GIRL SCOUT HOUSE PLANNED

Groundbreaking Held at Site Of Proposed Girl Scout Lodge

Ground was broken yesterday for a Girl Scout lodge, which will be built on a tract of land in Southwest Snyder donated by the Winston family.

The site, where Girl Scout, Alpha Study Club, and community leaders gathered for the ceremony, is about 200 yards west of Avenue V at a place where Thirty - fourth Street would be if it were cut through.

The groundbreaking climaxed a long program of the Alpha Club to help the Girl Scouts acquire a house.

Mrs. Lawrence W. Dumas, president of the Alpha Study Club, presented the plot of land to the scouts. Mrs. Wade Winston is a charter member of the club.

The land was accepted by Mrs. C. C. Miller, president of the Girl Scout Council, central agency for the 21 Girl Scout troops here.

Forest G. Sears, mayor, and Hilton Lambert, representing the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, also spoke. Lambert presented a check for $189.69 to the Girl Scouts, a contribution of the veterans clubs toward the scout lodge.

Also present were the Alpha Club scout committee, including Mrs. Wilson Connell, chairman, Mrs. Maurice Brownfield, Mrs. George Frazier, Mrs. Garrett Harrell, Mrs. Alfred McGlaun, Mrs. W. D. Sims, Mrs. Winston, and Mrs. Dumas.

Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Connell, and Mrs. Dumas recently went to Big Spring to inspect a Girl Scout house there. Actually construction of the lodge here must wait on assurances of enough money to see the project through to completion, Mrs. Dumas said.

Probers Will Check On High Tax Officials

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—House investigators brought the Department of Justice and top echelon Internal Revenue Officials under their sights today in a broadening of their inquiry into federal tax service irregularities.

The big shaft of emphasis in the investigation was announced by Rep. King (D-Calif), chairman of a House Ways and Means Subcommittee which has concentrated on reports of improper practices in the offices of collectors of internal revenue.

More than a score of bureau employes have recently resigned or have been ousted or suspended. Two former collectors are under indictment. Taking note of these cases, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said that when Congress reconvenes he will offer legislation to place collectors under civil service and bar them from outside activities.

Lipe Henslee, Tennessee collector, resigned Tuesday night because of "ill health."

King said that the investigation he heads would give special attention to "possible improper influences" affecting prosecution of tax frauds, and added in a statement:

"The subcommittee has been disturbed by the very high percentage of cases investigated by special agents and recommended for prosecution which have been dropped at higher levels."

The committee, he said, also intends to go into settlements of civil tax liabilities, the administration of the alcohol tax unit, checks by the Bureau of Internal Revenue on integrity of its employes, and the supervision of standards of conduct by tax lawyers and others practicing before the treasury department.

King said the committee will continue to bring other collector offices under investigation, particularly the office in San Francisco. Collector James G. Smyth and eight subordinates there are under suspension pending investigation.

"It is expected that further disclosures of irregularities or incompetence will add to the picture already presented," King said.

Showers Total .06 Inch of Rain Here

Early morning showers brought Snyder .06 of an inch of rain today as a cool front brought promises of showers to the area. This brings the year's total precipitation to 10.23 inches, more than nine inches less than the normal amount.

The temperature yesterday reached 83 degrees, with a low of 44 degrees recorded before dawn and at 7:30 this morning.

Manhattan Is Sold to New Mexico Woman

Operation and management of the Manhattan Hotel was assumed Tuesday by Mrs. M. S. Berryman, who moved here from Eunice, N. M.

Mrs. Berryman, a hotel operator since 1935, purchased the building this week from A. C. Martin, 3211 Avenue U. The hotel was operated until two months ago by Ernest Brewer of B&H Well Service Co., who had leased the business in January, 1950.

Planning to cater to banquets and special dinners for civic organizations, Mrs. Berryman set the hotel coffee shop's hours at 6 in the morning to 8 at night daily except Sunday, when the dining room will close at 4 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Berryman said her son, Truitt, now employed with the Caldwell Music Co., Abilene, will move his family here about Jan. 1 and manage the hotel. The new proprietor is also owner of the Hotel Eunice in Eunice, N.M. She said she planned to live here.

The Manhattan Hotel Building was constructed as a sanatorium in 1910 by Dr. A. O. Scarborough, who now lives at 2712 Avenue S. After using the building for medical work three years, Dr. and Mrs. Scarborough leased it as a hotel.

When Martin purchased the building in 1928, the hotel was operated by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Deakins, who continued to lease it until January, 1950, when they bought the Crawford Hotel in Quanah and left Snyder after operating the Manhattan 25 years.

Beats Rap On Liquor Charge

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—The words "and-or" in a search warrant brought reversal today of a conviction for W. R. Wood, sentenced to six months and fined $1,000 for violation of the state's liquor laws in Taylor County.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said the search warrant used in discovering liquor at the Elizabeth Night Club at Abilene, a dry territory, alleged the premises were "occupied by, in charge of and under the control of Willie Wilson, and-or Eddie J. Ford."

Wood was known by the name of Willie Wilson, the court said.

The opinion cited that state law requires the search warrant must name the owner or occupant of the premises desired to be searched, or if unknown that it be so alleged.

"The civil appellate courts of this state have uniformly condemned the words 'and-or' as meaningless, indefinite and uncertain," the opinion said, adding:

"Because the search warrant has insufficient to authorize the search, the judgment is reversed and cause remanded."

Judge Lloyd W. Davidson wrote the opinion.

Few Incidents Still Keeping Air Tense Along Canal Zone

CAIRO, Oct. 31. (AP)—A British army spokesman said today British troops have seized the road and rail bridge outside Port Said, at the Mediterranean end of the Suez Canal, and are operating it "without interference or trouble."

The bridge was seized Tuesday after the Egyptians "refused to keep it open more than 50 minutes every day," the spokesman said.

The British also seized an Egyptian government girls' school at Ismailia for use by British servicemen's children. Seizure followed Egyptian closure of all British private schools in Ismailia, the spokesman said.

Feed Lots Crowded

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31. (AP)—California feed lots are crowded with 400,000 to 450,000 cattle, a new peak. Last January there were 248,000.

First Reasonable Offer On Buffer Zone Given By Reds

Eisenhower's Boomer Plans Tour of Texas

Sen. James Duff, Republican from Pennsylvania and key man in the Eisenhower presidential boom, has announced that he will make a four - day swing across Texas in behalf of Eisenhower's Texas campaign.

Jack Porter, Houston businessman and member of the Republican state executive committee, said a statewide check indicates that Duff will find overwhelming support for Eisenhower here. Porter is in charge of the Texas campaign.

Stops on Duff's tour will include San Antonio, Fredericksburg, Midland, and McAllen. He will visit San Antonio first on Nov. 7, then to Fredericksburg for a 15-county meeting on the following day. In Midland on Nov. 9, Richard Hughston and other Republican leaders have planned a dinner and other meetings. Duff will address young Republicans of the Midland area at the dinner meeting prior to a general meeting of West Texas Republicans in the high school auditorium.

Porter, who polled more than 400,000 votes as a Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1948, has stated his belief that Eisenhower will carry Texas if he gets the presidential nomination.

West Texas Is Still Suffering From Drouth

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Texas crop prospects everywhere but in the West have been improved by recent light to heavy soaking rains.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's survey of crop and range conditions through noon Tuesday added that more rain is needed. Wheat, oats, winter legumes and vegetables were aided but need more moisture.

Moisture is now adequate in the Northwest to germinate wheat seeded in the dust. Crops already up responded to the rainfall. In the eastern half, farmers planned to start seeding oats, clover and cover crops when the soil dries out.

In those areas, some were waiting for disappearance of the army worm menace before planting.

The sorghym harvest made good progress in the Northwest but was slowed in the Southern High Plains and Low Rolling Plains because cotton was taking most of the Labor. Sweet potato and peanut harvests were rolling everywhere.

Coastal Bend and Lower Valley planting of vegetables stood still because of wet fields. Some beets, cabbage, onions and spinach were up to a good stand.

Western Pleateau and Trans-Pecos counties continued dry and cured range feed was short. Movement of sheep and goats out of these regions was heavy, and marketing of cattle and calves was active.

CIO Takes Broad Steps For Settling Jurisdiction Fights

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP) — CIO leaders proposed today a far reaching plan for settling their own jurisdictional quarrels, calling for appointment of an "organizational disputes arbitrator."

The CIO's executive board, consisting of 40 union presidents and the top leadership of the CIO, was handed the plan for ratification today. The vice presidents approved it Tuesday.

An elaborate progression of steps was proposed, ending with the organizational disputes arbitrator, if necessary. He is to be named by the executive board. The peace proposal is to be signed by heads of the various unions and if approved today, will be reported to the CIO convention next week.

The unions would commit themselves not to make "derogatory statements" about each other, and to respect certification of one union as the bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations Board.

