SENATE ARGUES THEN RULES IT SPECIAL ORDER

"PEANUT POLITICS" AND KLAN CHARGES ARE HURLED AT LOVE

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 14.—(By Associated Press)—The Senate today argued the anti-Ferguson bill and then ruled it a special order of business. The bill was introduced by Senator Love of Dallas, author of the bill, started the debate when he attempted to have the bill brought up as a special order at three this afternoon. Senator Fairchild of Lufkin moved that the bill be tabled subject to a call. This motion lost 13 to 12. Senator Love, after amending his motion to call the measure up as a special order tomorrow declared that he was supporting the measure, not because of "peanut politics," but because of the 69,000 voters whom he represents in the anti-Ferguson bill.

Klan Charge Heard

"He was elected through the influence that he could bring to bear, and through the dignity offered him by the Ku Klux Klan, after a campaign on the amnesty bill," Senator Fairchild charged in reply "if you pass this bill the whole question will be thrown back to the position it occupied after the impeachment and vindication will again be an issue."

Senator Holbrook of Galveston charged that the bill if passed would only ram powder into "Jim Ferguson's political gun."

Senator Pollard of Tyler, then made a substitute motion that the bill come up as a proposed constitutional amendment were disposed of by the senate and the motion was passed. There are at least nine such measures to be acted upon before the amnesty bill is reached.

OTHERS INTERESTED ARE GIVEN WARNING AFTER MASKED ATTACK

(By Associated Press)

DENVER, Feb. 14.—(By Associated Press)—A leader in student affairs at Denver University and vice president of the Thinkers association, today was confined to a hospital here following a severe flogging last night by five masked men.

Batchelor, also president of the sophomore class, said the men told him they beat him because the association arranged a debate on marriage between Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Denver juvenile court, and Dr. Burris Jennings, pastor of the Linwood Methodist Christian church of Kansas City.

Batchelor also was informed that two other members of the association had been threatened. Morris M. Grupp, an attorney, president of the association, told authorities he received a telephone call shortly after Batchelor was flogged threatening him with similar punishment unless the debate, scheduled for February 22, was cancelled.

Miss Margaret Barlow, secretary of the association, said she also had received a telephone call warning her to expect a beating if the meeting was held.

Punishment a "Sample"

Batchelor told officers he was seized while enroute to the home of fiancée. He said the men carried him to an automobile and drove swiftly for several minutes. After warning him that his punishment was only a sample of what would follow if the debate was permitted, he was beaten until he lost consciousness. He was left in a ditch by a highway near Edgewater, a suburb.

The Thinkers association was organized ten days ago after the Denver university students voted to cancel an address by Judge Lindsey because of his debate on present day marriage with Rev. Burris Jenkins, Kansas City divine, is not to their liking, modeled "overriding" in Denver which flogged one youth and sent warnings to others who have been supporting the famous jurist in his contentions. The debate will be held according to schedule. Judge Lindsey and Reverend Jenkins indicated after the whipping.

CONSTERNATION IS FELT FOR CONTRACTS IN LUBBOCK COUNTY

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 14.—At its first hearing, the state highway commission announced Monday that during the fiscal year ending August 31, 1927, no state aid will be available for new projects, unless the legislature augments the revenues by an increased gasoline tax.

The commission's statement: "The commission has been engaged principally in making an examination and survey of the department and its operation with a view of ascertaining the conditions of affairs."

Income Exhausted

"This investigation so far discloses that the entire income of the department for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1927, which will be available for state aid will be entirely taken up by contracts entered into by our predecessors, and that as is generally known, all future federal aid is suspended until the condition of the federal aided roads are brought up to a reasonable state of maintenance. So that apparently the commission will have no funds with which to begin new projects or new work during this fiscal year, except as its income may be augmented by the passage by the legislature of an increased tax on gasoline."

Requests Are Pouring In

Notwithstanding that they probably can not be granted at present, requests for state aid in highway work poured into the first meeting of the new commission. Representative H. C. Webb and others of the counties interested asked the commission to order the re-surfacing of 125 miles of the Bankhead highway from Abilene to El Paso.

If Your Face Costs $15—Bury It!

Expert Says There is Not One Perfect Face in U. S. But Shows Good One Procurable For Ten Cents

By NEA Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—There's not a perfect face in America and there's no face worth having that should cost more than $15 a year in upkeep. This is the very professional judgment and estimate of one V. E. Meadows, captain and first aid to the hurry up squad which serves the masses of patchy-skinned out of this city with a territory extending from coast to coast. Until recently Meadows was an actor over the forms and contours of Hollywood. It was on his way to principally that many a face aspiring to the lights and camera of that cinema village either made the grade or was rejected. Meadows has studied faces for 25 years. They have been his hobby and professional passion. And now Meadows has gone into business for himself to solve the intricate and delicate problems of dowager and debutante alike.

