Special Senate Committee Is Named To Handle Atomic Case

Way Opened For Decision

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — The Senate settled one important point today on the world's hottest subject—atomic energy.

It voted to handle control legislation through a special committee of six Democrats and five Republicans.

This kept it from the military committee. Members on the winning side stressed implications toward international relations.

Another thing: It opened the way for Senate action. An administration bill was introduced two weeks ago. It provides for a commission appointed by the President to control domestic development and use of atomic energy. The military committee has the bill on the House side.

Busy Day On Hill

It was a busy Monday on Capitol Hill. For instance:

1. Army-Navy merger — The Navy vigorously opposed it. Secretary Forrestal proposed a national security council headed by the President.

2. Latin America — The Senate unanimously approved Spruille Braden of Montana for assistant secretary of state. It took the nomination more than a month to get through committee and the Senate. That was to let the State department know that senators want this country to talk with Latin America nations before acting on hemispheric questions.

3. Housing — Two congressmen talked about introducing bills to control sales prices. But Congress lacks enthusiasm for new price controls.

Taxes And Airports

4. Taxes — The big reduction bill is being polished up for the Senate. It may come up on the floor Wednesday. The House has passed it. There will be a conference later to iron out differences.

5. Airports—The Senate delayed until Wednesday naming conferees to work out with the House the big bill for federal aid in postwar airport building. Republicans objected to five names suggested.

The tone of questions indicated Forrestal was bucking a majority of the Senate Military committee in his fight against Army-Navy consolidation.

The Navy secretary urged a broad study of postwar defense problems by a committee. He wants a national security council including secretaries of State, War and Navy along with the administrator of a proposed national security resources board.

Army Favors Merger

High Army officials have favored the merger.

Senate displeasure with the State department's role in deferring an inter-American conference set for Oct. 20 was voiced by big guns of the foreign relations committee before action on the Braden nomination.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) attributed to Braden part of the responsibility for this country's initiative in delaying the Rio meeting. The meeting was called off to avoid dealing with the Peron regime of Argentina.

Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) said his country had talked only with Brazil before moving to postpone the conference. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) said such moves arouse suspicion of the sister republics.

22 Enroute Home From Alaska Killed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Army's Alaskan department announced today that 17 enlisted men from Aleutians bases and five officers were killed last night when a C-47 transport command plane crashed in a swamp 2½ miles southwest of Elmendorf field.

The soldiers were en route home for redeployment or discharge.

The Army said no list would be available until a copy of the plane's manifest arrives and next of kin are notified.

One Dies, Six Hurt In Auto Collision

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22. (AP)—A head-on automobile collision near Stiles Saturday caused one death and injuries to six others.

David William Armstrong, 44, Big Lake trucking contractor, died in a hospital here yesterday from injuries received in the accident.

BRADEN CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP) — The Senate today confirmed President Truman's nomination of Spruille Braden as an assistant secretary of state, after more than a month's delay. Braden, former ambassador to Buenos Aires, was named to head the Latin-American division in the State department.

War Chest Drive To Be Resumed

FOR the first time in history, Lubbock is overwhelmingly failing in a financial campaign aimed at aiding varied and essential services to portions of humanity victimized in one way or another by the demands of war.

The United War Chest drive has raised about $22,000, against a county quota of $50,500. Only bright spot in the entire picture is that the city hasn't as yet been "thoroughly worked" by fund-raising teams; that only about 40 of each 100 potential contributors have been personally approached. Darkest spot in the picture is that the remaining 60 per cent have not taken it upon themselves voluntarily to contribute.

Leaders of the campaign here have decided, and justly so, to "take to the streets" again, seeking to contact everyone who thus far has been missed by personal solicitation. These leaders and their co-workers already have given generously of time and money to this cause but, even so, are willing to give more in order that Lubbock may assume its full responsibility.

No one has been "high-pressured" to contribute to the United War Chest; no one will be "high-pressured." But workers will do their dead level best to give everyone an opportunity to contribute—and will hope, at the same time, that those who inadvertantly shall be missed will take it upon themselves to send in their contributions.

If YOU are one who has not yet contributed, either because of not being solicited, or because of procrastination, won't YOU be ready to contribute to solicitors when they call? Or won't YOU, even better, take the initiative and mail your check to United War Chest, c.o. the Chamber of Commerce, City Hall, Lubbock?

The war isn't over yet for millions of boys in service. It isn't over for millions of cold and hungry people in many parts of the world.

But YOU can help make things easier for them if YOU will do your share.

Act today—in Humanity's name.

Killing Frost Rides In On Norther Here

Examinations of cotton and sorgum leaves showed that Monday morning's heavy frost, which blanketed the South Plains area, was definitely a "killing" frost "as far as we are concerned out here," Don L. Jones, head of the Texas Experiment sub-station east of Lubbock, said last night.

"Cotton and the biggest per cent of sorghum leaves were killed," he said. Grains may go on a few days before the killing process is complete, and that far enough along will mature. Bulk of the July-planted sorghums did not mature in time, he added.

Mercury Reaches 28

The frost, accompanied by a low temperature of 28 degrees, came 13 days earlier than the average killing frost date—Nov. 4—according to the 34-year weather record at the station. It was about ten days earlier than the average dates.

Harvesting of cotton, either by hand or mechanical methods, will be facilitated by the frost, will growth is stopped and leaves will fall off.

Snyder Temperature 29

Scurry and Borden counties were covered with frost Monday morning after temperature had dropped to 29 degrees at Snyder, it was reported. Scurry farmers believed the frost, which followed heavy dews each night for the past ten days, will be greatly beneficial to small grains recently drilled and seeded.

Sunday's norther struck early in the day and increased its intensity until early afternoon. The mercury dropped to 46 degrees at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon and thereafter started a steady decline until the low was reached at 5 o'clock Monday morning.

At 2 p. m. Monday, the temperature had climbed back to a cool 58 degrees.

REFRIGERATOR PRICES SET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP) — OPA announced today that retail price ceilings for new refrigerators will average the levels of March, 1942.

OPA Claimed Hindrance To Reconversion

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—OPA was accused in Congress today of being behind the times and hence, a block in the path of reconversion.

The complaint was made in the eighth report of the House committee assigned to investigate whether federal agencies stay within their legal authority.

The group, headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va), called for rewritten price controls, taking into account manufacturing costs.

Unless this is done, the report said, industry will not reconvert to low-price items now in scarcity.

Recommendations

The seven-member group recommended:

1—A new policy permitting prices to producers that "reflect current costs of production plus a normal prewar margin of profit."

2—A simplified system so that the new controls are interpreted uniformly throughout the country.

3—Permission for manufacturers to make such prices effective thereafter unless the district or regional OPA offices intervene within a reasonable time.

4—Adjusted retail prices to reflect any dollar markup allowed to manufacturers.

Suspension of Controls

5—Suspension of controls on commodities where supply and demand are in balance.

6—A review of the maximum average price regulation with a view to revoking or modifying it.

7—A concentrated effort by the price administrator to carry out these objectives.

The committee said testimony by manufacturers and distributors showed that OPA's methods have resulted in reduced production and lowered opportunity for employment.

Price Regulation

The average price regulation came in for sharp criticism. This is the rule holding prices to March, 1942, levels. Higher cost of output since then, the group said, impelled manufacturers to turn to higher-priced units and low-priced items have "disappeared" from the market.

The committee cited the case of a manufacturer who made a prewar awning at $1.59. Increased cost would require a retail of $1.79, the report said, but OPA refused that and the man abandoned the product.

"A vastly inferior awning of the same size, made by a newcomer to the field, sells at retail for $3.26 with OPA approval," the report related.

LAAF Is Ordered On Inactive List

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 22. (AP) — The Lubbock Army Air field at Lubbock will be placed on the temporary inactivation list on or before Nov. 15, Randolph Field headquarters of the Army Air Forces Central Flying Training command announced today.

Lubbock field at present is an instrument training school. It was activated Aug. 1, 1941, and trained hundreds of cadets in twin engine advanced instruction until Jan. 10, 1945, when the program was changed to instrument work.

Abernathy auxiliary field and the auxiliary fields designated as one, two, three and four will go on the inactive status at the same time.

NO NOTIFICATION OF ACTION IS RECEIVED

Col. Harold N. Holt, acting commanding officer at Lubbock Army Air field in the temporary absence of Col. Howell M. Estes, jr., said Monday that no official notification regarding the inactivation of the station had been received as yet. Until such time as official orders clear, authorities at LAAF have no concrete idea of what steps shall be taken, when they shall be taken, or what sort of skeleton personnel will be maintained during the "temporary inactive" period.

The fact that LAAF has been placed on "temporary inactive" status gave rise to some feeling in informed civilian quarters that it is possible that LAAF may later be restored to active status. Any final decision, however, doubtless must await action by Congress on appropriations for the Army and resultant decision regarding amount of personnel which can be maintained during peace.

Officials explained that fields designated as one, two, three and four, which also go on inactive status, were those which have been used in flying training, all of them located on the old Spade ranch. South field is located about seven miles southwest of the main base; West field, which was later expanded and is in reality two fields, is located about seven miles west, and North field is about 10 miles northwest.

CIO Charges Motor Firm With 'Sitdown Strike' On Wage Plan

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 22. — Vice President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO's United Automobile Workers union charged to Congress tonight that General Motors had "given notice of a sitdown strike" against a government wage raising policy.

Reuther sent a telegram to Sen. James E. Murray, chairman of the Senate Education and Labor committee, asking Murray to "bring immediately to the attention of the Senate" the position of General Motors in its current wage dispute with the union.

Formal Notice Claimed

The union official asked that the Senate be informed that "President Charles E. Wilson of General Motors, the largest corporation in the country, has formally given notice of a sitdown strike against the announced government policy of raising wage rates to maintain take-home pay whenever such increases do not require price increases."

Charging that Wilson had delivered "an 'either or' ultimatum" to the government, the people and General Motors' 350,000 employes, Reuther said:

"Either, says Mr. Wilson, the government will have to raise prices, labor will have to take the present 23 per cent cut in take-home pay or the Congress must amend the wage-hour act to increase the normal work week to 45 hours.

Plan As Charged

"If Congress will jump through the hoop at General Motors' command, then, says Mr. Wilson, General Motors will increase hourly wage rates five to eight per cent and pay overtime after 45 hours.

"If none of these ultimatums is accepted, Mr. Wilson said, General Motors will push out sample cars to dealers throughout the country and then go on a sitdown strike, relying on public opinion to force Congress to take the backward step of increasing the work week to 45 hours — at a time when eight million unemployed within the year are anticipated."

Reuther told Sen. Murray that "General Motors wants a strike. That is plain. It is baiting labor; it is baiting the government; it is planning to use its vast economic power and propaganda machine to coerce Congress."

45-Hour Plan Assailed

In disclosing his telegram to Washington, Reuther followed up previous statements by himself and UAW-CIO President R. J. Thomas assailing Wilson's proposal for a 45-hour work week.

The statements from the union heads, which included a charge by Reuther that "Wilson and General Motors are hell bent for a strike," came as the corporation advised its salaried and hourly-rated workers that Wednesday's strike vote "will undoubtedly be in favor of a strike."

A strike vote in GM's plants, at the petition of the UAW-CIO in support of its 30 per cent wage increase demand, will be conducted by the National Labor Relations board Wednesday.

Thomas said Wilson's 45-hour week proposal for the country would "add at least six million to the ten million who will face the bitter prospect of unemployment in 1946."

Charred Bones Of American Airmen Found Near Hankow

By RICHARD CUSHING
Associated Press Staff Writer

HANKOW, China, Oct. 22—The charred bones of three American airmen, at least one of them was burned alive after falling into Japanese hands, have been recovered here.

