Leggitt, Slay Head County Alfalfa Growers

Cecil Leggitt was elected president of the Collingsworth County Certified Alfalfa Seed Growers Association at a business meeting and barbecue Tuesday night, May 15. He succeeds Curtis Savage, president last year, who has moved to Morton.

J. T. Slay, secretary-treasurer during the past year, was re-elected to that post.

Plans for the coming year were discussed with emphasis on work with the Northwest Texas Certified Alfalfa Seed Growers Association in its seed zoning efforts.

There is approximately 10,000 acres of alfalfa in the county this year. Some of this is first year alfalfa, replacing a considerable acreage that the owners plowed up to put back in row crops this year.

Approximately 3,000 acres of seed were certified through the County Seed Growers Association last year, and this year's acreage is expected to be around that, or a little less, J. W. Thomas, county agent, said.

The meeting and barbecue were held at the community building, with an attendance of approximately 30.

Fire District Map to Spot Every Home in This County

Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting Monday night, May 14, agreed to help the Wellington Fire Department with its rural fire truck and to take charge of drawing up the Fire District Map, locating every house in the county and assigning a number, to be used in case of reporting a fire.

The rural fire truck is already in use, but Mr. Handley said said more equipment is needed for it, and a full explanation of plans for operation will be given a little later.

The fire district will include the entire county and portions of the surrounding counties where the local fire department could reach in time to help save a burning building. Each house will be assigned a number, Mr. Thomas explained, and the number and house located on the master map. County roads to each house will be marked.

"A rural resident wishing to report a fire would simply call the Wellington Fire Department and say that House number such and such had a fire," Mr. Thomas explained.

The directors also approved the purchase of uniforms for Chief of Police J. F. Holley. These are due to arrive around June 15.

A guest speaker before the group was Roy E. Wolfe, of Hill & Hill oil well drillers, Pampa, who is in charge of work on the Bailey No. 1 Well north of Wellington. Mr. Wolfe told the group that he had a 50-50 chance of getting a well in the shale and that money was in the Wellington State Bank to drill to a depth of 5,500 feet.

Mrs. J. W. Watts, Prominent Fresno Woman, Passes

Mrs. J. W. Watts, prominent Collingsworth County farm woman, and a Fresno and Wellington resident for the past 30 years, died in the Groom hospital Saturday morning, May 12, at 3:35 o'clock, after a critical illness of a week. Although her condition had been serious during that entire time, her death came a shock to many of her friends in this area, who had not known she was ill.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Lester Hill, pastor, officiating, as a large crowd of friends, some of whom had known her during the entire time she lived here, gathered to pay final tribute.

Pall bearers were grandsons: J. W. Watts, Charlie Lee Watts, Lavance Watts, Lester Ray Watts, Donald Lee Nunneley, Charley Summers, Roy Whit, John Lowry and Dennis Fairbairn. Flower bearers, who were granddaughters, were Mrs. John Lowrie, Mrs. Dennis Fairbairn, Erma Sue Watts, Patsy Watts, Mrs. Roy Whit, Mrs. J. W. Watts, Mrs. Charlie Lee Watts, and Mrs. J. B. Easter.

Burial was in the Wellington Cemetery by the Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Watts was before her marriage Miss Urmia Virginia Drake, who was born in Fannin County February 21, 1882, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Drake. At the time of her death

Grower Sells Pigs Awfully Quick by Classified Ad

Jake Tarter came in Tuesday with more gifts for sale. As he left, he turned around and commented:

"A month ago I ran another ad like this in The Wellington Leader. The paper got out late Wednesday and I had sold every pig I had for sale before I got to eat supper."

Burglars Enter Drive-In Theatre

The Broncho Drive-In Theatre located on the Mangum Highway was broken into some time between closing time Wednesday night and Thursday morning, May 10, with considerable damage done to the property there, Emmett Passmore, manager of the theatre, said this week.

Bricks were hurled through the concession stand windows and the box office windows. The screens were ripped from the doors, and the locks were ruined. A considerable amount of candy and gum was taken, as was a small amount of change.

The burglars could be traced Thursday morning through an alfalfa patch that corners the parking space of the theatre. Several bars of candy had been dropped in the hurried get-away.

Concert Association Member Drive Ends Saturday Evening

The Wellington Mutual Concert Association membership drive will continue until Saturday, May 19, at 2:00 p.m., and artists for the 1951-52 season will be selected in a meeting Saturday evening, Dr. C. B. Jones, president, has announced.

Workers, numbering approximately 100, received instructions for the drive in a dinner held at the First Christian Church Monday evening, and reports of contacts through Tuesday indicated that considerable success is being met with.

The drive is being carried to all parts of the county and an opportunity will be given every interested person to become a member. Should anyone be missed, however, memberships may be bought this week at the Chamber of Commerce office on the second floor of the court house, drive headquarters.

"The concerts you will hear next season are not long-hair. They are good entertainment and good music. You will enjoy them. These concerts are among the few things that an entire family can do together, and enjoy together," Clifford Menz, Mutual Concert representative, who is here for the drive, said.

For that reason, emphasis is being put on the family memberships, which will admit the father, mother, and minor children living at home. With several members in the family, these memberships will be considerably cheaper than individual tickets, it is pointed out.

Three types of membership are available, family, adult and student. Memberships are transferable, and the money will be refunded if the member moves away before the season starts next fall.

Out of town house guests visiting a member on concert night will be admitted on the host's ticket.

Membership in the Wellington association makes the member eligible to attend all concerts of the Memphis and Clarendon concert associations, assuring him of at least nine, and a possible 12 concerts during the season if he wishes to take advantage of all of them.

Preference in type of entertainment is being asked each person taking a membership, and the se-season for Quana, and their strength remains an unknown quality, both here and to their home fans. The Dukes, fresh from their 13 to 5 victory in the opener against the Memphis Owls, are polishing off their rough spots and are adding several players this week.

With only nine men on the team Sunday, the Dukes were for a time faced with the problem of whether an 8-man team could play a game, when Earl Lynn Bartlett was hit on the head with a pitched ball.

Due out this week are three of the outstanding players of past seasons, Lewis Morris, utility man; Son Strong, outfielder; and

Mrs. G. T. Austin Dies Unexpectedly Early Friday

Mrs. G. T. Austin, who with her husband operated the store and post office at Loco, died Saturday morning, May 11, about 5:00 o'clock, at her home. Mrs. Austin had been in ill health for about a year, but her condition was thought to be improving, with the use of a new medicine secured from France, and her death came as a shock to both her family and friends.

Mrs. Austin had lived in this area approximately 40 years, coming with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Middleton J. Moore.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church Saturday evening at 5:00 p.m. with the Rev. Howard Jones officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. L. Melton.

Gus Barton, first base. Due to their work, it is possible that these men will not be able to play all the time with the Dukes, but they have said they will be available if needed in the Quana game.