Calls to All States

He rallies forth out of here on some of the strangest missions imaginable. One call will take him to Maine to tone up the facial muscles of a proud woman about to bring out her daughter at a fashionable party and another one will take him into Florida to paint whiskers on the bald spots of a movie man's face. Meadows says that any aspirant after the kind of skin that loves to be touched can come into her own on a dime. The dime he prescribes shall be used for the purchase of ten cents worth of Epsom salts. Mix three table spoons every night to two quarts of warm water and bathe the face in the solution. The perfect face is a perfect oval but even natural perfection can be enhanced by just the proper care and treatment and this is how it is done: "First—bathe the face in good cold water and use the soap liberally. "Second—dry and apply a powder foundation. This is an oily base. Spread it evenly and thin. Don't wipe it off. "Third—put on rouge. Color an area surrounding the high point of the face which is usually the cheekbones, about the size of a quarter. Spread the rouge with water above and below the high point to an area about the size of the palm of the hand. "Fourth—shadow the eye underneath with a shadow cream which is the same color as the color of the eye. "Fifth—put on powder—don't rub it off. "Six—brush off powder with a camel's hair brush. "Seven—color the eyelashes with mascara. "Eight—shape the eyebrow with eyebrow pencil. "Ninth—shape the lips. (Don't use lipstick because it has mercury in it, not a harmful substance, but giving less perfect results. Use pomade instead.) "Tenth—match the coloring of the neck and face, something which 90 per cent of all women neglect. The substance used for this purpose is called a whiter, but it is not white. It matches the color of the powder used." Meadows, who has been retained

Bad Eating is Cause

This will remove wrinkles and eruptions from the common garden variety of affliction common known as blackheads to the ailments caused from injudicious eating. Meadows guarantees. "Most American women look like savages bent on the war path when they emerge from the boudoir imagining themselves the apotheosis of beauty," he says. "The whole fault lies in the indiscriminate use of cosmetics, too much cosmetics and not the right kind. No woman's face should cost her more than $15 a year at the outside and most of them can get along on $10 without even half trying. "Women should remember that if they will only clothe their faces just as they clothe their bodies they won't have much trouble. "Leave Fancy Stuff Alone "And leave the fancy preparations alone. There is nothing in the world that can peel, tone or build up the face by external use with safety. Health is the foundation of all beauty and cleanliness—cleansing of soap and water—is one of the best aids for promoting health that I know of. "While it is true that there is no perfect face in America, yet every woman has her good and bad points of facial beauty. We call this the high spot. It may be a nose, her eyes, or even an ear. But whatever it is, the woman should build around it, accentuate it and thus diminish her bad points by contrast.

Have a Yellow Tint

This is because she has what is known as a "yellow come through." A "come through," Meadows explains, is the dominating complexion hue or pigmentation. Dark types have yellow, and light types may run to mauve or purple. About 90 per cent of all women are yellow "come throughs," he says. "They should use a powder made up of a combination of cream, lavender, green, amber or yellow. Red heads take their powder cue not from their complexion or "come through" but from their hair. Brown is their requirement. Exceptionally light types run to pink, mauve, gray or shell pink combinations. And Meadows wants it emphatically understood that new faces for old are impossibilities. "All anyone can do is freshen up and hold back the imperfections as much as possible by showing up the good points in contrast," he says. "And, by all means, clothe the face at all times. It's the lack of clothing that makes a face sick. And any face worth having that costs more than $15 a year to keep covered, just isn't worth keeping."

MALONEY AND DELANEY SETTLE DOWN TO LAST OF TRAINING

BOTH BATTLERS WILL BE READY AT FIRST GONG

MALONEY'S WEIGHT WILL GIVE HIM EDGE, IS FANS' BELIEF

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A turbulent week is ahead of Jimmy Maloney and Jack Delaney. The two colorful stars of Tex Richard's heavyweight elimination series are fitting themselves for the ten round classic at the indoor season at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

New York boxing commission has decided to acquit the light heavyweight title holder with the regulations of the commission governing champions boxing out of their divisions. Delaney must weigh 175 pounds, the limit of his class, on the afternoon of the match or there will be no fight, the commission has ruled. Daniel H. Kiting, deputy of the commission, went to Delaney's camp at Bridgeport, Conn. today. He will report Delaney's present weight to the commission.

Maloney is heavier. Maloney's advantage in weight figures prominently in discussions of the coming fray. Supporters of the Boston battler, who already have thrown close to $500,000 into the warring marts at quoted odds of 5 to 6, are frank in the belief that Maloney's 25 pound advantage will turn the tide in his favor.

Maloney, a bruising slugger with both hands, has worked at his long branch, N. J. camp for the past week to perfect short hooks to the body, a style of hitting that he hopes will keep Delaney constantly on the defensive with little chance to employ his crafty, devastating attack. Delaney's speed as a puncher, the accuracy of his crushing right hand attack, and the general improvement in the light heavyweight champion's health and strength in the past few months will offset Maloney's weight advantage, Delaney's backers believe.

Twelve Hits High Total In Series

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Despite the fact that 23 world series battles have been staged between the two major leagues, only three batsmen over that long period of time have succeeded in making as many as 12 hits in any of the classes.

Bristling Battles of Bare Fist Days

(Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)
About this time Mayor McLaughlin, a millionaire sportsman out in California, and Jimmy Carroll, boxing instructor at the California Athletic club, got hold of Bob Fitzsimmons, who was going well in Australia. They were still sore and had sworn they would get even with Jack Dempsey and me. They got their revenge on Dempsey, all right, but never got me—in fact, I plastered Carroll all over his club house ring and finally knocked him out, as I told you before. I had been tipped off that Fitz was a great fighter and when Dempsey was matched with him I went to Jack and told him so. "You know," he said "that no green, or can beat me."

Fitz was nursed along carefully and was not shown in public more and when the terms for their famous fight was being considered Dempsey confidently wanted the winner to take all. Fitz insisted on the winner getting $500 and then Dempsey was convinced that Fitz was not too sure of winning.

Fitz trained at Bay St. Louis, La., with Jimmy Carroll handling him and while I never hit Carroll, in fairness I must write he was a good trainer. Fitz was guarded so closely none of us could get a line on him and Dempsey had never seen him till they stepped into the ring. Tom Maher and I were Dempsey's seconds and when we got one look at Fitz, who towered over Jack, having weight, height and reach and that added to the fact that Dempsey had not trained hardly at all, we knew we were sunk if Fitz hit a heart.

