Chamber Of Commerce Votes On By-Laws Changes Tuesday

Sawyer To Receive Top FFA Degree

Sweeping changes in the by-laws of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will be considered Tuesday, Sept. 8, in a meeting at the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom. The meeting is slated to start at 7:30 p.m. Last major change in the constitution was made in 1946, when the name was changed.

Deny Bond For Youth Charged In Rape Case

Bond was denied for Eloy Mendiola Soliz, 18, 312 Ave. A. Friday morning in Justice of the Peace Berry Miles' office after charge of rape was filed against Soliz by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

Basically, the changes sought would increase the number of directors from 8 to 12 and increase their terms of office from two to three years. Other changes would spell out more clearly the methods of election and financial control by the board and would provide for more modern accounting and administration practices.

Fifteen voting members at the meeting will constitute a quorum, according to CoC president Monk Johnson. According to parliamentary procedure, Johnson is expected to accept a motion and a second for adoption of the amended by-laws.

"We don't anticipate the meeting will last more than one hour, at most," Johnson commented.

All members were sent copies of the proposed changes several weeks ago for study. An attorney has studied all of the proposals for legality. An addition to Article 2, dealing with Object, deals with limitation of method and prohibits the Chamber from endorsing any political party or candidate.

In nominations, the president shall appoint a nominating committee of five persons, including not more than two directors. This committee shall nominate one member for each vacancy, with that person's permission, and shall publish ballots, with space for other nominations.

Just Short Of Goal On LaPlata Site Monument

The fund for erection of a historical marker at the town-site of La Plata, first county seat of Deaf Smith County, is now a little less than $70 shy of the $475 needed for its completion, according to a report given by Mrs. Joel Hodges, treasurer, at the first meeting of La Plata Study Club, sponsoring organization, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Hodges reported that $366.73 has been contributed to the fund from an all-out effort made by club members during the recent Harvest Festival celebration here. That figure includes $25 awarded the club for second place on its float entered in the festival parade. An additional $33, contributed in the summer of 1958 and on deposit with the local credit union, brings the total to $399.75.

Expenses incurred in securing the land at the corner of the La Plata section and in preparing materials for the fund drive and float amounted to a total of $68.49, leaving the fund balance now standing at $331.24.

The site for the marker, at the southeast corner of the La Plata section, was marked last week.

Superintendent Fred Cunningham estimated that peak enrollment will be about 2,800 students this year. Peak during the 1958-59 school year was about 2,625.

Highest enrollment figures are usually reached about the middle of October, Cunningham said.

Total results include all students.

County Approves R-O-W Parcels

Fifteen parcels of land were approved for right-of-way purchase for east U. S. Highway 60 by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Friday during a special meeting.

Norman Miller reported on the work which had been done in getting agreements on acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed four-lane highway. Miller will work about three more days on the right-of-way purchases. The Commission estimated that only three and five cases would have to be referred to the Texas Highway Department for condemnation proceedings. All of the needed right-of-way is expected to be secured by the middle of October for the widening between Hereford to the Randall County line.

The court accepted the resignation of Mrs. Pauline Lady as chief deputy county clerk. They promoted Mrs. Abbie Crume to chief deputy county clerk.

Safflower Below Forecasts; Milo, Carrots Dribbling In

Deaf Smith County maize growers this week kept their fingers crossed as they planned their combining attack on fields about the middle of the month. Carrot growers plan to start filling vegetable sheds with their product about the same time. Potato and onion growers are dribbling their final loads of vegetables to the sheds for final processing before putting it on a reportedly low market this year.

Safflower growers in the county finished harvesting and storing a sub-par crop as their first venture in growing the oilseed this year. Only a few loads of maize has gone over the scales of county elevators this week. Quality of the small grain is high, growers said, and many believe there are as many acres in the county as last year, in spite of drastic price support reductions announced by the Secretary of Agriculture this year.

More than 10,000 acres of cotton harvesting should begin at the same time combines hit maize fields. Cotton acreage allotments, based on past acre history, were cut earlier this year and may have had effect on the number of acres planted.

Harvest date for maize this year is a little earlier than last year. Last year it was about the end of September before harvest got into full gear, due to wet weather conditions.

Weather conditions have been dryer this year. Only 13.29 inches have fallen in most parts of the county this year, compared to 19.35 at the same date last year. State employment representative Pat Patterson does not anticipate any shortage of labor when carrot harvest begins here. So far this year, he said, the supply of laborers has met the demand of farmers.

Highest production of safflower on the Bill Gentry farm, northwest of Hereford, was about 1596 pounds per acre, below normal average. The Gentry farm was used by International Safflower Inc. as an experimental field.

Lowest production on his farm Gentry said, was 818 pounds. Most of the crop on the 70-acre patch was pre-irrigated and irrigated once after the plants came through the ground.

Around Town

Do any of you old timers remember a rancher by the name of Preston J. Perkins? Mrs. Eldon Perkins of Rodman, Iowa, was in town Saturday trying to gather information about him. She was also interested in trying to learn the whereabouts of two cousins, Nettie and Viola Perkins, who lived around Hereford. Mrs. Perkins would like you to write her if you have information about these former residents. She believes that Preston (or P. J.) Perkins lived here about 25 years ago and that Nettie Perkins married a Dr. Perry.

We'd like to recommend that someone erect a sign at the temporary county courthouse. Lots of folks can't find it. We did find one sign outside the building, but it said, "This space reserved for loading feed" and that didn't seem to be specific enough.

"Production over this year's crop will be necessary before county farmers will be satisfied with results." Gentry said 385 acres were planted for experimental purposes this year by 23 county farmers. He said he felt that most broke even economically by growing the crop. Most of the crop of safflower was harvested about a week ago, Gentry said he obtained best production by planting 22 pounds of seed per acre with one irrigation and poorest results by planting 38 pounds per acre with no irrigation. After the crop was harvested, it was stored by Pitman Grain. Most of the crop's poor production was attributed to high humidity and overcast skies.

Sweetbreads Charles - A Treat For Champions Of Good Eating

By LEIF ERICKSON
SAN FRANCISCO — The challenge was to produce a dinner for a knowing group of gourmets who were honoring one of their number as a connoisseur supreme and a champion of fine dining.

Chef Charles of the Sheraton-Palace met the challenge by serving a dish he first successfully achieved a decade ago in Stockholm, Sweden.

He calls it Sweetbreads Charles, Dr. Raoul Blaque, the man honored at the gourmet dinner and a former chairman of San Francisco's Wine and Food Society, applauded the combination of sweetbreads and lobster as a "fine adventure in taste."

You can enjoy the same adventure in your home. Any devotee of good cooking can turn out the sweetbreads dish which Chef Charles P. Finance used to entrance experienced epicures.

There's nothing mysterious about melding the flavors of meat and seafood in a single dish, insists Charles. He says the sauce is the catalyst that achieves the tasteful alloying of flavors.

The steps are simple. With advance preparation and planning, the home cook can enjoy visiting with the guests and then put the sweetbreads on the table after little more than 30 minutes work in the kitchen.