CAP Sponsoring Red Cross First Aid Class

A first aid class was organized at the regular CAP meeting Friday night, May 11, by Riley Dunson, American Red Cross First Aid chairman for Collingsworth County. Mr. Dunson, who will be the instructor, explained the course.

The classes will be held each Friday night at the VFW building, since the administration building of Marian Airpark is too small for the work. The first lesson will be held Friday night, May 18, and will include the first assignment in the First Aid Handbooks.

The CAP members were divided into four groups for instruction, with Mrs. Ernest Harwell as leader for the women, and Jim Leach, Blayne Branum and Hiram Cudd leaders for the men.

The first aid classes are one hour in length, and all CAP members are urged to become members. Each student must have 18 hours of instruction, and if he misses a class, make-up will be provided for. A test will be given at the end of the course.

Each person enrolling will need two 40-inch triangle bandages. Other equipment is being made available by the National Guard unit, and includes blankets, stretchers, splints, etc.

This is the first training course offered by the CAP and is regarded as one of the most important, Commanding Officer Bill Hughes points out. The classes will be one hour in length, and the remaining hour of the Friday night meetings will be devoted to training pilots and observers in meteorology, map reading, etc.

Staff changes were also put in effect at the meeting, with Beryl Faulkner, former commandant of cadets, was named communications officer, succeeding Benton Berry, who stated that due to extensive farming operations, he is unable to devote the needed time to the work. Berry was named assistant communications officer.

Weldon Cleveland, named commandant of cadets, formerly was assistant commandant. New assistants are Stanley Brooks and Keith Cunningham.

Matt Taylor, former engineering officer, was named squadron flight leader, squadron check pilot and assistant engineering officer. Jackie Strong is engineering officer and assistant operations officer.

Attending the meeting Friday night were Blayne Branum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caldwell, Miss Priscilla Chase, Earl Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Cleveland, Orval Couch, Fred Cox Jr., Hiram Cudd, Charles Duvall, Beryl Faulkner, Judge and Mrs. Raymond Horton, Bill Hughes, Randolph Hunt, Jim Leach, Lon Castleberry, Dora E. McClaskey, William W. McClaskey, Mr. and Mrs. Lefty Thomas, J. K. Porter, Bob Scott, Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Conrad Melton, Dr. J. M. Orr, Dorothy Robertson, Herman Claude Terry, Orville Vaughan, Bura Handley, Riley Dunson, Lewis Patterson, the Rev. and Mrs. Archie Gray, and John Pound.

Any person interested in CAP is invited to come out and see if he wants to join. This is the only group active in civil defense in the county.

Wayne Cudd Officer Of Transport Assn.

Wayne Cudd, co-owner with his brothers of Cudd Brothers Trucking Co., was named first vice-president of the Texas Motor Transportation Association at its 17th annual convention in San Antonio May 10 through 12. He was elevated from the second vice-presidency, the office he held during the past year, and is in line to head the TMTA next year.

He is also a member of the board of directors and a past president of the Livestock Haulers Association. He is serving as chairman of the policy committee of TMTA, the body that determines the policy to be followed during the year.

At the San Antonio convention,

Mr. Cudd presided at the Saturday luncheon honoring the new president, R. C. Delevan of San Antonio. Other officers are W. L. Wyse Jr., Fort Worth, second vice president; and Ellis Pratt, Alice, secretary-treasurer.

One of the chief speakers at the convention was Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, who told the TMTA that there is more loss of life from traffic accidents in Texas than from fighting in Korea. During the past 20 years, he continued, more Texans were killed in traffic accidents than there were Texans killed in both World War I and World War II.

Third to Half Inch of Moisture Falls Wed.

Rain which began shortly before noon Wednesday, May 9, appeared to cover most of the county, bringing this immediate area its first moisture of the month.

Wellington had received .32 at noon, J. M. Strong said.

Quail had a heavier fall, and approximately one-half inch was estimated at 1:00 p.m.

A good shower was reported at Dodson by Mrs. Nadine Birchfield, cashier of the First State Bank.

Heavy rains which fell over much of the Panhandle and extended as far east as Claude Tuesday missed the Collingsworth area entirely.

This moisture will put much of the county in shape for cotton planting. Alex Coleman of Dozier said Tuesday that none of the farmers of that area were planning to plant until rain was received.

Some planting has been done south of Salt Fork and a few fields are already up to a stand.

VOLLEY BALL APPEARS AS NEW SUMMER SPORT FOR WELLINGTON

Volley ball is making its appearance as a summertime sport in Wellington, and plans are in the formative stage for a volley ball league during the summer months, Woodrow Ham, who is helping the group, said.

The City built and lighted two courts at Ellison Park for night playing, and these have been in use almost every night recently.

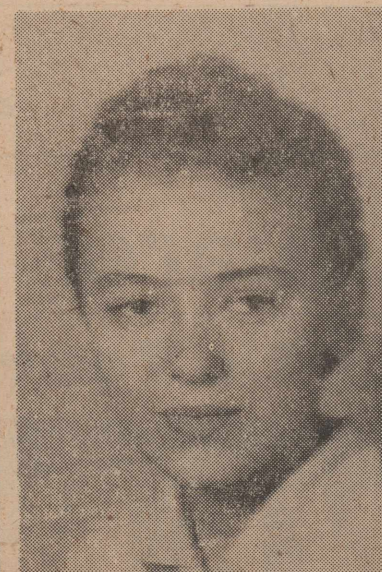

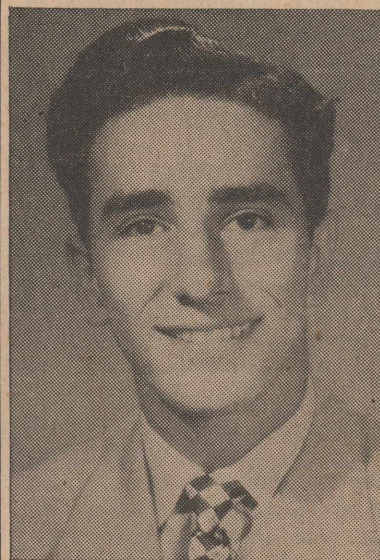

So far, the Baptist Church is furnishing most of the teams playing, the members drawn from the Adult Department No. 1 and No. 2.

Altogether, from 36 to 40 young men and women are included.

"We are trying to promote fellowship, but at the same time, everyone who plays has lots of fun," Ham said.

Plans are under way by the Rotary club to build additional courts at Ellison Park to open the game to more participants.

Formation of several other teams in the city, sponsored by churches or other groups, are planned for the next few weeks.

EIGHTH GRADE HONOR GRADUATES

Renee Thomason, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomason and LeNora Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stall, are the valedictorian and salutatorian of the Wellington eighth grade, which holds its graduation exercises May 24.

Stench in Washington Calls for Lid Lifting

In Washington the other day, the Fulbright committee questioned a man about a surplus ship deal. This man and several associates had made a quick profit of $2,800,000 on a $100,000 investment. The deal was so questionable that when it was disclosed the man resigned from a federal job. But he refused to name his associates on the ground that the Fulbright committee was empowered to probe only the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Maybe the witness was on safe technical grounds. In any case, his action suggests a strong need to take the lid off other federal agencies besides the RFC. Only Congress can do this. The administration has shown repeatedly that it wants to whitewash its agencies, not to expose the rot that has grown into them.

