Rampant Oil Gusher Is Shut In

SOONER CITY IS BREATHING EASIER NOW

CLOSING DOWN COMES AS FIRE BREAKS OUT ON RIVER BELOW

(By The Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—The Stout outflow gusher, its volcanic fury curbed by a giant iron die nipple, the device which conquered the famous "Wild Mary" Sudik, surged in vain against restraining connections today while Oklahoma City breathed relief.

Described as the greatest peril in the history of this oil-belted municipality, the Number 1 C. E. Stout gusher of the Morgan Petroleum company shot 300 feet into the air its amazing volume of gas and oil, estimated at 100,000 cubic feet and 75,000 barrels daily, for nearly four days. NEW 'RACKET' IS OPERATING HERE

Here's the latest racket. Find a vacant house, telephone an order for articles from some store, meet the delivery boy at the door, pretend to be going to the rear for money then vanish out the back door, leaving the boy with his hands empty.

It happened in Lubbock last night. An order for delivery of some merchandise to 1615 19th street was taken over the phone and filled by the Mark Halsey drug store. A messenger boy took the goods to the house, was met by a man at the door and who went back to get some money but vanished out of the back door. The house, property of J. A. Rix, was vacant.

The case was reported to the police. Merchants are being warned.

Mary Garden To Have Last Word In Argument With Howe In Her Concert

(By The Associated Press)
AMARILLO, Nov. 3.—The last word of an argument, proverbially a feminine syllable, was a part of Mary Garden's program for her concert here tonight. The singer who was described last year by Gene Howe, Amarillo editor, as being "so old she teetered," announced she would preface her concert with a brief discussion on tonight of Howe and his opinion of opera. Miss Garden and Howe had tea together yesterday and as an occasion for passing the Calumet, the event was a success. But Miss Garden said afterward Howe was "the queerest person I have ever encountered."

Howe, however, capitulated completely and declared he was her "devoted admirer for life."

Tea was served at the Howe home to 50 invited guests, while several hundred uninvited guests surged outside the house.

"I think I was the only one there who really had tea," Miss Garden said afterward. "I learned that a Texas tea party is really a coffee party."

The traditional Texas vaquero costume of boots, chaps, six-shooter and ten-gallon sombrero were left at home for the occasion and Howe wore a frock coat, while Mayor Ernest O. Thompson appeared in a dinner jacket.

In a speech of greeting, Howe told the singer he was "never so embarrassed in my life. Please do not question me as to my knowledge of music. I did spend three months in Europe studying grand opera when I was a boy but that was a long time ago."

CONSTRUCTION WOULD SOLVE JOB TANGLE

MACHINERY CONTINUES ON IN EFFORT TO RELIEVE STATUS

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Figures compiled to show the economic advantage of immediate public construction were issued today by Chairman Woods of the president's employment committee to support his appeal for increased federal, state and municipal building.

Because of present cost levels it was estimated a saving of nine to twenty per cent would be gained by building now, in addition to the beneficial effect on unemployment.

Appointing More Men
At the same time Woods announced appointment of two more men to the directing staff of his organization for the relief of surplus labor.

Frank Bane, of Richmond, state commissioner of public welfare, was named regional director for the nine southeastern states. James C. Lawrence, dean of administration of the University of Minnesota, was appointed to succeed Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau, that relief must be accelerated to prevent suffering among the children of the unemployed.

Colonel Woods said he had obtained his figures to indicate substantial savings they expected to secure from public works projects at this time from a survey made at his request by the commerce department division of public construction.

Walter R. Ely, of Abilene, chairman of the state highway commission, and Gibbs Gilchrist, Austin, chief engineer, of the state highway department were to be in Lubbock this afternoon. It was announced today by Joe Caldwell, district engineer of the department.

"They advised me this morning by telegram that they expected to leave Abilene at 9 o'clock and I am looking for them by mid-afternoon," Mr. Caldwell said.

No announcement was made of the reason for the visit here of the two highway officials other than an inspection of roads out of Lubbock.

It is believed, however, that Mr. Ely will look over the proposed highway west from Lubbock to Levelland.