Charles tells how to do it:
INGREDIENTS: 3 lbs sweetbreads (6 nice calf's neck sweetbreads); 3 lbs small lobster tails; 1/2 onion; 1 carrot; 1/2 bay leaf; 1 lemon; 6 mushroom caps; 6 slices truffle; 1 loaf bread; 1 lb. butter; 1 glass white wine; 2 glasses sauterne; 1/2 glass sherry.

SAUCE: 1/2 bottle sauterne; 1 soup spoon chopped shallots; 2 pts white cream sauce; 1/2 pt. Hollandaise sauce; juice of 1 lemon; cayenne pepper.

PREPARATION: Bring sweetbreads to a boil in plenty of water, and then cool off under running water. Now cover the sweetbreads with water and cook 1/2 hour, adding 1 glass of white wine, 1/2 onion, 1 carrot, and 1/2 bay leaf. (Important: Keep this liquid for later instructions). After cooling, remove sweetbreads from liquid and skin very carefully. Place in well buttered pan, pour 2 glasses of Sauterne wine over them and stew slowly for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, clean the cooked lobster tails (if too large, cut in half) and reheat them with a half glass of sherry wine. Prepare the white cream and Hollandaise sauces. Shortly before serving mix both the sauces with the wine and onion-flavored liquid in which the sweetbreads were cooked. Add salt, a touch of Cayenne pepper and the juice of 1 lemon. Keep sauce hot in a double boiler.

For added attraction mount each sweetbread on top of a square of bread fried in deep fat.

DRESS UP: Set each sweetbread on top of the butter-fried bread square. Cover sweetbread lightly with sauce and then top off with a lobster tail, truffle slice, and mushroom cap. Serve with green peas and asparagus tips. Additional sauce to be served on the side.

As a soup course Charles recommends consommé and for dessert, ice cream.

All the recipe steps except the final half hour of pan heating of both sweetbreads and lobster could be done by the home cook in the morning or early afternoon. The sauce materials likewise can be readied in advance.

The host chef thereby will need only about half an hour away from the guests to put his feast on the table.

Charles said he was inspired to compose the sweetbreads and lobster dish in Stockholm in 1946. The Swedes fancied sweetbreads, he said, and the lobster there was sweet and good.

The combination may be unusual, Charles says, but he makes no claim that it is new. "The cuisines of Europe go back to the 16th century. Who can say what has not been done before?"

Congregational Singing Slated For Two Weeks

Anyone interested in congregational singing is invited to attend a two-week singing school to be conducted by the Central Church of Christ here beginning on Monday, Sept. 7, the elders of that congregation have announced.

Gene Groome of Lubbock will be instructor for the school, which will include evening sessions beginning at 7:30 p.m. each day, Monday through Friday, and will arrange day sessions to fill the needs of those interested in song directing.

Instruction will be available for singers at any stage of development, according to Harvey Rowland, elder at the Church of Christ. He said that sight singing and fundamentals of music will be presented for beginners as well as for more advanced students.

Groome holds a degree in music and is now engaged in working as an associate minister and education director with the Church of Christ in Lubbock.

Farm, Ranch Club Begins New Season

Mrs. Phillip Miller was hostess for the first Farm and Ranch Club meeting held Thursday at noon.

Luncheon meetings twice each month were resumed following the club custom for many seasons.

The table was laid with a grey linen cloth and the center arrangement of flowers carried out red, the club color. Place cards repeated the colors.

During a business session which followed the luncheon, plans were made to work with the County Federation of Women's Clubs another year and Mrs. Glenn Burris presented a program on parliamentary procedure.

Mrs. Glenn Burris will be the club hostess on September 17. Mrs. P. B. Sowell will present the program.

Members present were Mesdames P. B. Sowell, Charlie Burk, John Hill, N. E. Tyler, Glenn Burris, Herschel Burris, Miss Margaret Burris and Frances Irene Burris, and the hostess.

Note to new cooks: the word "dredge" means to coat a food with flour or some other fine substance.

Greece Demands Return Of Captured Sculpture

By PETER GROSE
LONDON (AP)—Greece wants Britain to return priceless marble sculptures that were carted away to England from the Parthenon, the ruined temple embodying the glories of ancient Greece.

The stone fragments, depicting the heroic deeds of Greek warriors in the centuries before Christ, have been lodged in the British Museum for nearly 150 years.

And Britain appears eager to hang on to them — if possible.

The Parthenon, proudly looking down on Athens from the heights of the rocky Acropolis, surrendered its treasures to the English noble Lord Elgin in 1801. He brought them to Britain, where they were promptly dubbed the "Elgin Marbles."

Now the Greeks want them back in the surroundings that inspired their creation.

"It is about time our plundered ancestral treasures were returned to us," says Education Minister George Voyatzis, who supervises archeological affairs in Greece.

He also called for the return through an international body — presumably UNESCO — of the Venus de Milo and the Winged Victory in the Paris Louvre and the Mausoleum of Halicarnassus in the Berlin Museum.

"Their proper place is here, under the diaphanous sky of Greece," Voyatzis argued.

"Away from their natural setting they lose their sheen and aesthetic worth and degenerate into mere antiques."

The whole story started 2300 years ago.

The Parthenon was built in the 5th Century before Christ. In its stone the greatest names in Athenian sculpture recorded for the ages battles of gods and giants, Greeks and Amazons, the birth of Athena and her contest with Poseidon for the land of Attica.

In successive centuries the Greek temple became a Christian church — after some of the pagan sculptures had been removed — and then a Turkish mosque, with a minaret added on top.

When the Venetians bombarded Athens in 1687, the Turks used the Parthenon as a powder magazine and much of the building was destroyed in an explosion.

In 1801 the Earl of Elgin, British envoy in Constantinople, and a long-time art lover, collected all the chipped and eroded sculptures lying on the ground and removed remains from the sections still standing.

The great works of classical art, he said, would eventually be destroyed forever unless someone took action to preserve them.

As he brought the marbles to Britain, Elgin was bitterly accused of vandalism. Lord Byron, the romantic poet, wrote a scathing denunciation.

Finally in 1816 Parliament grudgingly voted to buy the fragments — but for less than half what Elgin had spent of his own money to rescue them.

A spokesman for the British Museum stated firmly that the fragments are not suffering from dampness as charged by the Greek education minister, and that their condition is constantly being checked.

Nor is the museum too worried that it may lose its prize exhibit.

"The marbles were deposited with us by act of Parliament," the spokesman explained, "and it would take another act of Parliament to remove them."

"As far as we know no such action is being contemplated."

DIVIDE LONG GAMES

DENVER (AP)—Veteran baseball fans of the Denver Bears find it hard to recall when anything like this happened before: The Bears opened the season with two consecutive extra-inning games. They lost to Dallas 3-2 in 10 innings, then beat the Texans the next night 6-4 in 16 innings in American Assn. play.

Bible Words for Today

PHILIPPIANS 2:3 — "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." (KJV)

First of all, there was in Jesus Christ the humble mind. True humility is the doorway to all spiritual growth. It produces a life that is simple, genuine, approachable. One who has this quality erects no false barriers between himself and others.

