, except for loans against equities in life insurance policies.

WINDOW WHIMSY

Have you been wishing you could give your living room windows a new treatment without a lot of work and expense? Draperies can use up precious space in a small living room and make furniture placement difficult.

For a novel, easy-to-keep-clean plan that will make your windows look world's larger, try putting wallpaper panels about twelve or fourteen inches wide up each side from the floor to the top of the window. Then cover a scalloped—or straight-edged valance box with the wallpaper, and you have a striking effect for almost any type room.

Choose the wallpaper with the colors and the furnishings of your room in mind. Bold geometrics for Modern, Colonial or Mediterranean patterns for Early American or French Provincial.

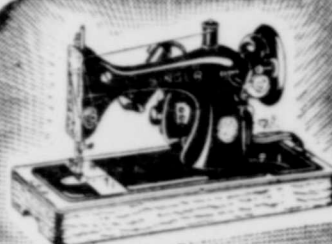

If you already have wallpapered walls, reverse the plan... have plain panels and valance. Here's a drapery effect that always stays put, has no dust catching folds. Wax the wallpaper to finger-print proof it.

In the window sketched above no bulky drapes interfere with the placement of the lounge and reading group of two comfy barrel-back chairs and the step table. The ottomans add a homey touch.

Battering Unbeaten Bulldogs Enter Final Third of Season

First and only out of state team on the Bulldog schedule, Thomas Jefferson High School of El Paso, will be the opponents of the Artesia High School football team when the two eleven meet at 8 o'clock Friday night on Morris Field here.

It will be the Bulldogs ninth game of its 12-game season series. Little is known of the El Paso school or team, which does not appear to get the publicity other El Paso high schools, such as Bowie and Austin, receive.

The Bulldogs are rolling in high gear with a record of eight games played, eight won, for a total of 222 points to their opponents 42.

A let down now would be serious as three New Mexico eleven, Eunice, Carlsbad, and Hobbs are watching the Bulldogs like hawks and each is eager to upset the Bulldogs power house.

With a perfect season in prospect the Bulldogs must guard against the tendency to take games in stride, to take it easy, or to think a game is won once a touchdown is scored in the first or second period.

Rad Start

Starting off the season as a rocky, uncoordinated bunch of individuals, given to fumbling and haphazard play, the Bulldogs have developed into a powerful machine that has increased its skill in every game, and is making a strong bid for some of its players to land spots on the all-state selections.

Jal threw a scare into the locals when the fumbling, careless Bulldogs almost tossed away the opener but managed to come out ahead, 22-14.

Then mighty Tucumcari, undefeated for two and one half years, was dumped 19 to 0.

That might have been classed merely as an upset, although they still pay off on touchdowns—not on points—had it not been for the superb skill demonstrated in the new game when the Bulldogs massacred Roswell 28 to 0.

The Coyotes were thirsty for Bulldog blood and gave the Artesia eleven its hardest tussle of the season. It will stand in the record as the hardest game the Bulldogs have played this season, not excepting Carlsbad or Hobbs.

Next came Lovington. The Bulldogs won that one 46-14 but they weren't playing the Lovington of old. Use of the second and even third stringers opened the eyes of fans to the hidden talent on the Bulldog roster.

Tigers Were Tough

New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell was vanquished by the superior beef of the Bulldogs, 39-0. Then came Alamogordo, a team from a B class school that plays straight A football.

Although the Bulldogs won 20-7, the Tigers gave the Artesia team ample opposition.

Las Cruces thought Artesia wouldn't be too tough. Failing to note the exhausting schedule had already played, the Las Cruces Bulldogs were all set for victory, only to find they were not in the same league with their cousins from the southeast.

The Artesia team running at only cruising speed whipped Las Cruces 20-7.

Apparently scoring only when the heat was on, the Bulldogs took the last contest 28-0 from St. Mary of Albuquerque. The Cougars were fast and charged hard in the first half especially but were plainly outclassed.

How the Bulldogs play against the El Paso gridsters here Friday night may be the key as to how the team will finish the season.

