Reds Flatly Refuse To List Allied Prisoners

ANYBODY YOU KNOW?—Somewhere in the United States there walks a person doomed to a sudden death. He, or she, will be killed by an automobile during the third week of December and will assume the dubious distinction of being the nation's millionth traffic fatality. The National Safety Council announced 10 months ago that the millionth traffic death since autos came into use would occur late this month. Now, despite everything traffic experts could do to stave it off, "D-(for death)-Day" for the millionth victim is approaching right on schedule. The first auto accident victim was killed in 1899. Up to December 14, the death toll had reached 998,900. Safety Council statisticians say the millionth fatality may fall on December 22.

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James C. Watson, Oil Editor

Oil Is Unloaded By Coroco Wildcat In Terry After DST

Coroco Drilling Company No. 1 Atlas Life Insurance Company fee, Central-West Terry County wildcat, 12 miles west of Brownfield has indicated a new discovery from the Clear Fork of the Permian in a drillstem test at 8,292-8,351 feet.

The tool was open for three hours. Gas surfaced in 29 minutes and the gas continued to show during the remainder of the test period.

No fluid came to the top while the tool was open.

Started Unloading Oil

Oil started unloading when 5,100 feet of the drill pipe was still in the hole. The unloading continued most of the rest of the way out of the hole with the test tool.

Operator calculated that the actual recovery was 5,100 feet of clean oil. There was no sign of formation water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,820 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 3,070 pounds.

Deepened 20 Feet

The project was deepened 20 feet to total depth of 8,371 feet and another test is being run, covering the section at 8,351-71 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 93, block D-11, C&M survey. The prospective discovery is 12 miles northwest of the nearest production which is in the Wolfcamp field in Central-South Terry County.

JD&R Schedules Ellenburger Test In Ector Region

Jackson, Douglas & Ritchie has staked location for No. 1 Earl Vest as a new wildcat in Southwest Ector County.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 18, block B-8, psl survey and 10 miles northwest of Penwell.

Projected depth is 11,500 feet to test the Ellenburger. Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin immediately.

No. 1 Earl Vest is halfway between Ellenburger production in the Wheeler and Yarbrough & Allen fields.

Warren Completes Strawn Oil Well At Scurry Dry Hole

Warren Oil Corporation has completed a commercial producer from a lower Strawn lime pay at its No. 1 Jesse B. Green, North-Central Scurry County exploration, two miles north of the city of Snyder.

This well is approximately one-half of a mile southwest of Warren's No. 1 Caudle, the closest producer from a similar pay section.

Has Some Water

Warren No. 1 Green was completed for a daily flowing potential of 144 barrels of 38.9 gravity oil, plus 14 barrels of water. The flow on the potential test was through a 12/64th inch tubing choke.

The production came from perforted section at 7,630-65 feet. That interval had been treated with 1,000 gallons, 5,000 gallons and 14,000 gallons of acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 975-1. Flowing casing pressure was from 850 pounds down to 575 pounds. Flowing tubing pressure was from 625 pounds down to 380 pounds.

Is An Old Dry Hole

Source of the water, which had a chloride content of 37,200 parts per million has not been definitely determined.

This new oil well is a dry hole drilled to a total depth of 8,177 feet in Ellenburger about two years ago as Olsen Drilling Company and associates No. 1 Green.

It has some shows in the Pennsylvanian, but it was not able to complete as a well from any of those sections and was plugged and abandoned.

Several weeks ago Warren reentered the abandoned project. It was cleaned out to about 7,670 feet

Husband Of Screen Star Joan Bennett Shoots Down Agent

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.—(AP)—A blazing pistol cut down movie star Joan Bennett's agent as he was standing beside her in a parking lot Thursday night. Police said her producer husband, Walter Wanger, admitted the shooting.

Police Chief Clinton Anderson quoted the prominent, gray-haired movie-maker:

"I shot him because he broke up my home."

Wanger was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder. He stayed in jail overnight. His arraignment was scheduled Friday in Superior Court.

The victim, Jennings Lang, 39, was reported in "fairly satisfactory" condition. He underwent surgery lasting an hour and a half.

One .38 caliber bullet penetrated his groin and came out through the rear of his left leg, Chief Anderson said, quoting the surgeon, Dr. Joe Pollack.

The other slug tore through Lang's clothing and grazed his thigh but didn't break the skin.

Sitting In Car

A bullet ripped through the left front fender of Miss Bennett's green Cadillac convertible. She was sitting in the car when the gun roared in a parking lot across the street from the Beverly Hills Police Station.

Lang was standing by the car, talking to her. He doubled over, clutching at his abdomen.

Chief Anderson quoted Miss Bennett as saying she told Wanger:

"Get away and leave us alone."

She told the police chief her re-

Goodfellows Seek To Locate Needy Midland Families

The Goodfellows Club is on the job—completing arrangements to assure the delivery of baskets of food, toys and clothing to needy families of the community on Christmas Eve.

The initial task is to obtain the names and addresses of unfortunate families, and the cooperation of all Midlanders is requested in this assignment.

"If you know a needy family, please dial 3-3381 and list the name with the Goodfellows," a club official requested. "The information needed includes the correct name and address and the age and sex of the children in the family."

Individuals or organizations planning to adopt a family or families for Christmas also are requested to check with the Goodfellow worker in the Chamber of Commerce office to avoid duplication in the basket distribution.

The Goodfellows Club is a participating agency in the Midland Community Chest.

Earthquake Rattles Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A rumbling earthquake awoke residents in the South Los Angeles area early Friday. There were no reports of damage.

The tremor also was felt in beach cities from Santa Monica to Long Beach. It was presumed to be caused by the nearby Inglewood Fault, a source of frequent minor quakes.

Midland Rites Set For Two Of Five Road Crash Victims

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p.m. Friday for one victim of Wednesday night's traffic accident which claimed five lives while services for another will be held Saturday afternoon.

Services were set Friday for James Alexander Wales, 18-year-old Midland High School graduate, in the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Vernon Yearby officiating. Interment was to be in Fairview Cemetery.

Services will be held in the chapel at 4 p.m. Saturday for Thomas Elmer Bennett, 49, with Mr. Yearby officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery.

Wales is survived by his mother, Mrs. Morris L. Pritchett; two brothers and a sister.

Bennett, who resided at 106 West Louisiana Street, is survived by his widow; Mrs. Bonnie Bennett; the mother, Mrs. Victoria Garrett of Florence, Ala., a step-daughter, two sisters and a brother.

Bodies of the other three oil field workers killed in the collision 18 miles south of Midland on the Rankin Highway have been forwarded elsewhere for funeral services and interment.

The others are Weston Leonard Townsend, 30, 313 East Oak Street; James Junior Almond, 25, 900 South Johnston Street, and Reuben Lengefeld, Odessa.

Pike Resigns Post On Atom Commission

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sumner T. Pike resigned Friday as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The White House made public an exchange of letters disclosing Pike sought to resign last October 31z but agreed to stay until December 15 at President Truman's request.

Eight Hospitalized In Passenger Train Mishap Near Humble

HOUSTON—(AP)—Three passenger cars on a Shreveport-to-Houston Southern Pacific train plunged 250 feet along the railroad roadway north of Humble Friday and landed on their sides in a 12-foot-deep gully, but nobody was killed.

Eight injured persons were taken to Houston for hospitalization.

Fifteen others who received minor injuries or where shaken up were taken to Humble City Hall, with their baggage, then brought here.

Seventeen pieces of rail were torn out in the wreck.

E. A. Mason of Humble, section foreman for the railroad, said the wreck was caused by a "fissure" or crack in the west rail, which "can happen any time. You never know."

Southern Pacific passenger train number 27, which left Shreveport at 11:30 p.m. Thursday, and was due in Humble at 6:22 a.m. Friday, hit the crack in the rail two miles north of Humble.

Seven-Car Train

The train had seven cars. The engine and two baggage cars went past the crack without mishap. The next two cars, baggage cars, were derailed but remained upright on the roadbed.

The last three cars, including two passenger coaches and a Pullman car, left the roadbed, plunging alongside it until the first one reached a gully over which the tracks crossed.

Then all three landed on their sides, the first about even with the bridge.

Ambulances brought eight persons to the Southern Pacific Hospital at Houston.

A bus brought the 15 persons who had been taken to Humble City Hall to Houston, for hospital examination and treatment.

Midland Traveler Finds Honest Man

Maybe it's the spirit of Christmas or maybe it's THAT honest man. Anyway it doesn't happen very often.

W. L. Douthit, Midland oil man, pulled in at a Madill, Okla., service station for gasoline early this week. The service was fine, but the attendant failed to replace the gas tank cap on Douthit's car.

Imagine Douthit's surprise when he returned home Friday to find a check from the Madill station in payment for the cap.

The Midlander plans to patronize the station again when he is up Oklahoma way.

Pick-Up Of Trash Nears Completion

Men and trucks plodded away again Friday at the job of cleaning up Midland for Christmas.

A score of trucks and 50 or 60 men were on hand Friday morning to complete the job, begun Wednesday, of hauling away piles of trash and debris which had been collected by property owners.

"The work was moving faster Friday," said Delbert Downing, chairman of the pick-up portion of the clean-up campaign, "and it looks like we'll have the job completed by nightfall."

More than 200 truckloads of trash and debris were hauled from the city Wednesday and it appeared Friday that the total might reach between 400 and 500.

Although Wednesday had been set as the day for the pick-up, campaign leaders called for a repeat performance Friday since the job was not completed.

The Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, however, kept its two trucks and crews on the job Thursday and by Friday the sector assigned to them had been cleaned up.

New Street Paving Program Shapes Up On Drawing Boards

Midland's fourth street paving program in three years—including more than 200 blocks of city streets—is beginning to take shape on the engineers' drawing boards.

The City Council Thursday afternoon instructed City Manager W. H. Oswalt to proceed with preliminary plans for the project, which will include the widening of four highway entrances into the city.

J. M. Orman, director of public works, said 95 per cent of the field survey work already has been done on the 208 blocks presently in the proposed program.

Additional requests for paving, he said, still are being accepted.

The tentative program includes widening with curb and gutter for the following highways:

Big Spring Street, from the end of present curb and gutters to one block north of George Street.

Andrews Highway from Highway 80 to Midkiff Road.

Rankin Highway from Florida Street to the south city limits.

Florida Street from the Rankin Highway to the Cloverdale Road intersection.

State Participation

The highway approach program, of course, is contingent on the participation by the State Highway Department.

The city customarily sponsors the construction of the curb and gutters while the state undertakes the additional paving.

Participation by the state has been discussed but no formal application has been made.

Approximately 50 blocks would be involved in the highway approach program.

The 208 blocks of city paving includes 41 blocks on the south side between Big Spring and Terrell Streets and north of New Jersey Street.

Also included is the paving of four blocks of North Lee Street and the streets bordering the new Latin American school.

City Council Enacts Two Health Laws

Two new city health ordinances became law Thursday afternoon but one of them was passed over the opposition of one of the members of the City Council.

The ordinances forbid:

First—The installation and maintenance of cross-connections with public water supplies and private water supplies, and,

Second—Maintenance of any livestock pens, privies, cesspools, waste disposal areas, and trailer courts or other such accommodations without adequate garbage disposal and adequate toilet facilities.

Urged By Sanitarian

Both ordinances were recommended by A. E. Cass, senior sanitarian for the City County Health unit, who last week told the council the two ordinances were needed to clean the city of unsanitary conditions.

But it was the first ordinance—the one prohibiting any connection between public and private water supplies—that drew the opposition of Councilman R. B. (Bum) Cowden.

