

New Deputy Named for Dodson Area

Hired as the new deputy sheriff, for Dodson is Tellous Q. Kilgore of Tulsa, Okla., Sheriff John Rainey announced this week.

Kilgore will live in Dodson and he will serve as deputy for the coming three months, while cotton is being harvested.

Sheriff Rainey said he has had law enforcement experience with the Tulsa police department, but more recently he has been in highway construction work and at the time he was hired, he was with the group working on the new Quail FM highway.

Dodson residents have asked for a deputy to live in their town both last year and this year. Due to the concentration of itinerate Latin American workers, that area has been the center of much of the trouble that has plagued the county law enforcement officers during the fall.

No action was taken by the commissioners court last year, although a deputy for the area was recommended by the grand jury.

In a recent meeting, the commissioners court voted to pay $600 for three months salary, provided Dodson will pay $75 per month.

Car Flips on Wet Pavement

Don Cates, relief manager at the Ritz Theatre and Bronco Drive In, escaped with only minor injury last Friday, Sept. 23, when his car turned over several times two miles west of McLean.

Cates was alone at the time of the accident and was on his way to Pampa to spend the week end with his parents. He reported that it was raining hard and he hit a slick place on the pavement, losing control of his car. It turned over several times and landed about 100 yards out in the field. The 1960 Dodge was completely demolished.

He was hospitalized overnight in Pampa where he was treated for a broken nose and minor cuts and bruises.

Chamber of Commerce Sets Up Committee Work

The first step toward 1961 Chamber of Commerce work came with the naming of the nominating committee in the meeting of the board of directors Monday evening, Sept. 26, N. M. Higdon, manager, said this week.

Zook Thomas heads the committee, with Wood Coleman, Henry Sullivan, George Henry and Robert Lewis as members. They will nominate a president, vice president, and treasurer and three directors.

The nominations will be in by Oct. 3.

L. B. Bratten, C-C president, named a six-member committee to have charge of decorating the town for Christmas: Quinton Brewer, Mrs. A. J. Fires, Mrs. Deskins Wells, George Henry, Mrs. John Coleman, and Henry Sullivan.

The Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce is joining Clifford Farmer, Memphis C-C manager, in an effort to renew interest in securing federal designation for the road extending from Clovis, through Memphis and Wellington, to the Oklahoma state line, where it becomes Highway 9, Higdon reported.

It was pointed out that one application for federal designation was made about two years ago, but the American Association of Highway officials turned it down because there was too much sub-standard road in Oklahoma.

Since then, there has been a considerable amount of improvement done on Highway 9 through Oklahoma and the

Against Clarendon

Rockets Return to Home Field Friday

The Skyrockets will meet the Class A Clarendon Broncos at Powell Field Friday night, Sept. 30 in what promises to be one of the better non-conference games.

Game time is 8 p.m. The Broncos have won three games and lost only one so far this year, and they are regarded by sports writers as having one of the best teams of recent seasons.

"Coach Tom Jenks doesn't have very many boys, but the ones he has are good," Coach Frank Lindsey commented. The Broncos run off the Wing T and straight T formations, somewhat like the Rockets and have developed a good passing team.

The Rockets are still nursing injuries, their coach reported. Leo Russell and Gary Holliman were injured earlier, and during the week end, Gravel Killian was kicked by a horse and is expected to be out of this game.

Club Picks Beauty Spot

The yard at the home of Mrs. Nettie Tilford, 201 East Avenue, was chosen as the second "Beauty Spot in Wellington" by the Garden Club.

Announcement of the selection was made this week by the committee composed of Mrs. Earl Epps, Mrs. A. L. Nowlin and Mrs. John Hénard. The selection was on the basis of the beauty that can be achieved with flowers and shrubs around a small home.

Mrs. Tilford, who lives alone, does all the work around her yard and home. Annuals make up most of the plantings that this summer have been so colorful.

By Mrs. Alex Coleman

He is confined to Shamrock hospital for treatment of second degree burns, and it will be some time before he is released.

However, he is doing as well as could be expected, according to his brother, Jim Ray.

James Robert Brewer, a retired farmer and county resident 54 years, died in Smith Rest Home Sept. 25 at 9:50 a.m. His death followed a long illness. He was 85 years of age.

His farm was east of Wellington in the Midway community, and he continued to operate it as long as he was able to remain active.

Through that section he was known as a good neighbor and a man who added to the substantial character of the community.

Mr. Brewer was born March 12, 1875 in Cave City, Ark., the son of James W. and Sarah Woodruff Brewer.

He was married Nov. 19, 1903, at Cave City to Miss Pearl Dickey. They continued living at Cave City until they came here. She preceded him in death Nov. 30, 1945.

Make Blocking Sled

More Team Support Urged by QB Club

Increased attendance and wholehearted support of the Skyrockets on the part of Wellington people is set as the top goal of the Quarterback Club, President Milburn Derryberry declared following the regular meeting Monday night, Sept. 26.

Support of the team is increasing but all-out backing is needed, and quarterbacks believe it will go a long way toward producing a winning Rocket team, Derryberry pointed out.

Guest speakers at the Monday night meeting were Arlen Sikes and Billy Baker of Brownwood, who told of the quarterback organization in their town, which has one of the top football teams of that part of Texas.

Four city businesses have made substantial contributions in the way of material on the blocking sled, which the Club is making for Coach Frank Lindsey. These are Crosby Blacksmith Shop, Cicero Smith Lumber Co., Robert Posey, and Herman Childress.

Funeral services were conducted at Trinity Methodist Church Friday by the Rev. C. S. Cleveland, pastor, and Gilbert Forrest, minister of First Christian Church.

Pall bearers were Clarence Richardson, Thomas Richardson, Claude Childress, Jess Wilson, Emil Kersten and Herman Childress.

Following the service here, burial services were held at Fairview Cemetery, Memphis, under the direction of Kelson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Childress was the former Sarah Frances Richardson, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Richardson. She was born August 21, 1893, in Wise County, and she grew up in that area.

She and Mr. Childress were married in Denton Aug. 5, 1910 and lived there five years until they moved here. She lived in the Swearingen and Rolla communities before coming to Wellington with her family.

Mrs. Childress became a member of the Methodist Church in 1932, and was a member of the Trinity Church here.

Surviving Mrs. Childress are her husband, of the home, and seven children: A. J. Childress and Joe J. Childress of Phillips; Roy Childress of Tulsa; Clinton Eugene Childress of Amarillo; Mrs. Opal Gipson of Borger; Mrs. Willie Mae Fielding of Corona, Calif.; and

Crackers to Play Memphis

Wellington junior high Firecrackers will meet the Memphis junior high team on Powell Field Thursday, Sept. 29, at 6:30 p.m., Coach Larvey Millis announced.

The Memphis team on the whole is larger than the Firecrackers, with a number of 130 and 140 pound youngsters and one who tips the scales at 186. It is almost altogether an 8th grade team.

"We'd like to see a lot of people out for this game," the coach declared. There will be no B team game here that night.

