

SW Andrews Venture Encounters Montoya

The Montoya, upper section of the Ordovician, has been entered at George P. Livermore, Inc., and Deeprock Oil Corporation No. 1 Mayhew, Southwest Andrews County wildcat, five miles north of the Dollarhide field.

Top of that formation was picked from samples to be at 10,840 feet. Elevation is 2,279 feet. The prospector had reached 10,967 feet in Montoya lime, at last report, and was drilling deeper.

This venture has not encountered any possibilities of production down to the present level of operations.

N-C Howard Wildcat Gets Traces Of Lime

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., of Dallas, No. 1 Christian, North-Central Howard County wildcat, to try to develop production in the Pennsylvanian lime, had reached 8,029 feet in shale, with traces of white lime. It was continuing to make hole.

Up to now the top of the Pennsylvanian lime had not been reached. That zone produces in the Vealmoor field, several miles to the northwest of the Norsworthy exploration.

Interested observers are expecting the Vealmoor horizon to be found in No. 1 Christian at any time.

This venture is 10 miles northeast of Big Spring, and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 48, block 32, TP survey, T-2-N.

Pecos Exploration Is High On Devonian Top

In the Santa Rosa area of North Pecos County, Slick-Urschel Oil Company, a 1-1/2 Thornton Davis, located 660 feet from south and 810 feet from east lines of southwest quarter of section 105, block 8, H&GN survey, was making hole below 6,283 feet in Devonian chert.

Top of the Devonian was picked at 6,110 feet. Elevation is 2,497 feet. The project is to continue to the Ellenburger.

According to some geologists this venture is 100 feet high on the top of the eroded Devonian formation to the same matter in Shell Oil Company, Inc. No. 1 Austin, a completed gas and distillate producer from the Santa Rosa-Ellenburger. That well is shut in, waiting for the completion of the new Santa Rosa gas plant now being erected.

Gulf Wildcat Has No
Show In Latest DST

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 146-E Keystone, slated Ellenburger wildcat, in Northeast Winkler County, about 15 miles northwest of Kerens, and one-half mile north of the discovery from production from the Devonian, to open the Flying W field, failed to develop any signs of petroleum in a drillstem test in the Silurian at 10,380-435 feet.

Had Silurian Oil

The prospector is drilling deeper. It had shown for production from the Devonian and is being carried on down to explore the lower horizons. On a recent drillstem test in the top of the Silurian at 10,264-310 feet, 5,420 feet of clean oil, and 100 feet of oil and gas out drilling mud, estimated to have been 50 per cent oil was recovered. The tool was open two hours.

Lion Stakes Flanker To Diamond-M Field

A one-location stepout to production on the northwest side of the Diamond-M field in Southwest Scurry County has been staked by Lion Oil Company as the company's No. 16 C. T. McLaughlin, 10 miles west of Snyder.

This venture is slated to go to 6,900 feet and will test into the Canyon lime reef of the Pennsylvanian. Drilling with rotary tools is due to start immediately.

Location of the project is 1,989.9 feet from south and 1,972.8 feet from west lines of section 197, block 97, H&TCo survey. Elevation is 2,370 feet.

Amerada Producer In SW Ector Completed

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has completed its No. 3 Hattie E. Connell in the Jordan-Ellenburger field of Southwest Ector County, and 680 feet from west and north lines of section 12, block B-15, pal survey.

The new producer made 590.08 barrels of 42.2 gravity oil in 2 1/2 hour period, with a gas-oil ratio of 306-1. Flow was natural through a 16/64th in. choke, and there was no formation water.

The production was from open hole between five and one-half inch casing set at 8,930 feet and the total depth at 8,935 feet. Top of the pay was 8,777 feet. Flowing tubing pressure was 1,100 pounds. Elevation is 2,870 feet.

Foes Of Clark
Are Branded
As Subversives

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A veteran Washington trial lawyer told senators Thursday that most of the opposition to placing Attorney General Tom C. Clark on the Supreme Court "comes from Communist sources."

James J. Laughlin, counsel in many sensational criminal trials here, urged the Senate Judiciary Committee to approve Clark's nomination as an associate justice.

Other witnesses sharply protested the nomination. Among these were members of two organizations listed by the attorney general as subversive.

The Rev. Clarence Parker, retired white-haired Episcopal rector from Chicago, said Clark had done "a wicked thing" by placing organizations and individuals on the subversive list without giving them a chance for "defense or recourse."

The elderly clergyman said he belongs to two groups on the list. Alfred Henley, a trustee of the Washington Cooperative Book Shop, which is on Clark's list, said Clark's "early training for the Supreme Court" included wire-tapping, illegal search and seizure and other unconstitutional tactics that might better suit "a traffic cop" or police officer.

Despite unfriendly testimony, the general belief was that Clark's confirmation is assured.

Two former government officials against the confirmation.

Harold L. Ickes, ex-secretary of the Interior, fired away at his former cabinet colleague in an article in The New Republic.

Ickes called Clark an "incompetent lawyer," "the least able of the attorneys general" . . . "a second-rate political hack who has known what backs to slap and when."

Gain Ground

WASHINGTON—(AP)—W. Averell Harriman, Marshall Plan ambassador to Western Europe, said Thursday the U. S. faces a "determined, ruthless and persistent" opponent in Russia, and urged full approval of the Administration's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

"These forces must be met with equal determination and perseverance," he told the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. "We cannot relax with early successes."

Harriman said he has been "gravely concerned over the threat to freedom and peace that is posed by Russia, and added:

Out Of Dalhart Jail

DALHART, TEXAS—(AP)—Two prisoners escaped from the county jail today by sawing through the bars and picking bricks out of the walls.

They were William Douglas Salter, 19, convicted on forgery charges at Dumas July 28 and being held here on similar charges, and Richard Kent, 25, escaped convict from the state prison at Huntsville being held in connection with a car theft while trying to get away into Colorado.

Shed That Goidle, Goitie—
Expert Hands Out Hints
On How To Beat The Heat

NEW YORK—(AP)—Shed that goidle, Goitie, and keep cool the way they do in Brooklyn.

For the thirty-seventh straight year, Dr. Charles P. Pabst, chief specialist at the Mount Sinai Hospital issued his 10 ways to beat the heat.

He was inspired, he said, by Wednesday's 98.7 temperature in New York.

Here are Dr. Pabst's 10 hot weather rules:

1. Avoid exertion and strenuous exercise.
2. Wear thin, loose clothing. Says Dr. Pabst: "Girdles are an abomination in hot weather because they prevent large portions of the skin from their function of cooling the body."
3. Drink eight or more glasses of water and put a pinch of salt in three of them. Tom Collins? We'll get to that later.
4. Get eight hours of sleep nightly.
5. Avoid worry and excitement. Don't argue with your husband, ladies.
6. Keep air circulating in your room and office. An electric fan helps the skin shed heat even if it doesn't lower room temperature.
7. Take cool—not cold—baths often. Borrow an old Chinese trick and let cold water drip onto your wrists. Very cooling, Dr. Pabst says.
8. Avoid direct rays of the sun, especially if you are a heliophobe, a person whose skin reddens and burns but never tans. Dr. Pabst says he's one too.
9. Reduce calories in your diet. Out down on fats and leave that candy alone. Try fruits and vegetables instead.
10. Now about that Tom Collins. Dr. Pabst says: "Remember, alcohol makes you more sensitive to

Just a trace!

There was a sprinkle of rain on the business district streets about 11 p.m. and the CAA at Terminal reported a trace during the night.

125-Mile Race With Death Is Fulle As Youth Dies Of Polio

HOUSTON—(AP)—A 125-mile race against death was in vain as a three-year-old youngster, whose family lives between Elgin and Taylor, died of polio Thursday in the City-County Hospital.

The lad, David Baldree, had been rushed in an ambulance Wednesday to an iron lung at the hospital.

His mother, Mrs. Tom Baldree, sat beside him, praying that the ambulance might reach the hospital before little David, one of 12 children, died.

The tragedy of the Baldree family began last Saturday afternoon when a doctor diagnosed the lad's illness as tonsillitis, his mother said.

He was taken Wednesday to a Hearne hospital, where his ailment was diagnosed as polio.

The race to save David's life almost was lost four miles outside Houston, where, according to Superintendent A. S. Reeves of the City-County Hospital, the ambulance's oxygen tanks gave out.

Escorted by Houston police to the hospital, the ambulance streaked through traffic.

The child's father, a cotton picker, was applying for a job near Hearne while his son was being rushed to Houston.

David was the fifth polio case recorded here Wednesday.

Polio Increase Not Too
Alarming, Experts Opine

By The Associated Press

More than 3,000 new polio cases this month have boosted the nation's total for the year above 11,000.

An Associated Press survey through August 9 showed that the number of cases in 1949 was running roughly 4,000 ahead of that for the same date in 1948.

Last year, with a total of 27,680 cases reported, was the second highest on record for polio incidence.

The worst year was 1916, when more than 80,000 cases were counted.

Judged solely by case figures, the polio situation looks more alarming than it really is, health authorities pointed out. They said a greater percentage of polio cases are recognized and reported each year, and that many of the added proportion are so mild they would have been diagnosed as a cold in the head a few years ago.

There was no accurate check on the number of deaths from the disease to date this year, but they were expected to run between six and nine per cent of reported cases. This would mean about one

Joan Edwards Fund
Growing; Midland
Contributions Made

The Joan Edwards Recovery Plan Fund is growing.

It is a West Texas plan to help one of its citizens back to health.

Wednesday, Reporter-Telegram employees contributed $100. And Thursday, The Reporter-Telegram contributed $250. A Midlander, B. Holmes, gave $2.

McMamey Lions initiated the campaign with a benefit softball game which raised $850. The McMamey Lions Club played a girl's team, the famed Blue Jays, as the attraction at which generous citizens attended and contributed.

Joan Edwards, who was injured in an automobile accident last January 17 and who has been unconscious since, is resting comfortably in a San Angelo clinic at the present.

Expresses Thanks

Her father, M. J. Edwards, postmaster at Rankin, expressed his heartfelt thanks to all persons who have contributed to the recovery plan fund and have done other acts of neighborly kindness.

"As a West Texan, I have done my part lots of times to help others," he said. "Now, we are receiving this help and it is a heart-warming experience."

Several events are planned in Midland to obtain funds, including dances and ball games and other events.

Here is the standing of the fund:

Compromise Farm Program Advances

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A compromise farm program for next year was unanimously approved Thursday by a bi-partisan Senate Agriculture subcommittee.

The group struck out all remaining provisions for "production payments" proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as part of his overall new farm program.

Senator Anderson (D-MO), chairman of the seven-man subcommittee, said the compromise bill will be considered Saturday by the full 13-member Agriculture Committee.

Letter Cited
As 'Invitation
For Bribery'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) heatedly charged Thursday that a letter written by a War Assets Administration employee to James V. Hunt in August, 1947, was a "blatant invitation for bribery or connivance of some kind."

Mundt, a member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, spoke out after a committee investigator had read the contents of a letter which he said was written by Clarence H. Oehler to Hunt.

Another letter told of Oehler obtaining for Hunt "match covers with 'White House' 'H. H. V.' and 'H. S. T.' printed on them."

Hunt, now a Washington business counselor, has been a prime figure in the committee's inquiry into activities of "five percenters"—individuals who seek out government contracts for others for a fee.

The committee investigation previously has developed that Hunt ordered books of match folders bearing the imprint "Swiped from Harry S. Truman." Hunt said then that he was acting at the request of the White House.

"H. H. V." are the initials of Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, whose name has figured in the inquiry.

Francis D. Flinn, committee investigator, said Oehler was a warehouse specialist for the WAA in the Western Area at the time he wrote letters to Hunt, formerly a $50-a-day consultant for WAA in Washington.

Oehler, now with the American Industrial Development Corporation of St. Louis, was in the room during Flanagan's testimony. He was to take the stand later.

The committee also planned to take the lid off evidence that had

House Votes
Increase In Wage Floor

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House passed Thursday a bill to raise the national minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75, as asked by President Truman.

The measure went to the Senate, where a similar minimum wage bill is pending. The Senate has set the measure aside repeatedly for other legislation, however, and it is uncertain when the bill may be called up for debate there.

