Tickets on Sale Thursday for Fair Advertising Trips

20 PASSENGERS
EACH DAY MAY SECURE TICKETS

Bus Is Chartered for Trips 3 Days of Next Week

Sale of tickets will be made tomorrow for the three bus trips which will take twenty Midland men each day over a large area of West Texas and New Mexico, advertising the Midland Fair.

The bus trips will be made Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, or October 8, 9 and 10.

George Philippus, chairman, Mayor Fred S. Hogan and Joe D. Chambers will direct the sale of tickets, calling on other business men and Fair officials to aid for a few hours tomorrow.

As only sixty people can secure seats for the three trips, or twenty each day, early reservation was advised. Phone calls to the chamber of commerce or to committee members this afternoon will assure reservations. One Midland firm today reserved a bus seat for each of the three days, and others were expected to do so.

Loud speaker equipment will be installed on the bus, making easier the announcing of the Midland Fair when the bus arrives in each town. The equipment also will serve to make announcements within the bus while en route.

Tickets are $3 per person for each day. The schedule for the three days follows:

Nazis Show Burning Zeal in Torchlight Parade

The followers of Chancellor Adolf Hitler demonstrated their unity of purpose and loyalty in a monster torchlight parade through the streets of Nuremberg during the Nazi party congress. Arm upraised in salute, Hitler is pictured reviewing the procession, in which all parts of the Reich were represented.

REPORT FIGHTING IN ETHIOPIA

Eb Dickenson's "Model Ranch" Scene Of Barbecue Honoring Harper Sibley; Hundred Visitors See Practical Place

Eb Dickenson's "model ranch", 18 miles northeast of Midland in Martin and Midland counties, was the scene of a barbecue Tuesday evening at which Harper Sibley, president of the United States chamber of commerce, was the honor guest and a hundred other men enjoyed the ranchman's hospitality.

Directors of the Midland Fair and of the chamber of commerce here were invited, as were scores of Dickenson's friends from Midland, Stanton, Seminole, Lovington and other points.

HUMBLE EMPLOYEES GUESTS OF LIONS AT CLUB MEETING

Employees of the Humble company were honor guests at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club in the assembly room of the county courthouse today. Approximately 45 members and visitors were present at the meeting which was planned as a "Welcome to Midland" affair for the honorees.

Mrs. Ruth Ramsel sang two solos, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "Home on the Range," accompanied by Mrs. Tabb.

Raymond L. Hughes presented an explanatory talk on the new radio station now in progress of construction here.

Two former members of the club who have returned to Midland to live were reinstated and one new member added, Barney Grafa and Curtis Bond were the two reinstated.

The meal was served by women of the North Midland home demonstration club.

EDWARD HUSSON OF HOUSTON DIES

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 2. (P.)—Edward J. Husson, 60, Houston, president of the association operating the Epton Downs race track and former vice-chairman of the Texas democratic executive committee, died of a heart attack today. He came here Monday on a vacation.

Asks Farmers Get Exhibits Ready Nelson Sworn in As State Senator

T. E. Bizzell, chairman of the agriculture committee of the Midland Fair, called on farmers of Midland county today to prepare exhibits for the preliminary competition Friday, October 18, the day before the Fair opens.

Score sheets may be obtained at the preliminary competition Friday, said, showing the nature of exhibits and the awards to be made.

TO DEMAND DEATH PENALTY FOR TWO IN TENEMENT FIRE

Groceryman's Aid Admits Firing Building

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (P.)—Prosecutors declared Tuesday night they would seek the death penalty for two prisoners who allegedly plotted a tenement fire—fatal to ten persons—six of them children—to collect $3,000 insurance.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall V. Kearney prepared to go before the grand jury asking murder indictments against Joseph Vitale, 45, proprietor of a grocery in the burned building and Joseph Di Chiaro, 31, who Vitale reportedly confessed he hired for a promised $100 as the "torch."

Police Capt. John Norton said Vitale's son, Joseph, also Joseph Vitale, and a brother-in-law, Sam Jacopelli all named Di Chiaro as the actual incendiary. Kearney said that Di Chiaro had made "damaging admissions" after being confronted with the others' story.

