13 PERSONS

Mafia-Labor Indictments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen persons, some described as members of the Mafia, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy and racketeering in connection with a loan from a Teamsters Union pension fund, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced today.

Mitchell said the indictments were returned Monday by a federal grand jury in New York City, culminating a long investigation by federal agents in three states.

At mid-morning, the FBI said nine persons had been taken into custody, three others had been ordered to surrender and one was being sought as a fugitive.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the indictments and arrests dealt a severe blow to the Cosa Nostra in New York City, western Pennsylvania and the Detroit area.

Those named in the indictment were charged with conspiring to obtain an increase in a loan for the Mid-City Development Corp., a Detroit real estate firm, from the Central States, Southeast and Southwest area's pension fund of the Teamsters Union in Chicago.

Food Prices Kick Living Costs Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's living costs jumped another six-tenths of one per cent in June with soaring food prices providing the biggest upward kick, the government reported today.

Housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation costs combined with the big food increases to push the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index to 127.6.

This means it cost Americans $12.76 in June for every $10 worth of goods and services in the 1957-59 period, on which the index is based.

Grocery prices leaped 1.7 per cent in June, and food prices so far this year were climbing at a seven per cent annual rate—double last year's increase.

The biggest food price increases were on meats, poultry and fish, up 4.5 per cent in June.

This year's living cost increase is the highest in 18 years.

In today's report, the Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that weekly earnings of some 45 million rank and file workers averaged $115.06 last month, a gain of $1.58 from May, and purchasing power was up 46 cents a week despite the sharp climb in prices.

However, Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase said purchasing power was down five-tenths of one per cent from a year ago because of increased taxes and rising living costs.

Chase was hesitant to forecast any slowing down in this year's sharpest rise in living costs since the Korean War year of 1951.

"It is pretty difficult drawing conclusions on what the trend in prices is going to do in the future," he said.

"There is some hope, I think, in the slowdown in the rate of rise in apparel prices, and possibly in medical care services," Chase said.

Clothing prices were up three-tenths of one per cent in June and medical care costs were up five-tenths. Chase said the rise in medical costs represented some slowing down to about the same rate of increase as other services.

Astronauts Streaking Faster Toward Earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Yearning for the good earth, Apollo 11's moon explorers slept long and deep today as they neared the halfway point of their homeward journey, heading for a Thursday splashdown in the Pacific.

The spacemen were to have awakened at 11:30 a.m. EDT. But they were slumbering so well mission control decided to let them sleep as long as they wanted to rest up for the critical re-entry through the atmosphere.

SLEEPY HEADS

They still were asleep at noon, their spaceship speeding along at 3,645 miles an hour, 132,790 miles from earth.

They were to cross the halfway point, 118,321 miles from both earth and moon, in late afternoon.

"No matter where you travel, it's nice to get home," Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. said as the astronauts beamed a television picture of earth from more than 180,000 miles away Tuesday night.

"It's getting appreciably larger now," said Michael Collins. "It's looking more like a world."

And, looking ahead to splashdown, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong asked about the weather in the recovery area.

REAL GOOD

"It looks real good out there," mission control told him. "The forecast is for scattered clouds at 3,000 feet and a visibility of 10 miles. So it looks real good for recovery."

Apollo 11 is to land at 11:49 p.m. (Big Spring time) about 1,200 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The astronauts set their course Tuesday by firing a short engine burst to steer onto a precise path intended to land them near the aircraft carrier Hornet. They ended their historic exploration of the moon early Tuesday by shooting themselves out of lunar orbit and gradually gained speed as they raced deeper into the grip of earth's gravity.

The TV show was the highlight of an otherwise quiet day. It started like a comedy show. When a picture of the moon flashed on the monitor in mission control, the capsule communicator, astronaut Charles Duke, commented: "We see the earth in the center of the screen."

'YOU TELL US'

After a pause, Aldrin corrected him with: "Believe that's where we just came from."

"It is, huh? Well, I'm really looking at a bad screen here," Duke said. "Stand by one. Hey, you're right!"

Later, when a picture of the earth was shown, Duke said: "I refuse to bite on this one. You tell us."

Armstrong showed viewers two sealed boxes in which are packed precious bits of soil and rock that he and Aldrin collected during their momentous two-hour walk on the moon Sunday.

"We know there's a lot of scientists from a number of countries standing by to see these lunar samples and we thought you'd be interested in seeing that they really are here," he said.

He explained that the samples were placed in containers in the vacuum of the moon and were sealed to prevent possible contamination of the earth.

Peddling Filthy Pictures Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced the arrests of nine persons today on charges of peddling filthy pictures across state lines.

In addition, the FBI said, agents are still seeking three other persons in connection with what it called an extensive obscene material operation in five states.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said the arrests came on warrants sworn out Tuesday by FBI agents in New York City. He said the crackdown culminated "a very extensive investigation" in several states from New York to Nevada.

The 12 persons were charged with interstate transportation of obscene photographs, including pictures of nude males and females engaged in both "perverted and natural sexual acts."

The operation also involved, the FBI said, the peddling of filthy magazines and movies.

Those charged were accused of conspiring from November, 1968, to July, 1969, to ship obscene material from New York City to Baltimore, Las Vegas, Nev., Philadelphia and Minneapolis.

Maximum penalties under the charges would be five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for each violation.

Hoover said those arrested were: Richard James Portela and his wife, Carol Ann, both 28, of Queens, N.Y.; Paul Wolf, 25, New York City; Salvatore Puntasecca, 38, Fairfield, N.J.; Max Bornstein, 20, New Milford, N.J.; James Kelly, 32, owner of a Baltimore book store; Gerald Louis Costanza, 21, Las Vegas; Samuel Filippo Manarite, 50, Las Vegas; Phil Frimet, 52, Brooklyn.

The FBI said Luis Marti, 43, of New York, Frank J. Del Bosso, 35, of Freeport, N.Y., and Dominic Constantino, 45, of Waterbury, Conn., are still being sought on federal fugitive warrants.

Kennedy Loses License, More Charges Studied

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, already charged with leaving the scene of an accident last weekend in which a young secretary was killed, had his driver's license suspended today.

The decision was announced in Boston by Richard E. McLaughlin, state registrar of motor vehicles.

McLaughlin said the registry "makes a preliminary finding of fault on the part of Sen. Kennedy, and accordingly, his driver's license has been suspended as required (by Massachusetts law)."

McLaughlin said the "usual notice of suspension" was mailed to Kennedy today.

He said the suspension would remain in effect until a hearing is held in the case, as required by law.

"If the hearing results in a finding of no serious fault on Sen. Kennedy's part, his driver's license will be reinstated," McLaughlin said.

SIX MONTHS
"But if the hearing confirms the preliminary finding of serious fault," McLaughlin added, "the license suspension will be changed to a revocation which, by law, must remain in effect for at least six months."

McLaughlin's announcement was released as Police Chief Dominic J. Arena was telling newsmen here that he had no evidence to support any charges against Kennedy other than leaving the scene of an accident.

"This is the case and the only case I have," Arena said at a news conference.

Earlier, in response to a question, special District County Prosecutor Walter E. Steele said he was considering whether to bring charges of driving to endanger and driving under the influence of alcohol against the Senate majority whip.

"These have all been considered and have not been ruled out," Steele said of the possible additional charges.

He said there is no material evidence to indicate that the car in which Miss Mary Jo Kopechne died was operated in a manner to endanger.

Steele said he hoped to determine whether there had been drinking—or heavy drinking—at the party attended by Miss Kopechne the night she died.

"I can't say specifically that we are making an investigation into heavy drinking," Steele said. "The investigation is continuing to determine whether other complaints should be sought and the consumption of alcohol will be investigated."

BOTTOM UP

A medical examiner reported Tuesday that a sample of Miss Kopechne's blood showed a small amount of alcohol. Dr. Donald R. Mills said it was insignificant, "such as might show in a person who has had a few cocktails."

The commonwealth also hopes to learn who attended the party Friday night at the rented cottage on Chappaquiddick Island, Steele said.

Miss Kopechne, 28, of Washington, D.C., drowned when a car Kennedy was driving went off a bridge and landed bottom up in a tidal pond.

The Massachusetts Democrat, 37, escaped with a mild concussion and strained neck muscles. He did not report the accident until several hours after it happened.

He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident in which personal injury resulted. Kennedy said he was in shock after the accident.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominic Arena said: "I am concerned only with the charge of leaving the scene of an accident. I know nothing of any party. It is only a rumor. All I know about that is what I read in the papers. I know nothing of who was there, only that Mr. (Joseph) Gargan rented the house."

"I've got to repeat again," Arena told the news conference, "and say emphatically that there is no negligence involved in this accident."

FULLY CLOTHED

Both Arena and Steele told newsmen that a witness would be needed to prove the charge of operating to endanger.

"So far, we have circumstantial evidence," Arena said. "We have no right even to ask him to take a breathalyzer test."

Arena said Kennedy's constitutional rights would have been violated if he had asked the senator to take the test when he reported the accident several hours after it happened.

Arena, who recovered Miss Kopechne's body from the wreckage with the aid of skin divers, said the pretty blonde secretary "was fully clothed and everything was buttoned right up."

He also disclosed that a pocketbook belonging to a Miss Keough, who he said attended the party, was found in the Kennedy car.

In Dawson County, there also were 22 write-in votes for Dr. Noble H. Price of Lamessa, who had made application for a place on the ballot but was disqualified on a legal technicality.

Short, a Tahoka farmer, was raised in Tahoka and attended Texas A&M. In World War II, he served in the navy. Following the war, he went into farming.

Short is married and has four daughters.

Clack, an attorney raised in Andrews, is a graduate of Texas Western at Canyon. He attended law school at St. Mary's in San Antonio and was an attorney in Gaines County prior to moving to Andrews.

WHERE CHEMICALS WILL BE REMOVED — Map locates Okinawa from which will be removed chemical warfare munitions, including some nerve gas, the Pentagon announced Tuesday. The announcement came four days after official acknowledgement of a "misshap" in which 24 persons were treated and then returned to duty.

Policy Changes In Gas Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are predicting a top-level government review of U.S. gas warfare projects will lead to some policy changes and tighter supervision of the controversial program.

The military evaluation of the National Security Council study came after the Pentagon announced Tuesday that what it said was a previously planned removal of lethal chemical agents from Okinawa would be speeded up.

The Tuesday statement was the first time the government acknowledged placing gas weapons outside the United States. And the announcement came only after news disclosures that 23 U.S. soldiers and a civilian worker had been affected when a gas container sprung a leak July 8 at a U.S. base on Okinawa.

The Pentagon officials in making their predictions about the NSC review, avoided giving any indication whether the removal of some nerve gases and other chemical weapons from Okinawa will result in pullbacks of such materials from other overseas bases.

The July 8 incident has sparked a speedup of the overall chemical warfare review ordered previously by President Nixon.

One of the reasons Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird recommended such a review, it was understood, was his discovery upon taking office six months ago that supervision over the chemical-biological-radiological warfare program was relatively loose.

Laird made a definite point Tuesday that no war gases had been sent overseas since he became defense secretary and that the chemical munitions on Okinawa reached there during the Kennedy administration under decisions made in 1961 and 1963.

The closest thing to an official hint about overseas deployments of gas came in a statement by Dr. John S. Foster, Pentagon research and development chief, in response to questions raised by Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.

Foster said "carefully controlled inventories are adequate for tactical response against enemy military forces."

