Cubans Claim Weapons From U. S. Are Seized

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Supplementing its claim that a U.S. invasion threatens, the Cuban government announced Saturday it has seized two airdrops of weapons originated in the United States and destined for insurgents here.

The invasion scare Prime Minister Fidel Castro started nine days ago is beginning to strain Cubans and their industries. The big sugar harvest is at hand, but the workers are busy at other things—putting on militia uniforms and manning the Soviet and Czech weapons that bristle everywhere on this Caribbean island.

A defense spokesman said Castro's militia grabbed one arms collection of pistols, rifles, machine guns, mortars and bazookas dropped west of Havana in Pinar del Rio Province.

Soldiers pounced on a second load of munitions and medicine parachuted from a plane in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province, the government said.

If the report is true, insurgents still holed up in those areas suffered a severe blow by losing thousands of dollars worth of fighting equipment.

Ruptured Cuban-American relations became complete Saturday when the Swiss Embassy assumed protection of U.S. interests in Cuba and all but three U.S. Embassy officials flew home.

The breach that began with Cuba's order to shrink the size of the U.S. Embassy staff and was climaxed by President Eisenhower's formal break in relations now leaves several hundred Americans to continue life here with their own wits.

The powerful military concentrations in Cuba's cities dislodge normal business and industrial activity. But war games and total mobilization have deeper effects in the countryside.

Many are wondering what will happen to this year's sugar crop of 5 to 6 million tons. This is the traditional time for maximum harvesting work. But thousands of field workers and mill hands are out parading, waiting for an invasion that has not come.

The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion admitted this problem Saturday. The newspaper published a full-page article saying that wives, sisters and children are taking up the workers' tasks—cutting and delivering cane to the mills while their men serve in Castro's militia.

"Substitution of the sons, wives and sisters of militiamen has been ideal." Revolucion said. "In the efficiency of their (the family's) work no differences can be noted to all."

Many experts doubt, however, that women and children can effectively make up in the harvest for their missing men. The nation's future depends on a fast and efficient sugar harvest.

Maj. Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's economic chief, told a television audience Friday night that Cuba already has traded its 1961 sugar crop to the Communist bloc in exchange for unspecified political considerations.

Through Guevara, Castro made an apparent new bid for reconciliation once President-elect John F. Kennedy occupies the White House.

Guevara hinted that Cuba is ready anytime for a man-to-man talk with the new Washington administration. He said Castro will sell three million tons of sugar annually "at realistic prices" and buy an equally valued quantity of American goods, if the United States is willing.

Cuba has been pinched by shortages in almost every line, from salt to oil refinery equipment, and is desperately seeking supplies throughout the world. But the United States is still the most convenient source.

Communications between Cuba and the United States — airlines, cables and mail—are normal. Officials in both countries said they saw no reason why the diplomatic break would change the s.

Thousands of Cubans who sought to leave have been frightened by a suspension in issuing new exit permits. Travel agencies say they believe Cuba suspended new issues until announcement of new regulations governing them.

Until then, the government has declared that all exit permits already issued will be honored. All Americans have been allowed to leave with or without exit permits.

CUBANS GIRD HAVANA SEAWALL FOR INVASION—Fidel Castro's civilian militiamen, barefooted as waves whip over seawall, install a heavy artillery piece, described by some experts as an anti-tank gun, along the Cuban capitol's seafront drive. Havana bristled with artillery and anti-aircraft weapons to meet what Castro said was an "imminent" invasion from the United States. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy Gets Report Backing Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy received a report Saturday backing his proposal for a peace corps to assist underdeveloped nations but rebuffing his suggestion that young men serving in it be exempted from the military draft.

The report was submitted by Max Millikan, director of the Center for International Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Millikan undertook the study at Kennedy's request.

Kennedy spent most of his day here discussing with political advisers appointments for the many jobs below the Cabinet level that still remain to be filled.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, said after nearly 3½ hours at Kennedy's Georgetown home that "we went over a long list of names below the Cabinet level."

He told newsmen a lot of progress was made but expressed doubt all the job openings could be filled before Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

Before Kennedy left for New York, aides put out a statement announcing Kennedy's selection of William Willard Wirtz of Chicago, a law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, to be undersecretary of labor. The appointments of five other officials to serve in the Labor Department under Arthur J. Goldberg, Kennedy's choice for secretary of labor, also were announced.

Jackson disclosed that Kennedy will address the Democratic National Committee at a meeting here on Jan. 21, the day after he takes over the White House.

At that time Jackson plans to submit his resignation as national chairman. John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, is expected to be elected his successor.

Bailey was among those who participated in the discussion of appointments to be made by the new administration. Others present included Robert F. Kennedy, the president-elect's brother and attorney general designate, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is to be the new president's special assistant for personnel and congressional relations.

Among others who called on Kennedy later were Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Matthew M. McCloskey, also of Pennsylvania, the treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Lawrence said he discussed appointments to federal jobs in Pennsylvania and also pledged cooperation in carrying out the distressed areas program Kennedy will submit to Congress.

McCloskey told newsmen he is concerned with wiping out the party's $3 million deficit. He expressed hope $1 million would be raised at a gala entertainment here the night before Kennedy's inauguration and said he would ask each state chairman to take responsibility for raising a proportionate share of the balance.

The report from Millikan on establishment of a peace corps of talented young men and women to assist in the development of newly emerging nations was one of a series Kennedy has been receiving on a variety of subjects.

Millikan said that in his report, to be made public Tuesday, he suggested such a corps be set up initially on a test basis with the enrollment of a few hundred young men and women.

He told newsmen it would be unwise and unnecessary to provide that service in the corps would exempt young men of draft age from military duty.

Kennedy, in proposing the peace corps in a San Francisco campaign speech, said three years of service in it could be an alternative to the peacetime draft.

Kennedy made public the report of another task force recommending an entirely new subsidy program to provide housing for low income families and other steps intended to spur home building and urban improvements.

It also called for establishing a new Cabinet-level department of a proposal that Kennedy has inhousing and urban development, a proposal that Kennedy has indicated he favors.

Civil War Event To Begin Today

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer

At a revered spot on the upper West Side of Manhattan, in the early Sunday afternoon, hundreds of uniformed figures will stand solemnly at attention.

The scene will be Grant's Tomb on Riverside Drive, not far from Columbia University. At a fixed time, the heavy silence will be broken by the roll of a chorus of drums. Then a military band will play the Star Spangled Banner.

Meanwhile, several hundred miles to the south in Virginia, there will be a quiet ceremony at the Lexington tomb of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Then, throughout the nation, church bells will toll. Thus will begin the centennial observance of the Civil War. The observance will last four years.

President Eisenhower urged all Americans to join in the observance, and in a statement.

"This observance affords us a special opportunity to pay tribute to those Americans whose heroism and sacrifice, a century ago, comprise a part of our national heritage," said the President's statement.

"America then was a nation divided. Today she possesses a national and spiritual unity which has been nurtured and developed over the years — and sometimes defended at a great price. This unity provides a base for all that we do as a people."

The American Civil War — the war Between the States — actually broke out April 12, 1861, when Confederate Gen. P.G.T. Beauregard shelled Fort Sumter at Charleston, S.C.

Cary Rites Are Pending

Funeral arrangements were pending Saturday night for Jim Bob Cary, 24, who died at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in a Littlefield hospital.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cary of Anton, former residents of Borden County.

Other immediate survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Otis Glasscock of Snyder and Mrs. Jack Reed of Fort Worth, and a brother, Don Cary of Fort Worth.

Funeral arrangements are being made at Bell Funeral Home.

DRYS WIN IN BORDEN

GAIL — Borden County's first local option election resulted in no change Saturday when voters of Precinct No. 1 turned down a proposal to legalize the sale of alcoholic beverages for off premises consumption by a vote of 125-62.

Only two voting boxes were open in the precinct, which takes in the northwest part of Borden County, extending from Gail toward Lamesa and Northward.

In the Gail Box, there were 45 votes against the proposal and 31 votes for the proposal. In Plains, the vote was "dry" by 79-31. Only one absentee vote was cast in the election and it went to the dry forces.

Parents Of Adopted Boys Found Slain

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The parents of two adopted teen-age boys were shot and killed Saturday in the family's home, and police arrested the older of the boys.

Authorities said the .22 caliber automatic rifle from which the shots were fired was found under the seat of a family car in which the older boy was picked up about two hours after the shooting.

The youth's younger brother telephoned police and sobbed out a story of the killings. He said his brother had fled in the family car.

The bullet-riddled bodies of H. Malone Dresbbach, 47, a Washington lawyer, and his wife, Shirley, 46, were found in separate rooms of the red brick house near the shore of Chesapeake Bay, about 15 miles south of here.

Police Capt. Elmer F. Hagner said Dresbach and his wife both had been shot in the back. Dresbach's body was sprawled on the kitchen floor. His wife was dead in a bedroom when police arrived.

Hagner indicated the double shooting may have been the aftermath of a reprimand the couple had given the older boy after he came home late from a high school basketball game Friday night.

Held without charge was Wayne Dresbach, 15, a freshman member of the wrestling team at Southern High School at nearby Lothian.

West Plans New Proposal

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western powers plan to propose to the Soviet Union early next week a formula for international action to halt the civil war in Laos and the danger of an expanding cold war battleground in Southeast Asia.

Britain will play the leading role in making the approach to the Moscow government. The heart of the formula is to revive an international control commission for Laos on the understanding that it would deal with, though not necessarily recognize formally, the present pro-American government of Premier Prince Boun Oum.

The United States, in a brief "white paper" on the Laotian crisis, charged Saturday that the Soviet Union has been expanding its airlift to the leftist and pro-Communist rebels fighting the Boun Oum government. But the statement also further opened the door to manuevers aimed at a peaceful solution.

The document was released by the State Department.

It said there are three ways the United States can contribute to a solution of the Laotian problem.

One way, it said, is "by joining with other free nations to support and maintain the independence of Laos through whatever measures seem most promising."

The other two points by current U. S. policy, the statement said, are to tell the world "the true nature of Communist intentions and actions in Laos," and to show that the United States itself does not seek to make Laos a Western military ally.

In effect, the statement pledged strong and continuing U. S. support for a Laos free of Communist control. It called for a peaceful solution of the crisis—with at least an implication of willingness to accept full Laotian neutrality.

Highly placed diplomatic officials said the reality behind this U. S. policy position is this: The United States is now definitely in favor or reconstituting the three-nation international control commission which was first created by the 1954 Geneva conference and disbanded, as no longer necessary, two years ago.

Britain led the move for reviving the commission, comprised of India, Poland and Canada.

Top Envoy Leaves Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — U. S. Charge d'affaires Daniel M. Braddock left Havana by air for Miami, Fla., Saturday, leaving U.S. diplomatic affairs here to Switzerland. His departure marked the end of almost 60 years of U.S.-Cuban relations.

Almost the entire non-Communist diplomatic colony, headed by papal nuncio Msgr. Luis Centoz, turned out at the airport to bid Braddock and six aides farewell.

Swiss Ambassador Walter Bossi, who now is in charge of U.S. affairs here, waited through a three-hour flight delay to see the Americans off at 4:35 p.m.

Aboard the flight were six American newsmen expelled by the Castro government after being held overnight by military intelligence agents. No reasons were given for their arrest or expulsion.

Braddock and Bossi completed final details of their diplomatic transfer earlier.

Damp Spell Due To End

Snyder had a variety of damp weather Saturday as dark clouds hovered over the area and temperatures held mostly in the thirties.

Mist and drizzle were mixed with occasional sleet and a few flakes of snow during the morning. The moisture kept streets and highways slippery over most of Texas during the day.

However the Weather Bureau reported that a mass of cool, dry air was moving in from the west, promising an end to the moisture. Rains were heaviest in Southeast and South and Central Texas, although most of the state, except the El Paso area got in on the moisture.

Kennedy Denies Plan For Kremlin Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy said Saturday it isn't true he is considering sending a special emissary to sound out Soviet Premier Khrushchev on how to improve Soviet-U. S. relations.

"This has not been considered nor discussed," Kennedy said; "and foreign matters like this won't be until after Jan. 20."

There had been behind-the-scenes speculation Kennedy would discuss sending an emissary to Khrushchev during his weekend conferences here with his secretary-of-state-to-be, Dean Rusk.

Four Mishaps Reported In 2-Hour Span

Accidents plagued Snyder traffic Saturday with four occuring in a two-hour span around noon as misting rain covered windshields and fell on pavement still running water from morning rain and sleet.

At 11:02 a.m. a 1958 Chevrolet driven by James Green Randle of Route 3, was involved in a mishap with a 1956 Ford pickup driven by Santos de la Rosa of South Texas at the intersection of Avenue F and the East Highway. Damage was estimated as $150 to the car and $50 to the pickup.

At 11:28 a.m. a car driven by June Garrett of Snyder was in collision with a Scurry County Sheriff's Department car driven by Keith Collier at the intersection of Forty-third Street and Avenue S, with damages estimated as $500 to the Garrett car and $120 to the county car.

At 11:46 a.m. Bill Newton of Pasadena reported to the Snyder Police Department that his truck-trailer had tried to jackknife at the traffic circle east of Snyder and had ripped up several highway posts. No damage was done to the truck.

At 12:57 p.m. an accident at the intersection of Thirty-seventh Street and Avenue S involved a 1955 Studebaker driven by Darrell Tramel, 2206 Forty-third Street, and a 1954 Chevrolet driven by Ophelia Trevey of Route 3. Damage was estimated as $100 to the Tramel car and $65 to the Trevey car.

Texas Highway Patrolman Will Cleveland investigated the accident involving the county car, with all others investigated by the city police.

Parade Held By Klansmen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ku Klux Klansmen wearing robes and hoods drove through downtown Jacksonville Saturday in a demonstration apparently protesting a federal court order for integration of the city's recreational facilities.