Voting against the ordinance while Councilmen Johnny Starr, Jack Wilkinson and J. W. McMillen voted in favor of it, Cowden stated frankly that he had such a connection in his home.

"If they can prove that it is a health menace," said Cowden, "I'll be glad to go to the expense of changing it."

Fast-Moving Cold Front Strikes Texas

By The Associated Press

A fast-moving cold front swept into Texas early Friday, bringing an end to the balmy weather. It is expected to cover the state by midnight.

The leading edge of the cold front struck Amarillo at 1:20 a.m. and quickly dropped Spring-like temperatures to 26 degrees by midmorning. Dalhart reported a 20-degree reading. Snow fell in the Panhandle.

Light showers were reported at many points in the state, with rain falling in Austin, Houston, Lubbock and Texarkana.

Before the cold front hit, the lowest temperature recorded was 28 at Dalhart. Brownsville had the highest overnight reading with 71 degrees. The reported high for the state Thursday was 84 at Alice.

Forecasts of the U. S. Weather Bureau said the low temperatures brought on by the front will go to five to 15 degrees Friday night in the Panhandle, 10 to 20 on the South Plains, 18 to 32 in other West Texas portions. The low in North Central Texas is expected to be 15 to 25 degrees and in East and South Central Texas, 22 to 32 degrees.

Midland's Rainfall Adds Up To .15 Inch

Thursday's rain showers brought .15 inch of moisture to precipitation-thirsty Midland.

It was good while it lasted.

The pelting showers in the city brought enough water to run in low streets and certainly was welcomed.

The showers fell at intervals during Thursday with the last one coming after dark.

Red Cross Visits To Prison Camps Also Are Banned

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The Reds Friday flatly refused to lift the curtain of secrecy surrounding their prison camps, but said they would okay the rotation of 5,000 troops a month if the Allies accept other Communist terms for enforcing a Korean truce.

The limited rotation plan was part of a new six-point Communist proposal which made little impression on Allied negotiators. An official UN communique made no mention of rotation and said the proposal showed "little significant departure from the unacceptable proposal of December 3."

Red delegates said International Red Cross inspection of Communist prison camps was "out of the question."

They again refused to turn over lists of Allied prisoners unless the UN Command first accepts the Communist idea of exchanging all prisoners. Rear Adm. R. E. Libby wanted to know why. He asked:

"Is it because your list contains just a handful of names and you are ashamed to give it to us?"

Policy Termed 'Blackmail'

The Reds complained the great majority of prisoners held by the UN would not be returned if an exchange were made on a man-for-man basis, as the Allies want.

A UN spokesman called the Communist's remark a slip.

A UN Command broadcast from Tokyo to Korea again charged that the Red secrecy concerning prisoners was "blackmail" to win their armistice demands.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official Allied spokesman, said the rotation of 5,000 troops a month, as proposed by the Communists, would be well below the current American rotation level.

He said that while the new Red proposal appears to follow closely

U. S. Alerts Nations For Truce Duty

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has alerted three nations—Sweden, Norway and Switzerland—that they may be proposed as members of "non-belligerent" inspection teams in event of an armistice in Korea.

The proposed teams would maintain a check on whether the Communists, on the one hand, and the United Nations forces, on the other, were abiding by the armistice terms.

The approach to the three nations was made through their ambassadors here Thursday by John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of State for United Nations affairs.

Hickerson, it was learned, told the ambassadors the United States would like to know whether their governments had any objections to participation on an inspection commission.

They were told in principle the United Nations Korean Command probably could accept the armistice inspection idea.

The Communists have referred to this idea as inspection by "neutral" teams; the United Nations, as Hickerson explained it to the envoys, call for "non-belligerent" teams.

Hickerson is reported to have said that the American government did not believe that any United Nations member could be considered as neutral in the Korean conflict but that many members without troops in Korea clearly were "non-belligerent."

Air War Continues Unabated In Korea

SEOUL, KOREA. —(AP)— Red anti-aircraft guns shot down three Allied planes Friday while MIG-killing American Sabre jets destroyed one Communist jet and damaged three.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said all the Sabres returned safely from their two jet flights over Northwest Korea.

So did two reconnaissance F-80 Shooting Stars that were jumped by six Red MIG-15's near the North Korean capital, Pyongyang. The F-80's outmaneuvered and outflew the Red pilots in the much faster MIG's.

In unrelated actions, Red flak brought down a Shooting Star, an F-84 Thunderjet and an F-51 Mustang. All three fell in Communist territory.

Warships and carrier planes hammered at the edges of North Korea. But the ground troops stuck closely to their defensive lines.

Ike Will Seek GOP Nomination, Says Olin Teague

FORT WORTH —(AP)— General Eisenhower will seek the Republican nomination for president, Congressionman Olin E. Teague of College Station pridicted Friday.

Teague was one of seven congressmen here for the first annual Texas Congressional Forum.

Teague said he had lunch two weeks ago in Houston with the general's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower.

"I left that lunch convinced the general will be a candidate for the Republican nomination," he said.

Another congressman, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, said he doubted Truman will seek reelection. "I've had the feeling all along," he said, "but it's just a guess."

Polio Continues Rampant In Texas

AUSTIN —(AP)— Polio continued to lash Texas last week with a record-breaking December vengeance.

The State Health Department Friday reported 57 cases for the week ended December 8.

State Health Officer George W. Cox said it was the heaviest December incidence on record.

Ector County (Odessa) led the week's report with 15 cases. Harris County reported six cases. Dallas and Tarrant Counties had five each.

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— A huge storm brought high winds, sleet, freezing rain and heavy snow to most of the Midwest Friday, making highways hazardous and forcing many schools to close.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A tax lien for $51,157.71, aimed at 1950 income taxes allegedly owed by him and his wife, Christine, was filed Friday by the Internal Revenue Bureau against Henry W. Grunewald, mystery man of the current tax scandal hearings.

LONDON —(AP)— Britain will propose to Egypt that the two nations talk things over and try to cool off their dispute about the Suez Canal and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, informed sources said Friday.

TOKYO —(AP)— An Allied broadcast to Korea Friday night said the Communists "inadvertently revealed that they never had any intention of treating prisoners of war in accordance with terms of the Geneva Convention."

Truman Clean-Up Too Late, Phony, Declare Republicans

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republicans Friday met President Truman's assertion he is taking continued action to clean up the government with demands for cabinet dismissals, a new congressional inquiry and a 1952 election test of the issue.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed doubt Thursday night that the Administration "can ever succeed in reforming itself." Taft, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, added in a Cincinnati press conference:

"Nothing President Truman can do now will prevent indignation of the people at what has already occurred."

In Chicago, the Administration theme was carried along in a speech by Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney. He said that where wrongdoing exists it is being uncovered, rooted out and punished by the Democrats.

And Senator Smathers (D-Fla) said in a statement that the country will emerge stronger and healthier from a cleanup. He said inquiries ought not to be allowed to become "entirely political and selfish."

Senator Nixon (R-Calif) told a reporter he regards Truman's declaration that he has been acting continuously to keep the government clean as "telling the country there will be no cleanup."

Vaughan, Dawson, McGrath

"A minimum program certainly should call for firing Harry Vaughan, Donald Dawson, Attorney General McGrath and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder," Nixon said. "Instead, the President appears determined to keep them, so he can rely on their advice in determining what action he should take."

Vaughan, the President's military aide, admitted accepting a gift of seven home freezers. Dawson denied he was linked to a White House ring which sought to influence RFC loans. McGrath and Snyder have official responsibilities in connection with tax collection scandals now being aired in a House hearing.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis) announced in a statement he will introduce a resolution for an investigation of the office of alien property custodian, which he called "a channel

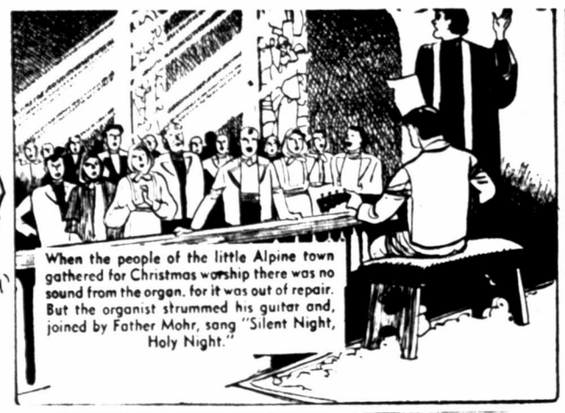
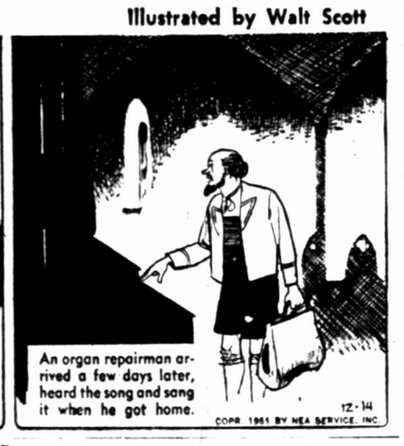
THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

Illustrated by Walt Scott

Father Mohr brought the verses of his song to Franz Gruber, the organist. Gruber's setting of the music to the inspired words was almost spontaneous.



When the people of the little Alpine town gathered for Christmas worship there was no sound from the organ, for it was out of repair. But the organist strummed his guitar and, joined by Father Mohr, sang "Silent Night, Holy Night."



An organ repairman arrived a few days later, heard the song and sang it when he got home.

Presbyterian Men Hear Address By Seminary President

The place of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary in training ministers to serve the fast-expanding culture of the Southwest was described by Dr. David L. Stitt, president of the institution, at the December meeting of First Presbyterian Men of Midland here Thursday night. "Theological Education—Or How Preachers Get That Way" was the subject of his address.

Edwin T. Stitt, president of the men's club, presided at the gathering, which was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. The guest speaker was introduced by W. H. Gilmore.

The seminary at Austin, Dr. Stitt explained, is owned and controlled by the Presbyterian Synods of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. He discussed the rapid growth of the seminary from the standpoints of physical properties, number of instructors, endowments and the number of students since 1945. The enrollment has increased from 18 students to 130 during the last six years, he said. It is the only Presbyterian seminary between the Mississippi River and the West Coast.

Service Institution

Terming the school a service institution for this area, Dr. Stitt explained the operation, training procedure and basic functions of the seminary, adding that it is up to the church to train its ministers.

"A strong ministry means a strong church; a strong church means the winning of more souls to Jesus Christ, and the more souls won to Jesus Christ means a better life for all of us," he declared.

A barbecued venison dinner was served by members of the Training Circle of Women of the Church. The venison was provided by W. H. Black.

Columbia Studios Suspend Hayworth

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Rita Hayworth has been suspended by Columbia Studio for failing to report for work.

She said she stayed away because she didn't get a completed script of her new picture. The studio said Miss Hayworth, although not indicating any dissatisfaction over the story in almost a month of rehearsing, now is displeased with it.

Through her agent, Aly Khan's estranged wife said she has received only a rough draft of the script "and after reading it I didn't think it advisable to report until they gave me the completed script."

"As soon as I can see exactly what I am going to do, I'll go before the cameras," she added.

Shooting on the picture, "Affair in Trinidad," was scheduled December 17. It was to be Rita's first film since 1948. Columbia says it has invested $500,000 in the picture so far and now will postpone it indefinitely.

CT Gives Patrick's 'Curious Savage'

The thirty-seventh production of the Midland Community Theater, Inc., "The Curious Savage," opened Thursday night in the City County Auditorium to a near full house.

This lively and highly entertaining comedy was written by John Patrick, author of "The Hasty Heart." The play will run through Saturday.