Some observers close to the Washington scene say that enough stench could be uncovered in other federal agencies to make the RFC smell sweet. They cite especially the Maritime Commission, which has handed out many fat favors to political pals, and the Civil Aeronautics Board. The public should know why the White House overruled the CAB when it recommended against a merger of the American Overseas Airline with Pan American Airways. Joseph J. O'Connell Jr. resigned as chairman of the CAB when he and the examiners were reversed.

Congress has made only a start in uncovering corruption in high places. It should carry through in the interest of honest government. — Dallas News.

Give Your Town a Quiz

See by the mail that one of the best friends the home-town press has in Utah is already at work on his annual good turn to the people in the rural areas of this state.

We refer to Dr. Carlton Culmsee's recent announcement that the Utah State Agricultural college at Logan is again planning to cite some hometown Utah paper for outstanding community service during the past year.

The community service award will be made at the Utah State Press association's annual meeting in February. We referred to the award above as "a good turn to the people who live in the rural areas of Utah," because it stimulates the editors of the weekly papers to get off their dimes and do some real promotion for the areas in which they live.

Provides Check List

Dr. Culmsee, who is dean of the USAC school of arts and sciences, but still keeps his hand in the newspaper game with a professorship in journalism, didn't just announce the contest this year and let it go at that. He sent along a little check list for editors who might have got a bit rusty on just how many opportunities there are for community betterment. Believing that your editor is not only one in North Stanpete who might need a reminder, we're reprinting below Dean Culmsee's check list.

Incidentally, we can say all these nice things about Dean Culmsee without being accused of trying to influence the award. The Pyramid, which won it in '49, isn't eligible to compete again until next year.

Here, then, is the Culmsee check list.

How Does Your Town Score?

How does your town stack up in answers to these questions?

1. Do we have a safe disposal system?
2. Do we have a safe and adequate water system? Meaning one that supplies water that is pure, and sufficient in quantity and pressure for all legitimate purposes, including fire fighting?

3. Are there unsightly buildings and yards on Main Street?

4. Are there any "Death Corners" on the streets—spots where obstacles to vision or movement increase hazards to life?

5. Do we need a civic center, including a municipal auditorium?

6. Do we need more playgrounds, with adequate supervision?

7. Is our town just growing up like Topsy, with no plan or system of development?

8. In the growth of our town, are certain features of natural beauty being sacrificed without compensating advantages? If so, we may be losing opportunities to create a personality, a distinction, for our town, something we can be proud of. A hill in the center of our town may be better as a site for a park, with a noble monument, than a showplace for a few houses.

9. Are there unsightly barnyards and outhouses in the residential districts?

—The Pyramid (Mt. Pleasant, Utah)

Inflation-Hit Churches Need Help

Inflation has not spared America's churches.

Rising costs have forced many churches to curtail youth and missionary activities of benefit to the entire community. Other churches have had to postpone desperately-needed repairs. And many are the churches that have had to close their doors to the public more often because of the bloated cost of maintenance.

How then can churches, struggling to break even, hope to expand their activities to meet the nation's pressing need for moral enlightenment and spiritual direction?

The answer is an old one. We, the members of their congregations, must make gifts to the churches in a spirit of willingness that clearly demonstrates a will to serve.

Of this willingness, the 35th chapter of Exodus says, "Every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing," brought offerings to the tabernacle of the congregation.

While the souls of worshipers will always be the most beautiful adornment of cathedrals, temples and churches, concrete evidence of a willingness to give must also be present.

Recognizing the crippling effect of inflation upon churches with limited incomes, we must make ample offerings to the church that their effective use may help to spread the glorious message of peace and love throughout the world.

And we must remember that willingness is at the heart of all true worship.

Karnes Recital A HighlightOUTSTANDING RESPONSE GIVEN MUSIC WEEK PROGRAM SERIES

With a series of five events, Collingsworth County observed Music Week, May 6 through 11, presenting a brilliant local pianist now in advanced study; a visiting group of musicians; and visiting student chorus, and three programs featuring county students.

A highlight of the week was the piano recital of Benny Karnes, now a junior music student in North Texas State College, Denton. He played Monday night, May 7, before an audience which expressed its sincere and delighted enjoyment of his numbers.

Many of the qualities of a young artist appear in his playing. He displayed a brilliant technique, a touch that is light in weight, exquisite tone, ranging from forte to a feathery pianissimo. All these go for a properly balanced musical performance.

Karnes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Karnes of Houselog, gave

"Toccata in E Minor," Bach; "Sonata, Op. 10, No. 3," Beethoven; "Rhapsody in B Minor," Brahms; Chopin's "Harp Etude" and "Premiere Ballade."

Due to weather conditions and a number of other scheduled events, only a small crowd heard the Memphis Harmony Club in the closing program Friday night. The group, directed by Mary Foreman, was without some of its principal musicians, however, they rendered a program of well-loved instrumental and vocal music. The outstanding feature to those who heard the performance was the enthusiasm of this group of business men and women and housewives who sing and play these recitals for the love they have for music.

One solo artist was Jeanne Way, a former resident, and her mother, Mrs. Tom Way was a member of the chorus.

Student performers drew the largest crowds.

Wellington's high school band and chorus were heard in an outstanding program Tuesday night, May 8, when parents and music lovers were graphically shown what can be done with a group of boys and girls with proper training. Rufus Johnson, band director, was in charge.

Perhaps the largest crowd attended the County Music Festival, when solo and ensemble numbers—vocal, instrumental and dancing, were presented. This performance showed more completely some of the outstanding musical talent to be found among the boys and girls of the county.

The first program of Music Week, Sunday, May 6, was given by the members of the Music Club, which was directly in charge of the week's activities. A mixed chorus, piano duets by Mrs. Argie Jones and Mrs. Darvin Nix, and Mrs. Kelly Pigg and Mrs. Frank Anderson; violin numbers by Mrs. Pat Swift, and talks by Miss Katherine Boverie and Dr. C. B. Jones made up the program.

Music Week was sponsored by the City Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Pat Swift was Music Week chairman.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

A man can stand going broke when all his neighbors are in hard shape also; but it is intolerable to go broke when everybody else is prospering. That is about our fix on the weather. Up to Wednesday most of the Panhandle had from 4 to 8 inches of rainfall; but here we have not had enough moisture to wet the whistle of a humming bird.

But keep up your hopes. We still have a chance during the next two days.

Coffee should get cheaper; but it probably won't for Brazilian officials are studying price support measures. The stockpile in the United States is the largest in history and the Brazilian crop is two million bags larger than last year.

