AN INDUSTRY — CAMPAIGN OPENS

CONVENTION $ $ $

Conventions can mean money to Colorado City . . . a lot of money in fact.

Bob Reily, chairman of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce' Tourist and Conventions Committee, reported Friday that a convention is worth more to a city, including Colorado City, than the average citizen realizes.

"A convention delegate spend $27 per day, on a national basis, in the city of the convention," he said. "And 300 delegates (the number Colorado City could serve,) therefore, spend an average of $8,100 a day at a convention site.

"That would be," he continued, "$40,000 spent in Colorado City each year if we could only host 1 or more conventions for 5 days during the entire year. That's equal to a 10-man industry in Colorado City.

"In fact, hosting conventions is an industry in itself."

Reily's committee, members are Rev. Darris Egger, pastor of First Methodist Church, and Porter Richardson, station manager of KVMC Radio, met Friday to open a campaign to push Colorado City as a convention site.

Incomplete plans for the campaigns," he said.

a "big push" to build "an image of Colorado City as a meeting-convention center." The committee plans to attend all conventions and meetings in this West Texas area in the future to campaign for Colorado City as a site for the group's next meeting.

This will be done, he said, through the cooperation of local residents who are members of the organizations. "We will offer all of our facilities and our personal help to any local organization members who wish to bid for a convention or area meeting here," Reily continued.

The committee is presently planning a short skit to be given at meetings as parts of bid campaigns.

"Not only will local organization members strive for sessions here, but we will, representing the local members, the Chamber of Commerce and Colorado City as a whole, conduct extensive campaigns, he said.

Kickoff of the active campaign is just a matter of days or weeks, according to Reily.

Richardson has already begun formulation of another part of the committee's program — to develop a program of highway advertising that will center around "Colorado City's historical interests."

A package program for highway signs is to be developed, said Reily, for the cooperative support of the Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee and Highway Committee.

"With the cooperation of these other 2 committees, we hope to conduct a complete program to attract travelers into Colorado City," concluded Reily.

Sheriff Claxton Travels to Ohio

BY RICK TAYLOR
Record News Editor

Ohio's governor has issued a warrant on Mitchell County's request for extradition of Harry (Tumbleweed King) Snyder from Cincinnati, District Attorney Weldon Kirk reported Saturday.

Snyder will appear before a Circuit Court in Cincinnati Wednesday at 9 a. m. "I anticipate he will at that time file a writ of habeas corpus in an attempt to be released from the warrant," Kirk said. Ohio's governor, in a hearing there Feb. 15, denied Snyder's request for release from the warrant.

Five separate indictments, a total of 11 counts, were returned against Snyder here Jan. 18 by Mitchell County Grand Jury. Snyder is charged with theft, embezzlement and theft by bailee of property and checks valued at $5,785.36 from Tumbleweed Co. here while he was both president and an employe of the incorporated company.

Mitchell County Sheriff Lewis Claxton leaves today (Sunday) for Cincinnati. He will arrive Monday night, confer with state officials about the case Tuesday and be present at the hearing Wednesday, reported Kirk. He will escort Snyder back to this County if the extradition request is approved.

Communist Seminar Set

A Communist Information Seminar, sponsored by Colorado City Lions Club as part of its American Day project, is scheduled here the first 3 weeks in March.

The seminar described as "a tremendous opportunity" by Lion co-chairmen Dr. R. D. Bridgford and Dr. W. S. (Bill) Rhode, will feature 3 of the nation's most noted speakers in the field.

The seminar is scheduled Wednesday, Mar. 7, Tuesday, Mar. 13, and Tuesday, Mar. 20, in Colorado City High School auditorium. It begins at 7:30 p. m. each of the 3 weeks.

Each speaker will also address the high school's study body the afternoon prior to his talk that night.

Admission is free and the general public is urged to attend.

The initial speaker will be Franklin H. Littell, professor of Church History at Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, in Dallas. He was singled out in 1940 as the "most dangerous youth leader in America" by a full issue of the Communist Youth Weekly. Littell will discuss communism and religion.

Dr. John M. Claunch, member of faculty of the Institute of Management at SMU and a director of the school's Arnold Foundation, will compare democratic and communistic governments.

Arthur A. Smith, vice president and economist of the First National Bank in Dallas and a former SMU professor, will discuss economics and communism.

Lion committeemen for the seminars are Rev. Darris Egger, Charlie Thompson, G. D. Foster, Bill Carter, Austin McCloud, Rick Taylor and Eldon Mahon.

Area Farmers To Attend Labor Meet

Mitchell County will be represented at a public hearing in Midland Wednesday conducted by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Purpose of the hearing is to determine whether the employment of Mexican nationals in Texas may have an adverse effect on domestic workers in the state. A hearing is set in McAllen the same day. The hearing begins at 9 a. m.

Attending from this county will be T. C. Moore, manager of the Mitchell County Farm Association and Edward Roach. Murrell Blassingame and Traxis Turner may also attend, reports Moore.