A Klan leader who identified himself as C. L. Craig of Atlanta, Ga., grand dragon of the U.S. Klans, professed not to see any demonstration and said the klansmen were just in town for a meeting north of Jacksonville.

Few Negroes were on the streets and the scene was quiet in sharp contrast to another Saturday here last August when groups of whites and Negroes fought with fists and sticks amid throngs of shoppers.

Most of the klansmen rode in cars with Georgia and North Florida license tags. American and Confederate flags flew from the fenders, radio aerials or windows. On the sides of the cars were signs such as "U.S. Klans, KKK."

Legislature To Open Session Tuesday

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—The state's first regular legislature of the 1960s meets at noon Tuesday under the stern challenge of providing for a decade of growth and progress in Texas.

The biennial session will be an exacting test of the wisdom, vision and 'political know-how of Gov. Price Daniel, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, the still-unnamed speaker of the House and other legislative leaders.

There is agreement over the obvious need for huge new revenues in determining whether the state will not only meet its barebone obligations, but advance beyond them. There is almost universal disagreement over how much should be spent and where the money will come from. Estimates of new monty needs range from $200 to $300 millions.

The legislature starts with a general revenue fund deficit of $91 million. The comptroller, however, estimates this will shrink to $63 million at the end of the current fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1961. Before the lawmakers can appropriate a nickel under the usual spending processes, this deficit must be retired.

Thus the almost overwhelming quest for new money will cast a shadow over virtually every act of the session.

For the first time in history, the legislators meet as a body on a set yearly salary plus a specified scale of various expenses. This plan was adopted by constitutional amendment and is regarded as a directive for improved service from the voters.

How the lawmakers will respond depends on the performance of the 57th session.

Legislators polled by The Associated Press on the problems they must try to solve agreed that the basic one is taxation and spending.

In second order of importance many listed legislative and congressional redistricting to meet Texas' increasing and shifting population.

Many other possible issues competed for third place in the order of importance, including:

Higher teachers pay and Hale-Aikin school changes; improved water use and conservation laws; changes in the auto liability insurance rules; problems of the cities; new methods of coping with crime and especially juvenile crime; activation of the loan shark control amendment with a law that works; activation of the medical aid to the aged amendment; election law changes especially the confusing method of ballot-marking; a new assault on the traffic deaths; and what to do about state college tuitions.

This list is not all-inclusive, but is typical of the variety and volume of work waiting.

An early start seems out of the question again this time.

A rough-and-tumble contest for the House speakership will be determined on the opening day Tuesday. Members will choose by secret ballot between Rep. James Turman of Gober in North Texas and Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Many House members say they do not like the present system of electing a speaker, predicting the current contest would delay the real work of the legislature by two to three weeks. The victorious candidate will have to interview 150 House members on committee preferences and weigh whatever obligations he may have to others in selecting the vital committees to pre-process legislation.

This legislature is generally regarded as being moderate in its Democratic politics, with more leaning toward the liberal side than in many times past.

Texas Business On High Plane In '60

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas business operated on a high plateau in 1960 and resisted the downturns in the national economy, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said Saturday in its annual report.

The bank found two trouble spots, the petroleum and associated industries and home building.

A spot survey by The Associated Press on Friday showed deposits in most Texas banks at a record high. Bankers said the reason was good crops and a generally healthy economy.

In commenting on the increase of demand and time deposits the Reserve Bank said the increase had been greatest in the last half of the year and was in the deposits of individuals, partnerships and corporations. United States government demand deposits decreased markedly.

The report said a major factor in the national business decline was the ups and downs of the steel industry. But since steel and primary metals are not a major segment in Texas and the Southwest manufacturing complex, the area's industrial production remained close to that of 1959.

The new electronics industries and the still growing chemical industries chalked up 5 per cent gains. The apparel, paper and printing and food industries also showed good gains. Minor declines continued in defense-related industries and in lumber and furniture manufacturing.

Reductions in the production and price for crude oil reduced drilling activity in the Southwest 17 per cent, but wildcat well completions were off only 8 per cent. In contrast, refining activity advanced 3 per cent and refineries operated at 80 to 85 per cent of capacity most of the year. The natural gas industry expanded moderately and copper and nonmetallic mining increased relative to the strike-reduced 1959 levels.

The construction industry followed the national trend. The number of unsold new homes in some major market areas was reported to be large. Residential building was off 18 per cent and the total value of construction contract awards declined 4 per cent. Only a strong and rising industrial and commercial sector sustained the industry in 1960.

"It appears that the Southwest has, for the first time in the post-war period, caught up to the immediate demands of the area. The existence of new uncertainties regarding the Southwest's growth trend also may have been an important factor affecting the home-building industry."

Farm and ranch incomes remained about steady as increased production of crops and animals offset price declines.

Non-farm employment in the five Southwestern states increased 1.3 per cent in 1960 as a result of gains in finance, service, manufacturing, trade and government employment. Unemployment increased moderately and was greatest in areas where petroleum production was a major factor.

Personal income increased about three per cent, compared to an increase of six per cent nationally. This was sharply below the yearly gains in the Southwest during the postwar years.

Retail sales in the region were two per cent below 1959 with automobiles, furniture, homefurnishings, appliances, lumber, building materials, hardware and farm equipment showed declines.

Department store sales in the district were down two per cent from 1959, partly because of rising competition from new discount houses and suburban specialty shops.

Thug Believes In Knowing 'Clients'

FORT WORTH (AP)—A thug has held up a Seven-Eleven Food store here so many times he is now on first-name terms with the manager.

The robber stuck up the store for the fourth time in recent weeks Friday night, telling manager Hubert Hendon:

"Hello, Hubert, sack it up."

Hubert did and the thief ran with $140.

Coogan Faces Dope Charge

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actor Jackie Coogan, once a top Hollywood child star as "The Kid," was booked here Saturday on a narcotics charge.

Sheriff's officers said they arrested Coogan, 46, at his ocean front home in Malibu's exclusive beach colony.

They said Coogan, two other men and a woman who described herself as an ex-exotic dancer had staged a drinks-and-marijuana party at Coogan's home far into the early morning hours.

Coogan and the other three were booked at the Malibu sheriff's office on suspicion of possession of marijuana. Malibu is on the Pacific northwest of Los Angeles.

Booked with Coogan were Edward Norris, 5, an actor, of Malibu; Arthur C. Ringer Jr., 31, Los Angeles, a dance instructor, and Nona Carver, 40, of Hollywood. Mrs. Carver, a statuesque brunette, said she was once a dancer but was now a film extra.

Coogan and the other three denied any knowledge of the marijuana.

Visitors Are Welcome At Camp Murphy

Camp Ed Murphy, a Boy Scout facility on the shores of Lake Thomas, has made rapid strides in development, according to W. R. Dunlap, camp ranger.

Many people in this area are surprised when they learn that the camp is so well developed, and many others are not even aware of its existence, Dunlap said.

"Buffalo Tracks," a publication of the Buffalo Trail Scout Council, listed the Camp Ed Murphy facilities as follows:

Camp Ed Murphy—located on Lake J. B. Thomas in Borden County, consisting of 40 acres. This is an aquatic camp with a capacity of 100 boys per week. Roads, fencing, leveling and filling of grounds, tree planting, electricity, gas, water system, telephone, mess hall (125 seating capacity) and kitchen fully equipped with refrigeration, stoves, tables, etc., eight troop campsites with shelter and latrines; health lodge and staff quarters; trading post and storage building; ranger's home; central showers and latrine; two water front shelters; two 80-foot piers; boat landing dock; two small storage buildings; camp entrance; 10 canoes, 2 bowboats and other items of program equipment. This camp is open the year around and long-term camps are conducted each summer.

The camp accommodated over 600 Scout campers last year.

The public is invited to visit and inspect the camp at any time, Dunlap said.

"I will be glad to show them through the buildings. We want everyone to know that all may drive around and look the camp over," the camp ranger concluded.

Nurse Tells About Thefts

DALLAS (AP) — A practical nurse tearfully admitted Friday thefts from patients. She told also of raiding property closets at St. Paul Hospital and the Fowler Homes for Children and the Aged.

The woman, four times married, ended her own theft spree Thursday night by calling police to arrest her husband on a drunk complaint.

Police counted dozens of brightly colored dresses—many never worn—at least 150 pairs of women's shoes, drawers of cosmetics, bundles of blankets and sheets, and coats of all sizes.

Police estimated $10,000 worth of clothing and hospital supplies were found in the woman's apartment.

St. Paul and Fowler officials told police the woman's arrest solved the lengthy mystery of disappearing supplies and patients' clothing.

Ike Will Submit A Bigger Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The budget President Eisenhower will send Congress before leaving office will be bigger than this year's and will forecast a surplus next fiscal year of at least $600 million.

Authoritative sources, in giving details, said the increased amount in the federal 1962 budget will mostly cover defense outlays.

Eisenhower will send his annual budget measure to Congress on Jan. 16. President-elect John F. Kennedy will take office Jan. 20. His administration and Congress will make changes in the budget.

TO ARMY SCHOOL—Pvt. William Eugene Autry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Autry of Ira, has been home on leave after finishing basic training at Fort Hood. He has gone to Fort Gordon, Ga., where he will attend communications school. Autry is a 1957 graduate of Ira High School.

Four Die In Auto Crash

HAMILTON, Tex. (AP)—Four persons died Friday night in the tangled wreckage of two cars which collided inside this West Central Texas town on rain slick Texas 36.

Three teen-age victims were in one car: Larry Don Fuqua, Arthur Thornton and Joe Lynn, all 16. Killed in the other car was Mrs. H. P. Newton, about 50. All were from Hamilton.

Jerry Newman and Gary Coston, both 16, were injured in the car in which their three companions died. Clyde Taylor, 57, a passenger, also were hurt.

Witnesses told Sheriff Woodrow Young the car filled with boys tried to pass a truck at the top of a hill and skidded sideways into Taylor's auto. Young said Mrs. Newton worked at Taylor's cafe and that he was taking her home along with the injured girl, daughter of another employe, Mrs. Allie Goodwin.

Rosson Off To Session

State Rep. Renal Rosson left today for Austin where he will be on hand for the opening of the legislative session Tuesday.

Before leaving, Rosson announced that his law office in Snyder would be associated with that of Gene L. Dulaney. Rosson said that he had occupied offices adjacent to Dulaney's offices in the West Texas State Bank Building, and that these will be maintained while he is in Austin for the coming session of the legislature.

Rosson predicted a busy session for legislators.

"About 1,400 bills were submitted at the last session, and I expect there will be another big load this time," Rosson said.

Only a relative few of the bills are passed; of course, but they kept the legislature working beyond its prescribed session two years ago. Rosson said he hoped that the legislature could wind up its business on schedule this time.

Man Injured When Battery Blows Up

David Martin of Hermleigh sustained facial injuries Saturday noon when the battery being recharged on his truck blew up as he was bending over it.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital in a Bolger Funeral Home ambulance, he was treated and released.

Guilty Plea Entered

C. W. Smith of Mineola pleaded guilty in county court to a charge of DWI and was fined $100 plus court costs and given a three day jail sentence.

Angela Lansbury Not After Glamor

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The glamor whirl, in which some show stars revel, holds no lure for blonde Angela Lansbury.

"I don't think I've ever actually believed it's all real," says the lady who looks a natural for the glitter life of spotlights, sables and swells.

"I could have used a lot of all that," she adds a mite wistfully, "but then I'd have been altogether something else."

Explaining just what she is, Miss Lansbury says, "I've never worked at being an actress. I'm the lettuce type. Between parts I just sit."

Such airy appraisal of her own skills fools no one acquainted with the Lansbury stage and screen record, which she is now notably augmenting with appearance on Broadway in "A Taste of Honey."

Behind the cherubic, heart-shaped face, Angela is hard at work, deliberately and exactly.

The quickest way to spark fire in is to suggest that a performer's function in the complex process of show creation is a matter of passively saying lines that someone else wrote and someone else directed.

"That really gets under my skin," she comments. "I'm very emphatic about the actor's creative responsibility."

She is aware, however, spectators often don't appreciate all they're seeing.

"Most of those dears are only aware of the outer facade of a performance," she chides. "They aren't aware of the inner wheels that are working in the creation of a character."

In "A Taste of Honey," Miss Lansbury enacts a brassy, rowdy mother, inured to the seamy existence of life in an English factory town. Her stage daughter is Joan Plowright.

"I know those sort of women and understand them," she says. "They're not freaks or unusual by any means, but this woman isn't easy to do. It takes a drive I've never been called on to produce before."

Crawford Would Like TV Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joan Crawford, who has adjusted her life to a point where it is comfortably and profitably filled with jobs she likes, would sacrifice her leisure and her sleep for a television series of her own.

"If just the right thing comes along," Miss Crawford qualified. "I think I would like to have an anthology series — the kind that would give one an opportunity to do anything from drama to comedy."

Meanwhile Joan, a widow since the death of Alfred N. Steele in 1959, carefully picks and chooses the roles in which she is interested in both television and motion pictures—provided they don't conflict with her private life.

Recently, Joan relinquished an important part in "Return to Peyton Place," when she found it would require her presence in Hollywood during the Christmas holidays. She wanted to be in New York while her two youngest and Cindy, were home from boarding school.

Today, and presumably until that just-right TV series comes along, Joan considers her two most important jobs bringing up the twins and working in a public relations capacity for the soft drink company her husband headed for many years.

She will make one of her comparatively rare television appearances Thursday night on CBS' "Zane Grey Theatre," playing a dual role in "One Must Die."

"Dick Powell is the only television producer of Westerns I like to work for," she said, referring to Powell in his capacity of head of Four Star, one of television's biggest and most successful show-packaging corporations. "He doesn't make a woman look ridiculous in them. Besides, he had this show specially written for me."