300 Attend Firemen's Event

Approximately 300 Wellington volunteer firemen, their families and other guests attended the annual Firemen's barbecue in Ellison park recently.

Special guests were city officials and former city officials. Approximately 275 pounds of meat was barbecued, Bura Handley, who was in charge, reported.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 p. m. and will be held in the county court room.

Information will be presented and there will be a discussion of additional state taxes, and members will have an opportunity to express themselves on the type of taxation they want their Farm bureau to support.

Other pertinent information concerning agriculture that may have a bearing on resolutions will be brought out.

Out of this meeting, the resolutions committee will formulate the resolutions to be presented and voted on at the annual meeting October 15, Burba explained.

The barbecue will precede the business meeting and will begin at 6 p. m. in the community building. All those planning to attend are urged to contact the Farm Bureau office or fill in the coupon appearing in an advertisement on another page, in order that officers may know how many to prepare for.

Farm Bureau members and their families will attend. The business session will be devoted to two points only, Burba said, election of the 1961 board of directors and voting on the resolutions.

Chain Reaction in Latin America Develops From Evils of Castro

The mischief we have allowed Castro to engender among our Latin-American neighbors grows apace and appears now to have developed into a chain reaction spreading surreptitiously across many borders. Despite the fact that Secretary of State Christian Herter tried to put on face at the meeting of foreign ministers of the Organization of American States, we lost a big opportunity to strike directly at this dictator and, instead, permitted the obloquy to be directed at one man who could have been influential in stemming this evil. Thus, instead of Castro, we damned Trujillo.

On main difficulty lies in the traditional view Latin America holds of the United States. We are the big, powerful industrial giant to the north on whom the Red-led rabble of the south has thrust the description of "imperialist." And our attitude toward the South and Central Americas and the Caribbean states has done little to counteract this low propaganda. We have continued to pour wasted foreign aid into Asia and Europe with a sort of afterthought glance at the economic ills of Latin America. The President's proposal for a $500,000,000 fund for belated attention to these countries gives promise only in its intention.

The situation has now reached the stage where we must live in a state of constant and uneasy vigilance. With Cuba as a base, Communist thugs from the Soviet and Red China are now within striking range and are reported to have set up underground apparatus in the normally peaceful and economically stable El Salvador as well as in Honduras, Guatemala and Nicaragua. Following the pattern of our own San Francisco riots against a hearing of the House committee on un-American affairs, student groups have banded together in San Salvador to harass the government while their professors egg them on protesting against "savagery by so-called security forces."

Sino-Soviet plots have been uncovered in El Salvador against the president, Lt. Col. Jose Maria Lemis, in Guatemala against President Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes and in Honduras against President Ramon Villeda Morales. In each instance, the authorities have found the instigation foreign communist and the initial distracton, the corruption of politically immature students. The question now is where will it end? And what are we to do about bringing about this end? Certainly not by imposing further economic sanctions against the anti-Communist regimes while we continue to maintain diplomatic relations with regimes antagonistic to our ideals and our welfare.

Question: Does the Catholic Church teach it is right to lie? Read for yourself!

"So that a false statement knowingly made to one who has not a right to the truth will not be a lie." (Cath. Ency., IX, 471.)

"However we are also under an obligation to keep secrets faithfully, and some times the easiest way of fulfilling that duty is to say what is false, or to tell a lie." (Cath. Ency., X, 195.)

"There is a difference between a religious and a legal oath. . . . If he pronounces a formula that expresses an oath, without the intention of swearing, then he has sworn nothing." (Explanation of Catholic Morals, 129.)

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the United Nations membership committee has signed up 14 more yawning treasuries, mostly from Africa.

My high-tension neighbor says these culture-venered gourd rattlers ought to find lots in common with the capering Messrs. Khrushchev and Castro.

But says it will just be our luck that in spite of this bud-byship, none of the new delegates will let his inherited taste for mankind run into a dinner date with the plump Mr. K. or the dark-meated Mr. C.

I note that Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy are co-starring in a new TV series, which don't look like it will be much of a threat to Gunsmoke.

My cornucopia neighbor says he hopes this does not set up a trend, on account of he prefers shows which you don't have to guess who is the villain.

Says the series ought to be a big financial success, though, because he don't see how any aspirin manufacturer's conscience can rest easy until he donates something toward getting these programs before the people.

I see where some scientists are saying if we don't get a control treaty on nuclear weapons, we will have an atomic war within 15 years.

My trustless neighbor says it comes that soon, some Americans will escape, on account of we can't get everybody moved from the country into the big bomb targets before 1975.

Says, though, any safe nuclear control system is going to be very messy, because of having to destroy the bombs on hand, and then down everybody who knows how to make more of same.

I see where a group of spokesmen for the Lord has passed down the word that it is un-Christian to vote against a man just because of his religion.

My self-guided neighbor says he has been threatened with grass in the streets, higher taxes and weaker coffee, but this is the first time he has ever been warned that he won't go to Heaven if he votes as he pleases.

Says he don't know how come religion got into this race, anyhow, on account of both candidates act like they are more interested in left-wing liberal votes than in Divine guidance.

I see where stout-hearted old Uncle Sam has bravely showed his teeth to the Dominican Republic.

Which shows that while Cuba, Russia, Panama, Egypt, etc., may push us around at will, there are still some countries puny enough they can't get away with it.

But my peevish neighbor says bigotry seems like is about the only thing that will really bring out the fight in Washington blundercrats, and of course Dominican Boss Trujillo is sort of an anti-Communist bigot.

My long-suffering neighbor notes that many politicians are extra busy this year, calling for everybody to be sure and vote.

Says it seems like any citizen interested in the welfare of the country would inform himself and so to the polls without being nagged.

But says maybe the vote-holders think anybody who needs coaxing evidently hasn't studied the issues enough to cast an intelligent vote, and they figure this will be a good thing for their candidate.

New Chevy Trucks Now On Display Here

Refinements in the highly successful chassis design introduced a year ago, further expansion of models, and styling identification changes mark the Chevrolet truck line for 1961.

"The wide acceptance of our 1960 chassis redesign, featuring independent front suspension with torsion bar springing and significant innovations in rear suspensions, confirms our conviction that truck owners approve extensive design changes which translate into economic benefits for them," James E. Conlan, assistant general sales manager for Chevrolet trucks, said.

"This highly successful design is continued in our 1961 trucks, with evolutionary refinements throughout the line to enhance the ride, handling, durability, comfort and hauling efficiency," he added.

New car features for 1961 emphasize a lower and narrower floor tunnel on most light-duty models for improved foot and leg room with the 3-speed or Powerglide transmission. New optional equipment includes a windshield wiper-washer combination with 2-speed electric wipers, and a comfort package which includes a six-inch foam rubber seat and special body insulation.

Suburban models also feature improved comfort for second and third seat passengers as a result of seat modifications giving more foot room and more third seat headroom.

Included in the 1961 line are three new 4-wheel drive models for light-duty, maximum traction application. The 127-inch wheelbase, 1/2-ton vehicles are available as cab-chassis, wide-box pickup and conventional box pickup models rated from 4900 to 5600 pounds gross vehicle weight.

