Volunteers Fight Grass Fires

A combination of high winds, low humidity, dry grass and carelessness kept the Talco Fire Department busy battling grass fires this week.

The first call came at 10:00 a.m. Friday to a grassfire by the Foydell Stevenson home place southwest of Talco. Another call was made Friday at 10:00 p.m. to a grass fire at the Jimmy Harper house. Then on Saturday night the fire department went to a grass fire near Ed Hale's Electric Shop. On Monday they assisted the Hagansport Fire Department with a grass fire near old Hagansport.

Parents are urged to talk to their children who have walkie talkies and ask them to keep channel 14 clear when the fire alarm is sounded. This is the channel the fireman use and should be kept clear during this time.

Texas Last In Per Capita Aid

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday an analysis by his office shows that Texas ranks last among the 50 states in per capita state aid to cities and counties.

Bullock said that Texas' 254 counties received $3.30 per capita from the state during the 1976 fiscal year, while the cities received $3.27 per person.

"Take this money away," Bullock said, "and then watch local property taxes."

Only $31 million of the $72 million allotted to cities and counties by the state in fiscal 1976 came from state revenues, according to Bullock. The remaining $41 million came from the federal government.

The counties received a total of $40 million in fiscal 1976, while the cities received $32 million.

The analysis is contained in the December financial statement published by Vernon McGee's Planning and Research Division.

The statement also reports that energy related taxes continued to play a vital role in the state's economy during fiscal 1976.

Taxes on the production of oil and gas, consumption of motor fuel and utility receipts brought in more than $1.2 billion, accounting for one-third of the total revenue raised by the state, according to the report.

HAY—A grass fire that started behind the Albert Pasquill place at the bottom of this picture spread to consume 192 round bales of hay belonging to Tucker Platt. Both the Taylortown and Cunningham volunteer fire departments answered the call. Winds were from the west at 20 miles per hour and gusts up to 30. (Aerial Staff Photo)

The General Aviation Manufacturers Association (GAMA) has announced a nationwide airplane sweepstakes called "TAKEOFF" that is designed to increase the number of student starts over the next three years. Under the program, a $50,000 airplane will be awarded to a new private pilot at the end of each six month period. New pilots become eligible to enter the sweepstakes upon receipt of the FAA private certificate and by completing an entry form and submitting it to D. L. Blair, Inc., contest administrator, Blair, Nebraska. The flight instructor and the flight school of the winning pilot will also receive prizes.

Chairman of the Board of GAMA and President of Beech Aircraft Corporation, Frank E. Hedrick, says the goal of the program is to increase student starts to 200,000 per year, and the completion rate from 40 per cent to 50 per cent.

For further information, contact Jerry J. Boyer, Director of Public Affairs, Suite 1215, 1025 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20036.

The Texas Aeronautics Commission will be publishing the 1977 edition of the Texas Airport Directory in the very near future. This is a free publication that contains useful information both to the student pilot and the weekend pilot. If you wish to be placed on the mailing list, send your name and address to, Texas Aeronautics Commission, P.O. Box 12607, Capitol station, Austin, Texas, 78711.

The Week Between

By Nanalee Nichols

The week that falls between Christmas being over and the New Year is left pretty much at odds. If Christmas decorations have been removed everything looks bare and empty. If they are still up, then they look forlorn and lonesome. Somehow their bright colors don't evoke the same anticipation now that the presents are no longer mysteries and Santa has departed. Relations have departed also, and there is a gap in everyone's life. It's hard to keep from wondering who you still have left to do last minute shopping for, and even if there is relief in Christmas day being past, there is a little sadness too.

The week is filled with waiting. Businesses have to begin preparations for closing out the years business. That big booger, income tax, hangs over us all, and children begin to get restless being out of school.

We face the new year with as much relief over having made it through the old one as joy over the new. Somehow the future being unknown dulls the edge of 1977. But it did the same thing when 1966 was new and shiny, and 1946, and 1916, and every new year that's come around.

There was security in the old year. We knew it and it held a lot of happiness, laughter and smiles. We lost a few familiar faces, but gained some new ones. No one was really hungry, or even did without something that was an actual necessity.

We don't have a written guarantee that 1977 will be as good, but since when was that what it's all about? The thing to do is work to make it good, and be glad for the opportunity to do so.

Look at it cheerfully, for there is more than a fair chance that it will be the best ever. Lets hope so.

Good Health Can Be Be Yours

Good health isn't something to envy in other people.

You can do many things to maintain your own health—or better it. And now is the time to come to grips with yourself by making some good health resolutions, says the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Texas would be a much healthier state if everyone worked toward these goals, and you and your family can contribute to your own wellbeing and that of your community.

Promise during 1977 to give your body at least as good care as you give your car. Periodic examinations are the best way yet devised to detect bodily disorders while they can still be treated successfully. It might be considered preventive maintenance. So let your doctor look you over thoroughly once a year whether you're ailing or not. Make it twice yearly if you're middle-aged. Your physician can give you the proper schedule.