A second characteristic of the mind of Christ was obedience. We are told that he was obedient even unto death. His life is an immortal demonstration of the fact that there is an order, a discipline in the spiritual world. Jesus persistently refused to temporize with truth. To obey the truth honestly is a revolutionary business. Are we willing to let its demands be wrought out in our lives?

In the third place, the Master was possessed of a sacrificial mind. He was willing to follow the road to the end, though it brought him loneliness, disappointment and Calvary. Our surrender must be complete, if we are to have the mind of Christ.

Stereo Tapes Stage Comeback

By L. J. KRAMP
STEREO TAPES, knocked down but never out, seem to be on the rebound in the high fidelity trade. Four-track tapes have revived the market.

A year ago stereo discs became available, with prices 50 to 100 per cent lower than tapes. Tape sales were halved, from 7 million dollars in 1957 to 3½ million in 1958. Only RCA Victor, among major companies, continued issuing new tapes for hi-fi fans who wanted something better than stereo discs.

These stereo tapes were two track tapes running at 7½ inches per second. They still offer the highest quality available for stereo hi-fi. But their prices were high. A symphony cost $12 to $18. Stereo discs came out at $3 to $5. Additionally, the tapes were less convenient. They had to be threaded through the tape playback machine, and rewound after each playing.

The stereo discs, appearing in volume in mid-1958, were one blow to tapes. But another setback was announcement by RCA Victor of its tape cartridges. This new form of pre-recorded stereo was in tape on four instead of two tracks. It played at 3½ instead of 7½ inches per second. The tape was enclosed in a thin plastic box. After tracks A and C played, the tape automatically reversed and rewound itself while playing tracks B and D.

Thus, by doubling the tracks and halving the speed, the amount of music on one tape was increased four times. The cost was reduced considerably, to around $7. However, the hi-fi quality also declined — to a degree still widely debated. Some say quality will get better. About 50 four-track tapes are on the market now, but 1,000 to 1,500 are expected soon.

The playback devices for the new four-track tape were not available at the same time. More than a year went by before the devices appeared. About 100,000 four-track players now are in use, compared with 600,000 two-trackers. Most of the latter are convertible to four track, but at considerable cost.

A third form of tape now has appeared. In addition to the two-track, or open-reel tape at 7½ ips, and the four-track, or cartridge tape at 3½, the new form is a compromise of the features of both — a four-track tape at 7½ ips, but of an open reel instead of in a cartridge. Thus it still must be threaded and rewound — but the price is down to about $7 to $8. Some 7½ ips tape makers have joined to market their new tapes, believing stereo discs will lead new hi-fi fans to tapes that offer better quality. About 750,000 four-track playback devices will be produced and 500,000 two-track devices are expected to be converted, according to United Stereo Tapes, the new marketing group.

Here are some recent two-track 7½ ips stereo tapes by RCA Victor which are excellent: "Porgy and Bess," by Lena Horne and Harry Belafonte; "Love is a Gentle Thing," by Belafonte; "More Music from Peter Gunn," by Henry Mancini; Gwen Verdon in "The Red-Head," an original cast recording of a Broadway show; "Love in the Afternoon," by the Three Suns; and "Oriente," an unusual melange of music and sound effects by the Mariko Polo Adventures that will gladden your tweeters and woofers.

Another outstanding tape is a sampler by Audio tape, "Blood and Thunder Classics," including bits of "Finlandia," Brahms' Fourth Symphony, Khateaurian's "Saber Dance," Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, and others.

People figure up the darndest things. The other day I was reading how you can tell temperature with crickets. You count the chirps for 15 seconds, then add 40 -- and the answer gives you the correct temperature in Fahrenheit degrees. This is real tricky, but considering how many feed stores, auto parts houses and insurance firms give away thermometers these days, it seems a bit of an awkward method to me.

Honestly, when you stop to consider all of the things business folks give for free, it sort of takes away the incentive to get an education and learn things like telling temperature with crickets. Personally, I figure these firms could do better by spending their advertising money in The Brand. If they still insist on giving stuff away, however, I sure want my part of it. This includes pencils, ball point pens, rain gauges, thermometers, pocket books, memo pads, desk memos and calendars with pretty girls, plus an occasional pocket knife along the way.

I saw Virgil Dodson's Alaskan pictures the other day, and he sure does have some nice shots. He takes you all the way to Point Barrow -- and does an excellent job of pictorial reporting. One thing he will learn sooner or later, though, is to delete some of those smart cracks, like the one about Mrs. Dodson being a "Texas Eskimo". Old Virgil has little enough hair, as things stand already.

One of the most interesting things was the tremendous size -- more than twice that of Texas -- coupled with the fact that the entire population, including Indians, Eskimos and Negroes, was no greater than the combined populations of Amarillo and Lubbock. Virgil's presentation was good, but I would still like to hear the one Mrs. Dodson would make.

Right now it looks as if most Hereford firms will remain closed Monday for Labor Day. This includes the super markets. Dollar Day, as in the past, will be on Tuesday, Sept. 8, and promises to be quite an event.

Ran across Wiley Roberson this week, and he swears he has not been out of town all summer. Anyway, I hadn't seen him for quite a spell. Wiley says

I am the one who is gone all the time, which fairly well supports the opinion of my family. Even Carl McCaslin and Ansel McDowell have been giving me static -- and that's the last straw. Worse, yet, is the fact that I am not likely to be going even to Dawn or Umbarger soon.

Wayne Edwards is the only understanding fellow I know. He has been trying to talk me into going somewhere. Says he enjoys reading about it and his only complaint is that I don't get around more often.

Advance releases came out this week on the new Ford Falcon, which will weigh some 1,400 pounds less than the average Ford. It will have a 109.5 inch wheel base (compared with 118 inches now) and will be powered by a 90-horse motor. Mr. Ford predicts that the Big Three will sell between 750,000 and 1,000,000 of these new small cars during the next 12 months. The Falcon will be on display at dealerships Oct. 8, and will probably be followed closely by the General Motors and Chrysler small car productions.

Meanwhile, what happened to the proposed Country Club? You hear very little about it these days. Last report I heard was 180 members -- and 120 to go. The worst thing about organizing a club here is the fact that we already have a city pool and golf course. If we had neither, it would already be over the top. As it is, however, omission of the golf course section makes the proposed club much cheaper in costs, and will be the reason the club could operate on reasonable dues. It is a good project. Let's hope it doesn't fall by the wayside.

Someone was asking the other day about "Nature Boy", the young man who was said to have a Ph D. degree, and who lived in this area for a year or so, existing chiefly on the country. Mostly, I remember his flowing beard and the pack of dogs which usually followed him. No one had any idea where he went, or what happened to him. I thought for a long time he had lost an election bet but, when he went through the winter without shelter, I decided he must be a non-conformist of the first degree. Anyway, I'll bet as many people remember him as anyone who ever lived in Hereford.

Money is a great motivating force, but it brings forth nothing at all compared to things people will do to "save face", carry out a point, or pursue a religious conviction.

A lot of ex-GIs are quite unhappy these days. They say that they wait approximately 12 months for their GI land purchase approval to come through the state board -- and then are unable to locate suitable land. One draw back appears to be the soil bank program, which has upped prices due to its floor-setting effect. Where they have approval and can find the land, however, the program seems to be working very well. Mostly, though, it is turning into disappointments these days.