The House action was, in a sense, a victory for the Administration. The bill carried the 75-cent minimum advocated by the President, Secretary of Labor Tobin, and representatives of major labor organizations.

However, it also carried substantially the revision of coverage pushed by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. The bill was introduced by Representative Lucas (D-Texas).

Earlier the House had refused to wash out three days of heated debate on minimum wage legislation by sending the whole thing back to its Labor Committee for more study.

A motion to do that lost 242 to 41 on a standing vote.

While boosting the minimum wage, the bill also stands to take perhaps 1,000,000 workers out from under its protection.

Ford Workers Vote Overwhelmingly In Favor Of Walkout

DETROIT—(AP)—Ford workers in Michigan voted overwhelmingly to strike if necessary to obtain pensions, health benefits and a wage increase.

Almost complete returns in the Ford vote supervised by the state showed Thursday the CIO United Auto Workers won strike authority by a vote of 69,585 to 8,710.

"The union will exhaust every reasonable effort to win justice for the Ford workers through peaceful collective bargaining," Walter Reuther, union president, said in a statement.

"Our position remains unchanged," John S. Bugas, Ford industrial relations director, said. "We desire to reach an agreement which gives the best promise of providing the largest number of steady jobs to Ford employees. We believe that raising costs at this time would increase prices, reduce the volume of business, and result in layoffs for large numbers of workers."

"When union leaders call a strike, we hope Ford employees realize that it may be a long one."

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley of St. Louis will be the guest of Vice President Barkley Sunday at Paducah, Ky., at a hometown celebration in his honor. She will be accompanied by her 17-year-old daughter, Anne.

The vice president's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Max Truitt, are to come with him from Washington.

Their plans for the week-end were reported in Washington and confirmed here by friends of Mrs. Hadley.

The Paducah Airport will be rededicated and renamed for the city's favorite son.

It will be the third meeting in three weeks for Barkley and Mrs. Hadley, a pretty brunette widow whose husband, a railroad attorney, died four years ago.

Both have denied they plan to be married this week-end at Paducah.

Hoover Says Taxes,
Spending Drive U. S.
Toward Collectivism

PALO ALTO, CALIF.—(AP)—The nation Thursday had the sober warning of its only living former President that its spending policies, if unchecked, will rob posterity of its inheritance.

Former President Herbert Hoover, in a significant address, asserted Wednesday night that the United States "is blissfully driving down the back road to collectivism at top speed."

"We have not had a great socialization of property," he said, "but we are on the last mile to collectivism through governmental collection and spending of the savings of the people."

The country's President from 1929 to 1933 spoke before an estimated 10,000 persons in the Laurence Ford Memorial Bowl on the Stanford University Campus, virtually in the shadow of the Hoover Institute and Library of War, Revolution and Peace, founded in 1914.

The occasion was his seventy-fifth birthday celebration, sponsored by the university in tribute to its most famous son, a graduate of its first class in 1895.

Not Too Late To Change

In his brief address by the four major networks, he said:

"My word to you, my fellow citizens, on this seventy-fifth birthday is this: The founding fathers dedicated the structure of our government 'to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.' We of this generation inherited this precious blessing. Yet as spendthrifts we are on our way to rob posterity of its inheritance."

Hatfields and McCoys Still Are Reckless Mountain Boys

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Maybe Sam Goldwyn knows what he's doing.

But it seems to me there's no telling what will happen when the Hatfields and the McCoys share an armistice in a movie theater.

Maybe the whole shooting match will start all over again and a lot of innocent popcorn vendors will get hurt.

Anyway, I'm going to close my eyes and hold my ears when Sam releases "Roseanna McCoy," which is all about the Hatfields and the McCoys scarring up themselves and the hills of West Virginia and Kentucky.

I won't even be surprised if 2500 people go to the premiere and only 2499 come out. It could happen, you know. It's dangerous territory.

Just look what happened when Goldwyn advertised for a matrimonial-minded Hatfield and a McCoy to come to Hollywood for a wedding with all the trimmings, plus a round-the-world trip for a honeymoon.

Sam, who never misses a trick, figured it was a right smart publicity stunt.

One Merlin McCoy, 30, of Louisville, Ky., offered himself as the male candidate. He and a Hatfield girl even reached the ring-on-the-finger stage. But then Merlin advised Goldwyn.

"We had to give each other up because my father said he'd kill me if I didn't."

Famous Feud

"That's a quote from 1949, not 1863. That's when the Hatfields and the McCoys started a season of family warfare that lasted 47 years."

But both the Hatfields and the McCoys had more offspring than killings during that time, which accounts for the presence today of a couple thousand of each clan. Also, since 1910, neither side has added a single notch to a gun stock.

They haven't exactly shouted, "Peace it's wonderful!" Nor have they reached the back-slapping stage. During the war Hatfields and McCoys worked side by side in war plants and never so much as raised a wrench toward each other.

But into this tranquil terrain comes Goldwyn with a movie about one of the highlights of the 47-year-old battle, the story of the love affair between Johnnie Hatfield (Farley Granger) and Roseanna McCoy (Joan Evans).

The tete-a-tete between Johnnie and Roseanna caused the use of more ammunition than the two clans had expended during the entire feud.

Sam says he's given painstaking attention toward giving both sides of the story.

But it's just possible that the part in the hair of one of the Hollywood character actors playing a Hatfield may not set just right with the McCoys.

Kept Em Apart

Goldwyn already has chanced a few showings for descendants of the two clans, but he said he was careful not to mix them up at a single screening. Separately, they didn't seem to object too much to the way their ancestors were pictured.

It was in 1863 that Abe Lincoln had two civil wars on his hands when Kentucky's home guard lined up with the Union, West Virginia sided with the Confederacy and David Anne Hatfield reportedly leveled his sights on one Harmon McCoy.

That started it. In 1867, Gov. Simon Bolivar Buckner, to win the McCoy votes, tried to bring the Hatfields to justice. The latter clan organized a band of vigilantes and parties on both sides hit the dust in a vicious outburst of feuding.

The whole thing finally ended up in the U. S. Supreme Court, which upheld Kentucky in declaring the arrests to be legal.

A Hatfield named Cap took it upon himself to play the dove of peace in 1881, sending a letter to a McCoy newspaper and asking for a cessation of hostilities. His offer was accepted and for five years everything was quiet. Whereupon, this same Cap Hatfield dropped Floyd McCoy in his tracks with a single shot and started the whole thing over again.

But as I say, maybe Goldwyn knows what he's doing.

Confessions Of Engel, The Romantic Swindler

By SIGMUND SAMUEL ENGEL
As Told To Elgar Brown
(Copyright, 1949, Chicago Herald-American)

Women who wanted to marry me, and who eagerly offered vast sums of money as bait, began to clutter up my life on my return from lucrative love conquests in London, Berlin, Vienna, Constantinople and Tokyo.

Very promptly I had to add certain refinements to the technique I had learned abroad—a technique which involved courting the women who loved me, giving them a period of bliss, collecting their gifts and departing.

This procedure rarely included mention of marriage, for the continent isn't so straight-laced about its romantic affairs. But to American women love generally means marriage, and every tete-a-tete holds peril for the unwary male.

Lesson one in the state-side system was learned in the company of Martha Altschul, member of a pioneer California family and an attractive redhead of so-so youthfulness who had resumed her maiden name after an unhappy marriage.

I met Martha socially while a welcome and non-paying guest in the Bay View home of Mrs. Freda Sonnenschein, one of the two "girls" who had jointly financed me as I squandered them off Tokyo on some highly unusual activities.

Martha is persistent. Freda and her constant companion, Mrs. Wilma Hagerty, both of whom professed to adore me, had planned that the three of us should continue to New York after a brief stay on the coast. They reckoned without Martha Altschul.

A straightforward individual full of energy and determination, she became one of the most persistent of the 1,001 women in my life, as well as one of the most generous. She went into action 24 hours after our first meeting.

Knowing the Altschul wealth and position, I turned on the charm almost automatically for Martha's benefit. For me, the die was cast. I had learned an easy way to live in luxury, and I was never to return to the practice of law.

"Step in the library," Martha whispered to me in the Sonnenschein home on the second day of our acquaintance. "I have important things to say."

I must explain that I had put up a magnificent "front," and the woman could have had no doubt that I was a man of tremendous wealth and cultural background.

Plenty of cash was on hand, supplied by the Tokyo "loans" of Wilma and Freda. And my cultural background, of course, was entirely genuine.

"Darling, what's on your mind?" I asked Martha in the library.

"You," she said with disarming candor. "I'm deeply interested in you. Remain in San Francisco awhile. Let Freda and Wilma go on to New York."

Realizing the possibilities of this new liaison, I agreed. It was easily arranged through my vague promise to meet the others shortly in the east. My one concern was about a lovely woman awaiting me in the Mayflower at Washington.

However, Martha and I cast aside dull care and had some fun for ourselves. She was "forgetting" her divorce, she was unencumbered with children, and she had unlimited resources.

Nor was she much concerned with conventionality. We enjoyed trips to Santa Barbara, Palm Springs, Pasadena—but assuredly I was cautious enough to preserve the necessary proprieties, and there was no breath of scandal.

"Marry me, darling," Martha said one day with a directness I had come to understand. I was prepared for this; I quickly changed the subject to one more to my liking.

"This is not the time," I parried. "I am involved in a business deal and must go to Washington immediately to cash some bonds."

Of course, I had in mind the widowed sister at the Mayflower. She looked like new, but I had seen signs of impatience.

"That won't be necessary," said Martha. "For I'll take you downtown and give you some bonds. That'll tide you over—and there'll always be plenty more."

I laughed heartily—and "humorously" she said.

In her letters Martha never blamed or criticized me. She never asked for my money, just for my return. That poor was open to me for years. Perhaps it still is open.

I had given her all the happiness I could—"sold" it, if you insist—and I had to break it up. But I couldn't give her a flat refusal, which would have shattered her heart. I told her I'd consider it, and I went away from there.

Extortion Threat Is Revealed By Head Of Insurance Firm

WACO—(P)—An extortionist threatened to blow up Waco's tallest building unless given $4,300.

A. R. Wilson, chairman of the board of the Amicable Life Insurance Company, Wednesday revealed he received a letter last week in which he was told to give $4,300 or have the firm's 22-story building dynamited.

The letter was signed "a pal." It also threatened Wilson's wife and grandchildren unless he carried out orders.

The letter said the writer had $300,000 in jewels hidden in Germany and wanted to borrow $4,300 for a trip to Germany. Wilson would receive $10,000 back in 90 days, the letter said.

Wilson said he followed the letter's instructions last Saturday, carrying a paper sack to a downtown corner in Waco as directed and attempted to make contact.

A nearby telephone booth approached him, asked if his name was Miller, was told it was, and then took the sack, which contained only paper. The boy then wandered down the street, apparently looking for someone.

Officers followed the youth and finally picked him up. He told them a thin-faced, tall man had given him $4,300 and told him to deliver it to him at the City Hall Square.

Police presumed the man had caught on to the fact the boy was being followed.

FBI Agent Bill Buckler obtained the letter from Police Chief M. Burton and declined to release its entire text.

Chicago Threatened With Gasoline Famine

CHICAGO—(P)—A possible gasoline famine fact the look and largest city Thursday as drivers of trucks carrying gas to filling stations went on strike.

The strike was voted unanimously Wednesday night at a 10-minute meeting of 1,000 members of local 708 of the AFL International Teamsters Union. They decided because of a wage dispute not to wheel their tank rigs to the 1,940 gas stations that supply the city.

Union officials estimated the city's gas stations would run dry in three days.

Independent Oilmen Invited To Hearing

WASHINGTON—(P)—Representatives of the independent oil industry from seven states have been invited to appear before a congressional subcommittee meeting here August 17 to testify on the harmful effects of oil imports, an Independent Association spokesman said.

Tom Orr, executive secretary for the Kansas Independent Oil and Gas Association, said "This hearing probably will wind up the subcommittee hearings" which have been held in New York and Texas on the oil import situation.

Oil independents feel the heavy cut-backs in domestic production which are being made to balance supply and demand, are being offset by continued high imports by the major oil companies, he said.

"We feel this is the last chance to bring the view of the independents to Congress before adjournment," Orr added.

