Mrs. Leora Franks Rites in McLean

According to word received here graveside services for Mrs. Leora Franks, Kermit, formerly of Kingsmill, who was instantly killed in a car accident recently, were scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in McLean Cemetery.

The body will lie in state from 8 p.m. today to 10 a.m. Friday in Claiborn Funeral Home, McLean. The casket will not be opened at the graveside.

Mrs. Franks, who preceded her in death eight years ago, was formerly an assistant superintendent of the Cabot Companies. The Franks moved to Kermit 15 years ago.

Survivors include one son, Bruce Autry Franks, Austin; and one daughter, Mrs. Ester Nicholas, Denver.

giving the oil-rich lands to the states.

Kennon also told the group he would favor Texas Gov. Allan Shivers as a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1956 or 1960.

"I feel that America will want a new look in government about that time," he said, "and I can think of no better man as a candidate."

Sarah E. King Dies Here Early Today

Sarah Elizabeth King, 57, died at 9:45 a.m. today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. E.R. Nash, who lives on the Stanolind-Merten Lease, southeast of Pampa.

Mrs. King had been in ill health for eight or nine months.

Funeral arrangements are pending with the Owens and Brumley Funeral Home, Burkburnett. Burial will be in Burkburnett.

Her body will be taken to Burkburnett either Friday or Saturday by associates of the Duendel-Carmichael Funeral Home, Pampa.

Born April 4, 1885, in Poplar Bluff, Mo., Mrs. King had been living near Pampa for the past three and one half years.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church, Burkburnett.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. B. R. Nash, Pampa, Mrs. W. L. Fletcher, Pampa, Mrs. Wayne Franklin, Frederic, Okla., and Mrs. Ed Steele, Seminole, Okla.; two sons, Lewis King, Compton, Calif., and Claude King, Wichita Falls; 50 grandchildren and 51 great-grandchildren.

Shamrock Rancher Injured In Accident

SHAMROCK (Special) — An area ranch manager is in Shamrock Hospital today with painful burns on his face, hands, neck and left side, following a tractor accident.

William Seago, Shamrock, was burned Tuesday morning on the Glynn Bell Ranch, 10 miles northeast of Shamrock, when the tractor he was refusing backfired, setting both the tractor and Seago's shirt on fire.

Seago rolled in the sand; authorities said, put out the fire and called a neighbor, Winfred Buckingham, who took the fire department and took Seago to the hospital.

Seago's wife was in Shamrock at the time of the mishap.

Tractor is considered a complete loss by fire department officials.

Odd Fellows Win Member Awards

One 30-year membership award and three 25-year membership lapel buttons were awarded in Pampa I.O.O.F. Lodge 934 recently, according to Jack Lewis, Noble Grand, who made the presentations.

Receiving the 30-year citation was L. A. Barber. And 25-year lapel buttons were given Pampa lodge members Joe F. Brown and Cecil F. Clausen.

Also receiving a 25-year lapel button was Allan Farnham, Rochester Lodge 15, Rochester, Minn. Farnham's recognition in Pampa was requested by the Rochester lodge as he is now a resident of Pampa. However, his membership was completed in the Minnesota order.

Other activity in the Pampa lodge, according to Lewis, is the forming of a degree team to compete in competitive work in Grand Lodge Session of Texas, slated March 15, in the Hilton Hotel, Fort Worth.

E. G. Lawrence Rites Pending

Funeral arrangements were pending today for E. G. Lawrence, 73-year-old resident of Pampa, who died in a local hospital Wednesday. Mr. Lawrence, a resident here for 22 years, died at 9 p.m. following a three-month illness.

Survivors include: two brothers, Lee of Houston and Joe of Odessa; two nieces, Mrs. H. B. Watson, with whom he made his home, and Mrs. O.C. Pollis; and two nephews, J.E. Meeks of Skellytown and Alfred Meeks of Pampa.

Mr. Lawrence was a retired blacksmith.

"We just can't take a chance on something like that," a highway patrol spokesman said Thursday. "When we get a disaster report we have to start out on the way at once and check later. It's just like answering a fire alarm. You don't have a chance to question your source."

Morris said he was amazed at the response to the program.

"I didn't know the public would react that way," he stated.

"Several stations in Tulsa are competing for prizes in a Brotherhood week show, and we thought the tornado was a good example," he said.

Former Shamrock Resident Dies

SHAMROCK (Special) — Funeral services for Miss Kristine Martel, 70, former Shamrock resident who lived in Indiana, have been scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday in the Lutheran Church, Pampa Community.

Miss Martel died Monday night in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. S. Brabac, Whiting, Ind.

Officiating at the services will be Rev. Robert J. Daniel, pastor. Burial will be in Pampa Cemetery.

Her body arrived in Pampa at 8:35 a.m. today by train from Indianapolis.

Born April 3, 1883, in Myjava, Czechoslovakia, she lived in Shamrock from 1903 to 1953 when she went to live with her sister in Indiana.

Other survivors include a brother, Michael Martel, Pampa; and nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Clay Funeral Home, Shamrock.

Enrollment 553 In First Baptist Training School

The Baptist group training school, now in its fourth day, shows an enrollment of 553 including approximately 100 children, according to J. R. Stroble, First Baptist Church education director.

The group, meeting daily through Friday at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Pampa, is studying 18 books being offered adults and four books offered the children. Adult books concern doctrine, evangelism, missions, Bible and Sunday School methods.

Scheduled leader for today's session is Miss Mary Tyler, Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, who is to discuss "Children's Work of the Church."

Plans for Friday's training school meeting, according to Stroble, calls for a special music program by a local group, the Cowboy Evangelistic Singers.

Leaders in the five-day school are Stroble, Paul Biggs, Pampa First Baptist Church music director; and C. T. Aly Jr., Calvary Baptist Church education director.

Churches participating include First Baptist Churches of Pampa, White Deer, Skellytown, Leora and the Trinity Baptist, Calvary Baptist, Hobart Street Mission and Central Baptist churches of Pampa.

Kiwanis To Hear German Students

Kiwanis' two German exchange students have prepared a "tour-prize" program for the weekly meeting of the local club Friday noon.

Gretchen Johansen and Burkhard Brehm, now attending Pampa High School, are in charge of the program and "have some things to tell about their own country," according to Clinton Evans, club president.

"They'll tell us what they think of us and the different way they do things in Germany," Evans said.

But as to the exact nature of their program — Gretchen and Burkhard — weren't telling.

cording to Fred Haiduk, Groom, "that was the costliest grazing that could be used."

Sixty-mile-an-hour winds in gusts kicked up the soil over the Kansas plains Wednesday and visibility dropped to a quarter of a mile in some areas.

In the Oklahoma Panhandle and in Central Oklahoma, 50-mile gusts raised the soil from nearly-bare wheat fields.

Traffic was halted in the Enid, Okla., area because visibility was so low. The Oklahoma highway patrol said dust was so thick for a time that the drivers couldn't see their car radiator ornaments.

Farmers are resorting to last-ditch emergency tillage to hold their land in place.

Practices recommended to hold the soil down include turning up clay to the top of sandy land to reduce erosion.

Stewart, in Pampa, said the only thing left to do now is to chisel the soil. This is done with small plows that turn the clods up to help keep the wind right off the ground. Evertime it rains, he said, it is to do all over again.

The Weather Bureau forecasts calling for light snow here tonight also called for chilly, windy weather over the entire state today bringing a likelihood of more local dust storms in some of the dry areas.

City Atty. Bob Gordon arrived home from Austin early this morning. The three attended the Senate committee meeting yesterday in Austin when the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority bill was passed to the floor of the Senate without opposition.

Mayor Huff this morning said the group would have to make another trip to Austin in the near future when a similar bill is heard by a House committee. The bill has not been assigned to a committee yet, Mayor Huff said, nor has a date for its hearing been set.