SPORTS ON THE HOME FRONT

By BROWNIE EMERSON

Country Club Stock Reservoir With Minnows, Bluegill and Bass

Any golfer who does the proverbial tossing away his clubs and swears off the game after a bad round at the local links can soothe his disgust at his score with a new sport come next summer.

For by that time the reservoir at Artesia Country Club, one and one-half miles northwest of town, is due to be full of bass, just aching to be caught.

From the U. S. Fish Hatchery at Dexter came Friday their specially-built truck and from the vehicle and into the pond went 100 7-inch bass, 500 3-inch bluegill and 200 Gambusia minnows.

Doing the job were Supt. L. O. Carman and W. C. White, trucker, of the hatchery.

Bill Bullock, ground committee chairman, club director, and incidentally, the 1950 city champion, explained that the minnows feed on skitter larg, while the bluegills are fillet mignon for the bass.

All of which means that the bass should be fat and sassy after the round of cannibalism and as ready to strike as the French always are to change cabinets.

The reservoir supplies the club with water for its 60 acres of farm land and also furnished the water for the greens. Size of the oblong shaped reservoir is 300 by 150 feet.

Nor are fish all that has been added. There are ducks of Austrian species, a silent movie version, not wired for sound, so there'll be no quacks to throw golfers off balance on their fine line puts.

Also contemplated is putting some swans on the pond. Put it all together, a good improvement.

Season Records

Hobbs Eagles, the team the Bulldogs play in the 1950 finale, Nov. 23, Thanksgiving Day, in Hobbs, has played six games, winning three, losing two, tying one, scoring 133 points to their opponents 84.

Losses were to the always powerful Pampa, Texas, Harvesters, 6-26, and to Carlsbad Cavemen, 13-19.

An Eastland County, Texas, eleven, Ranger, held the Eagles to a 14-14 score in the Hobbs opener.

Hobbs 14, Ranger 14.

Hobbs 6, Pampa 26.

Hobbs 26, Eunice 13.

Hobbs 37, Roswell 6.

Hobbs 13, Carlsbad 19.

Hobbs 37, Albuquerque Highlands 34 to 0 and also held scoreless by little Anthony, which held them to 6-0.

Thomas Jefferson is the only out of state team the Bulldogs battle this season on their 12-game schedule.

Thursday Flashback

St. Mary had squad of 27 here, according to Tony Baldoni, St. Mary senior, 17 years old, who covered for Albuquerque Journal.

Only scattering of fans followed team on long trek from north. Cougars stayed at Bryan Courts, Baldoni said.

Buzz boys active at game since KAVE of Carlsbad and KBBM, Duke City, both represented, as well as our own KSPV.