With a shrug, officers said, Vitale declared he had wanted Di Chiaro to start only a small blaze in the building in which 20 persons were sleeping Sunday night.

Pressed for money, his story, according to Capt. Norton, was that he consulted his nephew, a tavern keeper who proposed the fire and told him Di Chiaro was "your man" for the job.

"That building is full of kids. You hadn't better do it," objected Jacopelli, who was present at the conference, according to Norton's account.

Sunday afternoon before Vitale closed the store for the first time in fifteen years, the arrangements were all completed. The arsonist had carried 15 gallons of gas to the balcony of Venezia Palace, Rome. He was heard by millions of fascists over the nation.

Previous Adels Ababa reports had said he would receive $100 when Vitale collected from the insurance company. The flames trapped the sleeping tenants.

LIQUOR MONOPOLY ADVOCATES BAND TO DEFEAT WETS

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (P.)—Speaker Coke Stevenson today sought legal authority for ruling whether the legislature could pass a law authorizing local option territories to determine if liquor could be sold by drink in restaurants and hotels.

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (P.)—Representatives favoring a state monopoly over liquor sales today made an effort today to defeat the wet bloc plan which would license hotels and restaurants to serve drinks with meals.

Leaders hoped to recruit sufficient strength to limit whiskey sales to unbroken packages by private dealers.

The sub-committee was ordered to study a bill to triple the oil production tax and a substitute proposing a graduated tax.

Leasing Active At Yoakum Strike

With the two most closely watched wildcat tests of the Basin shut down awaiting or running pipe, West Texas oil activity appeared to be receding here today. Davidson No. 1 Bennett, southeastern Yoakum county test which has attracted greatest interest since encountering oil at 5,888 feet, is still shut down at total depth of 5,090 feet awaiting arrival of casing from Memphis, Tennessee.

Since encountering the oil Saturday afternoon, operators are reported to have gone into the hole only once, that Sunday, when they found oil five hundred feet up the hole, which was caving badly. The showing focused considerable leasing attention on the county but only one royalty sale has as yet been reported.

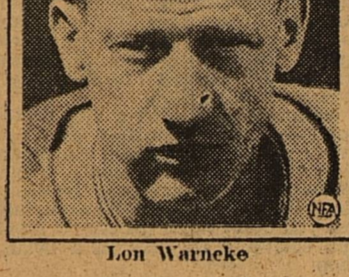

Stogner No. 1 Mrs. Cora George, northwest Andrews county test which has been closely followed for some time, is reported shut down for engine repairs and possible running of casing, total depth being 4,367 feet. Free oil was bailed from 4,335 to 45 feet, but the amount is as yet untested.

Purl Denies He Sought Influence

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (P.)—Former State Senator George Purl of Dallas, chain store legislative representative, told the senate investigating committee today that he tried to prevent a chain store from discharging a senator's son-in-law during the last session of the legislature.

He said he wrote the employer, Robert Lyon of Washington, after devoted the greater part of his life toward a one-day campaign to exterminate Norwalk rats, is dead at the age of 19. The dog was known the town over and was regarded as a Norwalk institution.

Winner

Lon Warneke, "Pride of the Ozarks," and number one hurler of the Chicago Cubs who today pitched his club to a three to nothing win over another Arkansas pitcher, "Schoolboy" Rowe. Warneke gave up only three hits during the game and was never in danger.

Losers

Schoolboy Rowe, Chicago pitcher, who today pitched his club to a three to nothing win over another Arkansas pitcher, "Lon" Warneke. Rowe gave up two hits but two of them coupled with an error by him gave the Cubs two runs in the first inning and in the ninth he threw a home run ball to Augie Galan, Cub outfielder, which left him on the short end of a 3-0 score.

Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, Detroit ace pitcher, who went down to defeat today when his mates failed to back up his sterling pitching. Rowe gave up two hits but two of them coupled with an error by him gave the Cubs two runs in the first inning and in the ninth he threw a home run ball to Augie Galan, Cub outfielder, which left him on the short end of a 3-0 score.