In advance of the meeting, some of the legislative leaders revealed that they wanted an explanation of the heavily increased number of America fighting men now in the general European-North African area.

The precise figure on ground troop strength is, of course, secret. It is known in well-informed Senate circles. It was deleted on security grounds from the recent controversial armed services subcommittee report on the overseas bases.

Taft said Benson will carry out the present law which compels support of basic crops at 90 per cent of parity through 1954. Then Congress will decide the policy, he said.

Carrying Action To Red China Poses Practical Problems

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Complete blockade of the Communist China coast and turning loose the forces of Chiang Kai-shek against the China mainland raise certain practical problems for the people who would have to carry out such measures.

This may be one of the more important reasons why Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was able to tell the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the Eisenhower administration had no plans for such a blockade now.

As psychological warfare or cold war pressure against the Communists, the talk of more positive action is tops. It throws the Reds unities may be involved in the defensive.

The current impression that these are brand new ideas, however, is not absolutely accurate. Ever since President Eisenhower returned from Korea in December, the additional measures that might be taken to shorten the Korean war have been openly talked about.

The apparent intent has been to let the American people and the leaders and people of other United Nations think these matters through and get used to the ideas they present. To be effective, any new actions in the Pacific must have support of the people at home, for increased casualties may be involved in the beginning.

In addition to withdrawal of the U. S. Seventh Fleet from the straits of Formosa and imposition of a blockade against Red China, these other possible actions have been given consideration:

Equipping of 10 or more new South Korean divisions.

Sending three or more U. S. divisions to the Orient.

More American aid for Indo-China, to end that war.

Texaco Gives Safety Award

Employees of the Borger area, West Texas Division of The Texas Company's Producing Department, and their wives were honored with a Safety Award dinner Tuesday in the Borger Hotel.

The company's green safety award flag was presented by O. F. Sebesta, general superintendent of drilling and production, to H. E. Peoples, production foreman, who accepted it on behalf of the group, which has operated seven years without a disabling injury. It was the second safety award dinner for the group, which received the green safety pennant two years ago after a five-year period without a single disabling injury.

Among the speakers at the dinner meeting were Sebesta of Fort Worth; R. C. Gray, zone safety engineer, Fort Worth; S. R. Leming, district superintendent, Pampa; and P. D. Grommon Jr., assistant district superintendent, also of Pampa.

E. L. McIntyre, assistant division supervisor of industrial relations, Fort Worth, was master of ceremonies.

Voters Lethargic

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 18—UP—City Attorney William M. Laird said Wednesday the 35 voting residents of Boulevard Manor subdivision defeated their own purpose.

The Manor residents had petitioned Ann Arbor for annexation, Laird said, but not one of them bothered to vote on the question at the polls although Ann Arbor voters approved the annexation 973 to 196.

Laird will ask the county board of canvassers for a ruling.

TENDER-JUICY-DELICIOUS

SPICED POT ROAST WITH CARROTS
A McCall's Magazine Fail Proof Recipe

2 onions
1/2 cup fat or salad oil
1 lb. beef chuck, round or round
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
6 medium whole carrots

Chop onions fine and cook until gold color in hot fat or salad oil. (Use your Dutch oven or similar heavy, tightly covered pan). Now coat meat in flour and brown on all sides with onions. Add the tomatoes, salt, pepper, bay leaf, cloves, vinegar and brown sugar. Cover the cooking kettle tightly and cook very slowly for about 3 hours or until a fork pierces the beef easily. One hour before end of cooking time, add carrots. Serve 6 generously with enough leftover for tomorrow's lunch.

Join 'Em Policy

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce membership proves itself gullible — by a vote of 16-1 — in a recent poll which approved sweeping expansion of the Social Security program to cover all working and retired persons.

In advising expansion of the evil-rocket of Social Security — even with suggestions to reform its operation and administration — they render a disservice to the nation. They sound like the "practical" politician who follows the philosophy "if you can't beat 'em join 'em."

The Social Security program is nothing less than another "gimmick" of Big Government to levy "painless" extra taxes on the pay envelope of workers to feather its own nest.

The net effect of Social Security taxes is to increase the national debt, and we submit that there is no security for anyone in debt — public or private.

It may be hard for you to believe that your government, which is supposed to be the very essence of honor and integrity, would force you to buy an old age pension, whether you want it or not, then spend the money it collects from you and your employer, leaving nothing with which to pay your claim when it becomes due, except a Treasury I.O.U. — but that's exactly how it is.

Here's how it works. The money deducted from your pay, plus an equal amount paid by your employer is remitted to Washington. When this money gets to Washington, it is deposited in the general fund of the Treasury to pay the day-to-day operating expenses of the Federal Government. In other words, the money which is supposed to provide a pension in your old age is spent as it gets to Washington.

Once a year Congress appropriates for the Social Security Board whatever amount the Board says is necessary to enable it to pay operating expenses and benefits for the next year. The difference between what Congress appropriates for the Board and the total amount of Social Security collections is added to the Social Security Reserve Fund. By way of an easily understood illustration, let us assume that last year Social Security collections totaled $3.5 billion, and that the appropriation for the Board for the same year was $1.5 billion. This would leave $2 billion to be added to the Reserve. Right there is where the increase in the national debt comes in. A brand new, special government bond is issued to the Social Security Board for $2 billion and the national debt is increased by that amount.

These special government bonds are non-negotiable, cannot be sold on the open market, can only be redeemed by the Treasury, and the only way in which the Treasury can get the money is by having Congress levy a special tax on everyone for that purpose. Yes, everyone would have to pay these taxes, including those who have already paid once for their old age pensions. In words of one syllable, this means paying twice for one benefit. But, you say, "that's crooked, that's fraud," and you are exactly 100 per cent right. It is the biggest fraud ever put across on an unsuspecting people.

We presume the Chamber recognizes this fraud and since its program entails elimination of "reserve financing" and placing Social Security on a pay-as-you-go basis, after embracing all aged within the government pension system.

But the evil of the Social Security system lies primarily in the fact that it is a government system, and as such must by its nature be a source of aggrandizement for bureaucracy rampant. Reform is not the answer. The invention of vaults didn't reform the robber element in society; it merely stimulated the ingenuity of bandits.

There is no moral justification for enforced thrift, and there is no excuse for the Chamber — whose members should be equipped with the economic intelligence to recognize that the true purpose of Social Security taxes is to build up the purse of Big Government — to advocate expansion of the program, or even to endorse its continuance.

Ask The Indians

The Government has for a long time been the "Great White Father" to the original Americans. Sounds poetic doesn't it? So let's look at the original Americans as of now.

They would be the Indians, and the degrees of intelligence, native ability and character among them varies as it does among other races. Many are highly educated, many are prominent in business and the professions, and their children go to college. Yet they are wards of the government, which continues to imply by its actions that these people are somehow incapable of managing their own lives like other Americans.

Fact is the "original American" has had a long run with the Great White Father — and he is fed up with him. There is evidence that the reservation folk are restless under regulations which, for example, deny Indian tribal councils and Indian communities the right to hire their own lawyers. Probably the government's reply would be that it is merely protecting the Indian against those who would prey on him. It's just taking care of him. He must remain Peter Pan and never grow up.

Get a list of governmental restrictions and rulings applied to the Indian and you can see what socialistic government would do for you. The Indian's deprivation of elementary liberties is an object lesson in paternalism. The Indian can tell the rest of us that there is no real citizenship without liberty and that there can be no liberty with Big Papa government laying down the rules.

Before The Dishes Are Done

THE CLIMATE OF PUBLIC OPINION:

One of the major arguments of those who are urging "clemency" or "forgiveness" for the condemned Rosenbergs, is the familiar line that what they did was really not much of a crime considering "the climate of public opinion" at that time. The "climate" to which they refer, of course, was the naïve — if not utterly stupid — belief that Russia was our friendly, democratic, peace-loving ally.

