DAUGHERTY HITS BACK AT WOMAN

3rd Party Ghost Stalks From La Follette Haunts

HINT DANIELS AND BRANDEIS RUNNING MATES

Wisconsin Senator Would Consider Independent Nomination

OLD PARTIES SCARED

Demos and Repubs Already Figuring How to Combat Proposed Split

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Definite plans for a third party movement were disclosed here today by friends of Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Supporters of the Wisconsin senator, who is confined to his home by illness, said he had indicated a willingness to head an "independent" ticket in the event the republican convention nominates President Coolidge and adopts what he may consider to be a reactionary or ultra-conservative platform.

Those behind the movement are now looking for a running mate for the Wisconsin senator, and their choice seems to be Associate Justice Brandeis of the supreme court of the United States. The fact that democrats are under discussion for the second place is pointed to as indicating the non-partisan character of the movement. The name of Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy also has been urged for second place.

Development of the third party movement already is causing politicians of the two old parties to calculate its probable effect upon the fortunes of their tickets next November. Democrats appear to be inclined to look upon it with more favor than the republicans, because of the belief that it will gain most strength in the midwest and northwest, and draw most largely from the republican candidates.

By The Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., March 17.—The platform of the LaFollette progressive republican delegates, as made public today by Henry A. Huber, secretary of the LaFollette campaign committee, pledges "complete house cleaning in the department of justice, the department of the interior and other executive departments."

The platform declares for the repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law and declared that public ownership of railroads "with definite safe guards against bureaucratic control," is "the only final solution of the transportation problem."

Negro Repub Gets High Federal Job

Louisiana Black Finally Confirmed By One Majority in Senate to Comptroller Customs At New Orleans.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Reversing itself on two previous occasions, the senate today ended a six months' fight by confirming in executive session the nomination of Walter L. Cohen, negro republican, leader of Louisiana, to be comptroler of customs for the New Orleans district.

Thirty-nine senators voted today for confirmation, and 38 for a rejection, a net switch of two votes from the poll on February 18, when the nomination was rejected 37 to 35. One of the changes is known to have been by Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

Senator Randell democrat, Louisiana, characterized the insistence of the administration upon confirmation of the appointment as an "outrageous proceeding," and out of harmony with representative government. Cohen could not be elected to the least important office in his own state, the senator said, "and yet he is to be put over hundreds of voters and tax payers not only in Louisiana but in several adjoining states."

RESUME TEAPOT HEARING TODAY

Oil and Daugherty Investigations On At Same Time

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—With the oil committee getting under way again after a three-day recess, the major line of senatorial inquiry will develop tomorrow into a double-barreled affair.

Both the Daugherty and oil inquiries will be on in full blast at the same time, something that has not happened in many years in proceedings of such spectacular characteristics.

The oil investigators will go first into the records showing dealings in Sinclair oil stock by government officials after Teapot Dome was leased to Harry F. Sinclair by Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior.

Louis D. Bond, an expert accountant of the federal trade commission, who has examined the books of brokerage form is to be called first and it is understood he will report that he has found transactions only by Attorney General Daugherty and Senator Elkins, republican, West Virginia, both of whom have issued public statements regarding their dealings.

Prince McKinney of Cleveland, Ohio, also is to be called tomorrow. He will be questioned regarding testimony of E. L. Doheny indicating that Albert B. Fall had planned to borrow $100,000 from McKinney before the former secretary sought the loan from the California oil magnate.

MEMORIAL STATUES PLACED IN CAPITOL

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, March 17. — Bronze statues of Woodrow Wilson, General Robert E. Lee, Thomas Jefferson and General Albert Sydney Johnston, designed for a $250,000 memorial arch at the University of Texas, are to be placed temporarily in the rotunda of the capitol. The memorial arch was bequeathed by the late George W. Littlefield. As it will be two years before the work is completed, it was decided to place the statues in the capitol.

The Day In Washington

The house debated on acting Secretary Roosevelt and the leasing of the naval oil reserve.

The Davis cup drawings were held at the White House with President Coolidge opening the ceremony.

Two proposals to limit presidents to one term under constitutional amendment were defeated in the senate.

The soldiers' bonus bill was assailed on the floor of the house by advocates of full cash payment option.

Reports to the house indicated that income tax payments for this month would exceed those of one year ago.

Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, charged Attorney General Daugherty is being kept in office for his "supposed political influence."

Swift and company was awarded a verdict in the court of claims for $1,077,386 in its suit against the government over payment for war time bacon.

The long pending nomination of Walter L. Cohn, negro republican leader of Louisiana, to be comptroller of customs for the New Orleans district was confirmed by the senate.

The supreme court held the federal trade commission has no authority for unlimited inspection of books of corporations engaged in inter-state commerce.

The court of claims dismissed twenty-eight suits brought for compensation as an outgrowth of seizure by the United States of German, Austrian and neutral owned ships during the World war.

It was learned that the Italian ambassador indicated the readiness of his government to conclude a liquor treaty with the United States along the lines of that with Great Britain.

Attorney General notified the senate investigating committee that he expected to prove that Roxie Stinson, one of the star witnesses against him, had shown a willingness "to sell documentary evidence in her possession and her silence," for $150,000.

A definite third party movement loomed up when friends of Senator La Follette revealed plans to run him on a third party ticket in event of the nomination of President Coolidge and the adoption of a reactionary platform by republicans.

Both Secretary Hughes and Postmaster General New declared that they had had no discussion regarding prize fight films and the later said neither President Harding nor Attorney General Daugherty were present at the exhibition of the fight films at the home of E. B. McLean.

Is Slain While Bowed on Knees Chanting Rosary

Husband Relates Crime Saying He Hired Mexican To Commit Deed

By The Associated Press.

PUEBLO, Colo., March 17.—Mrs. Bella Janssen, whose body was found in a trunk at Ogden, Utah, Saturday was slain as she knelt in prayer, Fred Janssen, her husband, told police here today. Janssen admitted having hired a Mexican to kill her.

Janssen was arrested at Eden, Colo., near here, this afternoon. He was riding toward Pueblo in a taxicab he had hired in Colorado Springs this morning.

Mrs. Janssen was killed last Thursday night Janssen said.

Janssen declared, police said, that he had wanted his wife killed because "she planned to kill me."

Janssen had in his possession his wife's wedding ring and the rosary she was using at her prayers, when she was slain. He also had $1,300 in currency.

In his cell, Janssen, calmly related the details of his plans to reporters and police. Although denying any personal responsibility in the actual killing, and packing of the body in the trunk, Janssen confessed making all of the preparation, even to the paying of the unidentified Mexican "to do the job."

"Bella was kneeling in the kitchen in prayer when the Mexican killed her," Janssen declared.

"She was undressed, wearing only her night clothing, a kimona and a pair of house slippers.

"In a shed I conferred with the Mexican and told him everything was all right. The Mexican followed me up the stairs leading into our part of the house and I went on into another room. I waited in another room for the Mexican to kill her."

BABE IS FOUND IN AUTO SEAT

Infant Discovered By Car Owner; Believed Abandoned

A baby boy, not more than six weeks old and apparently abandoned by its parents, was turned over to the police late Monday night after it had been found by W. E. Brothers when he entered his automobile earlier in the evening as it was standing in front of the Kemp Kort apartments. The infant was found sleeping quietly when Mr. Brother left the apartment and started to drive away.

It was taken to the police station after a search of the neighborhood failed to find any trace of the parents. Night Chief Will Allen later took the baby to Salvation Army headquarters where it is now being cared for.

Police said last night that an effort would be made today to find the parents of the child, but that they believed this to be a plain case of child abandonment. When found by Mr. Brothers the baby was clothed only in a light gown and was wrapped in a cotton blanket. It was well proportioned physically and, according to the officers, seemed to have had ample nourishment.

That the child was placed in a car where it was certain to be found and cared for in a short time is the belief of the police, who are at a loss to know where to start to look for the parents.

"Ireland" Drawn By President Coolidge For Tennis Olympics

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Coolidge reached into the original Davis cup today on St. Patrick's day and drew out a slip on which was written the name of Ireland.

The ambassadors of other nations then drew names from the cup in alphabetical order and completed the first drawing ever to be held at the white house for the great international tennis matches.

The entry list for the cup totals 23 nations, seventeen in the European zone and six in the American zone, which, with the United States as the defending nation, brings it us to 24, a record for the game.

Drawings for the European zone resulted in two nations, Belgium and British Isles, going into the first round, with seven byes in the upper half of the second round and eight byes in the lower half.

Ireland and France are in the first bye; Holland and India second; Argentine and South Africa in the third, and Spain will play the winner of the first round match between the British Isles and Belgium. Coffins, Flowers, Lots Tombstones, Urged In Bonus Measure Tirade

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Representative Hawes, democrat, Missouri, today in a denunciation of the insurance provision of the bonus bill, suggested the government might as well "buy 4,000,000 coffins with 4,000,000 cemetery lots and 4,000,000 tombstones and add so much for flowers."

"Why not issue a certificate which can hang in the home," Mr. Hawes added, "which will say when John Smith dies the nation's gratitude will be expressed by a fine funeral? Let John and his wife and children look at it every day and wonder whether smallpox or kidney trouble will finally pull the lever that opens the coffers of a grateful nation."

Proponents of the new soldiers bonus bill, which will be voted on tomorrow by the house, tonight confidently predicted its passage.

War veterans, particularly on the democratic side, assailed the measure as a "disappointing gold-brick" for its failure to provide the full cash option.

Chairman Green of the ways and means committee, which framed the bill, defended it, declaring he had been assured by American Legion officials of Iowa, his home state, that the insurance provision was satisfactory.

ROXIE STINSON TRIED TO SELL SILENCE, SAYS

Notifies Committee He Has Witnesses to Back Statement

$150,000 HER PRICE

Woman Alleged to Have Come Down On Price $100,000

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Attorney General Daugherty notified the senate committee investigating him tonight that he expected to prove that Roxie Stinson, one of the star witnesses in the inquiry, had shown a "willingness" to sell documentary evidence in her possession "and her silence" for $150,000.

Witnesses whose appearance he has requested, Mr. Daugherty said, would testify that such negotiations were entered into in Cleveland on February 21, last by Miss Stinson and a companion, Al Fink of Buffalo.

They would testify, further, he said that later the price was reduced to $50,000 but that the friends of the attorney general who were approached on the subject, refused to pay her "anything for the alleged evidence."

SHIP HEAD IN RATE FIGURES

Subject to Questioning On Ship Profits at Galveston Hearing

By The Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Texas, March 17. Further evidence to oppose any change in the present rates into the southwestern states was submitted by representatives of coastwise steamship companies in the Texas-Oklahoma rate hearing today. The witnesses were W. P. Lewis and J. T. Green, both of New York and freight traffic officials for coastwise steamship companies.

The steamship lines have not made any great profits from their operations in the last few years, Mr. Lewis said. He said the Clyde Steamship company had made "some money" in the last two or three years, but pointed out that 45 per cent of this came from passenger traffic. The Mallory line earned approximately $9,000 last year, he said.

The Texas common point group should be preserved by all means, Joseph J. Atkinson of Austin, representing the Austin chamber of commerce as an intervenor in the case, testified. He declared Austin intervened primarily to see that this time-honored system of grouping was preserved.

DAUGHERTY FOES HAVE BIG DAY IN SENATE PROBE

Witnesses of All Kinds Bring in Damaging Evidence

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Attorney General Daugherty's foes continued today to pile in testimony to connect him directly with the prize fight film conspiracy, and the attorney general again struck back, this time with grave charges of black mail.

The most direct testimony yet given before senate investigating committee in an effort to connect the attorney general directly with the conspiracy to show motion pictures of the Carpentier-Dempsey prize fight in violation of federal law, while various "goats" were prosecuted and fined small sums came from G. O. Holdridge, a former department of justice agent who presented a witnessed report of a conversation he said he had with Jap-Muma, identified in the inquiry as one of the owners of the films.

Holderidge quoted Muma as having quoted Attorney General Daugherty as having said to him in Washington:

"If you put this across, you ought to get a big cut, not less than 50 per cent."

On vigorous cross examination by the attorney general's counsel, Holdridge conceded that he had not else to substantiate the charge that the attorney general was part of the conspiracy. Previous testimony has been that Jess W. Smith, the attorney general's late friend, boasted that "we" could get $180,000 by protecting the fight films owners from prosecution, and that various sums of money were collected for Smith on that account.

Attorney General Daugherty's attack on his accusers was contained in a letter to Chairman Brookhart of the investigating committee. The attorney general said he would prove by James W. Holcomb, Samuel Ungleider and Henry Tellis of Cleveland; and his brother, M. S. Daugherty of Washington Court House, Ohio, that the prosecution's star witness, Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess W. Smith, has offered to turn over her papers and documents for $150,000 and leave the country, and that when that was refused she offered to take $50,000.

