Toll of Highway Accident Increased to Four Today

WELL KNOWN EASTLAND MAN ONE VICTIM

Crash Occurs When Driver Tries to Avoid Child

Horace Butler, general manager of the Arab Gasoline corporation of Eastland, was one of four persons—one a four year old girl—that were fatally hurt in an automobile accident three miles west of Mineral Wells shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Samuel Butler, president of the Arab Gasoline corporation and a brother of Horace, was severely shaken up and bruised and is in a Mineral Wells hospital. Doctors say he will be able to leave the sanitarium within a few days.

Horace Butler was killed instantly, never uttering a word after the tragic accident. His death was caused by the severing of a large artery in the region of the heart by a piece of glass that pierced his chest.

The other dead are Carrie Lee May, four year old daughter of Mrs. Buia May, Mineral Wells, and Mrs. Lawrence Bertino, also of Mineral Wells.

According to K. B. Tanner of the Arab Gasoline corporation, who drove to Mineral Wells immediately upon being informed of the tragedy, and talked to Samuel Butler, Horace and Samuel Butler were returning from a business trip to Dallas. They passed through Mineral Wells at 7 p. m. Samuel was driving the car. About three miles west of Mineral Wells a little boy and girl, the boy holding the girl's hand, stood at the side of the road watching a car approaching from the opposite direction to that which the Butler car was traveling. They apparently did not see the Butler car.

OGLESBY WILL BE RETURNED TO ABILENE

ABILENE, Feb. 14 — As the result of an indictment returned by the grand jury here Thursday charging murder, Cole Oglesby, held in the Tarrant county jail after being shot by a deputy during his arrest several days ago, will be returned here shortly to face trial for the killing of R. H. Johnson in August, 1928, during a night of terror in this city and surrounding country.

Sheriff H. T. Obar was notified that Oglesby has recovered sufficiently from his wounds to be brought here and he plans to go after the prisoner in a few days.

Johnson was shot to death by one of two bandits who held up several parked cars on the Abilene country club road, kidnapped one couple and mistreated several women. After fatally wounding Johnson, the bandits held up Harry Demetree, wrestler, and his woman companion, commanded his auto and forced him to drive them almost to Coleman where the two were released uninjured. Murder charges were filed against Oglesby here following his arrest.

Guns Blaze as Bandits Raid Telegraph Office; Two Guards and Gunman Die

DETROIT, Feb. 14 — Death by bandit bullets stared Ash Blues in fact he stepped on an alarm button in the Western Union Telegraph company's main downtown office last night, precipitating a succession of gun battles that left two special guards and a bandit dead and a policeman critically wounded.

"Greeting, everybody, we're back again," called the Lanky leader of a trio of gunmen who strode into the office at 9:30 p. m. and the nine employees present knew the bandits who had staged a holdup there on February 4 were back to add to the several hundred dollars they got then.

There was a sharp command to "line up against the wall and whoever sounds an alarm sounds his death signal." As the nine employees and lone customer hastened to comply, Blues set his foot on a button that sounded a siren in the offices of the American Still Alarm company in the same building.

Arthur Heron, a guard, ran down and opened fire on the bandits. Instantly the room was roaring with guns. Two other alarm company guards, Jess Catlin 38, and John Scott, 46, joined Heron. An instant later the two newcomers fell mortally wounded.

One bandit, unidentified early today, was killed in the next discharge.

G. O. P. WILL WOO EXILED DEMOCRATS

Creager Says That Resolution Will Be Adopted

DALLAS, Feb. 14.—Texas Democrats who are dissatisfied with their own party will be invited to become permanent members of the Republican organization in a resolution to be adopted by the state Republican executive committee here Saturday.

The announcement was made today by R. B. Creager of Brownsville, republican national committeeman, who is here for the Saturday conference.

"Texas democrats are in a bad situation," Creager said. "There will be many malcontents, no matter which way the primaries go this summer, and no matter which way the courts hold in regard to Hoover democrats entitled to a place on the ticket. It is a case of 'damned if you do and damned if you don't.'"

Creager said the democratic state committee, by its action indicating it would bar Senator Tom Love from the ticket, has divided the party into two groups—the preferred and the common stockholders. The preferred, Creager said, can vote and run for office while the common can only vote.

"We are ready to get together with the Hoover democrats and at this time it looks very much like some real alliance might be worked out."

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 14. — Printed reports that Henry Ford was planning to spend as much as $100,000,000 to further technical education in the United States were confirmed today by him.

Wire Fence Saves Child

BALLINGER, Feb. 14.—A barb wire fence, similar to that which stretches for hundreds of miles over the Panhandle country, was today credited with saving the life of three-year-old Carl Nance.

Carl was pitched 40 feet through the air when his father's automobile turned over, the little boy's clothing catching in the fence. His mother, riding in the machine with him, picked him off the fence unhurt, but badly frightened by a curious steer that rushed up to stare.

DEMANDS OF FRENCH AND JAPS HEARD

LONDON, Feb. 14 — The demands of France and Japan occupied the naval conference delegates today while they attempted to bring the stated naval requirements of those countries toward harmony with the views of the United States and Britain.

Before the delegates scattered for the usual weekend rest, the chief delegates of Britain, America and France met at St. James palace and discussed the French demands as presented yesterday in a memorandum setting forth a formidable naval program.