In this later, sadder, and let-us-hope wiser day, it is startling to go back and read some of the typical articles by prominent citizens and "experts" which were published during that period.

For example, consider the now almost completely forgotten article which appeared in the Harper's magazine of July 1947, written by Nathaniel Peffer after his return from a six-month visit to China for our State Department. It describes the post-war chaos of that miserable land, but it blames none of it upon the civil war staged by the Communists, and all of it upon Chiang Kai-shek, whom he accused of "doing all he can to throw China into the arms of Communism, while Russia is doing everything it can to keep China in the grip of a kind of native fascism."

Of the Chinese Communists, he wrote: "One cannot talk to their leaders without the feeling that they are men of great straightforwardness, of genuine aspirations to make life better for the Chinese people. Moreover, in any comparison of the record of the two parties...the Communists come off better. There may not be freedom of speech and political action in the Communist zones, but they do achieve something for the livelihood of the people — which is more than can be said for the Kuomintang regime. Today the Communists appear preferable to their opponents, simply because the Kuomintang leaders are the kind of men from whom no enlightened regime can be expected, while the Communist leaders are the kind from whom it could be." (Perhaps the best way to judge this "expert" opinion of 1947 is to compare today the "enlightened" regime in Communist China with that of Chiang on Formosa.)

Mr. Peffer's recommendation, of course, was that we "get out of China" and "withhold all further economic help until conditions in China change." This is just what we did, and conditions certainly changed, — but would anyone now say they changed for the better? Another favorite argument of that day (and since) is that America should never have aided Chiang's government in the first place, without stringent demands and guarantees that he would make his regime freer, more democratic, and more just to all his people. These same writers sang this same song about Greece and about any other government which they deemed "reactionary." But for some strange reason, not one of them ever criticized the gigantic "bank checks" we gave to Soviet Russia, or suggested that we should have demanded the slightest alteration in her police state "democracy." One can only deduce that Chiang's major crime was in not being powerful or ruthless enough to prevent an armed insurrection of Communists in his war-devastated land.

To get back to the condemned Rosenbergs, I am not one of those persons who feel that their crime of espionage was not "much of a crime." But neither can I forget what some of our most "respectable" citizens were saying in those days. For example, the NEW REPUBLIC of February 17, 1947, carried an article by Henry Wallace, former vice-president of these United States, entitled: "Whose Atomic Secret?" In it, he argued for "the international character of science." He wrote: "Our principal strength, apart from our material resources, lay in the moral leadership we could achieve by offering to give up our temporary advantage in the atomic field for the sake of lasting peace and our own ultimate security." It was only our selfish, stubborn, military-minded stupidity, he insisted, that kept us from giving our atomic knowledge to the whole world, including Soviet Russia.

Apparently the Rosenbergs shared this same conviction, and acted upon it, for which they are now condemned to die. But I can't help wondering how much personal blame Henry Wallace, and those other "intellectuals" who argued the same way, are not willing to take upon themselves for creating this "climate of public opinion" in which lesser persons acted, and for which they must now pay so dearly!

Shortly after Admiral Byrd's notable polar expedition returned from the land of ice, someone asked one of the men what one thing he missed most while away. "Temperatures," was the brief answer.

Man — My wife takes my shoes off with her own hands.

Friend — When you come in at night.

Man — No, when I want to go out.

National Whirligig... French Fear Strong Germany More Than They Do Russians

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although Secretary Dulles' report on his European tour of NATO countries was given behind the closed doors of several congressional committees, his most significant statements have been made available to this writer.

Not even President Eisenhower's reiterated injunction against misnamed "blabbermouths," luckily, can muzzle the M.C.'s. The American people have a right to know the facts.

First, the British and the French do not entertain the same fear of Russia's warlike purposes and action as we do according to Dulles. Therefore, they see no reason for rearming or effectuating a European Defense Community as fast as we do.

From their long experience with Moscow under the Czars and the Commissars, they do not believe that the Kremlin will wage war, unless attacked.

FRANCE FEARS REARMED GERMANY — Secondly, France is more afraid of a rearméd and militaristic Germany than she is of Stalin. Russia has not invaded France since Napoleon's wars, whereas the Germans conquered and devastated French territory three times within 70 years, from 1870 to 1940. Ancients still living remember, as I learned during World War.

London laughs at our fears of an imminent Russian attack. Churchill's military, economic and political experts insist that Moscow is in no position to undertake a program of world conquest.

In their opinion, it will be at least 10 years before Russian industry, agriculture, transportation and production can support a conflict of global nature between the two worlds.

OUR KOREAN POLICE ACTION — Finally, and this may shock the American Congress and people, London and Paris are not too seriously concerned with our "police action" in Korea. They oppose any new Eisenhower policy that will broaden that conflict, or jeopardize their interests and holdings in the Far East. Having policed far corners of the earth for almost 20 years — in Afghanistan, Egypt, Morocco, Indo-China, Singapore, Hong Kong, etc. — the British and French look upon our Korean intervention and casualties as the natural consequence of our postwar assumption of world responsibilities.

French Demand — The Anglo-French viewpoint, so Dulles says, is that the United States is now suffering the birth pains of a world power with worldwide commitments. In their talks with Dulles, they insist that the U. S. must bear the main burden of this responsibility, financially a and militarily.

Secretary Dulles tried to soften and cushion this challenging response. But his Congressional listeners caught his meaning. It was that there will be no creation of a European Defense Community, which means a pooling of German, French, British, American, Italian, Belgian and Dutch soldiers, unless the United States and Great Britain provide the men and the money for this combined anti-Russian enterprise.

In any formation of an international army, with 20 German divisions as a solid nucleus, France demands a 50-year guarantee from Britain and the United States to come to her aid in event of any invasion.

France, in making this demand, is thinking of the Germans, not the Russians. Moscow is a thousand miles more distant from Paris than Berlin.

NEW CABINET POST IMMINENT — Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the Houston publisher who heads the Federal Security Administration, has every right to ask that her agency be given cabinet status. It is understood that President Eisenhower approves the elevation, and congressional assent is assured.

Former President Truman favored the move. He discussed it several times with House-Senate leaders. But Truman's Federal Security Administrator, Oscar Ewing, had become so unpopular on Capitol Hill that cabinet-teering of this agency was a legislative impossibility. Ewing had become known as the apostle of socialized medicine, rightly or wrongly.

In view of Mrs. Hobby's popularity, especially with the growing number of gal reportettes in Washington, the lovely Texan will soon become "Missus Secretary," with more people dependent on her bounty than the children of Eve.

Fair Enough... Weird Conspiracies In Pegler Expose Of Columnist Pearson

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Having laid the foundation of the Drew Pearson expose, I shall now develop the features of a series of weird conspiracies. The scenario includes a fantastic "anti-trust" suit against Sen. Pat McCarran, of Nevada, augmented by a publicity and propaganda campaign to sway the court. In this suit, Pearson's lawyer, William A. Roberts, represents an ex-convict from Brooklyn who landed in Nevada as press agent for the Flamingo Hotel and gambling house operated by the notorious Bugsy Siegel underworld mob.

Pearson's story of this McCarran lawsuit concealed the fact that the plaintiff was an ex-convict and an agent of the Siegel mob. The forces which have been smearing McCarran are, mainly, Communists and friends of Communists.

Pearson regularly employed two Communists as "leg men." A third "leg man," Jack Anderson, who figures prominently in the case, latched onto the GI paper "China-Lantern" in China just after the war. Gen. Al Wodensky, then the China Theatre commander, says this paper fomented insubordination to the verge of mutiny in line with the Communist scheme to disrupt the American fighting forces and get them out of Europe and China.

