Crop Control Amendments Thwarted

Record Cotton Production Of 18,746,000 Bales Is Forecast

Revision Of '38 Acreage Goal Is Considered

This Year's Crop Also Sets New Acreage Yield Average Of 264.6 Pounds Of Lint

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A final government estimate placing this year's cotton crop at 18,746,000 bales—the largest in history—was accompanied today by official discussion of further sharp restrictions on next year's plantings.

Without waiting for final congressional action on new crop control legislation, agriculture department officials considered revising the acreage limitation which next year's program under the soil conservation act is designed to carry out.

PRICES ADVANCE IN ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. (AP)—Several factors combined here today to create the paradox of advancing cotton prices in the face of a record breaking production estimate of 18,746,000 bales.

Immediately after the report was released prices showed advances of 2 to 7 points but recent buyers took profits and there was some hedge selling.

As a result part of the early gain was lost but the market was supported later by more aggressive buying and the best prices of the day were reached in afternoon trading when active positions showed advances of 25 to 50 cents a bale.

Might Cut Goal Lower

Previously Secretary Wallace had announced an intention to hold the 1938 acreage to around 28,000,000, if possible, by conservation act payments to cooperating growers. But the new report, increasing the November production forecast by half a million bales, increased sentiment for a proposal that the acreage goal be cut to 25,000,000—9,380,000 below this year's planting.

The secretary expressed belief at a press conference that, if weather conditions were normal, next year's crop could be held to 12,000,000 bales or less by benefit payments and other susidies already authorized for farmers cooperating with the government's goal.

Measures Must Be Taken

Other officials declared measures must be taken to prevent accumulation of more cotton. They estimated this year's total supply, including the carryover from previous years,

Manufacturers Pledge Efforts

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The National Association of Manufacturers today adopted a platform holding out a brilliant and ever widening future prosperity for America provided industry is relieved of uncertainty and excessive restrictions of government.

Describing the things manufacturing could do for prosperity, the "platform for American industry for 1938" continued:

"Manufacturing cannot do these things as well as it should, and as well as it wants to, if it is shackled by restrictive legislation, burdened with excessive taxes, continually in doubt as to the nature and permanency of government policies, crippled by labor difficulties, and handicapped by inability to secure sufficient funds from investors.

"What this country needs is business confidence. Business will move forward producing more goods, and therefore more jobs—if it is permitted to face the future with only the natural hazards of legitimate private competition."

Texan Proposes That Cabinet Members Participate In Debates

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP) — Representative Maverick (D-Tex) proposed today that cabinet members take part in congressional debates.

It should be possible, he said, for members of congress to question department heads on the floor and for the president's advisors to participate in the discussion of legislation.

Man In Danger Of Reverting To Apedom, Harvard Man Warns; Blames Engineers

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Dr. Earnest A. Hooton, Harvard's famous evolutionist and anthropologist, tonight predicted man is in danger of reverting to apedom and said the skids for his destruction have been built largely by engineering.

Dr. Hooton said this in the guest address to the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He called on the engineers to divert some of their high creative intelligence to stopping the down-rush.

Through scores of thousands of years, Dr. Hooton said, man kept his mechanical progress in abeyance by killing off the geni-

Leopold Stokowski On Hand To Bid Garbo Farewell As She Sails For Visit Home

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. — Greta Garbo sailed for a vacation in Sweden today after a brief farewell aboard ship with Leopold Stokowski, recently divorced symphony orchestra conductor who came here from Philadelphia to see her off.

GRETA GARBO

For a few minutes after Stokowski's visit, Robert Reud, hotel publicity man and an old friend of the Swedish actress, visited her aboard the liner Gripsholm. Reud said they drank a toast together. These were the only two friends who saw her leave and her presence in New York generally was unknown until she boarded ship.

She was not listed as a passenger and it was learned reliably that only the captain of the Swedish-American liner, which she calls her "favorite ship," knew she was aboard.

To Arrive For Christmas

It also was learned she plans to remain in Sweden for two or three months and will arrive in time to spend Christmas in Stockholm with her mother, her brother, his wife and child.

Her brother, Sven Gustafsson, is connected with the business end of a Swedish film company.

Miss Garbo still wore her hair in a long bob with no sign of a curl. She wore a black felt hat, turned down,, and simple black dress.

She is expected to return to Hollywood in April.

Stokowski denied last October reports of a romance with Garbo. "There's absolutely no question of marriage," he told reporters.

Pet Porker Diets As Hog-Killing Time Arrives

CRISFIELD, Md., Dec. 8. (AP)—Hog-killing time has come to Somerset county and maybe Robert H. Goldsborough's pet pig knows it.

Anyway, the pig, which has followed Goldsborough around like a dog for six months, has stopped growing—hasn't gained ten pounds in four months, Goldsborough said, and only weighs 18 pounds now.

Aside from sentiment, he said, that's not much pork.

'Fumbles' Cited By L. A. Woods

By ANNA MAE PUETT

"There are too many fumbles in handling the educational ball of Texas," L. A. Woods, state superintendent of schools, said in an address at a banquet of the West Texas School Executives association at the Hilton hotel Wednesday night. One hundred executives from over the area attended.

"The first fumble of Texas education—people talk too much and do too little. Teachers should tell the student one thing at a time, let him do that thing until it becomes easy," Woods said. "That education begins in the primer and is finished when a pupil is graduated from high school or completes four years of college is a fallacy and the second fumble. Education begins at birth and continues through life."

Fail To Consider Public

The third fumble of the educational ball, pointed out, is failure to take the general public into consideration. It is duty of the teacher to teach the entire community and not just the school pupils, Woods added. Fourth, the educational program is too formal and theoretical. The speaker pointed out the fumble of the purpose of education, by saying most students are taught pleasure before being taught how to make a living and to support democratic

Harold Lloyd Insures 10-Cent Lensless Spectacles For $25,000

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8. (AP) — Harold Lloyd bought a $25,000 all-risk insurance from Lloyd's of London today on a pair of 10-cent-store lensless spectacles he has been wearing as a movie comedian since the day he crashed a studio and got his first cinema job.

Lloyd has a few superstitions and those lensless glasses are worn by him in the first scene of every picture he makes—just in case. When the scene is shot they are placed back in a special humidor and returned to a bank vault for safe keeping.

The celluloid-rim spectacles have become very brittle through the years, and Lloyd feels that if they are broken his luck may vanish with the accident.

JOE GETS ACTION

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 8. (AP) — When fire broke out in his beer parlor, Joe Sherman couldn't get action on the telephone, so he stepped out and lifted a mighty voice.

Residents for four blocks around reported they heard him. So did firemen at a nearby firebarn. They put out the fire.

Highway 24 Work Is Included In Funds

Paving of gaps in Highway 24 between Lubbock and Dallas and on Highway 7 to provide uninterrupted surfacing from the New Mexico line to Palestine in East Texas is part of a program the State Highway Commission is asking $7,957,610 in federal aid.

A like amount would be provided by a state appropriation to complete a $15,915,220 program which would begin next July 1. Adoption of the proposal by the president is necessary before the federal loan can be had.

Proposed surfacing on No. 24 between Lubbock and Dallas would include a gap of 45 miles in Dickens and King counties between Dickens and Benjamin.

Surfacing of approximately 100 miles on No. 7 between Brownwood and Waco would complete a through route to the East Texas town by way of Abilene, Coleman and Brownwood.

Jones Says Rail Revenues Must Increase Or Subsidies Given

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Railroad revenues must be increased or the roads must be subsidized by the government, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC said today after discussing the plight of the carriers with President Roosevelt.

He said he told the chief executive the lines were in poor financial condition and they had made out a strong case for increased freight rates during current proceedings before the I. C. C.

Ickes Makes New Thrust At Court

'Overlordship' Is Charged To U. S. Business

Interior Secretary Says Court Has Had 'Sad Part' In Liberties Infringement

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. — Secretary Ickes made a new belligerent thrust tonight at the Supreme court, accusing it of having "gone far to convert the Bill of Rights . . . into a charter of corporate privilege."

It was the first such attack by a major administration official in some time, and was made by the interior department head in a speech prepared for the annual dinner of the American Civil Liberties union.

Denounced Sections Of Business

Even as he struck again at the court, Ickes denounced some sections of business, asserting that America's "giant corporations have assumed an overlordship over the civil rights and substantive liberties of the individual."

This "overlordship," he asserted, had been aided by constitutional construction by the courts which "safeguard the rights of the largest corporation in its relation to the government as if it were a mere individual."

Assails Absolutism

Much of his speech he spent in assaulting political absolutism, particularly Fascism, amongst the nations following what he termed a "Ku Klux Kode."

The Supreme court, he said, had a "sad part" in the infringement of civil liberties.

". . . The court has gone far to convert the Bill of Rights, which was intended as a charter of human freedom, into a charter of corporate privilege . . . at times, when the tide of passion and intolerance has run high, the court has run with and not against the tide."

"The court has gone out of its way to . . . apply wartime espionage statutes to restrict freedom of speech . . . The court has gone out of its way to apply . . . prohibition statutes so as to expose individuals to searchers and seizures traditionally regarded as unreasonable."

"When the congress, all too rarely, has sought to protect minority groups against racial discrimination and economic coercion, the Supreme

Green Threatens War's Renewal

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 8.—American Federation of Labor forces will launch a united attack against the C. I. O. unless a quick settlement of the national labor war is reached, William Green, A. F. of L. president, warned here today.

"Unless settlement is reached soon the A. F. of L. will arm its forces and turn them loose against this raiding organization (CIO)," Green told the national educational conference of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

"The house of the American Federation of Labor must be maintained at any cost," he declared. "Patience is a virtue and we have been patient, but there comes a time when even patience must end."

Aged Man Donates Left Eye So That Youth Might See

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. — A 60-year-old patient donated his left eye to another patient, 19, in a delicate operation today in the hope the youth might regain his full sight.

Frank Chabina, jr., of Albany, La., the young man, two years ago suffered burns to his eye from lime dust which physicians said could be remedied only by removing the damaged tissue and transplanting a new live cornea over his eye.

The operation at Charity hospital, physicians said, has proved successful in several cases of record in the United States and Russia.

On trips to the hospital Chabina became acquainted with John Amos, 60-year-old heart patient from St. Joseph, La. Amos heard of Chabina's hopes to meet some other patient who was willing to donate an eye and the elder patient volunteered the gift.

"Why, my left is no good to me," Amos proposed, "and I

Mercury Tumbles Throughout State

THE South Plain's second coldest weather of the season struck Wednesday and at midnight the mercury was standing at 21.9 degrees, according to official records. It reached that low about 9 o'clock last night and had become steady.

Not once did the thermometer climb as high as the freezing mark Wednesday with a maximum of 28.6 degrees recorded shortly before noon.

Skies Remain Cloudy

Skies remained cloudy throughout the day and at midnight a 16-mile southeast wind prevailed.

The forecast at the main line station of the West Texas Gas company was for a possible low of 10 degrees before morning. If that prediction is borne out, the cold wave will prove the severest of the season.

Temperatures tumbled Wednesday night as winter's latest cold wave surged over most of the state, said the Associated Press.

From the Panhandle, where it first struck Tuesday night, the cold wave spread to the citrus belt of the lower Rio Grande. Temperatures in the forties were forecast for the valley Wednesday night, and a threat to citrus and vegetables was seen in the forecast for colder Thursday.

Snow At Amarillo

A light snow continued at Amarillo, where the ground was white from sporadic flurries. A low there of 14 degrees was forecast. Slippery streets caused minor traffic accidents and two persons were in the hospital.

Temple, in Central Texas, reported 30 degrees and a forecast for colder weather.

Skies were clear at Wichita Falls. The maximum there was 28 degrees and the minimum 23.

Fort Worth reported 30 degrees, with a forecast of 17 before Thursday morning. By morning, the Dallas weather bureau predicted, temperatures there would go to 20 degrees or lower.

Borger Reports Snow

Light snow and a 23 degree temperature at Borger were noted. An inch and a half of snow covered Spearman.

At San Angelo, in the livestock country, the temperature dropped to 30 degrees by 1 p. m., and was remaining around that level, although a minimum of 27 degrees was expected tonight.

A strong north wind at Paris carried a mist which froze as it hit under a 24-degree temperature. Sherman reported 27 degrees.

New Cold Wave Reported

A new cold wave moving from the northwestern sections of the nation brought threats of hard freezing weather possibly today for parts of the South and fears of additional damage to fruit and vegetable crops, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Atlanta, Ga.

Bitter cold dropped the temperature to 26 below zero at Casper, Wyo. This mass of frigid air moved southward toward Texas. A shift in the wind would renew the sub-freezing temperatures that

Alfalfa As Food For Humans Is Doctor's Idea

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Dr. Victor G. Heiser, the world-wandering physician formerly connected with the Rockefeller institute, commended today to American chefs the "palatable" possibilities of alfalfa for the dinner table.

Dr. Heiser told the congress of American Industry that African gold miners were fed alfalfa—lettuce, cabbage and the like being economically impossible—to supply the necessary calcium and similar properties.