Rumors had it last week that Walter Hodges might sell his farm, just west of the new Northwest elementary school to make room for a new housing development. Sure enough, the county records showed the transaction to Ray, Ralph and

J. B. McCullough at $50,000, something like $800 an acre.

The shift of high production farm land to housing tracts reminds me of California, where they are taking out orange groves by the dozen to make way for housing developments. Disneyland, for instance, is located on what used to be one of the best orange groves in the state.

College Days Are Here Again

September brings the culmination of college plans, when talk of going away to school is uppermost in the conversation, especially among the 1958 high school graduates. Among the girls, selecting just the right wardrobe is very important and many of them have been poring over fashion magazines for months. Pictured are some of Hereford High School's most recent graduates modeling some of the campus clothes they will be wearing this fall.

STAFF PHOTOS

MISS LINDA HAIR has chosen a white leather coat as a part of her college wardrobe. She is wearing a brown cotton print dress with black rick-rack trim. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hair, 209 Star St., and will be attending Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene.

MISS SYLVIA WIMAN practices carrying her new Skyway overnight bag she will be using at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales this fall. She is wearing a blue wool dyed-to-match skirt and sweater just right for freshman classes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wiman, 433 Star St.

NORTH TEXAS STATE College at Denton is the choice of Miss Dollie Jo Prowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prowell, 233 Star St. She is appropriately dressed in a wine and green print with full pleated skirt and puff sleeves. The neck and sleeves are accented with tiny white edging and she wears black kid pumps.

MISS JUDY PATTERSON will be wearing this stylish beige wool skirt and new length coat, on the North Texas State College campus this fall. The coat has knit collar and cuffs and she is wearing a comfortable brown cotton shirt-waist blouse. Shoes are brown suede. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Patterson, 122 Ave. J.

READY FOR COLLEGE classes at West Texas State College in Canyon is Miss Jeanne Merle Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Brown, 413 Star St. Her bulky knit Royal Blue sweater and blue plaid pleated skirt are set off by a white sport blouse. Her shoes are in Royal Blue leather.

MISS SANDRA STORY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Story, Harrison Highway, models a sweater suit she has chosen for classes and sport occasions at West Texas State College in Canyon, where she will be a sophomore this fall. The sweater is a Kitty Lon Swing Blue in orlon, and the plaid skirt is in orchid and blue highlighted by shaggy lines. She is majoring in secretarial science.

MISS ANN WAGONER models her new black woolen suit and an aqua feather hat. She wears black nylon gloves and carries a black leather bag with shoes, trimmed in faulle, to match. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wagoner of the Westway Community and plans to attend McMurry College in Abilene.

Miss Beverley Seaton Is Wed To Douglas Ruland In Ceremony

The wedding ceremony of Miss Beverley Kay Seaton of Lubbock and Douglas G. Ruland of this city was read at 2:30 p. m. Aug. 30, in the Parkway Drive Church of Christ in Lubbock. Jack Woodford, minister, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Seaton of Lubbock, formerly of Hereford. Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland are the parents of the bridegroom.

White gladiol and greenery were used in the decoration of the church and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Attendants were Miss Wanda Seaton, wearing a blue and black plaid frock with a white carnation corsage, and Benny C. Dement, who assisted the bridegroom as best man.

The bride chose a wedding dress of white lace and net over taffeta. The lace bodice featured a high neckline and a lace bolero jacket. The bouffant skirt was ballerina-length. She wore a small white feather hat touched with sequins and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. For sentimental reasons she wore her mother's wedding band.

The bride's mother wore a light blue jacket dress trimmed in black, and the bridegroom's mother wore navy with black accessories.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Members of the house party were Phyllis Seaton, Lavone Seaton and Iona Seaton, cousins and aunt of the bride.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride wore a blue jumper dress with matching jacket with black and pink accessories. They are now residing at 606 Schley in Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and the bridegroom attended Hereford Schools. He has just completed six months active duty in the U. S. Army.

Friends and relatives from Brownfield Lubbock Hereford, Hamlin and Lamesa attended the wedding. Those from Hereford included the bridegroom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. McIver.

Home Demonstration Club Holds Meet And Elects New Officers

North Hereford Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Nelson Rieger for their first meeting of the fall.

Roll call was answered with "My impression of naturalized citizens, something of interest at a naturalization ceremony and ways to be a better citizen." The program given by Mrs. Tony Hoffman was on naturalization and the requirements and procedures of naturalization.

Mrs. Hoffman brought out the six requirements that are necessary in order for a citizen of Mexico to enter the United States or live in the United States.

First, an affidavit from an employer must be established. He must show his desire and ability to pay the applicant for his labor.

Second, a banker must sign a statement saying that the employer is financially able to pay wages.

Third, a sheriff must sign a statement saying that no charges have been filed against the applicant.

Fourth, the fingerprints of the applicant must be available. Also, a picture of the applicant must be presented.

These papers are then presented to the Mexican Council at Lubbock and the American Council at Monterey, Mex.

New officers were also elected at the meeting. Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Bell Kendrick, secretary; Charlene Gieger, assistant secretary; June Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. R. A. Fullwood, reporter; and Mrs. Frank Brinkman, assistant reporter.

Council delegate is Lena Olson and alternate delegate is Roberta Campbell. Parliamentarian is Neil Hodges.

A birthday shower was held for Mrs. Frank Brinkman the same day. Attending were Marie Ward, Frankie Barrett, Zella Kendrick, Lena Olson, Wilma Bryan, Frank Brinkman, Mary Botkin, O. C. Williams, C. L. Whitehead, Marcella Hoffman, Dorothy Tlein, Neil Hodges and R. A. Fullwood. The hostess was Charlene Rieger.

The next meeting of the Home Demonstration Club will be Thursday, Sept. 17, in the home of Zella Kendrick. It will be a covered dish luncheon.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. Is there any remedy when the bottom of a trash can has rusted out?

A. Prolong the life of the can by use of a wood or cardboard disk. If the can has tapered sides, cut the disk slightly oversize so that it will fit tightly against the sides just above the original bottom. Use angle brackets if the can has straight sides. Paint the disk and inside of the can with some roofing cement to make a good job of renovation.

Q. What is a first aid remedy for sunstroke?

A. Loosen the clothing of the patient, remove him into the shade immediately, and apply ice-cold water to the head.

Q. How can I improve the apply-baked cake from its tin more easily?

A. Place the cake tin on a cold damp cloth for a few minutes after removing it from the oven.

Q. How can I prove the appearance of an extremely stained or discolored bathtub?

A. Use a mixture of cream of tartar and peroxide. Stir in enough peroxide to make a paste, and scrub the tub vigorously, using a small brush. This usually works wonders.

Q. How can I remedy perspiring hands when playing tennis, to insure a better grip on the racket handle?

A. Rub some magnesium carbonate in the palms of the hands, and this trouble will be overcome.

Q. How can I quickly and easily make sweet milk sour for cooking or baking purposes?

A. By adding a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Or, add a teaspoonful of vinegar to each cup of milk and set in a warm place for five minutes.