I come now to the case of a Chinese Air Force general named Pang Tat Mow, who is charged with absconding from Washington to Mexico with about $7,000,000. The government of the Republic of China lays claim to this money, much of which Mow has sequestered in Switzerland. Pearson is also Pearson's lawyer in an other queer suit against Sen. Joe McCarthy, the Washington Times-Herald, Fulton Lewis, Westbrook Pegler and others. The purpose of the suit is to be heard off the coast of Mexico in order to expose of Pearson's lies and nefarious operations.

Last Dec. 2, in Washington, a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate took sworn testimony by John G. Broady, a New York lawyer representing the Republic of China in the effort to recover the money from Gen. Mow.

Sen. Arthur W. Watkins of Utah, presided. Edward R. Duffy, investigator for the committee, used the word "embezzled" in referring to this money.

Broady said he had gone to Mexico in this quest and had met Felix Pichardo Estrada, an assistant attorney general of the Republic of Mexico, and a number of federal police.

"Mow," Broady said, "was then arrested... and at the request of the procurator general's office, Dr. Liang Chen Cha, vice-minister of justice of the Republic of China, and myself went to the house which Mow occupied to see as interpreters and translators in going over the documents found in Mow's house."

Mow had a white American girl with him as companion. In response to questions, Mr. Broady said: "Documents seized in Mow's residence on the day of his arrest showed that he had deposited $2,000,000 of Chinese government funds under his own name in the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, Rockefeller-Center Branch, New York."

Broady said Mow asked him to "get in touch by telephone with his own attorney, William A. Roberts, in Washington, D.C."

Broady said: "I asked Mow whether Roberts had been paid by Mow for further services to Mow without an additional fee. Mow then told me that he had paid Roberts and his firm several hundred thousand dollars. I asked Mow how this money was paid. Mow stated in substance that the money had been paid, partially in drafts, and that, among other things, he had also given Roberts $100,000 U.S. Treasury bearer bills."

I asked Mow what funds he had used to buy this U.S. Treasury bearer bill that he gave to Roberts — and to buy other U.S. Treasury bearer bills that he admitted he had bought. Mow answered that he had used funds from his office accounts to buy them. I asked Mow on whose advice he had done this and he stated in substance that he had purchased these U.S. Treasury bearer bills on the advice and with the approval of William A. Roberts. Mow also told me in substance that Roberts had cashed this $100,000 U.S. Treasury bill through his broker in New York and had used part of the proceeds to pay the expenses of Mow's remaining under cover in Mexico."

Mr. Duffy asked what was meant by the term "office accounts," from which these monies were derived.

Broady said: "Mow referred to accounts in which were deposited the funds belonging to the government of the Republic of China."

Broady said Mow told him that Roberts had advised him to go to Mexico and that Roberts had arranged with one Oliver Klisch, formerly of the U. S. State Department, to get him into Mexico. Broady said Mow told him that Roberts had Klisch "out of the proceeds of the $100,000 Treasury bearer bill that Roberts had cashed."

Broady said he went over an itemized expense bill with Mow and that Mow told him that "the total paid by Roberts and Mow to Klisch" was "$45,000 or more."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow make any statement as to how he had met Roberts?"

"Yes," Broady said, "Mow told me, in substance, that he had been referred to Roberts and I believe introduced to Roberts by Drew Pearson or by Drew Pearson's leg-man, Jack Anderson."

Duffy asked: "Did Mow state whether Drew Pearson had any part in Mow's decision to take his government's funds and keep them?"

Broady replied: "Mow told me, in substance, that Roberts had assured Mow that he, Roberts, also represented Pearson and was a close friend of Drew Pearson's and that if the Republic of China got too tough in their demands that Mow return the money, that he, Roberts, would get Drew Pearson to 'pour it on' the Republic of China and, in that way, discourage the Republic of China from going after Mow."

The Doctor Says

Each year a whole new group of people develop a disease known as shingles or herpes zoster. This is a peculiar condition and if one must have it, it would be best to do so while still comparatively young — if one could have a choice. In the elderly it is too likely to lead to miserable and long-continued pain.

In all probability, shingles, results from a virus infection. For some peculiar reason this virus attacks the nerve roots of the nerves of feeling. It is also for some strange reason almost invariably on one side of the body only.

The first sign of the disease is generally pain or a burning sensation on one side of the body. Tingling or other peculiar sensations are frequent. It is common around the chest, the hips, the abdomen and the face. Serious complications occur if it affects the eyes.

After a few days of these sensations, blisters appear on the skin. But is not really a skin disease. When several days have passed the blisters burst and dry up, finally leaving a scab.

Herpes may come with or immediately after acute infections like pneumonia or meningitis. It can come in epidemics or without any cause which can be identified.

There seems to be some relation between herpes and chickenpox. Small epidemics of herpes have arisen at the same time as epidemics of chickenpox. Occasionally a person will develop chickenpox from contact with a patient with shingles. This is a most interesting relationship.

NO SPECIFIC REMEDY — Many different kinds of treatment have been used for shingles. Soothing lotions or other preparations help a little. X-rays have been used with variable success. Antibiotics also may have some value. But there is no truly specific remedy.

In elderly people herpes is often a particularly serious thing because it hangs on so long. When nothing else seems to work, cutting the nerve by surgery may have to be considered. Older people with nerve pain following shingles deserve our heartfelt sympathy.

Washington Clubs Bidding For White House Memberships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—UP—Backstairs at the White House, Top Eisenhower administration figures are being wooed by some Washington private clubs much in the way colleges go after high school football stars.

So active was the bidding for one of President Eisenhower's chief advisers that he had a chart prepared showing initiation fees and annual dues of the clubs encouraging his membership. The range in initiation fees was from $600 to $2,500.

The country clubs want the Eisenhower policy makers on membership rolls for prestige purposes. And many individual club members want the opportunity to chat with this cabinet member and that agency head on a social basis that just might have business advantages later.

One club definitely is not in the administration sweepstakes, if for no other reason than it already has the prize. This is Burning Tree, the highly exclusive, all-male golf club where the President, himself, is a member and where he played his first round of golf as chief executive.

Mrs. Eisenhower apparently dislikes motorcycles and sirens. When she and the President attended the congressional club reception this week, their procession from the White House consisted only of their own limousine and a secret service follow-up car.

Consequently, they had to stop for numerous stop lights. In previous trips about town, Mr. Eisenhower was accompanied by a motorcycle escort.

Mrs. Truman had a similar dislike for motorcycles, and most of her auto trips were without noisy escort.

Republican knives are being whetted for a federal official once a big name in the Truman administration. After the election he cooperated unstintingly in preparing for the transfer of government.

Impressed—incoming—Republicans arranged for the Democrat to continue in a government job.

The Democrat then took a vacation. While on his holiday, he was interviewed by a small local newspaper and he spouted unrestrainedly, apparently seeing no chance for his remarks to get back to the capital. He said among other things that President Eisenhower was a demagogue. But as luck or misfortune would have it, a friend of the new administration spotted the interview and passed it on to Washington.

The Democrat, meantime, is back on the job, apparently unaware that his interview preceded him. His future is quite limited.

Carson Slates Farm Sessions

WHITE DEER (Special) — A series of meetings for Carson County youths and men interested in agriculture is being held this week. The series covers a period from Feb. 19 to Feb. 26. Films will be shown on soil management and other subjects pertaining to agriculture. H. M. Nichols, county agent, Wayne Kiann, of the Soil Conservation Office, Panhandle, and Mayo Duke, manager of the county PMA office, will attend the meetings.