Scene Saved By Prop Men

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood prop men continue to amaze.

In "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," Jack Lemmon, Ricky Nelson and John Lund did a slapstick scene in the ship's bakery storage room.

Flour dust filled the air but in the rushes it was discovered that actual flour wouldn't hang in the air long enough to be photographed.

Director Richard Murphy put the problem up to prop man Charlie Granucci. It was no problem.

He just filled a spray gun with mineral oil and ejected clouds of oil into the scene.

On the color screen, it looked exactly like flour dust.

Bill Holden Says Taxes No Factor

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bill Holden plans to make Switzerland his home for a long time to come and not, he says, for a tax dodge.

Says he: "I'm paying more taxes now than I ever have in my career. I'm living in Switzerland for the same reason a Madison Avenue advertising man gives up his suburban home in Connecticut and moves to Central Park West. "I just want to be closer to my work."

Many Hollywood stars have established residence in Switzerland—David Niven, Deborah Kerr, Audrey Hepburn, Yul Brynner and Mel Ferrer and some. But Holden, long a portrayer of the typical American male, has come in for blistering attack.

The Hollywood Cameramen's Union, for instance, said it would picket Holden pictures. This stung Holden deeply, especially when half of Hollywood is either in Europe or Asia making movies. None of the others were so rapped.

Holden moved to Switzerland last year because "The World of Suzie Wong" and "The Counterfeit Traitor" were made there. "Wong" was shot twice and caused Holden to make two trips around the world to Hong Kong.

Holden did not give up American citizenship—says he never will.

"I can be—and hope I am—just as good an American in the Alps as I could be in the High Sierra."

Holden will make movies in Hollywood if the script calls for it.

"Our business has changed. Europe is no longer 8,000 miles from Hollywood. Hollywood is 8,000 miles from Europe. Do you realize there were more movies made in London and Rome last year than in Hollywood?"

Swiss residence does not save taxes, Holden argues.

"All my residual payments including $50,000 a year for 'Bridge On The River Kwai' for the next 50 years) are all taxed in the U.S.A. Uncle Sam still get 91 cents out of every dollar of that.

"I now have income coming in a half dozen countries and I'm paying top bracket on all of them. 'Suzie Wong' cost me 96 cents on the dollar in English taxes. 'Counterfeit Traitor' cost me taxes in Germany, Denmark and Sweden and its residual payments will cost me in the United States. I also pay Swiss taxes on my residence there."

Actress Now Philosopher

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Natalie Wood, after 18 years of acting, has become a philosopher at 22.

"As an actress," she states, "I have finally learned that money is not as important as what you have to do to earn it."

The young actress says she is getting the greatest workout of her life as the star of "West Side Story," a big musical.

"It's my 30th picture," she says. "In between my first, when I was 4, and this one, there have been some worthwhile ones. There were also quite a few I'd like to forget.

"I'd far rather do fewer excellent films than star in some fantastically bad film just because the money was good."

Ike Must Take Test For Driver License

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower will have to take Pennsylvania's rigid new auto driver's examination if he intends to take out a state license, says the state's commissioner of traffic safety.

"I am sure that due to his tremendous interest in traffic safety over the years, Mr. Eisenhower would not want any special exceptions," Commissioner O. D. Shipley said.

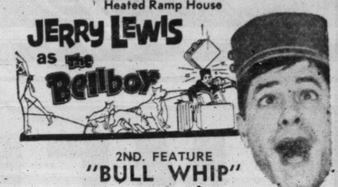

Shipley was asked to comment on a report the President, who leaves office Jan. 20, planned to buy a car and drive it himself. Eisenhower has established a home near Gettysburg, Pa.

Lewis Has Fabulous Set For His Picture

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jerry Lewis has built one of the most fabulous sets in Hollywood history for "Ladies Man," in which he is producer, director, writer and star.

The set is a replica of the Hollywood Studio Club, the home away from home for many aspiring young actresses. The set, costing $600,000, is filled with bedrooms, bathrooms etc., but it's too realistic. Some workers have been found snoozing in back bedrooms.

Tigers Romp To 73-49 Win Over Steers

Big Spring's Steers may have thought they were witnessing a flashback in history Friday night when they absorbed a convincing 73-49 defeat at the hands of the Snyder Tigers.

The Tigers used a red hot second quarter to take a commanding lead and then added steadily to their advantage as Coach J. P. Ward used a variety of combinations throughout the second half.

The Steers made a strong bid in the first quarter and held the Tigers to a 15-15 deadlock after the first eight minutes of play. However in the decisive second period, the Tigers roped 25 points while holding the Longhorns to 10. That added up to a 40-25 advantage at halftime.

Exactly one month earlier, the Tigers scored 29 points in the second quarter of their game against the Steers in Big Spring and then went on to capture a 59-43 decision.

The Steers matched the Tigers in field goals in the big second quarter, but the Bengals were nearly perfect at the free throw line, picking up 17 points on gratis shots in that period alone.

However, free throws did not decide the ball game by a long shot. The Bengals hit 21 field goals during the game, while the Steers were held to 12 two-pointers. For the complete game, the Tigers made 31 free tosses and Big Spring made 25, giving the Tigers a percentage of 66 and Big Spring a percentage of 69.

Travis Hatter connected on three field goals and 10 free shots to lead the Tigers with 16 points. Close behind was Weldon Ware with five field goals and five free tosses for a total of 15, and Charles Gladson with four field goals and six free shots for 14.

Dick Ebling, who was red hot from outside during the first half, scored 23 points to lead the Big Spring attack. He had seven of his team's 12 field goals and nine free shots.

The victory lifted the Tigers' record above the .500 mark for the season at eight victories and seven losses. Big Spring is now 9-10 for the season.

In preliminary action, the Big Spring B team edged Snyder B, 54-48. Jeff Brown scored 17 points to lead Big Spring B, while Tim Marcum had 14 points and Tommy Cooper 13 points for Snyder B.

Snyder B held a 16-point lead (18-8) at the end of the first quarter, but ran ice cold in the second and third periods before making a strong bid to recapture the lead late in the game. Snyder B's lead was cut to 21-16 at the half, and by the end of the third quarter Big Spring B led by 37-29.

The Tigers now have a week to prepare for their District 5-AAA conference opener. Colorado City's Wolves come here to launch district play next Friday night.

Four 3-AAA Players On All-State '11'

Four players from District 3 were named to the All-State Class AAA teams announced Friday night.

Tommy Doyle, Lamesa end, and Billy Belew, Sweetwater tackle, were first team selections, while Basil Freeman, Lake View guard, and Don Vest, Colorado City fullback, made the second team. Mike Sanders, Lake View fullback, rated honorable mention.

Named to the first team were Doyle along with Laurence Elkins of Brownwood, and Larry Franks of Nacogdoches, at ends; Belew and Ronnie Moore of Brownwood at tackles; Edwin Thomas of Hereford and Roy Segars of LaMarque at guards; C. C. Willis of Bay City at center; Timmy Doerr of Cleburne, Clint Mitchell of Carrollton, Bobby Robbins of Jacksonville and Mike Piper of Kingsville, backs.

On the second team are Pete Lammons of Jacksonville and Charles Knight of San Benito, ends; Doyle Slaton of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, and Larry Carlisle of Levelland, tackles; Edward Korenek of El Campo and Freeman, guards; Joe Felty of Waxahachie, center; Norman Smith of Monahans, Charles Buckalew of Channelview, Eddie Flores of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, John McMillan of Bay City and Vest, backs.

Ira Bounces Loraine In Loop Opener

LORAINE — The Ira Bulldogs launched their District 92-B basketball campaign here Friday night with a 54-47 decision over Loraine.

The Ira girls team trounced Loraine girls, 54-27, in the opener.

Mikey Sterling connected on seven field goals and five free shots for 19 points to lead the Ira attack in the boys game, while Tommy Sterling had seven field goals and two free shots for 16 points.

Ben Clopton was the top Loraine scorer with 21 points garnered on 10 field goals and one free toss.

Ira built up an 8-3 lead in the first quarter and led by 23-17 at halftime.

In the girls game, Lena Farmer poured 23 points through the hoop to pace the Ira scoring. Cindy Mahon, with 10 points, was high scorer for Loraine.

The Loraine Boys B team nudged Ira B, 24-23, in their game. Glenn Patters scored 12 points for Ira and Stanley Moore had eight for Loraine.

Ira entertains the Hermleigh Cardinals Tuesday night in the Ira gym. The girls teams will open the night's action at 7 p.m.

The boys game box:

IRA—Eubanks 5-2-12; Tommy Sterling 7-2-16; Mikey Sterling 7-5-19; Robert Sterling 2-1-5; Ronnie Autrey 1-0-2; totals 22-10-54.

Big Bowling Meet Looms

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—The world series of bowling opens a 10-day run Thursday with leading bowlers from 42 states competing for $68,150 in prize money.

The 240 men and 96 women, selected from nearly 12,000 bowlers in local and state eliminations, will be competing in the All-Star Bowling Tournament for the first time on the West Coast. The event is sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association of America.

Defending Champion Harry Smith and four-time titlist Don Carter will be shooting for a 10,000 first-place prize. They are members of rival St. Louis teams.

Leading contenders for the $5,000 top woman's prize are Sylvia Wene and Marion Ladewig. Miss Wene, of Philadelphia, won her second All-Star crown last year with the first 300 game ever rolled in the women's division. Mrs. Ladewig, seven-time winner from Grand Rapids, Mich., lost the title to Miss Wene by less than one point.

Instructors Are Named

AUSTIN (AP)— John Bridgers of Baylor, Frank Broyles of Arkansas and Blanton Collier of Kentucky will teach football at the Texas coaching school in San Antonio next August.

L. W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, made public names of the instructors for the big clinic Saturday.

Harold Bradley of the University of Texas and Frank McGuire of North Carolina will lecture on basketball.

Eddie Wojecki of Rice will discuss training.

Coaches of the all-star teams at the coaching school have been selected. Joe Golding and Hunter Kirkpatrick of Wichita Falls will coach the North in football. Pete Ragus of Corpus Christi Miller will handle the South.

O. W. Follis of Lamesa will coach the North basketball team with Hal Lambert of Spring Branch tutoring the South.

Duke Downs N. C. State

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Duke's eighth-ranked basketball team hit the bucket in the clutch here Saturday for a sweeping 81-67 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over North Carolina State.

Sophomore sensation Art Heyman provided the major Duke fireworks with 27 points, high for the game. The conference scoring leader bagged 10 field goals and 7 for 16 from the free-throw line to lead the Blue Devils to their 11th victory in 12 starts. He also grabbed 16 rebounds.

The Wolfpack, trailing most of the first half, turned on a surge to lead 36-33 at halftime. The first of the second half was nip and tuck, but with 16:35 remaining, Duke jumped ahead 47-40. At that point, the Blue Devils scored eight straight points. They padded the lead to 12 and 14 points but the Wolfpack was never able to get closer than eight points.

Leading State was Bob Distefano with 19.

TWO NEGROES PICKED

Coyotes's Shields Is Tops In AAAA Ranks

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Larry Shields, Wichita Falls' mighty fullback, led the Class AAAA all-state schoolboy football team on which two Negro players were selected.

The Negroes — Johnny Roland, the hard-running halfback, and Willie Adams, the big tackle, of Corpus Christi Miller's state championship team—are the first to make the top class All-state.

For the second year in a row Negroes landed on the top Class all-state. Last year one made it. This time two were picked—Johnny Roland, the hard-running halfback, and Willie Adams, the big tackle, of Corpus Christi Miller's state championship team.

Shields polled 81 of a possible 85 points as the most popular choice. Roland had 65 points as runner-up among the backs to Shields. Adams had 49 points to top the tackles.

There's a familiar name among the first team ends—George Sauer Jr. of Waco. His father was formerly coach and athletic director of Baylor.

Baylown, which failed to get outside its district, landed the most on the all-state team—three. Miller was next with two while Waco, Houston Austin, Amarillo, Galveston, Wichita Falls and Bryan came up with one apiece.

Pairings with Sauer at end was Osborne Knudson of Baytown. Dennis Medley of Houston Austin was the other tackle.

Doug Sanders of Amarillo and Wayne Bertsch of Baytown made the guard positions.

Vernon McManus of Baytown was the center.

Walter McReynolds of Galveston was picked at quarterback. He was moving up from last year's second team.

Shields, Roland and Tommy Meeks of Bryan were the other backs.

All are seniors except Shields, who has another season.

Sanders was the top point-getter among the linemen, polling 76.

The first team:

Player, Position, Weight and Class
Osborne Knudson, Baytown, end, 190, Senior;
George Sauer Jr., Waco, end, 188, Senior;

Henry Wins Senior Golf Championship

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP) — Richard A. Henry, a busy executive from Madison, N.J., who can find time for golf only on weekends, stroked his way to a 2 and 1 victory over Dick Owen of Dunedin Saturday and won the Belleair Invitational Senior Golf Championship.

Henry, 58, a partner in a New York accounting firm, won seven, lost five and halved five holes to defeat Owen, the 1959 tournament champion.

In the championship flight consolation, J. H. Wallace of St. Petersburg whipped A. A. Villegas of New Orleans 4 and 3.

The tournament was played over Belleview Biltmore course near Clearwater.

CATHOLIC "AD" NUMBER FOUR
Many sincere people regard the Bible as the sole authority for Christian belief. And they reject the teachings of the age-old Catholic Church because these teachings and forms of Catholic worship are not mentioned by nams in Holy Scripture.
"Where," some will ask, "does the Bible say anything about the Mass or Purgatory? And how about confession to a priest, praying to Mary, and those seven Sacraments Catholics talk about. They're not in MY Bible."
Catholics say that their teachings are found in the Bible. She teaches nothing that is not found in Sacred Scripture. If you wish to know more about Catholic teachings, write for a free pamphlet explaining the Catholic Church. Write to: Home Study Center, Box 5644, Amarillo, Texas.