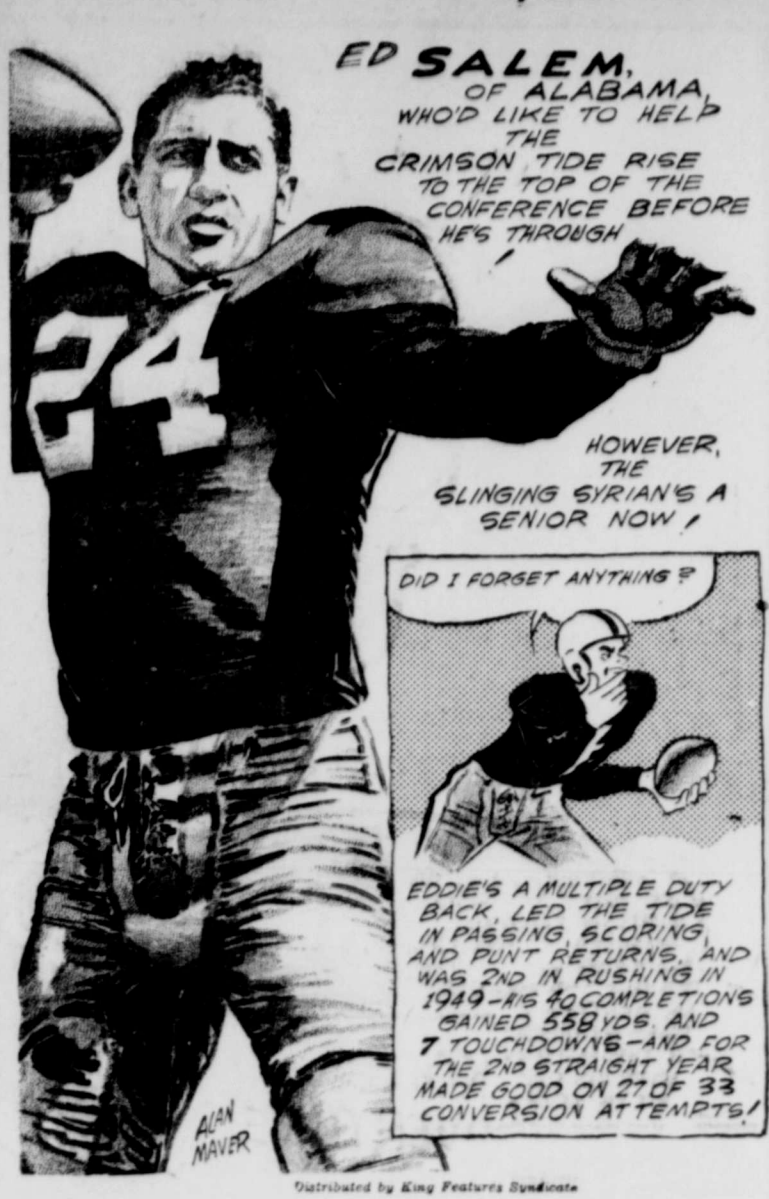

Fred Cole, who manipulates the p. a. system, said Carlsbad, Hobbs, and Eunice teams represented in crowd, giving Bulldogs the once over in advance of their upcoming games. Also said coach from Thomas Jefferson of the Gateway City present.

Why Band Absent

Notes Off Cuff

Skedding of game on Thursday, 'tad customary Friday, threw roadblock into coverage, hence all this is bit out-moded, but best can do.

Glad see Herbie Traveno get that touchdown for he plays with plenty of spirit, is all out for the game. Noted that Doyle Cole, besides having plenty of speed, was always around to back up Herbie case the latter fumbled. Swell example of team play, sportsmanship.

Herbie developing fast but needs lots of experience, naturally nervous.

And for sportsmanship too goes a laurel wreath to Joe Harbert who had Bill Brown take the ball over for a TD, after Harbert's 29-yard pass to Bill have paved the road.

Praise For Line

And just to remind that hard-charging line they aren't forgotten, noted some fine blocking in one case that paved way for Herbie's 14-yard run.

Probably lots of other good examples of that hard working line, too, but not enough time for one man to note everything, besides keeping stats.

Bulldogs looked sleepy first and most of second period, gradually coasting into that typhonic third. Won't do against Carlsbad and Hobbs. Like Roswell, those teams want Bulldog hides, Roswell was stalled but it gave the Bulldogs its hardest game of the season with Alamogordo a possible runner-up.

John (Model T) Ford, Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy quarterback, is chucking his bullet passes at a faster rate than he was this time last year. The Model T has thrown his passes for 245 more yards in six games this season than he did in the first six tilts in 1949.

He has completed 57 of 99 passes for 907 yards and seven touchdowns so far this season, as compared to 43 completions in 78 tries for 662 yards and 10 touchdowns in the first six tilts last year. Ford's H-SU record since 1948 reads:

249 completions out of 420 tries for 4172 yards and 52 touchdowns.

The Cowboys' next engagement will be with potent Loyola Lions in Los Angeles Nov. 3. Holder of an all-time record of 26 touchdown passes in 1949, Ford keeps improving his record with amazing regularity.

In 1948, the Model T, a stocky 5-8, 160 pounder from Breckenridge, Texas completed 94 out of 163 passes for 1564 yards. In 1949 the Model T cranked out 99 passes out of 168 attempts for 1661 yards, including his national record of 26 touchdown passes.

Twice named All-Border Conference quarterback, Ford in 1949, was third in pass completion with an average of 58.3, tenth in total offense, and sixth in number of passes completed.