If disputes arise between unions, they would be dumped in the lap of the regional director of organization. If he cannot settle the problem promptly, then National Director of Organization Allan S. Haywood, will take over. Haywood is about to become executive vice president of the CIO with broad executive authority.

Haywood is a former coal miner. So is President Phillip Murray.

Both men were hospitalized during the last six months for serious ailments.

But Haywood has taken on more and more of Murray's duties while the president remained at home in Pittsburgh. Murray is 65, Haywood 63.

The new job, which insiders say will be created for Haywood, must be confirmed at the CIO convention beginning here Monday. Reportedly it was approved by the nine vice presidents at their meeting Tuesday and will be submitted to the executive board here today.

Murray said early in September his associates soon would have to think about picking a successor. The selection of Haywood for the administrative post does not necessarily mean that he has the nod for the presidency.

Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, appears in the forefront for that post. Murray is likely to continue as president of the 13-year-old CIO for at least another year.

Talk of merger with the American Federation of Labor — inspired by action of the recent AF! convention in San Francisco — was soft-pedalled. Murray seemed to discourage it when he said the AFL could "go to Hell" if it expected the junior organization to bow to the AFL's merger terms.

Speculation High For Quick Peace

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 31. (AP)—Red truce negotiators offered today to create a buffer zone along their version of the present battle line in Korea.

They called it their "last and best proposal."

The surprise offer approached demands of the United Nations command. It brought the two sides closer together than they ever have been.

Hopes soared in this truce camp. But a U. N. command spokesman said there were two important differences between the new Red offer and the Allied proposal:

Th Reds want to keep Kaesong, former truce talks site. The allies want to take it over.

The Communist version of the battle line is two or three miles South of where the allies place it.

MORE DIFFERENCES

These differences were pointed out by Col. Andrew J. Kinney, chief U. N. liaison officer.

Kinney said there were certain other things the U. N. negotiators could not accept immediately.

But, he added, the Communist offer brought the buffer zone question nearer a solution than at any time since truce talks first started July 10.

Red negotiators submitted their plan unexpectedly near the close of Wednesday's meeting of truce subcommittees. The plan was outlined on a map.

"LAST AND BEST"

Three times, Kinney said, the Red delegates said this was "their last and best proposal."

"This makes us very suspicious," Kinney said.

Kinney said the new Red proposal "is the biggest step I've seen for solving the buffer zone question.

The Communist proposal was based on their version of the current battle line. Negotiators call it "the line of contact," 2½ miles wide.

The U. N. command has insisted all along that the cease-fire line be based on the battle front.

FIGHTING DIES OUT

Fighting almost vanished from the ground front Wednesday. Only action reported in the U. S. 8th Army's afternoon communique was a one-hour fight between a company of attacking Chinese and U. N. troops southeast of Kumsong on the Central Front. The Reds were beaten back.

Communist newsmen said there would be no agreement if the Allies insisted on taking over Kaesong. In their original demands, neither side showed an interest in holding this ancient Korean capital.

Kaesong was in no-man's-land before truce talks started.

The U. N. command has offered to withdraw its troops from 200 square miles in the east in return for the Reds pulling back from 200 square miles in the west, including Kaesong.

Cost of Jail on Courthouse Estimated at Quarter Million

The county courthouse is sufficiently strong to support a fourth floor jail, Fred Buford of the Buford & Feinberg Architect-Engineering Co., Dallas, told two county commissioners this morning.

Buford met with Doyle Parmer, precinct No. 4, and Walter Grant, precinct No. 1, today to give his advise on the possibility of building a county jail on the courthouse.

By request of Edgar Taylor, county judge, Buford came to Snyder yesterday and discussed the matter with him and the other two commissioners, Ted Haney and Cullen Toombs. Grant was visiting his brother, Charles Grant, in the veterans hospital at Big Spring yesterday, and Parmer was in Colorado attending the funeral of a relative.

65 PRISONERS

Buford said this morning he knew without doubt that jail large enough to accommodate 65 prisoners could be constructed as a fourth floor to the courthouse without placing any serious strain on the building. Buford is familiar with the structure, having engineered the remodeling of the building two years ago.

Buford's proposal in preliminary plans he made for the jail included an elevator to be used only by the sheriff's department but connecting all floors. Also the open rotunda which goes through the building, would be floored solid on the third floor, adding 250 square feet of office space.

The jail would provide separate divisions for juveniles, and men and women, Negroes and white persons would be separated. All cells would be opened and closed electrically by remote control from a control box accessible only to the jailer and kept under lock and key.

The architect said the cost of such a project would be from $250,000 to $275,000 and would require from 10 to 12 months to construct.

HEAVINESS OF JAIL

Asked whether a jail were not exceptionally heavy, Buford said: "A jail is heavy because of the amount of steel in its cell blocks, 'tremendous' as most people suppose."

Buford said the courthouse was an exceptionally strong building for its size and age, adding that its thinnest wall was 17 inches of solid brick.

The modern trend is toward building jails atop courthouses, he concluded, naming about 10 counties which had constructed courthouses in recent years with jails as top floors. He also mentioned some which had built jails on top since construction of the courthouses.

Also under consideration is a 50-prisoner jail proposed as a separate building. Preliminary sketches for it are being drawn and will be presented to the court next Monday by M. C. Butler of the Lubbock firm of Butler - Brasher Engineering Co. It would cost little more than $200,000, Butler estimated, exclusive of engineering costs, but would also require purchase of a site.

Tito Says Count Him As Friend

BELGRADE, Oct. 31. (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia declared today he is willing to cooperate with — but not join — the Atlantic Pact. He said the West could count on him as a friend in the event of World War III.

Tito, wearing his marshal's uniform, met with 125 newspapermen in a four hour news conference, his largest and longest since becoming Chief of State.

Some of his answers to questions:

He hopes for better relations soon with Italy and Greece.

He supports the rearmament of Western Germany.

He warned repeatedly that there is danger of war, but said the people should "not despair" of preventing it.

He felt the future of Trieste on the Adriatic o"probably will be discussed directly, very soon, between Yugoslavia and Italy."

His experience includes two years work with the Counter Intelligence Division U. S. Army World War II, and 17 months in business law school. He has also studied finger printing.

Higher Taxes On Many Items, Incomes In Effect Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Individual income taxes go up Thursday. So do the excise, or sales taxes on gasoline, cigarettes, liquor and a long list of luxuries, semi-luxuries and necessities.

The rises are part of a $5.7 billions tax bill passed by Congress earlier this month. President Truman had asked rises of nearly twice that much because of higher spending for the mobilization program.

The personal income tax boost — amounting to about 11 per cent for the average taxpayer — will raise the most new money — $2.89 billions a year.

Every salary and wage earner will feel it in his first pay check in November. There will be a bigger amount withheld for Uncle Sam.

BITE ON CORPORATIONS

Corporations contribute the second largest slice of new revenue, $2.2 billions a year. Most will not actually pay this until next year when they send in their 1951 taxes. The increase was made retroactive to last April 1.

It is the excise tax increase which most consumers will meet up with first. This takes effect Thursday.

Many retailers were doing a boom business today as buyers of liquor and other products rushed to beat the higher taxes.

The main excise tax increases and changes:

Liquor — From $9 to $10.50 a gallon. This boost figures out to about 26 cents a fifth.

Beer — From $8 to $9 a barrel. This amounts to about one-third of a cent a bottle.

Wine — Increases ranging from 14 to 24 per cent.

Cigarettes — From seven to eight cents a pack.

Gasoline — From one and one-half to two cents a gallon.

Automobiles and motorcycles — From seven to 10 per cent.

Trucks, busses and trailers — From five to eight per cent.

Automobive parts and accessories — From 5 to 8 per cent.

Electric, gas and oil appliances — Not now taxed, they become subject to a 10 per cent tax.

Sporting goods — Removes from tax many items largely used for school sports, and by children such as baseball equipment, basketballs, skates, sleds, soft ball equipment, boxing gloves, football equipment, and most track and field equipment. Increases the tax from 10 to 15 per cent on all other sporting goods except fishing equipment where the rate is left at 10.

Photographic equipment — 25 per cent tax on cameras and other photographic apparatus is reduced to 20 per cent; at per cent tax on film is raised to 20 per cent.

Fountain pens — Taxed at 15 per cent.

Cigarette, cigar and pipe lighters — Taxed at 15 per cent.

Gambling — A 10 per cent tax.

The new law cuts some taxes and eliminates a few.

These include:

A cut from 18 to 10 cents a pound on chewing and pipe smoking tobacco.

Elimination of the seven per cent tax on house trailers.

Elimination of the five cents a pound tax on tires used in toys.

Exemption from the 10 per cent excise of all electric heating pads.

Removal of the 31-3 per cent tax on electricity.

Elimination of the 20 per cent retail tax on baby oils, powders and lotions.

Reduction from 25 per cent to 15 per cent in the tax on domestic telegraph, cable and radio messages.

Elimination of the 15 per cent tax on fishing boat trips.