From the second round on there was no question about the outcome. Dempsey was terribly beaten round after round and even Fitz was asking him to quit. Between rounds we would ask him to let us throw in the sponge as he was out of condition and had all the odds against him. "No," he said, "I'll take it and when I go, I'll go like a man."

Says:

Great Outfield
The signing of Tris Speaker by Washington, to my way of thinking, gives that club the best outfield in the majors.

Still Has Class
Tris Speaker has stowed up some, of course, but is far from being through. I don't know how many more years he intends to play. I have heard only one, but he could probably step along in his league style for three more seasons if he cared to.

Gaslin Has Improved
When Gaslin joined the Washington club, he was one of the worst outfielders I have ever seen break into the majors. Whenever he started after a fly ball, I feared for his safety.

Call Rice Man o' War
Sam Rice, the other member of the trio, is one of the truly great outfielders of the game. There is a polish to his play that makes difficult catches look easy.

NOT SO IMPRESSIVE
Mickey Walker as middleweight champion is not nearly so imposing a titleholder as when he hoisted the welterweight class. It would occasion no great surprise if Walker dropped the title to the first classy boy that faced him.

Graham Starts Jaunt HE'S DRIVING GOLF BALL To The Pacific Coast

(By Associated Press)
MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 14.—The steady chug and click of "Doc" Graham's driver and the call of his volunteer caddy, "Happy" Kirby, today had succeeded the cheery call of 100 admirers who sped him from Mobile yesterday on his project to drive a golf ball to California.

Graham has thus far zig zaged a twenty mile course through a sea of mud. He went steadily forward yesterday until darkness halted his progress. No count has been reported as to how many of his estimated 1,500,000 strokes the Alabama sportsman has consumed in the day's advance toward Los Angeles.

The new operator will have a "silent partner," whose identity was not announced by Gear, except to say he is a St. Joseph man.

Minor Leaguers To Oppose Major Draft

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—The American association today rejected the proposed major-minor baseball leagues agreement on the draft. The vote of disapproval was 7 to 1. Under the proposed amendment, the major leagues had offered to increase the price of class A players from $5,000 to $7,500.

Hitting Sports Highspots With James R. Dow

One dozen Matadors hit the blasted trail this morning with nothing more than the "Barlow" taste. Heap big "Barlow" will no doubt feel the sharpened stiletto during the floor battle this evening.

Couch Grady Higginbotham has but little to say about the game with the Burtonmen this evening. All that I could get out of him was that "we have as many players on the floor as they have."

The stubborn defense that the Matadors are capable of putting up will be the greatest asset the Tech crew will have against the Buffs. Wily Percy "Randsome Ransome" Walker and Captain Dennis Vinsant caring for this the flashy clad Scarlet and Black tossers will likely keep down the huge pile up of counters as have been registered recently on the Teacher's court.

The Avalanche-Journal publications are ready and willing to go as far as anyone in backing a baseball organization for this city. Lubbock and the South Plains are faced with the loss of Sled Allen, for the past five years the leader of the Hubber forces and the well known "daddy" of baseball on the South Plains. We are ready for any suggestions from any interested fan in solving this problem. Come to the Avalanche-Journal office and tell us your plans—let's all get together and get another champion club together.

Friday and Saturday of this week seventeen clubs of the Lubbock Intercollegiate League of Texas will gather to the assembly hall of the Tech. for the district tournament. Champions of the following counties will be here: Andrews, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Dickens, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Terry, Garza, Scurry, Gaines, and Borden. Think there won't be plenty of basketball when there will be?

HOPPE RESTING FOR NEXT TILT

To Meet Young Jake Schaefer Tuesday Night For Crown Of All Billiardists

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Willie Hoppe who successfully defended his 18.2 balk line billiard championship against Walker Cochran in Boston last week, rested today for his special 3,000 point 18.1 match with Jake Schaefer with opens here tomorrow. Although Schaefer defeated Hoppe for the 18.1 title last year, both players have agreed that the 18.1 crown shall not be at stake.

Sponsors for the match contended that Hoppe had forfeited his title by failure to defend it for ten years prior to meeting Schaefer. The men had signed for a championship match but changed the articles and substituted a $1,000 side bet. The match will be played in ten blocks of 300 points each.

Hoppe brought his title defense against Cochran to a close Saturday night with a decisive margin of 1500 to 1315.

defense, will bear the burden of the scoring for the scantily clad "bull-fighters." The reserve strength of the flashy jersey crew will consist of: George "Buck" Weaver, center; Clifford "Red" Dean, center; Melvern Hunter, forward or guard; Smythe, guard; Peterson, a forward; Reeves, forward; Teague, guard.

One of the greatest crowds ever to throng in the Buff gymnasium for this evening and tomorrow evening. It is the two state institutions of the Panhandle vying for highest distinction in athletic competition. Many of the teachers ex-students have been waiting for these games and will no doubt be present for one of the two contests.

The claim of Mrs. Mary Jane Thompson, 99, Strabane, Ireland, for an old age pension, was supported by John Blue, who said he was 102.

Ruth's Home Run Record Sets Big Mark For Rivals

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—When Babe Ruth made three home runs in one game of the 1926 world series against the St. Louis Cardinals, he topped off his remarkable career as the greatest slugger baseball has ever seen, probably ever will.