"I have been wondering," he added, "if in America we could not employ our alfalfa—if some of our chefs and dieticians could not prepare alfalfa in a very palatable manner so it would be acceptable to our tastes."

Airmail Test Is Set For Friday

The first airmail plane ever to leave Lubbock will take off from Municipal airport at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning.

If you want to send a letter on the plane, it should be mailed as early as possible today, though it probably can be handled up until early tonight at the postoffice. If mailed later than noon, it should be taken to the postoffice.

LIGHT SHIPMENT PROMISED

Chamber of commerce officials last night had only a promise of slightly more than 1,000 letters for the flight after a survey of the city's downtown section Wednesday. An effort will be made today to increase the shipment considerably as appeals will be made to more businesses and citizens to make use of the first flight for sending letters to any section of the state.

Will Furnish Envelopes

If you desire envelopes printed especially for the flight, they will be available without cost at the chamber of commerce as long as they last. No one at the chamber would predict how long that will be.

Indications last night, however, were that it might not be long. Postal officials said they expect one of the greatest mailing rushes for any one-day period in the history of Lubbock.

Mail Supt. John R. Green explained that one of the special airmail envelopes is not necessary. Those unable to secure one of the red, white and blue bordered envelopes, he suggested, merely need to attach their six cents postage and write under the stamps the word, "air mail." Air mail stamps are not required.

To insure that the letter will be on the plane, he said, a slip of paper on which is written the words, "Hold for first flight," should be attached by rubber band to the envelope.

Those desiring the first flight

Jap Offensive Is Again Repulsed

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 9. (Thursday)—Chinese defenders today staved off a major Japanese assault on Nanking from strongly fortified Chinese positions on Purple mountain, key to the besieged capital.

Artillery and anti-aircraft batteries pounded advancing Japanese units and prevented them from pushing farther than the mountain's foot where they occupied the massive tomb of Sun-Yat-Sen, father of the Chinese republic.

Chinese and Japanese sources agreed Japan's vanguard at present was unable to storm the stronghold which looks down inside Nanking's stout walls.

(The 18 Americans still in Nanking were given long coils of rope with which to slide down the 40-foot walls if the need comes, United States embassy officials reported to the state department in Washington.)

A Japanese army spokesman declared "the encirclement of Nanking is completed" with a ring of bayonets and cannon gradually tightening.

Mrs. Birdie Wilkins Loses Her Appeal Before Court At Austin

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed a 25-year sentence assessed Birdie Wilkins of Tarrant county as an accomplice in the automobile-train murder of her husband, Arthur L. Wilkins, Oct. 25, 1936.

The appellate court found no evidence of reversable error in trial technicalities attacked in her appeal.

She repudiated her confession but that of Luther E. Sumrall, indicted in the same crime, said the woman promised to pay him part of the proceeds of an insurance policy of her husband.

New Anti-Trust Struggle Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A titanic struggle with three big motor manufacturers—Ford, Chrysler and General Motors—may be one result of the administration's current campaign of anti-trust law proceedings.

Attorney General Cummings announced today that the auto financing practices of the three companies and their affiliates were under investigation by a federal grand jury at Milwaukee, Wis.

Department Approached

Representatives of the motor makers had approached the justice department, he said, with a request that an attempt be made to "obviate" criminal proceedings by consent decrees which would enjoin the companies from continuing certain practices.

"No agreement was reached," Cummings added in a formal statement. "The grand jury is said to be ready to report its findings on Monday, December 13."

The material already laid before the jury by department attorneys, the attorney general asserted, was gathered in an investigation of complaints that certain automobile manufacturers had coerced dealers into requiring that car purchases be financed through manufacturer-controlled companies.

Van Devanter Bags Buck, 2 Javelinas

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Willis Van Devanter, former associate justice of the United States Supreme court, bagged a buck and two javalinas on his first South Texas hunting trip, he was the guest of R. H. Kelly, Houston attorney.

At a dinner in his honor here tonight, given by the Travis county bar association, Van Devanter recalled that one of his first fees received as a young attorney was a hunting privilege in place of cash.

He planned to return to Houston tomorrow, leaving from there for his home near Washington, D. C.

His only reference to the present supreme court personnel was "I know of no other branch of the government that keeps up with the court." He had said that the court keeps up with its heavy docket.

Thirty Counties Win Extension Of Reduced Rates On Feedstuff

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP) — Thirty drouth-ridden counties today won an extension to March 1, 1938, of reduced freight rates for carload shipments of livestock feed.

The extension applies to Atascosa, Bee, Brooks, Dimmitt, Duval, Frio, Goliad, Gray, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kinney, Kleberg, Karnes, La Salle, Lipscomb, Live Oak, McMullen, Maverick, Medina, Ochiltree, Roberts, Starr, Terrell, Uvalde, Val Verde, Webb, Zapata and Zavalla counties.

Because they offered no testimony, regular rates were ordered reinstated Dec. 31 in Carson, Dallam, Hansford, Hartley, Moore, Oldham, Potter, Randall, Stephens and Sherman counties.

Two Attempts To Change Bill Are Beaten Down

House Turns Down Mandatory 'Parity Price' Loans And Senate Refuses Corn Quotas

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Administration forces beat down two major attempts to amend the crop control bill today in house and senate sessions marked by sharp quarreling.

The house defeated by a vote of 113 to 81 an attempt to impose upon the government mandatory "parity price" loans, and the senate turned back a movement to change marketing quotas on corn.

Considered Defeat For Bloc

The house vote generally was considered a final defeat for a new farm bloc headed by Rep. Patman (D-Tex) which has repeatedly sought to force the secretary of agriculture and the Commodity Credit corporation to lend farmers an amount on stored crop surpluses equal in purchasing power to the market price received during the 1909-1914 period.

Patman had the support of most of the Southern members, who were spurred by anxiety lest cotton prices fall because of an anticipated 18,746,000-bale crop, the largest in history, forecast earlier in the day by the department of agriculture.

Passage Is Claimed

Majority Leader Rayburn freely predicted that if the corn group, headed by Representative Lucas (D-Ill), cast lots with the Southerners the Patman amendemnt would command enough votes to pass. Chairman Jones of the agriculture committee, kept the Midwesterners in line, however, by standing aside while the house tentatively approved an amendment by Lucas providing mandatory rather than discretionary corn loans.

The senate amendment, offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), proposed that quotas not be imposed before the corn carryover reached 15 per cent of the normal supply.

In another bitter exchange the senate turned down a proposal by Republican Leader McNary to strike out a provision giving the secretary of agriculture power to require corn and wheat farmers to store up to 20 per cent of their current crops.

In the midst of the fray in the house, Representative Short (R-Mo) branded the bill "the most indefensible, incomprehensible" measure ever presented to a legislative body.

Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz) succeeded in having stricken from the bill a provision empowering the secretary of agriculture to suspend marketing quotas in case of "drouth, war or other national emergency, or increase in exports."

Las Cresas Club Announces Initiation Of Fifteen Pledges; Plans Socials

The Woman's Angle

MRS. LECTA RIDER, who with her husband, Ed Rider, forms the Houston Chronicle's Austin staff, was less than eighteen when she got her first newspaper job which was obtained when she walked into a newspaper office in Atlanta, Ga., and asked for it. She's still a young woman, but since those days she has advanced to an outstanding reportorial position. And, incidentally, her greatest drawback down at Austin has been that she is a woman. Men in political life have resented the feminine invasion.

This ace newswoman, who works in the press rooms at Austin with her husband and other male correspondents, has never asked favors and while she writes keenly and with as great an understanding as any man there (we read her signed articles for years and thought she was a man) she is as feminiue as one who has never experienced and put into words the madhouse of the legislature in session. We enjoyed a visit with the writers. There is a wholesomeness about Mrs. Rider that is appealing. She is slender and her friendly blue eyes and dark gold hair and the cleanest looking skin we ever saw. Her low-pitched voice appealed to us. Her clothes were smart. She wore a dark brown suit with light fur collar, a small brown off-the-face hat and corresponding accessories.

She and her husband are that fortunate combination — which seems rare—a couple who shares the same vocation impartially, toiling happily together and looking forward to loafing when they get a few days off, a rarity in the news game.

They met several years ago when they were covering murder trials in Houston, he for the Chronicle, she for the Press. Young Mr. Rider was surprised to share the press table with a feminine reporter, but was agreeable enough for a year later they were married.

He is a nervous type, hardly still for a minute; a chain cigarette and cigar smoker. Mrs. Rider is calm, polite, not once interrupting her husband's stories, which, naturally, she has heard many times, but smiles and laughs with him over them.

They left Wednesday afternoon after visiting South Plains points to see if it's true "what they say about cotton," as the Plainsman put it. We hope they return for a longer visit. We'd like some folk we know to meet them.

ONE WOMAN'S IDEA

THAT most married American women tend to despise their husbands is the opinion recently given to the world by Miss Agnes A. Sharp, who is assistant director of the Psychiatric Institute of Chicago's Municipal court. She illustrated her idea with "They wear just any old thing—worn-out street dresses, stockings with runs, shoes with worn-down heels." This outcropping of solvenliness begins in the thirties, said Miss Sharp, and grows worse from then on.

How about that? We believe women who no longer care how they look have lost interest in their husbands, many of them not wasting enough effort to despise them. We believe it's carelessness that causes women to dress slovenly. Then we know wives who are anxious for their husbands to get a start in business and, consequently, sacrifice new wardrobes, permanents and other personal adornments that cost. That wouldn't be hate, that would come under the heading of love. Or do we have the thing down wrong? Do most women despise their husbands?

I Never Want to see Another Cathartic!

Here's a way to AVOID two tyrants—common constipation and cathartics, too!

Simply put back in your diet two of Nature's own laxatives that are lost by eating soft, "refined" foods: These NATURAL laxatives are the intestinal-tonic vitamin "B₁"—and "bulk."

Kellogg's All-Bran is a good source of vitamin "B₁"—to tone your intestinal tract and promote regular elimination. All-Bran has "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination.

All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits. Delicious in muffins. But, however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

"Warm Away" the tightness of your CHEST COLD

Everyone knows the soothing comfort of the hot cloth, the hot water bottle, the electric pad! Each generation has had its favorite method of applying heat to the body to relieve congestion and discomfort.

Today—the modern way to "warm away" tightness and pressure of your chest cold is with Penetro, the super-medicated, mutton-suet base family salve.

When a chest cold brings you that "congested feeling," rub on Penetro and feel quick, comforting relief. Because Penetro is super-medicated with 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve, it creates thorough counter-irritant action to increase blood flow and stimulate greater body heat. That's why Penetro makes your cold discomfort feel so much easier.

Not only does Penetro help to create this increased body heat but because it is made with an animal fat base of mutton suet, it helps to "hold in" this heat by conserving and concentrating it. The aromatic vapors of Penetro are inhaled into nasal passages to open up stuffy noses, make breathing easier. Trial size, 10c. [illegible] size jars, 35c, 60c and $1.

Nursery School Is To Open Soon

Preparations are being made for opening of the nursery school at Texas Technological college immediately after Christmas holidays, said Miss Sannie Callan, head pofessor of child development and family relations, who is directing arrangements for the school. Carpenter work on the nursery school structure is to be completed this week and furnishings will be moved in next week.

Letters will be sent to parents of prospective pupils in the next few days.

Twelve children between ages of 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 years will be enrolled in the school. Amount of tuition has not been determined. Applications may be made with Miss Callan for entrance of children in the school.

To Get Examination

Children will be given medical examinations before entering by Dr. M. C. Overton and daily physical inspection will be made by Lubbock sanitarium nurses.

Mrs. Flora Lena Lovelace, who has a bachelor of science degree in home economics and now is working toward a master's degree, and Miss Gladys Pierce, senior home economics student, will be assistants in the school.

The school will provide laboratory work for approximately 24 students in child development classes.

Schedule Announced

Children will remain in the school from 9 to 12:30 o'clock each morning. Fruit juice will be served at 10 o'clock, a rest period will begin at 10:45 for smaller children, lunch will be served at 11:30 o'clock, and the remainder of the time will be devoted to play. A circular cement play area will make it possible for children to play outside when ground is damp and muddy.

O. B. Howell, horticulture professor, has planned landscaping about the small structure, which is located a short distance southwest of the home economics building. Trees and shrubbery will be planted later.

Home economics students will hang curtains and place other decorations in the structure, which has an office, kitchen, bath, large play room with folding doors at one end to form a dining room, and small cloak room.

OIL OPERATOR DIES

HOUSTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Lee D. Harmes, oil operator, fell dead today in a downtown drug store. He formerly lived in Cuero, Texas.

Forty-Six Years Ago Today, County's First Wedding Performed, Mrs. F. E. Wheelock, Bride, Recalls Incidents Of Notable Event

Forty-six years ago today the couple to whom Lubbock county's first marriage license was issued were married.

The license, number one in volume one, recorded in the office of the county clerk, was issued Dec. 8, 1891, forty-six years ago Wednesday.

It went to Frank E. Wheelock, who died June 28, 1932, and to Miss Sylvia Hunt, now Mrs. F. E. Wheelock who lives in Wheelock House at 1218 Broadway.