Since tactical weapons normally are based within a theater, it would seem that Foster was referring to stocks of chemical agents in areas where the U.S. forces are posted abroad.

Commenting on U.S. chemical-biological warfare policy, Foster said "a nation which lacked CB weapons and could not deter or counter their use would have to consider more extreme measures."

AMENDMENTS EXPLAINED—NO. 4 Exemption Proposed For Non-Profit Water Firms

(Exempting nonprofit water supply corporations from ad valorem taxation.)

This proposed amendment amends Article VIII, Section 2, of the Texas Constitution to exempt nonprofit water supply corporations. The amendment authorizes the legislature to exempt the property of water supply corporations if the sale of water is the corporation's only authorized purpose and if it is a nonprofit corporation. The amendment allows exemption of the property only if the property is reasonably necessary for and used in the acquisition, storage, transportation, and sale of water. The exemptions under this section apply to all ad valorem taxes, state and local.

BACKGROUND

The constitutional provision as originally adopted in 1876 authorized the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxation (1) public property used for public purposes, (2) actual places of religious worship, (3) places of burial not held for profit, (4) buildings and furnishings used exclusively for educational purposes, and (5) institutions of purely public charity.

The Texas Supreme Court has strictly construed the section, and the exemption power of the legislature, by striking down laws exempting property not covered by the constitutional provision and denying claims by organizations that they were purely public charities.

Article VIII, Section 2, has been amended twice since its adoption. The first amendment, in 1907, added endowment funds of public institutions. The second amendment, in 1913, added dwelling places of ministers, and a class of organizations which included YMCA's and YWCA's. This amendment was passed in response to a Texas Supreme Court holding that a statute exempting YMCA's and YWCA's went beyond the limits set by the constitution.

FOR:

1. Nonprofit water supply corporations perform a vital function for many parts of the state that would not otherwise have adequate water supplies. The amendment would encourage the formation of the corporations and the development of water resources.

2. The corporations to be exempted are nonprofit and perform a governmental function; therefore, their property should be like public property and exempt from taxation.

AGAINST:

1. There are many privately owned water supply corporations which are run for profit. These corporations would be put at a competitive disadvantage if the nonprofit corporations were relieved from payment of ad valorem taxes.

2. With rising governmental costs and increasing difficulty in finding sources of revenue, any reduction in the present tax base is unwise.

Opening lead: King of ♦
An adverse break in trumps apparently spelled a two trick defeat for South, the declarer at four hearts. A favorable division in a side suit provided a measure of compensation, however, and South uncovered a method for successfully resolving the issue.

North's free bid of two hearts fully told his story. Tho a passive course is not suggested holding nine good high card points, after West overcalls partner's opening one heart bid, North should have pulled in his horns subsequently and passed three hearts. When he did in fact persist to game, East could hardly restrain the impulse to double.

West opened the king of diamonds and North put up the ace. A quick appraisal of the combined holdings revealed that the declarer was off three club tricks, and in view of East's double — the loss of at least one and possibly two heart tricks was also imminent. South's only remote chance was somehow to lump his losers together.

A diamond was led at trick two and ruffed with the three of hearts. A spade to the queen put dummy in for another diamond ruff. Another spade was led to the king and now a heart was played. East put in the ten of hearts to force out South's king.

The ace of spades was cashed and West discarded a club. A fourth round of spades was ruffed with the deuce of hearts as East helplessly followed suit. Declarer had now scored eight tricks and as another diamond was led from the dummy, East could see the handwriting on the wall.

If he discarded on the fourth diamond, South would trump with a small heart and then cash the ace of hearts for the fulfilling trick. East therefore ruffed in with the jack of hearts. Declarer, however, countered by discarding a club.

South retained the ace-nine of hearts behind the queen-seven, and eventually he was able to score both of his trumps. East was restricted to two clubs and one heart trick on the deal.

Car Insurance Delay Request

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said Tuesday he probably would ask the state Insurance Board to delay an increase in auto insurance rates until his fact-finding committee looks into them.

Smith said he probably would decide Thursday, after the first meeting of the nine-member committee he recently appointed, whether to ask postponement of the rate increase. The board could ignore the governor's request because it is an independent agency.

The board's staff recommended an 11.4 per cent average statewide increase in private passenger car insurance rates effective Sept. 1. The board usually follows the state's recommendations.

Smith said the response to his proposal for an investigation of car insurance rates had been "tremendous."

"I probably will ask" that the rate be delayed "until after the committee reports," Smith said. He said he wanted a report before Sept. 1.

Patrolman Shot, 3 Men Charged

McAllen, Tex. (AP)—Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis said today charges of assault with intent to murder were filed against three Edinburg men in connection with the wounding of a Texas highway patrolman near Pharr.

McInnis said the charges were filed in McAllen City Court before Judge F. L. Rawls. The complaint was signed by Highway Patrol Lt. William J. McLean of Harlingen, McInnis said.

Patrolman Stanley Smith of Edinburg was reported in "very satisfactory" condition at McAllen General Hospital early today where he was being treated for a gunshot wound in the left shoulder and cheek. Patrolman Wendell Deaton Jr. of McAllen was treated for cuts and bruises and released. First reports indicated that Deaton had been shot, but it was later reported he had just been "roughed up."

The district attorney explained that the charges were filed in McAllen City Court because the justice of the peace at McAllen was on vacation.

McInnis identified those charged as Homero Rios, 21, Blas Hernandez, 24, and Alberto Rios, 24, all of Edinburg. Homero Rios was reported in good condition at McAllen General Hospital, where he was being treated for a gunshot wound in the hip. Hernandez was also in good condition and was being treated for a gunshot wound in the arm. The older Rios brother was being treated for a skull laceration, according to a hospital spokesman. Officers said

Rios suffered the injury when he beat his head against the jail cell bars in the Pharr police station.

The incident occurred about a half mile west of US 281 on Farm Road 495 near the Pharr city limits when Patrolman Smith attempted to stop the three men.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said Smith encountered trouble and radioed for help. Deaton responded, a fight ensued, Smith and the two men were shot and Deaton was beaten about the head.

McInnis said the patrolman was shot in the shoulder and his cheek was grazed with a slug from a .357 mungum pistol. McInnis said the three men would be arraigned on the charges as soon as they were released from the hospital. He said he was not certain how long they would remain hospitalized.

Pharmacists Asked To Stop Cig Selling

AUSTIN (AP) — More and more druggists will stop selling cigarettes in the next five years, Bill Lindsey, an El Paso pharmacist, predicted Tuesday.

Lindsey is president of the El Paso Pharmaceutical Association which is sponsoring a resolution asking druggists to stop cigarette sales in their stores.

The resolution is being considered by the House of Delegates of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association, which ends its state convention today.

Lindsey said the American Pharmaceutical Association adopted a resolution recently which said "... The sale of cigarettes in pharmacies can be considered inconsistent with their functions as health institutions" and asked pharmacists to "examine what effect the sale of tobacco products in pharmacies has on public health."

"It seems that the idea of not selling cigarettes in drug stores is catching on nationwide," Lindsey said. "I think within the next five years a significant drop in the availability of cigarettes in pharmacies will become apparent."

Smog Doubles In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Health officials say smog in this seaside city has doubled in the last 10 years. They blame Los Angeles for part of the eye-smarting, crop-damaging irritant.

Dr. J. B. Askew, who serves both as public health officer and countywide smog control chief, said drifting smog from the Los Angeles basin has been traced all the way to Phoenix, Ariz., and that some of it settles regularly in the San Diego area.

Ten years ago the oxidant reading in downtown San Diego averaged .04 parts per million of air. Last year it was .08.

Why Do Business With Me?

WHY DO BUSINESS WITH ME?

I am your hometown, self-employed businessman. I support the local community.

There are two kinds of agents: company agents and independent agents. A company agent can sell only the policies of the company he represents. He usually has nothing to do with claims.

As an independent agent, I represent several insurance companies. I am an independent businessman. I select the best policies for each individual car owner, home owner or businessman from the several insurance companies I represent.

When there is a loss, as an independent insurance agent, I help with the details and assist my policyholder in obtaining a prompt and fair payment.

To sum up:

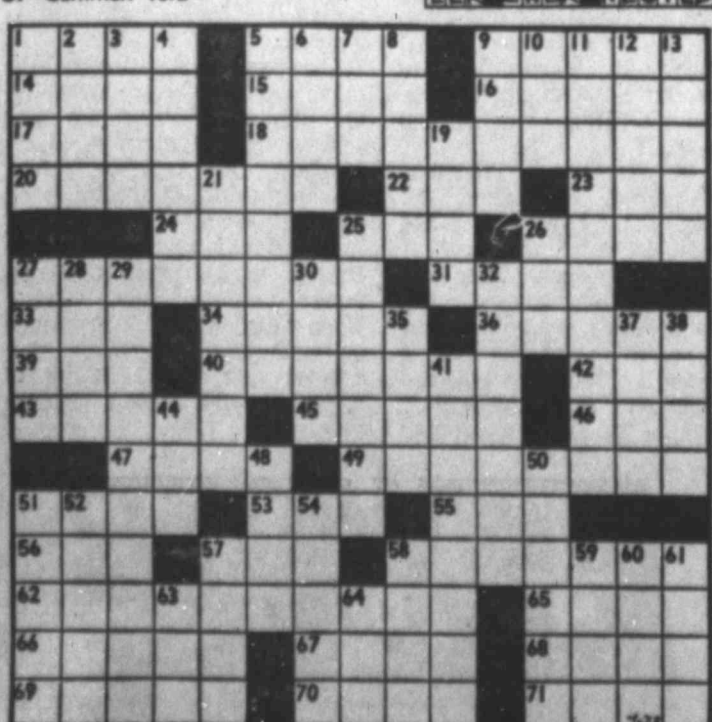

1. I am a self-employed professional businessman in the community.
2. I am not a salesman for just one insurance company, but represent various insurance companies.
3. I help you choose the right protection.
4. I recommend only strong, reliable companies known to pay claims quickly and fairly.
5. I keep your insurance protection up to date.
6. I am YOUR representative, and will see that you get prompt, fair payment on any claim presented.
7. YOUR INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENT SERVES YOU FIRST.

THINGS TO COME? — It's a long story in the fashion world as designers look toward winter winds. Sketch shows military greatcoat down to the ankle and a monastic mood by night with chaste all-covering sheath that are being shown by the Lancetti fashion house of Rome at the Italian fall-winter collections.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Call your television set a boob tube if you like, but from now on, don't call my set that obvious name. After the fine performance it gave us at the time of the landing of our Apollo 11 astronauts on the moon, I just can't speak too highly of this marvelous invention. As a friend has said, if we had just read about such a happening it would have been a little bit easier to believe. But to see the whole happening and hear every word exchanged between the Earth and the Moon just staggers our imagination. The first jerky movements of astronaut Armstrong were reminiscent of the early day movies. But it's all so super modern!

All the world was excited about the lunar landing and some of our Big Spring folk were more than a little excited because their son was in the firing room when the shot was made. JAMES CALVIN PREVO, the son of MR. and MRS. M. C. PREVO, is the one with the local ties. He is a mechanical engineer and graduated from Texas Technological College in 1961. He has been at Cape Kennedy since 1966.

MRS. DORA RUTH CARTER returned last Friday from a wonderful trip to Europe in company with 17 other Texas educators. The trip was a Classic Tour of Europe and the party left Dallas on June 18. One of Mrs. Carter's traveling companions was a native Big Spring girl, MISS LINDA WEHNER, granddaughter of MR. and MRS. HARVE WILLIAMSON. Miss Wehner teaches in the Fort Worth school system.