A commendable cast of actors and actresses played their parts with warmth and understanding making this play one of the best yet.

At the opening of the first scene the cast got into the swing of the play, needing no prompting, and continued the pace and humor throughout the three acts of the play.

Marian Gibson did an excellent portrayal of Ethel Savage, a gentle and kind old lady whose mercenary step-children try to take her fortune from her.

The story is about a rich old lady who wants to set up a memorial fund in memory of her husband. Her step-children object and have her committed to a "rest home" to prove that she is not responsible.

Her new found friends at the home help her to outwit her step-children and help her to get her memorial fund. The search for where Mrs. Savage has hidden 10 million dollars in bonds helps to make the play a hilarious comedy.

Others in the cast were Dolores Franklin as Florence; Waring Bradley, Hannibal; Constance Fanning, Fairy May; Hal Shaner, Jeffrey; Betty Gaines, Mrs. Paddy; Bill Key, Titus; I. C. Zacher, Samuel; Margaret Craddock, Lily Belle; Nora Harriss, Miss Wilhelmina, and Charles Dixon, Dr. Emmett.

The play was directed by Art Cole and Gene Brusenhan was the stage manager.

Tickets are on sale at Tailorfine and the box office.

Attention, Midlanders! !

A problem of tremendous importance confronts citizens interested in the welfare and continued progress of Midland.

It can be solved promptly if a sufficient number of loyal Midlanders join in a final push to complete an effort launched several weeks ago. It hardly is a matter of choice. It is a MUST in prosperous Midland.

The problem is the Community Chest finance drive, which appears to be bogged down. But it can be rescued and put "over-the-top" if Midlanders interest themselves sufficiently in this campaign to finance the operations of seven youth and welfare organizations.

Maybe the campaign was not organized properly, and perhaps the budgets of the participating agencies were higher than necessary. These contingencies, however, are neither here nor there. The Chest finance drive was organized and is being conducted by fellow Midlanders who are giving generously of their time and effort to complete the task successfully. The budgets of the participating agencies were screened and adopted by Midland citizens who have the best interests of their community at heart.

Considering these angles, there is but one thing left to do—complete the drive in typical Midland fashion.

Some Midlanders have not contributed at all to the Community Chest. Others have not given enough. This perhaps is the answer to why the campaign has bogged down. Now is the time to remedy the situation. Now is the time for action.

The money is here, the cause is worthy and the good name of Midland is at stake—along with the future operations of seven youth and welfare organizations. Will YOU help?

One hundred dollar contributions from 70 individuals and business firms will put the Community Chest campaign "over-the-top."

Surely there are 70 persons sufficiently interested in the welfare and continued growth and development of Midland to see that the Chest campaign does not fail. Are YOU one of them? If so mail your check NOW to Community Chest, Midland, Texas.

Midland and Midlanders will have a much Happier Christmas if this effort is completed successfully and NOW.

Must Stay In Character

President Truman sent the language purists scurrying to the dictionary the other day when he told the Navy chaplain at Key West his Sunday sermon was a "dinger."

There was some speculation that the word derived from the longer "humdinger," meaning a dandy job.

Our own feeling is that "dinger" is all of a piece with the sloppy caps and garish sports shirts which set the tone for the President's Florida sojourn.

If you're going to say something like, "Excellent sermon, Chaplain, very cogent and clear," then you've got to dress for the part.

All Right, Let The Music Begin

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Truman got more clean-up minded after leaving Key West; Washington mink market is broken! Mystery man Grunewald says he can't read.

WASHINGTON — White House advisers report that while the President was at Key West he did not seem too anxious to move boldly toward a corruption clean-up. When he got back to Washington, however, he got much more in a mood to housecleanc.

Some of the young men around him felt pretty strongly about the housecleaning and did their best to influence the President. So did Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, a former Cabinet member, while new Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney also threw his weight behind a purge.

It was Senator Anderson who first telephoned the President at Key West more than three weeks ago urging drastic action.

At first, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, although anxious for a clean-up, seemed to think things could be patched up without firing Howard McGrath as attorney general. Senator Anderson, however, disagreed. He told the chief justice that the President would lean on him heavily for advice and that he should recommend drastic measures.

Without a drastic purge, the senator from New Mexico argued, the administration would lose all control over Congress. Vinson seemed to agree.

Note!— Chief let-things-alone advocate inside the White House has been Mat Connelly, the President's appointment secretary, whose record of playing favorites would not bear too much congressional scrutiny.

Broken Mink Market

The other day a high official of the Munitions Board wanted to buy a small fur piece as a 25th wedding anniversary present for his wife.

Momentarily forgetting the current congressional investigations, he entered Washington's swank Erlebacher's and asked to see some fur neckpieces.

"Here is a nice Russian sable at $600 per skin," said the clerk.

"That's too high for me. What else do you have?" said the official.

Then the clerk produced a stone marten fur piece at $335 a skin. The official again shook his head, claiming it was too steep a price, and added:

"Well, don't you make these fur pieces in mink?"

The startled clerk practically had a stroke. Recovering his breath, he finally stammered:

"Mink! Who would buy mink in Washington? The market has been broken—broken in little pieces. There have been no mink sales in Washington for two months."

The chastened official finally settled for a silver comb and brush set.

Mystery Man

Among those who know the score on Capitol Hill, betting is 2 to 1 that Henry Grunewald will come out of the present tax probe unscathed. For, although "The Dutchman" is the mystery man of Washington, he has "friends." And friends count heavily in Washington these days.

It was the Dutchman's friends who got him off the hook exactly one year ago when he was investigated by a Senate committee for tapping Howard Hughes' telephone wires on behalf of Senator Brewster and Pan American Airways. At that time Democratic members of the Senate committee recommended unanimously that Grunewald be cited for contempt of the Senate.

At first, GOP members were inclined to agree. Then Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin buttonholed each Republican, got them to sign a report vigorously opposing the citation.

As a result, Grunewald went his way, free to practice influence, entertain high officials and fix tax cases.

Here is a cross-section of the Senate's examination of the mystery man in the wire-tapping probe:

"Do you read the papers?" demanded Chairman Matt Neely of West Virginia, in an effort to find out why Grunewald hid out in Virginia, fifty miles from Washington, and then claimed he didn't know the Senate was searching for him.

Befuddled Witness

"Upon the instruction of my doctor, I was told not to read anything" explained Grunewald. The reason for this, he added, was an inflamed intestine.

"Since your doctor told you not to read anything, what has been your practice about reading? Have you discontinued reading?" asked Senator Harry Darby, Kansas Republican.

"Only when the side flares up," replied Grunewald.

"You don't read?" asked Darby incredulously.

"I read everything," snorted "The Dutchman."

"You read everything now? How long have you been reading everything?" asked the puzzled senator from Kansas.

"As a matter of fact I haven't read anything yet, to be perfectly honest with you," fumbled Grunewald.

"I understood you to say you read everything," Darby shot back.

"I said I could read everything providing I don't have this flare-up on the side."

"Your flare-ups do not keep you from reading, do they?" demanded Darby.

"No, it is not a question whether it keeps you from reading. To the doctor's mind—and they know better than I do," the Dutchman groped.

"Have you been reading lately?" the Kansas senator tried again.

"I haven't looked at the paper."

"How long has that been your practice that you have not even looked at a paper? . . . Can you look at a watch or a clock?" persisted Darby. "Certainly, yes."

"And you can talk. They don't object to your talking. They just object to your reading," continued the senator from Kansas. "Do you read the telephone book or look at anything like that? Is your disease so bad that they will not even let you look . . ."

"I wish the senator would never have it, I guarantee that."

Overnight it occurred to Grunewald or his attorney that the doctor, under oath, might not confirm that he prescribed no reading for an inflamed intestine. So the next day he changed his testimony.

• JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There is a certain spot on the ceiling that some bridge players look at when they don't know what to do. Some players just look up at the ceiling with a vacant stare, and others find it useful to scratch their heads or rub their chins at the same time.

These are very fine things to know, to be sure, but it's even better to know the right way to play a hand. Today's hand shows the difference.

West opened the ten of diamonds, East covered with the jack, and South won in his hand with the king. One glance showed declarer that he needed three club tricks to make his contract since he could make exactly two tricks in each of the other suits.

	NORTH 14 ♠K 5 2 ♥K 4 2 ♦7 5 3 ♣A 10 6 4
WEST ♠Q 10 7 6 ♥J 10 8 ♦10 9 8 2 ♣J 5	EAST ♠J 9 8 ♥Q 9 7 3 ♦Q J 6 ♣K 7 2

South therefore led a club to dummy's ace and returned a low club from the dummy. Each quite properly played his low club, and South had to guess whether to play the queen or the eight of clubs from his hand.

South thought about it for a second or two and then looked up at the ceiling. This didn't help him, for he came out of his huddle by finessing the eight of clubs from his hand. This allowed West to win with the jack, which meant that declarer could win only two club tricks — not enough for his contract.

There is a standard method of playing this kind of suit. It is not absolutely infallible, but it does eliminate guesswork.

South must begin the clubs by leading the eight and letting it ride for a finesse. If this finesse loses to the king, there is no further problem. If it loses to the jack South returns to his hand and finesse through West a second time, either by leading the nine or the queen.

This method assures three tricks in the suit if the honors are divided or if West has both the king and jack. It fails only if East has both king and jack. The odds are 3 to 1 that three tricks will be developed—and there is no need to guess or consult a crystal ball.

Scandals Handcuff Santa In Government Agencies

WASHINGTON—According to the latest government regulations, before Santa can visit any government employe this Christmas he has to have clearances from two inter-departmental committees, in triplicate, countersigned by four cabinet members, and stamped by the chaplain of the Senate.

That's how bad things have gotten in the government as a result of all the influence scandals. The bureaucrats who write the regulations for the other bureaucrats are thin-skinned about such things.

One firm that does a lot of business with Uncle Sam now has cautioned its representatives to be careful about giving the season's greetings to any government officials. The firm got burned when it tried to handle its Christmas greetings to all its government contacts the same way it has the last five years.

The practice was to send a little memo pad that costs only a few cents, with a greeting and the company's name on it. A few days after the pads were sent this year they began coming back, some with pretty nasty letters for the record.

Another company has had most of its calendars returned from government officials who said they didn't feel they could accept such gratuities in view of the heat.

Afraid Of Wife's Gifts

Still another Army procurement officer isn't sure he can accept any Christmas presents from his wife. She is a stenographer for the Washington office of a firm that has some defense contracts.

At Defense Production Administration they are taking even more drastic steps to keep the Christmas spirit above reproach. The report is that all gift-wrapped packages sent to any employe in the agency through the official mails will be confiscated and turned over to charity.

That raised the question of what to do with any whiskey which might be sent to DPA officials as presents. It wouldn't look good for Uncle Sam to be donating intoxicating beverages to the needy. So they've decided to hold all bottles until the White House can give them a decision.

The Christmas present ban is the culmination of the effect of the growing number of government scandals. The new rules say flatly that no procurement officer can accept any kind of favor or gift whatsoever from a representative of a contracting firm. This has led to some silly and embarrassing situations for the officers who do the military buying.

A colonel happened to be visiting an eastern defense plant, checking on production. That evening the plant manager took him to the local country club for dinner with some other friends. The check for the evening was to go on the plant manager's monthly club bill.

Had To Be Dutch Treat

When he realized that night that he was accepting a favor from a company doing business with the Pentagon, the colonel was forced to ask for an individual bill, pay it in cash and get a receipt. It took about an hour for the club waiter to separate what the colonel had eaten and drunk from the intake of the others, and prepare a separate bill.

