Associate Justice Cardozo Of U. S. Supreme Court Dies

ROOSEVELT 'CAR CRASHER' BEATEN

NOTED LIBERAL APPROVED NEW DEAL POLICIES

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., July 9. (AP) — Associate Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo of the United States Supreme Court died at 6:40 p. m. today at the home of Judge Irving Lehman of the New York Supreme Court of Appeals.

At his bedside were members of the household and his secretary Joseph Raugh, who announced the death.

Cardozo had been ill with heart trouble since last winter. In the last few weeks he had spent much of his time in an oxygen tent.

Justice Cardozo was 68 last May 24. He had long been a friend of President Roosevelt and only today the President and Mrs. Roosevelt sent flowers to him.

He came to Justice Lehman's home from Washington in June to spend the summer, after being forced by his illness to miss all the spring sessions of the court.

Appointed by Hoover

Cardozo had served on the Supreme Court since 1932, when he was appointed by President Hoover.

Long celebrated as a liberal, he went to the court as successor to Oliver Wendell Holmes, famed as "the great dissenter."

Before that, Cardozo had been on the New York Court of Appeals since 1917.

He was born in New York, the son of a judge, was graduated with high honors from Columbia University, and passed the bar examinations without any formal legal education on the basis of reading he had done in his undergraduate years.

A staunch supporter of the new deal philosophy, he upheld 22 of 27 laws brought before the Supreme Court in the historic period from 1934 to 1937.

His death ended more than a week's fight to overcome a relapse from the old heart ailment. The first news of the relapse came on July 2, when physicians reported he "has not been doing so well."

For the last three days, the jurist's condition had changed frequently but, it seemed, he was losing ground by inches.

Mrs. Rauh, wife of the Justice's secretary, said funeral plans would be made tomorrow.

"Justice Cardozo grew weaker throughout the entire day," she said, "but he was conscious until the moment of his death.

"He knew his friends about him, but during the last few hours was able to say nothing and to make no gesture to them."

She added that no relatives were present at the deathbed.

LIFE SAVING VALUE CITED

According to Alex Schneider chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, Roger Plaisted, representative of the organization's Midwestern Area Headquarters at St. Louis will be here July 27 and 28 to assist the chapter in its efforts to reduce the hazards of aquatics. During this visit the swimming expert will qualify new Life Saving examiners and give tests to local swimmers who already have successfully completed the nine Red Cross examiners course. Each year these examiners spread their knowledge of water safety methods to many others with the aim of holding casualties to a minimum.

In announcing the visit of Mr. Plaisted the chairman called attention to the appalling death toll from drowning. Each year he said, about 7,400 persons are drowned. These fatalities exceed by hundreds the number of lives lost in steam railway accidents and explosions combined.

"In spite of the forward strides the National Red Cross has made in life saving," he added, "the annual loss of life from drowning continues to be staggering, because in more recent years additional millions have answered the call of the surf, lake or pool.

"The worst of it is that the majority of the deaths are avoidable and generally can be traced to lack of knowledge on the part of the victim. Aside from the tragedies involved drowning which is the second most important cause of accidental death among men and boys, is extremely costly to industry. The wage loss, medical expense and overhead insurance cost involved in accidental deaths and injuries in the twelve-month period exceeded two billion dollars.

"Each year the accidental casualty list in America is much longer than the list of casualties this nation's armed forces suffered throughout the World War.

"The Red Cross is meeting the challenge of drowning, and through its chapters and trained staff is offering its Life Saving service without depriving swimmers of the zest and thrill in water sports."

MURRAY HIDES SHINER FROM PHOTOGRAPHER

IDABEL, Okla., July 9 (AP)—William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray refused today to let a photographer get a picture of the "shiner" he received last night in a hotel altercation at Hugo. When a photographer approached him, Murray covered the swollen optic and yelled, "Get out of here." Murray was struck allegedly by Joseph Davis, Oklahoma City architect, who was charged with assault and battery.

PAMPANS URGED TO CUT WEEDS—ASK FOR BOYS

A plea for Pampans to cut weeds around their homes and vacant lots was made yesterday by city officials. Tomorrow the city will begin cutting weeds along streets and on all city property and citizens are urged to follow suit.

Pampans who don't want to cut their own weeds are asked to give the Boy Scouts something to do and a chance to earn camping trip money. All you have to do is telephone the NEWS and call for "I Saw" and he'll send out a boy or boys to cut the weeds. Numerous citizens have already hired the Scouts to cut their weeds—and are pleased with the results.

The city has an ordinance which requires the cutting of weeds around buildings and vacant lots. If necessary, the city can cut the weeds when the owner fails to do so and the owner can be charged for the cutting.

Weeds are a breeding place for grasshoppers, mosquities, flies and insects that carry germs, it was pointed out by Dr. J. T. Worrell city sanitation officer.

FDR ASSAILS CHANDLER IN LOGAN LETTER

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—A parting presidential shot at Governor A. B. Chandler, opponent of new deal-favored Alben W. Barkley in Kentucky's Democratic senatorial primary, exploded here today.

Politicians were talking avidly about the President's unprecedented endorsement of Barkley in Kentucky yesterday when Senator Logan (D-Ky.) made public a letter from Mr. Roosevelt dated February 1.

It said the governor had made a "proposition" to the President the day before, and "had seemed surprised when I told him that you and I would be the last people in the world to traffic in judicial appointments in order to satisfy the ambitions of one office seeker."

Mr. Roosevelt's letter did not say in so many words what Chandler's "proposition" was. But, with an announcement which Logan had just issued, it conveyed the idea the governor had suggested that the junior senator from Kentucky be appointed to a federal judgeship, permitting Chandler to be appointed to succeed him in the Senate, and leaving Barkley a clear field in his race for renomination to Kentucky's other Senate seat.

Bargain Idea Scorned

"I want you to know how fine I think your statement of Monday was," the President wrote, referring to Logan's announcement he would decline any judicial post offered him. "The governor put you and Alben and me into a most disagreeable situation and wholly without any necessity therefor."

Logan, in his statement of January 31, said he would refuse to take part in "anything that looks like a bargain with respect to the judiciary."

Another political development here today was a statement by WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, accusing critics of "trumping up" charges that the work relief agency was engaged in political activity.

Hopkins denied that the WPA had distributed groceries and other commodities to relief clients in Kentucky in large paper bags bearing the inscription, "paper bags donated by a friend of Senator Alben W. Barkley."

Hopkins explained the bags were supplied by an "unnamed friend" of Senator Barkley to a general store across the street from a WPA commodities distributing center in London, Ky., to be "handed out to anyone who asked for them to be used for any purpose that they might see fit to put them."

At Lexington Ernest Rowe, district WPA director, reiterated that "WPA people had nothing to do with the bags."

Barrels of This Water Was Drunk!

Residents of Pampa used more water on Friday than on any previous day in the history of the city, according to the report of Andy Crocker water superintendent, filed yesterday with City Manager W. T. Williamson.

Water consumption Friday was 2,750,000 gallons. Yesterday's report was not available last night but during the early hours consumption was about the same as for Friday.

Maximum consumption in the past has been in July and during August.

Work on the new well being drilled in an effort to combat a water shortage was progressing satisfactorily yesterday as drilling of the 36-inch hole through the water sand began at 8 a. m. The 24-inch casing to the top of sand was set last week.

Drilling through the water sand is being done with a special bit consisting of knife-type blades encased in a stem. When the stem reaches the water sand, the blades are opened by hyrdolic water pressure.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK IN CLARENDON MONDAY

O'Daniel's Poll Tax Record Becomes Issue In Governor's Race

(By The Associated Press)

Candidates for governor discussed each other facetiously and in earnest in week-end campaign speeches.

William McCraw, who has been shooting at Earnest Thompson, W. Lee O'Daniel and Tom Hunter, resumed fire at O'Daniel in speeches Saturday at Waco, Marlin, Somerville and Anderson. O'Daniel paid his poll tax in 1931, McCraw said, "when he qualified himself to vote for Herbert Hoover." O'Daniel continued to lump his opponents together under the classification of "professional politicians."

Karl Crowley at Orange referred to antagonists as "corporation stooges." He said he had criticized Thompson and McCraw because it was "obvious that they have used their offices of power to further the financing of their extravagant campaign."

Ernest Thompson, at Amarillo for a shirt-sleeved homecoming rally in the city where he formerly was mayor, assailed the "special interests" and predicted that the straight-thinking people of Texas will "rebuke these and greedy and selfish interests" by electing him governor. Declaring he was not a hater of big business, Thompson added:

"For years this monopolistic band has fattened itself at your expense. I am now talking about the executives of foreign owned chain stores, the utility companies, the executives of the big oil companies and all the others whose chief concern is to stamp out competition and monopolize their field."

Tom Hunter Friday gave a Lubbock audience doggerel verse poking fun at O'Daniel, but spent most of his time expounding his platform planks.

Hits Poll Tax Record

McCraw again hit O'Daniel on his poll tax record, saying:

"This flour man is changing his story every few days about why he didn't pay his poll tax. I guess it was

2 MEMBERS OF RIVER BOAT EXPEDITION QUIT

LEES FERRY, Ariz., July 9 (AP)—Ranks of the Colorado river boat expedition divided today after 300-odd miles of cooperative battling through death-lurking rapids and whirl pools.

The two quitting members offered reasons other than dissension for leaving at the half-way point in a 666-mile voyage from Green river, Utah, to Boulder Dam in Nevada.

Eugene Atkinson, University of Michigan geologist who barely survived a half-mile ride over seven rapids, clinging to a capsized boat, declared the trip had served its purpose—botanical study—and departed to do research work in Texas.

Don Harris, a U. S. geological survey worker from Soda Springs, Idaho, quit after being informed he had been transferred from Mexican Hat, Utah, to Salt Lake City.

Expedition leader Norman D. Nevills of Mexican Hat recruited Del Reid of Mexican Hat and Jack Stockstell of Hutchinson, Kas., for the remainder of the trip.

The two women botanist-boaters voiced objections to suggestions that the trip end here. They are Miss Elzada Clover, University of Michigan botanist, and Miss Lois Jotter, her assistant.

Departure on the second leg—to Grand Canyon, Ariz.—was postponed Until July 12 or 14.