This story of brutal torture by beating, icewater and finally fire came from information obtained by American intelligence officers and reliable local witnesses.

The men were survivors of a B-29 bomber from Chengtu which crashed 50 miles north of Hankow. Before being murdered, all were prodded for miles through the wintry streets of Hankow last Dec. 18 while clad only in their short underwear, and were beaten, kicked and reviled.

Hankow residents well remember the event, because two days later this city received its worst bombing of the war from a huge force of American planes. The residents say they believe that somehow word of the atrocity reached the Americans and the raid was in reprisal.

Identification of the hapless Americans probably never will be disclosed, lest it cause their relatives unbearable anguish.

Reliable witnesses said the death march was inspired by the superintendent of a Japanese-sponsored "model youth corps" who wanted to make a name for himself as a strong taskmaster Japanese gendarmes acceded to his wishes, and the march began about 1 p. m.

Exhort Crowds To Join In

The gendarmes exhorted the crowds along the route to beat the already-injured men with sticks, to spit on them, douse them with icy water, and strike them in the face with fists.

Witnesses said that one person, dressed as a civilian Chinese but actually a Japanese, poked out one flier's eyes with a sharp stick and that many other similarly-clad Japanese stirred up the people to strike the Americans.

"Most of us looked briefly, then turned our heads, it was so barbarous," said a witness.

"The men could hardly stagger, they were so bruised and beaten, but one of them—and I'll never forget him—smiled through it all, a broad, set smile that must have irritated his tormentors."

Doused In Gasoline

The men, more dead than alive, were then held in a schoolhouse until late that night, when they were taken to a suburban crematorium. There, according to evidence in American intelligence officers' hands, they were doused with gasoline and set ablaze, at least one being still alive when the torch was applied.

Gen. Naosaburo Okabe, Japanese commander in the Hankow area, has informed American officers that his subordinates who were responsible "are not here now but I am trying to get in touch with them, and they will be strictly dealt with."

French Approve De Gaulle Plans

PARIS, Oct. 22 (AP)—Three powerful political parties, all distinctly to the left of center, emerged tonight from France's national elections as the dominant factors in the new constituent assembly which will carry out the voters' mandate to draft a new constitution.

Virtually complete returns showed the people not only had overwhelmingly approved Gen. De Gaulle's plans to found a Fourth Republic, but had placed the task in the hands of the Socialists, the Communists and a new party born of the resistance —the Mouvement Republican Populaire.

All Want Reforms

These three parties, all advocates of sweeping reforms in the 1875 constitution of the Third Republic, ran almost neck and neck in the elections. Together they won at least 435 seats out of the 586 which will make up the constituent assembly.

The Communists, although they kept abreast of the Socialists, lost their first test of strength against De Gaulle on his proposal for limiting the powers of the constituent assembly and creating an interim government.

De Gaulle Stronger

Although De Gaulle himself was not a candidate for the assembly, there was no doubt that he emerged from yesterday's voting—the first national elections in nine years and the first in which French women ever voted —stronger than ever.

Another weathervane of his strength, in addition to the overwhelming approval of his plans for a new constitution, was the victory of all but one of the 16 members of his cabinet who ran for seats in the assembly.

One of the most significant developments, perhaps, was the

Mass Picketing May Close More Studios

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22 (AP)—Mass picketing — which strike leader Herbert K. Sorrell says will close every movie plant this week—spread today to two more studios, virtually closing down one of them.

RKO officials reported that only one company was shooting today of the six scheduled to work. Most actors were on hand, they said, but there were no technicians to operate the equipment.

Paramount, picketed by approximated 300, reported that production had not been affected so far.

Settlement of the strike seemed no nearer after a week of conferences between representatives of studios and unions. Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, flew today to Cincinnati to meet with the AFL executive council tomorrow.

Education To Be Revamped

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 22—Amid cries of fraud, Japan's family-operated industrial monopolies which built the machine of aggressive war promised today to go out of business, while Allied headquarters started kicking the medieval kinks out of the education system that long has nutured the warlike spirit.

Simultaneously Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former premier who is taking an increasing share of Japan's political spotlight, contended that the emperor's highly-touted divinity never had been a legal concept. He conceded, however, that the current constitutional revision would shear Hirohito of some of his absolute powers.

Agree To Liquidate

The family monopolies, a system unique to Japan and known as the Zaibatsu, have agreed to liquidate, Finance Minister Viscount Keizo Shibusawa announced in a statement issued under the names of the finance and industry ministries.

The powerful Tokyo paper Asahi immediately challenged the announcement. It declared that the asserted dissolution plans of such industrial giants at Mitsui, Sumotomo and Mitsubishi were merely a blind intended to evade responsibility for the war, protect profits and await opportunities to go warmongering.

The minister told American and Japanese news men that liquidation was a huge undertaking and details would have to be submitted to Allied headquarters for approval. He said it should not take long, but at another point said "real democratization" would require years.

Not Entirely Clear

Whether dissolution would affect the parent companies or merely their satellites was not clear. The finance minister declined to say definitely whether antitrust legislation was contemplated.

The Asahi was outspoken in calling the whole thing a fake.

Actually, the paper said, "they have been doing their utmost to contribute to Japan's war effort and no one can rest assured that there is no danger of their embarking again on war ventures at some opportune moment in the future."

The owners of Asahi itself, however, gave a flat no to a demand by the paper's employes that as

Price And Wage Policy Formed

WASHINGTON Oct. 22. (AP)—Edward C. Moran, Jr., assistant secretary of labor, said "a very definite policy was substantially agreed to" in a White House price-wage conference this afternoon.

He did not elaborate, however, and other participants in the one hour and twenty minute session with President Truman left the impression that there would be more discussions before an administration statement can be shaped up.

Talks To Continue

One administration source said the President will talk with several other advisers before making any final decision.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, who recently took over a number of oil refineries under an executive order as the result of a labor disputes, participated in the discussion from that angle.

Others who sat in were Secretary of the Treasury Vinson; Secretary of Agriculture Anderson; Edwin Witte, public member of the War Labor board; Price Administrator Chester Bowles; Judge John Caskie Collet, economic stabilizer; and John W. Snyder, reconversion director.

Meanwhile there were indications that the President will offer his wage-price program, as well as the job of easing postwar labor disputes, to the Nov. 5 labor-management conference.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THOSE who have seen the freedom with which American troops spend money will enjoy this story from India.

An American, having hired a tonga for a distance the ordinary fare for which would be half a rupee, magnanimously handed the driver a 50-rupee note.

The man shook his head violently and demanded 60.

"No," said the American, "that's enough. I shan't pay any more."

The Indian thereupon accepted the money and walked away, leaving the tonga and pony with the purchaser.

Korea Poses Special Problems As Allies Work On Postwar Plans

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Korea, the "land of morning calm," presents a special problem among the East Asian countries demanding their freedom.

Unlike Indo-China, the Netherlands Indies or Malaya, there is no colonial question involved. Korea is by right an independent nation which was annexed by Japan and for 35 years has been under alien rule.

Japs Being Eliminated

Korea has a population of about 24,000,000, of which an overwhelming majority are native. There is a small minority of Chinese and Japanese, most of the latter introduced during the period of Japanese overlordship. The Japanese are being eliminated from public life by United States and Russian occupation authorities as rapidly as is practicable. The Koreans are a distinct people, with their own language, culture and customs.

Korea's future was charted at the Cairo conference of the United States, Great Britain and China in 1943. It was decided that "in due course, Korea shall become free and independent." President Truman since has announced that Russia will assist in carrying out this program.

Soviets Complicate Situation

The situation has been complicated by Russia's action in assuming joint occupation with the United States of Korea, the Soviets taking over the northern part beyond the 38th parallel. There is some mystery over how this came about, since there was no advance public announcement of such an agreement. Dr. Syngman Rhee, veteran leader of the Korean independence movement now back in his country from long exile in the United States, has said he learned at the San Francisco conference that the decision was made at Yalta in the Crimea.

Dr. Rhee was outspoken in his opposition to the divided occupation in a speech at a welcome ceremony staged by Koreans for the United States Army on Saturday. He declared the Koreans would rather fight and die than tolerate a prolonged division of their country.

Koreans Backed By U. S.

Dr. Rhee, former president of the Korean provisional government in exile, has been given every encouragement by the United States, along with other Korean independence leaders. He was introduced at the welcome ceremony by Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of the United States occupation forces, who said:

"He is a great man who has given his entire life to the freedom of Korea. He is one without personal ambition who has worked to get Korea into the family of free nations and he has lived to see this being accomplished."

"Quislings" In Country

Under such auspices, Dr. Rhee assured of every chance to work for the unity and independence of his countrymen. He is not being given particular "recognition" by the United States. Gen. Hodge also has invited Dr. Kim Koo, president of the Korean provisional government at Chungking, and other Korean leaders to come to Seoul. Rhee and Kin Koo have indicated their willingness to work together.

There are difficult problems to be worked out—some 40 political parties to be dealt with, and hordes of Korean Quislings who got fat and prosperous by "cooperating" with the Japanese.

No Immediate Freedom

An important aspect of Korean independence is the moral effect its progress will have on the Indonesians, Annamese and other claimants to self-rule. Korea has a clear case, yet the Allies are not prepared to turn over Korea to the Koreans without an interim period. The United States favors an international "truteeship" during the transition. American policy was outlined by John Carter Vincent, the State department's Far Eastern affairs director, in a speech to a forum policy association forum in New York. In substance, it is:

The United States hopes to work out with Russia an administrative "understanding" between the two Korea occupation zones before establishing a trusteeship in which "Allies principally interested" will take part. The United States already has set up a consultative council of Koreans to aid the military in its zone. Vincent said two zones were unsatisfactory from the standpoint of administration.

Meddling Neighbors Blamed After Lashing

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Oct. 22. (AP)—Lloyd O. Busching hopes his "meddlesome neighbors" are satisfied now that he's been given 10 lashes with a rawhide whip for beating his wife.

The state of Maryland inflicted the penalty last Friday. The couple, since reunited, explained to a reporter yesterday their troubles were "just a family disagreement."

Said Busching in a statement:

"My conviction was the result of meddlesome neighbors. . . . I accept the punishment . . . and I hope these same meddlesome neighbors are very well satisfied.

"I still love my wife, she still loves me. We're getting along swell and will continue to do so."

Mrs. Busching said she had never sworn out an assault warrant on her husband. On the contrary, she said, she made unsuccessful efforts to have the charge dropped.

Stalin May Delegate Some Of Burdens To Other Soviet Chiefs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (U.P.)—Officials here would not be surprised if Generalissimo Josef Stalin gave up in the near future some of the extra burdens he assumed during the war.

They long have felt it would be natural for the hard-working Soviet leader, who will be 66 on Dec. 21, to turn over to other hands responsibilities which he has carried on his own shoulders in the period of his country's greatest danger.

Big Three Accord

This speculation has been accompanied by considerable worry lest the men who take over Stalin's labors in the international field should prove less cooperative than he has been.

Throughout the war Stalin and the Late President Roosevelt and former Prime Minister Winston Churchill worked in harness, so to speak, and the western Allied leaders had reached agreement with him on many postwar problems.

Now In Complete Charge

Before the war Stalin led Russia as executive boss of the Communist party. He has since, however, assumed the premiership and direct leadership of the Red Army and the entire Soviet war effort.

Officials also have speculated as to whom Stalin would choose as his successor if he decided to step out of the government entirely. Marshal Georgi Zhukov has been mentioned in this connection.

Some circles here would not like to see a military man become the No. 1 figure in the Soviet government. Others, however, say that Zhukov got along well with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and that his elevation might be a good augury for Allied unity in Europe.