J. R. Dickerson will be toastmaster at tonight's program. Besides the two state officers others scheduled to speak include: Dr. J. W. TEXAS ISN'T INTERESTED IN VOTES

NO CLOSE RACES IN PROSPECT EXCEPT IN 14TH DISTRICT

(By The Associated Press)
Tomorrow's election in Texas is generally considered devoid of close races except in the fourteenth congressional district where Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach Republican is opposed by Henry B. Dielmann, Democratic nominee.

In other congressional districts in the statewide race election of the Democratic nominees was considered a certainty. The only interest apparently was in the size of the state Republican vote, which many Democrats claim, will not reach 100,000, the number necessary for the Republicans to be able to hold a primary two years hence.

Outcome Watched
The outcome of the vote on five proposed constitutional amendments.

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Governor Dan Moody today urged all Texans to go to the polls tomorrow. He said he was supporting all the proposed constitutional amendments.

ments will be regarded with interest. Two of the changes would double the length of regular legislative sessions and double the pay of legislators with a 50 per cent decrease in mileage allowances.

A third would eliminate the enforced three months' vacation for the state supreme court. The other two deal with the oil property of the University of Texas and would enable counties to tax the state on this land within their boundaries. The other would widen the investment field on the returns from these holdings.

Party in Harmony
The apparent harmony in the ranks of the Democratic party, has created an apathy regarding tomorrow's voting. Most observers predict that not more than a half million persons will go to the polls. This year's active campaign on behalf of Col. William E. Talbot.

Amarillo Man Relates Experience

Argotane Has Helped Me To Get Over The "Flu" And I Feel Fine Now," Says Cantrell Remarkable indeed, was the statement made by E. A. Cantrell of 317 North Rusk, Amarillo, Texas, while at home talking with the Argotane representative.

"I was tired and run-down all the time," he continued, "and never had any pep or energy at all. Suffered with a very chronic case of constipation and never found anything that would do me any good, and I was forced to take strong laxatives all the time. I was nervous and restless, and could have sleep spells at times. I was in a very run-down condition and knew that I needed something to build me up."

"And in this condition I took the 'flu' and everyone was talking about Argotane and I read so much about it. I decided to take a bottle and see how it would work in my case. It certainly did what they said it would. Before taking Argotane I hated to get up in the morning because I was just as tired and worn out as when I went to bed, but now I wake up feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. My constipation is a thing of the past now, and I am gaining and getting stronger every day. It has helped me to get on my feet and to get rid of the flu effects. Argotane has certainly toned my entire system. I think it is a fine medicine and I shall always speak a good word for it."

Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Brown's Drug store.

Old Furs Trim New Cloth Coats; Flat Furs Are Good

By LUCY CLAIRE
Fashion Writer for Central Press

What becomes of our old furs? How about that coat no longer worth renovating as a coat, or perhaps a set of furs that have passed out of the fashion picture? So much fur is being used this year for trimming that almost any bit is worth doing something with, especially if it is a flat fur. Flocks are being trimmed with fur, sometimes with just a fur belt and bow, and large fur covered buttons at the neck and cuffs; sometimes with a rather broad band of fur around the hemline, or edging the tunic, with a repeat at the cuffs and perhaps the fur covered buttons. Fur bows are smart.

But it is on the coats that most fur is used. In fact so much fur is used on so many of them that they are fifty-fifty cloth and fur. So if you have an old Persian lamb, flat caracul, sealskin, or any other flat fur coat that cannot be remodeled for another season, why not use it to trim a cloth coat? Two examples of the way an old fur coat can be utilized in modeling the cloth coat are sketched. The first is the coat to a black and white tweed ensemble, by Patou. The fur is Persian lamb, but could just as well be any other flat fur. A circular flounce of the fur adds length to the ensemble coat. There are collar and cuffs of the fur, while the fur continues down the front where it forms a double point closing in combination with stitching. Black kid shoes and a close-fitting black felt hat complete the ensemble.

