How To Keep From Growing Old! This Birdman Needs No Airplane

Up in the air about his job, Bunny Dryden walks off his hotel roof for an upside-down aerial view of the city as he does his daily dozen on a tight rope high above the streets of Los Angeles, where he performed at a showmen's convention.

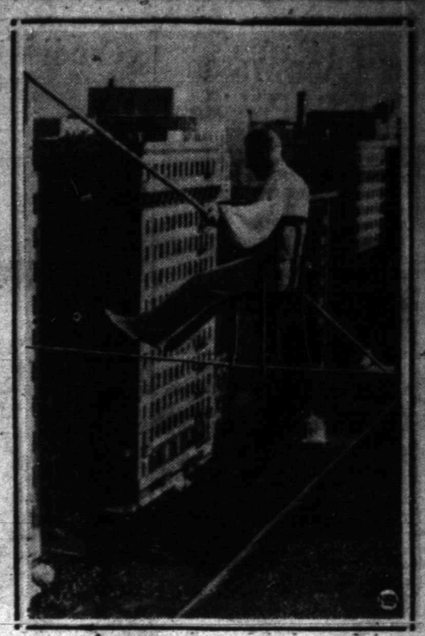

A little warming up has put Dryden on his toes, so he tries a stroll over the avenue with a pretty girl balanced on his shoulders. She seems to be using his head for steering—as if they were going any place except straight ahead.

Now he has come out alone for some fancy tricks, good for several thousand stiff necks among those craning spectators on the sidewalks far below. Dryden's only stage "prop"—aside from the tight rope—is the balancing pole he holds in his hands, and the soft shoes which help him grip the rope.

Exciting as it is for the spectator, after all it must be boresome for the performer. So Dryden gets a groan of anguish from the spectators by taking a rest, with apparently no safeguard but the pole and a toe curled over the rope.

But there's nothing like a chair for comfort, so Dryden carries this one out and takes his curtain calls sitting down. Maybe it is not visible from the street, but you can see for yourself that two of those chair legs are not in use at all.

'Break' Rumored In Kidnap Case

FEDERAL MEN LEAP INTO ACTION TODAY AND VICTIM BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN RELEASED

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 8.—Three automobiles filled with men believed to be federal bureau of investigation agents raced through Olympia, Wash., at 6:30 a. m. today and took the road to Aberdeen, 84 miles southwest of Tacoma.

This sudden action stirred rumors a "break" had come in the kidnaping of 10-year-old Charles Mattson.

Travel At Full Speed

The three machines traveling at full speed, careened onto the branch of the highway leading directly toward Aberdeen and other Grays Harbor cities.

At the same hour, two other automobiles, also traveling at high speed, were reported leaving Tacoma on the mountain highway leading to the southwest toward Mount Rainier where the drivers hurriedly conferred before the machines separated and sped on their way.

Observers interpreted their activity as meaning the kidnaped boy had been released. Federal officers and all other law enforcement agencies had completely withdrawn from activity earlier in the week at the request of the boy's father. The general understanding was that they would make no moves until Charles was released.

Developments Expected

The latest communication from the Mattson family to the kidnaper, published in the Seattle Times yesterday, indicated important developments could be expected shortly.

Neither Harold Nathan, in charge of the government operatives in Tacoma, nor Inspector Earl J. Connelly could be reached in hotel rooms after the federal machines left the garage. This indicated they were with the others.

QUICK ACTION SOUGHT FOR LABOR LAW

SECOND MOVE IS MADE BY FDR TO ACHIEVE GOAL OF NRA

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—President Roosevelt, unheeding the dispute over curbing the Supreme court, made a second brisk move to achieve NRA goals today by seeking to speed ratification of the child labor amendment.

In letters to the governors and governors-elect of 19 states whose legislatures meet this winter, he asked favorable action on the proposal pending since 1924. Only 12 more states need to act to make it the 22nd amendment, inasmuch as 24 states have ratified.

Child Labor Increasing

"It is clearly indicated that child labor, especially in low paid unstandardized types of work, is increasing," Mr. Roosevelt wrote.

"I am convinced nation-wide minimum standards are necessary and that a way should be found promptly to crystallize in legal safeguards public opinion in behalf

Students Protest Ousting Of Prexy

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 8 (AP)—Police were called today to eject demonstrating University of Wisconsin students, angry over the ousting of President Glenn Frank, who invaded Governor Philip F. La Follette's office and broke up a press conference he was holding.

The students, estimated at nearly 1,000 by onlookers, marched from the university campus to the governor's office after they had been harangued by speakers, including a young woman, a last year's graduate, who cried:

"Are you going to stand by like a group of moral cowards?"

DEATH CLAIMS MORTON MAN

WILLARD R. SHERRON DIES LAST NIGHT; FUNERAL TODAY

Willard R. Sherron, 25, of Morton, died of pneumonia and heart complications in a local clinic Thursday night at 10 o'clock. He was tax assessor-collector for Morton Independent School district, having held that position three years.

Funeral services will be conducted at the school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. B. C. Smith, missionary Baptist minister, officiating. Burial will be under the direction of Sanders Funeral home. Sherron had lived at Morton 11 years.

He was survived by his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sherron of Morton; and a brother, Leon, also of Morton.

He had been ill about 10 days.

Blaze On Farm Is Being Investigated

Fire which destroyed a vacant rent house on the J. H. Rieger farm near Slide was being investigated this morning by Deputies Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter and Grady Harrist.

Three persons arrested in an automobile near the fire scene were held in county jail pending completion of the investigation. The suspects were a 35-year-old Lubbock woman, her 17-year-old daughter, and a 34-year-old man.

J. H. Rieger, a pioneer Lubbock county land owner, resides at Menard. He is father of Joe B. Rieger, former Lubbock deputy sheriff, now residing at 901 Avenue K.

Huge Budget Is Proposed By President

FRIGID WAVE TIGHTENS ICY GRIP UPON TEXAS

NEW HIGH FOR PUBLIC DEBT PREDICTED

NO TAX INCREASE FOR NEXT YEAR BEING ASKED BY FDR

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—President Roosevelt sent a multi-billion dollar budget to congress today in a message bluntly leaving complete balance of federal income and outgo up to industrial re-employment efforts.

With certain exceptions, Mr. Roosevelt told congress his new 1938 budget "is in balance" and would remain so if later relief requirements do not exceed an estimated $1,537,123,000.

New Debt Peak Seen

Then, after forecasting a new public debt peak next June 30 of $35,026,000,000 despite sharply increased income, the president added:

"It is my conviction that if every employer or potential employer will undertake during the next months

PENSION ROLL IN TEXAS BEING CUT

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—Orville S. Carpenter, acting director of old age assistance, announced today 15,000 pensioners were being dropped from the rolls due to the deliberalization measures of the last legislature.

Laborers Assigned To Motley Project

Twelve National Youth administration laborers were assigned to the soil conservation project in Motley county yesterday, the last of the twelve counties in the district with such projects, reports from district headquarters today said.

These projects in 12 of the 15 counties in the Lubbock district are under the supervision of county agents. Surveys preparatory to terracing and contouring are already being made in most of the counties. Those which have not started plan to begin work Monday if weather conditions permit, the district supervisor said.

Since Dec. 21, the date the project started in Lubbock county, surveys for terrace lines have been made on 1,420 acres, surveys for contour lines on 1,036 acres, and surveys for irrigation and other soil conserving structures on 560 acres. This brings the total acreage surveyed to 3,016 acres.

Flu And Pneumonia Taking Many Lives

SWEEPING INCREASE IN ILLNESS OVER MANY PARTS OF UNITED STATES BEING REPORTED

(By The Associated Press)

A sweeping increase in influenza and pneumonia cases over large sections of the United States was reported today by medical authorities. Unseasonably warm weather was said by many to be a contributing cause.

New York, hardest hit of any city, suffered 598 deaths in the last week. Health department officials there predicted the number of cases, now tabulated jointly at 1,814, would begin showing a decrease next week and that the outbreak of influenza would have completed its course of four or five weeks before the end of January.

Continues Unabated

The influenza and pneumonia death rate in Chicago continued unabated, with 710 deaths in the 2,987 cases reported since December 1.

One of the few sections untouched in the south, Atlanta, reported only eight "flu" cases up until December 31 as against 34 on the same date last winter.

Little Rock had from 400 to 500 cases and influenza was noted to be on the increase throughout Arkansas.

A Mild Epidemic

Health authorities in Iowa termed the situation a "mild epidemic," with 1,200 cases of flu in Des Moines, "several hundred" in Dubuque, 730 in Sioux City, 1,000 school children absent from classes in Cedar Rapids, and 5 per cent of the school children absent in Marshalltown.

At least 148 persons have died in the Rocky mountains of flu since December 12.

SCHOOLS FACE BIG PROBLEM

PLANS FOR RELIEF OF OVERFLOW DISTRICTS BEING STUDIED

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 8.—Membership of the Texas Interscholastic league today studied five possible solutions to the problem of congestion which has called for action before the 1937 football campaign.

Ninety-seven teams finished the 1936 race and six more have made application for admittance, Roy B. Henderson, athletic director, announces. This means some plan needs to be worked out to relieve the situation of overcrowded districts.

Henderson has submitted the following five solutions to member schools:

1. Enlarge the present districts.
2. Increase the number of dis-

Fort Worth Man Is Jailed In Robbery

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8 (AP) — Swanie F. Jones, 29, of Fort Worth was held under $5,000 bond today on federal charges of complicity in robbery of the Friona State bank last June 29.

Three men held up Cashier Charles McLain and his wife and escaped with $700 cash and an undetermined amount in traveler's checks.

Jones denied he ever had been at Friona. A hearing was set tentatively for Jan. 18. J. C. Britton and Hub Stanley, captured here July 6 after a gun fight with police, were given life sentences in the robbery.

FOOD AND CLOTHING FOR SHIVERING SHACKTOWN RESIDENTS BEING GIVEN

An influx of garments and food for shivering and hungry residents of Shacktown was received this morning by organizations and individuals, following an account in the Morning Avalanche of conditions there, made more poignant by frigid weather.

Between 250 and 300 garments were received by the Salvation Army this morning, said Capt. John G. Churchill. The garments and food received will be distributed this afternoon.

Many calls were received at the Avalanche-Journal office and were passed on to George Dupree, Mrs. Tom Foster and others.

One local resident offered to take the 2-year-old undernourished girl of a family of eight into her home until weather becomes warmer. The family is living in a tent.

Mrs. Foster planned to go to the shacks, which are constructed of pasteboard, and other discarded materials, to determine which families are more needy at noon today. Persons wishing to help may call her, No. 1929-W, or may deliver contributions to the Salvation Army hall, 1510 Avenue H.

The army has 38 cases in Shacktown, said Captain Churchill.

DEFENSE FUND SETS RECORD FOR NATION

NEARLY A BILLION IS ASKED FOR FORCES OF THE U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—A record peacetime national defense fund of nearly a billion dollars, including money to begin construction of two new battleships, was asked by President Roosevelt today for the 1938 fiscal year.

Increased expenditures for airplanes, ordnance equipment and expanded personnel for both army and navy also were proposed.

The chief executive recommended in his annual budget message to congress a total appropriation of $980,763,000 for the naval and military establishments, an increase of $92,882,000 over estimated outlay for the current fiscal period ending June 30.

The 1937 national defense estimates aggregating $887,881,000 con-

MILLIONS SOUGHT IN FARM PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—More than one tenth of the appropriations for the next fiscal year suggested to congress today by President Roosevelt would be spent for farmers.

He proposed appropriation of $659,347,399 for federal farm benefit payments and the far flung activities of the agriculture department for the 1938 period, an increase of $15,165,556 over estimated outlays for the 1937 fiscal year ending June 30.

These totals do not include $181,500,000 for the federal public roads program, which is $113,500,000 more than the present year. Although administered by the agriculture department, officials said the road funds aid the city dweller as much as the farmer.

Towns Are Rocked By Gas Explosion

PLEASANT HILL, Mo., Jan. 8. (AP)—A blast in a 24-inch gas pipeline of the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. seven miles southeast of here rocked two towns and farmhouses for 15 miles around this morning.

The explosion, which came at about 7:50 a. m., shot flames 200 feet into the air, farmers reported. The fire was still burning at 10:30 a. m., but had diminished as pressure was cut down.

Mercury Plunges Below Zero; No Relief In Sight

LOW OF FOUR DEGREES IS REGISTERED HERE; WEATHERMAN FORECASTS CONTINUED COLD FOR SECTION; SNOW COVERS WIDE AREA

(By The Associated Press)

Sub-freezing weather chilled the Panhandle and sleet and snow covered virtually all of North Texas today as the worst cold wave of the season, already blamed for four deaths and countless accidents, surged relentlessly toward the Gulf coast.

RARE WEATHER OVER PLAINS

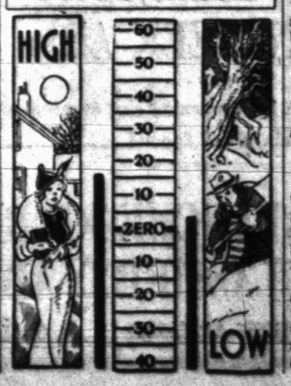

EVERYTHING BUT WARM BLAST FELT IN THIS AREA LAST NIGHT

Lubbock and the South Plains today were recovering from an unusual combination of snow, sleet, rain, lightning and thunder that, with a cold wind, forced the mercury down to 4 degrees above zero this morning and wrought havoc in transportation and communication lines. Its suddenness probably occasioned more trouble than if the storm had followed a series of cold spells.

Wire troubles interrupted communications, both of telephone and telegraph, local service companies reported. The Southwestern Associated Telephone company had had some breaks in its toll lines, as had the Southwestern Bell. The latter

TEMPERATURES for the LAST 24 HOURS

At Pampa the temperature hit a new low this morning of two and one-half degrees below zero and then crept slowly back to one below. Two inches of sleet covered the Plains but the sky was clearing and the sun shining.

Amarillo, stung with four-degree weather when the norther blew in yesterday, saw the mercury tumble to zero this morning, but clearing skies and reappearance of the sun indicated rising temperatures might follow.

Strikes Warm Barrier

The southward moving cold wave was slowed in the San Antonio area when it encountered resistance from a general low pressure area coming in from the Gulf of Mexico. This resulted in the temperature not going below 68 at San Antonio.

However, the weatherman said the norther likely would slowly force its way through the South Texas region during the day. San Antonio had light showers and the sky was overcast.

Sub-freezing levels prevailed all over North Texas, ranging from zero in the Panhandle to the low twenties as far south as Dallas and Fort Worth.

Temperatures Reported

Temperatures included Vernon, 11 above zero; Wichita Falls, 17; Denton, 20; Borger, zero; Fort Worth, 20; Dallas, 24; Lubbock, four above zero; Corsicana, 27; Palestine, 34; Longview, 48; and Austin, 39.

Along the Gulf coast, Corpus Christi reported strong southeast winds and a temperature of 70. The sun was shining and the sky clear but the norther was due before noon and the temperature was fore-

Mexico To Reopen Doors For Trading

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—While the United States needed only the final signatures today on an order to shut off its munitions from warring Spaniards, Mexico moved to reopen its ports to the arms trade.

Ernesto Hidalgo, Mexico's acting secretary of state, said events of the last week caused his government to alter its policy prohibiting reshipment of United States arms to Spain.