Nine-Year-Old Lad Weakens In Losing Battle With Cancer

RISING STAR, TEXAS—(P)—Clair Linden Underwood, nine, no longer props himself up on his elbows to watch youngsters chase each other through the sprinkler on the hospital lawn.

The skinny, brown-haired lad from Buckeye, N. M., is too weak from the ravages of a cancer, which already has closed his left eye. Doctors say it will take his life.

Clair is the oldest of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Clair Underwood. "Buckeye, former residents of this area. The Underwoods brought their son to the hospital here two weeks ago. His grandparent live here, and they want the family to be together."

Nurses say the boy was alert and "bounced around quite a bit" when he was brought here after treatment at Dallas. But he steadily has weakened.

In the two weeks he's been here more than 1,800 letters, cards and packages have arrived. Clair's mother wishes there were even more. Some of the letters are childish scrawls from his Buckeye playmates.

Underwood is a production employee for Phillips Petroleum Company. The family has lived in the Buckeye and Jal, N. M., areas since leaving West Central Texas.

Ford's Theater, where Lincoln was shot, still stands in Washington, although it no longer is used for theatrical purposes.

★ WE, THE WOMEN ★

Third Degree Gains Nothing—And May Lose Your Husband

By KATH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

The man who is married to a suspicious woman is never regarded by her as a husband. He's always Suspect Number One.

In order to justify her suspicions, his wife will resort to any kind of low trick to catch him trying to put something over on her, and will accuse him of anything that she can think of just to watch his reactions.

Here's a letter from a husband who is Suspect Number One on his wife's list. Maybe it will give suspicious wives a hint of what their uncontrolled jealousy does to their husband's love.

"I've about reached my saturation point when it comes to nagging. First let me explain that we are middle-aged folks, married a long time. I work hard every day in an office, maintain a nice home and a car for my wife to use. My only bad habit is to stop for a glass of beer on my way home a couple of nights a week. I do not drink more than one glass!

"But the minute I walk in she meets me at the door and begins working her nose like a bird dog. 'Aha,' she shouts, 'drunk again!'

Lecture Greets Him
"Well, at first I tried to deny it but she only out-shouted me when I patiently attempted to explain I drank one 10-cent glass of beer. So I no longer say a word in return, and needless to say the tirade of words grows and grows. She lectures me for one solid evening on sin and usually winds up quoting the Bible to me.

"Lately she has begun to accuse me going out with other women. She is wrong, dead wrong. But I could tell her that for a week of Sundays and the result would be the same.

"It's gotten so that I dread to come home at night. Please, Ruth Millett, will you be good enough to write an article about this problem and so help a poor fool of a man, a husband. I won't dare show it to her, but perhaps she will see it and ease up on me a bit. I can't stand it much longer.

Even if this article doesn't help the husband who asked for help it may help some other whose wives haven't yet gone quite so far on the road toward making their husbands feel like Suspect Number One, instead of like husbands who are loved, admired and trusted.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas drugstore for four ounces of Barcetrane. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcetrane is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcetrane.

Flaws Are Evident

Should the U. S. Treasury pay for our presidential election campaigns?

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts thinks so and has introduced a resolution for that purpose.

The theory is that our present system of private financing weights a winning candidate with too many commitments. The President has to grant favors in return for favors received.

Thus when a new man takes office, he has to dispense many of his choicest plums to the men who drew their checkbooks from their pockets most regularly.

Soon afterward a scanning of passenger lists for European and other foreign liners shows a liberal sprinkling of new American diplomats, who naturally just happen to have been heavy campaign contributors.

There is no question that merit would be a much bigger factor in presidential appointments were it not for campaign obligations.

Private financing is a headache for another reason, too. The need for radio and television time is making campaign steadily more expensive; and adequate funds are increasingly difficult to scrape up.

In principle the Lodge proposal sounds good, at least at first glance. But some tough questions come to mind.

Who gets the money? Just the two major parties, or minor ones as well? If some of the latter, who decides which shall be included?

Offhand, any discrimination at this point would appear hard to justify in a democracy that professes to keep the door open always for new ideas, new policies, new parties. Democracy can't be a closed corporation.

Furthermore, would there be any government control over how the money should be spent by the parties? Edward J. Flynn, Democratic leader in New York's Bronx, points out that much campaign money is wasted.

But any control to prevent waste might in time turn out to be control for control's sake. Control of a political party's spending would mean an end to free elections.

Other objections have been raised but these are the big ones. For all its apparent surface merit, the Lodge proposal is unlikely to get far unless its supporters can show that government financing of campaigns will not handicap the free working of America's democratic election system.

Maybe we're a little hard on counterfeiting. After all, legislators pass bad bills and think nothing of it.

To err is human, but when the eraser wears out before the pencil does, look out!

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Robert S. Allen says: Pittsburgh's Representative Fulton, plain-talking Navy vet, cut short General Lemnitzer's "gobbledygook" in House committee testimony on European arms bill; Mme. Chiang still working for U. S. aid to husband's tottering regime.

WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Lyman D. Lemnitzer encountered rough going in his closed-door testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the $1,450,000,000 European arms bill.

The working-over was administered by Rep. James G. Fulton, R., Pittsburgh, a plain-talking Navy veteran.

Lemnitzer is one of the principal authors of the giant armament measure. A 50-year-old West Point graduate, he is deputy commander of the National War College and chairman of the Foreign Assistance Coordinating Committee. In this latter position, he has played an important behind-the-scenes role in foreign policy.

Lemnitzer appeared before the committee flanked by a score of senior Army officers. They were so numerous they filled all the front seats. At a result, the ECA and State Department delegations had to remain in the rear. These delegations were headed by two top experts, Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner and Edward T. Dickinson, but Lemnitzer got most of the talking.

He got off to a bad start by addressing the committee as though it were a staff conference he was briefing. Heavily interlarding his comments with military terminology, he talked at length about logistics, tables of organization and equipment and other technical matters.

Just a moment," Fulton broke in. "Before you go any further, let's cut out all the gobbledygook."

Lemnitzer came to an abrupt halt. Fulton pointed out that Lemnitzer was addressing the Foreign Affairs Committee, not the Armed Services Committee.

"What we want to know," he said, "is how this arms program was worked out. How did you arrive at this $1,450,000,000 figure?" Lemnitzer replied that an arbitrary price was fixed for the cost of weapons to be sent to Europe. These arbitrary figures have no direct relation to the original cost of the weapons.

"Are all the weapons to be from our surplus supplies?" asked Fulton.

Lemnitzer admitted they would not. Also, that Army needs would require replacement of surplus sent to Europe. Further, that as a result of this replacement, the actual cost of the European program would be $1,850,000,000.

Lemnitzer also disclosed, under questioning, that Army intelligence had underestimated greatly Russian military strength two years ago and considerable doubt exists as to the currency and accuracy of present information. He sidestepped direct criticism of Army intelligence, but the import of his remarks was unfavorable.

"There is a great deal of feeling in the country and in Congress," observed Fulton, "that the military are shaping our foreign policy. If that is true, it is not a sound situation."

Before testifying, Lemnitzer submitted his lengthy prepared discourse to William F. Ryan, Defense Department press director, "for suggestions."

Pointed Brush-Off
Last month Rep. James Van Zandt, R., Pa., telephoned retired air General "Toey" Spaatz and invited him to participate in the centennial celebration of Altoona, Pa., Van Zandt's home town. Spaatz, also a Pennsylvanian, promised to try to come.

I am not going to try to justify North's bid of six no trump on today's hand. I can only explain that North had been losing all evening and this probably was the rubber of the evening. He was afraid that West might be void of diamonds, and that the hand was safer at a no trump.

After all East had over his risk a two-diamond bid dared to risk a demand bid. South had shown strength in diamonds by bidding three no trump rather than three in a suit and North felt quite confident that he had either the ace or king of diamonds to justify the three no trump bid.

However, it is the play that we want to discuss today. When West opened the eight of diamonds, what would you play from dummy? Suppose that declarer elects to play the three-spot. East, of course, will win the trick with the ace, and Now what should he return? If you analyze it, you will find that East should return a club. If South has the ten and a small club, there is no way to defeat the contract. East must attempt to lock the declarer in dummy, also hope that West has three hearts to the queen.

Let us go back to the declarer's angle. Did he make the correct play when he put on the three-spot on dummy? He did not. Do not forget that East overcalled in diamonds. West opened the eight of spades. This combination clearly marks East with the ace and Jack of diamonds.

Therefore, the queen should have been played from dummy to trick one. Now, regardless of what East does, the contract will be made. Suppose East goes up with the ace and returns a club. Declarer will win it, go over to the spade king, lead the three of diamonds and finesse the ten spot, discarding the five of hearts on the king of diamonds.

"Would you like to see him driven to the wall by big business under the old baiting-point system? Would you like to see a repeal of the Robinson-Patman Act, which prohibits price discrimination against the little fellow by monopolies?"

"I most certainly would not," declared Truman. "That isn't my idea of free enterprise. I will not see small business destroyed."

"I know you won't, and that's exactly what would happen if the O'Mahoney-Walter bill became law," said Karst.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

'Watchful Waiting' Is Main Treatment In 'Stroke' Cases

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Either a clot or some bleeding from a blood vessel in the brain is commonly called an "apoplexy" or a "stroke." Hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure usually precede a stroke of apoplexy. Both are rare before the age of 40.

A hemorrhage (bleeding) is somewhat more likely to come on suddenly than a clot and this is of some help in distinguishing between the two. The symptoms of both conditions, however, depend on the amount of brain tissue damaged.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

QUESTION: A friend 56 years old has cramp-like pains in one leg. What could be the cause of this and what could be done for it?

ANSWER: The description is meager but if the cramp-like pains come only after exercise, the most likely diagnosis is "intermittent claudication," a condition which is caused by poor circulation due to hardening of the arteries in the leg. Treatment is often not too successful.

In other words, if the clot closes off a large blood vessel, a large area of the brain will be affected. The size and location of the hemorrhage also determines the amount of damage.

When the area injured is large, unconsciousness usually comes on. The breathing becomes noisy. The muscles on one side of the body—the one opposite the side of the brain affected—become paralyzed. Feeling or sensation is not affected.

The amount of recovery from a stroke depends on the original size of the hemorrhage or clot and what part of the brain is hit. Recovery starts early. The amount of paralysis present usually is greatest at the beginning and tends to become less as the time goes on. Some people who have had an extensive paralysis recover almost entirely.

It is rarely possible by medical or surgical means to get at the brain and to remove the clot or to stop the bleeding. Watchful waiting is therefore about the only treatment which can be used immediately. Complete rest is, of course, essential. Good nursing care is important.

After a while carefully chosen exercises or massage may help. The paralysis, however, comes from the injury to the brain and is not in the muscles themselves and therefore one cannot expect too much from treatment.

Health Organization Finds It's Still A Pretty Sick Old World

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The world is now so politically sick that it isn't taking very good care of its physical health. That seems to sum up the situation following the second assembly of WHO—the World Health Organization of the United Nations—in Rome, Italy.

Representatives of 55 out of the 64 member nations were there. The American delegation was headed by Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana and Rep. Joseph L. Pfeiffer of New York were congressional advisers.

No delegations came from China and other war-torn lands. Romania and some of the Latin American countries didn't come because they lacked dollars to pay their contributions. Soviet Russia, White Russia and the Ukraine thought they had resigned without paying their dues for last year. But the WHO assembly refused to accept the letters of resignation because they were signed by mere viceministers of health. The door was left open for them to rejoin.

Rejection of these attempted resignations put the Communist satellite countries on the spot. Present were Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Albania, Hungary. Their delegates avoided irritating Russia by not voting on the matter.

Postwar Improvement Shown

All European countries reported remarkable postwar improvement in the health of their people. Death rates are down from a 1945 high of 25 per thousand in Austria to 12. Marshall Plan aid has done wonders in preventing disease. A million malaria cases in Greece have been reduced to 100,000 by DDT-ing. The cost was 20 cents a patient.

Surgeon General Scheele says he saw only one fly in Greece. Dr. H. van Zile Hyde, U. S. representative on WHO, kids Dr. Scheele about having killed the last fly in that country.

Even the satellite countries reported improvement in health conditions. Several reasons are given. For one, doctors and other technical people seem to be the last to give in to domination by the commissars. For another reason, the Communists want to get more work out of the masses, and when they're not healthy they don't work so well. So doctors are spread around for the propaganda purpose of giving health to the liberated peasants and workers. It's only after they may have found their better health that they discover that their liberties have been removed, along with bolts and bunions.

