US Fifth Fleet Whittles At Jap Naval Force; Sinks Four Ships

Flustered Nips, Surprised At Gigantic Attack, Flee Without Counterattacking

House-To-House Fighting Goes On In Port City

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22 (AP)—Hard-driving American infantry fought house-to-house with the Germans today for possession of Cherbourg and in swift advances on the east and west threatened to cut Nazi forces on the peninsula into three segments.

Supreme headquarters said it lacked any knowledge of a reported American ultimatum by field radio to the Cherbourg garrison demanding surrender by 7 a. m. Greenwich Meridian Time, today (2 a. m. Central War Time).

It was assumed that if the ultimatum was made it was rejected and that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had ordered a final attack.

On the American left flank, the U.S. infantrymen plunged to within three miles of the sea in the vicinity of St. Croix-Hague, a village seven miles west of Cherbourg astride the main highway to Cap De La Hague, where some German forces are reported seeking at least temporary refuge.

On the right a fast-moving column appeared to a point almost as close to the northern coast by reaching the Saire river near the village of Le Thell, less than five miles east and slightly south of Cherbourg.

Except for the swift encircling drive on Cherbourg, there was little activity on the beachhead.

The assault on Cherbourg captured the spotlight, but it was apparent Gen. Bradley was striking with vigor to round up the two prongs of the peninsula.

In the close-up fight for Cherbourg the French-built concrete forts—Octeville and Du Roule—about 1,500 yards from the prize harbor—were proving formidable obstacles to the attacking American troops.

The Germans still were rushing to destroy everything in the port and city which could be of use to the Allies.

A dispatch last night from Associated Press quoted French civilians straggling through the lines as saying the Germans in Cherbourg had prepared for a street-by-street defense by knocking holes in the corner of buildings and setting up machine guns and anti-tank guns to cover the approaches.

The minimum recorded at the weather station near the city was 72.

The year's maximum prior to Tuesday's 100 degrees was 96. The city's maximum a year ago Wednesday was 92.

Weather was hotter northward at Lubbock, which recorded the state's high of 108 degrees, suffering the sixth straight day of 100-plus weather.

Ablene, Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Clarendon equaled Big Spring's temperature of 101.

The Associated Press reported three deaths already had been attributed to the heat this week. Funeral services were arranged at Breckenridge for A. R. Alexander, 62, of Baird, who died of heat exhaustion at Wichita Falls Tuesday. Two other heat victims died in Dallas Tuesday.

APPOINTED

DANCER BECOMES 'HANGAR PILOT'—Percy Ritchie (above), former aerobatics dancer, proved so adept at scrambling over planes at the Santa Monica, Calif., Douglas Aircraft company plant, she has been given a rare job among feminine mechanics, that of "hangar pilot." She makes final "close-ups" on wing sections and other adjustments from precarious perches.

FDR Signs GI Bill Of Rights

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the "GI bill of rights" setting up a vast government aid program for veterans of this war.

With congressional leaders and heads of veterans' organizations looking on, the chief executive put his signature to the measure authorizing federal loans, hospitalization, job insurance, schooling and other ex-service benefits estimated to cost between $3,000,000,000 and $6,500,000,000.

The president said the bill carries out most of the recommendations he has made for veterans' and notifies the members of the armed forces that the people at home will not let them down.

He urged additional war service legislation, however, to give veterans social security credit toward old age pensions for the time served in the armed forces and to provide education and unemployment compensation benefits for members of the merchant marine.

Paraphrasing he urged the congress to hasten work on legislation providing compensation for war workers during the industrial shift from war to peace-time manufacturing.

Mrs. Will Rogers Succumbs At Home

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Will Rogers' widow, whom he courted on a bicycle and whom he called "my first sweetheart," is dead.

Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, 65, succumbed at the Rogers ranch home in Santa Monica canyon last night. Relatives said she had been ill for several weeks, and that she suffered a severe attack of influenza in Washington, D. C., during the winter.

Rogers was killed with Flier Wiley Post in an Alaska plane crash in 1935. A month ago today, his body was entombed at Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., his home town. Mrs. Rogers' body likewise will be interred there.

Three children survive: Will Rogers, Jr., former congressman and now an army lieutenant serving overseas; James Rogers, acting publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen, and Miss Mary Rogers, who resided with her mother.

Bombers Plaster Rocket-Firing Area In France

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22 (AP)—A fleet of light and medium bombers carried out a crushing offensive in support of American troops hammering into Cherbourg today, while big forces of American heavy bombers plowing through flak barrages attacked Pas-de-Calais rocket-bomb installations.

The daylight blow followed a night of farflung aerial attacks extending from France to Germany's industrial Ruhr and Berlin—dwarfing the Germans' cross-channel barrage of rocket bombs, which they asserted today are now coming over with incendiary loads.

Last night Berlin was attacked by speedy Mosquitoes while British Lancasters hit Ruhr and Rhineland objectives.

A Moscow communique from the headquarters of the eastern command of the U. S. strategic air force said three bombers and two escorting fighters were lost on the flight to Russian air bases.

Keeping the assault going on the Germans' still active rocket bomb launching bases in the Pas-de-Calais area of France, RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes followed American Liberators and medium bombers over that region yesterday evening and delivered what was officially described as a "devastating" blow at the German installations there.

Forty-six bombers were missing from the widespread British operations, which included mine laying in enemy waters.

The daylight raid against Berlin by a fleet of more than 1,000 U.S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 1,200 escorting fighters was the greatest of the war against the reich capital.

While German flying boats continued drenching through English skies overnight, the mounting weight of bombs dropped on the Pas-de-Calais area indicated the Allies were making progress in their campaign against the launching mechanisms for these projectiles.

East of the battle area bombing was concentrated on the disrupted and choked railway and highway network over which the Germans are striving to push reinforcements.

John Goodfellow, Sr. Succumbs In Angelo

SAN ANGELO, June 22 (AP)—John James Goodfellow, Sr., 87, southwest surveyor whose son gave his name to Goodfellow Field, died at his home here yesterday following a long illness.

Appointed a deputy surveyor in Tarrant county in 1880, Goodfellow was city engineer of Fort Worth and Tarrant county engineer. He moved to San Angelo in 1887.

Surviving are the widow, a daughter, Mrs. H. Massey, San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Mosetta Lucas of Grapevine and two grandsons.

Goodfellow Field here was named for a son, Lt. J. J. Goodfellow who was killed in France in World War I.

Reds Launch Two New Drives Against Finns

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The Red army hurled masses of men and equipment into two new drives on a broad front north of Lake Ladoga today in an effort to make a quick end of the war with Finland, already reported in the throes of a government upheaval which may be the prelude to a bid for peace.

Launching of the drives was announced last night in a Moscow communique, which also disclosed that Soviet forces advancing from captured Viipuri on the Karelian Isthmus south of Lake Ladoga were within 20 miles of the border fixed at the end of the 1939-40 Finnish-Russian war.

The political situation in Helsinki as the Russians intensified pressure on the staggering Finnish army remained obscure, but there were strong indications that the Finnish government was facing a crisis.

The new Russian offensives were launched on the third anniversary of the German invasion of the Soviet union, and apparently were aimed at clearing the Murmansk-Leningrad railway of Finnish forces.

One of the thrusts was launched along the Svir river, between Lakes Ladoga and Onega (Oneshko), approximately 150 to 200 miles northeast of Viipuri.

The broadcast Russian communique said that in the first day of the attack along the Svir more than 200 populated places had been occupied.

Plunging beyond the burning ruins of Viipuri, Red army units were within 120 miles of the Finnish capital of Helsinki after taking more than 50 additional places, the Soviet communique added.

Bond Purchasers To See Movie Premier

Today marks the premiere showing of the bond picture, "Going My Way," starring Bing Crosby which is to be shown at the Ritz for bond purchasers.

The picture, which has received glowing tribute from reviewers over the country, packs punch, humor and drama as well as music into its well drawn plot. Admission is by bond purchase only and the premiere is expected to draw large crowds throughout the day.