All Chevrolet 4-wheel drive units for 1961 feature a new 10-inch diameter clutch, standard 3-speed transmission, and 7.10x15 tires on the 1/2-ton models. Thus equipped, they meet the majority of light-duty, maximum traction requirements.

Higher net engine power, fast warmup, and increased economy result from a new, optional temperature-controlled hydraulic fan drive for light-duty models with the V8 engine. The fan is disengaged unless it is actually required by radiator air temperature.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rainey returned Friday from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., after a visit there with their son, Mike. They attended his graduation from basic Thursday morning, and he has been transferred to Fort Jackson, S. C.

1961 CHEVROLET TRUCKS

Continuation of the highly successful suspension system introduced last year, moderate front style changes, and refinements in chassis and cabs mark the 1961 Chevrolet truck line. Proved by one full year of customer use, the suspension features independent front springing with torsion bars and rear coil or variable rate springs. Cab improvements include a smaller floor tunnel in some models for increased leg and foot room, and an optional six-inch thick foam rubber seat.

By Eli Wolf

Again Coach Harvey Millsap turned his 39 Firecrackers loose on the field of play, only to have them rather painfully scratched by the Childress Kittens, 48 to 14.

All of the boys on the three teams had a change to play ball and the Childress coach likewise sent all of his boys in at various stages of the game.

Officials for the game were Dick Pendleton, referee, Harry McEwen, umpire and Bill Lackey, head linesman.

Substitutions were made rather freely among the three Wellington teams, both on offense and defense.

There were some fine, effective plays. One was a long run for a touchdown by Bobby Hudson, only to have it nullified by a clipping penalty.

Quarterback Mike Wolf sent his first string into a series of plays that netted the Firecrackers two touchdowns, both of them on fine runs by Bobby Hudson.

While the score was a bit one-sided in favor of Childress, it was gratifying to watch the little second and third string players getting their feet wet, many for the first time. Coach Millsap has indicated that, although he will continue to run all of his boys to some extent, more emphasis will be placed on winning the game than before. This, in itself, has a tendency to make the players sharper in both practice and play.

Starting in the lineup for the Crackers were backs Bruton, Stall, Spillman, Holtzclaw, Hudson and Wolf. Linemen were Rudy, Poteet, Bawcom, Wolf, Moore, Carter, Fires, Estes and Duncan.

The Crackers will entertain the Clarendon Ponies at Powell Field, Thursday, Sept. 29, at 6:30 p.m. A crowd is expected.

With three exceptions, every boy on the Firecrackers team saw action, Coach Harvey Millsap said. Newcomer Calvin West, a guard, will be ready to go this week. Chester McLain is recovering from an appendectomy and Phillip Hughey has a leg injury.

Playing Thursday were Leamon Bawcom, Stanley Bratten, Ike Bruton, Mike Carter, Scooter Cason, Skippy Duncan (captain), Jackie Duncan, Mark Fires, Ray Floyd, Lanny Ford, Ronny Gray, Dennis Holley, Raymond Horton, Larry Henard, Bobby Holtzclaw, Sammy Hollingsworth, Bobby Hudson, Mike Hughs, Gary Judd, Dickey Lindsey, Johnny Maxwell,

Pat Glenn and Herchel Holman are managers.

Rocket B Team Comes Alive Against B Cats

By Eli Wolf

With some of the best leather slapping of the 1960 football season in evidence, the fans were treated to good line work and consistent backfield maneuvering as the Skyrockets B team held off the Childress Bobcats B team 6 to 6.

Wellington had been in the lead all the way until, on a fourth down punt, the ball was centered over the punter's head and into the end zone, where it was recovered by Childress for their only touchdown.

Craig Bergvall handled the quarterback slot like a veteran, faking, passing and running and sending his backfield through one hole after another. Most of the backfield work was turned in by Underwood, Lowe and Thomas.

Lynn McClain is also working in the quarterback position. Linemen were Rainey, Wood, Brown, Duncan, Sanders, Winton, Dan Henard, Wells, Flint, Ketchum, Duckworth, Joe Henard, Hatch and Tyson.

Coach Clements takes his Rockets to Canadian on Thursday, Sept. 29, to test the Wildcats in a game that was postponed earlier. A number of fans are expected to make the trip to watch these boys perform.

HERE! '61 CHEVY TRUCKS

WITH WORK-PROVED
INDEPENDENT FRONT SUSPENSION!

Chevy's '61 fleet swings in with a ready-made reputation as the trucks that are worth more because they work more... the latest editions of the haulers that scrapped the I-beam axle and proved the important advantages of independent front suspension!

You'll find new models for '61—long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive units—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on owner reports) that Chevy's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel fight and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Check the latest specs with your Chevrolet dealer: capacity, power teams, options. Then, by all means, drive a '61. Once around the block and you'll never be satisfied with a front axle truck again!

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

Scenic Tour Takes Travelers Through Seven Countries

(Editor's Note: Following is the account by Mrs. Irvin West of San Antonio, the former Bessie Jean Wiklis, of her tour through seven countries of Continental Europe in July. She returned recently after she and a cousin, Mrs. Chester Brantley of Vernon, spent the summer with the latter's daughter in England. Mrs. West was here during the last week visiting her sisters and brother, Miss Bonnie Willis, Mack Willis, and Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells and Henry.

I left London Saturday, July 9 for a fifteen day tour. Twenty-four people were on the bus including 3 from Scotland, one from Australia, 2 Americans and 18 from England. The bus driver is from Amsterdam, Holland and the Courier is from Switzerland.

The country side is pretty on the way to Dover. The flowers and trees are beautiful due to the deep, rich colors. England has rain almost every day and the temperature is usually around 70 to 75. Eighty is very hot. Many small villages are between London and Dover. They have fruit trees—cherry, pear and apples. The farms have wheat, oats and potatoes.

The town of Dover is quite striking looking. It is built in a valley and houses have been built on the sides of the hills. The white cliffs are a wonderful sight. The boat trip from Dover to Ostend, Belgium, takes about three hours. The English Channel (Strait of Dover), was calm. The boat was crowded. A Holland bus was waiting at Ostend. The World Fair Grounds could be seen at a distance in Brussels. It rained most of the way from Brussels to Maastricht, Holland, where we spent the night. The shops in Maastricht had some of the best looking things that were seen. They were closed at night. (In Italy the shops were open at night).

The small part of Holland seen is similar to Belgium. Part of the country we saw produces 99% of the sugar used in Belgium. Field after field has sugar beets growing. Cherries, grapes, apples and pears seem to be the main fruits. The farmers have tomatoes and English peas growing in green houses. I have seen more wind mills in England than Holland.

