Creager Tells of $100,000 Fund for Two Year Texas Program

The first announcement of a campaign booming Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls for election as governor of Texas in 1930 was voiced by B. D. Sartin in an address before about 50 Republican and Hoover-Democratic leaders of this section who met at the Kemp hotel Tuesday night.

Speaking before National Republican Committeeman R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Leonard Withington, secretary of the Texas Republican organization, Capt. J. F. Lucey of Dallas, and other notable leaders of that party, on behalf of the large number of Hoover supporters who formerly had been constantly aligned with the Democratic ticket, Mr. Sartin declared that Mr. Bullington would undoubtedly carry the state election if placed on the ticket by the Republicans.

Leaders On Tour

"Mr. Bullington is known throughout Texas for the conspicuous patriotic and unselfish service which he has rendered the state and the nation through his influence in recent political history in this country. If given the Republican nomination, he will receive the solid support of the Democrats who voted for Herbert Hoover last fall, and many more of the same political delineation, and will certainly defeat any opponent which the present state organizations appear able to put forth," declared Mr. Sartin in closing. His tribute to the local man, and plea for his nomination for governor in 1930, was received with a considerable ovation.

The session held Tuesday night was the second of the day, featuring a visit of the group of Republican leaders of this state. A group of men and women, containing a large number of Hoover-Democrats from this section, met with Mr. Creager Tuesday afternoon. The national committeeman spoke in appreciation of the aid given the Hoover campaign last November by former voters of straight Democratic tickets, and outlined the plans for future development of Republican activities in this state.

Fort Worth Attorney Faces Assault Charge

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 14. (AP)—County Judge S. D. Shannon has a gash in his throat and V. K. Wedgeworth, attorney, is at liberty under bond of $1,000 on an assault to murder charge as a result of an altercation in probate court today.

Wedgeworth welided a razor in the affray while Judge Shannon used his fists until the pair were separated by witnesses. The judge's coat was slashed in several places and he was bleeding from a gash in his neck when taken to a hospital, where it was announced his condition is not serious. Wedgeworth, who once ran for mayor of Fort Worth, had a bleeding nose which was treated at a physician's office after he had been arrested by a deputy sheriff and taken to the district attorney's office, where the charge was filed.

The fight occurred when the "lie" was passed regarding settlement of an estate of which the attorney was administrator.

H. M. Osborne, the only occupant of the house at the time of the blast, was in a hospital tonight, badly bruised. He was trying to light the gas stove.

Verdict Closes Case of River's Unknown Victim

Special to The Record News.

BYERS, Texas, May 14.—A verdict of "death of an unknown person from an unknown cause" today was written into the records of Justice of the Peace R. E. Pepper here as the aftermath of the discovery yesterday in the Red river near here of the half buried torso of a man.

The discovery was made by E. B. Henderson, Petrolia farmer. Half mummified, the body was adjudged to have lain in the river for about a year. All efforts at identification failed, and the body was interred at Byers.

Otis McClanahan of Velma, Okla., made an unsuccessful effort to identify the body as that of his brother-in-law, Ira Romine, who drowned in the Red river near Burkburnett a year ago, and whose body has never been recovered.

41 INITIATED BY SHRINERS

Mangum Victor in Contest For Ring

Forty-one novices representing more than a dozen counties in this section of the state were initiated into the secrets of the mystic Shrine in an elaborate ceremonial staged at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday night by Maskat Temple, under the personal direction of S. A. Gaines.

Impressive Ritual

Officers of the organization declared the ritualistic initiation service one of the most impressive and elaborate in the history of Maskat Temple. The setting in the first part of the ceremony was particularly effective and original.

A number of celebrities were introduced in the course of the evening, including Colonel R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national Republican committeeman; James Galloway, manager of the Spudders; Del Pratt and Wayne Windle, manager and shortstop, respectively of the Waco team which battled unsuccessfully here Tuesday afternoon; and W. C. Pitts, manager of the Holt hotel, who was presented with a diamond-studded Shrine pin, a gift from the traveling men.

The annual struggle for the Shrine ring culminated in a last-hour victory for Dr. C. E. Sawbone Mangum, who framed an impressive platform but ran solely on the stated proposition that a race with but one pedigreed entry is as good as won before it starts. The winner will sell the ring for the benefit of the Crippled Childrens' Home at Dallas, it was stated.

Attend Ball Game

The prize offered for the largest delegation in the parade was given to Capt. Wallace Huggins, leader of the Wilbarger county group.

The total registration of out-of-town visitors reached about 350, according to Al Ellis, recorder of Maskat Temple, including approximately 90 visiting ladies, who were entertained by wives of the Shrine officers.

Practically the entire body of visitors and local Shriners attended the Spudder-Waco ball game at Athletic park, and returned to participate in a parade at 4:30 p. m., in which approximately 1,200 persons formed the column. The parade was headed by mounted color guards, which was followed by the brilliantly uniformed Shrine band and drum corps. The Arabic patrol was next in line, followed by a large body of DeMolay members attired in white. Cages containing the ring candidates formed the next unit followed by a section of clowns, wild men, and other laugh-provoking creations. The novices formed the rear guard.

Following the ceremonial at the auditorium, a dance was held in Maskat Temple auditorium in the City National bank building.

Three Electrocuted By High Voltage Wires

WHITEWRIGHT, Texas, May 14. (UP)—High winds were the indirect cause of the death of three men today, when two brothers and a companion were electrocuted four miles north of here when they walked into high voltage wires of the Texas-Louisiana Power company which had been blown down by the storm.

Dock Webster, 20, Timmie Webster, 23, and Abowen Daniels, 21, accompanied by Mrs. Dock Webster, were on their way to their homes at Hemleigh. Running out of gasoline the three men started walking across a field in search of fuel. Mrs. Webster, after waiting some time, started after them and found the three bodies underneath the wires.

Soggy Fields Prevent Ocean Flier's Practice

NEW YORK, May 14. (US)—Wet and soggy fields, the bugaboo of many other airmen, today caused Sergeant Rene Lefevre to abandon scheduled test flights in preparation for the first transatlantic attempt of the year. He spent the day grooming the great 600-horsepower engine.

Lefevre, Jean Assolant and Aemeno Lotti, financial backer of the project, plan to get away from Roosevelt field sometime after Sunday. They will be governed by weather reports.

HUEY LONG AND 8 ATTORNEYS OPEN BATTLE

Louisiana Executive Claims Impeachment Counts Are Illegal

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Tiny Courtroom Crowded, Admission Tickets Are Required

BATON ROUGE, La., May 14. (UP)—The impeachment trial of Gov. Huey P. Long opened today with the read-headed young executive defending his administration with a series of legal maneuvers presaging what is expected to be the most colorful and bitterly fought court action in the history of Louisiana.

Appearing before the bar of the senate at noon surrounded by his legal staff of eight lawyers, the 36-year-old governor immediately began his assault upon the legality of the impeachment proceedings.

Demurrers Filed

With the answer of exception to the impeachment charges, were filed demurrers designed to throw out of court all eight of the counts which charged the governor with high crimes and misdemeanors in office. In addition the right of the senate to sit as a trial court was challenged.

Governor Long pleaded not guilty to all the charges.

The executive asked that seven of the eight counts be dismissed on the grounds they were voted by the house after expiration of the time limit set for the special session of the legislature. He further challenged the legality because of the fact that impeachment was not one of the subjects included in the call for the special session, and on the grounds that the house did not conduct the impeachment hearings as prescribed by the constitution.

Admission By Ticket

The remaining count, which was the only one voted before midnight of April 6, when the special session was scheduled to adjourn, did not constitute an impeachable offense, he contended. The count charged the governor with intimidation of Charles P. Manship, Baton Rouge editor.

The trial opened with Chief Justice Charles O'Neal of the state supreme court presiding and the small senate chamber crowded with the limited number of spectators, senators, lawyers and newspapermen.

Admission was by ticket, there being seats for only 120 persons in the gallery. Hundreds who sought admission were unable to get in.

The theft halted an audit of the conduct of the district's business, which involved several hundred thousand dollars. Mayor Ross Lawhon obtained a search warrant authorizing a search of the home of City Clerk C. M. Van Dyke, and Van Dyke retaliated with a warrant to search the mayor's home in connection with the theft.

Authoress Given Jail Term On Amarillo Fraud Charge

Elizabeth Murray, of Famous 'Murray Hill' Family, Pleads Guilty to Swindling Texas Woman

AMARILLO, Texas, May 14. (AP)—Elizabeth Murray, author and lecturer and member of a family prominent in revolutionary days for whom Murray Hill in New York was named, was sentenced to 15 months in a federal woman's prison here today for using the mails to defraud. She had pleaded guilty.

Miss Murray emphatically denied that she had used narcotics. Her denial was made in answer to a question by Judge James C. Wilson who explained to the defendant that her sister had written him that Miss Murray did use drugs. Miss Murray said she was in ill health, and that statement was borne out by the United States attorney and the attorney named to represent her.

The charge against Miss Murray was that she used the mails to defraud Lela Mae Barnum, Amarillo, of $1,000 representing herself as the founder of the Woman's Historical foundation, Inc., and offering Mrs. Barnum a life membership for $1,000.

Quanah 'Mail Order Bride' Held For Trial on Charge of Poisoning Mate

Coffee Cup Bone of Contention in Eva Rablen's Hearing on Charge of Murdering Her Husband

COLUMBIA, Calif., May 14. (AP)—Eva Brandon Rablen, "mail order bride" from Texas, was bound over for trial here today on a charge of poisoning her husband, Carroll Rablen, war veteran and farmer, following a dance several weeks ago.

Wearing a tight fitting brown cloth coat, Mrs. Rablen was led across the crowded floor to the improvised judge's bench. The district attorney, C. H. Grayson, read the complaint and called as his first witness Dr. R. I. Bromley, the county autopsy surgeon. Dr. Bromley told of being called to Tuttletown dance and of finding Rablen dead. The coffee cup in which the state claims Mrs. Rablin put poison was the subject of a long legal argument between Grayson and Charles Vance, defense attorney.

Justice of the Peace J. W. Pitts ruled that details of the finding of the cup and its subsequent disposal should be admitted.

Dr. Bromley was followed by Mrs. Josie Terzich, coroner. Mrs. Terzich related details of the shipping of Rableigh's stomach and the cup to the Western Laboratories in Oakland, and reports received by her from that firm.

"I received two reports, one by telephone and another by telegraph," Mrs. Terzich recounted. "The first report," she testified "stated that no poison had been found in Rablen's stomach. The second report, however, revealed that there had been poison found in large quantities."

Walter Ronten, the Toulumne drug clerk who identified Mrs. Rablen as the "Mrs. Joe Williams" who purchased a bottle of poison from him April 26, was the next witness.

Arraignment was set for next Friday in Sonora.

Mrs. Rablen formerly lived at Quanah, Texas.

CORPORATIONS TO HELP SELL CROPS VOTED

Disputed Export Plan Goes To House as Senators Vote 54 to 33

NEW BATTLE ARISES

House Questions Right Of Senate to Initiate Debenture Fee

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The farm relief bill containing the disputed export debenture plan was passed today by the senate.

The principal features of the senate bill are the provisions for a federal farm board with authority to create stabilization corporations for the principle commodities to bring about orderly marketing of surplus crops.

Board of 12 Members

The farm board would consist of 12 members, appointed by the president at a salary of $12,000 a year. The president would designate the chairman.

Advisory commodity councils would be created to advise growers on the best production and marketing methods and to suggest the need for stabilization.

The vote was 54 to 33.

The measure now will be sent over to the house, where a question about receiving it has been raised inasmuch as it is contended by leaders there that the senate can not constitutionally initiate the debenture proposal.

Long Delay Likely

The senate farm bill, except for the debenture section, is similar to a farm measure passed previously by the house. Should the house refuse to accept the senate bill, it will be returned to the senate and a lengthy debate over constitutional rights is expected. In that event, the outcome of farm legislation would depend largely on the senate's willingness to reverse itself on the debenture plan.

As a protest against the export debenture provision 31 administration Republicans including Senator Watson of Indiana, the party leader, voted against the bill. Two Democrats, Wagner of New York, and Walsh of Massachusetts, also voted against the measure.

ZEP'S TAKE-OFF DELAYED HOURS

France's Permission Comes Too Late in Day

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 14. (AP)—Hugo Eckner received permission at 10 o'clock tonight to fly the Graz Zeppelin over France, but only between 7 and 9 a. m. He stated that the notification came so late that the dirigible would be unable to get away before Thursday morning.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 14. (US)—The second trans-Atlantic flight of the Graf Zeppelin, which had been set for 5 o'clock tomorrow morning from its hangar on the shores of Lake Constance, was postponed this afternoon until noon Wednesday.

In spite of the fact that Commander Hugo Eckener had found weather conditions over the Atlantic most favorable up to a late hour last night, he suddenly announced that a delay of seven hours had been decided upon.

The score of passengers were expectantly waiting word from Dr. Eckener to get ready to go aboard, and the afternoon brought another passenger in the person of Mrs. Mary Pierce, of New York, who crossed Lake Constance from the Swiss side in a fast motor launch to make the trip on the Graf. She stated that her decision was taken suddenly, as she thought it would be a good way to week-end in New York.

Mexican Finance Head Clamps Down on Autos

MEXICO CITY, May 14. (US)—Having put the federal treasury of Mexico on its feet, and kept it there even in recent weeks when he had to pay the bills of the army fighting the Sonora rebels, Luis Montes De Oca, secretary of finance and public credits, has now done as much for a larger number of government employes and officials.

Some 2,000 of them were in the habit of driving cars owned and maintained by the federal government. The aforesaid official has reduced that number to exactly 34 and for the time being he is not any too popular with those who must now foot it, if the busses and street cars are not good enough for them.

