Upon completion of this work other phases of the building program will get underway in an effort to have everything in readiness for the next school term.

On Oct. 22 a $800,000 bond issue passed by a 10 to 1 margin for the construction of a new elementary school and improvements at the junior high and high schools and Fulton elementary school.

Also, there will be coffee, and conversation about poetry techniques, the quality of poetry written by Texans, and the feasibility of forming a poetry group representative of Rockport and Aransas County.

Though you may not be able to write a poem, but are genuinely interested in poetry, be you doctor, lawyer, housewife, teacher, student, baker, or candlestick maker, you are urged to attend and lend your support.

Thomas Lewis Is Named All-District

Coaches of District 28AA met Monday night and All-District players were named for the 1966 football season. Bishop placed 12 men on the offensive and defensive teams to lead in selections.

Thomas Lewis, ACHS 6' 10", 320-pound tackle was the only local player named, making tackle on the defensive team.

According to reports, several other players received a few votes each, but lacked sufficient backing to make the all-district team.

83% of School Taxes Are Collected

In last week's issue of The Pilot it was stated that the Aransas County Independent School District had collected $426,220.83 which was 87% of the $513,395.03 total taxes due.

Someone a little better at arithmetic than the Pilot reporter has called our attention to the fact that the percent collected was actually 83%, instead of 87% as reported.

In either case collections were exceptionally good.

FOURTH GRADES VISIT PLANETARIUM

The five fourth grades of Aransas County schools spent an awe-inspiring hour under the stars last week when they visited the Planetarium at King High School in Corpus Christi. The night sky was projected overhead as the pupils star-gazed in lean-back chairs. Mr. J. K. Fondren, Planetarium director, gave the visitors an introduction to astronomy as he pointed out the major constellations and gave tips on how to locate them in the sky.

Approximately 150 pupils made the trip, accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. A. R. Griffith, Mrs. W. C. Underwood, Mrs. E. T. Eller, Mrs. J. A. Frye, and Mrs. C. H. Lang, Jr.

A. R. Griffith, principal of Rockport Elementary and Tom Dannelly, director of instruction, also accompanied the group.

The children enjoyed a picnic lunch at Cole Park in Corpus Christi before returning to Rockport. This trip was the climax of a unit on space and one that will not be forgotten by all those privileged to attend.

HELP THE V.F.W.

Members of Stewart-Wendell Post No. 3904 Veterans of Foreign Wars do a lot of good in this community.

And now the community has an opportunity to do a good turn for the V.F.W.

On Nov. 1, fire caused a tremendous amount of damage to the VFW Hall, after members and the Auxiliary had spent a good bit of money adding onto the building, fixing it up nice, putting up new curtains, etc.

It was quite a blow, but true to the VFW spirit, the organization is now making plans for rebuilding and moving ahead.

Many local people and firms have contributed to help the VFW.

Won't you do the same? Please send your check to VFW Building Fund, P. O. Box 183, Rockport.

The City of Rockport presented an application for closing, discontinuing, vacating and abandoning a portion of Cherry Street in the Smith and Wood Division, adjoining the city sewer plant. Commissioner Owens moved to close the portion of said street. After a second by Commissioner Wofford the motion carried unanimously.

The County Judge accepted a letter of resignation from J. L. Baughman as Chairman of the Aransas County Library Board and Chairman of the Aransas County Historical Society. Mr. Baughman who has served in these capacities for many years has moved to Corpus Christi to make his home.

Sometime after the first of the year the boards will be reorganized and a chairman will be selected at that time. Current bills were examined and approved for payment.

These figures are most encouraging and it is hoped that by the end of the drive, Dec. 1st, it can proudly be said that our community has again responded 100 per cent to the call to help those in need of help.

No doubt some have failed to contribute because they have not been personally called on by one of the voluntary workers. If this or some other reason be the case, please mail your contribution to Aransas County United Fund or to its chairman, Mrs. Ruby Hart.

Pirates Defeat Tivoli 46 to 26

By Robert Oliver

The Aransas County High School Pirates defeated the Tivoli Redfish by a score of 46-26 in the opening basketball game of the Pirates' season. The game was played in front of a large, spirit-filled crowd of Pirates fans.

The Pirates' final score was a result of Thomas Lewis, credited with 17 points, David Nava with 16 points, Jerry Brundrett with eight points, Charlie Roe, with three points, and Butch Warden with two points. David Nava, second high scorer, was also considered the outstanding defensive man for the Pirates.