Las Cresas High School Girls' Social Club Elects Officers For Semester

Hazel Ann Wilson Will Be President

Las Cresas club, an organization of several Lubbock High school girls, has announced the results of a recent election.

Officers are: President, Miss Hazel Ann Wilson; vice-president, Miss Jane Prichett; secretary, Miss Mary Jarrott; treasurer, Miss Betty Lee Lindsey; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Rachael Howell and reporter, Miss Marilyn Riggs.

Las Cresas is a social club. Highlight of the spring will be an annual presentation dance.

1936 Luncheon club members elected officers at a meeting in the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway, Thursday afternoon as the guest of Mrs. W. W. Rix.

Mrs. Friend made high score in games of bridge, following the luncheon.

New officers are: President, Mrs. Fred Snyder; vice-president, Mrs. A. B. Conley, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. F. Schenck.

Mesdames F. A. Kennedy and John Goodwin were special guests. Others attending were Mesdames S. C. Arnett, Conley, Friend, J. H. Hankins, J. T. Hutchinson, Bradford Knapp, R. A. Mills, Schenck, Carl Slaton, Snyder, W. O. Stevens, A. V. Weaver and Miss Della Wilkinson.

Joli Femmes Club Is In Party Hour

Joli Femmes club members were the guests of Mrs. R. V. Mullenix, 1916 Avenue N, Thursday afternoon.

High score for members was made by Mrs. S. A. Hamilton and high for guests by Mrs. Emmett Scott. Mrs. Ed Richards made high cut and traveling prize went to Mrs. J. D. McKnight.

The hostess served a salad plate.

Guests were Mesdames Richards, Scott and Joe Sullivan. Others attending were Mesdames C. C. Worrell, Virgil Williams and Alton Abbott.

The club will meet at 3 p. m., January 21, with Mrs. Williams, 1907 Dixie Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Bob Pierce of Pampa visited this week in the home of Mrs. Pierce's sister, Mrs. W. H. Logan, 2620 Twenty-second street.

Candidate For Mama's Beauty Title

Miss America of 1935, who was Miss Henrietta Leaver of McKeesport, Pa., presents a candidate to succeed her in the beauty ranks—her own new baby daughter, Patricia Lee. Miss Leaver, now Mrs. John Mustacchio, left a quiet existence in McKeesport to win the beauty title and the fame that goes with it. Then she created a sensation by refusing to allow a nude statue of herself to be exhibited publicly. In preference to possible fame on screen or stage, she chose a housewife's role, and now motherhood.

Le Jeudi Club Meets With Mrs. Price

Le Jeudi club members were the guests of Mrs. Everett Price, 1618 Avenue M, Thursday afternoon. Violet corsages were plate favors with a refreshment course of sandwiches, fruit cake, olives and spiced tea.

Mesdames Dalton Brady and E. C. Earnest were special guests.

Members attending were Mesdames Claude Martin, T. E. Cranford, Fred Fairly, Floyd Martin, W. J. Whittaker, J. T. Fountain, Charles A. Ross and C. R. Matthews.

Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton, 1601 Thirteenth street, returned Thursday night from Abilene and Austin where she had visited friends.

Cleopatra was the last queen of Egypt.

Mrs. Corley Is Club Hostess At Home

WOLFFORTH, Jan. 8.—(Special)—Members of the local home demonstration club met with Mrs. O. F. Corley Tuesday afternoon. Miss Norfleet Grimes, home demonstration agent, was speaker. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Ray Martin, Ray Hitt, G. L. Gaston, A. A. McWhorter, S. A. McWhoter, A. R. Carlile, Fred Stryker, Jack Woodson, W. M. Blair and Miss Genelle Corley.

Mrs. Underwood Is Party Hostess

Klever Kraft Klub was entertained by Mrs. R. S. Underwood, 2522 Twenty-third street, Thursday afternoon.

Attending were Mesdames A. N. Gamble, A. S. Meinecke, Floyd Honey, R. F. Stokes and E. A. Tipton.

The club will meet January 21 in the home of Mrs. M. K. Foster, 519 Avenue O.

Miss Caveness And Mr. Hendon Marry

The marriage of Miss Elaine Caveness, former student at Texas Technological college, and John Hendon of this city took place Wednesday night at the home of the Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, 2405 Thirteenth street, with Rev. Mr. Matthews, minister of education at First Methodist church, officiating.

Elliott Oldham was the only attendant.

Mrs. Hendon, who is teaching this year at Dixie, near Tahoka, attended Tech the past two years as a home economics student. She was a member of Las Armonias club. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Caveness of Mineral Wells.

The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Power of Electra, is assistant manager of Kinney Shoe store.

Roberts Is Chosen For Plainview Job

Harry N. Roberts, well known Lubbock engineer and author on municipal work, and Everett Bryan of Plainview, his associate, were appointed to direct the PWA waterworks and extension improvement program at Plainview to cost about $100,000. Mayor Tom Shelton announced that the city council had employed the two.

Plans are well underway and it is expected advertising for bids will be announced for March. The loan and grant was approved some months ago.

Includes Much Improvement

The project included a 500,000 gallons reinforced concrete, covered surface tank, in the 1,100 block of the Boswell addition; a 200,000 gallon elevated tank; two new wells, and pumps and two high service pumps. Automatic control will be used on the pumps to control flow of water into the tanks.

In a pump station will be located a testing laboratory for both milk and water. A 10-inch main will connect the new source with a main on Ninth street. There will be smaller mains and some new hydrants located.

Mr. Roberts, a resident of Lubbock for the past 12 years, has had wide experience in civil engineering work. A graduate of Notre Dame university, he has been a municipal consultant for a number of South Plains towns, as well as an engineer in the state highway division here. He also has done general engineering work and has engaged in his profession for many years.

Indian Will Give Demonstration Here

Chief Lightning, an American Indian from Wisconsin, was to give demonstrations in archery, making arrow heads, and roping to students of Junior High school at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the school auditorium. Chief Lightning recently left Dallas, where he performed at the Texas Centennial Central celebration.

Funds made from the 10 cents admission charge will go toward financing the first year book Junior High school has ever had. "The Cowboy Round-Up." Billy Lewis, fancy roper and former Tech student travels with the chief and holds balloons in his mouth for targets at which the chief shoots his fancy arrows.

During the demonstration Chief Lightning will tell Junior High school students and others present about the history of various tribes of Indians in the United States today and of their life.

Homes For 10 Men Are Being Sought

Homes for 10 men comprising a seismograph crew which is to headquarter in Lubbock and work out of here were wanted immediately. A call for them was received yesterday by Charles Pierce, oil lease broker.

Asked to locate homes and office space, Pierce said, "I don't know what I am going to do; we can't locate either office room or houses."

Daughter's Beauty Lies In Hands Of Mother Who Determines Habits

Poise, ingrained from babyhood, is one of Shirley Temple's most valuable assets—one every child could be taught.

* * * * * * * *

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff

If your small daughter doesn't grow up to be a beauty, it's your own fault. You are the one who must brush her hair every night until she is old enough to do it herself, who must teach her simple health and grooming habits and look after her skin, nails, weight and posture.

Your family doctor—not the child herself—is the one to consult about her diet. He undoubtedly will tell you that she needs vegetables and milk, and you ought to see that she eats them. Health is the foundation of true beauty. Begin building this foundation the day she is born.

Correct your daughter's posture defects before they become deep-seated. She must stand straight with her stomach drawn in gracefully. She must learn to breathe deeply and to walk gracefully. Let her chin herself on horizontal bars to straighten her backbone, and strengthen her arms and hands.

Care Of Teeth

Take care of her baby teeth and she'll have less trouble with the permanent ones. She should be sent to a dentist three times a year. Her teeth ought to be brushed carefully twice a day. If they are crooked, by all means have straightening braces put on them.

Resist the temptation to buy your child's shoes a half size too large, so she can "grow into them". Make sure, too, that her stockings are exactly the proper size. Too short shoes and stockings cause crooked toes, corns, bunions and such. Too long ones encourage blisters and weaken delicate arches.

See that there is a fine reading light on the desk where your young offspring does her homework. If you notice any squinting or eye-twitching, make an appointment with an eye doctor. If he advises glasses, see that the child wears them.

Tolerate no finger nail biting. It ruins the shape of tiny fingers as well as nails and cuticle. To discourage any such habit, keep her nails filed short and clip off ragged pieces of cuticle the minute you notice them. Teach her to push cuticle back whenever she dries her hands and to use an orange stick to remove dirt underneath her nails.

During the winter months at least, use a pure oil or cream on your daughter's little cheeks, arms and hands. If, during her adolescent years, she develops skin blemishes, take her to a doctor immediately. Adolescent belmishes often cause scars which last a lifetime.

You ought to brush her hair every night before she goes to bed. Shampoo it once a week, using liquid soap and rinsing at least three times.

To develop her poise and charm, teach her to do at least one sport, and to do it expertly. Dancing lessons give her self-confidence and a certain ease with strangers, too. Always introduce her to your own friends in the same easy way and with the same words that you introduce them to each other.

Get her used to the idea of shaking hands with her own friends as well as yours and see that she looks the other person straight in the eye when she does it. Even if nature has stacked the cards so you can't possibly make a great beauty of your child, you can at least teach her charm, graciousness and thoughtfulness—admirable substitutes indeed.

Becton Club Meeting First For Year

BECTON, Jan. 8. (Special)—Mrs. E. P. Reeves was hostess to the Becton Home Demonstration club Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstration agent, was leader for a program on "Restful Sleep." She described and illustrated the proper types of springs, covers, mattress covers and mattress pads.

Others attending were Mesdames Irma Day, Joe Pool, Charley Ward, Joe Becton, A. L. Pitts, G. K. Bullock, Lon Lincecum, G. R. Bell and W. M. Bolton.

Mrs. W. A. V. Cash has returned to her home in Abilene after a business trip to Lubbock during which time she was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Barrier, 1813 Avenue O.

K. Carter PTA Has Program Thursday

K. Carter Parent-Teacher association met at the school Thursday afternoon with an attendance of fifty persons.

Miss Agnes True, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college, spoke on "Efficiency" and pupils of Miss Mary Geniece Hardberger and Mrs. B. C. Wells presented a room program which included piano solos by LaJuanda McLeod and Aleta Jane Elliott.

Attendance prizes were awarded to Miss Hardberger's and Mrs. Wells' rooms.

Officers Elected By City Line Club

City Line Home Demonstration club members met at the Slaton club house Wednesday. Reports included:

November council meeting, Mrs. W. H. Long; a Christmas bazaar; finishing of a quilt which will be sold; receipt of a letter of thanks from assistant home demonstration agent; assistance with a boys' and girls' 4-H achievement program.

Mrs. E. E. Wilson was elected council delegate to replace Mrs. W. H. Crosby who is ill. Resignation as secretary-treasurer of Mrs. Douglas Livingston, who moved away, was accepted and Mrs. P. M. Wheatley was elected to fill the vacancy. A "Sunshine" basket will be sent to Mrs. Crosby, the club decided.

Attending were Mesdames E. E. and Harold Wilson, Long, Cleta Young, R. H. Hall, A. R. Keys, J. H. Floyd, Shaw, J. J. Allen and Wheatley.

CITY MISSING FLU SIEGE

NO EPIDEMIC NOTED; OTHER CITIES OVER NATION ARE HIT

Lubbock residents have missed the serious influenza siege which has struck many cities, a check with physicians indicated Thursday.

Although many cases of influenza exist here, several doctors agreed that there are less or at least no more than usual for this time of year.

Cold Weather To Aid

Cold weather is likely to decrease the number, said Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer. Hot weather in winter has caused some cases, he said.

Between 15 and 20 students of Texas Technological college, which has a total of about 2,700 students, have received medical treament for influenza this week, the college physician said.

Cold weather may cause an increase in the number of pneumonia cases, it was said. Several doctors reported pneumonia cases. "Possibly there is more pneumonia in children this year than usual, but every year there is a great deal of pneumonia", one said.

A national rpport by the public health service showed that cases have increased since early in December. The service said "the situation is serious but not alarming".

HIS REWARD WAS FRACTURE OF THE NOSE

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 2 (AP)—These things happened when R. N. Jobe, district WPA engineer, fired with a shotgun at a jackrabbit:

Jobe's foot slipped.

He tried to catch himself before he fell.

His finger accidentally tripped the trigger again.

The gun discharged, the butt struck Jobe on the nose.

Again the gun discharged.

The butt struck Jobe on the nose.

Jobe went to a hospital with a fractured nose and deep cuts on his face.

The rabbit ran away.

Bull Fighter Tossed On Victim's Horns

This unusual action picture shows Alberto Balderas, caught on horns and pitched three times in air, rolling groundward while another bull fighter, Jesus Solorzano, tries to attract the infuriated animal with his cape. Balderas escaped serious injury and came back to kill this bull and two others as Mexico City's bull-fighting season opened. (Associated Press Photo)

MAN LEARNS MORE ABOUT HONESTY IN 15 MINUTES THAN IN ALL 61 YEARS

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 8. (AP)—Matthew Piese learned more in 15 minutes today about the honesty of the human race than he had learned before in all of his 61 years.

He acquired the knowledge after he had sold a bond for $911, and, happy over the sale, had set out to buy something to eat. He knew he wanted a hot dog, but what he didn't know was that there was a hole in his pocket.

Behind him hurried honest citizens, picking up a $100 bill here and chasing fifties and twenties wherever the wind blew them.

When they caught up with him he was sipping coffee in a restaurant. They asked him to guess what he had in his pocket, and it turned out to be a hole. Then they began to give him back his money and asked him to wait for others who were still chasing bills.

Before he left the restaurant Piese had all his money back but $140.

Dog Just Too Much For State Trooper

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—Trooper M. A. Murphy is seeking a home for a Great Dane which weighs 180 pounds and stands more than four feet high.

"Keeping her in state police barracks is just like trying to keep a horse," said Murphy. "What I'm looking for is a smaller dog to trade for the dane."

The normal life of a mosquito is two or three months.

Quits Job

John Schwalm, 50, above, has quit his WPA watchman's job to go into retirement for the winter in his trailer in Evansville, Ind. A bachelor, he has enough money for food and fuel and his only luxury, smoking. Besides, Schwalm thinks someone else—with a family to support — ought to have a chance at the job. Said Schwalm's boss: "That fellow ought to have a medal."

TEXAS TECH TIES GO TO CINCINNATI

The textile engineering department at Texas Technological college is hand-weaving 12 dozen ties requested by G. M. Matson, general manager of the National Institute of Cleaners and Dyers at Silver Springs, Maryland, for distribution to men who will attend a national convention in Cincinnati, O., Jan. 25-28.

Matson also invited M. E. Heard, head of the Tech textile engineering department, to speak before the national convention.

Woven In Blue, White

The woolen ties are being woven in blue and white, colors of the national institute. They will be sold to alumni of the institute and others attending the convention.

The Tech textile engineering department has woven ties in several designs in the last few years. Matson saw one recently while attending a meeting in Dallas and requested that the ties be woven for sale at the convention.

Heard will speak over Radio Station WLW in Cincinnati at 7 p. m., Jan. 28 on modern trends in textile education and matters of interest in textiles to the consumer. He was invited by the Consumer's Council of Greater Cincinnati to give the radio speech.

