Nation Urged To Take Drop In Prices As Normal Trend

'Agreement' Reported On Pact Terms

BY H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—Secretary of State Acheson Friday reached "substantial" agreement with Senate foreign policy leaders on the extent of U.S. commitments under the proposed North Atlantic security pact.

Sen. Connally (D-Texas), chairman of the Foreign Relations committee which met with Acheson for three hours behind closed doors, told newsmen:

"We have gone over the North Atlantic pact with the secretary of state, and I think it is now in substantially the form which it will have finally."

No Formal Vote Taken

The committee took no formal vote on the pact. However, newsmen were given to understand that from the reaction of the members, Acheson would have reason to believe that he could proceed with negotiations with the other powers toward a final agreement on the basis of his draft. The first draft would again be submitted to the committee for approval.

In view of earlier statements by Connally and Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), it is believed that the pact, while committing the nations to come to the assistance of any victim of attack, would allow each nation to decide individually what form that assistance shall take.

Another Meeting Set

Chief issue has been refusal by U.S. legislators to consider any automatic commitment of this country to war. On the other hand, foreign signatories have feared that such limitation might weaken the pact's deterrent against aggression.

Acheson would not comment after the session, smiling "my lips are sealed."

Connally said Acheson would return for another committee session after he discussed the conclusions reached Friday with the ambassadors of the other affected powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada.

Norway, Denmark and Italy may join the allies later.

Diplomatic quarters said Acheson's meeting with the ambassa-

Red Police Slay Berlin Motorist

By GEORGE BRIA
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Feb. 18 — Gunfire crackled on Berlin's tense dividing line today as trigger-happy German police in the Soviet sector wounded two persons a few hours after shooting and killing a drunken motorist. All of the victims were Germans.

The same Russian-controlled police force also engaged in sporadic fist fights with passengers on subway and elevated trains. The American licensed newspaper Tagesspiegel denounced the shooting of the automobile driver as "murder."

All of the incidents grew out of the blockade-within-a-blockade which the Russians now are imposing on the western sectors of the city. The Soviet move is being bolstered by roadblocks built of paving stones and iron stanchions.

Today's scrape occurred when a vegetable dealer ignored a command to halt as he drove his truck toward the American sector.

The Soviet-controlled police fired four shots at the truck. The bullets missed the driver, but struck two bystanders—a German man and a 14-year-old girl. The girl suffered a leg wound and the man was hit in one hand. The truck escaped into the American sector.

Charles C. Bond, American public safety official, said the slaying of the motorist last night "comes close to being murder." He added:

"It was as least irresponsible

Philadelphia Transit Workers Reject Seven Cent Wage Boost

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18. (AP)—CIO union leaders shouted an emphatic "no" today to Mayor Bernard Samuel's plea that they accept a seven-cent fourth round wage boost and halt Philadelphia's eight-day transit strike.

The 1,500 miles of subway, bus and trolley lines operated by the Philadelphia Transportation company have been shut down since midnight Feb. 10 when the 11,000 members of the CIO Transport Workers union walked off their jobs in a wage fight.

By today the spread between the bottom demand and top offer had narrowed to six cents. The union asked 13, the company proposed seven. When the walkout began the union was demanding 25 cents, the PTC's offer was two.

High Winds And Snow Strike Montana Area

Sub-Zero Cold Front Blasts Plains States

(By The Associated Press)

A SNOW-charged sub-zero cold front hit the northern plains Friday, toppling temperatures as much as 52 degrees.

Strong winds carried their bite across the snow-laden expanses of Montana, Wyoming, and North and South Dakota, including most of the area where emergency relief operations have been continuous for nearly a month.

The storm had blizzard characteristics in parts of Montana. There, the snow was heavy and blinding at Great Falls, where an 18-mile wind swirled it at midday, and the temperature was one below zero.

Flood Danger Grows

Along the upper coastal lowlands of Washington and Oregon, local flooding of streams continued and residents worried about the greater flood prospects of warmer weather. Seattle's daytime temperatures were in the high 30 range, but it was cooler at Portland—slightly above the freezing mark.

The southwest had a mild day. There were general light rains over a considerable area of the Gulf states from Texas to western Georgia. The weather was mild and sunny in the southern plains, Great Lakes, Ohio valley and east coast regions.

Fifth Army's operation snowbound—that of opening roadways through the drifts of the blizzard-bound north plains region—reported its best progress during the past two days before the onset of the new storm.

Emergency Subsides

There were substantial signs that the extreme weather emergency has subsided in various areas. In northern New Mexico, the Federal Works agency ended the food lift to the Navajo Indian reservation Friday.

This followed completion of the

Bomber Able To Fly To Moscow In Five Hours, Is Claim

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—Senator Tydings (D-Md) said today the Air Force has a plane that could carry a 10,000 pound bomb load from Maine to Moscow in five hours. Later he identified the ship as the 600-mile an hour XB-47 jet bomber.

In his original remarks to department commanders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee said the plane he had in mind also could fly to Moscow, return to Maine and then go back to Moscow.

Statement Explained

Air Force experts said they knew of no such plane.

Tydings reached later at his office, told a reporter he was referring to the experimental jet bomber which recently broke speed records with a cross country west to east coast hop at an average of 607 miles per hour.

Tydings got out an air map of the direct polar route from Presque Isle, Me., to Moscow showing a distance above 3,000 miles. Some mileage charts indicate roughly 3,200 miles.

"What I intended to say was that if this bomber had a 10,000 mile range it could fly to Moscow and back and then start a third trip," Tydings said. "Obviously if it goes more than 600 miles an hour it could reach Moscow in five hours and a few minutes."

REDS GRAB FREIGHT CARS

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 18 (AP) — Soviet soldiers riding a locomotive made a quick sortie into U. S. occupation territory and hauled 31 freight cars into the Russian zone, the U. S. military government reported tonight. The incident occurred last night at Burggrub, in northern Bavaria, according to Lynn C. Keck, U. S. military governor for Kronach county.

Cold Front To Hit South Plains Today

Lubbock had its warmest day of the year Friday when the mercury swung to a springlike 70 degrees. The previous high was 69 degrees registered Jan. 6.

However the South Plains' warm spell appears near an end, the Weather station north of town reported. A cold front driving out of the snow-covered western plains states is expected to move across the South Plains this afternoon causing considerable drop in temperatures. No extreme cold is expected, the Weather station said.

Temperatures may drop as low as 26 degrees Sunday morning, and the high tomorrow may be held to 40 to 45 degrees, forecasters said, but readings below those figures are not anticipated.

Winds ranging in velocity from 15 to 25 miles an hour are foreseen this afternoon as the front arrives. Partly cloudy skies are forecast, but no precipitation is expected.

MAN SEEKS FUNDS FOR APPEAL

Lubbock County Jail Prisoner Offers To Sell Eye For $5,000

A 27-year-old prisoner in Lubbock county jail who earlier had offered to sell one of his eyes to finance an appeal from a five-year sentence in the state penitentiary, reiterated last night that he was, "dead serious" in his proposition.

The prisoner, Jimmie B. Cousins, made his original statement concerning his willingness to sell the eye in a letter addressed to The Avalanche-Journal Friday.

"I'm wondering," he said, "if you might get in touch with some blind person or an eye bank and arrange the sale of a 20/20 vision eye for me.

"I would want enough to carry out an appeal and have enough left for my wife and son to live on, in case I lose the appeal."

Friday Cousins confirmed his desire to sell the eye. "I've never been more serious in my life," he said. "I didn't do this for no publicity. I did it because I'm not guilty of the charge that they throwed five years on me for."

Cousins hadn't set a price on the eye—a blue one, incidentally—but Friday he said he would take $5,000 for it.

FBI records show, and Cousins admits, that he was convicted on

Opposition To Bonus Hinted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—President Truman reminded a group of veterans today that there are "certain limits" to which the financial structure of the government "can not be stretched."

Addressing top officials of the Veterans of Foreign Wars who called at his office, the President told them:

"I want you to bear that in mind very carefully when you are considering the welfare of the veteran."

The impromptu talk was made in Mr. Truman's oval room office when the VFW officials and the department commanders of the 48 states pledged their support to point four of his inaugural address.

Fought For Country

This was the point calling for a bold new program to make use of scientific skill and know-how for the improvement of undeveloped areas.

In his chatty talk, the President, a veteran himself and a VFW since 1919, told them:

"I hope that you can continue your constructive program. I hope it will be possible for you to help me to help the veterans of the country understand that this United States is theirs. They fought to maintain it."

Limitations Pointed Out

In order to maintain it, the President went on, "we must understand that it has certain limitations."

It was the President's second reference in 24 hours to the country's economic stability in connection with veterans affairs. His language today was more direct than it was last night when he told a gathering of veterans and congressmen that such stability must be preserved "in this crucial period of world history."

Today he did not refer specifically, however, to a bill by Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) of the House Veterans committee which would give $90-a-month pensions to all veterans of World War I and World War II when they reach the age of 65.

He said it is necessary for veterans to help maintain the government and to see that the gov-

WASHINGTON, Feb .18—In a table-thumping session today a leader of the National Association of Manufacturers defended the Taft-Hartley act and Democratic senators replied with an angry attack on the NAM.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) called the organization an "enemy of democracy." He said it is "the spearhead and symbol of reactionary business forces in this country which can't see beyond the end of their noses."

Ira Mosher, a director and former president of NAM, was testifying before the Senate Labor committee.

"It was the workers' sons who died on the battlefields while the sons of manufacturers stayed home and got rich!"

Mosher leaned forward and snapped: "Just a minute. I'm losing my temper."

Pepper said: "Well, lose it."

Masher said: "I lost three in my family during the war."

That didn't stop Pepper's rush of words.

The NAM official's three nephews were killed in World War II. He had two sons in the Armed services. One was a tail gunner who was shot down over the Philippines and was missing for one year.

Mysterious Blasts From Nearby Ordnance Plant Rock Iowa City

BURLINGTON, Ia., Feb. 18 (INS)—Another blast rocked Burlington today as a Chicago seismograph recording firm continued its probe into the "mysterious" explosions from the Iowa ordnance plant.

A member of the Burlington school board said Sunnyside school was severely shaken by an explosion.

The seismograph firm was hired by ordnance plant officials after Burlington residents claimed extensive damage has resulted from the secret blasting six miles away. Source of the explosions has not been revealed because of security reasons, officials said.

Eight Feared Crash Victims

By DAVID WILSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 18.—Eight Americans—seven Air Force men and a woman—were believed tonight to have been killed in a plane crash yesterday in the towering Andes mountains of northwest Argentina.

Freezing weather at the 17,000-foot altitude at which the twin-engined plane crashed and the reportedly charred condition of the wreckage all but blotted out hope for survivors.

A rescue plane piloted by Col. R. D. Knapp, chief of the United States air mission to Argentina, found it impossible to land a rescue party at the crash scene tonight.

Hope Dwindles

A group of Argentine gendarmes still struggled by land to reach the site. Residents said that a second night of exposure to the high altitude cold almost certainly would snuff out the lives of any survivors.

Reports from Salta, 60 miles from the scene, said that the airmen who had flown over the wreckage stated that the plane either caught fire or exploded in mid-air and that the passengers and crew must almost certainly have perished in the fiery fall to the mountain side.

Those aboard the plane which was flying from Panama to Argentina yesterday were:

Col. Gerald E. Williams, of Presque Isle, Me., assistant air attache in Buenos Aires.

Committee To Handle College Bond Sales

WACO, Feb. 18 (AP)—The sale of $60,000,000 in state bonds for 16 state supported colleges and universities will be planned by an advisory committee.

The committee was ordered formed here today at a meeting of regents and executives of the institutions. It will be composed of one representative from each of six governing boards that control the state schools.

Dudley K. Woodward, jr., chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, outlined major duties of the advisory committee as: Map plans and financial arrangements for sale, distribution, payment and distribution of any surplus of funds derived from issuance and sale of the estimated $60,000,000 in bonds.

The bond issue was authorized by a constitutional amendment passed in 1947. The amendment was recently upheld by the state supreme court.

The $60,000,000 fund will be allocated to the various colleges and universities for use in financing building programs.

The University of Texas is scheduled to receive $10,000,000; Texas A. and M. $5,000,000 and an estimated $45,000,000 is to be divided among the other 14 schools on a prorated basis of enrollment.

'The Communist Conspiracy In The U.S.'

A-Bomb Secrets May Have Gone To Spies

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Chief Investigator, House Un-American Activities Committee, 1938-1948; Edited by Bob Considine.)

ARTHUR Alexandrovich Adams, the Soviet agent who headed up the Communist Party's successful raids on U. S. A-bomb secrets, was followed by dozens of F.B.I. and Manhattan Project counter-espionage men during his years of work in America.

No. 15

But he faced arrest only once, our official report on him stated. The report added that all signs pointed to the fact he derived considerable information from Clarence Hiskey, his first known contact with an A-bomb scientist. He had less success with the man Hiskey named in his stead, after Manhattan Project security officers had negotiated with the Adjutant General to ship Hiskey out of the country, we declared.

Hiskey's successor was John Hitchcock Chapin. When Chapin and Hiskey met in a Cleveland hotel, just before Hiskey's reassignment, Chapin agreed to meet Adams. So that he would be sure to recognize the Red Agent, Chapin testified he gave Hiskey a key to give to Adams.

Later Met Suspect

Chapin later told the House Un-American Activities Committee he did eventually meet Adams, who handed him the key, but that he revealed no secret information to the Soviet agent. Chapin told the Committee he got "cold feet" at the last moment, but he subsequently was removed from an Air Force project by intelligence officers.

Hiskey, in his appearance before the Committee, was a reluctant witness. He refused to answer all pertinent questions "On the grounds that it may tend to degrade and incriminate me." He gave the same answer when we asked him to comment on the fact that after he met Adams a search of Adams' room revealed that the agent possessed highly secret information concerning the uranium plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Adams had interesting friends in this country, in addition to Samuel Novick, President of the Electronics Corporation of America., important war-contractor, and

More Feed, Less Cotton Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The Agriculture department today recommended big livestock feed grain crops again this year but a smaller crop of cotton.

Consumer demands for meat and poultry led the agency to set 1949 feed grain planting goals at about last year's level.

A cut of seven per cent in cotton acreage was urged because of present sizeable stocks.

Goals Not Binding

The corn goal was set at 86,000,000 acres, cotton at 21,894,000 and oats at 44,500,000. The goals for corn and oats were the same as last year's plantings. The largest feed grain crop in history was produced on last year's acreage.

The goal's are purely advisory. The department had previously announced that it would not invoke planting allotments or marketing quotas on these crops this year. It said, however, production controls may be necessary in 1950 to prevent accumulation of surpluses.

Previously announced goals and those set up today brings the total recommended for all crops to 365,100,000 acres. This compares with 370,700,000 planted last year. This year's actual acreage, however, is expected to be considerable above the goal because of prospects of a wheat acreage of 9,000,000 acres more than the wheat goal of 72,000,000 acres.

Other goals announced today include: Barley 13,500,000 acres or about two per cent more than last year; grain sorghums 13,600,000 or about 200,000 less than last year; dry edible beans 1,800,000 or nine per cent less than last year.

On the subject of cotton Agriculture Secretary Brannan said:

"The national goal for cotton is 21,984,000 acres, the same as the

Canadian River Dam Project Is Given Backing By Top Officials

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Plans for pushing legislation to build a dam across the Canadian river in the Texas Panhandle were outlined today to Secretary of the Interior Krug and Reclamation Bureau officials, who said they would support measures toward such a project.

Texas officials, congressmen and other high officials attended a dinner meeting in the capital arranged by Cong. Eugene Worley of the Amarillo district, for the purpose of discussing the proposed project.

Mayor Lawrence Hagy of Amarillo and Clarence Whiteside, city commissioner of Lubbock and representing Mayor W. H. Rodgers of that city, were among those present.

Long range plans for the Canadian river call for construction of one or more dams and conduits to supply water for irrigation, industrial and municipal purposes. A previous Army Engineers study of the proposal had found that flood control benefits alone were not sufficient to justify the project, Whiteside was quoted as say-

No Cause For Jitters Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—Two high government officials said today they see no reason for alarm over the nation's economic outlook.