At the end of five games, Ford ranked fourth nationally in the number of passes completed, 49; was second in number of yards

Tribute to Dr. Clark

DR. J. J. CLARKE has now completed his year as president of the American Association of Dental Examiners—an honor which he won through service rendered and faithful activities.

It is unusual for a man from a small city to be given this national honor. When Dr. Clarke was honored, then Artesia was honored.

It was no special surprise to the citizens of this community who have known Dr. Clarke all of these years to see him elected to this national post. They know of his work and his service to Artesia and the Pecos Valley.

Dr. Clarke has been serving this community as a dentist for more than 40 years. He has done more than bring honor to his profession because he was instrumental and active in civic and community affairs. For years he was with the Chamber of Commerce as a volunteer secretary of that organization.

He worked and labored for many of the things the community has today. He gave of his time, his talent, and his ability in helping to build our city into a greater city.

He rubbed shoulders with the big men in his profession. He has known and been personally acquainted with many of the outstanding leaders of our nation. He brought many of these individuals to Artesia. That has been his pleasure and his privilege because of the position he has occupied.

Only once did he seek a high position—that of United States senator. Politics defeated him—the best man just wasn't elected. They sell him.

But Dr. Clarke has given and contributed his all to his home community and to his own people.

He was one of the founders of the Rotary Club; he has been a leader in his profession and has served on the State Dental Board year after year; he has been a worker in his own church. He has raised a fine family and been an outstanding citizen.

And now that he has completed his year as national president of the American Association of Dental Examiners, we believe it is an appropriate time for this community to pay tribute to him and for all he has done for us as a city, a county, a state, and a nation.

He has earned whatever recognition and whatever tributes are paid to him. We are proud to have had the privilege of knowing him and calling him friend.

We are sure that all Artesia feels that way about him and they want to join in honoring him.—O.E.P.

Pity the Poor Editors

IT MAY SEEM STRANGE that we write about women's sweaters. Personally, we think sweaters are mighty nice garments. They can serve several purposes, one of which is to keep warm.

But we feel it is carrying things a little far when we observe "National Sweater Week," a week during which we presume—the gals are supposed to display not so much the sweaters as their shapes, real or synthetic, which the sweaters cover.

It's more or less like "National Sauer Kraut Week." The sauer kraut people, hoping to sell more of their pickled cabbage have set a week aside and made great ado about it.

Now understand, we love sauer kraut, and we think it should be served us every so often, just as we love sweetbreads, pork chops, prime ribs of beef, and chop suey. But we see no particular reason for setting a week aside for the succulent stuff, just to call the public's attention to it.

What with French bathing suits and many other forms of cheese-cake served us in the newspapers and magazines, if not on Main Street, there is no particular mystery as to the general get-up of women, even in the eyes of youngsters.

And we have the sweater gals with us every season, regardless of any special week set aside to show off the knitted garments and the gals.

So we cannot help but feel national observation of "Sweater Week" is carrying things just a bit far. Don't misunderstand us; we're not so old-foggyish that we won't risk an eye during that week or any week when we observe a well-filled sweater.

But we think it would be much better to set aside a special period as "Pity the Poor Editors Week."—A.L.B.

Service or Politics

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that during the years in our political campaigns we have forgotten service and adopted an attitude that winning the campaign is the most important thing.

The theory, of course, of our politics is to provide office holders—the best qualified men and women possible. Our entire political system is set up to name our public officials.

Perhaps at the beginning considerable concern was voiced and was shown regarding the selecting of the best qualified men and women to serve the people.

A lot of the balloting back in those days was based on qualifications of the various candidates. Most Americans want to be good Americans first and party members second. As a result they are more interested in naming good qualified people to office than they are in filling the office with a Democrat or a Republican.

But the party leaders, of course, don't approve of any such program. When they get into office and into control their whole idea is to win an office and to keep control of that office. They are not interested in service to the people or serving the public. They want their candidate in office.

It also is unfortunate, of course, that the best qualified individual for an office is not always the best candidate or the best politician. Most of those qualified to do a good job or perhaps those better qualified for the job aren't qualified to go out and get the votes.