But in other parts of the world, outside Europe and North America, Dr. Hyde describes the situation as "pretty grim." One billion of the world's 2,250,000,000 people suffer from diseases that are preventable and curable.

Malaria afflicts some 300,000,000 people a year. The Middle East, Africa, Asia, Latin America, practically all the tropical areas of the world, are plagued by pestilences that reduce their people to a state of chronic disability. There is no chance of raising their standard of living till their health is improved. Some Want Free Services

Trying to write financial prescriptions to combat these diseases ran the World Health organization into something of a political cramp at the recent Rome assembly. Eastern European and the so-called underdeveloped countries thought WHO should be organized into a supply operation, something like UNRRA, to pour first aid into their innards on a free basis.

Setting up a budget proved difficult. The countries that wanted a lot of free medical service had big ideas. It was necessary to limit operations to the money and staff available. The end was adoption of a $7,000,000 budget, with a supplementary budget of things that it would be nice to do if another $10,000,000 was available.

The $7,000,000 is of course peanuts when compared to the $70,000,000,000 or more which the world is now spending on armaments. But for WHO's paltry millions, the world will get a start on a number of useful world crusades against disease.

WHO's first year was spent largely in trying to assemble a staff of about 250 under its director general, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Canada. There are about 20 Americans on the staff. Headquarters are in the old League of Nations Health Organization building in Geneva. Regional headquarters are being set up in Cairo for the Middle East and New Delhi for Southeast Asia. Eventually there will be others for the Western Pacific and Africa.

The alternative to making WHO a free drug store for the world is to train doctors from each country, then let them go back home to do their own job of preventive medicine.

Communists Beaten As Aussie Miners Vote To End Strike

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA—(P)—Australian coal miners, who have been on strike since June 27, will go back to work Monday.

The Central Executive of the Miners' Federation ordered the men back to work after New South Wales miners voted 6,168 to 2,226 against continuing the walkout.

The vote was a defeat for the Communist-influenced Central Executive. The men will return to work under terms laid down by Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley at the start of the strike—the claims are to be left to arbitration.

The miners called the walkout to press demands for a 35-hour week instead of 40 hours and a 15 per cent pay increase.

The strike crippled many Australian industries dependent on coal. Some 600,000 persons were out of work at one stage.

Yanks Come Back At Boston; Bums, Cards Keep Pace

By all the laws of baseball statistics, the Boston Red Sox, not the New York Yankees, should be leading the American League Thursday.

The Red Sox own the circuit's top batter in Ted Williams. They possess the league's "winningest" pitcher in Mel Parnell. In Williams and Vern Stephens, they have the one, two leaders in home runs and runs batted in.

In addition, they lead in team batting and slugging, and rank third compared to the Yankees' seventh in team fielding. Shouldn't that rate them the No. 1 spot in the standings?

Yet the Red Sox find themselves in third place, six and a half games behind the front-running Yankees, who also own a five and a half game bulge over the runner-up Cleveland Indians.

There is only one answer for this strange, and for Boston, sad state of affairs. The Red Sox don't have Joe Page and the Yankees do. It's as simple as that.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, who once made headlines by pulling a bird out of his cap, doesn't have to resort to magic when trouble looms. He simply calls on Joe Page. Take Wednesday's important game between the Yankees and Red Sox in Boston. The Sox had drawn first blood Tuesday, winning the first of the three-game set. They needed the next two to get back in the running. A three-run rally in the top of the seventh, highlighted by Hank Bauer's two-run single, had given the Yankees a 3-1 edge over Joe Dobson. Stephens clipped Yankee Starter Ed Lopat for his 28th homer in the last half of the inning to make it 3-2. After Lopat survived a shaky seventh inning, Stengel excused his lefty for the day and summoned his trouble-shooter—Page.

Joe returned the dangerous Sox with only one harmless, infield single.

Albuquerque Player Is Stricken By Polio

LAMESA—(P)—Frank Okrie, Albuquerque shortstop in the West Texas-New Mexico League, was hospitalized here Wednesday with infantile paralysis.

Cub officials said Okrie became ill at Albuquerque Tuesday, but made the road trip. He is expected to be transferred to a polio center soon.

Another Albuquerque player, Dick Dawson, was hospitalized with concussion and possible skull fracture. He was hit by a foul in the dugout during the Albuquerque-Lamesa game Wednesday night.

Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the major league record for most games won in the first season—28.

Ralph Blair Notches Number Fourteen; Fielding Is Good

The Midland Indians tangle with the Sweetwater Swatters in the final game of their two-game series in Indian Park at 8:15 p. m. Thursday. It will be the last regular season appearance of the Swatters here this year.

Manager Harold Webb is expected to nominate Lefty Leon Hayes as the starting hurler. Bob Spence or Lou Lockhart probably will go for the Swatters.

The Midland Indians gave Manager Harold Webb the present he wanted most of all as a "home coming" gift Wednesday night when they clipped the Sweetwater Swatters 4 to 3. It was the shortest nine-inning game of the season in Indian Park, requiring only one hour and 45 minutes to well play it.

Ralph Blair and Bob Merrill hooked up in a pitcher's duel most of the way. Blair got the best of things when Merrill went into periods of wildness in the third and eighth innings.

Sweetwater, with Gene Jaroch leading the way, scored first. Roach reached base on a Midland error in the 20th game he's saved. Page singled him home.

The Indians put together Julian Pressley's double and Gus Pena's single to tie the score in the second. Blair, with the aid of some brilliant fielding plays and a twin-killing, blanked the Swatters through the fifth. While he was checking the opposition, the Tribe turned on an offensive rally.

Midland moved ahead in the third when Merrill walked the bases full and Ralph Blair scored on Warren Sliter's long fly to left.

Gus Pena singled to open the fourth and did some heads-up base running to get to second. Buck Austin lofted a fly to deep left-field and Pena tagged up. He moved into second on the throw from Pena. Blair singled him around with Midland's third run of the game.

It was Jaroch for the Swatters again in the sixth. He opened the inning with a triple and scored on an error.

Sliter Scores Clincher

Warren Sliter had a "running fit" in the eighth and raced home with what proved to be the winning run. He walked, stole second, moved to third on an error by Harry Bartolomei, Swatter catcher, and sprinted across the plate on a wild pitch.

The Swatters threatened in the first of the ninth. Cuitti opened with a walk. Bartolomei singled him to third but was out trying to go to second on the throw in. Pressley took the throw from Pena and relayed it to Rose at second in time to nip Bartolomei. Bob Dahn singled to score Cuitti.

Pinch-hitter Bill Peeler lofted to Pena in center for the second out and Bill Hasey's short fly to center was taken by Pena in a nice running catch.

The win was Blair's fourteenth of the season.

Split-T College All-Stars Tackle Pros Friday Night

CHICAGO—(P)—The tricky Split-T formation, which is another way of saying Bud Wilkinson, will be the principal weapon of the college All-Stars when they take on the Philadelphia Eagles Friday night.

Wilkinson, head coach of the All-Stars, used the Split-T in piloting his university of Oklahoma team to a Big Seven Conference football championship and a Sugar Bowl victory over North Carolina last season.

He has made it known that if the formation can be befuddled other college teams it ought to be worth a good try against the National Football League champions.

The sixteenth annual collegiate-pro game, for the righteous cause of charity, is expected to attract 90,000 customers to Soldier Field on Chicago's Lake Front. The pros have an edge of eight victories to five since the series was started in 1934. Two games ended in ties.

Shirley Celebrates Birthday Thursday

By SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE
(Copyright by NEA Service, Inc., 1949)

DOVER, ENGLAND—I am 17 Thursday and my only regret is that I didn't swim the channel while I still was 16. Believe me, I would have made the try if at all possible, but everybody here—including my father and coach—convinced me it was foolish to do so while the weather was so bad.

My father said, "If you do it at 17 you'll still be the youngest person ever to swim the channel. And whether you do it or don't, you'll still be my daughter."

That's the kind of Dad I've got! And that's why I'll never let my family down. When I finally start my swim I'll never leave the water until I've crossed, unless I'm dragged from it.

Everybody was so nice to me on my birthday eve. It made a real pleasure out of the drudgery of training. As a special present, Dad swam along with me Wednesday as he used to do when I was a kid, and it was wonderful to see him grinning at me. It was just like old times as we churned along.

I'm very excited about my birthday, of course. The newspapermen went to Canterbury and bought me a present. I've had any number of telegrams, letters, and cables. And I'm being taken to the famous Crypt Restaurant in Dover, which is said to be the 900-year-old crypt of what used to be an ancient Saxon church. That's going to be my first night out since I've been here. But I'll gladly give up if word comes that the weather is beginning to clear and that I can start swimming the channel.

Longhorn League—Indians, Dusters, Broncs, Rockets Are Loop Winners

By The Associated Press

The league-leading Big Spring Broncs retained their 12-game lead over second-place Vernon in the Longhorn League race by pounding out a 15-12 victory Wednesday night over the Odessa Oilers.

Vernon whitewashed the San Angelo Colts 2-0 behind the two-hit hurling of Darvin Chisico. Midland edged Sweetwater 4-3, and Roswell walloped Ballinger 7-1.

Big Spring scored six runs in the third frame. Carlos Pasqual, George Lopes and Hector Bonet all homered for the Broncs. Odessa rallied for seven runs in the eighth and three in the ninth. Los Palmer hit six for six for the Oilers.

Unearned runs scored by Conk Meriwether and Wayne Moon gave Vernon the edge over San Angelo. Warren Sliter tallied on a wild pitch in the eighth frame to give Midland the decision over Sweetwater.

Roswell scored five runs on home run clouts by Cruess, Bell and Nundorf to down Ballinger.

Charles Taps Gus In Seven Stanzas

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ezzard Charles has sold himself to New York as the best of a poor lot of heavyweights.

The lean Cincinnati negro still lacks New York State recognition as world heavyweight champion but he rules the 47 states under the NBA. Most of the 16,630 sweltering fans who saw him make Gus Lesnevich surrender at the end of seven rounds Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium seemed willing to accept him. The next move is up to Eddie Egan, chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

It is hard to criticize Charles for his performance in stopping Lesnevich. Certainly, he was hit and hurt when Durley shot his bolt in the sixth round. But Charles fought back gamely under fire. At the end of the next round, Gus' manager, Joe Vella, asked Referee Ruby Goldstein to stop it.

The International Boxing Club promoting its first New York fight since buying out Mike Jacobs, must have dropped a bundle on the show, which grossed only $73,832 plus $17,500 for radio rights.

Gus Shakes Champ The fight went just as figured, with Charles absorbing early punishment but opening the old scar tissue around Gus' eyes.

Charles met Lesnevich's first-round rush with a sustained attack that made Gus' knees buckle. It was the same story in the next three rounds until the fifth, when Gus landed a stiff right hand.

The battered 34-year-old former light heavyweight king rushed from his corner at the start of the sixth and shook up the champ with a stiff right to the head. Charles seemed to wilt under pressure and slowed down but he had Gus missing badly at the bell.

The fighters suffered from the intense heat of the hottest day of New York's hottest Summer. Most everybody, including the judges, had Charles out first 6-1 in rounds at the end.

Charles weighed 180, Lesnevich 182.

BY SHORTY SHELBOURNE

Coach Tugboat Jones has everything just about mapped out on what his coaches will do during the coming football season. He has been working on the tedious schedule for several days, trying to make sure each assistant gets the right job at the right time. On paper, the schedule looks like a crossword puzzle.

For training purposes, the following setup will be used:
Garvin Beauchamp will coach the line, Audrey Gill the ends and centers.

Red Rutledge will coach the B team and Joe Atkins will handle the C squad.
John Higdon, a newcomer to Midland, will coach the eighth grade team.

Charlie Tubbs again will handle the seventh grade and Lloyd Curlee will coach the sixth.

All coaches connected with the high school squad will be available to do whatever is necessary at each workout. Tugboat will spend his time working the backs and the team as a whole.

All assistant coaches will be used, along with Basketball Coach Jack Mashburn, for scouting.
Rutledge and Mashburn will get in more scouting duty than the others, however.