WARNEKE OUTLASTS ROWE TO WIN BY 3-0

The Chicago Cubs, with the aid of one single, one double and an error by "Schoolboy" Rowe, Detroit pitcher, in the first inning today pushed over two runs and took a lead that the Tigers were never able to overcome and thereby won the first game of the 1935 World Series. The final score was 3-0.

The Cubs made another run in the ninth when Demaree, Cub outfielder, hit one of Rowe's fast balls into the bleachers in left field but it was only superfluous as Lon Warneke, Chicago pitcher, kept the heavy artillery of the home team muzzled throughout the game.

In the first inning Galan, first Cub hitter, doubled, and when Herman, second hitter, hit to Rowe the Tiger pitcher, in attempting to get the runner at first, hit the runner in the back and the feet Galan went all the way home. A few seconds later Harnett scored on a Texas League hit by Harnett, Cub catcher.

In only one inning, the fifth, did the Tigers threaten to score off Warneke. In this inning Rowe doubled and reached first after two were out but Warneke snuffed this scoring threat and was never in danger thereafter.

The Cubs roundly outplayed the American League champions throughout the game and made seven hits and played errorless ball while the Cochrane crew were making only four hits and three errors.

Chicago: Galan doubled off Rogell's glove. Herman grounded to Rowe who hit the runner in the back while trying to get him at first. Galan scored. Harnett was out. Rowe to Greenberg on a sacrifice hit. Harnett singled to right, scoring Herman. Demaree popped out to Harnett.

Two runs, two hits, no errors. Detroit: White struck out. Cochrane flied out to Galan. Gehring popped out to Jorges. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Lamesa, El Paso Name Sponsors To The Midland Fair

Two more entries were received today in the cowgirl's sponsor contest for the Midland Fair, bringing the total entered to 21.

Entries received today were from Mrs. Hal Arnett of Lamesa and Mrs. Mabel Lane Skidmore of El Paso.

The El Paso Herald-Post has the following to say about Mrs. Skidmore:

The little girl who hung onto her father's shirt while he put the spurs to a bucking bronco, will be Miss El Paso at the Midland County Fair. She will leave Oct. 18 to get her favorite horse Chick, snow-white mount on her father's Rankin ranch. Her costume, in contrast to her dark hair and eyes and tanned features, will be a white silk shirt and black breeches and boots.

Mabel Lane Skidmore, of Fabens, wife of Scott Skidmore, is "going home" when she returns to the plains country for the rodeo. She was born and reared near Midland in a family of eight children. Her first horse-back riding was done at six months with a pillow for a saddle. She rode in front of her mother when she went visiting.

Mrs. Skidmore's father, John E. Lane, breeds Herefords in the Big Bend country. Her ranch, at Rankin, south of Midland, they are drilling for oil on his Rankin ranch now. Her brother, Joe Lane of Arizona, is a champion roper, a pal of the late Joe Gardner, and his brother Pat. The two brothers were guides at Grand Canyon. One of them staged rodeos on his own Arizona range.

ITALY SHOWS ENGLAND NEED OF MORE SHIPS

Whether the present quarrel over Ethiopia results in war or peace, you can safely make a large bet that it will be followed by some extensive naval building on the part of Great Britain.

It is not often that any potential enemy catches the British lion asleep, but Mussolini seems to have done precisely that in the present argument.

British sea power, which has made the empire invulnerable for close to three centuries, is relatively at a low ebb in the Mediterranean today. As things stand now, if Italy and England went to war, the advantage would rest with Italy in the chosen field of operations.

For a great many years it was a cardinal point of British policy to maintain in the Mediterranean a fleet that would be stronger than any two Mediterranean fleets that could possibly be mustered against it. That situation does not obtain today. In the waters adjacent to Italy, Mussolini's fleet is actually the stronger.

England, to be sure, has infinitely greater reserves. By sending the home fleet to Malta, she could confront Italy with an overwhelming force. But to do so would be to leave the home front unprotected—a thing which in the present unsettled state of European politics Britain would be very loath to do.

But even if that were done, Italy would remain a potent force across the empire's most vital trade route. Italy has some of the fastest, hardest-hitting cruisers afloat, a very large group of destroyer flotillas, and an abundance of up-to-date submarines. What these could do in confined waters like the Mediterranean must give British admiralty officials nightmares.