The second coat is a Chanel model. It is here shown of black broadcloth trimmed with broadtail. It could just as well be of brown, green, black or blue cloth trimmed with sealskin or beaver or caracul. The fur forms a draped yoke, elbow cuffs, and a very deep border at the hemline. The indented waistline is achieved through inverted tucks. The coat is here shown accompanied by black shoes and a black hat. If the coat were dark blue it would require a blue kid shoe, and if brown a brown shoe. Either black, brown or green shoes could be worn with the green coat.

Sketched at the center is a scarf of black caracul, with silk kid piping at the edge, shown with a black leather handbag and black felt hat with an unusual feather fancy at the side. Note the way the trim rolls back at the side to expose the hair. While all last season's hats concealed the hair, all this season's expose it. So great is the vogue for exposing the hair that women are even having tiny curls made of their own hair, or purchasing them of someone else's hair, to wear poked in at the sides or forehead on hair pins. Just remember it is most important to show the hair.

November Is Significant Month For Members Of Texas Mothers' Congress

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—(Special)—November is a month full of significance to the parent-teacher associations in membership with the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, according to Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, state president. The recurrence of two special week observances and of two anniversaries, Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day, of meaning to all citizens, as well as the annual State Convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers arouse and inspire members of parent-teacher associations to renewed and more intelligent efforts in behalf of the child in the midst who will be the citizen of tomorrow.

The two weeks, National Education Week and Children's Book Week, Mrs. Smith explained are the same this year, November 10-16. The observance of National Education Week is sponsored by the American Legion, United States office of education, the National Education Association, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, of which the Texas congress is a branch, and has for its purpose the acquaintance of the public with the activities, achievements, and needs of the schools.

To Stimulate Interest
"As for Book Week," Mrs. Smith said, "we have a state chairman, Mrs. F. L. Thomas, of College Station, whose best efforts have been directed throughout the year to arousing in both parents and children an interest in good books and their place in the development of the child. This Book Week just helps to stimulate and intensify her work, and again our units are co-operating with librarians and booksellers in the observance."

For Armistice Day, we suggest for our local associations a study of the Peace Pact and other international movements for the peaceful settlement of difficulties as a fitting way of observing the day. No better way of helping out our individual citizen to have an intelligent understanding of efforts in that direction.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers comes the week before Thanksgiving, November 17-21, in San Angelo. The theme for the convention is "The New World Challenge to Parents and Teachers." Mrs. Smith, who by virtue of being the state president is chairman of the program committee, stated: "We are promising that the convention will offer a vital program of world-wide interest; an opportunity to give and receive practical help through interchange of experience, plans and methods; a common meeting ground for educators, for specialists in the field of child welfare, and for parent-teacher workers; and a finer concept of an age-old problem of supreme interest."

Stage love blossoming into the real thing has culminated in the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Frances Beranger, above, and Don Cook. Miss Beranger is the daughter of Mrs. William C. de Milie, wife of the movie director, who formerly was Clara Beranger, the scenarist. The young couple have been filling a stage engagement in Denver.

est—the building of worthy homes. We firmly believe the annual conventions are of great benefit to our workers, or else we would not, nor could we ask our busy members to spend three and four days away from their regular home and school duties."

Goodyear Tires have challenged the automobile owners the world over with their demands for quality. And as a gladiator of honest quality, fair prices, and greater tire service, Goodyear is found today leading the field two to one above all others. With some makes of tires, Goodyear is preferred thousands to one.

When you see a Tire, all you see is the surface. That is the extent of your inspection. You cannot see the interior construction. You have no common yard-stick with which to measure the extent of its true dollar for dollar value. You are not a chemist. You are not an engineer. You are the consumer who has the purchasing power of a commodity for a purpose.

You must depend on our word, plus the records of the Tire through the years. We don't ask you to take our word or anybody's word, but point to the records of achievement by Goodyear Tires. Here lies the conclusive proof of superiority. It's at the end of the service of the commodity you buy.