Those negotiations the attorney general said he would prove by the men he named, and whom he asked to be called as witnesses, took place in Cleveland on February 21, 1924. Miss Stinson herself and A. L. Fink of Buffalo, the attorney general charged, sought the meeting which culminated with a conference between Mr. Ungerlieder, Miss Stinson and Fink.

When Ungerlieder, speaking for himself and the others declined to enter into the negotiations, the attorney general said his witness would prove Miss Stinson and Fink announced their purposes to go to New York to sell the papers and documents to others.

Corroborating in many particulars the previous testimony of Gaston B. Means and Fred Quimby, Holdridge related a circumstancial story of his investigation of the alleged arrangement by which the fight films were exhibited in 1922. Muma, New York correspondent Edward B. McLean's Cincinnati Enquiry, again emerged in a stellar role. Relating numerous conference, in his investigations with Muma, and others in the film transaction, Holdridge quoted Muma as the principal author of damaging charges against Attorney General Daugherty and William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation.

Chief among the statements credited by Holdridge to Muma, and which he finally reported, in June, 1922, to Burns, concerning the fight film affair were:

The alleged statement by Mr. Daugherty that "if you put this across you ought to get a big cut, not less than 50 per cent."

Another alleged statement by Mr. Daugherty to Muma, that he had taken the matter up with Alfred R. Urion, a local lawyer previously identified as a participant in the transaction.

Another alleged statement by Mr. Daugherty that the law prohibited only transportation and not exhibition of the films.

A statement made by Muma, that he had "things all fixed" that the alleged admission by Muma of a contract for the film exhibition and passing of one check in Urion's presence for over $2,000.

Holdridge buttressed his story with copies of his official report to the department of justice and his own testimony of interviews with Burns and others. He also produced a statement, signed and witnessed by Thomas G. Spellacy, another department of justice agent working with him in the film investigation that Muma's statement to Holdridge had been made in his presence.

A subpoena was ordered immediately for Spellacy, now believed to be in St. Louis.

Holdridge's story and cross-examination consumed the entire day. Tomorrow the committee is to call William H. Orr, former secretary to Governor Whitman and named as a party to the film contract. Muma also is here under subpoena and is to testify after Orr. Gaston B. Means and Roxie Stinson are being held in reserve for further development of the film transaction.

Holdridge told of having been "fired" by Daugherty and Burns, and later re-instated with back pay after telling Burns what he knew about the film "deal." Holdridge said he finally resigned "in disgust" and had no hesitancy in expressing his belief that the attorney general and Burns were "a couple of crooks."

The testimony of Holdridge concerning the alleged statements to him and Spellacy by Muma, ran along with previous testimony by Means and Quimby, including the story of the private exhibition of the fight films in the presence of President Harding and other high officials at the home of McLean. Postmaster General New, during the day, issued a statmeent admitting having viewed the pictures, but as a "surprise" and rejecting as "wholly and viciously untrue" the charge that he ever figured in any conference regarding them. Secretary Hughes also denied having discussed them with anybody.

The postmaster general also denied that either Attorney General Daugherty or President Harding were present when the pictures were shown at McLean's residence. He said that if Muma was present he did not recall it.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, in charge of the prosecution, said "we have, in my judgment, conclusively shown that there has been a conspiracy between the attorney general and Mr. Urion and Mr. Quimby and Will Orr, and Jap Muma, and these other men that have been mentioned to show these pictures over the United States in absolute violation of the law. There is enough evidence to convince any jury in the world, or anybody else in the world."

Holdridge in his report of the alleged conversation with Muma concerning the fight pictures, said:

"According to the information given by Mr. Muma the profit of the deal was very large. Muma stated to me that the enterprise had succeeded in getting into twenty-one states. Bureau records of January 15, 1922, account for only eleven states, but show one agent moving through four states: William H. Rudolph, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia."

After naming his witnesses, the attorney general's letter to Chairman Brook alleges, in addition to the offer to turn over the documents:

"The above witnesses were in conference with the said Fink, acting as such agent for the said Roxie Stinson, for several hours. That the said Fink said he was a married man and stopped at the Hollenden hotel in the said city of Cleveland, on the 18th day of February, 1924, with the said Roxie Stinson, and registered under the name of A. L. French and wife, and the said Roxie Stinson occupied the same room with him."

"RABBIT TWISTER" HEAD HERE

Says Order Will Name Next Governor

That the influence of the International Rabbit Twisters' association is certain to be felt in the coming gubernatorial campaign in Texas is the conviction of J. B. Poteet of Dallas, brother to the president of the International Rabbit Twisters' association, Gibbons Poteet, of Rockston, Texas.

"The rabbit twisters' association," Mr. Poteet explained, "has grown in numerical strength to an almost bewildering extent since it was organized some few months ago. From every part of the union, from every hamlet in every state, applications for membership are coming in. The Texas organization of rabbit twisters will have grown by July 4 it will outnumber all other political organizations and labor unions. It is my firm belief that it will elect the next governor."

Mr. Poteet could easily be mistaken any day for his illustrious brother. Gifted as he is, it is difficult to comprehend just why he himself did not initiate this international movement of rabbit twisters. He is will qualified to have undertaken this project, being baldheaded and, apropos of the tobacco market, deadly accurate. A shoe salesman by profession, he might easily have outstripped his banker brother as politician and organizer.

"The Rabbit Twisters' association men," stated Mr. Poteet, "are standpatters for one hundred per cent Americanism. They believe in equal suffrage for the various sexes, but prefer not to take a stand on the contemplated prohibition enforcement. The tradition of the old east Texas rabbit twister and squirrel turner must be maintained. It is barely possible that their own candidates may enter the race, in which case the large membership in the Congo country will be asked to rally to the colors and use their influence in central Africa for the benefit of the cause."

Mr. Poteet denied that the association had any connection with the "Yellow Dogs" or the League of Nations.

County Attorney's Office to Collect Delinquent Taxes, Commissioners Say

The last step necessary for the paving of Seventh street from the railroad tracks to a point near the baseball park was taken Monday when the county commissioners court awarded their part of the contract to the L. E. Whitham and company. Whitham's bid, which was the only one received, was for $10,080.

The road will be of concrete and work is expected to be started within a short time. All rough grading work has been done already and everything put in readiness for the actual pouring of concrete.

Dave May Runs Down Lost Negro In Record Time

It just took Dave May, chief of detectives, two hours Monday morning to run down a negro wanted here for jumping a bond of $750 imposed by the federal court.

The bondsmen of the negro appeared in May's office Monday morning at 10 and said all efforts to locate the negro had proved futile. May got out among the negroes here and got a line on the missnig negro. He found out the negro was supposed to be at Florence, Colo.

A telegraph message to the chief of police at Florence was sent. At noon May got a reply that the negro had been found and locked up. The bondsmen were greatly relieved as all efforts for the past three months to find the negro had been to no avail.

Detective Johnnie Boone is to leave at 3 this morning for Florence to bring back the black.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chonic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

"Flaming Cross" Klan Allegory Here Last Night

"The Flaming Cross" appeared at the Palace last night.

An allegory-play production, it presented through history and story that was termed a "true history of the Ku Klux Klan in America."

Every Father, Every Mother, Every Son, and Every Daughter, took the roles of characters in a play that traced the cause of liberty from the beginning of the American revolution to the present day, in three stages. The voice of the ages was represented by Miss Liberty.

A prologue presented the Boston Tea Party, and "Carpet Bagger Justice" in 1866. The play was a story and a moral of today.

Following through the cause of liberty and its champions, the prologue and the play. First blow for political freedom in America was presented in a depiction of the Boston Tea Party. Political and racial freedom and justice was fought for in the scene from 1866, when the Ku Klux Klan first appeared under that name. Moral and political were the issues presented in the play of 1924.

As a dramatic production, "The Flaming Cross" is hardly in that category. There is a sentiment of allegory running through play and prologue and unmistakable. It is the presentation and argument of a principle.

The lighting effects are of the most interesting. Artistic scenes depicting Liberty, the meetings of the klan are vivid. Two characters standing out alone for their dramatic ability are the negro deputy in the scene from '66, and the Irish nurse of today.

Present day morals and a probable remedy are the play. All in all, it is of food for thought on conditions of politics, morals, and citizenship of today.

TONY SARG IN GOOD OFFERING

Marionettes Are True To Life and Absorbing

A bad rich mandarin, his beautiful daughter, Kong Shee, his poor, but honest secretary, Chang, and an unscrupulous Chinese youngster of fifty, Duke Ta Jin, featured the Willow Plate Story staged by Tony Sarg and his marionettes at the Wichita theatre last night.

The devious rocky roads that lead to the happily ever afterward stage involved denunciation, exile and finally, execution for the lovely Kong Shee and the gallant Chang in this quaint playlet. To the time of weird strange music they hasten down life's pathway, beset with adversity here, but finally happy in a heavenly paradise.

Kong Shee, in love with Chang, is sold in marriage by her father to Duke Ta Jin, the lad of fifty. On the wedding night she is spirited away by the ready Chang and taken to an island in the Yellow Sea for a short period of domestic bliss. They are discovered there by the mandarin who causes their execution. A kind providence, pitying their untimely end lets them live on as two doves, who at last are seen hovering in the heavens, blissfully unaware of earthly tribulations and mortal woes.

These marionettes dance back and forth across the scren with a manner that is wonderfully life-like. They talk, they run, they ride, they eat, they sing, they bargain, and they make love; to them all things are possible. There is a dog that can bark convincingly, and a deep sea dragon that breathes flame and smoke from his nostrils. These puppets are real and lifelike. Clothed in the raiment of their depicted China, and moving to the music of the Celestial kingdom, their's is truly a willow plate story, quaint, beautiful, entertaining.

Major Purchaser Expected To Extend Pipe Line To Louann

Special to The Record News.

EL DORADO, Ark., March 17.—Contract between the Atlantic Oil Producing company and the Gilliland Oil company has been recorded at Camden, Ark., according to which the Atlantic agrees to underwrite $4,600,000 of Gilliland first mortgage bonds and is given option to purchase for ten years from February 1, 1924, all crude, casinghead gas and other products from the Gilliland properties.

Both companies are large operators in the Smackover district where the Gilliland has recently spent over $1,900,000 for production and protection since January 1. It is expected that as a result of the contract the Atlantic will extend its Tucker-Haynesville-McNeil pipe line to Louann in order to handle the Gilliland production.

Active Drilling State Oil Felds Since Price Hike

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, March 17.—That there is great activity in the various oil fields of the state, following the recent increase in the price of crude oil, is clearly indicated by the large number of applications filed with the oil and gas division of the railroad commission for drilling permits covering oil, gas and other minerals.

Records in the oil and gas division disclose that during the month of February this year there were filed 505 applications for drilling permits, which is the largest number of any month during the present fiscal year which began Sept. 1, 1923. Last September there were 371 applications filed; October there were 416; in November they decreased to 275; while last December there were 355 and for January of this year the number was 438.

Each application is given careful consideration before action is taken thereon.

Carter Company Pays $2 Barrel For Wewoka Oil

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, March 17.—Carter Oil company Saturday bought from the Independent Oil and Gas company and the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, 100,000 barrels of oil in storage on a tank farm in the northwest of 35-8-8, Seminole county, for $2 a barrel, and the price of the tankage and title to the twenty acres on which are the tanks containing the storage oil.

Three hundred and five thousand dollars changed hands in the sale. There are two 80,000-barrel tanks and one 37,000-barrel tank on the farm. The oil is 38 gravity and most of it was stored when oil of that gravity was $1 a barrel.

The Carter company is running a pipe line to take care of the oil and to provide transportation for further purchases in the Wewoka-Holdenville pool.

The ninth annual convention of Petroleum Geologists association will be held in Houston March 27-29 inclusive.

Reduced rates have been obtained on all railroads for the convention, which is expected to bring out an unusually large registration. Special entertainment is being provided for the members and their families attending.

Four field trips have been arranged for members of the association during the convention, including the Goose Creek and Barber's Hill oil fields, Texas Gulf Sulphur mine at Gulf, Jefferson and Avery Island salt domes in Louisiana and Palestine and Keechi domes.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company has asked the Kansas supreme court to modify its decree of several years ago, which prevented the Prairie from engaging in the refining business in Kansas on the ground that it was part of the Standard and establishing a monopoly. Prairie claims now it is not part of the Standard.

The contract whereby the Standard Oil of Louisiana at its Casper, Wyo., refinery supplied gasoline for export to the Standard of Louisiana has been renewed, the original contract having been made in 1922.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, according to George H. Jones, the vice-president, earned sufficient to pay its common and preferred dividends in 1923, and a balance to carry to surplus.