Although the flight set down at London, England, the stay there was only long enough for the multi-lingual guide to meet the touring group and get them aboard the bus for Amsterdam. Mrs. Carter was most impressed with the visit to St. Peter's Basilica where she also visited the Sistine Chapel and saw Michaelangelo's Pieta. The group also attended the gala opening night of the opera and heard "William Tell."

The sightseeing was very special on the bus trip through the St. Gothard's Pass in Switzerland. There was a side trip to Pompeii where they watched the craftsmen make their famous cameos, and to Naples, Sorrento and Capri.

Other countries on the tour were Holland, Germany, Austria and France. The entertainment included a night at the Moulin Rouge and back in England they missed the changing of the guard by one day but had a delightful visit to the Shakespearean area and they also had a night at the Paladium.

Mrs. Carter, who has taught school for 34 years, is presently a teacher in Marcy Elementary School here.

Some other Big Springers are having themselves a fine time just about now in Rome. MRS. GROVER WILEY, who is also a Big Spring school teacher, left reports.

New York on July 20 en route to Rome where she was to meet her daughter, PAT, who terminated her assignment with the Peace Corps on that day. Pat was to leave New Dehli on the same day her mother left New York. The two will tour Europe before returning here ... Pat's coming home, too.

It's nice to hear from natives of your town when they've moved away, especially when they've been gone for 44 years as DAN MITTEL has. In looking over The Herald issue that carried the picture of the 1923 Steer football squad Mittel decided he'd just subscribe to the hometown paper and keep in better touch. In his little note from Dallas where he is regional financial manager for Otis Elevator Co., Mittel noted that he had recently lunched with Marvin Frost who also was born and reared in Big Spring. Mittel asked that he be remembered to LEE PORTER, ROBERT STRIPPLING, JOE HAYDEN and his sister, HELEN. (Mrs. Lou Acuff). His address is 6465 Ellsworth St.

The L. D. GILBERT home was the scene of a family gathering the past weekend when his brothers and their families were here. Visiting in the home now are MR. and MRS. F. D. GILBERT and their children, Beverly and Bob, who live in Pittsburgh, Pa. Here for the weekend were MR. and MRS. J. M. GILBERT and their daughter, Angela, of Lubbock.

MRS. CHARLES MORRIS of Austin is visiting her parents, MR. and MRS. RILEY FOSTER. She remained here for a longer visit when Mr. Morris returned to Austin Sunday. They also visited his parents, MR. and MRS. T. R. MORRIS.

MRS. ROXIE HASTON and MRS. VERA WALKER spent the weekend visiting friends and relatives in Morton and Brownfield.

Last week Mrs. Haston had as her guests her brother-in-law and sister, MR. and MRS. OWEN OTTS of Garland. During their stay the families were entertained with a hamburger supper at the home of MR. and MRS. ORBIN DAILY, and the GENE HASTONS hosted a dinner party at the Holiday Inn.

Friends are happy to see L. A. XTENS up and about after several rounds with vascular surgery. He is at home now except for checkup visits to his Lubbock doctors.

Bulletin Reports On Women Doctors

More lady doctors are on the way, chiefly due to manpower shortages in medical fields. In 1930, 4.5 per cent of medical school graduates were women. In 1967, women made up 7.5 per cent of the total. Health Bulletin

A LOVELIER YOU

Waistline Serves As Figure Barometer

By MARY SUE MILLER

It is said that the waistline is the barometer of the figure, predicting fair or foul conditions. At the moment, there seems to be signs of trouble ahead. Notches in belts are being loosened. And just a flurry of weight around the waist portends a deluge to come on the hips.

If you are wriggling into waistlines of your clothes, it's time to get with a few reducing routines. Now, milady, no objections. The procedure is neither too hot nor too hard. See for yourself.

Sit on the floor and cross your legs tailor-fashion. By bending in your waist, place the fingertips of both hands on the floor, as far out from your right hip as possible. Now swing your arms upwards and to the left.

until your fingertips touch the floor on the left side. Continue without stopping for 30 counts. Work hard for increased reach and pull in the waist muscles. Also try for more speed, rhythm and grace.

Stand with your back pressed to a wall. Pull in your abdomen, pull up in your waist — hold for 10 slow counts. Relax and repeat seven times each, morning and night.

Try to carry over the pull-in, pull-up idea to your posture. Both your standing and sitting posture. Do it and your figure's barometer doesn't stand a chance to play foul. Not, of course, unless you're eating as much as you're laziness.

REDUCING EXERCISES

Spot reduction — key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges ... to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new booklet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines — 40 in all — for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles ... other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Webb Officer Talks On Vietnam Situation

Maj. Glenn Jones of Webb Air Force Base spoke on Vietnam at Monday's meeting of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, in Coker's Restaurant.

Maj. Jones emphasized the three steps in a Communist "takeover" as placement of members in key positions to be used as agitators in organized groups later; sabotaging the economy and the assassination of elected officials; and finally the military takeover.

Maj. Jones stressed that when fighting a war there are two choices — winning or losing. He said Americans should educate themselves in the philosophies and practices of communism and train their children to respect and carry out its ideals.

The major is a 15-year Air Force veteran who came to Webb AFB in June, 1966. He is a flight commander and holds the Vietnamese Medal of Honor and the Cross of Gallantry with the Silver Star for his service in Vietnam. He has also been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross with three oak leaf clusters, the Air Medal, the Bronze Star and numerous other decorations.

Mrs. Charles Hans presided and introduced the speaker. The chapter recommended Kathy Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Shaw, for a Stephen Bufton Memorial Education fund interest-free loan. Kathy is attending Texas Tech.

Guests were Mrs. Willis LeVier and Miss Shirley Lee from the Scenic Chapter, ABWA.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

Here's a little trick I learned recently while waiting for my clothes to finish washing at a laundromat.

Usually there are about six dryers not being used and while you are waiting for your washing machine to stop, some woman will unload her clothes from that hot dryer.

Use the dryer she has just finished using, and here's why:

That dryer is already loaded with heat that she has paid for! You are not putting your damp clothes into a cold dryer. Utilize part of her dime!

If necessary, just walk around and touch the outside of the dryers. Use the one that is still warm... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When cleaning the inside of your oven, put all the other parts of the stove in the oven too. (Of course, only the parts your cleaner won't harm.) Spray the oven and stove parts all at the same time. Then all you have to do is wash and rinse them. Sure saves me extra work... Carol Mathison

Caution: Gals, be sure to read on your fizz can if it's applicable to certain kinds of metals. Those warnings are written by our friend Joe Blow... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have a canary who likes several kinds of seeds each day, but doesn't want them all put into just one cup.

So I use the thin, twist-tops from baby food jars and put different seeds in each one. Then I slide the cage-bottom tray out, put the filled tops on it and slide it back in with no trouble at all because of the thinness of the tops... Mrs. R. Smith

Dear Heloise:

Tired of planning company menus for guests all summer long? Well, here's a quickie dessert that will at least solve that part of the meal.

I buy lime sherbert and keep it handy in the freezer. When in need for a company dessert, it only takes seconds to fix if you'll remember to remove the carton from the freezer and place it on the lower shelf in the refrigerator to soften ahead of time.

When you're ready to serve it, add some creme-de-menthe and give it a few stirs with a fork.

It's the best dessert ever... Mrs. A.P.

You can also buy lemon or orange sherbert and only add a little imitation flavoring and whip it with a fork. You've got it made.

Also delish when served on top of pie or a slice of cake... Heloise

A Devotional For The Day

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just, and will forgive our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness. (1 John 1:9, RSV)

PRAYER: Take from our lives, dear God, all the sins that we are guilty of. We know they are there, but some are so persistent that we cannot rid our lives of them. Cleanse us and make us fit for Thy kingdom. We ask it in the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Well-Deserved Honor

The National County Agricultural Agents Association has named Oliver West of Glasscock County as a recipient of its Distinguished Service Award. It is not lightly given, and this year only seven Texas agents have been named to receive it.

West, one of those unostentatious individuals who move quietly but effectively to get a job done, has achieved an outstanding record. Virtually all his 22 years of service have been invested in Glasscock County where he has become conversant with both constituents and country.

He has, as the award implies, contributed to the improvement of income and living conditions in the county. He has led many special efforts, such as a water conservation district and attacks on livestock parasites. One of his most dramatic successes was an all-out war against a boll weevil infestation last year.

West has been extremely helpful in improving crop varieties and production, but the most important crop of all — boys and girls — has received his special attention and wholesome devotion.

The honor is well deserved by a man who will wear it well.

Outlook Not Bright

It appears that the 27½ per cent oil and gas depletion allowance is about to be short. By a vote of 18-7, the House Ways and Means Committee has approved a reduction to 20 per cent.

While this appears to be cutting the allowance by only 7½ cents, the actual reduction of this factor is 27.3 per cent of the current allowable. Those entitled to this allowance will now receive one dollar less out of each four from this source.

Of course, the battle is yet to be waged when the committee considers finally its reform tax package about a month hence, but the margin of better than two to one indicated no chance for change. Realistically, there is little probability that the House or Senate will reverse the recommendation because there are many more representatives and senators from non-producing states than there are from states which have oil and gas.

If and when the measure is finally enacted, it is supposed to yield around $400 million more per annum in taxes. This is something which industry spokesmen contend is open to debate, for the lesser depletion allowances may be reflected in less activity and hence less revenue. Worse still, it could, as is frequently claimed, result in less venture and in less replacement of reserves by new discoveries.

The committee did, however, refuse to tamper with the intangibles in drilling costs, and this could soften the blow somewhat. While a fight down to the wire may be expected, admittedly, the outlook is not bright.

David Lawrence Economic 'Guidelines' Needed

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's time for the administration to take a realistic look at its tactics in trying to fight inflation. For there is evidence of great uncertainty and uneasiness in business and financial circles throughout the country.

While the White House flatly says it does not intend to ask for wage and price controls, no substitute is being furnished to guide the economy toward a more stable position.

THE JOHNSON and Nixon administrations have not hesitated to put out "guidelines" to handle desegregation in the schools — which is, to say the least, a complex subject — but when it comes to steering the economy, no comparable advice is being offered.

Today's inflation is a direct result of the irresponsibility and lack of restraint which often emerge in an unregulated economy. Certainly, there is much to be said against laws imposing wage and price controls because the bureaucratic methods sometimes needed to supervise them are not palatable. Indeed, some business men feel that such a cure is worse than the disease. But no effective alternative has as yet been proposed.

THE FEDERAL government has intervened to encourage the banks to raise their interest rates, but this is about the only device being applied. The theory is that it will curb expansion and "slow down the boom."

Much emphasis is placed, moreover, on extending the surcharge on income taxes. The purpose, of course, is to keep money flowing into the U.S. Treasury and preserve at least a balanced budget, if not a surplus. By

Billy Graham
I have a wonderful mother. We have a perfect understanding, and I am most happy when I am with her. Because of this I have never married. But now that I am thirty years old, I am beginning to wonder if we have both made a mistake. My friends have families, and it seems that the world has almost passed me by. Have you any advice? H.S.
A wise man once spoke of the "robber-hood of motherhood," and I think he had a point. A wise mother knows when to break the "apron strings," and let her son become a man. To rob him of his masculinity with that "mother-knows-best" philosophy can become social larceny.