If you and I were two people who had never seen an automobile in our lives and did not know what tires were for, and our first car purchase was an automobile without tires, what tire would you and I purchase? Suppose then that all we knew was that there was one tire on which millions more people were riding than on any other, what would we do. We would find it to be Goodyear. We would buy Goodyear for:

Prohibition Gets Into Tangle Of National Elections

TOTAL OF 941 CANDIDATES SEEKING OFFICES

Voters Of 47 States To Be Busy Tuesday

Maine Is Only State In Union Not Balloting; Prohibition In Fore As Chief Issue Of Important Elections

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)
Seven hundred and ninety-two candidates for Congress, 78 candidates for the United States Senate and 71 candidates for governor, in addition to a host of minor local officials, face the voters of the nation Tuesday, Nov. 4, in the most important elections intervening between the 1928 and 1932 presidential campaigns.

Thirty-two states will elect governors. Thirty-four of the 96 seats in the Senate, which are for six-year terms, are at stake.

Four hundred and thirty-one of the 435 seats in the House of Representatives are to be filled, as an entire new Congress is elected every two years. (Maine held its election early, on Sept. 8, electing its four congressmen, a senator and a governor, all Republicans, at that time. Of great importance, perhaps, is the fact that the Republican administration must face a grave problem caused by widespread business depression under its tenure—probably the first time it has ever had to face such a problem.)

PROHIBITION REFERENDUMS IN THREE STATES
Prohibition referendums are to be held in three states, questions for the voters to answer appearing on the ballots.

Several other states—notably Ohio, Montana and Pennsylvania—are holding elections that closely resemble prohibition referendums as the wet and dry issues are so closely drawn.

"Repeal Or Not?" Seems To Be Becoming Pivotal Point; Both Parties Divided On It

Senator Borah Warns Idaho Of Impending Battle In Congress For Repeal; Sentiments Are Becoming Strong

BY EDWARD J. DYFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

Signs of preparations to challenge and to defend constitutional prohibition in a mighty way multiply as the political campaigns whip to culmination. Politicians and organizations at conflict on the issue, so energetic today in state after state, look ahead to the time when even more strenuous efforts must be exerted. They watch what's going on as keenly as do the Republican and Democratic headquarters in Washington.

Borah Has Warning
The imminence of a struggle has just been heralded by Senator Borah. Campaigning in the northwest for reelection of Senators Norris and Schall, the Idahoan warned of an impending battle in congress to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Repeal or not?" seems to be becoming the pivotal point of dispute more than any other. Both parties remain divided on it, with outstanding members of each at odds.

Support Differ
In Republican and Democratic ranks alike the agitation has run from absolute support of the national law to modification for manufacture of light beer and wines, and on to taking the amendment from the constitution, letting the states deal with the problem.

But this campaign has led to an opinion in political ranks that the differences are crystallizing into sentiments for and against repeal. On Tuesday, Illinois and Rhode Island voters express themselves on the question by referendum. Massachusetts ballots on the proposal to repeal the state enforcement act. Elsewhere, especially in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, repeal is one of the issues drawn as between Democratic senatorial candidates in its favor and Republican nominees against.

To Heighten Chances
The way the votes fall in these cases certainly will heighten the chances for intense debate in congress, both during the approaching short session and when the new congress meets a year from December. Another factor expected to further heighten the chances is the opposed by ex-Sen. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who was Woodrow Wilson's war-time senate leader, and Mrs. Beatrice F. Craig, Independent.

NEBRASKA—Sen. George W. Norris, Progressive Republican, is

other crystallization of sentiment on the repeal question will be the report of President Hoover's law enforcement commission. The commission meets again the day after election.

The frequent statements issued from party headquarters in Washington have refrained from mentioning the numerous repeal controversies between candidates. Chairman Fess, of the Republicans, said he does not consider prohibition an issue. Chairman Raskob, of the Democrats, advocated a national referendum. He opposes the amendment.

Wet Success Predicted
The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, predicting the success of its drive against the national dry law by 1933, sees the election as bringing "a rising of the repeal tide." The view was expressed by its president, Henry H. Curran.