"Dope Stories" Said Wrong On HST's Talk

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (U.P.)—All the "dope stories" on President Truman's message to Congress tomorrow on universal military training are wrong, White House Secretary Eben Ayres said today.

He refused to say, however, in what respect the speculation was wrong or what the President would recommend.

Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley disclosed that the President discussed the military training message with Congressional leaders at their weekly conference today.

"I imagine it will be some modification of what we always have known as compulsory military training," Barkley said. "I do not know what modifications it includes."

Chest Drive Opens Anew Here Monday

With members of the big gifts division holding a "kick-off" meeting in the city commission room at the City hall, the United War Chest campaign drive opened anew in Lubbock Monday afternoon.

As part of the renewed effort, the big gift division made special plans to contact those who were missed in the first phase of the campaign, DeWitt Landis, head of the group, reported.

The general solicitation group will start work after a gathering at 9 o'clock this morning in the Hilton hotel ballroom.

Majors and captains in the general army Monday morning were lining up their lieutenants and polishing plans for the drive.

Decide On New Drive

The new drive was decided upon after the original campaign which started Oct. 1 bogged down less than a half of the way toward the quota of $50,505. Contributions this morning stood at $23,063.31. Not included in this report is $400 raised at Lubbock Army Air field. Workers there said they still had much soliciting to do and probably would not be finished before the last of the month.

Approximately all solicitation in the rural areas has been completed, officials said.

Newsman Charges Poland Again Holds Political Prisoners

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Gladwin Hill, correspondent of the New York Times, said in a dispatch published in that newspaper today that the former German concentration camp at Oswiecim "is operating again under Polish auspices."

"Its wire fences have been charged with electricity," he added.

Hill's dispatch from Warsaw dated Oct. 12 said "the belief is widespread in Warsaw" that the total number of political prisoners held by the Polish government may be near 100,000.

"The official line advanced by some government officers is that there are no more than 1,000 political prisoners in Poland today," he wrote. "However, other government officials have acknowledged to me that there were between 60,000 and 80,000, with the stipulation that the bulk of them is 'Volkdeutsch'—Polish Germans or Germanized Poles."

"This is written in Warsaw but it will not be committed to print until this correspondent is safely out of Poland," he added, explaining that no foreign correspondents so far had been harmed in Poland "but a definite hostility toward foreign reporting of unquestionable facts already has been displayed."

"There also exists throughout the war-torn country today a condition approaching a subtle reign of terror in which there is no assurance of what may happen to critics of the present regime."

When the tomb of King Tut in Egypt was opened, chairs and other glue bonded items were found intact, and in good condition.

Duck 'Shoots' Man As Hunting Party Gets Slightly Mixed Up

HOUSTON, Oct. 22. (U.P.)—Stanley J. Bonner today treated a sore knee where a duck shot him.

He walked into his backyard Sunday to shoot "a couple of domestic ducks" with his .22 automatic. Duck No. 1 dropped over dead at the first shot.

Duck No. 2 blew his top and jumped on Bonner's arm, jarring the pistol causing it to go off with the bullet lodging in Bonner's left knee.

Duck No. 2 remained alive and healthy.

Argentina's Status Studied At Meeting

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Speculation arose today among delegates of the United Nations executive committee that an objection might be raised against Argentina participating in the United Nations preparatory commission and assembly because of the crisis in the Argentine military government.

The general impression among officials was that nothing could be done to bar Argentina at the start of the preparatory commissoin meeting because technically, with President Edelmiro Farrell still in office, the Argentine government remains the same despite recent convulsions in which Vice President Juan Peron was deposed only to emerge with increased power.

Only a question of time...

Telephone factories are already turning out some of the equipment needed to serve the 246,000 persons waiting for telephones in the Southwest at war's end.

That stream will grow mightily in the months ahead. It will move slowly for a while, of course. It takes time to manufacture and install new apparatus.

A telephone alone contains 248 precision parts. Switchboards and dial central office equipment for only 10,000 telephones must be designed to handle nearly 50,000,000 possible interconnections.

But we've made a start. We've turned the corner. We're on our way. Every month ahead brings us closer to serving all who want telephones without delay.

Family Monopolies Backed Japs' War Machine Despite Denials

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22 — The big family monopolies in Japan, the Zaibatsu, are said to claim that they were forced by the military to cooperate in Japan's war effort.

WHITE

Their cooperation was insignificant, it is further claimed.

In July, 1944, the United States Foreign Economic administration issued an incomplete list of the major pre-war Japanese industrial firms presumed to be behind Japan's war effort. It listed several hundred names.

Some Of Firms Named

Here are the firms in Japan proper which the FEA listed as bearing the names of the two best known of the Zaibatsu trusts (there are about ten altogether):

In Tokyo: Mitsubishi dockyards shipbuilding; Mitsubishi heavy industries and engineering works—engines, boilers; Mitsubishi Coal Liquefaction Co — carbonization of coal chemicals; Mitsui Mining Co.—dyes, chemicals, soda; Mitsubishi Paper Mills—paper, chemicals.

In Yokohama: Mitsubishi heavy industries—dockyards, heavy machinery, aircraft.

Osaka-Kobe Area

In the Osaka-Kobe area: Mitsubishi Mining Co.—Smelting, refining of non-ferrous metals; Mitsubishi heavy industries — shipyards, boiler and machine shops; Mitsubishi shipyards — shipbuilding; Mitsubishi Electric Mfg. Co. —general industrial and hydro-electric equipment, aircraft.

In Nagoya: Mitsubishi heavy industries—aircraft, engines, magnetos and miscellaneous accessories, hydroelectric and general industrial equipment. (At the end of the war, this aircraft factory, although destroyed by U. S. bombing, was called the biggest in the world); Mitsubishi Electric Mfg. Co.—power plant, railway, mining and electrical equipment.

Hiroshima, Nagasaki

In Hiroshima: Mitsubishi heavy industries—shipyards, boiler and machine works, electrical equipment and aircraft.

In Shimonoseki: Mitsubishi heavy industries—engine works, dockyards; Mutsui Mining Co.—non-ferrous metals, dyes, synthetic oil.

In Nagasaki: Mitsubishi heavy industries — shipyards, engines, steel works, armament; Mitsubishi Electric Mfg. Co. — Magnetoes, generators, hydro and steam power equipment, aircraft; Mitsubishi dockyards—shipbuilding.

In Omuta (Miike): Mitsui Mining Co.—chemicals, explosives.

Others Under Control

That is for Japan alone. The list does not include the many other firms which these two groups controlled but which bore other names, nor their vast holdings in Korea and Manchuria and and occupied China.

To those who have watched the development of Japanese aggression in Asia, the claim that these two houses, to name just two, did not cooperate with the military long before Pearl Harbor sounds somewhat hollow.

To be sure, they quarreled with the Army and Navy over their share of exploitation proceeds, but these quarrels usually were patched up.

Barbecue Planned On 'Lost Battalion' Day

Members of the "Lost Battalion" from Lubbock county and members of their families last night were invited to attend as special guests a barbecue-featured joint meeting of Allen Bros. Post of the American Legion and Auxiliary in the hall at 7:30 p. m. Oct. 29, official "Lost Battalion" day for Texas.

Committees for arrangements from the Legion Auxiliary and the Legion were appointed. Hop Halsey and his cowboys will furnish entertainment for the program, it was announced at last night's meeting. Battalion members, not planning to attend the Wichita Falls celebration on the same date, were invited to attend the local festivities.

Monday night's social meeting featured a medley of entertainment with Halsey, master of ceremonies, and his cowboys, specialties by Clyde Green, Bundy Bratcher, Maidie Clairborne, a dance trio composed of Misses Mary Johnson, Billy Hutchings and Jerry Lynn Medlock from the Betty Rhea School of Dancing, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Medlock; a dance by Miss Ann Bentley; three vocal numbers by Mrs. Gordon Treadaway, accompanied by Mrs. John C. Oldham, and a song by Bill Blake, veteran of World War II, accompanied by Mrs. Treadaway.

Negro's Auto Acts Up And He Pays Off For Drunk Driving

Marshall Davis, 34-year-old negro was fined $50 and costs and his right to drive a car revoked six months in country court Monday by Judge Walter Davies on a drunk driving charge to which he pleaded guilty, but that doesn't begin to tell the story of what happened when he lost control of his car Sunday in the negro section.

According to Pete Hubbard and Chester Morris, police patrolmen who filed the complaint, the car:

1. Left the road and lit out across residential property of another black.
2. Bowled over a PWA-type outdoor toilet.
3. Ran over a pigpen and killed one pig.
4. Knocked down a cowlot.
5. Missed a telephone pole by six inches.
6. Plowed through the corner of a cowbarn, and
7. Disgorged Davis, who being about as confused as his car indicated, ran "the wrong direction right into the arms of the law."

L. R. Nichols, 34, charged in a separate case with drunk driving, pleaded innocent. His bond was set at $600 Police said Nichols drove on the left side of the road and elected to drive through the wrong side of an underpass, "nearly hitting two cars."

Davis had executed a deferred payment bond later Monday.

In a third drunk driving complaint, E. R. Holloway, 35, executed a deferred payment bond for his fine of $300 and court costs.

Poe Rackley, 46, was still in county jail last night, not having posted bond of $800 in connection with a charge of habitual drunkenness, and James R. Allison, 23, similarly charged, had not been transferred by the city to the county, after being fined $25 for abusive language toward the arresting officer.

Willie M. Florez, 19, Mexican, charged with robbery by assault, pleaded innocent and posted $1,000 bond.

Churchill Displeased At Slowness Of Demobilization; Plan Assailed

LONDON, Oct. 22. (U.P.)—Former Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that he was "disquieted" over the slow pace of British demobilization.

Churchill, fully recovered from a sore throat, attacked the government in his role as leader of the opposition. He spoke at the opening of Commons debate on demobilization.

"Whatever may be the view taken on socialism or free enterprise," he said, "it is common that we should get the great wheels as well as the little wheels of life and industry turning as soon as possible. For this we need men."

Navy Needs Not Great

Churchill said he saw nothing to justify the use of any more manpower in the Navy than before the war. He estimated the Navy would have 665,000 men in December and 448,000 would be retained at the end of next June. The prewar number was 133,000, he said.

The Royal Air Force must be maintained on a very large scale, Churchill said with about 4,000 planes in constant service. He said the personnel of the RAF should be reduced to 400,000, not the 318,000 now contemplated for the period up to Dec. 31.

The task of holding Germany down will not be a hard one, Churchill said. It would be much more difficult to hold her up, he added.

He said that for the occupation of Germany and the Low Countries a rationed strength of 400,000 should be the maximum for the Army. He estimated that another 400,000 would be required in the Mediterranean zone.

Plan Said Inadequate

Denouncing the Labor government's demobilization plan as inadequate he said this was the "fountainhead of our domestic difficulties."

While men and women are being held in the armed services without justification, he said, there can be no speedy revival.

"The woeful shortage of consumer goods will continue," Churchill said. "The government will be unable to allow the people to spend their savings for fear of an undue rise in prices. Scarcity will be used as justification for controls, and the controls will be a baneful means of prolonging the scarcity."

He appealed to the government to free men from the services and "get all the great wheels turning." He said he would have been ashamed of responsibility for the government's declaration of demobilization.

No Large Scale Jobless

"Now is the time to bring back home the men who have conquered," he said. "There is no fear of large scale unemployment. Every industry is clamoring for men. Everywhere there are useful and fruitful tasks to be performed.

"Do not let us be deterred by fear of a shortage of houses. Use bulleting to the full. Take the land necessary for houses if you need it."