One cautioned against "jitters;" the other acknowledged the latest figure of nearly 3,000,000 jobless represents more than just seasonal unemployment.

These were the major developments in a day that saw government, business and labor leaders discussing the economic picture on many fronts:

1. Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, top economic adviser to President Truman, said the United States is going through a period of "healthy disinflation," but warned any trend toward panic might lead to a recession.

Controls Are Opposed

2. Ewan Clague, the government's chief labor statistician, said despite increases in unemployment, he couldn't see any cause for worry unless the number jumps to 5,000,000 and stays there.

3. Several business leaders, testifying before the Senate-House Economic committee, spoke out against President Truman's request for standby price-ration controls as an irritant to business.

4. But the CIO applauded the administration's economic proposals, including Mr. Truman's request for authority to build steel plants if necessary to provide enough steel. The CIO said if industry is "unable or unwilling to do the job," the government must step in.

Seasonal Drop Cited

Commissioner Clague of the Bureau of Labor Statistics told newsmen when March and April hiring begins to revive the construction business and Easter trade, "we'll be able to tell better just where we are going."

Clague said his "general conviction" is employment will not dip abnormally in the coming spring.

The federal official noted there was a drop of 1,750,000 workers in non-agricultural jobs between mid-December and mid-January. Part of this was seasonal, he said, but the overall decline was greater than normal.

Robert G. Goodwin, director of the Bureau of Employment Security, reported the number of peo-

Farmers Report Wells Stripped

Police and other Lubbock law enforcement officials Friday observed an unusually quiet day and night, with thefts and the usual number of misdemeanor offenses as the only violations reported.

Mrs. Blanche Clayton, manager of the PX book store at 1116 Ave. L reported to police the theft of a billfold containing $27 in cash and valuable personal papers from her purse in the store. The purse was lying on a desk at the rear of the store and the theft was not discovered for several hours.

Irrigation Wells Stripped

Two irrigation well stripping offenses were reported to the sheriff's department, making several such offenses in recent weeks.

S. J. Marchall, who lives on the Slide road, reported a generator, starter, oil bath cleaner and battery stolen from his wellhouse, and H. R. Perry of Lubbock route 3 said his irrigation wellhouse had been burglarized and a generator removed from the engine.

A set of golf clubs was reported stolen Friday morning from a residence at 2001 Ninth. The owner, identified as Mrs. Moore, said they were taken from a front porch. Both woods and irons were in a canvas golf bag, she added.

Lorenzo Man Fined

Pier Loftis, 37, of Lorenzo was fined $50 and county court costs on a plea of guilty of aggravated assault. A woman named in the complaint failed to appear at a peace bond hearing growing out of the same case, and Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn dismissed the action, he said.

Others on the panel were Norma Smith and Scotty McCoy, senior high school students; Gene Roy Powers and Newma Timms, Tech students; and Mrs. Tillinghast, leader.

Approximately 100 person attended. Room count was won by Mrs. Holt's room.

American Business Club Hears Talk On Roman Money System

Tracing the rise and fall of the great Roman empire through its money system, John Lee Smith, Lubbock attorney and former lieutenant governor, declared in a talk Friday at the American Business club luncheon at the Hilton hotel "that above all things today we must sustain the stability of our currency."

"The vast Roman empire was built because the Romans created a common commerce that was based on the value of Romany money," Smith said. He displayed a trayful of old Roman coins that he has collected over the world in the past decade.

"Not until the Caesars began to reduce the gold content of Roman coins did the great empire begin its decline," Smith said. "Whenever the people who spoke 17 different languages in that vast empire found out they weren't getting their money's worth in the gold in the Roman coins, they began to lose faith in the government of the Caesars.

"Someone has said in the last analysis a nation's money is equivalent to a man's blood," Smith said. "When there are too many white corpusles and not enough red corpusles in the blood a man becomes weak and anemic and is susceptible to any disease which might attack him."

At the close of Smith's talk, his audience inspected the various coins in his unique collection. Shelby Sinclair, jr., Greenville and Elbert Touchstone, Amarillo, were out-of-town guests at the luncheon.

Prohibition Group Threatens To Punish 'Wet' Legislators In '50

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 18. (U.P.)—Directors of the United Drys association indirectly threatened Friday to punish "wet" legislators when the 1950 election rolls around.

Pledging a full-scale war against efforts to call a special election on repeal, the directors said they also have this objective: to elect legislators in 1950 who favor county option on 3.2 beer and stronger prohibition enforcement.

The directors met at the First Methodist church here to map strategy against the repeal forces, which hope to get the prohibition issue on the ballot during the current legislative session.

If the issue is submitted in a general election, it will require a majority of all votes cast in the election to pass—thus losing the "silent" vote. In a special election the "silent" vote is not counted.

Crosby Residents Plan Road Discussion At Open Meeting

LORENZO, Feb. 18. (Special)—Seeking a solution to the problem of unpaved roads in the west part of Crosby county, residents of the area will discuss the situation at a mass meeting called for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Lorenzo Implement company building here.

The last four weeks of slogging through soggy country roads has convinced most residents that action for relief is necessary, leaders of the movement said, adding that preliminary plans call for building of at least 28 miles of hard surfaced roads north and south from here.

The proposal would require a bond issue of about $200,000 that would extend over probably a 30-year period. The public was invited to attend the Saturday meeting.

Medical Group Criticizes Doctors Who Opposed Campaign Fund

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Leaders of the American Medical association Thursday sharply criticized 136 physicians who last week protested a $25 AMA assessment to fight compulsory health insurance legislation.

The association leaders' reply said that "the circulation and issuance of the doctors' protest is an unfortunate disservice to the cause of the medical profession of the United States.

"It is not based on knowledge or fact as to the policies or activities of the American Medical association."

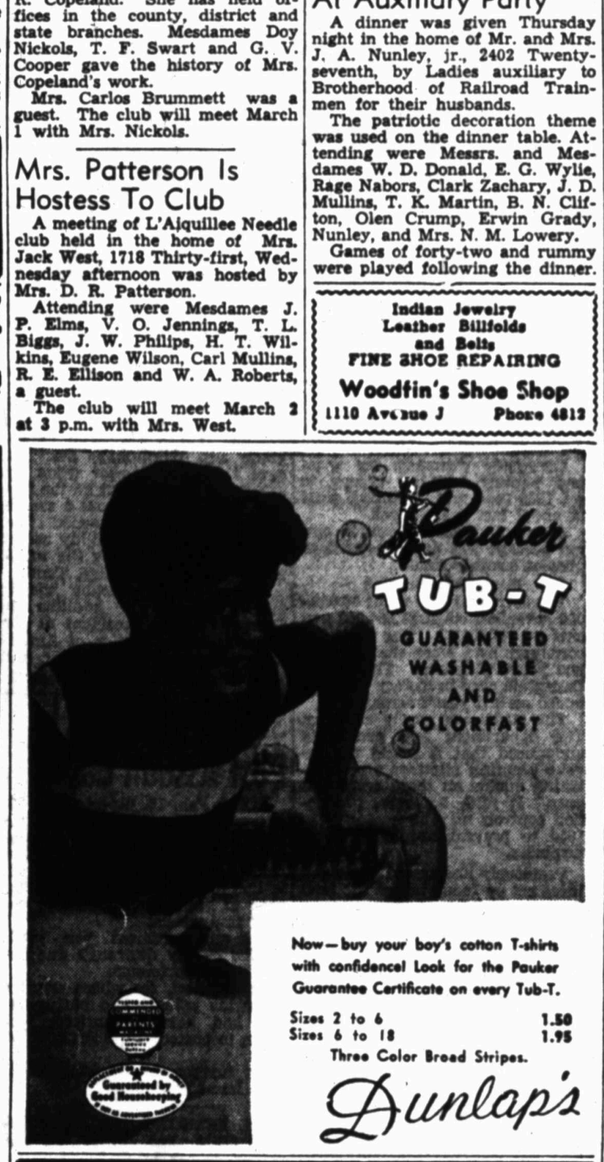

The rebuff, signed by all of the association's officers and directors, was published in the current journal of the AMA.

U.S. Is Forced Into Frank But Uncomfortable Stand On Trieste

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The United States is taking a frank if not very comfortable position on the Trieste issue, which has been reopened by Russia's offer to accept the appointment of a governor whom she once turned down.

Creation of a free state, under a governor appointed by the United Nations Security Council and subject to it, was agreed upon two years ago. No agreement on a governor could be reached. Times changed. The Allies finally proposed, just before last year's Italian elections, that the territory be returned to Italy. Russia disagreed.

Embarrasses Allies

Things have just rocked along, with Yugoslavia occupying part of the rural area with about 5,000 men backed by 100,000 more at home, and the U. S. and Britain each keeping 5,000 men in the city area.

Now Russia proposes implementation of the treaty and appointment of a governor whom she spurned in September 1947. She knows it won't be done. But by making the proposal she embarrasses the traditional Anglo-American regard for the sanctity of treaties.

The State department answer is that creation of the free state and removal of Allied troops under the treaty would probably produce a Communist effort to take over by force.

Hits Tito's Hopes

The State department reiterates the Allied intention of returning the area to Italy despite the treaty. But I got a strong impression in Trieste last fall that, actually, nothing will be done anytime soon.

The Allied sector operates now almost exactly like an Italian province. There is close liaison between its civil government and Rome.

Incidentally, the Russians may consider this latest move a two-way sword. For, while embarrassing the Allies, it also strikes at Tito's hopes. The Reds, who have supported his claims to Austrian territory in order to throw a monkey wrench into Austrian treaty talks at London, have served notice with the other hand that they can also abandon him when it suits their purpose. So this might also be a part of the "cold war within a cold war" between Tito and the Cominform.

Certain Substitutes For Salt Recalled By Food Authorities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (INS)—The Federal Food and Drug administration announced tonight that certain salt substitutes used in salt-free diets are being recalled from the market because their use has resulted in three known deaths and several injuries.

The administration said the salt substitutes contain lithium chloride, and described it as "poisonous." The government agency said it had requested the withdrawal and that the companies concerned are complying.

The announcement, also directed to physicians, hospitals and druggists, cautioned that the substitutes still may be in some homes and residual stocks may be available in retail centers.

The administration said lithium chloride has been used in some salt-free bread by bakeries and as a salt substitute in these preparations:

Westsal, also known as Wessal, produced by Westwood Pharmaceutical division of Foster-Milbrun Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; Foodsal, produced by Foods Plus, Inc., New York, N. Y.; and Salti-Salt, produced by Leuth's Bakery, Kansas City, Mo.

The administration explained that the early symptoms of lithium chloride poisoning are similar to those of heart and kidney diseases, which also require a salt-free diet.

These were described as drowsiness, weakness, loss of appetite, nausea, tremors of the extremities, blurring of vision and coma.

It suggested that intravenous injections of sodium chloride solution by a physician may aid the treatment of afflicted persons.

Defense Turns Against 'Sally'

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Testimony of a defense witness backfired at the "Axis Sally' treason trial today when an ex-G.I. charged Mildred E. Gillars threatened U. S. war prisoners who refused to aid her Nazi broadcasts.

The greying, American-born "Sally," siren voice of Germany's psychological warfare, faces a possible death sentence if found guilty.

The witness, Gunnar Drangsholt, of Chicago, was called to testify in behalf of "Sally" by Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin.

Claimed Threat Made

Drangsholt said that "Sally" warned Yank captives who spurned her request that they were "most ungrateful" and would "regret" their refusal. Drangsholt glared at "Sally" and shouted:

"She threatened us as we left—that American citizen, that woman right there!"

Laughlin cried out that he wanted to "impeach the witness."

Another defense witness, German-born Frank Schaeffer, said the Nazis threatened "Sally" herself when she tried to quit the German radio.

Schaeffer testified that the broadcasting studios where Miss Gillars worked were guarded by Nazi stormtroopers and Gestapo agents in plain clothes.

Discussion Related

Schaeffer was called by the defense in support of Laughlin's claim that "Sally" acted under German compulsion when she made her broadcasts aimed at collapsing American morale.

Drangsholt told the jury that he met Miss Gillars in March, 1944, at the notorious German Stalag 11-B prison camp.

The Chicagoan said Miss Gallars told him she was "An American citizen doing things of loyalty and patriotism toward America." He added that she said she was "on the right side and being paid by the German government for her services."

Drangsholt said he asked her: "Isn't it strange that you, an American are allowed to float about Germany while we Americans are locked up?"

Drangsholt added that she told him that "she was permitted to do this by the Germans and that she had high ideals and was doing the right thing."

Marine Corps Reserve Makes Plans To Boost Membership

A newly organized Marine Corps Reserve Unit held its second meeting at the Naval Armory on the Tech campus Thursday night.

An informal group discussion was held on ways and means of increasing the membership of the organization. A committee consisting of Leete Jackson, Miss Marie Miles and Billie Creagh was appointed by Capt. J. B. Joiner, commander of the organization, to look into the possibility of advertising through radio, newspapers, posters and public appearances.

The Reserve Retirement plan, the non-compulsory two weeks paid training program held annually in California and free Marine Corps correspondence courses were also thoroughly discussed.

Joseph J. Smith, Lloyd D. Hampton, D. Edwin Hampton and Joe F. Gaylor were sworn in as new members of the unit. Old members present were Leete Jackson, Miss Marie Miles, Riley Carlton, J. B. Joiner, Billie Creagh, Charles Beeson, Jack Simpson, Floyd Allen, and Murry Jones.

The next scheduled meeting will be held in the Naval Armory Thursday, Feb. 24 at 7:30 p.m. A movie, "West of Waikiki" will be shown. All men who are interested are cordially invited.

Georgia Hen Produces Freak Egg Ten And One-Half Inches Long

BALDWIN, Ga., Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Connie N. Watts reported today that one of his Buff Orpington laying hens had produced a three-in-one egg 10½ inches long.

The hen fruit monstrosity contained three well-developed eggs with eight yolks in all, Watts said.

The outer egg measures six inches around the middle, he said. Inside was another egg, including shell, that was six inches in circumference and in the center was a third. The two largest eggs had three yolks each while the third contained two yolks.

Watts lamented that he hasn't the slightest idea which of his hens produced the big egg.

Dallas WAA Office Announces 50 Per Cent Cut In Personnel

DALLAS, Feb. 18 (AP) — The Dallas office of the War Assets administration, serving a five-state area, today slashed its personnel 50 per cent.

The payroll was reduced from 430 to 215 persons in line with WAA's liquidation program launched more than a year ago.

Col. Karl E. Wallace, regional director, said the skelton crew of clerks remaining is adequate to serve the Southwestern region. Very little war surplus or real property remains on the WAA inventories, he said.

Final liquidation of the agency, which had been scheduled for Feb. 28, would be extended to June 30 under a bill which passed the Senate yesterday, Wallace said.

The Dallas office serves Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Oklahoma.

Navy Officer Relieved From Command For Talk About Solon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (INS)—Navy Secretary Sullivan Friday relieved Navy Capt. Ross Dierdorff of his command for asserting that Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.), is a "politician not fit for the admiral to wipe his shoes on."

The action brought to light a controversy between Kilgore and Adm. B. H. Bieri, recently transferred from the command of the 11th Naval District at San Diego to the United Nations as a Navy consultant.

Kilgore had demanded that Bieri declare Tia Juana, Mexico, "off limits" to Navy men because of what the senator termed its "immoral influences."

Bieri declined and Kilgore announced that Bieri's transfer to the UN was due to his stand on the Tia Juana request.

Dierdorff, 11th district public relations officer and a regular Navy officer for 30 years, made the following comment on Bieri's transfer:

"It's a shame that the career of one of the finest Navy officers I've known has to be slurred by a politician not fit for the admiral to wipe his shoes on."

Sullivan said that Dierdorff had been "indiscreet."

Tech Gains Hectic 53 To 51 Loop Win Over New Mexico

Fast Contest In Doubt Until Final Whistle

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Accuracy from the free throw line gave the Texas Tech basketball team a hectic 53-51 Border Conference victory over New Mexico university last night, but the game was in doubt up to the final whistle.