It's the same with taxicabs, now. If an officer happens to ride any place with a contractor's representative, he is supposed to figure out to the last cent what his share is and pay it.

In the Navy they have a slightly relaxed rule about procurement officers accepting dinners and lunches. It says that an officer can accept any kind of entertainment as long as he repays it—out of his own pocket—some time later to the same company representative. The Navy always has been a little more refined in such matters.

The unfortunate thing about the strict rules for officers is that when they are out of town the maximum expenses they get back is nine dollars a day. That hardly pays for a good hotel room.

In some cases the situation has become downright idiotic. A procurement officer and a former fraternity brother who represents a defense contractor here are next door neighbors and good friends. Since the new rules have gone into effect the officer has had to instruct his wife to stop borrowing eggs from the wife of the contractor's representative for fear of being hauled before a congressional committee.

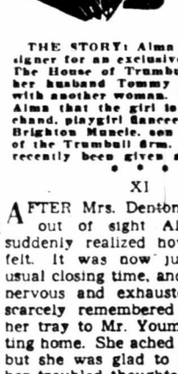
MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES



By Nina Wilcox Putnam

Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, designer for an exclusive jewel firm, The House of Trumbull, has seen her husband Tommy in company with another woman. Tommy tells Alma that the girl is Myrtl Marchand, playgirl fiancee of his boss, Brighton Muncie, son of the head of the Trumbull firm. Tommy has recently been given a promotion.

XI

AFTER Mrs. Denton was safely out of sight Alma Conroy suddenly realized how tired she felt. It was now just past the usual closing time, and she was so nervous and exhausted that she scarcely remembered handing in her tray to Mr. Youmans, or getting home. She ached with fatigue but she was glad to have beaten her troubled thoughts for at least a few hours.

As she opened the door of the apartment it was obvious that this time Tommy really had gone away. The half-open bureau drawers, the signs of a hasty packing were evidence of a tardy departure. She sighed with relief, heated a bowl of soup and when she had drunk it lay down on the living room sofa, the evening paper in her strong, beautiful hands.

The next thing she knew it was early midnight. She was wide awake, electrified by a sudden fear. Had that biggest diamond, the one for the center ornament, been in her lock-tray when she turned it in?

She could not remember having seen it. Yet it must have been there. Nobody could have taken it for she had been alone at the bench except for Mrs. Denton, who could not have reached the tray without standing—a physical impossibility. Mr. Youmans must have checked but for once he might have been guilty of an oversight. A cold chill seized her as she recalled the jokes and bets about the sweepings and remembered that she had worked too fast and under pressure.

"I've got to know!" she said aloud.

Mr. Youmans would think her mad, calling up at such an hour, but she could not endure to wait until morning. She thumbed through the telephone directory feverishly, but there was nothing listed under the old man's name. Of course not, she remembered, impatiently flinging the book aside. He lived in the suburbs somewhere—but where, oh where? Alma could not remember where.

WELL, what good could calling Joe do anyway? If that stone was under the wooden grille it had already become the property of Higgins & Co. By now the vacuuming would have been done, the carpenters be busy laying the new floor so that the room would be ready for occupancy when the jewelers arrived in the morning. And Alma would have to stand the loss to the client. It would take years to pay off such an debt.

But worse, far worse, was the disgrace. At Trumbull's carelessness was a sin beggaring description. She did not sleep again that night. Her twin consciences became active.

"Well," Aunt Pleasant's voice reminded her, "you let sinful thoughts take the place of honest work! Serves you right."

"Poor little foolish one," Gran' Bijou was being sorry for her. "You have a grand passion for your husband. It is broken up and you pay for it. One always pays for love!"

Alma was at the employes' entrance before the night watchman had left The House. She was waiting when Mr. Youmans arrived and opened his steel cubby hole with maddening deliberation. Her lips were dry with fright as she posed her question. Youmans peered down through his bifocals. Then his mild voice lifted her like a drowning woman, a safety.

"Yes, it's here all right, yes indeed. Don't apologize, my dear, people often get this sort of fright at floor-time."

Alma took her tray with a sort of sober reverence. The clean scene of new lumber wafted out to her as the day guard unlocked the work room door. The day settled down to a semblance of normalcy, and when Old Victor came in she was able to tell him of her scare almost as if it had been amusing.

"Ah! But it is not so funny!" he observed. "I know how you felt for once, when The House was down on Union Square, a big diamond flew out of my pincers and—poooph! right out through the open window. There were no fly-screens in those days. But by the grace of goodness and a nice Irish gendarme, we finally found the stone—under a forshythia bush in the park!"

THE old man insisted that Alma come out with him for a good lunch. Finding Joe absent from their table was like a reprieve, but his vacant chair was an eloquent reminder of him.

Everyone else, excepting of course Tommy, was in his usual place and this time no secret was made of the excitement everyone was under. There had been another theft. Alma had never dreamed that White Marie could lose her composure to such an extent. The older woman's cheeks were flushed, her eyes snapping with indignation.

"This time Mr. Muncie will have to do something more than just sit back and let justice lag along!" she was exclaiming. "When my department is robbed, it is too much! Something must be done about my honor—even if there is publicity, the police must be told. They must be told if every newspaper in the country prints the story!"

Mr Smith of Silverware broke in. "But where were they taken from? Your department, or repairs?"

"What does that matter, since they are practically in one?"

and the pipe which had been put in during the original testing was perforated at 7,630-65 feet.

Three Acid Shots

The section back of those holes was given the three shots of acid and the production which is now reported was developed.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 157, block 3, H&GN survey. The well is on the southeast side of the sector of the Kelly-Snyder, Canyon lime field which is north of the city of Snyder.

Gulf Is Trying To Make An Oil Well At SW Midland Wildcat

Gulf Oil Corporation is trying to make a production test on the Pennsylvanian lime at its No. 1 John Windham, Southwest Midland County wildcat, 17 miles southwest of the city of Midland.

This project is four and one-half miles south of the southeast side of the Parks-Pennsylvanian field.

It is located at the center of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 32, block 40, T-3-S, T&P survey

Had Used Acid

The section at 10,170-210 feet is being tested through perforations in the 9 5 8th inch casing.

That interval had been treated with 8,000 gallons of acid. Some load oil was used in connection with the acid treatment and more load oil was pumped into the formation after the treatment.

After the pressure was lifted the project kicked off and flowed out considerable oil and acid water.

Report Is Not Verified

Some sources had credited the wildcat with having flowed new oil at the average rate of 30 barrels per hour. That report has not been verified by official sources.

Interested observers say that so far it has not been determined definitely whether any new oil has been produced since the acid treatment.

At last report the project was trying to get a packer to hold so an extended test could be made and thereby determine whether or not the prospect would produce oil in commercial amounts.

NE Howard Gets Deep Prospector

The Texas Company No. 1 A. L. Wasson is a new wildcat in Northeast Howard County 21 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block 29, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 8,500 feet beginning at once. The projected depth should take the venture into the Ellenburger.

NE Crane Wildcat Is Drilling Deeper After Taking Test

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-EE TXL, wildcat in Northeast Crane County, is drilling deeper after taking a drillstem test from 9,910-72 feet in a cherty lime thought to be in the top of the Devonian.

Tool was open three hours. Gas was at the surface in one hour and 15 minutes.

Recovery was 245 feet of gas cut muddy oil and 115 feet of mud cut oil. Oil in the fluid was estimated to have been 30 per cent. It was 41.2 gravity.

Operator has not picked the top of the Devonian.

Gulf No. 1-EE TXL is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 19, block 43, T-4-S, T&P survey. That puts it 16 miles northwest of Crane.

Rumors Of Sabotage In Collapse Of Tank In Tucumcari Quieted

TUCUMCARI, N. M.—(AP)—Sabotage rumors quieted Friday, but an explanation for Thursday's devastating water tank collapse seemed as remote as ever.

Four persons died, three were injured and two tots were orphaned in the wreckage which the 1,250,000-gallon deluge left in its wake on Main Street.

Investigators have checked four leads, with these preliminary results:

Sagotage—Possible, but there is little to back it up.

Explosion—Possible, but "nothing now indicates an explosion either inside or outside the tank."

Crystalizing of steel sides of the tank—The Federal Bureau of Investigation may send samples of the 3/8-inch steel wreckage to its Washington laboratories for testing.

Meteor falling on or near tank—Now believed to have been a mistake by persons who believed they saw a fireball plunge to earth near the tank.

Splits Down Middle

Apparently, officials said, the 30-foot-high, ball-shaped tank split down the middle, spilling its water in all directions. This was indicated by the fact that deaths and serious bodily injury hit only two families, the Elliotts, who lived on the west side of the tank, and the Gallegos, who lived on the east.

Dee T. Elliott, 44, his wife, 43, and the couple's son, Tony, 18-months, were crushed to death as they slept in the same bed in their home. Steve Gallegos, 13, was found about 100 feet from his room, in the middle of the street on the east, where a wall collapsed and mashed him.

City Police Sgt. Jack Rose said the Elliott boy's twin brother, Tom, and a five-year-old sister were asleep in another room and escaped serious injury.

"It's a miracle they weren't drowned," Rose said. He explained they survived because there was enough space to keep them from being crushed beneath the walls of th tank.

The orphaned children were taken to a hospital for treatment of shock and because they had nowhere else to go.

As the water spread out, waist deep at its peak, over a quarter-mile area, City Manager J. A. Fleming estimated it caused about $500,000 damage to personal property and business establishments which it flattened. About 15 homes, mostly adobe, were demolished, as was the city warehouse.

The FBI thinks the tank just collapsed. The tank was brought to Tucumcari second-hand in late 1938 or early 1939.

More Guns, Less Butter Is Nation's Program For 1952

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Production of civilian items such as automobiles and refrigerators, which are made largely of critical metals, will be cut sharply in 1952 because of expanding military output.

That was the emphatic warning of the nation's top mobilization chiefs Thursday. Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson put it this way:

"From now on, during 1952, there will be many more guns and much less butter."

Wilson told the National Press Club that manufacturers of civilian goods will get only about 50 per cent of their usual amounts of these critical metals—steel, copper and aluminum—in the first quarter of next year.

And Manly Fleischmann, defense production administrator and a principal Wilson aide, disclosed at the same time that "substantial" additional cutbacks in metal quotas must be made in April, May and June.

Fleischmann explained that military officials have made big boosts in their demands for strategic metals in the second 1952 quarter.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Running And Chasing

Doctor Shoobug, the monkey doctor in the Great Forest, had stopped by the Elephant Path to talk with Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend. But before they could say a "Happy Day!" to each other, there came a runner and a chaser up the Elephant Path. The runner was Dog-people, a great big dog with floppity ears who was running fast on his two back legs. In his arms he carried a monstrous soup bone.

"He is running to get away from the Huffen Puffen," said Daddy Ringtail, "because the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, is the someone chasing Dog-people. He is chasing to catch Dog-people, and to take the soup bone away from Dog-people. The Huffen's soup bone was on the table in his kitchen, and then it was gone."

"Uh, yes," said Doctor Shoobug, and just then—"Swoosh!" came Dog-people running by with the big soup bone in his arms. "Swoosh!" came the Huffen by to catch Dog-people.

"Huffen Puffen, wait!" shouted Doctor Shoobug, but for once the Huffen did not do what the doctor said. Instead he dived like a football player to catch Dog-people around the legs. Down they went together with much noise of yapping and yelping. They yapped and yelped together, and dust from the fighting rose high in the air until neither the Huffen nor Dog-people could be seen. The cloud of dust hid all their fighting.

"Tch! Tch! Tch!" said Daddy Ringtail.

"They shouldn't do it," Doctor Shoobug agreed.