While the discussion was in general terms on the French program, it was not revealed whether any progress was made toward conciliating the high French demands with the view points of other powers.

The conference sub-committee of experts also met and unanimously confirmed, with one reservation, a provisional agreement reached at Geneva in 1927 concerning the exemption of smaller classes of ships, such as the United States gunchasers. The only change made was to raise the speed from 15 to 20 knots, which Japan suggested.

Leave Paris

Premier Andre Tardieu and his foreign minister, Aristide Briand, left for Paris at 4 p. m. Briand will return Monday and Tardieu on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The most important development in connection with Japan's statement of her position was the revelation that two proposals had been submitted to the American delegation regarding limitation of auxiliary ships.

The British spokesman, outlining progress of the conference in its first month, listed the following:

1. Continuation of preliminary discussion.
2. Emergency of discussion on categories and global tonnage.
3. Gradual settlement of problems through work of the committee of the whole and production of a table in which figures on naval needs must be inserted, which figures the chief delegates are discussing informally at present. Also the discussion of submarine fleets.

Secretary Adams and Senator Robinson will spend the weekend at Sattmore with Secretary Stimson, who will entertain the British empire delegates Sunday.

ELECTED BY BOARD LATE YESTERDAY

New Superintendent Is Completing Fourth Year at Spur

R. N. Cluck, who is now completing his fourth year as superintendent of the public schools of Spur, Texas, was yesterday afternoon elected superintendent of the Cisco public schools, succeeding J. J. Youngblood, who announced some time ago that he would not offer for re-election, having accepted the superintendence of the consolidated schools at Mart.

Mr. Cluck, who is 36 years of age, comes to Cisco very highly recommended and with an impressive record of success behind him. His period of service at Mart has resulted in the building up of those schools to a point where they now have 25 units of affiliation with the University of Texas as well as affiliation with the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. The latter affiliation is regarded as very distinctive inasmuch as few schools of even the size of Cisco have attained that recognition.

6 Years at Hubbard

Prior to going to Mart, Mr. Cluck was for six years head of the Hubbard City system. His success at Mart and his very able man, capable of over the local schools after splendid administration of Mr. Youngblood and carrying on the progressive development that the Cisco institutions have enjoyed during the past three years.

At Hubbard Mr. Cluck's versatility was revealed in the fact that as an instructor he developed two state championship debating teams, while fostering both the literary and athletic development of the schools along lines consistent with progressive school administration.

During his service at Hubbard he built the affiliation of that school to 36 units and placed it, also, on the list of schools accredited with the southern association.

Degrees

His scholastic record is very commendatory. He holds degrees from a number of large universities, including Baylor University at Waco, which school was his alma mater.

He is 36 years of age and has been married less than one year.

DEBATE OVER HUGHES ISSUE FLARES AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The pronouncement by the Hughes opposition that it would carry on its fight at the ballot box brought about a renewal in the senate today of the historic debate of the past four days.

Like Banquo's ghost, this issue will return to you," Chairman Norris of the senate judiciary committee, said. Norris, leader of the unsuccessful contest against confirmation of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, added that "it will return until the common people have their absolute justice. Hughes is out of the picture now."

The Nebraska independent followed Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, another Hughes opponent, who had warned the senate that the issue which was developed in the Hughes debate would be carried to the ballot box.

The two Hughes' opponents were answered by Senator Vandenberg, republican, Michigan, who insisted this was no new fight and that it was a fight to impose the will of the legislature upon the judiciary. He said that had been tried many times in history and that it would be unsuccessful. He warned against change in the constitution and argued that its maintenance was more important to the people than transient issues.

Poetic Confession to Murder of Her Husband May Release Father of Woman

ASHLAND, Miss., Feb. 14 — A confession in poetry to the murder of Marvin Drew, her husband, brought Mrs. Pearl Gunter Drew, 30, into court here today for a sentence which probably will release her father, T. G. Gunter, from a 25-year prison term for the same crime.

No murder in recent Mississippi history has presented more strange angles. Mrs. Drew's confession, put to simple meter in a letter to Governor Theodore G. Bilbo, gained Gunter's temporary release. Now he is aiding the defense of his daughter, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter yesterday.

"This poison 'mule,' dear people, 'Did cause this incident," she said, Mrs. Drew confessed.

Kittens Wallop Little Rock Team in Merry Battle

IS FIRST WIN FOR GIRLS ON PRESENT TOUR

Sextet Rests Tonight Before Saturday Tilt With Sparkman

Cheering news comes today from Coach H. R. "Pop" Garrett and his Randolph college Kittens who are touring Arkansas in a series of games with outstanding girls basketball teams of that section. With three straight defeats plastered against their record, defeats that were blamed upon "too much traveling" the Kittens last night defeated the team which they feared most of all the opponents scheduled to face them on the tour.

The Little Rock Independents, commercial club which has swept everything before it during the present season, succumbed to the onslaught of the rejuvenated Kittens by a score of 28 to 21.

It was a good, hard-fought contest, according to Coach Garrett's wife, Fulford, whose unerring accuracy was the outstanding feature of the Kittens' top-heavy defeat of the Walkover Shoe company sextet here recently, was the high point player in the game.

The Kittens will not play this evening, taking a well earned rest before engaging the mighty Sparkman sextet at Sparkman, Arkansas, Saturday night.