Even the animals realize they can't keep their young forever, and they wisely thrust them out into the world, on their own. This is a law of life and it should not be broken, even by well-intentioned, but misguided mothers. Mothers shouldn't "smother" their children's friendships and normal alliances.

Even the Bible says, "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife." It is all right for a man to be a bachelor if he so desires, but to be a masculine man, he must not allow his mother, no matter how lovely, to keep him tied to her apron strings.

'SOME SORT OF SURGERY IS INDICATED'

Hal Boyle Develop The Ability To Say 'No'

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the greatest arts in life is learning how to stay out of trouble.

One never has to look far to find trouble. It is the circling horizon of every human life. All you have to do at any moment is to put your worst foot forward and—oops!—there you are, up to your armpits in sudden woe.

How can anyone stay out of trouble? There is no certain method, because avoiding trouble is still an art and not yet a science. But one of the best tactics is to develop the ability to say no.

FOR EXAMPLE it helps to steadfastly resist accepting invitations that lead only to disaster.

Such as:
"It looks like the train is going to be pretty late. Some of us decided to kill the time with a little card game. Low stakes, of course, Care to take a hand?"

"If you were in my situation what would you do?"
"I'll steer if you'll just get behind and give it a push. You don't mind, do you?"

"I call it five-alarm chili, and I figured out the recipe myself. I just throw everything in it except the kitchen sink, but it usually turns out great. Care to try a plate?"

"I GOT THIS one straight from the horse's mouth. It's a stock that's selling for only two bucks a share, but as soon as we announce our program to land on Mars it should hit a hundred. Shall I cut you in for a couple of thousand?"

"Shall we match for it?"
"Dad, we're one guy short on our team. Do you want to play catcher, and show us how you used to do it in the old days?"

"The red-haired one at the end of the bar seems to have an eye out for you. Why don't you try to strike up an acquaintance with her before her boyfriend gets back from the washroom?"

"There it is on the top shelf. How about me steady-ing the ladder while you zip up and get it?"

"I know you must be bored with me talking so much about our vacation trip. Wouldn't you rather see the pictures we took?"

"I know this new dress looks a bit short. But do you think it is too short?"

"STEVE BRODIE took a chance. Why don't you?"
"Papa, here's our book on the new arithmetic. Can you help me with it?"

"Why not hit it a couple of times with a hammer and see what happens?"

"Shall I tell you what the doctor really found was wrong with me?"

"How about just a teeny-weensy one for the road?"

"If you don't like the way I'm doing it, maybe you'd like to show me how you'd do it?"

"Well, then, answer me one thing. Just why did you marry me?"

John Cunniff Back On The Farm

NEW YORK (AP) — Meanwhile, back on the farm, does life evolve more slowly, does change come more gradually? Judge for yourself.

From LaSalle Street in Chicago's financial district a bank manages more than 90,000 acres of farmlands, applying the science of agronomy and the methods of business to raising pigs, cows, corn and soybeans.

Although the bank, the Northern Trust Bank, has been in the business since the 1930s, it is mainly in recent years that its talents have come to be greatly appreciated, and it is obvious why.

IN THE OLD days the farmer was manager, capital raiser, wholesaler and retailer, but mainly he was the laborer, the man in blue denim who worked with his muscles from sunrise to sunset. He was a man of the soil.

Today's farmer must also work well with pencil and pad. He must know how to raise large sums of money. He must understand taxes, government programs, changing technology, price fluctuations, cost-price relationships.

Using electronic computers, the bank's staff can help evaluate hundreds of possible livestock and crop combinations and decide on the most profitable use of land, labor, capital and management.

ONE REASON for the complexity of farming today is that it has become a bigger business. At the end of 1968 the nation had 3,053,600 farms, or roughly one-half the total of less than 20 years ago, but these farms earned well over twice what the farms of the 1940s earned. And they averaged 360 acres in size.

Farm Journal magazine made an asset analysis of the 46 state winners in the 1969 Outstanding Young Farmer program. It found they averaged 32.5 years of age, had farmed 10 years and had net worth of $200,447.

This is the breakdown of assets: cash savings $13,438; land and buildings $175,350; livestock $51,539; machinery $48,162; feed and supplies $21,253. That adds up to total assets of $309,744.

Deducted from this figure are liabilities of $62,358 for real estate debt, and $46,439 for various other debts. Total indebtedness: $109,297.

THE NET worth of this year's young farmer is about $50,000 more than the net worth of the 1967 winners. And when they began farming 10 years ago, the analysis shows, their net worth averaged only $7,537.

These men, half of whom attended college and 15 of whom hold degrees, are in the forefront of a major change to larger farms. The 1964 census shows, for example, that farms grossing $100,000 or more totaled 31,000. Five years earlier only 20,000 farms were of that size.

To Your Good Health 'They Act As If I'm Some Kind Of A Nut'

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have allergic asthma, and when I try to explain it to people, they act as if I am some kind of a psychogenic nut. Could you explain why and how this condition exists?

I also realize that some people get rashes from nerves. Could you explain the difference between the two—Miss M.U.

I don't know how well I can "explain" it, because there's too much of the condition which isn't totally understood. You can show this to people if you think it will do any good.

There are some experts who think that most cases of asthma in young people are related to allergy. I suspect they may be right. If they are, then all such cases are allergic — that is, triggered by allergies. (In older people there are certain types of asthma which are not related to allergy.)

It works something like this: if a person is overly sensitive (that is, allergic) to some food, dust, metal, pollen, flowers, or whatnot, the cells of the body respond by releasing more than the normal amount of a substance called histamine.

This excessive histamine, while it is evidently in some way protective substance, also has some objectionable results, and leads to various annoying "side effects." It can cause fluids to accumulate — hence swelling. It can irritate tender surfaces, as nose and eyes in hay fever. It can cause hives or itching, or make areas of the body break out in red spots.

This can happen in various parts of the body, and the type of reaction can vary from person to person.

In some, the reaction is swelling of the tissues in the windpipe or bronchial tubes. The swelling reduces the air space, so you wheeze. You have asthma.

But if the majority of asthma cases are related to allergy, it is even more true that most are related in some way to nervous tension. The more tense and fearful a patient is of having another attack, the more likely he is to have one.

There is a close, if still considerably mysterious, interplay of our nerves and emotions and our physical bodies. Nerves can, to some extent at least, do things similar to allergic reactions. Some folks break out in a rash from "nerves"; others have headaches, or throw up, or itch.

But trying to explain exactly why isn't so easy. Why do some people blush when embarrassed and others don't? Why do some have heart palpitation and others not? Why do some have headaches, upset stomachs, "gas," or perspire, or have "the trots" due to nerves?

Maybe you'd better not try too hard to "explain" what "allergic asthma" is, except to say that it's asthma due to allergies. Maybe it's the big words that make people act as if you are a psycho — what was that word you used, again?

Around The Rim This Was The Way It Was

What was it like the day man first set foot upon the moon?

Perhaps it is inconsequential along side the most monumental achievement in the history of mankind, and perhaps of the planet Earth. And yet, a century hence, someone may ask: What was it like that day when a crude space vehicle (by standards then) touched down upon the lunar surface?

IT WAS A hot, and by West Texas standards, sultry and still day with fleecy cumulus clouds threatening to coagulate into the promise of a shower, then melting away in the afternoon sun. By noon the temperature was in the 90's on its way to a high of 100 degrees.

ON THE TELEVISION, that electronic device for projecting sound and moving pictures into the homes, programs were pre-empted by the news coverage of the momentous events about to take place. And so it was with radio, except for the raucous bombastic-bom-bom beat of drums and electric guitars. The normal after-church rush at public eating places fell off sharply as most people hurried home to listen for the time that the landing vehicle would detach from its carrier, the command capsule, and begin the descent into a rendezvous with the unknown upon a celestial body other than the Earth.

THIS ALL went so much according to plan that much of the tension was lessened until the two men aboard the landing device began an increasingly vertical approach to an instant of immortal destiny. The voice of Astronaut Neil Armstrong called out the feet from the moon's surface in thousands, then hundreds, and then in 10 of feet. Finally, while breaths were held, he counted down to 2½ — and then touchdown. A perfect landing, all was well. Everyone relaxed, resigned to 12 hours waiting until the hatch would open and man would set his foot on to the moon.

Then late in the afternoon, the time was moved up to about 8 p.m. Most church services were cancelled; others were cut short. No need, for it was nearly three hours before the fateful time.

BUT IN THAT interval, activity came almost to a standstill. The usual stream of automobiles dwindled to an occasional car. Outside there was a quiet that could almost be felt. Even the wind eased to a restless breath. When sunset came at 8:51 p.m. (Central Daylight Standard Time), there were lights burning in practically every home, and clusters of cars in the driveway made it seem like family gatherings on Christmas Eve.

Overhead, in the West, the moon, with its bright edge showing like a slice of cantaloupe from 11 to 5 o'clock, shown in pale haze and slipped behind a high cloud. Up there, however, the shield was about to be removed on one of the most awesome spectacles of all time.

THE VOICE OF Armstrong and Ed Aldrin told that Armstrong was easing out the hatch. "I'm letting the camera down," reported Armstrong, and a picture of the landing module, upside down, flashed on television screens.

The picture was righted, and then a booted foot came into view, feeling, testing the ladder. Gradually, deliberately the legs and feet went down the rungs, followed by a body shielded with heavy suit and helmet and laden with a bulky back pack. The figure reached the landing pad at the bottom. None dared profane the majesty of the moment with sound as the figure extended his left foot firmly on the surface.

FOR A TIME, people sat enthralled before their television sets. Gradually, lights flicked off as people called it a day and went off to bed with a strange feeling of exhilaration and humility almost as if they had been on holy ground. "This was the way it was."

Mary Jo Kopechne She Was A Fan Of Kennedy

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP)

Mary Jo Kopechne, who drowned when the car carrying her and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy plunged into a Massachusetts pond, went to Washington because of her admiration for the Kennedys, according to her mother.

Mrs. Gwen Kopechne said her daughter thought "the Kennedys could do no wrong." The girl became a member of the staff of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who was elected to the Senate in 1964. She later worked on Robert Kennedy's presidential campaign.

Miss Kopechne died Saturday, one week before her 29th birthday. She was an only child.

MARY JO, who was born in Forty Fort, Pa., just outside Wilkes-Barre, lived with her family in East Orange, N.J., while attending Our Lady of the Valley High School in Orange and then Caldwell College for Women in Caldwell.

"She was a B-plus student throughout school," Mrs. Kopechne recalled. Sister Margaret Anne at the Roman Catholic girls college said Mary Jo was graduated in 1962 as a business administration major. The nun recalled Mary Jo as "a real out-going type, very personable and very loyal to the college."

Mrs. Kopechne said that after college her daughter spent one term teaching business administration as a volunteer at the Mission of St. Jude in Montgomery, Ala., then left for Washington later in 1963.

SHE TOOK a job as an aide to the Florida Democratic Sen. George Smathers, a friend of President John F. Kennedy.

"We don't know how Mary Jo landed her jobs," Mrs. Kopechne said. "I guess it was just her personality. She was a very pleasing girl."

When Robert F. Kennedy was elected to the Senate from New York in 1964, Mary Jo moved to a job in his Washington office.

"She was quite a fan of John Kennedy's," Mrs. Kopechne said. She believed in the same things the Kennedys believed in and so when Robert Kennedy became a senator she went to work for him.

"SHE STAYED on Robert Kennedy's staff until the day they closed the doors, following his assassination," Mary Jo's mother said.