So instead of securing the best-qualified individual we select the best politician—the one who can win because we have placed winning ahead of service.

And so frequently instead of selecting new candidates—well-qualified candidates—we find the old politicians named as the candidates because the party thinks they can win.

So it becomes the task and the responsibility of the voter to determine the best qualified individual and to vote for that candidate for office.

We would have better qualified people running our affairs of government and in public office if we would vote for the best man or woman for the job and forget party affiliations.—O.E.P.

BOBBING FOR APPLES SEASON

What Other Editors Are Saying

SAD SITUATION

Funny how rapidly some commodities disappear under emergency conditions.

Three months ago paper mills were offering to sell any amount of newsprint to newspapers, and urging them to buy. Today you can't buy it through any legitimate channel, although gray markets are offering the commodity at greatly hiked prices.

Attending the scarcity which developed over night a price increase of $10 per ton was levied last Friday, which puts print paper in the same bracket with some of the lower grade "fine papers" back before World War II.

Some New Mexico newspapers, we learn, are so short of committed shipments of newsprint, that they are threatened with suspension in the latter end of this year unless a source of supply is found. The Record's supply is little better than that.

Therefore, with this shortage, which compares with wartime scarcity, almost all newspapers are faced with having to reduce number of pages printed and probably revenue producing business, unless there is a loosening up of supplies. The other alternative is to buy on the gray market and pay a prohibitive price, which might also bring about suspension in some instances.

Having long-time buying connections does not help publishing firms any, it has been found out by a few newspapers much larger than any in this section of the Southwest. There just isn't a legitimate channel open.—Roswell Daily Record.

SPECIAL ATTORNEY FEES

The City Commission has voted to add one-half of one per cent to the cost of paving under the new program to pay the city attorney for the additional work involved.

City Manager Charles E. Wells told the commissioners that a similar fee was paid to city attorneys during the paving programs of some 20 years ago.

Under that policy, the city pays the city attorney a monthly salary, whether or not there is any great amount of work for him to do in any given month, then votes special reimbursement for him when there is work to do. That policy is very favorable to the attorney, not so favorable to the taxpayers who foot the bills.—Albuquerque Tribune.

MR. BEVIN'S OPERATION

We are happy to pass on the following information for the benefit of our good friends who want socialized medicine in the United States.

The socialist doctors over in Britain are scolding Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin for not having his operations under the socialized medicine program.

"He is not the only person prominent in the Labor movement who has gone outside the National Health Service," the Socialist Medical Association's Journal, Medicine Today and Tomorrow, complained in an editorial.

According to the old and reliable Associated Press, Mr. Bevin was operated on for hemorrhoids in mid-April in the Manor House Hospital. He had a second, similar operation early in June in the London Clinic. Neither is a Health Service hospital.

This means that he paid directly for his hospital rooms and all other medical costs. Anyone in Britain may have an operation, free medical attention and free hospital service under the Labor government's health program by choosing Health Service hospitals and doctors.

We use the word "free" rather loosely, since the hospital service is certainly not free. The people pay and pay through higher and higher and higher taxes.

It's rather amusing to see a high official in the socialistic British government going outside the socialistic program of medicine for his own medical attention. It's sort of like a labor union scabbing on another union in building its union hall.

Also, it's rather amusing to see a high government official criticized for turning down "free" medical service. In this country he would be damned from pillar to post if he took advantage of his position to get something that he was not entitled to.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

STARVATION IN A LAND OF PLENTY

For years sea gulls around St. Augustine, Fla., have lived off the refuse thrown overboard from the shrimp fleet. But recently the fleet moved 500 miles down the coast.

Many gulls, unused to making a living at nature intended, starved to death. In our growing dependence upon government subsidy, we wonder if this might be a lesson.—Seymour (Mo.) Citizen.

NEW YORK—We have come upon the one time of year when it is virtually impossible to disregard Central Park.