With that all worked out and the coaches rounding into shape, the ball is just about to start rolling. In fact, it will roll for sure, come Monday morning.

That's the day training starts.

Warren Cantrell, former Midland County Club pro, is due to show off his Cree Meadows Golf Course at Ruidoso, N. M., August 28 through 30 when he stages his second annual professional golf tourney.

The meet is expected to attract 60 of the top pros from West Texas and New Mexico.

Cantrell is reported to be recovering nicely from a recent illness. He attended the Odessa pro-amateur tournament last week.

Bill Serena, the former Lubbock Hubber who tore down the fences when he won the Texas-New Mexico League, is ticketed for the big leagues next season.

His contract was sold by the Dallas Eagles to the Chicago Cubs for a reported $35,000 Wednesday.

Bill is one of the boys declared a free agent by Commissioner Chandler in the Detroit shakeup last year. He made the most of it financially.

The hard-hitting infielder made Dallas fork across an estimated $40,000 bonus when he signed with them.

While at Lubbock, Serena was given a pair of slacks for each home run he hit. He has slacks aplenty for years because he clouted 58 homers in one season.

The guy who got the biggest hand of all at the heavyweight title fight Wednesday night wasn't Champion Ezzard Charles. It was the former title holder, Joe Louis.

The crowd cheered louder and louder as the Brown Bomber walked across the ring before the fight.

Louis watched Charles defend his title for the first time then declared he has no plans to come out of retirement.

Clyde Perry, former Midland Indians shortstop who was purchased from Gladewater by Dallas Tuesday, earned his pay Wednesday night.

Little Clyde clouted a homer with two on.

Dallas has built strong hopes on Perry, according to reports, and it looks like the Eagles have picked the right horse. He was named the rookie of the year in the minors last season in an unofficial poll.

Manager Harold Webb and Catcher Kenny Jones got their heads together Wednesday and decided the popular little backstop will be ready to go sooner than was expected.

Webb says Jones will be behind the plate Saturday night when Claude Horton tosses against the league-leading Big Spring Bronchos in Indian Park.

Everyone, including us, will be glad to see Kenny back in action. He will help a lot at the plate.

At the same time we recognize Ed Cox and extend our appreciation for the good job he has done while Kenny has been out.

We hope Webb will see fit to keep Cox on the roster to help Jones with the catching chores.

CHARLIE SLANTS... Dalton "Snoot" Hughes of the Odessa Blue Sox was named to the State Amateur Junior Baseball All-Star team last week.

McPatton says he'll try to break his record of 9.3 seconds for the 100-yard dash at Houston August 15 in the McCarroll Junior Olympics.

Tech now has 65 letters coaching in educational institutions. Nine of them are in colleges.

WT-NM League—
Lamesa, Abilene, Pampa, Clovis Put Games On Win List

The Pampa Oilers pounded out an 11-8 victory over the Borger Gassers Wednesday night to replace the losers in sixth place in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings.

Parker's 19th home run of the season was the big blow in the 15th Oiler attack.

Lamesa snapped a three-game losing streak by defeating the first-place Albuquerque Dukes 6-3. Jack Gutierrez notched his thirteenth win of the year—his tenth straight—scattering nine Dukes hits.

Second-place Abilene climbed to within two games of the Dukes by defeating Amarillo 15-10. Amarillo's five-run, ninth-inning rally fell five runs short of victory.

Two home runs in the eighth inning—by I. B. Palmer and George Mendez—gave Clovis a 4-2 win over Lubbock.

Top Pros Tee Off In Tam o'Shanter World Championship

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead, currently golf's hottest journey, can go anywhere and do anything as a combat plane.

Once one of the toughest foes of the big plane, Kenney gave it this high praise before the House Armed Services Committee:

"As a night bomber, operating over 40,000 feet, it is perfectly safe to take it anywhere. Nobody has a fighter plane that could touch it."

The stubby, gray-haired Air Force pioneer was a wartime Allied air commander in the Pacific.

He told his story to the committee after it heard former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson take "full responsibility" for a pre-test order of 107 B-36's given in 1943 to get production rolling as quickly as possible.

Kenney said he was an air officer since 1917 and now commander of the air university at Maxwell Field, Ala. Kenney said his first contact with the B-36 was in 1941, when he recommended that the Air Force buy it.

Kenney said the B-36, based on preliminary drawings and plans submitted by four airplane manufacturers, Kenney then was chief of procurement in the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field, Ohio.

Kenney said he approved the B-36 plans "solely on the merits of design." This, he declared, was "the only consideration."

He said he next met the B-36 when he returned from the Pacific after the war and was given command of the Strategic Air Command in late 1946. He immediately began to inquire about the plane, which still had not flown.

Kenney said "The plane didn't seem to be living up to expectations."

It was having "a lot of teething troubles," with propellers, the flap system, landing gear and engines, and these "were very alarming to me," he added.

Kenney said he recommended to Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, then Air Force commander, that the B-36 program be reviewed and perhaps curtailed.

By June of 1948, however, most of the plane's troubles had been licked, Kenney said.

"The airplane astonished me, and I think astonished everybody else. The youngsters flying it said they liked it, and with all the troubles cured, it said 'All right, I'll buy it.'"

Patterson told the committee he was not motivated by interest in any of the individuals connected with the Consolidated Aircraft Company, which builds the B-36.

Rotary Engineers, Joe's Gulf Win
Rotary Engineers and Joe's Gulf annexed victory in Midland Softball League games at Wadley Field Wednesday night.

Rotary scored steadily throughout the game to edge Shell 8 to 5 and move into the championship of the first division. W. C. Hammett, ace of the Rotary hurling staff, went the distance.

Joe's Gulf scored freely against The Reporter-Telegram. The final score was 28 to 9.

Only two more double-headers remain to be played on the regular schedule. Several makeup games probably will be worked off next week, however.

The playoffs, a battle between the first four teams for the pennant, will start August 17.

Frisco 49ers Trim Dons In Exhibition
LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The San Francisco 49ers still have the Los Angeles Dons in their hip pocket.

The San Francisco All-American Conference entry posted its eighth win over the Dons in nine starts Wednesday night with a 28-7 exhibition victory before 81,272 fans.

The huge crowd, one of the largest ever to see a pro grid game here, saw Frankie Albert, the 49ers' smooth field general, exercise his usual mastery.

Youths Flock In For Soapbox Derby
AKRON, OHIO—(AP)—Juvenile speed experts from all over the country began arriving Thursday for the twelfth running of the All-America Soapbox Derby. It will be held Sunday at Derby Downs, near here.

One hundred and fifty local champions are entered.

Fourteen new cities are sending champions this year. They include Laredo, Texas.

Along this road of spending, the government either takes over, which is socialism, or dictates institutional and economic life, which is fascism.

Hoover said "Mr. average working citizen" now must work 61 days a year to support local, state and federal government. Proposed additional government spending would take another 20 days' work, he said.

He estimated the cost of all government to the average family, exclusive of federal debt service, had jumped from $200 to $1,300 a year in the last 20 years, and that this might go to $1,900 with debt service and new proposed expenditures.

Crane County Sets Tax Rate At $1.69
CRANE—Crane County commissioners have set the 1949 tax rate at $1.34 on the $100 valuation with an additional 35 cents to be levied for use of the general fund and a hospital operation.

The commissioners court Monday redistricted the county, arranging precincts 1, 3, and 4 to each incorporate a part of Crane, thus dividing the county as closely as possible according to population.

Oil And Gas Log—

9,000-foot exploration to test the Ellenburger in the Jordan-Ellenburger field in Southwest Ector County, three miles south of Penwell.

Drilling with rotary tools is scheduled to get underway immediately. Drillsite is 600 feet from north and 1,200 feet from east lines of section 12, block B-16, pal survey.

Coke Prospect Gets Water In Ellenburger

Barnsdall Oil Company No. 1 Davenport, Northeast Coke County prospect, which had shown for a possible discovery from lime sections in the Pennsylvanian, developed water in the Ellenburger and probably will plug back and try to complete from the oil bearing zones up the hole.

This venture took a one hour drillstem test at 5,797-5840 feet. There was a strong flow of air at the surface during the entire period.

Recovery was 108 feet of drilling mud and 3,080 feet of sulphur water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

Operator is now taking side wall samples.

Top of the Ellenburger was picked by some geologists to be at 5,675 feet. Elevation is 1,956 feet.

This possible Pennsylvanian discovery is three and one-half miles southeast of Blackwell and 1,980 feet from south and 860 feet from east lines of the east half of the Seth Clark survey, No. 475.

Humble Gets Water In Coke Ellenburger

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 Odem, Northeast Coke County wildcat, two and three-quarter miles northwest of the same company's No. 1 Odem, Strawn discovery in Northwest Runnels County, made salty sulphur water in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test at 5,835-65 feet.

The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 2,430 feet of salty sulphur water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

The exploration is drilling ahead past 6,200 feet in lime and is slated to continue to the Ellenburger.

Top of the Ellenburger was reported by some geologists to have been at 5,835 feet.

The project had some shows of production in the Strawn, and after it finds granite, operator probably will plug back and try to make a well in the Strawn section.

It is 680 feet from northwest and 8248 feet from southeast lines of the Felix Sesa survey.

Backers—

through the actions we have taken and are proposing to take, the maintenance of peace and freedom is within our reach."

Hartman, who once was ambassador to Moscow, said it is his conviction that U. S. security "can be immeasurably increased" by arming the military forces of Western Europe.

Hartman said there must be no delay in sending American arms and military equipment to the North Atlantic Pact nations.

Backers of the arms program have been cheered by word that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) won't lead a fight against it, and by strong support from the military chiefs.

The chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, told a reporter he probably will vote against the plan of arming friendly nations. But he added he will not spearhead the opposition as he did against the North Atlantic Treaty.

Steel Man Charges Truman Attempt To Fix Wages, Profits

NEW YORK—(AP)—Inland Steel Company President Clarence B. Randall said Thursday President Truman's creation of the steel fact-finding board was an "industrial revolution" which would lead to permanent government wage fixing. The attack on the President's action was the first made by an industry spokesman as the companies began presentation of their case before the board. Randall is from Chicago.

Last week the CIO Steelworkers Union argued before the board for a 30-cents-an-hour package including wage, pension and insurance benefits.

Randall, who spoke for his own company but also was the keynoter for the entire industry, not only rejected all the union's demands, but also denounced the board itself.

"When the President announced the formation of this board he was in fact announcing an industrial revolution in America," Randall asserted.

New Social Order

"By doing so, he has declared himself in favor of a new social order, and one so different from that under which our magnificent production record has been achieved that unless the process is stopped, and stopped at once, there will be no possibility of turning back."

"Through this means, whether he knew it or not, he has proclaimed that wages shall be fixed by the government. This step is always the first one taken by those who set out to establish a socialist or cooperative state."

"The fixing of profits comes next, and then when incentive is killed and production falls, the final step of nationalization follows. Europe came close to starvation because of this tragic sequence and was saved only by the dynamic quality of a free America. Yet here is the same pattern."

Army Sergeant Dies Of Burns Suffered In Bus Disaster

BLOOMINGTON, IND.—(AP)—A 30-year-old Army sergeant died Thursday of burns suffered in Wednesday's Greyhound bus crash in which 15 other persons met flaming death.

He was Sgt. Dale Alkman of Kokomo whose wife and two children died in the burning bus. He had been the only one of the 13 survivors to be seriously injured.

Three crews of investigators studied charred fragments of the bus Thursday in an attempt to learn why it carried 15 persons to flaming death.

An even grimmer investigation moved slowly ahead at an emergency morgue in the National Guard armory. There weary officials and dazed relatives tried to identify the last of the bodies of the victims.

Five bodies remained unidentified Thursday.

Tidelands Bills Due In Congress Thursday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Tidelands ownership dispute was expected to be introduced officially to Congress Thursday.

Both Houses were to get two bills, one giving states control, the other the federal government.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas), who held a series of separate meetings with state and federal officials, had hoped a bill would be ready for introduction two weeks ago. However, delay in the exact wording of the bills held them up.

Senator's Daughter Is Summer Waitress

NORTHEAST HARBOR, MAINE—(AP)—The daughter of Indiana Senator Capehart is working as a waitress at this fashionable summer resort's biggest hotel—"for a lark," she said Thursday.