RANGER MAN GOES TO WORK FEELING FINE

Ranger Farmer Had Been in Badly Run-Down Condition for Three Months—Relieved by Orgatone.

"I just get better and better with every bottle of Orgatone," declared J. T. Walton, an industrious and reliable farmer residing on rural route No. 1, eight miles southeast of Ranger, Texas, "and I think so much of it I am recommending the medicine to my friends."

"It was in a general run-down condition for the past three months," Mr. Walton continued, "my food didn't digest right and my whole system seemed to be out of order. My stomach felt like there was a lump of lead in it regularly after every meal and I would catch up sour, sickening gas. I would get dizzy like I was going to reel over and would see spots floating before my eyes. I was very nervous and lost right smart of sleep and some nights didn't sleep a wink all night long. In the morning I felt all tired out and fairly dreading to get up and go out to the field to work."

"I read so much in the papers here about Orgatone, I got some and I'm now on my second bottle and can truthfully say I feel better with every dose and feel good all over. I haven't had a dizzy spell or over a month and my stomach is getting all O. K. I am getting rid of all clogged-up feeling and constipation don't bother me like it did. My nerves are quiet and I have restful sleep every night and get up in the morning refreshed and can go out to the fields and go at my work feeling fine. Orgatone is the best medicine I ever saw and I cannot help but say a good word for it."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Cisco at the Dean Drug Store—Adv.

12 NEW MEN ARE ADDED TO ATHLETICS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 — Twelve new players have been added to the world champion Philadelphia Athletics in preparation for the 1930 pennant race, but none of them may break into the regular lineup.

Barring injuries and illness, the Athletics probably will begin the season with practically the same group of players which won the American league flag by 16 games and crushed the Chicago Cubs in the world series four games to one.

In acquiring new players, Connie Mack seems to be preparing for the time when the veterans of his 1929 club will have to step aside rather than for the approaching season.

Six of the Athletics' dozen new-

CISCO TEAMS GO TO BRECK FOR 2 GAMES

Lobos and Queens Will Play Saturday Evening

Two hard contests are on the schedule for Miss Blanche Shear's Lobo Queens and Leonard Hill's Lobos this week end. Both teams are invading the domain of the Breckenridge Bucknottes and Buckaroos for games Saturday evening.

This will mark the first meeting between the Lobos and the Buckaroos each of which holds the championship of their county. The Queens and the Bucknottes, however, have met once before, the Queens winning a hard-fought contest.

Players are under 21. Of the entire group only one, Wally Schang, is a veteran. Schang, 39, comes back to the A's from the St. Louis Browns in exchange for third baseman Sammy Hale. Schang is quite likely to replace Ralph Perkins as second-string catcher. Mickey Cochrane again will do the bulk of the catching.

Little change is expected of the pitching staff. Bob Grove, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg will share the pitching burden, assisted by Bill Shores, Ed Rommel, Jack Quinn and Howard Ehmke.

Three Bright Prospects

There are, however, three bright prospects among the six new pitchers. They are Leroy Mahaffey from Portland, who had brief trials with Pittsburgh in 1926 and 1927, John McGraw from Omaha; and Glenn Liebhardt, Jr., of Des Moines, son of a former American league pitcher.

Mahaffey won 21 games and lost 24 last season. He pitched 358 innings and fanned 172 batters, being second in both respects among Pacific coast league pitchers.

In his first year of professional baseball last season with Omaha, McGraw won 24 games and lost 10. Liebhardt, also in his first year with Des Moines, won 11 and lost 8 for a last-place team.

The other three additions to the pitching staff are George Snider, 18-year-old youngster from Portland; Alfred Maron, a young south-paw signed as a free agent; and Alfred Jones, a free-agent who played with Martinsburg, W. Va., last season.

There is a possibility of some change in the Athletics' infield if Max Bishop's eyes bother him or Joe Doley is not in tip-top shape. If these two veterans are well and secure, the infield will again be composed of Fox at first, Bishop at second, Boley at short and Dykes at third.

SPORT SHOTS

DALLAS — Tulsa pack chasers will display their wares before local ice hockey fans with the Dallas Ice Kings providing the opposition next Sunday and Monday nights. Efforts to bring the Oklahoma team here have been under way two weeks, and officials have announced that an agreement has been reached.

DALLAS — Billy Edwards, chiropractic headlock artist of Kansas City, and Able Coleman, who features the flying tackle, have been booked for a grappling bout here Monday night. The pair were matched once, but injuries suffered by Edwards in an automobile accident forced a substitution.

DALLAS — Forest Avenue high school, traditional rivals of Oak Cliff high, collimated the Leopards' last chance to place in the city series basketball derby by administering a severe drubbing, 31 to 9, yesterday. In so doing the Lions turned good Samaritans to Sunset high, passing them the championship free gratis.

The Cliffites got back in the running by handing Sunset its sole defeat of the season earlier this week, only to have their hopes dashed by the green wave.

The game climaxed one of the most hectic game tourneys the city has ever known.

Students Claim Victory in Battle With Policemen

ALBION, Mich., Feb. 14 — Victory was claimed today by 250 Albion college students who last night battled state and city police, crashing in jail doors to rescue comrades arrested, mobbing a moving van pressed into service as a patrol wagon, smashing windows in a theatre and eventually giving way before tear gas bombs.