Failure to Select Jury Threatens To Cause Long Delay in Rogers Trial

LAGRANGE, Texas, May 14. (AP)—Rain and the widespread publicity former chapters have received threatened today to write another "to be continued" in the story of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, whose life has been a series of court room scenes since she robbed the Farmers' National bank of Buda, Texas, more than two years ago.

A special venire of 160, called for Mrs. Rogers second trial for robbery with firearms was exhausted tonight after having yielded only seven jurors acceptable to both sides. Only one acceptable juror was obtained from the last 80 men examined and Judge M. C. Jeffrey announced that if a special venire of 50 called for tomorrow did not contain five more acceptable jurors the case would be transferred to another court. The special venire of 50 was called at the request of defense attorneys in spite of the fact that they had had two lively arguments with the judge which brightened up the day from the standpoint of the spectator. At one time Judge Jeffrey threatened to jail Otis Rogers, husband and chief counsel for the defendant, and at another time he answered an objection of the defense by threatening to transfer the case to Brownsville.

Some doubt was expressed as to the possibility of obtaining the venire of 50, as rains have made most of the roads in the county impassable.

Can Maker, Trapped in Machine Belt, Saved by Prince of Wales

NEW CASTLE, Eng., May 14. (UP)—The Prince of Wales saved the life of the foreman in charge of a can making machine at the Northeast coast exhibition here tonight.

The foreman, named Guinness, was demonstrating the machine when he slipped and caught his arms in a swiftly-moving machine belt. He was dangling in the air, his legs a few inches from the whirling machinery when the prince grabbed his legs.

The prince attempted to swing the man out of danger, but lost his grip. He immediately caught the man again and dragged him clear.

The prince had been attending the Northeast coast exhibition and later made a tour of the Palace of Industries, examining the can making machine with interest.

Guinness, who was explaining the machine to the prince, was standing on a seven foot ladder when he lost his footing.

Guinness fell against the moving machine belt and his arms were caught fast.

His body swung free and his feet were nearly against the mass of moving machinery when the prince sprang to his assistance.

PROSPERITY IS HERE TO STAY

Committee on Economics Reports on Business

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—An increasingly prosperous future for the United States, provided that the present economic balance between production and consumption of wealth can be maintained, is predicted by the report, published today, of President Hoover's committee on recent economic changes.

A maintenance of higher wages, in the light of what the report cited as "insatiable commodity demand," increasing application of scientific and managerial skill, and an elimination of speculation, the writers of the document concluded, would assure the continuous advance of living standards for the majority of the nation's population.

Wants Insatiable

"We seem only to have touched the fringe of our potentialities," the report said, though it declared emphatically that during the seven years including 1928, with which year its data ceased, Americans had enjoyed a material welfare splendid beyond all human experience.

"The survey has proved conclusive," the report continued "that wants are almost insatiable; that one satisfied makes way for another. The conclusion is that economically we have a boundless field before us; that there are few wants which will make way endlessly for newer wants as fast as they are satisfied.

"We have the power to produce and the capital to bring about the exchange between producing and consuming groups. We have communication to speed and spread the influence of ideas. We have the science and arts to help us. We have a great national opportunity."

Committee Members

Besides the president, signers of the report were Owen D. Young, Clarence M. Woolley, Daniel Willard, Louis J. Taber, A. W. Shaw, John J. Raskob, Lewis E. Pierson, Adolph C. Miller, George McFadden, Max Mason, John S. Lawrence, Julius Klein, William Green, R. W. Dunlap and Walter F. Brown. The committee's studies began a year ago and were financed by the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations, while the National Bureau of Economic Research assisted in the survey. The committee was seeking for the cause and cure of unemployment, and for possibilities of diminishing the up-and-down cycles of business activity and depression.

"The outstanding fact which is illuminated by this survey is that we cannot maintain our economic advantage," the document continued, "or fully hope to recognize our economic future, unless we consciously accept the principle of equilibrium, and apply it skillfully in every economic relation. Herein lies the danger; that through ignorance of economic principles or through selfish greed or inadequate leadership, the steady balance will be disturbed to our economic detriment. If natural resources are wastefully used; if money in quantity is taken out of production and employed for speculation; if any group develops a method of artificial price advancement which puts one commodity out of balance with others; if either management or labor disregards the common interest—to this extent equilibrium will be destroyed for all. Our complex and intricate economic machine can produce, but to keep it producing continuously it must be maintained in balance. It would seem that we can go on with increasing activity. But we can do this only if we develop technique of balance."

OPTIMIST LUNCHEON

Members of the Optimists club again will be entertained following their weekly luncheon Wednesday noon at the Kemp hotel by several sketches from the musical comedy, "Sunshine," which is to be presented under the club's auspices Friday night at Memorial auditorium. Mrs. Virginia Street Orr, director, will supervise the program to be presented Wednesday.

Five Bodies Recovered in Flooded Trinity River Bottoms of East Texas

LIVINGSTON, Texas, May 14. (UP)—Five bodies had been recovered late today from the flooded Polk county area where torrential rains sent the Trinity river and tributary streams out of their banks late yesterday.

The bodies, all negroes, were found along the edge of the swirling Trinity river, or nearby, by Sheriff R. R. Holliday and W. H. Battle, fireman at Goodrich. Three were identified as a mother and two daughters named Doyle.

Other searching parties continued efforts to reach families reported marooned in trees and housetops. Three other negro families and two white families still were missing along the Trinity river bottoms.

Gordon Still, newspaper man, returned this afternoon from a tour of the devastated area and told of hearing negroes calling from treetops while rescuers tried in vain to reach them. Still said there was a great need for shallow draft motor boats as the current is too swift for rowing in skiffs. Boats are being rushed from Houston, as well as food and medicine.

Showers began falling again late today with occasional hard rain, hampering rescue work and adding new menace to the situation.

'Flapper Inefficiency' Charge Made by British Firms Miffs U. S. Women

WASHINGTON, May 14. (INS)—The action of two Great British shipping firms, the White Star line and Royal Mail line, in replacing all their women employes with men because of "flapper inefficiency" shocked and astonished some of the nation's most prominent women today.

In Washingon there are women in congress, women in business, women predominating in the government departments—its a petticoat government to some extent—and they "just can't understand" the British decision to employ one male help in the future.

"There must be some reason other than the one given, that British girls are inefficient because they stop work to powder their noses, discuss screen stars and the latest styles," said Miss Mary Anderson, director of the woman's bureau of the department of labor.

"In this country these feminine foibles of powdering noses, gossiping and other things dear to the feminine heart apparently have not affected their efficiency.

Miss Anderson pointed out that the last census figures placed the number of women gainfully employed in this country at 8,500,000.

"The 1930 census figures probably will show even more. The figures are expected to be significant because they will show the constantly upward trend in the caliber of women's employment," she said.

The United states government, she said, is the largest single employer of women, 33,000 of the 60,000 civil service employes being women and girls.

"Whether in the administrative, scientific, professional, social service, artistic, clerical, manufacturing, mechanical or cleaning service, all positions are open, potentially if not actually to women," she added.

"The nation's half-awakened interest in the problems of women was completely aroused by the unusual conditions attending the world war. During this chaotic period of replacing the labor of men by that of women many adverse conditions were met and endured and women achieved a deserved recognition as potent factors in the industrial world. They will not lose the recognition gained during the war.

"Women are constantly advancing in this age. We now have women congressmen and may soon have a woman senator. We have women judges, lawyers, bankers, executives of big corporations, in fact, they can be found in high places in every branch of human endeavor in this country.

"Because girls may pause to powder their noses while engaged in their duties does not mean that they are inefficient."

G. O. P. BOOMS O. BULLINGTON

Wichitan Urged for Governor of Texas

Mr. Sartin's address, C. C. Hudson, editor of the Iowa Park Herald, was introduced, and in the course of his address said: "I believe that Herbert Hoover will be the greatest president that this nation has ever had. The address delivered recently on the subject of respect for the constitution and obedience to the law stamped him as being equally courageous and statesmanlike."

Leonard Withington, formerly editor of the Fort Worth Record, and now secretary of the state Republican offices, welcomed "new additions" to the political family.

Declaring that the Republican party is fundamentally the American party, and that it is rapidly gaining strength throughout the South, Orville Bullington said: "I predict, and firmly believe, that within 25 years the Republican party will be the dominant party in the South, because the present Democratic party will have fallen more completely under foreign control, and will be in command of the East; the remainder of the United States, including the South, will be solidly joined in the maintenance of American control of America."

Creager Speaks

Other speakers introduced by Mr. Hartt were Captain Lucey of Dallas, one of the original six engineers associated with Mr. Hoover in his task of supervising the distribution of food during the war, and in other enterprises; and Mr. Creager, who delivered the closing address of the evening. He again expressed appreciation of the strength given the Republican vote in this state in 1928 by additions from the Democratic ranks, and commended the qualifications of President Hoover. "The federal government, at least, is in safe hands for the next eight years," Mr. Creager said. The speaker added that he can see no distinct line of cleavage between the Republican and Democratic parties so far as the original principles upon which they were opposed are concerned. "It is now a question of respectful obedience to the laws which we ourselves have carefully drawn, and a wholesome regard for our constitution, as against wholesale disregard for the constitution and its amendments," Mr. Creager declared.

Following a brief, concise statement relative to the raising and handling of funds by the Texas Republican organization, Mr. Creager stated that an effort is now being made to raise $100,000 for the work of the party in this state during the next two years. About 30 cities are to be visited on the present tour, it was stated, which started last week. Indications Tuesday night pointed to the contribution of a considerable amount in this area.

NO RATTLERS

Bunnenberg Turns Down Offer of Big Snake For Zoo

"No sir, we won't have any rattlesnakes in this zoo," was the statement made by C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, when he was offered one of the largest rattlers ever caught in this section of the country Tuesday.

The snake was captured by a resident of Byers, Mr. Bunnenberg said, who called the park department over long distance telephone to make his offer to the zoo.

Mr. Bunnenberg said that he had declined the offer because snakes are exceedingly hard to handle in a zoo and because of the danger of having on exhibit.

NEGROES OUST DIXIE SOLONS

De Priest 'Party' Causes Change of Cafe

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, May 14. —The presence of Representative Oscar DePriest, negro congressman from Chicago, as host to a number of dusky guests in the house restaurant yesterday has created something of a furor among the southern Democrats, particularly the members from Texas. To make the mix-up worse, Mrs. Ruth McCormick, congresswoman from Illinois, was seen to greet her dusky colleague and even sat beside him for a time.

Mrs. McCormick has announced herself as a candidate for the senate next year and the negro vote in Chicago, practically all Republican, is considerable.

Several of the Texas members, headed by Representative J. J. Mansfield, have vowed they will no longer patronize the house restaurant but will cross to the other side of the capitol and eat in the senate cafe. In the case of Congressman Mansfield this is a particular hardship as he must make the journey in a wheel chair.

Even if they continue to patronize the senate cafe, however, there is no assurance that the Texans will escape embarrassment for as a full flodged member of congress DePriest has the same right to avail himself of the privilege to eat at the senate cafe as they have. In the end it may be necessary to restore the privilege formerly accorded members of serving them luncheon in the party cloak rooms and which was discontinued on the score that the food could not be handled in a sanitary manner. If this falls they may have to fall back on lunch baskets.

Rabbit Breeders Plan Meet at Olney May 25

Discussion of scientific methods of raising rabbits based on experiments made by the United States department of agriculture at Fontana, Calif., was the feature of the meeting of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association Tuesday night at Iowa Park.

William L. Smith gave a talk on the experiments as well as a proposed tariff on rabbit pelts.

The association voted in favor of holding a rabbit supper at Olney May 25 in connection with a rabbit show there.

Each member was instructed to bring in resolutions to offer to the national convention which meets in Fort Worth in December.

The next meeting was set for May 28. It will be held in the Wichita county courthouse.

TETLEY TEA

IMAGINE NOT HAVING TO CREAM THE SHORTENING!

You don't mind half so much how fast a cake goes . . . when it's so easy to make as it is with Snowdrift.

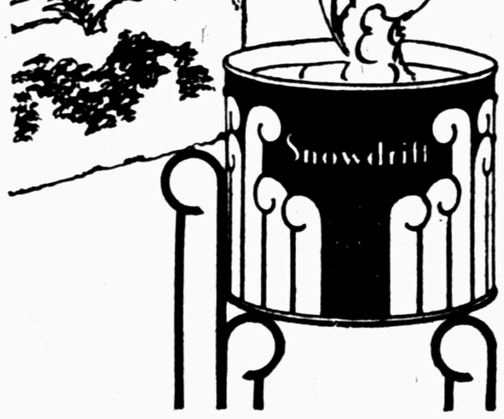

As easy to make as this Marble Cake, for instance—

MARBLE CAKE

6 Tablespoons Snowdrift · 3 Eggs
¾ Cup Sugar · ½ Teaspoon Cinnamon
½ Teaspoon Cloves · ½ Teaspoon Mace
½ Teaspoon Salt · 1¾ Cups Flour
1 Teaspoon Desired Extract
2½ Teaspoons Baking Powder
½ Cup Milk

Stir the Snowdrift and gradually work in the sugar, the eggs well beaten, and the extract. Sift together all dry ingredients, except the spices, add them alternately with the milk to the first mixture, and beat well. Take out one-half of the mixture and add spices to it. Then put the plain and the spiced batter into the greased cake pan in alternating tablespoonfuls and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes.

Easy, because Snowdrift is already creamed for you . . . before we pack it in the air-tight cans. Just a few stirs of your spoon, you know, serve to mix it thoroughly with sugar or flour.

"The most appealing of all charms is a lovely smooth skin," says Howard Bretherton, director for Warner Brothers—and voices the experience of 39 leading Hollywood directors.