Labor Minister George Isaacs rose angrily to his feet as Churchill finished and accused the former prime minister of being "irresponsible and mischievous" in his criticism of the government demobilization program.

Isaacs said none of Churchill's suggestions were new to the labor government and that "even his peroration was stale and outworn."

Night Club Hostess Is Held In Shooting

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23. (U.P.)—Helen Joyce Cooke, 27-year-old night club hostess was held in $3,000 bail today pending an investigation into the shooting of Lt. Cmdr. Charles S. Osborne, 27, Fort Worth, Tex. in a mid-city apartment.

Osborne, attached to the Navy supply corps at the Philadelphia Navy yard, was shot in the left leg near the hip. His condition was reported "fair" at Jefferson hospital.

Police said they found the girl, who gave her address only as Long Island, N. Y., in the apartment when they investigated the shooting last night.

Miss Cooke claimed that Osborne was her husband, but the naval officer denied being married to her.

Osborne told police he accidentally shot himself with a .38-calibre pistol when it discharged while he was handling it. Police said they found Osborne lying on the floor and the pistol laying nearby. The girl claimed she was in a bathroom when the gun was discharged.

Navy yard officials also were investigating the shooting.

Two County Residents Featured In Magazine On Farming Practices

Two Lubbock county farmers—J. Frank Gray and M. D. Meyers, who live near Lubbock, are featured in stories appearing in the November issue of a national farm magazine which describe their progressive farming practices.

Gray is cited in a story headed "Pasture Off Sorghum Grain."

"Gray uses cattle to harvest sorghums," the article in the nationally circulated farm magazine points out. "Last year he grazed off thin, weedy combine milo and hegari and some heavily seeded fields as well with 213 steers.

Plan Is Described

"Gray believes that the cattle are going to make a good return, despite the waste that necessarily goes with grazing off standing sorghums. He fenced off 12 to 20 acres at a time, let the cattle clean up the grain on it, then fenced off another patch. Part of the sorghum was seeded after oats were harvested from the field. Shattered oats lay dormant until after the last row crop cultivation, then sprouted to provide high-protein roughage to supplement the sorghum fodder and grain. However, Gray did not rely on the oats to supply all of the protein needed for satisfactory gains. He began feeding cottonseed cake as soon as steers went into the field."

Nurse Crop Described

Meyers is featured in a story entitled "Fall Nurse Crop."

"Fall is the best time to seed alfalfa in this area," says the article, "and M. D. Meyers says winds may whip the little seedlings to death if they are unprotected in fall winter and early spring, so he uses a nurse crop of 15 pounds of barley an acre. Weather was mild last fall, and the barley came into head in early December. Growth was ample to protect the legume from the worst winds."

New Strife In China Is Claimed Raging

CHUNGKING, Oct. 22. (AP)—Gov. Ho Tsu-Yuan, of the strategic maritime province of Shantung, appealed to the central government and the Communists here today to stop what he said was a Civil war raging in his territory.

The Shangtung governor charged that the Communists were challenging the movement of central government troops northward along the Tientsin-Peiping railroad to establish a through corridor to Tientsin and Peiping from Nanking.

He estimated that the Communists controlled two-thirds of Shantung province.

Navy Attempting To Smooth Over Oil Controversy, Return Plants

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—H. Struve Hensel, assistant Secretary of the Navy, today requested conferences with oil industry management and labor leaders, preliminary to a prompt return of seized petroleum plants to private operation.

The Navy, acting on President Truman's order, took over more than 50 refining properties early this month after fruitless efforts by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to bring the CIO oil workers and operators together on the union's demand for 30 per cent increase in wage rates.

New Demands Made

The union accepted Schwellenbach's comprise proposal that the companies grant a 15 per cent increase when their operations were shaved from 48 to 40 hours a week and then to negotiate for any additional increases or permit an arbitrator to make the decision. The companies contended that the arbitration should begin at no increase rather than 15 per cent, and thus a deadlock developed which the secretary of labor was unable to break.

O. A. Knight, union president, said after the seizures his group was unwilling to join with the Navy in asking the War Labor board to approve immediately a 15 per cent increase, asserting that "we are not willing to settle at that figure and so are not interested in asking for only 15 per cent."

New Move Seen

Last Friday he said "some development" could be anticipated in the situation, however, and the forthcoming meetings with Hensel thus took on added significance.

Hensel announced that, with the knowledge and approval of the secretary of labor, he had requested W. R. Boyd, chairman of the Petroleum Industrial War council, to invite representatives of management to meet with him tomorrow afternoon.

The conference, he said, would discuss current conditions and "whether arrangements can be made to terminate Navy possession and control in the near future."

Plants Back In Operation

A similar conference with representatives of the Oil Workers International union, who are being invited through Knight will be held Wednesday morning.

At the same time Hensel said operation of struck plants which were seized by the Navy Oct. 4 under executive order, had been resumed and are rapidly returning to full production. Personnel have returned to work and conditions have returned to normal, he stated.

"As of Oct. 19," the announcement said, "the plants, as a whole, were operating at 94.7 per cent of their normal output. Full production will be achieved in the near future."

The Navy said it had received wholehearted cooperation of both management and labor in the operation of the plants but added it "desires to withdraw from the administration of these plants at the earliest practicable date."

Peace To Be Plenty Expensive, Nation Now Finding Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Peace, while wonderful, will be expensive.

The nation had this warning today as Congressmen, scientists and military experts continued their varied arguments over the best way to keep another war from getting started.

Must Be Most Powerful

Despite their many conflicting ideas, most parties agree on these two facts:

1. The United States must be so powerful in armed forces and scientific weapons that no nation will dare attack us.

2. This will cost a lot of money for many years. The experts talked about billions of dollars.

No one is willing to hazard a guess yet on postwar defense costs. But everyone will be surprised if the annual charges drop below $5,000,000,000 in the years immediately ahead.

The Army Navy and Air Force leaders all say we must have power to impress other nations.

Big Cuts On Schedule

The nation recently learned that some $2,000,000,000 went into the cost of developing the atomic bomb. Both scientists and the military leaders agree that this is no time to stop vast and costly scientific research and development.

While the United States in the past has taken world leadership in disarmament, most Congressmen question such a policy for the immediate future.

The Navy will cut from a peak of some 3,500,000 men and 11,500 commissioned ships to about 600,000 men and 1,670 ships during the next year. The Army expects to drop from well over 7,000,000 down to less than 2,000,00 by July next.

PLANET DISTRIBUTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22. (AP)—A former editorial writer on the Shanghai "China Press," John B. Penniston, 60, of Seattle, said today upon arriving here on the hospital ship Sanctuary he had worked out during his internment an explanation for the distribution of the minor planets.

Gold was first discovered in Australia in quantity in 1851.

Troops "Graduating" From Jap West Point On Way Back Home

TOKYO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Troops of an entirely different kind are "graduating" from the "West Point of Japan," these days — American troops who stream into the Fourth Replacement center high on points and morale and light in cares

Where once the Japanese flowed through the halls into the Imperial army and war against an increasingly powerful enemy, today's troops are finished with war. This is where they get the tickets home.

The replacement depot will handle 1,000 men a day as soon as the staff can be built up.

The men have light duty and bother very little about rank as they attend movies and orientation lectures.

"Of course, there's KP and police-up, but they put 50 men out to do the job of 30, so no one gets very fatigued," explained Staff Sgt. Richard O. Suess, a paratrooper from Chicago. "It's different from Stonemen (Camp Stoneman, Pittsburgh, Calif.). There we were all set to go to the front to fight the Nips and we didn't know if we'd get back. Then 100 men would be assigned KP and they'd all disappear in an hour. No one minds a little work."

Butter May Be Taken Off Ration List Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (U.P.)—Butter will be off the ration list by January and points probably will be reduced in the meantime, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said today.

Anderson told a Senate Small Business subcommittee he "is as confident as can be" that rationing of butter, fats and oils will be ended by January.

He added that he "hoped" butter points could go down before then.

Chairman Tom Stewart, D., Tenn., asked if that meant lower butter points were "in the offing."

Anderson smiled and said, "Well, I can say it's a matter of immediate discussion" between OPA and the Department of Agriculture.

Stewart had said earlier he understood excessive shipments of food abroad were cutting into U. S. supplies.

No part of England is more than 100 miles from the sea.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 22 (AP)—Foreign Minister Oesten Unden told the new Parliament today that Sweden was willing to join the world security organization with the consequent abandonment of her traditional policy of neutrality to the extent demanded by the United Nations charter.

He cautioned, however, that if any tendency to split up into "dual camps" appeared within the world organization, then Sweden would avoid being drawn into any bloc.

Police Stoned In Nuevo Laredo Strike

NUEVO LAREDO, Oct. 22 (U.P.)—Police were stoned and ten men were arrested Sunday at the beginning of a demonstration which culminated at 10 a. m. today in a 24-hour stoppage by workers at the power and electric company.

Demonstrating members of the confederation of Mexican workers paraded yesterday as protest against the allegedly anti-labor attitude of Mayor Pedro Gonzalez. Fighting broke out between the paraders and automobile owners who reportedly interferred with the persons in the parade who were listening to speeches of some of their members. Mayor Gonzales released the arrested men soon after they were jailed.

The workers were also protesting the mayor's announcement that the city red light district would be moved near the Hidalgo colony where many of the power company workers live and own homes.

Industry Seeks Low Priced Car

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Business Editor

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Detroit motor car manufacturers are engaged in a hot race for the low-priced car market, with General Motors alone setting aside $50,000,000 for research and engineering.

This fact came from Charles F. Kettering, director of research for General Motors. He would not go into details as to how the money would be spent, but it appeared obvious that it would include the actual making of machine tools for a car priced under either Ford or Chevrolet.

Ford Pushes Plans

On the surface, the Detroit manufacturers have been concentrating on producing as many improved 1942-type cars as quickly as they can, but with most of them scheduled to sell for more than 1942 prices the idea of a lighter, cut-rate car is getting plenty of attention.

Whether the established manufacturers will come out with a new name for a different car or produce a new model under one of the regular names is still to be determined.

The Ford company, which got a break in wartime contract cancellations and was the first to get into actual production, has kept its plans secret; but is known to be spending millions on research in the lower priced car field.

Demand Is Admitted

Then Henry Kaiser - Joseph Frazier threat to build a car that would undersell the old-line manufacturers has apparently been a factor in the situation.

A. E. Barit, president of the Hudson company, was one of the few who would be quoted. He said:

"We have all got to be prepared to meet any new trends or demands. Hudson has a low-priced car in the blueprint stage right now as a matter of preparedness."

Barit was asked specifically whether he thought the Kaiser-Frazier cars would be able to break successfully into a Detroit lineup that has not been cracked since Chrysler came into the market years ago.

"Anybody who has something to sell and who can make it cheap enough can come into Detroit or any place else," Barit said.

Almost 2,000,000 Men Released From Army

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (U.P.)—The Army released 1,919,000 personnel from May 12 through Oct. 19, the War department announced today.

The largest number of personnel released in any single day since demobilization started was 44,000 on Oct. 19.

On the basis of the current discharge rate it was estimated the 2,000,000th soldier was discharged yesterday.

All Teachers Back As Tahoka High Classes Resumed Monday

TAHOKA, Oct. 22. (Special)—Every teacher was in his place when Tahoka's school system was reopened this morning.

The school had been shut down three days last week because of a controversy over the athletic situation there and, before it was settled by a solid vote of confidence for school officials, resignations had been offered by school-men in charge and by the district board of trustees.

Gone from the system was only Coach H. W. Stewart, who had resigned Oct. 13.

Hancock In Dallas

Supt. E. E. Hancock was in Dallas, where his father-in-law remained at point of death. With him was Mrs. Hancock and their two children.