In addition to the Bing Crosby feature, a short, "Road to Victory," will be shown and those who have previewed the picture are loud in its praise. It is a story of a typical American family in 1954.

Times of the showing are 3:28 p. m., "Road to Victory"; 3:58 p. m., "Going My Way"; 6:11 p. m., "Road to Victory"; 6:34 p. m., "Going My Way"; 8:54 p. m., "Road to Victory" and 9:12 p. m., "Going My Way."

Total bond sales in the Fifth War Loan drive stood Thursday at an overall total of $712,955.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, June 22 (AP)—The United States Fifth Fleet sank four and possibly five Japanese ships and damaged nine or ten in a surprise attack between the Philippines and Marianas Monday.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported in a communique that our carrier planes sank one Japanese carrier, three tankers and possibly a destroyer.

Our carrier force under the immediate tactical command of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher suffered no ship losses and only 49 planes, many of which were forced to land in the water at nightfall. Many pilots may have been rescued.

The action ended at nightfall with the Japanese fleeing and there was no indication that the battle had been resumed.

Admiral Nimitz also announced that 353 enemy planes were shot down in the Japanese futile attempt Sunday on Admiral Mitscher's force. This added 53 enemy craft to the previous estimate of 300 destroyed.

Two U.S. carriers and one battleship suffered "superficial damage" and 21 aircraft were lost in combat.

The attack of the Fifth Fleet under command of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance was such a complete surprise that the Japanese apparently made no counterattack against any of our surface units.

Admiral Nimitz said the Japanese force consisted of four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers and unspecified number of cruisers and destroyers.

He listed these casualties inflicted on the enemy:

"One carrier, believed to be the Zuikaku (17,000 tons) received three 1,000 pound bomb hits.

"One Hayataka class carrier was sunk.

"One Hayataka class carrier was severely damaged and left burning furiously.

"One light carrier (probably around 10,000 tons) Zuiko Taiho class received at least one bomb hit.

"One Kongo class battleship (25,000 tons) was damaged.

"Three destroyers were damaged, one of which is believed to have sunk.

"Two tankers were severely damaged and left burning.

"Fifteen to 20 defending aircraft were shot down.

This destruction or damaging of 14 ships was the third greatest single blow dealt the Japanese battle fleet of the war.

US Casualties Near Quarter Million Mark

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—American battle casualties are near the quarter-million mark.

Secretary Stimson reported today that Army casualties through June 6 (which would include D-Day) totaled 178,677, an increase of 6,319 since his report on June 8, which covered the period through May 21. The Army dead now total 31,289, an increase of 2,337. The new announcement reports 71,432 wounded, 30,976 missing and 35,980 prisoners.

A Navy casualty list announced today reports an overall figure of 46,705, an increase of 932 since a list published two weeks ago. Those killed total 20,044, an increase of 242. Wounded amount to 12,965, missing 9,295 and prisoners 4,461.

American Army ground forces fighting in Italy since the landings last September suffered casualties totalling 64,992 through June 15. This was an increase of 2,991 since a report last week which covered the period through June 5.

The dead in the Italian campaign now total 11,610, an increase of 507. Wounded are 44,426 and missing 8,956. In the same period, air forces in this theatre operating in Italy and in strategic missions deep into Europe have had 9,052 casualties, of which 1,186 are killed, 1,373 wounded and 6,493 missing. This was the first time air force casualties in the Italian theatre have been announced separately.

Fort Worth Bank Robbed Of $6,000

FORT WORTH, June 22 (AP)—A slight, thin-faced, nervous man, clenching a small bottle he indicated contained nitroglycerin, robbed the Continental National Bank here of $6,000 this morning at 9:55 a. m. and escaped in the street crowds.

He thrust a note, captioned "nitroglycerin," in capital letters and demanding $6,000 in bills of large denomination, through the window of the cage of Mrs. Freda Denton, teller, and threatened: "Be calm, or I'll blow this bank and us to kingdom come. I'm watching every move you make."

Mrs. Denton handed over the money.

Mrs. Denton said she did not have time to read all the note the man thrust at her—he began talking immediately. Clenched in his hand, she said, was a small bottle containing a milky fluid.

She said the note demanded large bills in the specified sum and instructed her to place the currency in a sack, which she did.

"There was nothing else to do," she said.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Forces Nearing Prize Port On Adriatic Coast

ROME, June 22 (AP)—Allied and Italian troops are within 33 miles of Ancona, prize Italian port on the Adriatic coast, while Eighth army troops are approaching Camerino, approximately 35 miles east and a little north of Perugia. Allied headquarters announced today.

American forces to the west have pushed on 15 airline miles northwest of Grosseto. In all land operations, although the weather has improved, misty conditions are preventing cross-country movements on a large scale, a communique said.

The advance toward Ancona, ranking next to Venice in port facilities in that coastal sector, was made by troops which have reached Fermo, only 65 airline miles below Rimini, the eastern anchor of the so-called Pisa-Florence-Rimini line, where the fleeing Germans may offer stiff resistance against the Allied drive.

A field dispatch from Correspondent Sid Feder said casualties inflicted upon the Germans during the past 41 days of the Allied offensive in Italy were estimated unofficially at between 80,000 and 100,000 killed, wounded and captured. More than 27,000 nazis have been taken prisoner.

The communique disclosed that in a "spirited naval engagement" in connection with the ousting of the Germans from Elba, light coastal forces torpedoed three loaded enemy lighters attempting to evacuate troops, and possibly sank a fourth. In another engagement a single enemy lighter was sunk.

Crew Sends Pennies To Strikers Scout Camp

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The Associated Press is in receipt of the following communication by registered airman, marked as coming from the U.S.S. Coos Bay, a seaplane tender, and stamped "passed by naval censor":

Sir:

We the crew of the U.S.S. Coos Bay, which consists mainly of survivors of other naval ships or veterans of major naval engagements, and all who have seen action not once but many times and who, while on this cruise, have not had a liberty for one full year, feel that we can do more than fight and even give our lives if necessary for our country. We are willing to help pay the wage increase from our meager pay that money-hungry strikers are demanding if they will just continue to produce the implements necessary so that we can end this war. We have seen war—and we hate it.

We have chosen you as our agent or go-between to represent us in our campaign to "buy off" the present strikers of the Wright Aircraft corporation with the money we have collected from our small crew; a total of 41,300 pennies.

Please implore them to end their strike and accept our offer to help pay their wage increase which they feel is more important than our lives. Ask them not to strike in the future but, instead, to let the men in the war zone know of

Women Have Cause To Be Puzzled Over Staggering Cost Of Clothes

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) — Are you puzzled because it's almost impossible to buy cheap cotton and rayon goods, like printed dresses or children's wear? Mixed up in it is a good explanation. But the explanation is so deep in trade jargon housewives never may have heard of it. Here's a simplified version given by OPA officials, step by step.

First, the raw material goes to the mills which spin it into yarn and then to mills which weave it into cloth. OPA has placed dollar-and-cents ceilings on the spinners and weavers.

This tells them the price at which they can sell each kind of yarn and woven cloth. They have pretty well observed these regulations even though there are more than 5,000 different ceilings.

But then the cloth goes from the weavers to the finishers or converters. They bleach and dye and print it.

Instead of specified dollar-and-cents ceilings, OPA allows the finisher to charge for his work on a sliding scale: The more he does, the more he can charge. And this happens:

Before the war a finisher might have put only one print on dress material. Now he puts on two or three. In this way he makes fewer of the cheap items like flannel-white or habers' nightgowns.

And, because colored material brings higher prices than plain white, the finisher dyes more material. So plain white material disappears.

OPA has checks to prevent the manufacturer charging more than he should for the material he gets from the finisher. But then this happens:

Since he gets less cheap goods from the finisher, the manufacturer has to sell more of the expensive items. OPA, however, puts this limitation on him: He can not sell any goods for more than the highest price he charged for his more expensive product sometime in 1941 or 1942.

