Short 'Freeze' Promised

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. AP—Attempting to reassure both businessmen and housewives, President Nixon promises a "short as possible" price freeze and foresees relief against high food prices.

Although complaints of grocery buyers have been claiming the greatest public attention, many businessmen say they are barred from making future plans because of continuing uncertainty over Phase 4 wageprice controls.

In a radio address broadcast Sunday, Nixon said, "We have been determined from the outset to keep the freeze as short as possible"—an indication he may disclose his new economic game plan before the 60-day price freeze expires on Aug. 13.

Nixon said a temporary freeze on all except raw food prices at the farm level was necessary because it is "vital that we have genuine consultations with a wide range of interested parties before launching Phase 4." He said these consultations have begun.

As for supermarket prices, Nixon said:

"The many measures we have taken to increase the supply of farm commodities—including the release of more than 40 million additional acres for farm production—will eventually bring more farm products to the market and will provide relief against high food prices."

Acknowledging that the freeze has led to inequities, Nixon said it also can create inflationary scarcity.

He said, "We have seen this, for example, in the fact that some broiler producers have had to kill off baby chicks because they could not afford to pay the high feed prices and still sell the broilers at their ceiling prices....

"For this reason, we have been determined from the outset to keep the freeze as short as possible."

Nixon said problems of scarcity forced him to embargo exports of soybeans, "which are especially critical to the solution of the feed grain shortage, and therefore to bringing down the price of meat and dairy products."

Asking Congress anew for broad authority to control exports of farm commodities, Nixon saw such controls as temporary.

The soybean controls came as a particular shock in Japan, the principal U.S. export market for soybeans.

John Dean's Testimony Is Being Counterattacked

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The counterattack from official and unofficial supporters of the President has begun now that John W. Dean III's long-awaited Watergate testimony, with allegations of presidential involvement, is a matter of record.

Dean, fired as White House counsel, testified before the Senate Watergate committee for five days last week. He spoke of meetings at which he said he told the President everything he knew about the Watergate affair.

And Dean admitted he knew a great deal.

He said he had participated in meetings at which political espionage was discussed and also tried to cover up administration involvement in the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

The committee is in recess this Fourth of July week. When its public hearings resume July 10, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell will be on the stand.

William G. Hundley, one of Mitchell's attorneys, said last week the former attorney general's testimony will not implicate the President in any aspect of the Watergate scandal.

Attacks on Dean's testimony came from two quarters Sunday.

J. Fred Buzhardt, White House counsel assigned to Watergate, said in an interview with The Washington Post that he thought Dean was sincere but that his "imagination got away from him."

Asked whether the President would answer Dean's allegations, Buzhardt said, "I'm not sure we want to put the President in a position to answer a confessed felon."

Charles W. Colson, who left the White House staff early this year to enter private law practice in Washington, said in a television interview that Dean's allegations "are unfounded and untrue."

Colson, described during the hearings as a key figure in campaign "dirty tricks," said he believes Dean lied when he said he had told the President all the facts about Watergate on March 21.

Colson said he talked to the President the evening of March 21, and Nixon told him he "was not being told the truth, that he was being given confusing information."

Colby To Insist CIA Stay Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — William E. Colby, President Nixon's nominee to head the Central Intelligence Agency, said today he will insist that the CIA stay out of domestic investigations.

Colby told the Senate Armed Services Committee that his responsibility is to the President and that in case he received questionable instructions from White House subordinates he would "insist on talking to the President."

The answer was given in response to a question by Acting Chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., which obviously referred to reports that instructions were given by a former presidential assistant to a prior CIA director, to attempt to call off a portion of the FBI Watergate investigation.

Appearing at an unusual open hearing on intelligence mechanisms, Colby said he would not allow intelligence judgment to be dominated by the military.

Colby said the military intelligence agency is useful for "a number of things," but he said what is needed particularly in peacetime is more accurate information as to what a potential enemy actually is planning rather than its ultimate potential threat.

Colby, who has been deputy director for operations in the CIA since March 3, was nominated to succeed James R. Schlesinger who has become secretary of Defense.

Gen. Robert A. Cushman, former CIA deputy director, has contended that former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman asked him to let Hunt use CIA equipment. Ehrlichman has denied it.

Dollar Weakens Again

LONDON (AP) — The dollar weakened again in Europe today, despite moves late last week that were supposed to help the U.S. currency.

The dollar dropped sharply in Frankfurt, Zurich and Paris. It inched ahead in London.

Dealers said, however, that trading was slow at the outset. There were no early signs of monetary crisis. Gold, which often moves erratically higher in times of monetary uncertainty, was unchanged in London and Zurich, the two biggest markets, in early trading.

In Frankfurt, the dollar opened at 2.4175 German marks, down from 2.4250.

The mark was revalued upward by 5.5 per cent against seven other European currencies last week, and interest rates in the United States were raised. Both moves should have helped the dollar today, but instead the decline continued.

In Zurich, the U.S. currency sagged to 2.910 Swiss francs, down from 2.933 Friday. Dealers there said there were signs speculators were moving into Swiss francs as a result of the mark revaluation.

The mark and the Swiss franc are probably the two strongest currencies in Western Europe. Now that the mark has been adjusted upward, pressure could build up for a similar move by the Swiss currency.

Shelburne Rites Here

Funeral service was held at 4 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church for Joan Shelburne, 21, who died Saturday following a long illness.

The Rev. Ken Andress, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. D.D. Shelburne of Snyder; a sister, Mrs. Jim Myers of Richardson; a brother, Gene Shelburne of Columbia, Mo.; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Shelburne of Hermleigh.

Cambodian Raids Are Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has sharply increased the number of strikes by U.S. fighter planes hitting targets in Cambodia, the Pentagon said today.

Attacks by tactical fighters numbered about 150 missions daily until last week, but are up to a figure "in the 200s," a Defense Department spokesman said.

Spokesman William Beecher said, however, there has been no increase in strikes by the B52 bombers, which continue running at about 40 flights a day.

Beecher attributed the increase in tactical strikes to improved weather conditions and stepped-up attacks by Cambodian rebel forces.

The increased U.S. air activity follows an agreement between the Congress and President Nixon to halt American military activity in Indochina by Aug. 15. After Aug. 15 Nixon must ask the Congress to approve further bombing.

Dayan Accuses Terrorists In Alon's Slaying

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan today accused Palestinian terrorists of slaying Israeli air attache Yosef Alon in suburban Washington. He pledged that Israel will try to liquidate the terrorist groups.

Alon's body arrived home aboard a U.S. Air Force jet escorted by Israeli fighters, one day after he was shot outside his Chevy Chase, Md., home.

"It must be one of them, I don't see a possibility of anyone else," Dayan said at Lod Airport, where the flag-draped casket arrived, accompanied by Alon's sobbing widow and three children.

The defense minister told newsmen that the Palestinian guerrilla movement had announced over Cairo radio that one of its men had slain Alon.

