NEW RULE IN EFFECT

LAMESA, Sept. 30.—(Special)—A new city ordinance has recently gone into effect here requiring the parking of trucks in the center of the streets, instead of next to the curb. This move became necessary due to heavy traffic over the Dal Paso Cavern Highway and the fact that this city is the gateway to the oil fields at Hobbs, New Mexico, and dozens of large trucks loaded with oil well equipment are passing through daily. The new arrangement is proving highly satisfactory, and traffic is being speeded up accordingly.

NEW FACES TO BE SEEN IN STATE HALL

SEVENTY-SEVEN VETS TO BE MISSING IN LOWER HOUSE

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, Sept. 29.—Seventy-seven familiar faces will be missing in the house of representatives when the 42nd legislative convens here next January, it was disclosed today when Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, certified names of candidates to county judges and officials for the November election.

State house observers say this number constitutes one of the largest turnovers in the history of the legislature. A variety of causes contributed to it—death, defeat in the primary and resignation.

Four house members were elevated to the senate. Two sought and were defeated for higher state office. One newly elected member traded his state office with a member of the senate. The following are the new members of the house: George C. Ford, of Dallas, succeeds Thomas E. Love in the senate, Ford coming up from the lower house to take the place Senator Love deserted for his gubernatorial aspirations. J. J. Ler, another house member, defeated Ed. W. Wood, the only Republican member of the ninth district. A. J. Wirth of Tipton did not seek the senate's chair from the Nineteenth district and was replaced by Representative A. J. Hopkins, who in turn has a fight with Representative Reno Lickens, the only Republican member of the house, who decided to contest Hopkins' claim for Wirt's seat. Grady Woodruff was the fourth house member nominated to the senate replacing Eugene Miller of Weatherford, without Republican opposition. Ben O'Neal, nominated to the senate chair held by W. D. McFarlane, will have Republican opposition as will Representative Paul J. E. McDonald and George B. Terrell, virtually traded places. McDonald going to the office of agricultural commissioner and Terrell coming from the office to the legislature. A. H. King, prominent member, chairman of the prison committee, left out in the race with McDonald, and Cecil Storer, unsuccessful candidate for attorney general, also deserted a house of representatives chair to run for the place. John E. Davis of Mesquite left the house to unsuccessfully campaign for state treasurer.

The house lost a woman member and gained another. The new representative was Mrs. N. R. Strong, who was nominated in the legislature. The late N. R. Strong, Mrs. L. B. Negley of San Antonio was among the missing.

With the retirement of Walter Arker, Sr., of Houston, the house lost the last of its Civil war veterans. Arker was nearly 60 years old

HERE'S HOW FRENCH SCIENTIST PLANS TO HARNESS SEA TO DO WORLD'S WORK; MILE-LONG TUBE TO BOTTOM NOW READY

HAVANA, Cuba, (AP)—Prof. Georges Claude, the busy French scientist who believes he can get the warm waters of the gulf stream to work for mankind on an enormous scale, and who has spent most of his life peering into the obscure corners of the domain of science, may at last be on the verge of a development of far-reaching consequences.

Claude is now close to the point where he can learn definitely whether his scheme to generate power from the sea is practical. He has succeeded in sinking a mile-long tube into the sea at Mahanass, after spending a million dollars in three attempts. He is confident that the result will be a revolutionary development in industrial engineering.

If he succeeds it will mean that the human race is forever freed of the fear of exhausting its supplies of fuel. It may mean a new economic order and industrial upheaval.

New Plan Works
Prof. Claude's scheme, pointing to the average newspaper reader, is after all fairly simple.

There are two water supplies of unlimited quantities and unvarying temperatures throughout the year in the "tropic oceans," he explains. "There are the surface waters, which retain the temperature varying between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit, and the bottom waters, which are at a depth of 2000 yards or more, of a constant temperature of 40 degrees Fahrenheit."

Temperature represents energy and so this difference in temperature levels represents a supply of latent energy which Claude proposes to tap.

Claude proposes to harness the water in a principle similar to that in an ordinary steam engine. But in a steam engine the water is heated and turned into steam by heating it with fire. Claude proposes to do it by substituting a vacuum for fire. His scheme is to introduce the warm surface waters into a chamber in which a vacuum has been created. The boiling point of water depends entirely upon the air pressure. Water, for example, boils at 212 degrees at sea level, but at so low a temperature as a high mountain that it is not sufficiently hot to boil in eggs.

Boils at 73 Degrees
The vacuum, says Claude, will cause the surface water to boil at its temperature, approximately 73 degrees. The steam formed would be used to turn a turbine.