The Anti-Saloon League, on the other hand, through Superintendent F. Scott Dryden, said Curran was "blowing bubbles which will burst next Thursday when he implies that a majority of the candidates for congress" favored repeal. McBride asserted the wets had abandoned "their beer and wine program" for one of repeal.

Looking to 1932
The farsighted of both sides are not thinking so much of the immediate future as they are of the 1932 presidential year. Talk of recruiting prominent men to give their primary attention to leadership is heard.

Among those cited as possibilities for the drys is Senator Fess. Other Republicans mentioned are Vice President Curtis, Senator Borah and Gifford Pinchot, the gubernatorial nominee in Pennsylvania. Outstanding dry Democrats include Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and Senator Glass of Virginia.

Many opponents of the Eighteenth Amendment name: Dwight W. Morrow, Republican senatorial nominee in New Jersey; a man they would like to support for president. The Democratic advocate of repeal most often mentioned as a White House possibility is Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Republican party's inclusion of a repeal plank in its New York platform, with Charles H. Tuttle opposing Roosevelt, has led to some Republican drys supporting an independent dry. Dry elements of the Republican party in Illinois also have bolted Ruth Hanna McCormick, saying she betrayed them in declaring that, if elected senator, she would vote in accordance with the result of the repeal referendum.

T.C.U. FROGS NOW LEADING IN SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE RACE

Quite a delicate situation has arisen as a result of the 0-0 tie game between Amarillo and Lubbock high school grid teams last Saturday. There is a strong hint of further investigations concerning the game which may result in a protest and perhaps a second game, though nothing definite is known at this time. Lubbock fans and school officials are not satisfied with the trend of events that made the game result in a tie, but at the same time giving the Sandies a technical victory.

If we understand the new interscholastic League ruling with tie games, coaches of opposing teams may decide to agree to let 20-yard line penetrations, first downs, or yards gained from scrimmage be the determining factor, thereby eliminating the games. Coaches Henry Frink and Blair Cherry called representatives of the press to the field a few minutes before the game started and said that 20-yard line penetrations would decide the winner in the event of a tie.

The Sandies placed the Lubbock 20-yard stripe 7 times, and held the Westerners outside the Amarillo danger zone throughout the game. Therefore, the game went to Amarillo. Had first downs been the deciding factor, Amarillo would have won just the same, pushing over for 15 first downs while the Westerners registered 14. Yards from scrimmage would have also given the Sandies the victory, because the difference was some 35 yards.

Shortly after the game, M. H. Duncan, superintendent of Lubbock schools, came to the Amarillo-Journal office and soundly derided the coaches for making such a pre-game decision stating that they had no authority whatever, and that the game was a scoreless tie with no strings to it. Mr. Duncan contended that the state rule applied only to state championship games, and not to district encounters. He said that the executive committee of District I would be the judge in such events as occurred on the Tech field Saturday, and that the committee would take the matter up immediately.

Then there will always be that apparent touchdown that Lubbock made to rattle in the minds of Lubbock enthusiasts. In the eyes of nearly all spectators on both sides, the touchdown was made, and fairly so, by the completion of a pass from the Amarillo 41 yard line, Smith to Martin. But the grain that went up from the Lubbock side of the field and the cry of delight from the Amarillo side when the play was called back is not likely to be forgotten any time soon.

The officials ruled the pass incomplete, and it being fourth down, the ball went over to Amarillo. Quite a squabble ensued, but officials, who called the game sternly throughout, contended that the pass was incomplete because a Lubbock player, ineligible to receive passes, touched the ball before Martin, an end, finally caught it.

Coach W. H. Keeling said Saturday night that slow-motion pictures had been taken of the game, and that an especially good shot was made of the long pass for the apparent touchdown. When these pictures are shown, which will be to an exclusive congregation including coaches and officials, it is possible that the decision made by the officials will be reversed, provided it is found that the man who touched the ball first was eligible to receive passes. It is a dim possibility, but it is a possibility, and the touchdown is ruled legal, then the victory will go to Lubbock's way. And if Mr. Duncan's contention is correct, the game may be played over as a tie affair.