Nineteen members of the football team returned to school this morning, but were informed by Principal Vernon Brewer that their reinstatement would have to await the return of Supt. Hancock, whose office it is to make such decisions. The superintendent's date of return here could not be estimated because of his relative's critical condition, Brewer and board members said.

Superintendent Was Injured

Supt. Hancock had suffered a cut on the head requiring hospitalization Tuesday, when there was a scuffle. Pending clearing of reaction, which lined up on two sides and brought mass meetings, the school board and heads of the school system offered resignations. None was accepted. A petition of more than 600 taxpayers and school patrons evidenced wishes that the board and school heads remain at their posts. When the county board of trustees Saturday afternoon declined to accept resignation of the Tahoka board, the Tahoka board held a business session and reelected Hancock, Brewer and all teachers except for Coach Stewart, who had been replaced the first of last week contingent upon a later election to supply a coach.

Anonymous sources said "it looks this morning like the air is being cleared of controversy, but a grand jury probably will look into all phases of the row."

Nazi Says He Was In Church During Crimes

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 22 (AP)—Otto Kulessa, a Prussian defendant in the Belsen war crimes trial accused of shooting prisoners at the concentration camp, testified today "I was in church" at the time.

The 53-year-old guard had been growing a Hitlerian mustache for a week, and he tweaked it proudly as he gave the evidence he hopes will save his life.

Kulessa told the British military court that the shootings of April 2 of which he was accused were impossible for "at that time I was attending Easter church services at Nordhausen"—at a concentration camp several hundred miles from Belsen.

Kulessa—on trial with 44 others including "the Beast of Belsen," Josef Kramer—said he was conscripted into the German Army in May, 1944, and transferred to the SS four months later. He swore he arrived at Belsen with 5,000 prisoners a few days before the British Army captured the place.

When the captives asked for water, Kulessa said he obtained it for them from the locomotive. The water was boiling hot but the Prussian said that was the only water available.

The trial entered its sixth week today, and there was some prospect that the procedure might be quickened so the cases could be ended within another two weeks. Thus far only 16 of the 45 defendants have testified.

Army, Notre Dame Take Over Top Spot Among Grid Teams

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Army and Notre Dame galloped to added strength in today's compilation of the Associated Press' weekly poll to determine the country's top collegiate football team, while Navy and Ohio State skidded to lower berths.

The Cadets, who have reigned since November last year without interruption, grabbed 101 of the 112 first place votes and were not placed lower than third on any ticket.

Irish Move Up

Notre Dame, which defeated Pittsburgh Saturday by a 39 to 9 margin after a rugged first quarter, moved into second place ahead of Navy, which lumbered to a 20 to 6 conquest of Georgia however, was brought about by Tech.

Biggest change in the standings, Purdue's 35 to 13 victory over Ohio State, last year's Big Ten champions. The Boilermakers bounded from ninth to fourth ranking while the Buckeyes dropped from fourth to twelfth.

Texas In Ninth Place

Minnesota, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Texas and St. Mary's of California completed the first ten in that order.

The Gophers, who displayed an inclination to aerial football in mastering Northwestern Saturday in a 30 to 7 fray, had the unique distinction of being the only team among the 26 named by the country's sports writers to draw at least one vote for every berth in the top ten.

However, their 696 tallies couldn't lift them above fifth place, the same spot they occupied a week ago. Alabama, Pennsylvania and Indiana also hung onto their previous ranking while Texas moved from tenth to ninth and made room at the bottom of the elite ladder for St. Mary's

Defense Among Best

The California outfit, scored on only by the University of California this season while winning five straight, was eleventh a week ago. The Gails trounced McClellan field 58 to 0 Sunday.

Biggest jump among the also rans was that of Columbia, the Lions climbing from 17th to 11th on the strength of their fourth straight victory of the present campaign

The leading college football teams, determined on a basis of 10 points for each first place, nine for second, etc. (first place votes in parenthesis).

Army (101)	1108
Notre Name (4)	860
Navy (5)	803
Purdue	702
Minnesota (1)	696
Alabama	668
Pennsylvania	339
Indiana	280
Texas	199
St. Mary's (1)	119

Second ten: 11—Columbia 94; 12—Ohio State 59; 13—Louisiana State 55; 14—Tulsa 41; 15—Holy Cross 35; 16—Michigan 33; 17—Oklahoma AM 31; 18—Mississippi State 27; 19—Duke 19; 20—Southern California 18.

Honorable mention: Virginia 7; Georgia Tech 2; Washington 2; Illinois 2; Missouri 1; Oregon 1.

Boxing Matches Open At Boys Club Tonight

They start tossing the leather around out at the Boys Club at 7:30 o'clock tonight as the winter boxing classes get under way, the first round in several weeks of training which will lead to weekly matches and a shot at Golden Gloves titles later on in the season for the top notch boxers.

R. S. Stinnett, former professional and trainer for former Heavyweight Max Baer, will be on hand tonight to give instruction and supervise the ring activities.

The classes tonight will be the first of a series planned at the club with boxing matches conducted after the members have had a little training.

It is expected that several of the boys who will participate in the club's training activities and matches later will enter the annual Golden Gloves competition and that their early training may be of inestimable value to them in their bids for District crowns and the opportunity to go to Fort Worth to compete in the state events.

Additional information on the Boys Club training classes and matches will be announced later.

Lubbock Host In Golf Play Today

More than 100 topnotch amateur and professional golfers of the surrounding West Texas area are expected to converge in Lubbock today for the monthlyPro-Amateur matches at the Lubbock Country club.

Play will be over the 18-hole route, medal play with handicaps applying to amateurs. All players planning to participate in the event have been asked to be on hand by 12 o'clock or to phone in their entries so that pairings may be made and play get under way by one o'clock, it was announced by Herb Schroeder, host pro.

Topnotch Golfers Expected

Leading golfers of the area were expected from Odessa, Big Spring, Midland, Abilene, Lamesa, Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Plainview, Floydada, Slaton, Tahoka and Levelland.

Included among the topnotchers expected for the event, which was conducted at Plainview last month with a record field of 72 entries, were such well known pros as George Albach, president of the Texas PGA and Amarillo Country club; Shorty Hornbuckle, Odessa; Franklin Baker, Pampa; Joe Houck, Borger; Warren Cantrell, Abilene, and Herb Schroeder of Lubbock. Several of the low amateurs of the area also will be chosen team captains, it was said.

Climaxing the day's activities will be a big barbecue for those participating in the tournament.

Acquisition Of Land For Hunting Pushed

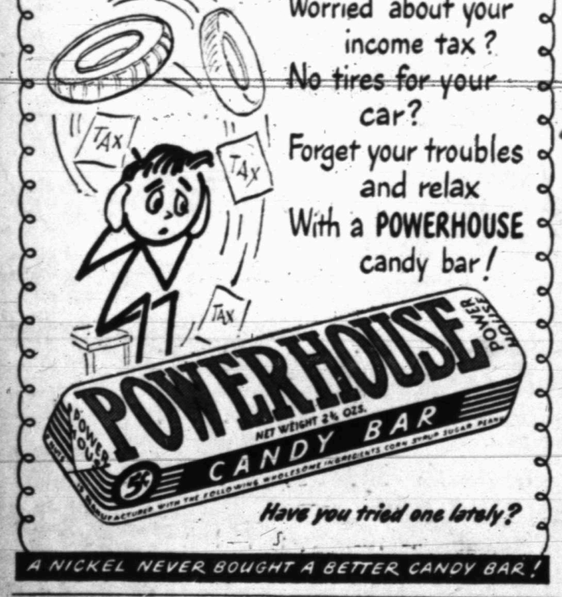

AUSTIN, Oct. 22 (AP)—The first step toward acquisition of several million acres of forested lands for a public hunting ground in deep East Texas was taken today by the game, fish and oyster commission, which also expressed concern over the diminishing quality of hill country deer.

On the latter point, several members of the commission openly declared they would favor advocating passage of laws to permit the hunting of does, at least on a restricted basis, to keep the deer population of the hill country within the limits of available forage.

The game preserve plan for East Texas was put before the commission by Howard Dodgen, executive secretary, who obtained approval of a lease on 20,000 acres of land near Deweyville in Newton county where a controlled re-stocking program will be carried out. This will be done on experimental basis to determine final policy in regard to approximately 3,000,000 available acres which Dodgen said could be acquired and turned into a public hunting preserve.

Deer and turkey would be hunted on a special permit basis after suitable re-stocking in strict accordance with the game populations in the controlled area, similar to the plan now in effect for hunting antelope in the trans Pecos. Squirrel hunting would not be subject to this special control.

Red Raiders Play Host To WTSTC

Westerners, Raiders Face Tough Tussles

Lubbock High's Westerners are in for another licking this weekend. And Texas Tech's scrapping Red Raiders are in for a tough but possible narrow win come Saturday night.

At least that is the way the past records and the Tuesday morning coffee quarterbacks have it figured out.

The Westerners, who have lost two in a row now, will be facing some of the toughest opposition in the entire state Friday night when they invade Plainview to tangle with the undefeated, untied and unscored-on Bulldogs in a crucial District 1-AA game which will go a long way toward deciding the outcome and eventual champion of the schoolboy grid race in this area.

Riding the crest of six straight wins in which they have chalked up victories over some of the toughest competition in the area, Plainview is heavily favored to defeat the Westerners, who have looked only mediocre even in winning. With Jack Williams, Bulldog passing ace who rates among the top aerial artists in the Texas Interscholastic league, and Jack Weldon handling the running chores, Plainview bids fare to have one of the strongest aggregations in the district and possibly the state.

Big Crowd Expected

With that record to consider and Lubbock's recent showings taken into account, the dopesters can't see anything but another Bulldog win.

Nevertheless, one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to journey to Plainview to see the contest. E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey, athletics business manager at Lubbock High, last night announced that he would have 500 adult and 500 student tickets on sale in a day or so and that the entire 75-piece Lubbock High band was going to make the trip.

Tech Given Edge

The big grid attraction in the city this week will be Texas Tech's third game in a row, this time with the tough West Texas State Teachers College team of Canyon, losers of four straight games.

Monday, the Raiders, still feeling good about the upset in tying Baylor's powerful Bruins, 7 to 7, Saturday night, took things easy, just limbering up. Bill Kelley, Walt Schlinkman, James Cleckler, Gene Hardey, T. M. Cox, and Arthur Shahan and others took heat treatments for minor injuries. Schlinkman, Shahan and Hardey were hurt prior to the Baylor game and will be handicapped this week-end again, but likely will see action.

Schlinkman had his right arm in a sling Monday because of his injured right shoulder.

Former Tech Standout Now Takes Top Track Honors In Germany

ANSBACH, Germany, Oct. 22 (AP)—John Case, rugged, little star of Texas Tech and Border conference track annals, is outrunning father time to capture more laurels in meets for American occupational troops in Bavaria, Germany.

The 36-year-old West Texan went against the advice of Army physicians recently to take individual honors at the First Infantry division's track and field meet in Ansbach. He won the 800, 1500 and 3000 meter runs and placed third in the hop-step-jump, a speciality event, for a total of 16 points. His nearest competitor had 13 points.

In His Blood

For three years, athletic coaches have told Case, whose home is near Lubbock, Texas, to taper off and quit track. Yet he continues to outrun men 10 to 15 years younger.

"It is in my blood," Case explains shyly. He never had much to say in his days at Texas Tech under whose colors he established a two-mile record for the Border loop. He was known as a stickler to training rules.

Case ran against such famous trackmen as Rice, Lash and Cunningham in his collegiate career. He was a strong contender in events at the Southwestern Exposition in Fort Worth, where he ran the two-mile in 9:52.3. He placed fourth three years in a row in the same event at the highly competitive Drake relays.