RECORD CROWD HEARS SPEECH OF THOMPSON

AMARILLO, July 9 (AP)—A crowd of between 8,000 and 10,000 persons welcomed Ernest Thompson, gubernatorial candidate home tonight at what old-timers said was the biggest political rally ever held in the Panhandle.

Each of the 26 counties in the Panhandle proper sent delegations, and jubilant speakers said Thompson would carry the Panhandle with a 90 per cent vote.

Five bands from over the Panhandle furnished music. It was a shirtsleeve affair with free lemonade and ice cream.

Thompson's speech was the twelfth made since he left Wichita Falls this morning. He will rest here over the weekend and greet President Roosevelt Monday. He has been designated "Amarillo's first citizen" officially to welcome the Chief Executive.

In his speech Thompson aligned himself with the new deal, saying "your great president is against monopolistic concerns squeezing the life blood out of independent business, and I am, too."

The candidate outlined his platform, saying he favored conservation of the soil, expansion of industry in Texas, a fair trades act, and economy in government.

He claimed his opponents had adopted his platform, adding that "one person even tried to copy my name."

That was the only reference he made to Vernest O. Thompson, who said today he had written his withdrawal from the race.

In what appeared to be a reference to W. Lee O'Daniel, Thompson said:

"I'm not worried about the hillbilly. I'm interested in legitimate organized labor and a program to bring prosperity to all of Texas as has been brought through railroad commission efforts to a million persons in the oil business in the state."

SON KILLS FATHER'S SLAYER IN HILL FEUD

ATOKA, Okla., July 9 (AP)—A hill country feud of 16 years standing took its second life within two weeks in the wooded country not far east of here today, County Attorney W. H. Parker said.

M. L. Moore, 71-year-old farmer fell with five bullets in his body before a Negro's cabin and a 26-year-old son of the man he was accused of shooting to death surrendered weeping at the sheriff's office.

Ed Killian, the son, said he raised his rifle and fired only after Moore had raised a shotgun he was carrying, the county attorney said.

Moore was out on $7,500 bond at the time, charged with murder in the fatal shooting of June 26 of Killian's father, Jack Killian.

Undersheriff Lester Wright said the elder Killian and Moore first quarreled in 1922 over some timber and Moore was wounded.

Howard Hughes Plans To Begin Round-World Flight Early Today

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Howard Hughes began warming the motor of his specially built transport plane tonight apparently overlooking in spite of delays due to motor trouble to hop within a few hours for Paris in the first leg of a three-hemisphere flight to beat the record of the late Wiley Post.

The start had been scheduled for late today but as Jim Wedell, veteran co-pilot, worked feverishly to iron out all difficulties the take-off was postponed from hour to hour.

A midnight appointment was started talking on hundreds of persons gathered to watch the start of the flight.

Hughes seemed in better spirits than when he arrived at the field around 7:30 p. m. (EST) a chilling wind was blowing which would have prevented a quick take-off and a rainstorm which broke at 6:30 p. m. (EST) added to the gloom. But later the wind died, giving promise that Hughes would get off on the first leg of a flight which would carry him 25,000 pounds.

Within Hughes and his crew a hour actually would start, speculation centered on the time they would break Post's record of 7 days, 18 hours, 49 minutes, or wait until tomorrow was a matter of speculation, even with the

JAPS TRY TO BLAST CHINESE FROM YANGTZE

SHANGHAI, July 9 (AP) Japanese naval officers said today their "heavily operating" air forces were attempting to blast out Chinese defenders 30 miles above Kiukiang on the Yangtze river.

Stationed at Kiukiang, 135 miles below the provisional capital of Hankow, were the U. S. gunboat Monocacy and the British gunboat Cockchafer, remaining to protect their nationals despite Chinese and Japanese warnings of dangerous, thickly-mined waters.

The bombing operations followed by a few hours a Japanese notice to foreign powers urging "voluntary evacuation" of an eighty-mile area, from Kiukiang to Hwangchihkang, marked out for an intensified battleground.

Japanese announced they were rushing 20,000 troops for land operations in the zone.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces were striking back in vigorous counter-attacks.

Japanese admitted Chinese air raids on warships and troop concentrations above Anking were continuing but contended the raids were ineffective.

OIL SOLUTION BELIEVED NEAR

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Persons close to the state department predicted today the controversy over Mexico's seizure of American-owned oil properties would be settled within a matter of weeks due to a softening in the attitude of the American oil companies.

This is based on reports on recent developments here and in Mexico.

One was the speech made this week before the Congress of Veterans Industries of Public Affairs by Walter T. R. Armstrong, representative of the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana.

Mayor Armstrong said two things, one that this matter be submitted to the International court at The Hague, the other that a committee composed of an American, a Britisher and a Mexican be appointed to investigate the oil properties confiscated by the Mexican government.

Persons in close touch with the late departure said these proposals did not represent a basis for a solution, in their opinion, but indicated the oil companies were re-

FDR'S SPEECH TO BE BROADCAST TONIGHT

President Roosevelt's speech from Fort Worth at 7:15 o'clock tonight will be carried over KPDN, the Pampa Daily News radio station, it was announced today by Sid Patterson, manager.

The President's speech will originate in the studios of KFJZ, at Fort Worth, which is owned by the President's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt.

In order that KPDN listeners may hear every word of the President, the Pampa station will remain on the air until 7:30 this evening. An excellent schedule of programs has been arranged. Arrangements for the broadcast of Mr. Roosevelt's speech was made by Mr. Patterson after personal contact with Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son.

Detail's of today's Sunday schedule for KPDN will be found elsewhere in The Sunday News. The President is scheduled to speak from 7:15 to 7:30 o'clock.

CANDIDACY OF THOMAS GIVEN SUBTLE BOOST

STATE FAIRGROUNDS, OKLAHOMA CITY, July 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt let Oklahoma voters know today that he would like to have his loyal supporter, Elmer Thomas, returned to the Senate.

The President, in his own words, had a "wonderful" day. It was studded with ovations yet tinged with sorrow and surprise. The death of Justice Cardozo was a "great personal shock" to Mr. Roosevelt. The antics of Woody Hockaday, eccentric Jansan, almost upset the presidential motorcade in Oklahoma City.

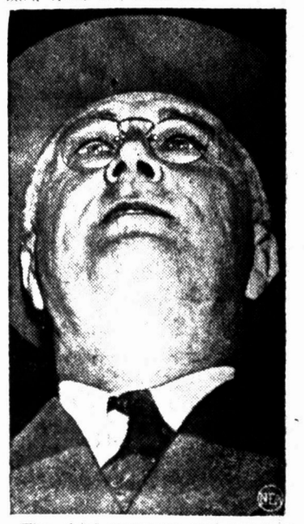

"I don't think I have ever seen as many people in one spot as I saw up at Oklahoma City," he said later, adding he had been told estimates of the crowd varied 75,00 to 250,000.

Addressing a cheering fairgrounds throng the President carried one step further his program of indicating his indorsement of new deal supporters.

"Senator Thomas," Mr. Roosevelt said, "has been of enormous help to me and to the administration in keeping me advised as to the needs of the state and to how we in Washington can help meet them."

Punched In Jaw

Thomas, who introduced the President, was the fourth senatorial candidate to receive a verbal pat on the back from Mr. Roosevelt.

The chief executive had made a friendly gesture to Senator Hattie W. Caraway, the Democratic leader, and Senator Bulkley of Ohio.

Hattie Caraway, 52, attempted to jump aboard the Roosevelt motor car in downtown Oklahoma City.

He was knocked down by a secret service agent's punch to the jaw but said his only intention was to "shine the President's shoes."

The Kansan has figured in other unusual enterprises. On one occasion he threw feathers around the office of Secretary of War Woodring in support of a program calling for feathers instead of bullets.

The President frowned briefly as the commotion arose, but turned quickly back toward the crowd along the route, smiling and waving his hat.

The President's reference to Thomas was interpolated into his speech after it had been prepared.

FDR TO REST AT ELLIOTT'S 'DUTCH BRANCH'

FORT WORTH, July 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt interrupted his speaking tour tonight to spend a restful weekend in the peaceful surroundings of "Dutch Ranch," the ranch home of his son Elliott.

In the quiet of the 268 acres of rolling range and cultivated fields the President can find surcease from politics in the company of his son and daughter-in-law, and in playful sessions with his grand-children, Ruth Chandler and Elliott, Jr.

Where buffalo once roamed and Indians encamped, where covered wagons crossed towards the land of promise in the West, the President's second son and his wife built their home 15 miles southwest of Fort Worth three years ago.

It is a rambling, white brick house of Colonial architecture, set atop a hill which has a wooded creek at its base.

To reach the residence bathed by Texas sunsets and star-lit nights from the highway, you must cross a typical cattle guard, drive thru a crooked road to a barbed wire gate, then down a hill, across a creek bed and up another hill, until you are almost in front of the front porch.

Out back, there are barns and a studio, which Elliott plans to use as a broadcasting room in connection with his radio work. He and his wife own the Fort Worth Broadcasting Co., Inc., which controls station KFJZ.

Graves Are a Mystery

The President's tall, fair-haired son and his brown-eyed wife raise registered Hereford cattle and own a sizeable stable of fine horses. To make al fresco dining and picnic suppers simple, they have a barbecue pit on the place.

There is a swimming pool, but it is empty this summer.

On the property is a burying ground where several old tombstones have sunk deep into the earth and are so time-worn that no inscription is readable.

The Roosevelts have examined the abstract of the land for many years back, searching for some clue to the identities of those buried there. The graves are in the shade of an enormous old tree. One tree is growing out of one of the graves.

The house sprawls cool and charming over the hillside, offering freshness and airiness in summer and a cozy warmth in winter. Its noisy guardians all seasons are two great Danes. Peter and Pan, playfellows of the President's grandchildren.

his advisors who want horse-racing back in Texas that told him to blame it on the tax collector at his last change. I don't really know why he didn't pay his poll tax, but I do know that 45,000 children wouldn't be able to go to school if every man and woman in Texas were political slackers."

Crowley, answering his own question "Why have I entered the race for governor?" said he was determined to "destroy the evident fault in of the present foreign-monopoly control of Texas affairs by defeating the corporation's stooges," and that he was resolved to "give Texas an honest, constructive administration that serves the true interests of all Texans and free from the lobby influence of the predatory interest that are delivering our rich resources to the world almost tax-free."

At Decatur, W. Lee O'Daniel, Ohio native, "issued a statement he said was in answer to opponents who referred to his as a "Yankee carpet-bagger."