Ruth has really spent only 4 years as a regular outfielder, having pitched prior to 1919, so since that time he has made 256 home runs, almost 45 per season.

Against Detroit he made more home runs than any other club, 66, largely because Cobb insisted on having his twirlers pitch to him, with disconcerting results.

Ruth, aside from holding the home run record with 59, has the honor of having 8 world series circuit drives to his credit, including the unusual feat of three in one game and has made 7 home runs during his career with the bases filled.

The slugger who tops the feats of Babe Ruth certainly has his work cut out for him.

BASEBALL BUGS

Willie Hoppe, champion at 18.2 billiards, and Walter Hagen, world's greatest golfer, both are baseball bugs. Each would prefer to be Walter Johnson, greatest pitcher, than premier billiardist or golfer.

The Place That Ideals Hold

A number of rather notable things have taken place in our country during the past decade. Among them is the strange change that has come over the little band of serious thinkers who once were so active in urging assorted kinds of political and social reform.

So marked has this tendency been that even The Nation, a magazine of, by and for "liberals," recently ran a series of articles on the question: "What has become of the pre-war radicals?"

The answers were interesting. Through most of them there ran a thread of comment something like this: "The people aren't capable of following great causes. We have given up the fight because it is impossible to get anywhere by appealing to the 'better nature' of the average man. Folks are too selfish and too indifferent to give themselves to the service of ideals."

That would be rather sad if it were true. But we would like to suggest that it is not.

There is no mistake more tragic than putting too low an estimate on the average man's capacity for self-sacrificing service. The truth of the matter is that the world's leaders have never yet had the vision to call fully and freely on mankind's spiritual energy.

Hold even the most tarnished ideal up before men and if it has in it any portion of truth, they will flock to your standard in droves. What, do you suppose, led two million men to die on the battlefields of Europe between 1914 and 1918? Iron army discipline? Not at all.

Dimly and blindly these men felt that they were giving themselves to something bigger and finer than their own selfish ends. They responded in amazing nobility and without complaint to the call to "sacrifice for the sake of the world."

Those who sit in the high places are the ones who should mend their ways. Let them but sound the right call and they will get a response to shake the world.

Arnold Daly, Dare-taker

It takes various kinds of people—meek and bold—to make the world go 'round and, Arnold Daly was one of them. He was a dare-taker.

The other day Arnold Daly was overtaken by Fate in a fantastic mood. Seated in a chair near a window of his room in a theatrical boarding house, Daly played his last act while the flames leaped up around him.

Twenty years ago the name of Arnold Daly began to take on the luster of the classic in the American theater. It was a day less given to Shaw, Ibsen, Strindberg in that day, and it was a day less given to Shaw, Ibsen and Strindberg than our present time. But Daly was a dare-taker.

He was none of your goody-goody dare-takers, either. There were plenty of dare-takers back in those times who would have nothing to do with Daly. He was just a bit sinister about his dare-taking.

He said he would show John Drew how to act. He took his meat and said he would show Shaw that he could act Shaw better than Shaw ever knew his work could be played.

He trod the boards, blustered and dared in private life, became beloved by the public and his friends, and never passed up a chance to take a dare. The memory of the dares he took will live longer than his acting. They were the mark of a brave heart.

O, yet we trust that somehow good will be the final goal of ill. To puny of nature, sins of will, Defects of doubt, and taints of blood;

That nothing walks with aimless feet; That not one life shall be destroyed;

Or cast as rubbish to the void. When God hath made the pile complete,

That not a worm is cloven in vain; That not a moth with vain desire

Is shriveled in a fruitless fire, Or but subserves another's gain.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP and down BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Within sneezing distance of some of Gotham's giddiest boasts of modernism are employed methods reminiscent of horse drawn canal-boats.

One such is the "dummy boy." And it is such may be found operating but three blocks of that well known highway called Broadway.

"Dummy boys" are the Paul Revere of the freight tracks. They ride ahead of New York Central freight trains to warn pedestrians and vehicles that a train is coming.

In a day when signal systems have reached a high state of efficiency this seems, indeed, a homely custom. One might expect some such custom in Tank Corners but surely not in Manhattan.

The riders keep 100 feet or more ahead of an incoming train, riding along the track shouting as they go. They have perfected a cry that might find favor in a hog calling contest. At night they come galloping out of the darkness, swinging a lantern and chanting their unique warning to the traffic of a super-modernized city.

It might be explained that the "dummy boys" are, no reflection upon the railroad or the metropolis.

They are demanded by a city ordinance passed some 75 years ago when modern equipment was taking its first toddling steps. It has never been repealed and so, archaic though it be, its enforcement is continued.

Through the years the small boys of Manhattan have viewed the "dummy boys" with something of the awe that all boyhood bestows on the cow puncher. It is the big town's substitute for the buckaroo.

Speaking of city ordinances, it now becomes possible for the little people blazoned on Broadway in bigger and better lights. Two extra feet have been allowed so that Betty Trinkle's can now shine forth in nine-foot letters.

The life of an actor, meanwhile, becomes worse and worse. Those good people who devote their time to gathering figures have statistics showing something like 200 well known actors out of work and about ten times that many little known stage folk seeking jobs. Something like 2,000 musicians were reported as "being at liberty."

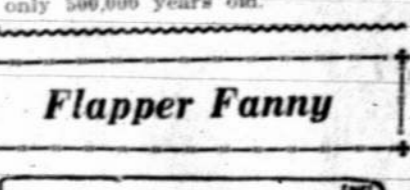

It has, perhaps, been one of the hardest winters in many a year to hundreds of stage folk. Since they figure on winter as the season for gathering in their hard money, it looks like a twice-as-hard summer.