Q. How can I effectively waterproof some matches, to take with me on a camping trip?

A. Dip the ENTIRE matches into some melted paraffin. Merely dipping the match heads in does not provide full protection against moisture, as water can still soak the wood or paper stems and travel up to the heads.

Q. How can I avoid marring a painted woodwork surface with my hammer when pulling a nail from it?

A. Use a putty knife as a protective shield. Just insert the blade of the putty knife under the claw of your hammer, and roll the hammer back and forth on this as the nail comes out.

Q. How can I remove the burnt taste from scorched milk?

A. Put the pan into cold water and add a pinch of salt to the milk.

Q. How can I prevent the annoyance of fish sticking to the bottom of the pan when frying?

A. By sprinkling a little salt over the bottom of the pan.

Household Scrapbook

Percolator Tube
The vertical tube of a coffee percolator can be cleaned by pouring water through it. Or, fill the percolator with water, add four tablespoons of salt, put the tube in it, and let it perk for 10 or 15 minutes. If this dulls the luster of the percolator, restore it by boiling vinegar in it, or water with pieces of raw lemon.

Plaster Ornaments
A good way to clean plaster ornaments, such as small statues, busts, or vases, is by dipping them into a solution of starch and water. Let them dry, then brush off.

Storing Putty
Store leftover putty in a plastic bag. It will not dry out, and can be kneaded to softness while in the bag.

Onion Breath
To prevent breath odor after eating onions, drink a glass of milk, or suck a slice of lemon, then drink a glass of cold water. Several sprigs of parsley, dipped in vinegar or salt, will improve the breath.

Garage Floors
Sprinkle some sal soda concentrate liberally on oil-stained garage floors. Dampen lightly with water, allow to stand overnight, then scrub with water, and hose off.

Make jelly sandwiches and brush outside slices with melted butter; toast in a hot oven until browned.

La Plata Study Club Opens Year At Barbecue Supper

A barbecue supper marked the beginning of the club season for members of La Plata Study Club. The first meeting of the new year was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond White, with members of the yearbook committee serving as hostesses. Hostesses were Mesdames Frank Prowell, M. C. Adams, Liston Wilson and Raymond White. The 1959-60 yearbooks were distributed and outlines of the study course, "We Want to

One feature will be a book review sponsored by the club to benefit the Community Center now under construction. Mrs. Ansel McDowell will review "The Exodus", by Leon Uris, on Oct. 20. Mrs. Clint Formby, president, presided over a short business session, when Mrs. C. L. Chisholm was welcomed as a new member. Those attending were Mesdames M. C. Adams, Leroy Avon, N. B. Beauty At Home

Q. How can I prepare a hair-bleach at home?

A. This can be mixed with ordinary peroxide and ammonia, buy one of the oil-bleach preparations. These keep the hair in much better condition, and help to avoid that harsh, brassy look. All these are color-controlled, and give you a choice of ash blonde, silver blonde, champagne, and other blonde varieties. Always be sure the peroxide you mix with them is 20-volume and guaranteed to be "live."

Q. What can I do to remove a scorch stain from a washable dress?

A. If the stain is light, launder it in hot suds. If it is deep, rub with suds and bleach in the sun or dampen with hydrogen peroxide. Then launder in hot suds.

Q. What is the best way to treat skin blemishes on the back?

A. Treat these the same as facial blemishes. Avoid squeezing them! Soften them with oils and creams and steamings, then brush them away and heal the enlarged pores with medicated cream or lotion. Naturally, diet is important, too. Indigestion, excess of any foods or constipation is quickly reflected by back blemishes. Keep healthy and keep beautiful!

Q. How can a young girl exercise to encourage a flatter tummy?

A. Lie on stomach, legs together and arms close to sides. Bend legs back and up toward buttocks, circling the ankles with the hands. Raise your head slightly, then rock back and forth from shoulders to knees. This is a strenuous one - but good!

Q. Do you suggest a different shade of lipstick for use at night than during the day?

A. Fluorescent lighting tends to wash the color out of the face - making the lips look bluish. Whatever your favorite daytime lip color, use a clear red or an orange-red shade at night to appear to advantage under such artificial lighting. Use very little rouge, but apply powder of a rosy hue.

Q. What can I do about the traces of flakiness that are showing up on my skin?

A. You need a little abrasive action with your cleansing. Try mixing a little kitchen salt with your regular cleansing cream two or three times a week.

Q. How can I prepare a good, simple, skin-toning facial beauty mask?

A. A very good one consists simply of painting the white of an egg over your face and throat, allowing to remain on for 10 minutes, then washing off with warm water.

Q. My hair is of a rather dry texture. How can I soften it?

A. A half-cup of vinegar, added to your final rinse after shampooing, will not only soften your tresses, but will add an attractive gloss and sheen to them.

Watson - Finch Vows Read In Church Ceremony Here

Miss Martha Watson and Harold Finch Jr. of Geary, Okla., were married at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Hereford Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. A. C. Hamilton, pastor, officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Watson and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finch of Dimmitt.

Baskets of white and salmon-colored gladioli were placed at the altar, where wedding tapers burned in branched candelabra to give illumination.

Miss De Anne Sparks and Miss Sue Messenger gave the musical background for the ceremony. Miss Messenger's offerings were "I Love You Truly" and "Bless This House."

The bride's only attendant was Miss Sammie Tisdale. She wore a street-length frock of salmon-colored nylon over taffeta styled with fitted waist and bouffant skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Melody Messenger, flower girl, was dressed similar to the attendant and carried a white basket of shredded gladioli. Ricky Kiien, nephew of the bride, carried the rings. Candlelighters were Dean Watson, brother of the bride, and Debbie Horn.

John Huff of Geary, Okla., assisted the bridegroom as best man, and Bob and Dick Huff were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace and taffeta fashioned with molded bodice with high neckline and long tapering sleeves. The full ballerina skirt was of lace.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a band of seed pearls and the bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white gladioli carried on a white Bible.

The bride's mother wore a black lace sheath with white accessories and a white chrysanthemum corsage.

Following the wedding a small reception was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left for Geary, Okla., where the couple will make their home.

CRISTIANITY COURSES

AUSTIN, Tex. — The Roman Catholic diocese of Austin has become the first in the United States to officially establish a system of "Christianity Courses" — laymen conducted classes in the faith which are common throughout Spain and much of Latin America.

VISITS NEEDED

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — One of the greatest evangelism needs of American churches is for them to have regular visitation programs, says Dr. Harry Denman, secretary of the Methodist Board of Evangelism. These are programs in which church members call on potential members in their homes.

LIVING STANDARDS

NEW YORK — A high standard of comfort and luxury is not the same thing as a high standard of living, the Rev. Dr. Robert J. McCracken told his Riverside Church congregation. "It may be only a high standard of covetousness."

DOES IT SIGNIFY "MORE WORK, LESS PLAY?"

Farm Storage Movement Is First Trend Away From Specialization

Economic trends appear from time to time, usually unfolding an intricate story.

The movement, first, indicates that the term "parity" no longer exists so far as agriculture, labor and industry are related.

Farm storage has increased tremendously during the past few months following announced decline in grain sorghum support prices.