From the turbine the steam would pass into a condenser. Here it would be cooled by the cold water of the sea, which would be turned into the condenser. This would then condense the steam, and the condensation of the steam would create a new vacuum, causing more water to boil or turn into steam and so, according to Claude, the engine would keep itself in operation indefinitely.

Claude says that each cubic foot of water will furnish 17 pounds of steam and that it is feasible to build an engine using 35,000 cubic feet of water per second. Such an engine, he says, would furnish 300,000 horsepower. The cost of such plants would be about equal to the cost of modern hydro-electric power plants, with their dams, etc.

This plan for getting unlimited power from the sea—a plan that sounds almost like perpetual motion—is only one of many intricate problems Claude has applied himself to in his busy career. In his heyday the remarkable fictional inventions of Jules Verne captivated him; and as a man he has sought to match these imaginative inventions with real ones. He has succeeded so well that today there is more than $430,000,000 invested in his inventions $80,000,000 of which is American capital.

The government's enormous accumulation of nitrogen apparatus

The sketches above show how Prof. Georges Claude plans to use the difference in temperature of sea water, caused by the gulf stream, to turn a turbine engine. The lower sketch shows how cold bottom water and warm surface water are piped into the power house from the sea; the upper sketch shows how the engine is operated, as explained in detail in the story. Photos show the mile-long tube being laid to the ocean bottom and a close-up of Prof. Claude.

Jury Is To Report Thursday Morning

NAMED RECEIVING AGENT
SEAGRAVES, Sept. 28.—(Special)

J. P. Seagraves has been named as receiving agent for the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association here. He will handle all shipping details and the payments but will not class the bales. This will be done by the nearest classing office.

at Muscle Shoals, Ala., is based on a process he devised. Nearly every big chemical plant in the world is indebted to him for some method now in daily use.

It was Claude who learned how to get neon gas from the air—and who showed what could be done with it once it had been extracted. The bright neon lights that are such common features of modern cities are due to Claude's research.

Developed Acetylene Gas
It was he who changed acetylene gas from a costly laboratory curiosity to a cheap commercial product and thus brought on acetylene welding.

Claude is also famous for having devised a process for the synthetic manufacture of ammonia. Incidentally the trans-Atlantic telephone and the telephoto process by which pictures are transmitted to this newspaper by wire use neon tubes as an integral part of their machinery.

During the World War Claude was busy in the service of the French government. He mixed liquid oxygen with lampblack to produce a powerful explosive. It was so dangerous that its use was not allowed, but Claude utilized and used such bombs himself. He perfected a device by which airplane observers could locate enemy batteries through sound waves. He was able to liquefy chlorine gas for the manufacture of poisonous gas shells. These feats won him the order of the Legion of Honor.

His plan for generating power from sea water, however, may prove more revolutionary than all the rest of his discoveries. Places like Cuba and Florida might become industrial centers if his idea turns out to be as practical as he believes it will.

SURVEYING FOR NEW LINE TO BEGIN SOON

ROUTE TO LUBBOCK TO BE CHANGED; OTHER SLIGHTLY MOVED

By Staff Correspondent
BROWNFIELD, Sept. 30.—With surveying of the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern railroad route from the main line junction on the Big Spring-Lamesa-Brownfield-Vega line to Lubbock, starting this week, reports are in circulation here that railroad officials are "confident" that the Interstate Commerce commission will grant the permit.

Following conferences here with officials it became known that the proposed line into Lubbock from the company as a "main line." One official, who asked that his name not be used, is quoted as saying, "we will operate a passenger train daily each way between Big Spring and Lubbock. This will be in addition to the train to Vega from Big Spring."

Route To Change
 A change has been made in the route of the line to Lubbock. Instead of starting from the Lynn-Dawson county corner, the junction with the Vega line is to be about a mile north of the Dawson-Terry county line and several miles, probably four or five, west of Lynn county.

Between Lamesa and Brownfield several good communities will be opened with probably stations to serve the territory. These will include Priddy and New Home. It is reported also between the junction point and Lubbock several other communities in Lynn and Lubbock counties will be opened up for service as towns.

The engineers here are said to be making the last survey before the actual granting of the permit by the federal commission. So confident are Texas and Pacific railroad officials that the permit will be granted that they are said to be making a survey far ahead of what would otherwise be the case at this stage of the application.

Another Change Made

Engineers have made a change in the route into Brownfield. Instead of coming in on the south side and going through a large part of the built up section of the town, the line has been changed to reach the corporate limits at the southeast corner. Thence the line will turn northward along the city limits and go on northward to Levelland.

This change, it is pointed out, will save considerable in the way of purchase of improved property and the changing and moving of residences.

Half a dozen engineers, under the direction of W. L. Ford, have arrived here and began Monday on the surveying of the Lubbock line.