Heard is attending a meeting in Dallas today at which plans for securing a cotton research laboratory for Texas will be discussed.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce had been asked to invite the college to send a representative to the meeting. Men from throughout the state interested in cotton are to attend.

Reading Of Papers Excellent Pastime

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP)—Teachers and instructors in high schools and colleges should make more use of daily newspapers, Robert X. Graham, instructor in journalism at the University of Pittsburgh, believes.

Graham believes that the newspaper is an excellent textbook for classes in civics, problems of democracy, home economics, art, elementary economics, political science, geography, and English.

Education Burden Placed Upon Home

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—W. R. Fugitt, assistant superintendent of schools, says the home is responsible for more than 50 per cent of the education of any child. He says "we can teach the child on thrift, taxes and insurance, but parents should give the child an opportunity to make bank deposits, to pay taxes, to write checks, and parents must praise their children."

What is possibly the world's oldest savings account is one of $15 deposited in a Manhattan bank in 1819. Interest has increased the original deposit to more than $3450.

Wrong Simpson

Mrs. Richard H. Simpson (above) complains there are too many Mrs. Simpsons at Cannes, France. Because of the similarity of their names, says Mrs. R. H., her mail is being delivered erroneously to Mrs. Wallis Simpson, friend of the Duke of Windsor, at the nearby Rogers' villa.

KILLERS RECEIVE WHAT THEY GAVE

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 8 (AP)—Balked in his attempts to run away with the wife of his employer in a Szechuen province town, a servant conspired with his inamorata to poison all members of the family and their servants.

This accomplished, the lovers cut up the nine bodies, threw the gory remains into a well and ran away with as much of the family's belongings as they could carry.

When the guilty pair was captured, they were forced to make public confession on a platform built over the new-sodded graves of their victims.

Then they were beheaded and their bodies cut to small bits and thrown to the village dogs.

MINE TO PULPIT

BECKLEY, W. Va., (AP)—Earl Duncan runs a coal cutting machine five days a week at mines at Whitby. Then on Sunday he becomes the Rev. Earl Duncan and preaches at the little church at Coal City. In time, he said, he expects to devote all his time to the ministry.

STRANGE SPEAKER AT MEETING HERE

W. T. (Taniac) Strange of Big Spring spoke to members of Kiwanis club and their wives at a ladies' night program and annual initiation of officers Thursday night at Lubbock hotel.

E. B. Miller of Plainview, former lieutenant-governor, represented the new lieutenant-governor, R. Q. Sliverthorne, in installing B. Sherrod as new president and other officers.

O. J. (Bo) Sexton was toastmaster. Ray C. Mowery, outgoing president, sang the "swan song" and spoke. Tom B. Duggan, jr., gave a toast to the women and Mrs. Lonnie Langston responded. Leo Waite, a new Kiwanian, led singing, with Miss Willette Waters as pianist. E. L. Klett assisted in leading. Julien Paul Blitz, head of the Texas Technological college music department, presented two cello numbers, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Blitz.

Miller, who brought greetings from the Plainview club, was accompanied here by J. Ed Braselton, Father Frank Kaminsky, and Mrs. Miller.

Splawn Is Chosen As Poultry Leader

SLATON, Jan. 8. (Special)—W. P. Splawn last night was elected president of the Panhandle-Plains Poultry association at an annual banquet at the community clubhouse.

W. T. Driver was named vice-president, A. J. Payne was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Frank Sentell of Snyder and John Burton were added to the list of directors.

Judge Walter Burton was toastmaster at the banquet. The show was ended at 2 p. m. today.

Restored To Good Health By Gly-Cas

Mr. Norwood Able To Work Again; Stomach and Kidneys Regulated; Mrs. Norwood's Strength Returns, Nerves Quieted. Appetite Good, Like New Again

"Sufferers should realize there is only one Gly-Cas and profit by it," said Mr. Albert Norwood, 2927 Regent St., Shreveport, La. "Before I began the use of this new remedy

MR. ALBERT NORWOOD

I was suffering with indigestion, sour stomach and bloating. My kidneys were also a constant source of distress with a never ending pain in my back. Many various kinds of medicines recommended to me proved useless and I became more miserable every day and finally unable to work. But once I gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me my entire system was thoroughly cleansed. The stomach and kidney troubles have left me entirely, bowels regulated, eat and sleep good and am like a different person.

"My wife had also suffered for years," he continued. "Kidney disorders had caused her night risings, rest and sleep was broken and a terrible pain extended from her back down into her limbs. She lost weight, became weak, nervous and lost her appetite, could hardly do her housework — but Gly-Cas soon restored her to health. Her weight and strength is returning, nerves quieted, eats and sleeps good and she is now doing her own housework. No doubt can longer remain as to the merit of Gly-Cas — it is outstanding."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—No C. O. D. Mail Orders—Adv.

SHACKTOWN IS SUFFERING

BITTER COLD WAVE IS PROVING HARSH FOR NEEDY OF CITY

Shacktown residents shivered, chinked openings in pasteboard and tin hovels, and wrapped more closely thin and scanty clothing around undernourished bodies as protection against winter's worst blizzard.

In more favored residential sections of Lubbock children with warm clothing found pleasure in the snow and ice, but in Shacktown the cold wave added to the hardships of youngsters and parents alike.

Snow Softens Harshness

Snow softened the harshness of Shacktown and hid much of the squalor.

But the cold which preceded the white mantle made life even more harsh in the northeast part of Lubbock.

Creosote chips, broken boards, cotton hulls—any article that would burn—were used as fuel in the rusty, broken stoves around which huddled the family members. Small coal oil stoves served as heaters and cook stoves alike in a few of the shacks.

Dirty, ragged and hungry children, with hard little faces too old for their years, were pushed indoors by the cold. Their clothes are too thin for them to trudge over the ice and snow to Sanders school where the majority of them attend classes.

One mother said she kept her three school-age children at home because they had no breakfast—and would be just as hungry at noon when they returned, and the cupboard would still be bare. The tired, worried mother and father expectantly waited for his labor check so they could buy bread for their babies. And the cold accentuated their hunger.

Eight In A Tent

A family of eight barely existed in a tent that little protects from the biting cold and wind. The mother and her oldest son were in the same dirty bed, both ill. Thin, ragged quilts were of little use to the woman whose lungs are ravaged by a terrible disease. The boy is suffering of pneumonia. There is no money with which to buy medicine.

There was only one bed left for the four thin-faced boys and the two-year-old girl, and the tall, haggard father. The father was cooking supper for the family on the coal cookstove. A boy of nine years, with devotion in his eyes for his precious charge, was nursemaid for the baby girl. He was feeding her dry, cold, half-baked potatoes. In her high, feeble voice the mother expressed a desire for "something good to eat such as hot biscuits and butter." She had no appetite for the half-raw steak her husband had cooked.

Low-roofed hovels of tin, cardboard, adobe bricks, and pieces of linoleum, inner walls patched with rags, papers, pieces of worn linoleum and oil cloth are slight protection from the winter's worst siege of cold.

Question About

CARDUI

PERIODICAL PAINS

"Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?"

Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods.

This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve many of the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others.

Cardui is purely vegetable, liquid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. Adv.

BETTER NOT TRY TO FOOL COWBOY ON HORSEFLESH

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 8. (AP)—It is like trying to deceive a treasury epert with counterfeit money—this thing of fooling a westerner on horseflesh.

Robert O'Connell and Mike Sullivan, ranchers, lost their horses. They went to a horse seller to inquire about buying some more, and he displayed what he had.

"Well, well, if they aren't the horses we lost," said O'Connell and Sullivan in unison. They filed horse theft charges.

Carolina Farmers Are Busy Weaving

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 8 (AP)—Many farmers living on Ocean highway, their crops in, are turning once more to their wintertime vocation—sea-grass basket weaving.

The art has been practiced in this section for generations and weavers believe it originated in Africa.

Straw-like grass is gathered from marshes in tubular sheaves, bound by strips cut from dried palmetto leaves, and finally fashioned into sewing baskets that catch the tourist's eye from highway display booths.

Rosario, the second largest city of Argentina, was founded in 1730.

MUSEUM PLANS MADE HERE

EXECUTIVE BOARD OF ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING THURSDAY

Impetus designed to abet further construction, equipping and financing of a West Texas Museum association structure on the campus of Texas Technological college was supplied Thursday night in a meeting at the partially-completed museum of a majority of the association's executive board.

A committee of H. L. Allen, Dr. C. J. Wagner and A. B. Davis was named to confer with President Bradford Knapp of the college and the board of directors of that institution in regard to seeking joint management of the museum — by the museum association and by the college.

Seek More Funds

Appointed to a committee to plan ways and means of securing funds for completion of the structure were Allen, W. L. Bradshaw and Davis.

The board approved an escrow agreement being used to finance further building. Curator W. C. Holden was instructed to issue a public appeal and to solicit donations for equipment of the building. No funds had been provided for that purpose.

Show cases, especially, would be appreciated should any one feel he could lend them.

A committee of Allen and Holden was appointed to make arrangements, set time and arrange program for an annual meeting of the museum association.

A resolution of thanks to those who have contributed to the museum was voted.

Gold mining on a commercial scale is again going forward in North Carolina in several sections.

Camera Looks Into Face Of Death

Homeward bound from school, Mildred Walsh and Catherine Redman ventured across the busy Philadelphia street. Their childish laughter turned into screams of terror as a heavily laden truck hurtled upon them; and terror turned to anguish. Screeching brakes brought the truck to a halt. This unusual picture shows the grim instant after the tragedy. A bystander already lifts Catherine's lifeless figure. The truck driver runs to aid Mildred, whose crumpled form can be seen under the juggernaut of death. Mildred was expected to live.

Scout Honor Court Scheduled Tonight

Court of honor for Boy Scouts of the Lubbock district of the South Plains council will be held in the district courtroom of the courthouse tonight at 7:30, according to information from district headquarters.

Eleven troops of Lubbock will participate in the meeting. George W. Dupree, court of honor chairman, and Frank White, his assistant, will present awards of advancement to the scouts.

Preceding the meeting, a scoutmasters' roundtable will meet at 6:45 in an ante-room at the courthouse. It will be under the direction of Sam A. Henry, Lubbock district commissioner.

PLAYFUL SQUIRRELS

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Twenty-five telephone subscribers here have lost any love they may have had for squirrels. When the phones went dead, linemen investigated and found the rodents had gnawed through a cable.

First Scout Ship Meeting Is Staged

First meeting of first scout ship of this district was held Thursday night at the office of Dr. G. H. Ater at 1641 Broadway. The organization is sponsored by the First Methodist church.

Fourteen boys registered for the first meeting with Bob Williams as skipper. The organization of the scout ship is the beginning of senior scout work in the council.

PIGEONS FALL FROM SKY WITH FROZEN WINGS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8 (AP)—For years, G. E. Prescott, laundry owner here, has been trying to get rid of the pigeons which roost on the roof of his plant.

"We shot at them until the cornices on the roof looked like a sieve," he said, "they multiplied too fast."

Today Prescott looked out his window onto a slushy, icy street. He started to look away. Then he looked again.

The sky was raining pigeons.

Their wings frozen by last night's sleet, the birds plummeted to the ground. About 400 of them lay in struggling heaps.

Springfieldians dived into the pile, scooping up helpless pigeons.

"I guess we won't have any more trouble with them," Prescott gloated as he jammed birds into a sack. "It looks like pigeon pie tonight."

One of his employes bagged 40 birds.

Narcotic Charges Dropped In Court

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8. (AP)—Narcotic possession charges against Juanita Hansen, actress of the silent screen, were dismissed today in municipal court.

Following dismissal of the charges, Miss Hansen, a blonde, expressed her desire to return to film work.

The ex-actress testified that narcotics found on her person when she was arrested Christmas eve had been prescribed for her by her physician, Dr. Paul R. McGill.

Dr. McGill corroborated her testimony.

A Tribute

TO 1937 CARS FROM THE 1937 GASOLINE

NEARLY 500,000 workers are now building your 1937 car. For this vast productive employment, the nation owes a deep debt of gratitude to the automobile industry

Undaunted by the depression, it courageously expanded its facilities to give greater value ..... made real improvements in safety, in driving and riding comfort, in beauty ... lifted engine efficiency and operating economy.

As cars have changed, so have gasolines. In fact, Phillips 66 Poly Gas has been called "the gasoline that is years ahead," ready now for the cars of tomorrow.

The reason lies in Phillips' initiative, independence, chemical research, and engineering skill. All these combined have helped give Phillips a remarkable record of "firsts."

Whenever you read or hear about custom-tailored gasoline ... remember that Phillips did it first! Whenever you read or hear about highest test gasoline at the price of ordinary motor fuel ..... remember that Phillips did it first, and still offers higher test than others! Whenever you read or hear about the patented POLYmerization process which puts extra energy units into every gallon ..... remember that Phillips did it first!

That is why Phillips 66 Poly Gas stays out in front, always at the head of the parade—whether you judge it for faster starting, more mileage, or finer all-round performance. It delivers more power, more pep, more flexibility, and faster response to the throttle.

So it gives you service and savings which simply are not possible in old-fashioned gasolines.

I invite you to prove these statements for yourself. Just try one tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas. It does not cost a penny more than ordinary low-test motor fuels.

Cowing The Deer-Hunters

As three many-pointed bucks crashed through a nearby thicket unnoticed, a deer-hunter blazed away at the cattle of Charlie Porter (left), Traverse City, Mich., farmer. Since antlered quadrupeds seemed to attract least attention of the Michigan nimrods, Porter decided to disguise his cattle as deer—which is why the bossies graze with antlers tied to their horns.

FDR'S NEW BODYGUARD INHERITS THE CLOSEST PLACE IN OFFICIAL FAMILY

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — As the president's new body-guard, a Massachusetts state trooper has inherited a place in the official family closer to Mr. Roosevelt than any of the other members.

Thomas E. Qualters' duty will be to guard the life of the nation's chief executive 24 hours a day. But if he follows the example of his late predecessor, broad-shouldered, fun-loving Gus Gennerich, who died suddenly in Buenos Aires during the President's visit, Qualters will do much more than that for F. D. R.

Unusual Job

There is no parallel in secret service annals for the exact relationship, personal or official, which existed between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gus Gennerich.

Gus made it his business, as a friend as well as a government agent, to guard the President from embarrassments in all his comings and goings, both at home and abroad; to help where he could in fostering in his friend a cheerfulness of spirit, contentment of mind, and ease of body in off hours as well as those of which the public had knowledge.

Body Servant, Too

Qualters' job includes serving not only as a bodyguard, but to a certain extent, as a body servant.

He must rarely leave the President's side in his waking moments and must constantly be on call.

He must keep watch at times in the White House until far into the night while the President is working or entertaining.

He must accompany the President on all his trips in and out of Washington. On motor tours his place is in the front seat of the President's car and he is the first to alight and proffer his arm to the chief executive.

THOMAS E. QUALTERS
Roosevelt's New Guard

May Risk Life

He might be called on—as was Gennerich—to personally shield the President from bodily harm in such instances as when Zangara fired at Mr. Roosevelt in Miami. He also might be called on to punch a crank occasionally.

Ordinarily he will accompany the President in his daily swim in the White House pool. (And, incidentally, he must be a good swimmer. Mr. Roosevelt likes to play water polo and delights in wrestling a companion around in the water—"even drown you," as Gennerich used to say.)

For his services, he will receive a secret service salary estimated at $4,000 a year.