When you boil it all down, the farmer is actually creating employment for himself. Certainly, the man who farm-stores his grain will do a lot more work than will the man who hauls it to the elevator.

felt that it was not worth the effort.

Labor and industry, meanwhile, continue to trip down the primrose path of specialization, thanks largely to continued federal subsidies, defense contracts and ever-increasing prices.

Questionable, too, is the final outcome. Specialization of weaving, for instance, makes it impractical for any modern day citizen to spin his own cloth.

One thing we know for sure, the average farmer is not different from other people; he would much rather patronize the elevator—and spend the additional time hunting, fishing or boating.

This trend of "more work and less play" may be good or bad, depending on your viewpoint. The big question is: Will it be followed in the fields of industry, professions and organized labor—or, is the farmer merely paying a premium for his lack of an organized lobby in Washington, D. C.?

Schools Set New Enrollment High

Hereford's school expansion program got underway none too soon, according to enrollment reports this week which disclosed a new record in the public schools.

The figures answer a lot of questions, including that of general community growth. The population of Hereford was 5,204 in the 1950 census and in September, 1950, enrollment in the Hereford public schools also set a record with a total of 1,662 as compared with the present 2,617.

The figures, in addition, indicate that we will likely be adding even more rooms to the new northeast elementary school which opens this year for the first time.

Most significant from the figures, though, is probably a deserved pat on the back for our trustees and school administrators.

Another important phrase is the fact that "growing pains," although no longer new in the area, are recurrent from year to year.

Think it over and we believe you will agree: Hereford is a pretty nice place to live and rear your family.

Texas Highways Are Among Best

The Panhandle, once self-styled political stepchild of Texas, is being recognized more and more these days.

Deaf Smith County and Hereford, to be more specific, are among the more fortunate points in the growing network of Texas' paved highways.

Today, Highway 385 has been given a federal designation and bids to become an important link in the national system.

All in all, we do not know of another town this size which has been more fortunate in road improvement during the past two decades than has Hereford.

Today the Highway Department bases its expansion on the business-like basis on traffic count, which means actual need.

Nowhere in these 50 United States, in our opinion, is there a highway department more efficient, more practical or more successful than that in our own Lone Star State.

Civilization

Civilization frequently takes a beating at the hands of cynics, and most of us fall into this class at some time or other.

Small children, for instance, will laugh and jibe at a crippled playmate. Without doubt, a small child is the least understanding and least tolerant of all the human race.

This is the result of civilization and its component factors, in which school, church, home and community play an infinite roll. It also possibly represents one of the greatest differences between our

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The power of faith in healing has been recognized by the Texas Medical Center in Houston through its establishment of an Institute of Religion.

As chaplain interns, they learn to work with people of all denominations and walks of life. They make no attempt to cram doctrine down a patient's throat.

Not only ministerial students and ministers attend the institute, but medical students, nurses and doctors who learn the importance of faith to well being.

"Sometimes what we need most in the sickroom is not the medicine that we prescribe. It is the faith and hope that we can instill in our patients."

JOE REINAUERS REPORT:

You Have To Fight Bears To Pick Berries In Alaska

By MRS. HAROLD RUDD Joe Reinauer, Joe Jr., Jim, Bob and Art made a dream-come-true by going to Alaska.

They made several stops before reaching the border of Canada.

LONG TIME AGO

Superintendent Warns Of Student Tardiness

45 Years Ago

Prof. J. H. Bright, superintendent of the Hereford Public Schools, and his family are now in the City and located in the house formerly occupied by D. S. Edwards.

It is not the purpose of the superintendent nor the school board to make any radical changes in the administration of the school.

It is the earnest desire of the superintendent and the faculty that all students enroll promptly for the year's work and that every one make promptness, regularity and diligence his motto.

The superintendent desires the most hearty cooperation between the school and the home and requests that every cause of dissatisfaction be reported to him.

own people and those of Russia. How can we expect these people to accept our gestures of face value, when they have no background for our type of thinking?

Among these stops were Denver, Grand Teton National Park and Yellowstone National Park.

They also boarded the USS Missouri at Navy Yard in Bremerton, Wash. This was very educational, as the instrument of surrender terminating the second World War was signed on this ship anchored in Tokyo harbor in Sept. 1945.

They entered Canada at Blaine, B. C., on July 23. From there they went to Vancouver.

The streetlight poles were adorned with pots of blooming flowers. As you enter the dock you can see the words, "Welcome to Victoria", spelled out in flowers on the lawn of the government building.

They then went back to Vancouver to wait for the steamship. While there, Mrs. Reinauer and the boys visited with

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has another idea he won't get anywhere with this week.

Dear editor It's not that I'm in the market for a new car, I'm waiting for the new models, have been for years, though it doesn't seem to make much difference, as fast as they bring out a new model they turn around and start work on an even newer one.

I read in a newspaper the night before last that a law is now in effect requiring car manufacturers to put a sticker on every car showing the list price—what it ought to sell for, what the extras on it should cost, etc., and there's a $1,000 fine if a car dealer removes the sticker.

As I understand it, this was done to keep some sharp dealers from running the price way up, allowing you a lot more for your trade-in, and still making a satisfactory profit.

Now there's an idea that ought to be carried over into farming, but sort of in reverse. While the car sticker law is aimed at keeping some dealers from hornswoogling the public, the farm sticker law would be aimed at keeping the farmer from hornswoogling himself.

I'm not sure how this would keep a farmer from selling 30-cent eggs for 20 cents, but it at least would bring the thing out into the open.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

You Have...

Mrs. Russ Baker. She lives near the top of a mountain.
Mrs. Baker and her late husband were the first people to build their home on this mountain; therefore, it was named Mount Baker. Grouse Mountain ski lodge has been built above their home and the lower part of the mountain has been subdivided and many residences and the Park Royale shipping center have built there.
Everyone had told the Reinauers they must see "The View". They were speaking of the magnificent view of the city from the top of the mountain. Mrs. Reinauer said it was by far the most beautiful view she had ever seen. People say it is more beautiful than Hong Kong, San Francisco or Rio de Janeiro. They left Vancouver on July 30 by the steamer, Princess Louise, for Alaska. As the ship left the harbor, they enjoyed a beautiful scene as the sun was setting. The lights in the city and on the bridges began to twinkle in the darkness.

The ship made four stops — first at Prince Rupert, Alaska, then Ketchikan, Juneau and last at Skagway. At Skagway, the Reinauers took their car off the boat and had it put on the White Pass and Yukon Rail. This was a narrow gauge railway that took them to Whitehorse, Alaska.
While on the train, they saw the Trail of '98. This was the trail used by the gold miners then.
The noon meal was served at Bennett. The main dish was moose. There were a few who doubted that it was moose, but one little boy felt quite sure that it was. He had watched them prepare the meat.
Some of the people in the group thought it was roast beef. Mrs. Reinauer stated that the meat was dark and she felt that it was moose, but she insisted that it tasted very good.