Bretherton goes on to say: "A screen star's skin must be genuinely exquisite to triumph in the searching close-ups. Smooth 'studio skin' is the outstanding factor in screen success today."

It is because flawlessly beautiful skin is absolutely essential for stardom in motion pictures that 442 of the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. SENATE PASSES BILL TO CREATE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

BODY OF NINE TO RUN SCHOOLS

Elective Superintendent Plan Is Defeated

AUSTIN, May 14. (AP)—The senate today passed the board of education bill, after an effort to make the superintendent of public instruction elective instead of appointive. The vote was 16 to 10.

Advocates of an elective superintendent lost their amendment on account of the requirement that a bill on third reading can only be altered by a two-thirds majority. There were 14 ayes and 13 noes on the proposition of Senator Joe M. Moore of greenville not to disturb the present provision that the superintendent be elected.

Senator Moore predicted the bill would never get through the house unless the superintendent were made elective. The house bill provides for his election.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston charged that in providing for an elective superintendent textbook companies were inspired to take part in his election in hope of putting across a candidate who would favor their "fat contracts."

Senator Eugene Miller of Weatherford said that often men who were appointed were not more capable than those selected by the people.

"Our present governor has gone to his home county—Williamson—for nearly all his appointees, and I feel there are good men in some of the other counties," Miller said. "Let's not create any more commissions than necessary for the governor to appoint."

The bill provides for the appointment of a nine member board of education and the superintendent of public instruction. Terms shall be for six years. It requires the superintendent to have a Master of Arts degree. Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs does not have one. It proposes to carry into effect the constitutional amendtment adopted by the voters last November.

50-Ton Whale Drifts to Land—Then Carcass Is Ignited

OCEAN CITY, N. J., May 14. (INS)—A 70-foot whale drifted ashore here two weeks ago, much to the admiration of the populace—at first. As the sun worked on the 50 tons of whale meat, the admiration fell off considerably, and although the aroma alone seemed strong enough to move the whale, two attempts to tow it away failed.

In desperation, town officials today heaped the aromatic carcass with railroad ties, showered it with gasoline, and tossed a lighted match into the mixture. Now the populace is enjoying a lovely fire, more aromatic than even the carcass, which promised to burn for several days.

HEAVY FRUIT YIELD SEEN

Prospects in Quanah Are Excellent

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 14.—Prospects are bright for the heaviest fruit crop in this section in years. Peach trees are loaded with fruit; pears, some cherries, and apples are all heavily fruited, and unless some unforeseen calamity hits, thousands of cans of fruit will be put up during this summer and fall. The recent rains have materially helped the condition of trees and small fruit. But few berries are grown in this section.

J. H. Cofield recently had on exhibit a branch three and a half inches long upon which there are 12 peaches growing. He had cut this from a tree in his yard in Quanah.

FOUR HUNDRED BUILDS HAVEN

Historic Casino Remodeled For Society Folk

NEW YORK, May 14. (UP)—New York's "four hundred" has retreated to Central park where it will barricade itself in the historic old casino and attempt to conjure the glory that was Delmonico's and the grandeur that was the Waldorf.

One by one the landmarks of Ward McAllister's time have been sent down the chutes to the wreckers by progress and prohibition. Delmonico is only a mellow memory; even now they are laying sledge and hammer to the Waldorf to make way for a higher, bigger building.

No Place to Go

With the passing of the Waldorf, society leaders had no place to go except home, and so Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., took it upon himself to find a new gathering place. The Casino, which had fallen on evil ways after enjoying a flight of popularity in the nineties, was chosen and the word went around that the finest restaurant in the world was to be built overlooking one of the most beautiful sites in Central park. Society became interested, so much so, that it even got out its checkbook and in less time than it takes to type it there was $500,000 subscribed and a syndicate organized. Joseph Urban was lured away from designing scenery for the Ziegfeld follies to take charge of the redecoration and after a careful study of the structure he announced the following layout:

A black glass ballroom; a knotted pine breakfast room where the business man can take his bacon and eggs after a ride along the bridle paths; an orange terrace that will slant down to the copse of trees planted by the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, on a visit to this country; a glass enclosed breakfast room that will be in line with the rising sun; a tulip pavilion and a silver conservatory.

The sound of hammer and saw will startle many a ghost in the old Casino, for it will not be the first time that society has idled away its days in that building. Back in the nineties when the young bloods pinched clasped around their peg top trousers and pedalled their bicycles through Central park, you hadn't been anywhere at all unless you dropped into the Casino for tea or perhaps a glass of the forgotten beverage that they topped off with a sprig of mint. The famous Michaux club, members of which made the bicycle famous, had its headquarters at the Casino.

The Biddle project throws a sidelight on the society that now dominates New York.

The Vanderbilts, the Stewarts and the Huttons still grace the social register, but they have been joined by the Ziegfelds, the Schencks and the Zukors who have made their fortunes by glorifying girls and manufacturing motion pictures.

Raub-Howell Wedding Announcement Made at Unique Morning Musicale

No lovelier scenic background has recently been set than that at the home of Mrs. W. W. Silk on Tuesday morning when Mrs. Silk, assisted by Mrs. S. S. McKenney, gave a charmingly unique program that led up to the announcement of the engagement of Miss Modena Howell to Stanley M. Raub ,the marriage to take place at Tyler, Texas, on June 26.

The wide south porch, with its enormous urn of bird of paradise and jardinieres of Dorothy Perkins roses and lavender larkspur, was just an introduction to the spacious rooms of the home, where flowers were placed in riotous beauty. The great green glass jar of lavender gladioli on the piano; the baskets of double pink poppies and purple, pink and white larkspur with the blush pink of Dorothy Perkins roses always in the background, and then the special feature in the dining room, where on the Italian cutwork and hand made filet of the linen cloth, stood a wide bowl of roses, ferns and great white water lilies—all these made spring seem alive in the rooms. And adding to the beauty of the flowers, were the lovely paintings, lighted so their splendor might be seen.

When the guests were assembled, a warning buzz was heard, then chimes rang sweetly and a voice somewhat in the distance announced that a program was being broadcast over station L. O. V. E., Wichita Falls, operating on assigned frequency of 1929 Cupid darts, by authority of Federal Matrimonial Agency. Silk-McKenney entertainment company were furnishing the program and were fortunate in securing a group of most talented dramatic readers and soloists from the Love, Honor and Obey company.

The first number was announced as one to "Rowe" a person across the troubled waters of matrimony and quiet an "Akin" heart with the comforting waters of "I Promise You." Mrs. M. D. Rowe, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., sang this number sweetly.

Announcement was next made of the marionette, and little Jane Fisher gave a lovely little number. She was the "Belle of Paree."

The announcer said that having rowed safely across the seas and danced into the heart of matrimony, the audience would dance into the heart of Greenwood and to the accompaniment of babbling Brooks, listen to the plaintive dreams of Schubert's serenade. Mrs. Bruce Greenwood, accompanied by Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, gave Schubert's serenade so sweetly, so sympathetically that her audience was spellbound.

The voice of the announcer came once more: "In the heart of the Greenwood, with the lovely strains of the serenade, our soul mate Huff is entirely dispelled by two song birds, Priddy and Tully, warbling "I Love and Love Thee." Mrs. W. M. Priddy and Mrs. C. Y. Tully, accompanied by Mrs. Lucile B. Huff, gave this lovely duet.

Again came the voice of the announcer: "Now the snow white duck, with a bill yellow as gold, tells us of Romantic Tillie who watches the tide of matrimony waiting to be swept along with the current into the whirlpool of the problems of domestic life." Mrs. A. D. Duck stumbled in and gave a ridiculous "Romantic Tillie" which kept her audience in gales of laughter.

Station L. O. V. E. announcer said that "Tillie's Akin heart is comforted by the purple Martin who soars overhead and instills this hopeful thought into her mind, 'Someday, Sometime." Mrs. Paul Rutledge, who was Miss Mildred Martin, sang this number beautifully, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr.

The program was closed with this number, but station W. E. D., Tyler, Texas, tuned in and after the faint strains of the wedding march, Dr. S. S. McKenney's voice could be heard reading an original and highly diverting marriage ceremony. The answers purporting to be those of Mr. Raub and Miss Howell brought much laughter. Station W. E. D., Tyler, Texas, signed off until June 26 at 11:26 C. S. T. when they announced they would be back on the air with two love birds, Howell and Raub broadcasting by remote control from station L. O. V. E. N. E. S. T.

The remainder of the program was radio quips concerning the future of the couple. Milton Price and E. F. Bohmfalk were the radio announcers.

The gift of the hostesses to Miss Howell was a white brocaded satin bride's book.

Miss Modena Howell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Howell of Tyler, Texas, came to Wichita Falls from Beaumont and has served the First Methodist church as educational secretary for three years. She has an excellent voice which was trained in Texas.

Mr. Raub is a violinist of note. He is a native of Kansas, studied music in a conservatory in Ohio but is a graduate of the Institute of Musical Arts in New York. This is his seventh season as a teacher in Wichita Falls.

In the time intervening between now and June 1, Miss Howell and Mr. Raub will spend some time in remodeling his home on Ellsabeth street. Miss Howell will leave soon after June 1 to remain with her parents until the wedding takes place.

The guest list of the announcement musicale was limited to the immediate friends of the bride in church and musical circles.

A delicious refreshment plate, each carrying an old fashioned, lace bound corsage in pastel shades with blush pink ribbons, was served to the honoree, Misses Marguerite Fisher, Annie Laurie Long, Jane Fisher, Marguerite and Grace Haynie, Virginia Hicks, Mesdames J. Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, May 14. (US)—St. John Irvine saying in Paris that he saw more drunken women in New York in seven months than he saw in England in seven years.

It all depends upon where one hangs out.

A woman editor of a New York magazine is authority for this story anent the dog situation:

"I lived with a woman some years ago, who had four white poodles. She tied big bows of ribbon about their necks, a different color for each dog. When it rained and she took them out with her, she put on their feet, tiny white rubbers which were made especially for them.

"Her husband wasn't very well, and it was his duty to take the poodles out for a walk every day. The rainy weather effected him sadly, but he was a fine brave man, and the dogs were never neglected.

"There were four tiny toothbrushes in a holder, each of a different color and each matching the bow on one dog's neck. Each day they had their teeth brushed, and three times a week they had baths."

One of the poodles was called "Popsy" another "Wopsy" a third "Mopsy" and she had forgotten the fourth.

"Don't you like dogs?" I asked the editor, and she said: "Oh yes, I love dogs, but I'm fond of the bigger, swashbuckling type of dog. I like the same type of men—all swashbuckling."

I'm saving my pennies—to buy the homeliest English bull dog that God ever put the breath of life into. One with bowed legs, and short of breath because his nose is sort o' pushed in, and who snores outrageously when he sleeps. The strong silent kind that never barks and has to fall asleep before he will make any noise. But what a grip! Character, I call it. The same kind of appeal that you find in a strong fine man with a homely face. Once you learn to love 'em you don't seem to recover from it.

"Name him, not Topsy, Wopsy or Woodles, or Whiff or Sweetie. I'm going to call him old Ebenezer Scrooge and consider his feelings. I'll never humiliate him in front of guests by kissing him and talking baby talk, and making a molly-coddle out of a regular fellow."

But the woman who kissed the cow was right. She thought it should be every woman to her own taste.

I once had a French bull dog and a Cocker spaniel. The bull pup had an elegant time teasing the spaniel. He would run up and pull at his long black hair. Not enough to hurt, just enough to annoy him, and then he'd jump back and when the spaniel growled, it tickled the bull dog clear through. He got a good spanking, but he had a lot of swell afternoons.

Delphian Societies Hold Joint Annual Luncheon Tuesday

A table in the shape of a T in the ballroom of the Country club was beautifully decorated in Delphian colors on Tuesday when Wee-chee-tah and Tejas chapters, Delphian society, held their annual luncheon there.

On the white linen lay a long strip of black with fluted edges, and in the center of this a golden strip completed the black and gold effect. The vases and bowls used to hold the flowers were black and the flowers were of golden shades. Yellow roses, great black eyed susans, and butterflies in all varied colors emphasized the color motif. Between the bowls of flowers, stood tall tapers in gold with black holders. They made lovely spots of color as they were placed in groups of three down the table length.

The place cards were real works of art. Mrs. A. W. Burnside designed them. The Wee-chee-tah had the blue water with the Indian maiden wading out in it, painted by Mrs. Paul Steed, and the Tejas, a little map of Texas, drawn by Mrs. Walter Caldwell, with the insignia pin marking the spot where Wichita stands.

The opening of the program at the luncheon table was the singing of the Delphian song to the music of "Long Long Trail." Mrs. Collard played and both societies joined in the singing.

Mrs. F. W. Fischer, president of Wee-chee-tah, gave a talk on the meaning and purpose of Delphian. Her paper was splendidly prepared and exceedingly interesting to her audience, it was said.

Mrs. Walter Hugh Caldwell, president of Tejas, made a talk on the personal viewpoint of a Delphian, using personalities to illustrate her subject.

Then, Mrs. Homer S. Bennett toasted Mrs. Caldwell's many splendid qualities, telling of all the offices she had held and how able she was.

Mrs. Bennet called the roll of the members, introducing each one and telling what she had done in the Delphian work.

Mrs. C. N. Cameron, accompanied by Mrs. Collard, gave two exquisite vocal number. "The Wind's In the South" and "The Cuckoo." The entire program was given during the splendid luncheon and the last was a very beautiful piano solo by Elizabeth Langford.

After this, the assembly rose and gave the Delphian cheer.

Refuse Any Suitor Who Proposes Secret Marriage, Warns Dorothy Dix

Unutterable Folly of the Secret Marriage. Bad Taste of Making Up in Public—Is It Possible to Love Two People in the Same Way?