"I urge all from the county that can go, to go," said Moore, "this is something most important to all county farmers."

Colorado City Chamber of Commerce's Agricultural Committee, J. D. Hill chairman, is planning to sponsor a delegation to the meeting.

Any County farmers and / or Chamber members interested in attending, may make reservations by calling the Chamber at RA 8-3403.

Persons who wish to present written statements on the question may do so by addressing them to the Assistant Secretary of Labor, Jerry R. Holleman, Washington, D. C., on or before Mar. 6, says Moore.

The Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended, prohibits the Secretary of Labor from making Mexican nationals available for employment in the state unless he has determined that domestic workers are not available, that the employment of Mexican nationals will not adversely affect domestic agricultural workers similiarly employed and that reasonable efforts have been made to attract domestic workers at wages and working conditions comparable to those offered to foreign workers.

BURGLARY CHARGE FILED

Pair Arrested In Stolen Car

City and county law enforcement officials ended the travels of 2 out-of-town men here Friday morning — the second time in 2 weeks local officers have arrested 2 non-residents in 1 car.

Two Alabama men were arrested at 2 a. m. Friday by Colorado City Policemen Truman Henderson, Bill Henderson and Dan Pfeuffer, and County Highway Patrolman Wendell Rehm.

They were identified as James Albert Lee, 24, of Greenville, Ala., and Earl Morgan Barber, 22, of Prattville, Ala. The 2 were transfered into the custody of Snyder and Scurry County officials in connection with theft of a car in Snyder.

Following an alert from Big Spring that 2 men in a red 1960 Chevrolet had driven away from a service station in that city without paying for gasoline, the men were arrested here on West U. S. Highway 80. The car they were driving, local officers report, was one stolen in Snyder 2 days earlier.

The auto had been stolen in Snyder and driven to Hobbs, N. M., and El Paso before it was discovered here, officers said.

Just 15 days before, Police Chief Leon Yeager and Sheriff Lewis Claxton arrested 2 men at a service station on west U. S. 80 who were wanted in Jal, N. M., for grand larceny. Yeager's sharp eye and memory of license numbers was credited with the apprehension of that pair.

Charges of burglary were filed here Wednesday in Justice of the Peace T. E. Arnold's court against Cecil Wayne Simon, 26, of Colorado City.

TO CURB NUISANCE

"Operation Dog" Begins Monday

City officials Monday will open a campaign to deter the public nuisance and possible public health hazard of stray dogs, City Manager Earl Keaton reported Saturday.

Numerous calls have come into City Hall in the last few weeks to both Keaton and City Police about stray dogs and the problem arising from the strays.

The dogs may also be carrying sicknesses, reports Keaton. The city at the present time has picked up 4 dogs with possible sicknesses which could include rabies.

Two reports from the State Department of Health in Austin on dogs were negative, he said after the reports were received Saturday. Another dog is now being possessed by the department and the other will be shipped to Austin Monday.

City Health Officer Dr. Seth Cowan reported that the owner of another dog had confined it for observation following an incident where a local man was bitten.

"The campaign," said Keaton, "is to get the dogs off the street — definitely due to the nuisance aspects of strays and, also, because of possible sickness of some of the dogs."

Any dog not properly licensed and tagged will be picked up, he said. Owners of dogs

State Awards Interstate 20 Sign Contract

A $51,941.75 bid for highway signs along Interstate 20 from the west edge of Colorado City West of the Howard County line was awarded to a Lubbock firm Wednesday.

Brown Supply Company was low bidder on the project, reports supervisory resident engineer for the State Highway Department here, Ben R. Wilkinson. The signs will be the "big, bright, luminous" type as seen along toll roads and other interstate highways in the state, he said.

Wilkinson estimated the Lubbock firm would begin operations for placing the signs within the next 30 days. The project is expected to be completed in late Spring.

Present plans by the department are for 2 more contracts for construction in Mitchell County to be let in April or May, he reported.

Contract for construction of FM 1229 from Interstate 20 west of Colorado City to the intersection of State Highway 183 north of Texas Electric Service Company's Morgan Creek Power Plant on Lake Colorado City is the first. Construction will be an approximate 4 miles.

The other, is the contract for a mile extension of FM 1606 northwest of Westbrook. Both projects have a completion date in the Fall of 1962.

IN JOINT CIVIC MEETING

"Brotherhood Up to You" Say Dyess AFB Speakers

"Only you can make Brotherhood work," several hundred local citizens were told Friday by 3 Dyess Air Force officers at the annual Brotherhood Week observance here.

The 3 officers from the Abilene base charged each person attending with his personal responsibility for promoting brotherhood.

Colorado City's civic clubs, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and Kiwanis Club, met in their annual joint session in Civic House for the program.

The speakers, representing the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths, were:

Protestant chaplain Lt. Colonel Marion L. Nelson, Catholic chaplain Captain Thomas D. Holland and Lt. Allan J. Waxman, Dyess local officer representing the Jewish faith.

The trio spoke at Colorado Junior and Senior High Schools Friday afternoon.