There are few roads in Alaska, but the ones they have are putting the riverboats out of business. The family saw several in dry docks and many more that had been junked. At Whitehorse, the Reinauers took their car and started traveling on the Alaskan Highway. They traveled to Tok Junction and then took the Glenn Highway to Anchorage.
There, they visited the largest water airport in the world. The control tower was located on the edge of the lake. Jim remarked that it was not unusual for a farmer with fifty acres of farm land to own three airplanes.
They left Anchorage on the Richardson Highway and journeyed to Fairbanks. Bob had regretted having to turn in his Little League baseball suit before they left on their trip, but felt better because, while en route to Fairbanks, they met the Alaskan All-Star Little League team. They were en route to Anchorage for the playoffs.
When they arrived at Fairbanks, they visited the air field there. While there, the two jet pilots making the non-stop test flight from London over the North Pole landed. The personnel at the field had to secure a moose off the landing strip so the planes could land.
The family was very impressed at the abundance of wildlife and different animals which they saw while on their trip.
They chartered a plane at Fairbanks so that they might fly over the Arctic Circle. They landed at Fort Yukon on the top of the world. It has a population of 500 Eskimos and 100 white people, which consists mostly of Army personnel.

Back at Fairbanks, they visited the University of Alaska, which has an enrollment of 500 students. They also went through the museum there.
Mrs. Reinauer was surprised to find parking meters in Fairbanks. She had thought surely they would not have to pay to park there. Joe had a lot of nerve to go where the cost of living is highest.
They visited Palmer in Matanuska Valley. This is the main agricultural area of Alaska. They have a growing season of 150 days.
However, in the summer they have from 14 to 20 hours of sunlight. Mr. Reinauer brought a sample of Alaskan cotton home with him. It has the appearance of a tuft of hair from a blonde cocker spaniel.
They grow most everything in the valley. The vegetables are colorful. They grow red lettuce, similar to our red cabbage. Also, they grow purple potatoes. By the way, the potatoes are white after they are peeled.

The 4-H Clubs, FFA and FHA have been very active in Alaska. This year they will have a better chance to display their skills. There will be a State Fair at Palmer the first part of Sept.
Approximately 141 4-H Clubs have 1,500 members in Alaska. There are 1,364 rural and town women belonging to 80 home demonstration clubs. Mrs. Reinauer brought back a "Sourdough Hot Cake" recipe. This is a favorite in Alaska and might become a favorite of yours. Try it sometime.
Mix your starter in the morning and keep it in a warm place free from draft. For the starter, use: 1-1/2 cups of warm water, one cup flour, and one package of granulated yeast or yeast foam. By evening, the starter will be bubbly and ready to use for setting a batch for next morning's hotcakes.

To set sponge, empty starter in a bowl. Add two cups warm water and two cups flour. Beat well and let stand in a warm place free from drafts overnight. The batter should be medium thick.
To mix sourdough batter: In the morning, put 1/2 cup sponge in a clean pint jar covered in the refrigerator. Use your starter once a week. To the sponge remaining, add the following ingredients: one or two eggs in center of sponge; one teaspoon of soda sprinkled over sponge; one tsp. salt sprinkled over sponge; and one tsp. sugar sprinkled over sponge. Beat with a fork and blend in all ingredients. Add two tsp melted fat. Bake on a hot griddle. Turn once. Serve with melted butter and your favorite sirup, honey or jam.
Never add remaining batter to the starter. The starter must never contain anything but flour, water and starter of yeast. If you are not using starter for several weeks, freeze or dry it to keep it from spoiling. To carry it to camp, add enough flour to shape ball in a sack of flour. The three older boys brought a souvenir home from Alaska. Jim bought a glacier bug. It is a good luck charm to keep all evil from you and also entitles you to a membership in the Glacier Bug Club. They have secret signs to designate trouble, hunger and many other things.
Bob brought an Alaskan yo-yo home with him. It is most unique and a Texas boy would have a little trouble making it work. It consists of a small hollow dowel for the handle, and two strings weighted with rocks run through the handle. These are covered with padding usually shaped like an animal. The string is started in a circular motion clockwise and the other is then started in a counter-clockwise motion.

on the Peace River. A dam will be constructed in the near future there and will furnish electrical power for part of Washington state and a lot of Canada. It will also give them an abundant supply of water.
The boys were very impressed by the rustic village. They drew water from a hand-dug well with a bucket and rope. They also had their first experience using kerosene lanterns for light.
Mrs. Reinauer was amazed at the hospitality of the people there. A neighbor of Mrs. Adams had picked berries and had a narrow escape from a bear while doing so. This woman gave the berries to Mrs. Adams for lunch for her guests. Imagine fighting bears to pick berries to give away. That beats southern hospitality, does it not?

From Hudson Hope, they came home without too many stops. Mr. Reinauer plans to go back to Hudson Hope sometime in the future and go hunting. The family seemed to think that spot would be a hunter's paradise.
The children have gained first hand knowledge of many things on their trip and will be able to make interesting reports in school. For Mr. and Mrs. Reinauer, this has been a dream come true.

GROWL AT YOU?

Old water heaters often get so ornery they do growl at you — and, in the middle of the night, that can shake you up a little. If you have a rumbler at your house, replace it now with a rapid recovery electric water heater — the hottest thing inside and cool as can be outside. Safe, too, with insulation all around and the elements inside. Put it anywhere at all — it has no vents because it has no fumes. No growls nor rumbles, either.

Thompson-Hindman Wedding In Temple Baptist Church Rites

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Tawana Thompson and William Hindman of Slide Saturday afternoon, Aug. 29, in the Temple Baptist Church at 4:30 p.m., with the Rev. Carroll Herring of Abilene officiating at the twin-ring service.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Rt. 3, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hindman of Slide are parents of the bridegroom.

White gladioli and greenery were combined with wedding tapers in candelabra in decoration at the altar. White flowers and fern were entwined about an arch before which the couple stood at the immediate altar space.

Mrs. Sam Long, pianist, and Mrs. Betty Stephens of Frio, vocalist, presented traditional music for the event, with vocal offerings including "O Promise Me", "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Attendants were Miss LaVonne Thompson, maid of honor, and De Ann Sparks and Delores Andrews, bridesmaids. They wore blue taffeta and chiffon dresses and carried bouquets of white carnations.

David Hartman served as best man, and ushering were Wade H. Thompson and Don R. Waters. Groomsmen were Palmer McCowan of Littlefield and Rev. Claude Cone of Slide.

The bride, wearing a white wedding gown of Chantilly lace and taffeta, was escorted and given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice was made with a scalloped neckline and long-fitted sleeves that ended in petal points at the hands. The full lace skirt was floor length. A fingertip veil of illusion completed the ensemble and she carried a white Bible topped with white rosebuds.

Mothers of the couple wore navy blue sheer dresses and white hats with white carnations corsages.

At the reception held at the church, Mesdames Lester Irwin, D. R. Cox and William R. Starry assisted with the refreshments.

For the wedding trip to Cloudcroft and points in New Mexico, the bride donned a white cotton sheath with white hat and shoes. After Sept. 7 the couple will reside in Fort Worth, where he will attend Baptist Theological Seminary, and the bride will attend Texas Wesleyan College.

The bride graduated from Hereford High School in 1958 and attended Hardin-Simmons University for one year. The bridegroom graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in May, serving as pastor of the Baptist Church at Lake Fort Phantom the past year.