And at last, when they both were so tired they couldn't fight any more, the Huffen and Dog-people went in the Huffen's house to get a drink and to wash their faces and hands.

And what do you think they found? They found the Huffen's soup bone safe and sound where the Huffen had forgotten and put it away inside the refrigerator. Oh yes! And the other soup bone belonged to Dog-people after all.

Everyone laughed to think about it, and everyone shook hands now to be friends. And there wasn't a scratch or a bump from all the fighting, because this is only a story, remember, and in our stories we keep our fighting from hurting people. People get hurt in real fights, I am sorry to say. Happy day!

Novelist Janet Tullis Held For Shooting American In Mexico

VICTIM ONLY SCRATCHED

MONTERREY, Dec. 12 — Janet Tullis, whose first novel, "Dehydrated," has been on the best seller list for two months, admitted that it was probably she who shot Simon Alred here early today.

"It's all so confused . . . everything went blank when Mr. Alred rushed at me menacingly after I refused to divorce my . . . my husband and marry him," she sobbed.

Then Miss Tullis disclosed for the first time that she had been secretly married in London last year, and later separated. "But I still have faith that he will come back to me," she said.

Upon further questioning she gave his name as Captain Easy.

The novelist brushed aside one discrepancy in her story that Mr. Alred was advancing as she fired. Hospital spokesmen had disclosed that the portly victim was nicked where he would have been most vulnerable in retreating.

Meanwhile Alred maintained a stoic silence, refusing to press charges against the

Crip And Jo, Texas' Captive Whoopers, Head For New Life In New Orleans Zoo

AUSTWELL, TEXAS—(AP)— Crip, one of a near-vanished breed, no longer was free Friday. But the whooping crane fought capture as long as his damaged wing would allow.

Crip and Jo, his mate, were headed for life in a New Orleans zoo. The whoopers had been free on the U.S. Wildlife Refuge here. They couldn't fly because of premature injuries.

Standing by with tears in her eyes as Crip and Jo were taken in their captor's arms was Mrs. Julian Howard, wife of the refuge manager. She fed Crip and Jo for years, had followed them in sorrow as they lost their only offspring, Rusty, to a predatory animal.

Then, because the U.S. Wildlife Service said the whoopers must go to New Orleans, she had to entice them into capture.

Crip in the past refused to come near at feeding time when Mrs. Howard wore a dress. He would when she dressed in slacks. Thursday, Mrs. Howard wore slacks but Crip knew something was in the wind.

Jo was taken easily. Crip sailed majestically away over a fence to a nearby slough. Workers in rubber boots waded into the slough and herded him back toward the pen. He tried twice more to fly fences, but was stunned when he hit them. He finally was run down.

The Wildlife Service hopes Jo and Crip will produce some little whooping cranes in captivity. Only 28 whoopers exist. Once the flocks were huge. Free on the refuge, the pair had brought Rusty into the world. Then this Spring, their egg was ruined by a high tide.

The zoo originally loaned a crane to the refuge for breeding. Then this week, Gorge Douglass, manager of the zoo, asked for his crane back and a mate to go with it.

Howard objected but was overruled by Wildlife Service officials in Washington.

The refuge manager emphasized Thursday that Crip is going with Jo only on a loan basis for 10 months or until a mate can be found for him at the refuge.

Six-Day Hunt Fails To Turn Up Trace Of Missing Teacher

BROOKINGS, S. D.—(AP)—Widespread search for a missing 39-year-old woman English teacher appeared to have reached a dead end Friday—the sixth day of her disappearance — as authorities admitted, "We don't know where to look."

The comely Dr. Barbara Morehead, instructor at South Dakota State College, dropped from sight Sunday, where she checked out of a hotel at nearby Marshall, Minn. Since then, there has been no trace of her.

"She is living up to the title we had for her as a 'mystery woman,'" said H. M. Crothers, acting president of the college.

Dr. Morehead made no close friendships on the campus and had but few acquaintances."

Car Locked, Abandoned

Dr. Morehead's car was found, locked and abandoned, near Lake Benton, Minn., not far from Marshall. Two truck drivers added to the mystery by turning in keys for the machine at the Marshall hotel Sunday morning after Dr. Morehead had retired. The car, still locked and bearing only a slight dent in a fender, remains on the highway shoulder where it was abandoned. There also has been no word from the truck drivers.

Her brother, Dr. James C. Morehead, professor at Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, said by telephone he was "certain my sister is all right."

Agents of the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension said they believed the missing woman may be an amnesia victim.

"But so far we haven't any clues at all," reported Chief John Tierney.

Lutherans To Show Full-Length Movie

"All That I Have," a feature length movie on Christian stewardship, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Grace Lutheran Church.

Sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League, the movie is feature length and admission will be free to the public.

It is the moving story of a man who contributes hundreds of dollars to the poor and destitute and who donates $50,000 to his church's missionary program. When he said "All that I have belongs to God," his nephew thought he could not be trusted with the care of his money.

Even so-called friends of the man, known in the film as Dr. Grayson, testify he is not of sound mind. Finally, in his own defense the doctor gives his explanation of the principles of Christian stewardship.

The jury verdict is said to be dramatic and gripping.

Walter Bodenman, chairman of the Grace Lutheran's campaign called Conquest for Christ, said the movie is part of the group's program.

Frostbitten Pilot Has Wild Taxi Ride On Airplane's Tail

BATTLE CREEK—(AP)—Frostbitten Lloyd Bowen classified the 10 minutes he spent on the tail of a spinning small plane Thursday as his most harrowing experience—and he was a gunner on a B-29 Superfort in World War II.

Here's what happened:

Bowen, 39, landed his two-place, single-engined Cessna at Kellogg Airport and started taxiing toward a hangar. The engine conked out in the seven-above-zero cold. Bowen alighted to spin the propeller by hand and get the engine started again.

It started with a roar and almost chopped Bowen down. He wrapped his arms around the rudder as it passed and held on, but the plane didn't stop. He forced the rudder to the side, making the plane run in a circle.

Help Finally Arrives

Finally, after 10 freezing, dizzying minutes, the spinning plane was spotted by the airport tower.

A crash truck speeded up. Two attendants jumped off and grabbed the tail with Bowen, who then let loose and ran to the cockpit forcing in the throttle hand left too far out in the first place.

Caked with snow and ice when he got off, Bowen got first aid for his frostbitten face and ears. He also got a bruised leg.

Airport authorities said the engine was running around 2,000 revolutions per minute during its wild, but Bowen-controlled spree. At that speed, they said, the plane, without a man's weight on its tail, likely would have taken off and possibly crashed into hangars or nearby homes.

Parents Booked In Fatal Beating Of Young Daughter

LYNWOOD, CALIF. —(AP)— An expectant mother and her husband have been booked on suspicion of manslaughter in connection with the death of their three-year-old daughter, who apparently was beaten to death with a broom handle. Police said there were ugly black and blue marks over most of the body of Phyllis Louise Ingraffia. The eyes were swollen shut, lips cut and puffed and the arms seemingly broken, officers said.

Arrested Thursday were Paul B. Ingraffia, 27, railroad freight handler, and his wife, Anne, 26, who is expecting her fourth child next month.

Police Chief Paul W. Kerr said Mrs. Ingraffia issued a statement admitting the slaying, saying she "had trouble" with Phyllis wetting the bed, "and one day I hit her with a stick of wood; I lost my temper and I don't know how many times I hit her."

Officers said the woman told them the child seemed all right when she put her to bed Wednesday night, although "there were blue marks on her body and I was afraid to ask for help."

Next morning, police quoted Mrs. Ingraffia, Phyllis fell down and refused to drink water when it was offered to her. She called firemen who worked for an hour in a vain effort to revive the child.

6,000 Expected For Newcastle, Wink Grid Clash

WINK—More than 6,000 fans are expected to crowd into Wildcat Stadium Saturday for the 2 p.m. Class A semi-final battle between Wink's Wildcats and Newcastle High School.

The game has been billed as the meeting of the state's most powerful offensive team (Wink) against the team with the best defensive record, Newcastle.

Powerful Wink has rolled up 527 points in taking 13 straight games, while Newcastle has allowed but 12 points to be scored against it in 13 outings.

Odds makers warn, however, that Newcastle also has a good offensive team. The Newcastle eleven has been potent enough to be held to no less than two touchdowns in all of 13 contests.

Wink, on the other hand, hasn't been a demon at stopping the opposing forces this year. The Wildcats have allowed 165 points to the combined opposition.

Still, Wink rules as a prohibitive favorite as the two teams tune up for the important clash. Most quarters call it by two touchdowns.

Coach Glenn Frazier Friday proclaimed his Wildcat squad "hale and hearty" and said he looked for the tilt with Newcastle to be a "very, very tough ball game."

The Wildcats will pit their highly-productive T formation against the Newcastle single-wing type attack in this one.

Newcastle's famed defense must set itself to stop the scampering of such backs as Jimmy White, Danny Villarreal and Fuzz Herring, while at the same time stilling the passing of Kenneth Vinson and the bull-like charges of Fullback Dale Dodd.

The team's records:

Wink 9, Monahans 0.
Wink 20, Kermit 7.
Wink 27, Pecos 19.
Wink 42, Crane 20.

Odessa Cage Team Here For Contest

Midland High School's basketball team playes its second game of the season here Friday night, meeting the Odessa High School Bronchos.

Odessa will be playing its first game of the season, having postponed four games because of a polio epidemic. The Bronchos boast of five returning lettermen, including Frank Gee, all-district performer.

Coach F. D. (Red) Rutledge said he would start Robert Johnson, Robert Keisling, John Van Buskirk, Bill Mims and Jesse Hatfield. Other boys expected to see action are Harold Paden, Corky Moss and Larry Friday.

Letterman Ralph Brooks also may see his first action of the year. Brooks missed last week's 52-33 loss to San Angelo, as he was out with a cold.

* * *

Coach John Higdon's B team opens play against the Odessa B at 6:30 p.m., with the varsity contest immediately following. The games, scheduled for the Midland High School Gym, are non-conference affairs.

Elementary Gridders Feted With Banquet

Two hundred fifteen Midland Elementary School football youngsters were feted with a banquet Thursday night in the Midland High School Cafeteria.

Coach Tugboat Jones, Midland High School mentor, addressed the youngsters.

"How many of you boys intend to stick with football and play through high school?" Jones asked.

"We are looking looking forward to seeing 215 boys on the varsity squad in 1957," he said when all the youngsters raised their hands. Jones praised the elementary coaches and the boys who played the game this Fall here.

Wesley Martin, special services director at MHS, was master of ceremonies and introduced members of the schoolboard and other guests. Each elementary coach was introduced and he in turn introduced his boys.

The invocation was by Carlton Downing, principal of Sam Houston Elementary School. Dwaine Estes, principal of South Elementary, gave the benediction.

Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland schools, introduced Coach Jones and commended the elementary schools on their fine athletic setup.

1952 Midland Grid Schedule Completed; Lamesa Comes Here

Midland High School's 1952 football card was completed Friday with the addition of Lamesa High School for the opening game of the season. The tilt will be played here, September 19.

The landing of the Lamesa tilt here means Midlanders may see six Midland games at home this season. Poly (Fort Worth) and Ysleta also come here for non-conference games. Abilene, Amarillo and Lubbock play conference games here.

Midland's complete 1952 football schedule:

September 19—Lamesa, here.
September 26—Poly (Fort Worth) here.
October 3—Ysleta, here.
October 10—At San Angelo.
October 17—At Borger.
October 24—At Pampa.
October 31—Abilene, here.
November 7—Open date.
November 14—Amarillo, here.
November 22—Lubbock, here (2 p.m.).
Thanksgiving Day—At Odessa (2 p.m.).