Born In Ohio

He said his family moved away from Ohio when he was three years old. "Many years ago I chose Texas for my home and here I expect to make my life," the candidate reported.

Anyway, he said, "where a man is born is not a matter of his choice. It depends on where his mother happens to be at the time."

Economy in governmental operations was stressed by Tom Hunter in a broadcast at Amarillo. He flayed "political machine waste" in state government and urged economy "if Texas is to be spared from bankruptcy."

personal representative Albert L. Ledwick president of the Stinson Aircraft corp., of Detroit.

Route Altered

Ledwick announced shortly before midnight, after a conference with the millionaire sportsman:

"If Hughes takes off tonight, and he seems determined to do so, I will be between 2:30 and 3 a. m., EST."

The $300,000 flight—its costs included the purchase of two planes, one of which was discarded—the first over the 3,600-mile great circle course to Paris since Lindbergh flew it in 1927, will take Hughes and four companions around the world unless diplomatic obstacles develop.

As late as yesterday Hughes was tracing on a map his route from Paris to the east coast of Siberia, slight alterations having been made to accomodate fresh advices from abroad.

If Hughes and his four companions are forced down at sea, they will have two rubber boats, carrying wireless transmitters with a 3,000 miles range. A parachute for each man was equipped with 30 days' emergency rations, first aid kit, and fishing lines and hooks.

The inside of the plane was crowded by six extra fuel tanks to give it a flying range of 4,700 miles.

Three Companions Ready

Hughes planned to do all the flying on the Paris trip himself. During the hop, expected to require from 22 to 24 hours, Ed Lund, flight engineer, will occupy the co-pilot's seat on the airliner's bridge.

The three others, Lt. Thomas A. Thurlow, on leave from the army air corps; Harry P. Connor, on leave from the Department of Commerce, and Richard N. Stoddard, radio engineer, will occupy the cabin. Connor and Thurlow are navigators.

Hughes' route after leaving Paris was undisclosed, but through Europe and Asia it led for the most part over Soviet territory.

The oil companies are discussing the proposals of Mexican President Cardenas. These have never been made public, but it is believed they are based on the proposition set forth by Cardenas at a press conference.

Cardenas suggested the turn over to the foreign oil companies, American, British and Dutch, 60 per cent of the oil produced by the Mexican government-owned (expropriated) wells. The companies could sell the oil abroad, he said, and over a period of 10 to 15 years retire the principal of their investment. He did not clarify whether he would turn over the oil without charge or at cost of production; here it is believed that he had the latter in mind.

NO. 4— Continued From Page One

The President's original text described Thomas as "my old friend" and he gave him credit, with Josh Lee, the state's junior Senator, for procuring an appropriation for the Grand river dam project.

Marland Mentioned

Mr. Roosevelt spoke beneath a hot, late afternoon sun.

He drove to the fairgrounds with Thomas and Governor E. W. Marland, who is one of Thomas's opponents for the Senate nomination.

Once during his talk, the President said the governor had given "great assistance" in developing a national policy toward oil resources.

The President made no reference to Gomer Smith, fifth district Congressman who is also a candidate for the senatorial nomination. Smith sat on the platform during the speech, as did Thomas and Marland.

After his speech here the President's special train resumed its course to Fort Worth, Tex., where Mr. Roosevelt will spend Sunday in the home of his son, Elliott.

Just before the train departed, the President pencilled out a tribute to Justice Cardoza, word of whose death had just reached him.

The President, following up his recent Washington radio chat, devoted much of his address to a plea for liberalism in government.

"America needs a government of constant progress along liberal lines," he said. "America requires that this progress be sane and honest. America calls for government with a soul."

On 'Lunatic Fringe'

At one point, the President was sharply critical of those "who seek office, sincerely or otherwise, on impossible pledges and platforms—people with panaceas for reforming the world overnight—people who are not practical in an age which must be both progressive and practical.

"Theodore Roosevelt perhaps a bit rough when he referred to such people as 'the lunatic fringe.' Strictly speaking, they are not lunatics but in many cases a little push would shove them over the line."

Mr. Roosevelt drew his most thunderous applause when he made an inferential reference to former Governor W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray as being nationally "known as a Republican."

This statement was interpolated into the address after it had been written.

He used again his reference to "yes—but people," he added, "for I notice that one of the candidates on the Democratic state ticket this year is nationally known as a Republican."

Murray unsuccessfully opposed Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932. In 1936, he introduced Landon in a speech here.

Murray now is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

'Fine Speech,' Says Smith

The President gave Thomas credit for the Democratic senatorial nomi-appropriation for the Grand river dam project" in Oklahoma.

Rep. Homer Smith, a contender for the eDmocratic senatorial nomination along with Thomas and Marland, also sat on the speaker's platform, and called it "a fine speech."

"I think the President was a little misinformed about Oklahoma politics, especially about the effectiveness of Senator Thomas in getting the Grand River Dam Authority through Congress.

"Of course when a man is 1,500 miles away from home you can allow for a little misinformation, especially when he's in the hands of a man who wants to use him."

Thousands of Oklahomans braved 90-degree heat to pack the state fair grounds and line streets along Mr. Roosevelt's route.

The hunting-draped grandstand was expanded to accommodate 35,000 persons and Mayor Frank Martin estimated 65,000 more fought for standing room.

Another 100,000, the Mayor estimated, tried to see the President on the streets.

Senator Thomas and Governor Marland rivals for Senatorial nomination, rode to the train in the President's car.

Mr. Roosevelt paused on his journey through Arkansas and Oklahoma today to demonstrate his friendliness for administration supporters in Congress.

In Booneville, Ark., earlier Mr. Roosevelt had another "old friend" remark to make for Senator Hattie W. Caraway, opposed for renomination by Rep. John McClellan.

After his second reference to Thomas, the President added:

"It is essential, of course, that if the national policies of the national administration are to be carried forward there must be a general agreement on these policies by those who are responsible for the legislation which makes them possible.

"Two weeks ago, in speaking over a national hookup, I referred to that fact, to the fact that the nation is living today under a government which is essentially liberal and nationally thinking in its outlook—a government which is progressively bettering economic and social conditions.

Look 'Into Hearts'

"I explained why if the people want that kind of government to continue, they should choose officials to represent that point of view—and that if the people want to go back to the school of thought of the twenties, they should choose people with a conservative outlook.

"And I suggested also that it is always a good thing to look beyond the surface of things and into men's hearts.

"Do they really mean what they say—or are they the kind that profess great devotion to the cause of bettering the lot of their fellowmen, and, when the time for action comes, find all kinds of reasons why they should not support the action proposed. I refer to such people as—yes, but,—people."

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the death of Justice Cardozo "came to me as a great personal shock.

"Years ago, when he was Chief Justice of the high court of New York, I learned to admire and to love him. He had a great soul. The whole nation has lost a constant friend."

Blair Dies

Funeral services of Tom Blair Sr., 51, Griffith Amusement Company manager in Pampa in 1933, 1934, and 1935, were conducted at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Hahn Funeral Home chapel in Oklahoma City. Burial was in an Oklahoma City cemetery.

Mr. Blair died Friday at his farm home near Alma, Ark., where he had lived since his retirement in 1937. He is survived by his wife, five sons, and a daughter, Mrs. H. L. Ledrick of Wickett.

The former Pampan had been active in the theater business of the Southwest for the past quarter-century, of which 15 years had been spent in the employ of the Griffith Company. He had operated theaters at Pampa, Borger, Lubbock, Texas, and at Hobart, and Enid, Okla. He was manager for the Griffith Company in Enid after he left Pampa in 1935 and until he retired in 1937.

Mr. Blair was born June 26, 1877, in Indiana.

TULSA CIVIL WAR VET DIES AT AGE OF 91

TULSA, Okla., July 9 (AP)—One of the few remaining Civil war veterans here, Robert A. Wyly, 91, died today in a hospital after a short illness attributed in part to ptomaine poisoning which also struck his 76-year-old wife and a son, H. A. Wyly, who lived with them.

EXPROPRIATION OF OIL DEFENDED BY MEXICAN

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 9 (AP)—American and British oil companies with interests in Mexico were charged today by Alejandro Carrillo, representative of the Confederation of Mexican Workers, with menacing the soverignty and dignity of the Mexican people and their government.

Dr. Carrillo, in an address prepared for delivery before the University of Virginia's public affairs institute asserted the Mexican government's stand in expropriating property of foreign oil companies in that country, had the moral support of trade unions throughout the world, including those in the United States and England.

He praised President Roosevelt as a "good neighbor," but bitterly condemned Neville Chamberlain, British prime minister.

Major T. R. A. Armstrong, who has represented the Standard Oil Company in conferences of American and British oil interests with the Mexican government, termed the Mexican expropriation decree an outright confiscation in violation of international law.

Dr. Carrillo, a professor in the Workers University of Mexico, said the issue between the oil companies and the Mexican people really "was the struggle of oil interests and the labor movements."

THREE MAJOR PAVING JOBS IN PROGRESS

Completion of grading of the Pampa-Borger road on July 1 brought the major part of highway construction in the Pampa area to a conclusion for the month. Only three other jobs are in progress, on highways 152, 33, and on a road near Borger.

On Highway 152, east of Pampa, work of applying a penetrating oil in preparation for laying a double asphalt surface is due to start tomorrow. A score of Cocke & Braden workmen are employed. Shaping the base on the 11.7 mile strip has been the work during the past week.

Allhands & Davis, grading contractors on the Pampa-Borger road, now have 25 men at work four miles east of Panhandle, filling up borrow ditches along the highway. Work of widening the curves on the road between Kingsmill and the Potter County line is not due to start until next month.

A 10-inch gravel base has been laid on a 1.1 mile strip north of the Borger city limits. The road is to have a double asphalt surface. A month will be required to complete the project.

Next month the Texas Highway Department is expected to announce bids for surfacing the Pampa-Borger road.

CARSON LEADS SECTION WITH 4 GAS WELLS

The Panhandle field apparently took a Fourth of July holiday that lasted all the week, only four wells being brought in and only six locations being staked. New production totaled 2,198 barrels.

Hutchinson county led in production with three wells capable of producing 2,198 barrels on Railroad commission test. The other well was in Gray county. It was the S. & M. Oil company's No. 3 Worley in section 64, block 3, I&GN survey, and was the best well of the week, guaging 833 barrels.