Eligible for discharge, Private First Class Case will be going home soon. He has been serving as a utility repairman at First Infantry division artillery headquarters. He entered the service in December, 1942, and came overseas last January.

Son of Mrs. Fannie E. Case of Route 2, Lubbock, Case left Texas Tech in 1938.

McAnespie, Bell Tops In City Bowling Loop

The Lions Club keglers, who are trailing the City League Bowling competition, came through with the top single game of the night at the Plamor lanes last night, totalling up an 860 in the second game.

E. R. McAnespie of the S. & Q. Clothiers team tied for top individual honors with a single game score of 221 with Leo Bell of the West Texas Gas team. McAnespie, who hails from Memphis, Tenn., chalked up a three-game total of 640 however.

Team standings find West Texas Gas, Hub Laundry and S. & Q. Clothiers deadlocked with nine wins, six losses each; Meads next with eight wins, seven losses; the Jaycees, Birdseye Food and Armour & Co. next with seven wins, eight losses, and Lions trailing with four wins, 11 losses.

Junior High Team To Play Brownfield Today

Coach "Mule" Davis' Junior High Blues tangle with the Brownfield Juniors at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Junior High field in the city to start the week's grid menu.

The Lubbock team will be seeking revenge for a defeat the Brownfield team handed another Junior High team, the Reds, which played in Brownfield recently and lost a three-touchdown contest. The Blues have won two games, tied one.

Zaharias Wins Texas Open Golf Honors

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias headed back to Los Angeles Monday with the 1945 Texas Woman's Open golf championship added to her large array of athletic honors.

Crucial Tussles On Grid Slate

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Texas schoolboy football race has arrived at that point when "crucial" conference games appear on the schedule.

It is a big week in title play with the top game in the Houston district where unbeaten Milby and San Jacinto meet. Not only are these two undefeated in conference battle but they have unbeaten records in season campaigning.

Amarillo To Play Borger

Borger and Amarillo clash in the major game of District 1, bringing together teams undefeated in title play. It is the same in District 3 where San Angelo tackles Odessa and District 5 where Paris engages Sherman.

State Champion Port Arthur goes up against a tough eleven in Galveston as the defending titlists of District 14 open the conference race.

Plainview, Pampa Undefeated

The outstanding game of the state is an interdistrict affair with Highland Park (Dallas) playing at Wichita Falls. This contest will match two of Texas' eleven undefeated, untied teams.

In the schedule of 50 contests this week, 32 are conference affairs involving 15 of the 16 districts.

Rolling into the stretch are these undefeated, untied elevens: Pampa, Plainview, Wichita Falls, Odessa, Paris, Highland Park, Brownwood, Cleburne, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville. All except Lufkin have games this week.

Pampa Plays Brownfield

Pampa plays Brownfield, Plainview clashes with Lubbock, Brownwood tackles Mineral Wells, Cleburne meets Ennis and Brownsville plays Robstown.

Four team are undefeated but have been tied. They are Austin, San Jacinto, Port Arthur and Galveston. Port Arthur and Galveston play each other, San Jacinto engages Milby and Austin takes on San Antonio Tech.

MacPhail Charged In Maryland Case

BELAIR, Md., Oct. 22. (AP) — President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees waived preliminary hearing today on two assault charges and one of disorderly conduct and was ordered bound over to the November grand jury by Trial Magistrate Stanley S. Spencer.

MacPhail, whose arrest on the three warrants followed an Oct. 5 disturbance in the Bel Air telephone exchange over his inability to place a long distance call from his showplace stockfarm near Bel Air, furnished the same bond of $550 pending grand jury action. A nationwide four-hour work stoppage of telephone employes occurred that afternoon.

Wrestling Matches On Schedule Next Week

Pete Hallas, a wrestler with several years experience behind him, who is now making his home in Lubbock, announced Monday night that he was bringing wrestling back for another stand in the city.

Matches will be held at the Lubbock Horse and Mule auction arena on the Plainview highway cut-off each Wednesday night. The first night's matches have been scheduled for Wednesday night, Oct. 31, Hallas announced.

Hallas says he has kept in touch with wrestlers all over the Southwest and promises to bring many top-notchers in to the city. The opening card will feature a special light heavy-weight card, and will include junior heavies and light heavies, throughout the season. Definite lineups for the opening bill will be announced later this week, Hallas said.

"His Master's Voice"

Peron Learned At Hitler's Knee

COL. JUAN D. PERON, central figure in Argentina's recent revolt, has been a warmonger as far back as 1932. U. S. officials have found it interesting to thumb through a textbook written by Colonel Peron in that year. It is revealing of his political philosophy. Entitled "Notes on Military History," it was taken from Argentine Army archives.

One of Hitler's South American henchmen, Peron urged Argentina to rearm. "The country does not prepare for war, but for a particular war," he wrote. "We must have an army consistent with our strength, and large enough to face our enemies. Let us organize and appropriately prepare the vital forces of our country. Let us cultivate the best political conditions for entering war, and we will have sown the seeds of victory. War itself will be the satisfaction of these efforts."

Peron's book further advocates the careful cultivation of diplomatic friendships. He says one of the most important preludes to war is to maintain good relations with neutral countries because "their good will or bad will can be of great importance."

"Diplomacy's elemental mission," he wrote, "will be, from the military standpoint, to prepare for war in the international field under the best possible conditions."

"War," he adds, " is the continuation of politics through other methods—war is, thus, an act of force to oblige the other side to comply with our wishes."

Truly his old master's voice.

Medical Care For Veterans

PROPER care for some of our wounded and ailing war veterans is not possible because of the shortage of doctors in Army hospitals, General Omar Bradley, chief of the Veterans administration, intimated the other day in Dallas.

General Bradley revealed that at this critical period his agency is short of 1,300 doctors. Demands on Army hospitals will steadily increase, if experiences of former wars hold true, for a period of 20 years, the general said. The sharpest demand, he predicted, will come within the next few months when additional military hospitals throughout the country are opened.

He revealed that it is the responsibility of veterans' hospitals to care for the medical needs of 20,000,000 men, veterans of the first and the recent world wars.

The country owes an obligation to the wounded and sick veterans that must not be shirked.

If the present problem is as serious as General Bradley indicates, some of the doctors now in service should be detained until the situation improves. And staff positions in Army hospitals should be made more financially attractive. At present, the salaries paid Army doctors are far below the income most of them are able to earn in civilian practice.

All-Encompassing Retort!

WHEN the Committee on Understatement meets at the tag end of 1945 to survey the year's remarks accidentally below the truth, it should give studied consideration to a comment by Admiral of the Fleet Chester William Nimitz, the Pacific Panzer, of Fredericksburg, Texas.

The admiral was in New York, on the day the Big Town gave one of its bargain size welcomes. In his hotel room, he was surrounded by the destroyers, the cruisers and the battleships of Gotham's rowdy journalism. A reporter asked the admiral what he thought of the atomic bomb.

The old seadog brushed off a piece of ticker tape, answered with a straight, Texas face:

"It is a weapon which will undoubtedly add to the complexities of field commanders."

A scientist has had a cold germ in a test tube for more than two years. Whether he's trying to tame it or starve it to death, he hasn't said.

A number of clean minds are that way because they are sterile.

Note to the middle-aged: You can't recapture the joys of youth by acting as the young do. Making a fool of yourself isn't any fun when you realize what you're doing.

"You have only one chance in about 40 billion of drawing the perfect bridge hand," arrests a mathematician. About the same chance, in other words, that you have of drawing the perfect bridge partner.

You should be highly suspicious and wary of a political speaker who thrashes his arms wildly about and claims to be head-over-heels in love with the common people.

"Nothing ages a person so fast as loneliness," asserts a psychologist. Perhaps this explains why the good die young.

EN ROUTE TO SOUTH AMERICA

XI

MOTHER had improved a little in health with the advent of spring and sang at some Sunday concerts at the Queen's hall. Then she went to Italy and sang at Rimini with Puccini for a few weeks. Soon I had orders to join her, at the end of the Diaghilev engagement, for a tournee in South Africa with the opera company of Camillo Bonetti.

I felt very depressed when I went with grandmama to say goodby to Diaghilev. He more or less told me that I was leaving an atmosphere of art which I would not find elsewhere and that when I returned I would have lost ground by his standards. Diaghilev was to all dancers a personage whose word was law and who could not possibly be wrong about anything. They practically groveled at his feet whenever he spoke to them, which he seldom did unless it was to flatten them out with criticism—but he watched everybody and knew how much progress every young ballerina made. He had never paid much attention to me one way or the other, but what he said when I left made me feel very unhappy.

Mother had told me nothing in her letters about the formation of the ballet with the Bonetti company which I was now to join, or who was ballet master. I did not want to dance under an Italian, because they are always fighting about Russian technique. Cecchetti was of course an Italian and had been originally brought from Italy for the Russian ballet, but he was exceptional and had nothing of the antiquated operatic methods that most ordinary Italian teachers use.

• • •

I WAS all packed and ready to start for Italy when a cable came from mother saying she was coming to London for 24 hours and that I was to wait for her and get her grand piano out of storage to take with us. Between the piano and mother's changing her mind several times, we got started on our trip late in July, sailing for Cape Town.

On the boat there was the usual conglomeration of dull people, rather common in general, but there was one most interesting person, a Mrs. Louth, champion big-game shot and explorer. She was an extremely plain woman and on the eccentric side for her back and arms were entirely tattooed with snakes and lizards writhing in complicated patterns of blue and green. When she wore an evening dress (which was always a green one) the tatooed designs on her arms looked like peacock-blue lace.

The first night she came to the captain's table dressed in a low-cut dinner gown, the effect on the passengers was terrific. She was reported to be enormously rich and owned a ranch near Nairobi, Kenya Colony. She was going to meet a scientific expedition of some sort in Cape Town, give some lectures for them, and then leave for Mombasa to take a safari up country. Traveling with her was a tall handsome Austrian with flaming red hair, called Fritz Schindler. He was a professional shot and guide, and it was quite evident that she was madly in love with him. After the first few days on board, Mrs. Louth took a real fancy to me, probably because I had been extremely rude to Schindler, who had started chasing mother as soon as he saw her, and I had at her request succeeded in stopping his bothering us with his attentions. This incident cemented a friendship between Alice Louth and my mother that lasted for years.

• • •

THE Bonetti company was coming from Durban, and mother and I spent a week in Cape Town preparing publicity, repertoire, and so on, and as usual, flying from one rehearsal hall or newspaper office to another, without ever getting time to look at the country we were in.

The sea air and the rest of the voyage had done wonders for mother's voice, and when the tournee got under way she sang better than I had ever heard her sing before. The success she obtained made her so happy that she was a different person and expanded like a flower in the rays of the footlights.

As our tournee proceeded, Maestro Vitulli gave me the place of the first character dancer much to the fury of the other girls. We spent long hours working out choreographic combinations, and when Massenet's opera "Tais" was given in Durban, I got Bonetti to give the prelude before the ballet, as Pavlova did, and to let me dance it. I had watched her night after night and knew every step and gesture that she used: she always danced it with a white veil over her face and glided like a vision across the stage, in blue lights, to the music of the famous "Meditation," which is generally played as an orchestra solo. It is an exquisite effect, and I had a great success with it.

Carelli, Bonetti's business manager, was so pleased that he spoke to mother at once and told her he was negotiating for the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires for the coming season and that he wanted to engage me for it. He showed us a cable from the Municipal Art Commission of the Colon, aying that they had engaged the ballet company of Alexandro Jakobleff with the dancers Pavlova had left behind the previous year. Mother finally gave her consent for me to go to Buenos Aires under the care of Mario Carelli and his wife.