CITY'S TOTAL VALUATION INCREASES

TOTAL OF $2,715,227 GAIN IS RECORDED ON TAX ROLLS

The city of Lubbock will have a valuation of $2,715,227 for 1930, which should yield $304,470.86 in taxes, it was announced today following the city commission meeting last night at which the tax rolls for the year were approved.

Increase in valuation is $2,715,227, or 123 percent over the $2,162,350 total for 1929.

Show Comparisons

Figures presented by R. A. Holland, city tax collector, show the following comparison for 1929 and 1930:

Property	1930	1929
Personal	$ 4,268,418	$ 3,965,505
Real Estate	20,689,170	17,676,854
Total	$24,957,588	$21,642,359

Gains in valuation were: personal, $302,913; real estate, $2,412,316.

Taxes to be raised this year will amount to $304,470.86 as compared with $270,529.82, a gain of $33,941.04.

Tax Rate Is $1.25
 At the same time the commission fixed the tax rate at $1.25 per $100 valuation. This is the same as for 1929.

J. L. Gillies, Slaton, division superintendent of the Santa Fe, discussed with the commission the matter of arriving at extra costs of sewer construction for the storm sewer on Avenue K, underneath the railroad tracks.

Easement papers for the state highway in front of the city airport north of Lubbock were presented to the commission. It is proposed to grant to the state 18 feet more for the widening of highway No. 8 at this point.

Two deeds for property on North Avenue 11 to widen the street to the required width for state highway purposes were also presented to the city commission.

An investigation is to be made into the cost of a heating unit at the city airport.

Lemond Warns On Exchanging Tickets

Don't hand your tickets through the fence at the Fairhandle-South Plains fair, to some one on the outside, after you have used it.

To do so may cause embarrassment to both parties and to the owner—the complete loss of the pastebord.

Such is the advice of John Lemond, chief of police, who says he has police officers on guard at the fences prepared for such emergencies.

"We have men there to catch them and the ticket owners will just lose their tickets," the chief said.

Several instances were recorded Monday, the officers added, tickets were confiscated and destroyed.

MR. AND MRS. DYSART SHOWING PRODUCTS FROM FARM HOME

Exhibiting for the first time at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, Collin county, adjoining northern neighbor to Dallas, is showing a unique display, all of the products having been grown on a single farm.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dysart, of McKinney, brought the Collin county exhibit to Lubbock, coming here from the Tri-State fair at Amarillo. The two are owners of "Sunnybrook" farm, on which the exhibits were grown.

Fresh "Raise Your Living."

They have shown at the State fair in Dallas annually for over 20 years and they preach the gospel of "raise your living at home." The two are famous throughout Central Texas as a couple who never spend over $26 per annum for grocery bills. "If the farmers of this section would grow more of their own food for family consumption they would get along much better," the farmer stated this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Dysart are featuring yellow corn, oats and cotton. According to the man his oats made 110 bushels to the acre while the average in Collin county is from 30 to 50 bushels. Cotton in that county is averaging from one-fourth to one-half bale per acre.

LYNN FARMER MAKES GOOD IN DAIRY

B. A. MORROW HASN'T MUCH WORRIES OF DRY CONDITIONS

TAHOCA, Sept. 30. (Special)—B. A. Morrow, living in the New Home community near here, is not an extra-ordinary farmer and has broken no records; but a check of his dairy work shows that money can be made on the average West Texas farm even in a dry year. He makes money every month in the year from his 13 dairy cows, but he has found that the planting of sudan is a big money-maker for farmers if they market it through their cows. In one month, he realized $99.85 from his 30-acre sudan patch.

During the month of June, Mr. Morrow's cows produced 327.4 pounds of fat at a cost of 17c a pound. The cows were turned in the sudan pasture during the month of July and they produced 487.3 pounds of fat at a cost of 11.8c per pound. The difference in the pounds of fat and milk products the difference of 5.1c per pound, or $99.85.

In the last four months, his cows have produced 1,583.4 pounds of fat at a cost of 13c per pound and have made him a profit of $409.85. Due to the dry weather the pasture got short in August and the cost of production climbed to 13.4c per pound. One hundred dollars a month through the summer comes handy on any farm, especially in a dry year; and the man who does not mind a little hard work can make something, even if his cows are not considered among the highest producers of his section.

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 30. (Special)—Henry Ford, after examining with great interest the first automobile built in Germany in 1888, which is displayed at the Deutsches museum, has bought one almost as old for his own museum. It is an 1888 model Benz, a product of Karl Benz, who had designed the three wheeled, chain driven vehicle which Ford had seen in the museum. There was an amusing incident connected with the delivery of the relic. Mr. Ford made a casual call for his car to pick him up at his hotel this morning, and as he emerged from the door he found the wheezing 1888 model waiting for him at the curb.