Five of the six new locations were in Carson county and the other in Wheeler county. Four of the six locations were for gas, two staked by Hagy, Harrington and Marsh and two by Texoma Natural Gas company, all in Carson county.

The Collingsworth county wildcat being drilled by White & Knowl on the Wieschkemper land in section 58, block 16, H&GN survey, continued to be the most interesting test in the Panhandle. The hole was bottomed at 2,263 feet and a shot was planned, approximately 220 quarts of nitroglycerine. The pay was topped at 2,145 feet early in the week.

The wildcat test is 14 miles southeast of production in the Osborne pool in Wheeler county, east of Shamrock. Show of oil was reported as promising.

New wells in the field have dropped far back of the number to the same date last year, when 384 were drilled as compared with 319 this year.

Completions by counties follow:

In Hutchinson County

Gulf Oil Corp., No. 32 Dial et al, Warren Wimberley survey, guaged 471 barrels with the lime formation between 2,985 and 3,005 feet.

Phillips Petroleum co., No. 7 Haile, section 4, block M-21, TCRR survey, tested 444 barrels. lime pay wasfro m 2,975 to 3,030 feet.

The Texas co., No. 13 R. L. Pond, section 1, block M-21, TCRR survey, was given a potential of 450 barrels with pay between 2,960 and 3,035 feet in lime.

In Gray County

S. & M. Oil co., No. 3 Worley, section 64, block 3, I&GN survey, was given a potential of 833 barrels with lime pay from 2,985 to 3,005 feet.

Intention to drill:

Hagy, Harrington Marsh, Girtha McConnel No. 8, 990' from the north and 2200" from the west of section 7, block 7, I&GN, Carson county.

Hagy, Harrington & Marsh, F. P. Warren No. 1, 220' from the north and 1650" from the east of section 6, block 7, I&GN, Carson county.

Magnolia Petroleum Co., Fee land 244 No. 44, 990' from the north and east lines of SE/4 of section 109, block 4, I&GN, Carson county.

Texoma Natural Gas co., J. D. Jordan No. 2-T, 1324' from the east and 1334" from the south of section 95, block 4, I&GN, Carson county.

Texoma Natural Gas Co., J. M. Poling No. 1-E, 2405' from the north and 2507' from the east lines of section 30, block Y-2, T&T Survey, Carson county.

Remo Royalty Company, Sloss-Admire 2-A, 660' from the north and 250' from the west NE/4 of section 47, block 13, H&GN, Wheeler county.

NEUTRALITY REVISION ADVOCATED BY PITTMAN

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Senator Pittman (D-Nev) expressed belief today a year of war in China had demonstrated that the Roosevelt administration must be granted wider latitude in its economic and commercial dealings with China and Japan.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee told the Associated Press this probably would involve revision of the neutrality act, with additional discretion being given the President about invoking its terms.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE HAS LARGE CANDIDATE CARD COLLECTION

In case the thermometer doesn't tell you, the lack of rushing business around the courthouse will—it's the summer dog days now.

Cokes and ice cream cones have supplanted coffee, except perhaps in the sheriff's office, where Friday Brandin and others still stick by the winter time beverage.

In mid-afternoon yesterday, there were only three persons calling on the offices of the first floor of the courthouse. The second floor offices were deserted, except for officials and employes, and the same situation prevailed on the third floor.

The east side of the courthouse is the favorite spot around the building in the late afternoons. The spot is amazingly cool, as though the east side of the building was air-conditioned.

There is little talk of politics, despite the nearness of the first primary election. To relieve the mid-summer tedium perhaps, collections of candidates cards have been started in two offices.

The collection in the office of the sheriff is the bigger of the two. There are 53 cards in the lot, including two from Carson county and one from Palo Pinto county. In the office of the district clerk is a collection of 24 cards, most of them of Gray county candidates.

NATIONAL DISASTER MONTH

Every eleven and a half days of the average July, as many Americans are killed by accidents as lost their lives in the Revolutionary War.

July is a time of slaughter. From the time it breaks open with the Fearful Fourth until the thirty-first has swept on its way like a tornado, July sees more lives lost to accidents and more disabling accidents than any other month of the year.

Over the past five years, July's list of dead from accidental causes has been 29 per cent greater than that of the average month.

A total of 10,200 persons lost their lives last July in accidents—more than two and one half times as many as were killed in the Revolutionary War!

Approximately one million people suffered disabling accidents last July—one out of every 130 persons in the United States.

In 1936, the latest year for which complete figures are available, July topped every other month of the year for lives lost by drowing, falls, excessive heat, electric shock and food poisoning.

One quarter of all drownings occur in July. Most of these happen in isolated lakes and rivers where there is no supervision.

Falls—in the home, at work and in the street; over weak porch railings, toys and rugs, from makeshift stepladders and unguarded stairways—take an average of 73 lives a day during the year. But during the month of July, 1936, the daily loss of life from falls jumped to 83.

July's usually clear weather is no safety panacea to motorists. Four out of five accidents occur when the weather is clear and the pavement dry.

The cost of the accidents last July has been estimated at approximately $350,000,000. But there is no figure that will express the tragedy and the downright suffering caused by the national calamity which took almost 14 lives an hour. That was July, 1937!

BARNYARD REVELATIONS

The world of ideas is plunging around at such a giddy rate these days that the average man can't hope to keep abreast of the times any more.

It seems scarcely more than a few months ago that science was throwing all kinds of derisive remarks at the pig. Remember Achilles, the porker who had a nervous breakdown trying to get out of an electrified maze? It turns out now that Achilles wasn't a typical pig at all.

New experiments with other pigs demonstrate, according to the latest dispatches, that actually the porker is practically one of the mental giants of the barnyard. Tests show that, compared to some of his farm acquaintances, the pig learns to avoid an electric barrier faster than a professional lightning calculator. A cow is shamefully slow in catching on. A horse isn't a great deal better at it.

Do you suppost there's some kind of lesson to be derived from this? Science certainly wouldn't study this kind of thing out just for the fun of studying. But it's also announced that sheep and chickens don't have to be smart; they're naturally insulated. There doesn't seem to be any kind of a lesson acceptable to adult intelligence in that at all!

Divorce is denied in case of collusion. The law figures that any two people who can cooperate that well have no business separating.

Those modern wars don't prove anything new. Bows and arrows would win if the other side didn't have any.

Other Editors Say:

FINGERPRINTING

From the Washington Post:

The mystery that has thrown placid southern Maryland into a furore has shown sudden signs of clearing. The body found floating in Lyons Creek at Prince Frederick has been identified. By extraordinary efforts of experts, fingerprints were obtained clear enough to be compared with those filed with the Department of Justice. Because she was once employed by the government, the unfortunate woman's Bertillon identification was among them. It may now be possible to trace her last movements and deduce the precise means of her end—and if it was murder, to pick up the trail of her assailant. Here is excellent confirmation for the point persistently stressed by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, that every man, woman and child in the land submit fingerprints to his bureau as an aid to identification in case of accident or amnesia. Many, detecting an OGPU aroma in the suggestion, have opposed the idea. Nor have their objections been entirely unfounded, world morals being in their present uncertain condition. On the other hand, those inclined to travel and those living in large cities such as Washington, where identities are easily submerged, will have a difficult time discounting voluntary fingerprinting in the light of the amazing identification of Esther Lewis.

Tex's Topics

This is an apology to Ray Wilson, the up-and-doing Gray County auditor. . . . I was cleaning out my filing cabinet this morning, and there, lo and behold, I ran across a letter from Ray that I asked him to write for me more than a year ago when I was going to be out of town. . . . The idea was that Ray was was to fill up this column while I was absent. . . . Well, some how or other I lost that column and never found it until today. . . . So, it's still good:

* * *

Dear Tex:

One time
You wrote a column
In which you said
It was sometimes hard
To get the words
Started and on such
Days a fellow got
Jittery or something.
Since I've been trying
To think of something
To write about, I wonder
Why in the Heck you
Don't assign subjects for
"Guest Columnists."
You do not, so tell
Us if it's true that
Every other fellow you
Meet, thinks he could
Write enduring words
And phrases if he had
A chance; and maybe
Drama, novel and poetry.
Guess that the last would
Be the worst because so
Many folks have at some
Time in their lives
Committed some sort of
Poetry or rhyme.
Some of it might keep
For a while but a lot
Of it is like eggs,
And after while it gets
Offensive and finally
The one who did it
Just simply disowns it
And decides that
Homemade poetry is Almost worse than the
Diary as a source of Embarrassment.
Everybody knows that a
Real poet gets by with Bad English and poor
Spelling on account of Something called
"Poetic License"
And we wondered if
A columnist has a
License to get by with
All that and jumping all
Over the world and
Skipping from one
Subject to several and
Using everything from
Hot weather recipes to Guest Columnists to Fill up the space and
Maybe get paid for
Such carrying on.
And we wondered too,
If a Columnist thinks.
Our handbook from the
Correspondence School
Says, "No, it interferes
With that kind of
Writing" and that's why
We took you up on this
Job but it looks like the
School is wrong
At least where the
Substitute is concerned
Because this Substitute
Doesn't know anything
About movie stars and
Baseball players
And politics and health.
And in addition, he Doesn't know about all
The divorces and events
Blessed. Nor about
The weather and dogs.
And because he always
Lived in the great
Open spaces
Instead of the
Great open places,
He couldn't even write
About who went where.
And because he is shy
He can't write to the Lovelorn,
And if all these subjects
Are out, what can a
Columnist say?
I'm about to get this
Space filled up and
Please notice that I
Have not said mean
Things about you,
Because I have a
Kindly heart and
You could have a reply.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Receipts at the municipal pool had been so satisfactory that a possible rate reduction was considered possible before the end of the season.

Hard-Headed Business Man and Foolish Wife

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

DON'T NEGLECT DYSPEPSIA

Oversimplification is dangerous. This is particularly true when the layman tries to diagnose and treat what he believes to be a simple disturbance.

Dyspepsia (indigestion) is a case in point. Men say:

"My stomach is upset. I ate something that disagreed. I have an acid stomach. I guess I'll take something for my indigestion."

When a patient who is over 40 complains of chronic indigestion, what disease conditions are likely to be the underlying cause of this symptom?