Despite loss of two men, one ejected by Referee Whitey Baccus and the other lost on fouls, both in the final minute and forty seconds of the game, the Lobos made it too hot for comfort. They still were very much in the game when time ran out.

Stage Late Rally

Tech's Red Raiders had sputtered along on four cylinders much of the game, coming to life late in the first half to go off the floor with a two-point lead. In the final canto it was the same story, with the Lobos pressing them.

Finally, with the score 40-35 against them after more than eight minutes of play, the Raiders found the range. Wimpy Hill went in for a crip shot and Ardis Barton followed with a long set shot to make it 40-39, New Mexico. Hill then put the game in the hands of the Raiders by sinking two free throws.

Don Grove followed with a hook shot at 11:10 and Barton sank another one-hand set shot to run the count to 45-40 with 12 minutes gone.

Ned Wallace tipped in a follow to make it 45-42 and Pablo White converted from the charity line to make it 45-43. Grove countered with a hook shot for a 47-43 lead, but Bill Weger sank a charity toss and White dumped in a long one-handed push shot that narrowed the count to 47-46.

Gibson sank a free throw and Grove followed with another, after which Jiggs Jackson flipped a long set shot through the hoops to make it 51-46 at 17:20.

The Lobos weren't through. Larry Hess sank a running one-hander to make it 51-48 and a minute later, Brown went out of the game for popping off to the referee, Jackson sinking the technical foul. Weger sank a foul on Jackson, who broke up a crip shot effort and a foul was called on a New Mexico substitute, who allegedly swore at the referee. Jackson sank it to run the count to 53-49.

Tech attempted to stall, but Wallace stole the ball and hooked a crip shot with a minute left. The Raiders successfully stalled 20 seconds later and held the ball until the end, despite numerous fouls.

It was a game for the crowd, which was on its feet cheering most of the time. Grove had scoring honors for the night with 17 points on five field goals and seven free throws, but was pressed by Weger with 15 and Wallace with 14.

Brownfield Trounces Borger Five, 40-26

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 18. (Special)—Brownfield bounced out of the cellar in the District 1-AA basketball standings tonight by downing Borger, 40-26, in the last game of the season.

The victory gave Brownfield an 2-8 won and loss record in district competition, one game ahead of last place Plainview.

The Brownfield quintet led at the half, 16-10, and behind the steady shooting of Glenn Gorby, who scored 13 points, moved out in front in the last period. Kim Ritchey was runner-up for Brownfield with 12 markers, and Hooper of Borger hit the hoop for 10.

In the B team game, Borger defeated Brownfield, 40-36.

Oklahoma City Nine Signs Charles Sides

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—Charles Sides, former Carter-Riverside high school athlete here, has been signed to a profesional baseball contract, it was announced today.

Puss Ervin, Cleveland Indian scout, said his contract is with the Oklahoma City club in the Texas league, a farm outlet of the Indians.

Sides, handicapped by leg injuries last fall in football, was an outstanding all-around sports figure in high school. He lettered three years in football, three in baseball, and two in track. He also has run the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds.

He will report to Oklahoma City training camp in Marshall on March 10.

George Markis, national collegiate 175-pound boxing champion at Wisconsin in 1943, is coaching Michigan State's boxers.

Westerners To Meet Pampa Today

District 1-AA Title At Stake

The District 1-AA basketball championship will be at stake today when Lubbock meets Pampa at 3 o'clock in Burton gym at Canyon.

Both teams will be keyed up to a high pitch for the contest. Pampa will be seeking the fourth straight victory this year over the Westerners, and the Lubbock quintet will be out to topple the high-flying Harvesters off the pedestal which they occupy after defeating Amarillo Thursday night, 37-34.

GAME TO BE BROADCAST
Radio Station KCBD will carry a direct play-by-play broadcast of the Lubbock-Pampa District 1-AA title game for all Westerner rooters who were unable to get to the game. The broadcast will start at 2:45 o'clock.

You might say that the Westerners have everything to gain, and nothing to lose, since Pampa has beaten them, 30-29, in the Brownwood tournament, and 32-22 and 34-32, in district competition, but that is not the case. No district title is taken lightly.

Players Are Confident

The Lubbock team has felt all year that it could beat Pampa, and the boys are looking forward to the game with determination and the will to win. They defeated Amarillo twice, and the same Amarillo club defeated Pampa two times. Pampa turned the tables on Amarillo Thursday, and the Westerners feel that this time they will defeat Pampa.

By drawing the bye Wednesday morning which put Lubbock into the finals without a playoff, it was felt that luck was with the locals. Coach Roy Morris said earlier that he hoped the luck continued.

The team went through heavy workouts Wednesday and Thursday at Chapman field house, and Friday went to Canyon to practice on the court where the tie-breaking game will take place.

Heading the Westerner attack at forwards are Charles Galey and Jimmy Sexton. Jim Wilson is at center, and Bob Rooker and Morris Turner will probably start at the guard posts.

Galey led the scoring over the season by making 307 points in 25 games, 126 in district contests. Wilson scored 213 markers for the year with 95 coming in conference games.

The expected starters for Pampa are James Gallemore and Bill Bond at forwards, Derral Davis at center, and Malcom Douglas and Jim Howard at the guard positions.

CHILDRESS DROPS WICHITA FALLS FOR 2-AA CROWN

CHILDRESS, Feb. 18. (Special)—Championship of District 2-AA went to the Childress Bobcats here tonight on a thrilling 47-46 victory over Wichita Falls.

By winning, Childress earned the right to meet the winner of the Lubbock-Pampa game in the bi-district playoffs. Lubbock or Pampa will gain the right to represent District 1-AA.

The game tonight was a ding-dong battle all the way, with first one team and then the other leading. Seldom over two points separated the quintets and the score was tied at 20-all at the half.

The Coyotes scored first, but Childress edged into a narrow 6-5 margin at the end of the first period. Furious play by both teams resulted in a deadlock at the intermission.

Wichita came back after the rest period to forge a 34-33 lead at the end of the third period, but could not maintain its advantage in the hectic final canto. Midway through the period Childress took the lead and staved off a last minute Coyote rally to insure the victory.

Three Teams Move Up In Ralls Meet

Three quarter-final games were unreeled last night in the Ralls Independent Basketball tournament, and Derrick Service, Matador, and Levelland advanced to the semi-finals.

At 7 o'clock tonight, Ralls plays Derrick, and Matador is scheduled to play Levelland at 8. The final game, between the two winning semi-finalists, will start at 9 o'clock.

Jack Durham scored 10 points for Derrick Service, but Deacon Johnson led the individual scorers with 13 markers for Blue Flame, as Derrick Service defeated Blue Flame, 33-31.

Matador was too much for Lumber Bin and won going away, 35-24. Porter Willis and Glenn Brotherton scored 12 points each to equal the total score for Lumber Bin. Harold Roades hit nine points for the losers.

In the final game Levelland completely outclassed Littrells and smothered them under a 61-25 score. Harold Thurman did most of the damage for Levelland, connecting for 15 points while Wally Fowler pitched in 10 markers for the losing quintet.

Rice Owls Gain Easy 62 To 44 Triumph Over TCU Horned Frogs

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—Big Bill Tom led the Rice Owls to an easy 62-44 victory over the TCU Horned Frogs here tonight. The towering veteran dropped 11 field goals and six gift shots into the mesh for 28 points, one of the season's highs.

The Owls led all the way to keep their chance at the Southwest Conference title alive. With Warren Switzer hitting from far out in the early stages, they jumped into a 23-13 margin. The Frogs rallied a bit but trailed 33-24 at the half.

ANTELOPES DOWN BULLDOGS, 58-35

Abernathy Gains District 3-A Title With Victory Over Spur

ABERNATHY, Feb. 18 (Special)—Abernathy's High school basketball team won the District 3-A conference championship here tonight with a 58-35 victory over Spur's Bulldogs.

Abernathy had gained the finals by licking Floydada, the loss eliminating the Whirlwinds, since Spur had beaten them the night before. But both Abernathy and Spur will go to the regional tournament.

The regional meet will be held Thursday through Saturday at Canyon, with Class A schools in this area competing for the right to go to the state tournament.

Esten Blackman again paced the winning Antelopes tonight, pitching 22 points through the hoops. The valuable Abernathy player has been the sparkplug of the team throughout the series. He received able help from his teammates, including Bill Hughes, who wound up with 13 points.

Lindsey again led the Spur quintet, getting 14 points and Simpson had eight.

Abernathy was in charge from start to finish, taking the lead and never relinquishing it. The Antelopes took a 10-9 advantage at the end of the first period, shot into a 22-19 margin at the half and really poured fuel on the fire in the third period. During this canto they hit 19 points to go into a 41-28 lead and never were threatened after that.

The winning quintet turned in a fine defensive game as well. This is attested to by their holding Spur to nine points in both the first and third periods, to 10 in the second and only seven in the final canto.

Meanwhile the Antelopes warmed up slowly and then set a torrid pace. They hit 10 points the first period, 12 the second, a blistering 19 the third and a strong 17 in the final period.

Boyce Box, a West Texas State Teachers college graduate in his first year of coaching, has directed the Antelopes to 20 victories in 24 starts. Three of the losses were on the home court and both Floydada and Spur beat them here.

New Home Beats Smyer, 44 To 31

NEW HOME, Feb. 18. (Special)—The New Home basketball tournament moved one step nearer completion Friday night as two games were played here.

New Home put on a last quarter spurt to down Smyer, 44-31, in a game that was close all the way. Smyer led at the half, 17-13, and held the advantage throughout the third period. But going into the final frame, New Home overtook Smyer and went out in front.

Kent McClintock looped in 12 points for the winners, and Maurice Pair collected 13 markers for the losing Snyder team.

In the other feature game, Ropesville was pushed to win over Wellman, 40-37. The Wellman squad made a ball game out of the contest and were never more than a few points behind in the game.

In a girls exhibition game, New Home defeated Smyer, 46-23, behind the 18-point shooting of Colleene Savage. Simms of Smyer collected 10 tallies.

It was Thompsons first setback in the South Plains Junior High School league, and puts the two teams in a tie with one loss each.

The Redskins held a 17-13 halftime lead, but Slaton came back strong in the second half to take the lead and go ahead by four points. Slaton subdued the Cowboys and had a three-point margin with three minutes remaining in the contest.

The high man for Carroll Thompson was Jack Hawkins with 11 points, and Bo Sexton and Jimmy Crawford of the Redskins garnered nine points each.

The Warriors of O. L. Slaton defeated Thompson's Calfropers in a preliminary game, 25-12, as Mikie Brady turned in a magnificent performance by hitting the basket for 17 points. Don Mitchell scored five points for the Calfropers.

Rain Halts Play In Houston Open Event

HOUSTON, Feb. 18. (AP) — A heavy rain cancelled today's second round of the $10,000 Houston Open golf tournament and washed out a beautiful nine-under-par 63 scored by Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md.

The former PGA champion and 44 others who managed to complete their rounds saw their scores erased as 97 other players were caught in the down pour.

Second round play will start again, weather permitting, tomorrow, with the 60 low scorers entering the 36-hole finals Sunday.

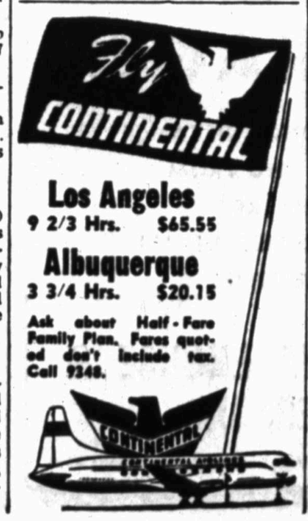

Hamilton's 34-29—63, combined with yesterday's first round 34-34—68, would have given him a 131 score, 13 under regulation for the 6510 yard, par 72 layout.

John Palmer, Badin, N. C., finished second among those who saw today's efforts go into the record books only as practice rounds. He was six strokes behind Hamilton with a 67-70—137.

Tied at 138 were Jim Turnesa, Briar Cliff, N. Y., the first round leader, and Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, who tied for fourth spot yesterday.

Jenkins, a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce No. 2 team, hit seven strikes to finish out his first game in the Commercial Bowling League. It gave him a pin total of 222 for his first frame.

He returned to pick up 10 straight strikes in the second frame. On the eleventh ball, the 10-pin teetered, but refused to go down, Jenkins finishing with a spare.

But his 289 pinfall for the second frame (300 is a perfect game) was the highest rolled on a Lubbock alley this year in a recognized league.

Jenkins finished with a 192 in the third frame, which he started with three strikes for a total of 20 for the night, and had a 703 total pinfall.

The second year bowler, about 24, was rolling at the Lubbock Bowling club alleys.

Top American, Foreign Stars In Track Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—The indoor track and field season comes to a climax tomorrow night with the American Championships bringing together an international field.

Olympians from seven foreign countries will compete with more than 300 stars of the United States in the 61st annual indoor meet to be staged at Madison Square Garden by the Amateur Athletic union.

As a result, there is a possibility that half a dozen of this country's indoor titles will depart to foreign lands.

While the foreigners are hardly likely to grab all six events in which they are entered, they are favored to capture at least three—the 1,000-yard, one-mile and three-mile runs.

Best competitive race of the night may be the 600-yard run. This will bring together George Guida of Villanova, who set a new world indoor record at 500 yards last week; Herb McKenley of Jamaica, world quarter-mile record holder; Dave Bolen of Boulder, Colo., the defending champion; Jack Hammack of Army and Frank Fox of Seton Hall, among others.

The senior championships at night will be preceded in the afternoon by the national AAU indoor high and prep school meet.

There has been no mention as to whether any possible new members will be considered at the forthcoming meeting.

LEVELLAND, Feb. 18. (Special)—Sudan High school, of District 4-A's north division, took a long lead in the district playoffs here today by turning in a pair of victories without defeat.

Sudan romped to a 38-26 victory over Post to open the afternoon festivities and returned at night to nose out Sundown, 43-40. Sundown, also of the north half, turned in a 38-35 victory over O'Donnell in the other afternoon game.

O'Donnell opened the night's play with a 35-22 victory over Post that virtually eliminated the losers from the round robin. Post lost both of its games, while Sundown and O'Donnell wound up the day's play with one victory and one defeat apiece.

Saturday afternoon at 1:30, Sundown plays O'Donnell. The loser of that game meets Post at 7:30 p. m. to open the night round, with the winner of the Sundown-O'Donnell game playing Sudan at 9 p. m.

Buddy Brock of O'Donnell had scoring honors with 14 points, while James Clark had 11 for the winners.

Brock returned to lead O'Donnell to its 35-22 victory over Post, getting 12 points. Jack and Kay Kirkpatrick each had eight points for the losers.

AMONG them, we reported officially, were Victoria Stone, operator now of a New York jewelry store which Adams helped to finance; Julius Heiman, a steel importer whose daughter worked for TASS (Soviet news agency) and who was a friend of Earl Browder; Eric Bernay, former advertising manager of the New Masses and phono-recorder of Communist Hanns Eisler's so-called revolutionary music, and Pavel Mikhailov, Vice Consul of the USSR's consulate general in New York.

On October 25, 1944, at the height of America's intensive and costly experiments in atomic energy and the A-bomb, Mikhailov provided the automobile in which Adams carried a fat brief case to the consulate.

In February, 1945, six months before the test of the first A-bomb, Adams tried to leave the United States. He emerged casually from the apartment of Miss Stone in New York, walking a dog, then suddenly shook off his FBI followers by releasing the dog and hopping into a passing cab.

Finally Made Getaway

It was soon discovered that Berney had made arrangements for Adams to travel to Portland, Ore., "on business" but had made no hotel reservations for him there. The FBI picked up Adams' trail again in Chicago. By the time he reached the Portland pier where a Soviet ship was ready to sail, he was surrounded by FBI men. He walked to within 15 feet of the gangplank but, apparently knowing that he would finally be picked up if he set foot aboard, he turned around and came back to New York unmolested. In New York he was able to give the agents the slip, and is now believed to be in Russia.