LAMESA MILK PLANT HAS GOOD GAIN

SECOND MONTH SHOWS INCREASE OF OVER TWICE AS MUCH

LAMESA, Sept. 30. (Special)—Despite dry weather conditions, which always reflects its self in milk flow, according to dairy experts, the West Texas Dairy Products company continues to gain in production, proving the powdered milk factory a new and needed method of marketing milk products in this section, so states farmers who are patronizing the plant. Interesting figures as to production were revealed here at the close of the second month's business of the plant, by the management. The plant opened two months ago with 881 pounds of milk and 91 customers. The total production for the two month of operation shows the plant has received 456,471 pounds of whole milk. The first month of operation the plant received 223,915 pounds. These figures indicate an increase production of 10,941 pounds over the first month. The average production per day is now running from 8,000 to 10,000 pounds daily, according to the management of the plant. There are 10 trucks now operating on routes from the plant, serving 286 customers. Two commercial trucks are in use distributing manufactured products, which are sweet cream, pasteurized sweet milk, Bulgarian buttermilk, sweet creamery

IMPLEMENT SHED HOUSES INTERESTING EXHIBIT; RAPID PROGRESS BEING MADE

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Panhandle-South Plains fair this year from the standpoint of the rural visitor, is that being shown in the implement shed, directly in front of the front gates after entering the grounds. Farm implements, tractors, road machinery, etc., are here displayed to the interested farmer as means of saving labor in the new era of farming. The display is probably one of the most expensive throughout the fair grounds, according to fair officials. Value of the machinery shown is estimated at near $50,000. This department of the fair has grown from year to year to keep pace with the strides taken in other divisions and officials declare that it is just as interesting and attractive to those who use the implements in their business as the grandstand, football games, the various shows, agricultural and livestock exhibits. At the implement shed one can see everything in the way of farming equipment necessary in the South Plains country, included in the display are combine harvesters, threshers, tractors of all types from the largest to the smallest practical for farm use; much power equipment, including grain binders and two-row corn binders. There are two and four-row cultivators and two and four-row planters and lists. Some horse-drawn machinery also is shown.

Parachute Jumper Lands in Grandstand

Spectators at the National Air Races at Chicago received one thrill they hadn't expected when Bert White, parachute jumper, dropped right into a grandstand seat. Note how the crowd is scattering. The big parachute folded over the crowd, but no one was injured.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK'S FOREIGN NEWS

Adolf Hitler, Fascist strong man in Germany, testifying at a trial last Thursday of three Reichswehr army officers accused of subversion, warned that after two or three more elections his National Socialist party would control the Fatherland.

He said his party would take over the government and "legally" scrap the Versailles Peace treaty, at the same time rolling some heads "in the sand" for having committed an unwilling Fatherland to an unwelcome yoke. The National Socialists now hold 107 of the 576 seats in the Reichstag.

Threat is Seen

His threats gave Germany and Europe a hint of what the author of the unscrupulous Putsch of 1923 may have in mind for a second grand endeavor.

Chancellor Brüning let it be known he would use any needed measures, including a dictatorship, to carry forward his program of national economic reform.

Charges of high treason against Hitler were under advisement of the attorney general.

Fascists in Italy received a surprise in the sudden resignation of Augusto Turati, young secretary general and director under Mussolini, and the naming of Giovanni Giolitti, president of the chamber of deputies, as his successor.

FIREWORKS AT FAIR SUPERB

BRILLIANT DISPLAY IS GIVEN EACH NIGHT DURING WEEK

With more than a carload of pyrotechnics in Lubbock to be used at the Panhandle-South Plains fair each evening for entertainment of the thousands of fair visitors, officials of the fair association turn back the pages of history a half century in some of the special features presented.

The fireworks program starts each evening at 9:30 o'clock, lasting for more than one hour and embracing most every popular feature of the last 100 years in the field of fireworks art. A greater program will be offered tonight than was on the card for Monday evening and many new novelties will be included.

Old Favorites Shows

Several of the larger numbers headlining the show, known as "The Festival of Fire," were taken from the list of old favorites of a generation ago, to contrast with the new futuristic types of presentations just brought from Europe.

Among the "Old-time" numbers seen at the display Monday evening were "Niagara Falls," which was first introduced in fireworks at the Philadelphia Centennial exposition in the days of our grandfathers. The latter was reproduced exactly as it appeared at the centennial, in lines of fire sixty feet long and thirty feet high, comprising a falling curtain of silver fire in realistic reproduction of the famous falls at Niagara.

A group of old-time pocket favorites, including floating lights, hanging chains and dipping fireworks, were also featured.