Elimination of the 20 per cent admissions tax on high school athletic events, symphony concerts, operatic performances and most benefit performances given for churches, educational organizations and charitable organizations.

Thirty Perfect Record Teams Are Left In Schoolboy Play

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pieces in the jig-saw that is Texas schoolboy football start falling into place this week.

Favorites in most of the 80 districts of the four divisions playing to state championships will be established.

The campaign thunders into its final month — the last three weeks for Classes AA and A — with a slender list of undefeated, untied teams. This list is due to be trimmed sharply this week.

Only 30 teams have perfect records. It will be no surprise if at least 10 fall this week-end. Only in two instances do unbeaten, untied elevens play each other.

The headline game is in Class AAAA where Pampa plays at Lubbock Friday. Undefeated and untied and ready for the showdown in District 1, the Harvesters and Westerners are due to stage one of the finest games of the season.

Class AAA features the battle in Stephenville and Breckenridge at Breckenridge Friday night. It is probably the pick-of-the-litter of District 2 where Stephenville is the last undefeated, untied team. Stephenville already has licked a strong contender, Brownwood.

In Class AA Anson goes to Stamford in a clash of undefeated, untied teams. The winner of which will become the outstanding favorite for the District 5 championship. Another feature sends Lockhart to Gonzales in District 24. Gonzales is undefeated and untied. Lockhart is unbeaten but has been tied. Leaderships of nine districts are in the balance among the schedule of 77 games in Class AA.

In Class A where there are 15 undefeated, untied teams, Lockney will be playing at Abernathy in District 3 with Lockney able to win the title if it can knock down its undefeated, untied foe.

There are 222 games in the four classes, virtually every one counting in district championship races.

Among the undefeated, untied teams with toughest foes are Palestine, which plays Bryan; La Vega, which meets West; and Lampasas, which engages Gatesville.

Scurry Farms Eligible For Disaster Loans

Scurry County has been placed in the disaster area for farm loan purposes, B. C. Drinkard, administrator of the FHA here, said.

Scurry was one of 21 counties added to the list making a total of 61 Texas farm counties that have been declared disaster areas during the past three months, he said.

Officials said farms in these areas suffered a prolonged drouth, wind erosion, insect infestation, and abnormally high temperatures during critical growing periods.

Drinkard said this order permits Federal Home Administration loans to farmers here who might have difficulty securing private loans on which to raise next year's crops.

Drinkard said that L. J. Cappleman, FHA head, recommended Scurry as one of the additional 21 counties to be added to the disaster area. Drinkard quoted Cappleman as saying that, "the way requests are coming in, it looks as if most of Texas will be in the disaster area."

The drouth, Cappleman said, has cut a wide swath in Texas farm production from border to border, and row crop farmers seem hardest hit.

Other counties on the new disaster list are: Border, Callahan, Childress, Collingsworth, Dawson, Dickens, Donley, Eastland, Edwards, Fisher, Garza, Glasscock, Hall, Howard, Kent, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Nolan, and Taylor.

Sheriff Shows Prison Record As Alibi For One Of His Prisoners

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Oct. 31. (AP)—Sheriff Claude Moncus pointed today to a prison record to prove that a man arrested in Texas couldn't have killed a man in September, 1945.

Robert Watts, arrested at Vernon, on a bad check charge, signed a statement saying he beat to death Horace Rogers of Tucumcari.

Moncus said Watts merely was trying to stay out of the Huntsville, Tex., prison as an habitual criminal.

"I just think he likes New Mexico jails better," the sheriff said.

He reported Watts has a perfect alibi for the killing.

Watts was sentenced to life as an habitual criminal from Tucumcari. He was released Sept. 1, 1951. He had served earlier terms in the Texas prison and the New Mexico penitentiary.

Construction Permits Denied Many In Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP) — National Production Authority officers said Tuesday 55 applications for construction have been denied in the Southwest.

The projects involved critical materials. Applications by churches were turned down in 14 instances.

MAKES BAD STEAL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31. (AP)—The "King of Beasts" turned out to be such a jerk he wasn't even worth stealing.

Leo the Lunkhead, an 18-month-old lion from Africa, was stolen recently from a private zoo. Robert L. Niles, 24, stunt man who worked at the zoo briefly, told police he was going to make a movie star out of Leo.

He changed his mind when he found Leo didn't know any tricks, and sold the lion to another zoo for $50.

Originally was charged with theft, that because the owners valued Leo at more than $200. They admitted at Niles' trial Tuesday they have since disposed of the lion for $75.

Niles pleaded guilty to petty theft and will be sentenced Nov. 23.

(Speaker Rayburn votes only in case of a tie)

The votes were on questions involving the Taft-Hartley labor law, public housing, income tax, "wetbacks," price rollbacks, defense housing, European aid and others.

Humble Appeal Planned Today

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 31. (AP)—An appeal of a $10,000 fine against the Humble Oil and Refinery Co. was planned today after the firm was convicted on nine counts of failing to keep accurate records of oil it took from New Mexico wells.

The case was based on the Connally hot oil act.

In another action, Federal Judge Carl Hatch fined Roy Moseley of Hobbs, an employe of the firm, $2,000 on a like charge.

A federal jury in Santa Fe last month found another employee Jack S. Little of Hobbs, guilty on eight counts. Hatch upheld a defense motion Tuesday to acquit Little for lack of evidence.

Hatch also ruled that evidence failed to support eight counts against Humble Pipeline Co. and acquitted the firm.

In the earlier trial, Walter J. Robertson of Hobbs, an Humble gauger later discharged, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to defraud the government in interstate shipment of oil. He testified for the government.

Robertson was fined $2,000 Tuesday but a prison sentence was waived.

The charges involved oil taken from Lea County wells between 1948 and 1950.

Dawson County to Vote Nov. 13 on Bond Issue For Courthouse, Jail

LAMESA, Oct. 30 — Dawson County voters will go to the polls Nov. 13 to vote on a $275,000 bond issue which would provide funds for an addition to the courthouse.

A new and larger jail on the top floor of the courthouse would be among the changes. More office space would be provided on the first three floors and the entire building modernized. Two successful breaks have been made from the 35-year-old jail in recent weeks.

The present debt on the old courthouse will be retired in 1952. County taxes will not be affected by the bond issue since the maximum amount is already being levied.

Rita Can Get Her Divorce If Wanted

RENO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Rita Hayworth's lawyers rather expect her to show up [illegible] divorce. But it won't do her any immediate good.

This is Nevada's 87th birthday. With Nevadans, that takes precedence over almost everything — including princesses trying to get rid of such titles.

Most businesses, including the state's, close to enjoy the revelry.

Tomorrow's another day, Rita can have her divorce then if she asks it.

The auburn-haired film star finished her required six-week residence last spring. She and Prince Aly Khan failed to agree on money matters.

Officials said Hewitt might live for months without regaining his senses. X-rays of his skull show no fracture and his heart action is described as good.

Applications to plug and abandon have been filed on a depleted producer and a wildcat failure in Garza County.

Seaboard Oil Co. will plug the wildcat, the No. 1-A OS Ranch, drilled 13 miles east of Post in East - Central Garza County. It was quit on total depth of 3,740 feet in the San Andres. It had been plugged back to 2,783 feet in that same zone and still tested dry.

Location was in section 3, J.W. Holmes, F. Divers and A. J. and H. F. Lang survey.

H. F. Pettigrew and Star Oil Co. No. 1-OS Ranch, discovery well of the Post - San Andres pool in Central Garza County, was quit as a depleted producer. It was completed in July, 1950, for a daily pumping potential of 24.17 barrels of 35.2 gravity oil plus 56 per cent water from open hole at 2,905-2,155 feet.

Hearsts Settle With Marion DaviesOnStock

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Marion Davies, long-time friend of the late William Randolph Hearst, and officials of the Hearst Corporation have issued a statement that all matters between them are settled.

The announcement Tuesday said in part:

"Miss Davies has relinquished all rights she may have to act as voting trustee for the stock of the Hearst Corporation for the reason, among others, that there is a question as to when her right to act as voting trustee thereunder would commence. This question would have to be clarified by long court proceedings which all parties deemed unnecessary and undesirable."

The corporation controls the newspaper and magazine empire built up by the publisher. Hearst died several months ago.

Published reports had said Hearst and Miss Davies, a former actress, had signed an agreement Nov. 5, 1950, that made them the only trustees in a voting trust for the corporation's entire stock.

The Parke-Bernet galleries said a collection of 16th and 17th century paintings, 18th century English furniture, silver and art objects belonging to Miss Davies would be sold at auction Nov. 14 and 17.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., ct. 31. (AP)—Former Actress Marion Davies was married early today to Navy Captain Horace G. Brown.

Justice James Down performed the ceremony.

Miss Davies gave her name as Marion Cecilia Douras and her age as 45. She said she had never been married before.

Whiskey Rush As Tax Rises

By The Associated Press

A person who hadn't been watching Congress might figure there was an epidemic of snake bite. A good many Texans were stocking up heavily today on that snake bite remedy — whiskey.