Dr. A. B. Rivers recently investigated this matter. He studied a large group of patients attending the Mayo clinic and found that nearly half of those between the ages of 30 and 60 included among their complaints that of indigestion. Upon further investigation he found in men over 40 these principal causes of indigestion:

Peptic ulcer, 23 per cent; functional disturbances, including "something you are," 20 per cent; cancer of the gastro - intestinal tract, pancreas, etc., 17 per cent; cancer of the stomach, 12.2 per cent; gall bladder disease, 9 per cent; disease o fthe heart and blood vessels, 5 per cent.

In women over 40, some of the causes of their indigestion were:

Gall bladder disease, 24.5 per cent; functional disturbances, 19.8 per cent; peptic ulcer, 9.5 per cent; cancer of the gastro-intestinal tract, etc., 5.8 per cent; disease of the heart and blood vessels, 4.8 per cent; cancer of the stomach, 4.2 per cent

These findings are impressive. It is startling to think of the fate of dyspeptic men and women, over 40, who fail to appreciate the gravity of their symptoms and treat themselves with ineffective remedies.

Indigestion, remembers, is a symptom and not a disease. And it is possible to relieve symptoms without correcting the underlying cause. But symptoms are warning signals, and it is folly to mask the danger signals and proceed as if the track ahead were clear.

Sir William Osler once said, "Credulity remains a permanent fact uninfluenced by civilization or education."

We cannot subscribe to the belief that men and women cannot or will not learn to have their dyspepsia promptly diagnosed and adequately treated.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

And then after a long time the Archbishop of Santa Fe, R. A. Gerkin, came back to Pampa last week-end, and it was high time that he returned to see his old friends here. And to those who did not see him this one wants to say that he still has that gentle and utterly humane manner that makes you think of St. Francis, his favorite saint.

He wasn't in Pampa very long before his friends began coming to the parish house. Most of you know that the Archbishop used to be the bishop of the Amarillo diocese, and used to come to Pampa a lot. Then he went to Santa Fe to wear the vestments of famed Archbishop Lamy, founder of the church in New Mexico. Lamy was the hero of Wills Cather's Death Comes for the Archbishop, you will recall . . . Would you like to know what has become Archbishop Gerkin's major hobby now? It is collecting records and relics of the early church in New Mexico. "I found a rare document—one of the rarest in America, the other day," he exulted. He told of locating twenty volumes of church records written in Spanish in Rhode Island. He told of the new vaults he has built in Santa Fe for the records. He had heard of the illness of his great and good friend, Bishop Lynch of Dallas and he had been to see him, but the bishop who had officiated at every function in which the archbishop had been elevated, was only slightly ill and the New Mexico churchman was glad . . . The archbishop promises hospitality for all his Pampa friends if they visit him in Santa Fe.

BARKLEY BOOM FOR PRESIDENT BEGUN BY FDR

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Senator Alben Barkley's chances of receiving White House favor in 1940 for a place on a New Deal-sponsored presidential ticket bounded upward in the political speculation books as the result of President Roosevelt's invasion of Kentucky.

The very enthusiasm with which the President stressed Barkley's Senate seniority and his long legislative experience in national affairs invited this interpretation. It carried an undertone of suggestion to Kentucky Democrats that they might be picking more than a Senate nominee or even a Kentucky favorite son for 1940 presidential nomination honors when they decide August 6 between Barkley and Governor "Happy" Chandler.

The Barkley 1940 boom has been a definite if seldom-mentioned element in the 1938 campaigning from the start. His intimates in Washington have no doubt that he hopes for Roosevelt favor in 1940 either to head a New Deal ticket or to replace Vice President Garner as the Roosevelt running mate in the event a third-term drive develops.

It goes without saying his victory in the Kentucky primaries would mean the immediate inception of a more active Barkley boom for 1940.

In the judgment of this writer, President Roosevelt is still far from a decision as to whether he will run again himself in 1940, and also as to whom he will support for party leadership if he does not. Yet the President aided the Barkley boom definitely.

A good case for second place Barkley on a third-term Roosevelt ticket can be made from the White House point of view. There have been rumors Vice President Garner has told friends he intended to retire. His name runs through gossip as a rallying center for anti-New Deal Democrats of the South and elsewhere to mead-up Roosevelt party opposition two years from now, but this is not with Garner's consent, so far as is known. He was virtually wrafted in 1936 to remain in the field against his will.

'ALFALFA BILL' HIT OVER EYE BY SOONER

HUGO, Okla., July 9 (AP)—Joseph Davis, Oklahoma City architect, was charged with assault and battery today, accused of having struck former Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray over the eye in a hotel altercation last night.

County Attorney M. W. Gross filed the charge. Davis immediately posted $10 appearance bond.

Murray received a cut over the left eye in the disturbance. His county campaign manager, R. H. Stanley, had said that Murray asked that no charge be filed.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

Robbin Coons, our Hollywood columnist, is in New York for two weeks to see what movie activities are like in the east.

NEW YORK—The search for a lady who might be called the toast of New York leads to the Ritz Towered retreat of Vera Zorina, sometime and again-to-be of Hollywood.

Miss Zorina (courtesy Sam Goldwyn, as the program note informs) is the classic-featured Norwegian whose performance and dancing grace are such potent attractions in the S. R. O. musical of Rodgers and Hart, "I Married an Angel." In Hollywood she has been seen thus far only in the "Goldwyn Follies," in a role scarcely suggestive of the furore she could create as a romantic comedienne.

Mr. Goldwyn's courtesy recently was extended to permit Zorina's remaining for the run of the play. It was rather a strain on the Goldwyn courtesy to permit her to do the play at all, but Zorina had promised Producer Dwight Wiman long ago when she was in the London cast of "On Your Toes", and to Mr. Goldwyn a promise is a promise—especially when a show looks like a hit. After Sam first pronounced the famous two words ("im-possible") Zorina hopped into a plane, caught Sam in New York, and convinced him it WAS possible. Sam thought a girl in pictures ought to stay in pictures. If she wanted the stage, she ought to forget pictures.

"But I could not do that," Zorina says. "I want pictures, but I want the stage and dancing too. I could never give up any of them. I want to go on—there is so much I must learn. I must learn to sing. I must develop as an actress. Some day I must play a serious dramatic role. I must keep on with the ballet. I must—"

Thrice Starred

But right here I must point out a couple of things myself. The first is that Zorina, wearing a slim-waisted blue peasant frock, her every gesture a poem in grace, is the kind of interview subject who needn't say a thing. You can just sit and look and study—and you get what I mean. The second is that Zorine, at 21, has attained stardom on stage, screen, ballet.

And not by accident. She was dancing when she was three. She was always dancing, always wanted to dance. Little Brigita Hartwig of Kristiansund, Norway, grew up in Berlin, studying dancing and the arts. She became Vera Zorina when she joined the Ballet Russe, wherein a Russian name is always demanded. (But Rodgers and Hart borrowed Brigita for her character name in their musical).

As if a nightly show and the usual matinees and a morning devoted to ballet study were not enough, Zorina has serious plans for painting and sculpture.

But as a "toast of New York" she is almost naively delighted.

"I have two nice letters from people who want to organize Zorina fan clubs. Isn't that sweet—but what must I do, how should I answer them? I try so hard to answer all who write—I write and write so much that I have no time to write my own family. I am so flattered when my autograph is asked, but I cannot understand this craze for autographs. From the President, and from famous statesmen and writers and musicians, yes—but we who dance and act, we come and go so quickly what will our names be worth a few years from now?"

I couldn't answer that one. But if I collected stage and movie autographs, I'd want Zorina's on past performance and future promise.

Once there was an alumni banquet at a large eastern college whose alunmi thought there was nothing more fun than shaking hands.

Six members of the class of 1920 came together at the same time in the foyer outside the banquet hall. And what a handshaking session there was!

Each man in the crowd shook hands with every other man, an how many handshakes do you suppose that made, with no two men shaking hands with one another more than once?

Don't Slip the Poor Into Uniforms

By BRUCE CATTON.

More and more, as "preparedness" agitation begins to gain force, eyes turn to the Civilian Conservation Corps. Those who believe in increased military preparedness are drawn, like flies toward sugar, to the hundreds of thousands of young then passing through the CCC.

Here, they reflect, is the raw material of armies, ready at hand.

Here are young, eager fellows, receiving outdoor physical training under the supervision of army officers, learning the rudiments of discipline, in the necessities of living together. Why not utilize this material, ready at hand, as the nucleus of a military trained reserve? All it would take would be a little close-order and small-arms drill to convert this great body of youth into a valuable military reserve.

It sounds, superficially, attractive. But it ought to be resisted with the last ounce of strength.

The key to the reason why this plan won't do was unwittingly uttered by Maj.-Gen. Hugh Drumm in a message to CCC boys in the Chicago area. General Drumm said:

"Enrollees come from all walks of American life . . ."

No, general. Enrollees come from only one walk of American life. That is the all-too-great stratum which has been unable to find a place in the "regular" economy of the country. The CCC enrollees are the children of need, and the sons of necessity.

That, general, is not the basis on which to build an army reserve. Quite apart from the question of whether increased military training is necessary is the question of how it ought to be provided if it is necessary. Thousands of boys have found no better school than the streets, no better occupation than idle wasting. For the government to give them an opportunty to go to the woods, live in a healthy manner, learn a trade and earn some money meanwhile—that is all to the good. But to go on from there and say, "Now we will also train you as soldiers, to be first if miltary need arises"—that would be a gross betrayal.

It would be a grave denial of democracy, and a mockery, in that even the European systems of universal service are more democratic, for they make all men subject to military training, not merely those for whom the economic machine has not been able to find a use.

If we are to have mass military training, or universal service, let us have it as such, so we will know where we are going, and not slide it in under cover of a civilian works program made necessary by other failures. If young men must train for war, let it be all young men, not a group made helpless by forces beyond them.

The name, general, is CIVILIAN Conservation Corps.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The political situation in his home state of New York promises to leave President Roosevelt with at least a partial headache—perhaps worse.

The one bright ray of sunshine for the White House there is the fact that the mix-up resulting from the death of Senator Royal S. Copeland has brought Jim Farley back to a more cordial relationship with Roosevelt and that the two men are working together to exert New Deal control over New York's Democratic party.

Although no one yet knows all the answers to the furious trading efforts now progressing in New York, Gov. Herbert Lehman is generally expected to achieve his ambition for the Democratic nomination to succeed Copeland.