Maryland Medical Examiner Ronald Kornblum said Alon died of five gunshot wounds in his chest. Kornblum said his autopsy revealed no other marks or bruises on the body and that he could not tell whether the bullets were from a machine gun or a handgun.

Local police and the FBI said they had no suspects in the case, although military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said Arab terrorists may have plotted Alon's assassination.

President Nixon arranged for the aircraft that returned the body of Alon and his family to Israel. Nixon asked his top military adviser, Gen. Brent Scowsroft, to convey his condolences to the Israeli ambassador over the shooting.

The President also ordered the Secret Service to step up protective measures for Washington's diplomatic community.

Simcha Dinitz, the Israeli ambassador, told some 200 Americans and Israelis at Andrews Air Force Base, "The frontiers of Israel are everywhere." He was referring to the recent shootings of Israelis in various parts of the world, including the massacre last summer of a group of athletes at the Munich Olympic games.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who left the same airport about an hour later to attend a European security conference in Helsinki, told newsmen it was "too early to tell" whether Alon's death was a product of international terrorism.

No Letup In Heat Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Intensifying heat accompanied the arrival of July in Texas, and showers in some areas offered only a teasing hint of a little relief in some areas today.

Most of the showers, plus a few thunderstorms, brought a little moisture and added to the humidity this morning along the coast from Beaumont to near Corpus Christi and inland past Hondo and San Antonio.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy with little prospects for moisture in other sections.

Temperatures near dawn stayed as high as 90 degrees at Dallas and Fort Worth and 81 at Galveston. Midland in West Texas was the coolest spot with the mercury down to 69.

Sunday afternoon's top marks hit 101 at Dalhart and 102 at Amarillo in the Panhandle and soared to a scorching 105 at El Paso in far West Texas.

Forecasts held out prospects for more scattered showers through the coastal plains and a few thunderstorms in the Texas Panhandle by evening. No letup in the heat was predicted.

Bombing Cutoff Pact Is Inked

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon has signed legislation to halt all U.S. military action in Indochina by Aug. 15.

He served notice he will seek new war-making powers if he thinks they are needed to win an Indochina peace.

In signing the compromise measure on Sunday, the President said:

"The last remaining element of the peace in Southeast Asia is a stable Cambodian settlement.... I will continue to take the responsible action necessary to win that peace. Should further actions be required to that end later in the year, I shall request the Congress to help us achieve our objectives."

The first law aimed directly at ending U.S. combat activity in Indochina reached Nixon's desk in the form of amendments to two vital measures — a $3.4 billion supplemental appropriation for fiscal 1973 and a Senate-House resolution to finance federal agencies pending enactment of appropriations for fiscal 1974. The President signed both.

Nixon, his aides and congressional leaders worked out the Aug. 15 fund cut-off compromise in order to avoid a major confrontation that could have tied the federal government in knots for lack of money.

The President had vetoed on Thursday an identical supplemental appropriation that would have cut off all military funds for Indochina immediately. The House sustained the veto, but Nixon supporters lacked the votes to block further cut-off amendments.

For the first time in the eight years of America's combat role in Southeast Asia, antiwar forces in both the Senate and House could claim clear majorities, thus prompting the compromise.

In his statement, Nixon said an immediate bombing halt "would not have brought us the lasting peace that we all desire" but rather would have "crippled or destroyed the chances for achieving a negotiated settlement."

Coordination Of Programs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States must better coordinate its Social Security, welfare and similar programs to end injustices both to recipients and to wage earners who pay the supporting taxes, the chairman of a congressional study committee said today.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., made the comment in connection with the publication of six studies of welfare programs by academic and other specialists in the field. The studies were commissioned by the Joint Economic subcommittee on fiscal policy, of which she is chairman.

Mrs. Griffiths said the studies demonstrate that, because of overlaps and conflicting regulations, "many low-and moderate-income workers gain little or no financial advantage from their own or their employers' contributions to social insurance programs such as Social Security and unemployment insurance."

To illustrate the effect of overlapping programs, Mrs. Griffiths cited a hypothetical case of two Michigan men, one of whom has contributed to Social Security during his working years, while the other has not. Both, she said, are assured by the welfare system of monthly income of $282 for themselves and their wives.

The welfare system pays the full amount for one couple, she said, while "the other man receives a Social Security check for himself and his wife of $250 monthly—about the average benefit for such couples nationwide—but he has found they can't live on this. So welfare gives him a small grant of $32," she said.

"The Social Security contributor has nothing extra to show for long years of paying ever higher payroll taxes."

Donelson Service Set

Mrs. W. E. (Velma) Donelson, 80, died at 7:25 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. The Rev. Miller Robinson will officiate. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Limestone County, Mrs. Donelson had been a resident of Scurry County for 15 years.

Surviving are a son, Elton E. Donelson of Snyder, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Charlie Pace of the home. Five other grandchildren and six great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Donelson was a member of the Baptist Church. She married W. E. Donelson on Dec. 12, 1910 in Mitchell County. He preceded her in death in 1956.

Unwilling to tie knot for couple in trouble

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A high school girl wrote that she was pregnant and she and her boy friend wanted to be married by a clergyman in a church, but neither one of them belonged to a church and they were having difficulty finding a clergyman to marry them.

You replied, "I am sure I can find a clergyman who will perform the ceremony."

Abby, the old "accommodating" view is diminishing. If a church wedding is desired, one or both parties must be active members in the church. People who refuse to support or help maintain a church should not expect to use it for a "show." A Christian wedding ceremony is an act of worship which is based on faith.

The attitude of more and more people is to call on the clergy and use the church facilities for "hatch, match, and dispatch" [baptism, marriage, and funerals]—but the clergy and lay leaderships of our churches are not going to play games with nonmembers, nonbelievers and inactive members. After all, there are other places where people can marry, and other persons who are qualified under the law to perform marriage ceremonies.

WILLIAM W. J. ENNIS, Pastor
St. Mark's Lutheran Church
Bethlehem, Penn.

DEAR ABBY: A high school senior is pregnant, and can't find a minister to marry her, tho she is very much in love with the baby's father and would like a church wedding.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints [Mormons] takes a very strong stand against premarital sex, but we try to remember the words of the Saviour, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone" and, "Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more."

We believe that the proper thing to do under the above circumstances is to get married so that child can have a name, and I am sure any L.D.S. Bishop would be very happy to perform the ceremony and give them a lovely wedding and his blessings.

LEONARD R. TOLMAN,
Barstow, Cal.

DEAR ABBY: I feel that I must write to defend those three ministers who refused to marry that pregnant high school girl.

After nearly 40 years as a minister's wife I know something about people who don't want to contribute anything to a church, but they expect the minister and church to help them out when they need something.

Of course, the church does not belong to the minister; neither does it belong to these two immature individuals to use for their own selfish reasons.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR ABBY: My heart ached for those youngsters who wanted to be married by a minister but couldn't find one who would marry them because they didn't belong to his church.

With so many of our young people turning away from religion, you would think a minister would jump at the chance to bring them into the fold.