But now, with so much customer-money floating around, without OPA controls. Manufacturer Jones might try to sell nothing but dresses costing $30 or $40. If all manufacturers could do that, the cost of living would skyrocket.

So the only ones who now can sell dresses costing $30 or $40 are manufacturers who sold them at that price in 1941 or 1942. In other words: A manufacturer can not sell higher priced lines than he sold in 1941 or 1942.

But this has happened anyway: Since the manufacturer gets fewer cheap items from the finisher, he has to handle the more expensive kinds. He sells fewer of the $1, $3 and $5 dresses and more of the $10 kind.

So, the cheaper dresses disappear from the market. They are replaced by the higher-priced dresses. That means you have to spend more money.

The War Production Board has taken steps to force production of cheaper goods. That cheaper line may reach the market by fall. Maybe. Seeing is believing.

Young Women's Circle Of First Methodist Church Entertained With A Silver Tea

A silver tea, sponsored by the Young Women's Circle of the Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, was given Wednesday afternoon in the church parlor.

Mrs. Horace Garrett presided at the register and Mrs. Arnold Marshall and Mrs. Clyde Johnston received the guests. The refreshment committee members were Mrs. Van C. Elliott, chairman, Mrs. J. D. Convicts Captured Near Orange Today

ORANGE, June 22 (AP)—The last two of four convicts who shot their way to freedom from Wynne state prison farm near Huntsville, Tex., Tuesday, killing a guard, were captured near Orange today.

Leonard Stockton was taken four miles north of here on the highway to Jasper and James McEmore was caught after he had run his car into a pine tree while trying to escape under fire.

Eugene Padgett, 28, serving 99 years for murder from Bell county, and W. M. Johnson, 30, serving eight years for burglary, were re-arrested about eight miles south of Madisonville, Tex., yesterday.

The four men escaped from the farm after fatally wounding George T. Preston, 45, a prison guard and raising an arsenal.

McEmore was caught after he was driving and struck a tree after an officer fired at him and a bullet whistled past his head. He received minor injuries in the crash.

Stockton, 42, was serving 15 years for robbery. McEmore was serving a 20-year term for robbery with firearms.

Stockton was nabbed by Sheriff L. G. Stanfield and a posse of about a dozen officers.

Double Execution Set At Huntsville July 9

HUNTSVILLE, June 22 (AP)—A double execution—the first in several years—was set for the death chamber of the Huntsville unit of the Texas prison system on July 9.

Two negroes, David Williams, convicted of criminal assault in Travis county, and Bennie Johnson, convicted of murder in Chambers county, are to die on that date.

Five condemned men are now housed in the prison death cell.

War Board News

Increased War-Time Use Of Mineral Oil Cited As Serious

Increased war-time use of mineral oil in salad dressings, salted nuts, potato chips and doughnuts may have serious nutritional consequences.

This concern is expressed by Haze Phipps of the A. and M. College Extension Service who cites nutrition research at state experiment stations which have shown that mineral oil robs the body of at least two of the fat-soluble vitamins necessary to health and also of two important minerals, calcium and phosphorus.

The American Medical Association also has issued a recent warning against indiscriminate use of mineral oil, Miss Phipps says. The AMA statement says prolonged use of mineral oil can interfere seriously with the absorption of vitamins A, D and K by the body.

Chickens To Crowd Market With Supply Heaviest In July

RHEBA MERLE BOYLES
County Home Demonstration Agent

Old hens and spring chickens will crowd markets near places where they are raised during the next six months. The supply of chickens for sale will be heaviest in July, August and September.

Reasons: Shortage of feed will cause many farmers to cull their flocks sharply to get rid of looser flocks and even some layers. Limited facilities will make difficulties in shipping many of these birds far, so local markets will get most of them. Scarcity of storage space for the heavy supply of chickens will mean that chickens must be canned or frozen for next winter's use—or eaten now to prevent waste.

For the homemaker who has a savory chicken supper in mind, home economists suggests these rules for cooking poultry:

1. Know a young chicken from an old, and cook according to the right method for the age of the bird. Marks of youth in chickens are: flexible cartilage on rear end of breastbone, tender skin, soft meat, few hairs, and soft smooth feet. Broil, fry, or open pan roast young, tender, well-fatted birds. Braise in a covered casserole or covered roaster lean young birds or hens past their prime for roasting. Cook very old birds long and slowly in water or steam. Then strip from the bone and use as a base for dishes cold or hot, such as chicken salad, chicken à la king, chicken loaf, croquettes or soufflé.

2. Cook birds of any age at moderate heat so the meat will be juicy, tender, and evenly done to the bone with little shrinkage. This way of cooking is economical of fuel.

3. When poultry, either raw or cooked, must be stored a day or two, keep it cold. After it is cooked, if it is not to be eaten immediately, chill it quickly.

Colorado City Show Nets $81,000 Bonds

COLORADO CITY, June 20—Gate receipts at the million dollar bond show presented by the entertainers from Abilene Army Air Base in Colorado City Monday night totaled $10,000 in bonds, Senator Pat Bullock, Fifth War Loan drive chairman said. Admission to the show was a bond bought since June 12 and the $10,000 sales were realized at the gates. Total series E sales recorded for the show reached $81,000, Bullock reported.

Two thousand persons attended the bond show which was staged at the picturesque rock amphitheater in Ruddick park with the audience seated on grass terraces.

Machinery And Men Needed To Harvest Crop

An "S.O.S." for farm machines and men has been received by Howard county's neighbors to the northward, where a record wheat crop is ready to be harvested.

O. P. Griffin, county agent, received an appeal from D. A. Adam, farm labor field assistant at Plainview, who said the Plains need 450 more combines and 1,050 more trucks than agents show to be available over the entire state and also need 1,000 tractor drivers, more than 900 hands such as scopers and more than 700 combine operators.

He listed prevailing wages as considerably higher than normal, as follows: Ordinary farm labor, 70 cents per hour; combining, $3 per acre up to 20 bushels, plus 10 cents per bushel over 20; tractor drivers, $8 to $10, and combine operators, $10 and $12.

Griffin estimated many farmers will catch up with their work on Howard county farms in the next week and might be interested in harvest work. If they are interested, they may obtain any later information received at the county agent's office. Also, that office will telephone Plainview to learn where men should go.

Adam's letter said if crops on the Plains can be saved, district 1 will produce more than 40 million bushels, or two-thirds of the entire Texas wheat crop. Harvest was to open today in Hansford and Ochiltree counties on the North Plains and Hale county on the South Plains and in both cases progress toward Amarillo and vicinity by July 1-5. All counties need help, but Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman, Dallam, Moore and Hutchinson are more critically in need of help, he wrote.

Harris Scores Neutral Record

C. L. Harris, candidate for congress from the 19th district said today that it "is time for the people to go back to that form of self government and of free American enterprise which made this nation great."

Congress should rule the nation, said Harris. "Congress is composed of the directly elected representatives of the people and these are the men who should do the telling and the doing in Washington."

"A frequent change of public officials makes for a strong democracy and this district certainly needs a change."

"In the ten years that the present congressman has been in Washington he has never raised his voice for or against any issue which was vital to the farmers, the cowmen or the oil industry of this district. These are the three basic industries of our district and they must have the intelligent attention of our congressman."

Harris said he proposed "that my district shall come first and that I shall look after the interests of the business men, whether they be farmers, cowmen, oilmen or whatever."

Oilfield Title Stays With Sgt. Fred Dalton Now In New Guinea

ADVANCED ECHELON, 5TH AIR FORCE, Somewhere in New Guinea—Sgt. Fred Dalton, mechanic in the "Red Raiders," heavy bomber outfit of the Fifth Air Force in New Guinea, has received a promotion as a jump from private. Before joining the army, he worked for the Duncan Drilling company of Big Spring.

Sgt. Dalton is known in his organization as "Roughneck," a name the average soldier would suspect as belonging to a rough character, who is apt to throw you a right at the least provocation. But he will tell you the name comes from the oil fields where a handyman who does most anything is called a "roughneck."