The conclusion is inescapable that he escaped with a considerable amount of A-bomb information, either in document form or in his head. It was information which we believe was of great help to the Russians in their own A-bomb research. It is not an opinion which the House Committee holds alone.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that there was continued and persistent and well-organized espionage against the United States and particularly against the atom bomb project, by a foreign power with which we were not at war, and its misguided and traitorous domestic sympathizers," Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the A-bomb project, told the committee.

Due to a Presidential directive which prohibits Americans in his position to discuss with the committee, or anyone else, matters which might shed information on the loyalty or integrity of other Americans, Groves could add little more. But what he did add was instructive.

"I would say 'yes,'" he replied to my question as to whether the Red conspiracy against our A-bomb know-how was a widespread one. "I would like to refer you to the Canadian spy report which, I think, gives an idea as to their activities in Canada.

"All you have to do is to take the relative size and importance of the United States to Canada and just guess."

Groves informed President Roosevelt about the Communist efforts shortly before the President met with Stalin at Yalta. After Roosevelt's death, he informed President Truman.

Groves' lips, as I say, and those of others who know the story, have been sealed by the Presidential directive. But the committee feels that the people should know just how much information was stolen about a weapon which we developed and against which the people have no defense.

It seems likely that Adams and others were not picked up at the time for fear of offending Russia. If that is so, then my mind inevitably recalls the committee's experience with Japanese espionage in the months before Pearl Harbor. On July 1, 1941, we were prepared to expose the fact that the Japanese knew about our warship movements, were using Japanese Navy officers on radio-equipped fishing craft operating near Pearl Harbor, and had set up elaborate espionage cells on the Pacific Coast.

But we were balked by the State department and the Attorney General when we attempted to hold such hearings.

Curiously, it was our efforts to inquire more deeply into the scope of the Red attack on our atomic knowledge which led us to the startling Hiss-Chambers case. We reached that climax of the committee's services through our work in connection with Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards.

Chairman Thomas and Dr. Condon first clashed when they stood on opposite sides of the congressional debate over whether military men or civilians should control our post-war atomic energy and A-bomb program.

In the course of his support of the military for this role, Thomas received a letter from a former security officer in the Manhattan Engineering district project (and now a ranking official of the Atomic Energy commission) urging him to inquire into Condon's record. My branch of the committee staff was ordered to conduct the investigation. That letter stated that the F.B.I. file on Condon would be "enlightening."

We soon discovered that Condon had quit the A-bomb project after a short period of work at Los Alamos, N. M., because of his objection to security regulations. We further discovered that he had then been strongly recommended for his present important post by Henry Wallace, who failed to consult either Vannevar Bush or Dr. Lyman Briggs, who normally passed on such appointments.

A trip which Dr. Condon planned to make to Russia had been stopped at the last moment by the Army, and his passport withheld.

In May, 1947, the Commerce department, under which the National Bureau of Standards operates, began to check on Condon's loyalty. It requested a report from the F.B.I., which was forwarded by J. Edgar Hoover in March, 1948. It was not a favorable letter.

Maintained Close Contacts

Paradoxically, during the long period of the check-up, Dr. Condon was not cleared by the Atomic Energy commission to share atomic secrets. But throughout the period he was in charge of all atomic scientists and technicians working for the Bureau of Standards. His office was also active in urging his scientists to join the American-Soviet Science society, a subsidiary of the National Council for Soviet-American Friendship, Inc., judged by the attorney general to be a subversive organization.

The F.B.I. letter mentioned Condon's friendship and that of his wife with a number of suspected persons, named and unnamed. One of these latter, we soon discovered, was Nathan Silvermaster, who was undergoing questioning by a N. Y. grand jury. It is a name to remember.

Chairman Thomas, then confined to Walter Reed hospital in Washington, was eager to release such information as we possessed on Condon. I objected on the grounds that Condon should be heard first. But a sub-committee, which met with Rep. Thomas, who was wheeled down to the hospital conference in a chair, voted unanimously to reveal what we had. The result was the explosive report in which Condon was called the "weakest link" in our atomic security.

Condon demanded the immediate hearing, to which I still believe he is entitled. But, on the other hand, there were reasons why the committee could not hear him.

President Truman ordered the F.B.I. letter concerning Condon brought to the White House, where it still reposes. Congress voted 10-to-1 to release it—in fairness to Condon and the committee—but the President refused. Thomas' condition ruled out all possibility that he could get back to Capitol Hill to defend the committee's action. He developed jaundice from a transfusion and, as in the Hollywood hearing, did not care to delegate his chairman's role to any other member.

The Commerce department simultaneously announced that it had cleared Condon ten days before our "weakest link" report. We found that the Commerce report actually had been signed after our report, and that one of the members of its loyalty board—a professor at the University of Illinois—was reached by long-distance phone to gain his support and signature. The department's loyalty board had spent ten months investigating Condon, and he was the only witness it had called.

Committee Stand Scored

Anti-committee newspapers began printing excerpts from the F.B.I. letter, indicating that its tone was friendly to Condon. Communist spokesmen, left-wingers and willing liberals began operating on a new line: That we were out to smear all scientists. It was said that in the paraphrase we had gained of the F.B.I. letter we had maliciously deleted a sentence which "cleared" Condon.

The Committee had never called Condon subversive. But its contention was that a man in his position, and with his associations, constituted a potential security menace. That was all. The letter that the President holds today would substantiate the Committee's reasons for anxiety. But his freeze order constitutes an iron curtain between the Executive and the Legislative branches of the Government.

There was no desire on the Committee's part, and certainly none on my own, to single out scientists for investigation. Yet with the A-bomb involved, one wonders at the wisdom of surrounding them with what amounts to immunity, for they are in the unquestioned position of being able—wittingly or otherwise—to bring about tremendous loss of U. S. lives in the event of a war, and uncountable damage.

PURSUING our inquiry into the Condon case, we heard Nathan Gregory Silvermaster on May 25, 1948. He was to be named later in public as a former $10,000 a year Government economist, Russian born, who headed a group which operated within the Government collecting information on behalf of the Soviet Union.

Silvermaster willingly admitted to the Committee that he had been friendly enough with Condon to have been in Condon's home, and vice versa, on a number of occasions. Others who followed him to the stand and admitted knowing Condon, were Charles Kramer, alleged Communist who worked for Sen. Claude Pepper, and John Marsalka, fired by the State Department for, among other reasons, his extreme sympathy to the Soviet Union.

After the Federal Grand Jury in New York arose, in July, 1948, we subpoenaed another of its witnesses. She knew Silvermaster. And, as it turned out, she knew many others. Her name was Elizabeth Terrill Bentley.

It was she who opened the door to the shocking Hiss-Chambers case.

Civilians Hold 96 Per Cent Of AMG Posts In Germany

FRANKFURT, Feb. 18 (U.P.) — The American military government in Germany is now 96 per cent civilian.

Rebuffed in his attempts to get the State department to take over the job of governing the American zone, Gen. Lucius D. Clay has done the next best thing. He has replaced soldiers with civilians.

At almost every level, from Berlin to the smallest interland Hamlet in the Bavarian mountains, the men in mufti have taken over. An Army uniform is rare even in Clay's own Berlin headquarters.

The military government organization is divided into 17 divisions. Ten of them are bossed by civilians. Of the ohter seven, four are almost purely military in scope—adjutant general, inspector general, armed forces and naval adviser.

Civilians Supervise

Here in Frankfurt, the American element in bipartite control office supervising the bizonal half-government is overwhelmingly civilian. The only link to the Army is the boss, Clarence L. Adcock, a West Point classmate of Clay who retired two years ago as a major general.

The military government at state capitals follow the same pattern. One is run by a former general, another by a naval captain and the rest are civilian from the top down.

The Berlin commandant, fast-talking Frank Howley, wears the eagles of a colonel, but still talks fondly of the Philadelphia advertising agency he left eight years ago to go into the Army.

In Frankfurt, Army officers once held all the military government jobs. Latest figures show 101 of the 182 jobs are held by civilians and the replacement process is continuing steadily.

Air Force Officials Announce Plans To Activate Houston Base

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Air Force officials notified Rep. Poage (D-Texas) Friday that Ellington base, Houston, will be activated as an air navigation training center, and that the San Marcos base soon will be placed on an inactive status.

Ellington will become the Air Force's first postwar navigation training center, and will have 5,300 personnel when in full operation, including 1,600 Aviation Cadets, Poage said he had learned. The first class will open in August. It will be for officer students only. Aviation Cadets will be enrolled begining in November.

The liaison and helicopter pilot training now conducted at San Marcos, Poage was told, will be transferred partly to the Waco base and partly to Keesler field, Biloxi, Miss.

The previously announced transfer of the 27th fighter wing from Kearney, Neb., to Bergstrom field, Austin, will take place about March 1, Poage was told.

Canadian River Project Studied

ing.

Mayor Hagy estimated a proposed dam on the main stream of the Canadian about 40 miles northwest of Amarillo would cost about $27,000,000.

Whiteside said that water impounded by such a dam would be ample to furnish 20 times the amount of water now consumed annually by both Amarillo and Lubbock. He said plans contemplate a conduit taking the water first to Amarillo, and then carrying part of it on to Lubbock, a total distance of about 160 miles.

"We were very encouraged by the conference," said Whiteside.

"It's up to us now to go back home and get up the data which will show that the industrial and municipal consumption of the water, coupled with the other benefits of the dam, will make the project economically justifiable."

Quick Action Urged

Whiteside stressed the necessity for pushing through to completion the proposed dam in an address to the luncheon meeting. Whiteside said the earliest possible action is needed to insure adequate water supplies. Worley expressed similar views, and said that all communities in the Panhandle which need more water should let their wishes be known.

Cong. George Mahon of Colorado City and Lubbock, representative of the 19th congressional district, who also attended the meeting, said he would press for the appropriation and do all he possibly could in the House Appropriations committee of which he is a high ranking member.

Sec. Krug said it was evident that there was a great need for the project and said his department was interested in seeing it developed. He recognized the need for surface water.

May Face Opposition

Commissioner Michael Straus of the Bureau pointed out that the project was under investigation by the Bureau of Reclamation. Whiteside and Mahon said later that there was complete agreement by all parties at the meeting as to the need and desire to put forth every effort to bring the project about. At the same time, however, they were not too optimistic about the venture's passage at this session of Congress.

Worley has a bill pending to authorize the project. It was pointed out that to secure its passage would be no small assignment and that many other such projects already authorized, are now awaiting funds and that these might be considered ahead of the Canadian river project.

Mayor Hagy cited the needs for new water supplies in the Panhandle and South Plains areas and pointed out that Lubbock was now making a deep water test in search for new supplies.

Mayor Hagy pointed out that extensive irrigation has been underway in the area in recent years and that water tables have dropped 30 feet in some sections. Hagy called on Whiteside to support him in a plea for aid in promoting the project from all Texas state agencies and several federal agencies.

Others who took part in the discussion included Speaker Rayburn, Senators Connally and Johnson and Reps. Mahon and Regan, all Texas Democrats; Chief Justice Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims, Worley's predecessor in Congress; Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus; Howard Robbins and Thomas Cantine of the Amarillo office of the Reclamation Bureau, and Harry P. Burleigh, member of the Texas water board, Austin.

police work. The motorist unquestionably was drunk, but the shooting was unwarranted. It was a direct result of the Russian blockade, for without the blockade we should have the free intercourse between all occupation sectors as provided by four-power agreements."

Motorist Shot Twice

The motorist was shot twice in the back and his car was wrecked when he sought to escape from the Soviet-controlled police by speeding into the American sector.

According to the Soviet-licensed news agency ADN, the driver was shot because he tried to seize a policeman's gun. Western sector police said there was no evidence of this.

Passengers said today that the clashes on the city's transit lines occurred when Russian-controlled police sought to search them and seize their belongings. Some said the police not only were taking their food and fuel packs, but also were going through their pocketbooks to confiscate western money.

Communist-Led Italian Labor Group Holds Nationwide Strike

ROME, Feb. 18 (INS) — The Communist-led Italian General Labor confederation held an eight-hour nationwide strike tonight amid a warning by Premier Alcide De Gasperi of possible government counter-action.

The strike was called to protest yesterday's police action against a group of strikers at aFrosinone factory in which nearly 60 persons were wounded.

De Gasperi and Interior Minister Mario Scelba met representatives of the Communist-controlled labor confederation and told them the government will not continue to tolerate "certain leaders" fomenting the masses and inciting strikes.

The flash strike began at 4 p.m. (9 a.m. CST) and ended at midnight (5 p.m. CST). The members of the Rome printers' union struck for only six hours and it was obvious that many workers objected to the walkout order.

"It is your government . . . and there are certain limits to which its financial weflare cannot be stretched. I want you to bear that in mind very carefully when you are considering the welfare of the veteran."

Only last night, the President reminded another group of veterans and congressmen that America's economic stability must be preserved "in this crucial period of world history." Again without mentioning Rankin's bill, he said the "first consideration" of any veterans program should be the welfare and rehabilitation of ill and disabled veterans and the care of their families or survivors.

Rankin Defends Plan

The Mississippi leigslator told a group of VFW leaders that his bill, which has already cleared the House Veterans committee, would cost only $62,000,000 the first year.

He said that under the Marshall plan, "we spend $900,000,000 for tobacco to send to Europe, more than 10 times what this bill could cost the first year."

Rankin's estimate was far under the tallies of congressional money experts, who figured the Rankin plan would cost $129,000,000 in its initial year, rising annually to an ultimate peak of $6,000,000,000 a year by 1990.

Rescue Efforts Underway

Little hope was held that any would survive because observers said they would freeze to death in the high Andes spot before rescuers could reach them.

Nearly 100 men of the Argentine gendarmerie equipped with special equipment to climb the mountains moved slowly toward the area tonight.

The area is one of tropical daytime heat and sub-zero night temperatures.

Argentine planes that flew over the scene this afternoon saw no indications of any survivors.

A rescue team is not expected to reach the scene at the salt fields in the Calalates mountains until tomorrow. The trip involves six hours by jeep and then a considerable distance by muleback.

Merchant Takes License From Thieves' Car, Finds It's Stolen

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (U.P.)—Frank Amari, 65, ran downstairs when the homemade burglar alarm went off in his clothing store.

He saw four men in an automobile piled with $3,000 worth of his clothing.

"Ah there," said one of the men to Amari, "give us a push. We can't get started."

Amari pretended to help push but while he made grunting noises he swiftly worked loose the automobile license plate. The car sped off and Amari took the evidence to police.

But all they could tell from the license plate was that it was a stolen car.

Only 690,000 shares changed hands. This compared with 960,000 shares yesterday.

Utilities made a little better showing than most other groups while railway issues were almost uniformly lower.

Among issues off a point or more were U. S. Steel at 71⅝, Chrysler 53⅜, Goodrich 59¼, Liggett and Myers 85½, and South Porto Rico Sugar 29¼, the last off 3½.

Farm, Trade Groups Urge Free Hand For HST In Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Spokesmen for farm and foreign trade groups today urged a free hand for President Truman in making reciprocal trade agreements, as already voted by the House.

But Senator Lodge (R-Mass) and Republican members of the Senate Finance committee demanded "stop, look and listen" provisions to "protect American industry against harmful foreign competition."

Republican Senators Millikin (Colo.) Butler (Neb) Brewster (Me) and Martin (Pa) complained that unemployment and declining sales now threaten such domestic industries as textiles, glass and pottery, and watch-making.

FIRE DAMAGE SLIGHT

Damage was slight in two fires reported Friday afternoon and early evening, city firemen said. Trash had been set on fire in a vacant private garage in the alley behind 1400-block Broadway, and firemen were called at 2:44 p. m. Another run, at 6:25 p. m., was apparently the result of burning grass which caught a small business building at 411 Ave. Q. Damage there was confined principally to the roof, it was indicated. The building was owned by W. G. Doss, reports showed.

Hedging was light and met only small mill buying against textile sales.

Futures closed 85 cents a bale lower to 75 cents higher than the previous close.