According to head basketball coach, Dave Segler, the greatest Pirate weakness was on the free throw line. The Pirates were only able to make four out of 22 free shots. This was due to the little time the Pirates have used to practice these shots. Coach Segler said that his team plays a percentage type basketball. If you can beat the opposition in over statistic percentage, then you can win the game. "Right or wrong, this is the way we play the game," continued Coach Segler. "We try to keep our number of fouls as low as possible and at the same time play aggressive ball," said Segler.

Coach Segler went on to say that his boys "played as well as could be expected for not actually being in shape." "You could still see some of the football left in our boys," Coach Segler concluded his interview by jokingly saying "we managed to pick up a few first downs that night."

There was a fair size crowd out to see this opening Pirate basketball game and it promises to be a good season.

ACHS led throughout the first half and held a 23-19 advantage at intermission. However, the Redfish rallied to take a 37-31 lead at the end of the third quarter and increased the margin to 11 points midway through the final period before ACHS staged its last-minute comeback.

Edward Harvey of Austwell-Tivoli led all scorers with 24 points and Lee Yaklin contributed 15 to the Redfish attack while Tom Lewis was pacing the Pirates with 20.

ACHS won the B-game, 33-25.

Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will extend a welcome, followed by Responsive Reading and Special Music by Mrs. Susie Odoms.

The Prayer of Thanksgiving will be given by Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Wm. Hennel, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church with special music followed by the Junior Choir, under the direction of Robert Steward, director of the Greater First Baptist Church choir.

FEDERAL SPEED COPS COMING?

Just as certain as the Silver Dollar Saloon in the old West took in a dollar, odds are the long arm of the federal government is going to reach out and get you if you don't drive according to the law on the highway. Unless state and local authorities get on the ball and stop the accident slaughter, Uncle Sam is going to step in.

Motorists aren't going to like it either. They know that once Federal speed cops start patrolling they'll be in for it if caught.

The handwriting has been on the wall for many months now. Washington has been hinting that something must be done to stop so many people from being killed on the highways of the nation. This hint has been a smoke signal of things to come. It might have served, also, as a hint to states to get busy and start enforcing speed limits and safety regulations.

Gov. Romney, of Michigan, also sees it this way. He predicted the other day that if states don't do something about highway safety then Washington is. "Either we do the job ourselves or we will have somebody else's program jabbed down our throats as has been the case in many fields," he said.

Rep. James Mackay (D-Ga.) has already introduced a highway safety bill. It doesn't have very many teeth it it as yet but as we said, there's the handwriting on the wall.

Motorists are going to know what it is to deal with a Federal officer when one signals to "pull over" for doing 90 miles an hour. They're not as apt to get off with a "warning" as they now do from state and local policemen. Motorists who drive in federal parks know the federal officers mean it when they say a speed limit is 35 miles an hour!

Motorists can start right now warding off the federal invasion of highway safety—by slowing down, preventing accidents and observing the laws. This will reduce the death toll and possibly discourage Washington about moving into this field.

And local and state police can also contribute by more enforcement. Right now a choice can be made! Later no.

Remember when women made home-made preserves and jellies during the summer months and the kids yelled for storebought varieties?

The average politician doesn't take much stock in Santa Claus at Christmas. He looks for him on election nights.

the first cold snap were scores of ardent followers of Izaak Walton.

WOOD FOR THOUGHT

Just when a fellow has quit smoking long enough to get true taste back in his mouth, along comes an agriculture professor who says that the trees of the forest may soon supply the human race with food as well as shelter and clothing.

Dr. Warren Kitts of the University of British Columbia has received a federal grant to pursue the reseach for enzymes to break down the compound of cellulose and fiber in the composition of wood. The first aim is to find a food for beef cattle that will replace barley, which is becoming expensive. Dr. Kitts and two student assistants are experimenting with sawdust and chips from alder, poplar, cottonwood and maple. He has already given processed maple sawdust to cattle and they haven't choked on it.

The modern feeding of cattle and poultry is such that many an oldtimer claims the waste of the flesh and the eggs are far from what they used to be when animals and birds ate what they could forage off the range without too much help from mankind. And few people go for unripe pears, which are about as woody as food can get.

Still, if the price of meat goes any higher we may welcome maple hamburger or poplar pudding and if ketchup stays the way it is, generous dousings might make the products of the forest palatable. Porcupines fare rather well on bark with no trimmings whatsoever.