An attempt to "crash" the theatre while celebrating the winning of a basketball game from Alma college led to the riot.

About 50 students slipped into the theatre from the rear and were trapped by three state and two city police. Outside the other students milled about, threatening to storm in. Twenty of them were hurried to jail but a student rescue squad broke down the doors with pickaxes and liberated them.

A call for reinforcements brought two state officers from Jackson with tear gas bombs. They were not used, however, until an attempt to take students to the county jail at Marshall, 29 miles away, in a big moving van, had failed. The collegians had too great a numerical advantage and as fast as some were placed in the van others released them.

Finally police resorted to the bombs and the rioters were dispersed. All the students imprisoned in the theatre were released after giving their names. One youth charged with resisting an officer, was held. A large plate glass window in the theatre was broken and the manager's automobile was overturned.

Haskell — Perry Bros. purchased 5 variety stores in this section.

Revision of Primary Vote System Asked

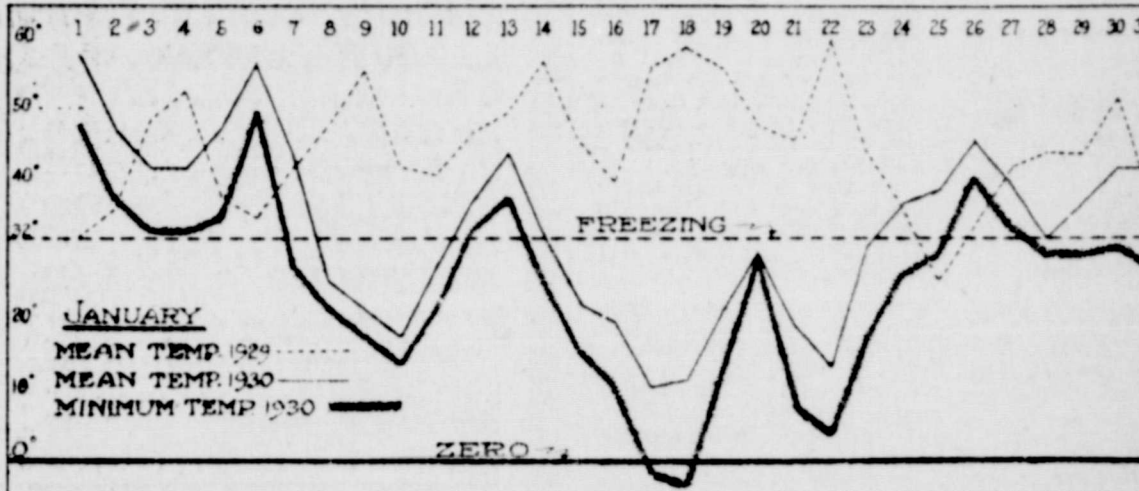

DALLAS, Feb. 14 — Revision of the primary election system in Texas is asked in a statement issued by George S. Atkinson, chairman of the Dallas county Republican executive committee, who claims the G. O. P. does not enjoy its rights under the present system.

Atkinson contends the state should abolish the fee system, pay county officers reasonable salaries, and use the money to pay for the primaries, and let the Republican and Democratic parties select their nominees at the same election. Four year terms for county and state officers also was urged by Atkinson.

Lexington to have modern telephone system.

YES... the COLDEST Weather in 30 Years!

No one needed a thermometer to tell him that it was COLD—bitterly cold—during most of January! But it is interesting to check up after it is all over and see just how cold it was. This chart, based on temperature readings at a representative point in Lone Star territory, tells the story. Note the wide difference between January, 1930, and January, 1929. Twenty-three days this January were colder than the same days the preceding January. The average mean temperature was 33 degrees (just one degree above freezing) this year against an average mean of 45 degrees last year.

Remember, we have been referring to "mean" temperature—AVERAGE temperatures for each day. The minimum or low-point readings as shown on the chart give the LOWEST TEMPERATURES registered each day in January, 1930. Two successive days registered BELOW ZERO—January 17th, 1 degree below zero, January 18th, 3 degrees below zero. The first subzero weather in 30 years—the coldest weather since 1899! Gas heating demands SHOT UP to unprecedented heights! From a temperature standpoint, fuel requirements in January, 1930, were increased 88% over December, 1929!

14 Days Showed Mean Temperature of 32 Degrees (Freezing) or Below in January, 1930, Against Only 2 Such Days in January, 1929

Here's just another point, in passing. While, according to past experience, we'll probably not have such cold weather again for many years, yet the Lone Star Gas System must maintain capacity facilities through cold and warm weather, in winter and in summer. Millions of dollars in pipe lines and compressor stations, an army of trained, experienced men and women, must be kept functioning practically at peak capacity regardless of rapidly fluctuating gas demands. It is a duty as well as a privilege to maintain the Lone Star Gas System always at the highest point of efficiency in order that the more than a million people who depend on our lines for gas may have it regardless of weather.

GRETA GARBO IS COMING TO CISCO FIRST

Screen fans of this section who have come to regard Cisco as a leader in the presentation of high class motion picture entertainment have new evidence this week of that leadership. Saturday evening at 10:30 The Palace theatre of this city will present the Texas premier—first showing in the state—of Greta Garbo's "Anna Christie."