Lion Willis Jones, the day's program chairman, introduced Lion Rev. Claude Cogswell who introduced the speakers. H. I. Berman, chairman of, Brotherhood Week in Colorado City, was unable to attend. Kiwanian Berman was instrumental in the formation of the annual program here.

"Brotherhood will make a strong and free America," said Holland, "and only this spirit can overcome communism. In order to be a strong people and nation, we must unite . . . through brotherhood, the union of men!"

Holland concluded, "I encourage each of you to be good, good to each other, so we may have this system, America.

"The test," said Waxman, "is not whether we are brothers, but what are we going to do about it . . . we should not judge by appearances for we are all men and all Americans.

"We are charged with the solemn duty of preserving our institutions and our ideals and this preservation starts in our homes and in our lives," he concluded.

"Faith, Hope and Love are the keys to a united, complete mankind," said Nelson, "for Faith, Hope and Love are brotherhood.

"We are all bound together by Love," he continued, "and only through it can we have real brotherhood.

"This job (brotherhood) is yours and mine," he concluded, "as in the Bible 'except ye repent, ye shall likewise perish.'"

Nitrogen Aids Small Grains

Been wondering how to increase the forage or grain yields of your small grain crop? Buddy Logsdon, Mitchell County Agent, says nitrogen, applied before the plants begin to joint but late enough to avoid the danger of a hard freeze, is the answer.

If the crop has been grazed, much of the available nitrogen has been utilized by the plants and removed by animals. Grain crops need nitrogen at this time to stimulate additional growth for maximum yields, explains Logsdon.

Nitrogen applications also increase the protein levels of grain and in wheat improves the baking quality of the flour.