Roosevelt would rather not have Lehman in the Senate, considering him hostile and somewhat conservative of late. But efforts are being made to force Lehman to support a New Deal choice for the gubernatorial nomination who would run on the Democratic ticket with Lehman and Senator Robert F. Wagner.

Congressman James M. Mead of Buffalo looks like an increasingly good bet for that nomination, although some New Dealers are still working for Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, believing he would be a stronger candidate against District Attorney Tom Dewey, the racket buster, in case Dewey became the Republican nominee. . . . Mead is a Catholic—most politicians agree the ticket "needs one"—and on friendly terms with labor.

Complications A-Plenty

Roosevelt and Farley hold the theory that Dewey will be "drafted" and Dewey is alleged to have whispered weeks ago that he would accept the G. O. P. nomination to run against anyone but Wagner or Lehman. (Wagner refuses to run for governor, but Roosevelt might conceivably be able to draft him in an emergency.)

Yet Dewey would be handicapped by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's refusal to run for senator on the elaborately emphasized ground that he had been recently reelected and owed it to voters to stay on the job. Dewey was elected to office last November for the first time.

A Democratic governor hostile to Roosevelt would put a bad crimp in FDR's hopes of liberalizing the party and dominating its 1940 national convention.

About Joe Martin

Congressman Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, who has been assistant House minority leader under Bert Snell and now is likely to succeed Snell as Republican leader, is a short, stocky, energetic, hard-headed, open-faced conservative Yankee with little of the spectacular about him.

The Republican party always has been able to depend on him for shrewd, hard work, however, and he is as popular as any G. O. P. member of the House. He is "Joe" to all and lives in a bachelor apartment at one of the capital's better hotels.

He was born one of eight children of a machinist in North Attleboro, Mass., grew up to be a reporter and finally publisher of a small newspaper. He served six years in the Massachusetts legislature, rose rapidly in organization politics and has been in Congress since 1925. He is chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee and was eastern Republican presidential campaign manager in 1936, when he was reelected by 20,000 even though Roosevelt carried his district.

The PWA workers all voted for me, but I couldn't get 'em to vote against Roosevelt," he explained.

Although he was confident of a Landon victory that year, his highest prediction on Republican House gains in November is 75 seats. Joe has voted nearly always against New Deal legislation and is not popular with labor outside his own district, although he came around for the final House version of the wage-hour bill when it eliminated North-South differentials.

Recknagle Hard-Pressed To Retain Tennis Title

Leo Recknagle retained his city tennis crown Friday evening by defeating youthful Bob Childers, but not until four of the most torrid matches in the history of city tennis play had passed. The pace became gruelling with the first serve and when the final ball was faulted both players were practically out on their feet.

The champion was forced to the limit to take the first set 8-6. Childers made an uphill battle of the second game to win 7-5. Recknagle swept the third set 6-1, and staved off a late rally to take the fourth and winning set, 6-4.

Only nine times during the hectic struggle were services broken and only two games in the four matches were won by love scores, one going to each of the players.

Recknagle excelled in service and placements with Childers showing an exceptionally strong backhand game. At times the high school youngster played sparkling tennis. His lapses, however, cost him several games as Recknagle took advantage of all the breaks.

The champion served first and came through with a win and followed by breaking Childers' service. The youngster then showed some stellar tennis by settling down and breaking Recknagle's service. The game rocked along until Recknagle came through to win 8 and 6 .

Each won his service in the second set until Childers went in front at 4-3. Recknagle came back to even the count of 4-4 but Childers continued to press, finally getting through the Recknagle service to win 7-5 and make the games even.

The terrific pace of the second set apparently unsettled the youngster and he fell an easy prey to Recknagle's deadly services and uncanny placements. Recknagle took the first three games, lost the fourth, and came back to win the next three and the set.

Recknagle opened strong in the fourth match, taking the first two games. The pace, however, told on the veteran and Childers took advantage of the break to win the next two games. Recknagle went ahead at 3-2 but lost the next game to even the count again. Recknagle made it 5-3 but Childers rose up again and after the score had been deuced several times came through with the winning shot.

With only one game needed to win, Recknagle forced the play and had a 30-love advantage. Childers came back with two points but Recknagle went ahead again Childers deuced the game but was unable to break through the Recknagle serve and lost the game and match when he was unable to return a well-placed return by Recknagle.

Recknagle won the Mayor's cup for another season and permanent possession of the Pampa Daily News cup. Previously in the tournament he combined with Mrs. Jack Dunn to win the mixed doubles and with Rob Brown to take the men's doubles. Last year the champion won the men's singles and doubles.

The champion learned his tennis at Texas University where he was freshman champion. Childers is a high school youth. He won the Pampa title, district title, regional title and went to Austin for the state meet.

MEETING OF ALL SOFTBALL MANAGERS THIS AFTERNOON

Officers and managers of teams in both the Industrial and City Softball leagues will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chamber of commerce committee rooms to decide several important issues.

Principal topic of discussion will be the system of conducting the playoff to decide a city champion and winner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce cup. A tentative plan was approved at a recent meeting but it is now meeting with severe opposition.

Date of the playoff will be set at the meeting. Date of the Panhandle tournament will also be approved. Tentative date is August 8.

The state tournament will be held September 1, 2 and 3 in San Antonio according to word received by Panhandle Commissioner Alton Hall. The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the district tournament. The winning team will be eligible to enter the state meet.

Rice Sophomore Wins National Singles Crown

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Diminutive Frank Guernsey, Jr., Rice Institute sophomore, wore the National Intercollegiate singles tennis crown tonight by virtue of an easy 6-4, 6-1, 6-0 victory over Morey Lewis, of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

The Orlando, Fla., youth tore through the finals of the 53rd annual national tournament on the clay courts of the Merion Cricket club, winning points almost at will.

The University of Southern California team of Joe Hunt, national junior singles champion, and Lewis Wetherell, defeated Lewis and Don McNeil, also of Kenyon, in straight sets for the doubles championship, 6-2, 6-2 and 6-4.

As singles champion, Guernsey succeeds Ernest Sutter, of Tulane University, whom graduation kept from the 1938 play.

Lewis, a native of Texarkana, Ark., drove up to the finals by defeating three seeded players, but was virtually helpless against Guernsey.

Sports Manager, Hit by Player, Now in Hospital

SHREVEPORT, La., July 9 (AP)—The serious illness of Claude Jonnard, manager of the Shreveport baseball team, is the result of being struck on the face by one of his players, Catcher Walter Stephenson, the two men revealed today.

Jonnard said he first had announced he was struck by a batted ball in order to preserve appearances and to discourage any impression that there was dissension among the club members.

Stephenson made a public apology for the incident and took full blame for what occurred. He said it was the result of a misunderstanding.

J. Walter Morris, general manager of the team, said no disciplinary action, if any, would be taken until he had a complete report from Jonnard.

The manager is in a sanitarium here for treatment of an infection that developed from the blow and which has involved the entire right side of his face. Today the swelling had spread to his left eye and physicians considered his condition grave.

The incident occurred in front of a San Antonio hotel Wednesday morning.

Homer Peel Ousted As Cats' Manager

FORT WORTH, July 9 (AP)—The management of the Forth Worth baseball team was trying tonight to work out a problem posed when Homer Peel, ousted last night as manager, said he would refuse to report to Toledo of the American association.

Peel was traded to Toledo for pitcher Fred Marberry and catcher Morris Hancken.

Business manager Cecil Coombs, who had disagreed often with Peel on matters of policy, will remain in charge of the team until another arrangement is effected.

"What disposition will be made of Homer has not yet been decided," President Stanley A. Thompson announced after a conference with the ousted manager.

"An effort will be made to work out an agreement satisfactory to everyone concerned."

BOSTON, July 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees clubbed three pitchers for 17 hits, including two homers by Joe Gordon and one each by Tommy Henrich and Jake Powell today, to wallop the Red Sox 11 to 6. Joe Cronin hit a homer for the Sox.

GULF-COOPER BEATS SUPPLY BOYS 4 TO 2

Gulf-Cooper of Skellytown clung to the City Softball league lead Friday night with a 4 to 2 victory over the Supply Boys while the Mack & Paul Barbers made their fourth place more secure by defeating the Christians 7 to 3. Danciger took an 8 to 2 game from Stanolind in an Industrial league game.

With Stansell continuing to hurl nice ball and being given stellar support, the Skellytown crew held off a supply threat. Kennedy was behind the plate, Ivy and Whitten was the losing battery.

Prock and Buckingham comprised the battery for the barbers in their win over the Christians with Witherspoon on the mound and Maxey behind the plate.

R. Dewey, newly acquired catcher, hit a home run with one on base to lead the Danciger attack on Stanolind. Patrick was on the mound. Chism was nicked in the pinches as Stanolind made errors to allow men on base. Harding was behind the plate.

The standing, including games Friday night, follows:

STAGEHAND WINS

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, hero of last winter's Santa Anita handicap and derby, regained his brilliant form today and raced to victory in the $10,00 Empire city handicap in track record equalling time. The Earl Sande-trained son of Sickle, forced out of the Kentucky derby by the coughing sickness, drove between horses in a blanket finish and emerged winner by a half-length. His time of 1:51 for the mile and an eighth, matched the track record established by Dalmation in 1910.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 9. (AP)—The stock market craft encountered rough seas this week, but its nose was pointed toward better weather after today's brief session.

The list started the 2-hour proceedings indecisively, encountering some further selling as the result of yesterday's relapse.

Buying forces soon got behind aircrafts and later selected steels, motors, rubbers, coppers, rails, and specialties were taken in hand. Recoveries at the finish ran to around a point with a few favorites up 2 to 3.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .2 of a point at 47.6 but on the week it showed a net loss of .8, the first set-back following two successive weekly climbs. Transfers totalled 592,300 shares.

The aviation group seemingly derived benefit from the belief the new federal civil aeronautics act would act as a stabilizer for the air transport companies and bring orders for more planes.

Steels did fairly well as forecasts were made of an upturn in mill operations next week.