Patricia Capehart—she's attractive and 20—said she wanted to find out what it was like to work as a waitress.

Three Persons Die In Highway Crash

WHARTON, TEXAS—(AP)—Three persons, including an expectant mother, were killed shortly before midnight Wednesday in a three-way automobile-truck collision near here.

The dead are Charles Pless, 44; his wife, Mrs. Minnie Pless, 46, and their daughter, Mrs. Joe Rejsek, 24, an expectant mother. All resided at East Bernard.

Joe Rejsek, also 24, East Bernard, the fourth occupant of the Pless automobile, is in a serious condition at a Wharton hospital.

Frank Bata, 29, Wharton, occupant of the other vehicle, received leg injuries, while Robert Lake, Houston, received head and chest injuries in a collision of two cars during a traffic tieup which followed the three-way crash. Both are in Wharton hospitals.

Bodies Mixed In Wreckage

Sheriff Buck Lane said one of the cars was forced into the path of a truck when it was sideswiped by another vehicle attempting to pass. "The Pless car was torn into pieces and scattered along the highway hundreds of feet and mixed in the wreckage were parts of all three bodies, Lane said.

The sheriff said an arm from one of the men had not been found early Thursday. He said the Pless car was so badly damaged it was impossible to determine its make.

"The engine of the car was rolled up like a paper sack and wedged under the truck," he said. "The truck was wrecked but didn't turn over."

H. V. Garner, 29, Corpus Christi, the truck driver, was not injured.

Vegetable Prices Drop Lower; Food Price Index Rises

By The Associated Press
Fresh vegetables held the food spotlight this week as Midsummer's bumper supplies pushed prices downward.

Meat, poultry, dairy products and other items on the housewife's shopping list held mostly unchanged prices.

However, higher wholesale and livestock quotations for pork promised higher pork retail prices soon. At mid-week, live hogs at the huge Chicago livestock market were at the highest price since last November—around $23.65 a hundred pounds, compared with the year's low of $18.25 late in April.

Nearly all vegetables with the exception of top quality iceberg lettuce and carrots were lower this week.

Other price predictions by the bureau: Meat probably will decline seasonally this Fall, but not as sharply as in the same months last year. Eggs probably will rise seasonally during the next few months, moving toward the peak generally reached in the last quarter of the year.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale price index this week advanced to $5.89 from $5.84 a week ago, but was 18 per cent below the year-age level of $7.18.

Guests at the meeting included Joe Coleman of Odessa.

Posse Of 1,000 Persons Searches For Rape Suspect

GRAY COURT, S. C.—(AP)—State and county police forces formed a cordon around a five-mile square area near here Thursday where a negro suspected of attempted rape was thought to be hiding.

Laurens County deputies headed by Sheriff C. W. Weir were being aided by deputies from other counties and state highway patrolmen in the encircling movement.

An estimated 1,000 persons, including women and children and armed men, figured in the search which was launched Wednesday in a small area north of this Laurens County community.

Discussion Of Core Analysis Scheduled

L. C. Locke, 809 West Louisiana Avenue, laboratory technician for Rotary Engineering Company, will discuss core analysis before members of Naval Reserve Volunteer Petroleum Unit No. 8-1 at 5:30 p.m. Friday in the unit's quarters at Midland Airpark.

Locke, formerly in the engineering laboratory of Magnolia Petroleum Company at Dallas, will compare methods for analyzing homogenous and non-homogenous formations. Other technicians from Rotary Engineering Company will participate in the program, and the company will exhibit a trailer.

The lecture will form part of the petroleum Naval unit's bi-weekly drill, which is scheduled to start at 5 p.m. Naval Reserve officers in the petroleum industry who have not joined the unit are invited to attend, according to Lt. Cmdr. James D. Martin, commanding officer.

Specs And I See Eye To Eye

Asked Specs Allen to go hunting last week. Known him all my life, so I wasn't surprised when he showed up with no gun. Specs doesn't like to kill anything.

Couldn't ask for a better hunting companion, though. We tramp around the woods, and whenever the dogs flush a bird, I blaze away while Specs just watches.

Told him once I was surprised he went along . . . feeling the way he does about shooting anything. "Well, Joe," he says, "you do what you think is right and I'll stick to what I think is right. I've not call to dislike you for not seeing everything the way I see it."

From where I sit, open-mindedness is a wonderful quality. There are plenty of things Specs admires that I don't care for. Like his fondness for buttermilk. I'd rather have a glass of beer anytime . . . but Specs Allen and I don't let little differences get in the way of something big like friendship.

Teach Small Child Basic Techniques Of Grooming Hair

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Give your small daughter a new hairdo before you enroll her in school. Those first few days in a strange schoolhouse are bad enough for a little girl, but if she needs a lift of morale and doesn't get it, things can even be worse.

Most little girls are vain, and a new hairdo and perhaps a new dress or shoes will perk up their vanity and help overshadow loneliness at being away from home.

When you bring her to the beauty salon or barber shop, let her talk to the hairdresser and tell him what she wants. Anything too drastic can be curtailed by mother, but letting her believe she is making the suggestions will make your moppet proud of herself and give her confidence.

Dutch Bob Good

The little Dutch bob is becoming a most children's pigtails are cute on some. Usually, if you will follow your child's suggestion, you will notice that her ideas will not be too drastic—she'll want a hairdo "like Jane's" or "like Peggy's" and once she selects one for that reason, you will not be able to modify her ideas too much.

It is better to have her feel she is wearing what she wants and build her ego up that way than to try to persuade her to wear something that makes her feel uncomfortable. It will put her in the wrong mood, perhaps, and there might even be a clash of school personalities that will start the whole term off wrong. Often a little girl will quarrel with another little girl she likes, just because her friend has the hairdo, the shoes or the dress that she has been yearning for so long.

Of course mothers can't always afford new clothes for their tots, but at schooltime, perhaps the most important time of the year for the child, something brand new should be given her.

Teach Her To Comb

It is not too soon to teach your child how to comb, brush and set her own hair. Even if she doesn't do a good job of it, you are accomplishing something in the right direction. One teacher even gets her own hair and child shampoo her own hair, and finds that there are no tears that way when soap gets in the eyes.

She made up a small kit for her, including soap in animal shapes, special shampoo in candy-striped package, comb, brush and a small spray. The youngster loves to use her beautifiers and can't wait for her twice-a-week shampoo. This mother's only problem is how to restrain her little girl from dunking her head in the wash-basin too often.

Government Loan Backs Pie Tossing

LONDON—(P)—Movie Producer Arthur Dent thinks audiences still will laugh at somebody getting elapped in the face with a pie just as they did back in the twenties. He has made free use of the old gag in his new film comedy, "Skimp in the Navy."

In three weeks of shooting, the cast used 800 pies, paid for in part by the government production loan.

Relics Of Scrap With Japs And Nazis Turned Into Useful Peacetime Scrap

Skeletons of ships that went to war with guns or with cargo are carefully picked to pieces by the wreckers on the Patuxent River. The scrap may turn up in a new ship's steel plates.

BAITMORE, MD.—(NEA)—An army of men with oxy-acetylene torches is accomplishing what Japanese dive-bombers and Nazi anti-tank units tried to do and couldn't—reducing Navy ships and Army tanks to scrap steel.

In the historic Patuxent River, where once Francis Scott Key watched the British bombard Fort Mifflin, a steady stream of battle-field relics—everything from cruisers to GI helmets—is being broken up into scrap steel to feed peacetime steel furnaces.

One of the ships at the Patuxent Scrap Corporation's yard is the light cruiser Memphis, which once took President Roosevelt to the Casablanca conference. Others are the Detroit, a survivor of Pearl Harbor, and the Richmond and Concord which, like the Detroit, are veterans of Pacific battles.

There's the HMS Emperor, which chased the German pocket battleship Von Tripitz along the Norwegian coast.

And there are even two ferries which once plodded back and forth between Staten Island and Manhattan, in New York.

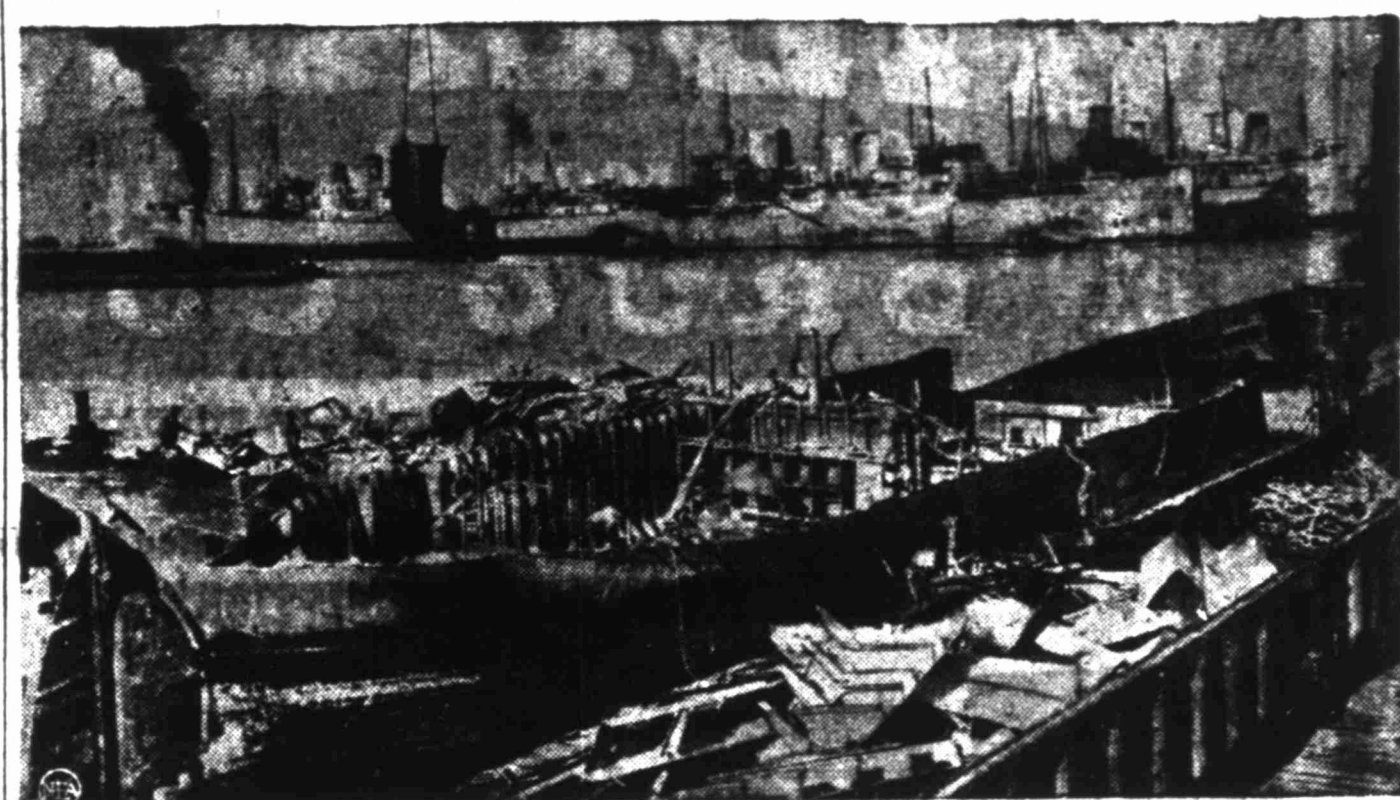

Process Reversed

During the war, this yard was the site of the Bethlehem-Pairfield shipyard, where more than 500 Liberty and Victory ships and LSTs were built. Now the process is reversed, and the workmen are ripping the vessels into hunks of scrap.

Besides ships, there are acres of obsolete tanks, several thousand of them piled sometimes five high. Many still have caked mud from rain-drenched battlefields; others have shell holes; a few have blood stains. There are enemy tanks, too, since the steel furnaces know no nationality.

For the first three years after the war, the supply of scrap was critically short. Steel production, tied directly to scrap supply, was short, too. But now scrap yards like Patuxent are in full production, and the steel mills are turning the scrap from tanks and ships into such things as bird cages, wire, knitting needles, tin cans, sheets for pleasure cars or new merchant ships.

highly skilled task requiring careful planning and good judgment by the supervisor and his crew. The vessel, warped to a pier, is worked over by men armed with torches, hacksaws, sledges and cold chisels.