The first three games are non-conference tilts. The last seven games are conference (1-AAAA) clashes.

Rankin Nips Crane High School, 27-25

CRANE—The Red Devils of Rankin nipped Crane High School, 27-25, in a double-overtime basketball game here Thursday night. Rankin also took the B game, 31-26.

Tidwell Added To South Grid Squad

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—The South squad was complete Friday for the Shrine's College All-Star charity football game in the Orange Bowl Christmas night.

Billy Tidwell, Texas A&M halfback, was added to the squad to bring it to 26 players, Coach Andy Gustafson said.

North Coach Herman Hickman of Yale added Howard Hansen, Columbia fullback. One more player is to be added to the North squad, bringing to 26 the number of players on each team.

BEARS WORK OUT

WACO—(AP)—The Baylor Bears held their first work out Thursday in preparation for their Orange Bowl football game with Georgia Tech January 1.

Dick Denfeld, a guard on the Navy grid team, is the nephew of Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, retired Chief of Naval Operations.

Rotary Engineering Company, who has had things pretty much its own way in cage circles here the last few years may find itself in hot-water before the current season is over.

To date, Rotary has looked very smooth and seems to outclass most of the teams in the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League, as usual.

But Western Plastic Company, at least, looks capable of making things interesting for the Engineers later on if the team gets a bit smoother. Last year the Plastics gave Rotary a good argument for three quarters in one game, but gave way to the classy Engineers in the final quarter to take a drubbing.

Plastic has a tall team—as does Rotary—and looked good in spots in defeating Borden's Thursday night. Paul Brahaney, J. W. White, Jack Dunlap and a tall ex-Oklahoma A&M gridder named Patton could turn the Plastics into a good team before the season is over.

Phillips Oil, the JayCees, Shell Oil and Borden's look as if they'll finish in about that order, from where we sat at the opening games.

* * * * *

Dutch Funderburk, San Angelo's pennant-winning baseball manager, is quitting the game to turn to ranching.

Mark Christman, ex-major leaguer, will guide the Colts next season.

Other Longhorn League news: Ken Cluley of Artesia has been drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates and will go to Spring training with Pittsburgh in Florida.

A 10-man group at Vernon now ramrods the Duster club. The men assumed indebtedness of more than $15,000, but assured Vernon of professional baseball for the coming season.

* * * * *

DOTS AND DASHES: Bennie Rutherford, former North Texas State and Rotary Engineer cage whiz and coach at Cowden Junior High, is off to a good start as basketball coach at Big Spring's Howard County Junior College . . . His team has won five straight . . . Snyder took Sweetwater, 38-36, in a cage game recently . . . Sports writer Robbie Robinson of Lamesa says Midland will wish it could come back to District 1-AAA before the 1952 season is over . . . He said Midland can't win many with the "big boys" in 1-AAAA . . . Betcha the Bulldogs tumble Lamesa, anyway, in the opening game . . . These big boys return to the MHS grid team next year: Ronnie Rone, 200; Geys Curry, 200; John Petty, 210; Larry Friday, 170; Bill Leonard, 175; Red Cast, 170; Robert Keisling, 170; Roy Kimsey, 170 . . . Up from the B squad will be Clinton Nobles and Jerry Ball, who should weight 175 or more . . . Our first Christmas greeting card came from J. R. Basco, of Barbertown, Ohio . . . He's the father of Quinten Basco, ex-Midland Indian infielder . . . Also got greetings from Jerry Matajek, softball hurler . . . End of The Row for now!

Texas Aggies Lose; TCU Wins Cage Game

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference broke even in intersectional basketball Thursday night, losing one and winning one.

Texas A&M, which hasn't won yet in four games, took on powerful Manhattan and fell, 44-42, in New York. Texas Christian, which shows growing power, romped over Howard Payne, 80-45, in Fort Worth.

A&M extended Manhattan. The New York club overcame a nine-point deficit with a last period rally, going ahead with only 10 seconds remaining on Junius Kellogg's layup.

The game was played in Madison Square Garden.

Texas Christian led in every quarter to beat Howard Payne and take a four victory, one loss record margin this season. George McLeod paced TCU with 25 points, which gave him a season total of 101 and the individual point making lead in the league.

The conference has a heavy schedule Friday night.

Baylor takes on Colorado at Boulder, Rice plays Stephen F. Austin at Houston, Texas meets Sam Houston State at Austin, Texas Christian plays Hardin-Simmons at Fort Worth and Southern Methodist plays Kansas at Dallas.

Harry Matthews KO's Art Henri

OMAHA—(AP)—Light Heavyweight Harry (Kid) Matthews scored a second round knockout over heavyweight Art Henri here Thursday night and Friday his manager was New York bound to talk about "a big fight" for The Kid.

Manager Hurley paried questions about whether he meant a talk with International Boxing Club representatives about a fight for Matthews with the light heavyweight title holder, Joey Maxim.

"After all," Hurley said, "we're interested in the heavyweight title, too."

Hurley announced Matthews' heavyweight campaign only last week. Matthews had been unsuccessful in getting a shot at Maxim's title.

Klosterman Sets Aerial Records

NEW YORK —(AP)— Don Klosterman, Loyola's one-man bombing squadron, topped the nation's major college passers during the last season and set eight records in the process.

The 21-year old senior at the Los Angeles University threw 315 times and completed 159 in nine games, breaking records for both the number of tosses and for completions.

In Loyola's game with Florida on October 6 Don pitched 63 times, completed 33 and gained 372 yards, breaking records for one game on all three counts. Loyola lost, 40-7.

His other three records are for attempts in a college career, 729; completions in a college career, 368; and yards per game in a college career, 160.

Walter Cartier, Kid Gavilan Battle

NEW YORK —(AP)— Cuban Kid Gavilan the man with the iron jaw—tests Walterr Cartier's .500plus knockout average at 9 p.m. (CST Friday) in an interesting Madison Square Garden pairing.

Everybody pegs away at the indestructible "Keed" and nothing happens. In 93 fights, only Ike Williams was able to knock him down—and he couldn't keep him there. Gavilan won two of their three bouts.

Gavilan's record shows 77 wins with 22 knockouts but most of the KO's came in lesser fights.

On the basis of Gavilan's unimpressive draw with Johnny Bratton at Chicago November 28 he is only a 6 to 5 favorite over Cartier. Many think the price is out of line, giving a decisive edge to the fast-punching Gavilan against a standup boxer-puncher like Cartier.

It's a battle of winning streaks. Cartier, 27, has won 20 in a row since he was knocked out by Rocky Castellani, at St. Nicholas Arena in 1948. Gavilan hasn't lost in his last 14, winning 13 straight until the Bratton draw. It will be Gavilan's 12th start this year.

DiMaggio Signs TV Pact With Yankees

NEW YORK —(AP)—Joe DiMaggio was enroute home Friday with a new type of a New York Yankee contract in his pocket.

The Yankee Clipper, who announced his retirement as a player Tuesday, signed Thursday a contract to do the Yankees' pre-game and post-game television program next year.

State Title Grid Battles Set Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The next to last week of the Texas schoolboy football season will see the crowning of two champions. They will be in the major divisions under the reclassification program that created the super Class AAAA.

Lubbock's unbeaten, untied Westerners clash with Baytown's once-defeated but very powerful Baytown Ganders in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday with the AAAA title on the line.

At the same time, Temple, often a bridesmaid but never a bride, will be after its first state championship in 32 years of Texas schoolboy campaigning. The Wildcats tackle Breckenridge, which once tied for a state title, at Abilene with the Class AAA crown in the balance.

Classes AA and A will be determining their finalists. Play begins Friday night in Class A with undefeated, untied Giddings meeting Industrial of Vanderbilt at Gonzales. Saturday afternoon Newcastle will be at Wink in the other semi-final.

Both Class AA games will be held Saturday afternoon with Anson and Arlington getting together at Fort Worth and LaVega and Donna colliding at San Antonio.

Lubbock and Temple are favored to win the upper division titles but the former is a narrow choice over a Baytown team noted for its defense. The Ganders in 12 games have given up only 44 points and in smashing Ray of Corpus Christi, 34-0, last week showed they could go offensively, too.

Goode Named On All-Southwest Team

ABILENE—Frank (Dunny) Goode, left halfback for the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, has been named on the All-Southwest football team by the All-American Football Digest, an athletic publication.

Seven teams are represented on the selection with three men from Oklahoma being named to the all-star eleven.

Twelve men were named to the team with an offensive and defensive man picked at each position.

Texas, Baylor and TCU each placed two men on the team, and Rice and Arkansas had one.

Goode, a former Midland star, was the leading rusher in the Border Conference with a net of 1,375 yards gained in eleven games. He also was the leading scorer with 14 touchdowns.

Following are selections:

Offensive end—Howton, Rice.
Defensive end—Williams, Texas.
Offensive tackle—Weatherall, Oklahoma.
Defensive tackle—Rowland, Oklahoma.
Offensive guard—Clark, Oklahoma.
Defensive guard—Athley, Baylor.
Offensive center—Meyer, TCU.
Defensive center—Griffin, Arkansas.
Offensive back—Isball, Baylor.
Offensive back—Goode, Hardin-Simmons.
Defensive back—Dillion, Texas.
Defensive back—Flowers, TCU.

Magnolia To Air Schoolboy Games

When the Breckenridge Buckaroos and the Temple Wildcats meet on neutral ground in Abilene's Fair Park Stadium Saturday afternoon, a state-wide network of 17 stations will carry the broadcast of the AAA championship. At the play-by-play microphone will be Eddie Barker, while Bud Sherman will describe the color and halftime activities, beginning at 1:45 p.m. Some of the stations carrying the contest include: KCRS-Midland; KRLD-Dallas; KBST-Big Spring and KWKC-Abilene.

George Mooney will handle the play-by-play of the Lubbock-Baytown AAAA title game at 1:45 p.m. over 21 stations, which includes KRBC - Amarillo; WRR - Dallas; KSEL-Lubbock; KGKL-San Angelo; KWFT-Wichita Falls and KOSA-Odessa.

Magnolia Petroleum Company sponsors the broadcasts.

Presidents Would Kill Bowl Games

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The men who run the bowl games and some of the men who direct college athletic programs let it be known Friday they don't think much of a football deemphasis program laid down by 10 college presidents.

The presidents, members of a special committee set up by the American Council on Education, to study what's wrong with college sports, recommended these strong measures:

1. Abolition of all bowl games.
2. Barring of freshmen from varsity sports.
3. Refusing alumni and other booster groups permission to give scholarships directly to athletes.

Three hours after the president's program was announced Thursday, Southeastern Conference athletic directors, in session at New Orleans, voted "almost unanimously" to tell the college presidents to keep their hands off the bowl policies of that conference.

Representatives of the Rose, Cotton and Orange Bowls questioned, in varying degrees, the wisdom or necessity for the presidents' anti-bowl proposal. A Shrine Bowl representative said he was sure they weren't after this charity game. No one commented for the Sugar Bowl.

Prof. H. P. Everett of the University of Washington, acting as official spokesman for the Pacific Coast Conference, said his group "is way ahead" of the college presidents who spoke up in Washington.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of their recommendation was the method suggested for enforcing their proposals, which were set forth by Dr. John Hannah of Michigan State.

In the past a school which violated athletic restrictions usually has had to answer to some conference or the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Under the presidents' proposal, Dr. Hannah said, "reasonable athletic behavior" would be considered a part of the school's academic setup, if a school got out of bounds, he said, it would jeopardize its academic standing.