But if he'd been reading the papers, he'd know it was just thirsty citizens trying to lay in their winter stock before Thursday's boost of liquor taxes.

The levy goes up $1.50 a gallon.

Also to be increased are taxes on other items, including automobiles and cigarettes. People didn't start a buying rush on these items, those items.

One happy liquor dealer said: "It's almost like Christmas time."

At Corpus Christi, liquor sales were about 50 per cent higher than on the corresponding day a year ago. Many bought liquor in case lots.

Bryan reported heavy traffic on roads from dry Brazos County to wet Burleson County.

Dallas liquor dealers reported skyrocketing sales.

A spokesman for Dallas automobile dealers said the impending tax increase had stimulated sales but that previous scare buying had just about exhausted the rush market.

Dealers said the tax will raise new car prices $20 in the lowest price group to $135 for luxury vehicles.

One Dallas cigarette dealer said he expected a rush business today because of the cent-a-pack tax boost due tomorrow.

Fighting Drops Off In Korea

EIGHTH ARMY, Korea, Oct. 31. (AP) — Marauding patrols took over the quiet, rain-swept Korean battle fronts today.

Fighting almost vanished as hopes for an end to the shooting were lifted by a new Communist truce zone proposal.

The largest fight reported by the U. S. Eighth Army involved only a company of Chinese. The Reds attacked at 4 a.m. southeast of Kumsong in the center of the front behind a heavy mortar barrage.

They forced Allied outposts to retreat to their main lines, but the Reds were beaten back in an hour-long fight.

Otherwise, the Eighth Army said, there was "no significant action."

Rains almost washed out the air war. The Fifth Air Force reported only 318 sorties up to nightfall.

During the night B-29 Superforts blasted Red bunkers with 500-pound fragmentation bombs. The Superforts hit Communist positions at 20 points, aiming their bombs by radar.

At sea the Canadian destroyer Cayuga won a duel with Red shore batteries on the West Coast while the American Destroyer DeHaven blew up ten Communist supply dumps on the West Coast.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

To the Daily News:

Building a county jail has many problems—finance, size, facilities, security, contractors, materials, location and others. A new jail should last for at least 30 years and is worthy of careful attention.

I believe the jail should be located on top of the courthouse for the following reasons:

To avoid the present system of bringing prisoners to and from the jail to the courthouse. During the time a felony prisoner is kept in jail round trips to and from the jail must be made to investigate his case, for his arraignment or to set his bond, for grand jury proceedings, and for his trial. This means from four to ten round trips must be made by the sheriff's department between the jail and the courthouse for each felony prisoner.

A misdemeanor prisoner must be moved from two to five times back and forth from jail to court to effect the disposition of his case. These trips engage officers and cars. These trips are potentially dangerous to the public, the officers and the prisoners, and an attempt to escape could cost the life or lives of innocent people.

Such trips very often involve delay of the courts, the jurors and lawyers. County jury costs in a felony case will run somewhere over $20 an hour since thirty-six men are called. The taxpayer must also pay the judge, reporter, clerk, attorney and sheriff bailiff for time wasted waiting on the prisoners to be brought across crowded traffic.

A jail located on top of the courthouse would afford less opportunity for prisoners to abuse one another. Such a jail would be under constant surveillance of persons in the courthouse and on the square (the last jail break was made when prisoners learned that there was no one downstairs in the early evening hours.)

Although this watch by persons below would not be effective after midnight it would be effective to prevent daylight and early evening escapes. A prisoner who escapes after midnight is not so apt to get far from the jail before daylight. The objection that a jail on the top of the courthouse would subject women and children downtown to obscene language or indecent exposure is invalid for the reason that the walls could be recessed, windows barred from the inside and offending prisoners confined in inner - cells.

The present jail site is not sufficiently large to construct a new jail. This means additional land accessible to the courthouse must be purchased at a costly sum.

Therefore, I believe that a jail located on top of the courthouse is the best possible location for the reasons of economy, public safety, convenience and security of prisoners, over at least a period of 30 years, provided that the structual steel of the present courthouse would support it.

Furniture Is Saved in Fire

The home of Mrs. Claude H. Miller about a mile north and three miles west of Snyder was destroyed by fire Monday morning.

Two fire trucks from Snyder went to the scene and helped to control the blaze so that almost all furniture and personal belongings could be carried out.

"Some of the furinutre was damaged, but most of it was saved," Mrs. Miller said.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

Mrs. Miller was in town when the fire began, and she first noticed it when she was returning to her home, she said.

The house was a modern six-room, two - bath frame structure with asbestos siding.

Mrs. Miller and three children, Ronald Miller, Margaret Miller, and Nancy Miller, lived in the house.

County Judge to Inspect All Steel Hangar for New Airport

Edgar Taylor, county judge, was authorized by the commissioners court Monday to go with either Wilbur Ash or John Wilson to Eau Claire, Wis., to inspect an airport hangar for sale.

Judge Taylor said they would probably leave here Wednesday.

The court action came after Ash, partner of the Ash - Wilson & Associates engineering firm, which designed Wihston Field, told the commissioners of the hangar which the city of Eau Claire is offering for sale at $27,500.

CAA LETTER

Ash presented the court with a letter from the Civil Aeronautics Administration telling of the offer. The letter explaine that the price included loading it on railroad cars for shipment. Total cost, including the freight expense, concrete flooring, and erection on the field, would be less than $40,000, Ash estimated. This would be "a bargain," he said, if the hangar is in good condition.

He further described it as a 50-plane hangar (light aircraft) with overall measurements 130 by 160 by 39 feet, also having a lean-to for rest rooms and a shop. Manufactured by the Butler Manufacturing Co., it is all steel. The letter stated it was purchased as army surplus and had never been uncrated from overseas shipment boxes.

"Pilots and others in Snyde own about 30 planes which are kept in hangars at Big Spring and Sweetwater," Ash said, "and I am certain that at least 30 plane owners would rent space here if we had a hangar. There is no doubt it would pay for itself." He added that it was his understanding rent for small aircraft in the hangars at Sweetwater and Big Spring was about $1 a night, and that rates were graduated larger for bigger planes.

BUILDING COMPLETE

The court also agreed to pay the Norcross Construction Co. $5,224 as final payment on the administration building just completed at the airport. This amount was 10 per cent of the total cost, which, according to contract, was to be retained until completion. The other costs were paid as construction progressed.

The commissioners voted also to pay the J. W. Moorman & Son contracting firm, which handled most of the airport project, as much as possible of about $82,000 due and to make arrangements for borrowing the rest.

The county has not yet received all the federal aid appropriation due the county for approximately half the construction costs, Judge Taylor said, and the county will seek to borrow about $20,000 needed to pay Moorman. The county can repay this amount when the rest of the federal appropriations are received.

This will leave a debt to the firm of about $25,200—or 10 per cent of the total contract price—to be paid when the project is finished next spring.

SEEDING, WIRING

The only phases lacking in the project are the seeding of grass and electrical wiring for field light. The grass seeding cannot be done until spring, and the wiring will be done as soon as materials can be purchased. The field's tower beacon is already up, and the county has been awarded priority for electrical materials.

All paving for both runways and taxiways is finished. The administration building is finished except for Venetian blinds which have been ordered and are due to arrive any day.

Dedication of the field has been set for Dec. 12.

Patrolmen Fire At Car But Cannot Overtake It

Police Monday night engaged in a running one-way gun battle with an unknown person who they believe is wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for murder in New Mexico.

Patrolmen Mark Search and A. D. Williams chased the car about nine miles north on the Clairemont road after it refused to stop on a speeding violation in North Snyder. They fired two shots at the car but it outdistanced them and continued north along the Clairemont Road.

Search said the car matched the description of one described by the FBI as being driven by a man under indictment in Tucumcari, N. M., on a charge of murder and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Smart Motorists Winterize Cars Before Winter's Arrival

Did your car start this morning when you were ready to go to work?

If it didn't, it's time for winterizing. Fall weather is only a preview of cooler weather to come, when your car's starting and running ability will be taxed to the utmost.

The most important considerations in winterizing cars were outlined by S. W. Trevey, owner of Trevey's Magnolia Service Station at 711 Twenty sixth Street this morning.

RADIATOR FIRST

Of course, the first and most important thing in your car's cooling system. A good anti freeze should be placed in the radiator just as soon as possible, because we may go to bed in warm autumn-like weather and wake up with a blizzard in our front yard any morning now, he said.

But, anti freeze is not the only attention most radiators need.

Before anti freeze is placed in a radiator all connections should be replaced, and the radiator should be flushed out so that circulation will be assured.

Trevey's station has an ample supply of Mobil permanent anti freeze in both quart and gallon containers now, but their present supply is all they will get this winter, he said. So that could be a hint to the wise, too.