Little Is Lost

First to come down is the radio aerial, permitting the big crane to slide freely over the ship. Then, bit by bit, masts and superstructure are removed, decks torn away and the interior fittings taken out. The work proceeds cautiously, lest the ship become unbalanced and capsize. When the vessel has been reduced to a waterline hulk, it is drawn up on shore.

Objects like tanks are often broken up by the simple process of dropping a 10-ton steel ball on them.

No matter what the steel has been used for in the past, it can be remelted and used over and over again. Little is lost per usage. Even rust-oxidized steel—is gathered and melted down in some scrap yards.

German Speaks Mind, Gets Red Sentence

BERLIN—(P)—A farmer in Russian-occupied Saxony faced trial before the provincial court recently, charged with failure to deliver the obligatory quota of his berry crop. In defense he claimed Russian soldiers had tramped down his beds and plucked the fruit.

He was sentenced to nine months in prison for "disparagement of the occupying power and senseless waste of rationed foodstuffs."

STARLINGS LIKE FIREWORKS

CROWN POINT, IND.—(P)—Every night is July 4 here. Citizens have been shooting sky rockets, Roman candles, firecrackers and guns, trying to chase chattering flocks of starlings out of trees. The results: none.

Myrrh and frankincense were aromas only used in religious ceremonies in early times.

Barracks Building Church Typifies California Boom

In the Baptist Church at Pleasant Hill, Calif., nobody knows how they fit, but they go inside every Sunday.

PLEASANT HILL, CALIF.—(NEA)—Into a converted army officers' barracks building, originally designed for 20 men, 150 children and their teachers disappear every Sunday in a prime example of the crowded living that is part of California's new population boom.

The barracks building has become, with the addition of a tiny chapel, the Pleasant Hill Community Baptist Church. And like the rest of California, it is bursting at the seams to serve about 100 families in this little town 18 miles from Oakland.

The magician who manages to crowd so many people into the 8-by-20-foot main building, plus two added rooms 12-by-20 and five-by-ten feet is Pastor William L. Reid. He utilizes even the space between organ and pulpit for one of the 12 different classes going on at the same time, and the Sunday School is growing so fast, he soon expects to put it on a "double shift" basis.

Outside, he has begun utilizing automobiles in which parents have brought their children to conduct outdoor adult class sessions.

Pastor Reid's little church bulges the same nearly every weekday as it does on Sundays. Daytimes, it's the community kindergarten. There are evening meetings of various groups every night.

Because the little building is rapidly beginning to overflow, the people of Pleasant Hill are now making plans for a roomier "brick-and-mortar" church. But Pastor Reid doesn't think they'll ever get rid of the barracks building he helped bring to Pleasant Hill in eight overseas crates.

"We could probably find some other use for it," he says. "You couldn't really retire anything that had done such grand service."

It was the Romans who developed perfumery as an industry and spread the use of perfume all over the Roman Empire.

Youth Center Chatter

By JOYCE HOWELL JUNE HAZLIP

Guten tat. Today we said hello in German. Versatile people, aren't we? Long Trip

Emily Hamilton is vacationing in New Mexico. This made it quite a trip when Moe Price and Ben Gray went to see her.

On August 20 Jo Ann Nelson plans to go to Dallas where she will see "Showboat." Rosalynn Leggett also hopes to go. Have fun, you all!

We welcome Wanda Burnside home this week. Wanda got back from Colorado last Saturday.

Have you noticed that we now have three ping-pong tables? They are in constant use.

We saw Neal Adams limping down the street. What happened, Neal?

Dancing in the street, chunking cement blocks, and rocking a car, these and many other things were done last Saturday night by a group of teenagers in front of Adele Blackman's home. Ann Brown, Shirley Harrison, Jean Peterson, and Gloria Anguish were there. Jimmy Don Davenport and Don Deel joined the "merry throng." Later, Jim McGraw and "Cap'n" Don Downing drove up.

You guessed it—Jo Ann was spending the night at Adele's.

Have you ever played guessing games with songs? Jerry Webb enjoys it, especially at night.

Monopoly is a very interesting game. We played—We lost. Jimmy Barber and Ann Brown got all the land while Adele Blackman had the money. We didn't have much of anything. David Weaver and Gloria Anguish watched and occasionally "instructed."

Everytime we see Oscar Joe Cooper and Dickie Jackson, they are getting out of a car. Common sense tells us they must get in the car at sometime, but when?

Bill Burnside, without his shirt on and hanging out the car window, was driving down Illinois street at a fast clip. Where were you going, dressed like that, in such a hurry, Bill?

Newcomers
Ada Jo Underwood, age-15: Last place of residence—California. School classification—Junior. (She is an adorable blonde, boys!)

Barbara Ware: Last place of residence—Colorado. School classification—freshman. Brown hair and brown eyes. (This is worth looking into.)

We have also had several visitors lately.

Ann Brown: age-18, school classification—junior, present home, Big Spring, visiting Adele Blackman.

Kenneth Rhodes: school classification—senior, visiting Dennis Rhodes; present home, Minnesota; plans to stay a "few more days."

Bill Franklin: age-16, school classification—junior, ex-Midlander. While we are hoping that the weather will get warmer, Jo Ann Nelson is wishing just the opposite. Jo Ann has some new Fall clothes she wants to wear.

Sue Ann Francis and Ronnie Estel were playing a game of ping-pong. Despite the fact that Ronnie was sitting in a chair (his leg was broken, you know) he was giving Sue Ann a hard time.

Was that drumstick good, Don? We saw Don Downing licking an ice cream drumstick and from the expression on his face, we know he was enjoying it.

Peggy Charleston must be very cold-natured. She was wearing a scarf and her A Cappella sweater on a day when everyone else was in shorts.

Sparky Blackman can hold his own in any crowd! He was at the Center when a group of boys began teasing him, but he showed them he wasn't the least bit scared. Bill Little tried to "hypnotize" him, however, he was not successful. Sparky is very nice around girls. He doesn't mind being patted on the head at all—by girls. (Sparky) for those of you who have not met him, is a dog.)

After the rains last Monday, several teenagers were out driving around.

Peggy Simmons and Sue Ann Francis were seen in Dianne Anderson's car, headed in the direction of Sue's home.

Jim Irvin, Dan Black, and "Giff" Alstrin were standing in the back end of Jon House's red jeep. Watson La Force and Jon were in the front seat. Jon was practicing his U turns.

Wanda Burnside, Gloria Anguish, Sidney Smith, Ann Brown, Peggy Charleston, and Mary Nell were chattering around by Don Deel in Jimmy Davenport's car. After dropping a few of the girls, Sidney treated everyone to a drink at King's.

Late when the car came to an abrupt halt, there were, fortunately, enough girls to push it.

Three boys in a black car followed them for quite a while. Was David Falkes driving? And who were the other boys in the car?

Russell Huckaby is taking swimming fees at the V. F. W. pool. Last time we saw him, he was deep in a mystery book and it wasn't very safe to talk to him.

Stag Session
A "Stag Session" was held at one side of the Center. Bob Short, Lew Ground, Kent Miller, Buddy Johnson, Goss Yeager, Bill Little, and another boy we've not yet met were talking to each other. We know that when girls get together, they talk about other girls—or boys. Wonder what, or who, the boys talk about?

Another successful dance was held last Friday night. Western (Square) Dance The French Heels Club supplied callers and chaperones. Refreshments were served. In addition to several on-lookers, there were four squares going nearly all the time.

"The Drunkard" drew several teenage couples this last weekend. Carol Butler, Dorothy, Fay Holt, Evelyn and Lucille Wemple, Fred McMurray, Bill Velvin, George Maize, and another boy, a stranger to us, were there.

Jean Blackwell, Joy Guyton, Lloyd Henderson, and Mickey McGee also were there. Boozing the villain and cheering the heroine was a sport enjoyed by all.

Those who do not have been unable to see "The Drunkard" will be glad to know that it is being held over this weekend. Friday and Saturday are the nights.

Coming Events
August 12—Bingo Party. There is no admission charge and everyone is invited. There will be prizes and refreshments.

August 13—Semi-formal dance. Another Juke Box Dance that promises to be as much fun, if not more than the others. Of course there will be refreshments and no admission charge.

August 17—Weiner Roast. Will be held on the East side of the Center. Bring your own weiners and everything else will be supplied.

August 27—Square Dance. This one will be even more fun than our last one, if possible.

Hope we see you all at these events.

IMPORTANT! There will be a Council meeting next Monday night. Those of you who are on the Junior Council, be sure to be there. These meetings are open to anyone. Time 7:30 p.m.

Another Game
This department has received so many flattering comments about last week's Name Game that we have a new Brain Twister for you. Get out your brains and pencils and try to figure these out:

If it reminds us of Emily, of whom does 263-J remind you of? 1337? 813-W? 670? 47? 1078-R? 2276-W? 738-W? 379-W? 358? 1771-R? 1819? 204-J? 719? 374-J? 1685-W? 618-W? 449-J? 1967? 2847? 2139? 2074-W? 2318? 124? 1136? 26? 758? 3082-W? 2230-J? 1613-J? 2953? 3172-W? 414?

That is all for this week, so "Auf Wiedersehen" (Goodbye) 'til next week.

Polish Refugee's One-Man, 35-Year Drive Against Race Murder Appears Almost Over

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—(NEA)—Raphael Lemkin's 35-year-long crusade against genocide—a crusade so novel that he even had to coin the word to explain what he was fighting—appears almost over.

Genocide is the crime of race murder. The word which Lemkin, a Yale University Law School professor, coined is derived from the Greek word "genos" (which means nation or race) and the Latin "caedere" (which means to kill).

Raphael Lemkin: Skeptics said the world was too civilized.

For Lemkin, the UN's anti-genocide convention was the climax of a long fight. It began when, as a boy in Beswode, Poland, he read the book "Quo Vadis." The impressionable youth was greatly disturbed by the account of how the early Christians were thrown to the lions.

The story so affected him that he looked for more historic accounts of genocide, although the name had not yet been invented. But even worse cases were to come in his own lifetime. About the time he completed his education came the 1915 massacre of more than 1,000,000 Armenians by the Turks.

Called Fanatic, Dreamer
But Lemkin's disillusioned when the Turkish leaders escaped punishment. Lemkin went back to his studies. He returned to Warsaw and rose to become a public prosecutor and noted authority on international law.

At the International Conference of Lawyers, sponsored by the League of Nations in 1933, Lemkin made his first public speech on genocide. He still hadn't made up the word and called his talk, "Acts of Barbarity and Vandalism."

He was amazed to find that there was opposition to his plea for an international law against the crime. Some called him a fanatic and a dreamer. Others said the world of 1933 was much too civilized for any more race massacre.

But that same year, 1933, 1,000 Christian Assyrians were slain in Iraq. Nevertheless, the Conference let his draft law on genocide die in committee.

His feelings on the subject were strong and so well-known that, by the late 30s, when Poland was flirting with Hitler, he was forced to resign his public office and return to the private practice of law.

Comes To U. S. A.
When the Nazi invasion came, Lemkin was wounded in the Battle of Warsaw but escaped to the woods. After six months he fled to Lithuania, then to Sweden. He studied cases of Nazi genocide, collecting documents to support his charges.

In 1941 he came to the United States. He taught at Duke University, then became chief consultant on international law for the judge advocate general of the Army. By the end of the war he was advisor on foreign affairs in the War Department.

partment under the late Henry Stimson.

After the war, the War Department sent Lemkin to Europe to assist in drawing up charges against the Nazi leaders who were tried at Nuremberg.

When he heard that the UN Assembly was to meet at Lake Success, he left his job to avoid any contact with political or pressure groups, and to keep his campaign free from any political taint. He lived alone in a small room in New York.

But his long struggle was successful. He persuaded the delegations of Panama, Cuba and India to sponsor the anti-genocide resolution, and he was invited to help draft the convention. At last, on Dec. 9, 1948, the General Assembly adopted the convention to outlaw genocide.

But the crusade is not quite finished. Before the convention can have the force of a treaty, it must be ratified by at least 20 national parliaments. Lemkin is even now busily engaged in the fight for ratification. The end of his fight isn't here, but at least it's in sight.