We entered Germany at Aachen. Cologne had 100,000 population before the war and has 600,000 now. The oldest newspaper in Germany is in Cologne. The Gothic Cathedral was started in 1200 and workers are adding to it. It was badly damaged during the war, however, it has been rebuilt the same way. The Rhine valley is beautiful. The industrial part of Germany along the Rhine is interesting. Many boats were hauling coal. Their main industries are iron, coal and steel. Germany produces the best engineers of any country (we were told by the Courier). The town of Karlsruhe has a fountain, with smaller fountains nearby, that is very colorful at night. The palace is huge. Walked around the town at night.

The drive along the Autobahns was nice. The Autobahn is similar to the expressway or freeways in Texas.

A short tour was made in Munich by bus. Saw all the government buildings, palaces, a number of Cathedrals, libraries, museums and parks. Munich is the Bavarian Capital and was founded by the Monks in the Middle Ages. The architecture on the buildings is wonderful. It is amazing to think how long these structures have stood. The guides seldom mention the buildings that were damaged during the war. Tops of many structures have been replaced.

Salzburg is one of the outstanding Austrian cities for music. Many musicals are presented during the summer. The traditional Salzburg folk dances are marvelous—five of us went to see this. They held our attention for two hours.

On the afternoon tour of Salzburg many interesting places were seen. The Mirabell gardens are very pretty—the building is used for a library. St. Peter's Cathedral is a marvelous structure. Mozart was born in Salzburg and his home is seen by all tourists. The Palace we went to is fabulous. The rooms are moderately decorated and the furniture is beautiful. The yard is quite unusual. Long ago wine was served at the pool. The place from which the wine was served had small water connections around. When people were served too much wine the water was turned on and they could not get more wine. All through the garden they had these connections and would turn it on for the tourists. It was a cold day and wasn't much fun after being sprinkled once!

The lake at St. Wolfgang is beautiful. The water is a perfect blue-green. When the sun shines on the water it changes color. We stopped for tea on the lake and the fellow from Scotland fell in the dirty part of the lake near the shore. He was taking a picture of the lake and backed into this small area by the dock. The bus had to wait about twenty minutes for him to bathe and change clothes. He laughed about it. He had to buy a new camera! St. Wolfgang is the setting for the famous "White Horse Inn" operetta.

Two enjoyable days were spent in Vienna. It would be wonderful to see an opera in the Opera House. The opera season opens in September. Three stages are behind the curtains. These are on rollers and can be lifted in place for each scene. The elevator lifts forty tons. The chandelier in the auditorium is made of jewels and is magnificent. The auditorium is very, very pretty.

The part of the Danube seen certainly did not go with all the descriptions I had read. It is not blue and is quite dirty.

Saw the Parliament buildings, statue of Mozart, the palace, the riding stables, churches, Cathedrals, Grinzing Gardens, and the beautiful water fountain at night. Went to Prater Park for a ride on the giant wheel. Actually a child would prefer the small ferris wheel. Vienna can be seen from the top of the wheel. We went out to the edge of town and up 1400 feet to see Vienna at night. We went to Stadtpark one night for a concert. Thoroughly enjoyed the music.

The Schonbrunn Castle is huge. Hundreds of rooms. The rooms have fabulous decorations. It has a number of Chinese rooms. One of the rooms had been decorated with china strips on the wall. These had been removed and had used a more substantial material for the replacement. The gardens were very pretty. The flowers are usually in large groups.

The lower part of Austria is covered with vineyards. The Germans and Austrians do not have waste land. They plant their crops on the mountains. In some places they use terraces. The countries on the continent do not have sign boards to ruin the view of the scenery.

We arrived in Villach late. It rained and we did not see anything that night. After leaving Villach we drove along the Dran River. It is winding and has so many pretty villages nearby. The Carnic Alps and the Karawankes make the drive seem like a movie. The Dolomites in Italy are a wonderful sight to behold. I saw snow on some of the mountains. We saw the ski-lifts at Bolzano that are used in the winter.

In Trento, Italy, we took a lift across the Adige River to a restaurant. The town could be seen from 700 feet at this place. All the Cathedrals and churches are closed in Italy at night. In Trento we ate dinner and breakfast in the patio back of the hotel.

Riva, on Lake Garda, is picturesque. Oranges and lemons are grown in this area. After leaving Riva we passed through 46 tunnels. Due to the mountains they have many tunnels. We drove along the lake to Brescia. Lake Garda is the largest lake in Italy. Saw many motorboats and sight-seeing boats.

We stopped at Como, on

TEMPLE OF THE GODS—This architectural masterpiece of an ancient culture is the 1,000-year-old Tajin Temple, mighty remnant of Mexico's Totonac civilization. Excavated and restored, the towering stone temple is located near Papantla on Mexico's east coast. The temple was the site of the Voladore Rain Dance, an ancient Totonac religious ceremony appealing to the gods for rain.

Lake Como, for tea. (I learned to enjoy tea for breakfast—their coffee is almost impossible). Como is one of the largest places on the lake. The ride from Como to Cadenabbia is along the lake. The road is narrow and winding. In places the cars or bus would have to back in order to let each other by. Villages are all along the way. The shops and houses are almost in the street. Cadenabbia is a summer resort. Several villages are across the way. The Villa Carlotta has a beautiful garden. Part of it is tropical. It was the first time some of the people had seen banana plants.

Soon after leaving Cadenabbia we were in Switzerland. The mountains, lakes and streams of water down the sides of the mountains (from snow melting on top of the mountains) is a wonderful sight. The above mingled with so many different shades of green (trees, grass, and shrubs) is so pretty. Mac, Deskins, and Henry would enjoy a look from the mountains into the beautiful Levantina Valley. It is absolutely magnificent. All the plots in the valley had grain and other crops growing. Before coming to the valley we were through one pass and crossed the top of the other. We went by train through the St. Gotthard Pass (over 6,000 feet). The bus was on a flat car behind the train. We saw much snow below when we were near the tops of Susten Pass. On top of Susten (7,000 feet) snow was on the roadside. We could not see below due to a heavy fog. We stopped at Berne, Switzerland, for a short time. It is the capital of Switzerland. We drove to Biel for the night. It rained while we were there. Part of the next morning was spent in Basle. It is on the Rhine river. It is a shipping area, too. It has many castles and Cathedrals. Basle is quite famous for the murals in the city hall. In France we were in the Voges Mountain area. We saw the monument and cemetery for the American soldiers, and others near Epinal. The monument has the names of the divisions that fought during that time. Must be several thousand buried there.

France, to Brussels, Belgium, was very nice. The roads have trees planted by the side, other places are dark wooded spots. Saw some of the tallest trees I have ever seen — tall and straight with leaves near the top.

I could have stayed in Brussels longer. We took a night tour. The buildings in the city square at night were magnificent. The gold (pure gold) on the buildings shine at night. Each figure on the buildings represented someone. We saw the Palace, the libraries, visited a lace factory and drove around the world fair grounds. We drove back to Ostend, crossed the channel and arrived in London about eleven o'clock on July 23.

The Bavarian Alps in Austria are as pretty as the Alps in Switzerland.

Louise said before I left that traveling is educational. Some of the experiences on this trip may not be as educational as some of the things seen but they have been very interesting.