The Producers and Refiners' corporation has an important oil showing in a wildcat well in New Mexico on the Rattlesnake structure, which it is drilling under contract for the Santa Fe Oil company. The well is in the Navajo Indian reservation in northwest New Mexico, just east of the Arizona state line. The sand was encountered at depth of 821 feet. The oil tests 64.2 gravity.

WAURIKA TEST HAS GOOD SAND

Bears Indications of Opening New District in Oklahoma

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, March 17.—Jefferson county is attracting considerable attention with the topping of a sand at 3,094 feet in the Clark-Cowden-Kilgore No. 2, Spring, northwest of the northwest of 25-6s-6w, about three miles east of Opie. Operators have run a string of 6 5-8-inch casing to the top of the sand and are ready to drill in. There is 1,300 feet of oil in the hole, but no gas is showing. Location of this test is 150 feet east of the abandoned Dingwall test, which was drilled to 3,314 feet, after drilling with the rotary to 2,500 feet and then completing with cable tools.

At the time of abandonment operations were under way in the Dingwall test, the pipe was busted with a collar buster at around 1,500 to 1,800 feet, and some oil appeared in the hole. The rig was skidded and the new test begun in search of the sand believed to exist at around the 1,500 and 1,800-foot levels. However, no showings were had at either of these levels and drilling was continued until the present sand was topped.

The test is being closely watched and is believed bears indication of opening a new oil field in Jefferson county. It is on the trend running southeast to Nocona (Texas) shallow gas field.

Stage and Screen

By JOSEPHINE FISK

PALACE—"The Flaming Cross."
STRAND—A. S. M. Hutchinson novel, "This Freedom."
OLYMPIC — Constance Talmadge in "The Dangerous Maid."
MISSION—Betty Compson in "The Stranger."
GEM — Claire Windsor and Kenneth Harlan in "The Little Church Around the Corner."

Come in Boots and Breeches.

"How do you like boy's clothes?"

Constance Talmadge, now appearing in masculine attire of the times of James 11 of England on "The Dangerous Maid," carefully considered the question.

"Well, if you want my candid opinion," replied Constance, "I would never go back to girl's clothes at all if it wasn't for public opinion and the fashions. We women are all slaves of fashion. We wear what other women wear.

"My favorite costume would be the clothing worn by men in the seventeenth century. I don't suppose the dandies of those times would appreciate my saying so if they could hear me, but I think that men's court costumes of 200 or so years ago would be ideal for women if adapted to our needs.

"They give freedom of movement, are beautiful in choice of material, and have the fripperies dear to a woman's heart. Of course, they would need a bit of remodeling, but costumers could attend to that.

"I'm just delighted with the cavalier's costume I wear in 'The Dangerous Maid.' I feel like Little Boy Blue all grown up and with a sword in his hand with which to fight his battles with the world."

"The Dangerous Maid" is a First National picture is now showing at the Olympic theatre.

The story gives Constance her first opportunity to play a dramatic role, and the picture, although it contains many humorous situations, is replete with romance and love interest, and is embellished with superb sets designed by Stephen Goosson.

"The Stranger at the Strand.

John Galsworthy liked the theme of "The First and the Last" so well that he used it three separate times.

The author of the story, from which the screen play, "The Stranger," produced by Joseph Henabery for Paramount, was adapted, used the fundamental theme in an abbreviated short story published in the Cosmopolitan magazine, a three-act stage play and a much longer story which fell just short of being a novel.

In adapting the Galsworthy story to the screen the narrative story was followed in preference to the stage play, in which the character of The Stranger does not appear in person, but is only referred to by the other characters. Tully Marshall gives a great characterization in the title role of this production, now playing at the Strand theatre. He is featured with Betty Compson, Richard Dix and Lewis Stone.

Marshall plays the part of a decrepit, drunken old man, who sacrifices himself in order that the two young people, in love with each other and with all the world before them, may go free. Many day's stubble of beard and untrimmed hair are essential for the proper characterization.

"This Freedom" Distinctive.

A splendid picture, finely directed, well acted and artistically executed is "This Freedom," the William Fox screen version of Hutchinson's novel, which opened at the Mission theatre Sunday night. The story is one that not only stirs the feelings but appeals to the mind. It has for its theme the modern problem of a home or a career, or rather, a home and a career.

Rosalie keeps her position at the bank after she marries. She leaves her children in the care of competent governess and pursues her business career. She begins to doubt the rightness of her course when she learns that her children are growing up without any religious feeling. She is bitter with self-reproach when her household is disrupted. She is sure the fault is hers. Whether you agree with her or believe that her children could have come to a bad end even if she had brought them up at her knee, the story, as presented will not fail to arouse your sympathy.

Fay Compton gives an admirable characterization as the independent Rosalie. Her performance is one of the outstanding features of the picture. Clive Brook is good as her husband and the rest of the cast lend excellent support.

"This Freedom" may be classed with the distinctive photoplays of the year.

P. B. M. Style Show at Strand.

Jack Bell, famous in Dallas theatre circles as a singer and entertainer has been secured for the week of March 23 for an appearance at the Strand. Mr. Bell has just finished a very successful six months engagement at the Melba theatre in Dallas and is being brought to this city for the P. B. M. Style Show to be presented at the Strand theatre March 26, 27 and 28.

A feminine comedienne, violinist, soft shoe dancer and specialty coon song artist has been procured also for the week and will appear during the entire seven days, with featured entertainment at the fashion show Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

A group of Wichita Falls' loveliest girls will serve as models for the attractive spring togs to be displayed. The picture shown at the time of the fashion show is appropriately titled, "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," and is said to be one of the cleverest of recent screen offerings.

"Heritage of the Desert" Coming.

The west in 1876.

Who could tell of it better than Zane Grey? Who could bring it to the screen to finer advantage than Paramount?

The Zane Grey novel, "The Heritage of the Desert," published about five years ago and still at the height of its popularity will bring this all to the screen at the Olympic theatre where it will remain for a run of four days and from present indications is likely due for a hold-over.

Bebe Daniels, Ernest Torrence, Noah Beery and Lloyd Hughes are featured. Irvin Willat directed. It's a story of a fight for irrigation waters—and what a fight it is! All red-blooded Americans will revel in it.

Actor Resembles Barrymore.

Einar Hansson, playing the male lead in the William Fox production of "The Blizzard," from "The Story of a Country House" by Selma Lagerlof, is said to resemble John Barrymore, not only in person, but in his technique. Hansson plays the role of Gunnar Hede, young Swedish musician in love with a girl of a wandering minstrel troupe. In a stampede of reindeer during a terrific blizzard, the youth loses his mind and recovers only when his sweetheart plays her violin, recalling to his disordered brain, old memories and fond recollections. It is a dramatic story, vibrant with the pathos which has won for Selma Lagerlof the Nobel prize for literature and placed her as the only woman member of the Swedish Academy of Arts and Letters.

"The Blizzard" comes to the Strand theatre for three days opening Thursday.

"Just Off Broadway," Is Gilbert's New One.

John Gilbert, the moving picture star, has a new screen vehicle with the title "Just Off Broadway" which comes to the Mission theatre Wednesday for two days. In the meantime, his latest William Fox picture, "The Wolf Man," has been completed at the West Coast Studios of the company. The action shifts from London to the Canadian backwoods. Frederick and Fanny Hatton are the authors of the story.

BURNETT STREET CONTRACT IS LET

A contract for the paving of Burnett street from Eighth to the Wichita river bridge was awarded to the city council Monday night to Vallient and Toomey, Fort Worth contractors, after a poll of property owners in the territory to be paved showed a preference for a brick surfaced roadway. Paving plans for the street have been under consideration for some time.

The new paving will be started in a short time, it is understood, and when completed will make Burnett one of the longest cross-street pavements in the city.

PHIPPS IS WILLING

Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Colorado is a candidate for re-nomination. He is a member of the house of Steel. He was born and reared in the city of Pittsburgh and is the owner of a large fortune. He was swept into high office in 1918 when Woodrow Wilson lost control of congress. Senator Phipps is classed as a reactionary. He is of and for big business. He was reared in the atmosphere of big business and has ever run true to form.

He will be opposed by Haslett P. Burke, a member of the Colorado supreme court, a republican progressive who dislikes the house of steel and is of the opinion that a man from the house of the people should be the senator from Colorado if the republicans are to name a man.

Two years ago the democrats elected William E. Sweet governor of Colorado. Sweet classes himself as a progressive but his political foes refer to him as a red radical. He is a stalwart pro, a stalwart advocate of law enforcement, strong with the farmers and the democrats may force him into the race as their candidate for the senate.

Governor Sweet thinks highly of Governor Neff of Texas and it was in response to an invitation from Sweet that the Texas governor visited Colorado and won the favor of the press and the pulpit and the public by his law enforcement addresses.

Colorado republicans have instructed for Coolidge but the democrats may send an uninstructed delegation to the Madison Square Garden convention.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

All the wealth of America isn't drifting into the hands of the few. All the farms of America are not drifting into the hands of the few. Absentee farm land-lords are not an important factor in the agricultural situation in most parts of the United States.

Government figures show that not more than ten per cent of rented farms in 1920 were thus owned. Little centralization of land ownership was found except in the plantation region of the south. Comparative little farm land is owned by aliens not residing in this country.

More than one-third of the farm land lots are themselves engaged in agriculture, another third are retired farmers and the rest are mostly country bankers, merchants and professional men. Ten to twelve per cent of the landlords are women, mostly widows and daughters of farmers.

These figures are official. They are made by sworn officials of the federal government. They should be read and digested by the few wild radical orators who are traveling in the highways and byways of the country.

ARKANSAS FOR JOE.

Arkansas democrats are not running after outside gods. George Wyman of Little Rock organized a Bryan for president organization in that state. He called his followers to Little Rock to consider organizing in support of the Everglades statesman. This would-be Warwick was given the shock of his life. His conference developed into a rousing rally in support of Senator Joseph T. Robinson as the Arkansas choice for the democratic presidential nomination.

Later the organizer of the Bryan for president movement received a letter from the Everglades statesman stating that he was not a candidate for presidential honors and urging that Senator Robinson had earned and deserved the endorsement of the Arkansas delegation.

This newspaper in its political review of states, predicted that Senator Robinson would head the Arkansas delegation to the Madison Square Garden convention and that he would go there in the role of the favorite son of the Arkansas democracy. He's going.

ACTORS FOR CLOSED SHOP.

Twelve hundred actors and actresses including many of the best known players in New York City, have voted for the closed shop. Their organization known as the Actor's Equity association is for the closed shop and collective bargaining. That is, the players are to have a voice in making the wage schedules and in formulating the rules of the game. And behind the organized actors is the American Federation of Labor and affiliated trades. Is play acting a trade or a profession? Is it art or work?

More than three million dollars was spent on 10,000 aliens in New York state hospitals last year. Having been in the state more than five years these aliens are not deportable under the federal law. Keep the insane alien in Europe. The native supply is increasing year by year.

MAKING FINE FOOD FOR THE RAVENS

It Happened In Egypt

"Mrs. B. Jones," he murmured. "No, nothing for B. Jones—unless it's O'Brien Jones. Here's a letter addressed to Mrs. O'Brien Jones."

"That's it," said I, and hurried back to Biddy with it. She was quick about opening it.

As she read, almost literally my eyes were glued to her face. It went white, then pink.

"Read this," she said, and gave me the open letter.

It was written on paper of an hotel as Assuan, near the railway station, and was as follows:

"Madame: Let me explain frankly before I go further, that my name is Thomas Macmahan. You may remember it. If you do, you will not think it strange that I—as a private person as well as a member of a society—whose name it is not necessary to mention—wanted certain papers you were supposed to possess. For a long time I, and others almost equally interested, tried to trace you, after learning that you had the documents or in any case knew where they were. Naturally we were prepared to go far in order to make you give them up. We believed that your stepdaughter was with you. But accident enabled us to hear from your own lips details which we could not disbelieve. You said to Lord Ernest Borrow in the Temple of Abu Simbel, that you could never be happy until the organization Richard O'Brien betrayed 'forgot and forgave his daughter and yourself.' Through me, the organization now formally both forgets and forgives.

"Wishing you well in future, yours, truly,

"T. MACMAHAN, (alias Blount)"

"Oh, Biddy, do you find it useful?" I asked.

She held out her hands to me. There was no one on the veranda just then, and I kissed her.

"Mine!" I said. "What a gorgeous place Khartum would be to be married in!"

CHAPTER XXVI.
The Sidar's Ball.

The next night the Sidar's ball was held and Biddy and I persuaded Monny to go with us, although Antoun's departure had left her listless and sad.

We two were wildly happy, but we were anxious to see an end to Monny's suspense and anxiety.

It was the Sidar himself (who knew the secret) who started events moving, by asking us all to go on the roof of the palace with him.