After close inspection of Congressman Wilson's exhibits, your correspondent is able to state that a great many good people haven't any idea of the sort of material being printed in some of our magazines. Some of these magazines aren't nearly as popular as they would be if the nature of their contents were generally known.

As this interview was given, Congressman Wilson was finishing preparation of a speech in which he planned to name names and quote excerpts right on the floor of the House. It promised, because of the excerpts, to be by all odds the hottest speech made in the Sixty-ninth Congress. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

What This Country Needs Is a Little Co-operation

WASHINGTON LETTER

URGES U. S. CENSORSHIP FOR ALL MAGAZINES BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The Hon. T. Webster Wilson, congressman from Mississippi, is severely confident that he has begun what will blossom into complete government censorship of all the magazines in America.

He has introduced a bill to this effect. In the first place, he is going to push it himself, and in the second and vastly more important place, he is sure that the women of the nation are going to hammer the other congressmen until they put it over for him.

Later on, he says, the bill may be extended to cover books, but books contribute a mere drop of filth to the magazine's bucketful.

The Wilson bill provides for a National Board of Magazine Censorship to be appointed by the president with five members who will have the right to select as many helpers as they find necessary. These probably will be judges for plenty of assistant censors, as there are said to be some 25,000 or 30,000 periodicals, appearing from twice a week to once a year.

All magazines would be censored before publication. The publisher of any magazine who failed to send a copy to the Censorship Board and have it approved before issuing it would be liable to a maximum imprisonment of 10 years and a maximum fine of $10,000. Express companies handling such an uncensored magazine would be liable to a fine of $500.

Congressman Wilson has a choice of horrible examples of the type of magazine "obscenity" he seeks to abolish. They include pictures of nude women and various articles, poems and stories which are even more exciting than the pictures.

He has found "smut" in some of the ritzier magazines as well as the lowest. He even mentioned "Scribners."

"I've been accumulating magazines and reading them for three or four months," he explained. "I find many of them lewd, lascivious and indecent. These magazines need a great reformation. They are exercising license, not liberty."

"Some states have laws, but they can't stem the flood of this stuff from other states. Most of these magazines go by express. They call it the highest form of art to print a photograph of a naked woman. Hub!

"There's no question that my bill, in some form or other, will sooner or later be made a law. Since I introduced it, I have had 50 or 75 letters, most of them from women's organizations, congratulating me and asking how they could best crystallize sentiment for such a law."

"They'll crystallize sentiment all right. Women always are leaders in moral movements and they always put them over. Agitation of this sort had already begun in many places."

During the first four months of this year 179 persons were killed and 6613 injured in traffic accidents in London.

LAWMAKING AND TAXATION

The lawmakers are in session, both state and national. Their time will be taken up considering tens of thousands of new bills. The majority of laws proposed will further restrict individual liberty and at the same time make citizens pay through taxes, for the limitations placed upon them.

It is safe to say that 99 per cent of the measures up for consideration were not asked for by the people, are not needed by the people, and are not wanted by the people. Some individual or organization decides the people should be assisted, uplifted or restricted—the result is a new law proposed under which the proponents of the measure can see some advantage to themselves, either financial, political or honorary. The bill for passing all or part of the later enforcing them, is sent to the taxpayers.

No living lawyer can keep track of new legislation. A citizen can hardly pass a day without unintentionally breaking a law. Police departments can not begin to enforce the laws and ordinances in this state of the nation, and then check up the expense attached to the "new law."—Quincy Tribune-Chief

The editor who attempts to conduct his newspaper with fairness to everyone finds himself branded a Bourbon and a Bolshevik, an adobe and an atheist, a sage and a simp. It's a great life for the man with the courage of his convictions and the hide of a rhinoceros.—Lubbock Journal

And the fact that the paper gets cussed, blessed and abused by different types of mind is one of things that makes circulation and popularity of the paper possible. An insipid paper never gets anywhere. Many newspaper men, especially of the small town type, complain because of a lack of advertising patronage, when they fall miserably to give the advertisers a paper that is read and appreciated by the public. An editor's first duty is to make his paper read, appreciated and applauded or abused by the public. Then he can consistently offer an advertising medium to the merchant.—Mineral Wells Index

DRAINAGE WORK ON ROAD IS DONE

Field Tentatively Accepting First Work On Lubbock And Slaton Highway

Construction work on the grade and drainage structures on state highway No. 7 between Lubbock and Slaton, has been completed with the exception of a few miles finishing touches, and the job has been tentatively accepted by Geo. A. Field, division engineer for the State Highway Department, and J. W. Alger, county resident engineer.

A trip of inspection was made by the engineers and Fred Holt, contractor, late Saturday, and with the exception of a little additional fill-in on the extreme south end of the highway and a little work on culverts along the route, all of which will be done in the next day or two, the job is finished by the contractor.

Dump Is Disrupted The dump was considerably disrupted by traffic immediately following the heavy shower of Saturday night, but drags were placed on the project Monday morning, and the highway will be in good condition at least by Wednesday, it was said today.

Every Headache Is A Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headaches is high nerve tension or strain. High nerve tension leads to high blood pressure, apoplexy and serious injury to the nervous system. The next time you have a headache or neuritic pain try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid Capudine acts almost instantly—in one-fifth the time required by tablets or powders.