Friendship and Business

Buy at home ...
where friendship is more than frogskin deep

IT'S no strain for any business man ... city or home town ... to be friendly when he sees you coming with money in your pocket.

Some of us ... a little cynical, perhaps, about the way we're often greeted with a synthetic and profit-prompted friendliness when we act like a customer in some strange store ... may conclude that business and real friendship will never mix.

But they will ... and they do ... every day, in thousands of small towns like ours.

Knowing each other outside our places of business, working together for community improvement, in churches, schools, and other groups, sharing the load of civic tasks, helping each other in time of trouble ... makes it inevitable that each of us can better and more understandingly serve the other in business.

Jo Ann Langford Weds Gene Large in California Ceremony

Jo Ann Langford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Langford of Cactus, formerly of Wellington, and Gene Large, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Large of Dalhart, were married in Salinas, Calif., Saturday, August 27.

The impressive ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Monigold, cousins of the bridegroom. Rev. Arthur Watson, pastor of the First Christian Church in Salinas, officiated for the single ring ceremony at 7:00 p.m.

Miss Joyce Thurlow of Salinas was maid of honor and Fountain Thurlow, Salinas, was best man.

For the ceremony the bride wore a sheath dress of white linen with red accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible, a gift from the groom's cousin.

A reception followed the exchange of vows. Mrs. Wilbur Monigold poured and Mrs. Milam Thurlow served the white, five-tiered wedding cake.

Later the young couple left on a wedding trip to San Juan Banista and other points in California.

The bride was graduated from Wellington high school with the Class of '59 and since that time has made her home in Dalhart with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tow. She has been employed by the Dalhart Clinic as receptionist and will continue her work in Dalhart while her husband completes his duty with the US Navy.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

LOOKING AHEAD No Substitute for Victory

Senator Barry Goldwater recently startled some of his political colleagues in Washington with a recommendation that diplomatic recognition of Soviet Russia be withdrawn. After you have read Senator Goldwater's book, "The Conscience of a Conservative," the consistency of his recommendation is apparent. In his book he suggests that Americans place their foreign policy and their domestic government operation on the sound foundation of moral law and common sense.

He considers world Communism to be an evil force, our enemy in a "cold war" that we are losing. On the open record of history, he considers the Communist leaders to be guilty of towering crimes against mankind. And he notes that the record of history shows you cannot do business with them without terrible injury. He declares that in our government's present drive for "peace" our people and our governmental leaders must be made to realize that peace "in which freedom and justice will prevail . . . is a peace in which Soviet power will no longer threaten us and the rest of the world."

A Must Goal

"A tolerable peace, in other words," he says, "must follow victory over Communism. We have been 14 years trying to bury that unpleasant fact. It cannot be buried and any foreign policy that ignores it will lead to our extinction as a nation."

The temptation is strong, Senator Goldwater says, "to blame the deterioration of America's fortunes on the Soviet Union's acquisition of nuclear weapons. But this is self-delusion. The rot had set in, the crumbling of our position was already observable, long before the Communists detonated their first Atom Bomb. Even in the early 1950s when America still held unquestioned nuclear superiority, it was clear we were losing the Cold War. And in the succeeding years, that trend because its cause remains, has continued."

Who Wants to Win

The real cause of our continuing defeat in the Cold War can be simply stated, Senator Goldwater says: "Our enemies have understood the nature of the conflict, and we have not. They are determined to win the conflict, and we are not. . . . We have tried to pacify the world. The Communists mean to own it."

He urges that our nation take the offensive—and go on for victory. As guideposts in such an offensive, he suggests:

Guideposts

"1. The key guidepost is the Objective, and we must never lose sight of it. It is not to wage a struggle against Communism, but to win it.

"2. Our strategy must be primarily offensive in nature.

"3. We must strive to achieve and maintain military superiority.

"4. We must make America economically strong.

"5. In all of our dealings with foreign nations, we must behave like a great power; our national posture must reflect strength and confidence and purpose, as well as good will.

"6. We should adopt a discriminating foreign aid policy; American aid should only be furnished to friendly, anti-Communist nations that are willing to join with us in the struggle for freedom; and our aid should be loans, not gifts.

"7. We should encourage the captive people to revolt against their Communist rulers—establishing close liaison with underground leaders behind the Iron Curtain, furnishing them with printing presses, radios, weapons, instructors, the paraphernalia of a full-fledged resistance.

"8. We should encourage friendly people that have the means and desire to do so to undertake offensive operations for the recovery of their home lands.

"9. We must—ourselves—be prepared to undertake military operations, against vulnerable Communist regimes."

Wages Determine Social Security of Farm Workers

The social security benefits payable to a farm worker and his family in the future depend upon the amount of wages credited each year to the worker's personal social security account, according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo social security office.

It is the farm employer's responsibility to file a social security report of the wages of any worker who is paid $150 or more cash in a year, or who worked for him 20 days or more during the year on a time basis. But it is up to the farm worker to see that his wages are being reported properly.

One way a farm worker can be certain his social security account is growing year by year is by making sure his employer has his correct social security number. He should also get in touch with the nearest social security office once a year in order to check the amount of wages being credited to his social security record.

Geldon stated that if a worker has never had a social security number, or has lost it, he may get a new number or a duplicate of his old social security card by filling out an application at the nearest post office or social security office. If a woman worker has changed her name through marriage since she got her social security card, she should apply for a duplicate card showing her married name.

Expansion of Junior Colleges Due in Country

AUSTIN. — Junior colleges may become "the next great philosophic and practical area of educational experiment" in the U. S., Dr. Harry H. Ransom of the University of Texas suggests in the new Texas Quarterly.

Dr. Ransom sees a possibility that junior colleges may expand, not only in numbers of students, but in their scope of teaching. Now limited to the 13th and 14th years of the formal education process, they might take in highly-capable 12th-year students (high school seniors) and extend curricula to the 15th year—now the third year of college training.

Dr. Ransom calls the junior college years the "buffer period" between high school experience and advanced college or university work.

"Can such a college, dedicated to effective teaching, revolutionize our educational calendar, producing a program for what is now the 12th year of schooling designed for the ablest students?" he asks.

"Can it also extend its work to what is now the third year of college training (a point after which many graduate and professional programs are now

W. Scott, Et Al, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: This is a Trespass to try Title suit; Plaintiffs claim 3, 5, 10 & 25 year Statutes of limitations on the following land and premises: "All of Lot Nos. beginning)?"

If "yes" is the answer to both those questions, a new kind of four-year college may develop in the future.

Dr. Ransom says a new college in a Western state is planning to accommodate by 1980 a total of 40,000 students—"more students than were attending the largest complex university in the U.S. 20 years ago."

"The question here as to whether a junior college looking forward to such growth can expand laterally along two years of freshman and sophomore education, or whether it should change direction and thrust through four or five more years of college-university education is of some importance," Dr. Ransom points out. The question concerns not only college planners, but also taxpayers, business and industry, professions "relying on students trained in such newly devised institutions" and graduate schools preparing college teachers, he notes.