Dalton is a very handy man around the place, and was jumped from private first class to sergeant because of his usefulness. When new camps are being built, he is a pipefitter, and he has had a part in several camps already. He is the driver of one of those huge gas trucks that fill the planes, and in his spare time he works around the ships.

"Roughneck" has been overseas more than 28 months, having come over via the South Atlantic and Cape Town, and he is looking forward to a trip back across the Pacific in the not too distant future.

Canal Extension Gets Congressional Okay

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Extension of the Louisiana-Texas intracoastal canal from Corpus Christi to the Brownsville-Harlingen area, received final congressional approval Wednesday with adoption by the senate of the conference report on the war department civil functions appropriations bill.

The measure provides $1,620,000 to initiate the construction. The total cost is estimated at approximately $5,000,000. Army engineers have testified the amount provided would finance all the work that can be done in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Talent Mixture Draws Bond Buyers

HOUSTON, June 22 (AP)—It took two Army corporals and an amateur bull fighter teaming up with five other sluggers to draw the largest boxing gate in history—$22,000,000 in war bonds purchased to witness Houston's Fifth War Loan fistic carnival.

With seats scaled from $25 to $50,000 and admission by war bond purchase only, Texas' biggest fight crowd clambered into the cavernous Houston coliseum last night to eclipse the previous world's record gate for the second Tunney-Dempsey show by nearly $20,000,000.

In the top attraction Corporal Al Hostak of Camp Bowie, former world middleweight champion, battered Corporal Glen Lee of Camp Claiborne to a third round knockout, winning the Texas light heavyweight championship.

Lt. Comdr. Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, refereed the bout.

The spectacle was sponsored by the Harris county war bond sports activities committee composed of Houston sports editors.

Through 19 sports events promoted by this committee since Pearl Harbor the nation's war coffers have been enriched by over $43,000,000.

Sixty Players Will Compete In Tourney

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—More than 60 players will compete in the Texas sectional tennis championship tournament beginning here Monday on Penick courts at the University of Texas.

Final matches probably will be reached Friday.

Dr. Daniel A. Penick, president of the Texas Tennis association, said less than 80 entries had been received but more are expected.

With her swing back in the groove, the college student went out today against one of the tournament's prime favorites, 20-year-old Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, 1943 western amateur queen and runner-up for medalist honors in this meet.

Miss Germain won the last two holes of her second round match yesterday against Mrs. Joanne Barr Tracy of Dallas, Tex., for a close 2-up victory after shooting her poorest golf of the tournament. She required 83 strokes, eight over par.

Observers believed she would have to do better than that today to edge by Miss Tainter, who eliminated Mrs. Lawrence H. Sels, of Ravenna, Ill., 1932 western open champion, 2-up after posting a fine 38-40-78.

Other matches today sent Phyllis Otto, Omaha, Neb., against Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, Ill.; Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Beverly Hills, Calif., against Mrs. Albert Becker, Englewood, N. J.; and Lieut. Patty Berg, Minneapolis, against 18-year-old Betty Jane Haemerle, St. Louis.

Marlene Berg, the defending champion who has had to "find" her game after being absent from tourney competition since last fall, yesterday fired a 37—best front nine score of the meet—for a comfortable edge and an eventual 4 and 3 win over Lois Penn of Des Moines, Iowa.

Glen Garden Finals Slated For Sunday

FORT WORTH, June 22 (AP)—Second round match play in the Glen Garden invitation golf tournament gets underway here today, with the 36-hole finals set Sunday.

Hugh Ardoyne, Fort Worth, defeated Jack Kibbee, also of Fort Worth, 1 up in the No. 1 match yesterday, the match going three extra holes. Ardoyne shot a birdie on the last hole against a par by Kibbee.

Medalist Charles Tims of Arlington retained his role as favorite in the tournament by defeating Charles Royer, one time junior champion of Fort Worth.

An Irishman Named M'Gee Perfects Plan For Perplexing Tiger Tanks

By LEONARD MOSELEY

WITH THE BRITISH 6TH AIRBORNE DIVISION, Normandy, June 21—When British paratroopers holding a vital sector of the Orne valley in Normandy the other morning saw a massive Tiger tank and two self-propelling guns rolling down the road toward them they thought they were done for.

But Private Michael McGee from one of our paratroop regiments decided that somehow he would stop the tank. McGee is a fighting Glasgow Irishman from Kelvinside and he has a couple of fighting pals as recklessly courageous as himself. He called them over, Corporal Tom Killeen of Wigan, England, and Private John Sullivan of Navan, County Meath. McGee said:

"Look, boys, if these Jerry panzers get through this road and among us we're all goners anyway, so we may as well die trying to stop them. I've an idea. Are you game to try with me?"

They agreed. McGee armed Killeen and Sullivan with anti-tank bombs, told them to hide inside a house 100 yards up the road and said:

"Now wait in there till the tank stops outside the door, and then throw your bombs and throw them straight."

"Don't talk daft, lad," said Corporal Killeen. "How are you going to make the tank stop outside the door?"

McGee replied: "You leave that to me. I'll stop it somehow, and when I do don't forget to throw those bombs straight."

An hour later, the Tiger tank rounded the corner and came into view. Already heavy shells from its 150mm gun were blasting among them. With hearts in their mouths, they saw McGee leap over a wall and dash to the middle of the road.

"It looked a crazy thing to do," said one paratrooper afterward. "All he had in his hand was his Bren gun and you know how little good that is against a tank."

But Michael put the gun to his hip and opened fire. He sprayed the front of the tank and you could see bullets bouncing off it as it advanced. The Tiger tank, as if astonished at the impudence of this lone soldier with his little gun, stopped. It stopped, moreover, right outside the house where Killeen and Sullivan were hiding, and those boys did their stuff.

"We saw the bombs hit the tank and there was a terrific explosion, a sheet of flame and a great billowing of smoke. Then there was one less Tiger tank in Field Marshal Rommel's 21st panzer division."

It was all done so neatly and swiftly that Private McGee wasn't even touched by the guns of the Tiger.

Twice more that afternoon Michael McGee dashed into the road with his Bren gun and peppered attacking armor. Twice more panzers—self-propelling guns, this time—stopped in utter astonishment, just long enough to be destroyed by skillfully flung bombs.

Chicago Cubs Headed For League Futility Record

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Mel Ott has broken only three bats so far this season, and each time he picked out a new one and busted a homer with it. . . . Carl Hubbell, the American League ump, claims this has been the toughest season the arbiters ever have had.

"There are more close plays to call because they don't have those good infielders to throw out runners by a mile," he explains. . . . When a Pittsburgh star is chided Leo Houck, Penn State's veteran boxing coach, for claiming he never had been knocked out in some 200 professional fights, Leo only reply was a photo of the bout in question showing Houck and Billy Murray on their feet with the referee holding Murray's hand aloft.

"Does this look like I was knocked out?" Leo wrote. It doesn't, but Nat Fleischer's record book still lists it as a KO victory for Murray.

Local track experts who watched Charley Parker sprint in the Nationals claim he should become a quarter-mile because he lacks the "pickup" for the dashes. . . . Influential Fordham alumni are said to be doing a little spadework for Joe Maniaci as postwar successor to Jimmy Crowley. If those ex-pros recently transferred from Great Lakes to Bainbridge remain at that Navy post through the season they certainly should make Joe look like a great coach.

Dec. 8—Miami University at Miami.

Shift From Football Men To Fighting Men Suggested By Mentor

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Lt. Col. Richard E. Hanley, former football coach at Northwestern University, issued a challenge today to the nation's college and high school grid coaches, urging them to "quit building better football men and start building better fighting men."

In charge of combat conditioning for marine aviation on the Pacific Coast, Hanley recently returned to duty here after working out a program in Washington, D. C., for physical training and combat conditioning for the entire marine corps.

Hanley said if coaches would forget about winning football games and concentrate on winning wars, they could prove a big help. "Instead of taking athletes and making them into football players, coaches should take young men who are not physically fit and build them into fighting men," said Hanley.