Requirements For Army Told In City

Admission to the United States army corps may be gained by young men on completion of two years of college work, without their taking the regular examinations, according to a circular letter received by Capt. Frank A. Pettit, commander of the Reserve Officer Training corps at Texas Technological college.

Practically all candidates can be accommodated at Randolph field, San Antonio, the letter informed. Unmarried men from 20 to 26 years old are eligible.

Men selected for the air service must pass more strenuous physical tests than for entrance into the regular army. They must possess normal vision, unimpaired ocular muscle balance, good hearing, a stable and balanced equilibrium, normal color vision, and a stable nervous system.

Lubbock youths may obtain further information from Captain Pettit, in his office at the Tech military building.

NO SUNDAY BALL

SAN BENITO, (AP)—Building of a playground for children George B. Palligant provided for in his will has been delayed because of assertions by some residents of the town that the playground might lead to the playing of ball on Sunday. Property owners near the proposed site were the main objectors.

Birds are sensitive to light changes. They awaken at the first break of dawn and nest at dusk.

NOT ALL MISSING CARS ARE STOLEN; SOMETIMES THE OWNER JUST MISLAYS IT, LUBBOCK POLICE DECLARE

BY MARIE ZIMMERMANN

A woman rushed excitedly into the Lubbock police station one afternoon recently and reported that her automobile containing a $300 fur coat and several bags had been stolen.

Police officers stemmed her flow of words with the suggestion that she had perhaps been mistaken about where she had parked the car, but she insisted that she had parked it on Main street near West Texas hospital. Police officers went in search of the automobile and found it, locked, and exactly as the owner had left it on Broadway near Avenue M.

Just One Example

That is only one example of the many cases of reported thefts of cars when the cars have been merely "mislaid". Strangers in Lubbock sometimes lose their directions and cannot find their automobiles; residents often forget where they left their vehicles.

A young man from Seminole who parked his new machine in front of a barber shop, was certain that his car had been stolen when he could not find it in front of a hardware store. A quick walk up and down the street and a policeman restored the car to its frantic owner.

Mayor Loses Car

Occasionally an automobile is recovered before the owner knows that it has been taken. Mayor Ross Edwards was enjoying the wrestling matches "with the boys" one Wednesday last fall, little realizing that thieves were stealing his car. At Lamesa, drivers of the car stopped for gasoline at the wrong filling station. Sheriff Gus White was there and, becoming suspicious, he reported to the Lubbock police department. The car was recovered and the surprised mayor was informed that his car soon would be returned to him.

Chief of Police H. L. Johnston said that the majority of auto thefts follow the leaving of keys in the car. Joy-riders will sometimes take the first car they find containing the keys and go wherever they wish, sometimes returning the car when they get through, or abandoning it at a nearby town. A Lubbock doctor left his car running while he ran into the post-office for a minute. A thief jumped into the waiting car and drove it off. The automobile was found at Abilene that night.

On Same Street

One man found his car on the same street from which it had been taken a few days before. It had been driven several hundred miles, had the keys in it, and had a full tank of gasoline.

A number of thefts have been accomplished through the use of pass keys. One thief by the use of wire and instruments managed to back a large car into the street where he had to abandon it because the wheels were locked. Professionals have various means of breaking into cars and forcing ignition locks.

Most stolen automobiles are taken between sundown and midnight. Professionals usually work during these hours, while amateurs work during the day-light hours.

Of 56 automobiles reported stolen in several months' time in 1936, the police department has aided in recovering 39. Not only does the Lubbock department handle local thefts. Also it receives calls from Hobbs, N. M., Littlefield, Post, Slaton, and other surrounding towns.

Many cars are recovered and that fact is not reported to the police. Several city officers, on the trail of a stolen car, stayed up all night awaiting the arrival of the thief at a local hotel parking lot—and nearly arrested the owner of the car. He had recovered his car a few days before and had not informed the police.

Radio Is Big Help

One of the chief means the Lubbock police department has in locating stolen cars and apprehending the thieves is the short wave broadcasting station, KGEW. It has been in use since 1933. Police pick up calls from cities all over Texas.

Other methods used in locating a stolen car include checking the highway numbers of cars, believed to have been stolen, because license plates are often switched, and by checking the motor numbers against registered numbers. Motor numbers filed down by thieves can be restored to the original number by the application of heat and acid.

The theft of cars for commercial purposes is often revealed to the officers by an informant, or a member of a gang, which has been split by arrests of some of the members. A $25 reward encourages many people to report the theft of stolen cars.

Installation Of A New Pump Started

Installation of a new pump at the disposal plant 1 1-2 miles southeast of town has begun, City Engineer M. R. Smith, jr., said. The new pump will have a capacity of more than the two combined which are already in use.

Remodeling of the pump house is also under way.

The pump to be installed has a capacity of 1150 to 1200 gallons per minute to compare with about 950 for the other two pumps. After it has been installed, it will take care of the disposal plant except in emergencies. The two smaller pumps will be kept in reserve for emergencies.

Work in remodeling and installation of the pump began about Jan. 1. It is expected to be complete in about two months. Cost of the new pump and installation is not known at present as bids have not been received.

Work is under the supervision of the city engineer.

SMUGGLERS USE DONKEYS

RANCH BATTLE IS IN COURT

RECEIVER ASKED FOR VAST KING RANCH IN SOUTH TEXAS

HOUSTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Heirs to the King ranch, the nation's largest cattle domain and a pioneer in the successful breeding of fine stock and improvement of rangeland, are wrangling in court over the millions of dollars worth of property.

Charging mismanagement of the trustees, Edwin K. Atwood and Alice B. Atwood of Chicago, grandchildren of the late Captain Richard King, founder of the vast ranch in South Texas, petitioned federal court to appoint a receiver.

Accounting Asked

They also asked an accounting on the handling of the part of the estate left in trust by the will of Mrs. King, who died in 1925, and Judge Wilmer Hunt of Houston was named master in chancery to take evidence. He conducted several hearings at Kingsville. The hearings will continue indefinitely.

Hearing on the petition for a receiver was postponed until February 9 after Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston raised the question of his jurisdiction.

J. H. Denman of San Antonio, an attorney for the trustees, denied the Atwoods' allegation and took the position Judge Kennerly didn't have the power to appoint a receiver.

Heirs are descendants of the four King children.

Left In Trust

Property in litigation was that left in trust by Mrs. King. Her will named specific beneficiaries of the bulk of the estate and left residue in trust for a given period which ended in March, 1935.

Before that period ended, however, the Atwoods filed the suit in equity. Dissatisfied with an audit and charging that Robert J. Kleberg, jr., and other trustees had "failed to account upon the books and records of the trust estate, for assets and property belonging to the trust," the Atwoods demanded an accounting.

The cattle improvement program is being pressed today. Hundreds of acres of practically worthless brush land are being converted into fine range. The brush is destroyed and "Rhodes" grass planted, greatly increasing the number of cows per acre. A recent consignment of 1-year-old straight grass "Santa Gertrudis" steers topped the Kansas City market. The seven cars ran from 1,217 to 1,295 pounds.

Willed Mrs. Kleberg

Ranch headquarters are near Kingsville at the "Santa Gertrudis," a palatial home which was willed Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg, sr., daughter of Captain King.

The vast ranch recently came into the news after the disappearance of Luther and John Blanton, San Perlita farmers, who dropped out of sight after going on a hunt on a part of the original ranch in Willacy county.

Talk of an unauthorized search of the property by neighbors stopped after the ranch management authorized a search. Posses scoured the San Perlita area unsuccessfully for the missing hunters and the search has continued under the direction of the state department of public safety without success.

Operating Bank Is Called A Soft Job

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 8. (AP) — Operating a bank is a "soft job" compared with running a house, says Mrs. Agnes Shinn who does both.

Mrs. Shinn, who five years ago inherited a bank presidency at the death of her husband, reflects:

"Mothering six children, seven in-laws and four grandchildren is my biggest job."

She says the secret of successful banking is "being careful with the people's money."

Second in command at the bank Mrs. Shinn directs is another woman, Vice-President Jobelle Holcombe.

TURKEY DOLES OUT LAND

ISTANBUL, Turkey, (AP)—The state agricultural bank expects to distribute more than 40,000,000 acres of land free to Turkish laborers under a law intended to stimulate agriculture.

EVERY WOMAN FACES THIS QUESTION

How do I look to other people? So many women risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, poor complexions.

Yet common constipation can be ended so easily. Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or fruits every day, three times daily in severe cases. This delicious ready-to-eat cereal supplies the "bulk" needed to exercise the system—and vitamin B to help tone up the intestinal tract.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water, gently sponging out the intestines. It never causes the artificial action of pills and drugs, that often prove ineffective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, you see, is a food—not a medicine. It relieves common constipation the way Nature intended—so its results are safe. Buy it at your grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Comrades Caring For Injured Boston Fire Fighter

A broken hose that thrashed about on a frozen Boston cobblestone street injured three firemen during a $150,000 blaze at a glass works. The pain on the face of Robert E. Roach, one of the injured fire fighters, is clearly evident as he waited for comrades to remove him on a stretcher. His leg was broken. (Associated Press Photo)

LEADERS MEET HERE TODAY

CONTINUATION OF WPA WORK TO BE TALKED AT GATHERING

County judges, county commissioners, mayors, other city and county officials, chamber of commerce managers, and newspaper editors of the South Plains will meet at the Hilton hotel here today at 2 p. m. Between 200 to 250 representatives were expected to attend.

Purpose of the session, as outlined by Alvin R. Allison, president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners' association, is to find means of impressing upon the present Congress the need for quick action in appropriating funds for the continuation of Works Progress administration.

More than 300 invitations were mailed out bearing the signature of Judge Allison of Levelland, asking that business and civic leaders of 50 West Texas counties participate in the parley today. He will preside. Postal cards were also mailed to leaders further urging their attendance.

Leaders of the movement stated that if funds are not allocated soon, WPA projects will have to suspend operation, throwing many of the laborers and their families on the county and city agencies. Should all the projects of this district be suspended now, 2,750 laborers on the agency's rolls would be without employment. They and their families would be jobless with no resources to carry them through the winter months, a spokesman said.

Continuation Said Essential

Allison said the continuation of the Works Progress administration was essential to more than those on its rolls. Discontinuation of the federal funds and the suspension of operation of projects would be a setback to business. To influence Congress to see the need of the agency's continuation and immediate need for funds is a problem important to every tax-payer, the judge said.

Figures showing progress of the agency in this district, work accomplished, and the effect should it be halted will be placed before the meeting this afternoon.

EXPLANATION FOR EMPLOYERS MADE

An employer with less than eight full-time workers may be subject to the unemployment insurance laws, said J. A. Rix, assistant manager of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who attended a meeting Wednesday of employers of Amarillo and that section of the country.

A similar meeting is to be held in the Hilton hotel in Lubbock Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Jan. 13. R. B. Anderson, director of state Unemployment Compensation commission, will be in charge of the meeting.

Regulations Outlined

Rix explained that an employer who employs only four full-time workers and four part-time workers who are employed in as many as one day a week in as many as 20 weeks are affected by the law. A person might work only 20 days in the year and be counted as an employe, Anderson said. Clerks who work only on Saturdays must be considered in the unemployment insurance law if they work as many as 20 Saturdays.

Anderson pointed out that men, women or organizations employing less than eight employes might comply with the requirements of the Unemployment Compensation commission so that their employes will be eligible for benefits, but they are not forced by law to do so, Rix said.

Officers Considered Employes

Officers of a corporation are considered employes by the commission.

Questions of this nature and many others will be discussed and explained by Anderson in the meeting here. Rix emphasized the need for all employers to attend the meeting and become informed with regulations of the act.

The first payroll tax will be due Jan. 25, 1937, instead of Jan. 31, Anderson said in the Amarillo meeting.

'RECORD' ATTENDER

MAGAZINE, Ark. (AP)—Dr. O. Q. Ewing says he is entitled to some sort of record for attending meetings. He travels 90 miles each time he attends a meeting of DeRosey C. Cabell camp No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, in Fort Smith. He missed only one last year.

To Be Mother

Baby talk instead of pungent epigrams will be in order this year for Dorothy Parker, above, famed wit, author, and poet. Confirmation that Miss Parker expects to become a mother in 1937 was given by Alan Campbell, her actor-writer husband. "She wants a girl, but I'll be satisfied either way," commented the proud father-to-be.

THAT RIGHT REAR GETS MOST WEAR

AMES, Ia., Jan. 8 (AP)—Do automobile tires wear evenly?

R. A. Moyer, Iowa State college highway engineer, made a study of this question and reports that an auto's right rear tire gets almost three times as much wear as its left front tire.

As result of which Moyer recommends that motorists switch their tires diagonally every 3,000 or 5,000 miles to assure uniform tread wear.

Strapping the bow around only a stump of a right arm, H. D. Welch out-fiddled 50 contestants in a fiddlers' bee at Louisiana state fair.

Mother Accused

Mrs. Marion Stogowski, 24, (above), was arraigned in Chicago on a charge of manslaughter in the drowning of her son, Leroy, 12. The boy died when both he and his mother plunged into Lake Michigan. Mrs. Stogowski was rescued by a night watchman, who was unable to save her son. (Associated Press Photo).

FLASHES OF LIFE

Age Of Realism

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Frank Devott, 11, climbed an apple tree, tied a rope to a limb, put a noose around his neck and shouted to a chum: "This is how cowboys hang cattle thieves!"

Then he jumped. His feet barely touched the ground.

Reviving him half an hour later with an inhalator, doctors reported his neck "a little stretched, but none the worse."

Ticklish

CHICAGO — Mrs. Lillian Weidenaar, 19, testified in her suit for divorce her husband, John, 21, tickled her feet until she became hysterical. She got the divorce.

Well Wisher

WASHINGTON, Ga. — Louis Amason returned home and found a thief had rifled a wallet secreted in the house.

The money had been replaced by a rabbit's foot and a card reading: "Hope you have better luck next time."

Noblesse Oblige

HAMILTON, O.—Charles Moon, dairy truck driver, lost a pocketbook containing $6 a month ago. It was found and returned to Moon by a woman whose name was not disclosed.

The same woman reported her pocket book and $60 lost Wednesday. Moon found and returned it.

Stork Club

SAN FRANCISCO — Fathers are to receive due consideration in the new San Francisco hospital now under construction.

A special room in which prospective fathers may pace the floor is included in the plans. Reading matter will be provided on "the future care of the baby, particularly as to bathing and dressing."

Cold Hospitality

ANTIGO, Wis. — Freezing temperatures and a balky heating plant spelled temporary freedom for Joe Strasser, Langlade county's only prisoner. Strasser, serving a sentence for a game violation, was sent home by the jailer until his cell can be heated.

A deadly poison can be extracted from milk.

GREAT PRISON SHOWS DROP

SAN QUENTIN LOSING RATING AS BIGGEST IN THE COUNTRY

BY SAM JACKSON

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP) —The biggest penitentiary in the country is about to lose that rating and is glad of it.

A drop of nearly 500 in the population of the California state prison here is hailed by Warden Court Smith as a sure index of better times and more jobs.

The inmates are now down to 5,393, after running well over 6,000 during the worst of the depression, and San Quentin hopes soon to hand over the rank of "biggest" to some institution in the east. New York, Illinois and Ohio have more convicts on hand than California, but they are split up among more institutions.