Eugene was injured while digging post holes when some part of the mechanism failed to work and dropped, cutting through his right foot. He was taken to the Community Hospital Thursday, Aug. 20, where he stayed until his release on Saturday, Aug. 29.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By Charlie Seeds

The history of sports is full of stories of men who have won against the odds... because they wouldn't give up. But none is more inspiring than the record of Ed Furgol... who belongs in the elite group of U. S. Open golf champions.

A childhood illness had given Furgol a withered left arm... a real handicap in a game where one of the basic rules is the straight left arm.

But Furgol wanted to be a golfer and he overcame his handicap to become a good pro. Yet he never won a big one. In eight years on the pro circuit, he was never a big money winner.

Then came the U. S. Open at Baltusrol... at a time when Furgol was just about ready to give up. Against the best in the game, over a long tough course with eight holes of 450 yards or more, he shot rounds of 71, 70, 71 and 72... to win! His determination and faith in himself finally paid off with a U. S. Open championship!

Miss Lynda Sue Phillips Recites Vows With Jack Terry Higgins

White chrysanthemums in basket arrangements and emerald palms flanked by pyramiding white wedding tapers in seven branched candelabra provided the background for the double-ring ceremony uniting Miss Lynda Sue Phillips and Jack Terry Higgins in the First Baptist Church Saturday at 7 p.m. Dr. Howard Scott, pastor, officiated at the candlelight service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Phillips, 230 W. Fourth St., are the parents of the bride, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Higgins, Rt. 1, Wildorado.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Howard Scott, organist, who played a concert of wedding selections as the guests were arriving and Miss Clydene Allred, who sang "I Love Thee", "Until" and in conclusion "The Wedding Prayer". "Clair de Lune" was played softly as vows were recited and the traditional marches were used as the processional and recessional. Mrs. G. W. McReynolds of Roswell, N. M., was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Higgins, sister of the bridegroom, and Jo Ann Fowlkes.

The honor matron was attired in yellow nylon chiffon made over taffeta with fitted bodice featuring a bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The bouffant skirt was accented by a deep hem and attached to the bodice with a matching cummerbund. Her headpiece was a bow-hat of matching chiffon and taffeta, and she carried an arm bouquet of white feathered carnations.

The bridesmaids were attired in yellow chiffon over taffeta styled identically to that of the matron's excepting the necklines which ended in a deep "V" in the back. They also wore matching bow-hats and carried bouquets of carnations.

Candlelighters were Laura Louise Higgins, sister of the bridegroom, and Larry Womble, cousin of the bride. Her dress was similar to those of the other attendants.

Paul Higgins, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Godfrey Baldwin, Fred Lookingbill of Summerfield and G. W. McReynolds of Roswell, N. M.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional wedding gown of Chantilly lace and taffeta, styled with elongated bodice extending to points in the front and back, Queen Anne collar and long pointed sleeves. The full bouffant skirt swept into a chapel train in the back. Her scalloped finger-tip veil of illusion, styled by her mother, was fastened to a half-hat made of tulle leaves touched with tiny seed pearls. She carried the white Bible carried by her sister, Mrs. G. W. McReynolds, in her wedding, topped with sweetheart rosebuds and carnations. She also carried her mother's wedding handkerchief and wore the bridegroom's gift, a gold necklace with a single pearl droplet.

The bride's mother chose a mauve lace dress with navy accessories for the wedding, and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige silk dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were of white rosebuds.

The bride's table at the reception in the church parlor, which followed the wedding ceremony, was laid with a white crocheted cloth made by the bride's maternal grandmother, over yellow. Flower arrangements of yellow rosebuds in a crystal epergne, a family heirloom, centered the table. Appointments were in crystal and silver. The three-tiered wedding cake was ornamented with tiny sugarpun rosebuds in yellow.

Presiding at the table were Ella Marie Williams and Jeanne Brown. Suzanne Higgins secured names for the bride's book and Mrs. G. C. Merritt Jr. played piano selections. Others assisting in the houseparty were Mesdames R. C. Anderson, Charles Frye, S. S. Williams, Worth Covington, Miss Janet Higgins and Miss Azalee Phillips.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to points in Texas, the bride was wearing a green and white jacket dress with alligator accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage.

After the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Denton at 212 Bernard St. Both will attend North Texas State College in Denton this fall.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and attended North Texas State College one year, majoring in medical technology. While in high school, she was a member of Tri-Hi-Y and was Basket Ball Queen in 1958.

Her husband, also a graduate of Hereford High School, attended the University of Texas and NTSC, majoring in chemistry. While in high school, he served as student body president and was a member of the Hereford High School basketball team for four years.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. O. G. McClain and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McClain of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Womble and Larry, and Mrs. Faye Belle Campbell of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Harlinand Troy of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harlin of Itasca, Mr. and Mrs. John Woolard of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McReynolds of Roswell, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Newsom of Garden City, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frye and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde March of Amarillo.

COULD BE TRUE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "If the boy friend invites you up to see his etchings," the Ohio State University student newspaper told coeds, "he may be telling the truth."

Hitler's December Madness Recalled

BATTLE: The Story of the Bulge. By John Toland. Random House. $4.75.

The most dramatic struggle on the Western Front during the second World War — excepting perhaps the D-Day landings in Normandy — was the battle of the Belgian Bulge.

For the general reader, this is the best and most exciting account of the snowy horror of Adolf Hitler's ambitious attempt to smash the Allies in a massive blow through the Ardennes in December, 1944.

The operation, ironically entitled "Watch on the Rhine" by the Germans, was strictly Hitler's own idea. His generals thought the plan insane, and perhaps it was — but it was madness on the grand scale.

Following the same route used by the Germans in 1870, 1914 and 1940, Hitler attacked with 250,000 troops, 1,900 pieces of heavy artillery, and 970 tanks and assault guns. Against him along the 85-mile front stood only 75,000 Americans.

They were caught by complete surprise. Alone among intelligence officers, Col. "Monk" Dickson, U. S. First Army G-2, had predicted an all-out offensive by the Germans. But his views had been discounted by higherups all the way to SHAEF in Paris.

Author Toland, an ex-soldier himself, does a masterly job of illustrating the shock and terror of the Nazi impact. . . the first chaotic confusion, the stern bravery of isolated U. S. units who fought stubbornly before being overwhelmed.

The book is well-researched. Scores of separate battle incidents and first-hand quotes tell the day-to-day story of the struggle from the first onslaught to the siege at Bastogne — and the final collapse of the grandiose Hitler dream.

The author gives an unforgettable picture of the German army in retreat:

"The wounded and sick plodded east: some with rotting insides, noses bulbous from cold, louse-ridden, their oozing ulcers freezing; some with pus running where once ears had been."

In retrospect, the Battle of the Bulge shortened the war; probably saved thousands of lives thereby.

"The battle was not won by chance, by force of numbers, or by overpowering air superiority," sums up Toland. "It was won by the GI, by his ineffable qualities. The things that made him a poor garrison soldier — independence, cockiness, love of luxury — made him finally a deadly fighter." Stirring reading for all who want to know war as it really is. Hal Boyle