Wolffarth Issues License

George C. Wolffarth, the first clerk of the county, issued the license. Wolffarth now is a dealer in oil leases. He is the brother-in-law of Mrs. Wheelock, having married her sister shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Wheelock's wedding.

Witnesses were I. L. Hunt, brother of Mrs. Wheelock, and Miss Grace Dockum, a friend of the bride. Miss Lottie Hunt, sister of Mrs. Wheelock and now the wife of Wolffarth, recorded the marriage license in the records Dec. 29 after it was returned.

Were Married Twice

Mrs. Wheelock recalled that she and husband were married twice, the second ceremony following the first by only a few minutes. She and her husband, both of whom had lived at Estacado until shortly before their marriage, decided the wedding would be held there. Only a short while before the ceremony they were told—Mrs. Wheelock said she did not know whether it was a prank or the truth—that they must be married in the same county in which the license was issued. So to avoid complications they returned across the Lubbock-Crosby county line, were married in their buggy, returned to Estacado, and the ceremony was reread there as first had been planned.

Rev. J. H. Moore was the minister in charge. Mrs. Wheelock said he returned to his native state of Ohio several years after she and her husband were married and that she did not know whether he had died.

Lubbock's First Mayor

Wheelock was one of the county's first commissioners and served two terms as the City of Lubbock's first mayor. He, along with W. E. Rayner, now dead, laid out the original town of Lubbock. He designated the plot for the square and laid out streets four blocks each way.

Wheelock was Lubbock's first postmaster and built the first gin here.

Mrs. Wheelock, who has lived in Wheelock House nearly 29 years, recalled when her husband was building a townsite here and Rayner was building one north of here. Rayner had named his town Monterrey. Later they merged, residents of Monterrey moved to Lubbock, and they were given the same number of lots here they owned in Monterrey.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wheelock were born seven children: Cyril E. Wheelock, Mrs. John W. Jarrott, E. B. Wheelock, W. I. Wheelock, and Mrs. Ted Tipps, all of Lubbock; H. E. Wheelock of Altus, Okla.; and Mrs. Elmer M. Conley of Big Spring.

Mrs. Tipps is now a deputy county clerk.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Lieutenant
Florida Police

REPORT OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING OF FLORIDA POLICE.

ACTING on instructions received I boarded S. Y. Golden Gull from police launch X21 at 10:40 p. m. in the company of Detective Officer Neame, Police Surgeon Jacket, Station Photographer Southwold and Officer Gurdon of the Uniform Branch.

Captain Derringham received me with the owner, Mr. Carlton Rocksavage. I proceeded to the captain's cabin to take statements, Detective Officer Neame acting as stenographer.

CAPTAIN DERRINGHAM'S STATEMENT.

WE sailed from New York at 12:30 p. m. on the 5th carrying five passengers in addition to the owner, Mr. Carlton Rocksavage, and his daughter, Miss Perri Rocksavage. The passengers were Lady Welter, the Honorable Reginald Jocelyn and Mrs. Jocelyn, who are Lady Welter's daughter and son-in-law, the Bishop of Bude and Count Luigi Posodini.

We arrived off Miami at 2:35 this afternoon, where we anchored. My instructions were that three new guests would come on and, immediately these were aboard, I was to proceed to Nassau Bahamas.

At 4:30 p. m. a Japanese gentleman, Mr. Inosuke Hayashi came on board and at 6:55 Mr. Bolitho Blane, accompanied by his secretary, Nicholas Stodart. The tender was cleared at 7:05, upon which I gave orders that the ship should proceed to sea.

At 8:28 just after I had sat down to dinner in my cabin, I was sent for by the owner to come down to the suite which had been allotted to Mr Bolitho Blane. I found the owner there with Mr. Blane's secretary. They explained to me that Br. Blane was missing and had left a note which gave reason to suppose that he had committed suicide. The window of the drawing room cabin was wide open and it looked as if Mr. Blane had thrown himself overboard through it.

It was decided not to alarm the other passengers so the owner said that he would just tell them that Mr. Blane was ill and we were returning to Miami for a doctor. At 8:45 I ordered the ship back to port.

• • •

MR CARLETON LOCKSAVAGE'S STATEMENT.

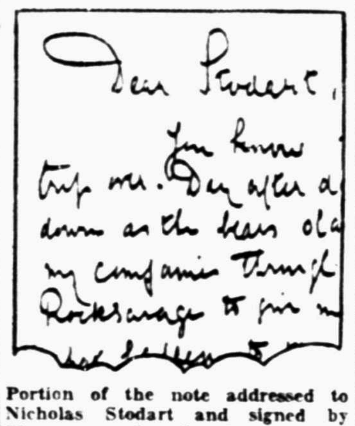
WE had just come down from New York for a few days' pleasure cruising off the islands, and I had arranged to pick up two more of my guests who could not make the yacht at New York, from Miami.

Mr. Inosuke Hayashi came on during the afternoon and had tea with us, then Mr. Bolitho Blane arrived with his secretary, Nicholas Stodart, just before 7 o'clock. They went straight down to the private suite which I had allotted to them, and we sailed at once.

I didn't see them as I was on the bridge with my captain when we left Miami at 7:05. Then I went down to the lounge for a drink and, finding Pamela Jocelyn and Count Posodini there, I talked with them for a while.

At 7:25 Mr. Stodart arrived and introduced himself as Bolitha Blane's secretary. He said that Blane wished to get some cables off before changing and asked that I would excuse him from putting in an appearance before dinner.

I introduced Stodart to Mrs. Jocelyn and the count, then offered him a drink which he accepted. After a few moments Stodart asked me if the type sheets on the notice board in the lounge contained the closing prices on the New York stock market and, on my telling him that that was so, he said that Mr. Blane was anxious to have the latest information. He took down some of the prices in his notebook, tore the leaf out and, as he had not finished his drink, asked the lounge steward to take the list down to Blane's cabin.



Dear Stodart,
You know

Portion of the note addressed to Nicholas Stodart and signed by Blane, as found after Blane's disappearance.

The steward came up again and said that the drawing room of Blane's suite was locked and that he could get no answer.

Stodart then told him to take it down again and slip it under the door.

• • •

MRS. JOCELYN and Conut Posodini left us at about this time and I remained with Stodart for a while. Later, the Bishop joined us and Lady Welter came in a few minutes after him. Then I noticed that it was already ten after eight, so realizing that I would have to hurry, if I were not to be late for dinner, I went down to change.

At a little after 8:30 I got back to the lounge to find all my guests assembled for dinner, except Bolitho Blane and Stodart. Just as I was contemplating sending down a message to Blane, the cabin steward came up with an urgent request that I should go down to Blane's cabin right away.

On arriving there I found Stodart standing in the drawing room looking very pale and shaken. He said to me, "Mr. Rocksavage, I'm afraid I've got bad news for you." Then he handed me this note:

Dear Stodart,

You know how worried I've been all through the trip over. Day after day I've been watching Argus Suds go down as the bears slammed into them. I had hoped to pull my companies through but things have gone too far for Rocksavage to join me in a decent deal, so I am past caring what happens to them now.

This party was a forlorn hope and I never wanted to join it. There's a tough crowd behind Rocksavage, and I wouldn't put it past them to try and do me in while I'm on this yacht. That would send the Argus shares down to zero without any further argument. Anyhow, I'm not going to wait and chance it. The struggle has proved too much for me. I have always loathed quitting and rather than face the nightmare of a bankruptcy examination I'm going out.

Bolitho Blane.

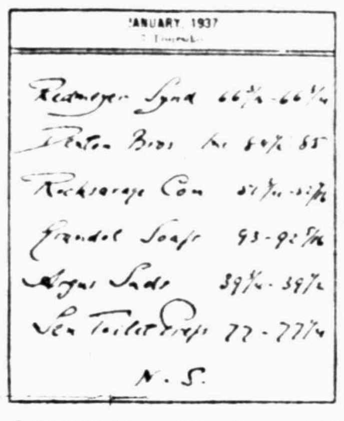
• • •

WHAT he says in that note about there being a tough crowd behind me is sheer nonsense. Just a wild statement of a man who was half off his head with worry. He didn't know the first thing about me personally as we had never even met and as I didn't see him when he came on board. I never set eyes on the man in my life.

CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE. RETAKE . 8.1.37

We corresponded a lot in a business way of course, and I knew that he had been having a tough time lately, so I was hoping that this little trip, with a few nice people, right away from everything, was just what he needed to set him up again, and I was looking forward to making his acquaintance.

After I had read that letter I've just given you, Stodart handed me a slip of paper which, he said, the cabin steward had found on Blane's table. I saw at once that it was the page that Stodart had torn out of his pocketbook after he had taken down the quotations of the closing prices of the New York stock market from the notice board in the lounge and which he had sent down to Blane earlier on. It had a few lines of writing in a different hand on the other side. Here it is:



JANUARY, 1937

Reitmeyer Synd 66½-66¾
Ilton Bros Inc 84½-85
Rocksavage Con [illegible]
Grendel Soap 93-92⅞
Argus Suds 39½-39¾
Sen Toilet Preps 77-77¼
N. S.

I sent for the captain at once, told him what had occurred and he put back to port, while I sent a message up to my daughter that she was to take the guests in to dinner, then went up to the wireless room and sent a radio to the Miami police.

CHAPTER II

MR. NISHOLAS STODART'S STATEMENT.

MR. BLANE told me about a fortnight ago that his companies were in very serious difficulties but that his principal competitior, Mr. Carlton Rocksavage, had invited him to a conference in the United States. Mr. Blane believed that Mr. Rocksavage's companies were in almost as serious difficulties as his own, owing to the price cutting war which had been going on between them for a considerable time.

Mr. Blane was a big man of the British soap combine and Mr. Rocksavage the head of the rival group in America. Between them they could have had the virtual control of the world soap market, but they have been trying to smash each other for months past and neither has succeeded to date. That cost both groups an immense amount of money, and an amalgamation between them would have meant salvation to them both, whereas, if they continued their rivalry, it was quite certain that one of them would go under.

Mr. Blane accepted Mr. Rocksavage's invitation and we sailed for the United States in the Berengaria. During the voyage Mr. Blane was very depressed. The steady fall in the shares of his companies caused him grave anxiety and he told me repeatedly that if Argus Suds went below 45 he would have little chance of pulling off a deal with Rocksavage except upon ruinous terms and that, if Argus Suds went below 40, there would be no chance of his pulling off a deal at all, as it would pay Rocksavage better, in that case, to let him go under. The fact that the shares of the Rocksavage companies were also falling, although in a lesser degree, did not appear to console him.

Mr. Blane's depression was so great at times that I had grave doubts as to his sanity. He seemed to think that Rocksavage and his associates would stop at nothing to wreck him. He knew, of course, that his death would mean a complete slump in the Blane interests and, although he had never met Mr. Rocksavage, he apparently regarded him as a man who might even go the length of engineering his death in order to smash the Blane companies.

He knew that his only hope of pulling his companies through was this conference on the Golden Gull, yet he seemed to thing that by going on board he would be taking his life in his hands, and it was such statements as these which made me consider him to be off his mental balance at times.

We could have joined the yacht in New York, but Blane jibbed at the last moment from this fear that his life would be in jeopardy, but he pulled himself together a few hours later and I cabled that we would fly down to join the yacht at Miami.

Just before 7 o'clock we came out to the yacht in a tender and, on being told that Mr. Rocksavage was on the bridge, went straight down to our suite with the chief steward. The cabin steward came along and asked if he could unpack, but Mr. Blane was so nervous that he would not allow the man inside his cabin. The yacht got under way just about then and Mr. Blane told me to change at once and, when I left him, he was starting to unpack his things himself.

Directly I had changed I returned to the drawing room and found Mr. Blane had only unpacked a few things from his suitcase. He was sitting staring out of the porthole window. After a moment he sent me up to Mr. Rocksavage with a message that he wished to get some cables off, and so would not appear before dinner, and told me at the same time that I was to get the latest market prices which had come in by radio and send them down to him.

That was at 7:30. I went straight up to the lounge, and, finding Mr. Rocksavage there, introduced myself to him. He introduced me to Mrs. Jocelyn and Count Posodini, and gave me a drink. I took down the closing prices in which Mr. Blane was interested. These were sent down at 7.40 by the lounge steward, who returned to say that Mr. Blane's door was locked and that he could get no reply. I remarked that Mr. Blane would be changing and was probably in his bath, so the steward was instructed to slip the note under his cabin door.

Mrs. Jocelyn and Count Posodini left us just after that and I remained in the lounge talking to Mr. Rocksavage. The Bishop of Bude came in and then Lady Welter. Mr. Rocksavage remarked shortly after that it was ten past eight, so he must change at once or he would be late, and if he was we were to go in to dinner without him.

After he had left us Mr. Inosuke Hayashi came in, then Count Posodini. At 8:30 Mrs. Jocelyn, having changed, returned to the lounge with her husband, Mr. Reggie Jocelyn, to whom she introduced me.

It was just after the dinner bugle sounded that the cabin steward came up to the lounge and handed me the note that Mr. Blane had left for me.