CURIOUS STORM CEMETERY

PARIS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Crowds of curious were so thick today at Thiais cemetery that police refused to allow the family of Pierre Laval to remove the executed traitor's body to the family vault in Montparnasse cemetery. Preliminaries had been completed but authorities cancelled the transfer at the last minute.

BRITISH CASUALTIES

LONDON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Britain's wartime naval casualties totalled 65,594, of which 49,305 were killed, 14,656 were wounded and 1,593 are missing, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty said today. The Royal Navy lost 730 ships, not including light coastal vessels or landing craft, he added.

Railroad Officials To Visit In City Today

Here on a brief inspection trip several officials of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway company and its parent line, the Burlington, are to be in Lubbock today.

Heading the group will be L. R. Capron of Chicago, executive vice president of the Burlington; and others will be: C. D. Peckinpaugh of Fort Worth, vice president and general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver; R. Wright Armstrong of Houston, executive representative of the Burlington in Texas, and C. S. Edmonds of Fort Worth, traffic manager of the Fort Worth and Denver.

The group will arrive here at 5 p. m. today, spend the night and will leave sometime Wednesday.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

SINCE I have been living in the country many of my city friends ask me how I can possibly stand the lonesomeness and monotony of such a life.

"Aren't you stagnating?" they ask me. "Don't you get tired of the sameness, the lack of excitement, the constant repetition of country life?"

Well, sometimes I wonder whether a person accustomed to the swift pace of city life can ever completely adapt himself to rural existence. I wonder, as well, whether people who have always lived in the country don't miss a lot of life — and life, after all is progress and change.

BRANDEIS

Then, last evening, I read an article by that acrimonious critic, George Jean Nathan, apropos of that short-lived play, "Live Life Again," about which the author, Dan Totheroh, had said:

"My most important reason for laying this play as well as my previous ones in the rural regions is that cities do not lend themselves as completely as does the countryside to the poetic form of expression. The sort of poetic excitement I try to achieve springs only from the soil, not from pavements."

• • •

Which impels Mr. Nathan to remark that the man who wrote some of the world's greatest dramatic poetry — I suspect he refers to Mr. Shakespeare — chose for his setting such cities as Athens, Alexandria, Milan, Verna, Venice, Padua, Marseilles, London, Paris, Vienna and Rome.

It is an old notion, says Mr. Nathan, that Nature in the raw is ever more poetically stimulating than when it has been edited, adorned and embellished by the human hand, and that a cow in a pasture is consequently and inevitably more inspiring to the romantic spirit than a beautiful woman in a drawing room.

As I am writing this I look out of my window over the Berkshire hills. These hills, soft and green in summer, are now a mass of flaming red and yellow and orange, and all Nature seems to be on fire.

It is a gorgeous sight—and yet, I am lonesome. Those were the same reds and yellows and oranges last autumn and the autumn before and they will be the same next fall and a hundred falls from now.

• • •

BUT tomorrow my wife and I are going to New York for a week.

It's autumn in New York, too, and there will be reds and yellows and oranges, and New York, too, will be aflame. But the reds and yellows and oranges will be in the shop windows, and the flames will be the flames of theatre marquees and the bright lights of Broadway and of gay cafes and night clubs and in the faces of the cavedwellers.

There will be changes and progress and excitement and the spirit of competition and achievement and LIFE.

We look forward to that change and to those thrills. And, after a week of it, we will be glad to come back to Connecticut, better for having had some of the glamour of the pavements and better for being able to have the glamour of Nature as well.

There is poetry in New York and on the farm, in Hollywood and in Lubbock in Pittsburgh and in New Castle because poetry is not in a theatre or a night club or in a tree or a mountainside, but in your heart, wherever you are.

But, to appreciate whatever is in you, don't let it stagnate. Get change. Enjoy life by comparison, not by habit. If you live in the country, go to the city for a change. If the city is your dwelling place, get out into the hills whenever you can.

Let your life be a balanced ration.

UNRRA Rackets Found

Stiffer Relief Terms Demanded

WASHINGTON
By Albert Leman
(Ray Tucker Is On Vacation)

UNRRA officials have been urging Congress to appropriate half a billion dollars immediately to prevent famine, pestilence and freezing in the bankrupt liberated nations.

But there is a growing demand on Capitol Hill that we lay down stiffer terms for granting relief. The lawmakers want to aid those in misery but they are disturbed by fresh eyewitness reports that in certain sections Santa Claus is being taken for a ride by crafty European politicians.

The accounts which raised the most question were given by Rep. Christian A. Herter of Boston in private disclosures to his colleagues. He has just arrived in town from a six-week investigation of conditions in Greece, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Yugoslavia and Germany.

LEMAN

He strongly advocates funds because he says UNRRA, in spite of its faults, is the only agency equipped to check terrible distress. But he proposes new rules for avoiding abuses.

Herter insists that a termination date for the shipment of UNRRA foodstuffs be set at about a year hence; that thereafter the nations be forced to manage their own relief.

Many Balkan officials seem to think that outside aid will continue forever. Politicians are practically giving away food to court popularity. If a time is fixed for the bounty to end, local governments will be compelled to plan now to stand on their own feet or face revolution when the handouts stop.

The Bay State legislator also demands that, before we donate food and clothing to the needy, their governments be obliged to reveal all secret trade agreements with their neighbors. The hush-hush pacts in Russia-dominated areas of eastern Europe make it impossible for us to know how much food is going in or out of the countries in that zone. Sound relief cannot be administered under such a blanket.

• • •

LOSSES: Another of his suggestions is that the markings on UNRRA supplies, denoting the nations sending the gifts, shall not be changed.

American observers say that on a large shipment of trucks from Ottawa, the name Canada on the bodies was deliberately painted out by the local politicos. A train came into Yugoslavia packed with materials from the United States but the cars were covered with Red flags and a Communist brass band welcomed the arrival. Naturally, the peasants thought Uncle Joe and not Uncle Sam was the donor.

Until recently a substantial part of UNRRA personnel was of inferior quality. All sorts of pilfering and rackets throve.

In Greece, relief trucks filled up with gas and returned empty after short trips. Drivers not only sold fuel to the black market but often whole convoys vanished. UNRRA finally requested receipts for everything and overnight the entire force of operators in Athens resigned. Losses under a new outfit are less than two per cent.

• • •

NEED: In general, UNRRA'S gifts to governments of ravaged lands are philanthropic. But European officials resent having all rehabilitation classified as charity.

In many instances their arguments are sound. Tito points out that during the war, when the U. S. Army radio in North Africa broadcast to him the specific bridges and military installations which General Eisenhower wanted blown up we solemnly promised that we would restore them. Because we have not yet been able to keep our pledge, the need for our emergency aid is more acute.

• • •

AMAZONS: It is extremely difficult to know what's what in Yugoslavia.

The streets are filled with soldiers. UNRRA is for civilians but the government asserts that a large part of the men in uniform actually is made up of demobilized veterans who cannot buy civilian clothing. A single pair of pants costs $400 and most shelves are bare of textiles.

Tito's Communists are secretive but efficient in dispensing aid. Partisan warfare brought into prominence may young people able to command. Herter, for example, met a young girl who had led 1,000 other girls through the snow — to deaden the sound of their approach — in an attack on a Nazi garrison. The Amazons wiped out the Germans, using no weapons but their knives.

• • •

TRANSPORTATION: Transportation facilities everywhere are still in bad shape. Only 180 miles of railroad remain in all of Greece. In Austria the great bridges across the Danube are down. The bulk of Italian rolling stock was destroyed or stolen; tunnels, bridges and culverts are being repaired by hand.

All habitable dwellings in airplane target zones are without glass windows and are crammed with refugees from ruined cities. Doctors fear an epidemic of plagues this Winter.

According to Spurgeon M. Keeny, chief of the UNRRA Italian mission, 10,000 local trucks could be used if tires were available.

Crops on the peninsula are highly perishable, consisting mainly of fruits and garden vegetables, and there is no refrigeration. Produce often rots within 50 miles of its destination for lack of transport.

U. S. Army trucks cannot be diverted economically to this task as they use too much gasoline in a land without fuel. All through central Europe farm wagons are drawn by scrawny milch cows, women and children; oxen provided beef and horses and mules were carried off by the Nazis.

WASHINGTON
By Francis J. Kelly

SENATOR Ferguson (R-Mich) says a "shocking" amount of federal money is being spent for traveling and suggests that would be a good place to begin economizing.

A lot of unnecessary trips are made from Washington to faraway points, he says, because the various federal agencies are too centralized.

Give more authority to the field offices and the government not only will save on expense accounts but the people will get more efficient service, in his opinion.

"Most agencies have field offices," Ferguson told me, "but they fail to give those offices anything to do. When they have autonomy, there won't be any need for officials to pack the trains out of Washington."

• • •

FERGUSON, whose official duties as a member of the Senate War Investigating Committee have taken him to many parts of the nation, says a great deal of the congestion in hotels and sleeping cars would be eliminated if federal employes could be made to cut down on travel.

The latest available compilation of travel costs was gotten together by the Byrd economy committee two years ago. Not counting either the War or Navy departments, the other departments and agencies of the federal government spent $35,672,853 on travel in one six-months period—the last half of 1942.

It cost more than $5,000,000 in the Agriculture Department alone.

A total of $15,583,833 was spent by the same civilian departments in six months for communication.

Some figure-dabbler on the Byrd committee staff figured out that for the $1,500,000 spent by the War Production Board in that period on telephone expenses, it could have put in three-minute telephone calls to the moon, 221,463 miles away, "every hour in the day, every day in the year."

"In some cases it is difficult to determine the sex of a skeleton," asserts a physician. But isn't it too late then to matter?

Jobs Are Available, But Many Won't Work

New England Weathers Shocks

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

BOSTON. — New England is weathering the shocks of reconversion very well thus far, due partly to certain favorable basic circumstances, including the type and diversity of her industry.

The region should emerge in better shape perhaps than some other areas.

STOKES

However, this forecast must be conditioned upon two factors:

One is how well the six New England states are able to absorb the big rush of returning servicemen. This, of course, is also a problem everywhere else.

The other is whether New England succeeds in breaking away from her traditional tendency toward regional isolation, whether she "joins the union," so to speak.

New England is especially favored by the circumstance that she had comparatively few temporary war industries. Existing industries were utilized for all sorts of war needs. Reconversion consequently means mostly turning these back into production of peacetime goods. This is going on rapidly now.

For example, textile mills were diverted to making uniforms, tents, tire cord, parachutes, sweaters, and the like. Thirty per cent of all textile and apparel war production was concentrated in New England. Shoe factories poured out Army shoes.

Both of these are basic industries. They will provide a good bedrock for months and years to come because of great need for civilian goods in these lines.

They are only two examples of the use of existing industries. There are many more.

• • •

Navy Yards Still Boom

A few big plugs were pulled out of business with the surrender of Japan, chiefly shipbuilding, airplanes and ordnance. Three large privately operated shipyards, once booming now have only a bare skeleton of work forces. These are New England Shipbuilding Corp. at South Portland, Me., Walsh-Kaiser at Providence and Bethlehem-Hingham near this city. The Bethlehem Fore River yard is holding up well with continuing contracts and repairs and so are the Navy yards at Portsmouth and Boston.

Closing down of the three private shipyards and reductions at the others did not leave much of an unemployment problem locally. Most of the workers pulled up stakes and got out in a hurry, though they may turn up elsewhere to add to the unemployment problem.