California has only two places for male felons—San Quentin for first termers, Folsom for repeaters.

Alcatraz 'Small-Time'

Despite the celebrity of Alcatraz, which lies out in the bay not far from the state prison, the government's "Devil Island" is just a small-time jail compared with the "big business" going on at San Quentin.

The latter requires two immense dining rooms, one seating 3,000 men, the other 2,000, to feed its inmates. No cafeteria routine delays meals. The prisoners are waited on at their tables and an orchestra plays for all meals except breakfast.

Once each day the diners get beans. This is not an economy diet, but is demanded by the large proportion of Mexican convicts.

It takes three free employes and 300 inmates to run the mess hall, which uses 125 pounds of coffee a meal, 1,500 loaves of bread a day.

At night some 2,000 men sleep in the largest single cell block in the world, containing 1,000 cells. The studious ones can cram on school courses, taking their choice of 250 in the prison curriculum. One hundred and twenty better educated convicts have jobs as instructors.

It takes five doctors and two dentists to look after the health of San Quentin' inmates, although the administration is proud of the fact the hospital list averages only 75.

Work In Mill First

Principal industry at San Quentin is a jute mill, which imports the raw plant from India and turns out 20,000 sacks a day. They are sold direct to farmers, scrupulously kept out of the hands of middlemen.

Regardless of what prison job he eventually falls into, every newcomer has his head clipped and spends his first 13 months in the jute mill.

Under Warden Smith, the dungeon has been closed and the most extreme punishment inflicted is solitary confinement. Desire to work up into a "good job" in one of the prison's shops or in its farms or gardens is credited chiefly with keeping the prisoners in line. There are 275 guards.

A safety valve is provided by Warden Smith, who patiently interviews any convict who wishes to see him. In cases of prison grudges, he lets the two opponents put on boxing gloves and go after each other in view of their fellows.

Location An Accident

San Quentin's strategic position on a peninsula jutting out into San Francisco Bay was chosen largely by accident. In the gold rush days convicts were kept on a prison ship under private contract. As the lure of easy money brought in riffraff from the seven seas, it became necessary to house some on shore, and these first buildings formed the nucleus of what is now a big walled city.

Even if economic conditions do not erase its undesired preeminence, San Quentin is due to drop the word "biggest" in the course of a few years. California has decided to build a second prison in the Los Angeles area and the prison population will be divided.

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1937

Sportsgraphs

By Sid Feder

SLIPPED UP ON US, but today's the day when the District 1 fathers and coaches of the Texas Interscholastic league gather in annual winter session at Plainview.

They picked out a rather brisk spell of weather for the hot session. There'll be no snow around the Hilton Hotel in Plainview when it's over — the session, we mean—if it's like previous meetings.

The schedule fuss very likely will be the main event on today's program. Lubbock again will seek to have Amarillo as a Thanksgiving foe. Lubbock again probably will be disappointed, although it was all but settled at the last meeting that Westerners and Sandies would clash on the Turkey holiday. But since Pampa gave Amarillo a better game than Lubbock did, you may look out for Sandies and Harvesters to occupy the same date in 1937.

Those promises are getting old.

Amarillo will be officially named the District 1 football champion again; the executive committee will wrangle over the rules, make new ones and change old ones. They'll discuss district membership, and Borger's enrollment. But the membership will remain the same. The district will remain the same, and Amarillo will win the district championship in 1937.

Among the "extinguished guests" at the meeting this morning will be/are the noted Jerry Malin of Amarillo's sports writing family, and this reporter, who will bring our dear publics the lowdown on the session, via tomorrow morning's noospeppers.

ADD WHITE HOPES of the heavyweight boxing division: William "Babe" Ritchie (spelled Richie in the city directory) who now reigns as the amateur boxing champion of the state and who is headed for the Golden Gloves championship.

The Golden Gloves, brought to Texas for the first time, is conducting district tournaments over the state within the next few weeks and winners go to the state tournament at Fort Worth. Winners there go to Chicago for the national Golden Gloves.

Among the entries already registered for the Lubbock district tournament, scheduled for the 18th and 19th of this month, are Dixie White, former grid and boxing star of Lubbock High; "Andy" Anderson, freshman gridder from Sapulpa, Okla.; Sammy Ray, another frosh gridder; Wyhell Cox, who won a middleweight title at Fort Sill; Royce Pruitt, a featherweight; Loys Watson, a welterweight; Jim White, a heavyweight from Midland; "Chief" Gonzales, another heavyweight and a good gridder from Sherman; Bill Davis, 240-pound freshman, and C. A. Gibbs, a Tech senior and former champion of a lightweight tournament at Palacios.

It appears that Ritchie, who sailed through this section without much opposition and then won the T. A. A. P. championship in a breeze, will have considerable more opposition than anticipated. But Babe seems to have what it takes.

As a matter of fact, Ritchie, a fine physical specimen, has his heart set on building a boxing career. He has been appointed captain of the 1937 Lubbock High school football team, but the guess is now that he will have made a greater name as a boxer by that time than he ever will make as a footballer. He has the natural build for a great athlete, and he has a fighting heart. He may go places in the boxing world.

And now we've got to call it quits. In the office as we try to bang this out is Gib Jackson, well known super-athlete of West Texas State, Clarendon college, et cetera, et cetera, and one of the "most natural baseball players ever born," according to his old mentor, Sied Allen. Also in the office and rarin' to go to Plainview to get in on the fuss is Jerry (Li'l Abner) Malin, so what can we do with those two around?

Lou Ambers Meets Venturi In Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers and potential challenger Enrico Venturi tangle in a non-title tenrounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Strictly on their recent showings, the betting has been near even money. A week ago, Venturi was 7 to 5 favorite. The odds went down until Ambers ruled at 6-5.

Since Ambers defeated Tony Canzoneri for the 135-pound crown several months ago, he was outpointed by Eddie Cool of Philadelphia, a fair lightweight, and took a sound thrashing from comebacking Jimmy McLarnin.

Venturi, on the other hand, has created considerable havoc in the lightweight group in recent months. Since coming from Italy a year ago, he hasn't lost a fight in a dozen starts.

The first four touchdowns scored on Indiana this fall were all made on forward passes thrown on fourth down.

VETERANS ARE BEING LOST TO RANKS

MEMBERS OF SELECT TEN-YEAR SOCIETY DEFINITELY OUT

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Old Pop Time is wielding a heavy scythe among the big league veterans for 1937.

Some 20 members of the select society of ten-year men in the majors already are definitely out or are slated to see their action from the sidelines when the wars start. About 17 others, still going strong, will be initiated into the select set.

Laugh At Reaper

Meantime, such "grandaddies" of the game as Rogers Hornsby, Jimmy Dykes and Waite (Perpetual Motion) Hoyt among the 20-year men, and Frankie Frisch and Jesse Haines, each with 18 years of service, are laughing at the reaper. They're all down on the lists of active players for their clubs for the coming season.

Bowing out of this latter group is Charley Grimm, the Chicago Cubs manager, who has done a lot of first-basing in his 19 years. For the first time, he is off the club's "reserve list," and the chances are Charley has come to the end of the trail for good.

Two widely-known products of the John McGraw school with the Giants appear out of the lineup for keeps. Travis Jackson, after 15-years of third-basing, leaves the big-time to manage a Giant farm; his long-time teammate and boss, Bill Terry, is considering going on the voluntary retirement list.

Hornsby No. 1 Vet

Of those still left, the number one veteran is Rogers Hornsby. The Rajah, if he sees any action with the Browns, will be performing in his 3rd season.

Taking the place of the departing veterans in the ten-year club are Spud Davis, Reds' catcher; Dutch Brandt, left-handed Pittsburgh thrower; Bill Dickey, Yanks' catcher; Ray Hayworth, Mickey Cochrane's relief in Detroit; Chuck Klein, the Phillies' homer-hammering flychaser and Jonathan Stone, Washington outfielder; third-baseman, Joe Stripp, the National league's best last season; Pinky Whitney of the Phils' infield; and Carl Hubbell, Mel Harder of the Indians, Pat Malone of the Yanks and Si Johnson of the Cards, all hurlers.

CAGE BATTLES BEING HELD

FOUR GAMES ARE HELD LAST NIGHT; ANTON TOURNEY SCENE

ANTON, Jan. 8 (Special)—Anton High school's sixth annual invitation basketball tournament continues today, following four first round games last night that saw Anton, New Deal, Spade and Pettit win the opening combats.

Starting the tournament, the Anton "B" team defeated the Littlefield "B" team, 24 to 17. Webb led the winners with 10 points, Elms scoring 7 points to lead Littlefield's scoring.

The Littlefield regulars lost a nip and tuck game to New Deal, 14 to 15, in the second contest. Walker of Littlefield was high point man with 8, McNeely leading New Deal with 5.

Spade, a pre-tournament favorite, won its 21st game of the season by defeating Shallowater, 30 to 18. Spade has lost only one game this season, that to Frenship by a 19-12 count. Frenship meets Spade Friday afternoon. Hunt led Spade with 11 points. Scott and Malone scored 6 each for Shallowater.

Pettit downed the Spade "B" team, 21 to 14, with C. McInturf scoring a dozen points to lead the winners.

Friday's schedule:

5 o'clock—Spring Lake vs. Brownfield "B"; 5:45—New Home vs. Muleshoe; 6:30—West Texas Training school (Canyon) vs. Brownfield; 7:15—Lubbock vs. Bula; 8 o'clock—Anton vs. Amherst; 9 o'clock—Frenship vs. Spade.

MAN WANTS TO BE MARRIED AND OBTAIN SUPPORT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8. (AP) — A man who wants to get married in order to be supported, at least for the time being, walked the downtown streets today, distributing a printed handbill announcing his matrimonial intentions. It read:

"I will marry any woman that will support me until I can find work. Here is a list of what I can do."

The list included being a magician, fire eater, escape artist, juggler, handwriting analyist, "pull auto with teeth," "pull auto with hair," "musical marvel," numerologist, entertainer, strong man, orator, "psychic wonder" and palmist.

Business seemed slow.

The Army-Notre Dame grid series opened in 1913 with a 35-13 upset of a great Army team by Notre Dame's fancy aerial attack—which consisted of the Gus Dorais to Knute Rockne tosses.

Superstition Plays A Role In Athlete's Life

Champions Of Parlor Contract

Amateur contract bridge, the kind of game that's played in thousands of American homes on Saturday nights, got a firm toehold among the experts, when Dr. J. C. McClelland, left, of Akron, O., and M. Neiman, of Los Angeles, won the national amateur pair championship of the American Bridge League in Chicago. Only those not yet "qualified masters," meaning those who still can play a quiet family game, could participate. It was the first event of its kind conducted in connection with the American Bridge League's tenth annual tournament.

Cage Prospects At Texas Tech Bright

FINE CROP OF FRESHMEN OUT TO MAKE NAME FOR THEMSELVES; BIG LIST IS REVEALED

Texas Tech's basketball prospects for the next three years at least, are bright indeed if the turnout of freshmen talent is any indication.

A turnout of freshmen basketeers that would warm the cockles of any coach's heart is the answer to the call for Picador athletes. Aubrey Butts, former star halfback on the Tech football team, has charge of the first year cagers, and they are so numerous as to make him wonder what to do next.

Play Monday Night

No less than 49 yearlings remained on the list after two days of "weeding out." Freshman basketball practice started this week, and more than 60 ambitious youngsters, some of them from schools which paraded prominent teams in the high school races, reported for uniforms.

Coach Butts had his hands full, but he got down to business and checked all but 49 off the list after watching the big squad work out in shifts.

First public appearance of the Picador cagers is booked for Monday evening when they play a preliminary game with a high school team of this section just before the varsity Matadors tangle with Arizona State Teachers of Flagstaff in a Border conference opener here. The Picadors will play again Tuesday night, starting the second program of the Border series.

Boswell, All-Stater

At least one all-state star, several all-district and all-county players are included in the large squad, which probably will be cut to 25 or 30 within a week or two.

Gene Boswell, star on the Picador football team; a powerful athlete from Lamesa, is the all-stater. G. W. Gates of Shallowater rated the all-district team last season in this district, and Frank McDaniel of Brownwood was an all-district star in that locality.

But here's the complete list of the Picador cagers who are still trying for positions:

ONE MAN INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

SLATON, Jan. 8, (Special)—One person received emergency attention at a hospital here Thursday afternoon after two automobiles had been in collision in the north edge of Slaton.

Machines driven by Homer Lapier of Plainview and Jack Miller of San Antonio were damaged almost irreparably, said R. H. Wicker, Slaton police chief, when they met on a curve. Lapier was injured. He lost four teeth and suffered a chin laceration.

Lapier, about 25, was driving toward Abilene, Miller toward Lubbock.

Ice on windshields was blamed, said Wicker.

Numerous light collisions were reported by other motorists, but none was injured.

Three southern football centers of last season rated all-America consideration — Moose Stewart, L. S. U.; Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt, and Walter Gilbert of Auburn.

MANY CHARMS BEING USED BY TEAMS

WOODEN DOG, A PENCIL AND PENNY PLAYING FOR NEW YORK U.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—A wooden dog, a pencil, and a penny are playing basketball for New York university this season. Helping these tokens of Lady Luck are two veterans from last season. The rest of the squad is made up of reserves from last year and a few promising sophomores.

The "golden era" of basketball at New York university is closing out. N. Y. U. recently had a victory streak of 37 games on its home court. At the close of last year's schedule, N. Y. U. had won 50 of the 55 games it played since December, 1933. One season ended with no defeats and 16 straight triumphs. Another was completed with one loss in 20 starts. Last year N. Y. U. lost four out of a 19-game card.

Obtain 'Twin' Pencil

The manager of the undefeated squad in 1934-35 turned over the pencil he used to record goals and foul shots to the manager who succeeded him. That manager turned the pencil over to last year's manager. He, in turn, passed it along to the manager of this year's team. Considered quite a lucky piece, the pencil came to the end of its usefulness, as pencils do, soon after this season got under way.

But the pencil had produced an undefeated record when it began its service. A new pencil has been obtained and it is the same color and the same length as the pencil that began to work for N. Y. U. three seasons ago. Added to the luck of the pencil is a new miniature wooden dog.

Fido Worship

The dog is owned by Al Tripsianis, a reserve on the squad. While the N. Y. U. players kissed the oriental dog they went undefeated through 27 games, lost one, and then won the next 20 games before losing another. Tripsianis wears the dog on the jacket of his jumper and as the players leave the dressing rooms before each game they kiss the dog.

Tripsianis lost the dog three days before N. Y. U. met Georgetown last season. Georgetown ended the victory march after 20 straight triumphs. Tripsianis' new dog began this season, but, with only two veterans on the team, he has to work over-time.

Of the three charms, the penny is the only one with an outright claim to durability. Coach Howard G. Gann put the penny in his pocket at the beginning of the 1934-35 season and it's stayed there hard at work since then. It has failed, to be sure, but that has been because its helpmates fell down on the job. With substitute charms helping, the penny will do its utmost.

Howard Jones Will Stay With Trojans

CHANCE OF A RETURN TO IOWA VANISHES AT DECISION

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8. (AP)—Chances of Howard Jones returning to Iowa as football coach vanished today when he announced his determination to keep his job at the University of Southern California.

Head man of Troy's gridiron destinies since 1925, Jones said, "I am entirely satisfied at Southern California."