Having read it I hurried below with the cabin steward. We found that Mr. Blane's suite was empty and the window of his drawing room wide open, so it looked as though he had thrown himself out into the sea. It was then that the steward picked up a piece of paper from the writing table, which I recognized at once as the leaf from my pocketbook with the share quotations on it, and I saw the line of writing in Bane's hand containing his last message on the back of it. It read, "You see Argus has gone under 40. So the game is up—" I sent the steward up to get Mr. Rocksavage at once and, immediately I had told him what had occurred, he sent for the captain.

This business has been a great shock to me because, although I have not been in Mr. Blane's employ for very long, he always treated me decently and I had got to be very fond of him. I don't think there is the least doubt about it being a case of suicide. Big business people may use unscrupulous methods at times but it's stretching things a bit too far to suggest that they actually murder one another. I think Mr. Elane's fear for his life was brought on purely by an overstrained imagination and, realizing that his last hope of saving his companies had disappeared, when the Argus Suds shares dropped below the 40 level, he decided to make an end of himself rather than face the music.

STATEMENT OF SILAS RINGBOTTOM, CABIN STEWARD.

Just before the ship got under way the chief steward called for me and said, "Ringbottom the two new ones that are allotted to Suite C have just come aboard. Get along at once and settle them in."

I went to C drawing room and knocked on the door. The secretary opened it and I asked, "Shall I unpack, sir?" and he replied, "No, that's all right. We're unpacking for ourselves." So I went back to my pantry.

I did one or two odd jobs, a bit of pressing and so on, and then I sat down to read for half an hour, while the guests were changing, until the dinner bugle sounded at 8:30. I then proceeded to my duty of tidying cabins. C. suite, that is Br. Blane's, being nearest, I meant to start on him but I found the door of the drawing room locked, so I just unlocked the door with my master key and went straight into the room.

The first thing I saw was a note addressed "Nicholas Stodart Esq." and marked "URGENT" in capital letters. I thought that a bit funny as if Mr. Blane had gone up to dinner why couldn't he have taken it up to Mr. Stodart himself? But it's not for me to question the why and wherefores of the guests, so I took it up to Mr. Stodart right away.

He just thanked me and tore it open. Then, as I was leaving the lounge to go below, he came hurrying after me and said, "I am afraid something's wrong, steward."

We went down to the late lamented's cabin together and had a quick look around. He wasn't in the suite and the drawing room window was open. Mr. Stodart told me that he was afraid the poor gentleman had chucked himself overboard, then I spotted a bit of paper on the writing table and gave it to Mr. Stodart saying, "What's this here?"

He gave it a glance and sent me up to get Mr. Rocksavage immediately.

I did as I was bid and the owner sent me for the captain.

Tech Board To Meet Dec. 15

The dormitory problem, acceptance of a gift from the LaVerne Noyes Foundation, and filling of faculty vacancies will be considered by the board of directors of Texas Technological college at a called meeting tentatively set for Dec. 15 at the college.

The LaVerne Noyes Foundation of Chicago has offered to make a gift of the principle of the fund from which scholarships have been given to sons and daughters of World war veterans for several years at Tech, said President Bradford Knapp.

Acceptance Necessary

Scholarships of $25 per semester are given, to be used in payment of college tuition Formal acceptance of the gift of the principle by the board of directors would be necessary before the gift could be received. Provisions also would be made for administration of the fund.

Possible application to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for loan of funds for two dormitories and collateral will be considered.

President Knapp will recommend appointments to fill vacancies, which include that left by the recent death of Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the government department and dean of the graduate division.

The meeting will not definitely be set until answers are received at the college as to how many directors can attend.

New Parking Rules For Courthouse's Driveways Posted

The automobile driver who "sees red" when he parks in Lubbock courthouse drives is lucky, for he may save himself a fine.

Curbs on the left hand sides of the two one-way streets have been painted a brilliant red, and parking spaces on the right-hand sides have been remarked.

Regulations governing parking in the drives will be enforced strictly, Chief of Police Don Reeder said Monday. Courtesy tickets may be given for a few days, but after that the driver not obeying parking regulations makes himself liable to a fine.

Can Park At 45 Degree

Instead of parking parallel to the curb, vehicles now will be parked at 45-degree angles on the right-hand sides of the drives. Space is thus provided for parking of as many vehicles on one side as could be parked parallel to the curb on both sides, said the police chief.

Besides removing the danger caused when automobiles swerve across the street to park on the left side, the plan makes it possible for the pedestrian to see up and down the drive when he walks from the courthouse.

Four spaces will be reserved by the highway patrol on the drive to the east of the courthouse, said Capt. W. W. Legge of the highway patrol. Applicants for drivers' licenses are free to use the reserved spaces.

Construction Of Church For Mexicans To Be Started Soon

Construction of a building for Lubbock's new Assembly of God church for a Mexican congregation will be started within the next 10 days or two weeks, according to Regino Lopez, the pastor.

Substantial start has been made toward contributions for building the small structure and Mexican members of the congregation will make up a portion of the needed balance, he said. The structure will be built in Lubbock's "Little Juarez."

Cooperating in the endeavor here will be H. C. Ball, superintendent, and Jesus Cruz, secretary, both of the Latin-American district council of Assemblies of God.

The distance by water from New York to Boston is 144 miles shorter by the Cape Cod canal than by Nantucket lightship.

Peaceful Settlement Of Dispute Over $4.50 Expected On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8. (AP)—The $4.20 dispute which threatened to tie up 85 steamships neared peaceful settlement today in a round of voting by two labor unions and an employers association.

The $4.20 was spent by sailors of the steam schooner James Griffiths who bought a hot Sunday dinner ashore instead of eating a cold one on board when their ship was in port in San Pedro. They presented a bill to the owners. The owners refused payment. The Sailors Union of the Pacific refused a crew. The Shipowners' Association of the Pacific suspended relations with sailors and firemen's unions.

After a three-day suspension which threatened to affect 4,000 men, the sailors union approved an unannounced agreement and the James Griffiths sailed last night for San Francisco. Firemen and shipowners were expected to vote on the agreement today.

Sheppard Promises December Pay Checks Of All Employes Of State Before Christmas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. —December pay checks to employes of state colleges, eleemosynary institutions and departments before Christmas were promised today by Comptroller George H. Sheppard provided payrolls were sent to him early.

He said he would have his force work at night if necessary to continue the custom of sending checks over the state in time for them to be used on Christmas purchases. Except for the Christmas custom, pay checks are not distributed until the end of the month.

Warrants this year will aggregate more than ever before, due to increased apporpriations voted at the legislature's last regular session. Sheppard hopes to have all of them distributed by the night of December 22.

"The other state departments and agencies in turn must cooperate," he said, "by starting the flow of payrolls not later than December 10."

Teneriffe, largest of the Canary islands, is 60 miles long.

Construction Started On Tug For Dredging Along Coast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The war department said today the Spedden Shipbuilding corporation, Baltimore, had started construction of a $184,000 tug to be used in dredging operations along the Texas Gulf coast.

The department said it would take about seven months to complete the craft, which will be about 100 feet long, with a 6-foot draft and a 250 horsepower diesel engine.

The tug will go down the coast under its own power to Galveston, district headquarters for the army river and harbors engineers, but may be used as the occasion demands at points along the entire Texas coast and as far east as New Orleans.

Data Is Given On Sale Of Cotton

Erroneous impressions on the sale of cotton in order to be eligible for CAP payments for their 1937 program, are abroad and AAA officials in College Station, in a message to County Agent C. C. Jobson seek to correct them.

"Numerous reports reaching this office are to the effect that county agents and committeemen are under the impression that producers to be eligible for CAP payments, must sell their entire 1937 cotton crop before July 1, 1938," said the message. "This information is not correct. Payment will be made on first sales, in any amount up to 65 per cent of the base production, if other requirements are met."

Cites November Bulletin

Jobson called attention of producers to CAP form 102, a bulletin issued Nov. 1, which explains the "1937 cotton price adjustment payment plan." In article 4, under the heading "Cotton must be sold before July 1, 1938," it says:

"Cotton on which an application for a price-adjustment payment is made must be sold before July 1, 1938. This does not mean that a grower must sell his entire 1937 crop before he can receive the adjustment payment. It means that whatever part of the 1937 crop he sells is eligible for the payment up to the limit fixed. If a cotton grower having eligible cotton under the Community Credit corporation 1937 loan should desire to obtain the adjustment payment, he will be required to satisfy the loan and sell cotton prior to July 1, 1938, in order to include it in his application for payment."

Streamlined Feed Barn Being Built On Tech Campus

Construction of a streamlined feed barn is now in progress on the Texas Technological college farm, and will be completed in approximately 10 days, according to W. G. McMillan, Lubbock contractor.

This modern barn construction will have no interior support as it will be built in a sweeping curve from the ground up. It will be braced by steel cables that follow the contours of the rafters, which resemble the large dirigible hangers built by the California and Ohio governments. This type of barn is unusually resistant to windstorms, gives a maximum of storage space at a small cost, said Henry P. Clay, assistant professor of agricultural engineering.

It will be 40 by 100 feet in size, faced with galvanized iron, and an earthen floor will be used until the construction of a concrete floor later. This building is a modification of plans of a barn originally developed at Michigan State college.

Colorado Sex-Slayer Doomed To Be Gassed On Christmas Eve

CANON CITY, Colo., Dec. 8 (AP)—On Christmas Eve Colorado will execute Joseph Arridy, 22, with gas, for the sex-slaying of a schoolgirl unless he wins a fourth reprieve or prison routine is changed.

Before he was to die Nov. 19, the Supreme court granted Arridy a two-week stay, his second. The request for it was made by Dr. B. L. Jefferson, superintendent of the state home for mental defectives from which Arridy was an escape when Dorothy Drain, 15, was bludgeoned with an axe and ravished.

A third stay to the week of December 20 was given Arridy to allow time for preparing a transcript of the trial testimony.

Westerners Guests At Rotary Program

Annual football program for Lubbock high school Westerners, was given by the Rotary club to some 30 members of the squad and four coaches and officials at the Hotel Lubbock yesterday noon. The guests, after introductions, furnished the entertainment for their hosts.

President James I. Kilpatrick announced the Lions club had invited Rotarians to its football banquet for the Matadors next Tuesday night. President W. H. Evans of the Lions club, speaking for the Chief Goodfellows, urged Rotarians to bring a toy for the underprivileged boys and girls to their luncheon next Wednesday. President Kilpatrick said "forgetfulness" would cost Rotarians 50 cents each.

E. J. Parsons, acting as chairman for the day in place of Head Coach Weldon Chapman, who was ill, asked Coach J. G. (Goober) Keyes to present other members of the staff, which he did. Assistant Ross Ayres and Walker Nichols were introduced as was E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, business manager.

Keyes also introduced the members of the squad, 14 seniors who played their last high school games this season, 14 letter men who are to return and three men "ineligible" to participate the past season but who came out for practice. Keyes also thanked the club for its honoring of the team.

Harold Parsons, a Westerner, introduced squad men who entertained the club. They were: Leete Jackson, in a tap dance, with Neil Armstrong as accompanist; Earl Jones in two imitations; James Sims in a piano solo; Ernest Winters, harmonica number and Miss Brunett Beard, two solos.

TCU Team Opens Season Here Friday Night

Business around the Texas Tech gymnasium is looking up these days, what with basketball and football both on the minds of the gentlemen in the athletic department.

The basketball issue centers around the opening of the cage season Friday night with the first of two games between George Berl Huffman's Texas Tech Red Raiders and Mike Brumbelow's Texas Christian university Horned Frogs.

Start At 8 O'Clock

The games, Friday and Saturday night at the Tech gymnasium, begin at 8 o'clock each evening. They'll be the only college games on the 1937 home schedule for Tech unless a "practice game" or series is lined up in ex-officio schedule making. The Raiders have entered the all-college invitation tournament at Oklahoma City for the week just after Christmas, and are not scheduled to play at home again until Jan. 9.

Other Tech athletic business of importance concerns the Sun Bowl football game between Tech and University of West Virginia, to be played at El Paso on New Year's Day.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for this game have been received here, and go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning in the office of Bo Williams, graduate manager of Tech athletics, in the gymnasium. This is the ONLY place they may be purchased in Lubbock. The price is $2.20 per each. The first shipment of tickets consists of 500 ducats, calling for reservations near midfield at the El Paso stadium. Another 500 lot will be sent here if the first shipment goes in a hurry. But they will be sold hurriedly. Already Sun Bowl officials are wondering what they'll do with the overflow crowd. Tickets allotted to El Paso fans already have been sold out. One thousand have been reserved for Lubbock and South Plains fans.

A special train is to carry the fans or part of them, from here to El Paso. A round trip rate of $8.40 has been announced by Santa Fe officials. The train will leave early Friday, return late Sunday or early Monday, before and after the New Year's game.

Raiders Improve

Back to basketball: Coach Huffman reports improvement in the Tech ranks and opines that his Raiders may give the Horned Frogs quite a battle. The Frogs are favored to win, having a taller, more experienced club, but Tech fans know that Tech basketball generally is worth watching and that the Raiders, as a rule, can hold their own against all comers.