In "Anna Christie" this seductive star, whose blonde beauty was borrowed from the scintillating charms of her native Scandinavia, speaks from the screen for the first time. This fact adds to the attraction which the very emotional vehicle in which she appears possesses.

Greta Garbo, blonde, statuesque and beautiful, became one of the foremost actresses of Europe almost overnight, and since her affiliation with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer late in 1925, has become one of the most discussed motion picture figures in the world.

Miss Garbo, whose new film, "Anna Christie" is her first talking film, was a pupil of the Royal Academy of Art in Stockholm, her late husband's sister, played the leading role in his picture, "The Story of Gustav Berling," adapted from Selma Lagerlof's Nobel Prize story. She made a hit and her success swept over Europe. Offers from UFA and other continental companies were not accepted by Miss Garbo, who preferred to stay in Sweden with the Svenska Film Industries while building a strong foundation in the art of screen acting.

Real opportunity came to Miss Garbo, however, in 1925 when Louis B. Mayer, vice-president in charge of production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, met her in Berlin. It did not take Miss Garbo long to sign the contract which Mr. Mayer offered her and which was followed by her amazing 300 performances in "Fanny" and "The Temptress" and "Flesh and the Devil." This last picture, in which John Gilbert played opposite her, proved such a sensational hit that Miss Garbo was co-starred with Gilbert in "Love."

Box-office records fell everywhere. The young Swedish actress had become the most talked of celebrity of the year. In her next roles, in "The Divine Woman" and "The Mysterious Lady," Miss Garbo added still more to the reputation she had built up. "A Woman of Affairs," the picture just released, in which she is again co-starred with Gilbert, gives evidence of being an even bigger success than "Flesh and the Devil" and "Love."

Miss Garbo's new starring film, "Anna Christie" is a picture that gives every opportunity for her display of physical charm, for the full expression of her vivid personality and for the exercise of her dramatic talent.

HATS DELUGE MAYOR

It is said that the mayor is giving serious consideration to making a campaign for re-election two years from now, on a platform of "a hat for every man."

A Wonderful Help to Mothers

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription" was a wonderful help and comfort to me as a tonic and nerve. I found it especially beneficial during pregnancy. It kept me in such good condition that I was able to do my work, hardly realizing my condition, and when a woman gets along without suffering at this time her mental condition is greatly helped. Also Prescription babies are healthier and stronger.

ACCIDENTS

as the little girl started to run across the highway immediately in front of the Butler car. Horace saw the child and cried out to Samuel. Samuel, in an effort to avoid running the little girl down, swerved his car off the highway and into a shallow ditch and then attempted to bring it back onto the highway to prevent its turning turtle. As he did so something not yet determined, prevented its steering gear from working properly and the car suddenly turned across the highway just in time to strike the approaching car of Bertino and his wife.

Child Killed Instantly.

It was thought that possibly the child's body or some part of a part on which a mail box was attached and which was struck by the Butler car, caused Samuel Butler to lose control of it.

The child was killed almost instantly. Bertino and his wife, with Samuel Butler, were rushed to a hospital where Mrs. Bertino died a few hours after the accident and Bertino died early this morning. Mrs. Horace Butler, accompanied by John Turner, Eastland attorney, and Frank Weaver of the Arab Gasoline corporation, etc. Eastland car is today for Mineral Wells from which point it will accompany the body of Horace Butler to West Chester, Pa., the old family home.

of the Butlers and the birth place of Horace, where funeral and burial services will be held. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, brother of Horace and Samuel, and Paul Avery, a brother of Mrs. Horace Butler, will meet the party in St. Louis and accompany them to West Chester.

Widow and 2 Children.

Horace Butler is survived by his widow and two small daughters, Helen Avery and Mary. Mrs. Avery, mother of Mrs. Butler, who makes her home with the family, is in Eastland and will remain here with the children while Mrs. Butler is away. Mr. Butler's mother, aged widow of the late Congressman Thomas S. Butler of Pennsylvania, also survives.

Horace Butler was born April 20, 1893. He, with his brother, came to Eastland in 1922 and took charge of the Arab Gasoline corporation, which had been organized by themselves and associates just about that time. In addition to their office in Eastland the corporation also maintains an office in Philadelphia. They operate some three or four gasoline plants in this section and employ a large force of men, both in their office and in the field. Mr. Butler was an officer in the United States navy during the World war and served with distinction. He served Eastland citizens as president of their chamber of commerce in 1925 and was always active in civic, social and religious affairs.

PROHIBITION CONTROVERSY ENJOYS LULL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—A respite from the prohibition controversy, which has virtually monopolized attention of the house since the first of the year, gave leaders on both sides an opportunity to take inventory of their gains and losses today.

Both wets and dries claimed to have won advantages in the conflict.

Wets hailed as an important victory the change given them by the judiciary committee to focus public attention on the measures they are sponsoring for modification and repeal of the 18th amendment by conducting open hearings. Never before has any official committee of the house held hearings on repeal resolutions.

Drys pointed with satisfaction to the progress made on President Hoover's program for reform of enforcement agencies. A bill transferring the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the justice department has been passed by a large majority. A judiciary subcommittee is working on several other measures recommended by the administration to tighten enforcement.

The dry judiciary committee recessed late yesterday after listening for two days to attacks on the 18th amendment and legislators who support it. Hearings will be resumed next Wednesday with wets allowed two full days to complete their case and dries an equal allotment of time.