"I have a young officer to introduce to you, Miss Gilder," he explained as we stood on the flat roof, drawing in great gulps of moonlight. "Lord Ernest and he used to be friends as boys, I believe. Perhaps you've heard him speak of Capt. Anthony Fenton?"

"Perhaps I don't remember," Monny answered apologetically.

"If you don't remember, Lord Ernest can't have done justice to the subject. Fenton's one of the finest young officer in Egypt or indeed, in the service. Here he comes now."

There was a sound of quick, light footsteps on the stairs. In silence we turned to see a tall young officer in uniform walk out upon the flat roof. The moon shone straight into his face, grave, yet eager, so deeply sunburned as to be brown even in that pale light. "Miss Gilder, let me introduce Capt. Anthony Fenton," the Sidar said.

"I've brought you a rose," said Anthony.

They stood looking at one another for a long moment, the sun-browned British officer and the pale girl. We, Biddy and I, stared at them both from our distance, and when the spell of the instant had broken we ran. The Sidar had already gone.

Biddy would have fallen downstairs, if I hadn't caught her around the waist. Needless to say, I didn't look back; but Biddy did.

"For goodness' sake, let's dash as fast as we can, down

"My gracious, but they're beautiful!" she gasped. into the garden, and do the same thing!"

"What?" I floundered.

"Why, you duffer, kiss each other like mad!"

That evening was to be productive of one more romance. Cleopatra, rather than appear neglected, suffered a change of heart in regard to Sir Marcus. She sent that gentleman a wire which brought him, flying, to camp Meroe the next day, where we joined him.

He began to shake hands almost before we were on the platform; and so did he engross himself in us and absorb out attention that none of us quite knew when the train went out.

"My dear boys!" he addressed us. "Borrow, you're a trump. I mean, in the matter of Mrs. East—Clara. Thanks for the congratulations. Oh, about the mountain? Don't think I have not been busy. I've found out a few things. Some one came here, it seems, with Arabs he'd engaged, and pretended to be my agent, empowered by me to work at the mountain of the Golden Pyramid. Well, the chap was armed with credentials so the authorities thought he was all right, of course, and let him go on. A few days ago he discharged the Arabs and the story was started that they'd been got rid of because the boss had hit on something and wanted to be left to himself."

"You haven't told us yet the name of the man," Anthony reminded him.

"By Jove, no more I haven't! I'm so excited about everything. You won't know it, Borrow will. Col. Corkran. You remember, Borrow, my telling you he'd been alone for a while in my office and had had a good chance if he wanted to browse among my papers? Well an unsigned contract with you for your services in return for all my rights in the Mountain of the Golden Pyramid, was lying on the desk. And there was a confidential letter on my desk from a man I'd written to, an Egyptologist chap, saying, in his opinion, there might be a tomb in the mountain. You know how queer I thought it, Corkran should throw up his job, which was paying him pretty well? Well, here we have the mystery explained."

"Not quite yet! I wish we had," I said. But Sir Marcus had suddenly become deaf. He had turned toward a group of people at the far end of the platform.

Anthony looked. "Great Scott!" said he. And in another instant we were following Sir Marcus hastily along the platform to greet Brigit O'Brien, Monny Gilder and Mrs. East.

"We couldn't help it," Monny cried in self-defense. "We knew you wouldn't let us come, so we came because we had to be in this with you. Even Biddy wanted to—and she's so wise. As for Aunt Clara, I believe she'd have started without us, if we hadn't been wild for the journey. So you see how it was!"

We did see. And we couldn't help rejoicing in their pluck as well as in the sight of them, though it was all against our common sense.

CHAPTER XXVII.
The Golden Pyramid.

It was not yet evening when he set forth; but it was the birth of another day when he arrived at Corkran's camp. No one was there—but the tent had the look of recent occupation.

Without further delay he started for the mountain of the Golden Pyramid. The ladies were to remain where they were, under shelter of the tent which the camel-boys were getting into shape.

We took with us two men whom Asmack had provided as diggers, and in five minutes we were at the base of the little dark, conical mountain which for weeks had been the object of our dreams. Here we found traces of Corkran's work—two tunnels. One was nearly blocked up, and impossible to enter without reopening; but we took it for granted the second had been made later. When we had crept for 12 or 15 feet, Anthony stopped. "Hello!" I heard him call. "I've come into a sort of chamber Corkran's scooped out. By jove, look out!"

As he cried out, I slipped through after him, slid down a steep, abrupt slope, and by the light of my agitated lanters saw him standing waist-deep ni a well-like hole.

At the bottom of the scooped-out hole I saw a crevice out of which protruded a large iron crow-bar.

I set the lantern on the earthy floor, and its yellow light streamed through the crack, whence the crowbar protruded like a black pipe in a negro's mouth. It was all darkness on the other sides from behind the screen of rock, set in its deep groves, came the strangest sound I ever heard, or shall ever hear. It was a voice, groaning, yet it was not like a human voice.

"He's alive then," exclaimed Anthony, pale in the sickly light. The only answer was another groan.

"I see the whole business now. Don't you?" Fenton said. "When Corkran got to his portcullis, he thought he'd reached the reward of his labors, well—so he had—the punishment. Here's the heap of stone he used as a fulcrum for his lever. The heap tumbled when he was on the other side, and the slab of rock came down to trap him. We'll have to build up his fulcrum again, before we can do anything ourselves."

Together we forced the flat end of the crowbar into the crevice, pressed a piece of rock under it, and exerted all our strength.

When we had raised the slab to a height of about two feet in its groves, and had made sure that the stones held it firmly in place, we told each other that it was time to cross the threshold. The rock-door was scarcely more than a yard in width, and we crawled through in single file. Anthony going ahead as before, with his torch.

So Goes It

One fine thing about the popular song is that they do not remain popular forever.

Child experts tell us that children disobey their parents just for the excitement of it, and that children lie, not with intent to deceive, but because of a peculiar working of the child mind. Why can't someone come along who will be equally generous with erring husbands?

Publishing a newspaper in the United States has its difficulties, but we are glad that we are not in the business in China. To read the ordinary Chinese newspaper, the subscriber must be familiar with 7,000 different characters. It must be some job increasing a newspaper's circulation in that country.

If physical effort will make people thin, why doesn't it affect those who labor at the business of carrying about a bay window?

County Lets 7th Street Contract For New Paving

The county attorney's office is to collect delinquent taxes hereafter.

This announcement, made Monday afternoon by the county commissioners court, definitely settled the controversy that has been argued with more or less intensity for the past six months. The order passed by the court Monday does away entirely with all contracts heretofore made by the commissioners court and outside parties and puts full responsibility for collections on the county attorney's office.

Decision to take this action was reached after the attorney general's department at Austin ruled adversely on several contract forms drafted by the local county attorney and which were intended for use between the county and W. R. Anderson. Mr. Anderson has been engaged by the commissioners court to collect the delinquent assessments and it was the validity of the contract which was originally made with him that brought on the controversy.

After the original contract had been ruled unlawful by the state attorney general several new forms were prepared and submitted for a ruling. The last acts of the legislature establishing laws regarding the collection of delinquent taxes are in such a state, however, that the drafting of a valid contract has proven an almost impossible task.

For this reason the county attorney's office will be allowed sufficient help and all suits necessary for collection as well as other details of the work will be carried on by the county attorney.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

FALLEN IDOLS

The Borgias, so I used to think,
Would ask a chap to have a drink
And in pour
Ten drops or more
Of hydrochloric acid;
And when the luckless fellow died,
They calmly had him thrown aside,
Without a qualm,
Serene and calm,
And unconcerned and placid.

I used to think the Medici
Extremely criminal could be.
To rob and shoot,
And burn and loot,
They though, I fancied, thrilling.
It was their joy and boast and pride
To terrorize the countryside;
They took delight,
Both day and night,
In torturing and killing.

But now historians come along
And say we had the Borgias wrong.
They were refined,
And good and kind,
And never doped a toddy;
The Medici, they also say,
Were noble souled in every way:
Considerate
And free from hate
And nice to everybody.

Thus vanishes a fond belief,
And I confess I feel but grief;
I thought that crowd
Was fierce and proud,
That wickedness inspired 'em.
It robs me of a splendid thrill
To learn they wouldn't rob or kill,
For that was why,
Most likely, I
So ardenly admired 'em.

Recognition of Russia

By DR. FANK CRANE

One of the most important events of recent times is the recognition of the soviet government of Russia by Great Britain.

The principal advantage of "recognizing" a country is that it makes it possible for merchants to do business with that country. The sending and receiving of ambassadors, the exchange of courtesies and the political flourishes do not amount to much.

Great Britain recognized Russia because she wanted Russia's trade.

There has been considerable criticism of the unbending policy of aloofness maintained by Secretary Hughes toward the soviet government.

It has been held that the least the United States can do is to be helpful and friendly and that no good can come of being wholly antagonistic.

It is not for us to judge Russia. That is the province of time and destiny.

In the eyes of history America, or rather the English speaking people, on the one hand, and Russia on the other, are competitors.

We stand for democracy; they stand for socialism more or less.

We stand for a civilization based upon the property rights of individuals; they stand for a system where the property belongs to the state.

We stand for the steady growth of human society, the present as developed from the past and the future to be an outgrowth of the present; they stand for the remaking of human society by theory and logic.

We think we are right. Just as positively they think they are right.

In such a condition a sensible view to take is that there should be a fair field and no favor. Let them work out their experiment. If socialism or sovietism is better for the human race let them prove it. If democracy is better it is up to us to prove it.

There is no use arguing nor exploding in virtuous indignation nor slapping our chests, nor engaging in theatrics. That is not the way history settles things. There is but one way to find out the truth and that is to use it and see whether it will work.

Russia enters the field of nations as the big boy and a boy somewhat cocky and obstreperous. As Gene Buck would say, "Give the kid a chance!"

For perhaps we are not so almighty right after all. Maybe the best government, the kind of the twenty-first century, is going to be a mixture of democracy with considerable sovietism. And maybe not.

But in any event let us leave the ways open for experiment. "By their fruits, ye shall know them."

WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE

PISCES.

The planetary vibrations are more than favorable and continue to be so throughout the day and evening. Difficult matters of long standing will be easily solved and those engaged in the real estate business will meet unexpected success.

A child born today will suffer, in early life, from abnormal sickness. It will, however, with proper care, grow out of all weaknesses.

If today is your birthday, you are to be envied; the Fates have been more than ordinarily kind. You are generous to a fault. No ulterior motives animate your actions or thoughts and this mental attitude lets you see the good points in others, whilst ignoring their bad ones. You do not gossip, nor enjoy that of others; you never betray a confidence; you are loyal and trustworthy.

On occasions, your innate goodness is imposed upon: this, however, does not worry you to any appreciable extent, and you pursue the even tenor of your way, as though nothing had happened.

Let disaster or misfortune overtake you, and you smilingly say, "it might have been worse;" let sickness befall you and your own cheerfulness acts as a better remedy than doctor's prescriptions.

You have not secured either fame or fortune, but your actions and kindly consideration for others has endeared you to all those around you.

Your home life is very happy, especially if you are mated with one who valnes material success less than unaltered contentment. If, on the other hand, your mate is disposed to be querulous at times, the sunshine of your disposition dissipates the threatened gloom.

There are many with assured social positions, there are others with great wealth and possessions, and again, there are a few who have attained fame; none of these, however, are as happy as you, unless they are guided, and controlled by general impulses, and have a sense of human brotherhood.

Successful people born on this date are:

Nathaniel G. Herreshoff, noted boat designer; Grover Cleveland, a president of the U. S.; Joseph A. Seiss, clergyman and author; Francis Lieber, educator and publicist; Gerard Hallock, journalist.

LONG, SLIM LINES ARE STYLISH IN ALL GARMENTS

No matter what the garment that milady wears nowadays and what the trimming, the straight line, slender silhouette must be maintained. Variations in the placing of trimmings, etc., are the only deviations possible, according to the powers that be. It is hard on those of us who write because we get tired of reiteration and are sure our readers are also tired of it, but the fact remains that this pencil outline to which woman have clung for quite some time now continues to be the only permissible line.

The three garments shown in today's illustration all exemplify this theory. Take the frock on the left. Straight and slim from the shoulders down with a vestee of fine embroidered batiste to add a dainty touch and a cape behind to break the line and incidentally make the frock more practical as a street costume. Belgium blue flannel fashions the frock and a scarf of vivid red—also flannel—adds to its chic.

One of the handsomest of the season's many good looking coats of the dressier type is shown on the right. It is of black satin with embroidery of gold and white lavishly applied. A mandarin effect is obtained with the wide sleeves and embroidery.