Ben Hurst is angry and rightly so. The other afternoon he drove out to his farm and found five mongrel dogs with one of his sheep down. He grabbed his rifle and got two of them; but three of them escaped and once having taken part in a kill they will be back and probably there will be other dogs with them. Wonder why he does not call in the government trapper. Zook Thomas and A. J. Fries both tell me that the cyanide bombs can be put out on farms if the owner of the land will sign permission. That ought to take care of a lot of mongrels. During the years when they were trying to raise sheep, Andy Bell and Bob Glenn told me that dogs did far more damage than coyotes.

There are a lot of dogs running around town that have not been vaccinated. There is a city ordinance that says this is unlawful. These unvaccinated dogs that do not have a tag should be eliminated. I love dogs; but there should be reason and control in all things. For instance, I have my dog vaccinated every year.

Steve Owens is going to start manufacturing Duncan Hines Ice Cream. This is something for Wellington; for very few firms have this franchise in this whole area. The standards are rigid and the ice cream has to have more butter fat than those provided by the government standards as well as a number of other specified requirements. Steve has spent thousands in getting his plant in shape to meet the strict requirements of the Duncan Hines franchise and he has to live up to them or the franchise can be taken away on short notice. Anyhow the ice cream is wonderful and it is one more Wellington product. It could be a stimulus to the dairy business around Wellington.

I see by Bill Hughes column in the paper last week that some parents do not understand the function of the Civil Air Patrol. They seem to think that it will get them nearer the military. This is not so. C. A. P. is a civilian organization similar to the Boy Scouts. Its function is to teach all they can about aviation and to serve as a defense unit in times of emergency. It has nothing to do with when anyone will be inducted into the Armed Forces.

Cecil Trimble, who works for Horton and Harwell, caught a coon on Wolfe Creek; but he did not do it with a trap. He had baited a fish hook with liver and was fishing for catfish. He anchored the rod and went off down the creek. When he came back, he knew he had something and thought at first it was a extra large catfish. After an intense struggle he got the coon out and killed it and brought it in so that he could prove that he was not telling a fish story. How can he prove that he was not telling a coon tale?

What is skunk grease? I thought that it was something that the hill billy comedians mentioned on the radio. But my sister Hattie Dee tells of a student who once came to the Wellington schools smelling odoriferous. The lad explained that he had trapped a skunk and had been helping his mother make skunk grease. They used it to cure colds, he said. The odor was making some of the town boys and girls sick; so the lad was asked if he would not like to go to the library and study. The boy stoutly maintained that he wanted to study in the classroom; so the principal got him in his car and took him home.

What are the beneficial uses of skunk grease? Will somebody write a letter to the paper about it.

I used to trap skunks, skin them and sell them to Eads Produce when I was a boy. I tacked the skins up and dried them on the sunny side of the smokehouse. My father did not favor the project for he was afraid that it would affect the flavor of our ham and bacon of which he was so proud; but he couldn't say much for he was a constant preacher about thrift, work and enterprise and he had definitely ordered me to go out and trap the skunks about the barn, which I did. After all, I had been lectured on thrift and enterprise and I could see no reason for foregoing that $1.50 that old man Eads would pay me for each hide. If he could have figured out a way to do without losing face, I think my father would have been glad to have paid me $1.50 a skunk and taken them out and buried them himself. But he believed in his teaching just as much as he believed in keeping his word; so he held his nose and let me dry my skins on the smokehouse wall.

A STUDY IN BLONDE — Actress Alice Faye, wife of singer-bandleader Phil Harris, gets a pre-mother's day peck on each cheek from her pretty blonde daughters, Alice, left and Phyllis. The nearness of mother's day helped put the girls in an affectionate mood, but the new bicycles they received may have had something to do with it too.

In those days I thought that my father was a hard man. Now I have a young son of my own. And it is only now that I realize what subtle, savage boyish psychological cruelties that I practiced on my father in an effort to get what I wanted. It was battle of wills.

Trees and plants have a way of protecting themselves against the animal kingdom. For instance the giant redwoods of California have so much tannic acid in their bark that an insect is tanned and dead before it can pierce the bark. Here we know of the loco weeds, cactus, shiner and cockleburrs that have their own way of protecting themselves either by spines or poison. Snakeroot is not innoxious to Texas. It is the pretty plant that produces milk sickness. History says that Abraham Lincoln's mother died as the result of milk fever. It sickens the cow; but it makes her milk a deadly poison. Scientists still don't know how it works to make the milk of a cow a deadly poison.

Bennett Cerf: "Palmer Hoyt, editor of the Denver Post, told George Allen the story of a Utah citizen named Al Packer, white, single, and Republican, who set out with five companions on a gold-hunting expedition in 1873. Some two months later Packer returned alone, suspiciously well-heeled, and soon ugly stories were in circulation. Packer was finally brought to trial, charged with killing — and eating! — the other five. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The jury was solidly Republican, but the Judge, M. B. Gerry, was a Democrat. He thundered, 'Alfred Packer, you man-eating scoundrel, stand up! I hereby sentence you, you depraved Republican cannibal, to hang by the neck till dead. There were only six Democrats in this county, and by God, you've et five

PLANS DRAWN FOR PERMANENT UNIT UNDER BOYS RANCH PLAN

This drawing of Boy's Ranch's first permanent unit in the new expansion program was chosen from a group of 20 plans submitted by members of the Fifth Year Architectural Class at Texas A. & M.

The unit will house 24 boys, 4 to a room, and has a large living and recreation room. Also, there are quarters for a man and his wife, who will supervise the group of boys living in the building, thus providing closer contact and opportunity for better guidance and individual attention.

Members of the A. & M. class spent three days, last December at the Ranch, and went back to A. & M. to compete for the best unit design. Then the best portions of each design were consolidated to make the final plan which is tailored to the type of boys living at the Ranch, and the life they lead. The students have also worked together on all the other proposed buildings and a 25-year site plan as a class project.

Boys' Ranch expansion has been made necessary by an increasing number of requests to help homeless and unwanted boys and boys who are in trouble. Beside housing, a vocational school, larger grade and high school, and increased recreational facilities are planned.

Memphis Owls Down 13 to 5

Dukes Win First Game Amateur League Play

The Dukes of Wellington took the opening game of the Red River Valley Amateur League play from the Memphis Owls 13 to 5, despite weather conditions so difficult that players at times could hardly keep track of the ball, and fielders were in a state of uncertainty throughout the play.

Coached by Charles Duvall, Quail high school coach, the Dukes turned in a well integrated performance and both teams made surprisingly few errors.

Tabor, Wellington pitcher and third baseman, turned in the first home run of Red River Valley Amateur play, followed shortly by a homer from Duvall of Memphis. The competing Duvalls are brothers, both high school coaches. The Memphis player is a member of the Estelline faculty.

Biggest thrill of the game came when Leonard Hoyt, center fielder for the Dukes, caught Hickey's long fly in the 9th to give the Wellington team a distinct advantage.