Lathrop A. Leishman, chairman of the Rose Bowl football committee, said the proposal "won't cure the evils in college athletics."

"Regardless of whether bowl games are played or not," he said, "there will always be the battle for conference titles and the cases of eager alumni who want to win the 'big' games."

Leishman said he was "impressed" that the presidents "should dedicate themselves to killing a great American tradition."

Howard Grubb, secretary of the Cotton Bowl, agreed that steps should be taken to eliminate pressures created by bowl games.

But, Grubb added, the Southwest Conference, of which he is also secretary, "wouldn't be sponsoring the Cotton Bowl if we did not think bowl games were all right."

Stuart W. Patton, president of the Orange Bowl, said "I don't see how the participation of eight teams in four major bowls out of a total of more than 600 college football teams constitutes an evil."

The college presidents will meet in Washington again January 6 and 7 and possibly will complete their study at that time.

After they have completed their report, the executive council of the American Council on Education must approve it. What would happen then is anybody's guess.

Minnesota Cagers Upset Kentucky; Kalafat Scores 30

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Minnesota's basketball fans had a new hero Friday—Big Ed Kalafat.

The 19-year old Anaconda, Mont., sophomore became Minnesota's favorite athletic son Thursday night with one of the greatest point-getting, basketball-hawking exhibitions ever seen in Williams Arena as the Gophers upset the Wildcats of Kentucky, 61-57.

Kalafat's 30 points against the nation's No. 1 basketball team, plus an almost single-handed control of both backboards, earned the 6 feet, 6 1 2 inch, 244-pound center an ovation at the end of the game.

After the final gun a mass of fans, students and teammates pushed onto the arena floor and carried Big Ed high on their shoulders as they started a victory celebration.

Kent Miller Stars For Colorado Team

GOLDEN, COL. — A 200-pound tackle from Midland is credited with playing a big part in helping grab this year's Rocky Mountain Conference title for the Colorado School of Mines.

Milward Kent Miller, a Mines sophomore, was a regular offensive tackle for the Orediggers at the end of the season. He showed tremendous improvement through the year and is expected to be an important cog in the 1952 Mines team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Milward Miller, 604 West Kansas Street, Midland, young Miller was graduated from Midland High School in 1949 and attended Southwestern before transferring to Mines.

The first completely enclosed starting gate for horse races was put into use during the summer of 1939 at Vancouver, B. C.

New Bracero Pact Needed If Nation Meets Cotton Goal

MEMPHIS, TENN.—(AP)—A House Agricutude subcommittee was told here Thursday a workable plan for importing Mexican labor must be devised if 16 million bales of cotton are produced in 1952.

Spokesmen for mid-south planters urged the subcommittee hearing on migratory labor to promulgate a new agreement for next year to replace the present plan, which expires in February.

J. C. Baird, Jr., chairman f the Delta Council's Labor Committee; former Arkansas Gov. Homer Adkins, and B. F. Smith, secertary manager of the Delta Council, were among witnesses criticizing the Mexican labor contract.

Baird said Mississippi planters intend to cut back their cotton acreage next year to a point where it can be handled by domestic labor.

The average cost of handling one Mexican worker is $55, not including wages, Baird said, and the employer is forced to pay a laborer's transportation back to Mexico if the Mexican jumps his contract.

Adkins, now Arkansas director of the U.S. Employment Service, said a labor plan is needed, at least by early January, if farmers are to get ready for another 16 million bale crop as requested by the government.

Adkins said the 1951 Mexican agreement was entirely unsatisfactory. Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Texas), subcommittee chairman, said his group wanted "to improve the labor situation, possibly by changes in laws."

Worst Fog Since '48 Engulfs London Area

LONDON—(AP)—Britons early Friday groped through the worst fog since 1948. All London airports were closed, trains hours late and road traffic at a standstill.

By mid-morning the dense blanket had thinned and transportation was returning to normal. But government weather men warned that more of the same might settle in Friday night.

supply is better than the city water,' he said he used it for household purposes while using the city water for watering his lawn and shrubbery.

The two supplies are connected with adequate valves, he said, to prevent his private supply from entering the city's water mains.

"I've got $10,000 worth of pipe there under my house and under concrete and I can't change it," he said.

"However, if it's endangering anyone's health, I will change it."

Stiff Penalties Listed

"In view of the fact that Cass recommended such an ordinance," observed McMillen, "and since he is the one we have made responsible, I don't see how we can do anything but pass it."

Starr seconded McMillen's motion that it be adopted, stating, "If we are going to follow through on this, I can't do anything but second the motion."

The ordinance not only provides for a maximum fine of $100 for any violator but also provides for the revocation of all licenses and permits issued to any plumber who installs such a cross-connection.

The second health ordinance will give Cass broad powers in cleaning up unsanitary conditions.

While it bans livestock pens in general, it specifically mentions hog pens, horse lots and chicken yards.

Hottest Jet Ace To Head Home, Soon

FIFTH AIR FORCE, KOREA—(AP)—From now on, America's hottest jet ace will fly only one mission a day over North Korea—that's an order.

But the men who fly with Maj. George A. Davis, Jr., of Lubbock, Texas, predict he'll be heading home before he flies many more missions.

Davis bagged 12 Communist planes (nine of them MIG's) in 16 days. He killed four MIG jets Thursday in two sweeps.

Friday, the Air Force told Davis to fly no more than one mission a day.

The general feeling among fellow airmen is that the 31-year-old Texan is far too valuable to continue facing the risks of a combat flier.

His friends point out that Davis' value to the Air Force might be far greater as an instructor of potential jet aces.

He also might make a personal appearance tour for recruiting purposes.

World Needs God, Church, Governor Tells Texas Youth

AUSTIN —(AP)— Gov. Allan Shivers said Friday that if Joe Stalin had had a hairbrush applied in the proper place at the proper times and had gone to Sunday School and church occasionally in his youth, the world might be better off.

The governor's remarks were addressed to more than 250 high school students here for the Hi-Y Model Legislature.

"Citizenship is learning the lessons today that, had we learned them in the past, this generation of yours and mine, instead of seeing war again, might instead see peace, based on neighborliness in the world," the governor said.

"There isn't anything wrong with this world of ours that getting a little closer to God and your church wouldn't cure," he added.

The governor's address followed election by the Hi-Y youths of their own governor—Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls. They took over the Capitol chambers of the House of Representatives and the Senate for their fifth annual youth laboratory in good government.

Odessa Community Chest Funds Already Shared By Agencies

ODESSA —(AP)— Seven welfare agencies already have shared 25 per cent of Odessa's Comminity Chest budget, which was completed about a month ago.

The goal of almost $59,0000 was raised in six weeks by 400 workers who received contributions from 3,138 townspeople.

This was Odessa's first Community Chest drive and officials and workers Friday expressed satisfaction with the results of the program which has benefited all phases of social and welfare work in the city.

Philippines Seems Likely To Escape New Typhoon Blast

MANILA—(AP)—Weathermen Friday said the Philippines appeared likely to escape further damage from typhoons threatening the islands after a storm killed 644 Monday.

Fears were expressed the death toll might go still higher when new reports were received as communications were restored in the Central Philippines.

The storm that swept across the central islands turned on itself over the China Sea and headed in the general direction of Manila. But a U.S. Air Force plane reported it appeared to be dissipating.

A U.S. Navy weather report said a second typhoon, to the east, appeared to be veering to the northeast, away from the islands.

Oliphant Confesses Dropping Tax Case, Tipping Off Caudle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau Friday admitted he tipped off T. Lamar Caudle that his income tax returns were under investigation by Senator John Williams (R-Del).

In the witness chair of House investigators, Oliphant also acknowledged that he let a tax prosecution case drop because of the interest of a member of congress, Rep. James Morrison (D-La). He said he did it despite instructions from his own boss that the case be pressed.

"The tip," Oliphant passed to Caudle was brought out under questioning by Representative Byrnes (R-Wis).

In a low, expressionless voice, Oliphant said:

"I told him Senator Williams had asked for his returns."

Williams for months had been conducting a personal and independent inquiry into tax irregularities.

Some of the senator's friends credit him with being mainly responsible for the present congressional digging into how the federal tax collecting service has been run.

The case involving Representative Morrison was that of the Washington Beef and Provision Company for 1942 tax deficiencies.

More About 'Dutchman'

Oliphant was testifying for the second consecutive day before a House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating revenue scandals.

The Washington Beef and Provision Company case had been aired previously by the committee. It had tax deficiencies for 1942, 1943 and 1944. It was owned by Samuel and Sidney Kilker of Washington whose other company, Witt and Company, was in tax difficulties in 1944.

The claimed deficiencies for both companies were reported earlier to have aggregated $187,000.

The House tax investigators dug further also into Oliphant's relation with Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald.

Oliphant brought Grunewald's name into the limelight Thursday as an old and dear friend, who sometimes had access to inner Internal Revenue Bureau secrets.

"The Dutchman" also figured as the man who called on Oliphant the same day the tax fraud case of Abraham Teitelbaum, Chicago lawyer, came in for some personal attention by Oliphant—for no reason, he testified, other than that he wanted to look over the files.

Grunewald, according to committee testimony, also was the good friend of Frank Nathan, Pittsburgh and Miamio promoter accused by Teitelbaum of threatening him with "bad tax trouble" unless he paid $500,000.

JayCees Hear John I. Moore's Address

"The history of guns is the history of the world and our nation," John I. Moore told members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday noon at the JayCee Luncheon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Moore, an explorer and gun collector, traced the history of guns from 1200 A.D. to the present time, exhibiting many of the firearms from his own private collection.

President Frank Hawk announced a joint meeting of the JayCees with the Rotary Club next Friday. John Ben Sheppard, secretary of state, will be the speaker. Hawk said the public is invited to attend the meeting, which will be in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Dr. Henry Schlichting asked for volunteers to help with Goodfellow baskets. Doyle DeArman reported on the JayCee Christmas activities. He said a children's Christmas party will be held at 10 a.m. December 24 for Midland youngsters, at the Yucca Theater. Candy will be passed out to the youngsters and they will view a free movie.

lations with her agent were purely business.

Sid Holtzman, manager of a service station on the parking lot, drove Lang to his doctor's office on Wilshire Boulevard in Miss Bennett's car. She went along. Lang was later removed to a hospital.

Two policemen took 57-year-old Wanger into custody on the parking lot.

'Glamorous Grandma'

Miss Bennett, 41—one of the movies' "glamorous grandmas" like Marlene Dietrich and Gloria Swanson—was quoted by Chief Anderson as relating:

About 2:30 p.m. she went into the nearby Music Corporation of America Building to see Lang, her agent for 12 years.

They took a drive around Beverly Hills and Hollywood in his car, discussing a proposed television show for her. They returned to the parking lot about 5:20 p.m.

She and Lang got out of his car and walked over to hers. She got in, he stood beside the door. They talked a few minutes. She had turned the motor and lights on when the gun flashed and roared and she saw Wanger standing nearby.

Police said Wanger tossed the gun into his wife's car.

The shooting—across the street from the city's towering, gleaming Christmas tree—left an irregular, five-foot-long pool of blood on the parking lot's asphalt paving.

The veteran producer of many films, including "Stage Coach," "Foreign Correspondent" and the financially ill-fated "Joan of Arc," was questioned at length and fingerprinted.

Hollywood Shocked

Chief Anderson quoted Wanger as saying he warned Lang last January, in New York, that he'd shoot anybody who might break up his home.

The hint of discord between the couple was as shocking to Hollywood as the sudden burst of gunfire.

Chief Anderson told reporters Miss Bennett thought her husband has been on the verge of a nervous breakdown because of financial troubles.