If they can't find a minister to marry them, they should consider a judge. At least it would be legal. Also, a sea captain has the authority to legalize a union. Have they considered that?

LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: After having been told to go jump in the lake by so many ministers, they might indeed find a sea captain the ideal one to tie the knot.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Shaw 2nd In Soaring Contest

Charles W. Shaw of Snyder placed second in the 8th National 1-26 North American Soaring Championships at Colorado Springs, Colo. June 20-28, with 60 pilots and 46 1-26s (a class of sailplane) competing.

National 1-26 Champion was Ted Teach of Springfield, Ohio, in a hotly-contested battle which saw several pilots, including Shaw, in first-place standing at various points during the seven-day proceedings.

Four of the contest days were judged for speed around predetermined triangles varying in length from 100 miles to 130 miles. The remaining three days gave points for the greatest distance flown those days. Charles Shaw flew the greatest overall distance in the contest: 1,085.5 miles. Total miles flown by all contestants during the whole contest exceeded 33,500 miles—all without the aid of an engine.

Competing sailplanes were launched each contest day behind tow airplanes to a height of 2,000 feet above the ground. From there each must find rising currents of air (thermals) on which to sustain themselves as they proceed.

Shaw, who is assistant band director at Snyder High School, has been soaring in the Snyder area for eight years and has attended four annual North American 1-26 Championships. He is one of only two pilots who has soared his 1-26 over 400 miles in a single flight. His current ambition is to hold the world's distance record for 1-26s, now held by Wally Scott Sr., of Odessa. This will require a flight in a 1-26 of over 418 miles.

The 1-26 sailplane (manufactured by Schweizer Aircraft of Elmira, New York) is considered a "moderate performance" sailplane, in contrast to the "high performance" sailplanes competing at the National and World Open Championships at Marfa in recent years. A high-performance sailplane can glide (in still air) 50 to 55 miles for every miles of altitude it gains. A 1-26, in similar conditions, will glide approximately 20 miles. The 1-26 therefore affords an excellent test of pilot skill and ability to judge soaring conditions.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-vehicle collision at College Avenue and Forty-third Street at 4:05 p.m. Saturday.

Involved were a 1961 Model Ford driven by Deborah Ann Fikes, 3701 Avenue U, and the 1969 Model Chevrolet pickup of Woodrow Burns, Midwest City, Oklahoma.

The rainbow trout gets its name from the red stripe often plainly visible along its sides. The overall body color may vary from silver to green to nearly black.

Prime Lending RatesHiked

NEW YORK (AP) — Major banks in New York and Chicago, following the lead of Philadelphia's Girard National Bank, posted ¼ per cent increases to 8 per cent today in their prime lending rates.

It appeared to be the start of the eighth general ¼ per cent increase this year in the prime, the minimum lending fee charged by banks on loans to large corporate customers.

The actions were announced this morning by New York's Chase Manhattan, the nation's third largest bank, and by First National Bank of Chicago.

Bankers said the moves would not affect rates on loans to smaller businesses or on consumer borrowings, including mortgages.

Girard's announcement of an increase in its prime came Friday night, shortly after the Federal Reserve Board raised its discount rate from 6½ per cent to 7 per cent and increased reserve requirements for its member banks.

The discount rate is the interest charged by the Fed on loans to member banks. Recent increases in it have raised the cost banks must pay in tapping one of their primary sources of funds with which to do business.

The 0.5 per cent increase in reserve requirements means that the nation's banks must hold an estimated additional $800 million in reserve against the claims of demand depositors. This has the effect of making money "scarcer" in the country's banking network.

The Fed said it was taking the two steps in an effort "to restrain continued expansion in money and credit."

Sex In Space Not Mandatory

NEW YORK (AP) — Astronaut-physician Joseph P. Kerwin says he doesn't think sex in space travel is necessary, even on a "really long flight."

Asked in a television interview on Sunday if women astronauts were essential, the Skylab 1 astronaut said:

"If you're talking about the sex aspect, I don't think it's mandatory."

He noted men had spent lengthy expeditions in the Artic and on the ocean without female companionship.

Awarded Medal

LONDON (AP) — Britain's poet laureate has been awarded a medal, not just for his writing but also for his appreciation of architecture.

In presenting Sir John Betjeman its 1973 Albert medal Thursday, the Royal Society of Arts cited the poet's accomplishment in both fields.

TRAFFIC NOT BIGGEST—

Texas Counts 32 Violent Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas counted 32 violent deaths during the weekend preceding July 4 celebrations, and for once traffic was not the biggest killer.

The toll between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday included 13 homicides, 10 auto fatalities, five drownings, three deaths in an airplane crash and one in a fire.

These were among the victims:

Flora Ellen Gray, 63, burned to death Sun. when fire of undetermined origin broke out in a bedroom at her Fort Worth home. Mrs. Gray was the mother of criminal Dist. Judge Gordon Gray of Fort Worth.

Flexi Cantu, 6, of San Antonio was swept away in the San Antonio River and drowned Sunday night. Efforts of firemen to revive him were of no avail.

A man tentatively identifed by police as William Smith, age and address undetermined, was shot in the head with a small caliber pistol and killed late Sunday night on San Antonio's east side. Officers said the shooting climaxed an argument. They sought an unidentified man.

Mike Houston, 17, of Fort Worth drowned Sunday near Goat Island in Lake Worth while water skiing. Witnesses said he became entangled in a tow rope as his father pulled him.

Willie James Norman, 29, of Houston was killed Sunday when his motorcycle and a car collided on Farm Road 524. The accident occurred about 4 miles south of the Brazoria County town of Sweeny.

The body of a man believed from Anaheim, Calif. was found in a San Antonio vacant lot early Sunday. Officers trying to identify him said he had been stabbed and shot and suffered a broken arm.

Fellow officer said city patrolman Russell Spannagel was shot late Saturday night as a man resisted arrest after a knifing at a San Antonio residence. Held in lieu of bond was John Joe Garza, 37, on charges of murder, attempted murder and aggravated assault with a knife.

Three persons killed Saturday in a private plane crash at Raymondville. The plane, hitting in a street in the South Texas city killed Albert T. Donahue, 22, and Cary Whitworth, 22, of Austin and Cynthia Dale Walker, 22, of Odessa. Anne Donahue, 22, of Dallas was injured.

A one-car accident on U.S. 290 near Elgin killed three persons Saturday. They were identifed as Alfred Ponce, 22, of San Angelo and David Catillo, 29, and Ernest M. Perez, 30, both of Houston.

Central Texas officers searched Sunday for a man wanted in the fatal shooting early Sunday of Billy Ray Chandler, 27, of Brownwood. Police said Chandler was shot near a Brownwood night club.

Shortage Of Canned Food Is Indicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A canning-industry spokesman has warned of a shortage of some canned food this year.

In a statement prepared for delivery today before the Cost of Living Council, Charles J. Carey, president of the National Canners Association, warned that available information indicated "a growing shortage of canned fruits and vegetables during the 1973-74 marketing year."