They said he telephoned Ruby Lee Banks, a San Angelo negro woman, according to her story, from a town in Kansas, telling her his telephone number and street address. She said he also told her he had all the clothing she alleges in her complaint he stole from her Feb. 13 at Slaton.

The property, she said, was valued at $500, and included two robes, four suits, five shirts, three dresses, six uniforms, five purses, six pairs of shoes, a coat, four hats, and various items of bedclothing.

Nation Warned Against Jitters

ple receiving jobless benefits increased by 62,000 to a total of 1,784,000 during the week ended Feb. 12. In the same week in February, 1948, there were 1,030,000.

However, the number of new claimants—those who had not previously registered for aid—dropped to 334,000 during the week. This was a decline of about 81,000 from the peak of 415,000 during the week ended Jan 8.

Clague explained new claimants must wait a week before they actually receive benefit payments of about $21 weekly.

At the White House and on Capitol Hill, experts in taking the country's economic pulse were busy trying to diagnose the recent decline in prices and spell out what it portends for the immediate future.

Emerging from a conference with Mr. Truman, Dr. Nourse told newsmen that everything will be all right if people will avoid "getting jittery" over what he termed a "healthy" falling off in prices.

"I'm not alarmed over price declines unless people get jittery and get out of the market," he sadi.

As he spoke, reports from Wall Street noted "indecision" in the New York stock market, with supply and demand closely matched and business skimpy. Prices went a bit lower this afternoon.

Dr. Nourse, chairman of the President's Economic Advisory council, told reporters that generally it will be a healthy thing if prices can be stabilized somewhere between the low prewar levels and the postwar peaks.

That is the administration's aim, he said.

But Nourse declared that too many nervous qualms could be "snowballed into a recession."

Explaining his use of the word "disinflation," Dr. Nourse said it is quite different from "deflation."

He said disinflation takes the pressure off prices while deflation could mean a collapse of the price structure.

Dr. Nourse said there are indications that price declines will spread to the so-called heavy and durable industries, with downward adjustments in automobiles and steel later this year and on into 1950.

On Capitol Hill, economists, business, labor and farm leaders held a round table clinic on the posals, meeting with the joint congressional economic committee.

In industrywide bargaining a big union bargains with a whole group of employers instead of with each company separately. Mosher blamed this practice for "national emergency" strikes in vital industries.

Professors Believe Successful Efforts To Photograph Genes Aids Virus Disease Fight

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A half century ago science learned of the existence of genes and then laboriously developed a knowledge of how they determine physical hereditary characteristics. But it was not until recently that human eyes gazed on these particles —1/250,000ths of an inch in length after being magnified 130,000 times. Doctors Daniel C. Pease and Richard F. Baker of the University of Southern California school of medicine were the men who saw the genes and photographed them. In the following exclusive interview they predict what their giant laboratory step will mean in the ceaseless battle against sickness and disease.)

By JAMES PADGITT
INS Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. —Two young assistant professors who made the world's first photographs of genes—with an electron microscope—said today they believe they now can photograph almost anything in the life cell.

This means, said Doctors Daniel C. Pease and Richard F. Baker of the University of Southern California school of medicine, that science should be able to learn a great deal more about poliomyelitis, influenza and other virus diseases.

Developed New Technique

The viruses causing these diseases have been seen with the electron microscope before, but only after they were isolated from cells.

They have never been seen within cells where they do their damage and are reproduced.

Before they were able to see genes, the carriers of hereditary, Doctors Pease and Baker had to develop a technique for obtaining ultra-thin section of tissue. Electrons have very poor powers of penetration. They will not go through more than a few hundred thousandths of an inch of solid material effectively. This has been the big stumbling block in using the electron microscope on biological materials.

Tissue Sliced Thin

The two scientists first devised a method so that slices of tissue could be cut only 1/250,000ths of an inch thick. When this technique was perfected, it was almost inevitable that genes would be seen in giant chromosomes taken from the salivary glands of fruit flies, Doctors Pease and Baker said.

Chromosomes are the carriers of genes in all living things. In man, genes determine height, weight, color of hair and eyes, and a host of other characteristics.

"It is reasonable to belive that this new scientific method will open up a vast field of research, utilizing the tremendous magnifications of the electron microscope to study all sorts of normal and pathological cnditions within tissues and cells," Doctors Pease and Baker said.

Fruit Fly Studied

In spite of magnifications up to 120,000 times, the gene particles the two men saw looked small. Their average length was only about 1/250,000ths of an inch.

Usually they were spindle-shaped and flattened. They were attached along the threads of the chromosomes, which were hung so thin they could barely be measured. They were only about 1/2,000,000ths of an inch thick.

The gene particles were approximately the same size as virus particles, and like them consisted of nucleo-protein.

The professors examined the "giant" salivary gland chromosomes of the fruit fly (drosophila) because this is the fly that has been most intensively studied by geneticists. Its heredity is far better known than any other organism.

But the general laws discovered with the fruit fly are applicable to all forms of life, Doctors Pease and Baker pointed out. The "giant" chromosomes were ideal for study with the electron microscope because they were relatively easy to find in sectioned cells, they said.

In order to see gene particles, the scientists not only had to cut the salivary gland cells, but the sections had to be thin enough so that the chromosomes themselves were sliced. Until they learned how ultra-thin sections could be made, there was no hope of studying the content of any ordinary cell effectively. Only objects the size of bacteria and smaller showed detail. Any ordinary cell was much too thick.

"The observation of the gene—dramatic as it is—should be just the beginning," Doctors Pease and Baker concluded.

Cupid Makes Match Across Train Aisle For Two Strangers

By The Associated Press

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Feb. 18 — Love that bloomed across the aisle of a train culminated in marriage today.

Marine Corporal Floyd H. Simonis, 23, of Milwaukee and Mary Ella Taunt, 19, Flint, Mich., were complete strangers when they boarded a train at San Francisco Monday and sat down across the aisle across from each other.

Simonis admitted that he didn't cross the aisle until Wednesday but by last night, when the train stopped in Omaha, the couple got off to be married. When Simonis crossed the aisle, said Miss Taunt, "I'd already made up my mind to say yes if he asked me to marry him."

Slaton Groups Are Hosts For Program

SLATON, Feb. 18. (Special—Approximately 260 persons attended an annual fiesta conducted by the Slaton Rainbow and DeMolay chapters at the Slaton clubhouse tonight, at which a Spanish theme was carried out.

A musical program highlighted the evening, following the serving of a dinner, also in the Spanish style.

Vick Williams and his orchestra, composed of members of the DeMolay chapter, furnished music for the program which included specialties by Phyllis Leach, Nancy Teague, Jackie Sheppard, Bobby Taylor, Shirley Teague, Glyndon Dawson, Josephine Sheppard, Bobby Cook Leach and others.

R. M. Sheppard is chapter advisor for the DeMolay, Freddie England serving as master councilor. Mrs. J. W. Chenoweth is mother advisor for the Rainbow group, Daunita Darrell the worthy advisor. There are 39 members of the DeMolay, 93 of the Rainbow chapter.

Jack Thomson was master of ceremonies for the program.

Pact Terms Studied

dors would take place Monday.

It is believed that the final draft would use the formula of the Inter-American treaty of reciprocal assistance under which American states undertake to assist in meeting an attack on any one of them. This follows the United Nations charter.

No American state, however, under the Inter-American pact is required to use armed force without its consent.

Senators believed such a treaty would give European nations ample assurance of American support, in the event that they are the victims of armed attack, but without any outright war commitment.

This would preserve the war-making powers of Congress as established by the Constitution.

This approach to the problem, while perhaps not specific enough to fully satisfy all the European nations, would be expected to meet the approval of senators who will accept no whittling away of the war-making powers of Congress.

Members of the Foreign Relations committee also are concerned about the cost of European military assistance in relation to other foreign aid programs for the next fiscal year.

Full Approval Seen

Before the ERP extension bill goes to the Senate floor, probably within 10 days, they hope to have an estimated total from the administration covering all economic and military programs for Europe and the Far East.

As the Senate committee hearings on ERP wound up, it was expected that the administration's request for $6 billion for European economic assistance during the next 15 months would be approved in full.

The total includes $5,580,000,000 for ECA and $476,000,000 additional for western Germany.

Fort Worth Doctor Files Theft Complaint In Oil Lease Scheme

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18 (U.P.)—A theft complaint, in which Dr. Frank S. Schoonover jr., is said to have lost $2,000 in an alleged fake oil lease scheme, was on file in Justice court here Friday.

Defendant in the complaint is Jack Hight, who has not yet been apprehended.

Assist. Dist. Atty. W. H. Tolbert filed the complaint and said a man called on Dr. Schoonover at his office Feb. 5 to interest him in oil leases.

Dr. Schoonover bought oil leases on land near Houston, paying $2,000 cash, Tolbert said. The lease salesman made an appointment to return with more information about leases.

The doctor became suspicious and called the district attorney when the salesman failed to keep the appointment.

A flock of starlings, 2,000 strong, invaded the Forteviot district of Perthshire, Scotland, doing damage to wheat.

Former Ship Yard Worker Held In California Dynamite Blast

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 18. (AP)—A shattering blast rocked a fashionable residential district today, and police said it blew open a plot to dynamite doctors and members of the Industrial Accident commission.

Being booked on suspicion at the time of the blast was the man Police Chief C. H. Anderson identified as responsible. He had been picked up when a radio officer, attracted by a glowing match in the-dawn darkness, found him lighting a fuse outside the home of a commission doctor.

In custody in General hospital, where he was taken after a diabetic attack, is William J. Ward, 51, former shipyard worker and prospector. Anderson said enough dynamite to "blow up half the town" was found in Ward's pickup truck.

Scientists say that animals which lived millions of years ago suffered the same types of arthritis as do today's humans.

Phone Company Claimed Unwilling To Move Into Some Rural Areas

BY SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, 11th district, said Friday that testimony before his House Agriculture sub-committee indicated an unwillingness on the part of Southwestern Bell Telephone company to blanket rural areas adjacent to their present telephone lines with needed telephone service.

He cited the refusal of Southwestern Bell to furnish telephone service to homes at Davilla in Central Texas and Ropesville near Lubbock. There was only one telephone for 500 to 600 families at Davilla and the people had to build their own line, Poage said. "The lack of service from Ropesville to Lubbock is but another indication by Southwestern Bell that it intends to keep on delineating certain areas for service and cutting out others," said Poage.

Hearing Testimony

The sub-committee is hearing testimony regarding the Poage bill to permit the government through Rural Electrification Administration to loan money to those who will provide telephone service to rural homes.

E. N. Widen, general commercial manager of Southwestern Bell, St. Louis, who formerly lived at Austin, said his company had not signed contracts with rural electric cooperatives because it could not get cooperation from them after "a certain speech made in Texas."

"I'll admit I made that speech," said Poage. "I advised the rural cooperatives not to sign contracts with your company or any other until they could guarantee to insert a clause to provide area service."

No Specific Contract

Poage then asked Widen if his company would insert such clauses in contracts now and was told "No." Widen said he would give his personal word that such service would be instituted if possible but would not promise the specific contract.

Under Poage's questioning, he admitted that all of his company's stock was controlled by American Telephone and Telegraph to which Southwestern Bell paid a 9 per cent dividend last year. Widen said that dividend was fair because of the risks which A. T. & T. took, whereupon Poage forced him to admit that he could not remember a year in 30 to 40 in which Southwestern Bell had not paid a dividend.

Rather Keep Paying

Poage said later: "Southwestern Bell had rather keep on paying 9 per cent interest on its money and keep charging Texans high rates for telephones while at the same time denying them service in many areas when under my bill they could borrow money at 2 per cent from the government to supply this service."

Widen indicated that his company would not be interested in taking advantage of the Poage bill if passed.

Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan testified in favor of the bill as did REA Administrator Claude Wickard, representatives of the Grange, the Farmers Union in several states, and Clyde Ellis of the National Rural Electric Cooperatives.

Poage has great hopes of getting his bill passed. He is spending much time explaining the measure to his colleagues.

Official Says Greeks Murdered U.S. Pilot

ATHENS, Feb. 18. (INS)—A U.S. Air Force officer charged Friday that unarmed Lt. Col. Selden R. Edner of San Jose, Cal., was "brutally killed" by Greek guerrillas last month after his plane was shot down near Karpenision.

Edner's mutilated body was put aboard a plane for Germany Friday enroute to the United States for burial.

The statement by Lt. Col. Daniel F. Riva, of East Hartford, Conn., who headed a lengthy investigation, definitely established the victim's identity from medical records.

Col. Riva said the investigation showed that Edner was alive when his unarmed reconnaissance plane was forced down Jan. 21 near the Greek town 125 miles northwest of Athens.

When found, the body was in a stream at the bottom of a deep ravine. A noose was around the neck and the head was beaten beyond recognition.

The Greek pilot of the plane also was killed and was found Feb. 11, two days after Edner, in a ditch a few yards from the damaged plane.

Military honors were given the body of the former member of the Joint American Military Advisory and Planning group in Greece at the airport. An aide-de-camp of King Paul placed a wreath on the casket.

Four Area Jaycees Return From Austin Dinner Honoring Solons

Three members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce and one member of the Levelland club have returned from Austin, where this week they attended a Jaycee-sponsored dinner for all state senators and representatives of the Jaycee age span of 36 years and under.

Lubbock Jaycees at the dinner were T. A. Milam, chairman of the state war memorial fund; Arvol Hays, chairman of the state agriculture committee; and Horace Gearhart, local club president.

James St. Clair, president of the Levelland Jaycee unit, represented that city at the dinner.

Lloyd Bentsen, congressman from McAllen, came by plane from Washington to deliver the principal address. He was introduced by Melvin Evans, state Jaycee president.

Michigan Student Will Meet Hog In Eating Contest

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 18 (AP) — A University of Michigan student is trying to prove that he is as big a hog as the next one.

Paul H. Smith said today he will match appetites Saturday with Broadview Perfect Lad, a four-months-old hog, to see who can eat the most.

"I will win in a walk," boasted the engineering student from Monroe, Mich.

Pig Unworried

But the hog didn't appear perturbed.

"He is the calmest of the Broadview line," bragged his owner, William McCalla, an Ann Arbor area farmer. "He'll give a good account of himself."

They will start eating at 10 a.m. the student said, and continue for eight hours. The hog will gulp oats, corn and wheat and wash it down with milk and water.

Inside a restaurant, Smith, will start out on the regular breakfast menu. As the day wears on, he plans to switch to steaks, potatoes and other nourishing viands.

Health Official Starts Idea

Whoever eats the most food in pounds wins.

Both hog and student will weigh in at 165 pounds.

The contest followed a remark by Dr. Warren E. Forsythe of the university health service. He watched one student eat 48 oysters at a sitting. Then another student ate 76. Finally, a coed ate 12½ hamburgers without a break.

Disgusted with the growing fad, Dr. Forsythe said:

"You could get a hog that could eat more than that."

Smith took him up on it.

"Silly, childish," said Dr. Forsythe of the hog-student rivalry. "Not worth commenting about."

U.S. Unable To Obtain Release Of Soldier Held By Czechs

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 18. (AP)—American officials here have run up against a stone wall in attempts to obtain the release of an American held by Czechoslovak police at Karlsbad (Karlovy Vary) since Jan. 5.

The American, Roland Goodale of Houston, was arrested at the health resort on an illegal money deal charge.

Consular officials have not been allowed to talk with him. A letter with a request for an answer was sent to Goodale, who is described as a student tourist. Czech authorities said the letter was delivered. There has been no answer.

A formal U. S. embassy protest may go to the foreign office next week. The foreign office has not yet answered other protests about the stripping and searching of U. S. embassy personnel leaving Czechoslovakia late last year.

Formal protests also have been made against the detention since early December of two American soldiers reported absent without leave. The soldiers wandered across the border from Germany and were charged by the Czechs with being on a secret mission. The soldiers are recruits George R. Jones of Owensboro, Ky., and Clarence Hill, Jackson, Miss.

Wheat 'Jam' To Face Southwest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Wheat will be piled on the ground in the Southwest again this spring unless much of the grain now in storage is moved before the new crop is harvested, a railroad official said today.