An involuntary petition of bankruptcy was brought against him by the Bank of America for $178,476. To satisfy unpaid loans to Wanger, the bank moved last September to foreclose on the couple's $150,000 home in fashionable Holmby Hills.

The producer's money troubles were blamed by him on complex business arrangements.

Notables Rally

Jerry Giesler, noted criminal lawyer, arrived at the station and conferred with Wanger.

Miss Bennett was taut-faced but still glamorous-looking when she arrived at the police station. Her dark, bobbed hair appeared carefully groomed, and she wore a chic, dark blue dress with white lace collars and cuffs.

Actor George Murphy was a visitor. Restaurateur Mike Romanoff dispatched a meal for Wanger to the jail by his head waiter. Shortly the cafe man himself arrived to make sure the meal was served properly.

Wanger — president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences from 1939 to 1944—was born in 1894 in San Francisco. In 1919, he married Justine Johnstone, Ziegfeld Follels beauty. They were divorced in 1938. Wanger and Miss Bennett were married in 1940, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Thice, married, she is the mother of four children. Diana, now Mrs. John Hardy Anderson, the mother of a three-year-old daughter, is Miss Bennett's daughter by her marriage to John Fox. Melinda, 17, was born when the star was married to screen writer Gene Markey.

The Wangers have two children—Stephanie, eight and Shelley, three.

Reds—

one offered December 3, many points need clarification.

There is a possibility the Communists may accept the Allied plan for truce inspectors operating under a joint military armistice commission, he said.

An Allied negotiator said the whole Red proposal will be studied carefully "for any gimmicks it might contain."

UN Asks Questions

The two subcommittees working on the problems of supervising a truce and exchanging prisoners—agenda-items three and four—scheduled new sessions at 11 a.m. Saturday in Panmunjom.

Allied negotiators insisted again Friday that the Reds turn over data on prisoners they hold and permit Red Cross inspection of their prison camps before talking further of exchanging prisoners.

Before the session adjourned, Libby asked the Reds a series of searching questions:

"What is your reason for refusal to furnish this data to us now?"

"Is it perhaps because you desire to use our requirements for such data to attempt to coerce us into agreeing to your principles?

"Is it because your list contains just a handful of names and you are ashamed to give it to us? Or is it for some other reason?

"What is your reason?"

HOSPITAL TREATMENT

Rene Trepanier, 22-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Trepanier, 705 West Kansas Street, received emergency treatment Thursday at Western Clinic-Hospital.

OIL WORKER HURT

George Armstrong, 1401 West Griffith Street, an employe of Lomax Drilling Company, was given emergency treatment Friday at Western Clinic-Hospital for face and shoulder injuries suffered when he was struck by tongs at a rig.

for distribution of plums and patronage."

"There is a clear relationship between (a) riders of the gravy train and (b) heavy contributors and fund-raisers of the Democratic Party," Wiley declared.

Country Disillusioned

Senator Ives (R-NY) told a reporter that if Truman believes the controversy over the scandals which have been bared will die down before next November's presidential election, he is mistaken.

"The country is disillusioned and shocked by the continued revelations of corruption in the federal government," Ives declared. "A change in party administration is imperative if the American people are not to lose faith in all government."

In Los Angeles, meanwhile, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) told a news conference Gen. Douglas MacArthur "would make an extremely good president."

"His age would appear against him," the senator added. "But he's the youngest 71-year-old man you ever saw."

'Like Garbage Dump'

On the corruption-in-government issue, McCarthy said any cleanup effort by President Truman will fail because "the present situation in Washington is like having a garbage dump covered with fresh clean earth; everywhere you step you turn up more filth."

One of the sharpest Republican comments came from Representative Gross of Iowa, who suggested that Korean war veterans staff a "sanitary department" that would replace the Justice Department. Gross said in a statement that these men have been in a "police action" and "therefore would know how to initiate a 'police action' in this country for the sole purpose of removing from the public scene and public office the flock of vultures that threatens the freedom of all citizens."

Diplomat John S. Service Fired On Order Of Highest Government Review Board

WASHINGTON —(AP)— John Stewart Service, long a controversial figure in American diplomacy and a target of pro-communism charges, was fired by the State Department Thursday night. The department acted after the government's highest Loyalty Review Board ruled there was a "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty.

The ruling, dating back to the famous 'Amerasia" case of 1945, was based on the board's finding that Service gave secret documents at that time to a magazine editor the board said Service suspected of Communist leanings or connections.

In reaching its decision, the review board reversed a finding of a State Department's own Loyalty Security Board which had been favorable to Service on the basis of the same evidence.

A State Department announcement of the dismissal, which becomes effective at the close of business Friday, expressed no agreement with the reviw board's conclusion. It made clear that the department had no choice in the matter in view of that conclusion.

Shocked, Surprised

Service himself labeled the action as "a shock, a surprise, an injustice" and said that on the basis of his record there could be no doubt of his loyalty.

Service, 42, has been in the diplomatic corps since 1933. He has been attacked most sharply in recent years by former Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley, who seriously questioned Service's reports from China when Hurley was U. S. envoy there, and by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), who has declared Service's record as a pro-Communist was "crystal clear."

In Los Angeles Thursday night, McCarthy said Service "is only one of many rotten apples in the barrel." The senator renewed his demand for removal of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, saying Acheson "had all the evidence on Service for many years and refused to act."

Cleared Six Times

State Department records showed that in the last three years Service has been cleared by the department's loyalty board six times, which meant the board thought he should remain in full standing in the foreign service. The last such clearance was made after an order by President Truman last April authorized dismissal of government employes where there was "reasonable doubt" of their loyalty.

The State Department was notified Thursday of the final action of the review board in reversing—for the first time—a finding of the department's own loyalty panel. The notification came from the review agency's chairman, Hiram Bingham, who wrote Acheson:

"The Loyalty Review Board found no evidence of membership in the Communist Party or in any organization on the attorney general's (subversive) list on the part of John Stewart Service. The loyalty Review Board did find that there is a reasonable doubt as to the loyalty of the employe, John Stewart Service, to the government of the United States, based on the intentional and unauthorized disclosure of documents and information of a confidential and nonpublic character."

Odessa Woman Ends Fast, Gains Right To Attend Services

ODESSA —(AP)— A woman who was ousted from the Seventh Day Adventists Church and who fasted in protest won a partial victory Thursday.

She can attend services but does not necessarily become a member again.

Mrs. Ben L. Roden, 36, Thursday ended her seven-day fast following court action.

Judge Charlie Sullivan refused to take action against her on charges of court contempt. She entered the church last Thursday and began her fast in defiance of a temportary restraining court order.

She was persuaded at the time to return home. She continued her fast there.

Thursday she said, "My work is done and I'm stopping my fast."

C. G. Gordon, president of the Texas Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, said the church would abide by Judge Sullivan's advice to let the Roden family attend services.

No Formal Membership

The judge had said, "Folks should be permitted to go to church where they please. We're all trying to get to heaven."

The church decision does not include formal membership for the family—the parents and five children.

Three years ago the church took the family's membership away from it.

Church leaders said the Rodens "advocated doctrines contrary to those of the original church."

The Rodens are members of the Shepherds Rod sect, an offshoot of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Mrs. Roden maintained an eight-day fast in the church in October in an effort to have her family reinstated. She relented when leaders promised to look into the ouster again. She began a later fast in the Church baptistry, but ended it quickly when someone turned on the water.

Yule Trees Tall But Supply Short

Bought your Christmas tree yet? If not—time's a-wasting.

Those who are selling the trees reported they are going at a brisk pace.

There are plenty now but none of the dealers would venture out on a limb to predict that the supply will last.

One tree salesman said he expects 50 more large trees to arrive Friday but after they're gone he doesn't expect to get anymore.

The spruce trees come from such far away states as Washington, Montana and Colorado.

And they generally sell for about 50 cents a foot in almost any desired height. Some places have trees more than 10 feet tall.

One tree salesman freely predicted that late shoppers may find trees sparse if they delay the purchase too long.

"Last year people were so desperate for a tree around Christmas Eve that we could have sold them one shorn of branches, almost," he said.

Father Of Two Held Guilty In Rape-Death Of 17-Year-Old Girl

CHAMPAIGN, ILL.—(AP)—Andrew (Pete) Parmer, a thrice-married father of two small children, was convicted Friday of the rape-murder of a 17-year-old high school girl.

A circuit court jury which returned the verdict early Friday fixed Parmer's punishment at 149 years in prison. The state had asked for the death penalty.

Parmer was accused of raping and murdering Janet Clark in her home last July 20.

SANTA and the MAGIC MIRROR

by LUCRECE HUDGINS

AP Newsfeatures

SYNOPSIS: Santa makes Belinda and Tommy welcome and soon they are telling him all about the mean Mr. Lump, and how they wanted Santa to make him nice to Tommy and to Poppy. Just then Mrs. Claus came in with a gift from the Horrible Hoblins who have changed suddenly into nice giants. "I have it," cried Santa. "If we can find out what changed the Horrible Hoblins we will be able to change Mr. Lump."

CHAPTER TEN

ANOTHER TRIP

THE Horrible Hoblins are the giants of the North. They live in a castle deep in the snow country. For many hundreds of years every creature in that green land lived in fear of the giants. They were mean tempered and mean acting and no one could tell what mean thing they next might do.

Besides that, the Horrible Hoblins were horrible to look at. They were so ugly that it is quite possible they were even afraid of themselves.

All of this Santa told Belinda and Tommy.

"But now," he said, "a strange thing has happened. The giants have changed completely. Instead of fighting and quarrelling with their neighbors they send gifts and have become the most agreeable creatures alive."

"Oh, I see," cried Belinda joyfully. "Then if we find why they changed we can tell Mr. Lump the secret and then Mr. Lump will have Poppy freed from jail and be kind to Tommy!"

She could hardly keep still she was so eager to be off. "Can we go this very minute?"

Mrs. Claus bustled in from the kitchen. "I don't know where you are planning to go," she said firmly. "But I do know you won't go until you have had something to eat."

With that Mrs. Claus set an enormous tray of food on the table. You can imagine how hungry the children were for goodness knows how long it had been since they had eaten. Neither child needed a bit of coaxing but started at once on the good things Mrs. Claus put before them.

There was milk, flavored with caramel. Muffins with apricots hidden inside. Potatoes molded into Christmas trees.

WHEN they had finished, Santa said to Tweedleknees: "Hurry off and bring my sled." Grumbling to himself Tweedleknees stomped away.

Far Below Stood the Hideous Castle of the Horrible Hobblins.

Santa bundled the children in their coats. Then he got into his own red coat trimmed with soft white fur.

"Come along," he said cheerfully. "I think your troubles will soon be over."

Belinda and Tommy were too excited to speak. Only think!—They were going to ride in Santa's great sleigh pulled by Santa's very own reindeer! But, alas, when they went outside there was Tweedleknees with a perfectly ordinary sled and no reindeer at all.

"But who will pull us?" asked Belinda, hiding her disappointment.

"It needs no pulling," laughed Santa. "You will see."

He settled the children on the sled. But just as he prepared to climb on, Thomas the Ball maker raced out of the night.

"Santa! Santa!" he cried. "We're ready to paint the balls."

Santa looked worried. "Can't it wait until tomorrow?" he asked.

"No, no!" protested Thomas. "Tomorrow we must finish the wagons. Tonight is the only time we have for the balls."

Santa looked sadly at Tommy and Belinda. "They cannot paint the balls until the bounce is put in them," he explained. "And I am the only one who can put the bounce in a rubber ball."

"Of course you must stay," said Belinda. "Don't worry," said Tommy. "We shall be all right with the giants if they are as nice as you say."