In the winter, the weekends are for sleeping and getting over hangovers and in the summer there are baseball games or Bucks county to take up a New Yorker's time. But in the autumn—in the autumn, the leaves begin to turn and fall, a phenomena that must be seen if one is to do autumn up right. And it is a well-known fact that except for a few rugged but forlorn specimens along East 55th street, there are no trees in New York except those in Central Park.

It is the time of year that is kindest to the old hat, too. Most of the time, Central Park looks as if it had just got up in the morning and hasn't taken the pin curlers from its hair.

This holds true especially in the springtime, when the sloping hills are awash with dirty snow, the trees still are bare and there is more mud on hand than the doughboys ever saw at Solomons or the Glis at Cassino.

In the autumn, however, most of the leaves are still on the trees, thus covering up the enormous number of bare patches on the park's ground, and since the weather is cool the citizens no longer flop around on the grass and leave their gigantic residue of old newspapers and banana peels.

There is, indeed, a certain amount of charm to the old hat and for a little while the New Yorker can hold up his head and get right into the conversation when the Parisian talks of the Bois de Boulogne or the Londoner of Hyde Park.

From the standpoint of the builder, Central Park undoubtedly resembles a huge, festering sore. Here is this big, sprawling plot of ground—barren except for such inconsequential items as zoos, museums, lakes and star-crossed lovers sitting on benches—going to waste when countless apartment developments might be thrown up on it. Without a doubt, the park is the most valuable piece of undeveloped—if that is the word—property in New York.

EVERY SO OFTEN, MY DECADENT EASTERN WAY of living fouls up my sense of proportion. You know, you can't go on eating opium, burning the candle at both ends and forgetting the simpler things of life indefinitely.

So it was the other day when, overlooking the man's basic magnetism and sheer animal attraction, I was so unfortunate as to poke heavy-handed fun at Vaughan Monroe, a hand leader.

Among the screams of protest was one from Curt Gibson, a Shelbyville, Ind., radio announcer and disc jockey. "Of course," Curt conceded, "Vaughan is not as high class, maybe, as some other musicians (Ed. note—of course not) but he has succeeded in pleasing the masses, so he must have some appeal for us common folk."

I will admit my snideness, but not the brilliance of Curt's reasoning. William Shakespeare rarely pleased the masses and Edgar A. Guest almost always did.

This should mean that Edgar was a better writer than William, but I know a half-dozen bookies who will give you up to 100 to 1 against that and I know and insure your bet besides. Let us just say that a great many people are fond of the muscular Mr. Monroe and that I am not.

IT IS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE that the most unpopular man in the east these days is a gent named Jacob Roper. Mr. Roper is the dog catcher for the town of Hempstead out on Long Island, and as such has built up a reputation over the years that is rather dazzling.

His salary, you see, is based on the number of dogs he rounds up—piece work, so to speak—and Mr. Roper is forced into what may be an unnecessarily grim determination in his efforts, to pay the rent and keep the inner man fed.

It has been reported reliably that at one time his salary for a year exceeded that of the district attorney for Nassau county, in which area Hempstead is.

OSCAR OF THE WALDORF, that legendary figure who supervised the Waldorf-Astoria's cuisine for more than 50 years, celebrated his 84th birthday up at New Paltz, N. Y., the other day, and I was greatly curious about what exotic dish he chose for dinner. It was a rare Oriental delicacy—called boiled beef and potato.

New Mexico 4-H Enrollment Reaches Its Highest Peak

New Mexico 4-H Club enrollment in 1950 is the largest in the history of club work in the state, according to a report from L. S. Kurtz, state 4-H Club leader.

On July 1, club members in the state totaled 8549, and increase of 586 over last year's enrollment and 538 more than the previous high in 1948.

Biggest enrollments in 1950 were in Bernalillo, Taos, and San Miguel counties, the report by Kurtz shows.

Eddy County had 17 clubs with an enrollment of 470, who were carrying out 868 projects with 21 adult and four junior leaders.

IF YOU wonder about the kind of jokes that Jack Benny tells in private life when there are no script writers on the premises, here's one he perpetrated in New York recently:

When the flood waters had receded, Noah threw open the doors of his Ark and out walked all the animals, two by two—all, that is, except two snakes. Noah prodded them with a stick and ordered "Get thee hence and multiply."