Then her slim, 5-foot-4 blonde-haired daughter went to work for Matt Reese & Associates, a political consulting firm in Washington. She lived with three other young women in Washington.

One of her roommates, Miss Navy Lyon, a native of Cape Cod in Massachusetts, and a member of Sen. Edward Kennedy's staff, had gone with Mary Jo and three other girls to the Cape for a long weekend, Mrs. Kopechne said.

"Mary Jo had been up to the Cape a few times," Mrs. Kopechne said. "She was a friend of Edward Kennedy's from her office days in his brother's office."

Holmes Alexander Crookedness On The Campus

WASHINGTON — The weight of the figures is so immense that we had better begin there. The Federal government invests $400 million a year in student aid.

The Federal government in 1970 will invest $1.571 billion in research grants and contracts with our colleges and universities.

There are approximately 7,500,000 college students, and the estimate is that only 187,000 of these are the ones engaged in organized riots and disorders on the campus, causing excessive property damage and threatening to disrupt the system.

THE TESTIMONY running through the first six weeks of the McClellan subcommittee investigation of campus disorders leaves no reasonable doubt that there does exist a Communist conspiracy for this disruption. It is hard evidence from the writings and speeches of the four militant groups under examination: the Black Panther Party, the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and the new organization known as the Republic of New Africa.

I WISH to comment as sympathetically as possible on what seems to be the general meaning that is emerging from these extraordinary hearings. They have been pushed out of the news by the ABM debate in the Senate, the Apollo 11 voyage and the psychological warfare being conducted against our military establishment. But for depth of importance, no event surpasses the McClellan subcommittee attempt to discover what has made youth susceptible to Communist subversion.

FIRST OF ALL is the pervading influence of our Affluent Society. It is nothing new to say that young people can be spoiled by too much money. But the newness of the present situation is that never has so much money — public and private and stolen — been at the command of irresponsible youth. The virtue of thrift has become a vagrant in our land. The generous government, the prosperous parents and the stick-up victims supply young persons with unearned funds which are spent on dope and high living.

This lack of financial discipline has led into extravagant behavior forms, particularly the rebellion against ancient social ills — war, poverty and racial injustice. But the will-to-rebel is so strong that it would find outlets even without these convenient targets.

THE WHITE MAN no longer tells the Black man that he is inferior, but the Black man discovers his inferiority some time in his teens and he hates the white society that encloses him in America. The Black youth has the right to education, but in school and college he cannot read, write and problem-solve to achieve the quality that he craves. The Black youth had a civil right to free association, but that doesn't make him welcome.

HE DEMANDS Black Studies instead of literature and mathematics and science. He hopes the Black Studies will prove his race's equality, even superiority in music, drama and athletics; but what's really needed is for the whites to take Black Studies and find there that the Negro is not inferior. But, of course, this can't be proved from the past; it may be proved in the future, but Black youth and his white sympathizers cannot wait.

This is the generalized situation, the troubled waters, muddied by Communist intervention which is bold and ugly and too obvious to be denied.

Baptist Colleges Might Apply For Federal Loans

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Christian Education Commission of the Baptist General Convention recommended a big departure from traditional strict church-state separation, Tuesday urging that Texas Baptist colleges be allowed to apply for state and federal loans and contracts.

The recommendation was made with the provision that such loans and contracts be free of government control.

At its quarterly meeting on the Baylor University campus, the commission also took steps to strengthen ties with Texas Baptist colleges.

To be implemented, the recommendations must now be adopted by the general convention's executive board and by the annual convention at San Antonio in November.

The recommendations Tuesday were begun by the commission's Committee of XII, appointed last July to study the controversial Carden Report on Texas Baptist higher education.

some specific Carden recommendations earlier this year, but continued to study ways to improve educational institutions, a spokesman said.

The recommendation on governmental funds said "Texas Baptists should carefully re-examine their philosophy of education and the relationship of the Baptist school to the government, both state and federal."

"Baptist schools are currently facing a highly competitive situation and . . . cannot continue to operate under current restrictions adopted by the convention regarding loans and contracts from state and federal governments."

It was recommended by the commission that decisions on loans and contracts be left to each institution's board of trustees "unless contrary to the specific policies of the convention."

Stolen Stop Sign Tragedy

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — A third victim in a two-car accident at Arlington in North Central Texas died this morning.

The victim was James Watson, 20, of Route 3, Arlington. Two children were killed in the crash. They were James Ed Tallent, 2, of an Arlington rural route and Sherrie Duckett, 3, of Grand Prairie.

Four others were injured in the crash, which occurred Tuesday.

The Department of Public Safety, after investigating the accident, said stop signs at the intersection had been stolen by vandals.

Army Enlistments Fall Short Of Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's promise to eliminate the draft, and other factors associated with the Vietnam war, caused the Army to miss its enlistments goal last year by 9,000 men.

The deficit and conclusion are reported by Army Recruiting Command officers who say they can't recall a year when the Army fared so badly in signing volunteers.

Army enlistments fell short of the recruiting command's objectives every month from November through June, almost a mand to pay close attention to what's been happening.

Col. Donald L. Roberts, chief of staff for the recruiting command, said in an interview that four factors combined to cause the severe drop:

—Richard M. Nixon pledged last fall that as President he would strive to establish an all-volunteer force, eliminating the draft when the Vietnam war is over.

"Immediately when that announcement was made, our recruiting went into a nose dive," Roberts said. But that wasn't all.

—The recruiting command suddenly found its seasoned recruiters were being grabbed up for administrative and leadership duties in Vietnam. Recruiters' strength fell by 500 to a low of 2,480.

Siboney Adds Columbia's Operations

DALLAS — James H. Shells, president of Siboney Corporation, Dallas, and A. M. Pate Jr., president of Columbia Investment Corporation, Fort Worth, jointly announced that agreement in principle has been reached where by Siboney would acquire substantially all assets and liabilities of Columbia in exchange for approximately 380,000 shares of Siboney common stock. The acquisition has been approved by the directors of both companies and will be submitted to Columbia's stockholders for approval at a special meeting to be called in August.

Columbia Investment Corporation was founded in 1958 and was originally engaged in real estate investment and development. In recent years, its primary activities have been conducted through two wholly owned subsidiaries located in Fort Worth. Deep Flex Plastic Molds, Inc., is engaged in the production and sale of plastic molds and related products for use by schools, home craftsmen and hobbyists. The company sells through a national dealer network and reported annual sales of $1.1 million in its latest fiscal year. Miller's Visual Aids, Inc. supplies films, projectors, tape recorders and other educational material with an annual sales volume of $500,000. It maintains a large library of rental films and is agent for Walt Disney Films and Sterling Films. Siboney expects that the activities of this company will be complementary to its Gamco Industries subsidiary in Big Spring, and its Perceptual Development Laboratories Division which was recently moved to Big Spring from St. Louis, Mo. No changes are contemplated in the management and personnel of the Columbia subsidiaries.

Horse Show Set Thursday

District 2 4-H Club Horse Show, with entrants from 20 counties in the West Texas area, opens here at 8 a.m. Thursday in the Rodeo Bowl, west of town.

It was estimated by Paul Gross, Howard County farm agent, that a hundred or more boys and girls will be on hand with horses to compete.

The 20 high point winners are eligible to compete in the state 4-H horse show to be held next month in Sweetwater.

Jimmy Taylor, Big Spring banker, and Bill Reager, Martin County farm agent, are to be the judges. Judging begins at 9 a.m. with Halter classes first.

The show is open to the public, and Gross urged all persons interested in horses to attend.

Bob Wakefields Have New Son

Friends here have received announcement from the Bob Wakefields of the birth in Abilene of an 8 pound, 7 1/2 ounce son. The boy was born July 21. The Wakefields formerly lived here when he was Howard County juvenile officer. He resigned this post to accept a position with the Texas Youth Council and moved to Abilene.

Commission Approves One, Tables Another Beer Permit

One on-premises beer permit was approved, and another was tabled by Big Spring City Commissioners Tuesday evening.

Ross Parsons, who requested the permit for the American Club, 804 IS 20 west, said there would be no dancing in the place, and the beer sales would be primarily for motel guests. No one appeared at the hearing to oppose the request, and commissioners gave it unanimous approval on first reading.

The on-premises request of Anna Orasco for the Mexico Cafe, 405 NW 4th, was tabled pending the applicant attending a commission meeting. During the discussion, Chief Jay Banks said there are only three on-premises beer outlets in this "flat" area at this time, whereas there were once 23.

Commissioners accepted an agreement with the Little

Children, Drinking Milk From Spoon Is A No-No

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — No, children. Drinking milk from a spoon is a no-no, even if astronaut Michael Collins does it. And that big yellow circle in the sky is the moon—even if mission control thinks it's earth.

And if you pick up a hundred or so pounds of rocks and put them in your closet like Neil Armstrong, mommy will spank. And if you try to float a slice of bread like Edwin Aldrin did it will fall smack-dab on his ham spread.

In other words, Tuesday night's exercise in educational television from that big Apollo studio in the sky, has to be put in proper context.

Opening shot—a pale moon 61,000 miles back.

"We see earth in the center of the screen," said Charles Duke on the ground, talking to the spacecraft. "It's very hazy at this time."

There was silence from the spacecraft, an unspoken ahem. "Believe that's where we just came from," said Aldrin finally.

Embarrassed silence from the ground.

"It is, huh?" said Duke.

"Well, I'm really looking at a bad, at a bad screen here. Stand by one minute." Then: "Hey, you're right."

Said Aldrin: "It's not bad enough not finding the right landing spot—you haven't even got the right planet."

And Duke: "I'll never live that one down."

Armstrong showed his treasure chest, lots of rocks from the moon. They were neatly packaged and stowed away in compartments—not a bad lesson for the kids, at that.

"As soon as we get onto the (recovery) ship, I'm sure these boxes will immediately be transferred and delivery started to the lunar receiving laboratory," Armstrong said.

Then came the episode of the spoon and water.

"I was gonna show you how you drink water out of a spoon," said Collins. "I'm afraid I've filled the spoon too full and if I'm not careful I'm gonna spill water right over the sides."

"I'll tell you what. I'll just turn this one over and get rid of the water and start all over again, okay?"

Well, whaddya you know, The water just stayed. Collins pushed it off with an index finger. Still the water stayed, a big blob. Collins blew at it. It floated off in big droplets and Collins fielded them with his mouth. Aldrin spun a piece of bread coated with ham spread while he did another demonstration of weightlessness with the can that the spread came out of. The bread kept spinning and the can stayed up.

"That's how it went, until a final, familiar shot of earth."

"Have a picture now, Houston?" Collins asked slyly.

"That's affirmative," said Duke. "I refuse to bite on this one though, you tell us."

"Okay," said Collins, "this should be getting larger and, as it is, it's the place we're coming home to."

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Bundle Of Telescopes To Be Launched In '72

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — An elaborate bundle of telescopes will be launched in 1972 aboard America's first manned, earth-orbiting space station to uncover secrets of the sun and universe.

The new plan, announced Tuesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, changes a schedule that called for the first space workshop to be orbited in 1971 with less complex scientific and medical experiments.

Under the revised plan, the first two stages of a Saturn 5 rocket—the type booster used to launch Apollo 11 to the moon—will orbit an unfueled third stage outfitted on the ground with an experiment called an Apollo Telescope Mount (ATM).

Packing nine telescopes to peer at the sun and stars from above the veil of earth's atmosphere, the ATM is expected to provide clues to the origin of the universe and enable astronomers to better predict radiation storms on the sun.