Rippetoe and Tabor did the pitching for Wellington, and each turned in a remarkable performance. Rippetoe struck out 11 men in 5 innings, allowed 6 hits and walked two men. Tabor fanned 5 men in four innings, allowed 4 hits and walked four men.

W. Fowler and Muse were on the mound for Memphis. Fowler allowed 6 hits, walked three men and struck out eight in 6 innings. Muse allowed 11 hits, walked two men and struck out two in three innings.

Duvall and Jenkins turned in the best playing for the Owls, each getting two hits, including Duvall's home run.

Wellington's Charles Duvall got four hits and four runs, Tinney three, Tabor 2, including his home run, Neeley two and Francis two doubles.

Tabor's home run came in the third and Duvall's in the fourth, both balls going over the left field fence. Both fans and players conceded the wind had a lot to do with these, but the thrill was still there.

Bartlett, Duke first baseman, was hit on the head with a pitched ball in the 7th inning, but continued to play through the game. Tinney, Wellington, and Stargel, Memphis, were also hit but were not injured.

Box Score:
Team	R	H	E
Wellington	13	17	1
Memphis	5	10	4

Players:			pos.	Memphis
Wellington	2b	Duvall
Tinney	3b	Jenkins

McAllister	ss	Stargel
Duvall	c	Gaston
Hoyt	cf	Corley
Neeley	rf	Pearce
Bartlett	1b	Grundy

On the Memphis team, West went in for Jenkins in the sixth inning; Spry for Stargel in the sixth; and Muse for W. Fowler in the 7th.

Wileys to Texas Bankers Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wiley of the First National Bank were in Dallas Monday and Tuesday attending the 76th annual convention of the Texas Bankers Association. Principal speaker was Marriner S. Eccles, a governor of the Federal Reserve System, who told the bankers that unless defense preparations are designed within a framework of what the country can pay for, "the very economic system they seek to protect may be destroyed."

Many people, he declared, fail to realize that a global war would destroy the system Americans live under. And, he continued, "regimentation or further inflation, even if war is avoided, will ultimately lead to the destruction of our capitalistic democracy."

He advocated a foreign policy designed on the basis of what we can pay for currently, and our fiscal program supported by a restrictive monetary and credit policy, together with such limited direct controls as the situation may require.

More than 2,000 bankers and their wives registered for the meeting. Mr. Wiley is president of the First National Bank.

She and Mr. Hall were married in June, 1943, and before moving here, Mr. Hall's former home, they lived in Albuquerque, N. M.

have a nice ball club," J. M. Strong declared. "We're mighty lucky to have Sonny Duvall as manager and coach. Duke players remember that on the three of four games that Hobart, Okla., beat us last year, it was Duvall's playing that did it."

"We hope that every ball fan in Collingsworth County will be out at Marian Airpark Sunday afternoon to see the Dukes play. These are boys you know. They can play ball, and you'll see them do it. This year's players are not paid and they're playing because they want to build up baseball in Wellington."

Earl Tompkins will be umpire. Season tickets are now on sale, covering the 21 home games the Dukes will play.

Night games start after May 27, and playing will be Tuesday and Thursday nights at 8:15 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. There will probably be several exhibition games.

Repairs on the grandstand are practically complete, but work is continuing on the playing field, which will be in first class condition by Sunday.

To all appearances, the Red River Valley Amateur League will go through the season with only four teams, Wellington, Memphis, Childress and Quanah. The latter two teams have not yet played.

The playing schedules, revised this week, are due to be out Friday, Mr. Strong said.

Mrs. Watts - (Continued from Page One)

she was 69 years, 3 months and 12 days of age.

Mrs. Watts grew up in Fannin County, and was married in Franklin County to J. W. Watts in 1898. They moved to Childress County in 1906, residing until 1921, when they came to this county.

She was a member of the Methodist Church at Fresno and for many years was active in church affairs. Deeply devoted to her family and her friends, she worked in many ways to make her home community a better place for them.

During the time she lived in Wellington, flowers were Mrs. Watts' hobby, and these she raised not only for her own pleasure, but by generously sharing them, she made them a pleasure to many friends.

Ill health had made her less active during recent years, but she never complained of her own illness, and the simple joys of home and family life gave her deep pleasure that was an inspiration to those around her.

Gypsy Camp Is Location Of Dodson Banquet May 4

A Gypsy Camp was made in the school cafeteria of the Dodson school Friday night, May 4, with the school faculty, members of the school board, and the Juniors and Seniors of the high school joining together in the festivities of the camp.

The walls were covered with forest murals and the floor was covered with grass. As the guests arrived, they were greeted by the Gypsy waitresses dressed in costumes. They were seated at a large horseshoe table covered with floral cloths. Arrangements of white snowballs and blue iris were placed along the table. Candles were placed in rustic holders which had been made from tree limbs. Tripods held nut cups and place cards.

Miss Zada Cook, Pvt. McGill Marry Saturday

In an impressive single ring ceremony read Saturday afternoon, May 12, in the First Baptist Church by Rev. Howard Jones, pastor, Miss Zada Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cook of Wellington, became the bride of Pvt. George Raymond McGill, son of Glenn McGill of Quail.

The altar was banked with baskets of red roses and arrangements of emerald fern and palms. Candelabra held stately white tapers, which were lighted by Miss Patsy Harper and Miss Nelda Nipper.

Miss Jerry Reeves, pianist, played "Romance" and "Always" preceding the ceremony, with "Because" played softly during the recitation of the vows. The traditional wedding marches were used as the processional and recessional.

Miss Vada Cook, twin sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of pale green organza over white satin. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow roses. Her head-dress was of white satin to which was fastened a single yellow rose.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was lovely in an informal, ballerina length gown of white chantilly lace over heavy bridal satin. The dress was of strapless design, over which was worn a tiny jacket of matching lace, fashioned with tiny sleeves, a high collar, and scalloped edge. The immense skirt was scalloped around the bottom. Her shoulder length veil of white nylon net fell from a white crown shaped bandeau of lace. White satin pumps completed her attire.

In her hand, she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and snapdragons. The Bible, something borrowed of her attire, belonged to her mother, and something blue were tiny blue earrings.

Best man was Howard McGill, brother of the groom, while groomsmen were Gene Cook, brother of the bride, and Billy Wauer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cook chose a dress of navy linen, fashioned with a yoke of matching lace. She chose navy accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. McGill is a member of the senior class of Wellington High School, and will graduate with the spring class. Pvt. McGill is a graduate of San Benito High School, and attended Brownsville Junior College one semester before entering the U. S. Army. At present he is stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, being transferred from Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, recently.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception honoring the young couple was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red roses. The four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was placed at one end of the table and a crystal punch service at the other. After Mr. and Mrs. McGill cut the first slice of the cake, it was served to the guests by Miss Nelda Nipper. Miss Patsy Harper presided at the punch service.

As the couple left for a short wedding trip, Mrs. McGill was wearing a suit of pink slyna cloth with navy accessories. She wore the white roses from her bridal bouquet as a corsage.