Nichols states he will meet with all boys present to organize, or reorganize 4-H clubs in the various communities. Scheduled for discussion will be projects, contests, judging, camps, new and added local leaders for each club and the possibility of regular meetings. Boys nine years of age or older, who are interested in 4-H clubs, their fathers, and all other men and boys interested in good farming and ranching including proper soil management are urged to attend as many meetings of the series as possible.

Nichols announces the Skellytown meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 24 at the school. White Deer will have its meeting Wednesday, Feb. 25 in the Agriculture Room across from White Deer High School. All meetings will open at 7:30 p.m.

Pampan Is Fined $125

A Pampan who first pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and then changed his plea has been fined $125 and costs ($147.05) in county court.

William E. Benton, 30, of 111 W. Brown, was picked up by highway patrol Sunday morning on North Hobart, given a blood test and lodged in city jail overnight prior to being turned over to county authorities.

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many men and women have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs less than most reducing preparations. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of Baracetrone. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose blubber fat and help reveal slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

ABILENE MAN LOST 15 POUNDS

Mr. Fay Gordon, 124 Chestnut St., Abilene, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost 15 pounds taking Baracetrone. I take a bottle or two occasionally to keep my weight down and I have never found anything any better for keeping down gas on the stomach."

SAN ANTONIO LADY LOST 20 POUNDS

"Before taking Baracetrone, I weighed 160 pounds," writes Mrs. Nellie Brownning, 227 King Ave., San Antonio, Texas. "Now I weigh 140, a loss of 20 pounds, and feel like a new person."

Twentieth Century Allegro Members Meet For Program

Mrs. H. Price Dosier Jr. and Mrs. John Frisby presented the program architecture for members of the Twentieth Century Allegro when they met Tuesday afternoon at 1332 Charles. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Jerry Thomas and Mrs. J.W. Graham.

The story of the Eiffel Tower was told by Mrs. Frisby as she showed slides to illustrate the subject. She said that the proposal to erect the tower met with violent opposition. Hundreds of people united to protest against it, declaring that it would be a blemish to the city. The effect of the structure, however, quite the contrary. It is colossal but not in art. It has splendid arches. It is a miracle of strength and lightness. The loftiest structure ever reared by man, yet graceful and symmetrical from base to summit.

Forty draftsmen worked for two years on the fifteen thousand different sections of this tower, each of which required a separate design, exact to the one hundredth part of an inch. In one hour, 2300 persons can be lifted by the elevators to the first and second galleries and 750 to the top. Upon the steps and in corridors, restaurants, shops and theaters 10,000 people can assemble at one time.

Mrs. Dosier spoke on the "buildings of London, Rome and Washington, D.C. She described the United States Capitol building. The cornerstone of this building was laid in 1793 but in 1814 the building was destroyed by the British but was soon rebuilt. Stretching out its great white mass of sandstone and marble for 750 feet and crowned by an immense dome on which stands a statue of freedom. This is one of the most imposing buildings in the world. The inside walls are decorated with paintings and statues representing important scenes and figures in American history.

AAUW Members Hear Cameron Marsh At Covered Dish Dinner Meeting

Pampa members of the American Association of University Women heard Cameron Marsh speak on "Our Stand In Korea" Tuesday evening at the City Club Room.

Hostesses for the covered dish dinner meeting were Mrs. O. M. Prigmore, Misses Babs Eaton, Minnie Allen and Ruby Trusty. Mrs. N. Dudley Steele introduced the speaker.

As background for his talk, Marsh gave the history of Korea dating back 2,000 years and showed that this little peninsula has been in one conflict after another and has been under the control of many powers. Then he discussed Korea and her place in World War II which brought the talk to the time of the Korean conflict in 1950.

Quartet tables and the serving tables were decorated in the Washington theme with twig cherry trees with tiny hatchets. Red candles were on all the tables which were covered with blue cloths.

Participating in the affair were Jan Fincher, Maurice and Bobby Ray, Linda Lou Culbertson, Peggy Chudej, David and Susie Moore, Cal and Ronnie Calloway, Mike Calloway, Patty and Billy Chudej, Lynda Kennedy, Larry Taylor, Sherri Lassiter, Kerry Lee Parsley, Mmes. Buck Moore, Joe Chudej, Pat Fincher, W.W. Clark, Max Calloway and Mmes. Bob Calloway and Alton Kennedy of Borger and Mmes. P. B. Calloway and Nettie Cromer of Hereford.

Perplexed as to how to top off that casserole dish? Get out a sharp biscuit cutter and cut slices of bread into rounds. Brush both sides of rounds with melted butter or margarine and arrange on top of casserole dish. They will bake to a golden-brown goodness while the casserole cooks to serving temperature.

DKG Society Meets In City Club Room

Delta Kappa Gamma Society held its regular meeting in the City Club Room recently with Mrs. Quentin Williams introducing the program.

Special music was given by a quartet of clarinetists, Avanelle Hogsett, Adalade Williams, Jimmie Henson and Robert Perkins. They presented "Deep Purple" and "The Crusaders' Hymn."

Miss Pearl Spough spoke on current educational legislation. The main speaker of the occasion was Frank Faia who spoke on various types of insurance and benefits.

A group singing was conducted by Mrs. John I. Bradley and Mrs. Roy Sullivan.

The president, Mrs. Perry Gaut, conducted the business meeting. Two new members, Mrs. Elmer Padgett and Mrs. Clementine Morgan of Panhandle were accepted and welcomed. Mrs. Aubrey Jones conducted the group in a recreational activity.

Hostesses were Miss Lillian Mullinax, Mrs. J. E. Gibson Jr., Mrs.

Paul Kennedy, Mrs. Roy Gettel and Mrs. W. R. Ewing. The entertaining room and table were decorated in the Valentine motif. Mrs. Ewing presided at the punch bowl. The table, laid with white damask cloth, was appointed with crystal and silver. Cupids and arrows flanked with candles centered the table. Heart-shaped cookies, mints and strawberry punch were served.

Attending were Mmes. Sam Irwin, Perry Gaut, Quentin Williams, Lewis Goodwin, John I. Bradley, Roy Gettel, L. K. Stout, Alton Moore, Lou Roberts, Alta Love, Ruth B. Bennink, Rev. MATURE PARENT

Grandparents have been here longer than parents. Therefore they have seen and felt its come-uppance more often than we have. So sometimes they recognize it more easily.

Such a grandparent has written me. She says, "My older grandson is 15 years old — a spoiled boy. He has been allowed to bully and terrify his 13-year-old brother so much that the child is close to a breakdown. His parents don't realize what's going on. Can you try to rouse them?"

I can try, though it's a tough assignment. When we don't realize evil going on under our noses, it's because we don't want to. We're scared that it will disgrace or hurt us in some way, if we challenge it.

So this isn't a problem of a younger child's fear of an older one, but a problem of their parents' terror of displeasing their tyrant.

Skilled Treatment

Until they recover from it, there is little realistic hope that their younger child will get over his fear without skilled treatment. I have used the word "tyrant" deliberately.

For to "rouse" we sometimes have to tell the shocking truth. We have to rip off the pretty wings that sustain our stupid conviction that Harry's "bullying" is just "his way" — and be brought down to hard earth with a bang. And we wake up to see at last that bullying by children or by dictators is all one with the evil that makes the world's sorrows.

FOR CHILD'S SAKE

When we see that we stop being afraid of what Harry may do to us if we say, "For your sake, I must stop your bullying." We just quit caring a whoop what happens to us so long as we can help Harry stop.

It's amazing that in a century that has seen the rises and terrible falls of the Headline Dictators that we can still be so complacent about their symptoms in our homes.

MORAL FAILURE

Perhaps we ought to stop orating about our noble intentions of "protecting the dignity of individuals" in countries 10,000 miles away until we can rally the gumption to help a 13-year-old son take care of his right in the kitchen. It's bad to spout big moral principles — and be scared to act upon them.