Lions Nudge Browns, 17-16

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Defensive halfback Dick Lane crashed through to block Sam Baker's extra point kick Saturday and saved a 17-16 victory for the underdog Detroit Lions over the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League's first Playoff Bowl game.

Trailing by seven points, Cleveland made a sensational strike for a tie on Milt Plum's 89-yard touchdown pass to Bob Mitchell.

The win, fifth straight for the Lions, gave them third place in the NFL, the first time such a consolation prize had been awarded. Detroit finished second in the Western Division and Cleveland was runner-up in the East.

As it turned out, Detroit might have scored again. A pass interception by Gary Lowe, his third of the game, gave the Lions possession at the Cleveland 12. But Detroit deliberately let the clock run out.

A shirtsleeved crowd of 34,961 saw the massive Detroit team continue its domination of Cleveland. The Lions now have beaten the Browns in eight games out of nine.

Trailing 7-0 at the half, Detroit went ahead 10-7 in the third on a five-yard touchdown run by Nick Pietrosante and a field goal and conversion by Jim Martin. The Browns tied it at 10-10 before Ken Webb scored the decisive touchdown on a one-yard dive in the last quarter.

Both Cleveland touchdowns were scored on passes by Plum, the first going nine yards to Rich Kreitling. Baker hit a 27-yard field goal.

South All-Stars Nip North, 33-26

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Rifleman Norman Snead of Wake Forest passed for four touchdowns in directing the South All-Stars to a 33-26 victory over the North in the 12th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday.

Snead's final touchdown strike, a 42-yarder to back Fred Brown of Georgia, came with seven seconds of play remaining and provided the margin of victory in the wildest of all Senior Bowl games.

The 6-foot-4, 206-pound Snead edged Stanford's Dick Norman in a stirring aerial duel that saw the South pick up 328 yards passing to 311 for the Northerners. Norman, who rallied his club time after time, was voted the game's outstanding player.

Norman had pulled the North into a 26-26 tie with three minutes to go on a 29-yard touchdown pass to Don Smith of Missouri. But an attempted conversion by Skip Face, also of Stanford, was blocked by defensive back Bobby Lauder of Auburn.

This set the stage for the fabulous finish in the final seconds. Snead and the great Bobby Cresping of Mississippi, who took in two long touchdown passes from Snead, tied for the South's most outstanding back. One of the scoring-plays by the two covered 70 yards, the other 47.

Guard Mike Zeno of VPI was chosen outstanding lineman for the South, and another guard, Joe Dean of Ohio University, was picked as the North's top lineman.

Rematch Set For Feb. 25

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The rematch between NBA World Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer and ex-champ Sugar Ray Robinson was officially set Saturday for Feb. 25 at the desert gambling resort.

The announcement was made at a news conference by Norman Rothchild, Syracuse, N.Y., promoter, Fullmer's manager, Merv Jenson, and the two local promoters, Jack Doyle and Mel Greb.

Fullmer kept his title in the 1st meeting with the aging Robinson in an action-packed draw in the Memorial Sports Arena in Los Angeles Dec. 3.

The rematch will be a regularly televised Saturday night fight. It will originate from the convention center, a dice roll or two from the gambling strip.

Rothchild had reached a written agreement for the fight last Thursday with Robinson in New York.

Under terms of the agreement announced Saturday, Fullmer gets 40 per cent of the gate and $60,000 of the $150,000 from the television sponsor, a razor blade company.

Robinson gets 25 per cent of the gate and $50,000 of the TV money.

The convention center seats 8,000 and the gate is scaled from $10 to $40 a ticket.

Trojans Split In Doublebill

SAN ANGELO — Lincoln High School's Trojans divided a pair of victories with San Angelo Blackshear here Friday night, with the San Angelo team winning the A team game, 61-58, and the Snyder team winning the B team game, 37-25.

In the A team game Ronald Green of Lincoln was high point man with 26 points. Others who scored for Lincoln included Joe Phillips 16, Beauford Thompson 9, Raymond Johnson 3 and Samuel Stephens and Tommy Davis 2 each.

Jackie Coleman's 20 points led the Blackshear scoring.

Barney McLaughlin and Lynwood Durst scored 10 points each for Lincoln in the B team game, while John Austin had 9 and Willie Barnes, Vernon Clay, L. J. Brooks and Kenneth McClain had 2 each.

Willie Allen was San Angelo's top scorer in the B game with 12 points.

Colleges May End Boxing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The executive committee of the National took a step Saturday toward ending national competition in college boxing.

The committee, in a meeting preliminary to the NCAA business session next week, voted to sponsor an amendment to the by-laws which would remove boxing from the list of championship events sponsored by the association. The reason given was that too few colleges still have boxing teams to make a national tournament worthwhile.

The amendment must be passed by the NCAA convention Wednesday to become effective. If it passes as expected, the NCAA will continue to have a boxing rules committee for the benefit of colleges which want to carry on boxing competition locally.

Phillips Co. Plants Struck

BORGER (AP)—The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union struck Phillips Chemical Co. plants Friday night at Borger, Houston and Dumas.

Union contracts expired late last year. Negotiations before a federal mediator bogged down a few hours before the union withdrew its men. The issues generally were over wages, insurance, benefits and job classifications.

About 1,400 workers were affected.

The Borger rubber plant employs 457 and is one of many Phillips installations in the immediate Panhandle area. Plant rules, classifications and wages were at issue. The company offered a year contract with no wage issue reopening, but the union asked for permission to reopen wage talks in six months.

The union threw picket lines around the Houston plant on the ship channel. About 600 workers were affected. Increased wages, insurance and other benefits were sought there.

About 350 men work at the Phillips Chemical plant, which was struck 13 miles north of Dumas in the Panhandle. The plant makes nitrates, nitric acid and ammonia. Company officials said supervisors would keep the ammonia section of the Dumas plant operating.

Mickey Mantel struck out 125 times last season yet slugged .558, second to Yankee teammate Roger Maris' .581.

Iowa Takes 9th Victory

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa streaked to its ninth basketball victory this season, and its first in Big Ten competition by outshooting Minnesota 71-46 in a regionally televised conference game Saturday.

The Hawkeyes appeared to be seeking revenge for the trouble the Gophers caused them in two defeats last year and blazed away to a 40-16 halftime lead. With the triumph stashed away early in the second half Iowa Coach Sharm Scheuerman started using all of his reserves.

The closest Minnesota came after falling behind in the early minutes was a 23-point spread at 54-31 in the final period.

The Hawks' flashy guard Ron Zagar led the Iowa scoring with 14 points but had big help from center Frank Allen and Matt Szykowny. They had 12 points each.

Top men for Minnesota were Dick Erickson with 9 points and Paul Lehman with 7.

John Thomas Clears 7-1½

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Sensational John Thomas cleared 7 feet 1½ inches in the high jump Saturday, but failed in three tries at tying his indoor record of 7-2½.

Thomas earlier in the afternoon cleared 7 feet for the 50th time in less than two years, with a 7 feet ½ inch effort en route to his 7-1½ in an indoor dual meet with Dartmouth.

The 19-year-old Boston University junior needed two tries to reach his 50th mark.

Thomas, whose only collegiate loss cost him the Olympic gold medal, accomplished the feat Saturday despite the fact he was breaking in a new, stiff pair of shoes on Dartmouth's revamped cedar takeoff.

Thomas' milestone occurred in the same alumni gym where he first drew attention as a freshman by breaking the indoor record with a leap of 6-11.

And it was at Dartmouth on a raw April day last spring where he tied the American mark at 7-1½ in his collegiate outdoor debut.

Cager Makes 104 Points

CAMDEN, Tenn. (AP)—"Everybody on the team said they wanted me to set a record," explained Danny Boyd, a 16-year-old farm boy who poured in 104 points in a high school basketball game, "so I just kept going."

The 5-foot-11, 155-pound senior with the dead-eye set the record—2 above the recognized Tennessee mark — Friday night as Camden overwhelmed Clarksburg 130-43 for its 18th victory in 19 games.

"I was embarrassed about scoring all those points," Boyd said Saturday at his home near here. "I didn't want to play the last half."

He played 28 minutes, sitting out the last four.

Danny scored 44 field goals and 16 free throws, with his quarter totals 24, 31, 27 and 22.

Mulloy, Redd Fight Way Into Net Finals

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables and Whitney Redd of Alameda, Calif., Saturday battled their way into the final round of the Dixie International Tennis Championships.

Top-seeded Mulloy, an ageless 47-year-old veteran who is seeking his sixth Dixie title, defeated Crawford Henry of Atlanta, No. 3 seed, 6-2, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

No. 2 seeded Reed downed Miguel Olvera of Ecuador, No. 4 seed, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

Reed and Mulloy will meet in the final round for the men's singles championship Sunday.

Liquor Explodes After Truck Crash

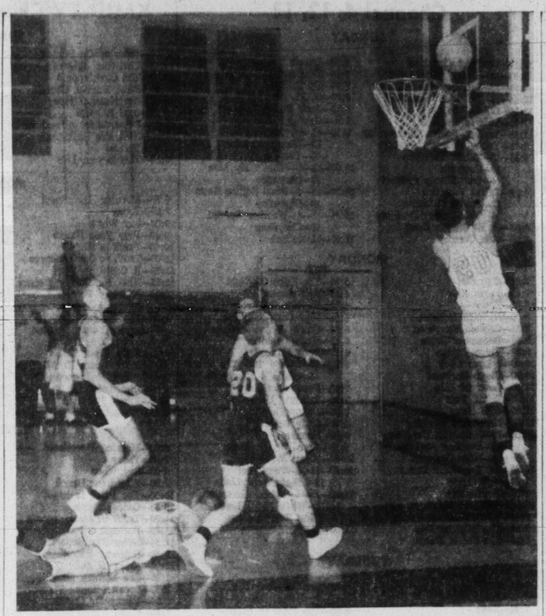

AMARILLO (AP) — A semi-trailer truck carrying liquor and a loaded dump truck collided and burst into flames near here Saturday. One driver was killed and the other was injured.

Killed was Clinton Iantrip, 54, of Amarillo, driver of the dump truck who was pinned in the flaming wreckage.

Marvin Kinney, 30, of Amarillo was thrown from the other truck. He was cut about the head and burned.

The accident occurred at an intersection on U.S. 66 about eight miles west of here. Witnesses said bottles of liquor exploded for an hour and a half after the collision.

On the back of the semi-trailer was a sign which read "If you can't stop, smile as you go under."

Two Colleges, Platoon Plan Top Conversation At NCAA

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two colleges and two-platoon football provided the chief conversational gambits Saturday as the vanguard of more than 2,000 college coaches, athletic directors and other leaders gathered for their annual week-long session of business and talk.

"Conversation was the day's biggest activity as only a couple of committee meetings and coaching clinics were on the schedule.

The colleges mentioned most frequently were Virginia, which is seeking a football coach to end its near-record 28-game losing streak, and North Carolina, which hopes to end an NCAA investigation of its basketball recruiting without incurring any penalties.

Moves toward a return of platoon football, tossed out by the rules makers eight years ago, was one of the favorite subjects of hotel lobby debate as the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Association met to decide what changes, if any, to recommend to the national rules body.

There has been some agitation, especially from the smaller schools, for further liberalization of the present "wild card" substitution rule.

Virginia is one of the few major colleges which has an opening for a head football coach. The talk here is that veteran George (Lefty) James, ousted by Cornell at the end of the 1960 season, holds the No. 1 place on the list of prospects but is undecided whether to take the job.

North Carolina's plight came to light when it had been learned that Basketball Coach Frank McGuire and Athletic Director Chuck Erickson were scheduled for another meeting with the NCAA council Sunday or Monday. They have come before the council previously during the past year.

The matter reportedly concerns recruiting of basketball players. Since moving from Brooklyn to North Carolina, McGuire has had spectacular success, largely with players from the North.

Summer Baseball Proposal Talked

PITTSBURGH (AP) — College coaches think they may have the answer to organized baseball's minor league problem — summer varsity competition.

Lee Eilbracht, Illinois baseball coach who both played and managed in the minors, said Saturday, "there are empty mining league parks all over the country. Many communities are without good hard ball competition. The colleges can fill that void."

"Pro baseball is dead in New England," said Henry Butova of American International College in Springfield, Mass. "I find my boys berths on industrial teams in the summer so they can get experience. Three-quarters of a million people are without organized baseball in the Springfield area."

Wally Rabb, coach of North Carolina's Atlantic Coast Conference champions, sees summer baseball as a coming thing in the ACC as soon as the schools go on a trimester (year-around) academic undergraduate system, a growing trend stemming from crowded campuses.

"Summer baseball could be the great equalizer in college competition," said Frank Sancet, whose University of Arizona teams are perennial national powers. Arizona, because of its weather conditions, plays more than 50 games a season and has the opportunity to develop standout major league prospects.

Harney Leading In Los Angeles Open

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Long-hitting Paul Harney took the lead at the midway mark of the $45,000 Los Angeles Open Saturday with his second straight 3-under-par 68 as the big name of the tournament, Arnold Palmer, fell out.

Palmer, the National Open and Masters champion of 1960, failed to qualify for the final two rounds as the ranks were cut to the low 60s and ties.

Saturday the 31-year-old "golfer of the year" took a 72 for a total of 149.

That horrendous 12 strokes on the final hole for a 77 Friday wrecked Palmer's chances in this, his hard-luck tournament.

Harney, former Eastern collegiate champion from Worcester, Mass., posted a 36-hole score of 136 to take a precarious one-stroke lead.

Ted Kroll, the first-round leader from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a 66, fell back with a 72 for 138.

Knotted in the runner-up spot at 137 were Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., 69-68; Bob Goalby, Crystal River, Fla., 67-70, and Los Angeles' Eric Monti, 67-70.