"Many a potential 4-F could be turned into a 1-A with proper conditioning, and the coaches are qualified to provide that conditioning."

Giants Climb Up To Third Place

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are headed for a major league futility record, unless they do better in the next 11 games against St. Louis Cardinals than they did in the first 11. The Cubs and Cards have met 11 times. The result: Cards—won 11, lost 0; Cubs—won 0, lost 11.

Manager Charlie Grimm used six pitchers and six pinch hitters against the Cards yesterday, but lost 6-4, and 7-2. George Munger won his ninth against one defeat, in the opener, although he needed late help from Mort Cooper. Harry Brecheen took his third straight from the Cubs in the finale. The double win increased the Cards' lead over Pittsburgh to eight and one half games, their biggest margin of the season.

The New York Giants drubbed Brooklyn 11-2 for their 18th triumph in the last 24 games, to take over third place in the National league. Bill Vosselle gained his ninth triumph, holding the Brooks to six hits. Mel Ott scored his 1,741st run to break his tie with Hans Wagner and set a new National league record.

After eight scoreless innings, Cincinnati scored in the ninth, but the Pittsburgh Pirates counted two in their half to take the game, 2-1. Babe Dahlgren's single scored Tommy O'Brien with the winning run. Ray Starr held his former mates to seven hits for his second victory over Cincinnati since he was waived to the Pirates three weeks ago.

The Philadelphia Athletics made it three in a row over Boston, 5-2, as Dick Siebert drove in three runs with a double and single, and Jesse Flores outpitched Clem Hausman.

New York and Washington divided a double header, the champions taking the first 4-3, after trailing 1-3 until the seventh. The Nats took the second 6-4, with a five-run first inning at the expense of southpaw Joe Page. Milt Canfield held his former teammates to six hits to win his third game for the Senators.

The St. Louis Browns increased their American league lead to two and one-half games over Boston's Red Sox by trouncing the Chicago White Sox 11-2, behind Nelson Potter's seven-hit pitching. Gene Moore and Vernon Stephens led the attack on two Chicago hurlers with three hits each, including a homer apiece.

Rookie Paul O'Des batted "four for four" as Cleveland defeated Detroit in a slugfest, 9-7. Rudy Rocco of the Tigers and Mickey Rocco of the Indians blasted home runs.

The Boston-Philadelphia double header was postponed because of rain.

Armstrong Plugs Away At Come-Back Climb

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, one of the biggest little men in ring history, vowed again today to continue fighting "as long as I can win—and make money out of the game."

"I like boxing, and apparently the fans like me," he said. "I'm going to stay in the game until they quit paying to see me. When the gate receipts drop, then I'll know it's time to quit."

Henry declined Nick Latsios, an almost unknown Greek-American lad from Alexandria, Va., over a 10-round route last night.

Price Clash Ends

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—A compromise engineered by the White House appeared to have ended the month-long fight in congress over extension of price controls.

The compromise, in which the administration accepted a modified version of the Bankhead amendment, calling for an adjustment of cotton textile price ceilings, broke a senate-house conference committee deadlock on a bill continuing the stabilization act one year to June 30, 1945.

The conference bill was to go to the senate today for ratification, and later to the house, with administration leaders confident of speedy approval in both branches.

War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes was disclosed by legislators to have taken the lead in working out the cotton pricing agreement.

Section A Tightens First Place Grip

Section A strengthened its lead in the enlisted men's league at the Big Spring Bombardier School Wednesday, turning back the challenging Bombers, 5-2, in a softball game.

An explosive third inning gave Section A the tilt, which produced no more spectacular hitting than a double by Henderson.

their dissatisfaction and they will gladly chip in each month to save them from starvation so that they may continue to produce arms for us to defeat their enemy as well as ours, and so that we may come home soon to see the ones we love, our sons and daughters whom we have never seen and our wives and mothers who have us with memories day and night also to see our country for which we are willing to die—yes—and to see you strikers; do you want to see us?

Out here we are close to our "foreign" enemies and can properly deal with them; our enemies at home we cannot reach. Therefore, in desperation, we can think of nothing but to offer our money to "buy" them back to work; this money having been earned honestly and in the belief that our efforts were the salvation and protection of those who are striking against us.

P.S.: If the Wright strike is over, just choose another. There are always plenty at hand.

Post Ready For Field Day And Track Tourney

The Big Spring Bombardier school is all set for its second annual field day and review Saturday afternoon, and word from the post indicated that interest was mounting in the event.

Entry lists in the track and field events have been swollen by contestants from sections A, B, C, F and H (cadets). Competition will be in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes; in the 880-yard run, the 880-yard relay, the 300-yard shuttle race; shot put, broad and high jumps and tug-o-war. There will be competitions between officers in some events.

Since the affair is one of the big days for men and officers at the field, Col. J. F. Kenney, commanding officer, and his staff will review all contingents of the field in a colorful affair at 1 p. m. on the parade grounds.

At 1:30 p. m. the track and field meet will get under way on the field north of the parade area and at 4:15 p. m. a picked team from Goodfellow Field and an all-star aggregation from the Big Spring Bombardier school will meet in a softball game to climax the day's activities.

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District News

Poisonous bitterweed is appearing on many farm pastures and ranges in Howard county. This weed has been a source of trouble to ranchers in counties south of Howard for many years. Bitterweed is easily detected at this season as it is in the flowering stage and has been for two weeks. The flowers are yellow in color and the plant tends to become established on overgrazed and barren areas, along roadsides, and around watering places. The best known method of control is proper range management, especially the maintenance of good grass cover.

Edward Simpson, district co-operator of the Gay Hill community, stated that a terraced field on his farm over a ten-year period produced double the yield of crops over a field which was not terraced on his farm. Both fields had similar soils and slopes. Unless these fields are terraced and water is held until absorbed, heavy soils take up only a small proportion of rainfall, Simpson said. Herman Scott, also a district co-operator of the Gay Hill community, believes that the heavy clay and clay loam soils of that area would be greatly benefited by a stubble-mulch method of farming where plant food material in the form of stalks and leaves of crops would be mixed in the surface of the soil to aid in increasing moisture penetration and checking evaporation.

H. O. Phillips of the Lomax community is trying a stubble-mulch system of farming on some sandy land to determine possibilities of increasing crop yields by retarding wind erosion and by increasing plant food material in the soil.

cluded in the region. This is encouraging news that the committee hopes the county will keep up.

Other events to follow the bond premiere show tonight include the bond rally to be held next Wednesday at 10:45 on the courthouse lawn.

Big Boy Williams, western star and blonde Peggy O'Neill will be here with a unit of "Stars Over Texas" in interest of the bond sales. Included in the hour of entertainment will be music by the AAFBS band, and talks by returned war heroes.

The following day, Thursday, the State theatre will present its bond premiere show, "Louisiana Hayride," a new type musical starring Judy Canova. Admission will be by bond purchase only for the first run showing of the picture.

Harrison Shoots East Howard Extension Well

Lee C. Harrison No. 1 Snyder, mile and three-quarters northwest extension for the Snyder pool of eastern Howard county, apparently was reacting satisfactorily Thursday from an 800-quart shot from 2,770-2,850 feet.

The test carried a gravel and liquid load and flowed out before bridging 400 feet off bottom. Thursday it carried 1,200 feet of oil in the hole as cleaning out operations were started. Location is in the northwest quarter of section 20-30-18, T&P.

To the north in section 8-30-18, T&P, the Harrison No. 3 TXL had been completed at 2,850 natural but no test had been run. Harrison No. 5 TXL was at 2,850 but possibly had 30 to 40 feet to go before finishing since elevation was substantially higher than the No. 3. It is to be completed without shooting, Harrison indicated. These tests are 1 3/4 miles northwest of the No. 1 Snyder and 3-4 mile west of East Howard production.