Carey said that demand for canned foods is expected to rise as prices of fresh foods increase but that the industry's stocks of canned food are now at their lowest level since World War II.

He urged immediate implementation of Phase 4 economic controls, suggesting that these be aimed to stimulate the nation's food supplies so price controls will become unnecessary.

Unless this is done, Carey said, there will be an even greater supply shortage a year from now with growing pressures for higher prices.

Judge Gives Man Benefit Of Doubt

BOMBAY, India (AP) — An accused gambler claimed a pickpocket took his money in the courtroom just before his bail hearing. The judge gave him the benefit of the doubt and freed him without bail.

Man Seized Following Shootout

SAN AUGUSTINE, Tex. (AP) — An armed man was seized here today after a morning shootout in which several persons, including San Augustine County Sheriff John Hoyt and one of his deputies, were wounded.

The man, not immediately identified, held officers at bay with a shotgun through part of the morning before being captured.

The Department of Public Safety said four other persons, including a woman and an ambulance driver, had been shot. A San Augustine county spokesman said only four persons, including the officers, were wounded.

A dispatcher for the San Augustine sheriff's office said the shooting foray began early in the morning when the woman was shot.

A DPS spokesman said extra officers armed with high-powered rifles were rushed to the location near this East Texas border town.

"We're sending everything the DPS can get hold of," the spokesman said.

Criticism of Poe

THREE DIMENSIONAL POE. By Haldeen Braddy. Texas Western Press, El Paso. 86 pages. $10.

Edgar Allan Poe still fascinates critics 124 years after his death.

Evidence of this is that the author includes 28 pages of bibliography only since 1949.

The writer, Haldeen Braddy, adds one to this list, for his new book is another criticism of Poe, concentrating largely on his amorous verse and who and what inspired it.

A brief chronology of Poe's life is included.

Braddy of the University of Texas at El Paso has published numerous literary criticisms.—The AP (REF).

Architect Barriers Hamper Handicapped

By MARTHA SMITH
Gazette Writer

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Phyllis Mathew and I went shopping in beautiful downtown Charleston last week. It was no mean feat.

Phyllis, a pretty 28-year-old, was born a victim of spinal bifida (an opening the spine) and spends most of her time in a wheelchair.

Our shopping trip, which included visits to many buildings other than stores—banks, restaurants, public buildings—was eye-opening for both of us. It was also muscle-building for me.

I pushed Phyllis all morning long. There are no ramps in downtown Charleston, so crossing a street involves hoisting the chair sharply backwards, placing the two front wheels up on the curb and lifting. Getting down off a curb is even trickier.

Our tour was a visit to some of the most incredible structural barriers anyone could dream up. And the problem of overcoming the barriers isn't just for wheelchair people. The elderly, women in advanced stages of pregnancy, young mothers pushing baby strollers, blind people and short people are all victims of structural barriers.

We started at the Kanawha Valley Bank where a sign asked patrons to "Please use revolving door." Ever try to take a wheelchair through a revolving door? How about a baby carriage? There were other doors, however, and we got inside.

Inside the bank, there are steps up to the main floor. No way to get a wheelchair up there. There's also an escalator going downstairs. Wheelchair on an escalator? Nope.

A bank spokesman hastened to tell us that there was an elevator for getting downstairs or to floors above the first.

Around the corner, we visited the Diamond Department Store. The doors into the store were sufficiently wide for the wheelchair and Phyllis said they weren't too heavy for her to open by herself. Inside, in a sportswear department on the main floor, Phyllis was delighted to find a low counter with merchandise which she could see and examine from her chair.

But her elation turned to disappointment at the jewelry counter as necklaces hanging on a high display rack were beyond reach.

At the Diamond's luncheonette, we discovered that the only available seats are high counter stools, making eating there impossible for people in wheelchairs. A public telephone on the wall was too high for Phyllis to reach, as was a drinking fountain.

At another bank we found a common problem. All the counters for writing checks or whatever are too tall for wheelchairs. All the teller windows are in the same condition. Even standing, Phyllis—4-foot-7—would have been too short for the teller windows.

The most accessible building we visited was the Kanawha County Public Library. The Summers Street entrance is for wheelchairs and the elderly, and inside four wheelchairs are provided for those who need them.

There are elevators and the information desks and reading tables are low enough for a wheelchair.

Upstairs in the children's section a low wall-attached drinking fountain made it easy for Phyllis to get a drink. There was also a telephone low enough for her to reach.

The building which presented the worst barriers of all was city hall. The main entrance to this, the most public of buildings, has 13 steps leading up to a massive revolving door. Phyllis simply shook her head in disbelief.

The only way she could get into the city building, in fact, was through the booking desk entrance in the back.

After a morning of hard work, lunch was welcome. A high brick step at Ernie's Esquire found us doing wheelies again, but once over that barrier we were home free.

Phyllis' chair slid right under a table and she wasn't in anyone's way.

A spokesman for Sen. Jennings Randolph's office said things may soon be different for the thousands of people affected by architectural barriers.

The National Rehabilitation Act, which the senator is sponsoring, will have a section updating and "putting some teeth" into the Architectural Barriers Act of 1968. That act, which required all federal projects and any building using federal money to meet accessibility standards, has been largely ignored.

Randolph's proposal would provide for creation of an Architectural and Transportation Barriers Board which would call for studies and strict enforcement. Transportation barriers are those things which make it impossible for a handicapped person who is traveling by car to find an accessible restroom.

Combine whipped cream with mayonnaise and drained crushed pineapple and serve over a jellied strawberry salad.

Confusion, Contradiction Underlying Rising Prices

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most frightening aspect of the growing food dilemma is probably not so much that of soaring prices as it is the failure to anticipate the size of the problem, and the failure to coordinate national goals.

There is no discounting the horror of prices: Soybeans are more than triple their price of a year ago; farm prices in general are 38 per cent higher in one year; retail food prices are expected to be 12 per cent higher for the year.

But underlying these rising prices is confusion, even contradiction, in U.S. farm and food policies. They suggest that the solution to the food supply and price problems must first await understanding of the problems.

For example, it had been assumed that when meat prices reached record highs shoppers would restrain their appetites and switch to cheaper cuts or to nonmeat products.

But consumers — their pocketbooks stuffed with bigger paychecks, and to some extent feeling that prices weren't going to be any lower in the future — went right on buying. There was a boycott, but that was only a brief, futile expression of naivete and anger.

And who could have foreseen a change of habit on the part of those creatures further down the evolutionary scale, the anchovies of South America, who went swimming elsewhere and left the fishermen to find out where?

Anchovies are rich in protein and are one of the ingredients of cattle feed. With supplies cut off, livestock feeders were forced to rely on soybeans and other products. And with soybean prices soaring on the new demand, meat prices could go nowhere but up.

Who could have foreseen the widespread bad weather that reduced crops in many areas?