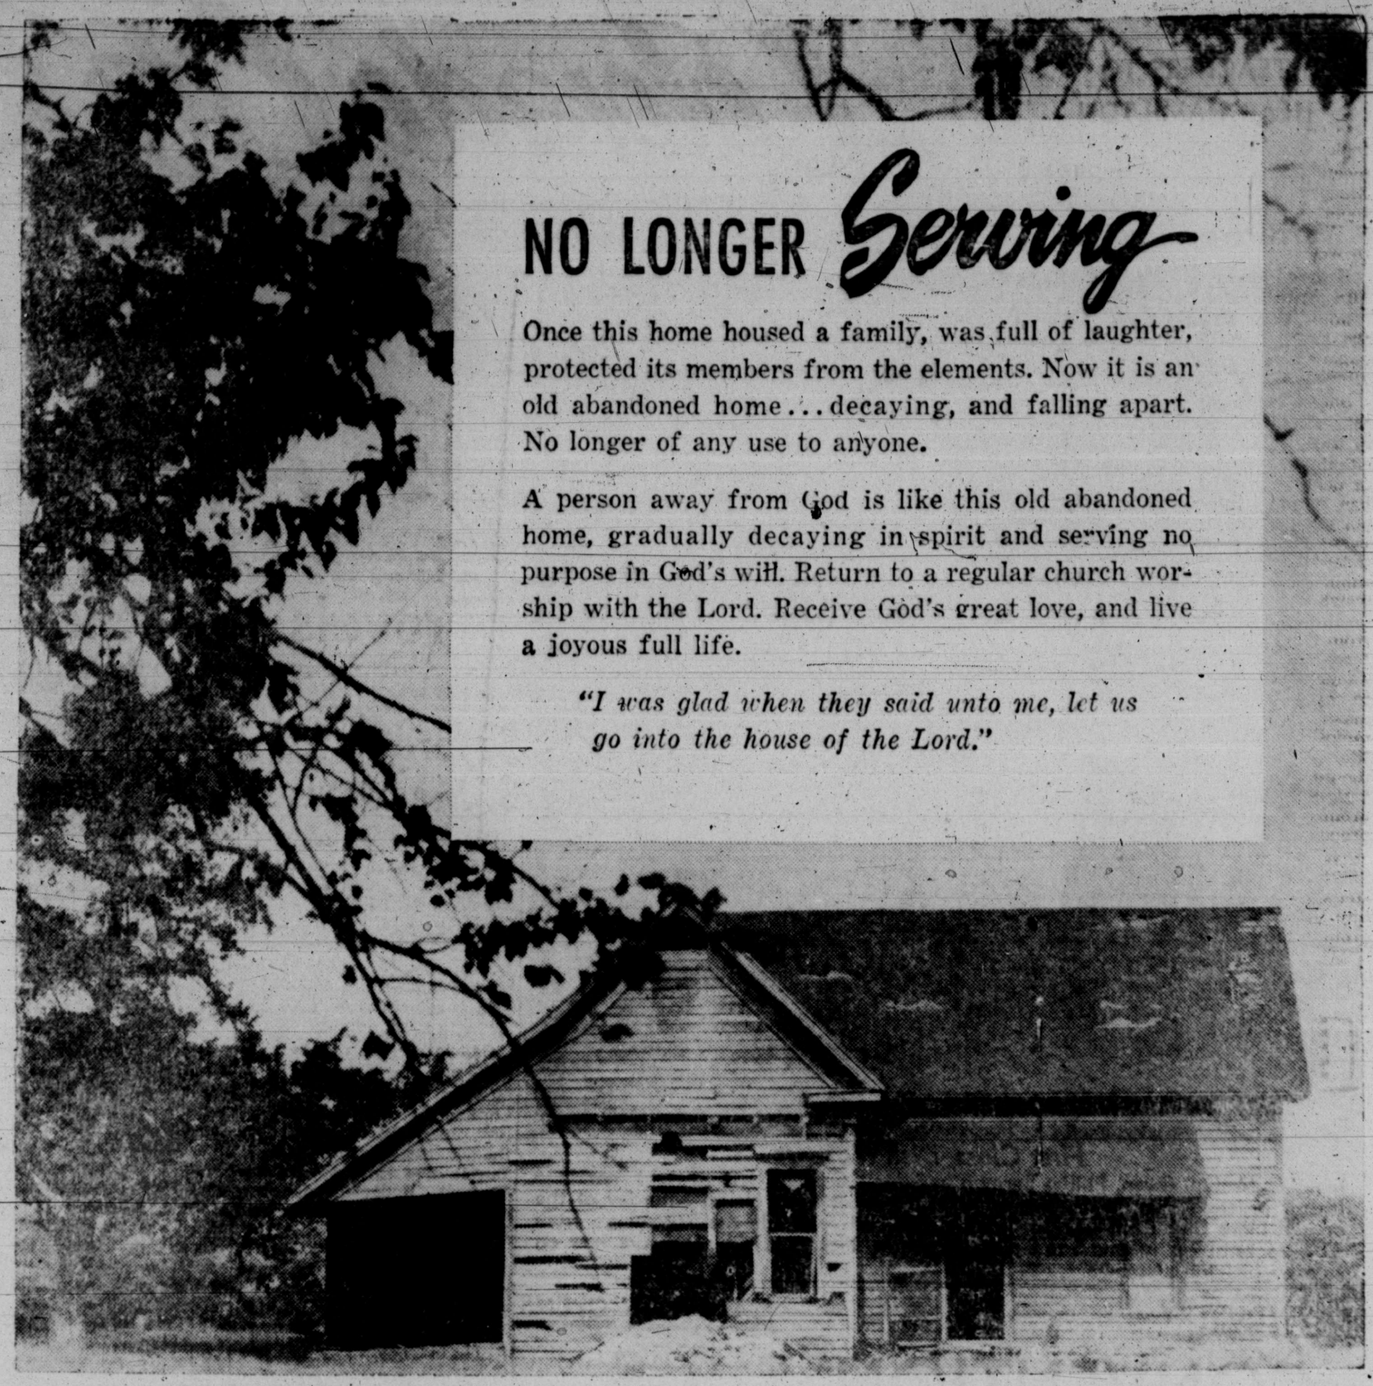

Application rate of 20 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre will usually pay big dividends if moisture is adequate, he concludes.

Rev. Conley Attends Alcoholism Seminar

The vital role a minister can play in the rehabilitation of the alcoholic was discussed last week during a 2-day session for ministers at Lytle Shores Auditorium in Abilene.

Some 25 ministers from Abilene and over the West Central Texas area were present at the meeting including Rev. Alan Conley, pastor of Colorado City's All Saints Episcopal Church.

Theme of the non-denomination seminar was "The Church and the Challenge of Alcoholism." It was sponsored by the council with the assistance of Hardin-Simmons University, McMurry College and Abilene Christian College.

NO LONGER Serving

Once this home housed a family, was full of laughter, protected its members from the elements. Now it is an old abandoned home . . . decaying, and falling apart. No longer of any use to anyone.

A person away from God is like this old abandoned home, gradually decaying in spirit and serving no purpose in God's will. Return to a regular church worship with the Lord. Receive God's great love, and live a joyous full life.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

HESPERIAN STUDY CLUB

"Communication" Topic For Study Club Program

"Communication" was the topic of study for the Friday meeting of the Hesperian Study Club in the conference room of Baker Hotel. Mrs. J. D. White and Miss Mabel Smith were program leaders.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Bennett Scott.

Miss Mable Smith presented the article, "The Use of Propaganda in Shaping Men's Minds."

She said, "In the year, 1938 Mirabeau B. Lamar, governor of Texas, said that a cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy. That statement has steadily increased in importance as the 154 years have passed. If we, as Americans today, cultivated our minds to think, to seek truths and to weigh values, there would be no threat to democracy, either from within or outside. Where force is not used, the communists use an insidious way to control the behavior of the masses by preying upon the minds of the ignorant, the illiterate, the uniformed and the gullible by means of meaningless phrases and complex promises. This is done by propaganda."

"What is propaganda?" Miss Smith asked the group. "Webster's dictionary defines it as any organized or concerted group effort or movement to spread a particular doctrine to give certain information. Another definition is 'a secret or clandestine dissemination of ideas, information, gossip or the like for the purpose of helping or harming a person an institution or a cause.'"