The Canadian Press notes that toothpick munchers will have a head start on the rest of us. Perhaps the professor should take one home with him to see what he could do to a round steak just sawed from an alder log and done over lightly in a moderate oven.

Will the willow ever replace the wiener and if one is not too hungry, will a splinter sandwich become the popular bed-time snack?

"Waiter, I ordered hemlock hash, but you've given me knotty pine. False teeth, you know."—Regina (Sask.) Leader Post.

SPECIAL PAYMENTS AT AGE 72

First monthly checks were delivered this month to about 800 elderly area residents. The special benefits, payable to persons 72 or older who are not eligible for regular Social Security cash benefits, were made possible by a recent change in the Social Security law, says H. M. Cleveland, Social Security District Manager.

ments, amounting to $35 a month for a single person and $52.50 for a couple, are financed out of general Federal revenues, not out of Social Security tax contributions, he said.

These payments are intended to provide a small continuing income to people who may have been too old when Social Security started, or who worked in occupations not covered by Social Security.

Persons 72 or older who are not eligible for a retirement benefit from the Federal Government, or from a State or local government, can collect these monthly payments, Cleveland noted.

"Questionnaires were sent to many people over 72 before this month and many have applied for the special benefits," he said. "Those who have not applied should do so now so their eligibility can be determined."

HIGHLIGHTS and SIDELIGHTS

FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

By Vern Sanford

Texas Press Association
Austin.—Gov. John Connally has made his big decisions on state spending and taxes for the coming fiscal period.

He scheduled releases of his budget by sections starting this week. Reportedly, it calls for just under $200,000,000 in new taxes.

First section on state employment problems calls for payroll hikes of $75,000,000 from all funds and $26,000,000 from the general revenue.

Connally told Texas mayors and council members that he will not recommend the optional local sales taxes they advocate. He indicated that he won't ask for an increase in state general sales levies.

Speculation is that the governor will include a gasoline tax increase, college tuition boost and sales tax on alcoholic beverages in his revenue program.

He definitely will recommend some financial relief for hard-pressed cities. He hinted this will be in the form of state assistance for building, maintaining and policing streets.

While Connally completed his financial recommendations which will be sent to legislators on Dec. 15, legislative budget writers made no progress.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has not called a meeting of the Legislative Budget Board since dismissal of Director Vernon McGee on Aug. 29. Smith promised a legislative budget would be submitted by the January 15 deadline, however.

Requests Almost Double
Texas' state agencies have requested 93 per cent more money for the 1968-69 biennium than they are receiving during this biennium. Governor Connally said that's evidence of the increasing complexity and magnitude of state government.

Connally said general revenue appropriations for the current biennium total $635,000,000, and requests for the next two-year period amount to almost double that sum—$1,216,000,000.

"Biggest item in the budget is public and higher education." The current appropriation in this area is $347,000,000, but $683,000,000 is requested, he said.

Oil Allowable at Peak—Santa Claus came early for Texas oil producers. Railroad Commission set the highest production factor in seven and a half years for December.

Statewide allowable will be 36.5 per cent of potential. Factor will permit production of 3,322,712 barrels a day, compared with November's 34.5 per cent which produced allowable of 3,205,042 barrels daily.

Commented Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey in announcing the happy tidings:

"The crude oil market is extremely tight. Demand is extremely strong, and will remain strong for the next several months."

New Voter Signup System Proposed—A bi-partisan election law sub-committee, headed by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, has agreed unanimously on a proposed new free registration system for Texas voters.

System would work like this: All voters must sign up personally with county tax officials, initially. Afterward, they can register annually by signing an official application form sent out by the tax office.

Voters must carry a registration card or certificate and identify themselves by signature at the polls.

Creighton said he hopes to submit the plan, together with an omnibus election law "clean up" bill, to the public hearing early next month.

Voters at the November 8 general election expressed preference for annual registration as opposed to permanent signup.

Teachers' Benefits—Texas college teachers may not get salary increases from the 60th Legislature, but they may get a new battery of fringe benefits as compensation, if the recommendations of the Interim Legislative Committee on Faculty Compensation in State-Supported Colleges and Universities are followed.

In reporting to approximately 200 college presidents and professors, the committee said it would recommend to the Legislature an optional retirement or annuity program, paid research or study leaves, state aid for group insurance plans, the waiving of tuition for faculty members and their families and lifting the legal ban against construction of parking lots that don't charge user fees.