For make no mistake, what we've got here is moral failure. We can't use our ignorance of psychology any more to justify condoning aggressiveness. Your emotional strength and mine is just a fancy name for our moral strength.

One of the great wise men of our time, Erich From, says: "Neurosis itself is a symptom of moral failure. The judgments we make determine our actions — and upon their validity rests our mental health and happiness." If that doesn't "rouse," I give down to hard earth with a bang.

CARDUI MONTHLY CRAMPS CHANGE OF LIFE

The woman who has mastered the simple art of brewing a perfect cup of coffee should never forget that this doesn't quite take care of her total responsibility to coffee-loving family and guests.

There's the matter of serving it right. This means seeing to it that the brew makes contact with the human palate while it is fresh and at the proper temperature.

The best way to guarantee freshness is to serve the coffee as soon as it is made. But there is always the reserve supply from which second helpings will be poured. And for maximum goodness of taste, this must be held at just right temperature. Insufficient heating of the waiting brew will result in a disappointing lukewarm drink. With too much heat you run the risk of boiling — and spoiling — the brew.

Brewing experts of the National Coffee Association recommend two easy methods of holding the beverage at serving temperature. One way is to place the coffee pot in a pan of hot water; another is to place it on an asbestos pad over low heat.

Inventors and manufacturers of kitchen equipment have also recognized the importance of the heating factor in correct coffee serving, and they have done their bit to help.

RUTH MILLETT

A businessman once said "When two men in a business always agree, one of them is unnecessary."

The same can be said of marriage partners. And yet many a woman thinks the ideal wife is one who always agrees with her husband, quote his opinions as gospel, and always assures him that whatever he did was the right thing to do.

Fortunately, most women aren't self-effacing enough actually to live up to that ideal.

But why should any wife try? Always agreeing with another person is the quickest way in the world to lose one's own individuality. It makes him a mere shadow of a stronger personality.

And, of course, it gives the one with whom he continually agrees, an exaggerated idea of his own importance.

But on top of all that, a marriage in which a wife always agrees with her husband would make absolutely no use of her intelligence or her feminine viewpoint.

When a couple could benefit from the intelligence of two people, why should it ever be a good thing to limit them to the use of one?

Men often talk as though their idea of the ideal wife is a woman who always agrees with them. But most men are too smart to actually believe that.

And the man who is married to a woman who always agrees with him doesn't act as though he is married to the ideal woman.

He usually feels as though he is married to a nit-wit.

He is so used to having his wife agree with him that any time she expresses an idea of her own without checking to see that she is reflecting his opinions, he is sure it can't be sensible.

Whenever you find a wife who is a "Yes-woman," you'll find a husband who thinks his wife hasn't enough sense to come in out of the rain.

Harvester Quint Given Day Off

Coach Clifton McNeely gave his District 1-AAAA Champion Harvesters a well deserved day off yesterday following the Green and Golds' grueling District 1-AAAA schedule that was completed Tuesday night with a smashing victory over the Borger Bulldogs.

The Harvesters will return to the court today to resume their drills in preparation for the bi-district series next week with the El Paso district champion which hasn't been determined.

The District 2-AAAA title race will be completed Friday night. It is possible a two-way tie for the top rung will result. In that event, a one-game "sudden death" playoff will be held Saturday night.

Bowie and El Paso High are the two remaining teams in the 2-AAAA title race. They clash Friday night. Bowie is currently leading the race with a 6-0 record and El Paso is close behind with a 5-1 mark.

Bowie, however, meets Jefferson tonight and must win to stay in the conference lead. A win to night would clinch at least a tie for the title. A loss would drop the Bowie quint into a tie for the lead with El Paso and tomorrow night's winner would be crowned champion.

If Bowie defeats Jefferson tonight and then loses to El Paso tomorrow, then a one-game playoff would be held Saturday night between Bowie and El Paso.

Coach McNeely left by plane at noon today for El Paso where he will meet with school officials at El Paso in arranging the dates and site for the three-game bi-district series.

He will remain in the Border City until a champion has been determined.

During his absence, assistant coach Terry Culley will be in charge of the Harvester workouts rest of this week.

The District 1-AAAA race was completed last night with Abilene winning an overtime 48-45 decision over San Angelo at Abilene. The game ended in a 43-43 stalemate. The Eagles won in the first overtime.

Bobby Harris of San Angelo copped scoring honors with 18 points. Jerry Turner of the Eagles had 17.

The Abilene win moved the Eagles into a three-way tie for third, fourth and fifth place in the final standings.

All other district teams finished their conference schedules Tuesday night. While Pampa was defeating Borger, Amarillo was sharing Lubbock, 78-69, and Odessa was edging Midland, 64-50.

Phil McAttee, goaltender for the Buffalo Bisons in the American Football League, served with the 4th Armored Division of the Canadian Army as a captain. He was wounded in action.

TO PERFORM HERE — This Hawaiian beauty, Cecilia Lellani Kanoha, will give a Hula Dance during the cage performance here Feb. 25 that features the appearance of the famous Harlem Globetrotters. Miss Kanoha will do the Hula Dance with two other Hawaiian beauties. The star-studded program will be held at the Harvester Fieldhouse.

How do the amazing Harlem Globetrotters, who play no less than 300 games during their extended season, stand such a grueling, back-breaking schedule?

That is the question every basketball fan asks after seeing this great team, which makes its first appearance of the season here Feb. 25 against the strong Philadelphia Sparks in the feature game of a colorful doubleheader at Harvester Fieldhouse.

Although they play night after night, Abe Saperstein's talented Globetrotters never appear to be exhausted or weary. Every night they put on their dazzling, wild show with the same fiery enthusiasm and lightning speed.

How do they do it? How can they play the top teams in the nation night after night and maintain such a sizzling pace? Last season, for instance, they played a total of 341 games. And, they set an all-time basketball record, winning 333 and only losing 8.

Phil Brownstein, coach of the Chicago Stars when they were a powerhouse in the National Basketball Association, probably has the best answer.

Brownstein, one of the top technicians in the game and a member of the Globetrotters' far-flung scouting staff, says:

"The Globetrotters can play a year-around schedule because they have learned how to relax under pressure and also how to preserve stamina. That's the secret."

"They never waste a motion, never do the unnecessary. Every pass, every dribble is executed on the theory that it will save an extra step."

"I have watched them for years against the best competition in the world and they always play the same. They never get excited, or use up valuable energy."

"They run like deer when it is necessary and, on the other hand, walk around the court like a farm boy on his way to a fishing hole when the pace slows down."

Brownstein, who developed such great pro stars as Max Baer, Phil and Andy Phillip, says the Globetrotters never tire because they stay in excellent condition all the time, adding:

"This is the best conditioned basketball team in history. They are in better physical condition than any college team you ever saw."

"How can a team that plays the year-around be any other way? They play every night. As soon as their game is over the boys head for the sack and a good night's sleep."

"They stay in the best hotels, the same. They never get excited, or use up valuable energy."

Seattle Gels Invite To NIT Tourney

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—UP—Sharpshooters Seattle University Thursday pondered a bid to the national invitation basketball tournament, while record-breaking scoring performances boosted the four-year hopes of Columbia and Duquesne.

Seattle, sparked by 5-foot-9, Johnny O'Brien—one of the most colorful players in the game as well as the major-college scoring leader with a 28.5 points-per-game average, boasts a record of 29 victories against only three defeats.

The Chieftains, who played in the NIT last year but lost in the opening round to Holy Cross, frankly left the door open for an NCAA tournament bid when they announced they were "considering" the NIT offer. They emphasized, however, that no NCAA bid has yet been received.