Scores of 148 or better qualified for the third round.

This was the first time Palmer had failed to survive the cut since the Indianapolis "500" last year, and that was at the 54-hole mark.

At 138 tied with Kroll after Saturday's round over the 7,000-yard, par 36-35—71 Rancho municipal golf course, were ex-national PGA Champion Lionel Hebert, 68-70; Bill Collins, Crystal River, Fla., 67-71, and Tommy Jacobs of Palm Springs, Calif., 69-69.

The 140 group included Billy Casper Jr., Bob Rosburg, Gardner Dickinson, England's Eric Brown and 23-year-old Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., whose 66 was the low round of the day.

AFL To Talk Expansion

DALLAS (AP)—There will be talk of expansion but whether the American Football League will take in some new members at its annual meeting in Houston next week is quite problematical, Commissioner Joe Foss said Saturday.

Foss said despite the expansion of professional football from 12 to 22 teams within the past year there remains a strong backlog of U.S. cities still bidding for an AFL franchise.

"Expansion will be discussed," said the commissioner, "but its place on the agenda will not be higher than any of a half dozen other items."

Foss said he anticipated a quiet meeting.

Although there have been reports of the Los Angeles Chargers shifting to San Diego, Foss said "as far as I know, there is nothing definite."

The meeting is scheduled to open Thursday morning.

Minor changes in playing rules and playing schedules are among items to be taken up.

German Sprinter Is Banned From Track

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — German gold medal sprinter Armin Hary, considered the world's fastest human, was banned from track for a year Saturday on several charges—including padding of expense accounts.

Hary, a West German who won the 100-meter dash at the Rome Olympics and world record coholder at 10 seconds flat, was banned by the legal committee of the Athletic League of Hessen Province. He was convicted of giving false and excessive expense statements of track appearances in Germany and to have damaged Germany's athletic reputation by publishing erroneous material in a magazine last October.

Stock Market In 2nd Weekly Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made its 1961 debut by posting a fairly good gain, its second straight.

The feature of the week was a huge rally on Wednesday which erased a sizable loss taken on Tuesday, the first trading day of the new year. The week was shortened to four days because of the Monday holiday.

Steels were the heroes of the week, rising even against the general downtrend on Tuesday. They advanced every session thereafter until they backtracked a bit on profit taking Friday.

There were those who claimed that the decline on Tuesday and the advance on Wednesday were prompted by the same factors, the crisis in Laos and the trouble with Cuba. It did not make sense to others that the market should rise and fall for the same reasons, world tensions or the possibility of war.

The Tuesday setback was ascribed by some veteran observers chiefly to profit taking among a number of issues which had benefited from the yearend rally. The steels, they said, were badly depressed and looked like prime candidates for big gains if and when the predicted upturn in the economy gets under way later this year. Early on Wednesday, while the market was still churning irregularly, the steels plodded ahead. The mood began to catch and other groups, one by one, joined in the advance. By the end of the day the Associated Press average had scored its biggest rise since Sept. 24, 1959, and the Dow Jones industrial average its biggest since Nov. 15, 1957.

The AP 60-stock average this week rose 2.60 to 223.50.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 5.75 to 621.64.

Volume for the holiday-shortened week totaled 14,363,674 compared with 16,537,084 for the previous week, likewise shortened by a Monday holiday.

Of 1,427 issues traded this week, 942 advanced and 369 declined. New highs for 1960-61 totaled 85 and new lows 12.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was McCulloch Oil, up ¼ at 2⅜ on 69,800 shares.

The bond markets observed the start of the new year this week with an erratic performance.

Corporate prices advanced all along the line while U.S. government bonds retreated after four weeks of improvement. Most of the changes for the holiday week were relatively small.

Volume fell to $21.34 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $26.73 million last week and the daily average was off to $5.34 million from $6.68 million. Tuesday the total fell below $5 million for the first time since mid December.

$63 Million State Deficit Is Predicted

AUSTIN (AP)—The state comptroller officially estimated Saturday that the Texas general revenue fund deficit will be $63,116,954 by Aug. 31, the end of the fiscal year.

This amount must be raised by the legislature before new spending bills can be approved to conform with the state's "pay-as-you-go" policy.

Comptroller Robert Calvert's report went to Gov. Price Daniel and members of the legislature. His estimate is required by the Constitution.

Calvert estimated net revenue for the general fund for 1962 and 1963 at $269,278,851, which will leave $206,161,897 for appropriation when the deficit is erased.

Estimates were based on present tax laws.

Increases in the school program and welfare payments will cause a drag of nearly $60 million dollars on the general fund. Tax credits of nearly $2 million from the old gas gathering tax, held unconstitutional and still not refunded to gas companies, will further reduce spending money.

Gross revenue for the fund for 1962-63 is $330,441,512.

The cutback in oil production is reflected in the estimate. The report figures the tax on oil will produce $126 million in 1960 and $122 million in 1961. Two years ago the estimate for revenue for the upcoming two years was about $38.5 million higher.

Probers Stir Questions On Vice Control

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

BEAUMONT (AP) — Inquisitive legislators left residents of Beaumont and nearby Port Arthur wrestling with their community consciences Saturday.

In effect, the crime-chasing Texas House General Investigating Committee—after three days of prying into what it branded as boldly vicious and widespread vice—posed this far from simple question:

Just where should citizens, in their home town's best interests, try to draw a line between where petty human sin must halt before it develops into a destructive big business of organized crime?

Left to community thinking was a mass of evidence about wide open gambling, protection payoffs, prostitutes catering to both adults and teen-agers, and traffic in both dope and liquor, likewise affecting juveniles.

David Witts, Dallas lawyer who presented much of the involved evidence before the five - man house committee, said the record afforded clear proof of "a situation which should be intolerable."

Elected officials, subjected to sharp examination about records indicating some of them enjoyed unusual prosperity, publicly professed agreement with Witts.

Beaumont Police Chief Jim Mulligan and several other law enforcement officials gave the committee credit for bringing much criminal activity to a current standstill, simply by conducting the inquiry here.

"I intend to keep it closed down," testified Mulligan, 6, a ruddy faced and stocky police veteran. "If I can't I will resign in a few days."

Port Arthur's assistant police chief, D. P. Moore, 49, when asked his intentions, told the lawmakers he proposed to "keep the lid on as long as the public wants it."

Moore takes a major role in directing his department because the Port Arthur chief, Garland Douglas, 57, is in poor health.

Renewed pledges of cooperation toward the same end were made to the House committee by ruggedly handsome Jefferson County Sheriff C. H. Meyer, 48. Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin, 47; and others.

Reaction from private citizens was mixed.

The majority told newsmen they want further steps taken to assure the stamping out of criminal operations. They said this was essential to provide wholesome circumstances for raising families.

Hard - headed business men didn't overlook an estimate by the legislators that organized vice has been diverting $5 million to $10 million a year away from legitimate trade in this seaport center of oil and chemical industry.

Some persons, however, took a view that "You can't police human nature." Several, declining to be quoted by name, contended that Beaumont's oldtime red light district — abolished on military demand during World War II—was preferable to a widespread scattering of unregulated bawdy houses.

Random eavesdropping on coffee shop and store counter conversations indicated Port Arthur and Beaumont residents literally buzzed with interest in disclosures at the house committee hearing. Television and radio stations carried much of the testimony into homes, offices and business houses throughout several neighboring counties.

Hundreds listened by transistor radio to broadcasts of the hearing as they walked along downtown streets.

The final session Friday, in which the legislative probers said they particularly sought clues to protection payoffs, appeared to draw the widest attention.

Two witnesses gave information about cash payments which they said went to prevent official interference with bookmakers and with both private clubs and houses of prostitution selling liquor by the drink.

Eisenhower Bids Army Farewell

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday bid the Army a sentimental farewell.

The soldiers of Ft. Gordon put on a review for their commander-in-chief.

Recalling that he entered the Army 50 years ago and had been honored at many such ceremonies in the past, Eisenhower said: "This is the last review I shall ever receive in my life."

Eisenhower said the review gave him a chance to say goodbye to the Army.

"In you and your sister services the United States has a shield no enemy dare attack or attempt to tear down," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower flew here at the behest of Brig. Gen. Howard M. Hobson, Ft. Gordon commander, who long has wanted to put on a big military show for the President.

A smaller review was planned for Eisenhower when he was last here four weeks ago. It was called off because of rain, but the President promised Hobson to come back before leaving the White House Jan. 20 if he could find the time.

About 2,700 soldiers, including some WAC units, stood stiffly at attention as Eisenhower rode before them standing up in a jeep. Hobson stood beside him.

Eisenhower landed at Augusta's Bush Field shortly after 10 a.m. after a flight from the capital in his personal plane, Columbine III. From Bush Field he flew by helicopter to Ft. Gordon.

After the Ft. Gordon ceremony, Eisenhower flew by helicopter to the Augusta National Golf Club for some golf.

He plans to fly back to Washington in midafternoon Sunday.

Cold War Initiative Kennedy's First Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy intends to build up United States military power and devise new strategy to wrest the cold war initiative from the Soviet Union, in his first months in office.

Until he has these projects well advanced, Kennedy and the secretary of state-designate, Dean Rusk, hope to postpone pressures for a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Early summit meetings with allied leaders appear inescapable; both Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer anxiously desire to talk with the new chief executive.

Even a meeting with Khrushchev in the first six months may not be avoidable because the Soviet leader can set off a new Berlin crisis any time he wishes.

New action promised by Kennedy in the global struggle with communism ranges from increasing aid for Latin America, Africa and Asia to rebuilding the North Atlantic alliance, opening new channels of contact with Red China, and developing a "new approach" to the Soviet Union.

In connection with the Soviets, Kennedy said during the campaign that one thing Red leaders understand is power, and that his first concern as president would be to enhance America's armed strength in both nuclear and conventional weapons.

Kennedy's broad commitment on taking office Jan. 20 is to "get America moving again" and to restore its "prestige." He says determinations on how best to work toward these goals is the overriding task of the new administration.

That will require long-range planning, too. One of Kennedy's first decisions must be on the division of his time between the grand design of his foreign policy and the challenges and crises he must handle from day to day.

Already, in fact, critical problems are piling up for speedy action.

Foremost among these are:

1. Negotiations with the Soviet Union on a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests. Kennedy is on record as favoring "one more" big attempt to reach agreement. But as president he will be subjected to very heavy pressures from the Atomic Energy Commission and defense department to end the 26-month-old moratorium on U.S. weapons testing and resume underground explosions quickly.

2. The dollar crisis. Kennedy is reported convinced that he must take steps promptly to strengthen the American dollar as an international currency, which means cutting this country's loss of gold and dollars. Measures taken by the Eisenhower administration should become effective this year, but other action will be required to control the $4-billion annual balance of payments deficit.

3. The crisis in Laos. State department experts consider the conflict between pro-Western and pro-Communist forces in the little Southeast Asian kingdom capable of expansion into a larger war involving Western forces and the Chinese Communists.

4. The Cuban crisis. Behind the scenes there is more official alarm than has appeared publicly about the danger and damage to the U.S. world position from the buildup of Communist influence in Cuba. President Eisenhower applied economic sanctions and severed diplomatic relations. Kennedy will be urged to use a variety of political and economic measures against the Castro regime.

5. The Berlin dispute. This was the immediate cause of the abortive 1960 summit at Paris, and could develop into a new crisis at any time. U.S. officials believe, however, that Khrushchev will stay his hand until Kennedy has an opportunity to take over the reins in Washington. Khrushchev evidently does want to meet the youthful new American leader, and undoubtedly knows that he would frustrate his own purpose if he mistimed his Berlin moves. However, it is also true that an extremely serious Berlin situation might force Kennedy to move toward a summit conference just as Eisenhower felt forced to do.

Kennedy's chief concern about rushing into meetings with Western leaders is that he needs time to get his cabinet and other top advisers organized, and to make an initial policy review. Apart from the Adenauer and Macmillan desires to meet him, it has been suggested that a NATO meeting at Oslo, Norway, in May should be converted into a Western summit session. Otherwise, it will be a foreign ministers meeting. Rusk also must get ready for U.S. representation in scheduled CENTO (Middle East) SEATO (Southeast Asia) and inter-American alliance meetings within the first six months of this year.

The NATO meeting will be of great importance. U.S. allies expect to find out there whether Kennedy will go forward with a plan advanced by the Eisenhower administration for giving NATO its own, seaborne nuclear rocket force. While neither Kennedy nor any spokesman is known to have made any actual commitment, he is expected to support the preliminary position taken by the outgoing administration.

How Kennedy handles each of these meetings and deals initially with each of the critical problems will have a decisive influence on the world's reaction to his leadership ability. One of the most striking facts about world reaction to Kennedy's election has been the evidence in editorial comment in foreign capitals that his promise to provide dynamic leadership for the United States and the Free World has been widely accepted. Now, the leaders and the peoples in scores of countries are waiting for him to show what he can do.

Rainfall Below Average In '60

There were no rainfall records set in Scurry County during 1960, but the moisture received came generally at opportune times to produce above average crops and provide a good start for 1961.

The official rainfall total for the year in Snyder was 17.16 inches, about three inches below "normal." However, there were several "wet spells" and in some areas of the county the rainfall totals were substanially higher than in Snyder.

July was the wettest month, with 6.28 inches of rain, while November was the driest, with only a trace of moisture recorded on several occasions.

Actually most of Scurry County's rain was received in mid-summer, with another round of good showers in October. The summer rains came in time to make crops, while the October wet spell ended in time for harvest operations to proceed with only a temporary interruption. The rainless November was a big aid to farmers who were moving one of the biggest cotton crops in history to the gins.

The 17.16 inches of rainfall represented the lowest total for a year here since 1956, the last year of the big drouth. However, the real dry spell of 1960 came during the first six months, and the last half left a fair subsoil supply of moisture in the county.