A car's ignition system is next in line of importance in getting it to start and run perfectly on cold mornings. Batteries and battery cables should be checked. If the battery is weak, it will probably fail completely on cold mornings, because a battery's current is directly and sharply affected by temperatures. With high temperatures a battery's current is greater, with with low temperatures the current is lessened. Spark plugs should be cleaned and checked or replaced with new ones.

Car winterizing could never be complete without a change from summer weight to winter weight lubricants. Light oils which flow easily must be used in winter.

"If oil is to do its job it must be in the right place at the right time, and heavy oils will not completely lubricate your car engine in cold weather," Trevey said.

TIRE TROUBLE

Trevey also had another worth while idea. Although tires are not much more likely to give trouble in winter than summer, they are more disagreeable to change in cold, muddy weather, he said.

Trevey's service station has a good supply of Mobil Tires, and batteries as well as a complete stock of radiator hose, battery cables, spark plugs, and all other winterizing essentials.

To make the winterizing of your car move convenient, they offer a pickup and delivery service. They will come for your car, completely winterize it, and return it to you. There is no extra charge for the pickup and delivery service.

Waxing and polishing is another thing car owners should consider in winterizing their car. Wax helps to protect a car's finish in cold, icy weather.

Communist Plot To Unseat Shah Reported

TEHRAN, Oct. 29. (AP)—Iran's government says it has uncovered a Communist plot to unseat Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi.

Police said a raid on an underground headquarters of the outlawed Red Tudeh Party produced thousands of leaflets calling for ousier of the 32-year-old Shah and formation of a "National Government."

An undisclosed number of arrests was made.

The Tudeh party was outlawed after the Shah was wounded in an assassination attempt in February, 1949.

Taft Debates With Democrat

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared yesterday the Korean War has "demonstrated that the United Nations is an utter failure as a means of preventing aggression."

The senator, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, made the statement in a television debate with Sen. McMahon (D-Conn).

Their arguments became heated and loud at times as they debated the source of Russia's present strength.

Taft said the Democratic administration built up Russia. McMahon called Taft's statement "absurd" and added that "the strength of Russia comes from inside Russia itself."

McMahon asserted Taft's bid for the Republican presidential nomination is based on an "isolationist" policy. The Ohioan countered that his policy is one of preventing a war "unless it is to protect the liberty of the United States."

Taft said he would favor the use of atomic weapons in Korea only if they were used against an army and "without the tremendous slaughter of the civilian population."

The committee can be expected to ratify any selection by President Truman, who has 30 names under consideration.

William M. Boyle, Jr., is resigning for what he has said are reasons of health.

A committee official said unless the President changes his mind, he expects McKinney's name will be put forward Wednesday.

Liberals Turn Down Post In New Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Liberals conditionally promised their six House of Commons votes Sunday night to bolster the narrow Conservative majority. Liberal Leader Clement Davies said "no" to a cabinet bid from Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The Liberals said their six members would swell the Tories' 18-seat majority on "measures clearly conceived in the interest of the country as a whole."

Davies said he "felt unable to accept" the conservative leader's offer of a post in the cabinet the new prime minister still was forming.

Churchill has named eight key members to his government and hopes to complete the lineup before Parliament convenes Wednesday.

The offer to Davies was designed to give the government the "broad base" promised by Churchill during the campaign, and to meet Labor criticisms of the new regime as a "minority government." Despite their majority, the Tories drew 200,172 fewer votes than the laborites in Thursday's general election.

Churchill has named Anthony Eden as foreign secretary, deputy prime minister and leader of the house; Lord Woolton, lord president of the council; R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer; Lord Ismay, commonwealth relations; the Marquess of Salisbury, Lord Privy Seal; Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, home secretary; Sir Walter Monchton, labor, and Oliver Lyttelton, colonies.

Fight on UMT Predicted When Congress Reconvenes in 1952

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Lawmakers predicted today hot debate in Congress next year over a government commission's call for universal military training (UMT) as long range protection in the "mortal struggle with Soviet Communism."

The new national security training commission's blueprint for UMT envisions eventual training of 800,000 youths annually at a cost which could run to more than $4 billion the first year.

The commission's recommendations, made public Sunday night, were submitted under a 1951 law which extended the draft and approved the broad idea of UMT. That law, enacted last June, requires further action to put UMT into effect.

The commission urged that the implementing legislation it recommended be approved "without delay" when Congress reconvenes next January. It added that uncertain world conditions — notably in Korea — make it impossible to forecast when the training program could be started.

DANGER FOR YEARS

A start at the earliest practicable time is imperative, the commission declared, because "the clear prospect is that the present generation must live in danger for many years."

An enemy today can strike directly at the United States by sea or air, so "the American people must be prepared, like their forbears who pushed the frontier westward, to meet a savage and deadly attack at any moment."

The law provides that the senate and house armed services committees will have 45 working days to study and act on the commission's recommendations after Congress reconvenes.

WANTS SWIFT ACTION

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the senate committee, and Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), who heads the house armed services unit, are in favor of putting UMT into effect swiftly.

Rep. Arends (R-Ill), member of the house committee, said he is "not convinced that the country wants peacetime military conscription." He indicated Congress should not seriously consider the issue while men still are being drafted. Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, declared "the chaotic world situation makes it absolutely necessary that the best possible UMT plan be put into effect as soon as conditions permit."

Sen. Cain (R-Wash) and Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo), also members of the Armed Services Committee, predicted stormy debate.

Concerts Are Step Forward

Those good citizens who planned and worked for the Snyder Concert Association have reason to be proud today. Their season opened last night to an almost full house, and was a noteworthy event not only as a pleasing recital but as a milestone in community growth.

We suspect that the pride which the concert association organizers feel after their initial program is heightened considerably by the fact that they had been assured a concert series would flop.

There are lots of long-faced folks around here (who are supposed to "know Snyder") who had assured concert workers that Snyders' depressing history of musical failure would be repeated again this year. We think last night's performance and last night's crowd is all the contradiction they need.

There have been some heartening indications recently that these prophets of gloom, who automatically predict failure for every civic undertaking, are speaking from long acquaintance with the old Snyder but that they are missing the development of a new community spirit.

There seems to be an intangible something growing here which might be called the new Snyder. It's infecting old timers and newcomers alike, crosses property lines and ancient prejudices and is uniting the town in a progressive movement. The spirit of the new Snyder is positive and hopeful, and it no longer listens with respect to the critics who insist that everything undertaken in these parts is destined for humiliating defeat.

If this foolish optimism continues, we may build a city here.

Abdullah Thinking Of Mexican Or Egyptian Divorce Plans

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP) — Sheppard (Abdullah) King III is thinking of going to Mexico or Egypt to get a divorce and pave the way for his marriage to an Egyptian belly dancer.

"There's too much prejudice against me in Houston," he said Tuesday night, adding he didn't think he would get a "fair hearing" in any divorce suit heard in Harris County.

He indicated his hope for quick freedom was squelched Monday when a hearing on his wife's annulment petition was postponed until Dec. 10. The hearing ended with his wife, Gloria, dousing him with a cup of water and storming he was "yapping" too much.

The complicated story of the wealthy young Texan and Samia Gamal broke a little over a month ago. He saw the dancer in a Paris night club, wooed her and proposed in three hours.

From this stemmed stormy and confusing events. Among the latter was Gloria's claim she didn't remember remarrying Sheppard in Dallas June 2. In her annulment petition she said she had consumed "too many fancy drinks" and didn't remember the ceremony.

The annulment hearing was postponed because Houston Attorney Robert L. Sonfield, who had filed a "friend of the court" intervention petition, insisted on Dallas Judge Robert A. Hall appearing.

Sonfield's petition asked the annulment be denied because it mocked the integrity of Texas courts and judges, particularly Hall.

Sheppard said he asked his attorney in Egypt to see if a divorce there would be recognized in the United States. He said if it would be, then he would fly to Cairo and get one.

"If it isn't," he said, "I might end up in Mexico. And I might do it anyway. The fishtails on this Cadillac might be passing that way any day now."

He said his socially prominent mother, Mrs. Bonner King, was not going to disinherit him as she had threatened.

"I don't know why I came back from Egypt," King said. "I guess I came back to get my money and a divorce and I haven't gotten either."

Fowler Says Land in Poor Shape for Rain

Scurry County would have to get from five to 10 inches of good, slow rain to give farmers the moisture they will need for good crop prospects next year, agricultural men agree.

"Most of the land here is in poorer shape to absorb moisture now than it would have been if good crops had been raised here this year," H. O. Beard, veterans vocational agricultural director, said.

"Because of the slim prospect for a crop, many farmers quit plowing their land early this summer and let it grow up, which even further sapped the moisture from it, and leaves it in poor condition to absorb rainfall now," he added.

County Agent Oscar Fowler said, "it would take at least five inches of rain on the crop land that has been summer fallowed to put as much moisture in the ground as we will need to start the next crop season."

"And that rain would have to fall so that all of it went into the ground and none ran off," he continued.

If we get hard rains it will take as much as 15 to 20 inches to do much good, because of the loss in run-off, he said.