Italy's strategic position across the trade route to the Suez canal was recognized as long ago as 1887, when Lord Salisbury made it a cardinal point of British policy to remain on friendly terms with Italy. For that reason Italy's growing naval strength never worried the authorities at London—until, overnight, the old policy was shelved and Italy was confronted as a possible foe.

Few things are certain in an uncertain world, but one certainty is that England will never let herself get caught twice in an unfavorable naval position. However, this current dispute comes out, you can take it for granted that the British fleet will be materially strengthened in the near future.

Since the American navy has been insisting on parity with the British, new construction in England will mean demands for new construction in this country.

Before the new naval estimates are drawn up in London, Americans should review their own policy carefully. Will it be worth while for us to spend scores of millions on new ships simply because England is going to strengthen her Mediterranean fleet?

Junior High Art Club Will Make Football Posters

The Junior High Art club met in its first regular session Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

James Frank Johnson, president, called the meeting to order and instructed the reporter, Junius Young, and the secretary, Mary Jane Harper, to take notes on the session.

The program was then turned over to the sponsor, Miss Dora Roxburgh, who suggested that the club make football posters to advertise the Junior High games.

The suggestion was accepted and it was decided to make the first poster on the game at Odessa, Saturday, Oct. 13.

About 36 boys and girls are now members of the club.

Oil Shampoo Keeps You From Worrying About Dull Hair

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

To remain attractive through the many years ahead, a girl must give her hair correct care. This means that, in addition to a weekly shampoo and finger wave, she will have to get or give herself occasional special treatments, and, of course, remember to brush her hair thoroughly each night.

Women who live in a city should not lose sight of the fact that hair needs air and sunshine. Naturally, if you have professional finger waves you can't dry your crowning glory under the sun. That is, unless you don't mind packing a lunch and spending the day in a beauty shop.

Go Hatless Sometimes
But you can manage to be in the sun before an open window for an hour once or twice a week, and there's no reason why you can't go hatless when you step around the corner to a drug store or ride on top a bus. What if people do stare? They'll stare more if you end up practically hairless at forty because you were too proud to go without a hat once in a while.

Follow some system about your nightly brushing. The brush ought to be placed flat against your scalp, pulled upward to the ends and wiped carefully before you start another stroke. Hold it loosely in your hand, brush straight upward and you won't run your wave. Keep on until each hair has been cleaned and polished and your scalp tingles.

If you use a tonic to correct some special condition, apply it when you have finished brushing. Put it on the scalp—not on the hair—and massage it in with fingertips.

Brush Before Shampooing
Put a hot oil shampoo at least twice a month. If you can afford to get them in a beauty shop, all well and good. If not, learn how to use hot oil right at home.

The night before you intend to shampoo, brush unusually carefully. Then part your hair in tiny sections and rub every inch of the scalp with plain olive oil that is quite hot. If your hair is dry and lifeless, put a little of the oil on it, too.

Comedy and Thrills Feature Sky Devils

Laughs and thrills in plenty are provided in Howard Hughes' latest film offering, "Sky Devils." For sheer entertainment value, this mile-a-minute movie of fighting and flying foos unquestionably tops them all.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

FEMININE FANCIES
BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Some one has just asked us whether we liked a certain name proposed for a friend's new baby. Naming babies is one thing that we think is distinctly to be left up to the proud papa and mama.

We don't approve of this idea of "We ought to name it for Aunt Sally and Grandmother" or "Go forth, Of course, if the parents just WANT to name it for relatives, that is different. Usually the relatives are flattered by the implied affection."

What we are trying to say is that we believe that any two people should feel themselves free to select any name in the world that they think is beautiful enough for their baby, without being hampered by the thought that they should use some name that is traditional in the family or that they should regard anyone's pleasure except their own.

There are limitations to such liberty, of course, as there is to any liberty. We don't believe in giving boys names that are appropriate only for the first six months of their lives. Or names that will create laughter among their acquaintances later on.