"Of educational needs, the greatest is for a sufficient number of well-educated college teachers," Dr. Ransom emphasizes. "At present, a mushroom college may conceivably have no trouble getting lands and buildings. By endowment or taxes, it may drum up a budget adequate to its needs.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER Thursday, September 29, 1960

But locating and employing the required number of effective teachers is another matter. Without those teachers, plant and budget will be a mockery."

Dr. Ransom is president-elect of the Main University and editor of the Texas Quarterly.

You Hear Strange Things About Catholics

Yes, you can hear some strange things about Catholics.

You'll hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for Hell . . . that they believe non-Catholic marriages are invalid.

Some think Catholics believe the Pope is God . . . that he can do no wrong . . . that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America. It is said that Catholics, ly for themselves . . . that they oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which should be destroyed.

The claim is made that Catholics pay the priest for forgiveness of their sins . . . that they must buy their departed relatives and friends out of Purgatory . . . that they adore statues . . . are forbidden to read the Bible . . . use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against loss of a job, lightning, or being hit by an automobile.

But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil.

If all these things — or any of them — were true, it would be a pity. For at least one out of four Americans is a Catholic—and it would be a national tragedy if one-fourth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas.

The Knights of Columbus is an organization of 1,000,000 Catholic men of reason and intelligence. In our ranks will be found statesmen, scientists, historians, physicians, movie stars, lawyers, educators, and others representing every cross-section of American life. And for each and all of them loyalty to the Catholic Faith is the act of a reasonable man.

We are deeply interested in the welfare of our Church and our Country. And we believe the interests of both will be served best when fair-minded people know the Catholic Church as it is—not as it is sometimes mistaken to be.

FREE—If you have heard and believed any of these false claims, and want the truth, we will gladly send you a free pamphlet on the Catholic religion.

New Fords Show at Dealers Thursday

The 1961 Ford features crisp new styling, new dimensions for greater maneuverability, and major engineering improvements, such as 30,000-mile lubrication, that will result in lower maintenance costs and more carefree operation.

James O. Wright, Ford Motor Co., vice president and Ford Division general manager, said the new Ford, nearly four inches shorter and two inches narrower than in 1960, will offer a "completely new fresh appearance in the classic Ford tradition of straight-line design."

Mr. Wright said engineering and design improvements in the 1961 Ford make it "a car that virtually takes care of itself." Improvements include:

A new grease and lubrication system that extends the normal chassis lubrication interval to 30,000 miles.

New, heavier brakes that adjust themselves.

Specially processed underbody parts, including galvanized body panels below the doors, that resist rust and corrosion.

Aluminized mufflers that are double-wrapped for three times normal life.

A 250 per cent increase in the thickness of anodizing on aluminum surfaces for brighter, longer-lasting grille, headlamp and tail lamp trim.

The new Ford line, to be introduced by Ford dealers on Sept. 29, consists of 16 models in four series—Fairlane, Fairlane 500, Galaxie and Victoria (2-door hardtop) and a six-passenger Country Squire station wagon.

All six station wagon models from the two-door Ranch Wagon to the nine-passenger four-door Country Squire with simulated wood paneling, have a new roll-down rear window on the tailgate. The tailgate itself is seven inches wider than in 1960.

The front-facing third seat in nine-passenger station wagons has been improved and, when not in use, folds quickly into the floor.

Ford introduces a new 390-cubic inch Thunderbird Special V-8 engine in 1961 that is designed for effortless performance. The Thunderbird 352 Special and the Thunderbird 292 V-8's, as well as the Mileage Maker Six, all are designed to deliver greater economy on regular grade fuels.

Ford has improved all four transmissions for 1961—the manual, overdrive, two-speed Fordomatic and dual-range Cruise-O-Matic. The Cruise-O-Matic transmission is equipped with a new vacuum control throttle valve linkage which provides smoother, more precise shifting than before, and the elimination of periodic adjustment.

The new Fords are nearly four inches shorter and two inches narrower for greater maneuverability, and introduce 30,000-mile lubrication. Other engineering features include self-adjusting brakes, double-wrapped aluminized muffler, longer-lasting bright trim and underbody parts, and a 4,000 mile oil change interval. A new optional 390-cubic-inch high performance engine also is available.

NFLA Holds Annual Meet

Members of the Federal Land Bank Association of Shamrock which serves Wheeler and Collingsworth counties, held their annual meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

The meeting was well attended. Tom Cunningham of the Samnorwood community and C. F. Waters of Wheeler were re-elected to serve as directors for three year terms.

Reports on the business of furnishing agricultural credit to farmers and ranchers were given by J. C. Emmert, president of the association, and by Rayburn L. Smith, local manager.

The audience was entertained by Mrs. R. W. Hester of Fort Worth, who gave a humorous skit which all enjoyed.

Officers for the ensuing year are J. C. Emmert, president; Robert Terry, vice president; Woodrow Wood, H. J. Finsterwald, C. F. Waters, Tom R. Cunningham, directors; and Rayburn L. Smith, manager; Mrs. Rosalie Seeds, office assistant.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Goodnight and their son-in-law, Vince Thompson, visited recently with Mr. Goodnight's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rankin. Thompson formerly was linotype operator for The Wellington Leader.

Announcing the 1961 Ford...
Beautifully proportioned to the
CLASSIC
FORD LOOK

The 1961 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria—beautifully built to take care of people

An honor to be proud of, this is the medal presented by the international fashion authority, Centro per L'Alta Moda Italiana, to the 1961 Ford for functional expression of classic beauty.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you... and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. It cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford... beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look... beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford

mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Former Area Woman Writes Children's Book

An autograph party for Ella Mae (Mrs. George W.) Charlton, whose second juvenile fiction book, "Landi of Terrebonne Bayou," is just off the Broadman Press, was held the latter part of August in Shreveport, La.

The author, whose parents were Mr. and Mrs. Sid Clark, prominent pioneer ranchers in this southwestern area, was reared on the Clark ranch six miles west of Hollis. She is the sister of Mrs. W. D. Ewing and Granville Clark.

Hosting the autograph party were members of the Shreveport Writers Club and Chapter R of PEO.

A graduate of Kidd-Key College, Ella Mae also studied at the University of Oklahoma.

Her first book, "A Gift of Turtles," was published by Friendship Press in the spring of 1959 and also had its setting in South Louisiana. She has also written numerous articles and stories for various church, school and religious magazines, as well as newspaper feature articles and other magazine articles.

She has contributed to the "Louisiana Methodist," "Christian Herald," "Christian Home," "Child Guidance" and many others.

At present, Mrs. Charlton is serving as religious educational assistant at Noel Memorial Methodist Church where she is also superintendent of the adult division of the Noel church. She has also taught a number of adult Sunday School classes.

"Landi of Terrebonne Bayou" is a story of the descendants of the once brave tribe of Houma Indians, who still dwell within the borders of the state in Terrebonne and Lafourche Parishes.

Setting of the story is in Terrebonne Bayou not far from the Isle A'Jean Charles, the original settlement of Jean Charles Naquin, a Frenchman whose family intermarried with the Houma Indians.