"In short," continued Miss Smith, "propaganda is carried on openly or implied and may be either true or false. It is a substitute for thinking and it is found in all activities in our way of life — political religious, business, advertising and salesmanship. Vance Packard calls this process hidden persuasion. Many times unaware of what is taking place, we buy, give, vote and and speak at the command of the propagandist. But this cannot be done if thinking is present and we begin to ask ourselves: Is it so?; What is the truth?; and What is the value?"

Miss Smith said in closing, "An officer of public relations once said that the stuff with which the propagandist works is the fabric of men's minds. what is done with that fabric depends upon the wisdom and gullibility of the public."

Following Miss Smith's presentation, Mrs. J. D. White spoke on the subject, "Television, Miracle or Monster."

"Major networks are on the air 92 hours a week," began Mrs. White. "It is inescapable that some of those hours should be mediocre. The programming of television stations may be divided into 2 broad categores. They are: (1) programs for home viewing by adults and children on a variety of subjects; (2) programs planned for in-school viewing for total teaching supplemental teaching or enrichment. Some of these stations carry locally-produced college credit courses. Another contribution to education television has been carried on a few stations. That is a series to teach reading and writing to adults who never went to school."

"The joint council on educational broadcasting is made up of associations of land grant colleges, school administrators and others," Mrs. White continued.

"There is a struggle between the commercial stations and educational televison. This is caused by concern about the predominence of violence in movies and television. Some violence or the threat of it, handled with respect for children's sensibilities, has always been an ingredient in good childrens' adventure stories. What parents are most concerned about, however, is the manner in which violence has been made more realistic and shocking by being shown in live action, rather than merely described."

"Justice Allen W. Ashburn of Las Angeles has stated that only instable children who are insecure or otherwise predistined or preconditioned are adversely affected by mass media.," Mrs. White said.

In speaking of the financial profits of television, Mrs. White said, "Some stations gross nine million dollars each year before taxes and make a profit of five million dollars. Television advertising is a very big business. An example of just how big it is: a Chicago advertising agency spent nearly 60 million dollars last year on television advertising for its clients. An estimate of television advertising costs last year amounted to $1,500,000,000."

"The real difficulty of television," Mrs. White said, "has been pinpointed as being the big push to make money instead of working for a medium of expression."

Mrs. White quoted John Frankenheimer, director of television's "Playhouse 90". Frankenheimer has stated that television today is not an art form, but a supermarket. It exists to sell cigarettes, gasoline and lipstick. In the early days, an art form was developing, but then the advertiser realized he could sell more products if he appealed to everybody, instead of just a few.

"Organized groups, such as League of Women Voters, Parent-Teachers Association, church groups, federated study clubs and service clubs all have a responsibility to be alert and vocal on the subject of quality of broadcasting," Mrs. White said. "Parents should determine that their children should see only the best and work in whatever way is open to them to see that they get the bes."

In closing, Mrs. White said, "Television is a miracle that has been allowed to become corrupted in the market place. Democracy in action can restore this miracle to its place of honor in our society."

The meeting was attended by the following: Mmes. Arthur Barry, J. E. Hale, E. M. Majors, Raymond Perdue, J. A. Salder, Scott, O. L. Simpson, C. C. Thompson, J. W. Watson, White, Sam Thompson, C. E. Cogswell and Miss Smith.

Guests present for the meeting were: Mrs. Jim Hale of Colorado City and Mrs. Bob Moore of Lamesa.

Favor your Fabrics

by MRS. ANNE STERLING
Director of Consumer Education for the American Institute of Laundering

Glove Glamour—Some of the new soft fabric gloves can add real dash to your costume. To keep them looking their best, wash gloves on the hands in lukewarm water with plenty of mild suds. Rinse in warm water, roll in a towel and dry at room temperature. For a charming finishing touch, add a few drops of your favorite cologne to the rinse water. For dust-free storage, a pliofilm bag used by many laundries for packaging is ideal.

Wash-Wear Whitener—Wash and wear articles that have become yellow through home bleaching can sometimes be improved by using powdered color remover sold with packaged dyes. Follow the manufacturers' directions and remember, use bleach sparingly—not at all when the garment label advises against it.

Velvet Touch—Velvet is making a well-deserved comeback. To help keep its luxurious look, place on the ironing board, pile-side up, cover with a damp cloth and steam slowly and lightly (barely making contact with the press cloth). Brush gently and hang with nothing touching the surface.

Wool Squeeze Test—A simple test for wool quality is squeezing the article in the hand. If it feels smooth and springy, you can be pretty sure it's good. As a general rule, 100% virgin wool is the best. Reprocessed wool (spun but never used) and reclaimed (used) wool can make very serviceable articles, particularly when mixed with other fibers. To make sure of what you're getting, look at the label. The law requires an exact statement of content.