"That's impossible," groaned one of the snakes, "we're adders!"

Dependents of Veterans Who Die May Lose Benefits By Not Applying

Many dependents of deceased veterans lose some benefits to which they may be entitled because they fail to apply for them, Veterans Administration said.

VA advised surviving dependents of deceased veterans to report the death of any veteran to the nearest VA office. Then the survivors will be informed about the benefits to which they may be entitled and application may be made, VA said.

The agency estimated there are close to 40 million dependents of the 19 million war veterans.

There are five principal benefits administered by VA to which the survivors may be entitled. Some of these benefits are retroactive to the death of the veteran, if application is filed within one year of the death of the veteran. If not filed within one year, these benefits are effective only on the date application is received by VA. And on one, the benefit is lost unless application is filed within two years after the veteran's death.

Principal benefits for surviving dependents listed by VA are:

Insurance, death compensation, death pension, burial benefits, and GI Bill loans.

Insurance is made available by the government, but it is the veteran himself who provides it for his survivor. The veteran can name, or change, his beneficiary, and elect the settlement option under which he wants the proceeds of the policy paid to his beneficiary.

Death compensation may be paid to the eligible unmarried widow, minor children or dependent parents of veterans who died during the war, or as a result of a service-connected injury or illness after his discharge.

Death pension is payable when the death of the veteran was not the result of his war service. Survivors of World War II veterans are not eligible for death pension unless the veteran had a service-connected disability, even though less than 10 per cent. In the case of World War I veterans, this condition does not have to be met.

Income limitations apply in determining eligibility for death pension, but not for death compensation.

Burial benefits include payment by VA of up to $150 for the funeral expenses of any World War I or II veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. Additional costs, covering transportation, will be allowed if the veteran dies in a VA hospital or home, en route to a VA hospital or regional office at the expense of VA, or while hospitalized at VA expense.

A United States flag, to be kept by the next of kin, can also be supplied at no cost. Application for these flags may be made to any county seat postoffice, other postoffices designated by VA, or to any VA office.

GI loan guaranty benefits are available to unmarried widows of World War II veterans who died during the war, or from service-connected injuries or diseases after discharge.

Details concerning survivors' benefits can be obtained by visiting or writing the nearest VA office or the state regional office, VA said.

New Mexico 4-H Club Members to Observe 'National Achievement Week'

New Mexico's 8500 boys and girls who belong to 4-H Clubs will observe 'National Achievement Week' Nov. 4-12.

With the theme, "Better Living is a Better World," they will set this week to take stock of their accomplishments during 1950 and make plans for the coming year. Also during the week they will be showing parents in every community what sons and daughters have accomplished in club work and its importance in relation to the total 4-H effort.

The 4-H'ers will take time during the national week to describe opportunities their clubs afford all young people, and encourage those not already enrolled to join a 4-H club. "And, especially significant in these perilous times, 4-H members will highlight outstanding contributions in developing world-wide understanding and peace."

Voluntary adult and junior leaders will come in for their share of recognition when the boys and girls pay tribute to all those who have served faithfully in keeping clubs on a going, growing basis. New Mexico has more than 600 leaders.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan has sent the following message to all 4-H members, congratulating them on their 1950 accomplishments, which have surpassed all records in the history of 4-H Club work:

"Our special greeting to you during your 'National 4-H Achievement Week' Nov. 4-12. We congratulate you most heartily on your accomplishments, which have surpassed all records in the history of 4-H Club work."

In keeping with your 1950 theme, "Better Living is a Better World," you have produced abundant food for yourself and those who need it. You have improved your lives and made more attractive your homes and your communities. You have improved your health and conditions making for health in your homes and communities. You have practiced democracy in the regular work of your 4-H Clubs. You have shown, in your club meetings, in your farm and home activities, in your international farm youth exchange programs and otherwise, that you are interested in understanding the issues involved in the critical world situation today, and that you are developing yourselves into the kind of useful citizens and leaders that the world needs today and in the future.

"May all these outstanding achievements in 1950 spur you on to even greater achievements in 1951."