GOT RID OF INDIGESTION

Georgia Man Suffered Until He Took Black-Draught On Mother's Advice.

Athens, Ga.—"I am a user of Black-Draught and consider it a splendid medicine," says Mr. M. E. Adams, 157 Barrett Street, this city. "It is fine for biliousness. I am glad to recommend it. I was suffering from indigestion and gas pains in my stomach. I would smother and would hurt between my shoulders. I would heat and have such a fullness in my breast—feeling like a long breath would help me a lot. My mother had used Black-Draught and advised me to try it. As I was so uncomfortable, I took it. Taking a small dose after meals soon relieved me, and from then until now I have been a steady customer. Black-Draught has kept me in good shape."

Black-Draught has been in use since 1825, with constantly increasing popularity because of the good it has done the men, women and children who have taken it.

Composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots, finely powdered, easy to take. No disagreeable after-effects.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Cameron, New York typist, marries Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house in which she is employed. Knight is a widower with a daughter, Tony, 16, in Paris, and a son, Junior, 16, at school. When Tony returns home she denounces Judith as a gold digger.

Tony is secretly continuing a flirtation with Mickey Mortimer, wealthy and married. When Knight comes home for the Christmas holidays he also treats Judith coldly. Andy Craig, whom Knight has helped through college, takes a position with the publishing firm. He has been in love with Tony for a long while. Tony tries to convince her father that Andy and Judith are carrying on an affair. Knight denies this but Tony tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Knight becomes seriously ill with pneumonia. Two nurses are installed in the household. Knight's recuperation is slow and Judith is resentful because he seems to prefer Tony's company to hers. Kathryn Tupper, Knight's secretary, comes to the house on a business errand.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI
"Oh—I didn't know anyone was here!" Judith exclaimed.
Tony Knight had been standing close to her father's private secretary. Tony's head was bent and both of them had been intent on the conversation. The pair, startled by Judith's sudden appearance, Miss Tupper's face was tinged with a purplish flush, as she looked up.

The younger girl was first to speak.
"Never mind," said Tony sweetly. "I'm driving Miss Tupper into town."

"How very nice," Judith answered, her brain trying to make the leap which this sudden consideration for others on Tony's part demanded.

Kathryn Tupper was wearing hat and coat. Tony darted toward the closet where wraps were kept and emerged with a woolen topcoat and beret.

"We're off!" she said gaily and the two left the house.

Judith watched them go down the steps. Tony circled the house, evidently headed for the garage, leaving Miss Tupper to wait rather uncertainly by the driveway.

Presently there came the jaunty notes of a French motor horn and Tony, driving the buff-colored roadster, appeared. She stopped the car, threw open a door, and Miss Tupper stepped in. Another minute and they were gone.

Now, what in the world—?
Judith Knight puzzled for some time over her stepdaughter's sudden interest in Kathryn Tupper. Had Tony really meant to drive into the city or was that an inspiration of the moment?

Of course it didn't matter. It didn't matter in the least! Judith told herself this over and over and all the while she was aware of icy little stabs of fear which pierced her composure like needles. Kathryn Tupper hated her and did not even conceal the fact. Tony hated her, too.

There was nothing to be gained by worry. Instead, Judith forced herself to overcome the mood. She went looking for Arthur but he had gone upstairs to rest before dinner. Judith had to content herself with a novel.

An hour and a half later Tony returned and at seven o'clock the Knight family were served dinner.

No evidence of new peril reached Judith until the following morning.

Ordinarily the postman reached the house with the morning mail at 10 o'clock. Breakfast had been finished and Judith was in the kitchen, discussing the day's menu with Cora, when Harriet entered the room.

"Oh, Mrs. Knight," she said, "if I'd known you were here I'd have brought your letter."

"A letter for me?" Judith asked.

Harriet nodded.

"Yes, ma'am. The postman was here not 10 minutes ago and I put the mail in the basket on the living room table. There were some papers too. Shall I get the letter?"

"Never mind," Judith told her. "I'll be through in a few minutes and then I'll stop for it. Thank you, Harriet."

"Yes, ma'am."

There were several reasons why Judith Knight did not wish to appear concerned over news that a letter had arrived for her. Therefore she was particularly casual, lingered for several minutes to complete the marketing list and then left the kitchen.

She went directly to the living room. On the reading table in a colorful Italian basket lay several letters.

Judith searched through them.

Mr. Arthur Knight, Arthur Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knight (a wedding announcement), Miss Antoinette Knight, Mr. A. S. Knight—and that was all!

Judith fingered the pile through again hastily. There was no letter.

er in the basket addressed to her. She stepped away from the table, glanced under it on the floor. Harriet must have dropped the letter.

But there was nothing on the floor.

Some newspapers and larger envelopes lay beside the basket. Judith turned these through hastily. She searched the basket again. Then she went into the hall, opened the door and looked in the mailbox.

She rang a bell and the maid appeared.

"Harriet, did you say there was a letter for me? I don't find it."

Harriet bobbed her head affirmatively.

"Yes, ma'am. There was a letter. A gray envelope and your name in big, plain writing. I put it here with the rest."

Now it was the maid who picked up the collection of letters and went through them.

"Well, but I know it was here, ma'am. Where's it gone to?"

"You're sure you saw the letter?"