A dance frock in chemise slip lines is shown in the center. Sleeveless, with a simple rounded neckline, it falls straight with nothing to break the line from shoulder to about half way between the hips and the knees. At this point a band of metal leaves and flowers is placed and from that a delightful fluffy ruffle of thinnest material falls in points to the feet. What more could one ask of smart simplicity?

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job | Dorothy Dix | Love Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

Has a Man Who Knows That He Can Never Be a Glowing Success the Right to Ask a Girl to Share His Mediocre Life? Can "Jack" and "Jill" Marry and Still Keep Their Independent Lives? The Wife Whose Husband Cheated Her.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man, twenty-five, of average intelligence, and reasonably good-looking. I have been wondering whether or not I should marry, because, you see, Midas was not included among my relatives or forebears. If I managed to make a decent living for a girl that would be about my limit. This does not mean that I am lazy or indolent; I am simply one of those unfortunates who do not possess the faculty or knack of making money.

Thus far I have resisted the lure of unholy skirts and kept myself morally clean. I love home life, am fond of children, and feel that I could make a devoted father and husband, but—

Has a man, such as I have described myself to be, a right to ask a girl to "take a chance," knowing that if she accepts he is sentencing her to a financially speaking, mediocre existence? I would like to play fair.

LONESOME JOHN.

Answer: No man has a right to starve a girl, John, but if he can make enough to assure her of three meals a day and a roof over her head, it is up to the girl to decide whether she is willing to marry him on the bread-and-cheese-and-kisses basis or not. No man should feel that he has to stay single because he cannot give his wife pearls and a limousine.

The marriage that plunges a man and woman into dire poverty brings happiness to neither, but between penury and riches there is a long gap. No marriages are so apt to be happy, no husbands and wives are as close together as are the moderately well-to-do, the couples who work and struggle and plan and hope together, who sacrifice for each other, and whose whole happiness depends upon each other.

Why, John, that is the great American romance! A young couple who marry on just barely enough to live upon, who build their love nest with scarcely more furniture than the birds have, to whom the buying of a new suit or a new chair is a great adventure and the starting of a bank account an event; who share every hope and burden and thought, and who build up their fortune together; why, John, that's the stuff that real marriages are made of!

Many men are like you, John. They think that a man should not ask the woman he loves to marry him unless he can offer her a gilded cage and a soft cushion to sit upon. Let me tell you that real women are not waiting for soft matrimonial snaps. They want love and the man's attention, his interest, and many a millionaires would trade off her jewels for a little of her husband's society, a few spontaneous attentions, and a warm kiss or two.

Furthermore, the woman who marries a man who does not need her help has missed the greatest privilege in the world. She is never part of him as the woman is who has made of her shoulders a ladder upon which her husband climbs up.

Once upon a time, the wife of the most famous engineer in this country, a man now worth many millions, said to me that the happiest time of her life was when her husband was a poor, struggling, young chap, and she lived in a shack and washed his shirts.

Don't hesitate to ask the girl you love to marry you, John, because you can't start housekeeping on Easy street. If she is worth while, she won't care for the money, and you never know how much you can do yourself until you get a wife and children for whom to work.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—We are a young couple in our early twenties who are planning to be married in a few months. Since we have been almost constant companions for fifteen years and have always found our thoughts, ideas and ambitions to be identical; since we have always preferred each other's company to any one else, and since we have sympathy and understanding, and perfect trust, we believe that we can be married and yet continue our congenial, though to a great extent, independent lives.

We are not in love, as the term is generally understood, and we do not intend to let any shackles of marriage interfere in any way with our personal or social liberty, since our faith in the sincerity of our regard for each other has always precluded jealousy.

To be crudely frank, we want the freedom of youth with the safeguard of marriage. Do you think our chances for a lasting happiness is impossible, as the majority of people with whom we have discussed our plan do?

JACK AND JILL.

Answer: I think, my dear Jack and Jill, that any such marriage license as you propose taking out should have a divorce coupon attached to it, and I would earnestly suggest Reno to you as a nice, suitable place to go on your wedding journey.

But why marry, if you do not care enough for each other to be willing to give up your youthful flirtations and settle down to the serious business of life? Believe me, marriage is no safeguard to those seeking diversion outside of the home limits. On the contrary, it adds a thousand per cent to the penalties.

The happiness of marriage consists to a great extent on husbands and wives being big enough and broad enough to grant each other a large degree of personal liberty. No man can be happy with a wife who makes him punch the home time-clock on the dot, who raises rections every time he goes out an evening, and who gets green-eyed if he speaks to another woman. Nor can any woman be happy with a husband who keeps her immured in the home as if she were a slave in a harem, and who throws fits of jealousy if she dances with another man.

But this is a far cry from a husband and wife having the liberty to carry on love affairs with other women and men. You will find all your pretty theories shot to pieces the first time you catch another man kissing your wife or writing her love letters, and she will be ready to scratch out the eyes of the hussy you take out joy riding.

Marriage means possession. It is a monopoly and we cannot calmly observe others poaching on our preserves. Besides, the honor of your name is involved. You will see red when you behold that being dragged in the dust. You cannot eat your cake and have it, too; nor be married, and retain the freedom of your bachelor days. Don't attempt the impossible.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—When I was married my father gave me a farm. My husband has sold that farm and with the money bought another, which he promised to put in my name. But he put it in his own name, and refuses to give me a penny, although I have worked very hard during all the twenty years we have been married. My husband is a man who is highly respected for his honesty, but he has cheated me. What can I do?

A WIFE IN DISTRESS.

Answer: Many men who are honest to all the balance of the world defraud their wives. I am afraid your case is hopeless, poor lady. Your only chance would be to consult a lawyer and bring suit to recover your property, and at that if you got back your money it would be at the price of breaking up your home.

Sneaking to His Lesson.

"Hurry and get into your sweater, Ralph. It's time for you to go to your music lesson," his mother reminded him.

"I'm not going to my music lesson," announced Ralph gullenly.

"Why Ralph?" His mother was astonished.

"I'm not going to take violin lessons any more," continued Ralph. The boys call me a sissy, and I won't be a sissy!"

Ralphs mother argued with him telling him that his teacher was waiting, till finally Ralph picked up his case and music roll and walked out the door. But instead of going down the street, he ran as fast as he could to the house of his teacher through the alley. Just as he was sneaking in the side door of the old violinist's house, he saw his enemy, the fourth grade boy, in the yard next door. "Sissy Ralph taking his music lesson!" cried the tormentor.

Nobody likes to be called a sissy, especially if he's a regular fellow and wears a green and tan sweater and dark green trousers like Ralph.

Today's Poem

MARCH.

The wind is whistling 'round the corner,
It is sighing o'er the lea;
Like an aged, dreary mourner
It is whispering to me,
But my hearth-fire's blaze is bright
And my songs are gay tonight.

The wind is calling from the highway,
Yet its sadness, who can hear?
It matters not how cold the byway
Or the upland trees how drear,
For the hearth-fire's blaze is bright
Our songs are gay tonight.

Not far beyond are zephyrs blowing
And the buds are eager to appear,
Soon the wild flowers shall be growing
And the chorus of the birds draw near,
So the hearth-fire's blaze is bright
And our songs are gay tonight.

Do You Realize That Advertising Will Solve Your ProductionProblems

If you are a progressive, forward-looking man, ready to do business in a moderate way, and to employ advertising as the conditions of 1924 (and thereafter) demand it must be employed.

Advertising Stimulates Sales

—Thereby causing increased production

—thereby inducing more economical utilization of labor and material

—thereby reducing overhead per unit

—thereby effecting a better selling proposition

—thereby winning more business—and so on around the circle.

Do you realize that advertising may not only increase your business, but also make your present volume more profitable?

You may have costly number of similar items in your line, each of which some customer purchases in small quantity. You may be making for the most part, or entirely, jobber brand goods, thus subjecting your business to the fortunes of your distributors. Your business may be large, but not proportionately profitable.

After a period of years, the multiplicity of items, of but slightly different design, made to please individual distributors—the jobber brand goods—has begun to hamper production, cause terriffic overhead, and seriously lessen profits.

What is your answer to this problem? If you are wise you will standardize your line down to a profitable basis and advertise it.

And when you advertise your a dequately broad standardized line to the public, you will win the people's preference for the standard numbers, and automatically eliminate the unprofitable assembly of special styles heretofore shown by individual distributors.

The result will be a line that once more shows profits to you, secures better profits for your distributors, and pesents better values to the ultimate consumers of your goods.

Advertising in the Record News will solve your production problems, and put your years-old business on an adequate earning basis.

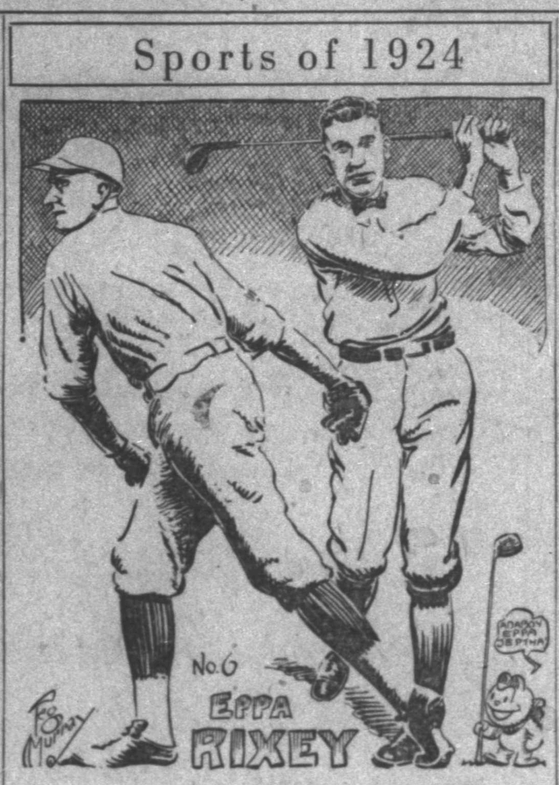
Sports of 1924



Eppa Rixey, famous port sider of the Cincinnati Reds, is 6 ft. 5 and shoots 18 holes of golf in 78. Maybe if he was 7 ft. 8 he'd go around in 65. The best shot Rixey ever made was at the Hyde Parke Country club, Cincinnati, on the dog leg 400 yard, 7th hole. Eppa Jeptha laid all his 210 lbs. into his drive, hooked the ball around and over the trees and nearly reached the green. This disproves the theory that since Rixey throws left handed and bats right handed he must necessarily golf up and down, both handed! He did once miss the ball completely, however, at Bellenir, Fla., probably due to the proximity of a bathing girl hazard.

Once golfing with his fellow Reds, Eddie Roush, Johnnie Couch and George Harper, Rixey drove three balls in succession into the famous water at White Sulphur Springs.

Today's Iron

By T. T. HUNT.
Begorra, the sun shone again.

These Spudder ambitioners jumped on the warm and sunny day of St. Patrick for a rollic on the clover.

Blue skies and greensward, and green four-leafs.

Bubber Jonnard blossomed out for workout Monday afternoon. He wore a sweater as green as a license tag background on an Oklahoma fliv. Whether or not he is a true son of the old sod is left for others to say. The backstop seemed to be in a happy mood, not unusual. But he talks like an Alabamian.

A group of Skipper Tanner, Harry Schwab, Ed. Crosier, Bubber Jonnard, Artie Weiss and Bill Byers had a game all their own yesterday. In raking in the cracks of a batter some forty feet off, a boot sent the erring one back to the outfield, an undefined place to the rear. Art Weiss, the only outfielder in the bunch, worked himself down stopping grounders by himself while the rest waited impatiently for him to miss.

The weather man, who has been in the midst of everything for so long, and the Indians, might get away with it, but it can't happen for long. As first victim, we name Denver.

There are several players we would like to see work. Among this number not having had the chance to get a claw on the ball in a game are Skipper Tanner, Jonnard, Michaels, Schwab, Fussell, Wetzel, et al.

With all the warmth, players were kicking up dust on the lot behind the park St. Patrick's day. A hard rain like the visitor Sunday maybe packed down the grounds in serviceable fashion.

A big argument was started somewhere yesterday as to whether a flock of the clover designs should be said "four-leafs" or "four-leaves." The ayes had it.

As our friend P'pol has it, it will rock along like this for days and then suddenly get worse.

CARNIVAL TO APPEAR HERE

Lachman Shows to Be At 9th-Indiana Next Saturday

Permission for the Lachman Shows to operate its attractions on the Moore and Richolt lot at Indiana and Ninth streets from March 22 to April 5 was granted Monday night by the city council. The carnival company, which exhibited at the Texas-Oklahoma fair last fall, has been wintering in Wichita Falls since that time. The shows are being staged under the auspices of the local American Legion.

The council also granted a permit to the Automobile Storage company for the installation of a curb gasoline filling station pump at the company's new building, 805 Lamar avenue.