88 Iranians Are Drowned

CAIRO (AP)—Eighty-eight Iranians have drowned in the Persian Gulf recently, apparently while trying to enter Kuwait illegally to find work, the Middle East News Agency said today.

Quoting the Kuwaiti newspaper El Khalij El Arabi, the agency said 50 were hiding in a motor launch that caught fire and sank. The 38 others were reported in other boats swamped by storms.

Each day several bodies wash ashore along the gulf.

Kuwait is a shiekdom, wealthy with oil and under British protection, located at the head of the Persian Gulf on the Arabian peninsula's northeast coast.

Smuggling of immigrants and trade goods is a profitable enterprise for some Middle East boatmen.

Denver Patrolmen Are Held In Jail

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Nine Denver patrolmen were held in jail today as police brass stepped up an investigation of crime within the department.

Police Chief James Childers said more arrests will follow.

The arrests from Denver's 796-man police force have been in the wake of charges and investigations spawned by the apprehension of patrolman Arthur R. Winstanley, 25.

Prior to the probe of the department, a patrolman told superiors that he had seen a safe fall from Winstanley's car after the robbery of a downtown cafe. Department officials expressed belief the patrolman was suffering from delusions and he was given sick leave.

Winstanley later was convicted of burglary.

Officers arrested on Thursday were:

Carl L. Tollefson, 36, a three-year patrolman whom Childers said has admitted participating in the $500 burglary of a lower downtown pawnshop last April 9. His companion, Tollefson said, was another officer who was arrested earlier.

Keith L. Hutton, 38, and Bobbie G. Whaley, 34, accused by a fellow officer of a $5,500 safe burglary Dec. 20, 1959.

George J. Zellner, who was questioned, released, and later arrested when superiors said there were discrepancies in accounts he gave of his activities.

Hutton and Whaley both are officers in the Denver Police Union.

They were arrested on the basis of the burglary story related by patrolman Harold E. Bailey, 25, who said the three of them shared in the loot.

Bailey was arrested by officers who said they found a quantity of expensive clothing at his home. All labels had been removed from the clothing.

Hutton and Whaley were confronted by Bailey at the police building. Whaley denied the burglary accusation. Hutton remained silent.

Officers arrested earlier in the investigation are patrolmen Jack S. Snodgrass, K. Wayne Weston and Gerald C. Sanford.

Areas Open To Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)— Russian diplomats can visit new United States cities after an apparent tit-for-tat rejiggering of travel restrictions by the State Department.

But some cities they could visit before the change now are closed to them, and about one-fourth of the nation still is off-limits.

After announcing the new restrictions in a note to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, the United States suggested both nations abolish all travel restrictions for diplomats.

The move was the U. S. answer to a 1959 reshuffle by the Russians. Then, the Russians switched the off-limit signs about without apparent logic.

In both nations, the restricted areas make up a crazy quilt pattern.

For example, under the ruling Friday the Russians now can visit Disneyland and Brooklyn but they no longer can tour Cincinnati and Houston.

Also closed to the Russians were Callahan, Denton, Jones, Nolan, Runnels, Shackelford and Taylor counties in Texas.

Cancer Unit Session Set

The Scurry County Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold its first board meeting Monday at 4 p.m. in the community room of the Snyder National Bank.

Jim Shafer of Midland, field representative, will be on hand to assist in outlining the year's work.

Rev. Charles Spivey, president, urges all board members and active members to attend.

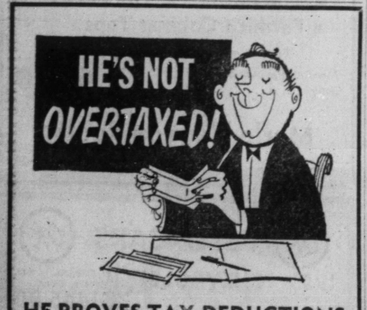

Lions Hold Zone Parley

HERMLEIGH — The Hermleigh Lions Club was host Thursday night to a meeting of Zone 12 representatives.

Zone 12 Chairman Jim Brannon of Hermleigh introduced the guests. Included were Wayland Holt, president, and Cecil Boren, secretary of the Snyder Noon Club; Bill McLaughlin, president, and Harold McKenzie, secretary, of the Snyder Evening Club; Ralph Ammons, president, and Don Randolph, secretary of the Roby Club; and Chester Cooper, president of the Rotan Club.

A meal was served to the 27 men present and a film, "Pathways to Happiness," was shown. The film pertained to the Lions Camp for crippled children at Kerrville.

It was announced that the District 2T2 conference will be held in Lamesa on Jan. 22, and that Rotan will be host to a meeting of Zone 12 on March 7.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS LEARN BY DOING

ECONOMY MEANS STUDY in the planning of future homes for Home Economics students. They must learn to plan meals, purchase groceries, and keep a financial record. Keeping the family spending down on books has helped most girls to understand why they can or cannot have items they ask of parents. Above, instructor Vera Periman oversees the study group composed of Charlotte Womack, Judy Richardson and Karan Robinson.

FOR THAT TAILORED LOOK the bound buttonhole is only one of the little extras a young lady must add to her accomplishments for fine sewing. Here, Mrs. Dan Martin, clothing instructor, demonstrates the steps in making a bound buttonhole to her third year class which includes Beverly Bratton, Ruth Goodlett, Dorothy Mayo, Sandra Williams, Gloria Scott, Ginny Sims, Sandra Stephens, Beverly Black, Dawnel Wells, Jolene Sheid, Terri Gebhart, and Kathi Howard.

STEP SAVING KITCHENS are designed by HE girls to coordinate what they have learned about food preparation with the race against the clock in everyday meal planning. Here, Terry Alexander, Judy Ann Richardson, and Dana Falls put together an efficient kitchen from model forms.

FINAL INSPECTION before home projects are turned in for grading is a big step for the clothing side of homemaking as each seam, stitch and buttonhole gets close scrutiny. Above, Elizabeth Williams inspects the hem of one garment while Ginny Sims and Lynda Williams go over the top.

Blonde Builder Is Hard Worker

BY LESLIE ATOR

CHICAGO (AP)—Helen V. Olson's soft voice and relaxed manner seem out of place in the workman's world in which she competes. The tall, platinum blonde's most recent big job was planning and supervising construction of 50 model rooms in the Modern Living Home and Flower Show that opened Chicago's 35 million dollar McCormick Place, a huge lake front exposition hall.

Clad in rolled up blue jeans, blouse, long stretch stocking, and flat shoes, Miss Olson strode confidently among 700 workmen and numerous exhibitors, with whom she planned the rooms and their furnishings. Armed with a ruler and grease pencil, she took stairs two at a time.

In the final week she extended her daily work pace to about 16 hours.

How did this 30-year-old mother of three (she used her maiden names in her work) get into contracting, considered a man's business?

"My father was the main influence," Miss Olson says. "He was a contractor who wanted to be an architect. When I was a child, he used to give me blocks and things he had made for toys."

Her father encouraged her to work her way through the University of Illinois, from which she was graduated as an architectural engineer.

On her first job, she designed the interiors and supervised the construction of some Chicago retail stores.

"But designing wasn't enough," she explains. "I always wanted to get out to the site with a hammer and help build the structure."

She began a business that specializes in interiors of restaurants, offices and homes. She and her husband, also a contractor, manage the firm and design furniture. In their spare time they work on plans for their own home.

Women are temperamentally suited to contracting, Miss Olson believes, because they are handy at such detail work as drafting, making specifications, and supervising construction down to the last doorknob.

She enjoys working with men, whom she thinks are more congenial on the job than women.

"And I like the free, outdoor atmosphere of this business," she continues. "Office work is stuffy."

Because women contractors often find that large firms object to hiring them, they usually have most success in interior designing or home building, she says.

Although she is handy mechanically, Miss Olson refuses to repair leaky pipes or broken furniture at home.

"That's out of a woman's realm."

MR. AND MRS. FRANK C. BRYANT

Miss Woods Weds Frank C. Bryant

Miss Sherry Lee Woods of Elwood, Indiana, and Frank C. Bryant of Snyder were married November 27 in the Grace Methodist Church in Elwood. The double wedding ceremony also united Miss Sharon Rae Woods, the bride's twin sister, and Dale Fowler of Phoenix, Ariz.

Rev. Ben Antle, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony before a setting of beauty vases of white and yellow mums and pompoms with lighted seven branched candelabra backed by palms.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Forest R. Woods of Elwood and Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bryant of Route 3, Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with lace panels at the front and back, the back panel falling to a chapel train. The fitted bodice had a Sabrina neckline overlaid with Chantilly lace and accented by tiny seed pearls and sequins. Large bows at the back formed a bustle effect. Formal length sleeves ended in petal points. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a capulet of satin encrusted with pearls. She wore a tear drop pendant and white gold chain, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a cascade of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Donna Hester was maid of honor wearing a street length dress of blended shades of green satin and taffeta styled with a scooped neckline and cap sleeves. She wore wrist length gloves and matching shoes and petal hat with a tiny veil. She carried a nosegay of baby mums.

Miss Loris Foley was bridesmaid, attired as was the maid of honor.

Flower girl Lorrie Welcher wore a white ankle length gown with bouffant skirt and wide cummerbund and wore white ballet slippers. On her hair she wore a garland of yellow mums and carried a matching nosegay.

Ferrell Bryant served his brother as best man with Richard Fox as usher.

Traditional music was furnished by Mrs. Chester Reynolds with Mrs. Robert Carter singing "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A recention followed in the church dining hall. The table was laid with a white damask cloth and was centered by a 4-tiered wedding cake trimmed with yellow roses and topped by two miniature bridal couples. Two memory candles and two crystal punch bowls surrounded by greenery completed the setting.

The bride graduated from Willkie High School. The bridegroom graduated from Ira High School.

The couple resides at 1902 Coleman in Snyder.

French Teenager's Life Is Sheltered

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Are French teen-agers more sophisticated than American young people?

"They are worlds apart," says Parisienne actress Annie Farge who is star of a television series, "Angel," about a French girl who marries an American boy.

"At 14 a French girl is just a little girl, but many American girls at that age are wearing makeup and dating boys."

French girls do not date boys until they are about 17. Then the dates are limited to Sunday afternoon house parties, when records are played and they drink coffee. Large parties are for special occasions such as birthdays and Christmas, she explains.

"We were kept too busy to get into mischief when I was a teenager," recalls Annie, now 24. "School hours are long, from 9 to 6 with a two-hour lunch break. There is no school Thursday afternoon, but there is school Saturday morning. Homework is an enormous project, and there is no time for anything else in the evening."

How can you get into trouble with a schedule like that, asks Annie. "If time is organized before and after school there is no time to panic or plot. I think schools should take up more of the time slack of young people, because the behavior of any teenage group seems to be influenced by school routine."

She thinks it would cut down on steady dating, and early marriages in the best interest of young people.

"French girls are not fascinated by American boys, she says.

"American boys are too kind," Annie explains. "If they were a little tough or the tough French boys were a little kinder, you would have an ideal man."

French girls are mad for American clothes, however. "They adore little boy shirts, sweaters, skinny pants, Bermuda shorts, knee socks, and American hairdos. It seems strange that this is so in Paris, considered the fashion center of the world," Annie says.

The little brown-eyed pixyish actress married choreographer dancer, Dirk Sanders, a few years ago, and they have a 7 months old girl, Leslie.

It was not a fast romance, she explains. "I had known him since I was a drama student."

Annie is an exception to the rule that French girls stay sheltered until they become engaged. She was playing in the Comedie Francaise at 17.

Mrs. McCaleb Presents Program

Mrs. Charles McCaleb presented an interesting program on "The Age of Exploration" at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Acacia Study Club.

In her talk Mrs. McCaleb said, "The earliest travelers and explorers were primitive men spreading out across the earth they were to inherit. Man has always been inquisitive. Sometimes he has crept and sometimes he has marched boldly to the limit of his know environment. Some have been courageous enough to risk going beyond. Others have been driven by hostile tribes into unexplored and even uninhabited country, and so, age by age, man has advanced and populated the earth.

"The real story of exploration begins with those early travelers who went in search of trade, who felt compelled to disseminate religious ideas, and who wanted to claim new lands for the glory of their country. Yet many explorers have set out without such apparent motives. Sometimes they went out of simple curiosity, which is the basis of scientific exploration today. Certainly, some of the early travelers were men of curiosity who were seeking knowledge for its own sake. It is this striving to know, this inquisitiveness that lies deep in man's nature that has been a main spring of discovery and exploration."

The Federation Topic was given by Mrs. Jay Huckabee who spoke on "The World in Our Gardens," and told of the origin of many of the flowers and shrubs grown in this area.

Mrs. Mark McLaughlin, club president, conducted the business session.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Howard Milburn.

HUNTER'S WIFE

The pressure cooker is your best friend during hunting season. If the birds have roamed too long to make a tender roast, use the pressure saucepan over the top burner with the heat control on your range. The flame can be set to hold the exact pressure you desire. The cooking time is reduced considerably too, when you cook under pressure.

MR. AND MRS. CLYDE WAYNE FEASTER

Bills-Feaster Vows Exchanged

Miss Welda Kay Bills became the bride of Clyde Wayne Feaster in double ring vows exchanged at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 30 at the Union Baptist Church.

The Rev. R. N. Tucker, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bills, Route 2, Snyder. Mr. Feaster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Feaster of Buford.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of slipper satin covered with Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil was of tulle, and for something new she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a penny for good luck from her grandmother, Mrs. T. C. Bills, and carried a white Bible, a gift of her brother, Darrel Bills, covered with red roses.

Janet Free was maid of honor. She was attired in a red slipper satin dress and carried a long-stem white rose.