The prediction came from Arthur H. Gass, chairman of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads. He made it at a meeting of congressmen, Commodity Credit corporation and railroad officials.

Early Movement Blocked

William McArthur, assistant director of the grain branch of the Production and Marketing administration, said that grain under government loan or purchase agreement can not be moved out of elevators or storage places before May 1. The government will not have title until then.

Railroad officials say railroads can not move both the loan and purchase agreement wheat and the new crop at the same time.

An estimated 350,000,000 bushels of wheat was under loan or purchase agreement on January 1, railroad officials said.

Ralph E Clark of the boxcar division of the AAR said that beginning May 1, the railroads hope to start concentrating empty boxcars in the areas where the wheat harvest begins. That would create a shortage of cars necessary to move stored wheat from more northern areas at the same time, he said.

Jewel Theft Suspect Held In New York

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP) — A startling story of a cross-country series of robberies of wealthy homes which allegedly netted a smooth-appearing Canadian $600,000 in jewels and furs was unfolded by Westchester county authorities today.

The suspect, 29-year-old Gerard Graham Dennis, was uncommunicative at his arraignment on first degree burglary and felonious assault charges here.

Talks Freely In Private

But detectives said Dennis talked freely in private questioning.

Authorities in Westchester county, California and elsewhere said Dennis had:

Taken valuables worth $250,000 in the Beverly Hills, Calif., area, $140,000 worth of loot from Westchester homes, and $170,000 in robberies in Canada.

Secreted $120,000 in jewels and furs in his Beverly Hills apartment.

Carried $18,000 in unset diamonds and $1,400 in cash at the time of his arrest in Cleveland Wednesday.

Dennis, who purportedly used society pages for tips on his forays, is a slender, darkly handsome man.

Complete Overhaul Of Election Laws Urged

Drastic Changes Are Suggested

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.—Complete rewriting of Texas election laws was recommended today by a special group named to study them.

Certain changes could be made in the election code, and should be made without delay," the Governor's committee on election laws reported, "However, the eventual goal should be complete revision."

Gov. Beauford Jester appointed the committee Dec. 8 to make a factual study of election laws. The third and final meeting was held here today.

Bill Would Continue Study

Yesterday, Committee Chairman H. Grady Chandler of Austin appeared before the House Elections committee in favor of a bill by Rep. Tom Whiteside of Tyler. Whiteside's bill would appropriate $10,000 for a three-man commission to continue the study.

Today, the Governor's committee recommended that provisions governing campaign expenditures be amended to require the reporting of "every contribution or expense made by anyone without a candidate's knowledge." Each candidate also would be limited to a "reasonable figure" for campaigning.

Attorney General Price Daniel, a member of the committee, said that limits on campaign spending should be lifted to where they could be "honestly reported."

Changes Recommended

The committee also recommended that present laws be changed to allow the counting of ballots not signed by an election judge, provided there is no allegation of fraud.

Assistant Attorney General J. C. Davis said there have been "many, many instances where a ballot is perfectly valid, except a judge forgets to sign it. Under present laws, that honest vote is not even counted."

The committee voted to recommend the adoption of a secret or stub ballot.

"While the division within the committee was pronounced on this recommendation," said the report, "it should be noted that all members were in accord with the effort to preserve and extend the secrecy of the ballot. The minority's objection was the failure to include a reservation that the means of detecting fraud should be retained."

Date Change Suggested

The committee decided that Democratic party primaries at present—fourth Saturdays in July and August—do not allow time enough for an election contest before the November general elec-

West Texas Demos To Meet In Lubbock

ABILENE, Feb. 18. (Special)—Lubbock has been chosen as the scene of an annual Democratic Jefferson-Jackson day dinner at which West Texas Democrats will gather, Meade F. Griiffn of Plainview, announced today following a meeting of several leading Demos. A speaker of national prominence will be invited to address the meeting, it was said.

Griffin and Arch S. Underwood of Lubbock are co-chairmen of an arrangements committee for the dinner, purpose of which will be to raise funds for the National Democratic party. Admission will be $25 a plate.

Definite Time Not Set

"The time of the meeting will be subject to the convenience of the speaker, but we can say that it will be between March 24, when Austin holds its dinner, and April 2, when Corpus Christi holds a dinner for that area," Griffin explained.

No indication of who might be the speaker was given.

Those attending the committee meeting in Wooten hotel here today were French M. Robertson, Abilene, C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder, W. T. Knight, Wichita Falls, Judge Paul Moss, Odessa, Raymond E. Buck, Fort Worth, Forrest Kyle, Bangs, Mrs. Dallas Scarborough and Mrs. Bryan Bradbury, Abilene, Courtney Hunt, Haskell, J. D. Dickson, Seymour, and Judd R. Stuart, Strawn.

Seventeen-Year-Old Youth Catches Deer In Front Yard

LAKEWOOD, Colo., Feb. 18. (INS) — Seventeen-year-old Huey Hamilton caught a deer barehanded Friday near his Lakewood home.

The deer, a yearling doe driven by hunger, appeared in the Denver suburb Friday morning and was chased by relays of small boys and dogs.

Aided by his dog, Duke, Huey caught the exhausted doe in his front yard. "I'm going to keep her as a pet," he said.

Mrs. Hazel Hamilton, his mother, shrugged her shoulders at the prospect.

Her teen-age son is fond of pets, she said, "and one deer more or less won't make any difference."

Open House Is Held At Dunbar School

An estimated 900 school patrons and visitors attended open house ceremonies held last night in connection with the completion of work upon the new $185,000 Dunbar school addition.

Highlight of the program was the coronation of Ella Rae Gant, who last fall was elected queen of Dunbar school, by E. C. Struggs, school principal. She later presented the 1949 senior class gift, a check for $500 to be used for the purchase of a new sound movie projector for the school. Struggs accepted the gift on behalf of the school.

The queen was presented by Albert Walker, a senior student.

Dr. R. H. Bailey gave the program's main address. The Dunbar Choral club and newly-organized Dunbar band presented several numbers. Faculty members of the Dunbar school were introduced by Struggs.

Representatives of the Board of Trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district were on hand for the program.

Following the program the public was shown through the school. Final work on the addition, which consists of four classrooms, an office, and a combination auditorium-gymnasium, was completed this month.

SAFETY DRIVEN HOME

MILFORD, N. H. (U.P.)—The high school safety patrol prides itself on a fair but firm enforcement of traffic regulations in the school area. Names of first offenders are displayed on a school bulletin board. A second violation brings a letter to the offender's parents. Three-time losers are summoned to school court for a stern lecture. Fines are assessed on the fourth and each successive offense.

Banquet Is Held By Morton Lions

MORTON, Feb. 18. (Special)—Morton Lions club held its tenth anniversary banquet at Veterans hall here tonight with more than 150 members and guests attending.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, deputy district governor of Lubbock, was featured guest speaker, and upon completion of his address presented nine Lions club charter members of the organization with awards.

A. E Sanders, president of the club, gave the preliminary introduction of speakers, and Dr. V. L. Lawson, program chairman introduced each speaker individually. Other speakers besides Jackson were M. C. Fisher, state secretary of Lions clubs, Austin, and W. R. Rutherford, district governor, Dumas.

Explains Prosperity

Jackson spoke on "America's 50 years in the Sun." He pointed out that America has enjoyed 50 years of prosperity and explained that other nations also had enjoyed like prosperity in past years but had "fallen."

The Tech education professor explained that America probably owed its continuing prosperity to incentive to work, incentive to earn, incentive to save, incentive to invest, and that all these culminated in incentive to produce.

Rutherford spoke on Lions principles, with especial praise for 10-year Lions. P. J. Capps was lauded for personally holding the Whiteface Lions club together through the depression.

Fisher outlined his work with the Texas Lions organizations.

Charter members receiving awards for 10 years service with the club were Willard Cox, J. B. Knox, Ramby, R. C. Strickland, J. B. Nicewarner, Roy Hill, Truman Doss, James St. Clair and Hume Russell. Loyd Kennedy, only deceased charter member, was represented by his wife.

FLOWERS ALWAYS

BANGOR, Me. (U.P.)—Despite the vagaries of New England weather, the tomb of Franklin Webber in a local cemetery always will be freshly decorated by seasonal flowers. The 95-year-old lumberman, who was buried in January, set aside $20,000 of his $1,000,000 estate for the floral project.

Scurry Test Is Underway

Humble Oil & Refining company was making tests on its No. 1 Perriman, discovery from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian in north-central Scurry county, three miles east of the town of Dermott.

After swabbing nine hours on the open hole at 7,050-70 feet in the Strawn, the well kicked off and began flowing at the rate of eight barrels of fluid per hour, natural.

Shakeout was six per cent basic sediment and water. The venture was continuing to flow through a ½-inch choke while operator was attempting to locate the sources of the water.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 438, block 97, H&TC survey.

Deep Test Drilling

Drilling was continuing at Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Hicks, deep wildcat in southeast Gaines county, 14 miles southeast of Lamesa and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving CSL survey.

Last report had it under 12,680 feet, penetrating dolomite. The current formation, which made sulphur water on a recent drillstem test, is unidentified. Some observers think it is probably Silurio-Devonian or possibly Ellenburger.

McAlister Fuel company No. 1 Edwards, northwest Lynn county deep wildcat, 440 feet from south and west lines of section 58, Georgetown RR survey, had reached 11,026 feet in an unidentified silty sand and was coring.

Test Plugged Back

No sign of oil or gas have been logged down to the current level of operations.

Pacific Western Oil corporation No. 1 Oil Development company of Texas, northwest Gaines county wildcat, slated to 12,000 feet to explore into the Devonian, had reached 9,076 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

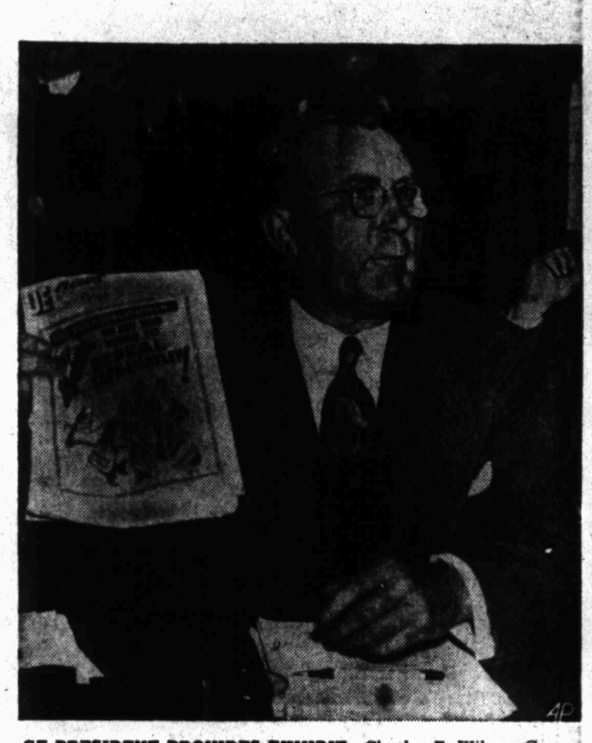

Denver Producing & Refining company has plugged back to 9.785 feet with its No. 17-C Elliott, possible Devonian discovery in the shallow Wasson field of south-cenrtal Yoakum county.

Total depth is 11,209 feet in solid granite. A string of 5½-inch casing is cemented at 9,696 feet.

After the cement on the current plug-back cures, operator is unofficially reported planning to plug back further and perforate before beginning production tests in the Devonian.

This prospect is 1,312 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Wounds in animals cause concern to owners and often an economic loss. A high protein ration will help the wound heal sooner.

GE PRESIDENT PROVIDES EXHIBIT—Charles E. Wilson, General Electric Co., president, testifying before senate labor committee, exhibits what he called "a union ad." The ad says "Tell your congressman we put you there to repeal Taft-Hartley." SETTLEMENT OFFER MADE

Wichita Falls Bus Drivers Seek Appointment Of Board In Strike

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 18—Striking bus drivers here proposed today that their wage dispute be turned over to a three-man board for settlement.

They turned down the company's first offer—a five-cents-an-hour increase, and countered with their own proposal.

The board would be made up of one man selected by the union, one man by the company and one chosen by both parties from a list of five men named either by the U. S. conciliation service or by the federal district judge.

Under the proposal, the men would return to work pending the decision of the arbitration board.

The strikers are members of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America. Their walkout has left Wichita Falls without bus service since Tuesday. They first demanded a 25-cent an hour wage boost. The present hourly rate is 92.5 cents.

The Wichita Transit co., operators of the buses, is owned by Continental Trailways. Thomas C. Reece of Dallas, vice president of Continental Trailways, said in a statement today that the five cent increase was his company's final offer.