"I am not interested in offers to coach at any other institution," he added. "To leave here would be my greatest regret. I have decided to stay with the Trojans."

A conference yesterday with President R. B. Von Kleinumid, Jones said, assured him of "100 per cent support" and "this assurance is sufficient to make me wish to continue my happy connections at Southern California."

SOUTHWEST RACE GETS UNDER WAY

(By The Associated Press)

The Southwest conference basketball race, inaugurated Wednesday night by Rice's 32 to 25 triumph over the Texas Aggies, gets into full swing tonight with engagements at Fayetteville, Ark., and Fort Worth.

Baylor's rapidly improving Bears meet Arkansas' towering Razorbacks, 1936 champions and favorites to repeat. The University of Texas Longhorns play the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs.

The Bears and Porkers play again tomorrow night and the Longhorns move to Dallas to meet Southern Methodist.

TECH RAIDERS OFF AGAIN

TWO-GAME SERIES IN ABILENE WILL BE OPENED TONIGHT

The Red Raiders are on the road again.

They carry Texas Tech's basketball hopes to Abilene, open a two-game series with the Abilene Christian college, in Abilene, tonight.

The series opens the new year for the Wildcats, who, under the coaching of Bugs Morris, generally are among the strongest competitors for collegiate honors in West Texas.

After 6th Victory

Texas Tech will be playing its sixth game of the season. The Raiders split the first two games at home, defeating the Cosden Oilers of Big Spring and losing to the University of Southern California Trojans, in pre-Christmas games. They went to Oklahoma City, took third place in an all-college tournament, winning three games and losing one. At Oklahoma City, Coach Berl Huffman's outfit showed enough stuff to brand it a definite threat in every game it plays for the remainder of the season. The Matadors are slight favorites to take the Wildcats at Abilene tonight and tomorrow night.

Coach Huffman is taking ten players to Abilene—the same double quintet which served so well at Oklahoma City. Starting lineup probably will consist of Curly Wilkinson at center, Arthur "Judge" Garrett and Leroy Crews at forwards, Paul Morris and Hugh Snodgrass at guards. Others making the trip and due to play ball are Bob Case, Maurice Wiginton, George Underwood, Wayne Wilkins and Elmer Tarbox.

Open Border Race

The Matadors play in Abilene tonight and tomorrow night, return home Sunday and without any time to practice, tie into Arizona State Teachers of Flagstaff in a Border conference series beginning Monday night. These games, opening the Border league race, will be the last until February 1 and 2 for Tech, "dead week" and examinations putting a quietus to basketball for the next two weeks.

TO SEEK REVENGE

ABILENE, Jan. 8. (AP)—Daniel Baker's Hill Billy cagers will seek revenge tonight for a 33 to 16 defeat last night by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys. McCulley, Daniel Baker forward, scored 10 points to share individual honors with Scroggins, Cowboy center.

Lawrence Mathews, tackle, stood out in every game for Utah State this year, after starting his grid career as a bench-warmer.

When he really got hold of one on the fourth and whanged it 300 yards straight down the fairway, their distress was acute. . . . Tift's caddy sidled over and whispered: "Mistuh Tift, if we ain't keerful and that gennaman's luck holds out, he sho gwine to beat us."

CONTRACT SIGNED

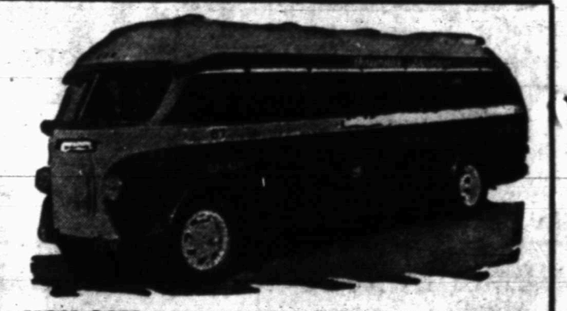

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8. (AP)—Red Lucas, Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher named recently in "holdout" talk, said today he had signed a 1937 contract with the National league baseball club.

David I. (Red) Barron, great Georgia Tech halfback of the early '20s and former big league baseball star, is president of an agricultural and industrial school at Monroe, Ga., and coaches the football team, knogn as the Monroe Aggies.

MEXICO READY TO BARGAIN

PROTESTS ARE LODGED ON RADIO STATIONS ALONG BORDER

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 8 (AP)—Mexico is ready and willing to talk radio frequencies with the United States and Canada, but she wants to be sure she will get something out of the bargaining, a government official said today.

Alfonso Gomez Morentin, the communications department's director of mails, telegraphs and radio, explained that was his government's attitude toward United States radio listeners' complaints that powerful transmitters along the border are drowning out their favorite stations.

Comply With Rules

He said as long as they comply with regulations, broadcasting plants like the 250,000-watt station XERA at Villa Acuna, Coahuila, are welcome to Mexico.

That station is operated by Dr. John R. Brinkley, former Kansas politician who broadcasts medical advertising. His permit to operate station KFKB at Milford, Kansas, was cancelled several years ago by the United States radio commission.

Shortly after Brinkley moved to Mexico, officials said, the United States government made representations regarding broadcasting and for several months the station was closed. Later it was allowed to reopen.

Protests Provoked

XERA, just across the Rio Grande from Del Rio, Tex., is one of the stations which have provoked protests by listeners to the north.

Others include XENT, 150,000 watts, Nuevo Laredo, Tamaulipas, opposite Laredo, Tex.; XEPN, 100,000 watts, Piedras Negras, Coahuila, near Eagle Pass, Tex., and XEAW, 50,000 watts, Reynosa, Tamaulipas, west of Brownsville, Tex. XERA, assigned to 840 kilocycles, blankets not only three Canadian stations of the same frequency but also, because of its power, stations several points away on radio dials, listeners say.

The same effect is attributed to XENT, 190 kilocycles; XEPN 730, and XEAO, 930.

Often Are Fined

"We often fine the stations for infractions that would be cause enough, if so wished, to take their licenses away from them. But what would that get us?" Gomez Morentin asked.

The larger stations the better, he said.

"Perhaps they will help pave the way to an international agreement that will result in Mexico's being assigned some broadcasting bands."

He cited four advantages to Mexico in the operation of these strong stations, which he acknowledged were erected primarily to reach an English-speaking audience:

"First, they get the name of Mexico spread abroad; second, they provide work for many Mexicans; third, they make revenue for the government, and fourth—but not least—they give us potential talking points in any discussion of reassigning broadcasting frequencies."

Gomez Morentin contended the United States and Canada got into commercial broadcasting when the business was new, and took over all the desirable channels.

COURT BANS GREETINGS

LAHORE, India, (AP)—A judicial order of the Punjab high court asked lawyers not to send Christmas cards or telegrams to the judges—because last year the justices received so many that they had to spend their entire holiday writing replies.

Don't Blow Your Head Off!

FOR

STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS

(due to accumulated mucus)

If people realized how delicate the mucous membranes of nasal passages really are there would be far less blowing—far less trying to drive accumulated mucus out by brute force.

There is a much gentler and more effective way to do this. If your nostrils are stopped up with mucus, just insert a little Mentholatum in them.

You'll be surprised at the gentle and quick way in which Mentholatum breaks up the accumulated mucus. You'll be delighted, too, as you notice how the stuffiness is relieved and you can breathe more freely again.

Twins 'No Novelty' To This Oklahoma Family

Mrs. Bill Russell, 39, half-blood Cherokee Indian, is shown holding her fifth set of twins, a boy and girl, born in a one-room, mud and log cabin on Thanksgiving day in the hill country near Rose, Okla. "They're no novelty around here," she declared when this picture of her flock was taken, pointing to her other four twins, each a boy and girl, gathered in their home. Mrs. Russell has had 15 children, 12 of whom lived. The father of the children, a 42-year-old white man, is in jail at Pryor, Okla., charged with the murder of Charles Elmore, a neighbor, found dead with axe and shotgun wounds. Progress Is Tough On Good Spitters

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (AP) — Progress has wrecked the fine art of tobacco spitting in the state capitol here.

Texas statesmen-marksmen formerly could tester the low old-fashioned cuspidors with a perfect arc of plug cut shot from a distance of ten paces.

Now the cuspidors have been replaced by tall tubular receivers filled with white sand. They baffle the most expert marksman because he finds the "angle of incidency" much smaller. There is also less protection from richocheting.

SHERIFF GETS DEER IN HURRY

AUSTIN, Jan. 8 (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Sam Rogers claims the season's record for bagging a deer in the shortest time. He got one twenty minutes after leaving the courthouse.

Here's how:

The game department telephoned the sheriff's office a deer had fallen over the municipal dam a mile from town and broken a leg. Rogers went out and shot the deer and turned it over to the Salvation Army.

HOOKEY PLAYING NO BIG PROBLEM

AUSTIN, Jan. 8 (AP)—One school here has no "hookey playing" problem—it's a school for traffic violators.

Convicted traffic violators can pay a fine and leave the keys of his car with the judge, go to jail, or—if he's a first offender—attend the traffic school.

The "student" must go to school twice a week at night for a month. There he solves traffic problems, learns the principles of operating an automobile and hears of the dangers of alcoholic stimulation, fatigue and inattention while driving.

The record of "graduates" is good. Only five of more than 200 violators were arrested a second time.

Physics Of Music Is To Be Studied

MANHATTAN, Kas., Jan. 8 (AP)—A spherical resonator, believed the largest of its kind in the world, has been completed by Prof. E. V. Floyd of the Kansas State College here for the study of the physics of music and musical instruments.

The air-tight resonator is about four feet in diameter and contains 300 pieces of wood. The largest previous spherical resonator, Floyd said, was about a foot in diameter and was made in Germany.

Through his research Floyd hopes to gather new information on the way vocal tones are produced and to contribute to a better understanding of architectural acoustics.

Training Schools For Tokyo Police

TOKYO, Jan. 8 (AP)—Tokyo's metropolitan police department has just established a training school for delinquent members.

The present system of punishing slack cops with various degrees of discipline and fines, it is announced, will be replaced by one of kindness. The erring bluecoats will be sent to the new training school for periods of from three to six months to correct their conduct, morals and to improve their general education.

The authorities have found that most of the policemen who have been found lax in their morals or derelict in their duties to the public, are men of poor education who have had little chance in life.

THE PLAINSMAN was talking to O. R. Walker, the architect the other day, and of course the conversation veered around to Lubbock's building prospects in the good year 1937.

This column doesn't remember how long Mr. Walker has been here but we do know it has been from seven to ten years, or thereabouts. We also know that since he has been here his business has taken him over a good deal of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, hence what he says should draw some water.

And, anent building in this area this year he says:

"There are more prospects and more building plans for 1937 than there has been in this country any year since I've been here."

That's good news.

Take any locality under the sun and if there is an appreciable degree of building going on you'll find business is generally good.

Construction is one of the keys to the economic trend of the whole nation and the segments thereof.

Give the South Plains area as a whole three or four millions of dollars in building in 1937 and we can't help but have a good year if we make any crops at all.

AN open epistle to Jim Lindsey, editor, the Texas Tech Toreador: Dear Jim: I see in the latest edition of your paper where once again you are making the welkin ring on naming the dormitories. I think you're right. They should be named—and certainly one should be named for the late Dr. Paul Whitfield Horn, Tech's first president.

If I remember correctly, someone told me that the dormitories could not be officially named because that is against the rules on buildings erected through federal funds. Whether that is true, or not, I do not know—except I do know a dormitory at West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, has been named in memory of someone and it was built the same way the Tech dorms were.

Anyhow, if the Tech directorate doesn't act to name the dormitories, you can get 'em named—and the names will stick just as well as if they were official. Here's how:

You can run a double column coupon on the front page of one or more editions of The Toreador, calling upon students to vote their preference on naming the buildings. Either let the students write in their own choices of names, or give them a list to vote on. Then have a committee of judges canvass the returns and your dormitories are named.

From there on out The Toreador can refer to the dormitories by the names chosen and we'll side you in the papers down town.

Don't you think that will get the job done if the directors don't do it themselves?

As a rule when a citizen begins to bark at his fellow men it's a sign he's going to the dogs.

IT looks like The Plainsman and a lot of other Texas folks who are impressed with the importance of highways, did too much advance worrying over Governor Allred's appointment of a state highway commissioner to succeed Dock Martin, of San Antonio, who retires next month.

Appointment of former Attorney-General Robert E. Lee Bobbitt, of Laredo, sets at rest all fears and rumors that the highway department is to be wrecked, a new setup erected and the department, as a whole, turned into a political playhouse.

Robert Bobbitt is a high class gentleman and a good Texan.

The Journal has watched Robert Bobbitt in public life for a good many years. The Plainsman, personally, has always thought a great deal of him.

These facts may be attested to by a look back into our files when, in 1930, Avalanche-Journal publications vigorously supported him in his campaign for attorney-general, in which he was defeated by the present governor, James V. Allred. At that time Bobbitt, under appointment of Governor Ross Sterling, was serving out the unexpired term of Attorney-General Claude Pollard, resigned, who two years before had defeated Allred. We thought then, and we still think, Mr. Bobbitt is an outstanding Texan who may well be trusted with important duties.

UNLIKE most political opponents, neither Governor Allred nor Mr. Bobbitt made a personal matter out of their political battle. They became staunch friends and in Allred's first campaign for governor Robert Bobbitt, an excellent campaigner, was on the firing line for the Wichita Falls man. After Allred's election, at the Democratic State convention in Galveston in September, 1934, Bobbitt was chosen as keynote speaker and as such praised the governor to the skies.

All this indicates, we think, that Bobbitt is a broad man and a big man—one capable and worthy of the highway commissionership.

The Plainsman believes Governor Allred made a good appointment and that Bobbitt will do well.

Incidentally, this column would not be surprised if Bobbitt's acceptance of the appointment clears his return to the state political stage and we would not be surprised to find the Laredoan on future ballots of either the governor's or attorney-general's races.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Rex Moore, supposedly lost while trying to fly the Pacific, has returned to London. He learns from his former employer that Laurie Moore, his wife, is an employee of Albery's. But there is something odd in the way Moore takes the news, Albery thinks. Still more odd is the fact that Laurie and Rex rode in the same compartment from Liverpool to London without apparently recognizing each other.

CHAPTER SIX
MAD SITUATION

"As it happens, I have Mrs. Moore's address here," said Mark Albery. "Mrs. Moore worked for me personally for a few weeks while my private secretary was ill. She does not have a telephone, however."

A slightly elaborate explanation, and not quite true. Albery had asked Laurie for her address because he wanted to know where she lived.

He found it in his address book and gave it to the young man.

"Do you think perhaps you ought to warn Mrs. Moore? Shall I do it for you? It will be such a shock."

"You just said joy doesn't kill," retorted Moore, with that sudden smile in his eyes, touched with mockery. "Thanks very much. I'll just get right along."

Albery felt a sudden dislike for the airman. There was something incomprehensible about him. His manner was so off-hand, almost inhuman. He was certainly changed, not only in looks. Perhaps his adventure had really turned his brain a little.

"I have a great admiration for Mrs. Moore," he said, a trifle stiffly. "She has shown the greatest pluck, and she is a splendid worker. You are a very lucky man, Moore."

"Sure; I know I must be," was the airman's reply, as they shook hands. On Albery's part, not quite so warmly, this time.