Regardless of the way in which the game turned out and the accompanying victory, fans were highly pleased with the game, which was one of the best high school games seen in this section this season, if not the best. Both teams were rather evenly matched, with the Lubbock line having an edge over the Amarillo forward wall, but with the Sandies doing the most damage in the backfield. It was truly a thrilling game, and one which will be long remembered. It was worthy of being called a championship game. Every inch that was gained came as the result of hard playing, tough through an almost impregnable defense.

Barnard Is Closing First Term At Post

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American League, has finished his first term as head of the junior major baseball circuit.

Barnard, who succeeded Ben Johnson in 1927, when the league was reformed, has been a question of policy, which he has carried over until Dec. 1, when he undoubtedly will be re-elected for a similar term.

The American league, under his regime, has won three world championships.

TEXAS FORGES INTO FRONT OF OTHERS

MUSTANGS DROP DOWN; BEARS FACE STEERS ON SATURDAY

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Texas Christian University, with seven victories and a tie to show for its efforts so far, will get down to business this week in defense of its Southwest conference football crown.

Although they have two conference wins, scored over Arkansas and the Texas Aggies, the Frogs will face what promises to be their first serious test when they engage Rice Institute Saturday at Houston. The Owls, fresh from victories over the Texas Longhorns and Sewanee Tigers on successive week-ends, are calculated to prove conclusively whether the Frogs, Cy Leland and all, are the team they were last year, when they were undefeated.

Wallop A. C. C. 62-0
As a warm-up for Saturday's conflict, the Schmidtmann walloped Abilene Christian College, 62 to 0, Leland leading the way with an 81-yard romp for one of his two touchdowns. The Owls scored two touchdowns with a slashing running attack to down Sewanee, 12 to 0.

Vieing with the Frog-Owl melee in popular interest will be another conference bout at Waco, between the Longhorns and Baylor Bears. The Longhorns boosted themselves into the thick of the title fight Saturday by trouncing a favored Southern Methodist eleven, 25 to 7. Baylor enjoyed a "breather" in trimming the Oklahoma Baptists, 31 to 0, at Shawnee. The meeting of the Bear and the Longhorn promises to have an important bearing on the title, with the winner automatically assuming a favorite's position.

A third conference tilt will be played at Dallas, with nothing in particular at stake. Southern Methodist, out of the running after Saturday's loss to Texas and a previous tie with Baylor, will entertain the rejuvenated Texas Aggies, who came back to nose out Centenary college, 7 to 6, at College Station.

The meeting of the two teams, which will be played at 11 a. m. at the Tech field, is expected to be a close one, with the Longhorns expected to win. The game will be played at 11 a. m. at the Tech field, and the committee would take the matter up immediately.

PETERMAN AND WELLS ARE NEXT; ANOTHER PLAY ARRANGED

Shooting a sensational 38 on the last and most difficult nine, W. D. Girand upset all the dope to finish high and win the tombstone golf tournament at the Lubbock Country club yesterday. It was an 18-hole handicap match, and Girand's handicap was 22 on the tombstone, and he took 8 strokes off his par plus handicap by shooting an 86 on the round. His card out showed 48.

O. L. Peterman, handicapped at 34 took second place, and Spencer Wells in third prize. He was handicapped at 16. Twenty local golfers participated in the match, which is the first of a series of Sunday tournaments to be held at the Country Club as long this fall and winter as weather permits.

Herbert Quinn, chairman of the tournament committee, announced that a second tournament will be held next Sunday. First prize, consisting of a wool pull-over golf sweater, was awarded to W. D. MATADORS BACK TO REST AND PREPARE FOR A. C. C. WILDCATS ON ARMISTICE DAY; BUFFALOES EVEN WINS STANDING

CLASS B RACE WARMING UP

BROWNFIELD, SLATON UNDEFEATED; FOUR WINNERS LIKELY

The Matadors of Texas Tech enjoy a well earned rest this week after a dozen trying games in as many weeks since the season started. Although they won only two of the encounters, their showing against the other teams have won for them the support of Tech students and Lubbock football fans on an increased scale over last season.