West of Big Spring the John B. Hawley, Jr. No. 1 Allison, section 6-30-18, T&P, was swabbing at 9,133 feet. Northward the Hawley No. 1 Guitard estate, section 2, B&C, waited for truck to move and Hawley No. 2 Guitard, section 8, B&C, waited on spudder. Northern Ordinance No. 1 Spaulding, 7-33-2n, T&P, in the Knott vicinity, set 9 5/8 inch string at 3,261 feet.

In the Moore area southwest of Big Spring John B. Hawley, Jr. No. 1 Thorp, section 24-34-18, was running tubing after cleaning out from 750-quart shot. Hawley No. 2 Thompson, section 14-34-18, T&P, waited on spudder.

Northern Ordinance No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, deep south central Borden wildcat, drilled at 7,750 feet in black shale in section 32-34-4n, T&P, and Northern Ordinance No. 1-A Clayton, was at 2,850 feet in anhydrite and shale.

More Than 500 Girls In Camp

An unusually large number of professions of faith were being reported from evangelistic services for Baptist young people at the city park as boys moved out following a record-breaking session and 501 girls registered in for the first day of their period which lasts through Friday noon.

Total attendance for both units of the camp stands at 862 and leadership of the district No. 8 affair were confident it would be around 900 before completed.

A recapitulation of the boy's encampment showed 52 conversions and 60 rededications. At the initial service for the girls, there were 25 professions of faith and 10 rededications. At 8 p. m. today in the city park amphitheatre, there will be a Girls Auxiliary coronation service for all attaining certain ranks. The evangelistic service in charge of Camp Pastor Vernon Yeakley, Midland, will follow immediately.

Leaders were surprised at the large attendance and the fine spirit existing among the children since there is no swimming this year due to the current water shortage here.

G. B. Richardson has arrived home from San Diego, Calif., where he has been employed in a defense ship plant. He is glad to be back in Big Spring but had enough of California to boost it as the "garden spot of the world."

Earl A. Johnson has taken over operation of the Madry Magazine Agency, 908 Runnels.

Pfc. James Y. (Mickey) Butts, USMC, writes from his ship in the Pacific that he likes his assignment and tells of having seen Pfc. Wesley Deata, USMC, who was a classmate and who is on another ship. "He was looking well," said Mickey, who added an inquiry about the Texas State Guard, of which he and Deata both were members. "Its eight months training did me quite a bit of good—in fact it's still helping me," he said.

Sgt. Joe E. Adams is taking a course designed to bridge the gap between training in the states and soldiering in an active theatre of war, according to word from an Air Force service command station "somewhere in England." His wife, Mrs. Doris Adams, lives at 708 E. 17th.

Cpl. Paul R. Day now rates as an expert mechanic in repair of air corp vehicles following participation in special classes at an air service command depot somewhere in England. He is the son of Roy S. Day, Welch, and got his basic training at the Big Spring Bombardier School. Prior to enlistment he worked for Banner Creamery in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Coulter have received a letter from Enns. H. D. Sartin, Jr., commanding officer of the gun crew in which their son, Jerry, is assigned. Enns. Sartin had some good things to say about Jerry, such as he was thriving on the sun in the warm climate where they are stationed; how Jerry is studying hard to make a petty officer of himself. "I will recommend him as he is very deserving and willing to do anything that he is called on to do," said the officer. "He is well liked aboard the ship by the crew and the merchant men." Jerry attends church each Sunday aboard ship and "helps us out with our singing." Then the ensign added: "I don't know what we would do if it were not for the boys from Texas to help us out in this war. I am pushing him (Jerry) as fast as he can take it, and he is willing to try."

Delma Durwood Tonn, RDM 2/C, has returned to his port in Norfolk, Va., after spending his leave with his mother, Mrs. J. R. Tonn of Carbon and friends and relatives in Howard county. Petty Officer Tonn is a 1941 graduate of Coahoma high school. He enlisted in the United States Navy in October, 1942, and after receiving 12 weeks training in San Diego, Calif., he was transferred to an aircraft carrier and has been aboard it since then. Tonn has seen the shores of North Africa six different times as well as other places. He says North Africa looks about the same as the plains in West Texas and eastern New Mexico, although the customs are quite different from what a native Texan and Howard countian is used to. Tonn said, "for example, you must learn when eating in the native homes, to drink three cups of tea, but no more or no less. Tonn's father, James R. Tonn, MM3/C, and his brother, Shirley Tonn, PMM 3/C, are in the Navy also, and both are in combat areas. Tonn is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shirley of the Sand Springs community.

Mrs. Jack McKinnon of Big Spring has received word that her brother, M. J. Cotter, PO 3/C, USN, has been awarded the Purple Heart for heroic action in the South Pacific theater of operations. The incident for which he was awarded this honor was not known by his sister. Cotter was active in the Pearl Harbor battle and other major Pacific battles. He has been in the service three and a half years. His three brothers are also in the service. Cotter received his first leave last April and visited Mrs. McKinnon and other relatives here.

Mrs. J. B. Hall received a letter from her grandson, Sgt. Raymond Lee Williams, which was written after the invasion. He did not mention D-Day nor hint of any change in routine, but devoted the letter to England and the fact that he was "getting fat."

Among those back from the European combat zones are Lt. Charles Simpson and Lt. Gene Penn. Lt. Simpson is a fighter pilot based in the Mediterranean theater. He arrived here Wednesday to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simpson, Gall route. Lt. Penn, a bombardier who was based on Corsica, has been visiting with folks, Mr. and Mrs. Don Penn, and has gone to Midland to visit relatives there briefly before returning here.

Congress Races Toward Recess

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Legislation intended to cancel out the supreme court's opinion that the insurance business is subject to anti-trust laws held the attention of the house today as congress raced to a summer recess.

Three hours of debate were set aside to dispose of the measure, with the prospect that half a dozen departmental supply bills awaiting final action would be sandwiched in.

The legislation is the outgrowth of a case involving federal action against 198 insurance companies accused of conspiracy to fix and maintain arbitrary and non-competitive rates on fire insurance sold in southern states.

Subsequently, in a split opinion reversing its stand of 75 years the supreme court held that insurance is interstate commerce.

Disposed of in a burst of yesterday were several appropriation bills, legislation to ease wartime price, wage and rent controls for an additional year, June 30, 1945; and a measure to would have given members of Women's Airforce Auxiliary Service Pilots (WASPs) military status in the army air force.

The speed with which the legislative docket, crowded at the end of the week, was clearing up increased hopes of congressional leaders that the recess could under way at the end of Friday session.

Congress Races Toward Recess

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Legislation intended to cancel out the supreme court's opinion that the insurance business is subject to anti-trust laws held the attention of the house today as congress raced to a summer recess.

Three hours of debate were set aside to dispose of the measure, with the prospect that half a dozen departmental supply bills awaiting final action would be sandwiched in.

The legislation is the outgrowth of a case involving federal action against 198 insurance companies accused of conspiracy to fix and maintain arbitrary and non-competitive rates on fire insurance sold in southern states.

Subsequently, in a split opinion reversing its stand of 75 years the supreme court held that insurance is interstate commerce.

Disposed of in a burst of yesterday were several appropriation bills, legislation to ease wartime price, wage and rent controls for an additional year, June 30, 1945; and a measure to would have given members of Women's Airforce Auxiliary Service Pilots (WASPs) military status in the army air force.

The speed with which the legislative docket, crowded at the end of the week, was clearing up increased hopes of congressional leaders that the recess could under way at the end of Friday session.

Editorial - - - Resuming Entertainment

We have no illusions that Big Spring remotely could do the things which Dallas does, but there are some things which this city accomplishes which we believe ought to serve as a reminder to us.

This season Dallas is resuming its out-door opera season which proved immensely popular last year. In its comparatively short season it drew more than the Dallas baseball team used to draw in an entire season. It probably packed in more than the SMU football team attracted at its home games.

This is not to the discredit of any of the color and highly enjoyable athletic events but to the credit of the musical performances. It proves that people like good community entertainment.