Huffman has announced as a probable starting lineup Dudley Aiken and Truman Neal at forwards, Thel Garrison at center, Captain Paul Morris and John Henderson at guards.

The Horned Frogs are scheduled to leave Fort Worth tonight, arriving here early tomorrow. Yesterday Coach Brumbelow's team scrimmaged Texas Wesleyan college in preparation for the invasion of Lubbock.

Four Texas Teams Register For Oklahoma City Joust

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 8. (AP)—Nineteen college basketball teams have accepted invitations to the second annual All-College Basketball tournament here December 27-30.

Those who have accepted include Baylor university, Waco; Texas Tech, Lubbock; West Texas Teachers, Canyon; and Stephen F. Austin college, Nacogdoches.

Arkansas State To Play Fresno On Christmas Day

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (AP)—Two of the nation's leading teacher colleges, Arkansas State and Fresno State, were signed today to play an intersectional football game in Gilmore Stadium here Christmas Day.

The Arkansas lads from Conway boast a record of no defeats or ties in two years.

Fresno State won the Far Western league championship this year.

Eastern Football Leads In 1937 Intersectional Wins

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Eastern college football teams, leading contributors of individual stars to the All-America ranking lists in 1937, also ruled the roost in competition against rivals from other sectors.

Appearing in 71 of the 106 major intersectional games included in the annual Associated Press survey, Eastern elevens won 41, lost 24 and tied six. Their percentage, based on defeats and losses, was .631.

Only one of the four other geographical divisions emerged with an average better than .500. That was the Southwest which, on the strength of a late-season rally, finished with 14 victories and 10 defeats for .593. It was the only section to hold the upper hand in clashes with the east, gaining two victories and two ties in five games.

Major Leagues End Winter Meetings With No "Hot News" Breaks; Session Is Dull

BY EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. — The dullest major league baseball meeting in recent years ended today with both the National and American circuits pulling a "balk."

There were no "hands across the table" as the two leagues met jointly before Commissioner K. M. Landis. Club owners did not even discuss their suprisingly divergent actions of their individual sessions —the American League's decision to retain the "rabbit" ball next season after the senior circuit had voted for a heavier and slower sphere.

The majors appropriated $100,000 for baseball's Centennial celebration in 1939 and renewed a $20,000 sum to the American Legion to sponsor junior tournaments.

Nationals Stand Pat

There was not a single deal of importance during the major meetings. As Ford Frick was given a vote of confidence by senior circuit magnates in being renamed president for three years, managers succeeded in creating nothing more than rumor "smoke" which continued to drift about as the delegates packed bags for departure.

The American League, which previously has agreed to award radio broadcasting privileges to one sponsors, will work out regulations and pay scales for the six clubs which will participate. New York and Washington do not sponsor broadcasts of home contests.

The National League did not make a single trade deal of importance throughout the minor or major meetings.

Sam Baugh Sets Hot Pace In Pro Grid Record Breaking

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—National Football league "freshmen" accounted for or shared in three of the four new individual records set during the 1937 season, according to final statistics released today.

The two recruits, just one year out of college, were Slingin' Sam Baugh of the Washington Redskins, who meet the Chicago Bears for the league title on Sunday, and Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals.

Baugh, pitching passes with even greater proficiency than in his college days at Texas Christian, set a new standard of 81 completed aerials. His performance topped by four the previous mark set a year ago by Arnie Herber of Green Bay.

Tinsley, former Louisiana State end, set two pass catching records. His 675 yards gained on pass catches bettered the 1936 record of 526 yards set by Don Hutson of Green Bay, while in last Sunday's final game, against the Bears, he was on the receiving end of L. S. U. teammate Joe Reed's aerial for a total gain of 95 yards, 12 better than the Herber-Hutson long distance mark set in 1934.

Hutson was responsible for the other new record when he caught 41 passes to improve on his own record 34 of last year.

Tech Theatre Honors Texas Tech Football Men Tonight

Preston Smith, manager of the Tech Theatre, will be host to Texas Tech football players tonight at a theatre party. All members of the varsity and freshman squads will be guests of Smith at a special event this evening, another in the line of honor parties for the college gridmen. An unannounced "added attraction" for the footballers is on the program.

Showing on the screen tonight at the Tech theatre is "Women Are Trouble," starring Stu Erwin, Paul Kelly and Florence Rice, also comedy and news.

The Tech gridders will be introduced from the stage, and a special showing of scenes from the Texas Tech-Duquesne game will follow.

Trojan Cagers Travel, Too; Travel South To Louisiana

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (AP)—University of Southern California's basketball squad, led by Coach Sam Barry, leaves today on a Christmas vacation barnstorming campaign that will go as far south as New Orleans.

The Trojans play New Mexico State tomorrow and Friday; Tulane at New Orleans Dec. 13-14, Louisiana State Dec. 16-17, and Rice Institute at Houston, Dec. 20-21.

PETEY SARRON TRIUMPHS

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Petey Sarron, sad-faced Syrian from Birmingham, Ala., and former N. B. A. Featherweight champion, made his debut into the lightweight ranks tonight by defeating Carl (Red) Guggino of Hartford, Conn., in a ten round bout in the New York Hippodrome. Weights were 133 1-2 for Sarron and 130 1-2 for Guggino.

Why Typesetters, Radio Announcers Go Screwy---Tsoutsouvas Passes To Gasparovich, Krotoszynski!

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Readers who sighed in relief when tennis and Mlle. Jadwiga Jedrzejowska passed on groaned again with football's tongue-twisting touchdowners.

The Polish star still is tops when the Typesetters' union gripes, but how's this for a forward-lateral combination: Spadaccini to Kovacevich to Jacunski?

Many youngsters of foreign ancestry have moved into college football in recent years. The familiar Jones, Smiths and Browns still are in the majority but the "skis" and "vichs" have been breaking into headlines with their scoring gallops.

Skidding through the lineups, here are some names that require a pause, and fumbling second-gear action toward pronunciation:—

Fordham's Harry Jacunski, Alex Wojciechowicz, and Al Babartsky; Minnesota's Vic Spadaccini and Rudy Gmitro; Marquette's Mike Czernecki and Harry Leysenaar; Pittsburgh's Dante Delle Tezze, Al Lezouski, James Scarfpin and Frank Souchak; Alabama's Jack Machtolff; Michigan State's Usif Haney; Notre Dame's Joe Kuharich and Leonard Skoglund; California's Vic Bottari and Dave DeVarona; Harvard's Alex Kevorkian and Tony Staruski; Chicago's Walter Schwiderski; Boston College's Anth DiNataie, Ira Jivilekian and Henry Woronicz; Stanford's Andy Stojkovich and Louis Tsoutsouvas and Washington's Tony Gasparovich, Steve Slivinski and Fritz Wascowitz.

But the prize should go to a South Carolina gridder—Leonislaus Josephus Franciszko Antonio Krotoszynski. He's called Leo.

"You Can Have Jake, But Lay Off Joe;" Majors Play At Give And Take

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (AP) — On the big league player market there are first and last men's clubs. Every manager has one man he "must" trade and another he wouldn't for the price of a couple ball parks—if he had his own personal way.

It's a rather heartless business this dealing in baseball flesh. Heroes of yesterday are but unwelcome pawns today. This is the roll call of some of the first and last to go:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York Yankees — Outfielder Jake Powell was the hero of the 1936 World Series, yet he's the one man the Yanks bring up first when trades are talked with them. But they won't even talk about selling Joe DiMaggio.

Detroit Tigers — "What will you give for Infielder Flea Clifton?" is the first trade talk. Rudy York? Dont make us laugh.

Cleveland Indians — The Injuns have Infielder Roy Hughes on every counter but they'll scalp you for talking Bob Feller.

Chicago White Sox — Anybody want Infielder Boze Berger? Nobody can get Shortstop Luke Appling.

Won't Sell Cronin

Boston Red Sox—The gold plated boys will swap Infielder Fabian Gaffke and give you a great deal. They'll chill you if you mention Joe Cronin, their manager and shortstop.

St. Louis Browns—Rebuilding with not too much money to spread, the Browns, too, will shoot the works but will hang on to the last ditch for the grand Beau Bell and Harlond Clift.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York Giants — Every time Col. Bill Terry talks deals, the name of Pitcher Hal Schumacher is first to pop up. The last—I don't care what you've read—is little "hot foot" Mel Ott.

Chicago Cubs — "We'll give you Tut Stainback and—," always begin the Cubs. "Frank Demaree? If anybody says he's traded, tell him he's cockeyed."

St. Louis Cardinals — Mustache and all, Frenchie Bordagary can be had for a tune. That million dollar price tag on Ducky Medwick is a lot of coin, but it'll take plenty to get the Gashousers to part with their great Ducky Wucky.

Cincinnati—"Paul Derringer and two other players," the Reds always offer. "Listen, mister, you can't get Pitcher Lee Grissom."

Hubbers Avenge Defeat By Licking Frenship Five

WOLFFORTH, Dec. 7. (Special) The Lubbock Hubbers reversed the order here tonight to defeat the Frenship Independents, 40 to 31, after receiving a licking here last week.

Paul Reynolds, lanky center, paced the visitors to victory, banging in 17 points, and Smokey Liner hit the hoop for 14 points to lead the locals. Purvis Wassom, Bob Hale, Corbin and Pharr showed well for the Lubbock crew.

THORPE LOSES FIGHT

SHAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 8. (AP) — Big Jim Thorpe, former Carlisle football invincible and Olympic games hero, lost his fight against a tribal constitution yesterday when Sac and Fox Indians adopted the charter 202 to 120.

Thorpe charged the constitution would "return the Indian to the blanket." It was authorized by the Thomas-Rogers act in congress.

BUDGE, MACO WIN

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 8. (AP)—Don Budge and Gene Mako, American tennis stars, encountred difficulty in disposing of Jack Bromwich and Huxley, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5 in the semi-finals of the Victorian championships today. The Americans will meet Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath in the doubles finals.

Jap Puts Hagen Away In Main

Tetsura Higami, of the Tokyo, Japan, Higamis, rallied strangely last night to apply his "sleeper hold" about the neck of Shreveport Jack Hagen to win the third and decisive fall of the Auditorium's weekly grapple card.

Jack had won the opening stanza after 24 minutes of brutalities climaxed by five minutes of headhugging. The Hagen headlock was applied quite seriously, and Higami was all but unconscious when Referee Clements stopped the fracas and hoisted Hagen's hand.

That's All For Jack

Hitherto and afterward, Higami broke all of Jack's holds by simple pressure against certain nerve centers. Why he did not break the headlock hold when he had both arms swinging freely and plenty of Hagen anatomy to work on, was the unanswered question. Hagen tried the same thing in the following falls, with no success.

Higami, who must have wrestled on the offense at least three of the 51 minutes consumed by the main event, came alive after 18 minutes of the second fall to apply a standing grapevine cradle, similar to an Indian stake hold, for a win.

Hagen came back like a big, bad wolf, and buffeted Higami all over the ring. Higami appeared out on his feet, dazed and drunk. But as Referee Clements pulled Hagen off the Jap and turned him around, Higami leaped up to grasp Hagen about the neck and apply the sleeper. The fall lasted slightly less than ten minutes.

There was some lively scrapping on the supporting card, both events going to draws.

The newcomer, Jack Mandell, of Boston, turned out to be quite a villain. He and Otto Ludwig had it 'round and 'round for 20 minutes.

The semi-final also was a draw, but Andy Tremaine and Sailor Moran gave the folks quite a treat with 30 minutes of rough play. Tremaine held the Sailor off from his "heart punch," and used a fearsome dropkick to advantage. Once he dropkicked the Arkansas battler clean out of the ring and off the platform, Moran sailing to the floor like a shotgunned quail.

PORKERS NAME CAPTAIN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 8. (AP) Lloyd Woodell, the 205 pound center from Fordyce, will captain the 1938 University of Arkansas football team. The squad made the selection last night and named Lloyd Montgomery, 190-pound half back, subcaptain.

Bond Of $500 Is Set For Negro Charged With Forgery Here

Bond of $500, set by S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, upon arraignment of J. C. Williams, Lubbock negro charged with forgery, late Wednesday had not been posted, according to information form the sheriff's office.

A man who had not been reported arrested late Wednesday was charged in county court with theft of a leather jacket valued at $14.75 from J. D. Corcorran. Corcorran swore to the complaint which had been prepared by Robert J. Allen, county attorney.

It was reported to police that "some" children's sweaters had been stolen from Southern Trading company by two negro men. Partial descriptions of the negroes were given to police.

It was believed W. L. Lewis, negro charged with violation of state liquor laws, would post bond of $500 set by Judge J. J. Dillard of county court late last night.

Army Is Near Standards Of 'Civvie' Teams

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 8. — Revision of the United States Military academy's athletic eligibility code, to be effective with the start of the New Year and embracing the so-called "three year varsity rule" for the first time, climaxes a five year "de-emphasis" program aimed especially at Army football.

Coupled with the adoption of the "freshman rule" ten years ago and a subsequent ban on athletic proselyting, the new policy follows a course calculated to put West Point's standards on the same basis as those generally accepted by leading civilian colleges, as well as the naval academy.