Although they are not scheduled in a game this week, the Matadors will meet the Abilene Christian College eleven the local field in an Armistice Day game, next Tuesday.

Buff Even Count
Last Saturday the Canyon Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers college evened the count of six years time when they defeated the local collegians 6 to 0 before the eyes of hundreds of alumni and ex-students of Canyon returning to the campus for Homecoming Day. In six games, the Matadors have been victorious three times, dropping the last two games to the Buffaloes to tie up the standing. The Teachers defended their 1930 record of having never been defeated since the current season opened.

Although the laurels of the day went to a player on the Buffalo team, one Cow Williams, halfback for Canyon, Tech gridists rate second and third place in the honorable mentions of the game. Big George Langford, back to his post at left tackle after nearly a month on the sidelines in argument with Tech faculty members who suspended him early in the season, the Matador line man earned a goodly share of the glory by his sensational work at tackle. On the defense he was the most effective player of the game, and on Tech's side he was a running power, opening up holes for the light Tech backs to crash through where they were stopped, always clear of the goal stripe by a strong Canyon secondary.

Moffitt Outstanding
Speed Moffitt, halfback for Tech, was outstanding in the game, playing second fiddle to nobody. He was responsible for many of the gains marked up by Tech's Matadors, who outplayed and outthrew the Buffs in the first half of the game, putting the Teachers on the defense for the rest of the entire half. In points of yards gained from scrimmage, passing, punts and first downs, the Matadors excelled. On sixty-six plays from scrimmage, Tech gained 186 yards, and completed 4 passes for a total gain of 46 yards. Nine times Tech punted for an average of nearly 40 yards, and the first down stood 9 to 7 favoring the Matadors. Canyon gained 143 yards in 65 plays from scrimmage, and completed 6 passes for 8 yards, punting 12 times for an average of 34 yards.

Cow Williams, setting a killing pace when the Buffs were on the offense, carried 198 pounds of football knowledge gracefully scoring the winning touchdown, and shagging a pass, did all his team's punting, and much of the passing for Canyon.

Pass 1929 Record
By winning two games in the six starts, the Matadors have already passed the mark of last year when they won only one game throughout the season. The McMurry College Indians of Abilene and the New Mexico Aggies of Las Cruces have gone down already this season, while the Wayland College Jackrabbits, boasting of the strongest team in the history of the school Texas School of Mines. T. C. U. and Canyon Teachers have defeated the 1929 edition of the Tech Matadors.

Speed Moffitt, halfback for Tech, was outstanding in the game, playing second fiddle to nobody. He was responsible for many of the gains marked up by Tech's Matadors, who outplayed and outthrew the Buffs in the first half of the game, putting the Teachers on the defense for the rest of the entire half. In points of yards gained from scrimmage, passing, punts and first downs, the Matadors excelled. On sixty-six plays from scrimmage, Tech gained 186 yards, and completed 4 passes for a total gain of 46 yards. Nine times Tech punted for an average of nearly 40 yards, and the first down stood 9 to 7 favoring the Matadors. Canyon gained 143 yards in 65 plays from scrimmage, and completed 6 passes for 8 yards, punting 12 times for an average of 34 yards.

Cow Williams, setting a killing pace when the Buffs were on the offense, carried 198 pounds of football knowledge gracefully scoring the winning touchdown, and shagging a pass, did all his team's punting, and much of the passing for Canyon.

Pass 1929 Record
By winning two games in the six starts, the Matadors have already passed the mark of last year when they won only one game throughout the season. The McMurry College Indians of Abilene and the New Mexico Aggies of Las Cruces have gone down already this season, while the Wayland College Jackrabbits, boasting of the strongest team in the history of the school Texas School of Mines. T. C. U. and Canyon Teachers have defeated the 1929 edition of the Tech Matadors.

Only three more games are left on the Tech schedule. Abilene Christian college comes here next Tuesday, and on Wednesday of the following week the Matadors go to Brownwood to meet the Howard Payne Yellowjackets. The Thanksgiving game will be played on the Tech field, with the Simmons University Cowboys.