Gaylan Bane, neice of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a red taffeta dress covered with red net. Eddie Curt Bane and Jay Ken Roemisch, nephews of the bride, were ring bearers.

Gene Glassingame, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Candle lighters and ushers were Darrel Bills, brother of the bride, and Billy Blassingame, cousin of the groom.

The marriage vows were exchanged before an arch covered with greenery, with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra on either side. Pews were marked with red bows.

Mrs. Jackie James, pianist, accompanied Mrs. W. D. Myers of Snyder who sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Wedding Prayer."

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Decorations include red roses on the registry table, with white candles on either side. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a minature bride and groom.

Brenda Feaster and Darlene Woolever presided at the bride's book.

Following a short wedding trip the couple planned to live in Snyder. For the wedding trip the bride selected a white suit with brown accessories.

The bride attended Snyder High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Colorado City High School. He is employed by the Co-op gin at Buford.

Guests for the wedding were from Cisco, Big Spring, Colorado City and Silver.

Rebekahs Install New Officers

The Snyder Rebekah Lodge No. 294 installed a new corp of officers Tuesday night for the next term.

The installation was held at the Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodge Hall at Avenue Z and Twenty-seventh Street.

The installing staff was composed of Pearl Waller, Dorothy White, Audrey Snodgrass, Audrae Proctor and Glenna Bane.

Those installed were Muriel Vincent, Noble Grand; Lareta Ownbey, Vice Grand; Rhodalee Hatten, secretary; Viola Breland, treasurer; Yvonne Hanks, warden; Pat Whittenburg, conductor; Joan Waters, color bearer; Maxine Lewis, inside guardian; Veral Hall, outside guardian; Artie Pinnell, musician; Dixie Bergeron, chaplain; Maggie Blalock, left support to Noble Grand; Dell Dugger, left support to Vice Grand.

Dorothy White was recommended by the Lodge for district deputy President to the Grand Assembly of Texas. Marie Hanks was elected Lodge Deputy.

Audrey Snodgrass is the Lodge Mother. She became a member of the order in Spur in 1909, withdrew to Rotan as a charter member of Rotan Rebekah Lodge and then transferred to the Snyder Lodge in August of 1959. She is an active member.

The Snyder Lodge will celebrate its second anniversary on Feb. 4. The membership roll totals 67. There are eight past Noble Grands, including Audrey Snodgrass of Rotan, Rhodalee Hatten of Haskell, Nina Eaves of Electra, Marie Hanks of Earlsboro, Okla., Pearl Waller of Homing, Okla., Dorothy White of Snyder, Audrae Proctor of Snyder and Glenna Bane of Snyder.

A salad suppe was served to the 28 members after the meeting.

Tall, Slim Chest Due Popularity

One of the newest, most useful form of a chest is the tall narrow one with seven drawers. It is only about 20 inches wide. In this 1961 Furniture Market these tall slim chests, often called "slim-Jims" have gone beyond the trend or fad stage.

Too many house keepers and decorators found the tall narrow chest to be so fine an answer to storage and decorating problems, for it to remain long in just a few style categories. By spring, stores will be showing "slim-Jims" in modern, Early American, French Provincial, Italian and several other period designs. Prices will vary, of course, depending upon the quality one wishes, as is true of other furniture.

It is said the tall norrow chest originated in France. It was especially popular during the time of Napoleon and there is some speculation it was originally a stack of cases holding clothing. At any rate it became known as a "semainier," a cabinet having a drawer for each day of the week.

The decorative effect and storage space offered in the tall narrow chest is not lost on today's homemaker. For instance, in a bedroom with high windows, the high narrow chest looks right. Placed on either side of a bed a pair would create a pleasant unit. In that small vestibule with which so many apartments are blessed, the "semainier" creates a dignified welcome and could file away gloves, scarfs, mittens, note books and car keys for at least seven members of a family.

Seven, not too deep drawers could provide order out of chaos among the table mats and napkins. Some ingenious designers have viewed the series of drawers as a good answer to storage of men's "small clothes" as the English say. With a cupboard added at the top or botton of the tier of drawers even hats or shoes can be stored.

REDUCING NOISES

According to building consultants homemakers are asking for more soundproof homes. One way to reduce noise and vibration is to buy quieter appliances. The refrigerator, for instance, can be silent as a candle. A tiny fan, located inside the insulated box for defrosting, is the only part that moves. If you listen very carefully you may hear it whisper as it carries on a man-sized job.

You can oven-fry cut-up chicken serving-size portions of fish fillets, scallops and French toast. Dip the poultry or fish in bread crumbs and then sprinkle with melted butter before putting in the oven. The French toast should be prepared as usual, then arranged on a well-buttered baking sheet.

SPRING TRENDS UNDER WRAPS—Diversified shapes in coats, suits and costumes are style highlights in New York Couture Group's spring collections to be shown during January. Suiting You For Spring Is Goal

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The big fashion question for spring is, "Is your wardrobe suit-able?"

Can you put two and one together and come up with an easy fitting skirt, blouse and jacket combination? Does adding one and one result in a dress topped with a light coat lined in a fabric that matches?

The nation's fashion trend setters have created the biggest coat, suit and costume dress year in American haute couture history.

It will be a coat and suit spring, designers say, because the way busy women work, play and travel demands it. In a matter of hours you travel at jet speed from one climate to another. And it is all in a day's work or play for you to move through a variety of social situations without an occasion to change clothes. Costumes let you be flexible.

This spring's coats and jacket silhouettes are diversified. In straight-line suits belted and box jackets end anywhere from a few inches from the skirt hem to the waist. Or they are moderately or very full. Whatever the silhouette, ease is the characteristic that all toppers share.

Coats, suits and jackets, too, rely on textiles and their patterns for the costume's personality.

Jumbo checks, hand-loomed plaids, and monotone woolens, polished fleeces and ribbed worsteds emblazed with color brighten up the spring picture. Even suits with classic lines make a new appearance in meshy, spongy, lacy or shaggy textiles.

Giddy, gaudy prints combining the most unlikely hues appear as blouses, reappear in flashes as jacket lining, and-or top them all as turbans and wide-brimmed cloches.

The separate spring costumes do not mix well outside the immediate family. They are too happily matched to each other.

Fortunately, variety in style is so great that there is something for every figure and taste. If it suits you, it's suit-able.

A large kettle with a perforated insert is convenient for boiling spaghetti or macaroni. The pasta may be lifted out and drained in the insert.

8 Texas Sites Endorsed For Historic Landmark Registry

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Interior department has endorsed eight Texas sites as among those which should be included in the newly established National Historic Landmark registry.

Foremost among the Texas sites, as expected, is the Alamo.

Automatically on the registry as it was established were sites within the national park system. Administrators of 70 other historic sites, in a list made public by Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, may apply to the National Park Service for the formal recognition—a procedure which the department hopes will encourage both public and private owners to preserve and maintain the historic features of the property they possess.

Less known than the state-owned Alamo are these other sites in Texas which Seaton said are worthy of formal recognition and preservation:

JA Ranch (privately owned) in the Palo Duro Canyon, "was perhaps the most famous of several associated with Charles Goodnight, trail blazer, frontiersman, and great pioneer cattleman of the Southwest. With John A. Adair, he built the JA Ranch spread to 700,000 acres in the 1870's and ran 40,000 cattle."

Ft. Belknap (owned by Young County), established in 1851 to protect frontier against Comanche-Kiowa raids.

Ft. Davis (privately owned), established in 1854 in Davis Mountains north of the Big Bend. This fort guarded the junction of the trails from San Antonio to El Paso and Santa Fe; in 1878-1880 it played an important part in the costly campaign against Victorio and his War Spring Apaches.

San Jacinto Battlefield (State owned), where Gen. Sam Houston defeated Mexican Gen. Santa Anna.

Ft. Brown (belongs to City of Brownsville and private ownership), began with construction of earthworks by Gen. Zachary Taylor's army in 1846 on the north side of the Rio Grande opposite Matamoros; Maj. Jacob Brown, commander, mortally wounded in successful defense of earthworks—which were later rebuilt and named for him.

Palo Alto Battlefield (private ownership), a few miles north of Brownsville, where Gen. Zachary Taylor on May 8, 1846 engaged the Mexican army in what was the first sizeable battle of the Mexican War. The Mexican army retreated.

Resaca de la Palma Battlefield, where General Taylor, in pursuit of the fleeing Mexican army the day following Palo Alto, defeated his foe and ended military action north of the Rio Grande.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

Among the top officials at National Park Service headquarters here is H. V. Reeves Jr., whose parents reside in El Campo. His father is a physician.

A graduate of the University of Texas, Reeves is in charge of publication of natural history handbooks for the national parks. He says one hasn't been published yet for Big Bend, but hopes for it.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee in a report on nursing homes for the aged says there is a great shortage of facilities in Texas as elsewhere over the nation.

As of July 1, the committee reported, there were about 500 nursing homes in Texas accomodating 10,497 elderly persons. It classified 8,134 of these accomodations as acceptable according to moderate standards of safety and health and said the remainder were non-acceptable. It says there is a present need for 19,907 additional acceptable accomodations for Texans of advanced age.

While there were no specific figures by states, the committee said that these facts regarding the nation as a whole would apply to most any part of the country:

The average age of a resident in a nursing home is 80 years, with two-thirds of the lot being over 75 and women predominating. They usually remain in the home until death, with 68 per cent being there only a year and 15 per cent for five years or more.

Most all have at least occasional physical disabilities and about half are limited to bed beyond the ordinary sleep and rest periods.

The chances are now about 172 in 1,000 that every person attaining 85 years of age or older will be entered in a nursing home.

About 90 per cent of all nursing homes are privately owned and operated, about 5 per cent by churches and lodges and other such groups, and the remainder by city, county or state governments. The average cost per day is about $6 per person.

350 Coeds Forced To Flee During Blaze

AUSTIN (AP)—Fire that broke out in the room of two freshman girls forced about 350 girls in Blanton women's dormitory to flee to the first floor Thursday night.

The dormitory is located on the campus of the University of Texas.

There were no injuries and no immediate estimate of the damage but smoke and water damage to the building was believed light.

Gursel Leads Recovery Of Turkey

ISTANBUL (AP) — A barrel-chested, 66-year-old veteran of Gallipoli today guides Turkey's recovery from the shock of political violence and revolution.

He is pro-Western General Cemal (pronounced gee-mal) Gursel, a life-long soldier whose skillful blend of un-military politicking and rigid control has made him undisputed master of this front-line NATO ally.

Nobody knows better than he that the next 12 months will be crucial for his new revolutionary order and for Turkey, America's only Atlantic Pact partner facing the Soviet Union across a common frontier.

Ecomonic and political order must be restored by the end of that time or the country will be living a day-to-day existence on the brink of disaster.

Gursel and the 22 officers who make up Turkey's ruling military junta seem sincerely determined to prevent this.

The best estimate currently available from Allied diplomats and qualified observers is that they will be successful, despite the uncertain trail they must blaze.

Since the early hours of the sudden coup last May 27 which ousted ex-Premier Adnan Menderes, Gursel has spoken softly, moderately and reasonably.

Repeatedly, he has promised free elections and set Oct. 29, 1961, as the frontier for his military government.

Married and the father of a grown son, Gursel lived for months in the prime minister's office, sleeping on a narrow army cot.

He later moved to the Foreign Ministry guest house. Both there and at the stately presidential palace overlooking Ankara which he uses for official functions, Gursel has been accessible to an unending string of callers.

The gruelling schedule took its toll in the first week of December when Gursel was stricken with a circulatory ailment. Doctors recommended a period of rest for at least two weeks, but said Gursel was otherwise normal.

The farmers, businessmen, newsmen and others who have met and talked with Gursel come away carrying the impression of a quiet, father-like general out to do good.

But there have been doubts, created by his gentleness and apparent lack of severity.

Was he a front man for behind-the-scenes string pullers?

The question was answered emphatically in the pre-dawn hours of an unseasonably warm November Sunday morning.

In a lightning purge, the man Turks had come to call "Aga" (uncle) suddenly fired 14 extremist officers with known support in the ranks of the army from the junta.

In one swoop, radicals who believed military dictatorship the best answer to Turkey's troubles were removed.

Baptist Churches Gain In Membership

DALLAS (AP)—Membership in Baptist churches throughout the state increased by more than 40,880 persons during 1960, a report indicated today.

A total of 1,620,019 persons are members of 3,887 churches belonging to the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the report showed.

1961 Starts With Plenty Moisture

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farmers and ranchmen are starting 1961 with adequate moisture. They also welcomed the sunshine which came in with the new year, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In many sections, fields are too wet for working or grazing.

Heavy feeding continued as stockmen sought to maintain the good condition cattle carried into the winter. The over-all outlook is good, Hutchison said, especially if a period of open and warmer weather could be had.

The cold, wet weather in all sections in late December delayed the completion of harvests but allowed gins in the High Plains to clean up and get ready for the final push.

Moisture was generally adequate in the Panhandle with only one or two upper counties needing rain. The general condition of cattle is good, and with the return of good weather, wheat fields can be used better for grazing.

About 97 per cent of the cotton is out south of Lubbock but about 8 per cent of the crop to the north is yet to be harvested. A week of open weather would see the harvest completed in both areas. Moisture is adequate and livestock are in good condition. Wheat is excellent and some plowing is underway.

Moisture is adequate in all counties in the Rolling Plains (Vernon). Feeding is continuing. Only a small acreage of cotton remained to be harvested.

Sunshine and warmer weather was welcomed in North Central Texas where heavy feeding had been required during several days of wet and cold. Grain fields have been too wet for grazing. All field work delayed.

An inch of rain in Northeast Texas, coupled with cold, has slowed oats and legumes and stopped grazing but clearing weather has improved prospects. Cattle were losing weight and some feeding was being done. Most farm work was at a standstill.