Pet Pointer—If the blame for that wet spot on your carpet points to Fido or Fluffy, try this: Blot up the excess moisture with tissues, sprinkle the area with table salt and let dry. Remove the salt with your vacuum cleaner, then sponge the spot with detergent and water. Blot immediately.

Fruit Stains—Most fruit stains require professional care, but if they're not too extensive you might try this: stretch the stained area over a bowl, secure with a rubber band, and pour boiling water through from a height of one to three feet. (Don't use this treatment unless you're sure the garment is washable and absolutely colorfast.) Use the same method for coffee stains, finishing with a bleach solution of one part drugstore hydrogen peroxide to three parts water. Professional laundries remove some stains in a similar manner.

Tips and Tricks—Rust stains on rugs are no job for the amateur. But for very small spots, try sprinkling with salt and moistening with lemon juice.... Pillow cases should be bought two inches wider and 10 inches longer than the pillow to avoid stain....For meat-juice stains, soak in cold water before laundering (Hot water may set stain).

HOME TOWN

Talk

By PEGGY BELVIN

Flags are whipping in the wind and cannons are being fired at this writer's household this week. The family son is finally home from . . . BOOT CAMP.

This may not seem such an outstanding feat to those outside the family fold, but when a family is made up of seven girls and one boy . . . there's only one to go marching off proudly bearing the family name.

So . . . off amid tears from 16 female eyes, left the prodigal son some 4 months ago.

But, the sorrow of leave-taking is almost compensated for in the joy of homecoming. Straight and tall in the starched uniform stands what is fondly known as "MY LITTLE BROTHER," though he be only slightly shorter than 6 feet tall and outweighs all other members of the family by quite a few pounds.

Though his battle scars are only slight (nicks from an automatic potato-peeler received on Kitchen Patrol), he is beyond doubt the unchallenged hero of that family.

But though he is now in the service of our own UNCLE SAM, many are the memories of his service to a household of women.

No one else could ever quite fix the doll's head back on right or mend a teddy bear's missing eye. And many times did the female members marvel at the strength of the shoulders that bowed under the strain of pulling a red wagon loaded with sisters.

Our country is strong and unapproachable . . . and it is kept that way by all the nation's "LITTLE BROTHERS."

Mrs. F. Winn Is Guest At Meeting

Mrs. Francis Winn was guest at the Thursday meeting of the Plainview Home Demonstration Club. The club met in the home of Mrs. Swann Taylor.

Mrs. Winn was welcomed by Mrs. Taylor, club president. Mrs. Taylor called the meeting to order and led the opening prayer.

Roll was called by Mrs. J. V. Bolin, Jr., who also presented the treasurer's report. The members discussed the purchase of an Easter gift for a patient at the State Institute in Austin.

The secretary was instructed to send money for various expenses to the County Home Demonstration treasurer. These expenses include THDA dues, yearbook, scholarship fund and the Tumbleweed Beauty Pageant entry fee.

Mrs. Henry Vaught presented a short summary on Civil Defense.

Mrs. Taylor instructed each member to prepare an exhibit for the Education Expansion and Exhibits Tea, which is scheduled for May.

Mrs. Bolin presented the program on "Low-Cost Meals." She pointed out that nutritious meals can be planned for very little money if advance planning is practiced. She demonstrated with a low-cost meal she had prepared, consisting of chicken spaghetti, cabbage slaw and baked custard.

The meal was served with angel food cake, coffee and punch to Mrs. Winn and the following members:

Mmes. S. J. Moser, Emmett Banks, Vaught, Sam Thompson, Robert Chambers, Bill Head, Bolin and Taylor.

USE TAX GUIDE

Depreciation and Farmers' Taxes

Depreciation takes its toll from farm machinery, buildings and other farm investments every year. It's just simple economics that capital goods lose value as they age.

There is a bright spot, however, because farmers can deduct this depreciation from their income tax, says Mitchell County Agent Buddy Logsdon.

All farmers, whether they complete their own tax returns or provide information to an accountant for filing, should study the choices on depreciation available to them. A copy of the 1962 Farmers Tax Guide, which may be obtained from Logsdon's office, provides an explanation of the alternatives available. The discussion in Chapter 9 of the Guide explains how each of these choices can affect the amount of tax to be paid in a particular year.

A rather recent change in the tax law allows what is called Additional First Year Depreciation. This is a flat 20 per cent deduction allowed the first year on personal property used in farming, or business, provided the assets have a useful life of 6 or more years. The total amount on which this deduction can be taken is $10,000 on a single tax return, or 20,000 on a joint return, explains Logsdon.

For computing regular year to year depreciation the farmer has a choice of 3 different methods. If the Straight Line Method is used, the farmer subtracts a reasonable salvage value from the cost of the asset, and then divides the remainder by the number of years of estimated useful life. This gives the annual depreciation allowance, which is the same amount every year.

Under the Declining Balance Method, the rate of depreciation on new assets is double the rate used in straight line method. For example, on a tractor having 10-year life, the depreciation is computed by taking 20 per cent of the cost as the first year's allowance. This is then subtracted from the cost and 20 per cent of the remainder is the second year's allowance, Logsdon points out. No salvage value is required under the Declining Balance Method since there is a "remainder" after 10 years deductions.