Cotton land and most other crop land in the county is not ready for the rains to do the most good now because it has not been plowed recently, and it hasn't been plowed because it was too hard and dry, he said.

One farmer said that he was ready for the good rains to start now—although he still has more than half of his short cotton crop in the field. "If we could get enough rain to raise a good crop next year, it would be better than the prospects we have of gathering the rest of this short crop," one farmer said.

New Telephone Numbers Will Be Assigned

Five - digit telephone numbers will be used in Snyder's new dial system, George Brown, relief manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said today.

All telephone numbers here will be changed to conform to the new system, Brown said. Telephone subscribers will be given their new numbers well in advance of the change, and a directory listing all new numbers will be issued before the dial system is put into operation, he added.

Under the dial system, party lines will no longer be designated by letter as they are now. There will be no more than four telephones to each circuit, and each phone will ring only when its number is dialed.

Rural lines will probably have eight parties to each line, and will have semi - selective ringing. Thus, each telephone will ring for two numbers on the line, but the rings will not be the same.

The new $1,250,000 system will be placed in service by Feb. 16, Brown said. Equipment is now being installed in the telephone building at Twenty - seventh and Avenue R, and the business office will move there tomorrow.

The use of five - digit numbers is common in dial systems recently put into operation, Brown said. Both those in Abilene and Midland use five digits. This will enable the system to handle inter - city dialing when such a program is put into use.

Total of Deep Wells to 1,846

A total of 1,846 field and wildcat producers from deep formations in Scurry County were shown by the latest resume of oil activity in this county.

The resume, containing figures of activity through Oct. 19, shows a total of 1,961 completions, including 115 dry holes.

Thirty - four field wells were drilling on the last day covered by the resume. Thirty - nine field locations and one wildcat location were to be drilled.

Radar Listening Post Stationed Near Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—A highly secret air force installation at nearby Duncanville was disclosed today to be a radar listening post — one comprising a network throughout the United States to protect key cities and areas.

The commanding officer, Maj. Louis A. Delaney received permission to say so from the command of the 33rd air division at Oklahoma City.

It was the first time that the location of such a radar warning station had been told.

It is maned by the 147th AC&W Squadron. This is a Van Nuys, Calif., Air National Guard outfit.

Much information about the base still is secret. Maj. Delaney would not say what "AC&W" meant. No pictures are allowed.

Armistice Day Parade Planned by Veterans

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion decided in a joint meeting Monday night to work together in planning an Armistice Day Parade.

The parade, to be held Saturday, Nov. 10 to commemorate the war dead of Scurry County, will assemble at the fire station and proceed around the square to the west side, where the ceremonies are to be held. Members said they will urge all businessmen to display flags on the parade day as well as on Armistice Day Nov. 11.

VFW Commander Jack Caperton, who presided over the joint meeting, told members of the board of directors for the two organizations as now taking bids for the construction of their new clubhouse. He added that they expect to let contracts sometime this week and secure steel for construction within two weeks.

C. H. Wright, Sunray president, shakes hands with J. P. Wiseman, another Sunray official, before the ceremonies yesterday. At left is M. D. Kirk, vice president of Sunray and head of the legal department, and at right is H. W. Manley, another vice president of Sunray who heads the board of directors of the palnt as head of Sunray's Gas-Gasoline department. All are from Sunray's Tulsa office. Sunray will operate the plant.

Olin Culberson, second from left, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, talks with some of the builders of the plant before official dedication in which Culberson was main speaker. From left are: M. D. Kirk, Sunray vice president; Culberson; C. O. Holder, contractor for the high-pressure gathering system; E. J. Mills, plant superintendent; and T. H. Hogland, vice president of Fluor Corp., general contractors for the plant. — (Lee Watson photographs.)

Snyder Gasoline Plant Dedicated

In a quick double switch of the key to the plant, C. H. Wright, left, president of Sunray Oil Corp., received it from H. W. Manley, vice president in charge of the Gas-Gasoline department. Later Wright gave the key back to Manley "to run the plant."

Snyder Boy Scouts were the honor guard at the raising of the Stars and Stripes and the Lone Star flag over the Snyder Gasoline Plant at dedication ceremonies yesterday. The national and state anthems were played during the flag raisings by the Snyder High School band.

Olin Culberson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, pointed out in his talk at the dedication ceremonies that the plant is an important step in conservation of Texas natural resources. He lauded, too, the installation of the high-pressure gathering system which enabled the plant owners to conserve more than 3.5 billion cubic feet of natual gas before the plant was put into operation. "It was a highly commendable voluntary conservation," he said.

Gathered around Culberson after the dedication are a group of Snyder men. Harold Bennett, manager of the Chamber of Commerce is left. Maurice Brownfield is just to Culberson's right, and Ralph Geisenhoner, a director of the chamber, right. Geisenhoner officially welcomed oil company officials and guests to Snyder. He said the plant is an important part of the industrial growth of the community.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Hobgoblins on the prowl tonight are bound to be wearing terrible disguises, if mask sales in the local dime stores are any indication.

The grotesque rubber masks which fit over the head were best sellers this year. As a matter of fact, this type of mask was sold out completely in one store and only very small sizes were left in another store by noon yesterday.

Faces of the Devil and of a wolf were most in demand at the toy counter where Mrs. GRACE BRYANT works. And on another side of the square, Miss OPHA LOU MASON reported the gangster face sporting a cigar dangling from the mouth topped the list.

At one of the early Halloween parties last week, two of the young guests showed a feminine preference for "grown up" costumes rather than the skeleton or witch variety. CHARLENE, age five, and NINA, age eight, chose drum major and ballet dancing costumes. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McIVER.

• • •

Mrs. VICTOR BAE gave son DARBIN a ninth birthday party last week and had 18 guests "from the milk bottle age up" in to play games. Ballons, black and orange crepe paper added to the festive air. The hostess adds, "I expect to recover from the activity in a couple of years"

"Halloween excitement for children comes second only to Christmas," was Mrs. MAURICE PILCHER'S remark. She is the music teacher at North Ward School and has ample opportunity to sense the tension among youngsters.

As a Halloween treat for the young ones (and a good chance to tempt them with vitamin-rich food) grate carrots,mix with salad dressing and make a mound in the shape of a face on a salad plate. Make raisin features and you have a black and orange "Halloween man."

There are 133 policemen at the White House. There are 11 in Snyder. Since the attempt on the President's life last fall, the Senate has recommended adding 37 more men to the White House police force. If Snyder's approximately one patrolman per 1,000 residents is the proper average, the White House has the police force to patrol a city the size of El Paso.

Of course, human nature being the perverse thing it is, the very best way to get people to look inside a car is not to open the doors and give them unobstructed vision, but to cover the windows so no one can see in. The public reactions is an immediate, overwhelming determination to find out what is inside.

This elementray psychology was put to good use Monday afternoon when downtown shoppers were staring in amazement at the windows of a Nash, in which they could see nothing but their own images.

The "mystery car," from the Bob Dupree Nash Co., was equipped with one-way mirrors—those inside can see out, but those outside see only mirrors in the windows. We had naively thought this was a device used only in gamblers' dives, gamblers' homes in Beverly Hills, and gamblers' movies. But we reckoned without BILL SCHIEBEL, salesman at Dupree's firm, who was the mystery driver in the mystery car, and who probably dreamed up the idea. When you see him cruising the square, don't be frightened. He can see out, although you can't see in.

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31. (AP) — Is it true what they say about Latin lovers?

I put the question to Fernando Lamas, handsome young Argentine who is a candidate for the movie mantle once shouldered by Rudolph Valentino and Ramon Novarro.

"You mean is it true that Latins are lousy lovers?" he said. "No, it is not. I've always thought the author of that article must have been either awfully bitter or awfully ugly.

"But I don't think it's true that Latins are exceptional lovers, either I think we Latins make love in just about the same manner as non-Latins. The only difference is in temperament.

"In this country, you make love more calmly. You are tender and say endearing things to a woman. But Latins are hot-tempered. We grab a girl around the neck, grasp her arms until they are black and blue and shred her clothing."

I mentioned that some theorize that Latin lovers must work fast because the girls are guarded by their chaperones.

"That is true in Mexico," he commented. "But chaperones are pretty old-fashioned in South America, at least in the southern part. There the girls go out on dates alone, the same as they do in this country."

Pranks, Not Vandalism Is Halloween Plea

Trick or treat, that's the word for tonight, and Ray J. Keenan, chief of police, asks that it be kept within those bounds.

There's room for everyone to have lots of fun, without destroying or damaging property, he said.

Keenan says the police department will look with disfavor on attempts to break street lights or put soap on windows."

He also reminds everyone that the 9 o'clock curfew is still being enforced.

We have not had many violations of the curfew, but there are occasional violations, he said.

"We appreciate the cooperation, that children and parents have given in the curfew, and hope that it will continue," he said.

City Recovers Casing From Abandoned Well

By dent of hard, wet work, the city Sunday saved about $500.