Heroine of the story is 12-year-old Landi, who dreams of becoming a teacher. The poverty of her family, her father's occupation and her own personal fears are only a few of the many obstacles she has to overcome before her dream can come true.

Traditions and customs both past and present of the Indians and fascinating facts about the life of these people are cleverly interwoven into the plot.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlton live at 820 Wilkerson street, in Shreveport, and are the parents of three daughters and have two grandsons.

PORTALES. — Jim "Tank" Forrester, burly Eastern New Mexico middle guard, is the "Hound of the Week" following his performance in the Eastern loss to Sul Ross in Portales Friday night.

Forrester recovered two fumbles, one of which set up Eastern's only score in the first period, and led all defensive players in tackles with six. He also had four assists.

The 199-pound sophomore from Wellington led the Hound defensive forward wall which limited Sul Ross to 15 yards rushing in the second half after the Lobos had managed a 13-7 halftime lead. The Texans did score in the third period with a 68-yard pass and run play for a 20-7 victory, their second in as many games.

Eastern travels to Topeka, Kan., next week to meet Washburn-University on Friday night.

Highway Patrol Lists Two Rural August Wrecks

The highway patrol investigated two rural accidents in Collingsworth county during the month of August, according to Sergeant D. R. Dowdy, patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for 7 persons injured and a property damage of $1,960.00 but no deaths.

This brings the total for the year in this county to one person killed, 16 injured, and property damage of $6,907.00.

Prior to the first of this month there had been a total of 1,088 fatal accidents in Texas this year. These tragedies resulted in 1,342 persons losing their lives.

The back to school bell has already sounded for Texas school children. They will be using our highways and streets to and from school. Motorists should drive with more caution and care than ever before.

Sergeant Dowdy pointed out that at the present rate of traffic fatalities, half of the elementary school children in Texas will be involved in a motor vehicle accident before they reach the age of 21.

Fifteen persons were killed and 240 injured in rural traffic accidents involving school buses in Texas during 1959.

State laws regulating traffic in regard to school buses read as follows: "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding ten miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

The sergeant stated "the driver of the passing vehicle is responsible for taking the due caution. He is responsible for knowing that his proceeding past the bus will not result in endangering any lives." Remember, no one has a child to spare.

Cotton Market News Reports Now Available

COLLEGE STATION. — Four cotton market news reports of interest to farmers and the cotton trade are available from the Agricultural Marketing Service, according to John L. McCollum, manager, Southwest Area, Cotton Division, Dallas.

These reports are designed to keep all interests abreast of cotton and cottonseed developments during the market season. They include, The Cottonseed Review, The Cotton Quality Report, The Cotton Classing Report, and the Weekly Cotton Market Review.

The Cottonseed Review, released weekly during the active ginning season, covers the movement of cottonseed, changes in price and quality, and harvesting conditions. Information in this report is limited to areas where cottonseed is officially graded.

The Cotton Quality Report, a monthly release, shows the percentage distribution by districts of the grades and staples of cotton ginned during the month, cumulative for the season and year ago comparisons.

The Cotton Classing Report, released each Monday during the harvesting season, shows the grade, grade index, staple length and the number of samples classed under the Smith-Doxey Act by various classing offices.

The Weekly Cotton Market Review, the only report issued throughout the year, reports market conditions with respect to demand, prices, inquiries, offerings, domestic and export sales, crop developments, harvesting conditions and other pertinent or seasonal information.

These reports are mailed free upon request. Farmers and others in Texas and Oklahoma should address inquiries to: Cotton Division, AMS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 404, 708 Jackson St., Dallas.

Big Top Roller Rink Opens on Highway 83

Hill's Big Top Roller Rink, owned by Bill and Betty Hill, is now operating in Wellington on Highway 83 just north of the Dairy Mart. The rink, which is 5,000 square feet in size, is one of the largest in this part of the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill are experienced rink operators as well as skillful skaters, having been in the business for a number of years. In announcing the opening, Mr. Hill said: "Roller skating is wholesome fun and exercise and you can depend on this rink being conducted in an orderly manner at all times. We have a number of rules that we ask our patrons to observe for their own pleasure and safety and three of these will be rigidly enforced. These are: no racing, no horseplay, and no drinking."

He also said that reservations for parties may be made in advance.

Dairy Farmer Warned of Mastitis Buys

COLLEGE STATION.—The more dairy cows you buy, the more chances you have for buying mastitis. A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman says there is always a greater disease risk with purchased animals than with ones you raise yourself.

After thinking about this, you may ask why purchased animals are likely to have mastitis. The answer: "Every purchased animal undergoes a drastic environmental change." Like all other animals, dairy cows react differently to stress. In dairy cows, stress is usually greatest in heavy springers, fresh cows and cows in heavy production, and most replacements are in one or the other of these stages when purchased. Due to this heavy stress, the animal's resistance to mastitis and other diseases is lowered, Meekma explains.

Most of your new cows will be trucked. This not only causes excitement, it increases the chances of mechanical injury to the udder. Even after the cows get home, they will be subjected to abuse by other members of the herd.

Here are a few tips to help prevent the purchase of mastitis and other diseases. Meekma points out that the cost of these practices, when compared to the cost of a replacement cow, is very small.

1. Have every animal checked by your veterinarian before you make the purchase.
2. Beware of the seller who is unwilling to have his animals examined.
3. Look for outward signs of trouble such as abnormal milk, the unbalanced or swollen udder, or the broken-away pendulous udder.
4. Be extra careful when you load, haul and unload any dairy animal.
5. Isolate the animal for a week or longer before adding her to the herd.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

Rogers Praised??
The Washington Post, a few days ago, carried headlines that read as follows: "DEATH OF BILL CREATING CANAL PARK LAID LARGELY TO TEXAS CONGRESSMAN." The story began as follows:

"When the token bill creating a park along the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal died last week, for the second time in as many Congresses, it was largely the work of one man, Rep. Walter Rogers, a Democrat who represents the Texas Panhandle."

The entire story was an excellent example of journalistic adeptness. It did not directly praise me for the great service which it indicated I had rendered, but did it in a subtle indirect manner. This indirect approach was probably due to the fact that the Washington Post is not notorious for praising members of Congress who refuse to underwrite every possible expenditure for the District of Columbia and its environs.

However, the reader, by reading between the lines, could tell that the Post was very grateful for the services of this Texas Congressman. For instance, it pointed out that the Senate had passed the Bill and that all of the leaders of the House were for it. "But Rogers twice prevented the bill from coming out of the Interior Committee and onto the House floor, where it almost certainly would have passed."

I submit that this must be recognized as praise, because it attributes to me power that many would desire (perhaps the Washington Post) but that no one actually possesses. Another splendid bit of finesse was exhibited in the paragraph which read as follows:

"Rogers was reminded the bill would not cost the Federal Government anything. All it did was allow the National Park Service to accept gifts of land and money for the park. (The original bill, calling for $12 million worth of highways and land purchases, was killed by the House.)"