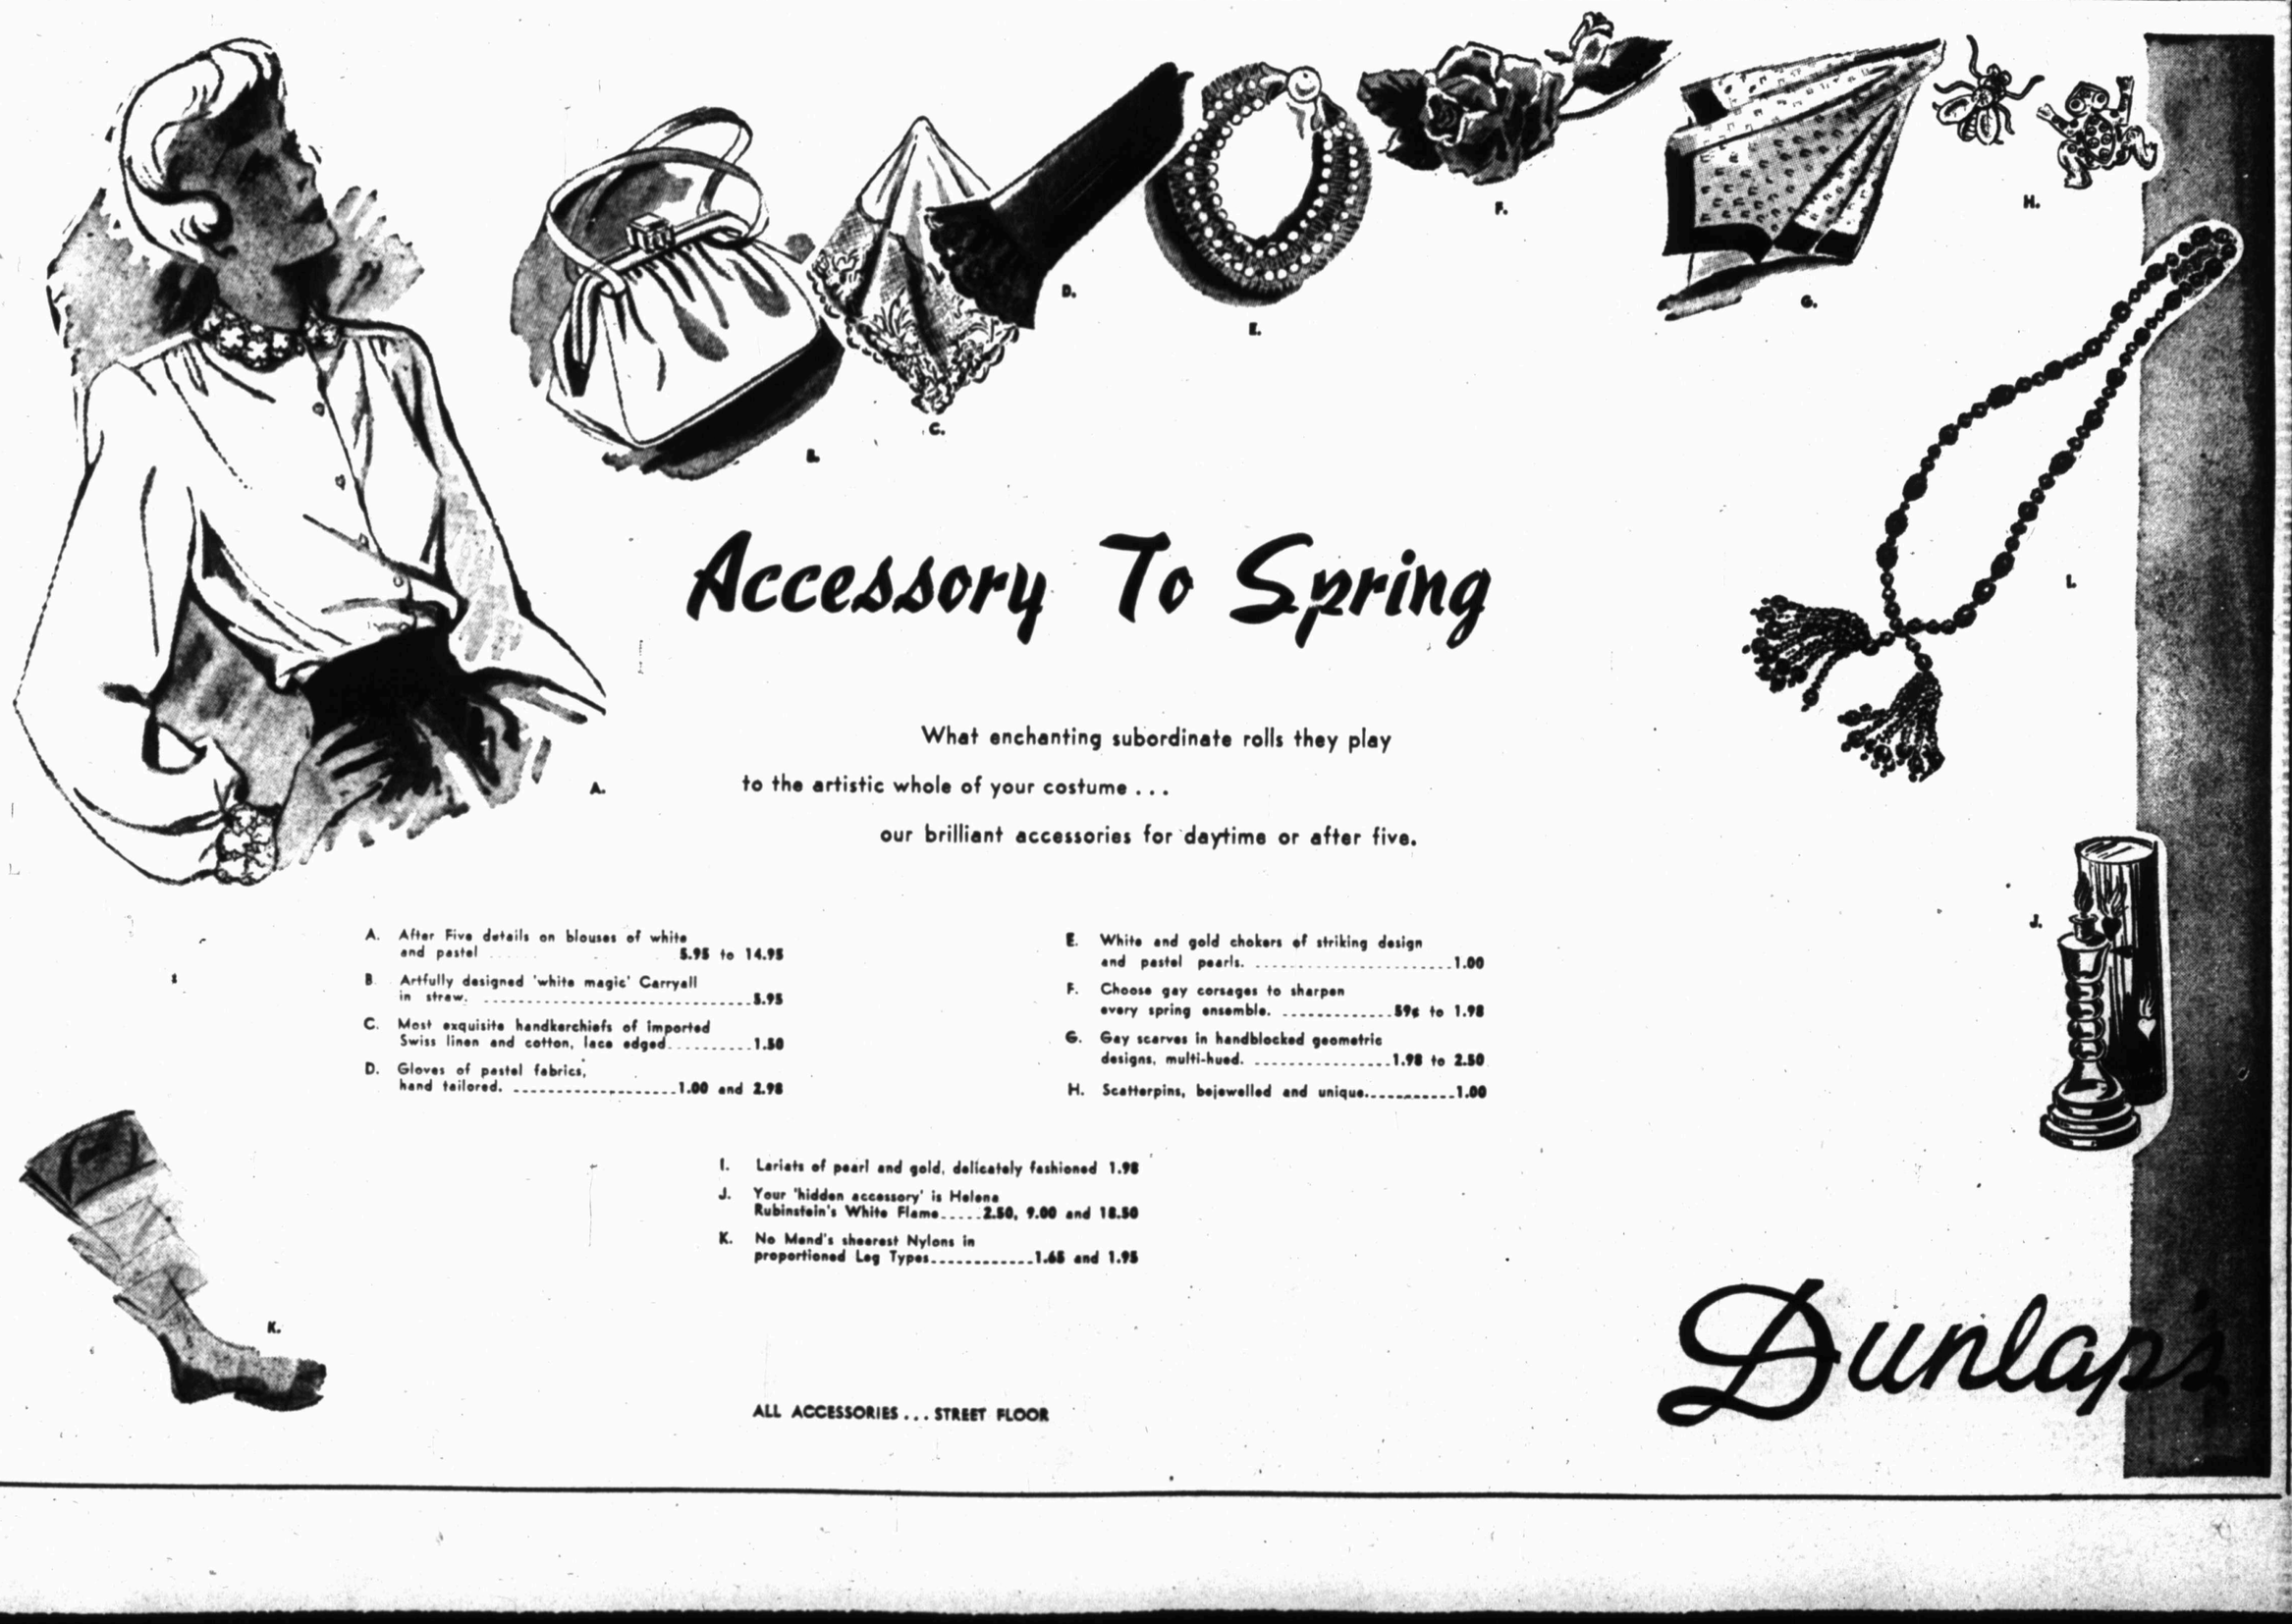

A. F. Steele, international vice president of the union, said "our drivers met this morning and unanimously voted to reject this offer.

If and when the fare increase the company is asking goes into effect, only then would the drivers begin receiving the pay boost, according to company terms."

The city council last night tentatively agreed to a straight 10-cent fare for regular passengers and five cent for school children. The company in turn would add new busses and further improve service.

If present negotiations fail, the council contemplates purchasing the company as authorized in a franchise granted in 1942.

A GOOD LETTER

Here's The Answer

THE Editor of The Morning Avalanche has just received the following communication from Doyle S. Stone, Texas Technological college student, anent the City's deep water test:

"From the looks of the picture on the front page of my morning newspaper, (The Avalanche of February 12) I gather that some young enthusiast has sold the City of Lubbock a 'bill of goods.' Early last Fall, one of my geology profs at Tech told us the Jurassic Aquifers in this part of the High Plains were salty. Any geologist, driller or petroleum engineer who has worked on an oil well in this area could have told the same thing.

"Were any of the professions questioned in regard to the drilling of this well? If so, their statements must have been taken with a 'grain of salt'.

"Yours for fresher water,

"Doyle L. Stone."

Mr. Stone's communication and questions are timely. They reflect a splendid interest in the most vital of all subjects to Lubbock and the High Plains—the subject of abundant water. We believe many readers may be interested in them.

MR. STONE is entirely correct in his implication that geologists, oil drillers, petroleum engineers and other experts long have been practically unanimous in their opinion that any water found below the known shallow sands would be unfit for use.

These experts were consulted before the City commission authorized the deep test now in progress. None expected that good deep water would be found. Yet none would say positively that such water did not exist. All acknowledged they might be wrong. Some — drillers in particular—were openly hopeful that water in the Jurassic Acquifers formation, mentioned by Mr. Stone and found at a depth of 900 to 1,000 feet, might be fresh.

So, on the basis of this slender hope, the City commission authorized a specific test for deep water—the first and only one of its kind ever undertaken on the South Plains, so far as could be ascertained. Members of the commission said repeatedly they hoped, rather than expected to find good water.

But they felt the risk of a few thousand dollars was justified by the possibility of the discovery of good water which would be inestimable millions of dollars to this city and area.

AS THE Editor of The Morning Avalanche has said on numerous occasions, he thinks the risk has been justified by the odds. He still thinks so.

The Editor is not a betting addict. But from a purely business point of view, he might stake a few bucks on a chance to make a million almost any time on almost any possibly feasible thing.

That's about what the City commission did in authorizing the deep test. Mr. Stone might have done differently. But the Editor wouldn't offer him the chance of taking the short end of any bet at comparable odds. Mr. Stone might win, and editorial bankrolls couldn't stand that sort of loss.

Exception: So far as we know, no woman was ever late for her own funeral.

Even 'way back in Grandma's day, when a girl was supposed to keep an arm's length from a man, some girls had exceedingly short arms.

Beware Of Romance

XXX

MERRY awoke in the morning, puzzled at first to account for the wide-open windows through which a golden sun shone, and the tops of palms stirring in the ocean wind, and the sound of surf breaking on the beach beyond the seawall. And then she realized that she was at home at St. Vincent's and sprang out of bed, happy and excited and exulting in her well-being.

She tumbled into play-clothes—a brief pink and white gingham skirt over even briefer pink shorts, a halter confining her young breasts—and thrust her bare feet into canvass-strapped sandals.

She followed the delicious scent of coffee and crisping bacon out to the kitchen where Lizzie welcomed her with an expansive, white-toothed grin.

"Honey, I sho' is glad to see you home ag'in," Lizzie greeted her warmly. "Whe' you' want yo' breakfus?"

"Where do Mother and Carter—"

"Yo' Maw, she hav' her breakfus' in bed. Mist' Carter he go fo' a swim, den he eat wid he'," said Lizzie, and though the words were innocent enough the tone told Merry that Lizzie disliked Carter as much or perhaps even more than she said.

"Then I'll have mine here on the corner of the table, while you bring me up to date on all the local gossip."

Lizzie chuckled as she brought a tall glass of orange juice, and set bread to toasting.

"Yo' tell me how Mist' Kin is fust Honey," begged Lizzie.

"He's fine, Lizzie. And terribly happy.

Lizzie, breaking a brown egg over the pan in which bacon was crisping, looked swiftly at her.

"Honey, I sho is glad. Mist' Kin a fine man. Us misses him, Andy and me."

TEARS misted Merry's eyes, a tribute to the woman's honest straightforward devotion to Kin, and then she smiled.

Lizzie took away the orange-juice glass, slipped a hot plate that held strips of curling bacon and a white and golden egg before her, and stood with her hands on her ample hips, smiling down at Merry.

Merry put up an impulsive hand and squeezed one of Lizzie's and said huskily, "It's grand to be home, Lizzie."

Lizzie hesitated a moment and then she said gravely, "Reckon you' ain' heard, honey, dat me an' Andrew is wu'kin' out ouah notice."

Merry stared at her, stricken.

"Your notice? Lizzie, you're not leaving?"

"Us is been fiahed, Honey. 'Course us was 'bout ready to quit, anyhow."

"Why, Lizzie, you and Andrew have been with us for years!"

"Mist' Carter, he ain' lak' us much mo' den us lak's him," stated Lizzie flatly. "He say we's fresh an' impident an' he wants yo' Maw to git white se'vants."

Merry blinked and swallowed hard.

"Don' yo' worry none, Honey," said Lizzie after a moment. "Me 'n' Andrew, we's got some money saved up, and den we got dat li'l farm whe' ouah boy an' his wife lives, so us'll git along fine."

"Lizzie, would you and Andrew go back to Marshallville with me and live in the old place?" begged Merry swiftly.

Lizzie's eyes widened.

"Honey, yo' Maw ain' gwine let yo'."

"Lizzie, I'm almost 18. In a few months I'll be my own mistress. It's my house. Dad fixed it up so it would always be mine, and Aunt Jane will come and live with us. Oh, Lizzie, let's go back to Marshallville!" pleaded Merry, excited and eager.

Lizzie's own eyes were blazing with excitement.

"Honey, dat 'partment me and Andy had over de garage was de onlies' home we eve' had. Honey, us be too glad to go back wid yo'!" said Lizzie, and her rich, warm voice shook a little.

Merry sprung up and hugged her.

"Oh, Lizzie, I'm so happy!"

Carter's voice, curt and sharp, spoke from the doorway.

"I dislike to interrupt this happy little scene, but Mrs. Bagby would like some breakfast, if it isn't too much trouble."

MERRY turned and faced him, and Lizzie muttered something and turned to the stove, her thick lower lip stuck out in a sign of her anger and outrage.

"Merry, I'd like to speak to you for a moment," said Carter, and strode away.

Lizzie turned deliberately from the stove, faced the doorway through which Carter had disappeared, brought up her thick, unashamedly work-worn hand, put her thumb to her nose and twiddled her fat fingers. It was a gesture of such superb scorn, such utter contempt, that Merry smothered a small, delighted laugh, hugged her and fled.

In the room that was obviously now to be known as Carter's study, he turned to face Merry and said sternly, "Merry, I dislike to seem carping, but I must ask you to behave with a little more dignity here. Embracing the servants, chattering with them, destroying all semblance of discipline, is something I will not tolerate."

Merry balanced herself on the arm of a chair and smiled at him pleasantly. It was no effort; she had to make an effort to avoid laughing outright at the ridiculous picture of him standing on his outraged dignity.

"Then you'll be happy to know you needn't tolerate it, or me either, any longer, Carter," she told him lightly. "I shall be leaving for Marshallville in a day or two."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

FIVE minutes ago it was snug and warm in my study.

Now I am shivering.

I look at the thermometer. It can't be that.

The thermometer registers 70 degrees and that is enough for anybody.

Oh, yes, I know why I feel cold.

BRANDEIS

It is a letter I just opened.

It is an invitation from the American Polar Society, asking me to become a member.