Prominent gainers on the day were Douglas Aircraft at 50⅛, Glenn L. Martin 25⅝, Boeing 30, Curtis-Wright "A" 22¼, Wright aeronautical 94, United Air Lines 10⅝, Bethlehem Steel 59¼, General Motors 39, International Harvester 64⅝, Kennecott 40, American Smelting 49⅝, DuPont 118¼, Santa Fe 37⅜, Southern Railway 13, Chesapeake & Ohio 31, Richfield Oil 9 and Union Carbide 80¼.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, July 9. (AP)—Butter 1,562,482; steady; creamery-standards (90 centralized carlots) 25 cents; other prices unchanged. Eggs 13,406; firm; prices unchanged.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 9. (AP) — Weekend liquidation and profit-taking by recent purchasers depressed cotton prices here today and at the close the market was steady 11 to 13 points net lower.

Trading was narrow throughout the short session but demand was lacking and offerings were sufficient to keep prices below the previous close during the day.

The close was at the bottom with July at 9.03-bid, Oct. at 9.04, Dec. at 9.13, Jan. at 9.13, March at 9.18 and May at 9.21.

Spot cotton was quiet with sales totaling only 270 bales. Middling closed 13 points lower at 9.09.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 9. (AP) — Although rallying slightly but frequently for early one cent declines, the wheat market today was dominated by moderate commercial selling and closed at a net loss of ⅜ to 1⅛ cents a bushel.

Hedging sales accounted for some of the selling but the market also was influenced by ⅝ to 1 cent decline at Liverpool, a favorable Canadian crop condition and rains and Canada. With many dealers on the sidelines awaiting the official domestic crop report Monday, volume was restricted.

The market's support came partly from removal of previous hedges coincident with increased flour business.

Wheat closed ¾-1⅛ lower, July 70⅜-⅞, September 72-72⅛, December 74-74⅛; corn ⅛ up to ¼ off, July 57⅞, September 59¼-⅜, December 58⅜-½; oats unchanged to ⅛ down, July 26⅜; rye unchanged to ¼ down, July 53½; lard 8 to 18 higher.

SUMMER WEDDINGS HOLD SPOTLIGHT IN SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS O'HAGAN AND CHARLES FISCHER WED

A nuptial mass at St. Mary's Catholic church in Sherman united in marriage Miss Julia O'Hagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Hagan of Sherman, and Charles J. Fischer, Jr., of Pampa, alst Monday morning.

The Rt. Rev. Joseph G. O'Donohoe, pastor, read the service at an altar lighted with cathedral candles and decorated with baskets of gladioli, daises, and ferns. A large group of friends and relatives attended the wedding.

Pre-nuptial music included "Because," which was sung by the bride's brother, John O'Hagan, with Robert Evans at the organ. Mr. O'Hagan, who sang Schbuber's "Ave Maria" during the mass, also was a member of the choir singing the nuptial mass. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played as the processional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a gown of aqua blue chiffon over taffeta, made with shirred corselet, short puffed sleeves, a Peter Pan collar, and matching gloves. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet held in place by lilies of the valley. She wore an antique gold cross and chain belonging to her grandmother and a corsage of pink orchids. The bride carried a pink satin prayer book showered with pink ribbons and lilies of the valley.

Miss Schott Maid of Honor

Miss Mary Louise Schott, who attended Miss O'Hagan as maid of honor, chose a gown of apricot silk marquisette with full sleeves and blue gloves. She wore a Leghorn picture hat and carried a turquoise marquisette fan topped with an arrangement of snapdragons. The flower girl, little Jerry O'Hagan, who is a cousin of the bride, was dressed in a frock of white organdy and carried a basket of rose petals.

The groom was attended by his brother, Joseph Fischer, of Gainesville. Ushers were Frank O'Hagan, brother of the bride, and Michael Dagnan of Dorchester.

Following the rites, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served from a table laid with a hand-made Irish linen scarf. Tall pink candles burned in silver holders on either side of the cake and baskets of cut flowers were used in decorating the reception rooms.

Miss Perk Davis of Tyler, wearing white marquisette, presided at the cake. Serving coffee were Miss Margie O'Hagan, who was gowned in blue taffeta, and Miss Rosario Guevara in peach colored lace. Mrs. M. D. Wrenn, in blue marquisette, poured coffee. The bride's mother selected a frock of beige lace with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

To Make Home in Pampa

After the reception, the couple left for their home in Pampa. She traveled in a copper chiffon dress with a bolero of lace and white accessories.

Mrs. Fischer, who was salutatorian of St. Joseph's academy class of 1935, attended business college in Sherman and later worked in the clerical division of the Day Manufacturing company. She is a past president of St. Joseph's alumnae association and has held the office of secretary of the Catholic Youth organization in Sherman. Mrs. Fischer was born and reared in Sherman and has been an active member of St. Mary's church.

Mr. Fischer, son of C. J. Fischer of Gainesville, was graduated from St. Mary's school and business college in Gainesville. He is employed in the accounting department of the Texas Oil Company here.

The wedding occurred on the fourth wedding anniversary of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. M. Fitch of Fort Worth, who was also married at St. Mary's church by Monsignor O'Donhoe.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Messrs. and Mmes. W. M. Fitch, Joe Sturm of Muenster, Lawrence Bruns of Gainesville; Misses Rebecca Bruns of Gainesville; Marie Todd of Gainesville, Catherine Marie Fischer, and Marjorie Lou Fischer, of Gainesville; Messrs. WORKS OF DISTINGUISHED PAINTER EXHIBITED BY MISS McCLINTOCK

Paintings of Venice and New York, and portraits of children in pastels are among the works of Glen Cooper Henshaw being shown here by Miss Lorene McClintock.

Although these pictures have not been displayed here before, the dreamy, poetic style that characterizes Henshaw's art is familiar to many.

Shown in the collection here is a pastel of a Venetian fishing boat which is in a frame over 100 years old. Others are the Brooklyn bridge, the East River Fog, Down Fifth Avenue, the Empire State Building and 42nd Street in the Rain, all scenes of New York City. Several scenes of Venice, the painter's favorite subject, also are shown.

In the midst of Venice, Glen Cooper Henshaw sees the mystericus—he feels it so overwhelmingly that he probably could interpret it with his eyes closed if one would but put a pastel pencil between his fingers and a sheet of drawing paper before him. When the night falls in Venice, Mr. Henshaw is at home, with the twinkling lights reflecting themselves in the water. It was on the water front of New York that the artist painted nocturnes that brought him into prominence in the East, Lucille E. Morehouse has said.

As a portrait painter Henshaw prefers painting children and old people. The artist is peculiarly skillful in interpreting the character of the antimated youngsters and the more subdued old women and old men which he loves to paint.

"While most artist today are making New York into cubes and angles, Glen Cooper Henshaw sees it as a city of romance, shimmering in color and illusion as fully as the foreign cities he paints, and which are acknowledged pictorially as poetic subjects. A bridge at night makes a nocturne, or there is the beauty of the light on the wet pavement. Moonlight, mists or the glaring lights of the street are found on these canvases investing our city with imagination, charm, and atmosphere," an art critic of the New York Evening Post commented at a showing of Henshaw's work in New York City.

Miss McClintock, who has announced that she will continue the exhibit into next week, invites all Pampans to take advantage of the opportunity which seldom is offered here. The collection is being shown at 117 South Russell street.

CLASSIC

The gay green, blue, yellow gray, red and white plaid design of this sheer wool frock for coolish vacation days is used diagonally for a slimly molded silhouette, accented by all-around pleating in the graceful skirt. A blue scarf, tucked inside the simple V neck, and matching blue leather tabs on the self-fabric belt are intersting touches.

DINNER-DANCE ANNOUNCED FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

A social affair which will entertain many Pampans is the regular monthly dinner and dance to be given Thursday evening at the Country Club.

Reservations should be made as early as possible by calling any of the hostesses for the evening. They are Mmes. M. A. Graham, telephone number, 699; Carl Leudders, Frank Carter, 1347; and Farris Oden, 283.

Dinner is to be served at 7:30 o'clock and dancing will follow.

CROWN

Today, tomorrow, and Tuesday: "Sequoia" (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer). Directed by Chester Franklin. Jean Parker, Russell Hardie.

The most amazing revelation of nature's intimate secrets ever attempted for the screen is to be seen in "Sequoia" (pronounced "See-Quo-Yah"), startling outdoor drama.

Nearly two years in the filming, the picture deals with a friendship between a deer and a mountain lion, two of nature's most deadly enemies. Raised together from the "bottle feeding" age, the two animals are shown fighting the wilds together.

In addition many other species of American wild life were "stalked" with a camera, including coyotes, bears, raccoons, eagles, rattlesnakes, baby fawns and small lion cubs.

A Gorgeous Setting

Miss Parker and Russell Hardie provide a human theme to the plot as two young people who find love amid the breathtaking beauty of Sequoia National Park, world's largest forest of giant trees.

Others who contribute entertaining performances include Samuel Hinds, Paul Hurst, Edward Brophy and Willie Fung.

The picture is based on "Malibu," one of the most widely read nature stories ever written, by Vance Hoyt, world famous naturalist.

To Director Chester Franklin should go laurels of praise for his patience and courage in obtaining the thrilling record of American wild life.

WILDERNESS DRAMA

Jean Parker in a scene from "Sequoia"

"Sequoia," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's magnificent drama of the great outdoors, opens a three-day run today at the Crown.

10,000 TEXAS YOUTHS WILL GET NYA JOBS

AUSTIN, July 9 (AP)—Nearly 10,000 Texas youths will soon be employed on 250 part-time National Youth Administration work projects, State Director J. C. Kellam announced today.

Kellam said the projects included those already in operation and some which had been approved for the 1938-39 fiscal year but had not yet been started.

The director said no announcement from Washington had been received on the NYA student aid program for the coming scholastic year but school and college officials probably would be informed of developments some time in August.

TOWNSEND ORGANIZER TO RETURN HERE SOON

Dr. L. E. Lunn of Beaumont, state organizer of the Townsend clubs, who delivered a speech at the meeting of the Pampa Townsend club last week in the district courtroom, will again be in Pampa some day soon after a rally in Amarillo Sunday, members of the local club announced yesterday.

From Pampa, Dr. Lunn went to Borger and from there to Dalhart.

In his speech here, Dr. Lunn told of his attendance at the Townsend clubs national convention in Los Angeles on June 19, 20, and 21.

He told of his speaking to a group of 300 deaf persons through an interpreter, and the formation of a Townsend club among them.

In addition to the United States, Turkey and Egypt had representatives at the national convention in Los Angeles, Dr. Lunn said.

Houston was selected as the 1939 convention city. The gathering will be held in February.