Water Plan Advisors—Twelve West Texans have been named as an advisory group to the Texas Water Development Board to keep the board informed of West Texas attitudes toward the state's fulfilling its Texas Water Plan.

The 12, nominated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock, will be kept fully informed and will be asked for advice as two major Texas engineering firms and the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation explore various ways to get water surpluses from East and Northeast Texas to West Texas.

Board authorized the preparation of two contracts aimed at the West Texas water problem and accepted the bureau's offer to make a study of the possibility of pumping water back up the Colorado River to serve San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and El Paso.

It is against the law to pick wild flowers in the national parks.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

By Vern Sanford

No creature in Texas is shrouded with so many myths and half-truths as the rattlesnake.

This deadly reptile really has more of an overblown reputation than a true case history.

Facts gathered by the Texas Department of Public Health reveal that more Texans die from insect stings than from snakebite.

But this doesn't discourage those who preach the rattlesnake myth. Even though they have no biological proof they continue to tell stories about this much-publicized reptile. Yet many people accept their statements as fact.

Here are just a few of the more common myths credited to the rattler:

1. A marra rattlesnake will swallow her young upon impending danger.

2. By stretching a Manila rope about your camp at night, you're protected since no rattlesnake will crawl over a hair rope.

3. A large rattlesnake can inject more than a teacup of venom.

4. Extract the fangs of a rattler and it is harmless forever.

5. Rattlesnake broth is a sure cure for pneumonia.

There are many other such myths. But this sampling gives you some idea as to what many people have come to accept as truthful about the rattlesnake. In fact, it has gotten to the point where it is difficult to distinguish myth from fact.

For example, it is common belief that six-foot rattlesnakes are abundant, particularly in South Texas—home of our biggest rattlers. Yet, from an advertisement in Texas Game and Fish Magazine, official publication of the State Parks and Wildlife Commission, a few years back, calling for six-foot rattlers, there was only one answer. And this one just barely made six feet.

Truth is that a rattler over five feet is rare. Many people get generous eyes when they see a big rattler. Many a four-footer has grown to six feet or more after the story has been told a few times.

One of the greatest fallacies about rattlers is that their true age can be determined by the number of rattlers they carry. Yet a two year old rattler may have as many rattles as one four years old. So, the number of rattles actually is a very poor indication of age.

Hunting rattlesnakes has become a popular winter pastime throughout Texas. In some places, such as Sweetwater, rattlesnake round-ups are staged annually. They attract contestants from throughout the state, as well as from other states.

Most hunters capture snakes by spraying gasoline into known rattler dens and catching the groggy reptiles after the fumes have driven them into the open.

Favorite weapon is a snare. It is made from a long piece of aluminum tubing with a piece of wire doubled through it, leaving a loop at one end. This loop is dropped over a snake's head and the loose ends at the opposite ead are pulled to draw the loop taut.

Some people even eat rattlesnake. Those who have tried it say it is fairly delectable. It tastes something like a cross between chicken and fish.

Most famous member of the Texas rattler family is the Western Diamondback. This snake has a large and heavy body and will average between three and four feet in length. A litter of young, born alive, will average about 12, but ones of 20 or more or not uncommon.

Most notable characteristics of this snake are the diamond-shaped markings along the back and the distinctive black and white rings on the tail, above the rattles.

Its head is broad, flat and triangular. Fangs are about one-half inch long and are curved, folding flat against the roof of the mouth. This snake can open its mouth until both upper and lower jaws are completely vertical.

Diamondbacks are responsible for more deaths than any other North American snake because they are capable of manufacturing and injecting more toxin.

A lethal dose of venom is about one drop for each 50 pounds of body weight.

Their rattle comes from a jointed string of segments that are interlocked very loosely. Each click of the vibrations is almost heard individually when the tail vibrates slowly. But it becomes almost an incessant hum when the movement is frenzied.

Do not depend on the sound of the rattle to give warning.

Some rattlers have been known to remain mute before striking; others might have lost their rattles through some mishap.

A rattler sheds his skin during the active warm-weather season. In winter it hibernates in its den and does not normally shed.

It begins the shed by rubbing its mouth against some object, loosing the lip scale. Then it works the loose skin free from the head and crawls out, leaving the skin turned inside out.

The rattler is a pit-viper, with the heat-detecting pit between eye and nostril.

A rattler has no ears, therefore its strike is directed at a heat source and also at vibrations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Miller and family, of Houston, will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Casterline.