Imagine anybody wanting to join the American Polar Society in February!

Only half an hour ago I got through talking to a friend who leaves for Haiti in a couple of days.

Less than 15 minutes ago I finished the travel section of last Sunday's newspaper and read about the West Indies, the Riviera, South America and all the other tropical paradises in which you can spend a few glorious weeks for anywhere from five hundred to five thousand dollars.

We are not going to any tropical paradises this winter. Still too many doctors bills to pay.

But one nice thing about those travel sections of the Sunday newspaper is that for ten cents you can have a five-thousand-dollar dream trip, and you don't even have to dress up for it.

No, we are not going to the tropics this winter.

But neither am I going to join the American Polar Society, even though it costs only a dollar a year, and even though Admiral Byrd, Lt. Commander Lincoln Ellsworth and Vilhjalmur Stefansson would be fellow members of mine.

However, if you want to join, I am sure they'd be glad to get your dollar and make you a member.

It will be mighty handy to have such a membership in case you ever intend to go on an expedition to the Polar regions.

They'll send you maps of the North Pole or the South Pole and give you information on Glaciology, Oceanography, Animal Transport, Polar Philately or anything else connected with the poles.

YOU may think that I am making fun of this American Polar Society.

I am not. I am poking fun at myself.

Ten years ago, fifteen years ago, I would have been tickled pink to join the Society and to go along on any expedition to either Pole.

Fifteen years ago, when I joined the Adventurers' Club, I attended every one of their meetings and got a big kick out of them.

Today I sit back in my grandfather's chair and read the ads about adventure and the colored booklets about romance.

Just an old fogy, that's what I am.

IN SEEKING OFFICE

Dewey Ignored Facts

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Final, official tabulation of 1948 campaign figures indicates that Governor Thomas E. Dewey would have made a better showing if he had waged a courageous, two-fisted fight on the basis that the Eightieth Congress was not representative of the Republican Party.

Mr. Dewey rolled up a far larger total than Republican candidates for the House, which is the body that provoked President Truman's charge that the Eightieth Session was "the second worst in history." He led his Congressional colleagues by more than 1,200,000 votes.

TUCKER

He ran behind them only in the following states: Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin. Save for Massachusetts, Minnesota, Oregon and North Dakota, Congressional margins over him amounted to only a few thousand votes in each instance.

BELATED: The political complexion of the areas in which he slipped seems to confirm his reported, post-election belief that he might have won if he had broken with Capitol Hill conservatives, as did T.R. and F.D.R. and posed as a champion of party reform and reconstruction.

His belated, Lincoln's Birthday admission that he knew the organization was falling apart at the very moment when he was preaching "unity" has raised the question anew.

Moreover, the Democrats would have found it difficult to attack him on this issue because of their own internal troubles, as reflected in the Wallace and Dixiecrats' revolts.

In view of recurring reports that Mr. Dewey is still a candidate, these studies damage his chances. They seem to depict him as a typical, conventional and synthetic office-seeker who did not have the courage of his convictions.

REVELATIONS: A similar comparison on the Democratic side suggests why the "Truman honeymoon" with Congress shows signs of breaking up, and prompts the White House fear that only a small and relatively unimportant portion of the Administration's elaborate legislative program will be enacted.

President Truman topped the House ticket's total by about 58,000 votes. In many instances the local men imparted strength to the national slate instead of vice versa. Their vote-getting exhibition tends to make them more independent of Administration advice and control.

Such Senators as J. Allen Frear, Jr., of Delaware, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Guy M. Gillette of Iowa and James E. Murray of Montana swept to victory far ahead of the President.

The states where he led House runningmates were California, Idaho, Iowa, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon, North Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Naturally, these revelations strip some of the luster from the legend that Mr. Truman's reelection was a "political miracle." This latest version has already begun to give him trouble over such controversial questions as civil rights, labor, taxes, Senate cloture and foreign aid amounting to billions of dollars annually.

MAD: General Douglas A. MacArthur and Army Secretary Kenneth Royall have broken completely on the question of strengthening our defense in the Orient. Although a "good soldier," "Mac" is fighting mad over Washington's decision to concentrate principal financial and military aid on the Marshall Plan countries.

General MacArthur tried to reinforce his contention by making public the report of a vast spy ring in Japan in pre-Pearl Harbor days, with the further comment from his headquarters that it still exists. But even his Pentagon colleagues here belittle it as "old stuff." They also point out that these espionage activities were helpful to the Allies and the United States at that time.

VIEWPOINT: The State Department viewpoint is that China and Asia are too vast and chaotic for American assistance of any kind to influence conditions there. Secretary Acheson also feels that Stalin is too involved in other areas to organize a Communist regime in the Orient.

Moreover, as Secretary Marshall and the non-intervention diplomatic faction argued when we turned against Chiang Kai-Shek, they still contend that the Chinese Communists are simply "agrarian reformers."

Their latest belief is that any Red regime will not be slavishly subservient to Moscow, or tolerate any interference in its domestic affairs. They prefer to feel that the masters in the Orient will pursue a nationalistic policy like Tito's in Yugoslavia.

BASES: "Mac," however, does not bother his head about such "high policy." He hews to the strictly military line of the professional soldier.

He sees an ever-present prospect of war in the Orient's unsettled state. He insists stoutly that we should maintain and build up powerful advance bases in Korea, Japan and Hawaii. He remembers that difficulties of island-hopping from Australia to the Japanese mainland, especially with our fleet laid away in mothballs and our skeleton air force assigned to England, Germany and whatever bases may be leased to us under the proposed North Atlantic military alliance.

RANKIN'S ACTION MAY BACKFIRE

Solons May Block Pension Bill

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Rep. John Rankin (D-Miss) may have overplayed his hand in the rashness of his attempt to put the Truman administration and the House leadership on the political hot spot with his costly World War I and II veterans' pension bill.

He clearly showed the House, as well as the public and veterans, that he is moved more by revenge at the administration than interest in the veterans by the arbitrary manner in which he jammed the bill through his Veterans' Affairs committee in seven minutes. There was no time for consideration of this measure which, as reported, calls for pensions of $90 a month at 65 years of age for veterans of two wars who have served 90 days. He had eliminated pensions of $60 a month to begin at 6 0years of age, leaving the higher figure to begin five years later.

STOKES

His action was so high-handed that seven members of the committee walked out in protest. That clearly weakens his case, and at the same time offers an excuse to the weak-kneed in the House who were fearful of being forced to face this issue because of the political implications involved. They can find an alibi in Mr. Rankin's "dictatorial" tactics, as they were properly called.

Had Other Methods

The Mississippi congressman's vendetta against the Truman administration and the House leadership is because of his ouster from the House Un-American Activities committee, which was accomplished in the process of making that body a more responsible agency of Congress.

He had an available avenue of revenge in his chairmanship of the Veterans' Affairs committee, where he has built up his power through long service, and a handy weapon in his pension bill. That measure loomed as a fearsome specter to the politically timid in the House, especially since they had been deprived by the reform voted at the outset of the session of the convenient hiding place formerly provided by the House Rules committee, which frequently buried such measures in the past to avoid "embarrassment" to House members.

They knew that John Rankin would take advantage of the right now given committee chairmen to bring a bill before the House after 21 days if the rules committee does not act upon it. He intends to do just that if he is not successful in another coup, which he is threatening. That is to ask for recognition next Monday in the House to suspend the rules, which requires a two-thirds vote, and take up the bill, unusual procedure occasionally used. But it requires approval by the speaker, and Speaker Sam Rayburn is not expected to accord him such recognition if he decides to go through with his threat.

But he can bring up the measure within a month.

Strategy now being devised by the leadership is to get the bill sent back to committee by the House, and thus sidetrack it in a play for time. Such a move has support within the Veterans committee, itself. That was disclosed when one of the seven members who walked out, Rep. Walter B. Huber (D-Ohio) advocated recommittal in a speech to the House protesting Chairman Rankin's hasty procedure that allowed no time to consider the measure.

May Be Sidetracked

Some House leaders are talking of a more effective type of diversion, which is to recommit the measure to the Ways and Means committee, a hard-boiled committee of veteran members.

The argument would be that this committee, which handles tax and revenue bills, is the proper committee to study it from the standpoint of its cost, estimated at six billions a year eventually, and whether the economy could stand it. Also, this committee will begin soon to consider a measure to expand coverage of social security and increase its benefits and old-age pensions, in which veterans share as citizens with everybody else.

A vote on recommittal will have its political implications, since recommittal at least would delay the bill. When this vote comes, or however the test comes, the veteran, himself, can analyze it and see the extent of political hypocrisy in the House.

He can scan the roll call to see how many members who cast a "veteran's vote" on the pension bill are those who, in the past, have been against constructive measures of more immediate value to the veteran and his family, such as housing, health, education and the like.

Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. Some U.S. Planes On Airlift Run Now Equipped With Radar

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, Feb. 18.—An authoritative Air Force informant disclosed tonight that "a considerable number" of U. S. C-54 transport planes operating on the Berlin airlift now are equipped with radar.

This information coincided with the landing in Berlin of the millionth ton of supplies being ferried by American and British planes to defeat the Soviet land blockade imposed last spring.

The radar equipment, hitherto a closely-guarded secret, explains the success of "operation vittles" in the face of bad winter weather when visibility sometimes is almost nil.

Answer To Soviet Threats

It also helps explain the steadily mounting tonnages being flown to Berlin, far in excess of ordinary schedules.

The new radar equipment is visible clearly in the shape of a small, streamlined blister mounted beneath the fuselage behind the wings of the C-54s.

Officially this blister has been described as "routine navigational aid."

It is an open secret that the gadget is the answer to repeated Soviet threats to "jam" the ground beams on which the planes fly in and out of the blockaded city.

See Through Thick Fog

The Air Force informant said that "so far there has been no need to use the radar" to counter any Soviet jamming of regular navigational aids, but it does help the pilots in bad weather when ground radar equipment is insufficient.

The informant said the equipment, which includes a small screen in the cockpit, "enables the pilots efficiently to see 10 to 20 miles through thick fog without ground radar aid and to effect landings when visibility is 500 feet or less."

He said the decision to equip the planes with a new-type radar was reached late last year when the Soviets hinted they could jam the complex ground aid beams that cut across Berlin fields and the western air corridors.

Airlift figures thus far this foggy month far exceeded 6,000 tons daily. This is more than 1,500 tons above the scheduled daily quota of 4,500 tons.

Texas Solon Backs Plan For Use Of Mexican Labor In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (Special)—Rep Ken Regan, Midland, representing the 16th district, gave President Truman a fill-in on the Texas farmer's attitude toward employing imported Mexican agricultural labor when he called at the White House today.

"The farmers in my district and elsewhere in Texas who need these laborers to work their cotton and vegetable farms feel that they are performing a two-fold service in using Mexican labor—they are getting their crops harvested and thus contributing to the nation's supplies and they are providing dollars for the starving Mexican laborer on the other side of the border when there is not sufficient farm labor available on this side."

Regan said he gave the information to the President for him "to store away in his mind." Negotiations for a Mexican-U. S. agreement on agricultural labor have been going forward for some time in Mexico City. Regan said no new development prompted the visit today.

Shanghai Labor Leaders Score Shooting Of Soldier On Street

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18. (INS)—Bitter resentment was voiced Friday by Shanghai union leaders over the summary execution of four men by firing squads in downtown Shanghai Thursday night.

While several hundred civilians looked on, a wounded Nationalist soldier was shot to death by a Chinese army firing squad because he and several other Chinese civil war veterans started a riot when they tried to get free admission to a theater.

After the riot was stopped and ten soldiers had been arrested, the Shanghai garrison commander, Gen. Chen Ta Ching, ordered one of the soldiers executed on the spot.

The unlucky soldier was backed up against the front of the theater. Hundreds of resentful civilians saw his life ended by a volley of shots.

Earlier in the evening, three men accused of being leaders in a three-day-old Shanghai bus strike were executed by another firing squad twelve hours after their arrest. Six other strike leaders were given prison terms.

Argentina Reported Ready To Withdraw From Wheat Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—An embassy spokesman said Friday that Argentina will pull out of the 56-nation international wheat conference.

The Argentine spokesman reiterated in substance the same arguments advanced when Argentina served notice it would not participate in the 1948 wheat agreement.

"The Argentine government has tried hard to alter its foreign trade position, but because wheat is our number one exportable product we can not afford to enter into such a pact with a proposed maximum price of $2 a bushel like some other countries in this hemisphere."

Argentina has been reported charging as high as $4.85 a bushel for wheat.

Rpresentatives of the principal wheat exporting and importing nations have been trying here since Jan. 26 to work out an agreement to stabilize world wheat traffic.

Australia will ban sale of cream as long as Britain lacks butter.

Auto Theft Ring Broken As Denver Woman, Two Sons Held

DENVER, Feb. 18. (INS)—Arrest of a Denver woman and her two sons smashed a car theft ring which has disposed of at least $30,000 worth of automobiles in two years, Denver police said Friday.

Capt. Reese K. Harding of the auto theft bureau, said the ring operated in Denver, Kansas City, Mo., and possibly California.

Months of investigation, he said, was climaxed by the arrest of Mrs. Elfa Steibens, 49, and her two sons, Albert A. Freeman, 27, and Roy L. Freeman, 23.

Capt. Harding said the ring operated by purchasing wrecked cars, and transferring the motor numbers to stolen cars of the same model and make.

In other cases, Harding explained, the motor of the wrecked car would be installed in the stolen auto. Then a fake title would be made out and the car sold to an innocent purchaser.

Shapely 'Bombshell' Attacks Wife Of Italy's Red Solon

ROME, Feb. 18. (INS)—A shapely red-haired "bombshell" slapped, scratched and yanked the hair of the wife of Italy's Communist senator Umberto Terracini Friday in a Rome cafe.

The frightened victim of the attack was accused of being responsible for "Italy's ruin." Police are trying to find out what touched off the incident in the famous Greco cafe on Via Condotti.

Maria Laura Terracini, wife of the former Communist president of the Italian constituent assembly, said she was sitting in the cafe awaiting the arrival of a woman companion when approached by the youthful red-haired woman.

Police identified the assailant as Alessandra Monti, alias Maria Bettini. They found two identity cards when they arrested her.

The Communist leader's wife said Alessandra suddenly approached, spat at her, and began calling her obscene names.

Dallas Woman Granted New Trial In Rent Overcharge Case

DALLAS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Federal Judge William H. Atwell late today changed his mind and ordered a new trial for a Dallas Gold Star mother he had ordered to refund $663 in rent overcharges.

Earlier in the day the judge had upheld the Office of Housing Expediter and ordered Mrs. Orpha Norman Turner to refund overcharges to C. A. Neil, an employe of the War Assets administration.

But during the afternoon the judge called in attorneys for both sides and wrote out a new judgment setting a new trial for March 14.

In handing down his original order the judge said it was clear Mrs. Turner had not followed up her right to apply for a higher rent ceiling because of repairs she had made to her garage apartment.

Testimony showed Mrs. Turner received $75 a month for a furnished garage on which the ceiling is $37.50. She testified, however, that a sleeping porch and burglar guard were added to the apartment at a cost of $419.50 and $539.50 worth of general repairs were made.

Parents' Round-The-Clock Vigil Ends With Death Of 'Blue Baby'

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18. (U.P.)—The 'round-the-clock vigil of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bailey at the crib of their seven-month-old daughter was ended Thursday.

Little Kerry Bailey, a "blue baby" kept alive only by the vigilance of her parents and a home-made oxygen crib, died Thursday as her parents looked on.

"Our baby never had a chance," Bailey said. "We just had to stand there and watch her life slip away."

The child's death came less than two weeks after she was flown home from John Hopkins hospital at Baltimore in an Air Force transport plane. The Baileys live at nearby Millsboro.

Doctors at Johns Hopkins told the Baileys the only hope for the child was to keep her in an oxygen tent for at least five months until she grew enough to permit an operation to correct her malformed heart.

Bailey devised a homemade oxygen tent from a plastic tablecloth. He and his wife took turns at the 24-hour-a-day task of watching the flow of life-giving oxygen into the tent.