You see, the Post wanted the readers to know that Rogers was aware of a practice that has been going on up here for some time. This practice consists of asking for everything you hope to get. If that fails, then you are supposed to come back and ask for just a little bit in the nature of an authorization. If this second attempt is successful, then you can come back to the next Congress or the next and say, "Mr. Congress, you authorized this project and placed your stamp of approval on it, so it is your moral responsibility to provide the funds that should have been provided in the first place."

The reference to the $12 million (which, incidentally, would only be the beginning) was undoubtedly due to the desire of the Post to be fair, plus the fact that the Post would not want anyone to think that it did not know what was going on.

The Post was also good enough to quote me as follows: "Proximity to the Federal Treasury shouldn't be the basis for handing out appropriations."

It also pointed out the $300,000 that was spent in the restoration of the Old Stone House in Georgetown against my vigorous opposition. Too bad I didn't have the power at that time which the Post credits me with now.

The Post also was most generous in reporting on the incident I told them about when the six soldiers held off some Indians at the Battle of Buffalo Wallow in Hemphill county, for which each of the soldiers received the Congressional Medal of Honor. One of the soldiers was killed and had to be decorated posthumously. The generosity of the Post came in the number of tribes held off. I told them that there were 4, but they graciously increased this to half a dozen which, of course, made the odds much greater against the six soldiers.

However, I am afraid some of the readers did not get the indirect praise that was obviously intended by the article. One particular letter which I received from a Washingtonian (a native, I suppose) referred to me in some rather uncomplimentary terms, indicating that I had not only injured the country but that I was failing to realize that the Capital of the U.S.A. is Washington, not Austin. He didn't advise me how he had made this discovery.

For fear that a few others might mistake the article as one of condemnation rather than praise, I felt that I should arm myself with some statistics to support my contention that the District of Columbia and its environs were receiving preferred treatment in federal expenditures.

Hence, I picked up the interesting information that public building construction underway during the fiscal year 1960 in the District of Columbia and nearby areas (exclusive of municipal construction by the District of Columbia and military construction) involved a total estimated cost of $189,682,900.

This included a Federal Office Building at a cost of $14 million, a National Library of Medicine at a cost of $7,300,000; a Museum of History and Technology at a cost of $36 million; a State Department Extension and Remodeling program costing $52,220,000; and the new headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency costing $54,500,000 — plus a number of lesser items. Another item expected to be completed in 1962 is Dulles International Airport costing $84 million.

You, of course, understand that the above figures do not represent all of the Federal money spent in the District of Columbia and the nearby areas by a long measure.

For instance, there are several bridges across the Potomac under way at the present time that will involve substantial expenditures out of the Federal treasury. There are many other items which could be included. Some time ago I asked a native Washingtonian why it was that so many people around here consistently condemned the Federal expenditures and Federal interference in local governments, yet never failed to run to the Federal treasury for every conceivable kind of project or program. His reply was, "I guess it's because it's so convenient."

Buccaneers Outslide Rockets 32 to 0

By Eli Wolf

The opening kickoff was the signal for rain to start Friday night as the Wellington Sky-rockets met the Lefors Pirates at Shaw Field in Lefors.

The first quarter saw no scoring as both teams battled to a standoff. In the second quarter, Bill Jernigan, alternating on halfback and end positions, took a pass from Mickey Archer and went 41 yards for the first Pirate tally. Scott Dunman, Pirate halfback, turned in the next two touchdowns runs, one a 61 yard scamper on a pass from James Blair and the next on a lateral pass from Jernigan for 5 yards.

Ronny Line made the final touchdown for Lefors on a 35 yard run after stealing the ball from the Rocket fullback.

Once again the Rockets have seen their line fail to hold on offense or to sift through on defense. While some of the boys have shown marked improvement since the season began, the team as a unit has failed to show the spirit and coordination necessary to win ball games.

However it is thought that with the Junior linesmen getting more experience and with Craig Bergvall beginning to alternate with Mauldin in the quarterback slot, the Rockets will steadily improve, under competitive pressure, if for no other reason.

The Rockets will entertain the Clarendon Broncos here on Friday night. Neither weather nor a losing ball club dampens the spirits of the Wellington fans, as there appeared to be more Rocket boosters at Lefors than the hometown crowd.

The steady rain forced most of the fans into their cars and the field itself was almost under water. After a few minutes of play, numbers were hardly visible on the players. The program had many of the fans confused, listing Cleveland as number 54, instead of Bergvall, who was not listed at all. Cleveland's regular number is 55.

Perhaps the most improved players to see action on the first string were Freddy Watkins and Jimmy Brown. Brown was in on every play that came through or close to his right tackle position. Watkins worked his guard and linebacking plays like a veteran and was seldom if ever pulled away from position by Lefors faking.

Herman Childress and Bobby Winton are also seeing a lot of action in the Rocket line.

Coach Lindsey, despite three successive defeats, is still confident that, once his boys get the true competitive spirit and the winning spark, the Rockets will be a strong contender for the district title. Football fans are a major influence on any team and a great crowd is expected at Powell Field for the kickoff against the Clarendon team.

The Wellington club is predicted to be an entirely different team Friday night, and perhaps for the rest of the season, as the coaches start intensive precision training with particular attention to the blocking assignments.

They Know the Answers

High School Students Hold Safety Panel

Chief of Police Troy Marsh led a panel of high school students in a discussion of highway safety before the student body of high school and junior high Monday afternoon, Sept. 26, giving the boys and girls safety problems which they in turn worked out.

The program was sponsored by the Student Council. Robert Weir, president, presided at the panel, and members were Bill Estes, Lynda Orr, Susie Romo, Richard Mauldin, Jackie Daves, Mai Nell Ratliff, Frances Hill, James Poteet, Raymond Sanders, Glen Thomas, Donna Allred and Frances Warrick.

"This was the idea of the boys and girls themselves, and I find they are keenly interested in traffic safety," the police chief declared following the session.

Some of the problems posed for the young panelists were: If your car runs off the road and into a lake, sinking into the water, how can you save your life? The correct suggestions: most important, don't panic; don't try to open a door, but wait for the car to settle and the pressure inside and outside the vehicle to equalize; because of the air in the car, there will be a little space at the top, then you can roll down a window, maneuver yourself outside and rise to the surface.

Following the panel discussion, Harvey Millsap, driver education instructor, conducted a question and answer period on safe driving rules with several of his young students.

Panthers Lose to Amarillo 36 to 0

The Booker T. Washington Panthers were defeated Friday, Sept. 23, by the Amarillo team 36 to 0.

The boys looked good, but still have some rough spots to be ironed out. Considerable improvement was noted since the last game.

The Panthers are in fairly good condition and are learning more about football with every game.

Wellington will meet Carver of Amarillo here Saturday, Oct. 1, and this is due to be a much better game than the one last week.

The Panthers scored two touchdowns but both were called back due to members of the team being off side.

The Washington-Carver game will be the last of the season for Wellington, and plans are already being made for an early start next year. This short season is due to the split term under which Washington school operates.