Dear Miss Dix—I am in love with a medical student who will not finish school for two more years and who will not be financially able to marry until he gets settled in his practice. He begs me to marry him secretly, but I don't approve of this and have refused to do so, but I fear that I will lose him unless I relent. We both belong to prominent families who would not countenance a secret marriage. What shall I od?

—A GOOD GIRL.

Answer—Stick to your guns and refuse to marry any man who will not take you openly for his wife. A secret marriage may be strictly legal, but it always carries with it a smear of disgrace and people look askance at a belated marriage certificate.

There are certain conventions that civilized people have agreed upon for the protection of society, an done of these is the public marriage. It is the formal announcement that a man and woman have decided to found a family and spend the balance of their lives together and it puts the seal of the church and the state upon your honorable union and stops all discussion of the matter.

Not so the secret wedding. That sets all the tongues in the community wagging, for, no matter how careful you are, you will be sure to be discovered. Some prying eye will spy you out. Don't degrade your love by dragging it into a sordid intrigue that is slimed over with deception and lies.

You say you are afraid that you will lose this young man's love if you do not agree to a secret marriage. Believe me, my dear, you are much more likely to lose it if you do. For if his affection cannot stand the strain of waiting with the reward of getting you in the end, still less will it endure the strain of a half-and-half marriage, which will have all the disadvantages and none of the advantages of matrimony.

If he ceses to love you, it will be because separation has weaned him away from you, because he has developed along different lines from you in a different environment, because he has found some other girl with more allure for him than you have.

These dangers confront you whether you marry him or not. A marriage certificate will not bridge over your separation. It will keep his taste from changing. It will not shut his eyes to a pretty woman. So you are bound to take this risk of wearying to you and coming, perhaps, to prefer some other woman, and surely if this is to happen it is far better that it should happen before you are married than afterward.

Besides this, the very fact he was married to you, that he was bound to come back to you whether he wanted to or not, would have the tendency to disillusion him about you. Many men tire of their wives simply because their wives represent the idea of bondage to them.

There is less reason now than ever before for a girl to be guilty ot the folly of a secret marriage, because if the man is not able financially to support her she can support herself. So if you and your young man are so much in love that you cannot wait, get married openly and honorably, and go on with your job until he can make a living for two.

But don't marry any man who isn't man enough publicly to acknowledge you as his wife.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—What do you think of women who do their primping in public? The other night I saw a girl standing in the middle of a ballroom and, while talking to three men, take out her compact and start powdering her nose. And not long ago at a banquet a woman opened her handbag and proceeded, with the assistance of her pocket mirror, to make her toilet, even to painting her lips. What would women think of men if they brought along their safety razors and shaving creams and proceeded to remove their beards in public?

—A CONSTANT READER.

Answer—I am with you, Mr. Reader. I have never got over being shocked at the bad taste of the women who make up their faces in public, and thereby give away all the secrets of their toilet.

And it certainly does make me fighting mad to have a bobbed-haired sister comb her hair in a restaurant. Yet that happens continually. Nothing is more common than to see a woman calmly take out her comb and comb her hair in the theater or at a public table.

It is all right for women to use cosmetics and to make themselves as beautiful as they can. I have nothing but good words for the woman who makes roses bloom on sallow cheeks, and who puts a permanent crimp in lanky locks, and who calcimines a sallow complexion until it is like a lily, but suerly there is a time and a place for all things, and the rites of the toilet should be performed in secret, instead of being flaunted in the face of the public.

The only thing that reconciles me to this public beautifying is the spectacle it affords of perfect and complete satisfaction when it is accomplished. Watch the next woman you see who draws out her compact and makes up her face. When it is done, she regards her handiwork with the same look of satisfaction that some great artist must wear when he achieves his masterpiece.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—If you have loved and lost one who was extremely dear to you, is it possible ever to love some one else in the same way and to the same extent?

—DOUBTFUL.

Answer—I don't think we ever love any two people in the same way, because we love one person for one quality and another person for another quality.

You may love one man because he is gentle and tender and understanding, and another man because he is bold and domineering and a caveman. You may love John because you have to mother him and look out for him, and Bob because he protects you and takes care of you. And you can love one as much as the other.

That is why it is so foolish to be jealous of the love for the dead, or to make a fetish of it to which one sacrifices the happiness of the living.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Regular sessions of the Wichita county rural schools will come to a close on Tuesday of next week, May 21, in practically every district, Burl Bryant, county superintendent, announced Tuesday.

The latter part of the week in most instances will be devoted to special entertainments and ceremonies in the various graduating classes, with baccalaureate services Sunday. A large number of students from the rural schools go into the town schools for their graduating year, the superintendent explained, cutting down th number of rural school graduates. No figures on the number of students completnig the work this year are yet available, Mr. Bryant said.

COLLEGE BOY'S DEATH ENIGMA

Huntington Slaying Still Unsolved Crime

WINDSOR, Conn., May 14. (INS)—After six days of strange, undercover investigation, the mysterious death of Walter Treadway Huntington, handsome Harvard junior, today developed into a battle of opinion as to whether it is a case of suicide or murder.

Huntington, a youth of 20, was found shot to death near a roadway about three miles from his palatial home in Windsor. A bullet was fired into the left side of his head from a .32 calibre automatic pistol but the gun was not found, and Huntington was righthanded.

The chief investigator, County Detective Edward J. Hickey, insisted today that the young man committed suicide.

"I cannot find a single thing to indicate murder," he declared this morning, to International News Service. "I have always thought that way."

And so the gaffling death of the college boy now seems likely to be recorded in police annals alongside of other famous unsolved crimes such as the Hall-Mills case, the death of Swope, the Missouri millionaire, the Dot King mystery and the Elwell murder.

Reports that the slain college boy had been indulging in "whoopee" parties with girls in the last three months were widely circulated but none of them could be confirmed.

Psychological Motive

Hickey said he believed Huntington's motive for suicide was psychological, that he was overcome by worry or remorse over the dissolute life he is alleged to have led for the last three months.

Dr. Aaron P. Pratt, medical examinter, the first physician to arrive on the scene after the body was found, told International News Service he could not see how it could be a case of anything but murder.

In Huntington's pockets were found five handkerchiefs. Four of them were soaked with blood. One of them was a woman's handkerchief.

Hickey found similar handkerchiefs in the Huntington home and satisfied himself that all handkerchiefs came from there.

While the murder investigation continued, the name of Clare Kennelly cropped up continually. He was a former chauffeur for Mrs. Huntington, the slain boy's mother, and is said to have incurred the enmity of young Huntington. Kennelly was questioned for 12 hours in the state's attorneys office, but he was not held.

One of the strange aspects of the case is the atmosphere of mystery that envelopes the Huntington mansion in Windsor.

Reporters Barred

The dead youth's mother and his eccentric elder brother, Clark Huntington, are inaccessible. They have been interviewed by Hickey, but they will not see newspaper men.

If there is a "mystery girl" in the case no one can name her. In fact, the townspeople are united in declaring that while young Huntington was in his own home town he had nothing whatever to do with girls. What he did at college, however, was another matter.

Pepsin Best For Indigestion

In Liquid Form Only

When your stomach is often upset and indigestion becomes chronic and stubborn and nothing seems to bring relief the chances are you need pepsin—but—and keep this fact in mind—Pepsin must be in proper combination and in liquid form if you want speedy and permanent results—just any old pepsin won't do.

That is where Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a scientific combination of pepsin and other aids to stomach upbuilding comes in—it not only relieves indigestion and its distressing symptoms in just a few minutes but taken regularly for a few weeks, will put your out of order stomach in such splendid shape that the heartiest meals can be digested without the least sign of misery—you won't even know you've got a stomach.

So if you are so unfortunate as to suffer from indigestion, gas, sourness and near suffocation why not go to any leading druggist today and ask for and get a bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin especially when it is guaranteed to help you more than anything you ever tried or money back. It's a delight to take elixir.—Adv.

Tax Put on Hiring Labor For Out-of-Town Work

AUSTIN, May 14. (AP)—The house today finally passed a bill by Rep. A. P. Johnson, Carrizo Springs, levying a $5,000 annual state and $2,500 county tax against firms engaged in hiring laborers to be employed out of Texas.

Speaking in favor of the measure, Representative Johnson said the state must prepare itself for enforcement of the Box bill, placing Mexican immigration on a quota basis, which is pending in congress.

Where are the cars of Yesterday?

REMEMBER, not so long ago, when there was a wider aristocracy of automobiles in America, and a certain few cars were known for their particular fineness?

Pierce-Arrow was of that group, and Pierce-Arrow today occupies the same place in the nation's regard—and for the same reason.

There has never been a compromise with fineness in Pierce-Arrow history. And that is as true of today's new Straight Eight as it was when an equally fine Pierce-Arrow cost twice as much—a generation ago.

A slender, low-swung ultra-modern automobile of generous size and magnificent power, is the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight. Its entrance into the fine car field is at a psychological moment. It meets an eager and waiting demand.

The New Age of Faith

IT IS a long time since the steamer Vestris went to the bottom off the Virginia capes, carrying 100 people down with her; but new facts about the tragedy are still coming out.

At the present inquiry in London it is disclosed that the steamer was considerably overloaded when it cleared from New York, and competent witnesses have testified that this was a contributory cause to her sinking.

The citizen who embarks on a steamship has not, naturally, any way on earth of telling whether the vessel is loaded properly or equipped properly. Things of the sea are a closed book to most landsmen. To make a sea voyage is to perform an act of faith—faith that unknown men have been conscientious and thorough in the performance of their duties.

Indeed, this is becoming increasingly true of everything we do. Never before was the average man so much under the necessity of taking it for granted that his fellow men would be upright and capable. The machine age might well be called the age of faith.

You do not have to make a sea voyage to demonstrate this. Every day of your life you stake your life on faith that the men you meet will do their parts properly.

For instance: You drive along a street in your automobile at a speed of 30 miles an hour. Coming toward you, on the left, is a stream of autos going the other direction. The cars whiz past you at a speed equal to your own, missing you by a scant two or three feet.

You are putting up your life on the faith that none of these drivers is drunk, or incompetent, or near-sighted. If one of those cars should swerve slightly out of line you would have a bad smashup that would probably kill you—but you simply take it for granted that all of these unknown drivers are men as good as yourself.

You could find a similar instance in almost every hour of your daily routine. The whole complicated fabric of modern life is held together by nothing in the world but faith.

That is why the bungler—the careless, witless incompetent—is able to do more harm today than ever before in history.

In the old days it usually took a certain amount of malice to bring about a disaster. Today a moment's inattention on the part of the most well-meaning of men can have fearful consequences. Incompetence may yet be rated the most serious crime on our calendar.

The City Isn't Perfect

THE UNITED STATES is rapidly developing into a city civilization—so rapidly that we sometimes wonder how we could be satisfied with anything else. The things that the city brings—noise, crowding, constant hurrying and turmoil—are almost part of us now, and we are apt to forget that there is another way to live.

Once in a while, though, something happens to remind us that the things the city brings may not be as essential as we usually think.

The other day an unusual couple stopped off in the city of New York for a brief visit.

They were Corporal Claude B. Tidd, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and his pretty wife, a former nurse in the remote city of Dawson, Yukon territory.

For the first time since 1915 they had come down to the land of cities, en route for a visit to England. And while you might imagine that two people who had spent their last 14 years in a tiny village under the Arctic circle would be glad to get to a place like New York, Corporal Tidd and his wife didn't see it that way at all.

The corporal's post has kept him in a village that is almost unbelievably remote. Only one other white person lives in it. Mail arrives and departs once a year. Often the corporal is away from home for days at a time, and his wife stays alone in their cabin on such occasions, varying the monotony now and then by taking a gun and going out to shoot game. They have no radio, and the town has no movie; there is nothing but an unending silence and a great majesty of open, unsettled wilderness about them.

But they prefer that to New York. In the city, they say, there is too much noise and too much activity. The gay frills of the metropolis, ordinarily its greatest attraction for visitors, leave them cold. They speak another kind of language. Both of them are impatiently waiting for the day when they can start back to their distant Canadian outpost and plunge into solitude and silence once more.

Most of us would be unable to endure a year of life in the Tidds' village. We are bred to the city civilization, and we couldn't get along without it. But it is good for us to be reminded that it isn't necessarily the best kind of life possible.

Solitude and isolation can sometimes do more for the human spirit than we imagine. They aren't in our line; we shall never be able to get them, for the cities have us in their grip. But it doesn't hurt us to realize that we're mising something valuable.

The Railroads' Safety Record

ALTHOUGH the toll of automobile traffic accidents continues to mount to even higher figures, the railways are yearly becoming safer and safer methods of travel.

According to Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central system, only 16 people were killed in railroad accidents in the United States in 1928. Considering the fact that the railroads carried nearly a billion passengers last year, this is an extremely fine record.

Now if we can only begin to cut down our automobile accidents, everything will be lovely.

Aviation and the Telephone

It is now possible for people flying in airplanes to hold telephone conversations with people on land. gram. It's a cruel world!

PHILLIPS

This would seem to be the hardest blow yet struck at aviation as a pleasure. Who wants to go 5,000 feet in the air only to be disturbed by the summons: "You are wanted on the telephone"?

One of the great charms of flying has been the assurance that nobody could reach you by postcard, telephone or tele-

Possible wire conversation between a man in an airplane and a wife waiting for him to come to dinner:

Wife: Hello, is this you Ambrose?

Husband: Yes. Who is this?

Wife: This is Grace. I've been trying to get you at the office for hours. The exchange girl there finally connected me. Where are you? You sound way off.

Husband: You don't know the half of it. I'm over St. Louis.