The workshop will be launched unmanned, NASA said. Three astronauts will be orbited by a smaller Saturn 1B rocket the next day to dock with the space station and occupy it for four weeks.

Later crews will visit the laboratory for missions lasting up to 56 days.

The change in plans will permit simplification of the previously announced 1971 mission as well as augment the capabilities of that mission to perform space- and earth-oriented research," NASA said.

The orbiting workshop will be a modified upper stage of the Saturn 5. Instead of containing hydrogen fuel, its 10,000-cubic-foot capacity tank will be outfitted as a two-story habitat in which astronauts will live and work.

The ATM is planned as a forerunner of more advanced solar and stellar observatories that will be manned by astronauts in space or perhaps on the moon.

It consists of five experiments to measure ultraviolet light and X-rays that cannot penetrate earth's atmosphere. This type of light is given off by young, "hot" stars—the kind astronomers want to study to learn how stars are born.

Military Outlays Assault Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's order for executive departments to cut spending an additional $3.5 billion appears to have supplied the impetus for a fresh congressional assault on military outlays.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he assumes military procurement will be the prime target of those determined to reduce spending.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana forecast in a separate interview the Senate will slice another $1 billion off a pending military authorization bill, already cut $2 billion below Nixon's estimates.

Mansfield cheered Nixon's action, saying "this will go a good part of the way toward bringing about a curb on inflation."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., vice chairman of the Senate-Economic Committee, said he welcomes Nixon's action as "a good start" but Congress should make additional reductions.

"I think the military, space and public works budgets can be reduced substantially," he said. "I don't suppose we can cut space much this year in view of the moon mission success."

"And the President will have to take the lead in reducing public works outlays," Proxmire added.

Nixon said in a statement Tuesday no federal program will be above scrutiny in the effort to trim spending back to the $192.9 billion target he set in April. He said there will have to be a further lowering of personnel ceilings.

The President said increases in public debt interest, Medicare, Social Security, public assistance and veterans benefits make action necessary.

He complained that Congress has done nothing about boosting postal rates, has increased aid for schools in federally-impacted areas and has not ended agriculture conservation programs as he recommended.

Sen. Charles P. Percy, R-Ill., said he thinks budget reductions should start with agriculture.

"The farmers in my state want more decisions made on the farm and fewer in Washington," he said. "They want gradual elimination of subsidies."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in this connection he thinks Nixon is "on the right track in trying to reduce hostilities in Southeast Asia. That is where we could make some substantial savings."

Nixon said in his announcement he had signed the final supplemental appropriations bill for the just-ended fiscal year. It Congress fixed a $191.9 ceiling of its own on federal expenditures for the current year.

Meditation Room Dedicated Tuesday At VA Hospital

About 100 guests gathered at the VA Hospital Tuesday evening for the dedication of the new meditation room to the late Donald D. Van Meter, former hospital director.

The widow of the late director and their daughter, Laurel, were present for the tribute, coming here from Austin for the ceremonies.

"I think it was very thoughtful of the VFW to have done this in the memory of my husband. I shall always remember these fine people with much affection," Mrs. Van Meter said after the meeting.

"I am honored that they thought this much of my father to do this much for him," Mr. Van Meter's daughter said.

Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff of the hospital, in accepting the room, said, "This is a fitting tribute and a most useful gift. Presentation of the commemorative plaque, from District 25 of the VFW, was made jointly by Clifford T. Teer of Waco, senior vice commander of the Department of Texas, and Bart Ramsey, Monahans, District 25 Quartermaster, who held the plaque while Teer lauded Van Meter for the improvements and innovations made at the local facility and for the active part he took in community affairs.

Teer also paid tribute to Mrs. Van Meter for her landscaping and beautification project of the hospital grounds.

Preston D. Burke, past District 4 commander and department surgeon, presented the furnishings of the room to the hospital, from Districts 7, 8 and 25 of the Department of Texas.

In regard to the presentation of the room, Burke said "There are times when mere words seem far inadequate. This is such an occasion."

Hospital Chaplain Anderson C. Hicks, was one of the most related persons at the ceremonies, when VF W Post 4149 of Midland, presented the fitting tribute and a most useful gift. He noted this was one of the things the room needed, and he told the group he was "very surprised" with the presentation.

Mr. Van Meter was a long time employee of VA hospitals, having served as assistant director of hospitals in Atlanta, Ga., Richmond, Va. and Memphis, Tenn. He also served as area director of administrative services in the San Francisco, Calif., and St. Paul, Minn., area offices.

He was a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, member of the Texas Hospital Association, the Federal Hospital Institute Alumni Association, the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists, the American Society of Clinical Pathological Technologists and the American Heart Association.

He was a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the master planning committee and an active worker in the Boy Scouts, having served the Buffalo Trail Council as chairman of the advancement committee. Mr. Van Meter also was on the board of directors of the Howard County Heart Association and the Howard County Cancer Association.

The former director died on May 9, 1968, at the Darnall Army Hospital at Fort Hood, while he was completing two weeks of reserve duty as a lieutenant colonel. He is buried at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery in San Antonio.

This Is Spaceland: 'A State Of Mind..'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Kids parade through the streets, waving flags and Apollo banners.

"We Love You, Apollo 11," proclaims a hotel marquee. "Good luck, Apollo 11," the signs say. Lively splashing celebrations are in the works.

Flags flutter from countless homes built on soil that once was Silver Dollar Jim West's cattle ranch.

This is Spaceland, USA, home of the astronauts, a community hitched to NASA's star. Not a town, residents say, but "a state of mind... an ideal."

It is the site of the Manned Spacecraft Center, heart of the space program, a community born with the space age, soaring from 7,500 population to 50,000 in a decade, where bar chatter is of orbits and overburns, blackouts and boosters.

Once a sprawling graze land for Texas longhorn cattle, it was transformed with the space program into a community of winding roads, fashionable homes, manicured lawns.

The sleepy, scattered seaport villages awoke amid the overnight rise of luxury apartments and hotels, ultramodern office buildings and buzzing industrial complexes.

SUITS TO BE WORN BY ASTRONAUTS — Photo from NASA shows the type of decontamination suits to be worn by the Apollo 11 astronauts after they land in the Pacific Ocean Thursday. The suits will be given to the astronauts through the spacecraft's hatch, when it is opened for less than 30 seconds. After the astronauts have donned the suits, the hatch will be reopened for five minutes to let them out. The trio will complete the 21-day quarantine, which began Monday, at a germ-free lunar receiving laboratory at Manned Spacecraft Center.

WATER POLO, ANYONE? — Rain cascades from the playing field into the American League dugout last night at RFK Stadium. The heavy storms forced the first postponement ever of an All-Star game. The centennial-celebration match will be held today.

Baseball's Finest Hour Is Dampened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's finest hour turned out to be one of its damkest and dullest.

A jazz band with a red-haired, long-legged female trumpet player struck up Dixie tunes. Congressmen, ambassadors and other assorted VIPs belted cocktails and gorged themselves on barbecue and hamburger while young waiters and waitresses in the garb of the 1890s passed among them with a seemingly endless supply.

It was baseball's 100th birthday party, and it was a dilly.

President Nixon had given a reception at the White House a few hours earlier and had told his cheering guests he planned to come out to the ball park and stay for the entire game.

"I never leave in the middle of anything," he said, telling of pressure from his advisers to get an early start for his Pacific rendezvous with the returning astronauts.

From the White House, baseball repaired to a huge, circus-like tent near Robert F. Kennedy Stadium for a pre-game whiffing.

Then the rains came.

It started out as a shower.

Then it became a downpour.

Finally it turned into a thunder-and-lightning cloudburst that turned happy celebrants into a soaked, disheveled, frustrated lot.

Few made it to the ball park where 45,000 were expected. The President, disappointed, had to grab his plane for the Pacific Coast.

Earlier, Lefty Grove, the old Philadelphia Athletics left-hander voted Monday one of the two greatest pitchers of all time, had told a press conference:

"People keep asking what's wrong with baseball? The answer is 'nothing.'"

The pre-game party had been arranged for about 2,000 selected guests—Congressmen, government officials, baseball brass, the press, and friends. The crowd grew to a packed 3,000.

Guests were bused to the site from Capitol Hill and downtown hotels. Food and drink were plentiful. Spirits were gay. Waiters wore straw skimmers and had badges which said, "Happy Birthday, Baseball."

The water started pouring in buckets. Rivulets ran through the tent. Everybody got wet.

and, at one stage, frightened.

"Everyone is asked to leave the tent immediately and go into the armory (the nearby D.C. Armory)," one of the authorities announced. "We are afraid the tent may collapse."

Joe DiMaggio, the former Yankee star, was among those caught in the deluge. His gray hair wet, his tailored suit sopping wet, he ran, like others, for the armory.

Senators and representatives were also among those seeking shelter. Some of them queued up for DiMaggio's autograph.

Bowie Kuhn, the commissioner, came over and announced the game was off until Wednesday.

"It can't be the same," said one disappointed fan, expressing the sentiments of all.

Golf's Rising Stars May Steal Honors

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Golf's new breed, the rising stars who are threatening to displace the established names of the game, may once again steal the spotlight in this week's $125,000 American Golf Classic.

Frank Beard one of the most consistent golfers on the tour and a man who has proven he can play the monster Firestone Country Club course, may be one of the top choices for the $25,000 first prize—but shuns the role.

"I'm still tired," Beard said Tuesday after a practice round on the 7,180 yard layout, "I may not be as bad as I was a week ago, but I'm tired. I've just been playing too much lately."

Tired or not, he won the Minnesota Classic two weeks ago and finished fifth just one stroke off the leaders' pace last week in the Philadelphia Classic.

Top Golfers Give Tourney Preview

MONTREAL (AP) — The pre-tournament gallery birds may be in for a preview today as three of the top golfers in this year's Canadian Open compete in the final practice round.

The $125,000 tournament over 72 holes starts Thursday on Pinegrove Country Club at nearby St. Luc with first-place prize money of $25,000.

The top three finishers in this year's British Open—England's Tony Jacklin, New Zealand's Bob Charles and Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina—agreed to instill some fireworks into today's final practice round by forming a threesome.

All are rated as pre-tournament favorites along with former Canadian Open champion Billy Casper.

One member of the Commonwealth delegation who will be absent is Australia's Bruce Devlin.

Devlin notified tournament officials Tuesday he was being admitted to the hospital in Miami for hemorrhoid surgery and will remain four or five days.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Cliff Richey, Charles Pasarell and Ecuador's Pancho Guzman, three veterans of Davis Cup competition, head for second-round play today in the 59th National Clay Court Tennis Tournament after having to go three sets to get there.

Richey, 1966 National Clay champion from San Angelo, Tex., and fourth seeded, stopped Richard Russell of Jamaica 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, Tuesday.

Pasarell, sixth-seeded American from Santee, P.R., sidelined Australian Roy Keldie 8-6, 6-8, 6-2.

Guzman, No. 6 foreign seed and a finalist here in the 1967 Western, defeated Dave Harmon, Salt Lake City collegian, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Much of Tuesday's schedule was rained out for the second straight day.

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., didn't have to step on the court Tuesday as his first-round opponent, Terry Davidson of Australia, defaulted.

Defending champion Clark Graebner of New York, No. 2, opened with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Italy's Victor Crotta.