Laurie Moore sat in her little living-room in the roof, with its slanting attic ceiling on either side of the quaint dormer window, from which she looked over a dusty wilderness behind high fences, where the old houses on the other side of the street had been pulled down, and re-building had not yet begun.

Laurie's house was condemned, too, with its eight neighbors. Hers was the end one, and there was a solitary plane tree in front of it, at the moment delicately tasselled and bursting into green.

Laurie was making an evening frock for Glad. She had cooked and eaten her supper and washed up and put everything away.

It was a bright little room. Laurie wanted everything that Glad wanted. And Glad adored color. So there was orange and soft blue in the curtains and covers, and there were flowery cushions, and on the dark-stained floor gay mats, and the furniture was painted white and primrose. As the old landlady said, it looked more like a garden than a room.

Laurie's bell rang. That meant there was a visitor downstairs at the front door. Each tenant had a bell, and attended to it. The landlady was not only old but rheumatic.

Who could it be? She had not many friends. Several of the girls in the office she liked very much but nearly all of them lived in the suburbs, and they only met when they made appointments. She knew three or four young men fairly well. But with none of them was she on such terms that they would drop in casually just before ten o'clock at night.

She put down the gleaming sky-blue material that she was stitching with her busy, loving fingers, and went downstairs. She had a little landing all to herself, but no door enclosing the flat. She switched on a light on the first landing, as she ran down.

When she opened the front door, a tall man stood outside.

"I want to see Mrs. Moore," he said.

"I am Mrs. Moore," Laurie answered, surprised.

He was in the shadow; her face was lit by the lamp in the narrow hall.

He gave a sharp exclamation. Then stared at her for a speechless moment. Then asked in a muffled voice:

"You are Mrs. Moore? You!"

He laughed, and Laurie recognized him, and gave a little cry. It was the man in the train who had been so rude to her.

"Oh, it's you! I didn't see you at first! What do you want? How did you know I lived here? How do you know my name?"

He seemed to find speech difficult. He was staring at her. He would evidently not take his eyes from her face.

"It looks like fate," he said at last, which sounded to her perfectly ridiculous. Then he went on. "A friend of yours gave me your address. I found out your name—never mind how. I want to have a chat with you. May I come in?"

"I don't know why you should," she answered, resenting him, as she had done before. "I don't want to talk to you. I don't know who you are. I don't know what friend of mine you could have met. You were extremely rude to me in the train."

"I've something important to say to you. Let me come in! I won't keep you long."

His tone was so commanding that she gave way against her will. She led him upstairs and turned on more lights in her room.

She did not ask him to sit down. She looked at him coldly.

"Would you please explain why you are here?"

"Out of curiosity," he replied, with that smile in his eyes that both fascinated and repelled her. "I am in a peculiar position—unique, I imagine. You will admit I have reason for my curiosity, not to say interest. I have just learned that you are my widow. I mean—you have been my widow. Now, it is interesting to a man to learn he has a widow—when he has never had a wife."

Laurie stood there, dumb, her eyes wide, her mouth open, but not a sound could she make. Then her knees gave way and she fell into a chair.

"You see, I happen to be Rex Moore," he explained. His voice was harsh; his angry lips curved with contempt. "I have just been with Mark Albery, and he told me that, you, my widow, were working in his office, and had been for two years."

Monday Laurie tries to explain a difficult situation.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

THE DEMO CASH DRIVE IN TEXAS

The Evening Journal has nothing but praise and commendation for the services of L. C. Ellis as chairman of the Lubbock County Democratic Executive committee. He has served intelligently and well, giving liberally of his time to "keep the wheels going 'round". And as the duties of this office are continuously mounting in Lubbock county, we think it high time he is paid something for his time and efforts—that any county chairman in the future be paid if he does the work as faithfully and as well as Mr. Ellis.

We do not blame Chairman Ellis for attempting to raise more money in Lubbock county for the national Democratic treasurer. That's one of his jobs. But we can well understand why he says "people aren't taking much interest in contributing to the deficiency". The reason is that most Lubbock county Democrats feel that since Lubbock county went over its quota in the first go-around that the deficiency should be raised in those Texas counties which did not reach their quotas.

The Democratic party, it seems, is pursuing the line so frequently followed by churches and other organizations in the matter of raising money. It is putting on a big drive and then coming right back to the same people for a second "ante", instead of going to those who did not "kick in" in the first place.

That doesn't work very well.

Our suggestion to the party's finance boss, Roy Miller, of Corpus Christi, is that he turn his efforts to Texas counties which did not meet their financial quotas and get whatever extra he needs from them.

After all, the reason there is a deficiency is because those lagging counties didn't do their part in the first place.

A THOUGHT

Now I rejoice, not that ye were made sorry, but that ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye were made sorry after a godly manner, that ye might receive damage by us in nothing.—II Corinthians 7:9.

A true repentance shuns the evil itself, more than the external suffering or the shame.—Shakespeare.

From Hollywood
MOVIE SIDELIGHTS
Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8.—You don't hear any more about the sad Italian and family of nine who for years were supported in luxury by the pantomimic talents of a marvelously trained parrot.

In the days of silent pictures, it didn't make any difference that the bird also swore in five languages with great fluency and feeling. But the advent of talkies ruined everything, and the poor parrot hasn't had a job since.

The animal-renting business however, has gone right ahead, until now it is almost a major industry. In 1935, Hollywood is estimated to have spent a neat quarter million dollars for the talents of various dumb actors.

Because it is now a big business, the renting of trained birds and animals has gone mostly into the hands of a few proprietors of zoos, which can deliver anything from an educated flea to a vegetarian lion.

Few people are supported by individual stars, although Erna Fowler does very well with her chimpanzee, used in the last Weissmuller picture.

For that job the chimp got $300 a week, and the studio provided transportation to and from the film locations. And he's always in demand for vaudeville when the movies don't need him.

Cinematic Simians

Best-known chimpanzee people are John A. and Mrs. Haeseler, owners and trainers of Shorty and Ditto, which are stars of a series of short subjects and occasionally work in regular features.

A dog that actually lifted a mortgage on a South Dakota ranch is Toughie. He's a sort of shepherd, with one blue eye and one brown, and you first saw him in "Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Toughie belongs to a former cattleman named Al Oberdahl, who now collects from $150 to $250 a week for the pup's movie services.

Men who own and train a lot of dogs for pictures, and who also educate many of the pooches belonging to stars, are Rennie Renfro, Carl Spitz, and Lee Duncan.

Renfro has the most extensive collection of picture dogs, which are trained by himself and his wife.

Spitz owns the Great Dane called Prince, which has appeared with Garbo, and a spaniel named Flush, which is almost as well known in celluloid as Katherine Cornell's Flush was on the stage.

Mule Camouflage

Duncan owned and trained the original Rin-Tin-Tin and now has for a star one of that great dog's sons, Rin-Tin-Tin, Jr. The latter keeps pretty busy in serials.

Harry East, another professional trainer, is the boss of Asta, the wire-hair in both of the "Thin Man" pictures.

Principal movie zoo is conducted by L. F. Comport, specialist in domesticated and wild fauna. You can rent his best bear for $50 a day, kangaroos at $40, a deodorized skunk for $15, and so on down to sheep at $2 each, and chickens and rabbits at 25 cents. Lunch is provided by Comport.

Prize of his collection is a trained white mule, which usually is busy at $25 a day. For $15 more a trained zebra is obtainable—the same mule, but realistically striped with harmless black paint.

Cars Of Wealth

A mongrel dog or cat gets just about the same salary as a human extra.

Horses that used to bring $2.50 a day, plus feed, now are rented for $5. But those are nags, and a fine horse is rated at $10. A genuine race horse brings $15, but if he has to do any running, the price goes to $25.

Camels come high—$25 a day plus $10 for a keeper. Pythons command $75, and they must have a keeper, too. Although there are millions of sea gulls hereabouts, they rent for $10 apiece. That's because they're so hard to catch.

Insects usually are obtained on special order. Fish, too. Maybe you remember the live sharks in "Prisoners of Shark Island." They were brought in by Japanese fishermen who were paid 20 cents a pound.

Since the death of "Pozzums" a couple of years ago, Hollywood hasn't had any really famous cat actors.

Veteran of all trained animals is Josephine, a monkey. She made her debut with Baby Peggy in 1921 and has been at it ever since, with a record of some 300 pictures.

The state of Alabama remained a territory two years, nine months and 11 days.

Tugwell Tosses Last Grenade Before Leaving His Job In FDR's Family; Farley May Really Quit, Dutcher Thinks

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Rex Tugwell tossed a last grenade among a group of his old enemies shortly before the midnight bells rang in the New Year and rang him out as Resettlement administrator.

Tugwell resigned recently to become executive vice president of the American Molasses company.

Dutcher

Soon thereafter his digestion began to be disturbed by published reports that his chief function would be that of a Washington lobbyist.

His name was bracketed with those of other men who had left the AAA to use their knowledge and influence in the capital in the service of private business.

Tugwell disliked some of these fellows intensely, having battled with them inside AAA at periods when he felt he was representing the farmer and the consumer and they were representing "predatory" corporations.

Finally, with one stroke, Tugwell underlined the fact that he was not going to be a lobbyist and at the same time moved to make life miserable for the large number of officials who have left the Department of Agriculture to take jobs in the food industries.

Puts Muzzle On Staff

Before departing, Tugwell signed an order which simply says employes of the department must not discuss matters pertaining to administration or to legislation relating to the department's work with anyone who is employed by or connected with affected commercial interests and who has been an employe of the department within two years.

He signed it "R. G. Tugwell, acting secretary," to emphasize the fact that he would be governed by the order.

If the order is obeyed—and violators are subject to possible dismissal—the style of at least a few present and ex-employes will be definitely cramped. It brought no holiday cheer to several minor officials who were on the verge of resigning to become lobbyists.

Tugwell is known to have had in mind especially the AAA sugar section, whence there has been a large exodus to private jobs. Among several sugar section men who have joined sugar refining companies are John A. Dalton, former chief, and James M. Hickey.

Landon's A Gay Loser

One of the stories Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas told on his recent visit in Washington was typical of the gay attitude with which the defeated presidential candidate charmed those who saw him. (His quips at himself and the proportions of his defeat were continuous).

Landon said he rather felt like a Kansas farmer who was visited by a cyclone. The cyclone took away his house, barn, haystacks, henhouse, and everything else above ground except himself and his wife.

The farmer broke into gales of laughter and his wife berated him, demanding to know what was so funny.

"Well," giggled the farmer, "you see, it's just so darned complete!"

Farley May Be Leaving

Gossip as to cabinet changes begins to take on a little more substance. All cabinet members will submit their resignations by inauguration day and the president plans to accept none except possibly that of Postmaster General Jim Farley, who may be ready by that time to carry out his announced intention of quitting.

Thereafter, the probabilities are that the next resignation will be that of Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper. A large posse within the administration will be gunning for Uncle Dan and is sure to get his scalp sooner or later.

Likely to succeed Roper would be John H. Fahey, chairman of HOLC. Fahey is as able an administrator as has appeared in the entire New Deal. Roosevelt wants him in the cabinet and you may be sure Fahey will be there sooner or later, assuming he's open to offers.

There's also a healthy little movement to persuade Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins that the secretaryship of the International Labor Office at Geneva, said to pay $25,000 year, is just about the cutest little job in the world.

If Miss Perkins should be offered the post and succumb to its charms, as many hope and pray, it is commonly believed that she would be succeeded by Assistant Secretary of Labor Ed McGrady or Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Josephine Roche.

The movement to get Attorney General Cummings out of the cabinet isn't proceeding very rapidly and may fizzle completely.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Who Owe Delinquent Taxes To The City Of Lubbock.

Many of you have promised to pay your delinquent city taxes this month on condition that suits not be filed to collect same until after January 31st. I have kept my part of the arrangement—you have only a few more days in which to fulfill your part?

May I take this method of advising you (in place of a personal letter) that there will be no more extensions after January 31st. I realize that it will cause a temporary hardship in some cases, but in fairness to those taxpayers who have paid their taxes and to the commissioners who are responsible for the financial stability and credit of our city, adoption of this policy is essential.

Call at the office of the City Tax Collector at the City Hall, second floor, for a statement of the amount of your delinquent taxes and

Texas Tech Grad Gets Truscon Job

Ted Sams, one of the first two graduates of the civil engineering department at Texas Technological college, now is manager of the Chattanooga, Tenn., office of the Truscon Steel company, said J. M. Murdough, head of the department.

Sams visited here recently. He was graduated from Tech in 1929.

Other civil engineering graduates who visited here recently include Trent Campbell, 1933 graduate, now district representative for the Mosher Steel company in San Antonio, and Elliott Taylor, resident engineer for the highway department at Quitaque.

RARE WEATHER

said most of its troubles were toward Dallas, with but one report north of Lubbock. Western Union also reported a little trouble.

Sleet Breaks Wires

Fort Worth and Denver said sleet early this morning had broken down its wires between Lubbock and Childress. The Santa Fe had had little trouble along that line.

Numerous collisions and wrecks were reported during the morning hours as motorists were unable to control their cars due to slippery streets. Most of the wrecks were minor ones, none being injured and only the machines being damaged.

Radiator shops reported some calls to start cars, due to frozen radiators. The number was not unusual, it was explained, during this kind of weather.

Few Plumbing Calls

Plumbers said the number of calls early in the morning to thaw out frozen water pipes was few. Later in the day, when the mercury had turned upwards considerably, was when their rush was to be expected, it was explained.

The low of 4 above was an all-season record. Previous low was 15 degrees, reported twice this winter.

Telephone line to the state experiment sub-station was out of order and no check could be had on the official record. The Municipal Airport reported the same low as did West Texas Gas company.

Readings Are Reported

West Texas Gas company reported readings as follows: 4 p.m. Thursday, 16 above; 5 p.m., 15; 6 p.m., 14; 7 p.m., 12; 8 p.m., 12; 9 p.m., 11; 10 p.m., 12; 11 p.m., 15; midnight, 12; 1 a.m., 12; 2 a.m., 9; 3 a.m., 8; 4 a.m., 8; 5 a.m., 7; 6 a.m., 6; 7 a.m., 4; 8 a.m., 4; 9 a.m., 4; 10 a.m., 8 above.

Similar conditions prevailed over most of the South Plains as in Lubbock. Snow and sleet was general. To the north the mercury was lower, Amarillo reporting zero and Canyon 5 above.

The moisture, while not expected to be large, will be of benefit to wheat crops and also will probably sink into the ground. With a large area already prepared for spring planting, more benefits to crop land may be expected than usual.

Streets and paved highways made footing for pedestrians and traction for automobiles equally uncertain—and numerous were falls and minor collisions.

Cars Spin At Intersections

Motorists whose brakes were not adjusted properly had difficulty in stopping at intersections. Several cars with unequal "grab" of front wheels spun like tops in attempts to stop. Several cars parked on curbs were struck by cars that went out of control when brakes were applied. Included among owners so damaged was Lloyd Bentley, fireman of central station. His machine was struck and driven against another parked machine.

ACCEPTS POSITION

AUSTIN, Jan. 8 (AP)—Tom C. King, state auditor, announced today Pladger Tannery, certified public accountant, had accepted an appointment as first assistant auditor, effective February 1. Tannery was a University of Texas instructor the past year.