Wife: Stop joking, Ambrose, and tell me where you are?

Husband: I'm not fooling, hon. I'm over St. Louis.

Wife: Please be serious. How could you be over St. Louis?

Husband: I'm in an airplane.

Wife: That's a likely story! You're not coming home to dinner, I suppose, and so you've thought up a new excuse. Over St. Louis in an airplane, eh? I suppose you'll be telling me you're over Pasadena in a couple of dirigibles.

Husband: Now, Grace, be sensible. I'm really and truly up in an airplane, and . . .

Wife: I suppose you're going to tell me you're all alone.

Husband: No, but . . .

Wife: Or that you're with some very influential men on a big business deal. I've heard all that stuff before.

Husband: No, frankly, it's just a little jaunt and . . .

Wife: How many women are there in the party?

Husband: Only two, dear, and I don't know either.

Wife (tearfully): Up in an airplane over St. Paul with two women and you say you don't know 'em!

Husband: St. Louis, Grace, not St. Paul.

Wife: You said St. Paul. I knew I'd catch you in a lie.

Husband: I never mentioned St. Paul.

Wife: You did, and I'll never . . .

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker
Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, May 15.—Alice Lauber came to New York three years ago from Sweden. She could speak little English. She got a job as a maid and became a real estate salesman on the side.

During the past year she netted an income of $100,000.

She is pretty and one reason, I guess, for her success is that she had no ambition to enter the New York stage, already overcrowded. I haven't any way of certifying the statement, but it wouldn't be surprising to learn that nine-tenths of all the young women who come to New York have the stage in mind.

The coming of warm weather is a reminder that a fine old institution will be revived. I refer to the recreation piers now ready for their annual summer opening.

When the heat invades the tenement area between the Brooklyn and Manhattan bridges daily pilgrimages are made to these piers. From these breathing spots children play and adults rest, with the ocean breezes sweeping up to greet them. By day the recreation pier is a river front playground, a sanctuary for children and a haven of rest for tired mothers. At night, with music and cool breezes they undergo a magic change. They are like the decks of excursion boats.

There is one pier that never closes. It is open to children both winter and summer. Near the Williamsburg bridge is a big house boat which never moves from its pier. But it's a schoolhouse for sickly children who sometimes learn their three R's while their schoolroom rocks gently under the caresses of the river.

New York children must take their play as they find it. They have not the open spaces, the gardens and lawns and open fields of children in other cities. The sidewalks are their playgrounds and they must make the most of them. Naturally, this calls for special games. You can't play regulation baseball in a busy street, so the boys substitute a sort of cross between handball and baseball.

All of their play is subject to the confines of narrow streets. Whereas children in the country or in smaller cities can play "cowboy and Indian" unrestrained, the children who play it on the sidewalks of New York have a third one to look out for besides cowboys and Indians—the policeman.

One day last summer I noticed policemen chasing children away from the fountain in City Hall park—the fountain, by the way, which boasts a statue of Civic Virtue. The children had no other place to swim and there hardly could be anything to censure in their playing in the pool. But the self-righteous ones didn't like it. More "Dont's" are thrust before the children of New York, I think, than in any other city in the country.

The more I see of the restricted opportunities for play granted to them the less do I blame them for their "gangs" and their meeting places, usually described by the self-righteous as breeding places of crime. If they are indeed the sources of crime among adolescents, then I am sure the selfrighteous ones might make inquiry as to what substitutes for recreation are provided the boys and girls of New York.

In this connection, educators outside of New York may lift their brows in wonder when it is reported that the board of education has decided to eliminate, as far as possible, home work for New York school children. But circumstances differ here.

Circumstances are such that children in New York, when burdened with excessive homework, have practically no time for healthy recreation—even of the limited kind refered to above. Besides the roar of traffic, the congestion of tenement flats and other details all converge to distract the child at home.

Aside from Sutton Place and Tudor City the eastern section of the city, from the Battery up, is slowly but surely getting tonier. There are many projects now under way which propose the erection of new tenements. But tenements is a misleading word, for the new structures planned will be swanky places, with gardens, 100 per cent, co-operative apartments (whatever they are) and even door men in major-domo uniforms.

Seven Inch Rain Benefits Lawton

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., May 14.—With a total rainfall of 7.87 inches recorded since Saturday afternoon, according to the gauge at the U. S. experiment station, Lawton and vicinity has enjoyed a much needed "soaking." Basements flooded in Lawton, due to the insufficiency in capacity of storm sewers, have been pumped dry and street cleaners are busy carting and cleaning away debris and dirt from the downtown section.

Farmers and merchants are jubilant. The rain was of incalculable benefit to the corn, alfalfa and feterita and insures at least a partial wheat crop. Pastures have taken on new life and oats changed color overnight.

The big city dam presented a scene of "Niagara" Sunday and many cars visited the park to get snanshots of the falls. Damage from the rain was comparatively small. The rain fell in such heavy torrents that the roads were packed and traffic was scarcely interferred with.

New Resort Near Lawton Opened

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., May 14.—Westlake, recently completed 20-acre tract in the Wichita mountain area, Fort Sill reservation, for an artificial lake, is now completely filled with water. The new lake is intended as an outing place for Fort Sill residents and thousands of crappie, perch and channel catfish have been placed in the lake. In a few years it is expected to make an ideal resort for the military people.

A new road has been built around the lake which is located just west of Signal mountain. The spillway has been screened so as to prevent fish escaping during high water. The vicinity affords excellent picnic grounds. Kaffir corn and rice will be planted to provide feed for visiting ducks in season.

HOUSE OKEHS RIVER PACTS

Rio Grande and Colorado Plans Sanctioned

AUSTIN, May 14. (AP)—Two river compacts affecting control of the Rio Grande and Colorado streams were ratified today by the house.

The Rio Grande agreement, signed at Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 12, 1929, between commissioners of Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, authorizes the appointment of T. H. McGregor as commissioner from Texas to administer division of waters of the river above Fort Quitman. The measure appropriates $5,500 for engineering and legal expenses in carrying out provisions of the compact.

A tri-state agreement between Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico for the control of flood waters on the Canadian river through construction of dams at government expense was sanctioned also. The treaty between the neighbor states vesting a joint comission with authority to allocate all impounded waters of the Canadian river already has been ratified by Oklahoma and New Mexico legislatures.

Hoover Refuses to Reinstate Magruder

WASHINGTON, May 14. (UP)—President Hoover has rejected a proposal to reinstate Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, vigorous critic of naval administration, to his old place as commandant of Philadelphia navy yard.

Magruder was removed from his command by President Coolidge late in 1927 following publication of a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post in which the naval officer assailed his department for inefficiency, extravagance and an unwholesome zeal for gold braid and plumes. He since has been awaiting orders.

CITY OPENS SUMMER RECREATION PROGRAM WEDNESDAY NIGHT

BAND CONCERT, MOVIES LISTED

First Vaudeville Bill At Bellevue May 23

Final arrangements for the first week of the summer free recreational program by the city park department were announced Tuesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent.

The free moving picture shows will begin Wednesday night at the Carrigan school ground with a five reel western picture, "Wolf Heart's Revenge," and a two-reel comedy, "Paging Love."

Band Concert

The Playground band, under the direction of Paul Seed, will open the program at 7:30 o'clock with a concert and the moving pictures will follow the band program, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

Moving picture shows will be shown in one section of the city every night in the week except Sunday night with the program going from the Carrigan school on Wednesday nights to Scotland park Thursday nights, the Washington school ground on Friday nights, O'Reilly park and Bowie school ground on Saturday nights, Bellevue park on Monday nights, the Grant street playground on Wednesday nights.

The same picture will be run at all of the locations until it completes the circuit, Mr. Bunnenberg declared.

Free vaudeville programs will begin Thursday night, May 23, in Bellevue park and will be given there one night each week. Mr. Bunnenberg urged that all players and performers who will appear on free bills this summer communicate with him at his office in the Memorial auditorium.

"Electra Night"

May 30 has been set aside as "Electra night." A vaudeville program and concert by the Electra Chamber of Commerce band, under the direction of Ira C. Johns, will be given at Bellevue park on that night.

Supervised play in the city parks will be opened at Bellevue park Wednesday at noon by Mrs. Maude Bartholomew, playground supervisor, while C. C. Frazee, recreational director, has already begun organizing amateur athletics which are under his direction, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

The wading pool at Scotland park will not be opened until Monday, Mr. Bunnenberg said. It had been formerly announced that the pool would be opened with all of the recreational activities on May 15.

It will be impossible to open the pool until Monday because the heavy rains during the week-end forced laborers to abandon the work of putting the pool in shape for use.

A life guard will be kept on duty during the hours that the pool is open.

RUPTURE IS NOT A TEAR

NO BREAK TO HEAL

Some people have a mistaken idea that rupture is a tear. Rupture is not a tear, but purely a muscular weakness in the abdominal wall. Trusses merely brace these muscles, but do not strengthen them—on the contrary the gouging of the ordinary truss pad often increases this weakness, because it tends to shut off blood circulation. STUART'S ADHESIF PLAPAO-PADS are entirely diffferent—being mechanico-chemico applicators—made self-adhesive purposely to keep the muscle-tonic, called "Plapao" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. No straps, buckles or springs attached. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive.

JACK DEMPSEY DENIES 'PARTY'

Ex-Champion Declares He Hit No One

NEW YORK, May 14. (INS)—"There was no party. There was no fight. I've just been made the goat of a wild story."

Jack Dempsey today thus reiterated his version of the Joe Benjamin "socking" party at a local hotel on Saturday night in an exclusive statement to International News Service and added a few kind words for Mr. Benjamin to treasure in his after life.

"I only wish it happened 10 years ago," he said, "I'd be that much ahead of the game. I've carried him for 10 years. Now I'm through with him. He has got a lot of useful publicity out of this thing. So has everybody else, except me. I've stood for a lot of things for 10 years but this is too much. It's tough to be made the goat on a crazy story like that.

"I had been out to the anvil chorus dinner and had dropped in on Gene Normile for a talk before going to bed. Without invitation, Benjamin blew in with a hilarious party. They were noisy and bothersome but I was writing a few wires and didn't pay any attention to them. If anything happened, and I'm not admitting that anything did, I had nothing to do with it. Where would I get off hitting a guy like that?"

Commenting on a dispatch from Los Angeles, which quoted Dempsey's wife, Estelle Taylor, as saying that their only disagreement had been caused by his gambling losses at Agua Caliente, Mexico, Dempsey said that he had "lost a few trifling hundreds" but that he had finished away ahead in his other ventures at the resort.

"I only had $15,000 invested and I got that back, plus $8,000 more," he said in conclusion.

Shadow of Old 'Judge Lynch' Fails To Frighten Crusading Minister

BOOTHBAY, Maine, May 14. (UP)—The combined specters of tar and feathers and a hangman's noose failed today to frighten the Rev. Earl A. Spencer away from this normally quiet little village which now is the scene of a heated church war.

Alleged threats against his life, which pictured him as the object of a lynching party, were met by the minister with a statement that indicated plainly that if he left town it would be on a rail.

Climaxing his long and vigorous campaign against dances held regularly at the town hall, Spencer was voted out of his pulpit by a majority of his congregation Saturday night. When he declined to resign, he was summarily dismissed, and three huge padlocks were attached to the door of the Boothbay Baptist church.

Undaunted, Spencer gathered 26 loyal parishioners about him and promptly organized a new society called "The First Baptist Church of Christ."

"Then he placed in front of his padlocked church a placard which read, "God is able."

Glancing out of his parsonage window a little later, he was astounded to note that the card had disappeared and in its place was another which read:

"Spencer, get out of town, for the tar is hot and the rope is ready."

SPUDDERS TAKE OPENER FROM CUBS TO CHECK LOSING STREAK

FINE FIELDING HELPS PAYNE

Fitz and Swenson Hit Homers to Aid 9-5 Victory

By LARY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Jim Galloway says to the fellows in the club house before the ball game, "I'm going to play first base and Payne's going to pitch and we're going out and win the old ball game." Jim did play first base and Payne did pitch—and the Supdders DID win the old ball game.

A revamped lineup, the layoff Monday, ideal baseball weather, or what have you, brought about a startling and highly pleasing Spudder rejuvenation to 938 cash customers out at the lot. That reversal of form enabled the Wichita Falls athletes to check a losing streak that had extended to five straight, broken only by a tie, and trim the league-leading Waco Cubs. The score was 9 to 5.

Ray Andrews, the Pacific coast rookie recalled from Abilene, was shoved into the lineup on his first day of reporting. The result was highly pleasing. Playing at shortstop, with Rabbit Benton shifted to second base, the kid flashed excellent defensive work, hit the ball hard, and above all, showed intensive aggressiveness and fighting spirit.

Spuds Sparkle Afield

Scintillating defensive play helped Payne out of several tight situations. It was the first display of inspired fielding the Spudders have shown for a long time. Two double plays helped check the hostiles when they threatened, with the entire infield performing some sparkling piece of work at various times, and all the outfielders roamed around the gardens to pull down potential base hits and runs.

Payne pitched cagey baseball. Though he yielded 14 hits, the screw ball chucker bore down at critical occasions and thanks to the aforementioned starry support stayed in there the route to emerge victor.

The Spudders pounded Earl Caldwell, ace of the Cub mound staff, off the hill, and halted the crack young righthander's winning streak which had extended to six in a row. Eleven hits were made off Caldwell in the seven innings he toiled, and nine of the blows figured in the run-getting.

Howard Fitzgerald and Wally Swenson clouted home runs. Howard smashed his circuit driver over the right field wall to start a rally in the third that netted three runs and Swenson clouted his four-ply swat in the fourth with a comrade on base, in an inning in which the Spudders tallied a cluster of six markers.