Cherry, Mrs. Loye Murry and Marietta, and Howard Moore, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Jimmy Ringgold and Jerry Nell of Oklahoma City; Sgt. and Mrs. Benny Moore of San Antonio, and Miss Frankie Cherry of Big Spring.

They ran to all sides of the room, creating a lovely decorative ceiling for the gala event.

On either side were branched candelabra holding lighted blue tapers. Each person giving a part of the program stepped through the arch.

Grain Sorghum Price Support Raised to $2.17

The County PMA Office has been notified that the Production and Marketing Administration has announced an increase in the price support for the 1951 grain sorghums crop. The support level was increased from $1.88 per hundred pounds to $2.17, Millard Brown, PMA secretary, said.

This increase in the support price was brought about to encourage farmers to plant a larger acreage to feed grains.

It has been determined that we are using at the present time more feed grains than we are producing. The rate of feeding per animal unit during the current feeding season has been the highest on record. Feeding present large numbers of livestock and poultry at this high rate will result in the feed grain carryover this year being reduced by more than 20 per cent from last year's level. Unless we get substantially larger feed grain production than now appears to be in prospect, and a successful program of grain conservation, producers may have to reduce livestock and poultry output, J. A. Coleman, chairman of the PMA Committee pointed out.

U. N. Davis of Dodson this week announced the opening of the Dodson Laundry, a helpy-self service laundry.

Mr. Davis said that six machines have been installed, along with a water softener and latest type extractor and dryer.

Mr. Davis, in announcing the opening, extended a cordial invitation to his friends to come in and get acquainted with the business.

Highway Crossing Signs Added

Additional highway crossing signs have been installed on each side of the M-K-T railway crossing on Highway 83, C. W. Campbell, superintendent of the operating department of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines at Wichita Falls, has written Jack Gibson, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The C-C had requested that the railroad give further protection to prevent the recurrence of car-train accidents, such as one which occurred several months ago.

Mr. Campbell said that he had made an inspection of this crossing and also had a tree on each side of the road, 40 feet north of the track, removed.

"I am placing a speed restriction of eight miles per hour for all trains moving over this crossing," Mr. Campbell wrote.

He pointed out, however, that the State standard yellow railroad warning signs are located 435 feet north of the crossing and 525 feet south of the crossing, and added that with only two trains per day operating, both in daylight, he does not feel the standard flashing light crossing signs, which has an initial cost of from $6,500 to $7,000, justified.

The Chamber of Commerce has also asked added signals at the Fort Worth and Denver crossings in Wellington, Mr. Gibson said.

Tyler, in Smith County, was named for John Tyler, tenth President of the United States, who signed the bill which admitted Texas to the union.

Trickham, in Coleman County, was so named because of an early-day merchant who was always playing tricks on the cowboys.

WELLINGTON SCOUTS GETTING READY FOR SUMMER CAMP

The Wellington Rotary Club's Boy Scout Troop 32 will attend the Adobe Walls Council's Camp Ki-O-Wah for one week, June 10-16, under the leadership of their Scoutmaster, Sandy K. Parsons, Jr. To date, reservations for 16 Boy Scouts have been sent to the Council Office.

Some parents of Scouts in Wellington have expressed reluctance in allowing their sons to attend Camp, and the following information is offered as an attempt to answer some of the questions which may have caused doubt in the minds of these parents, John Pound, field executive for the Southern district of the Adobe Walls Council, said.

Food — the unwritten Scout Law is: "A Scout is Hungry." The meals at Camp Ki-O-Wah are prepared under the most modern and clean conditions by Mr. Scofield, who has been cook at Camp for the past seven seasons. Perishable foods are stored under electric refrigeration, and menus are prepared with the highest nutritional values, and the appetites of young Scouts, in mind.

Shelter — The Scouts camp, by Troops, in 8 x 10 wall tents which are pitched on wooden platforms. Three boys are quartered in each tent. The floors make it possible for the Scouts to keep off the ground when it is wet. In case of very bad weather the Scouts are kept in the Dining Lodge until the skies clear sufficiently to allow them to return to their tents.

Health — Each Scout and leader is required to have a physical examination before he leaves for Camp, and then is given a re-check by a physician when he checks in at Camp Ki-O-Wah. Any recommendations made by the re-check Doctor are followed to the letter. In case of serious illness or injury the Scout is taken to the hospital in Canadian, and his parents notified immediately.

Activities — Outdoors all of the time possible. Archery range, rifle range, activities yard (for Scouting advancement), and the waterfront area are under constant, qualified, adult guidance and leadership. All rules of safety are strictly adhered to.

Associations — The finest. Each Troop is required to have an adult, approved by the Troop Committee (Scoutmaster or other), in attendance a Camp Ki-O-Wah during the whole time the Troop is in Camp. Scouts meet other Scouts from towns covering a 15-county area — eat in the same Dining Lodge with them, sit and sing around the campfire with them. The Camp Staff is headed by a corps of three Professional Scouters, especially trained for this work, and the members of the Junior Staff have been carefully screened before their selection. The Scout Oath and Scout Law are the Law of the Camp.

Visitors — Parents and friends of the Scouts in camp are urged to visit Camp Ki-O-Wah on Thursday evening of each week, however, the camp will not be able to provide meals for the visitors, and suggests that they either eat in Canadian before coming out to Camp, or bring a picnic supper with them.

"Camp Ki-O-Wah is the 'high point' of a Scout's year. It is the culmination of all the overnight and weekend camping he has been doing all year. It is the time when he can test all of the skills he has learned about living in the open. From the standpoint of sheer pleasure and enjoyment, to a Scout, it is tops. In the teaching of the skills of living with others, citizenship, and all the things that good Scouting stand for, it is the ideal.

"Folks, don't disappoint your son — it's Camp Ki-O-Wah time!" Pound said.

OPS Specialist Here May 23

In order to keep businessmen of this area abreast of the rapidly expanding federal pricing program, the Office of Price Stabilization will send another price specialist to Wellington next Wednesday morning, May 23, to conduct a price clinic. The local chamber of commerce announced he would set up his office for the day at the county court room.

Fidel R. Eggel, specialist in the Industrial Material and Mfg'd Goods Branch is assigned to this area on that day as a part of a rotation system worked out by the Lubbock district OPS office in order to acquaint all types of businessmen with the price program. However, he will be able to assist businessmen in all fields.

Mr. Eggel reminded operators of firms that most of the dead lines for compliance had passed; excepting the May 30 deadline for department stores, variety stores, furniture stores, and others handling consumer durable goods to file their pricing charts with the district office of Office of Price Stabilization, Broadway Building, 1202 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas.

Grocery stores were required to be in full compliance by May 14, with the new beef regulations at all levels effective, from the slaughterer to the retail stores. However, retailers of beef have until June 4 to post ceiling prices on beef.

All businessmen are invited and urged to consult with the OPS representatives when they are in the area for price clinics. The agency is seeking voluntary compliance with all regulations.