Right at the moment an opera probably could starve to death in Big Spring, a notoriously cold steady improving cold spot toward the finer arts. However, we do have the facilities for community entertainment in our amphitheatre at the city park and it might not be amiss to resume, at least on a limited basis, the series of amateur talent which attracted people by the hundreds prior to the war. There is enough good talent left in these parts, together with that which abounds among the armed forces, to insure a few good programs.

Available Men

How it is that the latest speculation that Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York will accept the Republican nomination for president becomes page news is somewhat more than we can understand. If this has not been a fact all along then we have been badly fooled.

It is as George Stimpson, Herald Washington correspondent once observed: "The truth is that Thomas Dewey and Franklin Roosevelt are the two most available men in America." At the outset then it looked gloomy for any GOP candidate, it is entirely possible that Gov. Dewey did not want to go to bat with two strikes against him. But with odds showing an improvement in GOP chances, Gov. Dewey has been more than willing for a long time. Similarly, it might be observed that Franklin D. Roosevelt is playing according to psychological rules. It would be politically indiscreet for a man to openly aspire to three much less four terms in the White House. Obviously, then, such move must come in the form of a draft.

Thus we have the two national conventions in Chicago soon for the almost exclusive purpose of a title "arm-twisting" and to settle on a running mate for each of the major candidates. Should either the New York governor or the president decline to run, we will not only be completely fooled but sublimely astounded.

Capital Comment—HORSEPLAY IN THE SENATE

By GEORGE STIMPSON

WASHINGTON (Sp.)—Sen. Tom Connally submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the foreign relations committee of which he is the chairman:

"Whereas the people of Iceland in a free plebiscite on May 25-26, overwhelmingly approved the constitutional bill passed by the Althing providing for the establishment of a republicanism form of government, and

Whereas the Republic of Iceland will be formally established on June 17, 1944; Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate of the United States (the House of Representatives concurring), That Congress hereby expresses to the Icelandic Althing, the oldest parliamentary body in the world, its congratulations on the establishment of the Republic of Iceland and its welcome to the Republic of Iceland as the newest republic in the family of nations."

Speaking in support of the amendment to permit OPA to fix ceilings on oil products and derivatives, Senator Connally said: "I do not own a gallon of oil, and I am not interested in any oil company, much to my sorrow and regret, and I have no personal interest in the matter."

Referring to slanting wells in Oklahoma, Senator Connally observed: "I understand there is an oil well under the statehouse in the capital of Oklahoma, and that in order to get to the well the drill was slanted, so that it passed the pool under the statehouse. Is that true?"

Sen. Edward Moore, the Democrat who became a Republican senator, thought so. "The senator from Oklahoma should know," said Connally. Whereupon Dear Old Barkley interjected: "I hope the senator does not imply that the senator from Oklahoma has a slant on the situation like that one."

Then Connally: "Under the circumstances under which he got there, I think he has a slant on the whole state, or the state has a slant on him, one way or the other."

Such horseplay helps while away the tedium of a senate session.

"In Texas we have a state law

The War Today

By J. M. ROBERTS
(Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie)

Latest reports from the Pacific indicate the Japanese fleet, quite properly from its standpoint, may have evaded battle again.

Remember James, with the American fleet off Saipan, says the Japanese have maneuvered themselves out of the way doing much to dampen yesterday's enthusiasm in naval circles which produced statements of exhilaration over prospects for a showdown.

James, an AP war correspondent, says Monday's long-distance air duels had provided the only action up to Wednesday.

It is too early to be positive, but this would seem to eliminate the prospect of a battle in the area where it was originally expected, the Japanese either running away or maneuvering for a better spot. The former seems the more likely.

Forrestal, King and Nimitz are not men to go off half-cocked. Their enthusiasm yesterday surely means that we had and have the power for any job in the far Pacific.

Which brings us to the question of why the enemy was out there at all.

We have had reports that Truk and Palau were never the bastions which they were cracked up to be. There are reports of no more strength in the Philippines than throughout the rest of Japan's hastily snatched perimeter defenses. Engene Burns, Associated Press correspondent who has covered the circuit from Aitut to the South Seas and up to Sumatra, says the whole Japanese idea of a defense perimeter has been a bluff.

If this is true, and if the expected far Pacific battle does fall to develop now, we have some excuse to believe that the strikes across the central Pacific were getting too close to Manila to suit the enemy, and that he was streaking for home, leaving his land garrisons to fight the delaying action, as he has done ever since Guadalcanal.

He might have been fishing for opportunity, in case his island forces were able to weaken Admiral Spruance, but if so he was surely playing with dynamite.

Michigan police picked up a man who claimed he was the devil. Moral: Don't believe all your wife

Cooper, of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, rapped for order and said dryly: "The gentleman from Texas retire to the cloakroom to count his money."

The most necessary qualification for public office is to be able to carry water on both shoulders. I have observed that forthright men who are open and above board in their opinions generally do not stay in office long.

Coffers Swell With Bond Fund

The City of Big Spring coffers bulged Wednesday with half a million dollars with receipt of funds from sale of the city's $400,000 water bond issue.

In addition to the $400,000 from the bonds, the city also received $175 premium and $797.30 accrued interest from May 1 to June 16, date the funds were dispatched. General and interest and sinking fund balances pushed the amount of money the city now has to its credit well past the half million dollar mark. City Manager B. J. McDaniel said that the $400,000 pledged by the Federal Works Agency toward the city's water project had been requisitioned.

How To Torture Your Wife

Hollywood—Tough Job To Find Girl For Lead

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The title role in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" is being taken by Alanthus Glandiosa, and finding her—or it was something like that Scarlett O'Hara business.

The tree that grew outside Francis Nolan's window in Betty Smith's book was identified as a variety of Chinese sumac, better known as the Tree of Heaven. Native of China, brought to England in 1761 and thence to the east coast of America, it thrives where other trees get discouraged—even in a Brooklyn tenement district. The studio found plenty of them in nearby San Fernando Valley, then concentrated its search on the more "glamorous" specimens.

The tree, and assorted players, are being directed by Elia Kazan, who'll have $1,000,000 or more to spend on the picture. Mr. Kazan should be relishing this, for the last time he directed a movie its total cost was $7.

Ten years ago, for practice, he directed a two-reeler, "Pie in the Sky," with the Long Island city dump for a set, himself and his partner, producer Ralph Steiner, serving as actors and cameramen. The film they used was a gift, and the only item of expense was developing the negative. They bribed a pal in a film laboratory to work overtime one night, which is where the $7 went. The little picture was admired, but Kazan didn't get to Hollywood on it. He got here by directing three Broadway hits, "Skin of Our Teeth," "One Touch of Venus," and "Harriet."

Domestic Item: Anne Revere, "Bernadette's" mother, has a kitchen whose walls look mottled as though camouflaged. It's not deliberate, she says—it's just that her pressure cooker, of which she is quite fond, has a habit of exploding at odd moments.

Spring in California has brought everything into the open, including movie location companies. And nature is humming.

John Wayne, Ella Raines and their "Tall in the Saddle" company were in the hill country nearby for a pastoral scene involving the stars, their horses, and a beautiful morning. For one take Miss Raines' lines were riddled six times by (1) a bird's song, (2) rooster's crow, (3) horse's neigh, (4) dove's cooing, (5) crow's cawing, (6) bee's buzzing. The seventh try was a success. The line: "This is what I like about ranch country. Listen—the only sound in the world is the sound of my voice, with everything holding its breath to listen to me."

Tunesmiths Jimmie McHugh and Harold Adamson are the "funners" for crooners. They've turned out songs for Sinatra, "Higher and Higher," for Dick Haymes in "Four Jills in a Jeep," for Perry Como in "Something for the Boys."

Washington—Battle Looms Over States Rights

By JACK STINNETT

Denver.—The way my history book reads, state's rights haven't been worth a hoot politically since just after the Civil War. As a political issue they haven't even been a good red herring.

I'm not sure that they are now, but after a swing around the country from Washington, D. C. to the west coast and this far back, I can't believe that there has been any time since the Reconstruction era when both politicians and forward-thinking citizens have been more wrought up over the rights of the states as opposed to the power taken over by the federal government than they are today.