Sweet Mess Is Made By Bees In Illinois

GRINDLEY, ILL.—(AP)—For several years, the T. H. Benedicts knew there were bees in their home near here.

They finally discovered the bees but not before the swarms had made a honey of a mess. Summer heat disclosed the location of the bees nest when money started running down from the living room ceiling. Four bushel baskets of honey and the bees were removed.

In their efforts to make the detection of radioactivity more sensitive, scientists have found a new technique involving hornets. The common hornet tends to concentrate barium—a product of uranium fission—in its body. By placing hornets at key points of an atom reactor, the scientists have been able to detect radio-barium leaks long before they could be detected by Geiger counters.

Innocent victims of the first atomic bomb blast in New Mexico in 1945 were some cattle who were exposed to dust made radio-active by the test. Most immediate effect was that their hair turned gray.

Normal Calves
"Forty nine of the 50 cows have produced calves, all of which are normal," the report says. "A total of 57 calves have been produced and 48 are on hand. One of the exposed bulls was bred to exposed cows and from these matings 33 normal calves were produced. There is no evidence up to date of any adverse effects on the fertility of either the exposed cows or bulls."

It is planned to autopsy several of the steers for possible internal injuries and experiments will be made to determine if there is danger in eating the meat of such animals.

Even fish are doing their bit to further the AEC's work. Giant squid are being exposed to radiation in an effort to determine how the delicate sheaths which surround nerve cells are affected. And several generations of salmon and rainbow trout are under study to see what exposure to radio-active substances does to marine offspring.

First results show "the larger the dosage received by the first generation of rainbow trout, the more descendants will die or develop abnormalities."

Atomic Researchers Use Scientific Noah's Ark In Experiments Of Radiation Effects

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—The latest semi-annual peek into the mysterious atom laboratories, revealed by the Atomic Energy Commission's progress report to Congress, shows a modern Noah's Ark.

Animals were first used to study atoms extensively at the Bikini tests, where goats, pigs, and cows were placed aboard the target ships to see how they would fare in the blasts. Since then, AEC's use of animals has been greatly increased and now also includes work on bugs, fish and birds.

During the last six months, among other things they've been putting tiny lead shields around the rats' endocrine glands, and exposing them to radiation. Endocrine glands furnish some vital juices to the blood of both rats and humans.

As a result of this work, it has been discovered that rats so protected live longer than the ones whose endocrine glands are left exposed. Goal of this line of research is the improvement of treating radiation sickness in humans.

Blood In Bats
At the Argonne Laboratory in Chicago, they're studying the effect of radiation on the circulation of blood in bats. A bat's wing is thinner than tissue paper and the blood flowing through it can be easily observed. The report says, "After the bat was exposed the circulation of the blood was showed down, largely because broken cells and other organic debris clogged the blood vessels."

At the same place frogs were given the equivalent of a fatal dose of X-ray and then frozen immediately. While chilled they lived for months. When allowed to thaw out they died quickly. This study has revealed that cold packs help in treating persons who are only partially burned by radiation.

In their efforts to make the detection of radioactivity more sensitive, scientists have found a new technique involving hornets. The common hornet tends to concentrate barium—a product of uranium fission—in its body. By placing hornets at key points of an atom reactor, the scientists have been able to detect radio-barium leaks long before they could be detected by Geiger counters.

Innocent victims of the first atomic bomb blast in New Mexico in 1945 were some cattle who were exposed to dust made radio-active by the test. Most immediate effect was that their hair turned gray.

Dieters Can Use Gelatine Dishes

SLENDERIZER—Low calorie chifon dessert is an ace in the reducing diet.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For women on a reducing diet, here are two low-calorie recipes that taste good, provide protein and contain the minimum of those dreaded weight-producing calories. They are made with unflavored gelatin which is without sugar and carries supplementary protein.

They can be served in the regular family meal. For the non-dieters, mayonnaise can be used with the salad and whipped cream or chocolate sauce with the dessert.

Low Calorie Perfection Salad
(8 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 3/4 cup hot water, 9 1/4-grain saccharine tablets or 3 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 cup mild vinegar, 1/2 cup finely shredded cabbage, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup grated carrot, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water, saccharine or sugar and salt and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add vinegar. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in cabbage, celery, carrot and green pepper. Turn into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and serve with cottage cheese dressing. Fit it into this menu for weight-watchers: Broiled lean meat for fish, grilled tomato, Summer squash, low-calorie perfection salad, small wedge melon, glass skim milk.

Low Calorie Chifon Dessert
(6 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 2 cups cold skim milk, 12 1/4-grain saccharine tablets or 1/4 cup sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, separated, 1 1/4 teaspoons vanilla.

Soften gelatin in cold milk in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Add saccharine or sugar and salt and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Beat egg yolks slightly. Slowly pour small amount of the hot mixture over egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook over hot, not boiling, water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold the gelatin mixture into the beaten egg whites. Turn into one-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with mixed fruits.

'Sonny' Honeymoons With Companion Who Helped Kill Gunman

LOS ANGELES —(P)—"Sonny" Ivers is honeymooning Thursday with the girl who helped him overcome and kill a "lovers lane" gunman.

Alwyn Ivers, 19, left Good Samaritan Hospital Tuesday, five weeks after his jaw was splintered by a bullet from the gun of William Brock, 18.

Brock shot Ivers after he came upon the couple in a parked car in the Baldwin Hills district July 1.

Ivers grappled with him and Brock dropped the gun. Ivers' companion, now his bride, picked up the pistol and handed it to Sonny, who shot Brock four times.

A coroner's jury ruled it was justifiable homicide and praised Ivers as a hero.

African Troops Hailed For Parachute Jump

LEOPOLDVILLE, BELGIAN CONGO —(P)—Thousands of residents including anxious relatives of a dozen soldiers assembled recently in the colony to see the first locally recruited paratroopers jump from a plane. Hitherto local residents had considered this mysterious power reserved for white use. When the grinning black faces of the troops silhouetted against the white parachutes neared the ground, the watchers went almost hoarse shouting encouragement. When the troops finally landed they were carried back in triumph to the town.

Absentee Miners Punished By Czechs

PRAGUE—(AP)—Labor juries composed of miners which sit at the mines to sentence slackers represent Czechoslovakia's latest medium to check absenteeism in its coal pits. The juries hand out various disciplinary penalties against their loafing colleagues.

Absenteeism apparently has spread recently. Disciplinary measures, formerly on a district basis, now have been installed on a national scale. Squads of "voluntary brigade" doctors have been formed to visit slacker suspects at their homes and, when they find them at the movies or in pubs while claiming to be ill, report them for penalties. The doctors are also watched by picked trade union and Communist party workers to prevent collusion with slackers.

Names and, in some cases, pictures of chronic absentees are posted on bulletin boards at the mines or in town squares and their names are broadcast over town loudspeaker systems. Names of the diligent miners are posted on honor rolls.

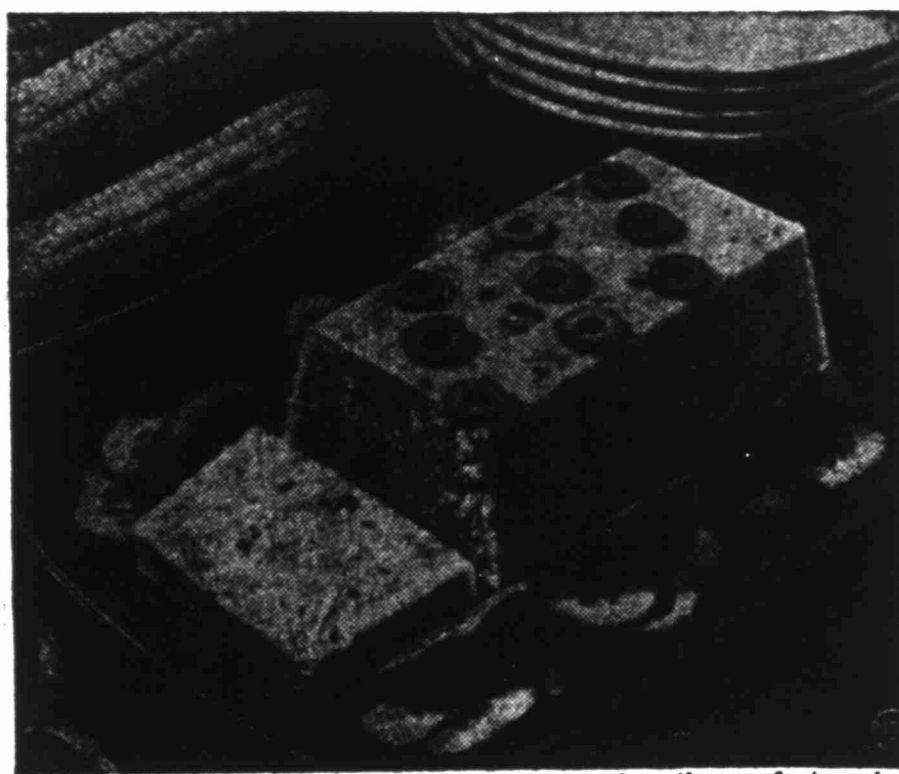

King's English Faces Doom, Says Lecturer

SYDNEY—(AP)—The King's English, says Sidney J. Baker, is all washed up. The language, he says, will one day be replaced by American-English. Baker is an Australian lecturer and journalist who has made a study of Australian speech.

This is an example he gave. "Shove this spin down South, and mope down to the rubbity for a fiddle's worth of bombs. My sort's rat-bag cobbler are turning on a shivvo sarvo. Dice your jacker and get your chop of the plonk, why don't you? With all the galahs and dills that'll drag on this yike, it'd be ridge to have someone who's a wake-up to yabber with."

This, Baker said, is a free translation: "Take this five pounds and hurry down to the hotel for one pound worth of wine. My girl friend's eccentric acquaintances are having a party this afternoon. Leave your work and take a share of the liquor, why don't you? Anyway, with all the unimportant people who will be there, I would like to have someone intelligent to talk to."

Cold Molds Will Ease Heat Strain

FOR COOL COOKING—Tuna fish mold makes the perfect main dish for hot weather.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Molded fish or meat molds solve the hot weather main course problem. Delicate, wholesome and attractive, they can be made early in the day when it is cooler and kept ready in the refrigerator. Served with hot vegetables and a fruit dessert, these protein molds ease hot weather kitchen work.

Tuna Fish Mold

(6 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1 cup milk, 2 egg yolks, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1/8 teaspoon Tabasco, 2 tablespoons mild vinegar or lemon juice, 2 cups flaked tuna fish, 2 tablespoons diced pimiento, 1/2 cup diced celery.

Soften gelatin in cold milk in top of double boiler. Put over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Combine the egg yolks, salt, mustard and Tabasco and beat slightly. Add small amount of the milk to the egg yolk mixture and return to double boiler. Cook over hot, not boiling, water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; cool. Stir in lemon juice, flaked tuna, pimiento and celery. Turn into 7 by 3 1/4-inch loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and garnish the top with sliced stuffed olives. Arrange tomato wedges and cucumber slices around mold.

Jellied Meat Loaf

(6 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 1/4 cups hot water, 2 bouillon cubes, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 3/4 cups finely diced cooked meat (use cooked ham, veal, chicken or luncheon meat), 1/2 cup finely diced celery, 1 teaspoon diced pimiento.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water, bouillon cubes and salt and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in the meat, celery, horseradish and dill. Turn into loaf pan or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with mayonnaise, or French dressing.

For a dinner menu, serve jellied meat loaf, parsley, new potatoes, green beans and almonds, cucumber and carrot sticks, radishes, mixed fresh fruit, coffee, milk.

Grease or oil can be removed from fine fabrics by dusting the soiled spot with cornstarch and allowing it to stand until the grease or oil is absorbed. Then simply brush the spot away.

Household linens wear out before their time from abuse. Instead of yanking sheets off a bed or pulling them off the clothes line and ramming them into hamper or clothes basket, save wear and tear by removing soiled linens carefully and by handling as carefully on the wash line.

Cop Leads Harmony During Rush Hour

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lines of automobiles were snarled in a rush hour jam at the edge of the loop. Impatient drivers kept blowing their horns. The traffic cop at the corner was almost—but not quite—at wit's end. He blew his whistle, raised his hands a la Toscanini and bellowed above the din: "Let's try it again. All together now in the key of C."