You may be sure that they are caused by some organic condition which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician. Physicians and druggists recommend Capudine as the safe, quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pains and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capudine. Get a bottle today at your druggist's and if you do not like it far better than anything you have ever tried, the manufacturer will cheerfully refund the price upon request. Family size, 60 cts.; individual, 30cts., at all druggists.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

WHEN Faith had planned so imaginatively to sell Cherry's trousseau she had forgotten, for the moment, that Cherry's trunk, containing all of her wedding outfit except the wedding dress itself, one suitcase containing clothes for the train journey to New York, the going away costume into which Cherry, the bride, had intended to change after the ceremony, and the trunk coat, now famous throughout the "belle of May Street," had been checked on R-4th Cluny's tickets to New York, there to await the arrival of the bride couple.

But she did remember this fact after she left the jail. When Bob Hathaway called that night she took the matter up with him. "I've heard something to the effect that the executors of Uncle Ralph's estate have ordered the trunks to be returned," Bob said thoughtfully. "I thought I can't say exactly what has been done. Of course the trunk checks were found after his death, together with the railroad tickets. I think Banning, the district attorney, turned them over to Neff, who in addition to being Uncle Ralph's partner, is one of the executors of the will, you know. I'll ask Alexander Cluny—the other executor—do you think he would want to buy her clothes, she's all wet! There are hundreds of women throughout this esthetic land of ours that would pay double the worth of it to be able to say they own the trunk coat that Ralph Cluny gave to Cherry Lane, the most beautiful girl—"

"Don't say it, Bob, or I'll scream!" Faith warned him. "Of course I won't sell it on that basis at all. Now, what do you think about our ride to the jewelry that your uncle gave her? Oh, I know it sounds horrible to suggest it, but after all, he did give the things to her—" "You turned them over to Murchison, didn't you?" Bob asked. "That night of the discovery of the murder?" "Yes—I'd forgotten. The state will keep them until after the trial, of course," Faith blushed with shame. TOMORROW: Faith encounters humiliating difficulties in Chicago.

Finds Cigaretts Less Harmful Than Pipe

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygea, the Health Magazine

EVERYONE recognizes the effects of tobacco smoking as psychological rather than physical. Sir Robert Armstrong-Jones, well known British specialist in nervous and mental diseases, gives special attention to these effects, at the same time considering any possibility of physical changes that may occur from either moderate or excessive smoking.

He accepts the consensus of opinion among medical men that smoking tobacco is harmful to a growing boy. He does not connect it with any mental defect or criminality; but is inclined to believe that persons with mental defects and a tendency to criminality are more likely to take up tobacco smoking early.

Dr. Armstrong-Jones realizes that the effects of tobacco are soothing, relieving psychic tension, tranquillizing emotion, and forcing the user to a growing boy. He does not connect it with any mental defect or criminality; but is inclined to believe that persons with mental defects and a tendency to criminality are more likely to take up tobacco smoking early.

Among the conclusions presented by the physician after studying most of the available scientific material on the subject, are the following: "1. Tobacco with pronounced physical effects supplemented by the arousal of the esthetic emotions when smoked.

"2. Speaking generally, tobacco smoking in moderation is not injurious to grown-up people; indeed, on the contrary, it exercises a soothing influence when the system is irritated. With some persons it contributes to calm thought and continuous mental exertion.

"3. Tobacco when smoked should always be of the best with a pleasant aroma and pleasing to look at; and not the hard, coarse, commoner varieties.

"4. Of the various forms, again in moderation, cigarette smoking is the most wholesome or, perhaps, it should be stated, the least harmful, preferably also without a holder. "5. Pipe smoking is the commonest form of smoking, and the bowl should be shallow to allow more air, and more frequent refilling. A large, dirty, capacious bowl is unwholesome.

"6. Pipe smoking to be enjoyable presupposes sound teeth, and demands the use of the tooth brush at least twice a day, otherwise pyorrhea, with a long train of ailments, may result.

"7. Cigar smoking is believed to be better, cleaner, and less toxic than a pipe, but is more expensive. A short cigar is better than a long one.

"8. Tobacco smoking is injurious to growing youth in any form, and in them is not infrequently associated with the craving for alcohol, and must be avoided."

The American reader will recognize, of course, that the conclusions reached are distinctly British in their point of view. It is doubtful that pipe smoking is more common in America than is the use of cigars.

As A Woman Sees It

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

CHILDREN'S TRAINING IS NOW TOO "HI-FALUTING" WHEN I was little there were no psychologists, no psychoanalysts, and no psychiatrists. Anything that began with two syllables to those, in these now familiar words would have been interpreted as some new kind of rolling rock.

The harbinger of these later arrivals was the phrenologist, who felt bumps on a child's head and told the anxious parent whether he might expect a horse thief or a president in the family when this young hopeful reached maturity.

Some of the hopefuls did turn out to be horse thieves, perhaps, but some of them turned out to be presidents, and you may have noticed that as this "complex" business and "psychiatrists" are practically modern affairs, all of the successful and prominent men of the country, and women too, are products of a time when living was simple and parents considered their duty done by keeping their children warm, fed and clean, and hearing their prayers at night, and bothered not about suppressed ego and inhibitions.

Simple! Yes, it was simple. And isn't that the very secret of the strength of our great men heretofore and at present? Will our coming generations produce as many leaders? That may be. But it isn't so difficult. It will be in spite of, not because of, our new and rather complicated system of child-training that has grown so intricate it has lost its pattern.

Simplicity is hard in an age when life is a sort of Chinese puzzle, you say. "Yes, it isn't quite so easy. Many things are beyond our control." But it isn't so difficult. Weaver for your child a strong rope of honesty, decency, fairness, and a pure ambition and tell him never to let go. That ought to take him anywhere, like the rope bridges that swing over the chasms in the Andes.