The farmer's choice of the Declining Balance Method of other fast write-off on an asset would depend on his need of larger deductions. For example, in a year of unusually good income, a tractor, combine or other asset bought could be placed on this method, thereby doubling the depreciation.

Conversely, if the year's income is small, any asset bought could be placed on the Straight Line Method, thereby holding the depreciation to the lowest possible level.

Farmers should also remember that depreciation may be taken on breeding stock. It should be claimed on those animals that are purchased at a cost considerably above what they will bring when disposed of, he suggests.

It is believed that many farmers can manage to claim larger deductions on their business assets, thus reducing their tax obligation, says Logsdon. Get a copy of the 1962 Farmers Tax Guide from my office and study the choices you have in claiming this important business deduction, he suggest.

Farm Records Are Essential For Success

Good farm records are essential for a successful operation, says Buddy Logsdon, Mitchell County Agent.

Records provide the proof of past performance and they are an indication of the potential of a given farm, farm manager and the technology used.

Proper records will allow the farmer to compare one enterprise with another and they are very important when the farmer wants to combine enterprises. An analysis of a good set of records will point out the strong and weak points of the business and they are also handy to have around when it comes time to file income tax.

The type of record book or system you use depends on what you want your records to do for you, says Logsdon. The minimum record should include an inventory of land, building, equipment, livestock and supplies; all expenses grouped by kind; all income received; and use and production of crops and livestock; and a place to summarize the year's operation. The more details the record shows the more valuable it will be.

This is a good time to get your records for 1962 started, and it is also a good time to study last year's records to determine if any changes need to be made, he says.

It is easier to keep good records if you have a special place to work. Entries should be made as soon as they occur or as soon thereafter as possible, Logsdon advises.

If you need help in setting up your records or in analyzing your old ones, see Logsdon at Mitchell County Court House. He can start you on the road to good records.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

THIS WEEK Sunday magazine, in a "Words To Live By" article by author Merla Zellerbach, quotes Samuel Butler as warning "The man who lets himself be bored is even more contemptible than the bore."

Mrs. Zellerbach urges "No one needs to be bored . . . Your mind is like a smorgasbord. Variety is there—you have but to help yourself."

SMORGASBORD is Swedish for tempting foods served in what most of us call buffet style. Smorgasbord mental menus? Why not? There's a bit of the ham in nearly everybody from play-pen to platform rocker . . . There's some apple sauce in most of us . . . Good egg instincts, too . . . A few scattered sour grapes which only make for mental indigestion, so are to be sparingly tasted or skipped altogether . . . And there's the welcome, warm milk of human kindness. The Bible calls it "charity," translated by some teachers as "love."

AGREE with the author's idea that life is more exciting if you aren't bored. "The person who dares is as exciting to himself as to others," she concludes.

Challenge, however, her declaration that "nothing is impossible if you dare"

CONFESSIONS of a dare-and-don't-dame : Never could learn to roller skate no matter who thought what . . . Never could finish reading "Pilgrim's Progress" no matter what teachers, parents, and inner conscience chose . . . Never met a sewing machine that couldn't get the best of any argument in nothing flat . . . Never could learn to play golf, to dive, or float. Rate expert at sinking feet first : . . . Never could make pie-crust until the packaged kind came along . . . And never, never could acquire the Liz Taylor look for this season. Or any other season you care to name. Mind over matter has certain unconquerable limitations. And that, kind friends, is that! How about the latter-day Ann Sothern look? Or Joan Blondell?

FURTHERMORE, though we'd listen, read and think from now till doomsday, would never know a frazzlin' thing about math, science, atomic energy, the space age, or why in the name of Deuteronomy anybody wants to go to the moon. Some of us haven't even been to Niagara Falls.

HAVE BEEN hither, thither, and yon in the old home-town since the weather decided to be June in February. Swapped hellos with that good-looking youngish couple, the Ross Hargroves . . . Swapped greetings, too, with a C. City favorite, Daisy Gunn (Mrs. Herb) of the sunny disposition . . . Saw Mildred Layendera (Mrs. Lee) wearing a becoming shade of royal blue . . . Attractive Mrs. Kenneth Cowan . . . Mrs. E. S. Miles, Ruth Aichart, likeable Wyone Jameson (Mrs. Myrle) and a cute mother-daughter duo, Virginia and Christi Turner, best gals of John . . . Sighted too, Mrs. Paul Stewart and her daughter Janice who is Mrs. Doyle Harmon of Andrews and spent last weekend here. Luna and Henry Bilberry had daughter Judy, Ssnh at OU, home for the week-end, too. So did the Ed Rothwells whose son Charles Mack is also a sophomore at Norman.