Ray Makes Great Debut

Fitzgerald maced a double in that fourth that scored a teammate and walked in four times at bat. Swenson connected for a single in addition to his homer in four trials.

Andrews broke in with a bang. He clouted a brace of singles, and showed the will to win when he dived and tagged Windle stealing second on a throw from Crouch, completing a double play after Mellano had fanned. Every Spudder in the lineup except Galloway got a hit and Bennett and Payne clouted two-base blows.

Jim Battle led the Waco attack with three hits and Vigare, Heath and Windle smacked a pair of knocks each. None of the Cubs' hits went for an extra base.

Spudders Start in Fourth

Fitzgerald's home run started the Spudders on their way in the fourth. Bennett followed Howard's smash with a double down the left field line. Sullivan singled to center, scoring Bennett, but Dick was out at second, Sanguinet to Heath to Mellano. Mellano knocked down Swenson's grounder over second and held it to a single. Mellano beat Galloway to the bag on Jim's bounder, on which the Cub second sacker made another excellent play, Swenson going to second. Crouch singled to center, scoring the Swede. Payne grounded to Battle.

The Cubs tallied a brace of runs in the fifth, but Payne prevented further scoring by striking out Sanguinet with two on and two out. Battle singled to right after one was out and advanced to second on Heath's hit to left. Benton took Windle's pop. Caldwell's loop lift back of third scored Battle and sent Heath to second. Mellano singled to right, scoring Heath; Caldwell going to third. Sanguinet fanned.

Galloway's men continued their rampage in the fifth and scored six more tallies, aided by four hits, including Swenson's homer, three Waco errors—and George Payne's two-base hit, of which due notice is hereby given. Benton, first up, was safe on Windle's boot of his grounder. Andrews bunted a foul and then crossed the hostiles by smashing a sharp single to right, sending Benton to third. Fitzgerald smashed a double to left, scoring Benton and advancing Andrews to third. Vigare threw out Bennett. Andrews was safe at the plate when Heath dropped Mellano's throw on Sullivan's grounder.

Wally Clouts Homer

Swenson smote his home run over the left field wall, scoring Sully ahead of him. Galloway strolled. Crouch forced Galloway, Battle to Windle, and Jack went to second on Windle's wide throw to first. Payne doubled to right, scoring Crouch. Mellano tossed out Benton.

The Cubs tallied three in the eighth. Sanguinet led off with a single to center and advanced to second on Blackerby's infield hit. Johnson hoisted to Fitzgerald, sending Sanguinet to third. Vigare singled to left, scoring Sanguinet; Blackerby stopping at second. Sullivan raced to the foul line to pull down Battle's drive. Heath singled to center, scoring Blackerby and advancing Vigare to third. Windle singled to center, scoring Vigare and sending Heath to third. Benton threw out Rye, batting for Caldwell.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Yesterday's pastime was started at 2:30 o'clock on account of the Shrine parade. Play today will be at the usual time, 4 o'clock.

Cy Smith or Bill Goff will be Jim's chucker today in the final of the series with the Cubs.

Bennett and Sullivan helped Payne in the first inning when Red raced far for Mellano's drive and Dick went to the fence for Sanguinet's smash.

Swenson flashed some fast fielding in the second. He started a double play on Vigare's grounder, completed by Benton and Galloway. Then, after Battle had singled, Walker snatched Heath's harsh bounder back of third and retired the runner, aided by Galloway's catch of his wide throw.

Bennett went far back to pull down Windle's drive with one hand in the seventh.

Yesterday's victory was the third straight over the Cubs, including the two played at Waco on the Spuds' recent trek. The Spudders scored nine runs in each of those contests.

Rabbit Benton can play any position. He handled six chances at second base flawlessly.

Mellano played some great defensive ball for Waco.

The unsually brilliant Windle had something of an off day, for him. He booted two.

Glenna Is Victor In British Game

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 14. (AP)—The best of golfers, men and women, expect one weak round during a tournament and Glenna Collett had hers today. She defeated Maude Bryant, 3 and 2, in the second round of the British Women's championship, a comfortable enough margin. But until the last three holes of the match when she struck her stride and won them one after another the American girl never seemed safe.

Miss Bryant was able to hold her own until the 14th where the visitor began to display the boldness of the greens she displayed with wooden clubs.

Miss Marion Hollins, former champion of the United States, won her second round match from Miss P. Ramsay, 4 and 3, and Miss Gertrude Boothby, Rochester, Minn., defeated Mrs. J. A. D. Bell, 6 and five.

First National Beats Security

Losers Sustain First Loss Of Season, 8 to 5

Excellent hurling by John West combined with base hits allowed the First National bank nine to hand the Security National their first defeat of the season by the score of 8 to 5 at Wilson field yesterday afternoon.

The affair was a nip and tuck game all the way but ended when The Initial banks representatives scored three runs in the last inning.

Kubecka and Ragsdale led the attack of the victors with two hits apiece, one a double. Ragsdale starred on the defense with several spectacular plays.

Bob Mathis led the futile attack of the losers with three base hits in as many times at bat. Graves and John Mathis each gathered two bingles for the Security.

Wichita State tangles with the City National nine today at Wilson field at 5 o'clock.

As a result of their victory yesterday the First National helped the Wichita State bank to gain possession of the league leadership. Score:

Sporting Celebrities

Here is a cove with brains and speed,
A clever bloke with either mitt;
He has all courage one might need—
Why can't he learn to hit?

His eye is keen, his feet are fast,
His nerve is steady as a rock;
His stamina can always last—
Why can't he learn to sock?

He's clever as they come along,
He lands his counters in a bunch;
He's fast, smart, quick and strong,
Why can't he learn to punch?

That Heavyweight Tangle

A non-combatant writes in to ask if it is definitely decided that the winner of the Paulino-Schmeling contest will be matched with Jack Sharkey and that the winner of the final affair will be declared the new heavyweight champion.

The winner of the Schmeling-Paulino match will undoubtedly be matched with Sharkey in September but no heavyweight championship could ever be awarded for the type of tea party that Sharkey and Stribling, for example, put on at Miami Beach.

It would be a joke if the next man to be named champion wasn't forced to earn his title by proving his class with a knockout. It might be argued that Tunney failed to knock out Dempsey, but in the first place, those two bouts were ten-round affairs, and in the second place, Dempsey was the official heavyweight champion. And in both events he was badly beaten up.

If a Sharkey-Schmeling or a Sharkey-Paulino match later on in the summer failed to produce a knockout, or at least a decisive result, where one man was badly outclassed, it would be much better to let the title slip along until some one arrived who could prove his class.

If Schmeling, Paulino or Sharkey are unable to prove any exceptional class this summer, they might as well be sidetracked and let some one else have a shot at the top.

The haul, tug, dance and wrestling acts which these heavyweights have been feeding the public should at least be discouraged, if they can't be abolished. If those in the front line won't fight, they might as well be sent back to the rear and let some others show what they can do.

Paulino and Schmeling look to be the most aggressive pair of the lot. In this respect they are eight or ten furlongs out in front of the American brand who have been dogging it long enough.

It brings a laugh when these managers start asking for $50,000 and $100,000 options for the services of these heavyweights who won't kick in with $1,500 worth of stuff in return.

The Army Track Team

Leo Novak, coach of the Army basket ball and track teams, has had a record worth mentioning since he went to West Point, and the Army's recent track showing has been up to its best standard. Here are a few of the headlights:

Penn Relays—
First in shuttle hurdle race.
First in broad jump.
First in hop, step and jump.
Second in 400-meter hurdle race.
Third in same race.

Drake Relays—
First in discus—world's record.
First in football letter men relay.
Close up in shot put, hop, step and jump and distance medley.

The Army hasn't lost a dual track meet since Novak landed at the post.

Columbia has proved it had the speed by beating a fast Yale crew, and if Glendon's young men can build up the stamina to stick with California's powerful array of oarsmen, the unbeaten Westerners will be in for a hard afternoon at Poughkeepsie. There may be more than one—but there will be at least one Eastern crew somewhere close alongside when the heart-breaking and backbreaking four miles are finished.

"If you want the names of the greatest all-time outfield on one club," writes Oldtimer, "pick the old Chicago outfield—Dalrymple, Kelly and Gore. That ought to end the argument."

What we can't understand is how that whale ever dragged Tack Hardwick 45 miles. What a difference if some one had thought about painting the whale blue.

Why is it in golfing post-mortems, that the player always misses a short putt and his opponent always holes the long ones?

Add to All-star Hypocricies the statement "I'm sorry" when your opponent slices out of bounds or hooks one into a marsh.

BOBBY JONES IS OFF FORM

Champion Temperamental Over Ragged Play

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14. (UP)—Bobby Jones, in the midst of his annual pre-tournament practice campaign, is experiencing unusual difficulty in regaining his championship golfing form.

The coming summer and fall will see Bobby striking out as usual in defense of his amateur title, and determined to regain the national open mantle now worn by Johnny Farrel.

Today, at the Eastlake Country club, the amateur champion told The United Press he was playing "terrible" golf, and was obviously worried, not only about his putting, but about his iron shots, which were not getting off right.

During the play today, in a friendly foresome with his father, Dana Belser and Chick Ridley, the blond, stocky young champion gave frequent vents to fits of the temperament for which he was famous as a golfing prodigy 14 years ago.

Bobby in Fine Condition

Jones has been playing for a month and a half with as much regularity as the weather permits. The start of his attempt to get back into his swing was delayed somewhat this year by an extended rainy season lapping well over into spring.

He is browned already to a hue resembling a thoroughly baked brick, and seems in tip top physical condition.

But the spectacle of Bobby Jones dashing his club to the ground, a ferocious scowl on his face after an unsatisfying shot, is distinctly at variance with the picture of the master of pose and self control which has of recent years come to be the public's impression of the man.

On at least a half dozen occasions during his round today over the beautiful Eastlake course, Bobby flung his club away when he failed to do with it what he knows he is capable of doing at his best. And the famous putter, "Calamity Jane", was one of them.

This Would Please Dubbers

In spite of these demonstrations, however, Bobby compiled a card consisting exclusively of threes, fours and fives. This latter figure, however, is an infrequent one at Eastlake course, which he knows as well as his own front yard.

Jones said today he was playing about four days out of every week—twice during the week and on Saturdays and Sundays.

"I need practice and lots of it," he said. "I played hardly at all during the winter, and its going to take plenty of golf to get back into my swing."

Asked what tournaments he meant to enter this season, Jones replied: "The same as usual—the national open and the amateur."

"Will you compete in the British open next year?"

"Yes, I am planning on it," he said.

Bobby was almost invariably short with his putts today, and his judgment of distance was faulty. The champion's drives, however, were long and straight as usual.

Blue Larkspur Shows Liking for Muddy Track

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14. (UP)—Col. E. R. Bradley's Blue Larkspur showed a liking for sloppy going in today's workout when he negotiated a half-mile in 50 seconds, a splendid performance considering the track conditions.

The other derby eligibles performed poorly. Folking, Minotaur, Essare and The Nut are expected to complete the colony of Derby hopefuls on their arrival.

Mike McTigue Defeats Hollander in Comeback

NEW YORK, May 14. (UP)—Mike McTigue, former light heavyweight champion, returned to the ring tonight after a long layoff and won a decisive victory over Paul Hoffman of Holland in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas arena. McTigue weighed 175 and Hoffman 192½.

Mike held the lead all the way, giving his opponent a boxing lesson, which left the Hollander with a badly cut face. Hoffman was down for the count of seven in the seventh round.

Hagen is Leader In British Golf

Walter's 69 Tops Thousand Guineas Tourney

MOORTOWN, Leeds, England, May 14. (US)—Over the same course where the American professionals, under Walter Hagen's guiding hand, were defeated by the British Ryder cup team, that same Hagen today led the qualifiers in the Thousand Guineas tournament with a brilliant 69.

To America also went the honor of placing the runnerup in the first round when Al Waltrous turned in a 70. Al needed a four on the last hole to finish abreast of the Haig, but he trapped his second shot, was out well but took two putts for a five to finish a stroke behind the leader.

Leo Diegel knotted himself with Compston at 71 for third position. Leo was out in 35 and back in 36. Abe Mitchell was also tied for third with Leo and Archie.

Cats Sign Gallivan, Former Waco Pitcher

FORT WORTH, May 14. (AP)—Phil Gallivan, young right-hand hurler recently released by Waco, has signed with Fort Worth for a trial. He was in the Lone Star league last season.

CARL HUBBELL'S no-hit, no-run game still is the subject of discussion of fans and those who write sports pieces for the papers. One New York scribe points out the interesting fact that Hubbell had a lead of 6 to 0 as early as the third inning. The fact that the former Beaumont hurler did not ease up with the odds so greatly in his favor is ascribed to his inexperience.

That inexperience landed Carlos in the hall of fame.

◇ ◇ ◇

JOHN M'GRAW did not see his young left-hander blank the Pirates without a hit. The master mind of the Giants was confined to his rooms that day, suffering from a cold. McGraw is said, and with good cause, to direct every pitch of his young chuckers.

If McGraw had been in the Giant dugout that day Hubbell probably would have pitched a perfect game and struck out 27 Pirates.

◇ ◇ ◇

WHICH RECALLS a remark made by one of the Yankees in a world series game of 1923, when Ruth & Co. were hammering a flock of Giant pitchers.

"So," said the Yankee, "McGraw pitches every ball his pitchers throw, does he? Well, all I can say is he certainly pitched a rotten game out there this afternoon."

◇ ◇ ◇

SPORTS HISTORY recalls only a few champions who reigned for extensive spells. Dempsey was champion for eight years. Tilden ruled the tennis world for a decade. Cobb, Speaker, Collins and a few others dominated on the diamond more than 10 years. And Walter Hagen still goes on.