W. J. Ramsey, city superintendent, and a crew of workmen began about 7 o'clock Sunday morning pulling casing from an abandoned city water well.

They worked all day in the rain before the job was completed.

"But it was worth it," Ramsey said. "We recovered about 225 feet of well casing, the price of which is now about $2.25 per foot," Ramsey said. The casing will be used in other city projects.

Testimony In Murder Trial In San Saba

SAN SABA, Oct. 31. (AP) —Night Watchman Frank Russell testified Tuesday that Clofus Sullivan, charged with murder, admitted, "Yes, I killed him. I don't know why I did it. I loved him."

Sullivan is charged with the rifle slaying of his cousin, Joseph Franklin Comer, May 27.

Russell said Sullivan admitted the killing as Russell was taking him to jail.

Mrs. Oneta Comer of San Angelo, who married Comer early this year, testified she, her husband and Sullivan had been drinking beer before the shooting.

Arguments In Suit Against Commissioner

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 31. (AP) —The campaign expenses suit against State Agricultural Commissioner John White reached the argument stage today after witnesses directly contradicted each other.

Mrs. H. W. Weir is suing White for $2,561.22 she claims she spent on White's campaign and which, she says, White promised to repay.

Testimony was concluded Tuesday.

Mrs. Weir testified she spent "twice the amount" on White's campaign that she is asking. She said she wanted only the money the commissioner agreed to repay her.

The youthful former Midwestern University teacher testified that "at no time did Mrs. Weir actually give me any of her personal money."

Mrs. Weir listed numerous sums she said she gave White.

Mrs. Weir said White had told her before the second Democratic primary of 1950 that he had been told to "drop her or lose the backing of other valuable supporters."

"I told him there were no strings, and all I wanted was for him to win and of course I wanted repayment of money I had loaned him," she testified.

A contribution of $750, which Mrs. Weir said she received before the Democratic convention at Mineral Wells, was not placed in the bank to cover $500 worth of checks in White's overdrawn account, she said.

Mrs. Weir testified, "White told me to apply it to what he owed me."

White denied this.

Trick Or Treat Night Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—This is the night elves and goblins (junior grade, that is) are abroad in the land.

A handful of candy, paid in tribute to the masked small fry of the neighborhood, will save you from the fearful depradations of "trick or treat" night.

Failure to come across may result in soap smears on your screen door, front steps or car windows. The Halloween goblins of 1951 hang few fence gates on church steeples as their fathers did in an earlier, simpler era.

To cut down on the Halloween urge to smear, break, overturn and confuse things in general, many communities stage ragamuffin parades, parties and dances.

On the theory that if you know where they are, you know where they ain't, teenagers are lured to these affairs and even encouraged to soap store windows (with merchants' permission). They are given prizes for the best hobgoblin design.

Halloween began in the dim past before Christianity, and was marked by the lighting of bonfires and the established belief that this was the night ghosts and witches rose from the netherworld to harass mankind.

In the Christian world it is the eve of All Saints Day.

The mishap occurred about three-quarters of a mile inside the operation.

ASK MILDRED

Please send your questions to Mildred Sparks, County Home Demonstration Agent, Court house, or to the Daily News.

Dear Mildred: Have you a recipe for a sweet relish made from green tomatoes? My neighbor made a delicious sweet relish using green tomatoes, onions, cabbage, and sweet peppers, but she has misplaced her recipe. Mrs. T. D. L.

Here is one taken from the Extension Bulletin—B-188, Pickles and Relishes.

1 quart green tomatoes, chopped
2 medium-sized sweet red peppers, chopped
2 medium - sized green peppers, chopped
2 large mild onions, chopped
1 small head cabbage, chopped
½ cup salt
3 cups vinegar
2 cups (firmly packed) brown sugar
1 teaspoon mustard, or
2 tablespoons mixed pickle spices

Combine the vegetables; cover with salt. Let stand overnight. Drain and press in a clean, thin white cloth to remove all the liquid possible. Add the vinegar, sugar, and spices and simmer until clear. Pack into clean, hot sterlized jars. Fill jars to top; seal tightly. Makes about 3 pints.

• • •

Dear Mildred: I am considering using sheets for bedroom draperies. Would you have some suggestions for trimming the sheets, something besides ruffles, because I thought that when I changed drapes I could use the sheets for their original purpose. M.A.W.

Here are a few ideas: (1) Wide eyelet ruffling, (2) rick-rack braid (about four rows stitched closely) (3) Printed bias tape, color harmonizing with sheets. Sew two rows about one inch from the edge, (4) Scallops, using a saucer as a guide and attach to the sheet. This could be of a harmonizing color. (5) applique floral designs cut from chinty fabric, (6) Eyelet insertion, beaded with velvet ribbon.

More Than 900 Draft Delinquents In State Reported By Boards

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP) — Texas had 921 draft delinquents at the end of September — 75 per cent of them with local boards in five cities, State Selective Service Headquarters said Tuesday.

The figure compared with 941 delinquents at the end of June.

Cities included in the big five were Dallas, Houston, Edinburg, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

More than half of the delinquents —491— were classified for failure to report for induction, State Director Paul L. Wakefield said.

Dallas County was recorded with 233 delinquents, Harris 145, Hidalgo and Starr 124, Bexar and Bandera 89 and Tarrant with 69.

Local boards with no delinquents included Vernon, Lufkin, Brownwood, Eastland, Longview, Athens, Sulphur Springs, Cleburne, Sweetwater, and Pecos.

Delinquency is punishable by fines ranging up to $10,000 and prison sentences ranging up to five years.

Meat Slaughtering Up 9 Per Cent Last Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)— Some evidence shows an upswing in livestock marketing, anticipated by government officials for this fall, has started.

The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that meat production by federally inspected slaughterers went up nine per cent last week — one of the few weeks since early summer when production exceeded that of the comparable week in 1950.