The suffering and sensitiveness brought to a man named Bunyan, because his misguided parents thought he was a Christian, the Christian name Aiken. Not even the use of initials could atone for that. To be known as A. Bunyan is almost as bad as to be badly called Aiken Bunyan.

We like one-syllable names for boys and odd ones like Fern, or Dawn, or June, or Janet for girls.

And always we think twins should be given twin names if possible. Of course, they'll be just as lovable without, but we like the idea of twins having names that proclaim their "twinity."

Personally, our vote goes for a name that looks pretty in print. (And that's not because we work on a newspaper either!)

Guests of the club were Mrs. W. C. Maxwell and Mrs. M. H. Crawford.

In games high score went to Mrs. J. J. Kelly, and high cut to Mrs. Kimmie Reese.

At the tea hour a salad plate was served by the hostesses to: Mmes. A. P. Baker, John E. Adams, S. O. Cooper, Kelly, E. D. Richardson, Reese, H. B. Prickett, W. N. Thurston, Horst, P. O. Moore, Maxwell, Crawford.

Wesley Bible Class Meets at Home of Mrs. Amelia Hawkins

The Wesley Bible class of the Methodist church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Amelia Hawkins, 205 North H street, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. M. V. Coman read as the devotional Psalm 138.

Two readings, "Strength in Temptation" and "The Reward of Patience" were given by Mrs. W. T. Beauchamp.

Mrs. M. D. Johnson read "A Message from Japan."

At the close of the program hour, refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. F. H. Wilmoth to: Mmes. M. J. Allen, Beauchamp, Coman, W. A. Black, Beauchamp, E. B. Patterson, Johnson, R. W. Patterson, Sr., J. M. Hughes, S. C. Hall, B. T. Parr.

Before he thinks, he whistles. The open geography upside down on the couch and beckoned Chuck from the window. In comes the boy and pops right down on the book. Chuck has related his enterprising idea almost to its conclusion before Henry realizes that his new treasure is in jeopardy. He rescues it by giving Chuck a push. The result is several crumpled leaves and a badly crumpled map.

Under Misapprehension
"Oh, that's all right," Chuck assures him. "It always comes out when the books been shut for awhile." Children don't realize that once a page is "wounded" and the surface broken deep creases and tears easily follow.

Henry lays his speller on the washstand. At once tooth paste and water smears the cover and even penetrates the edges. Henry cuffs it off. No damage visible but now this book has a look of experience.

With a week all of Henry's books have suffered; there are two dog-eared, a couple of erasures on fly leaves and a generally swollen appearance shared by all because their owners had forgotten to get them out of the rumble seat on Friday and it had rained.

Others Are Even Worse
Our young friend takes average care of his books at that. In his room there are other children who have no more regard for a book than they have for candy wrappers. Their attitude reflects their training which in so many cases, alas, is entirely negative as far as book-

Our Modern Homes

Last week the well-depreciated home was having an argument with the owner; and the owner, getting a bit peeved, left the house for a week's work, and now is back again (now go on with the story).

Oh, hello, Mr. Owner, you are back again; well I still have on the same old dress and not a change has been made. Now I hate to bother you but look at all our neighbors; they have changed their dresses and put on winter coats and my friend next door has a new water heater, and my good friend across the street has a new heating system bought at Neill's. They say he has real bargains and attractive prices, and best of all, terms to suit the pocketbook. Now, Mr. Owner, can you get around this kind of argument? Well, say something. (Owner): "Blow me down." (House): No, that is what will happen to me some day if you keep on putting off for tomorrow what you should do today (and on and on into the night).

Folk, it looks like the House is going to be the winner of this argument. Be sure and watch next week's issue and find out more about the story. But in the meantime, call on impressive. They had won one game and lost three games and in doing so had made exactly seven points. Big Lake was the victim and in their next game the team was to play the part of the fatted calf for the visit of the Wildcats of Wink.

Before the game the Wildcats had not lost a game in 33 appearances on various and sundry grounds and Midland was supposed to be just another stepping stone on their forward march, but you know what happened. Playing like an inspired team the Bulldogs surprised everyone but themselves and the coach by winning 13-12.