Emphatically Harriet answered, "Yes, ma'am! And I know I put it right here with the rest."

Two little frowns appeared on Judith's forehead. "It certainly does seem strange," she murmured.

"Yes, ma'am. It certainly does."

Together they searched again. This time, quite ridiculously, Judith looked in drawers, picked up books, shook out magazines. It was all unavailing.

"But I saw it!" Harriet insisted stubbornly. "Honestly, Mrs. Knight, I had that letter right in my hand and put it in this basket."

"All right, Harriet. I'll believe you. Perhaps the house is haunted, —anyhow we have a local mystery to solve. I suppose it will turn up some time."

Judith was trying to conceal her agitation. She went up the stairs to her own room and closed the door. Then she sat at her writing desk and pulled out the lower drawer. There was a small metal box there. She turned the key and drew the lid back.

There lay a dozen pale gray envelopes. All of them were identical. The letter on top bore, in large, flowing inscription, "Mrs. Arthur Knight."

Judith drew the pages from the envelope. There were several close written sheets. The date on the first page was March 15. That was three weeks ago.

Slowly she read and re-read the missive, folded it and replaced it back in the box. She turned the lock and put the box in his hiding place again.

Then she sat, staring through the window.

At luncheon Judith appeared preoccupied. Tony and Arthur did most of the talking. Tony throughout her father's illness had certainly changed in manner. Whenever she was in the same room with Knight—and she spent much time with him—the girl was tenderly attentive. Even her vocabulary was new. Flippant phrases and sophisticated patter were gone. The one mannerism which did remain was Tony's habit of making everyone else turn their attention toward her. Now that she was the meek and dutiful daughter Tony held the spotlight just as she had in her less restrained moods.

Judith listened to the others for some time. Then she said: "I'm going into town this afternoon, Arthur. Any errands I can do for you?"

"Not that I think of."

"Oh, Judith," Tony Knight purred softly, "will you take me with you? I've an engagement and I had Bert put my car up to have the brakes repaired."

"Why?" Judith floundered clumsily. "Why—yes, of course—if you're not in too big a hurry. I won't be leaving until fairly late."

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

Judith was furious at herself.

She could feel the warm pink that had risen in her cheeks.
"Four o'clock?" asked Tony.
"The older girl hesitated.
"Well—about 4:30."
"That is late," Tony mused.
"You can't do much in town after 4:30—late. Judith, still I'll run along if you don't mind. I can telephone and tell Paula I'll meet her at five instead of 4:30."

Though she minded quite intensely Judith concealed her objections and said she would be glad to have Tony accompany her.

Arthur Knight looked worried. "You're not stopping in town for dinner, are you, Judith?"

"Oh, no. No. I'll be home long before dinner. Just a little errand on my mind. That's all."

Inwardly Judith was rebelling. Why, when everything she did had ignored for weeks should Arthur and Tony suddenly take such interest? Why—particularly—today?

The problem of the letter that had disappeared still perplexed Judith. She had not thought to connect its disappearance with Tony.

Kathryn Tupper did not visit the house that afternoon. It was a day when routine duties were pressing and kept her in the office. Arthur wandered about the house like a lost soul. This, combined with other worries, proved to Judith most distracting.

At 3:30 she decided to begin dressing. By dragging the process out as long as possible Judith managed to remain upstairs until nearly an hour later. When she entered the living room Tony was waiting, perched on the arm of her father's chair, one hand resting on his shoulder.

"Ready?" she asked.

Judith said that she was. Soon after Bert came to the door to say the car was waiting.

"Bye-bye, darling! Promise you won't be lonesome."

Tony had thrown both arms about her father's neck and kissed him affectionately. He smiled, told her he wouldn't miss them for a moment and that they should run along.

Judith brushed Knight's cheek with her lips. It was like a hurried formality. The man glanced at her quietly but Judith had turned her head and did not even once look back. She did not want him to know her eyes were misted.

Then they went out of the house and as they rolled down the driveway Tony glanced backward and waved a gay salute to her father. He was watching from the hall window, but Judith did not signal.

It was 24 minutes' drive into the city. Tony kept up a constant stream of chatter and Judith was grateful. It made it easier for her to remain quiet.

"Where do you want me to leave you?" she asked as they crossed the great span which bridges the East river.

"Oh, I'm not particular. Would Park avenue and Fifty-second be convenient?"

"Of course."

Judith gave the chauffeur these instructions. Shortly afterward Bert drew the big car to the curb neatly and stopped. He stepped out and held open the door.

"Well, here I am! See you later, Judith. Thanks millions for dropping me."

"Goodbye," said Judith. "It wasn't anything, of course."

Tony looked at the sidewalk as the limousine moved away. Then she looked up and down the street.

"Taxi," she called to a liveried doorman. "Get me a taxi!"

A vivid-hued cab pulled to the curb. Tony Knight, still keeping an eye on her father's limousine, made a dash for it.

"Follow that maroon car!" she told the driver. "Don't get too close."

Hunched up on the seat of the cab so that she could see better, Tony rode, staring at the car in the distance. Bitterness and unconcealed malice were written on her face. In her right hand she crushed and uncrushed an object. It was a letter and its envelope was gray.