But there has also been an absence of foresight and insight. And there has been some contradictory behavior. Here are some points to ponder:

— While the government was actively engaged in controlling prices, the secretary of agriculture, Earl Butz, was vigorously arguing the case for higher food prices.

— While the government is allegedly seeking to increase production and hold down prices, its price controls program is now said to be limiting production and even creating shortages that will put further upward pressure on prices.

— While the U.S. trade negotiators have been trying to convince Europe that it should accept more American farm products, government controls have been imposed that make implementation of that policy impossible.

In summary, the problem of prices and supplies is discouraging enough for the short term without a lack of coordinated policy making it almost a sure thing for the long term.

Junior Editors Quiz on LABRADOR RETRIEVERS

QUESTION: Where did the Labrador Retriever originate?

• • • •

ANSWER: Labrador Retrievers did not come from Labrador, as the name implies, but from Newfoundland. Early in their history they were called the St. John's breed of water dog. They were carried to England by fishermen and were admired by the Earl of Malmesbury. He imported these dogs from Newfoundland and tried to keep the breed pure. For some unknown reason, he and his friends referred to these retrievers as Labradors. They have the distinction of being a North American dog.

The Retriever is a special breed of dog trained to recover game that has been shot while flying, and has fallen into the water. This breed is used in hunting along river banks and near the sea coast. These hunting dogs must be strong and capable of swimming in icy water.

The Labrador is large and powerfully built. He stands from 25 to 30 inches high and weighs from 85 to 150 pounds. He has a short, thick, water-proof coat, usually black. He is a great swimmer, can stay in cold water for a long time, has a friendly disposition and makes a delightful pet. He is trained as a retriever at an early age, first learning to retrieve a cork dummy, then a bird dummy which he learns to carry with care to avoid damage.

Mr. Ed's Powder Effective

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Betsy Ross, the Cincinnati Zoo's lone American bald eagle, has decided after 11 years that she doesn't want to be a spinster.

One of only 48 of her species in captivity in the United States, she is putting the finishing touches on her nest while awaiting a consort candidate from Chicago's Brookfield Zoo.

Zoo officials at Chicago plan to bring the eagle here this week after receiving permission from he U.S. Department of the Interior. The government agency has held ownership of all American bald eagles since the species was declared endangered.

Breeding an American bald eagle is a nest of problems, said Cincinnati Zoo Director Ed Maruska. But he thinks he has a method that will preserve the species.

The Cincinnati Zoo spent $200,000 in 1970 to build a free flying cage 70 feet high and 144 feet long. Inside are vultures, who already have begun breeding, eagles and hawks.

While the birds are able to stretch their broad wings, they also are being fed a steady diet of "Mr. Ed's Magic Powder," according to keepers. The powder, developed by Maruska, is a combination of minerals, trace elements and vitamins the animals get naturally in the wild state.

The diet has proved effective with other animals, particularly gorillas. Cincinnati holds the world record for gorilla births with six in three years.

But with eagles, you first have to find out the birds' sexes before pairing them. Maruska uses a blood chromosome test.

While males generally are larger, you can't always be sure which is which, he said.

"There's no other way you can check the sex unless you are another eagle," said Maruska, his hands scarred by the bites of outraged birds.

"There is no doubt our eagle is lovesick," he said. "She's perching in a man-made nest, and she's defending and adding to it."

Maruska is borrowing the Chicago bird from Dr. W. Peter Crowcroft. They'll split the offspring, if the government does not decide to send them elsewhere.

New Run Of Salmon

MANCHESTER, Wash. (AP) — There's a new run of salmon in Beaver Creek near here as the result of experiments by the National Marine Fisheries Service in sea farming techniques.

Three-year-olds released from the services Aquacultural Experiment Station, and two-year-olds that escaped from the Pilot Salmon Farm, returned as adults last fall in sufficient numbers for local sports fishermen to be able to take as many as 100 fish a day from the stream.

Part Time Deputies Replaced

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Police picket lines were set up at a drive-in restaurant in a labor dispute over the use of part-time county deputies as security officers.

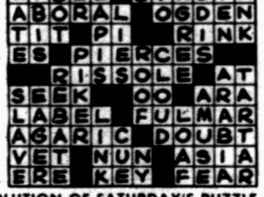

"The practice means putting guns and badges on civilians," said Robert Tucker, president of the Chattanooga Police Union.

The part-time deputies were replaced by regular sheriff's deputies.

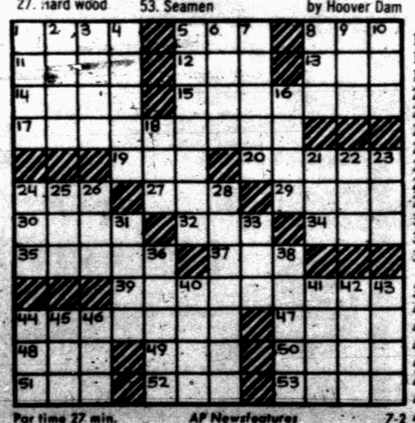

Says House Mouse From Asia

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists believe the house mouse originated in Asia and spread from there to Europe. "Mouse" comes from an old Sanskrit word meaning "thief." Ships probably brought the house mice to America over 200 years ago.

CHICAGO (AP) — The old thrill and smile of winning a tournament returned to Billy Casper, who did a little dance Sunday on the 72nd hole after dropping a six-foot par putt to clinch the Western Open title.

It was Casper's first tournament victory since taking the Kaiser International in 1971 as he stepped back into the limelight that he once held in winning 48 championships and earning nearly $1.4 million.

Buffalo Bill joined early century Willie Anderson as the only players to win the Western Open four times. He captured it previously in 1965, 1966, and 1969.

"I call it the Casper stomp," he said in describing his footwork on the last hole that brought laughs from some 22,000 fans.

The last two holes were critical for him. On the 71st he saved par with a 12-foot putt after coming out a bunker.

On the 72nd, his approach was short and he pitched six feet away. He needed the putt for a par, a finishing 69, and a 10-under-par 272 over the trampled Midlothian course.

He got it, avoiding a sudden-death playoff with Larry Hinson and Hale Irwin, who tied for second at 273.

Casper's victory was worth $35,000 while Hinson and Irwin each pocketed $16,187.

Sharing fourth place money of $7,233 at 274 were Bruce Crampton, the third-round leader who tailed off to a 73; Hubert Green with a blazing 65 and J.C. Snead with 66. Art Wall and Arnold Palmer were next at 276 and John Mahaffey followed with 277.

Seldom have losers been so happy.

"I didn't win my fifth tournament of the season, but I achieved my most important milestone," said Crampton. "I got into the million dollar bracket."

The Australian boosted his career earnings to $1,003,103 to join Jack Nicklaus, Palmer, Casper and Lee Trevino as golf's millionaires.