Dental troubles may not kill you, but sometimes they can make you wish you were dead. Check in once yearly with your dentist to make certain your teeth and gums are in good shape, and let him teach you the proper way to maintain your dental health every day.

Do your clothes seem to fit a little more snugly these days? If so, it could mean you're putting on weight, which is a lot harder to take off than it is to put on. It's difficult during the holiday season to pass up the goodies which come your way. But if you've overdone it, resolve to start passing up the candied yams, gravies and cream-filled tidbits which almost invariably spell extra pounds and perhaps an early grave.

Too much weight contributes to high blood pressure, and may be associated with hardening of the arteries and various forms of heart disease. Also, it means impaired vigor, greater surgical risk and greater danger from otherwise minor illnesses.

On the other hand, if you've noticed an unusual loss of weight, you should consult your physician.

A good, physician-prescribed exercise regimen will keep your body in shape, tone up your heart muscles and put the spring back into your step.

There are many pursuits which people of all ages may undertake in order to get the needed exercise. While jogging might be all right for some people, brisk walking or other forms of exercise may be recommended for others.

Statistics linking smoking to cancer and heart disease continue to pile up, and it is tougher and tougher to rationalize the smoking habit. If you still smoke, now's the time to quit. Tomorrow could be too late.

Safe driving is a habit everyone should get into. Drive and walk defensively, and you'll be less apt to wind up as one of the state's traffic statistics. And don't forget that the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit saves gas, saves lives, and applies to everyone.

While disease in Texas continues to be relatively low, the threat of epidemics hasn't subsided. Check the immunization records of your entire family—not just the children—as a safeguard against diseases and their complications.

Getting plenty of sleep is another resolution which will be of benefit—especially during the cold winter months when the body's defenses should be at their peak.

Nutrition goes hand in hand with proper rest. To provide your body with the essential nutrients to make it function properly, proper diet is necessary. Resolve to put tasty and nutritious foods to work for your body. Don't overlook fresh fruits and vegetables.

People living in towns and cities owe it to themselves and their neighbors to obey local and state laws pertaining to health protection. For example, if your town has a dog leash law, adhere to it. Keep your animals in good health and protected from rabies, which is still a threat—especially in rural areas.

There's another good resolution you can make. Resolve to give an occasional thought to such awesome problems as water conservation, pollution abatement, juvenile delinquency, drug abuse and the growing number of elderly people in our society. Lend your support as a responsible citizen to community efforts to solve them. After all, they affect you, too.

Your health should be of great concern to you. So get the good health habit by putting some healthful resolutions to work.

You'll live longer and enjoy life more, believes the Department of Health Resources, which wishes you a happy ending to 1976 and a healthy year ahead.

For And About Teenagers

BY PATRICK EDWARD

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have a problem. I am 15 years old and I am in love with a guy who is 17. I love him very much. When his girlfriend goes out of town, he comes to visit me. He says he cares for me but I don't believe him. Could you help me? Should I keep going with him? Or, should I let him know that I'm aware he's going with another girl? Please help me.

OUR REPLY: You've got to help yourself. First, decide what you really want from a relationship with this guy. What kind of relationship are you willing to accept? Share your feelings with him. At the very least, you should be truthful with him—and yourself—in letting him know you're aware of the other girl. Don't let him think he's fooling anybody, especially himself. Then, communicate clearly what your intentions are. Take the responsibility for choosing the course of action you want to take. If you don't believe him after doing all of this, forget him.

A fire burning out of control can consume and destroy everything it touches. Do your best to prevent fires from starting in your home, your office, your automobile and in the open.

Good News And Bad... Cotton Production Shows Increase... Sheep, Lambs On Feed Down Again.

There's good news and bad news for people who like pecans and citrus. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that pecan production in the state is down more than earlier forecast. Citrus production, however, shows an increase.

A slim crop of 18 million pounds of pecans is now forecast for Texas. This is 74 per cent below the 68 million pounds produced in 1975.

Improved varieties are expected to total seven million pounds while natives should total 11 million pounds.

Nationwide, pecan production is also down; the crop for this year is expected to be the smallest since 1962. It is set at slightly more than 100 million pounds, which is down 59 per cent from last year.

CITRUS PRODUCTION IN TEXAS is now set at 18,100,000 boxes; this is seven per cent more than last year.

Grapefruit production is expected to total 11,500,000 boxes. Production of all oranges is projected at 6,600,000 boxes.

Substitutes
Knowing how to substitute one ingredient for another in food preparation can save you time, energy and money. Some examples: For one cup butter or margarine in baking, use seven-eighths cup shortening plus one-half teaspoon salt. For one whole egg in baking or thickening, use two egg yolks. For one ounce unsweetened chocolate, you may substitute three tablespoons cocoa plus one tablespoon fat.

Boredom Helps
Children enjoy stimulating activities; not only experiences and playthings, but they also need a chance to be bored, according to leading human development specialists. Too much stimulation can produce a passive child, one who looks to others for ideas and activities, rather than coming up with his own, the specialists say. Children can use unplanned time. Empty hours can force them into thinking up ways to entertain themselves. Thus, boredom is often a fertile ground for creativity.