J. M. Bland, who was appointed by the council two weeks ago to serve as election judge at court house box No. 1 in the April 1 elections informed the commissioners that he could not serve and asked to be relieved. W. Daniels, who was named as assistant judge, was appointed to fill Mr. Bland's place and Homer Karrenbrock named as assistant judge in place of Mr. Daniels.

A number of routine business matters were taken care of and several paving ordinances passed on their second and third readings.

Spudder Ambitious Ones Trod Greensward Once More For Luck

The Spudders resumed work Monday afternoon, which was not a regular session, but a warmer for the days to come. As per custom since the inauguration of the wet season, the lot back of the park was once more elected.

Knocking, snagging short ones, and passing the medicine ball was the order of the day. Lack of practice and broken training has left the likelies in almost as bad way as they were to start off. It is expected with the good weather the boys will be put down to real work the next few days. They have another series of ball games coming up only Friday, and have lots to do before that time. Denver will come here for a three day's camp.

About the Same

Nothing particularly startling has occurred in the ranks of the Wichita Falls tryouts the past few days. As has been the case for some time, the Mattox-Cheeves situation remains in hand, with a few alterations. It seems now Mattox is entirely out of it, and that he has elected to go into business other than baseball. In seeking his fortune elsewhere just at this time, it is the general opinion he has left the Wichita Falls Spudders club of the Texas league in somewhat of a fix. He was counted on to do lots of backstopping this year in the Spudder spangles.

As for Cheeves, today will probably complete the case. President Harvey last night, when asked as to the latest development, stated it would probably come out today. The Spudder president said he did not wish to be too lusty in this, and that thought the player had been issued notice to appear, he might have grounds for his delay. He stated Cheeves might be taking a late train out of Fort Worth to arrive here late in the night, intimating that nothing would be done until today should definitely tell.

"Chief" Virgil Cheeves, obtained for the season from the Cubs, has been regarded as an almost sure shot in the Texas league. As a pitcher his future is thought to be bright, and only needing the rough edges of some more experience to put him right. It is said the Indian hurler is something on the temperamental type, often seen in pitchers, though this has not been verified here definitely. His holding back from reporting has brought on the belief, however. He is expected to be a big asset to the Spudder hurling staff if everything comes out to the o. k.

ROUND WORLD FLYERS MAKE FIRST LEG TRIP

MATHERFIELD, Sacramento, Calif., March 17. — Completing the first leg of their 30,000 mile flight around the world, the three army airplanes which left Cloverfield at 9:32 o'clock this morning, landed at Matherfield at 2:05 p. m.

Six planes arrived at Matherfield at 2:02 o'clock, Lieutenant Lowell Smith being the first of the world cruisers to land.

BURK AND WICHITA MASONS TO OBSERVE EASTER CEREMONIES

Eminent commander, James R. Bachman, of Wichita Falls Commandery No. 59, appointed a committee composed of Leslie R. Stringer, Otto Stehlik and Albert Ellis to confer Monday night with a committee from the Burkburnett commandery, to plan a Knight Templar service to the given Easter Sunday.

This service is observed once each year, and the Easter service is to be arranged, following the usual custom of commanderies over the United States, it is said.

Tulsa Horse Wins Louisiana Derby

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. — Black Gold, black colt owned by Mrs. R. A. Hoot of Tulsa, Okla., and a probable contestant in the Kentucky Derby, won the $15,000 Louisiana Derby at Jefferson Park today in a gallop. The distance was a mile and an eighth and the time was 1:57 3-5. It was worth $14,750 to the winner.

Brilliant Cast, owned by the Idle Hour Stockfarm, was second and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's filly, Rinkey, finished third. Black Gold paid 9 to 5, 4 to 5, and 2 to 5; Brilliant Cast 6 to 1 and 3 to 1, and Rinkey even money.

WEEKS STABLE ENTRIES CARRY HONORS AT S. W. EXPOSITION

W. Fred Weeks' Speedway stables again stood high in the showing at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Ft. Worth, when entries from this Wichita Falls farm brought home Monday morning all but the coliseum in prizes and honors.

Twenty-two blue ribbons, two loving cups and $1,625 in prizes were the bacon secured by the Speedway stables horses. How complete was the record of these thoroughbreds is seen by the fact that in the daily showings twenty-two ribbons out of a possible twenty-three were annexed.

All championship winners in the breeding classes for both sexes and all ages were won by the Weeks' string. The owner and Mrs. Weeks, Trainer Wayne Barlow, and Virgil Kiel of Gainesville rode the entrants in the showings.

Following are listed some of the victories:

Susan Francis, $1,000 five-gaited stake; Emerald Twig, $500 junior stake; Miss Flapper, $250 walk, trot and canter; General Gano, the road king; Easter Cloud, first in the five-gaited stallion class and in the owners-to-ride class; Miss Flapper, fifteen two and over walk class and the owners-to-ride three-gaited class; Gretta Times, three-gaited combination class; Gretta Times and Miss Flapper, three-gaited pair class, ridden by gentleman and lady.

Says Show Success.

A great success for the stock show this year was the opinion of Weeks on his return. According to the Wichita Falls stable owner, there was a genial warmth permeating the proceedings, and everyone seemed pleased with the way the exposition went off. Financially, the success was assured, he stated, and attendance was probably a record-breaker. Weeks predicted a great year for the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, with the continuance of the present general prosperity.

Selling of high-priced animals was reported, especially among the pleasure and show horses. Weeks sold Silver Dare to Mike Hogg of Houston.

BOARD TO PASS ON CITY TAXES

All Assessments On Unrendered Roll Get Attention

A plan whereby all unrendered taxes on city rolls will be passed on and the valuations adjusted by the city board of equalization will be followed this year, according to City Tax Assessor and Collector Hyer. Details of the plan are now being worked out and will be ready for the board when it meets, probably in May, to equalize renditions.

The purpose of the board of equalization is to pass on all renditions made by the tax assessor, listen to any complaints the property owners may make concerning their assessments and then make whatever adjustment may be deemed equitable. This has always been done with the rendered rolls but the unrendered rolls have not been compiled until after the board adjourns and all adjustments have been made.

This has necessitated the tax assessor placing whatever valuation he sees fit on all property that has not been rendered by the owners. Frequently, it is pointed out, unrendered property that has been allowed to slide for a number of years comes up and the assessor is then confronted with the full responsibility of assessing a place on which valuations may have fluctuated considerably during the period of years no renditions have been made. The assessments then made, while they represent the best opinion of the assessor, may not be equitable to the city or tax payer.

Mr. Hyer believes that an inspection of the unrendered rolls by the board of equalization is an important feature of the city tax work and it is his intention to have the rolls ready by the time the board meets.

Work of assessing residential property has about been completed, it was announced Monday, although considerable remains to be done in the business district.

PADDOCK REINSTATED BY THE A. A. U. BOARD

BOSTON, March 17.—Charles W. Paddock, California sprinter, by a vote of 4 to 1 of a special committee meeting of the Amateur Athletic union, is free to try for a place on the American Olympic team President William C. Prout, of the A. A. U., today announced Paddock's reinstatement after a suspension for several months because of his competition abroad.

Twilight Meet Tonight

Former members and prospective members of the Twilight league will gather tonight at the initial session of the season at the office of Landon-Hill company. At 7:30 o'clock the boys will get off to a definite first step on the new year's loop.

It is the expressed opinion of L. O. Landon, president, that the circuit will this time enjoy another if not more successful season. Plenty of material and lots of pepper will inaugurate one more term of baseball, according to the president.

Old and New.

For the vacancies appearing in the loop to date, it is expected there will be a sufficiency of applicants to fill all breaches in the eight-club circuit. The place of the Texas company club has already been spoken for by the Texhoma company. Two others will probably be in a way for new faces, due to the fact the two clubs of the First Methodist church, south, and the Floral Heights Methodist are joining the new Sunday school league.

It is purposed the league get off to a definite start this first meeting, without further ado.

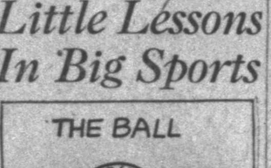
ST. PAUL, March 17.—Gene Tunney, American lightweight champion, outpointed Jimmy Delany, St. Paul, in a fast round bout here tonight, in the opinion of newspaper men. Tunney's body punching varied with occasional left hooks to the head, gave him the victory.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Lew Tendler of Philadelphia stopped Ted Marchant of England in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. Tendler weighed 140 1-4 and Marchant 141 1-2. In the fourth, Tendler sent Marchant to the ropes with a left to the jaw and he referee stopped the fight.

Little Lessons In Big Sports



What points should be taken into consideration in selecting balls?

Answered by JOHN BLACK

"The Carpenter of Troon," whose great gameness and mastery of golf make him feared at all tournaments. Particularly competent on approach shots.

In selecting a ball that will suit your play you should select one that you can control. If you are playing a ball you cannot control, your game will not be satisfactory and you should make a change. Select a ball that will fly true and one that you can control on the green. Do not play different makes of balls every day. You have to get used to what the ball will do just as you have to get used to your clubs.

HARLEY SNIDER NEW FARM HEAD

Will Succeed Jernigan As Superintendent On May 1

The appointment of Harley Snider as superintendent of the Wichita county farm to succeed Louis Jernigan, resigned, was announced Monday by the county commissioners court following receipt of word from Mr. Snider that he would accept the offer made to him last Monday. Mr. Snider will take up the duties of assistant superintendent April 1 and serve under Mr. Jernigan until the latter's resignation takes effect May 1. Mr. Snider will then assume control of the farm.

The appointment carries with it a salary of $200 per month, with the further agreement that the county is to pay the salary of a cook and also to settle all grocery bills at the farm.

Mr. Jernigan, who has been acting as superintendent of the farm for the past eight years, will leave in May for Arkansas where he will take up farming. The ardous duties of the place, he informed the commissioners in presenting his resignation, were telling on his health and that of his wife who has been acting as matron of the farm.

ENGLISH COMMONERS REFUSE REDUCE ARMY

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, March 17.—The house of commons defeated tonight by 347 to 13 a motion by labor's left wing to reduce the army of 150,00 men as a protest against what the movers regarded as the militaristic trend of the government's army policy.

BUILDING CODE ACTION DELAYED

City Council Calls Special Meeting Next Friday

No action was taken by the city council Monday night on the request that it strike from the new building code the provisions barring the use of wooden shingles on buildings in the city. It was expected that this section of the code would be altered this impression having been left after vigorous protests had been made last week by local lumber dealers, but the council decided that more time was needed to further study the matter and action was accordingly deferred.

A special meeting was called for next Friday afternoon at which time the shingle section and other proposed changes of the code will be taken.

On the advice of City Attorney W. E. George, the penalty provisions of the code were altered to eliminate those sections calling for jail sentences for violations of the ordinance. The draft provided that the city judge before whom violations will be tried may impose fines and jail sentences also.

It was pointed out by the city attorney that the municipal court court judge is not allowed by statute to impose jail sentences except in cases where an offender refuses to pay a fine. A sentence is not imposed even then, but the culprit is remanded into the custody of the chief of police for keeping until the fine is settled for.

One More Bout May End Career, Says Luis Firpo

By The Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, March 17.—Luis Firpo, champion heavyweight of South America, announced today that he intended to abandon his career as a boxer after his meeting with Al Reyes. Firpo and Reyes are to fight a 15-round bout here April 5.

Firpo said he was tired of pugilism and its attendant notoriety. He had made enough money, he declared, and he wanted to retire and live quietly.

His decision to quit, Firpo went on, had been reached notwithstanding pressure on the part of friends in the boxing world. He received only today from Tex Rickard an offer of a half million dollars for matches with Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey. He said he told Rickard's agent here that he was not interested.

"Do you think I am saying this just to make a sensation," Firpo told the Associated Press. "I am tired of being a sensation. I am tired of managers, trainers, promoters and of this whole boxing game."

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

Another step down for the mighty Indian athlete, Jime Thorpe. The man who once stood at the top of the athletic world—who stood unchallenged as the greatest of athletes, will play semi-pro baseball this season with a team in Lawrence, Mass., holding down center field.

Thorpe, fresh from his conquests in track and field athletics year ago, was given a chance by John McGraw to shine in baseball. Thorpe could not learn to hit curve pitching, however, and then found the rigors of keeping in condition constantly were too great. He preferred football to baseball anyhow. He played in the minors for a time and then drifted out. Thorpe's greatest enemy during his career has been his own generous, hail-fellow spirit.

One youngster looked over by the New York Yankee bosses this spring is Bernie Thompson. He's a right handed pitcher from McCall, S. C. He is still a kid, however. Won't enter college until next fall and consequently won't be available for big league duty—if he develops—until about 1928. But the Yanks scouts found three or four big league sleuths looking him over and, therefore, wanted to get a line on him early.