Here are the final scores and money winnings:

Billy Casper	$35,000	67-69-67-69—272
Hale Irwin	$16,187	67-66-71-69—273
Larry Hinson	$16,187	68-70-68-67—273
Bruce Crampton	$7,233	66-69-66-73—274
J.C. Snead	$7,233	67-72-69-66—274
Hubert Green	$7,233	68-71-70-65—274
Arnold Palmer	$5,381	66-71-68-71—276
Art Wall	$5,381	72-70-67-67—276
John Mahaffey	$4,725	68-71-68-70—277
Bruce Devlin	$4,025	68-69-74-67—278

Orioles Lose, Manager Sounds Off At Umpire

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Earl Weaver, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, does not think too highly of umpire Jim Evans. And that's putting it mildly.

"I believe Jim Evans is incompetent, and incapable of being a major league umpire," said Weaver, whose team dropped a doubleheader to the Tigers in Detroit Sunday 5-3 and 1-0.

What got Weaver going was a play in the fourth inning of the opening game, on which Norm Cash was awarded first base after being hit by a pitch from Jim Palmer.

That loaded the bases, and Duke Sims followed with a run-scoring single, snapping a 1-1 tie. Two outs later, Aurelio Rodriguez delivered two more runs with a single, and the Orioles never caught up.

Evans did not award Cash first base right away. It was not until the Detroit veteran insisted he had been hit by the pitch and finally showed the umpire a red mark on his left arm that he was sent to first.

Weaver contended that Cash had not been hit by the pitch, but that he had pinched himself on his arm to produce the red mark.

By losing two while the Yankees were winning two, the Orioles dropped four games back of New York in the AL East race.

In other American League doubleheaders, the New York Yankees swept the Cleveland Indians 5-2, 11-3; the Milwaukee Brewers split with the Boston Red Sox, winning 9-5, then losing 4-2, and the Oakland A's swept the Chicago White Sox 6-4, 3-0. In night games, the Minnesota Twins edged the California Angels 2-1 and the Texas Rangers topped the Kansas City Royals 8-3.

Pat Dobson raised his record to 4-1 and Sparky Lyle notched his 20th save in the opener for New York. In the second game, Bobby Murcer drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a squeeze bunt and Ron Blomberg and Roy White each homered to back Fred Beene's eight innings of strong relief pitching.

Dave May and Ellie Rodriguez drove in two runs apiece, helping Milwaukee's Jim Colborn to his 11th victory of the season. Boston's designated hitter, Orlando Cepeda, drove in three of his team's four runs in the nightcap.

Oakland designated-hitter Deron Johnson drove home three runs in the A's first game, while Blue Moon Odom and Rollie Fingers combined to stop Chicago on four hits in the second game. The victory was only Odom's second in 11 decisions.

Jim Kaat fired a one-hitter for Minnesota, outdueling Bill Singer, who tossed a four-hitter for the Angels. California's only hit was a home run by Frank Robinson in the second, the 534th of his career, tying him with Jimmie Foxx for sixth place on the all-time homer list.

Bill Sudakis three-run homer in a five-run sixth inning outburst carried Texas past Kansas City.

In the National League, Pittsburgh swept Montreal 6-2, 8-4; Los Angeles swept Cincinnati 4-3, 3-2 in 10 innings; the New York Mets split with the Chicago Cubs, winning 6-5, then losing by the same score; San Francisco beat Atlanta 14-6 then lost to the Braves 8-7; Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 1-0 and Houston beat St. Louis 6-4.

In a late game Saturday night, Nikki's Rookies of Roswell, N.M. beat the Flames 7-0 with Powell again being the losing pitcher.

ASCS Cutback Ordered

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national network of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices will have up to 3,000 fewer employes reporting for work this week under a cutback ordered by the Agriculture Department.

The cutback, called a reduction in force, is linked directly to the elimination of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP). The program, which provided assistance to farmers for carrying out approved conservation projects, was cancelled last winter.

Congress wants to restore REAP operations. And, according to USDA sources, some type of program may be forthcoming soon as a compromise between Capitol Hill and the administration.

The House and Senate have approved appropriations bills for financing the Agriculture Department during the fiscal year that began July 1. Each included $160 million for the restoration of REAP.

In addition, new farm legislation passed by the Senate and a similar plan now pending in the house contain provisions for putting a REAP-type program into operation.

Meanwhile, the USDA has proceeded with job terminations in field offices, including 2,800 county offices plus state offices. Officials say that an average of one job per county office plus an estimated 200 from state ASCS headquarters will be done away with.

Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the conservation service, said last week that displaced employes are being helped to find employment elsewhere in the agency.

"Where possible, they are offered jobs at the same grade (salary) level and, in other cases, at a lower grade," Frick said in a statement. "If the new ASCS job requires relocation, the employe will be reimbursed by the government for moving costs."

Department sources said over the weekend, however, that the job switches may be "temporary arrangements" since some REAP-type program may begin as soon as Congress gives final clearance.

Snakehandlers Ignore Order

NEWPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Several hundred persons ignored a court order and converged on a small church in the East Tennessee mountains to demonstrate their faith in Jesus with fire and serpents.

When the ritual ended Sunday, one man had been bitten by a diamond rattler and another had set his arm afire but insisted he was not in pain.

"We had a contentious spirit here today," said the Rev. Liston Pack of the Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name. "Where there's confusion there's contention. Anytime you have a group like that, you have a contentious spirit."

Pack's brother and a North Carolina preacher were killed last April in a similar ritual at the tiny wooden frame church in Newport, about 40 miles east of Knoxville. Each, however, died of strychnine poisoning, which was not in evidence Sunday.

The episode led to a circuit court order banning the congregation's handling of snakes to test its faith. But local authorities as well as several hundred worshipers — who came from at least eight states — ignored the court order Sunday.

At times, the faithful passed as many as six coiling serpents among them while chanting, "In Jesus Name."

The snakes were taken from five boxes — four of which contained rattlers and the fifth an Indian Cobra.

Murl Bass, 35, of Chattanooga, who had tested his faith Saturday with a snake at a prayer meeting, was not as fortunate as others handling the serpents.

As he handled a rattler, the snake darted at his forearm leaving a bloody track from deep fang wounds.

"In Jesus' name. Oh my God help him," came the prayerful chanting from Pack's house moments after Bass was taken there in obvious pain but refusing medical attention.

About eight hours later, he was reported resting comfortably in his North Chattanooga home.

Ben Laws of Middlesboro, Ky., tested himself with flame. Lighting a match to a cloth soaked in flammable liquid, Laws held his hand in the flames for more than a minute as his flesh darkened.

Witnesses To Meet Wednesday

HOUSTON (AP) — An international convention of the Jehovah's Witnesses opens Wednesday with an estimated 80,000 to attend the five day meeting in the Astrohall.

Described as one of the largest conventions ever planned for the city, the meetings will be devoted to Bible study, lectures, symposiums and musical and dramatic presentations.

The international meeting is one of eleven such meetings the Jehovah's Witnesses have scheduled this summer in the United States. Fifty-eight others will be held at international sites.

Delegates here primarily will be from the south central United States but representatives from other regions of the nation, and foreign countries are expected.