Soccer Games

NEW YORK (AP) — M. T. K. of Hungary and the Portuguese Desportos of Sao Paulo, Brazil, played a 1-1 tie and Olympiakos of Greece played a scoreless tie with the New York Greek-Americans in a soccer doubleheader at Randall's Island Tuesday night.

Cowboys Axed

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The ax dropped on three Dallas Cowboy rookie free agents Tuesday.

Released from the club were Ron Burton, a wide receiver from Colgate; Charles Hews, a tackle from Maine, and Greg Smith, a guard from Livingston.

Ron Sellers May Give Up, Can't Deal With Boston

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ron Sellers, Florida State's unprecedented and unsigned pass receiver, may soon trade his football jersey for a business suit as a "hedge against starvation."

That's the word from Bill Basford Jr., lawyer - agent for the 6-foot-5 Jacksonville string-bean who gained more yards catching passes than any player in college history.

"It bugs Ron that he can't work a deal with Boston," Basford said. "They drafted him No. 1 and still won't make an acceptable offer."

The Patriots' head coach, Clive Rush, released a figure of $150,000 concerning the bid made to Sellers. Basford said his boy not only was offered "well under audience that will be watching over NBC.

McLain flew out of Washington in his prop plane shortly after the President's Air Force One lifted off. The unpredictable right-hander returned to Detroit to keep an 8 a.m. dentist's appointment to have his teeth capped.

McLain said he would return in a jet after the dental work and should arrive at about 12:30, leaving him just over an hour's clearance to reach the ball park, suit up, take some warmups and step up on the mound.

The postponement Tuesday night was the first in All-Star history going back to 1933 and covering 39 previous games in which the National League built a 21-17 edge over the American League. One game ended in a tie.

Two previous games were halted by rain. The 1952 game in Philadelphia was shortened to five innings and the 1961 game pitch before a sellout crowd of 45,000 and a national television

That pushed him past $100,000 in earnings this year and put him in the third spot on the money list. And, so far as the course is concerned, a course most of the pros rank among the most demanding in the United States, he finished in a tie for the top after 72 holes last year before losing in a playoff.

He bowed out on the first extra hole while Jack Nicklaus and Lee Elder engaged in a dramatic five hole play off with Nicklaus finally winning it.

Big Jack, who isn't due until today, also will be among the top choices because of the length of the course if no other reason, but has had his troubles of late.

Arnold Palmer, another late arrival, hasn't won in more than a year but certainly will be among the gallery favorites when the 72-hole events get started Thursday on the par 70 south course at Firestone.

Dave Hill, winner of last week's Philadelphia Classic and the hottest man on the tour, will be among the top candidates for the first prize—if he shows up. Tourney officials were not sure he'd make it Tuesday, though he said Sunday he would play. The controversial Hill is the year's leading money winner and has won three of the last four tournaments he has entered.

Bruce Crampton, a transplanted Australian who has been playing very well along with Charles Coody and long hitting Tom Weiskopf, also are among the favorites.

Others include U.S. Open Title holder Orville Moody, Lee Trevino, PGA champion Julius Boros and Masters champ George Archer.

Only a few of the top names are missing from the 144 man field. They include Gary Player, Bill Casper, British Open champ Tony Jacklin and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

Early-Day Coach Returns To Scene Of Triumphs

Joe Ward returned Tuesday to the scene of his first coaching triumphs and wondered "why did I leave Big Spring?"

"You thought you had a big junior college job and were on your way up," chided his wife, whom he brought here as his bride a few months after he took up his coaching duties here in 1924.

The Wards drove up from their San Antonio home Tuesday afternoon just to look around Big Spring. Mrs. Ward is the San Antonio council area director for Girl Scouts and was to speak Wednesday evening at a meeting in San Antonio.

Graying and now retired first as a football coach and now as a YMCA executive secretary, Ward sparked as he recalled his first year of coaching after finishing an illustrious career as an All-Southwest Conference tackle for two years and an All-American mention.

The first thing he did was change the name of the team from the Jayhawks to the Steers (suspiciously like the Texas Longhorns). The second was to introduce some hard-nosed, razzle-dazzle football for that day and time and give the town a case of football fever from which it has never quite recovered in the intervening 45 years.

They picked out the old high school (now part of the Runnels Junior High plant) and drove around the backside of the campus where Ward worked out his team on a veritable rockpile. Tuesday he looked around to see if he could find where he had put his "hot" water tank out in the sun so the team could have a little warm water for showers. He talked about his boys, many of whom still live here, and about the season — one of the more successful ones Big Spring has enjoyed. He played the vaunted Abilene Eagles a tight game at the West Texas Fair and lost to the feared Ranger team, coached by Blair Cherry, by only one touchdown. Against traditional rivals in this vicinity, the newly-named Steers ran up big scores.

Ward inaugurated an inter-mural league between the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior boys who weren't out for football. He also coached basketball, track and baseball.

He promoted a game at Christmas between high school and college players (he returned to the backfield as he had been in high school) and raised $1,000. When the project didn't materialize, he refunded the money writing 89 one-dollar checks.

At Christmas time, he returned to Austin to marry Etta Bain, his sweetheart since he had come to the University as a freshman from Fort Worth. Mike Segal, father of two of his players met them at the T&P depot with a donkey-drawn cart, announcing soberly to Mrs. Ward that "this is the only way we get around here."

Fems Softball Tourney Slated

The post-season playoffs for the Women's Softball League will be held this weekend at Webb AFB with a handsome trophy at stake.

The undefeated Sanddusters and league champions meet the Pinkpanthers at 7 p.m. Saturday in the top bracket, and the Leftovers face the Brittanias at 8:30 p.m.

At 7 p.m. Sunday the losers in the first two games will play for third place, and the winners will battle it out at 8:30 p.m. for the league trophy.

This year the league had four teams, twice as many as a year ago, and Mary Benavides, president, said she was hopeful that teams from the Big Spring community would boost league membership to eight next year.

Sponsoring teams in the league this season were the NCO Wives and the Officers Wives Clubs and the British Wives Club.

Hill Takes Lead On Pro Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill, whose victory last Sunday made him the year's first three-tournament winner and earned him $30,000, took over the lead Tuesday in the Professional Golfers' Association's money-winning list with $129,343.

Hill, whose victories have come in the last seven weeks, replaced Gene Littler, who was off the tour the last two weeks. Littler, who has won $104,996, had held first place since April 6.

shared an apartment house, probably at Eighth and Runnels, with the Gordon Hatches, and there she learned about the mysteries of cooking on a kerosene stove. To impress guests once, she prepared homemade noodles, hung them up to dry. A sandstorm coated them. She tried again, decorating the kitchen with them, but the stove ran up and smoked the room.

Ward, an extremely popular figure, was busy all the time.

so the late County Judge H. R. Debenport summoned Mrs. Ward and announced: "If you think you're going to sit around with a degree from the University and not teach, you're crazy." So they signed a note, bought a Ford, and she took up teaching at Moore, signing her check over every month to Wolcott Motor Co.

So successful was Ward in his coaching career here that he was offered a job as coach at Wesley Junior College in Greenville. This seemed like a big step up the coaching ladder, and he took it. He also took several local boys to Greenville with him as football and baseball players. One was Curtis (Cobby) Choate, a pitcher, whom Ward cautioned to not throw a curve unless he told him to. At a crucial point in a double header in the second year, Choate timidly asked Ward: "Coach, is it all right if I throw a curve?"

Ward later went to Edison High in San Antonio where he coached for many years before becoming a YMCA secretary. During the World War II years, Mrs. Ward subbed as football coach at Woodlawn Elementary-Junior High. It wasn't an entirely new experience, for she had been scouting for her husband.

"I took about six of Joe's plays," she recalled, "and we did pretty well." They lost only a few games in her seven-year stint. Later she coached basketball, and a woman coach was so novel Radio Announcer Graham McNamee did a feature on her. She gave up teaching to become a professional leader for Girl Scouts.

The Wards have one son ("only one that was our own; we always had a couple of others that Joe was keeping in our home"), Dr. Joe (Buck) Ward Jr., who holds his doctor of philosophy degree in computer science. He and his wife have two grandsons.

As the Wards drove around Tuesday, trying to locate familiar places and faces, they looked over the new high school, practice fields, the YMCA building. He wondered all over again: "Why did I leave Big Spring?"

Rebs To Face All-Stars

The Rebels will tangle with an All-Star team from the Sophomore League at 8 p.m. today to keep in practice for the district tournament in Midland next week. The game will be broadcast from Johnny Stone Park by KBYG.

Prospective starters against the champion Rebels coached by Al Valdes, include Scott Carlisle, Dick Cauley, Joe Knoepfel, Nathan Poss, Richard Meek, Willie Williams, Gilbert Pensina, Bruce Abbey and Gary Gozwick. Billy Woods, assisted by James Abbey, will coach the All-Stars.

One Quits, One Hurt For Oilers

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) —

Offensive right guard Sonny Bishop quit and cornerback Leroy Mitchell was injured Tuesday at the Houston Oilers training camp.

Mitchell suffered a fractured cervical vertebra during practice and will be out for the entire season.

Bishop, an eight-year veteran from Fresno State told Coach Wally Lemm he is retiring to enter the real estate business in Houston.

The Oilers have already made adjustments to fill the holes. Jim LeMoine will move into the starting right guard spot, and Zeke Moore will take up the right cornerback chores.

Defensive tackle Willie Parker is due to report to camp today. Parker had been given permission to report late because of his wife's illness.

CRITICAL OF TODAY'S PLAYERS

Atkins Claims His Bonus Was Only Burgers, Beer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two years' salary was $6,800 "and I had to hustle to keep from being cut."

Atkins admits that any game — the next one, perhaps — could be his last. "I'm taking 'em one at a time. When I get by one, I'll start thinking about the next one. There's no way of knowing what's going to happen."

The terror of NFL quarterbacks for nearly two decades says he'll probably call it quits after this year. Previously he wouldn't talk about retirement.

"I just don't see how I can play next year," Atkins said.

In 1968, before getting a hairline fracture of the tibia late in the season, he had the finest of many fine campaigns.

He made 13 unassisted tackles in one game, earning accolades as Defensive Player of the Week and was chosen to The Associated Press All-NFL second team.

Atkins checked into camp last weekend at 286 pounds—six above his normal playing weight. He was down to 282 today.

"I feel pretty good. It takes a little longer each year to get in shape and I'm sure I've lost a little," he said. "But I learn a little each year, so it all balances out."

If Atkins makes it through the first regular season game, against Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins, he will surpass the NFL longevity record of 16 years he holds jointly with Sammy Baugh.

In all of modern pro football, only George Blanda and Lou Groza, who both limited themselves to kicking specialist duties in their vintage years, have played longer.

Oil Depletion Slice Shocks Rep. Burleson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas on the tax-writing committee of Congress said they were shocked at its trim of the oil depletion allowance Monday from 27 1/2 to 20 per cent.

"I'm at a low ebb," said Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex.

"I've been around here a long time and I hadn't thought I was so naive. I had a real shock when they did the oil industry, particularly to the independents, what they did Monday," he said.

"I thought we were vulnerable and that they had the votes to reduce the allowance to 23 per cent—but not lower," Burleson said.

His Republican colleague on the committee Rep. George Bush of Houston, was among the minority opposing the cutback in the 18-7 House Ways and Means Committee vote.

Both Burleson and Bush have had oil interests.

"Depletion has become a symbol to some people and, without examining the reasons for its existence or its fundamental importance to this country, some want to slug away at it," Bush said in a statement.