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

LOBBYING NOW A WASHINGTON INSTITUTION, DECLARES SENATOR.

"Lobbying in Washington is now an institution. In some cases it is almost an art and in practically all instances it is a well organized, smoothly working machine. The proof of this statement is to be found in the corridors of the national capitol, in the senate and house office buildings, in the lobbies of hotels; in clubs, in private homes and in apartments," said Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee in a recent interview.

"A lobbyist is defined by the dictionary as one who seeks personally to influence members of a legislative body. More accurately a lobbyist may be defined as one whose occupation is for hire to influence legislation.

"In the old days the lobbyist was a 'good fellow,' whose work was personal, and whose approaches were of the 'slap you on the back' kind, a fluent story teller and a fine entertainer. Today lobbying is a profession and the lobbyist might properly be described as 'a trained persuader,' a man or woman who can put up a good argument, one who is never out of touch with the congress, who is always on guard to see to it that the particular interest or interests he or she represents is not caught napping. The lobbyist of today is to be found in splendid office suites in numerous instances he has trained a staff of men and women to assist him, and his financial backing is generally believed to be almost without limit. The combined salaries of the lobbyists in Washington have been estimated as greater than that of all the men and the one woman who occupy seats in the sixty-eighth congress.

"There are lobbyists for the sugar interests, for the steel interests, for the wool interests, for the fertilizer interests, for the cotton manufacturers' interests, for prohibition and anti-prohibition, for postal employes, for labor organizations, for railroads, for civil service employes, the equal rights of women, for the bonus, for those opposed to the bonus, for the Mellon plan of tax reduction, for the farmers' organizations, for the shipping interests, for Henry Ford's acquisition of Muscle Shoals, for the water power trust, for the packers, for the oil interests, for the manufacturers, for the army, for the navy, for national aid to education, and many other special interests. Washington is honeycombed with lobbyists, the hotels are full of them.

"Personal appeals to representatives and senators by the lobbyists appear to have been largely discarded. The method of attack now is for the representatives of any particular interest here, whenever that interest comes up in the house or senate, to send out calls to the various states and have organizations there write and telegraph senators and representatives. A senator's mail is probably more than half pure propaganda.

"Most senators and representatives understand the position of lobbyists and act upon their conscientious convictions without regarding the claims of lobbyists. But one never knows when the insidious propaganda of invisible government is having its effect. That it does have effect in many instances is too patently true.

"My own personal view is that congress ought to pass a well considered law providing rules and regulations by which lobbyists can be registered and under which they may operate, and requiring the greatest publicity with respect to all lobbyists. Publicity is the best remedy."

MOST MEN RUN AWAY FROM RESPONSIBILITY SAYS OWEN D. YOUNG.

"I have been astonished to find in business how many men run away from responsibility rather than welcome it," says Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Co. "Most men are willing to venture opinions, but when it comes to deciding on definite action they like someone else to take the final step.

"The man who can put himself in the place of other men, who can understand the workings of their minds, need never worry about what the future has in store for him. Nothing of permanent value is ever built on a false basis. To ascertain all the facts bearing on a given situation and then to ask yourself how you would feel if you were the other fellow is the only successful way of doing business that I know. The underlying loyalty on which any sensible executive must depend for the production of profits has to be fully earned before it can be expected."

Oil Shares Drop 1 to 8 Points On Monday Market

SHARP BREAKS STOCK PRICES

Auto Storage Report For Curtailment Brings Heavy Sale

MARKET FEATURES.

Total stock sales 992,400 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 96.98; net 1.15.

Twenty industrials averaged 96.98; net 1.15.

High 1924, 102.24; low 94.88.

Twenty railroads averaged 83.82; net loss .35.

High 1924, 85.90; low 82.74.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Stock prices crumbled sharply today in response to concerted attacks by bear traders. Net losses in the active industrials ranged from 1 to nearly 3 points with the rails offering stubborn resistance until the late trading when they yielded with the rest of the list. Losses in this group, however, were held to a point or so. Total sales approximated the million mark for the first time in a month.

Specialators for the decline found plenty of ammunition for their attacks, including the decision of the house ways and committee to report a $2,000,000,000 bonus bill, and reports of unfavorable trade developments affecting the oil, motor, rubber, tobacco and silk companies, stocks of which bore the brunt of the selling pressure. Inability of operators on the long side to attract a public following recently on the strength of several constructive news developments, also was an important contributing factor.

Circumstantial reports that the large automobile companies were storing a large part of their output and preparing for sharp curtailment of production brought about heavy liquidation in the motor group. Studebaker was hammered down more than two points to 98 1-2, a new low on the movement, while Chandler, Willys-Overland preferred, Hudson and Pierce-Arrow preferred dropped a point or so. The accessory stocks were hit even harder, Stewart Warner being hammered down five points to 81, a new 1924 low on unconfirmed reports that some important contracts would not be renewed.

Among the so-called pivotal stocks, U. S. Steel common broke below 101 for the first time in nearly two months, closing at 100 3-4, off 1 7-8. Baldwin closed at 121 1-8, off 1 3-4, and American Can at 113 1-4, off 1 1-4.

Reduction of the Pan-American Petroleum dividend, while generally expected, brought fresh selling into those issues and the other oil shares. Pacific, Cosden, Standard of New York, Marland, General Asphalt, Houston and Royal Dutch, dropping 1 to nearly 3 points while Tidewater broke 8. In the rubber group, Kelly-Springfield touched a new low at 16 1-8.

A drop in the call money rate from 4 to 3 1-2 per cent, the lowest since last September, caused a temporary flurry of short covering around noon. An easier tone also was noted in the time money market with funds freely offered at 4 3-4 but brokers were indisposed to pay more than 4 1-2, some 30-day loans being arranged at the lower figure. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

French francs moved to higher grounds for the seventh consecutive day, the ruling rate being just below the five-cent mark. Belgian francs rallied sharply in sympathy, but other European rates were irregular, apprehensions, over a coal strike causing a slightly reactionary trend in sterling.

FORT WORTH CATTLE.

FORT WORTH, March 17.—Cattle prices were steady on all classes today and the run was cleared early. Calves, however, were slow. Receipts were estimated at 1,500 head of cattle, 700 calves. Most of the steers were from south Texas, several cars selling at 7.00@7.35; one car of south Texas brought 5.35 for the top price, most cows going at 2.25 to 3.75. Yearlings and heifers were negligible. No desirable calves arrived. Two cars of stock calves brought 6.50.

Hogs were mostly 10 cents lower, the trade being fairly active. Receipts were 1,500 head. The best went at 7.25, packers and shippers buying at that value. Most of the run cleared at 6.75@7.15. Pigs remained steady, the bulk clearing at 4.75@5.00.

Receipts in the sheep house amounted to about 1,000 head, the entire supply being fall-shorn wethers. They brought 9.50, a price that was fully steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17. — The cotton market was further unsettled and nervous today with periods of extreme quiet and moderate activity alternating. Prices advanced in the early trading on good cables and bad weather, May trading up to 24.71 and October to 25.64, or 42 and 29 points respectively above Saturday's closing figures. A period of weakness during the afternoon caused a sharp reaction, May dropping to 28.98, July to 28.08 and October to 25.14, or 40 to 73 points down from the high of the morning. There was a good rally from the lowest in the late trading and the close showed net losses for the day of only 5 to 10 points on old crop months and 19 to 16 on new crop positions.

At the start the market appeared disposed to stage a good advance owing to cables being much better than due and the weather map about as bad as it could possibly be, showing general rains in the west half of the belt. Old crop months advanced 41 to 44 points during the morning and new crop positions gained 25 to 29 points.

In the afternoon the market turned easier, but was very dull for a time, later weakening under rather active selling induced by fears that the hibernation of the weather report expected from the government station at Tallulah would be bearish. As a result of the selling the market was called upon to absorb heavier offerings than it could readily digest and prices declined 66 to 73 points on old crop months and 40 to 43 points on the new crops.

The market had a fair rally in the late trading of about 10 to 20 points which made the net loss for the day rather moderate.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

The New York Stock Exchange has two outstanding rules which protect the average investor. The bucket shops, on the other hand, break both of them.

Any member of the stock exchange who permits a client to carry a narrow margin is likely to be suspended for one year. Even though a broad margin is advantageous to the customer, the uninitiated investor will usually balk at it. The bucket shop realizes this and always offers an alluring narrow margin which is sure to involve the customer in a total loss sooner or later.

Secondly, the exchange censors its advertising so much that it has been criticized as being so conservative as to be unattractive. Compare this with the extravagant promises of the get-rich-quick artist.

The advertising and margin requirements of brokers are pretty good tests to determine whether or not they are bucketing.

GRAINS HELP RALLY WHEAT

Upward Swing of Oats and Corn Have Big Effect

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Corn and oats took a decided upward swing in price today, and helped to rally the wheat market. Blizzard weather likely to curtail the movement of corn and to delay the seeding of oats was the chief stimulating factor. All grain closed firm, corn 3-4 to 1 3-8 cents net higher, May 78 5-8 to 78 3-4 cents, with oats 3-4 to 1 1-8 cents up and wheat showing 1-8 to 3-8 cents advance, May 1.06 1-2 to 1.06 5-8 and July 1.07 3-8 to 1.07 1-2. In provisions the outcome was 2 to 7 cents decline.

In the wheat market some purchases were based on possibilities of a better foreign demand resulting from assumed likelihood of a reparations settlement.

Previsions were easier owning to big receipts of hogs here, 74,000 head, equalling the record for this time of the year.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Continuation of the buying movement which developed in the cotton market toward the end of last week sent the price of May up to 29.75 during today's early trading. This made a net advance of 46 points and a recovery of 215 points from recent low levels, which evidently attracted realizing. May reacted to 29.00 in the late trading, and closed at 29.09, with the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 15 points lower.

The market opened firm at an advance of 20 to 45 points on relatively firm Liverpool cables, unfavorable weather reports from the south, and a hope that improving prospects for a settlement of reparations would be reflected by export demand. Bullish reflected by export demand. Bullish larger business than for some time contributed to the advance, but offerings increased and prices soon turned easier. The disposition to take profits was increased by complaints of continued dullness in the goods market and reports of an easier tone in the stock market. Last prices showed moderate rallies on covering.

Exports today were 47,072, making 4,553,544 so far this season. Port receipts 19,151. U. S. port stocks 658,287.

CHEVROLET OUTPUT RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Chevrolet Motor company reports February production as 55,000 cars and trucks, this being Chevrolet's largest month's production to date, although made in a short month.

In spite of this heavy production, the sales department anticipates a shortage of Chevrolets in the spring months, as orders in dealers' hands for spring delivery are much larger than in any previous year.

THE KATY'S YOUR RAILROAD

Looking Ahead

TO IMPROVE railroad service and effect economies in operation, investment of huge sums of NEW CAPITAL is required each year. Expert authorities agree that American Railroads should expend eight billion dollars within the next ten years for capital improvements.

In the past ten years, railroad investors have not shared equally with the public and railroad employees in the benefits of economies secured by the management through additional investment.

Income available to pay returns to investors in Western Railroads has declined $205,000 a day since 1916. During the same period, the average hourly compensation of Katy employees has increased 125%; material and supply costs have increased 200% to 400%; maintenance expenses per mile of line have increased 102%, and the cost of repairs per locomotive mile operated has increased 240%.

The average Katy revenue for hauling a ton of freight one mile has increased only 45% during this period; for carrying a passenger one mile, only 49%. Advances in rates have not offset increases in operating expenses caused by higher wages, material and supply costs and taxes. Efficient management is a safeguard against increased transportation charges.

The public, through improved and enlarged transportation service and relatively low rates—and railroad employees through higher wages and better working conditions—have benefited most from improvements developed through foresight of management and wise use of NEW CAPITAL.

The PUBLIC and the RAILROAD EMPLOYEE can least afford policies that further reduce the income available to pay return on railroad investment.

Looking Back

THE CONSTRUCTION of the M-K-T—the Pioneer Railroad in its territory—provided rail transportation essential to SOUTHWESTERN development.

The advantages of Katy improvement, resulting from the investment of millions of new capital to enlarge facilities, add to service and to increase economy of operation, have accrued steadily to the SOUTHWEST.

Development in the Southwest, steady increase in transportation needs and constant advance in cost of railroad operation has marked the entire period of Katy history.

Through the foresighted investment of vast sums of NEW CAPITAL the management has brought about economies largely offsetting the effect of increases in wages, taxes, and supply and material costs.

Increases in railroad rates in proportion to increases in wages, taxes, supply and material cost, since 1900, would have made freight and passenger rates at least 60 per cent higher than present levels. The investment of NEW CAPITAL, and the enterprise of the management, have retarded, for the benefit of the public, the constant tendency toward increasing cost of railroad operations.