Chief effect of the new code will be to limit an athlete's varsity competition to three years in any sport, inclusive of play in college as well as at West Point. This rule will apply to cadets now enrolled here.

Seek "High Plane"

Heretofore the Army has not limited varsity competition for its athletes, beyond their plebe year, regardless of previous college experience.

Lieut. Col. J. L. Devers, graduate manager of athletics, emphasized the new code will be worked out with the sole idea of "putting Army athletics on the highest possible plane."

One of the problems involved in drawing up the new code will be to define the college group to which the three year varsity rule will be applied in its effect on West Point eligibility. It is likely junior colleges and teachers colleges will be omitted from this definition.

Navy's three-fold regulation, on this point, now specifies the institution concerned must provide a four year course giving a baccalaureate degree, requiring 15 "Carnegie units" for entrance, and have an enrollment of at least 100 male students.

Loyola Of West To Repeat With Baylor And Centenary

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (AP)—Loyola university Lions, who played Centenary and Baylor on their eleven game 1937 football schedule, will meet these two Southwestern teams again next year, the athletic board announced today.

The Lions will go to Shreveport, La., Oct. 29, to play Centenary, beaten 14 to 7 last Armistice Day. The Baylor Bears will come to Los Angeles to furnish Loyola's Armistice Day opposition. Baylor won, 27 to 13, this year at Beaumont, Texas.

O'NEILL TO BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 8. (AP) — President John Gehm of the Buffalo International League baseball club, announced tonight that Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland Indians baseball manager, had been signed as field and business manager of the Buffalo club. Terms of the contract were not made public.

A $50,000 Place Kick

He kicked Tama into a bowl, for it was the accurate toe of Hayward Sanford, strapping substitute, that gave the Crimson Tide its field goal victories over Tulane and Vanderbilt. Kneeling to hold the ball is "Herkey" Mosley. Figure-minded fans estimate those field goals may be worth $50,000 apiece, in Rose Bowl receipts. Alabama plays California at Pasadena.

Detroit Fans In Evil Mood Over Baseball Trade

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Detroit fans are so indignant over the trade which sent Gerald Walker to Chicago the papers have had to expand their letters-to-the-editor departments . . . Columns as far away as Lansing, Bay City and Jackson have taken up the cry and are blasting the deal for a fare-thee-well . . . Mickey Cochrane knows he stuck his chin out for he made Jimmy Dykes promise he wouldn't play Walker on the Sox' first trip to Detroit . . . (but Dykes says he will).

All-American Panners

The Detroit Lions can't win many games . . . The Red Wings are down in the dumps . . . Joe Louis isn't so hot any more, but the auto city can claim all eleven places on the all American panners' team . . . Tiger fans began to growl when Goose Goslin got the air . . . They roared when there was talk of changing the name of Navin field to Briggs stadium . . . Now they're on the loose and talking boycott . . . but if we know our Detroiters they'll probably be right back out there breaking attendance records next season.

O'Brien Gets Vote

If you believe in omens, the Chicago Bears may get kicked all around the field when they play Washington next Sunday . . . A large picture of Bronko Nagurski which adorned the walls of the New York Giants offices crashed to the floor with a bang yesterday . . . Headwriters on Cleveland papers like 'em short and snappy . . . One captioned an exhibition by Burper Danno O'Mahoney: "Danno Is Floppo" . . . Little Davey O'Brien, the Texas Christian spark plug, was the only man to get a unanimous vote on Fordham's all-opponent team.

WATWOOD RETURNS TO BUFFS

HOUSTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—President Fred Ankenman of the Houston baseball club tonight announced the purchase of Johnny Watwood, hard hitting former manager of the Houston Buffs.

Watwood will play first base for the Buffs next year, Ankenman said. Watwood managed Houston part of last season and then was sent to Rochester in the International league, where he finished the season.

U. S. Export Balance Of More Than $100,000,000 Over Imports Seen For Year

Increase Three Times Over '36

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — Secretary of Commerce Roper estimated today United States exports will exceed imports this year by $100,000,000 or more.

He said he expected the total of foreign trade to be $6,400,000,000, an increase of 31 per cent over 1936 and 118 per cent over 1932, low year of the depression.

A $100,000,000 favorable trade balance would be three times as large as last year's.

Roper said improved agricultural conditions contributed most of the better outlook. Agricultural imports have declined sharply and exports of farm produce have increased.

Another hopeful factor, the secretary declared, is that trade with the Far East has held up "much better than might have been expected in view of the hostilities."

Response To Appeal For Early Mailing Is Slow In City

Although more than 2,000 leaflets urging postoffice patrons to shop now and mail early have been distributed here, the response has been slow, Mails Supt. John R. Green reported Wednesday.

Leaflets containin instructions for wrapping and mailing Christmas packages so that they will reach their destination in perfect condition, he added. The instructions have been placed in all postoffice boxes and given to rural carriers.

Very few packages have been mailed or received, Green said. Long distance packages should be mailed the latter part of the week but the first rush is expected next week, he said.

Grading Talked In Conference

Special study of the four-level plans versus grades and the determination of an improved system of grading and reporting to parents was discussed at a committee meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in room 110 of Lubbock High school.

"Whether to use grades as definite markers between subjects offered or to try tearing out barriers and offer materials and methods that conform to the natural growth of the child is to be decided," W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock public schools, said. Many students should be in advanced sections and others should be taking more elementary subjects, especially in the primary and elementary grades, according to Irvin. If the new plan is worked out and adopted, it will enable students to finish in ten or twelve years, according to their ability to progress.

To Emphasize Individualism

"The student can work at his own rate," Irvin added. "The grading system has impeded the school in progressing more than any other factor." This will emphasize more individualism of the pupils, and if favorably passed by committees, the rating of the students will be taken at the end of this year, and the majority of student standing will be arranged for next fall.

The system of grading and reporting the student's work to parents does not appear definite enough at present and a new plan may be adopted later. S for satisfactory and U for unsatisfactory is the system used at present in the early grades, and parent and teachers organizations and the parents directly are to be consulted for added suggestions and comments. Several grading systems were discussed by Irvin. He suggested that the committees obtain best qualities, of all systems and suggestions.

To Easy To Follow

"It is too easy to follow methods of former generations," Irvin said. "When we try to change, society opposes good changes but will gradually accept them." The superintendent also stressed that studying these plans and improvements was not to be rushed, but accomplished slowly and concisely.

Miss Agnes True, elementary curriculum supervisor, was in charge of the meeting. Others present were Miss Edith Whitlock of George M. Hunt; Mrs. Tom Carter of Central Ward; Miss Nell Montague of K. Carter; Mrs. E. B. Speck of Sanders; Mrs. Ivy Savage of Dupre; Mrs. George Duvall of Guadalupe and Mrs. Guy L. Trow, Miss Mary Meador, H. C. Bowlin, Miss Stella Thurman and Mrs. J. T. Trigg, principals from elementary schools.

Negro Murder Trial Is Set For Today

The state, through its district attorney, Burton S. Burks, Wednesday announced ready for the murder trial of Fred Blanton, Plainview negro charged in connection with the stabbing of Zema Lee Blacknell, 22, Lubbock negro woman, scheduled for trial in 72nd district court of Judge Daniel A. Blair today.

The case has been specifically set for 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when a special venire of 100 men is scheduled to report.

Arrested September 24

Blanton was arrested by W. J. Tucker of the police department on the night of Sept. 24 after the negro woman was stabbed nine times in the chest in her room at a residence at 1719 Avenue C. She died before medical aid could be summoned.

An "East Dallas special" had been the lethal weapon, officers said.

Assistant District Attorney Victor H. Lindsey will be associated with Burks in the prosecution. Benjamin Kucera, Lubbock attorney, will defend the negro.

Minimum penalties of five days in jail, $50 fines, and suspension of drivers licenses six months were assessed by Judge Blair of that court after Sol Aubrey of Wolfforth, formerly of Lubbock, and Herbert McClain entered pleas of guilty of charges of driving when intoxicated.

Ticket Sales Heavy For Firemen's Ball

Lubbock firemen Wednesday night had sold approximately 300 tickets for the third annual firemen's ball that will be conducted from 9 to 12 o'clock Saturday night in the Auditorium, said Cecil Casey, fire marshal.

Ocie Stockard and his Wanderers from Radio Station KRLD at Dallas will play for the dance.

Part of the proceeds will be passed on to charity organizations, and some will be used in purchasing tools used by firemen.

Tickets are $1 each.

Charges Filed After Car-Truck Accident

Three Texas Technological college students from Lorenzo received treatment at Lubbock sanitarium and at Lorenzo, and a truck driver was charged with violation of law of the road as aftermath of a collision between the automobile occupied by the boys and a truck about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning three and a half miles east of Idalou.

Floyd Williams, 19, junior engineering student, suffered a fractured nose; Harper Scoggins, jr., 17, freshman arts and sciences student, cuts on the face and head; and Clyde Hodges, about 17, freshman agriculture student, bruises. None of them remained in a sanitarium.

Mrs. J. D. Strickland, wife of the vocational agriculture teacher at Lorenzo, was bringing the students to the college, according to reports. The truck, allegedly driven by Clyde Knull of Snyder, was going eastward on the highway.

Max Westerman, jr., officer of the Texas Highway patrol, swore to the complaint charging Knull. It was filed with a justice of peace at Idalou.

A Commendable Undertaking

MOST parents no doubt will commend the action of City School Superintendent W. B. Irvin in asking Parent-Teacher associations to appoint committees to state their views regarding present methods of grading pupils in primary departments of city schools.

The Morning Avalanche has heard any number of expressions of dissatisfaction with the present report card plan which merely tells the parent that his child is doing either satisfactory or unsatisfactory work. This grading system applies to pupils in the first to fifth grades.

Most parents would like to know the degree of the satisfactory or unsatisfactory school work their child is doing. If the child is doing conspicuously good work in his classes, the mother and father should [illegible] more than satisfy the [illegible] the borderline, the parents should be informed that remedial measures should be adopted. If the child is failing badly, it is still more important that the parents see for themselves, because of the danger that something is fundamentally wrong with the pupil which, if reached in time, might be corrected.

We are of the opinion that a more definite system of grading will result in constructive benefits. Among the brighter and more energetic students, it may tend to inspire an eager rivalry to outdo each other, because children are less repressed in their reaction to concrete recognition of meritorious accomplishment than are adults. Likewise, the very fact that a differentiation between the "A" and "D" student must be made would require a closer observation of the child by the teacher than if it merely was a question of reporting the work done was satisfactory or unsatisfactory.

However, even if nothing should be done, the matter is one on which school authorities should seek the views of parents, and whatever the parents' wishes may be, they should prevail. Further than that, before any final recommendations are made and any actions taken, the superintendent should make it a duty to satisfy himself that they are representative of desires of parents as a whole and not merely those of a small group.

Doubtless Mr. Irvin intends to do just that.

The Yule Spirit Is "Catching"

BETTER stay out of the business district these nights if you fear the Christmas spirit, because it's "catching."

The gaily colored lights strung across business streets were flashed on only two nights ago, yet the reaction from them already has been pronounced.

Business establishments which had not already begun dressing up for Christmas have donned their holiday attire. Some among them had insisted that they would do very little decorating and yet, according to authoritative confidential information, their operators are seeking prices on additional ornamentation. Those still refusing to make the holidays an occasion for adornment will find the spirit increasingly difficult to resist unless they are the type of beings who are due our sympathy rather than resentment.

Incidentally, the ornamental lighting of the streets was a pleasant surprise to many citizens—The Morning Avalanche included. Many had wondered whether the globes strung across the thoroughfares were large enough to give the degree of color one associates with the yuletide. The answer will be found most satisfying to anyone who glances the length of one of the decorated streets.

In every old-fashioned school yard there was always one boy who should have been named Benito.

Peace is a period when nations try their best to damage one another without a declaration of war.

The One-Minute Sermon

Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.

And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.

But if ye do not forgive, neither will your father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses.—St. Mark 11, 24 through 26.

THE SLOWEST MAIL

Orkney and Masefield, in Saskatchewan, Canada, are only six miles apart, on the same railroad line not separated by a river or mountain, and yet it takes 7 days to get a letter from Orkney to Masefield. The C. P. R. R. train does not carry mails, only passengers and freight, and there is no other direct mail connection. A letter mailed in Orkney must go to Shaunavon by auto, then is transferred and sent to Cadillac, [illegible] classified and transferred again and sent to Val Marie, thence to Masefield by a thrice-weekly [illegible] service. The letter travels 144 miles and requires 7 days to go an airline distance of only 6 miles.

IRON MAN OF THE POSTOFFICE

George Krawitz of the San Antonio, Texas, postoffice is familiarly known as the "Iron Man of the Post Office" because he has never worn a coat, overcoat, sweater, overshoes or even long sleeved shirts no matter what the weather—in his 30 years of service. Yet he has never been sick, never had a cold, never missed a day of work, never worked more than one route, never sleeps more than four hours, and never eats more than two meals a day. Krawitz claims that people wear too many clothes to keep healthy, and eat so much they always get sick. He says he "just practices common sense."