For the next week they were the talk and the toast of the town. Anything they desired was theirs for the asking. Coach Baumgarten was showered with praise and decorated with cognomens that ranged from "Miracle Man" to "a second Moses come to lead the Bulldogs out of a quagmire of defeatism that had gripped them for these many days."

The next week the Bulldogs were to play Pecos here and they were confident despite Dutch's assertions to the contrary that they were already "in" as far as the championship race was concerned. In practice they were a group of prima donnas who owned the world. They assured the coach and everyone else that they would beat the Pecos team just as surely as they would beat them. What they did you also know.

They went onto the field and ran into a little scrawny, bare-foot bundle of nerves and determination by the name of Joe Bob Kelton who made them wish they had never heard of the game. While he was not running around and between them, Davis, a big, husky fullback, was running over him.

When the game finally ended, the score was 20-13 in favor of Pecos and should have been more. For the next week the coach and the 11 first stringers instead of being called the 12 disciples were called the 12 Judases. Now you know that was not so. The coach tried to tell them what they would be up against, but they refused to believe him. They let him and everyone else in town down and they did it harder than Louis let Baer down.

Well, Bill, they say history repeats itself and it has not lost much time. Practically the same situation presents itself this year.

We have got a good ball team here. We have got a helluva good team that was supposed to be three touchdowns better and then overran a tough McCamey team that they were due to defeat not more than a few points. And this Friday night they play Pecos again. This time on the Eagles' home field.

Now comparative figures show the Bulldogs two touchdowns better than the Eagles. But are they? I think so. I think the team is two touchdowns, maybe three touchdowns better team. If they want to be, if they go into the game determined to beat Pecos three touchdowns, so help me Hannah, I believe they can do so. If they think they can do so in there and beat the Eagles on their record so far this season then it is going to be a sad story.

There is going to be lots of money bet on the game because everyone here realizes that they are a good team. If the boys go in there and lose while fighting and putting out all they have got then they can well afford to tell any grumbler after the game "To Hell with you." But if they play that team the kind of game that they did last year they had better pray for the Lord to have mercy on their poor souls for it is a cinch that no one else will. They will be about as popular here as icebergs in a nudist colony.

Well, I am sleepy and hope you are the same.

So long,
Jess.

MAN, WOMAN DIE IN SUICIDE PACT

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 2. (P)—Distraught because previous marital ties prevented the wedding they desired, a young Oakdale, La., couple Tuesday took poison and died together on a train shortly after leaving Beaumont, Texas.

Claude "Sonny" Boy, 24, who separated from his wife and two children some months ago and had gone to Beaumont to work, died in agony beside Gladys Johnson, 20-year-old divorcee who was returning home after a week's visit with her aunt in San Antonio.

Dr. W. C. Fisher, Calcasieu parish deputy coroner, issued death certificates declaring both cases suicide from poisoning. He said poison powders were found in Seals' pocket.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Collins of Dequincy, La., directed the removal of the bodies of the disappointed lovers from the train to Oakdale for burial. The deputy quoted the conductor as saying he saw the pair drink a liquid, he believed to be ordinary medicine, from paper cups about 20 minutes after the train had left Beaumont.

One of the train passengers, Emile Spreeg of Dequincy, told of seeing the couple in convulsive agony as the poison took effect.

The man was screaming and the girl placed her hand over his mouth to quiet him," Spreeg said.

Notes the couple left to relatives at their home town, Oakdale, authorities said, indicated frustrated love was their motive.

Seals threatened to kill himself in the note he wrote, but implored Miss Johnson, who reverted to usage of her maiden name after her divorce, "to go on living."

Miss Johnson explained in her note, addressed to her father and mother in Oakdale, that Seals wanted to marry her but that he could not since he had not obtained a divorce from his wife.

She is survived by her parents, four sisters and a brother, all of Oakdale, and his parents, who live just west of there.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Reporter-Telegram:

Seven years ago while prospecting for silver in the Big Bend section of Texas along the Rio Grande River, I found a large amount of old bones and long cattle horns, where evidently some herd had perished in a canyon many years before. Some of the horns were still sound enough to polish and mount, and they met with ready sale as souvenirs of this rapidly-vanishing species of cattle.