Hoyt Lee Langley, seaman apprentice, USCG, of Quail, Texas, is a crew member aboard the coast guard cutter USS Nike, one of the ships which engaged in an extensive search of the Gulf of Mexico in the attempt to rescue survivors after the collision of two American tankers.

The tankers smashed into each other during a heavy pre-dawn fog. In all, 39 lives were lost from the merchant vessels. A rescue armada of seventy-seven Coast Guard patrol bombers, and six Navy amphibious aircraft participated in the search and rescue operation. In five days the vessels combed over a thousand square miles surrounding the scene of the crash.

For their part in the episode, the entire crew of the Nike received a "well-done" from the Commander, Eighth Coast Guard District, and another from the Commander, Naval Eastern Sea Frontier.

Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. — Pvt. Leonard Marchbanks, son of Mrs. Edith Seigler, 364 D Rio Grande, Amarillo, was graduated recently from a special auto mechanic's school operated here by the Sixth Armored Division. Class members received certificates of graduation from school officers at exercises conducted on completion of the course.

Pvt. Marchbanks is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Marchbanks of the Needwood community, with whom he made his home for a number of years. He was born here and attended the Needwood school and Samnorwood high school before going to Amarillo.

Graduates of the course will be given assignments with units either here or at other spots where they will employ their newly acquired skill. Selection for enrollment in the school is based upon natural aptitude and previous civilian experience.

Prior to entering the service last November, Marchbanks was employed by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling company in Amarillo.

es in the Korean area as a crew member aboard the patrol frigate USS Burlington.

The Burlington operated with Task Force 95 during a Naval siege on 250 miles of Korea's northwest coast recently. In this operation, the force directed intensified bombardment into shore installations at Wonsan, Songjin and Chongjin, destroying communist shore emplacements and severing Red supply lines in those areas.

The concentration of Naval fire power continued through fair and foul weather, with enemy fortifications exposed at night by brilliant star-shells. The task group lobbed an average of one high-explosive shell every minute within the city limits during the blasting of Wonsan.

Task Force 95, known as the United Nations Blockading and Escort Force, is composed of ships from eight nations.

Jimmy Breeding's Calf Brings Day's High

FFA and 4-H Boys Market Calves at Oklahoma City; Study Marketing

By LEE CHRISTIE
Another feeding year was closed last week for a number of FFA and 4-H Club boys of Collingsworth County when a group of 30 took their calves to the Oklahoma City Market.

The boys loaded out their calves on a truck furnished free of charge by Cudd Brothers Sunday, May 6, at 10:30 a.m. The boys and instructors went on a Samnorwood school bus. Both boys and calves arrived in Oklahoma City late Sunday afternoon.

Upon arrival, each boy who had a calf consigned it to one of the commission firms on the yard, just as if he had a truck load. The boys followed their calves to see them penned and fed.

On Monday morning the boys were at the stock yards before the market opened at 8:00 a.m. Each boy who had a calf went to his respective commission firm. Those not having calves were also placed with other commission firms. The boy observed the methods of buying and selling on a major market. They saw how a market was made through the trading of buyers and commission men. They noticed the number of bidders who arrived at their pens and how the salesman from the commission firm strove for a higher price.

After the calves were sold and the boys had seen them weighed, they were guests of Wilson and Co. for a free lunch.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in receiving instruction on market classes and grades of cattle. The facilities for this part of the study was furnished by Armour and Co. with Frank O'Neil, head cattle buyer, in charge. From 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. was spent in seeing the state capitol building, zoo and other interesting parts of town.

On Tuesday morning the boys received instruction in market classes and grades of hogs. This also was handled by hog buyers of Armour and Co. The boys then toured the meat packing plant of the company and saw their animals graded as carcass beef. After another free meal furnished by Armour and Co., the boys started home.

While on the yards, they heard a cattleman say that one man could feed 800 head of cattle. They wanted to see it. On the way back they stopped by the feeding pens of Jake Simms at Hobart, Okla. They saw the facilities, but due to market controls there were only about 200 cattle on feed in the pens at that time. Mr. Sims was using cottonseed hulls, corn, hogari, grain, dehydrated alfalfa meal, cottonseed meal, mineral and salt for the ration. Grain was costing 45 cents per pound.

The highest priced calf on the market that day was $97 per hundred. This calf belonged to Jimmy Breeding of Samnorwood and weighed 1080 pounds. Troy Clark sold 4 calves for $34 and one for $33 per cwt. Troy Ledbetter marketed one calf for $34 cwt. Two calves consigned by Billy Ray Alexander sold for $34.50; Harvey Pat Bradley's calf brought $35 cwt. Franklin Knoll sold a calf at $35 cwt. Hugh Kutch sold four calves at $34 and Bill Warrick's calf was sent in the group and sold at $34.

Boys making the tour but not consigning calves were Thurman Taylor, Gordon Simpson, James Massey, Joe Schaub, George Cunningham, Jerry Martindale, Bobby Roberts, Charles Shields, Dail Clark, L. B. Cornell, Harrel Kendrick, Keith Whitfield, John Thomas, John Ferris, Ben Ratliff, Jack Aaron, Ray Bradshaw, Jesse Young, Donald Lange, Tom Davis, Bill Winkler, Mearon Langley and Alvin Homer.

The trip was supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Buck Breeding and Karon, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Knoll; County Agent J. W. Thomas, Frank Kennedy and O. L. Christie, vocational agriculture instructors at Quail and Samnorwood.

GRENADOLESS RIDGWAY—Unlike most pictures of Lt.-Gen. Matthew Ridgway, the one above shows the new Far East commander minus a hand grenade attached to the shoulder of his uniform. The fact that the general was leaving church services in Tokyo probably explains the absence of his trademark.

This marketing tour was made possible by the Coop Gin, Chamber of Commerce, the County Farm Bureau, and by Cudd Brothers, who transported the beef calves to Oklahoma City market.

Vacation Has Its Problems

AUSTIN—Summer is here, and boys and girls will soon be out of school. More people usually drive in summer than at other times. There are more ball games and opportunities for chasing the ball out into the street to regain it. These, and many other summer situations, call for added caution to keep people safe says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

According to statistics, 9,900 pedestrians were killed in motor vehicle accidents in our country in a year, and 230,000 persons were injured in a single year. These figures would indicate that both drivers and pedestrians have much to learn.

The pedestrian is often his own worst enemy. Ignorance of the rules of the road, failure to understand the problems of the driver, and carelessness about reading signs and observing safe walking habits are the causes of many pedestrian accidents.

Children interested in a game, or absorbed in a certain activity, are apt to run out into the street from the walk, or behind a parked car and pay dearly for this action. People do not want to make children fearful, but through understanding safe practices, they want them to be confident and responsible for themselves.

Those who ride bicycles are the cause of certain types of accidents. A few safety rules for them are: ride close to the right curb or to the right side of the highway; obey all traffic rules; refuse handie bar rides; and refrain from hitching to autos, buses or streetcars.

When walking on a highway at night, wear or carry something white. This should be worn or carried as low as possible so that car headlights, which are directed downward will pick it up.