Junior Is Happiest When Exercising His Mind And Energy, So Toy Makers Make The Most Of It; Parents Try To Please Themselves

* * *

Junior is happiest when exercising his mind and his energy and American toy manufacturers know it.

Take a look at Lubbock toy displays. Here and there you will see a [illegible] that dances, a dog that wags his head or his tail or a contraption that zig-zags about the room, but for the most part you will see building sets, games of skill, something that the small boy or girl may ride or some other toy that taxes their minds and energies.

Dozens Of Sets Offered

There are dozens of sets with which children may use both their hands and imagination, including chemical, tool, sculpturing, water color drawing, sewing, weaving, building logs, and blocks.

There are dump trucks with which the industrious boy might spend a busy morning, or transport trucks that carry miniature automobiles, "grocery corners" in which they might pretend transactions with customers, airplanes that spin through the air, movie projectors, typewriters, and scores of other toys to heighten their anticipation of Christmas.

Can Practice Housekeeping

Miniature stoves, ironing boards, sewing machines, dishes, tables, cooking utensils, and other toys will give the small miss opportunity to imitate her mother in keeping house. Dionne quintuplets and Shirley Temple dolls still have an outstanding place in displays. Several small girls were seen Saturday exclaiming over dolls with fur-trimmed coats, hand-muffs and caps. Wardrobe trunks for doll's clothing again are being displayed.

Innumerable toys that will fascinate even the parents may be seen.

Parents Please Themselves

Parents usually please themselves when shopping for toys, says Miss Elisabeth Irwin, superintendent of the Little Red School House, a progressive school in downtown New York. They don't consider the child's taste or age, or durability of the objects, she told an Associated Press Feature Service writer. So she set up some rules for toy shoppers:

1. Choose toys which stimulate the child's imagination rather than mechanical toys. Trains that run by hand are better than electric trains. Blocks fall in the same category, but the second rule also applies to them.

2. Choose toys which hold children, exercise their large muscles. Large blocks, trapezes, boards to fit over saw horses, and the like offer a child an excellent chance for exercise. Athletic equipment, roller skates, sleds and bicycles make good gifts.

3. Select toys that don't break easily. Tools should be well made, lest hammer heads fly off and do damage. Cheap miniature automobiles are likely to lose their wheels after a few trips around the carpet.

4. Buy games of skill rather than chance. That doesn't mean total annihilation of the "chance" type of game, quite suitable for an occasional rainy afternoon. But games involving counting and building are far more instructive, she says.

Soldiers and guns don't fall into any of these classes. Miss Irvin puts her foot down on them because of their militaristic import. She flatly says no educator would favor them.

A good toy, such as a tricycle, provides exercise.

Vivrett To Be Honor Guest At Breakfast

Rev. W. R. Vivrett, whose resignation as pastor of First Christian church becomes operative Dec. 15, will preside at his last meeting as president of Lubbock Minister's association at a breakfast at Hilton hotel this morning at which he will be guest of honor.

The meeting originally was scheduled for last Monday, but was postponed so that members of the association with whom he has been associated more than three years might arrange the special program. Mr. and Mrs. Vivrett plan to leave next week preparatory to his entry of Yale university school of divinity for a three and one-half year course.

Officers for the next year also will be elected this morning. They are, additional to Vivrett, C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, vice president; and Cecil R. Matthews, educational director of First Methodist church, secretary-treasurer.

New officers will be installed at the next monthly meeting Jan. 3, the secretary said.

Annual Regional Meeting Will Be Held Here On Dec. 15-16

Annual regional meeting of South Plains Automobile association will be held at Hilton hotel in Lubbock Dec. 15 and 16, according to announcement here by Jack Douglas, manager.

Members and secretaries of offices at Abilene, San Angelo, Big Spring, Plainview and Lubbock will be present, with an indicated attendance of approximately 100 at the banquet at Hilton the night of Dec. 15, Douglas said. Dean J. M. Gordon of Texas Technological college will be the featured speaker and Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Tech, will be an honored guest.

General topic of the meeting will be "Safety and Sales." Speakers will include Capt. W. W. Legge of the state highway patrol, who will explain the new driver's license law, and Douglas, whose subject will be, "This Auto Club Business." Douglas' talk, he said, will be explanatory of the work and endeavors of automobile clubs.

Pythians Name New Officers Tuesday

Newly elected officers of Lubbock Knights of Pythias will be installed at the next regular meeting Jan. 4, officials of the lodge announced Wednesday.

New officers are: G. K. Taylor, chancellor commander; Ralph Thompson, vice-chancellor commander; Mike Parrens, prelate; Elmo Payne, master of work; Jack McCreary, master at arms; R. S. Hardin, keeper of records and seals; H. G. Brock, master of finance; Estell Hendrix, master of exchecker; J. L. Davies, inner guard; J. L. Lovelace, outer guard; and Brock, trustee.

Twelce men were initiated into the Dr. G. H. Ater class of pages. They were W. C. Odom, George A. Barnett, Sam Breedlove, Lewis Kittrell, H. A. Welmaker, S. D. Buchanan, J. C. Rigsby, Tom Carnett, Scott Cochran, jr., E. J. Dresser, W. Preston Crawford, and G. R. Kennedy.

Besides its ability to furnish the human race with sugar, the sugar maple makes excellent lumber, where duable wood is needed, such as in the manufacture of automobile parts, furniture and flooring, and it is a beautiful tree when planted for shade.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

FIORELLO LaGUARDIA's unorthodox behavior baffles politicos in both major parties who had draped partisan ambitions on the gleaming points of his rising star.

Had Mr. LaGuarda chosen to indulge in personal or conventional politics, he would have withheld allegiance from the American Labor party while he bargained with emissaries loitering on his doorstep after hours. He would have waited until he discovered where the 1940 landing field would be safest and softest for a high-flying aviator. Mr. Roosevelt has angled for his favor, and G.O.P.-ers who once snubbed him hailed his triumph as a "Republican comeback." LaGuardia chuckled at these post-election twitchings.

But the ingenious mayor has deeper schemes in the back of his fertile brain. He dreams om making the A. L. P. the decisive factor in national politics, even if only a balance-of-power affair. Under his leadership it would become a purge and a scourge to both old organizations, driving them to nominate decent men and battle on hard and substantial ground. Needing at least three years to hand-raise his political pup till older dogs heed its snarls, he lands the prestige of his name to the movement—now!

ALIBI: No presidential command in the save-business offensive stirred deeper skepticism of his ultimate aims than F. D. R.'s message urging a $243,000,000 cut in road funds. Every old-timer on Capitol Hill considers it an airy gesture hardly worth the paper it was written on.

Congressmen march to victories year after year on the roads they have built in their districts with federal money. There is no surer reelection highway. Only last session the building bloc demonstrated that it was the most powerful log-rolling crew in Congress—so vividly that Mr. Roosevelt could hardly have forgotten the incident. In their conspiracies they always have the backing of influential business lobbies here and back home—cement, sand, truckers, automobile associations, chambers of commerce.

Mr. Roosevelt could have easily economized in less stubborn fields—naval construction, relief methods and costs, current government operations. But he attacked the very sector which never surrenders—and his advisers are too smart not to realize it. Almost certain defeat, however, will permit him to retort that the politicians and their pals spoiled his budget-balancing act.

• • •

EXPERT: Washington has become hardened to bizarre performances, but rarely has it witnessed such a fiasco as the beginnings of the federal housing venture headed by Nathan Straus. [illegible] The five-week show would be hilariously comic if it were not so tragic to people needing employment through its efforts.

Three important officials—a contracting officer, an executive chief and a publicity expert—resigned after only a few days' unhappy experience with Mr. Straus, who seems to know all the answers even without asking questions. He has antagonized Mayor LaGuardia, who told the housing [illegible] that "you can't move families into blue-prints." He has precipitated a bust-up of New York City's [illegible]-building organization, and he has won the cold, calculating enmity of Secretary Ickes. Though [illegible] the merit system, his personnel officer is an [illegible] who shifted jobs to preside over the [illegible] ceremonies.

Mr. Straus confided to his staff [illegible] that he wants no publicity, and [illegible] to shoo away all reporters. Then he [illegible] clipping bureau to subscribe to every [illegible] newspapers (some publish 10 editions [illegible]) to insist that they be rushed to Washington [illegible] airplane!

FAIR: When Vice President [illegible] colleagues joined him on game hunting [illegible] President was absent on a fishing trip, leaving [illegible] Congress to moan and muddle, he grinned:

"If the big boss can go fishing [illegible] the little boss can go hunting—for deer."

NOTES: Airmail now serves 47 [illegible]. Several federal statistical agencies find [illegible] that consumers are striking against high prices. Counterfeiting is on the increase. NEW YORK

By James McMullin

UNLESS something slips at the last minute, John Wesley Hanes, senior partner of the New York Stock exchange of C. D. Barney & Co., will be named a member of the Securities and Exchange commission soon following President Roosevelt's return from Florida. He will owe his appointment to the combined recommendations of S. E. C. Chairman William O. Douglas, former chairman and current ace White House adviser Joseph P. Kennedy, and the "liberal" faction of the Stock Exchange which seeks to dethrone the old guard.

Mr. Hanes comes from a wealthy North Carolina family which made its fortune in tobacco. He's a Democrat, though not a New Dealer. He has been in Wall Street since about 1920. Both he and his house have excellent reputations.

The Barney firm is primarily a commission house but it also does investment banking, so Mr. Hanes has a well-rounded and thorough knowledge of the technical operations of securities markets, something no other commissioner since Kennedy has possessed.

• • •

UNWELCOME: The aggressive and able Mr. Hanes has often been outspoken in his condemnation of stock market abuses. He definitely belongs to the wing which believes that the S. E. C. is here to stay and that the smart thing for the exchange to do is to recognize this and collaborate with the commission to bring about needed changes.

He has no reason to love the old guard. He only became a member of the exchange in 1935—ironically purchasing the seat of the brother of Mike Meehan, the first speculator convicted of illegal market manipulation by the S. E. C. Soon thereafter he was appointed a governor of the exchange—to fill a vacancy—through the influence of the insurgent element which had ousted Richard Whitney and installed Charles R. Gay as president. The following year he was duly renominated, but he had stepped so hard on old guard toes that the latter ganged up on him with an "independent" candidate of their own and defeated him for reelection.

His appointment will be no more welcome to the "private club" crowd than would that of an out-and-out radical. With him to tip off the commission on the intimate details of how the old guard operates, that body should really go to town in its drive for stock exchange reform.

• • •

APPEASE: The other probable new nominee to the S. E. C., Jerome Frank, also comes from New York. But his resemblance to Mr. Hanes ends right there.

Mr. Frank's social and economic philosophy is far to the left of the New Deal, but he is realist enough to know that the radical millenium cannot be reached overnight. Since being fired from the A. A. A. for "radicalism," he has distinguished himself chiefly by brilliant legal free-lance work for the government in power cases. He upheld the government's right to finance construction of municipal power plants in both the Duke and Alabama Power suits which have just reached the Supreme Court—and won them both in the lower courts. He also won the first round of the legal battle over the Santee-Cooper power development in South Carolina.

His appointment is expected to appease liberals who might be upset about the naming of a blown-in-the-bottle Wall Streeter to the S. E. C. He is also expected to take the place of J. D. Ross as the commission's expert on utility questions. The power companies don't relish the thought of such a formidable antagonist in such an influential position.

• • •

COMEBACK: Raymond Moley, the original number one brain-truster, who subsequently became a harsh critic of the administration, is back in the good graces of the White House.

New Yorkers in a position to know say that Mr Moley has been called into private consultation by the President in recent weeks. His visits have been strictly unadvertised.

Broken Toys Are Being Repaired

By MARY BETH CLARK

Headless china dolls, baseballs with the stuffing out, two-legged chairs and weather-beaten doll trunks are typical of many of the used toys Lubbock Boy Scouts began repairing Tuesday.

The "merry" in many unfortunate children's Christmas will be prominent when they awake Christmas morning and discover these freshly painted and repaired gifts awaiting them. More than 1,000 toys were collected for Lubbock Goodfellows, who will distribute them just before Christmas.

Hundred Scouts Are Aiding

"We have enough soldiers for another World war" said one enthusiastic Boy Scout when examining the hills of toys they were assorting in the building at 1312 Avenue J. They are dividing the toys into sections, distinguishing between gifts for infants, boys and girls. Later a display window will be selected to show the work in which nearly 100 Scouts will participate.

The West Texas Gas company is furnishing gas to heat the building. Sears Roebuck and company will contribute tools and Sansom Paint & Paper Co. has given paint.

Collected By Scouts

Most of the toys were collected by scouts in their annual toy pickup. Others came from a "toy matinee" at the Palace theater. Any new contributions may be made at 1312 Avenue J.

Capt. J. G. McKinnon, reserve officer, will supervise the project and E. B. Brown and Gene Marquart, senior scouts, will assist. The boys will report in groups of eight or 10 after school hours each day and will continue this work until Christmas, Capt. McKinnon said.

Kansas City Company Is Winner Of Review From Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The Fred O. Morgan Sheep Commission company of Kansas City, Mo., won a Supreme court review Monday in it attack on the validity of an fixing of the secretary of agriculture fixing maximum rates to be charged by marketing agencies for buying and selling at the Kansas City stock yards.