But the find gave birth to an idea among some "grafters," who have since imported hundreds of pairs of longhorns from Italy, Spain, Portugal, Australia and Hungary, at a cost of about ninety cents per pair, and it is now common in several states to see some man driving a town with six or eight sets of polished horns and offer them for sale at prices ranging from $15.00 up to whatever they think the unsuspecting public will stand, representing them to be the last of the Texas Longhorns, and in many instances claiming to be the person who found the lost herd's last resting place.

It is said that these Racketeering Horn Peddlers are planning to import thousands of pairs of longhorns from foreign lands to unload at the Centennial, to be held in Dallas, Texas, in 1936. There is danger of importing cattle disease germs of foot and mouth disease, rinderpest and other disease almost as bad which is likely to cost the cattle industry of our nation, millions of dollars in addition to the sums now being garnered by the workers of the Horn Racket.

Mineola, Texas.

NYA to Help 8500 High School Studes

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 2.—Eight thousand five hundred and forty-seven part-time jobs will be given to Texas high school students if school officials take immediate steps in presenting applications to the National Youth Administration. Lyndon B. Johnson, State Director, stated today.

In securing funds allocated to each county in Texas participating in the $6 per month high school aid program, the student, the Principal and the County Superintendent must follow certain necessary and definitely outlined steps.

An eligible student, that is, one who is between the ages of 16 and 25, now in high school, single, whose family is certified for relief, who has ability to do high grade work in school, and who, without financial assistance could not attend school, files application with the Principal of the school he wishes to attend.

Johnson pointed out.

The Principal, whose duty is to place all applications received by him, also submits a list, in duplicate of the eligible applicants to the Social Service Department in the county for verification of the relief status of the students' families.

Paintings by Van Camp Shown at Fair

Attract Attention

A prophet may be without honor in his own country, but a painter is not without honor in his own hometown, so Van Camp, Midland artist is finding. The two reproductions of pages in his book, "Texas Under Six Flags," which were on display in the lobby of the Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday attracted much attention. The paintings, each of which measures 38 1/2 by 52 1/2 inches were displayed at the World's Fair in Chicago, and have been requested for the Centennial at Dallas.

The paintings are dioramic in nature although not gauged for depth as are dioramas. They were blue-printed to the measure required by the space allotted them in the Texas Exhibit at the World's Fair, being "stopped up" from the original pen drawings to the proper size by a special camera arrangement. Painting was then done on rough paper with water colors, partly with brushes and partly with an airbrush or spray, the two methods blending smoothly together.

Actual painting of the two pictures occupied about a week. A coating of shellac was used over the paint to protect the surface.

One of the pictures is a map of Texas at the time of annexation to the Union in 1846, with marginal decorations of Western subjects. The map of Texas is carved from wood and applied so as to stand out from the background.

The other page reproduction shows a carved figure of a mounted Indian and a buffalo in the foreground at the lower edge of the picture and above it paintings of the various industries and buildings symbolic of the history and progress of Texas, as well as a beautifully painted foreground.

Camp's book, "Texas Under Six Flags," a 16-page form, was adopted by the Texas exhibit at Chicago as its official souvenir, the author selling the right to 300,000 copies. The book is now on sale at various large bookstores over the state.

A liking for history started the artist on the work of gathering notes and reading which preceded for three or four years the production of the book. If carried out as originally planned, the volume would contain 46 pages and would include modern as well as historical aspects of Texas. The book now on sale was done mostly as work of order.

It will be used in the Texas Centennial, probably being enlarged and localized by those handling it.

Camp sells his work by royalty arrangement.

He is now contemplating making a series of 12 pictures depicting the work of a cowboy during a day in the roundup season. The pictures will simulate etchings.

Mr. and Mrs. Camp have lived at Midland for several years. Mrs. Camp is a teacher in the city schools.

Memphis Grows Bananas

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P)—Union Avenue in Memphis has taken on a tropical atmosphere now with the growth of banana trees which have borne fruit this year for the first time. The fruit, still green but of good size, has attracted much attention.