In the grass roots, the farmers—especially the large scale operators—are grumbling over price controls; labor shortages, farm machinery shortages, the federal tax program, and the endless reports and investigations to which they are subjected.

In the industrial areas around the Great Lakes and east and west, industry is balking the War Labor board, priorities, the War Manpower commission, federal taxes, endless reports, and several other government wartime controls.

In California there's a storm over the acreage limitation on farms in the central valley which are to participate in the federal irrigation projects and more particularly recently over a Bureau of Reclamation questionnaire that went to all farmers in the area, asking five solid pages of questions, dealing with everything from previous servitude to present "ethnics."

Here in Colorado and in many other states whose little rivers feed the navigable waterways of the nation there's great anger over control of water rights. Republican Gov. John C. Vivian took the matter to the annual conference of governors in Hershey, Pa; it was his big speech and according to reports here, well applauded. His theme was simply "if the federal government can control the waters of the nation, affecting property rights long recognized as state functions, it can take over every activity within our states and thus render impotent and useless our state constitutions, bills of rights, and our court decrees."

Those are strong words, but for the first time in many years, they are making political hay.

In the south and even in some "border states," the poll tax and "white supremacy" are also being made issues of state's rights. Historically and politically, the important thing is probably that the "solid south" and the ordinarily solid Republican states have found an issue on which they can agree.

How much effect this will have on the 1944 election is problematical. There are too many other issues involved: the progress of the war, the personalities of the candidates and other home front problems. But I haven't talked to a serious thinker on political matters yet who doesn't feel that when the historical chips are down, these recent years will be recorded as the beginning at least of a contest whose issue will have great bearing on the destiny of America.

Today And Tomorrow Opposition Is Not Enough

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Mr. Willkie has just been told by Mr. Mark Sullivan that an affirmative policy for the Republican party is not "what nature meant" and would be a "diservice to the country." After reminding Mr. Willkie that he has been a Republican only since 1939, Mr. Sullivan says that "the real guide for the Republicans in their platform-making next week" is in the rule that "the function of an opposition party is to be an opposition party."

Cynical as this sounds, it is possible to take an even more cynical view of the Republican platform. It is that at its best the platform will be vague enough to permit Governor Dewey to prove his fitness to cope with the real problems that lie ahead. Anything better than this would be a startling novelty in the platform of a party which has so long been out of power, and is still in the hands of men who have not had the experience of responsibility.

The platform, we must remember, is written before the candidate is nominated, and therefore before he takes charge of the party organization. For this reason the platform almost invariably reflects the views of those who held the party together when it was a mere opposition party, and that means, as Mr. Sullivan so candidly sets forth, "nothing affirmative."

But this is precisely why the country has learned to look to the candidate, not to the platform, for the policy of the party.

In 1940 the drama of Wendell Willkie's campaign was whether he could transcend the record of his party organization, and by his leadership do what Theodore Roosevelt did in 1912, and what Franklin Roosevelt had done in 1932: impose discipline and instill purpose into the old party machine. The popular exultation which attended Mr. Willkie's nomination was the anticipation that this man who had had such a triumph at Philadelphia would put new life into the old party. When in August it became clear that the party machine was stronger than Mr. Willkie's leadership, the Republican campaign collapsed like a pricked balloon.

Governor Dewey faces the same test but under more favorable conditions than Mr. Willkie. He will be nominated by the combined action of party workers from all sections of the country, and not, like Mr. Willkie, in spite of them. Mr. Willkie got the nomination without getting the control of the party. Governor Dewey has a good prospect of getting both. No man can be an effective candidate if he cannot convince the voters that his party will enable him to make good his campaign promises. Nor can he be a successful President unless his party is controlled by men who are his faithful supporters.

The question will be whether Mr. Roosevelt and his aged Cabinet, with their diminishing energies and their increasingly set ways, still have what it will take to master the intricacies of the post-war period, and to recover the support of Congress. But that question cannot be answered in the abstract; it will be answered in conjunction with the other question, which is whether Governor Dewey and the men around him have what it will take to deal better, because they are younger

Services Held For Colorado City Man

COLORADO CITY, June 22—
Funeral services were held here
Wednesday for U. G. Hardison, retired Colorado City business man who died after an illness of a year. He had been a resident here for 20 years.

8, 1917 at Lampasas. His mother, Mrs. D. R. Hardison of Colorado City, his wife and two children survive. His son is Captain Marrion Hardison of Camp Polk, La., his daughter Mrs. Ross Glover of Macon, Ga. Miss Louise Hardison, Colorado City, is a surviving sister, R. M. Hardison, El Paso, a brother.

Born June 26, 1890 in Columbia, Tenn., he was married to the former Sadie Coffee on August

Hutts Confident Of A Dewey Victory

SAPULPA, Okla.—Two white-haired, almost shy Sapulpa are admittedly "having the time of our lives" this 1944 political campaign year.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Orla
Thomas Hutt, parents of Mrs.
Thomas E. Dewey, who, they are confident, will be the nation's next First Lady.

The Hutts literally breathe, eat and sleep politics, although discounting an intention to stump the state for Gov. Dewey if he is nominated by the republicans at the Chicago convention this month.

"We are not public speakers," the 66-year-old Hutt, a retired railroad man, explains. "We will serve in quite a different way."
When he isn't home with his ear tuned to the radio for any scraps of news about his famous racket-busting son-in-law, the immaculately dressed Hutt walks the nine blocks from his home to the main downtown business street to chat with his friends—and the subject is invariably politics.

Lead Simple Life
They studiously check all of the newspapers and magazines for articles mentioning the Deweys.

The Hutts lead the quiet, simple life of the typical American small town. They live in the neatly-kept five-room frame cottage they purchased when they moved to Sapulpa from Sherman, Tex., in 1914. Inside, it radiates simplicity with family heirlooms and antiques.

Mrs. Hutt, a member of the prominent Davis family of Texas, counts as one of her ancestors the Civil War Confederate president, Jefferson Davis. Her husband, born in Iowa, traces his ancestry back through the Pilgrims to Charlemagne.

Mrs. Dewey, the former Frances Eileen Hutt, began her music career at a young age. She began singing at church ice cream socials and other functions. And it was her music career that led to her meeting Tom Dewey in New York. He, too, was an aspiring singer and they found their interests very similar. They were married in 1928.

The Hutts visit the Deweys several times a year, mostly at the permanent home of New York's governor and his lady, "Daple-mere," a 12-room Georgian farmhouse in Dutchess county, New York.

Make Up Quartet
Like the Deweys, the Hutts are great music enthusiasts. During their visits to New York, they frequently form a quartet for an old-fashioned singing bee.

Mrs. Hutt enjoys shopping, social events, opera, art galleries and the small teas given by her daughter when a guest in New York. Her husband prefers the historic sights of the metropolis.

They are quick to explain, lest their long-time friends here think they have gone "big town."

"Those trips are nice, but we still prefer to live in a small town. We will continue to live in Sapulpa."

They described themselves as "extremely happy" to sit in the gallery at Albany when their son-in-law became governor of New York.

"We would be just as happy to sit in the gallery at an inauguration at Washington," Hutt adds.

DALLAS BOY KILLED

DALLAS, June 21 (AP)—Paul Yokum, 9, died at a hospital today ten minutes after a bus had passed over his body after pulling him under when his arm was caught in the vise at the rear door as he dismounted.

Home Ownership Seen As Hope

The hope of the nation is for some one to stimulate a consuming interest in home building and home ownership after the war, the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, told the Lions club Wednesday.

These developments, coupled with a love of home, will overcome what the Rev. O'Brien called trailer living, and which he said typified the restlessness of the age. Until people settle down and become part of a community instead of residents in it there can be no real pride in building the right kinds of cities, he declared.
By making home the center of things America can rekindle the fires under the melting pot and erase lines of division and misunderstanding, said the Rev.
O'Brien.

Announcement of the club's annual family picnic Friday at 5
p. m. on the Scenic Mountain was announced.