It was something of a comeback when the Haig last week captured his fourth British open championship. Hagen had not played his usual game during the winter and until his rush to the top the day before the finals, was not high in the contention in this year's British competition.

Hagen's most recent triumph was no surprise, however. That man of such consummate golfing skill and ideal competitive temperament has arisen to great heights under stress too many times previously for him to be counted out of the running until definitely beaten.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE TENNIS future of the United States in international play rests with its young stars. That officials of the U. S. L. T. A. recognize that fact is indicated by their selection of the team that is to oppose Canada this month in zone play.

John Hennessey, the Indiana veteran, but still a comparatively young athlete, is the only experienced internationalist listed to compete against the Canucks. Wilmer Allison, the Texan, and John Van Ryn, from New Jersey, complete the team, with George Lott from Chicago as alternate.

◇ ◇ ◇

BILL TILDEN and Frank Hunter are on the high seas, nearing Europe, to start competition for various titles. They are expected to participate later in the United States' efforts to regain the world net trophy. But Tilden, though still a master player, is rapidly nearing the end of his day as a topnotcher, and Hunter, never a particularly brilliant court star, has also attained that age when athletes start slipping.

Should Tilden approach the game that until two years ago made him the greatest wizard of them all on the court, and should LaCoste and Cochet fail to maintain their marvelous play of recent years, the United States might regain the bowl this year. Otherwise, we must look to the future. It is for that eventuality that the young players are engaging in zone competition to season them in grueling international tests.

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

Why No Meat?

If any of my readers were to write what they believe regarding such an important subject as food, they could no doubt write many volumes, but very few could write even a small booklet about what they really know about food.

All of us should learn to discriminate between believing and knowing. The fact is, as some philosopher has said, "We know so many things that 'ain't' so." Take, for instance, the subject of meat—eating. The average person believes that meat is bad for him, but can seldom know this to be true. Meat is a very valauble food but, of course, when used to excess or in wrong combination can be as harmful as starches, sugars, fats or any of the other foods of high caloric value.

In my search for truths about diet I have evolved from the vegetarian stage, through the raw food period of belief, up to my present-day knowledge of facts regarding the benefits of a scientifically balanced diet. I know all of the vegetable and raw food arguments and to tell the truth I have used these arguments, myself, years ago. Today, with a broader understanding of dietetics, I seldom use the words "never" and "always" when referring to certain foods.

My readers who are now taking up the study of food should not handicap themselves by being too set in their opinions, and prove all theories studied by practical proof through experience. Fully 98 per cent of patients in my private practise will admit at their first interview that they do not know much about food except that meat is bad for them. This opinion has been arrived at from reading vegetarian literature and also from statements made to them by doctors who have read such literature and whose knowledge of food is perhaps no greater than that of their patients. A large number report that they have tried it out and felt better when they cut down the amount of meat they were eating. Such experience is apt to be misleading, as those who are trying to diet usually cut down on the amount of all food eaten and use simpler foods and food combinations. Better results might have been felt if all starchy foods had been eliminated and only meat and greens used.

If one is not trying to diet, he is apt to use too much meat and also too much bread and potatoes, pie, coffee, cake and, in fact, too much of all those foods which he likes. As soon as any of the heavier foods are reduced or elliminated entirely, the one who is dieting is almost sure to feel better.

One-fourth to one-half of a pound of meat daily is enough for any one adult to use, considering that other proteins, such as eggs, milk, nuts, cheese, etc., are used on the same day.

For good health it is essential that an adequate protein intake be used each day. There is no reason why a certain percentage of this cannot be in the form of wholesome meats.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Gland Functioning)

Question—Mrs. F. P. asks: "What is the function of the pituitary gland, and in what way does it affect an individual? What are the symptoms of a disturbed pituitary gland? Can a normal or abnormal one be determined by the X-ray?"

Answer—The pituitary gland is divided into two distinct lobes, each of which seems to have different functions. The exact difference of the interior and posterior secretions have not been definitely determined. An under-functioning of the pituitary gland may produce a very obese individual resembling a fat boy. An excess of the secretion may produce enlargement of the hands, feet, lower jaw, and an increase in height producing giantism. It is generally admitted that the front lobe exerts most of the influence upon the bodily growth, and the posterior lobe upon the metabolism. The normality or abnormality of the gland could not be determined by the X-ray.

(Yellow Teeth)

Question—Mrs. J. C. L. writes: "I had white, clean-looking teeth until about a year ago, when they began turning yellow. I wash them after each meal, but within a few hours a yellow substance collects on them which I can remove with a nail file. I would appreciate your advice about this."

Answer—Yellowish teeth are the natural condition with some people. However, it is possible some other condition is responsible in your own case and I would advise you to consult a good dentist. Do not use a nail file to scrape your teeth because by doing so you are apt to injure them and make them subject to decay.

(Palate Falls)

Question—Mrs. T. H. M. asks: "How can I keep my palate from being down so much?"

Answer—You may be abel to strengthen the cords of your palate by the use of vocal exercises and by following the diet for overcoming catarrh.

PHILLIPS HAS NEW LOCATIONS

Three New Tests Planned In Panhandle Field

Special to The Record News.

BORGER, Texas, May 14.—Three new locations have been made by the Phillips Petroleum company, two in Gray county and one in Moore county, with spudding in for two tests just made in Hutchinson county, scheduled for this week.

One of the new Gray county tests is the M. Cox No. 1 in section 58, block B-2, H. G. N. survey. The other is the Morse No. 1 in the southwest quarter of the east half of the southwest quarter of section 68, block 25, H. G. H. survey.

Rig building for both tests is starting right away.

Judge James C. Wilson No. 1 is being started by the Phillips in the south half of the southeast section 157, block 3-T, Moore county.

This test is in the northeast part of Moore county and is almost directly north of the Skelly wells on the Byrd-Armstrong and the Phillips' wells on the James land in eastern Moore county.

Chat No. 4 of the Phillips in section 78, block 46, H. T. C. survey, in Hutchinson county, on the south bank of the South Canadian, near Sanford, is to be spudded in this week. The rig is virtually completed.

Trigg No. 2 on the H. T. Trigg survey is to be spudded in about the same time. This test is located a mile or so south of the Canadian river and northwest of Borger about three or four miles.

Another location for the Phillips is the Margaret Johnson No. 1, an east offset to the Marland-Johnson C-1 on the Johnson brothers ranch southwest of Borger. The Phillips test is in section 234, block Y, Arnold and Barrett survey, about a mile east of the C-1 in section 5, Brooks and Burleson survey.

Midland Host To Geologists

Special to The Record News.

MIDLAND, Texas, May 14.—Midland will be the gathering point next Saturday for geologists of the West Texas Permian basin and Eastern New Mexico. A large attendance is expected from New Mexico as the meeting is the first held by the West Texas Geological society easily accessible to geologists of that area.

Local arrangements are in charge of A. L. Ackers of Midland, vice president of the society. An auditorium has been offered free of charge to the geologists and for all other oil meetings held in Midland that can not be held in the Petroleum club rooms, also donated by Clarence Scharbauer, owner of the hotel.

A paper written by Dr. Charles Lawrence Baker of the Rio Bravo Oil company, Houston, on "Depositional History of the Permian Basin and Origin of Its Red Beds and Saline Residues," will be read and discussed by E. Russell Lloyd, Midland geologist with the Fisher-Lowrie company of Denver. Dr. Baker will be unable to attend the meeting.

It is likely that a secretary will be chosen at the meeting to succeed Stanley Jay, Pure Oil company geologist, who resigned because of transfer from San Angelo to San Antonio. It is also thought that the geologists plan a field trip for May or June.

HIGH GRAVITY FIELD OPENED

Reiter-Foster and Others' Well Flows

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 14.—The Orlando area of western Payne county looks very promising as the scene of a new high gravity oil field for Northern Oklahoma.

The Reiter-Foster Oil corporation and others' community test, No. 1 Perry Watkins, in the center of the southwest of the southeast of 5-19-1-W, looks like a good well, after having made two flows Saturday from a sandy lime formation, believed to be the Simpson sand. It is now shut down while tankage is being built and a test is to be made later in the week.

Report from the wildcat is that it had dolomite from 4831 to 4838 feet and from 4838 to 4840 feet it was a hole full of oil, and then made one scall flow. It was shut in, and two hours later was opened up for 15 minutes and made a solid stream of oil through a three-inch line into the slush pit. Fieldmen and contractors who were there when it made the late Saturday flow have estimated that its potentialities are great.

The Reiter-Foster and others' No. 1 Watkins, is practically a mile due west of Reiter-Foster's No. 1 Kinnaman, in the southwest corner of 4-19-1W, which was completed July 14, 1926, in the Misener sand at 4775 to 4790 feet for 80 barrels initial. It is now making 50 a day. This well was drilled to 5108 feet in the Wilcox sand for a hole full of water and plugged back to complete in the Misener.

Officials and geologists of the Reiter-Foster company felt that the Kinnaman showing was not a sufficient test of the Wilcox, so the second oil test was arranged on a community basis. A block of 640 acres was assembled, taking in the south half of 5-19-1W and the north half of 8-19-1W. Reiter-Forster has 31¼ per cent and control; Twin State Oil company 25 per cent and Prairie Oil and Gas company 25 per cent and Marland Production company 18¾ per cent of the block.

Mr. Ware and his associates plan to drill to the 5700-foot level if necessary. A change in the log is expected soon by geologists.

There have been several slight showings of oil.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—The action of today's cotton market seemed to be dominated by the better weather prospects in the south and the failure of bullish features in the spot situation or statistical position to create a more aggressive demand. July contracts sold off from 18.82 to 18.45 under liquidation or reselling by recent buyers but recovered part of the loss closing at 18.56, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 17 to 24 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 points to a decline of 6 points. Old crop months were relatively firm on further covering by trade or speculative shorts accompanied by reiterated reports of a firm spot situation in the south. July led the advance in these positions selling up to 18.82 during the first few minutes or 7 points net higher and about 10 points over the price of the new October contract. Selling of new crop months against purchases of the old contributed to the decline in the later position, and the market developed no decided trend until after publication of the census report on supply and distribution for the month of April. This showed domestic consumption of 631,710 bales for April compared with 632,808 for March and 524,765 for April last year. The figures were within a few thousand bales of recent forecasts and had evidently been discounted as they failed to stimulate demand. Perhaps this accounted for some of the selling which followed, but which was more generally attributed to the favorable weather forecasts which pointed to clear or partly cloudy weather over nearly the entire belt with higher temperatures in the southwest.

Brokers with Wall street and western connections, were among the more prominent sellers on the decline, but for a time the selling was more or less general and part of it was supposed to reflect a bearish view of commodity values generally. May broke to 19.25 while December sold off to 18.60, making net declines of 30 to 34 points on the active months. Some stop orders were uncovered on a scale down, after their execution, the market steadied on covering which became more active late in the afternoon following reports of overflows in sections of Arkansas where there have been heavy rains of late.

Last prices showed rallies of about 7 to 13 points from the lowest.

Liverpool was relatively firm on Bombay and continental buying early but reacted before the local opening. Exports today, 5,785 making, 7,481,622 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,746. U. S. port stocks, 1,244,199.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (AP)—Cotton prices broke nearly $2 a bale today under liquidation by recent buyers and selling by ring traders on the favorable weather in the belt and evident failure of the offical April consumption figure to meet bullish expectations. July contracts broke from 18.82 to 18.45, or 37 points down. The option closed at 18.54, or net 23 points down. The general market closed steady at net declines of 23 to 28 points.

Liverpool cables were about as due and first trades here were 2 points down to 1 up.

The consumption report when issued showed a total of 631,710 bales consumed during April, a record for that month. Despite this recent buyers liquidated promptly and ring traders sold on the official forecast for fair weather in the belt.

After mid-session the market was somewhat steadier but quiet. In the late trading shorts covered and prices rallied 4 to 9 points from the lows. October closed at 18.38, and December 18.51, or 23 to 25 points net down.

Rains Weaken Values Of Refinery Products

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 14.—Excessive rains continue to weaken the mid-continent refined oil markets.

While refiners generally continue to hold their quotations, little refiners are disposing of their stock as under prices for lack of storage and fear that the rainy season is not over.

In Oklahoma one discovers U. S. motor grade quoted at 7¼ to 7¾ cents a gallon in tank car lots, with 60-62, 400 endpoint at 8 cents, and 64-66, 375 endpoint at 8¼ to 8½ cents. Business is reported slow.

Natuaris continue soft, with grades AA and A held at 7½ cents, BB and B at 7 cents and C at 6¾ cents.

Kerosene is also easing off, being offered as low as 5½ cents, while average sales were at 5¾ to 6 cents.

General Electric Flares Up As Money Tightens on Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 14. (US)—General Electric featured rally in the stock market today as money tightened. It was known from the opening that the call rate would advance but after displaying nervousness for the first hour or so the market displayed a steadily improving tone as better support was evidenced and the good stocks turned and moved higher. Short covering played an important part in the recovery causing over 16 point advance in Packard, gain of 2⅞ in Radio and recoveries of from one to four points in other favorites. Steel gained 1½ Can 2¾ and other Standard Industrials from one to three points. General Electric finished with net gain of 15 points while Commonwealth Power climbed 6⅝, Commercial Solvents 13 and By-Products Coke 4¾. Oils and Coppers were quiet but slightly higher while the Rails remained somewhat irregular through out. Turnover held over the 4,500,000 share level, with the call money rate pushed up to 10 per cent from renewal of seven per cent.