Old City Abounds in Antiques

TOLEDO, Spain. (P)—Only one-tenth the size of its namesake, Toledo in Spain nevertheless is one of the greatest cities in the world for antiques. For more than a thousand years Goths, Moors, Jews and Spaniards have enriched the city with priceless objects.

Apples Traded for Coal

HALIFAX, N. S. (P)—Annapolis Valley apple growers are bartering apples for German coal. The first exchange, just completed, involved 3,000 tons of coal, mined in the Ruhr Valley and shipped here in exchange for several thousand barrels of Nova Scotia apples.

NEW YORK—Joe Louis, a 200-pound featherweight with lightning in each fist, spreads eagles his field to such extent that the book-busting business is faced with the unprecedented situation of the champion, who happens to be James J. Braddock, having to be built up for a contest with the challenger.

If Louis were meeting Braddock next week, he'd be the choice at a prohibitive price. Imagine what the odds will be next summer if the Alabama-born Negro keeps his promise to remain active, and the Irishman sticks to his present program of meaningless exhibitions.

Joe's knockout of Baer was so convincing that there is no aftermath.

A heavyweight like the Bomber comes along in every other generation. A Jack Dempsey goes, and then there are filler-ins a couple of grades lower, and a warrior on the order of the Brown Bomber of the Buckleup comes along.

Wonder what Tex Rickard would have said had he seen Louis of the Yankee Stadium to be Louis, of the tint the master promoter eschewed, bringing boxing back perilously near the million-dollar gate.

"I never seed anything like it," Edgie, undoubtedly would have said. And doubt that Rickard or anybody else ever saw a big fellow as good as Louis.

The Bomber probably will tackle Max Schmeling next in a prelude to a Braddock affair. Meanwhile he plans to appear in a New York Christmas fund show, and make another start or two.

Man of Action

"When do you want to fight again, Joe?" asked Promoter Mike Jacobs. "The Detroit dinky asked into the Yankee dressing room following the assassination of Baer."

Louis looked not a bit different.

LOUIS HAD TO WIN FAST! HE MADE A DATE WITH HIS WIFE

Three hours before the most crucial event of his life, 21-year-old Joe Louis kissed his bride of the evening, Marva Trotter, patted her on the back, and calmly assured her: "Don't worry, honey. I'll be back about 10:30."

Louis required just 11 minutes and 50 seconds to batter Baer into submission, so he had plenty of time to keep his date.

ent than when he left the ring a few minutes before. His kinky hair, plastered to his head, wasn't even mussed. He scarcely had worked up a sweat.

"I'd like to fight again in a couple of weeks," Louis told Jacobs.

"Don't you want to go on a honeymoon?" smiled the promoter.

"Sure," retorted Louis. "We'll take the honeymoon right along." Fashioning himself as he roars along, and improving each time out, Louis, who has flattened or stopped 22 of 26 opponents since he turned professional on July 4, 1934, now strikes terror into the hearts of rivals.

Ponderous Primo Carnera mumbled his unconditional surrender to Referee Arthur Donovan. "Don't let that man hit me again," pleaded King Levinsky as he sat on the ropes in Chicago.

And Baer, who until this year backed up his boasts, reminded you of a frightened Japanese bride as he came out for instructions.

Joe CAN Take It!

The one question that they have been asking was answered toward the end of the first round. Baer had so many left gloves stuck in his face that his nose was bleeding and he had commenced to believe that a glove had grown there before he lashed himself into battle.

Baer nailed Louis with a looping right hand to the chin in a neutral corner and crowded the negro to the ropes in following it up.

Max seemed to have Joe pinned in the corner, when the colored boy slipped out and turned on the one-time butcher boy. There was a wild flurry in which Louis was nailed two or three times, but the Negro never denied the issue, and had Baer plastered in the corner and in none too good shape as the bell sounded.

Baer twice belted Louis' head solidly after the going bringing the second session to a close had sounded, but nothing happened, and the Negro walked to the corner as unflinching as a checker player.

Yes, Louis can take it.

Two or three years from being fully matured, Louis is a super fighter. If he keeps going, and there is no reason to believe that he won't, they'll have to find a Boyle's Sixty Acres to accommodate the customers.