WHY ADMIRAL BYRD WANTS TO GET HOME

PATH TROD BY MINISTER NOT BED OF ROSES

By RICHARD L. HARKNESS
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Feb. 14 — While the way of the transgressor may be hard, the path trod by the modern minister is no bed of roses. Dr. McAlister B. McAfee, moderator of the Presbyterian church of the United States and professor of theology at Chicago seminary, said here today.

Three problems — prohibition, marriage and divorce and the trend of higher education away from religion — face the modern minister and his church, Doctor McAfee declared.

"Our divorce records can be attributed directly to hasty marriages," Doctor McAfee said. "When a man takes a girl not old enough to know her own mind enters the state line and has the ceremony performed by a justice of the peace, that marriage is foredoomed to failure," he said in commenting on laws in some states which demand films of intentions before a marriage license can be procured.

Doctor McAfee is here attending a conference of Texas Presbyterian ministers and church laymen.

The modern minister must differentiate between the Christian conceptions of marriage and the civil conception, according to Doctor McAfee.

"Prohibition is a modern problem the ministers of yesterday were not asked to face," Doctor McAfee said.

"The trend of higher education undoubtedly is away from religion. New truths a day hitherto unfound facts are being discovered so fast that our old religion, heavy and cumbersome, has not kept pace. As long as religion lags, churches can not hope to draw people who have advanced with education."

"In order to fulfill his purpose, the modern minister must vitalize himself, preach sermons in a step with progress and cease quibbling over minor theological creeds."

CITIZENS JOIN POLICE IN WAR ON GANGLAND

By RAY BLACK
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 — Embattled citizens fought shoulder to shoulder with the unpaid police today against the outlaws of boulevard and back alley.

Badges of two bandits lay on steel in morgues and two robbers were in hospitals to mark the end of the fifth day in the city's campaign against organized crime and its tribute to the marksmanship and bravery of citizenry and police.

The 3,000th suspect had been rounded up as sound cars cruised all parts of the city, seizing every individual who appeared to have possible connection with the underworld. In the last 24 hours, 572 men were arrested. Seven carried guns and are liable to indictment by the federal grand jury.

Determination of shopkeepers and housewives to aid the police and the powerful and secret committee of big business headed by Robert Johnson Randolph was the latest phase of the anti-crime war.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain drugs and the habit-forming menace.
Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:
"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at the same time."
"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded.
In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Seek Exemption From Medical Act
Members of the Christian Science church want Christian Scientists excluded from proposed restrictive medical legislation in Texas. They point out that proponents of restrictive medical legislation indicate a determination to re-introduce their program into the fourth session of the legislature, and cite among other reasons why Christian Scientists should be excluded, the following:
Both the Congress of the United States and the British Parliament have recognized the right of Christian Scientists to have their practice exempted from medical statutes.
Over forty of the United States have exempted the practice of spiritual healing from their medical practice acts either explicitly or in general terms; not more than five states, including Texas, now actually restrict the practice of Christian Science.
Courts have held that freedom of practice of religious or spiritual healing is in accord with constitutional guarantees, and that a "natural, intrinsic and reasonable ground" exists for exempting healing from medical acts.

Valentine Day Welcome Event to Chicagoans

By MERTON T. AKERS

United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Obliging valentines of blue inscribed with figures, dollar signs and the signature of the controller of the city of Chicago brought jubilation to 18,000 public employees today.

Their long deferred and almost despair of payday climaxed a brief period crowded with developments in the financial crisis. Within an hour after City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson announced that $1,849,005 would be disbursed as pay for the first two weeks of January, Mayor William Hale Thompson was reported to have capitulated to the citizens' relief committee headed by attorney Elias H. Strawn.

That was the bright side of the situation. Still in the shadow of uncertainty were the other 25,000 workers in county, school and municipal departments for whom valentine's day was only another bleak and impoverished Friday.

Hopes of relief for them dwindled with the statement of Herbert C. Heller, New York investment banker, indicating his firm would not purchase tax anticipation warrants. That development quashed hopes that some $27,000,000 could be raised soon with his aid.

The money the first city workers had received since late December, had accumulated in city coffers from license fees and vehicle taxes.

Three Bandits Stage as Many Holdups

DALLAS, Feb. 14.—Apparently working a systematic plan, a trio of bandits staged as many holdups here last night, while their operation was augmented by that of two other independents, the aggregate loot being $430. Frantic efforts by police department resulted in one capture.

J. W. Garner was robbed at the point of a gun of $329.50, proceeded from a load of truck he was returning from marketing. Four oil stations were hit in short order, losses in most cases being small. A lone bandit first posing as an officer took a watch and 60 cents from two couples in South Dallas.

At one of the oil stations, the bandits paused long enough to give Cletus McKenzie, 7, who happened to be in the office, a handful of the pennies they had removed from the cash register.

Dallas Postmaster Due to Be Topic

DALLAS, Feb. 14.—Appointment of a postmaster for Dallas is expected to be one of the important issues when the state Republican executive committee meets here in special session tomorrow.

The call for the meeting was issued by Eugene Nolte of Seguin, state chairman. Disqualification of Heber Page as an applicant by the civil service commission is said to have surprised state Republican leaders, including R. B. Creager, national committeeman. Page was active in the presidential campaign in 1928, and always has taken an important part in Republican politics in the state.

Neither Nolte nor other party chieftains would divulge the exact nature of the special meeting, but the Dallas postmastership is certain to be a topic, it is understood.