Elizabeth Taylor, Johnson Co-Star

Van Johnson is an honor student whose chances at making good with a big law firm are impaired socially by the fact that he once almost drowned in a monastery cellar filled with century-old brandy. As a result, even one sniff of spirits sends him into an alcoholic spin. Elizabeth Taylor is the boss's daughter who is determined to cure Van of his curious malady. Mike is a dog—who talks! Between the three of them, they make M-G-M's "The Big Hangover," showing at the Ritz Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 20, 21 and 22, one of the most original and uproarious comedies to reach the screen in a long, long time.

"The Big Hangover" is Norman Krasna's triple-threat creation. He wrote it, directed it and produced it. And he has infused all three of these arts with a brilliance, originality and wit that makes this extraordinary story not only completely believable but preposterously funny, from the very opening sequence in which Van is narrowly saved from disgracing himself when he is forced to drink a toast on his employer's birthday, to the drama's climactic episode in which the idealistic neophyte lawyer (again influenced by alcohol) denounces his superiors as hypocrites and resigns from an assured future to fight for the right of the humble. And Miss Taylor sticks to Van to the end because she is in no doubt but what he will one day become President of the United States!

Van Johnson and Elizabeth Taylor are ideally teamed in this constantly diverting comedy. Johnson has a field day of laughs in the scenes in which he tries to cure himself of his alcohol allergy by experimenting with a teaspoonful of brandy and is convinced that his dog is making wisecracks at him. He is equally effective in the idealistic moments when he attempts to set the world on its feet overnight. The eye-filling Miss Taylor also has a romping time as the amateur psychiatrist who bravely tackles her toughest case, and there are splendid performances on the part of Percy Waram and Fay Holden as Elizabeth's knowing parents, Leon Amcs as the honest aide to the district attorney, Selena Royle and Edgar Buchanan as Van's battling aunt and uncle, and Gene Lockhart as the law firm partner whose greatest delight is to get Van drunk. Then there is Mike, a tail-wagger of dubious Airdale ancestry, who is a scene-stealer if there ever was one. Just wait until you hear him talk!

We can safely predict that "The Big Hangover" will keep audiences laughing for months to come. Even Leo the Lion had to grin at this one.

More Castor Bean Seed Available

An additional 900 pounds of castor beans is available to farmers of the county wishing to plant acreage this year, Frank Kennedy, vocational agriculture teacher at Quail, has announced.

This is part of a 3,000 pound order received, but two thirds of the shipment has already gone out to growers. This makes a total of 23,000 pounds distributed in Collingsworth County and the area immediately surrounding.

The germination in this last shipment is not as high as in the first, Mr. Kennedy said, but they are good seed and the grower will simply have to plant a little thicker.

Persons wishing to buy these seed should contact Mr. Kennedy before Friday morning, or after Monday morning.

Miss Joy Lamkin, who is attending college at North Texas State at Denton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lamkin and family, over the week end. She also came to attend the funeral of Mrs. G. T. Austin.

Moore Announces Notary Procedure

County Clerk J. M. Moore has received notification from the office of Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd on the procedure to be followed in the reappointment of qualified notaries public whose terms expire June 1, and the appointment of new notaries.

The reappointment of all presently qualified notaries of Collingsworth County will be made by Secretary of State Shepperd by May 20, and each reappointed notary must qualify with the County Clerk on June 1, file oath and bond and pay the statutory filing fee to the Clerk in order to serve as a qualified notary for the new term, June 1, 1951 to June 1, 1953. After all reappointed notaries have qualified, the clerk will forward Certificates of Qualification and filing fees to the Secretary of State. Individual notaries are not to send money to the State office.

Terms of all presently qualified notaries expire on June 1, and a notary cannot qualify for the 1951-53 term before that date, irrespective of reappointment or new appointment.

Persons applying through the County Clerks for notary appointments for the first time will receive appointments, effective on the date of qualification. A Certificate of Appointment on each person applying for the first time will be sent to the Secretary of State for approval and then returned to the County Clerk, after which the person will be notified to appear within 10 days to qualify before the Clerk.

In the instructions received from Shepperd, he stated, "An applicant must be 21 years of age or older and a resident of the county in which he intends to act as a notary. It is important that the exact name of the applicant be given and that this name be used on all documents signed by the person. He must also give his correct mailing address."

Marriage Licenses

Only one marriage licenses was issued during the past week by County Clerk J. M. Moore, and that was to George Ray McGill and Miss Zada Cook, Collingsworth County, May 10.

Beryl Faulkner was in Amarillo Monday on business.

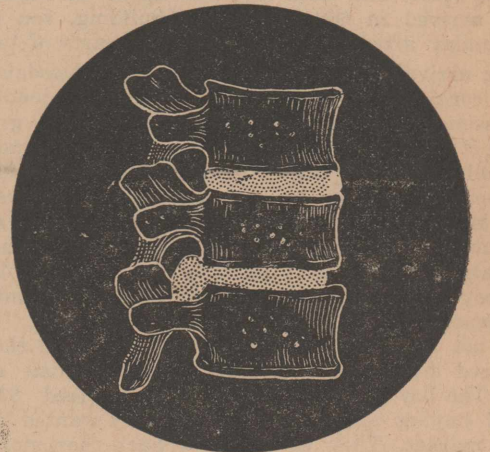

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW . . . ABOUT "SLIPPED DISCS"!

While Chiropractors agree that surgery may be desirable in extreme "slipped disc" cases, there is a preponderance of evidence that "slipped disc" is a catch-all phrase often used to explain many back ailments, that in reality are caused by vertebral subluxation.

The outward symptoms of a "slipped disc" case and one which is the result of a vertebral subluxation (slightly displaced vertebra) are often the same. The Science of Chiropractic has specialized in the treatment of such spinal conditions for more than fifty years and has developed methods which have afforded relief to many "back-sufferers" without resort to surgery. This fact is attested to by the results of a recent nation-wide survey involving thousands of cases.

If you suffer from frequently recurring low back pain, which may extend into the legs or if you have been told that you have "slipped disc", consult a Chiropractor and have him examine your spine.

The Chiropractors today are licensed by the State of Texas, and are required to meet high educational standards.

The drawing here shows the normal position of a disc and a "herniated disc." The intervertebral disc consists of an outside capsule which normally is a tough white fibrous tissue holding an elastic pulpy mass. It functions as a shock absorber, and holds the vertebrae apart. The disc allows great flexibility of the spine, but at the same time helps hold the vertebrae in good alignment. You will notice in the drawing how a part of the disc has the appearance of being "squeezed".

CAUSES
The three most probable causes of true rupture of a disc are:
1. Great traumatic force, such as a fall.
2. Pathological weakness of a disc resulting from diminished nerve energy supply.
3. A combination of the two above conditions.

*Information contained in this ad was based on a study by a committee on research, International Chiropractic Assn., of 1,000 herniated and slipped disc cases cared for by Chiropractors during the past three years.