Duquesne Downs Geneva Duquesne, bidding for a spot in either major tournament, strengthened its hopes with a 109 to 66 rout of little Geneva College Wednesday night at Beaver Falls, Pa. The triumph erased the Duquesne scoring record of 95 points and ran the Iron Dukes' record to 16 victories and seven defeats.

Columbia tied idle Pennsylvania for the Ivy League lead by trouncing Princeton, 81 to 58. In the process of setting the Lions' league mark at 5-1, Jack Molinas set four scoring records and one rebound mark.

The Columbia senior tallied 41 points to break the Columbia individual record, and the Columbia court record, set a new Ivy League three-year scoring mark of 483 points and a new league free throw season record of 121. His 30 rebounds set another loop mark.

Notre Dame Wins Notre Dame strengthened its bid for an NCAA bid by beating Marquette, 74 to 68, to set its season record at 15-4. Norb Lewinski of the Irish and Rube Schulz of Marquette tied for scoring honors with 22 points.

The Oklahoma Aggies were upset by Houston, 50 to 48, on the winners' court, but retained the Missouri Valley Conference lead by a one-game margin over Tulsa. Houston trailed for three periods, but beat the Aggies at their own "possession" game in the fourth to win. Bob Matlick of the Aggies led the scoring with 14 points.

Louisville raised its record to 19-4 by beating Eastern Kentucky, 68 to 66; Dartmouth edged Army, 61 to 58; Pitt routed Carnegie Tech, 69 to 49; Lehigh upset Temple, 68 to 48; Navy shaded Loyola (Md.) 75 to 72; and Wichita beat Murray (Ky.), 87 to 77.

O'Brien Tops In Scoring NEW YORK, Feb. 19—UP—A 51-point outburst by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle against Gonzaga Sunday night gave the Chieftains' ace a slight lead in the tight race for individual scoring honors among the nation's major colleges. NCAA service bureau statistics showed Thursday.

By far the smallest of the country's top scorers, 5-foot-9 O'Brien showed a 28.5 points-per-game average through games of Tuesday night. Furman's Frank Selvy, last week's surprise leader, is second with 27.9; Pennsylvania's Ernie Beck third with 27.1; unbeaten Seton Hall's Walt Dukes fourth with 27.0; and Washington's Bob Houbrigs fifth with 25.6.

That puts O'Brien in good shape to win the major college title and put it alongside the small-college crown he won, along with his first bit of nationwide fame, last year. With relatively few games left to play, his lead is more than half a point a game is fairly substantial.

His 51-point performance was the third highest of the year in major competition, coming less than a week after Selvy's 53 against Mercer had given the southerner first place last week.

The only other higher single-game total was Niel Gordon's 52, and the Furman center, now ninth with 24.2, forms with Selvy the most fantastic two-man punch on record. Between them, they have accounted for 52.1 points a game.

O'Brien's twin brother Eddie also figures in the statistics, holding second place in field goal accuracy behind Vernon Stokes of St. Francis of Brooklyn. Stokes has made 57.9 per cent of his shots, O'Brien 57.4 per cent and Houbrigs 55.0 per cent. From the foul line, John Dohner, of Virginia, has the best record, 83.7 per cent.

In rebounding, Fordham's Ed Conlin still leads Dukes, 23.5 a game to 23.0, while third-place Bill Chambers is far back at 20.9.

Other top scorers include Oklahoma City's Short, in tenth place with a 23.9 average. Oklahoma City's Likens placed third in free throw percentage with 88.1 per cent.

Lubbock Writer Blasts Statements Made Recently On Bond In "Press Box Views"

A LUBBOCK AVANTAGE-JOURNAL sports writer, Art Gatts, has taken issue with us on a statement we made in this column last week about Jimmy Bond.

The statement read "Bond is one of the top rebounders of District 1-AAAA— if not the best. His defensive play leaves nothing to be desired."

To which Gatts replied "phooey" on Francis' comments. "Bond is 6-4, he should be a top rebounder," Gatts continued. "And here, he didn't shine on defense. He didn't against Amarillo the first time, at least, either."

"He is a fine player and a terrific scorer, and probably the most valuable player in the district, but he is a long way from being the star Pampa makes him out to be in attitude, etc.," Gatts concluded.

For Mr. Gatts' information we've seen lots of 6-4 lads and some even taller that couldn't hold their own in the rebound department with Bond. So, the fact that a boy is 6-4 doesn't mark him down as a natural rebounder.

In fact, Abilene has a boy on their squad who stands 6-7 but we doubt if he played enough this season to letter. You've got to have a little ability to go along with height to make an outstanding cager such as Bond is.

And on the defense situation, we don't know what a fellow has to do to prove his defensive ability to Mr. Gatts.

Gerry Thomas did mean to score 16 points against Bond at Lubbock but that was far below Lubbock's average in district play. And in the first half when the Harvesters pulled into a safe lead, Thomas only got four points.

Had Thomas gotten his usual points in the first half, Lubbock would have been in the game at halftime and they might have made it rough for the Harvesters down the stretch. As it was the Harvesters breezed to an easy 70-52 victory.

Then against Amarillo in the first game, Johnny George, who opposed Bond, got only four points. The Harvesters won the game by two points so it looked like Bond's defensive work paid off in that game.

Bond also held George to four points in the second game with Amarillo. And the very next game the Sandies played, George dunked in 17 points against Gatts' Lubbock Westerners.

Had George come through with his usual points in the two games with the Harvesters, the Sandies might be the 1-AAAA champions today. This doesn't mean, of course, that Bond single-handedly led the Harvesters in the two wins over Amarillo. Due credit must go to all the Harvesters getting in on the games. The Harvester defense as a whole was superb in both games, especially the second game when the high scoring Sandies only managed 43 points.

About Bond's attitude, Gatts was siding in with Pitt Powell on the statement he made about Bond after the first Harvester-Sandies game.

It still has us puzzled how anyone could say Bond's attitude needs improving.

We'll admit he does fool a lot of people with the straight face he displays throughout each game. He never changes his expression on whether he makes or misses a shot or when a foul has been called on him. In other words, he is a cool player and never gets rattled.

To us, his attitude is perfect, and has been all season.

THE WHISKERED WIZARDS, who appeared here a week ago, will be coming back through the Panhandle the first week in March.

Collier Parria of Amarillo, the booker for the Wizards in the Panhandle, would like to hear from anyone who would like to sponsor a Wizard game.

Unfortunately we have misplaced the exact dates Collier said he had open for the Wizards but if our memory serves us correct March 2nd and 3rd were open dates.

Anyway, if any town in the Panhandle wants to schedule the Wizards, you can contact Collier Parria, by writing him at Southwest States Enterprises, P. O. Box 2353, Amarillo, or call 3-7138.

We might add that the Wizards put on a fine show here last week and one can't go wrong in booking the Whiskered five.

East, West Even In NCAA Titles

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19.—UP—The records showed Thursday that teams from the East and West are square at seven games each in setting NCAA basketball championships.

National Collegiate Athletic Association officials here declined to predict how the standings would change when four teams meet in Kansas City's 10,000-capacity municipal auditorium March 17-18. The United Press ratings placed six middle section teams in the top ten, along with one from the West, two from the East, and one from the Southeast. On form, one of the ten should wrap up the 1953 NCAA championship.

Final Sites
The finals were played in Kansas City in 1940, 1941, and 1942.

Indoor Net Tourney Enters Third Round

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—UP—The five remaining men's quarter-final berths in the national indoor tennis championships will be filled Thursday night when top-seeded Art Larsen of San Francisco meets Ricardo Balbier of Chile in the featured third round match.

In the other remaining third round tests, Irvin Dorfman of New York plays Lorne Main of Canada, second-ranked foreign player; Grant Golden of Wisconsin plays Pablo Eisenberg of Philadelphia; and Dick Sontag of Philadelphia plays George Hall of New York; and Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, the top foreign seed, meets Charles Masterson of Brooklyn.