The high court agreed to review a decision by the western Missouri federal district court, that the agriculture secretary in 1933 gave the commission company a lawful hearing.

The company contended the secretary issued the order without having heard or read any of the evidence. The district court said the secretary "did read and consider the briefs submitted."

TARZAN'S QUEST. No. 139 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"You have plenty of girls here," Jane declared; "what do you want of me?" Kavandavanda regarded her hesitantly. "I did not konw," he answered, almost in a whisper; "I thought I knew, but now I am not sure." Suddenly he turned to Ogdli. "Take them to a cell!"

Presently the two prisoners found themselves in a gloomy, low-ceiled room. "You can't escape," their guardian growled; "so there's no use planning." "We can't escape unless you help us," Jane smiled artfully; "I'm glad Kavandavanda assigned you as our guard."

The man ignored the hint, for now a sudden thought inflamed his mind. "Did you see how Kavandavanda looked at you?" he demanded. Jane shrugged. "I did," Ogdli frowned; "you've bewitched him. I know what's in his mind. But he can't do it. If he tries—"

A noise in the corridor silenced him just in time. The door was swung open by a slave, and as he stepped aside, Kavandavanda stood revealed. "Okdli, go!" he commanded; "and take the small one with you. I wish to be alone with the one who calls herself Jane!"

RAILS LEAD ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Rails led a determined stock market advance today and while profit selling cut gains in the final half hour, leaders were marked up fractions to 2 points or so at the finish.

Interest in the carriers was apparent from the opening, based, brokers asserted, on an overnight impression the Interstate Commerce commission was favorable to increased freight charges. Steels, after a hesitant start, joined in the upturn along with metals, building material and merchandising issues.

Investment buying of some "oversold" stocks, short covering and moderate purchasing from abroad, brokers said, touched off the rally. Trading accelerated on the upside but slowed as traders cashed in their gains.

Transactions totaled 1,520,330 shares compared with 965,250 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .7 of a point at 47.2.

Most affecting sentiment, analysts said, was the feeling government and business were entering an era of more cordial co-operation.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. (AP)—Contrary to form, cotton advanced moderately today although the government forecast a larger ultimate crop of 18,746,000 bales. The market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 8 points.

The figures were approximately 500,000 bales above last month's estimate but recent private estimates had led the trade to look for an increase. The report was larger than expected but failed to induce any selling pressure.

Recent liquidation of the long interests and covering by shorts resulted in a stronger technical position of the market and private advice reaching the local exchange indicated that farmers were availing themselves of the government loan program and holding cotton from merchandising channels.

The maximum advance was 5 to 10 points and final prices were near the top. Dec. closed at 8.06-bid, Jan. at 8.03-bid, March at 8.10-bid, May at 8.11, July at 8.15, Oct. at 8.18-bid and Dec. (new) at 8.20-bid.

Spots were steady and middling advanced 8 points to 8.10 on sales of 1,724 bales.

A further surprise in the official report was the large yield per acre of 264.6 pounds, an increase of 94.5 pounds over the 10-year average 1923-32.

A considerable portion of the demand today came from domestic and foreign trade circles but flurries of covering were encountered from time to time.

Yesterday's turnover was 14,950 bales, and the open interest 489,250 bales, an increase of 850 bales over Monday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Cotton advanced today in the face of a government estimate for a crop of 18,746,000 bales, the largest on record.

March sold up from 7.88@7.98 and closed at the high with final prices up 6 to 11 points.

The increase of 503,000 (bales) over the November crop indication exceeded trade expectations but failed to attract selling and prices advanced immediately after the figures were posted. Trade and foreign buying was followed by moderate Wall Street and local demand.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 7.96 cent sa pound; average for the past thirty market days 7.87 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Right-about-face action late today turned wheat losses into gains, largely because of reports Germany and France would purchase United States lower grade wheats.

Prospects of such a course by Germany and France were associated with United States department of agriculture substantiation that heavy damage has been done to Argentina's 1937 wheat crop. December wheat contracts here developed the greatest relative strength and rose to 3¼ cents premium over May, the biggest premium so far this season.

Assertions Australian wheat was underselling United States wheat in Liverpool had much to do with today's temporary setbacks.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1 cent to 2 cents above yesterday's finish, Dec. 97½@97¾, May 94¼@94½, July 88⅛@88¼, corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, Dec. 54⅛@54⅜, May 57¾@57⅞, oats unchanged to ⅛ up, rye showing ⅜ to ⅞ bulge, and provisions 2 to 10 cents jump.

From an early low point of 94⅞ cents, off about 1 cent overnight, Chicago December wheat climbed almost 3 cents at the last to 97¾ cents, a net gain of approximately 2 cents.

Helping the upturn were Ottawa reports that the Canadian government wheat board had sold the last of the wheat it held for export trade.

Lucas Says Bill Resembles Ball

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8.—The proposed federal farm bill is beginning to resemble a political football, and some members of congress are trying to cut from the bill the very sections that the farmers need and want, H. G. Lucas, of Brownwood, president of the Texas State Agricultural association, said here today.

Lucas headed the list of early arrivals for the state convention of the association, which starts Thursday.

Favors Compulsory Control

Lucas said the organization is strongly in favor of compulsory production control whereby the majority of farmers growing a certain commodity are able to determine how much of the commodity should be produced.

"Now, as I understand it, that feature has been eliminated from the bill."

Favors Three Things

Lucas said his organization favors three outstanding things: parity payments to equalize the tariff; adjusted production, and a change in the base acres clauses, providing for the suitability of a farm to grow a particular crop.

Lucas and about 16 committeemen of the state association met here this morning to work out preliminary plans and resolutions for the convention that will last three days.

Man Facing Danger

uses and superior intelligences who threatened to interfere with status quo.

In the last ten thousand years, however, the masses have permitted the engineer to live, and nearly the whole of human mechanical progress has taken place. But lately, Dr. Hooton observed, the effects of this progress on the human body itself have become "devastating."

Most of us don't have to try hard any more. The majority "exists parasitically upon the inventive genius of the few."

"The once erectly striding biped," Dr. Hooton went on, "abandons human locomotion and whizzes through the landscape, crouched over wheels and levers worked by his still prehensible hands, and his flat, vestigal feet, no less useful for this purpose than those of his simian ancestors."

"He breathes a mixture of gasoline fumes and carbon monoxide and reeks of evolutionary decay. A premium is put upon illiteracy by the radio and the talking moving picture.

"Man made himself out of an ape, partly by becoming an engineer. The danger now is that the process will be reversed and the engineers will make apes out of us all."

First Airmail Test

cancellation, he added, can mail their cover even to themselves in Lubbock. The missive will not get on the plane, but the markings and cancellation will be the same as those which do. But an envelope mailed to Plainview, for example, will be put aboard the plane and eventually reach its destination by round-about route.

The chamber of commerce still lacked last night much detailed information relative to the first flight. Officials knew that it will be what is termed an "airmail pickup test" which is an important first test in determining whether a city may be considered for regular airmail service. Airmail service, with rare exceptions, insures air passenger service, it was explained.

Making the test will be Eastern Airlines, one of the world's larger companies. Present western terminus of that line is New Orleans, and cities sheduled for Friday's pickup tests include Houston, Temple, San Angelo, Brownwood, Sweetwater, Midland, Big Spring and Odessa.

Presumably, the plane to fly from Lubbock will reach Municipal airport some time today. The flight Friday will take it southward toward Sweetwater and perhaps to Houston.

Record Cotton Crop

at 24,900,000 bales—sufficient, they said, to supply domestic and export needs for nearly two years at recent rates of consumption.

Department economists predicted the total gross income from this year's crop would equal if not exceed last year's $987,000,000 receipts, despite the lower prices prevailing this season.

But another bumper yield next year, they said, could be expected to force prices much lower.

This year's crop not only set a total yield record, but also established a new acreage average of 264.6 pounds. The average for the 1923-32 period was 169.9 pounds. The previous yield record was 17,978,000 bales in 1926. Last year's production was 12,399,000.

The eye of Amos was pronounced failing of sight, but the cornea was good. "If you figure one of my eyes can make the lad well, you just give it to him," Amos told hospital officials. Frank was speechless with gratitude.

"Isn't it the swellest thing that ever happened to anybody?" he said before the operation.

Fears Schooling

Rather than pay $7.40 fine and costs when convicted of violating the Pennsylvania school laws through refusal to send his 14-year-old daughter to junior high school, Aaron King, above, well-to-do Amish farmer of Honey Brook, Pa., went to jail. He fears further education would "endanger" the old-fashioned beliefs of his daughter.

An address on "Rural Social and Economic Problems" will be presented by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college Friday night in Amarillo at a regional conference to be held under auspices of the Texas Conference on Social Welfare.

Ed Rider, Austin correspondent for the Houston Chronicle, spoke to two first-year reporting classes at Texas Technological college Wednesday morning. Rider is spending a few days here collecting information on cotton in the area. Mrs. Rider also is here.

Mrs. T. C. Root had not received information late last night on condition of Dr. C. E. Root, who is seriously ill in an Abilene hospital. Doctor Root is an uncle of T. C. Root, professor of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college, who is at the bedside.

Thirty members and guests of the adult men's class at First Presbyterian church attended a turkey banquet at the church Wednesday night. C. A. Bruner presided as toastmaster, and the banquet was under direction of R. E. McDonald. J. Hodge Alves, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, J. M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences at Texas Technological college, and J. M. Holloway spoke. Gordon had charge of the program.

County Farmers To Meet Today

Six Lubbock county farmers, chairman of their respective district groups of the county agricultural association for 1938, will meet this afternoon in the office of County Agent C. C. Jobson to select a chairman and vice chairman for the coming year.

Those expected to attend include: R. A. Powell, Idalou district; C. E. Lilley, Slaton district; Grover C. Gillett, Shallowater district; R. T. White, Monroe district; L. W. Wilke, Woodrow district and R. L. Wheeler, Wolfforth district.

Budget of the association is to be discussed. No total will be made until the definite program for next year is known, it was said by W. F. Johnson, treasurer of the group. Legislation by congress may change the work and increase costs, he added. Johnson is assistant county agent in charge of agricultural conservation.

County Agent Jobson is secretary of the county committee.

Recently producers elected in each of the six districts a chairman, vice chairman, third member and two alternates. The six men from each district are to supervise the program for the year.

Suggestions On Air Lines Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Congress received today three suggestions that it help develop scheduled air traffic across the Atlantic.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the Maritime commission urged a direct subsidy, advising a senate committee that "we should not abandon our leadership in air commerce by failing to make proper provision for government support of over-ocean flying."

John E. Slater, vice-president of the American Export lines, told a house committee the New York company he represented was convinced it would be economically sound to use flying boats to supplement its shipping. He urged the maritime commission be given control of commercial transoceanic flying.

Monopoly Is Charged

The house committee also heard a charge by I. M. Laddon, vice-president of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation of San Diego, Calif., that Pan-American Airways was monopolizing transoceanic aviation. He said the government should acquire necessary foreign concessions to permit free and open competition.

Chairman Bland (D-Va.) told reporters he did not intend to invite Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to testify before the committee about subsidization of transoceanic aircraft.

May Be At Meeting

Lindbergh is an advisor to Pan-American Airways. He may be here Friday for a meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie institution.

"If Colonel Lindbergh wants to appear before the committee," Bland said, "he will be accorded the same treatment as anyone else."

Kennedy urged that the merchant marine act be broadened to make available to overseas aircraft the same aid given shipping in the merchant marine act. That includes construction subsidies of up to 50 per cent of a craft's cost and operating subsidies as well.

Texas Unemployment Commission To Find Jobs For Unemployed

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Placing the unemployed in jobs suited to their abilities will be the main function of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission.

Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director, said today that notwithstanding payments of benefits beginning Jan. 1 the commission's "real purpose" is to find the unemployed man a job.

The Texas State Employment service, a division of the commission, has offices throughout the state, he said, for aiding jobless secure work while receiving payments not exceeding $15 weekly.

Legion's Shipment Of Trees Arrives

A carload of Christmas trees were received here yesterday by the American Legion and Sons of the Legion to be sold by the two groups, according to A. C. Jackson, legion commander.

Money derived from the sale of the approximately 1,000 northern balsams will be used for charitable purposes, it was pointed out, and a portion of the funds will be used toward purchase of uniforms for the bugle and drum corps of the Sons of the Legion.

Trees will be delivered within the next day or two to persons who have placed orders for them, Jackson said.

The trees are among the best ever received here, he said, and are available in all sizes and prices.

The sixth fumble, according to Woods, is in the process of teaching, which should begin with the concrete and go to the abstract. The seventh fumble is in the school finance, which should be considered as an investment and not an expenditure, he said.

Cites Cost Of Crime

The last fumble is not thinking of the cost of crime in comparison with cost of education. He pointed out crime in Texas costs six times as much as is appropriated for the educational program.

Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of schools, Lubbock, gave the invocation.

Buford F. Minor, superintendent of Levelland schools is president of the association. F. A. Hemphill of Littlefield was introduced as the new secretary-treasurer of the association.