Call money went to 10 per cent—and few knew what it was all about. The bankers told their clients they had to charge the higher rate because of the mid-month turnover of funds. Interest and dividend payments scheuled for today are not big enough to make an difference. The fact is that the money fluctuations result entirely from the under cover manipulation and pressure of the reserve system authorities. The reserve activities apparently are influenced by international rather than domestic affairs so that until the reparations question is settled and the reparations bonds floated the market will labor under money difficulties. As result many important traders have abandoned the market entirely and others are standing aside because of the difficulty of atrracting a following to their operations. The banks can push the call rate to any figure they desire over the next day or two. As they have shown no inclination of passing up possible profit there is no means of telling what the charge will be.

General Electric stood out by reason of its consistent strength. Coincident with its advance there was further talk of coming recapitalization and forecast of those usually most familiar with its affairs was that the stock would be split up on a four for one basis. In addition to its increasing revenues from electrical and equipment business General Electric is interested in several of the utility and power securities that have been featured recently.

By-Products Coke soared into new high ground under influence of the knowledge of increasing earnings and larger return to stockholders that is expected to follow the recapitaliaztion. Continuation of income at current rate, it is maintained, would mean extras as well as the increase in dividend that has been indicated semi-officially. Airway Electric Appliance also remained strong on further estimates as to increase in income over the next several months. A comparative newcomer to the board it was thought by some to be an aviation stock but is one of the leaders in the Vacuum Cleaner manufacturing field.

A group that made substanial profit from following the progress made by Montgomery Ward last year have been taking an interest in Hartmann Corporation due to knowledge of its expansion plans. The corporation is a holding organization and controls subsidiaries operating a chain of stores retailing furniture and household goods. It also controls real estate organization. The retail store organizations plans huge expansion campaign. Fifty new stores will be opened this year, it is stated, and a total of 250 stores will be added to the chain under present plans. The real estate subsidiary has started expanding its activities and has completed arrangements for construction of a number of homes.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, May 14. (AP)—A seasonable supply of cattle, calves, hogs and sheep was on hand for today's livestock market here. Trading in cattle and calves slow, with some classes a little lower. Hogs fairly active at a slight advance, while sheep about steady.

About nine loads of slaughter steers offered during morning, with trading very slow.

Very few bulls on hand, better heavy bulls around $8.50; common light bulls $6.50 and $7.00; or about in line with yesterday's quotations.

Cows consisted largely of mixed loads and grades with values about steady and not a very active demand. Better fat cows sold around $9.00; bulk of the canners and cutters at $5.00 and $6.25.

One load of good fat slaughter heifers offered and they sold at $13.10, or a bit lower.

Quality was generally lacking in the calf supply with rather an indifferent demand with a few sales around 25c lower. Carlots up to $10.50, with order buyers taking some of the light calves at $12.50.

Several cars of stocker yearlings sold at $13.00.

Hogs steady to 10 cents higher in the rail division, some late sales in the truck division 15 to 20c higher. Rail top $10.75 and truck top $10.20. Bulk of the 175-250-pound butchers sold at $9.85 and $10.75; packing sows at $8.75 and $9.25.

Sheep steady; fat yearlings at $11.00; two-year-old fat wethers $8.50; medium grade fat wethers at $7.00 and $7.25.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 14. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by a fair demand for choice quality fed steers and yearlings at steady prices. Less desirable offerings, however, found a slow outlet at steady to 25c lower values. Packers were especially indifferent toward the inbetween grades of weighty steers. Strictly choice light yearling heifers in St. Louis scored $15.00, while choice 725-pound mixed yearlings at Kansas City cleared at $14.75. Omaha secured $14.00 for choice heavy steers and medium weight Colorados in Kansas City brought $14.30. Stocker and feeder steers were little changed with trade confined principally to stockers. Four loads of choice 446-pound short yearling stocker offered at Kansas City realized $15.00. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 35,300 a decrease of 3,000 from a week ago and 4,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Shipping demand for hogs was not as urgent as on Monday and trade was slow at prices unevenly steady to 30c lower. The day's extreme top of $11.35 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 74,200 as compared with 71,375 last Tuesday and 108,362 a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 53,900 an increase of 1,000 over a week ago and 5,000 heavier than a year ago. Fat lambs moved slowly at generally steady to 25c lower rates, some points off 50c on fed wooled skins. A few markets reported additional losses on aged stock. Chicago received $17.60, for California springers, $16.00 for best wooled skins and $14.40 for shorn lambs.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, May 14. (AP)—Hopeful reports that farm relief measures were coming into shape and however enacted would tend to advance prices did much to lift grain values today. Upturns in quotations were also associated with word that 1929 domestic spring wheat acreage has been reduced to a material extent, and that delays to corn planting are becoming serious.

Every one of the leading cereals closed firm, wheat ⅞ to 1¼@1⅜c net higher, corn ⅝ to 1⅝c up, oats ⅜ to ⅝c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 20c.

Upward swings in grain values developed most impetus as the day approached an end. Wheat especially rose fast during the final transactions, and finished at the top most level attained. A good deal of the late buying of wheat was on account of renewed attention to Washington advices concerning the outlook for farm bills. Wheat values toward the last were also evidently responding to a sharp advance in the price of corn owing to persistent wet cold weather over many of the chief producing parts of the corn belt rendering field work difficult and threatening possible decided curtailment of the new corn crop.

SPOT COTTON PRICES

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (AP)—Spot cotton closed steady at revised quotations: Middling, 22 points lower. Sales, 970; low middling, 17.15; middling, 18.65; good middling, 19.05; receipts, 1,525; stock, 253,933.

DALLAS, May 14. (AP)—Spot cotton 17.85; Houston 18.30; Galveston 18.55.

Chicago Cotton Market

CHICAGO, May 14. (AP)—Cotton futures: May 18.75; July 18.63; Oct. 18.46.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, May 14. (AP)—The volume of business reported on domestic wools has shown considerable improvement on wools of over 48.50 grades. Prices, however, have been on the low side of range recently quoted. Sales were reported on quantities of Utah fine original bag wools at about $1.00 scoured basis. Average year's growth Texas wool brought 97 to 98c scoured basis and 56s strictly combing Ohio fleece wools, 46c in the grease.

DRYGOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—Cotton textile markets opened steady and quiet. Burlap cables showed Calcutta unchanged and this market was unchanged and quiet. Silk merchandise was in fair demand with prints leading, although prices were unsatisfactory. Spot raw silks were 2½ cents lower with the market weaker.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, May 14. (AP)—Liverpool cables were due 2 to 5½ points higher, but opened 6 to 9 higher. The market here opened irregular from 20 points lower for May to 3 points for July and October. These prices were high for the day and market gradually declined, recovering a few points near the close which was from 8 to 27 points net lower.

MILK TESTING AIDS DAIRYING

Producers of Area Given New Service Here

Leaders in dairy development in Wichita county and surrounding territory attach considerable importance to the installation of modern milk testing equipment now under way here under the auspices of the Milk Testing association formed here Tuesday night.

The equipment is to be placed in the basement of the City National bank building, and for the time being will be in charge of G. C. McGown, county farm agent, and O. K. Barnes, agricultural agent of the chamber of commerce. It was purchased by the group of dairymen which was responsible for the organization of the testing association, with the cooperation of the county and chamber of commerce offices.

It was stated that too little attention has been given in the past to the butter-fat content of milk from cows owned or purchased by farmers and dairymen in this section. The testing station, when completed, will offer its services not only to the cow owners in the vicinity of Wichita Falls, but to those in Clay, Montague, Archer, Young, Throckmorton, Baylor, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard and other counties. Samples of milk received, it was stated, will be carefully tested and information given whenever possible for the benefit of the owner submitting the product. It is thought that the service will materially aid the gradual raising of the standard set by milk production in the Wichita Falls trade territory.

A battle over conditions under prohibition between Mrs. Hannah L. Van Allen of Fond du Lac, publicity director of the Wisconsin W. C. T. U., and C. E. Broughton, Sheyboygan editor, has proven one of the most interesting aspects of the campaign that Wisconsin is to decide soon in a statewide prohibition referendum. Mrs. Allen says conditions have improved under prohibition; the editor disagrees and has given Mrs. Van Allen the names of numerous bootleg establishments in her own city.

MOVIE DEATH STARTS PROBE

Producers Face Probe In Film Tragedy

LOS ANGELES, May 14. (AP)—Evidence gathered by the United States attorney's office allegedly revealing the death of one man and the injury of three others in the filming of the famous historical picture "Old Ironsides" today was turned over to the Los Angeles county district attorney's office for investigation and possible criminal prosecution.

In submitting his findings, United States Attorney Samuel McNabb declared he believed there had been "criminal negligence" in the making of the picture at sea in which an extra worker was killed. The production was supervised by James Cruze, Hollywood, Cal., motion picture executive.

Intensive Study Urged at Ad Club

"The Advertising club should be an organization whose meetings are devoted to intensive study of general advertising problems and the correction of existing evils in its field of endeavor," said P. B. Roberts, editor of the People's Press, in an address before the Ad club at the Kemp hotel Teusday noon.

Advertising has been the largest factor in educating people to the general use of many things which formerly were considered luxuries, Mr. Roberts said, and through the larger production thus induced, has brought the price and purchasing power to the same level.

Two ticket of nominees for officers and directors of the club were presented at the meeting Tuesday. The election will be held soon, it was stated.

Wichita Man Talks About Wife's Troubles

"Feels He Would Be Ungrateful Not to Tell Others What Orgatone Did for His Wife"

"My wife never felt better in her life," said C. S. Blundell, living on Route A, Wichita Falls, Texas.

While in a conversation with the Orgatone representative, Mr. Blundell said:

"My wife suffered from stomach and bowel trouble, and nervousness," he continued, "and was in a very run-down, worn out condition. She got to where she didn't have an appetite and what little she did force herself to eat, would cause gas to form, and at times, she could hardly get her breath, and everything would sour on her stomach.

"She had nervous, sick headaches, most all the time, and was so restless at night, she could not sleep, but would roll and toss all night and when morning came actually felt worse than when she went to bed. She had a bad case of constipation and was losing confidence in herself, she was feeling so bad. She would have frequent dizzy and bilious spells.

"Orgatone had helped so many people here in Wichita Falls that she decided to try it, and it has certainly been a fine thing in her case. She has not only gained five pounds on two bottles but feels better than she has in years.

"She eats anything now and it doesn't bother her in the least, and food agrees with her and gives her nourishment. She is not nervous like she was and she sleeps like a baby at night and is entirely relieved of all constipation. Orgatone has been a wonderful medicine in her case and we are more than glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile preparation, and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative who is meeting the public daily. —Adv.

Brothers Plead Guilty to Robbery Of Railroad Station at Dundee

Ed and Mark Tiner, brothers, Tuesday afternoon pleaded guilty in the 30th district court at Archer City to the robbery of the station at Dundee, Feb. 7, 1929. Ed Tiner, who is 30 years old, was given a two year sentence. The younger brother, 20, received a five year suspended sentence.

The brothers admitted taking 13 automobile casings and 36 inner tubes from the station. The loot, the evidence showed, was first stored in an old house on the Ancell ranch near Kemp City. Later it was taken to Warren, Okla., and hidden in the belfrey of a school house, according to the testimony introduced. Efforts to sell the goods on the streets at Warren resulted in the arrest.

The prisoners, who reside in Electra, were brought back to Wichita county, where their original statements were made to Wayne Somerville, county attorney.

The Tiner brothers were put on trial after a five year suspended sentence had been returned against Otto Fails, chargd with the burglary of a filling station at Megargel. Fails pleaded not guilty. Harry and Harold Henderson, indicted with him, are now serving prison sentences imposed on another charge. The burglary took place in August, 1928.

Trial of Truman Dolberry, G. C. West, and Earl Patton, charged with the possession of a still, is set for Wednesday morning, Sam Spence, district attorney, announced Tuesday night. An earlier trial of Dolberry on another whisky charge Monday resulted in a hung jury.

Church Member Acquitted of Disturbing Worship

He "Poured Truth on 'Em," Witness Testifies in Trial

Lifting up the voice in testimony at a church "experience" meeting does not constitute willful disturbance of public worship, even if the experience annoys the rest of the congregation, according to the verdict of a jury returned in the county court at law Tuesday afternoon. Legitimate fervor may also include the stamping of a foot and the occasional shaking of a church pew for emphasis, the jurors decided in bringing in their verdict of not guilty at the end of the trial of a defendant charged with using loud and vociferous language and with refusing to bring his remarks to a close at the request of his brothers.

The defendant, a white haired man whose gray moustache dropped disconsolately at the corners, told the jury that he had gone to the Puritan church on Buchanan street on April 23 to admonish the congregation against falling into evil ways. His warnings had been of a somewhat specific nature, referring to certain people who were obtaining money under false pretenses, he admitted, but insisted that he had mentioned no names.

"The Lord's name was the only one I used," he declared, and added in connection with the charges of violence to the pews, "These pews are all still there and I didn't see none of them shaking."

The defense was based on an effort to show that the sessions of the church, especially during "experience" meetings, are always informal. The specific beliefs of the organization were developed through the cross examination for the defense.

"What does the Puritan church believe in?" the attorney questioned.

"Purity," responded the first witness.

"Do you believe the ressurection has already come?"

"If you aren't a sinner you're ressurected. It is the sinner who is dead," was the answer.

The trial came to a close with the testimony of a defense witness who declared, apropos of no specific question:

"He was just pouring the truth on them, and they couldn't stand it."

The declaration came from another elderly man, suffering from a severe palsy and evidently in great pain, who said he had "preached with" the defendant and knew him for a smart and a good man.

The case had been appealed from the corporation court after the defendant was placed under arrest on the evening of April 23. The state attempted to prove that his testimony had continued after at least three members of the congregation had asked the speaker to be silent, and that the arrest was made after he had been pulled into his seat by a vigorous jerk on the coat sleeve, adimnistered by the pastor's wife.