"In light of the industry's declining reserves-to-consumption ratios," Bush said, "we should be finding ways to encourage risk-taking but instead seem to be discouraging those who would invest in this highly speculative industry."

Texas Democratic Senator Ralph Yarborough said he had endorsed the cutback of depletion allowances for overseas oil operations but thinks the domestic 27 1/2 per cent should be retained.

Noting that the U.S. Treasury stood to gain $400 million in new taxes if the depletion allowance is cut to 20 per cent, Yarborough said that was a small amount compared to what might be recovered by plugging larger loopholes in the tax structure.

Yarborough is co-author of a tax on excess war profits which is estimated to have a potential of $9.5 billion to $10 billion income in taxes.

Bush said he hoped the cutback would be restored by later legislative action.

One aide said, however, that in view of the prevailing sentiment in Congress they were lucky not to be cut to 15 per cent and that the outlook in the Senate was not overly rosy.

Truck Damaged

Approximately $1,500 damage was done to a U-Haul truck shortly before 2 a.m. Wednesday when it was in collision with a canopy at the Ponderosa Motor Inn, on US 87 south. Big Spring police said the truck, driven by David Scott Fine, 18, of Amarillo was pulling underneath the canopy when the truck hit it. Damage on the truck was on top of the cab and the top of the bed cover. No damage was reported to the building.

STRONG MIND OF HER OWN

MARSTON GREEN

England (AP) — Maureen Beckett "has a strong mind of her own," says her husband, Bob, and she didn't like the green color her garage doors were painted.

"She had gone on at me for months," said Beckett, an engineering executive.

"But I did nothing." Maureen did something. She drove the family car through the closed doors Tuesday, doing $500 worth of damage to the door and the new car, and cutting the 30-year-old woman's legs enough to require hospital treatment.

"I can see the funny side," her husband said.

Investors Buy Beaumont Bank

BEAUMONT (AP) — A group of investors has purchased controlling interest in Citizens National Bank of Beaumont, Vidor State Bank of Vidor and East Texas State Bank of Buna, and have assumed new positions in those banks.

The banks have combined assets in excess of $20 million, said spokesmen.

Kenneth Snyder of Texas City and president of the Mainland State Bank there, will assume the presidency of the Citizens National in Beaumont, Edward Saconas, a Hitchcock developer, will become a new member of the Beaumont bank's board.

Other members will remain the same.

Frederick M. Saunders, currently executive vice president of Heights Savings and Loan in Houston and chairman of the board of Mainland, will be president of the Vidor and Buna banks.

Other members of the purchasing group are Edwin Finn of Houston, president of the Channel View State Bank, and Clyde Speed, a Harris County utility operator.

Cars, Houses Being Moved

During June, junk cars continued to be taken from the streets and hazardous structures continued to be torn down.

There have been 106 junk cars on public right-of-ways since Feb. 1, 1969. Of those 106, 39 were removed by the owner, 22 were removed by the city, and 19 were hauled off by Ace Wrecking Company, leaving 26 still to be cared for.

On private property, there have been 117 junk cars identified since Feb. 1, 1969. Through July 1, 10 of the owners had been contacted and 24 of the cars had been removed.

Of the 503 hazardous structures in Big Spring at the start of the removal program, 387 were torn down by Feb. 1, 1969. Through June 30, 46 of the remaining 116 buildings had been demolished, leaving 70 still standing. In all, 433 buildings have been torn down.

Browbeats John Wayne In 'True Grit'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — Kim Darby harks back to the Lillian Gish kind of star: the frail-looking girl with will of iron.

She played that role to a fare-thee-well in the current success, "True Grit." She's the determined mid-teens miss who wheedles, cajoles and browbeats John Wayne and Glen Campbell into tracking down her father's killer.

Kim Darby, who this month became old enough to vote, is just as strong-minded in private life. "True Grit" made her an instant star, and you might expect that she would be grateful to her director, veteran Henry Hathaway. It doesn't turn out that way.

"I hate him," she comments. "I quote hate him unquote."

There had been reports during the filming that the actress and Hathaway did not get along, and she confirmed them. "He gave me nothing—except corn and ridicule," she said. "Oh, I've had directors who did things like shooting a gun off in my face to get surprise; that I can understand. But I can't forgive rudeness."

Nor did Kim have glowing comments about her costar, John Wayne.

"We had no rapport, either in the scenes or out of them," she said. "He was Rooster, and I was the little girl, Matty, and he didn't have any regard for me."

Kim did get along with Campbell, a good thing because they are again costarred in "Norwood," a modern story being filmed in and around this Southern California town. This time out, she gets to grow up a bit, but she still looks remarkably young.

She's a hometown girl, born in Hollywood and reared in the San Fernando valley. Her name at birth: Derby Zerby—honest. Naturally it had to go when she started getting roles in television. She borrowed the Kim from a high school classmate and switched her first name to the British pronunciation.

"Television was a great school for me," said the slight brunette with the large, deep-brown eyes. "I played a lot of the series, usually as a peculiar, troubled girl, which I'm not. One of the series was especially lucky for me. It was a 'Run for Your Life,' which Ben Gazzara himself directed."

THE THING WON'T FLY

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — He huffed and he puffed — and he pedaled like mad — but the thing refused to fly.

Paul Morcovescu is miffed, but he has vowed not to give up hope that he will get his pedal-powered flying machine off the ground.

Two years' building and five attempts to get airborne have left Morcovescu undaunted.

"It'll take me off or I'll take it off," Morcovescu said Tuesday after the fifth unsuccessful attempt in the fragile craft he assembled in the basement of his home in this Vancouver Island, city.

The 20-foot craft, with a 45-foot wingspan, is made of canvas and plastic sheeting wrapped around steel tubing.

Morcovescu lies prone in the cockpit and pedals with both feet and hands.

After Tuesday's test, Morcovescu said: "It needs further minor adjustments."

DEAR ABBY: I have been married nearly 30 years. We have grown children who all have families of their own. It seems that over the years I have lost my wife to our children. All her time is spent with this daughter or that son and their families, who all live within 20 miles of us. She has made a regular career out of "sitting" every evening with one of her grandchildren.

Night after night I have sat in my den alone watching television. My wife gets home about midnight or a little after, at which time I am already in bed.

My wife insisted I go out and enjoy myself, so I took her advice which led to meeting a beautiful 51-year-old widow. We are compatible in every way. In short, we have fallen in love. Now I'm not lonely anymore and neither is this widow.

My problem is, am I doing the right thing? How can I tell my wife about this affair? She doesn't suspect a thing as I'm always home before she is.

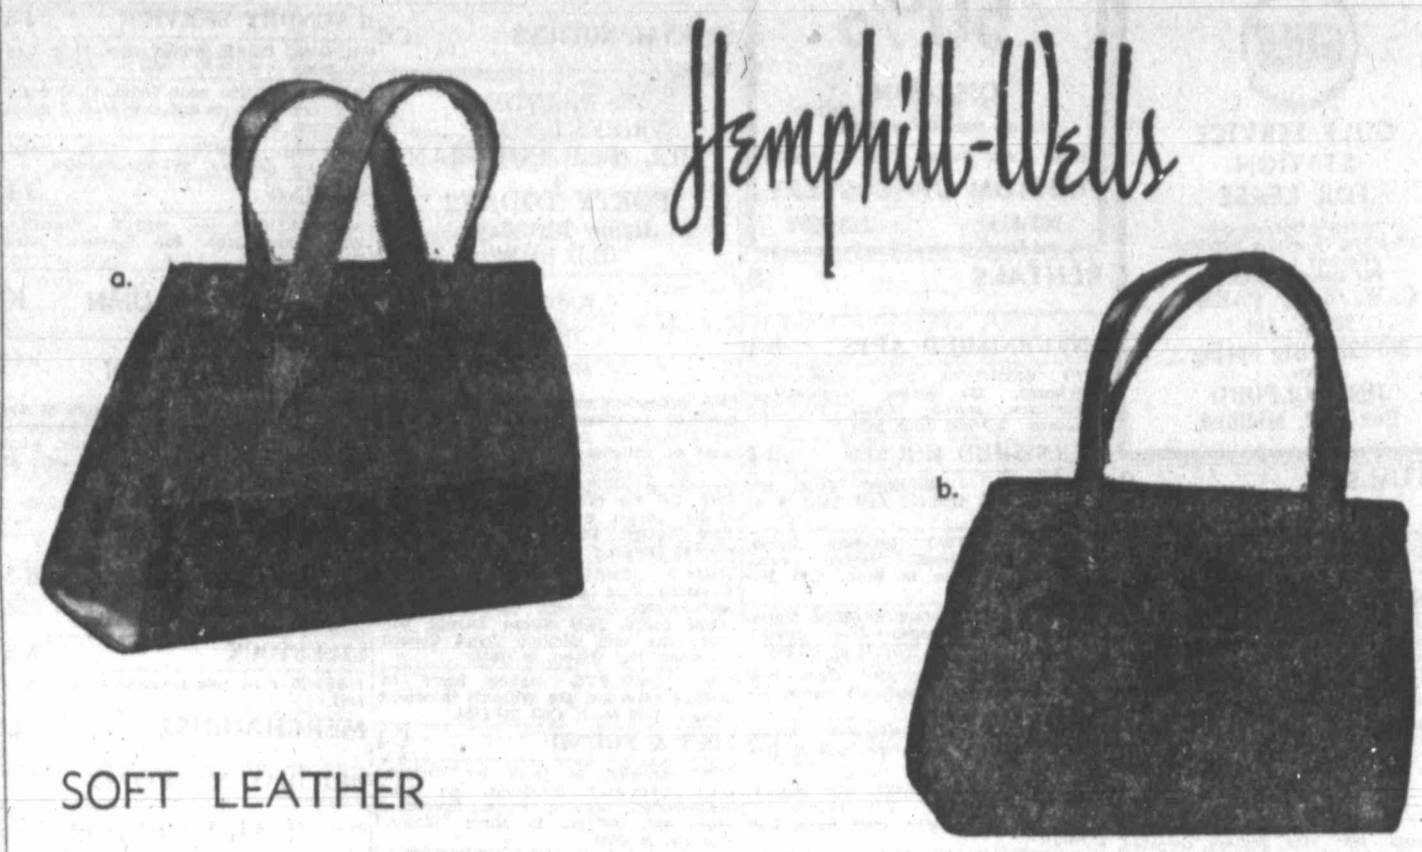

DISILLUSIONED
DEAR DISILLUSIONED: If you want what sounds like a "good excuse" for your affair, you have one. But that doesn't make it right.

DEAR ABBY: My wife spooned her son until he was nearly five years old. He is nearly 16, and she is still "babying" him and catering to his every whim.

Raisin Strudel Triggers Action

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Anna Sherline of Detroit found that the way to the White House's heart is through raisin strudel.

Recently, she sent President Nixon 70 pieces of her special raisin strudel along with a request that he help locate her sister who lives in the Soviet Union. Mrs. Sherline has not heard from her sister in two years.

She got two replies. The White House wrote to compliment her on her "excellent strudel." The U.S. State Department wrote that the Red Cross is trying to locate her sister.

Refreshing Showers Pop Up Around State

By The Associated Press

Temperatures remain hot across the state, but those sometimes refreshing showers and thundershowers continued to pop up in forecasts early today.

Tuesday, most sections reported showers or thundershowers, but they had little effect on the heat. Texans in the area between Waco and Laredo felt 100-plus readings, and most other parts of the state weren't far behind.

At dawn today, skies were mostly clear to partly cloudy across the state. Some shower