The Jehovah's Witnesses are noted for their zeal in distributing their tracts and Bibles.

Door-to-door solicitation, a major part of the Jehovah's Witnesses work, is not officially scheduled on the program here but a spokesman indicated at least some of the Witnesses will be distributing their tracts in the city.

The movement numbers about 1.6 million worldwide with about a half million living in the United States.

The Witnesses have frequently challenged, often successfully, the laws of society. Between 1930 and 1970 the Witnesses filed 59 suits before the U.S. Supreme Court, winning 43.

Education And Earning Living

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: What do you do when you've been overeducated? For years young Americans were urged to get that college degree and, better yet, a master's degree. This did seem to be a sure-fire passport to employment and in a capacity for which the graduate had been geared. With the 1970s, however, the tables have been turned in what can only seem to those of us left holding the diploma to be a cruel joke.

Why should college graduates be penalized for having devoted -- and in many cases sacrificed -- four or more years to higher education? The Hollywood version notwithstanding, college is not the easiest way to spend four years plus graduate school It is true that many colleges have diluted their standards to attract and retain enrollments, but good students seldom take the easy way out The intangible rewards of higher education are incalculable, but you cannot trade them for food, clothing and shelter. Most salaries quoted for college graduates would embarrass a plumber or truck driver

But today it is not even a matter of salary, it's a matter of a job at all! No one wants to hire a highly educated person for an ordinary job. Only a handful of academics are so hopelessly cerebral that they cannot learn to hammer a nail, and in fact, most of them have just as much common sense as the average man. Granted, few academics would want to waste their intellect on a nonacademic job. The point is this: The academic out of a job today could not even get into a factory if he had to -- and a lot of them do have to if they are to be independent and self-respecting

Much of the blame for this disgraceful and humiliating predicament of the college graduate must go to the status-seeking parents of middle America who forced their unwilling and often wiser kids to go off to college. When anything gets common, even a college degree, it loses its value and becomes cheap -- except for cars and apartments!

The educated unemployed constitute a new phenomenon in American economic life. They may even constitute a threat to the socio-economic system that has become the American way of life Idle for too long, the educated will cogitate, not vegetate, and eventually will get angry. -- P.H., Pittsburgh, Pa.

As your letter dramatizes, the greatest planning mistake a young person can make is assuming lifelong security is his or hers by virtue of a college degree. And by example of your jobless situation, you eloquently plead the case for allowing students to seek their own level of education.

By 1969, half of the college-age population was enrolled in higher education, including a good many students who should have been elsewhere. Now we are seeing a sharp downturn in enrollment growth for next fall's college freshman class.

Even major state colleges and universities are down a bit from '72 – the first drop in 11 years. Aside from financial and draft reasons, the prevailing feedback seems to indicate a healthy and genuine change in direction on the part of youth.

More and more young adults are choosing to acquire vocational or technical skills than endure earning a degree when they are not truly equipped or disposed to do so.

Blanche Blank, a professor at Hunter College, has said that society's attempt to push college as a launch for the material good life is "a perversion of the true spirit of a university, a perversion of human social ethic and, at bottom, a patent fraud."

On balance, a student who really wants to actively pursue a college education certainly should do so, but realize that he is not getting a good-life guarantee. Furthermore, it's time we accord equal dignity to all work and stop labeling certain kinds of work "better" because it carries a degree requirement.

Freeze Make Makes It Rough, But McBeth Eggs Still A Bargain

In checking with Leslie McBeth to see what the food price freeze has done to McBeth Egg Farm east of Snyder, you will find that they have expanded their operations in the last year to take markets that have been dropped by people going out of business. They have 16,000 hens in a new plant near Abilene and will have 20,000 more in a plant near Anson this fall. At this time they are feeding about 50,000 hens and 35,000 young pullets. With food continuing to rise, McBeth says it sure looks rough. When asked how the freeze would affect them, these are his remarks:

"The cost of living council does not seem to care who gets hurt or whether an item is a bargain or not. And the fact that the freeze might shove eggs and fryers from the grocery shelf means nothing to them.

"Feed has gone up more than 100 per cent since the Russian grain deal. Eggs and fryers have not gone up that much. Fryers could be produced for say seventy cents per pound. This is only about one half the price of other meats. But with chick starter at ten dollars per 100 they cannot be produced at the ceiling price. So you can see why they must drown broiler chicks before they invest a lot of feed in them.

"They say the price of eggs from the producer is not frozen. The grocery has to have some profit so how can we go up on eggs? The people in the Snyder area are getting more for their food dollar than in any other part of the state I have been. The grocers are operating on an unbelievable small markup. They don't need a ceiling. Competition keeps them down.

EGG PRODUCER —Leslie McBeth, senior partner in McBeth and Marricle Egg Farm, says that they have the best customers in West Texas and that they intend to do all they can to keep them supplied but something will have to happen soon. McBeth and Marricle are the largest independent egg producers in West Texas. Their home plant is three miles out on the Roby Highway.

The excessive profits are by the processors and middlemen. The farmers in this area got no more for their cottonseed last year than the year before, but meal was twice as high as the year before and now is three times as much. Soy bean meal is worse.

"The breaking plants have their prices high enough to pay a good price for eggs now. We could sell our entire production to them and eliminate the processing and delivering and be as well off but we have built a good trade on our eggs and intend to keep it supplied.

"I have a friend who has a large egg farm in the San Antonio area. He called the trucks to come and pick up 250,000 laying hens and take to slaughter. He said he could not stand two more months of losing money on them.

"There is talk that this will cause eggs to go close to one dollar per dozen. I don't think so, but if they go to ninety cents per dozen they will be a good buy at today's food prices. One dozen eggs weigh one and one-half pounds. That would be only 60 cents per pound. No other food of such high grade protein is so cheap.

"At today's prices, two eggs cost 12 cents. That is fourteen grams of high grade protein. A mother can give her child an energy break of two boiled eggs for less than a soft drink — one a lot of sugar, the other nature's most perfect food.

"People are getting more concerned about this so we still have faith in the production of food and will be here to do it."

Big Range Of Gift Selections Available Here At Hinshaw's

Some people may not realize it, but Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 College Avenue, operated by Hershel and Pat Hinshaw, is one of the best places in Snyder to purchase gifts.

"We have a good and varied selection of gift items," pointed out Hershel.