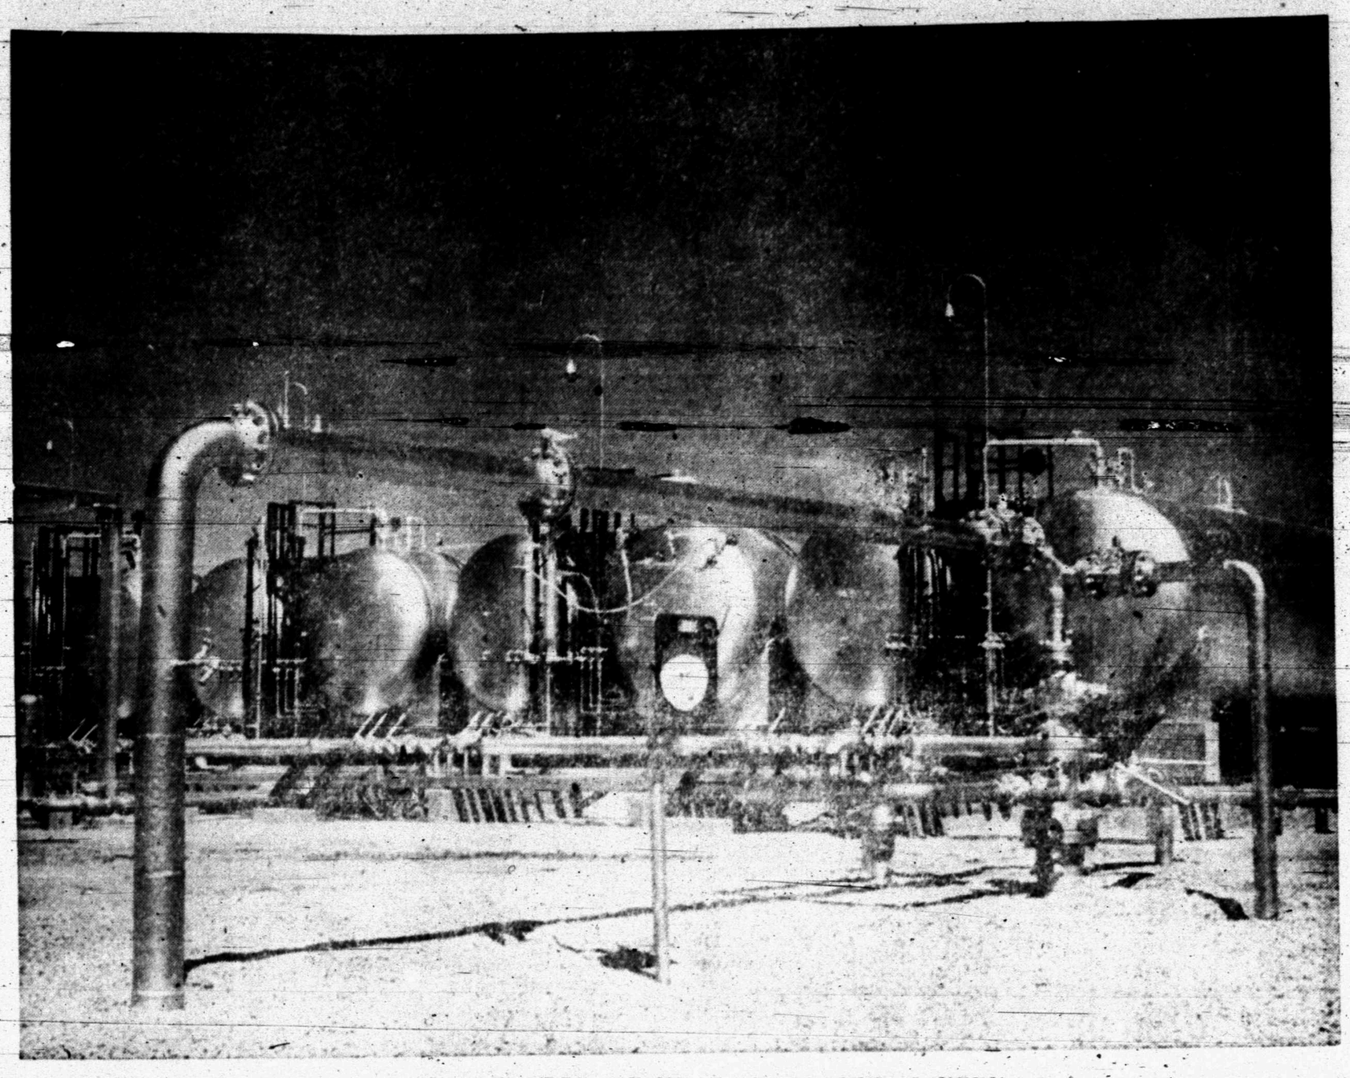

Slaughter in the Midwest was still far behind last year's kill, but it was up sharply in other sections.

BUTANE STORAGE IN UNDERGROUND CAVERN

From the well head in the foreground 41,000 barrels of butane or propane can be stored in underground caverns at the Snyder Gasoline Plant. Two other wells run the total underground storage capacity to 90,000 barrels. This 41,000 barrel well holds as much liquified pressure gasses as 20 of the huge 2,000-barrel surface storage tanks shown in the background.—(E. J. Mills photographs.)

SALT DOMES PROVIDE UNDERGROUND STORAGE TANKS

Huge caverns in crystalline salt layers which underlie most of West Texas have been hollowed out by circulating water through the salt domes to form underground storage caves for butane and propane. Butane and propane, pumped into the underground caverns as water is drawn out, are brought out again by pumping the water in.

Salt Domes Serve as Storage Tanks for Gas Plant Products

Salt domes which underlie the Snyder Gasoline Plant have been converted into man-made caverns for inexpensive storage of liquefied petroleum gases.

Regardless of the season, butane, propane, and other petroleum products made from casinghead gas which once was flared from Kelly-Snyder wells) pour out of the plant.

Storage of end products, during the summer months when demand is slow, presented a problem involving two relatively scarce items —money and steel.

From these necessities was born the idea of underground storage in salt domes under the plant site. It is one of the largest such storage projects being used in the nation.

PART OF PLANT

Sunray Oil Corp. operates the storage wells for itself and 30 other companies and 60 individual owners of the Snyder Gasoline Plant.

Both big savings in steel and storage costs are made by using this unique underground system. Although the process was known as long ago as the 1890's, its use is relatively new.

Sold, crystalline salt beds which underlie almost all of West Texas were discovered under the plant. A test well was drilled at the plant site and its core showed that the salt beds started at 640-foot depth and lay in strata on down to about 1,200 feet.

The strata of salt are divided by red beds (a clay formation.)

Drillers set and cemented casing on the well at 640 feet, then run a pipe to the bottom of the hole at 1200 feet. Water was circulated through the well, in through the deep pipe and out through the easing. The water melted the salt, and washed out the domes, leaving a cavity in the earth.

Operators of the plant found that the cavity would hold water, so they knew it would hold liquid gases too, because they are lighter than water, E. J. Mills, superintendent of the plant, said.

By using this storage method, the plant can produce at capacity rate all the time without overflowing its storage facilities during periods of the year when demand for the fuels is low, and it will have a backlog of butane and storage for peak consumption periods.

COST OF FACTOR

Primary reason for the wells was shortage of steel, but the cost angle also makes the wells attractive to plant owners. Steel storage tanks cost about $25 per barrel of their capacity. The underground salt-dome storage wells cost about $1.25 per barrel of their storage—with no shortage of materials to crimp their use.

To rest fears of some persons that the wells might cave in, Mills explained that they are only about 40 feet in diameter and when not filled with gas they are filled with water.

Three storage wells now in use at the plant have a capacity of 90,000 barrels of butane and propane. First of the wells has a capacity of 41,000 barrels, slightly more than 20 times as much as the large 2,000-barrel surface tanks, eight of which are used at the plant.

The No. 2 well has a capacity of 15,000 barrels, and the third well holds 34,000 barrels.

In washing out the huge underground caverns, 198,000 barrels of fresh water were employed to dissolve an estimated 25,000 pounds of salt in well No. 1. The brine which contained the salt dissolved from the salt series was conducted to an open asphalt-lined surface storage pit having a capacity of 200,000 barrels: in this fashion contamination of surface water supplies was prevented. In a like manner, two other wells were completed to create man-made underground caverns with a capacity sufficient to handle up to 90,000 barrles of liquefied petroleum gases.

From a conservation angle, development and general adoption of underground LPG storage will have a very important and far-reaching effects upon the LPG industry.

The state motto of Virginia is "Sic Semper Tyrannis"—"This Always to Tyrants". The state emblem of Virginia shows an armed figure standing over the fallen body of a tyrant.

Reform Movement In Boston Is Serious Matter To Machines

BOSTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—There's a reform revolt brewing in historic Boston that supporters like to think of as another "tea party."

It already has gained so much ground old-time political leaders have shown alarm.

Behind the burgeoning drive to reform the city government is a 24-year-old lawyer, Jerome L. Rappaport, who claims he has no personal political ambitions.

"I am interested only in good government," he says.

The groundwork for this new revolution was laid 18 months ago when Rappaport and a dozen others — all under 40 — launched their "New Boston Committee."

They announced they were out to find the "City's civic conscience." This was the only plank in their platform.

Veteran campaigners took them lightly as self-described "do-gooders." Reform movements never have gone far in this old city during the last half-century.

Skipping over most of the so-called "name" candidates, the young reformers put up slates for city council and school committee —and nominated them in the September primary. Some of the committee privately admit they were surprised by the complete sweep.

This has set the stage for one of the stormiest elections in Boston's long history on Nov. 6.

The primary success of the "New Boston committee" brought an immediate response from former Mayor James Michael Curley, one of the nation's last big city political bosses. The 77-year-old Curley gave up his own campaign for mayor to fight the reform movement.

Leaders of the "N. B. C." — most of whom supported Mayor John B. Hynes for re-election — chided Curley and pointed out he ran a poor second to Hynes in the primary anyway.

Boston's municipal elections are nonpartisan but Curley saw a Republican "plot" behind the committee to give the GOP control of this traditionally Democratic city.

"The New Boston Committee," he declared angrily, "is the instrument designed to disrupt and destroy Democratic harmony and pave the way for the defeat of the Democratic party in the nation and state in 1952."

Curley intends to leave his name on the November ballot, but claims he won't "solicit" votes for himself. Both Curley and Mayor Hynes, the "career man" city clerk who beat him two years ago, are Democrats.

Directors of the New Boston committee" are a varied group — Democrats and Republicans, trade union leaders and millionaires.

They range from John Horan, president of the Boston CIO Council, to Henry L. Shattuck, former treasurer of Harvard College and wealthy back bay socialite.

Sees Strain On Refineries; Perhaps Surplus In Near East

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—The Bureau of Mines takes an optimistic look of the nation's oil situation for this winter.

In a revised estimate, the bureau predicts that under normal conditions supplies should be adequate to meet all requirements.

The same view is held by officials of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) and by some representatives of the oil industry.

The revised bureau of mines report says the normal seasonal increase in imports of crude oil and oil products is being reduced due to the current shortage in supplies abroad. Exports have risen sharply and the bureau predicts they will continue at an abnormally high rate during the remainder of 1951.

However, the bureau said, if exports continue at the present rate, refineries will have to run close to capacity to meet the requirements in the first three months of 1952.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America, meanwhile, sees the possibility of a world surplus of oil.

In its October "Facts and Forecasts," the association said a very large percentage of the 684,000-barrel daily production of Iran prior to the shutdown of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company refinery has been made up by increasing production in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia.

"When the Iranian dispute is settled and production is resumed in Iran, there may be a world surplus of oil unless production somewhere is cut back," the report stated.

"In this event, if Kuwait and Saudi Arabia were unwilling or unable to cut back production, the net result could be a surplus of more than 500,000 barrels daily in the Middle East. Such a surplus seeking market outlets could disrupt world trade."