Life may be complex, but we need not be complex. Another little word that is probably the key of the whole thing. It is the simplest of all. Must! Teach him that.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Resumption of trading, after the double holiday, found the course of stock prices still upward. Initial gains of a point or so were recorded by American Smelting, General Electric and General Motors. New Haven crossed 56 to the highest point in ten years, with heavy accumulation also apparent in Wash. common, which climbed over a point in the first few minutes of trading.

Publication of an unusually favorable annual report by the Baldwin Locomotive company, showing over $25 a share earned on the common stock last year as against a deficit the year before, stimulated the demand for the railroad equipment issues, Baldwin sold down over a point at the opening and then rallied 2 points, with good gains also recorded by Westinghouse Air Brake and General American Tank.

Seasoned dividend paying stocks again attracted a large investment following, with Union Pacific, Atchafson and New York Central the early leaders in that group. Buying on the motors was rather selective in choice, Hudson and General Motors being in high demand on reports of large sales.

Steel, aided but easy money rates, resumed operations in a number of specialties but a good demand also was apparent for such standard issues as Steel common, American Smelting, General Electric, Dupont and Texas Sulphur. Foreign exchanges opened firm, with demand steering quoted around 44.84 1/2, and Procca francs around 3.92 cents.

Mrs. Ellen Perkins, 71, Called By Death At Spencer Home Early Today

Following funeral services at the First Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. Ellen E. Perkins, 71, who died about 4 o'clock this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Spencer, 2121 16th Street, is to be buried in the Lubbock cemetery.

The deceased suffered a stroke of paralysis last Thursday morning about 8 o'clock and although she remained conscious for two days and was content at other intervals, little hope was held for her recovery at any time.

Relatives Are Here
In addition to Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Perkins is survived by two other sisters, Mrs. T. E. Butler, Fort Worth, and Mrs. J. H. Gambrell, of Dallas, and one brother, H. E. Pickens, of Temple. All of these are here with Mrs. Nell Bone, of Fort Worth, Mrs. Murtie's daughter, and Mrs. Pickens.

Mrs. Perkins has been living in Lubbock since 1914, when she moved here from Brownwood to make her home with the late Judge and Mrs. W. R. Spencer. She was born November 26, 1855 in Holmes County, Miss. Living there until her marriage to J. M. Perkins in September 1873 when she moved to Wilson, La. Following her husband's death in October 1898, Mrs. Perkins moved to Brownwood.

Since she has been living in Lubbock, Mrs. Perkins has been identified particularly with the Methodist church, missing services only when her health would not permit attendance. In addition to that, she has belonged to some social clubs.

PRISON FIGHT TO FEATURE HOUSE

AUSTIN, Feb. 14 (AP)—Opponents of the re-location feature in the bill to rehabilitate and reorganize the Texas prison system voted the seeds of a fight in the house today with an amendment to give the legislature, instead of the governor, as proposed, the "say so" in approving prison property sales incident to re-location.

The house already has adopted an amendment of the same effect as applied to purchase of new lands, over protests of a faction led by Representative Claude Test that the restrictions will "tie the hands" of the new prison board and repeat the history of inaction in prison reform.

Representative Rube Lottin of Henrietta, just before noon recess today, offered the sale amendment, which would require that the legislature approve all property sales contemplated by the new prison board of nine.

Warm debate on the amendment is expected this afternoon.

RUBY CASE NOT TO GO TO TRIAL

Mulligan Rules Postponement Due To Lack Of Time To Finish Hearing

Three cases against Martin S. Ruby, former City Manager of Lubbock, charging misapplication of funds, which were set for trial in District Court here Thursday of this week, were continued Monday morning to the next term of court, due according to District Judge Clark M. Mulligan. He explained the practical impossibility of the court to complete either of the cases in the time allotted.

The court, in acting on the settings, explained that this is the last week of the regular six weeks term, nearly all of which was consumed in trial of criminal matters, and said that due to the fact the last day must be used in attention to various orders and pleas in rounding out the term, only two days would be allowed for trial of a case that is surrounded by many technicalities that will take such more time.

Week's Jury Empanelled

The jury for the week was duly empanelled and sworn, and two were finally dismissed for the term for cause. Other jurors were excused until Wednesday, and the court will be practically inactive until this time. State's counsel announced ready for trial on several cases set for the week, but due to the absence from the city of defense attorneys interested in the various cases, it was announced that no criminal matters will be tried until Wednesday.

The January term of six weeks will close Saturday night, after five weeks were given over to trial of criminal cases, and next Monday morning a special term of four weeks will begin, during which time civil matters will be heard.

Dr. Jenkins, Kansas City Pastor, For a Time Editor of the Kansas City Post, Accepted. The subject tentatively selected was:

"Can the present institution of marriage be improved?"

Judge Lindsey called the attack on Patschelet "one of the most infamous, villainous things that ever happened in this country."

Jenkins Still Ready

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Rev. Curtis A. Jenkins, pastor of the Lincoln Boulevard Christian church here, has made no change in his plans to debate Judge Den S. Lindsey, Denver, on the marriage February 22nd as a result of the flogging of Ralph Patschelet, vice president of the Thinkers' association, sponsoring the debate, he said today. Dr. Jenkins said he knew Judge Lindsey well.

Lubbock Has Passed Last Barrier In Securing Federal Building—Vaughan

The city of Lubbock has passed its last noticeable barrier in the fight for a federal building here, John L. Vaughan, postmaster, said Monday in commenting on reports from Washington Saturday night that the recommendation of $16,500 for a new postoffice building here had a status as the fourth step in the public building program of congress. The committee on revision of the recommendations did not change Lubbock's quota.