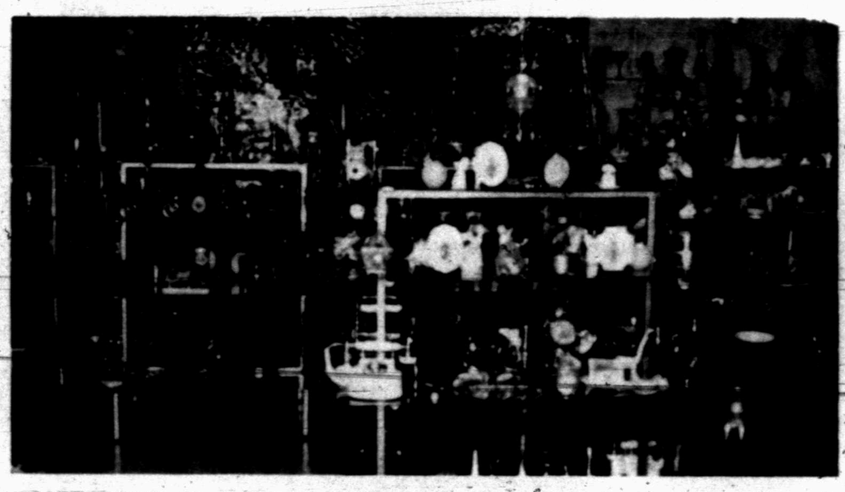

Included among the gift items on hand at the House of Flowers are a complete collection of brassware, Wilton Armetale dishes for ranch homes, new stoneware, wicker baskets, bathroom accessories, a new shipment of glass brandy snifters and bubble bowls, a complete selection of copper items, ash trays, cannister sets, decorator items for Spanish homes as well as other styles, cricket boxes, music boxes, French telephones, scales, digital clocks as well as other clocks and radios, music boxes, artificial singing birds, candle rings, candle holders, pictures, decorator trees and plants, artificial trees and plants and Terrariums.

"We're going to the gift show at the Dallas Trade Mart this month and probably will be bringing back several other gift items," Hershel observed. He said he and Pat would be doing their Christmas buying at the Dallas Trade Mart.

Hinshaw's also has a bridal department with bride and groom toast glasses, ring bearer pillows, garters, guest register books and pens.

They also have a complete line of Lee's Country candy—fudge love, assortments of pecan and cashew nuts and pecan pixies.

"We're the authorized Fertilome fertilizers and insecticides dealer in Snyder," Hershel said.

GIFT ITEMS—Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 College Avenue, has a wide and varied selection of gift items. Either one of the owners, Pat or Hershel Hinshaw, will be glad to show you around. If you'd like to call, just dial 573-9600.

Hinshaw's also carries potting soil, African violet soil and food and peat. They have green house fresh blooming plants.

Of course, Hinshaw's always has fresh flowers for all occasions. And the firm is a member of Floral Telegraph Delivery. They can order you fresh flowers sent to virtually anywhere in the world.

"Why not drop by and look at our gift lines," Hershel suggested.

If you prefer telephoning to see if they have a particular item, the number is 573-9600.

COST OF BUTTER, EGGS CONTINUE TO RISE

Freeze Reflected At Supermart Checkout Counter

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers are finding the 60-day price freeze reflected at the supermarket checkout counter, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. But the cost of butter and eggs continued to climb during June.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and non-food items in 13 cities on March 1 and has rechecked them each month.

The survey found that from June 1 to July 1, 56 per cent of the total number of items checked were unchanged in price; 21 per cent were up; 17 per cent were down and 6 per cent were unavailable on one of the check dates. The total marketbasket bill went up in eight cities and down in five.

In contrast, between March 1 and June 1, the AP survey found 41.5 per cent of the items were unchanged in price, 35.4 per cent were higher, 20.5 per cent were lower and 2.6 per cent were unavailable. The total marketbasket bill was up in 10 cities and down in three.

The freeze announced by President Nixon on June 13 limits prices to a ceiling level based on a formula involving prices and sales during the week of June 1-8. It does not automatically freeze prices at the June 1 level. That's why some individual items may have risen in price. Lamb, beef and pork prices are frozen at ceiling levels announced by the President at the end of March.

The AP survey found only one item — butter in Atlanta — selling above the posted ceiling level and a spokesman for the store involved said the price was an error and would be corrected. The prices of several items, however, were rolled back after the June 13 announcement.

Despite recent rumors of possible food shortages, the AP survey found no unusual lack of items on the shelves. Store spokesmen said the increase in the number of things unavailable simply reflected normal supply situations. They also noted that it was just before a holiday and many people had stocked up more heavily than normal. In most cases, only a particular brand or size was unavailable — not an entire category of food.

Farmers have complained that because retail prices are frozen they are unable to get more for their products, but at the same time must pay more for feed grains, which are not controlled. Some farmers have cut back on production and supplies of milk, broiler chickens and eggs all are down from last year's figures.

Butter and eggs led the list of higher priced items. Butter was up in 6 of 13 cities checked with increases ranging from 1 per cent in Miaoi to 11 per cent in Los Angeles. Eggs were higher in 40 of the 14 cities checked, with increases ranging from 2 per cent in Los Angeles and Albuquerque, N.M., to 18 per cent in Seattle.

President Nixon held out some hope for the consumer when he said Sunday that increased farm production "will provide relief against high food prices." Nixon said that when crops come in this fall he may be able to lift an embargo placed on the export of soybeans and some other agricultural exports.

The items on the AP's checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, butter, eggs, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, whole milk, chocolate chip cookies, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities surveyed were: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The same supermarket was used in each city for all the price surveys. Standardized brands and sizes or their nearest equivalent were selected.

The total marketbasket bill went up in Albuquerque, Atlanta, Detroit, Miami, Philadelphia, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and New York. The increases ranged from a fraction of a per cent in New York to 15 per cent in Seattle to 14 per cent in Los Angeles. Decreases ranged from less than one per cent in Seattle to 14 per cent in Dallas. Items unavailable on either check date were not counted.

Mossler's Two Sons File Suit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two adopted sons of Candac Mossler Garrison, 52, who was acquitted eight years ago of a charge of killing their father, have filed suit asking that she be removed as trustee of their father's estate.

Daniel Mossler, 21, and Christopher Mossler, 20, said in their suit that she had "converted portions of the estate to her own benefit."

The youths, adopted by Mossler in 1967, claim Mrs. Garrison sold one of the homes in the estate to a relative and later repurchased it at below market value.

Mrs. Garrison controls a group of Miami-based banks.

In 1965, she and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were acquitted of murder in the death of Jacques Mossler, who was found beaten in his Key Biscayne apartment.

Mrs. Garrison was married in 1971 to Barnett Garrison and now lives in Houston, where Daniel and Christopher Mossler filed their suit.

The sons also charged that Mrs. Mossler gave them expensive sports cars, vacations and other benefits but provided less than $350 per month for their education and living expenses.

Mossler's will set up trust funds for 10 children, but the trusts do not provide full benefits until they become 31.

A hearing on the suit was set for July 9.

More Spending, Less Output

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. business plans a 5 per cent increase in research and development expenditures in 1973 and a 23 per cent increase between 1973 and 1976, reports the Economic Department of McGraw-Hill Publications Co. Because of cost factors, the 1973 figure represents a drop in actual work.

Total research and development performed by industry will amount to $21.2 billion in 1973 and $26.1 billion in 1976.

"This year's expected rise represents a dip in real terms," said Douglas Greenwald, chief economist at McGraw-Hill. "The salaries of scientists and engineers and the prices of materials connected with the performance of R & D will increase more than 5.5 per cent in 1973."