Distinctively SOUTHWESTERN in all its interests, the Katy is the only railroad serving all important centers in Oklahoma and Texas from both St. Louis and Kansas City. It seeks the co-operation of the public it serves in maintaining conditions under which it may continue to serve as development requires, expanding and improving its service, making essential and timely expenditures to effect further operating economies.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded of summon S. L. Berteau by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Eighty-ninth district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in April, A. D., 1924, the same being the seventh day of April, A. D., 1924. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 25th day of February, A. D., 1924, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 15429-C wherein, Wichita State Bank & Trust company, a state banking corporation is plaintiff and S. L. Berteau, A. W. White, the Exchange National bank of Shreveport, Louisiana, a national bank corporation, and the Burk-Bat Oil company, a joint stock association, are defendants and said petition alleging that on the first day of January, 1921, plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises to-wit:

Situated in Wilbarger county, Texas, and described as follows:

1st Tract: Being an equal undivided ½ interest in and to the south ½ of section 31, block 11 of the H. & T. C. Ry. company survey in Wilbarger county, Texas.

2nd Tract: Being 80 acres of land in said Wilbarger county, Texas, and being a portion of ... M. B. Tatum and James Collingsworth survey in said county and bounded as follows: Beginning at the southwest corner of a tract of 160 acres conveyed to J. H. E. Young by Preston C. Staley shown by deed of record in the deed records of Wilbarger county, Texas, to which reference is here made for description said southwest corner being northeast corner of this tract; thence south 72, west 819.2 varas to a stake in the east line of said 160 acres of land conveyed by P. C. Staley to Lucy H. Staley, northwest corner this tract; thence south 18, east with the Lucy H. Staley east line 551.1 varas to a stake the southwest corner of the Gentsch 163.15-acre tract for the southeast corner of this tract; thence north 18, west with Gentsch west line 551.1 varas to the place of beginning, containing 80 acres of land.

3rd Tract: 114 acres of land out of the east ½ of the M. B. Tatum survey in Wilbarger county, Texas, bounded as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of a 40-acre tract off the south end of ... acre tract sold by J. C. Clement to D. L. Green, which said 40 acres is fully described in a deed recorded in volume 51, page 267 deed records of Wilbarger county, Texas; thence north 72, east 2,722½ feet to an iron pen for the southeast corner; thence north 18, west with the above 360-acre tract 1,918 feet to a stake for the northeast corner of this tract; thence south 72, west 2,731.8 feet to a stake on the west line of said 360-acre tract for the northwest corner of this tract; thence south 18, east 1,819 feet to the place of beginning and being the same land described in a deed from J. C. Clements and wife to Clois L. Green recorded in volume 6, page 522, deed records, Wilbarger county, Texas, to which reference is here made.

That on or about the first day of January, 1922, the defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withhold him from the possession thereof, to his damage in the sum of $10,000.00. That the reasonable annual rental value of said land and premises is the sum of $2,500.00.

That plaintiff is the owner in fee simple title to the above described land and premises and that the defendants Berteau and White, on or about Nov. 14, 1921, filed an abstract of judgment of record in the judgment lien records of Wilbarger county, Texas, against Clois L. Green and that said judgment purports to have been obtained in the district court of the Seventy-eighth district of Wichita county, Texas, and makes a cloud upon the title to plaintiff's land and that S. L. Berteau on or about the same date filed an abstract of judgment in the abstract of judgment records in Wilbarger county, Texas, against Clois L. Green defendant, obtained in the Seventy-eighth district court of Wichita county, Texas; said two abstracts of judgment being recorded in volume 5, pages 156 and 163 respectively of the abstract of judgment records of Wilbarger county, Texas.

That pursuant to said judgment the said defendants Berteau and White procured an execution out of the Seventy-eighth district court of Wichita county, Texas, and to be levied upon the above described land and premises on all the interest of the defendant Clois L. Green in said premises and the sheriff of Wilbarger county, Texas, W. A. Ish, proceeded to sell said premises to the defendants S. L. Berteau and A. W. White by sheriff's deed dated Nov. 3, 1921, filed for record Nov. 8, 1921, and recorded in volume 87, page 57 deed records of Wilbarger county, Texas, which said deed and abstract of judgment above mentioned constitute a cloud upon plaintiff's title.

That defendant Burk-Bates Oil company filed an abstract of judgment against Clois L. Green, L. E. Key and O. P. Darsey in the abstract of judgment records volume 5, page 156 of Wilbarger county, Texas, on or about Jan. 10, 1921, which said abstract of judgment constitutes a cloud upon plaintiff's title. That the defendant Exchange National bank of Shreveport, Louisiana, filed an abstract of judgment against Clois L. Green, rendered in the Eighty-ninth district court of Wichita county, Texas, in the abstract of judgment records volume 5, page 168 of Wilbarger county, Texas, filed on May 11, 1921, and the filing of said abstract of judgment creates a cloud upon plaintiff's title.

That at the time of filing of said abstract of judgment and sheriff's deed above mentioned said Clois L. Green did not own any interest in of the above described tracts of land but the same was owned by this plaintiff and its vendor by good and sufficient title dated Jan. 1, 1921, filed for record on Jan. 15, 1921, volume 86, page 77, deed records Wilbarger county, Texas, and that this plaintiff is the legal and equitable owner and holder of said premises in fee simple and sues for judgment concelling said purported sheriff's deed, and said abstract of judgment in so far as they effect the title to plaintiff's land or constitute a cloud thereon;

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition as the law directs and upon the final trial hereof it have judgment for the title and possession of the above described lands and premises and that a writ of restitution issue and for damages and its costs of suit and for cancellation of the sheriff deed above mentioned and for removing of clouds from its title, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 28th day of February, A. D., 1924.

A. F. KERR, Clerk,
District court, Wichita county, Texas.
By Eunice Jackson, Deputy.

Electra–Wichita Falls Road Squabble B reaks Out Again; County Dads Modify District

COURT FIGHT ON MATTER LOOMS

Electra Commissioner Claims Original Boundary O. K.

The Wichita Falls-Electra road precinct squabble broke out again Monday in the county commissioners court when steps were taken, so Judge B. D. Sartin and Commissioner Jackson said, to protect the interests of precinct No. 1 in the $500,000 special road bond election to be held April 26 in the Electra road precinct. An order modifying the special road district created for the election was passed by the court with Commissioner Haines of Electra absent, and it was allowed to stand Monday afternoon despite protests from Mr. Haines and his attorney no change in the district could be made after the election was called a week ago.

The present trouble arises over the fact that the special road district created for the Electra election is so constituted as to enable the Electra voters, should they be so inclined, to effectually block a paved road from this city to the irrigation diversion dam. Such a road has been considered for the future and in connection with this the present Seymour road was re-routed.

Should a new road be built to the dam, it is pointed out, it would run through a part of the special road district created last Monday for the Electra election. Hence, Wichita Falls would be forced to float a county bond issue for the construction of the new road. The statutes also provide in this instance, that the county would further be compelled to assume the $500,000 precinct bond issue that Electra will probably vote April 26.

When this was made plain to the commissioners, they promptly passed a resolution cutting off a three-mile section of the special district. By excluding this, an outlet will be provided from Wichita Falls to the dam without necessitating the road going through any portion of the new special district. Entanglements with Electra would therefore be avoided.

The move for a re-arrangement of the district was led by Commissioner Jacson of precinct No. 1, the Wichita Falls precinct. He was backed by Judge Sartin and also supported by the commissioners from Burkburnett and Iowa Park.

There is some question as to whether the commissioners court is legally within its rights in modifying its original order creating the special district and ordering the election. Judge Sartin and Commissioner Jackson contend that the order passed a week ago Monday was not final and was subject to further endorsement by the court yesterday. Commissioner Haines and attorneys for the special road district contend that the district was legally created last Monday, the order entered on the minutes of the court and that hence the matter was closed and the original boundary must stand.

It was intimated Monday afternoon that if the election carries, which is probably will, a protest will be made by the court to the attorney general and that hence his approval of the bonds may be thwarted. This will preclude the possibility of their being sold and accordingly hold up work on the roads.

Try Criminal Cases In 89th, March 31

Trial of criminal cases will be started before Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court during the week of March 31, it was announced Monday by Judge Martin. At the same time word was given out at the district attorney's office that a number of cases are ready for trial and that settings would be made in a short time.

Those cases in which the defendants are now held in the county jail will be given preference in the settings.

Burk Schools Get Judgment In Law Trial

A judgment against two of the defending parties for $4,700 was granted Monday afternoon by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court in the suit of the Burkburnett independent school district No. 1 vs. the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland and Mauldin and Roodhouse, contractors. The case was started Monday morning and completed at 5 o'clock.

In the petition of the plaintiff it was alleged that the school district had entered into a contract with Mauldin and Roodhouse for the erection of the Hardeman district school building. The Fidelity Aid Deposit company, it was set forth, went on the bond of the construction firm to insure faithful performance of the contract.

It was also alleged that the contract had not been performed under the terms thereof and that the plaintiffs were therefore entitled to the judgment prayed for. This was allowed by the court against the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland and the defendant Mauldin but was dismissed as to Roodhouse.

KIWANIS OPEN BALL SEASON

Plans Laid to Give Spudders Big Initial Send-off.

Arrangements have been made by the Kiwanis club to entertain the members of the Wichita Falls baseball club April 7, and Kiwanians will sponsor the opening of the baseball season was announced at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Kemp. Kiwanians are to attend in a body the opening game of the season and a section will be reserved to members of the club. This action was taken by the board of directors in their meeting of March 12, and was endorsed by the members Monday. The program in connection with the opening of the season was put into the hands of Frank Queisser, secretary, and Homer Sanderford.

It was moved by J. T. Gant that Kiwanians observe ladies' night in the near future, and the members unanimously voted in favor of the motion. President Fred T. Datson and Frank Queisser will arrange a program for the entertainment of the Kiwanian wives and sweethearts.

Dr. Felix Collard, in charge of the "On to Denver" committee urged the Kiwanians to attend the international convention to be held in Denver in June. He stated that more than 6,000 Kiwanians representing 1,100 clubs would attend the International Kiwanis club.

Luther Hoffman, chairman of the membership committee of the chamber of commerce, reported the work of the membership committee, stating that 87 new members had affiliated with the chamber. He asked that the Kiwanis club be 100 per cent members in the chamber of commerce, and that dues be paid by April 1, when the classified list of members will go to press.

TRADE TRIP PLANS.

M. A. Bundy, chairman of the trade trip committee of the chamber of commerce, asked the co-operation of the Kiwanis club in making the first trade trip of the season in April.

Lieutenant Governor Julian Bobo of the Texas district of Kiwanis, stated that an attendance contest was on between the Texas and Oklahoma division of this Kiwanis district, and asked the support of the members to make the best percentage of attendance possible.

During the hour, it was voted to discontinue the silent boost used by the club unless some member wished to advertise his product. The attendance prize will be limited in the future to $2.50 unless it is the product of the giver.

The silent boost was given by Homer Sanderford, Monday, and the attendance prize was provided for by Carter McGregor.

Before the beginning of the discussions, the club was entertained by Mrs. Floyd Hatfield who sang "Carmena," and at the applause of the club sang "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling." Mrs. Lois Parker played the accompaniment.

Three new members, Henry Wolf, Saul Lbenson, and Jim Baber, were introduced at the meeting.

HODGINS WEARS IRISH GREEN

Celtic Cravat Green As the Greenest

So green that it heralded the approach 20 feet away of one of the most outstanding Irishers of the city was the cravat worn yesterday by George Hodgins, chief of police of Wichita Falls.

Yes, George had the greenest necktie of anybody in this section of Texas and Oklahoma yesterday.

"Of course I don't have to wear a green necktie to emphasize the fact I am Irish. My father was born in Ireland and my early days were spent in the Irish colony in New York City," the chief of police said when an attempt was made to "kid" him about St. Patrick's day.

"When I left New York in 1900 and came to Texas, I adopted a state and forgot all about the old one, all except the Irish part. A man can't live down being Irish and I've never seen one who wants to live it down," George explained.

"St. Patrick's day never slips up on us. The bank don't close and the boys don't make speeches like they do on the fourth of July, but the seventeenth of March is not forgotten. The shamrocks are hauled out and the green haberdashery is worn with pride. St. Patrick's day allows us to be just as Irish as we want and nobody cares," the chief continued.

The map of Ireland still indelibly on his face the brogue of the O'Flaghertys and O'Tooles still on his tongue and the Celtic blue still in his eyes, George Hodgins says he has made up his mind that when he is buried, a long time from now, he hopes, he will have made his race through life with at least one unvarying consistency.

ACID IS CAUSE OF INDIGESTION

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and start food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.—Adv.