Moisture is adequate in all sections of far West Texas but the cold has slowed grain, grass and weed growth. Livestock are in good condition but some feeding has started. All harvests, except for limited cotton scrapping, have been completed.

Oats are making progress in Central Texas but have been slowed by the cold. They are furnishing grazing where fields are dry. Moisture is adequate; pastures and ranges are greening up with winter weeds and grasses but are furnishing short grazing. The condition of livestock is good, with feeding.

Fields are too wet for grazing; milk production is below normal and cattle are being fed but many are losing weight in East Texas.

Moisture is on the surplus side in South Central Texas where farmers drop further behind in the field work and ranges in the coastal areas of the district are boggy. Some shrinkage has been reported in livestock due to the wet and cold, but the over-all outlook is good if the area can get extended dry weather.

Sunshine pleases coastal farmers and ranchmen. The upper coastal area has been waterlogged for weeks. Though fields are still too wet for working, some oat pastures have dried enough to permit limited grazing. Feeding was increasing and the condition of cattle is fair. Mustard greens are moving to market and producers are preparing hotbeds and getting cold frames ready for tomato planting. Native pastures deteriorated.

A HANDSHAKE AND A BOW—House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex, bows as he accepts the congratulations of Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the Republican leader, upon his re-election as speaker at the opening of Congress. Ship Hits Coral Reef

HONOLULU (AP)—Fair wind and fair maidens were blamed partly for bringing the 30,000-ton British liner Arcadia to grief on a reef just outside Honolulu's harbor entrance Thursday.

It appeared that as the ship maneuvered to pick up an off-shore boarding party she drifted in the steady trade wind and crunched gently on a coral reef. The boarding party included one of Honolulu's welcoming taskforces of Hula girls, but it also had customs inspectors and shipping agents.

No one was hurt. The only damage found was an indentation about a foot long and half an inch deep, embedded with bits of coral, about 25 feet below the water line forward of the bridge.

But it took several hugs more than two hours—while all other shipping was halted through the 400-foot wide harbor entrance, to work the Arcadia free.

Civil Defense Mostly Do-It-Yourself Deal

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 180 million Americans living in this uneasy age of thermonuclear missiles there is almost no place to hide.

Yet there appears to be a growing conviction, especially in Congress and the State Department, that this matter of hiding places is almost as much a part of overall strategy as weapons.

This conviction is based on the premise that the nation best prepared to survive a nuclear attack can bend others to its will.

But United States civil defense still is largely a local, do-it-yourself matter.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, the Department of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission have reported to Congress that the dumping of missiles containing the nuclear explosive equivalent of 1,446 million tons of TNT on this country in its present state would result in 50 million dead and 22 million injured.

By Department of Defense standards this would be a light attack — 146 missiles, each with an estimated 10-megaton warhead. A megaton has the explosive equivalent of one million tons of TNT.

Even 20-megaton bombs are a reality and there have been reports in Congress of the possibility of warheads equal to 100 megatons.

An attack by 16 missiles of 10-megatons each would cover most of the United States with fallout.

Thus the problem of survival boils down to construction of shelters against fallout.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the House Military Operations subcommittee, has said that on the basis of available evidence, such shelters might reduce the number of casualties from a 146-missile attack from 50 million dead to 5 million.

Adequate communal shelters, Holifield said, can be built for slightly more than $100 a person. But the Holifield subcommittee report said: "The American people simply do not have the physical means of survival in case of nuclear attack."

There is a large body of testimony before Congress which says that by spending $20 billion — half the annual defense budget — the United States could reduce casualties from a nuclear attack by 80 per cent or more.

This money would be spent over a four-year period for communal shelters, each stocked with food, water and medical supplies.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York urged a mandatory $1½-billion shelter program in that state — including provision for $200 do-it-yourself-basement shelters for homeowners — but the plan did not have sufficient legislative support.

In its place Rockefeller has embarked on a voluntary plan, building shelters in new state buildings and conducting an education program among homeowners.

The need for such shelters has been recognized since the first atomic bomb was exploded over Japan in 1945.

Through it all, however, Congress and the executive branch have steadily insisted that civil defense is a state and local matter.

The result? Not one communal shelter has been built for the protection of the general public.

OCDM has accumulated a $212-million stockpile of medical supplies — about half of what would be required to care for five million injured for 21 days.

OCDM insists there is plenty of food around in homes and grocery stores, not to mention a two-year supply of wheat and a six-month supply of corn.

Neither the food nor the medical supplies however, are distributed so as to be readily accessible to a nation which would have suffered immense damage to its transportation systems.

Oil Industry Interested In New Bills

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP)—The opening of Congress brought bills favored or opposed by the oil industry.

A new natural gas bill—which would write into law provisions long sought by the industry—was offered promptly by chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee. The bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from utility-type regulation by the federal government, is identical with a bill Harris submitted unsuccessfully in the last Congress.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, introduced a bill that will draw the industry's determined opposition. This measure would knock down to 15 per cent the industry's 27½ per cent tax depletion allowance.

Similar proposals over the last few years have gotten nowhere. Gross contends the present depletion allowance amounts to a tax loophole.

Another natural gas bill also was introduced—this one by Rep. John Williams, D-Miss.—and, at least one more is coming. Williams' bill is identical with previous proposals by him to exempt completely from federal regulation independent gas producers not engaged in the interstate transmission of gas.

The Harris Bill, while exempting producers from utility-type controls, would provide for establishment of procedures for regulation of the producers' prices.

Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., has said he also will introduce a natural gas bill.

There was no word whether Harris, as Commerce Committee chairman, would call hearings this year on the gas bills.

PEANUT BRITTLE

Make your own peanut brittle and you can have it as thin, delicate and brittle as you please. Heat 3 cups of sugar in a heavy frypan over a high flame. When it begins to melt lower the flame and stir until the sugar is completely melted. Add 2 cups of whole salted peanuts and 2 tablespoons butter. Pour onto a greased cookie sheet spreading it quickly to thin out. When cool, break into pieces.

HAVE RANGE

A pair of portable, folding burners made a trip to London recently. They were used in the American kitchen at the British Food Fair. The automatic top burner heat control on the portable burners was the hit of the show. Other international cooks, participating in the show were impressed with its accuracy and performance.

Groundwork Laid To Move Surplus

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Kennedy administration decides to make a big push in moving America's farm surpluses abroad, it will find that the outgoing Eisenhower administration has laid groundwork for such an effort.

American agricultural commodities are moving into export markets in volumes undreamed of a decade ago. And they are going to areas which not so many years ago obtained little from this country.

Retiring Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been criticized by political foes and some farm leaders for his policies relating to farm price supports and government crop controls. But there is fairly general feeling that Benson's department did a remarkable job in getting extra farm commodities into foreign markets and especially into backward and hungry areas where they were sorely needed.

Exports in recent years have been establishing new records only to be broken in the succeeding year. This year the United States supplies 17 per cent of the world trade in farm products. It sold the output from one-sixth of the crop acreage harvested.

Much of the success in the export field is attributed by Benson's aides and others to two things: (1) his foreign trade travels as a farm salesman, and (2) an agricultural surplus disposal program enacted in 1954.

This secretary visited 42 countries—traveling 106,000 miles—on eight trade development and goodwill trips during his eight-year tenure. These trips were made at the request of President Eisenhower. In all he spent 42 days singing the praises of American agriculture as well as the American way of life.

Since 1954, when the big export development efforts were started, the United States has moved nearly $21 billion of farm commodities abroad. Of this amount well over $7 billion worth was sold under the surplus disposal program and $14 billion into markets which paid in dollars.

Under the surplus disposal program, the United States accepts foreign currencies from countries short of dollars and needing aid in economic development. Much of this latter currency has been loaned to the recipient countries to help speed economic development and to bring closer ties to this country.

Food needs abroad are still substantial. There are many as yet untapped outlets. But new programs, new devices and measures will be needed to take advantage of them.

TIPRO Meet Is Scheduled

AUSTIN (AP)—Independent oil and gas producers will meet in Wichita Falls Jan. 12-13 to talk over their problems.

John Hurd, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, said attention would center on various proposals for modifying TIPRO's policy on compulsory unitization, forced pooling and wider well spacing.

The executive committee will also consider imports, natural gas decontrol, state tax, ratable purchasing, membership and public relations.

"TIPRO historically has opposed compulsory unitization on the ground that involuntary arrangements could stifle the small independent," Hurd said.

"There is the responsibility to protect basic property rights and bargaining privileges of independents. At the same time, as the pinch of the oil recession in Texas continues, we also have responsibility to investigate methods of cost-cutting, so we are going to review the entire question of unitization thoroughly."

Texan Picked For Navy Post Is Well Qualified To Serve

FORT WORTH (AP)—A slim six-footer with a reputation as a man who gets things done will become the second Texan to hold the office of Secretary of the Navy within seven years.

He is John B. Connally, lawyer, oilman, cattleman and executive of a dozen or more corporations.

Connally knows plenty about the Navy and is in love with it.

President-elect John Kennedy designated Connally as his Navy secretary last week.

Should the Navy ever need help in politics, Connally is in a position to ask aid from one of the best sources available.

In addition to receiving Kennedy's support, Connally long has been probably the main adviser to Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice-president elect.

One of the men who recommended him for the post is powerful Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House.

But Connally, his associates agree, probably can take care of himself in any maneuvering among the military services and on the complex Washington scene.

He is a personable individual, a man who can think and talk quickly and persuasively.

He trained for politics through years of association with Johnson.

He understands finance on the multi-million-dollar level through association with the late Sid Richardson of Fort Worth, one of the world's wealthiest men, and through co-administration of Richardson's estate.

He learned the intricacies of the military services while serving under the then Undersecretary of the Navy James Forrestal, and while attached to Allied headquarters in Algiers under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And the uniformed Navy can give Connally that highest of praise, from the sailors on the ships—"He's a combat man."

For Connally served 18 months aboard carriers in strikes at a host of islands across the Pacific and up against the Japanese mainland. He was in the attacking forces on such battlegrounds as the Marianas, Philippines, Okinawa and Iwo Jima.

Another Texan, with much the same background as Connally, was Navy secretary from 1953-1956. He was Robert Anderson of Vernon, who had extensive dealings with oil, cattle and finance as manager of the vast Waggoner Estate. Anderson, however, did not have the experience in politics.

"I have a deep admiration for the Navy as a service and for the Personnel of the Navy," Connally said after his designation as secretary.

"By and large, Navy men are well trained and extremely competent in their jobs," he added.

Connally has been described as having the appearance of a "wealthy big city attorney," which he is.

The dark-haired Connally still is trim at 43 years, and gives the appearance of physical strength, and charm, and sophistication in political and financial matters.

Actually he is a product of a small town, Floresville, Tex., population now 2,126. He was educated there and at San Antonio, 25 miles away.

Then Connally went to the University of Texas and became a major figure on the campus. He knew how to get people behind him. And after a series of election to lesser offices, he became president of the huge student body in 1938.

A year later he left campus politics behind to spread his horizon to the national scene.

He began in a small way as secretary to Johnson, then a representative. While still a student he was active in Johnson's campaign.

Connally remained with Johnson until he entered the Navy in December, 1941, remembered as the month of Pearl Harbor, except for a brief period of law practice in Austin.

After the war he organized Radio Station KVET in Austin and was its president and general manager. Later he became a Johnson aide, and still later returned to Austin to practice law.

By 1952, he was an influential person, recognized as an attorney of great ability.

Richardson picked him as an attorney, as did Perry R. Bass, Fort Worth oilman.

But he still remained one of Johnson's closest advisers.

Said one source, "Connally is the only man I've ever known that Lyndon would let speak for him."

Connally gained the national spotlight personally in 1956, when he went before the national Democratic convention to nominate Johnson for president. Adlai Stevenson won the nomination.

Again in 1960, Connally was campaign manager for Johnson during the drive to obtain the presidential nomination, which went to Kennedy.

Connally told newsmen that taking the $22,000 Navy job will be a financial sacrifice for him.

"But I don't consider it a sacrifice—I consider it a privilege," he declared.

Elated over his designation is Mrs. Connally.

Their wedding was that of the big figure on the campus and the campus queen. Johnson introduced them. They celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary last Dec. 21.

When elected sweetheart of the University of Texas, she was Idanell Brill of Austin. The name is almost forgotten, for her friends call her Nellie. She retains the dimpled charm that made her campus beauty.

They have three children, John Jr., 14; Sharon, 11; and Mark 8.

One of Mrs. Connally's reasons for being elated probably is shared by every wife or an ex-Navy man who has heard her husband spin long tales about his ship.

Connally's ship was the Essex. She said that when he becomes Navy secretary perhaps he will take her aboard.

"I've yearned to see it so many times," she said.

They live in the Westover Hills section of Fort Worth, an area of impressive homes. But she has no domestic help.

She could have used some since the designation of her husband. The telephone has been ringing constantly with congratulations.

Among congratulations the Connallys received were ones from Elvis Presley and Eddy Arnold.

A fellow Texan sent an appropriate one.

Harry Provence, editor-in-chief of the Waco Times-Herald and News-Tribune, messaged:

"Twenty-one guns. Splice the main brace. Full steam ahead."

Two Colleges Ask Support

AUSTIN (AP) — Proposals for full support for San Angelo College and Pan American College at Edinburg will be heard Monday by the Texas Commission on Higher Education.

The commission also will consider making the San Angelo school a full four-year senior college. Del Mar College, Corpus Christi, also will be up for senior college status.

A proposed uniform standard for use by all state supported schools, for determining residency status of students will be considered at the regularly quarterly meeting.

Requests for legislative appropriations will be made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Cotton Research Committee of Texas, Texas Agricultural Extention Service and Texas College of Arts and Industries for a citrus and vegetable training center.

Recently, the commission endorsed adding the University of Houston to the list of fully state supported colleges beginning in September, 1963.