SERIAL STORY

INTERNE TROUBLE

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

TRAN DEARBORN—heroine, student nurse. She ran into love and trouble when she met

DR. BOB BENCHLEY—hero, handsome young interne. He had trouble, too, keeping up with brilliant

DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—head surgeon. Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.

Yesterday: Tran is admonished for her breach and the next day is summoned by Miss Armstrong, nursing director.

CHAPTER III

WHEN Tran got back to her room, Beula Tagg, her roommate, had just returned from an uncomfortable 15 minutes of her own in Miss Armstrong's office.

"She said," Beula outlined the interview gloomily, "that neatness in dress is a primary requisite for a successful nurse. But will you tell me how any girl can look really snappy in these meal sacks they call student uniforms?"

Tran tried to reconcile sympathy with truth.

"They aren't exactly slimming," she agreed. "And it's my bet they were designed by a father of 10 whose war cry was, 'A woman's place is the home!' But who are probes to be choosy?"

As a matter of fact, Tran could afford to be philosophical. On her own slim figure the gray uniform, with its plain white cuffs and collar and its voluminous white apron, had somewhat the effect of a demurely picturesque peasant masquerade.

Beula looked comforted, but not entirely reassured as she continued to twist and turn before the mirror.

"I suppose I might try not tying the strings so tight," she observed, frowning.

"It would be more to the point if you'd try passing up the second and third helpings of dessert," Tran suggested unwarily.

IT was a tactical error. As a nurse, Beula was her senior—only by the three days, it is true, which a flooded railroad track had made Tran late in matriculating; but as Beula saw it, it might as well have been three years. . . . That was one funny thing about this business of seniority. Logically, the senior nurse at any given time and place should have been the one in authority. But "senior nurse," it appeared, could be a purely relative term, depending entirely on length of service.

So far as Tran could see, every girl in the hospital except herself was senior to some one else, and to be respected as such. . . . Beula Tagg chose the present moment to enforce that point.

"Say, listen, Utility—Miss Armstrong wants you. Beat it! And," she finished, tying her apron with a final vicious jerk, "may God have mercy on your soul! Because if Miss Armstrong's heard about yesterday, your name won't be 'Tranquility' or even 'Utility' any longer. It'll be plain 'Futility'."

By way of bracing herself for the coming interview, Tran quoted to herself, as she hurried along the miles of passage that led to Miss Armstrong's office, certain inspirational passages from the last lesson in "A Nurse and Her World": "To admit the possibility of fear is to be defeated"—"A nurse must be in command of her own emotions before she can hope to command unpleasant situations."

Sure! Tran muttered to herself. The only trouble is that Miss Armstrong wrote that book, herself.

SHE was hesitating on the threshold of the office when the door opened, and young Dr. Benchley came out. Just inside was Miss Armstrong herself. She stood respectfully at attention, as a good nurse should in presence of one of the medical hierarchy; but if it had been any one but Miss Armstrong, Tran would have sworn that she did so with her tongue in her cheek.

As for Dr. Benchley, his flushed face wore much the look of a small boy caught with the jam pot. Just as the door opened, Tran distinctly heard him say, "Yes, Ma'am. I won't forget again—honest."

On Tran's slim form the plain gray uniform was demurely picturesque.

"You may come in, Miss Dearborn," the director said. "And now will you please sit down and tell me exactly why, when you should have been with Miss Miller yesterday afternoon, you were standing in the west corridor with Dr. Benchley's arms around you?"

Tran was caught so completely off her guard by this unforeseen attack that she could only sit, her eyes getting bigger and darker and more startled.

"Perhaps," Miss Armstrong was going on, "I should explain that at the moment I happened to be going up in the west corridor elevator—and the elevator, if you recall, has glass doors."

After a moment Tran said in a small, helpless voice, "Oh, yes! . . . Of course. . . . I was, wasn't I?"

Then because, in her complete stupefaction, she had forgotten to catch her cheeks between her teeth, she giggled.

"Oh, I—I'm sorry!" she gasped. . . . Now Miss Armstrong would think she was shameless. . . . "But," she stumbled on, "I—well, we really couldn't have helped ourselves. . . . You see I ran into him so hard I almost knocked him down, and naturally—"

"I see." Miss Armstrong spoke almost casually.

SHE was tall and strongly made—still lithe and sure at 60—with live, shrewd, humorous brown eyes under a mass of softly waving white hair. . . . Eyes that knew how to be very kind.

"And just where," she went on dryly, "were you running? . . . From or to, I mean?"

"To and from," Tran corrected desperately, gripping the arms of her chair. . . . "To Miss Miller's class and from Emergency. . . . Oh, Miss Armstrong, I do so want to be a surgical nurse, and two policemen were bringing a man with a bullet in him into Emergency just as we passed the door."

After what seemed to Tran a hundred years, Miss Armstrong said again, "I see. . . . This learning to nurse does seem like a long, drab affair sometimes, doesn't it? But sometimes I wish some of you girls could have known it—well, when I was in training, for instance. In those days, for the first few weeks we scrubbed floors till our knees were raw. After that, it was dishes. You see there were no ward attendants then to do the rough work. . . . Later—much later, we got around to patients. That was after we had learned that before you can safely assume responsibility, you must learn to obey orders—that acting on your own initiative—but of course you've heard about discipline until you're tired of it."

"Oh, no!" Tran cried quickly. "Not like this. Please go on!"

SO Miss Armstrong did go on; and as Tran listened, her eyes dark and shining, she had no need to bite her cheeks. Never in her life had she been farther from laughter.

When she finally got up to go—because, somehow, without a suggestion having been made, she knew that that was what was expected of her—she found that she understood why it was that the older nurses swore by Miss Armstrong, why jaunty young internes, leaving her presence, sometimes looked like repentant small boys, why it was that, as nurses, her graduates ranked highest in the state.

At the last moment Miss Armstrong had said, "Of course, if you are especially interested in surgical nursing, you will want some time to work with Dr. Sargent. Every young nurse should. May I make a suggestion?"

Her face was grave, but her dark eyes twinkled. . . . Tran found herself wondering if sometimes, years ago, Miss Armstrong might have had to bite her cheeks, too.

"It seems to me," the director went on, "that if I were a young nurse, and wanted to work with Dr. Sargent—oh, especially with Dr. Sargent—I should make a point of keeping myself discreetly out of his way until I was so sure of my workmanship that I knew I could not make a mistake."

"Yes, Miss Armstrong." Tran almost choked with reverent gratitude. "I'll be as self-effacing as—as one of those bugs the research laboratories never have been able to find."

She meant it with all her soul. But unfortunately, Tran was one to whom the unpredictable seemed fated to happen.

ARABS OPPOSE JEWISH HOME IN HOLY LAND

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, July 9.—The bloody Arabian-Jewish strife in Palestine is the direct outgrowth of the efforts to establish a Jewish national home in the Holy Land against the fierce opposition of the Arabs who claim sovereignty of the country.

Reigns of terror here are nothing new. Racial violence has been going on ever since the British started to build the home fifteen years ago under a League of Nations mandate. It has even invaded Jerusalem, Holy City of three great religious—Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism.

In the last two years alone the casualty list has run into uncounted thousands — the dead, apart from those injured, being set at 2,000—and the property loss is high up the ladder of millions. Often death creeps about his business at night—here with a knife, there with a pistol, and again with a bomb to wreck a train or home.

Three things of comparatively recent development have contributed to the fresh outburst of hate:

1. The insistence of the British on carrying out their compromise scheme of dividing Palestine into three states—Jewish, Aragian and British. This plan has been bitterly opposed by both Jews and Arabs.

2. The forced exile of Jews from Germany and Austria and the prospect that as many as possible will be sent to Palestine. That matter is being dealt with by the Conference of Nations at Evian, France, convoked by President Roosevelt to study the plight of peoples without a country. The Arabs have resented the advent of each new Jewish immigrant into Palestine.

3. Italian propaganda (now said to have ceased through agreement with England) has until recently been held responsible by both British and French for stirring up Arabian peoples of the Near East against England and France. This propaganda has added fuel to the fire.

To get a full picture of the situation one must know the complexion of the population of Palestine. Within its area of 10,000 square miles (about the size of Maryland) there are 877,000 Mohammedans, 286,000 Jews and 110,000 Christians, according to estimates made last year.

Britain has been in hot water ever since she accepted the mandate.

REPORT OF CONVENTION GIVEN BY KIWANIANS

Reports of the Kiwanis International convention in San Francisco were given to Pampa Kiwanians at their regular Friday luncheon by President James B. Massa, Jack Goldston, and Dan McGrew, who represented the local club at the five-day sessions of the international clubs.

President Massa reported 7,000 Kiwanians were in attendance and that the Texas-Oklahoma district had the largest representation of all districts with 200 present, and that Pampa had the largest representation of Division 5 in Texas.

McGrew made a report on the election of International officers, and Goldston related the various entertainment features which were provided for delegates and visitors.

Entertainment at the Friday luncheon of the Pampa club was provided by the Misses Ruby Scaief and Mary Helen Gilstrap, vocalists, accompanied at the piano by Bill Haley.

LEFORS GIRL SEEKS TO BE 'MISS PAMPA'

A LeFors girl, Louise Williams, is the tenth, and first out-of-town, entrant in the 1938 Bathing Beauty pageant to be held on the LaNora theater stage Wednesday night, when "Miss Pampa" will be selected to represent this city at the Sweetwater Water carnival to be held in that city on Friday.

In connection with the pageant, the LaNora is presenting four acts of stage entertainment, in addition to the regular exhibition of motion pictures.

Winner of the title "Miss Pampa" will have all expenses paid on the trip to Sweetwater, where she will compete with girls from West Texas towns for the title "Goddess of West Texas." The "goddess" will be crowned by George O'Brien, motion picture actor, and awarded an expense paid one-week vacation trip to Galveston.

Entrants in the local pageant are Betty Jo Townsend, Joy Griffin, Wanda Lee Dunlap, Frances Tindall, Colleen McMahan, Edith Beckham, Mattie Louise Chatwell, Agatha Lyons, Tula Clemens, all of Pampa, and Louise Williams, LeFors. Miss Williams entered the contest Friday.

The 1938 pageant is the sixth annual beauty contest. Winners of previous years were: 1933, Jacque Downs; 1934, Aline Gregory; 1935, Vivian Baker; 1936, De Aun Heiskell; 1937, Ina Mae Dean.