DOWN ECHO LANE — friends here were glad to hear "It's a boy!" for Fred and Elsie Ann Ramsdell Scalfe of Baltimore . . . Heard somebody say that one of our all-time favorite Presbyterian preachers, Charles Brinkley, and his family were here last week visiting friends and church members. The Erinkleys live in Kermit now.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS brought greetings from J. A. Sadler Jr. and that puzzlement about what to call him. He was just "Junior" when first we met, back when he was in fifth grade, taught by Eunice Locker, J. V. Glover, Alwida Crosthwaite, Lea Swope, and Hayes Holman.

Hesitate to say "Hi, Junior" to that dignified, prematurely grey, staunch city employe he is now, yet reluctant to bow a "Mister" which, etiquet book or no etiquet book, sounds mighty formal for somebody you knew in knee-pants. Settled for "Hi." And another to his coffee companion Mrs. Ben Hodges of our police station office.

P. S. COME TO THINK of it, if a mind really is like a smorgasbord, how come any woman ever get bored? Mostly, we change our minds as often as our make-up, and oftener than we change the family dinner menu. Which, of course, is one unchangeable way the exciting and exitable female of the species is more lively than the male.

SNYDER . . .

Apparently the extradition request will be granted, said Kirk, if all legal requirements have been met.

Should Snyder be returned here, Kirk continued, bond would be set by 32nd District Judge. The bond was not set earlier due to the fact Snyder was not in custody of local officials.

Snyder was arrested approximately 2 months ago in Cincinnati on a fugitive warrant issued from Kirk's office on the compliaints filed by the present owners of Tumbleweed Co.

Claxton is expected back in Colorado City late Friday.

Kirk also reported that Betty Williams, a former employe of Tumbleweed Co. who was indicted on 2 counts of theft by bailee by the same Grand Jury that indicted Snyder, was presently being held in West Virginia under bond.

Miss Williams came here from Cincinnati in 1960 and was employed by Tumbleweed Co. for several months. She was a resident only during her employment by Tumbleweed Co.

Kirk has made application for extradition of Miss Williams, he reports. The application has been approved by the Texas Attorney General's office and now will be forwarded to West Virginia, he said.

Miss Williams, who declined to waive extradition, will appear at a hearing there in the near future on the request from Mitchell County.

Miss Williams is alleged to have taken property valued at $340.80 from Tumbleweed Co.

Simon is charged in connection with the burglary of Wayne Griffin Truck Stop, east U. S. Highway 80, here in late January when $211 was taken from the firm's cash register.

Bond was set at $2,500 and Simon is being held in Mitchell County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Warsaw is a city in Poland. Warsaw also is the name of a fish— a huge deep-sea fish that moves in, around the offshore banks, during January, February and March.

A member of the giant sea bass family, this fish will range from "babies" of 30 to 40 pounds, to "gramps" of 200 to 300 pounds.

These fish are the "extra added attractions" to the Texas Gulf coast's red snapper fishing during the cold weather months.

Actually warsaw can be caught the year around, but getting to them in the summer means a long, long boat ride. The fish move to the banks near shore only in the winter.

Close banks are those 20 to 40 miles offshore. During the summer the fish are caught in much deeper water at the banks 70 to 150 miles out.

The warsaw doesn't have game-fish qualities. No leaping or surface cavorting like a tarpon or sailfish; no reel singing runs of a kingfish.

But the warsaw appeals to thousands of fishermen — sports and professionals alike — it's a fish that will stock your freezer with choice eating for months to come.

Commercial fishermen go after the big warsaw with nylon hand-lines testing 200 pounds. They're in the business of selling fish and aren't concerned with fighting the fish. They're in a hurry to deck the brute and then try for a second, third and so fourth.

Some commercial fishermen have regular warsaw reels which they slip into sockets on the boat's rails. They call them "bicycle reels." That is exactly what they resemble— crank handles, sprocket chain drive and all. Other fishermen use small deck winches to do the job.

Most sports fishermen, however, prefer to battle the warsaw with rod and reel. They may miss the leaps and long runs of game-fish, but they can count on a warsaw giving them a real tug-of-war.

Most popular warsaw bait is a big sand trout, or a small red snapper — a two or three pounder. The sinker usually weighs a pound. You need that much weight to reach bottom in 50 or 60 feet of water if there is any kind of current running.

Warsaws don't make sudden strikes, so you don't have to be prepared for a sudden jolt. Instead the fish sort of "inhales" the bait, and then starts to swim back toward its den or hole in the coral formations.

Your first job is to turn the fish, keep it from getting back into the hole. It means putting a tremendous strain on the rod. If the fish gets back in the hole, you'll probably lose it since the sharp coral will cut the line.

Once you get the fish moving up, he's yours unless you goof and give him sufficient slack line to dive.

If you get the fish halfway up, he's generally licked for the change in water pressure will cause his stomach to burst and render him helpless. He'll come up quick then. All that remains is to slip a rope through his mouth and gills and haul him aboard.

You need large hooks and a long wire lead as terminal tackle. Your rod and reel should be of the big-game variety.

Some sportsmen beat the work of having to reel in the fish by using electric reels. Most charter boats running bank trips have electrical outfits for such reels.