In view of the fact that recommendations for appropriations in the state of Texas for now within the maximum of $5,000,000 allotted the state in the program, there is no reason that the proposed budget will not stand up, Mr. Vaughan said. Final approval of the matter now is in the hands of congress and President Coolidge, and it is understood here that the $16,500,000 fund set aside for the program is available as soon as various appropriations are approved by congress.

Authority is Awaited

Pending this final authority, it is not anticipated here that further steps toward actual construction of the new building will be taken, even to securing a possible location, Mr. Vaughan, however, has reserved his right of holding on several proposals as to location, price, etc. so that these proposals may be ready to submit to authorities as soon as called for, adding that in this matter he believes some time may be saved in beginning of operation. He said also that in his opinion, although he has no definite authority for the statement, that the Lubbock project will be among the first to reach a head in the state.

It is Mr. Vaughan's plan to have actual construction operations under way here on the building within a year, and every possible step toward this end is being taken now.

TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE

HOUSTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Spencer Weldon and Edwin Camps, both inmates of the Blue Ridge state prison farm, escaped shortly before dusk Monday. Captain Dan J. Henderson, who is in charge of the farm camp, used blood hounds in a fruitless attempt to trace the fugitives.

Lindsey Explains Stand

Judge Lindsey has appeared several times recently in debates to clarify his stand on proposed trial marriages as a solution to increases in divorce suits. Judge Lindsey explained he did not favor "free love" as many persons believed after hearing reports of his plan. He said he favored trial marriages in some instances, but only under strict regulations.

Debate on Judge Lindsey's proposal has been enlivened by the recent state supreme court decision holding he was illegally elected two years ago. The court threw out ballots from one precinct which would have given a majority to his opponent, and declared his office vacant. A petition for a re-hearing is pending.

When ministers and religious organizations in various parts of the country took exception to his plan, Judge Lindsey invited any minister to man county line. Representative Roscoe Hauge requested the designation of the highway from Mason to Junction.

Doubt Expressed Here

A dissent of the above Austin dispatch as it regards Lubbock county, which now has plans ready for submission on five more projects in the county, leaves room for doubt as to whether or not this county is directly affected by the proceedings. Interpretation of the word "contract" could not be entirely different phases on the dispatch.

Lubbock county has contracted with the state highway department and the federal highway department for aid on approximately 70 miles on road improvement. One interpretation is that this contract is not affected, as it possibly would not be considered a new project.

Another Phase Stressed

Another phase of the question, however, and one that seems to hold more residence here among highway and county officials is that no new projects or new work can be cared for, and as no construction contracts are now outstanding on the five projects yet planned, except on the Slaton road, which has been completed this county is directly affected by the decision.

Of the approximately 70 miles of proposed improvement in this county, about 16 miles from Lubbock to Slaton is completed, and although the county has been ready for some time on the other five projects, various things have intervened, and no contracts are now outstanding.

The Brownfield project of about 15 miles is ready for contract and bids are to be received by the commission to the county line beyond Shallowater, about 17 miles in length is now ready to be advertised for bids. The project was held up by withdrawal of federal aid from the state as mentioned in the dispatch above.

Slaton Plans Approved

Plans and specifications have been completed on 45 miles from Slaton to the county line southeast, and are now in Austin for approval by the state commission. Plans on the Idaho project also have been completed over the south route by the experiment farm, a distance of a little over 11 miles, and are now in Austin for approval. The engineering force of the county is now at work on plans for the project between Idaho and the county line east, a distance of nearly seven miles. Withdrawal of state aid temporarily from this county, if such is meant by the action of the state commission, will delay improvement work not less than nine months unless the gasoline tax is passed as asked by a bill now in the legislature. If the tax passes, it is estimated that a delay of not more than sixty days will be occasioned. The total expenditure on the proposed improvement program in this county is approximately $116,000 on grade and drainage structures, this being on a 50-50 basis, with the county bearing half the expense, and with state and federal departments bearing half, the state participating in certain projects and federal in others.

To Hear Ideals Problem

A final hearing before the state highway commission in connection with the controversy here regarding state highway No. 45, Lubbock to Idaho, is scheduled to be held Tuesday, and it is understood today that leaders of both groups in the local controversy will be in Austin for the hearing.

Facts and figures in connection with the proposed routings have been assembled by each group, one of which would have the highway lead east out of Lubbock over Broadway, and the other north over Avenue H over a portion of the present state designation No. 9. A great deal of interest has been shown here in the matter.

TWO KILLED IN ACCIDENT

CENTON, Iowa, Feb. 14 (AP)—Arthur Dolph, 18, and Pearl Buelow, 17, both of Clinton, are dead as the result of being run down last night by an automobile driven by Horace Ingwersen, former Clinton county sheriff and brother of Coach Burton Ingwersen of the University of Iowa. The accident occurred in a blinding snowstorm.

THIRTY MILLION MICE

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — Estimates of the state horticultural and government biological departments show that there still are about 30,000,000 mice in the Buena Vista lowlands, despite the millions that have been exterminated.

DO YOU KNOW what we mean by saying our merchandise is priced right at first? Well, it is simply this, it is our aim in business to mark only a moderate profit on our merchandise at the time they are received in the house, it is not a question of how much we "can get for an item" but what we figure is "how little we can sell it for." This policy gives us a faster turnover and a fair profit. Consequently offering to you prices that are not extravagant.