• • •

NEW England war industry was concentrated largely in this state, Connecticut, and Rhode Island, with only scattering war production in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. But the last three states supplied thousands of workers for the other three. The workers have gone back home now to their former pursuits, most of them apparently with money saved up. The unemployment problem in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont is not so serious.

• • •

Unemployment Drops

Between the Japanese surrender and Sept. 29, a total of 193,000 workers in the New England states filed first claims for unemployment compensation. But there was an encouraging development in that the total of continuing claims the first week in October was much less, 115,000. This means that 78,000 original claimants have found jobs or left the labor market.

Yet, despite, the people out of work, there is the paradox of a crying need for workers, particularly in textiles, paper, shoes and lumber. By the middle of November it is estimated that 50,000 workers will be needed, of which half are in textiles.

• • •

THIS gap is due to the tendency of workers holding off, hoping for higher wages and more job security. They are looking around. An explanation of the hold-off may be seen in the fact that 70 per cent of the available jobs offered pay between 50 and 75 cents an hour, with 10 per cent paying less than 50 cents, and with only 20 per cent paying over 75 cents.

It's hard to get the high war wages out of the system.

Eight Persons Killed In Truck-Train Crash

The locomotive, tender, five baggage cars and one passenger coach were derailed by the impact which reduced the truck to splinters. The locomotive and one baggage car overturned.

FIRE SWEEPS HOTEL

STEPHENVILLE, Tex., Oct. 22 (AP)—Flames destroyed the upper story of the Henry Weirman hotel here last night, and several ground floor business establishments suffered damage. Damage was estimated unofficially at $100,000.

Many Arrive Home On Hospital Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Navy hospital ship USS Sanctuary arrived here today from Guam with 175 patients and nearly 525 liberated civilians from Shanghai.

The Sanctuary was to be followed by the transport Evangeline carrying the largest group of WACs yet to return to this port from the Pacific.

Capt. O. Davis, of Six Mile Run, Pa., senior medical officer on the Sanctuary, said freed military prisoners aboard were in "fair" physical condition. The liberated civilians had "fared better than the military prisoners," he added.

Civilians included survivors of the liner President Harrison which the Japanese seized near Shanghai shortly after the outbreak of war.

Price-Wage Plans

nouncement of any policy on increasing wages and prices. It was learned that the advisory committee of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, meeting next Monday and Tuesday, will get a look at the plan when it is formulated.

This committee consists of top labor and management leaders, as well as farm organization chiefs, and is expected to have considerable to say about any wage-price program. Virtually the same people, including AFL President William Green, CIO President Philip Murray, President Eric Johnston of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and President Ira Mosher of the National Association of Manufacturers are organizing the labor-management conference next month.

Chairman Named

Mr. Truman today named Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the North Carolina Supreme court to be chairman of the conference which Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach thinks will last about three or four weeks.

In the two weeks remaining before the conference, Mr. Truman will confer with virtually all those who have been invited, according to Eben Ayers, White House assistant press secretary.

Ayers said the President intended to spend as much time on the labor-management conference problems as he could. He added he did not know when the wage-price statement which had been expected today might eventually be made. This gave support to the theory that the whole subject, since it is a part of the government's plan to cut down the number of reconversion strikes, will go before the labor-management conference.

French Election

showing made by Mouvement Republician Populaire, known generally as the MPR.

Vehicle For Reform

Political observers, attempting to explain its sensational rise, expressed the belief that it appealed to the voters as the best vehicle for obtaining "the new but reasonable reforms" that De Gaulle advocated in his pre-election address.

The MPR has socialistic tendencies, favoring nationalization of trusts, but is not so far to the left as the Communists and Socialists.

The fact that none of the three dominant parties won a majority led observers to forecast difficulties when the assembly meets Nov. 6, unless two of the parties form a coalition, for they have widely divergent views on some questions even though they are all leftist.

SOME ISSUES ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Selected rails, industrials and utilities pushed upward in today's stock market although demand was relatively light and many leaders suffered from neglect.

Transfers of 1,140,000 shares were the smallest for a full session since Sept. 27.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .4 of a point at 72.8 where it was only one-tenth under its recent 8-year peak. Of 931 issues appearing, 491 advanced and 247 declined.

In the "new high" division were J. J. Newberry, up 10½ points at 105 on a single 100-share sale; Schenley, up 3⅛ at 79¾ and National distillers, up 2⅜ at 60⅛.

In front were Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Sears Roebuck (up 4¼ on the eve of the 4-for-1 split-up), Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Houston Oil, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, Owen-Illinois and U. S. Gypsum.

Bonds were steady. Strength of commodities aided stocks. Cotton futures mounted $1.05 to $1.75 a bale. At Chicago wheat was up ½ to 1½ cents a bushel and oats ¾ to 1¼.

Mothers Of Tech Men See First Grid Game

The Tech-Baylor football game Saturday night wrote history for Mrs. R. L. Kelley of Idalou and Mrs. Thomas M. Cox of Muleshoe—it was the first grid game they ever saw.

The mothers of Billy Kelley and T. M. Cox, Red Raiders, were special guests at the Parents Day game, along with parents of other Tech gridsters. Up until then Mrs. Cox had declined to have anything to do with football and most of the time her son played against her wishes. Mrs. Kelley had never seen a game because there was little to see around Idalou while her son was in school.

"I'll be back Saturday night, I'm wild about football," Mrs. Kelley said last night. Mrs. Cox said she'd be here if she could make it: "Football isn't so bad as I thought and Tee wants me to see some more."

Window In Jewelry Store Here Smashed

Police last night were investigating possible burglary of the Gumm-Kennedy jewelry store, 1212 Ave. K, after Patrolman J. B. Thompson just before midnight discovered a plate glass front window broken and watches, rings, accessories and other articles considerably disarranged in the window display.

A heavy stone, apparently the weapon used in breaking a large hole in the glass, rested on the display shelves inside. A door which opened on the shelves from inside the store, was partly open.

A preliminary examination early this morning indicated that few, if any, articles were missing. Apparently, no attempt was made to enter the store which is in the same building with Powers Sporting Goods.

Supreme Court To Hear Esquire Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP) — The Supreme court agreed today to decide the Esquire magazine case.

The magazine is fighting for its second class mailing privilege which saves it $500,000 a year. The Postoffice department studied its leggy ladies and robust humor in 1943 and ordered it out of the lower rate mail class. A lower court upheld Esquire and told the department to stick to its mail carrying. The government has appealed.

The court also took judicial notice of the growing controversy over oils and minerals under the sea just off shore. It will state some time after January 1 whether it will consider a government suit to establish federal control and deny it to the states.

Scenes Of Bloodshed And Looting Described In Venezuelan Revolt

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22 (AP) — While gunfire spilled blood on the streets of Caracas, looters ransacked the city, and steel fragments caromed through doors and windows, Americans caught in the bloody revolutionary coup crouched in barricaded hotel rooms through three days and nights of terror.

That was the picture brought back last night by refugees from the Venezuelan revolt, first to arrive in this country since violence flared in the South American nation Thursday.

Boys Take Part

"The hoodlums and looters who broke loose Friday were the worst," said Miss Mary Francis, attorney from Oklahoma City who, with about 100 other Americans "sweated out" the revolution at the Avila hotel.

"I saw boys 15 and 16 carrying carbines—and they were a trigger-happy bunch," she related.

Miss Francis said the Caracas police force, which remained loyal to the government, apparently had been wiped out.

"Some capitulated finally and came out with their hands up—but they were shot down anyway," she said.

Residents Are Surprised

Miss Francis, a pilot herself, commented that their planes "dropped hand grenades chiefly but didn't appear to be hitting anything important."

Bombing was too accurate at Maracay, airport center just outside Caracas, for Mrs. Madge Davis who admitted she "cried through the whole thing in a hotel along with two weeping American mothers and their babies—who were crying too."

Clark Brown, Allentown, Pa., business man, said suddeness of the revolt caught Venezuelans and visitors unaware.

Homes Are Sacked

"The sound of gunfire was the first indication of revolution," he said. "There had been unrest but the outbreak was not expected so soon."

Brown and others among the 15 persons who Clippered into Miami from La Guaira said that widespread looting and sacking of homes of prominent persons and liquor and jewelry stores followed the outbreak.

He attributed the pillaging and the deaths of many persons in Caracas to "irresponsibles" who took up arms and roamed the city in the confusion of the revolt.

Brown said estimates of the dead in Venezuela as a result of the revolution "ranged from 2,000 to 9,000 when we left Sunday morning."

Anti-Chiseling Clause Planned In Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP) — The Senate finance committee has ordered legislative draftsmen to write an anti-chiseling clause into the general tax reduction bill to take effect when and if the beverage tax goes down.

The reduction may not come soon because the Senate rejected a house move to cut the liquor tax from $9 a gallon to $6.

But the provision will have a two-fold purpose: To grant tax refunds to legitimate dealers on their stocks when the tax slips back to the pre-war rate, and to make sure that the effect of the refund is passed on to the consumer.

To obtain best results, wet shoes should be stuffed with paper and coated lightly with oil and allowed to dry slowly at low heat, away from much light.

Support Of Church Is Urged At Club Meet

George P. Kuykendall, local automobile dealer, told members of the Methodist Men's club at their luncheon Monday in the Lubbock hotel to "give your pastor your support; put your church on a level with your business, your civic club and your other affairs."

Kuykendall, leader in the First Christian church, urged laymen to "take stock of themselves" and find out if they're giving their best efforts to the church. "Check up on yourselves; will the stock of your church fluctuate up or down should you leave it?"

Kuykendall said the church has great opportunities and responsibilities in the post-war world and it is up to the laymen to see that these are made the most of.

The speaker was introduced by Frank Campbell, who with Doyle Jordan, was co-chairman of the program. Next week's luncheon will be addressed by Dr. H. C. Gossard, dean of Eastern New Mexico State Teachers college at Portales, N. M.

Discharged servicemen guests at the luncheon were: Wayne Henly, Jimmie Marshall, Jimmie Morris, Fletcher Nesbitt, Dr. G. S. Smith, Cecil King and Elmer Tarbox.

Insects To Inherit Earth If Man Keeps Up Wars, Is Claim

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (U.P.)—Unless men stop killing each other off, the insects "will inherit the earth."

Dr. Orlando Park of Northwestern university's zoology department made this prediction in today's issue of the magazine "Science."

It is possible, he said, that even now the balance of power may be tipping in favor of the insects.

Time To Save Man

But, despite the atom bomb, Dr. Park believes man still has a chance to survive and keep his place if he starts working to that end right away.

"There is still time to preserve the species," he said, "but not very much time is available for ensuring its dominance in the long future."

Man was fourth in line of succession among major rulers of the earth. Preceding him were the fishes, the dinosaurs, and the giant mammals to whom he is cousin.

Explanation Given

The dinosaurs were competent killers, some of them, but it remained for man, Dr. Park said, to show "real progress in the destruction of his own kind."

"Our plight," he added, "is not so much a lack of ideas or imagination as it is a consequence of hormones out of socialogical control.

This, apparently, explains why man tries simultaneously "to improve the methods of species destruction and to increase and ameliorate species longevity."

Also Prolongs Life

"Even now," Dr. Park continued, "the paradox is clear. We wage war in vehicles which approach (or surpass) the speed of sound, which kill by jellied gasoline and which operate over great distances.

"On the day when the atomic bomb was discussed over the radio, the Rockefeller foundation was appropriating money for the study of cancer. We increase the average span of life, ward off infection with sulfa derivatives and penicillin, and render living less arduous by all manner of labor-saving machines.

"In general, man is learning to kill or hurt more people in less time, and to patch them up more efficiently than ever before."

Users of alcoholic beverages contribute in state taxes about $300,000,000 a year.