Concrete 'Forest' To Support Dam

These concrete piles, resembling the leaning shafts of a petrified forest, are used for the foundation of the Imperial dam, which will divert Colorado river waters into California's southern arid regions through the All-American canal. After the piles are driven down to firm rock strata beneath the river's silt beds, they are cut off, as a workman is doing above. The stumps then are imbedded in the concrete of the dam proper.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Selected stocks resumed the upswing in today's market, many climbing fractions to a point and several much more.

The activity was pronounced in the forenoon, with the ticker tape frequently behind. A turnover of 800,000 shares was recorded in the first hour. Near the fourth period, however, the activity dwindled appreciably.

Motors and steels were among the few on the selling side. Strikes spread in General Motors plants and the outlook for a settlement appeared a bit cloudier. State and federal conciliators, though, were exerting strong efforts to bring about negotiations between the unions and company officials. At the same time the major automobile maker announced world sales in December were the largest on record.

Aircraft shares led the forward tilt as military and private buying pushed the aviation factories to the limit and the chief executive recommended increased expenditures for both army and navy plans. Wright Aeronautical was up about 7 points at the best. Lesser gainers included Douglas, Sperry, Pnited, Boeing and Curtiss-Wright.

Works Projects In Area Are Delayed

Two Works Progress administration projects, scheduled to start today in the Lubbock district, were postponed because of inclement weather conditions.

Seven blocks of street paving on Fifteenth street from Avenue Q to Avenue X, employing about 55 men will be started as soon as weather conditions permit. Sponsored by the city, the project will represent a total expenditure of approximately $27,300.

Another project to shoulder highway 18 from Estelline west to Turkey, then south to the county line was also delayed until better working conditions prevail, according to information from district WPA headquarters here. The 38 miles of shouldering will employ about 48 WPA laborers and will represent expenditures of almost $40,000 including funds from both the federal government and the state highway department.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 to 7 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade buying. Jan 12.43; Mch 12.48; May 12.37; Jly 12.27; Oct 11.93; Dec 11.95.

Trading while fairly active was somewhat mixed. The initial advance met continued liquidation through commission houses, and prices lost practically all of their gains. Domestic and foreign trade buying was the principal source of the demand with mills taking contracts against continued hedge sales of textiles at advancing prices.

Southern selling also increased and by the end of the first half hour, March had reacted from 12.49 to 12.45 and prices generally ranged from 2 points lower to 1 higher.

There were seven January notices and the spot position, which opened at 12.43, reacted to 12.36 under liquidation.

Liverpool was steadier owing to more optimistic views of the European situation and favorable reports of United States textile activities.

The market eased under increased near month liquidation. Resistance on the early advance developed just under the 12 1-2-cent level for March.

January notices continued to circulate. Some of the selling was against purchases of later deliveries at slightly narrowing differences. By midday trading was quieter and March, which had sold off to 12.42, was selling at 12.43 with prices generally 1 to 7 points net lower.

CLOSED AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8. (AP)—The New Orleans cotton market was closed today in observance of Jackson day, the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans.

tributed the previous peace-time high. Actual appropriations for that period, however, amounted to $916,347,391.

President Roosevelt said the increase is "to provide for the increased strength of the army as directed by congress and to provide for replacement of naval vessels in accordance with existing authorizations."

For strictly military activities of the war department, the president recommended expenditure of $398,460,400, compared with 1937 estimates of $377,601,000 and actual appropriations of $385,633,192.

Frank Is Recalled As Likeable Prexy

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, E. R. Heineman, recalled Dr. Glenn Frank as personable and "very likeable" this morning and regretted his discharge last night as the president of the university.

"I don't know anything about the case," he said. He has read no clear account of the cause for discharge. The regents seem to be "very secretive," he said.

Heineman attended the university three years during Doctor Frank's administration. Heineman is assistant professor of mathematics at Texas Technological college.

Dr. A. L. Strout, associate professor of English, has taught at and has attended the university but not during Doctor Frank's administration.

Commissioners Are To Gather Monday

County commissioners will meet at 9 o'clock Monday morning in the office of the county judge to approve deputies who have been appointed by county officers and suggest their salaries.

The commission will pass upon deputies appointed by the sheriff, county clerk, tax assessor and collector, attorney, and district clerk.

COLD WAVE

cast to fall below freezing this afternoon.

A 35-mile-an-hour wind was blamed for three deaths at El Paso. Mr. and Mrs. Phin Fisher were killed when the wind ripped a display sign from its anchorage and sent bricks from the cornice of a five-story downtown building tumbling down upon them. Two other persons were injured, one critically, by the falling bricks.

Entangled In Wires

Apolonio Hernandes was killed when he became entangled in blown down power lines.

Ben Welch, pumper on an oil lease at Eastland, was fatally injured in an automobile-truck collision on a street made slippery by sleet. His wife was injured.

Sleet and snow covered a vast area of North Texas, while those parts having mist and light rain reported it freezing on the ground and windshields of automobiles. The traffic hazard jumped to the danger stage in the Dallas area and cars were forced to creep along icy streets to avoid crashing.

Power Service Jerky

Power service was jerky at Dallas and electric officials thought the trouble was due to ice forming on lines and causing them to snap. Lights flickered and for a few moments failed.

The West Texas Plains were white with a thin blanket of sleet and snow. The sky was clear at Lubbock, where an unusual thunderstorm occurred last night. The sleet and snow extended east far beyond Dallas.

Borger was clear with the mercury hovering around zero.

One inch of sleet covered the Denton area and was still falling.

Sleet fell at intervals for 36 hours at Wichita Falls and the streets there were treacherous and numerous minor accidents resulted. Three persons were hurt. A strong north wind blew and skies were overcast.

Balmy At Galveston

Galveston enjoyed balmy weather. The norther still had not reached there.

The United States weather bureau held out no hope of relief until the end of the week.

Dr. J. L. Cline, meteorologist in charge of the Dallas bureau, forecast colder weather for East Texas with temperatures from 8 to 14 tonight in the northwest portion of the area, 16 to 20 in the northeast, 20 to 24 in the southwest and 26 to 34 in the southeast except in the lower Rio Grande valley where he expected mercuries to sink to between 30 and 40 degrees.

Colder On Coast

Saturday's weather would be colder on the coast, he said, with slowly rising temperatures in the northwest and north central portions.

For West Texas he forecast colder weather in the western and southern sections and continued cold in the north portion tonight. Saturday will be colder in the extreme west, he said, with slowly rising temperatures in the north portion.

LABOR LAW

of the elimination of child labor."

Congressional leaders considered the action another indication of presidential militance on labor legislation.

Called together at noon especially to receive the budget for 1937-38, members of both senate and house talked dollars and cents less than wages and hours. Little attention was paid to the Spanish arms embargo resolution because only Vice-President Garner's signature was needed to send it to the White House.

Word reached the legislators that administration advisors were drafting a comprehensive business regulation statute in the spirit of NRA.

SCHOOL PROBLEM

tricts.

3. Form a separate class for larger schools.

4. Confine class A to schools of 800 or more students.

5. Substitute a regional playoff for the present state playoff.

At present there are sixteen districts, some having more than their share of teams, especially the bulky oil belt where nine schools played for the title last season. The latter sector is considering dividing itself into two sections with the winners meeting for the season title.

Former Student Of Tech Death Victim

BIG SPRING, Jan. 8.—(Special)—Funeral services were held here Tuesday afternoon for Morris Bass, 21, Big Spring youth who died following a long illness. Bass was a student of Texas Technological college in the term of 1934-35.

He was a graduate of Big Spring high school and had worked here following his year at Texas Tech.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bass, a brother, Walter, and a sister, Mrs. Lowell Bair, all of Big Spring.

Zigzag Course For Trade During Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Trade and industry followed a zigzag course this week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today in the weekly survey.

Expansion was less marked in some trade divisions, while in others momentum gathered force following the interruption of the holidays. Consumer buying was well sustained by January promotions and the enlarged call for winter needs in districts touched by sub-zero weather.

STEAMER IS SEIZED

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — An armed Spanish insurgent trawler seized an unidentified Russian steamer bound westward in the Straits of Gibraltar and conducted her to Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, Lloyd's reported today.

HUGE BUDGET

to give employment to persons now receiving government help, the national budget can thereafter be kept definitely in balance.

"Without such cooperation on the part of the employers, the question of a balanced budget must of necessity remain an open one for the very good reason that this government does not propose next year, any more than during the past four years, to allow American families to starve."

No New Taxes Asked

Mr. Roosevelt's budget message, covering especially the 12 months beginning next July 1, but including also requests for money to carry relief through June 30, was read to both senate and house by clerks. No new taxes were asked.

In terming the 1938 budget "in balance," the president allowed $1,537,123,000 for the year's relief costs and excepted a $401,515,000 appropriation law required for debt reduction.

But he stressed that "if improvement in economic conditions continues at the present rate," the government would "be able to attain in 1939 a completely balanced budget with full provision for meeting the statutory requirements for debt reduction."

Final figures on relief outlays were withheld until later. Mr. Roosevelt said about $650,000,000 of additional funds would be needed to carry on work relief through June 30.

Including the estimated relief sum, expenditures for the 1938 period would aggregate $7,694,000,000—a drop of $786,000,000 under projected outlays for the current fiscal year.

Mr. Roosevelt, citing generally improving business conditions, forecast next year's receipts at $7,293,000,000.

Income Would Match

Thus, eliminating $401,515,000 of debt retirement from the expenditure column, income would match outgo for the first time since 1930.

The budget provided funds for no new governmental activities. It referred to a promised message on administrative reorganization which Mr. Roosevelt said "will undoubtedly result in some saving in expenditures."

To keep present revenue channels open, the executive recommended extension of a group of miscellaneous taxes scheduled to expire next June and July. He urged that levies which automatically would be reduced next June be retained at current rates.

The present increase in public debt from $34,405,163,000 today to $35,026,000,000 in six months was attributed in part to the request for a supplemental appropriation of $790,000,000—$650,000,000 for relief and activities of the Resettlement administration; the remainder for relief obligations to be created this year and paid next.

Included also was a request for $100,000,000 to finance projected extension of the Civilian Conservation corps from March 31 to June 30. Funds also were provided for the CCC in 1938, and Mr. Roosevelt recommended that congress make the corps a permanent government agency.

PROJECT WILL BE ENLARGED

LOCATION OF LAND TO BE PURCHASED NOT KNOWN IN CITY

Location of 10,720 acres of land which will be purchased to enlarge the Ropesville Rural community and to provide homes for 67 additional families was not known here this morning.

Texas Rural communities, inc., meeting in Waco yesterday, appropriated $450,000 to the Resettlement administration for improvement and enlargement of the Ropesville project, near Lubbock.

Persons interested in the success of the Ropesville project have urged enlargement of the community and have asked that any addition to the project lie adjacent to or near the present community. It was explained that such development would result in more efficient management and reduce farming and other problems.

Total number of families on the project will be increased to 100. Thirty-three families, comprising 132 persons, now live in modern 4-room dwellings on the project.

The project has been pronounced a success. Tenant farmers have moved to the community and are purchasing the land and improvements.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, who also is a member of the board of Texas Rural communities, attended the Waco meeting.

One Known Dead In Street Car Plunge

SEATTLE, Jan. 8. (AP)—A heavily laden municipal street car plunged thirty feet off the West Spokane street trestle at the height of the early traffic peak today.

Providence hospital reported a man tentatively listed as Leo Bow, city fireman, was dead when brought from the scene.

Ambulances sped victims to four hospitals, and emergency ward nurses and surgeons worked on the victims without stopping to obtain their names.

Abilene Pastor To Speak In Lubbock

Rev. O. P. Clark, pastor of St. Paul's church at Abilene, will deliver the sermon Sunday morning at the First Methodist church.

Rev. Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the church here, is "decidedly improved in condition," according to information received from Dallas by Rev. Cecil Matthews, minister of education. The Rev. Lipscomb is receiving treatment because of a strained nervous condition.

MORE "SIT DOWNERS"

DETROIT, Jan. 8 (AP)—General Motors officials said a "sit down" strike started today at the Cadillac Motor Car company, where 5,000 men are employed. Reports said several hundred men were in the plant, a General Motors unit.

O'NEILL IS HIS FATHER'S SON BUT HE WANTS TO BE ON OWN IN CAREER

LIKE FATHER . . .
Eugene O'Neill's 17-year-old son, Shane, has got the writing bug. Here he's hammering out something for the Florida Military Academy student paper, which he edits.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Cadet Shane R. O'Neill, 17, is his father's son, but he wants to get along in the writing game strictly on his own.

Unaffected by the Nobel literary award recently given Playwright Eugene O'Neill, he plugs away at his job as editor-in-chief of the Florida Military Academy bi-weekly, "The Bomb," writing editorials, planning make-up, and working his fellow reporters like a hard-boiled city editor.

Wants Newspaper Job

Shane is the son of O'Neill's second wife, the former Agnes Boulton, O'Neill is now married to Carlotta Monterey, former actress.

The boy would like to enter newspaper work when he leaves military school, but after that. . . . Well, he isn't planning that far ahead. He just wants things to work themselves out.

Already he is making an effort to develop an imaginative style of writing.

For instance, this sample taken from a recent by-lined article in "The Bomb":

"He crept by the headmaster's house, and his shadow jerked along as if undecided whether or not to accompany him."

Writes Private Thoughts

Shane is proudest of his contribution to "The Tower," a new campus magazine, on "A Private's Thoughts on Parade"—the running mental comment of a rear rank private during the battalion's full dress parade.

Last year the young journalist was associate editor of "The Dugout," academy annual, and is in line for a key appointment on the publication for 1936-37. He is a member of the Quill and Scroll, national honor society for high school journalists.

Keen On Theater

A senior at the academy, O'Neill has been writing constantly on school publications, but so far has done nothing for use outside.

Already he has shown a keen interest for the legitimate stage, pays scant attention to the movies. He attends the theater at every opportunity.

Last season he became stage manager for the Academy Players' annual production.

He is sergeant-major of the cadet battalion, highest non-commissioned officer in the school.

FAVORITES WILL BE CHOSEN HERE

Teachers at Senior High school are choosing a senior boy and girl this week to represent the "Best Westerner" for 1937. Full page pictures of the students selected will be placed in the 1937 Westerner, school yearbook.

Identity of the students chosen will not be announced until the annual is distributed in May. Three boys and nine girls were nominated by the faculty. They are: girls, Chalones Whitacre, Bertha Proctor, Mary Ruth Hufstedler, Jeanne Roane, Catherine Dykes, Luene Anderson, Johnny Mae Thomsen and Yvonne Walker; boys, C. L. Storrs, J. W. Gamble, and Bill Wood.

Consider Qualifications

Qualifications considered by teachers in nominating these students were: loyalty, to rules and regulations, to all school activities, to principal and teachers; faithfulness, in performance of duties, willingness to do, punctuality; scholarship, high rank in class, studiousness; personality, attractiveness in manner, quality of leadership; honesty, respecting property rights of others, fairness, and good sportsmanship.

C. C. Cox, head of the social science department, was in charge of the election this year as in former years. Teachers were permitted to add additional points to be considered at their own discretion.

Election Scheduled

Immediately following mid-term election of favorite students will be held. Two seniors, a boy and a girl, one junior and one sophomore will be selected.

"The Elect" division of the 1937 Westerner this year will also contain a section called the Hall of Fame, Joe Will Triplitt, editor, has announced.

Eighteen pictures will compose this section.