Noel Brown of Santa Monica, Calif., Gene Garrett of New York and Billy Talbot of New York entered the quarter-finals Wednesday night with easy, straight set triumphs in the third round.

Thelma Long of Australia was the only seeded woman to see action and she defeated Betty Counbe of Westfield, N. J., 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. Long is favored in the women's singles.

Bevo To Remain At Rio Grande

BEVO FRANCIS
Rio Grande is OK for me

Oilers To Train In Sweetwater

Only two West Texas-New Mexico League baseball clubs will train at home this spring. President Hal Sayles said Wednesday.

They are Albuquerque and Clovis, which will open drills March 28 and 29, respectively.

One club, Abilene, will train in Florida — at Kissimmee starting March 26. Plainview starts at Baling March 20, Borger at Fredericksburg March 25, Amarillo at Vernon March 29, Lubbock at San Angelo April 5 and Pampa at Sweetwater at a date to be determined later.

George Hine, who is Border Conference statistician and sports publicity director at Hardin-Simmons University here, will serve as league statistician this season, Sayles said.

PAMPA NEWS, THURSDAY, FEB. 19, 1953 Page 9

RIO GRANDE, Ohio, Feb. 19.—UP—Fame and furor don't faze Rio Grande College's lanky basketball center Clarence (Bevo) Francis.

Obviously unconcerned about all the tumult which was raised on Wednesday over whether he would quit the small southern Ohio school the gangling 6-foot-9 center skipped his classes to go to nearby Jackson. His mission: The purchase of a tailor-made suit.

Besides, Francis said when he finally got back on the campus, there's not much likelihood that he and Coach Newt Oliver would part company. Oliver was Bevo's high school cage mentor, and when he moved here as coach, he persuaded Francis to come along.

Francis, a 20-year-old freshman, has scored 1,649 points in leading Rio Grande to 33 straight victories this season, albeit some of them were against junior colleges and service teams. Francis is concerned mainly about the type of opposition he'll meet next year.

"I wouldn't want to play always against junior colleges," Francis said. "I have no plans and no intentions of leaving here for I know we will be playing four-year colleges next year."

He said the wrong interpretation had been placed on his remarks when it was reported that he would leave Rio Grande because it played inferior teams.

Oliver branded the reports "poppycock" and asserted he is trying to line up a schedule with four-year teams next season.

Francis said he would not quit the school because it played inferior teams.

Envy With Upper Case 'E' Hank Envis Woman Who Has Slept Seven Years On Trolleys

By HENRY McEMORE

LOS ANGELES — A few days ago I could truthfully say that of my 6,732½ vices, envy was no one of them.

Sneezing in crowded places, yes. Robbing the second layer of a box of candy for the best pieces before the top layer is gone, uh-huh.

Also, never using my own cigarettes when visiting, but cadging smokes from my host's cigarette box, even if my brand is absent.

I admit to smoking in upper berths and using the inside of my shoe as an ashtray, shining my shoes by whizzing them back and forth across hotel blankets and counterpanes, and taking more than my share of covers on a cold night.

Now I have 6,732½ vices, and envy with an upper case E is the newcomer to the fold. This deadly sin attached itself to me like a barnacle when I read that story from Chicago about how Mrs. Anna Cox, 73, had been using street cars as her sleeping quarters for more than seven years, and had never missed a good night's rest.

As a man who can scarcely doze, much less sleep, in a sitting-up position, I wish I were in Chicago so I could visit Mrs. Cox and ply her with a thousand questions concerning this great accomplishment of hers.

Could she always sleep on trolley cars? Was it a gift? Or did she teach herself to woo the sandman while the wheels screeched around curves, the bell clanged, and other passengers stepped on her feet, poked her in the ribs with their elbows, and fanned her face with the sharp edges of newspapers?

I am hoping, in case I ever am lucky enough to meet Mrs. Cox, that she won't say she was a natural-born street car sleeper.

Wake Up To More Comfort

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

"I always thought you wanted me to hobnob with nobility. Pet! There's three noblemen gonna wrestle tonight!"

but that she had to learn the art.

I want to ask her how she learned the best place to rest her head while sleeping in a sitting-up position, and what she does when she dozes a trifle and her head falls downward or sideways with a snap that, in my own case, anyway, all but loosens the No. 1 vertebra from its moorings.

Does she find a stiff, upright position better than a slouch. If so, what is her art of keeping the edge of the seat from allowing circulation to a standstill? My feet go to sleep, but nothing else.

Being a day coach and bus rider of more than forty years standing (sitting, I mean) I am particularly interested in Mrs. Cox's secret of maintaining her balance when a vehicle makes a sharp turn. Apparently she defies all laws of motion, and remains as upright and steady as a museum vase. And sudden stops. What about them? And light in her eyes?

Arms, particularly the elbow section of the arms, are one of my greatest problems. Just when I think there is a small, teeny chance of my falling asleep, my elbows slide off, either on my side of the arm rest, or on the side of the passenger on my right or left. No matter which side they slide to, my eyes pop open as if strings ran from my elbows to my eyelashes.

Does Mrs. Cox slip off her shoes when she sets-me-down-to-sleep? She must, and if she does, what is her method of finding them when she wakes up?

I'll bet that I, along with hundreds of thousands of other travelers, have spent hundreds of hours rooting around on the floor for shoes that disappeared under the seat ahead, or skittered across the aisle and went into strict hiding.

Yes, I must see Mrs. Cox.

C. McCabe Chosen 'Beau' By Carson County FHA Girls

WHITE DEER (Special)—Carl McCabe was chosen as White Deer Future Homemakers "Beau" at the annual F. H. A. Sweetheart Tea held recently at Panama Corporation's recreation room.

Following the presentation of the gift by Barbara Evans, Julia McConnell sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". The word "Sweetheart" was spelled out by 10 of the club members. Each girl held a letter and gave the characteristic beginning with that letter.

The only cabinet position in the U. S. federal administration that expires automatically every four years is that of Postmaster General.

Musical Program Is Presented For Local Rotary Club

A musical program highlighted the weekly Rotary Club meeting with local and area talent taking the principal parts.

Mrs. Mary Jane McClelland, Phil. Lips, and Paul Biggs, music and education director of the First Baptist Church, sang several solos and duets. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Ann Jordan, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. R. H. Jordan.

Dr. Ed Williams, recently elected president of Rotary, was unable to be present for the meeting yesterday for official introduction. He will be installed in June, along with other officers and directors.

Prior to the program Benny Benjamin, Borger Rotarian, presented a run-down of the program for the district meeting there on Mar. 5-7. Following his request for 100 percent registration, the Pampa club voted to send a check to the Borger Rotary Club covering registration for every member of the local group.

Just how many of the local Rotarians will attend the district meeting was not indicated. However, they will commute from Pampa to Borger during the three-day period due to crowded housing facilities there.

1953 Chevrolet Advance-Design Trucks are more truck for the money!

4 powerful reasons why you get more of what you want...

more engine power

Advanced Loadmaster engine—standard equipment on 5000, 6000 Series heavy-duty and forward-control models, optional on 4000 Series heavy-duty trucks. Light- and medium-duty models, with Thriftmaster engine, provide extra economy.

more staying power

Now, heavier, stronger, more durable frames increase rigidity, add to ruggedness and stamina of all 1953 Chevrolet trucks.

more braking power

Chevrolet trucks up to 4000 Series heavy-duty models are equipped with "Torque-Action" brakes. Series 4000, 5000 and 6000 heavy-duty trucks use extra-large "Torque-Action" brakes in front, "Twin-Action" type in rear.

more economy

Greater stamina of 1953 Chevrolet trucks, extra gasoline economy in heavy-duty models with Loadmaster engine, reduces hauling costs.
