Police Alerted Against More Muslim Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — Police in New York and Chicago kept wary guard today against any effort to avenge the assassination of Malcolm X, fiery counselor of violence in the Negro civil rights movement.

The rebel Black Muslim, who broke from the parent group to form his own sect, was shot down by conspirators here Sunday as he stepped forward to address a meeting of his followers.

Police seized a young Negro man, wounded in the leg during the disorder caused by the slaying, and charged him with homicide.

The FBI identified the man as Talmadge Hayer, 22, alias Thomas Hayer, whose last known address was 347 Marshall St., Patterson, N.J.

Other persons were sought in the plot police described as an apparent outgrowth of the 15-month feud between Malcolm X and the Black Muslims headed by Elijah Muhammad in Chicago.

Police, however, did not report any evidence of a link between the assassins and Muhammad's faithful.

In Chicago, special police details were posted outside Muhammad's three-story house and Mosque of Islam No. 2 in the wake of unconfirmed reports that six members of Malcolm's Afro-American Union had departed from New York on separate missions of revenge.

In Harlem, extra uniformed officers walked the streets, on guard against any new violence.

The murder came exactly a week after Malcolm X and his family were driven from their residence in Queens by firebombs. He was being evicted from the dwelling which was purchased by Black Muslim donations before his break with Muhammad.

For months, Malcolm had spoken of a conspiracy against his life. He reportedly planned to name his assassins at the meeting Sunday in the Audubon Ballroom, in a racially mixed section of Upper Manhattan.

Malcolm got up, exchanged an Islamic greeting—"Salaam alekim," peace unto you—with the congregation of 500 and started to speak. But the blasts from shotguns and pistols cut him down after three words:

"Brothers and sisters."

The man who advised Negroes to form rifle clubs to fight the "devil white man" for civil rights, to use "ballots or bullets" apparently was dead before his body hit the floor.

It was he who had spoken of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy as a case of the "chickens coming home to roost."

The Kennedy remark ostensibly was the cause of the split between Malcolm X and Muhammad. But many observers believed the cause was Malcolm's desire to seize power and that Muhammad used the "chickens" remark as an excuse to oust his New York lieutenant.

The feud divided even members of Malcolm's own family. Two brothers, active Black Muslims in Grand Rapids and Detroit, could not be reached for comment. But in Boston, sister Who Used Was Malcolm, Ella Mae Collins, said his death "will be avenged."

THE FIRST DEATH OF 1965 in Scurry County was logged last night when this 1953 Chrysler, driven by Bruno Amador Perez, Jr., 18, of Snyder struck a culvert and overturned. He was alone in the car.

House Gets Oil-Gas Bill

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — A senate-passed oil and gas lease pooling bill, which oilmen call the state's most far-reaching legislation affecting their industry in 16 years, comes before the House today.

Companion House and Senate bills cleared the House Oil and Gas Committee Wednesday and moved to a high place on the calendar.

Senators passed the legislation Feb. 10 with only three of the 31 Senate members voting against it.

The pooling bill was written by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association. It would allow a small tract operator to force his neighbors to pool their land to form acreage large enough to meet the Railroad Commission's minimum production unit standards.

Small independent producers say the measure will give them bargaining power with large oil companies. They contend their strength at the bargaining table has been hurt by recent court decisions against commission production formulas favoring small-tract drillers.

The Senate Rules Committee approved for floor consideration a set of controversial changes in joint legislative procedures, which opponents said would harm chances for a teacher pay raise.

The proposed set of rules, which easily cleared the House last week, prohibit consideration of any bills that would require state funds—such as a teacher pay raise—until final passage of the general appropriations bill or 120 days after the session starts, whichever comes first.

Lawmakers also scheduled a brief tribute to George Washington, then a quick return to the old legislative problems of money and redistricting.

Frozen Miner Rescued Alive

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Einar Myllyla is partly frozen — but alive.

He lived for 79 hours under an avalanche of snow and crushed buildings at the devastated Granduc mining camp in northwest British Columbia.

A Finnish construction worker in his 30s, Myllyla is one of 130 miners who survived Thursday's giant slide off Le Duc Glacier near the Canadian-Alaska border. He was pulled from the ruins of a bunkhouse by rescuers Sunday afternoon, then hospitalized at Ketchikan. He was reported partly frozen and in serious condition.

Searchers continued to probe acres of ice and snow on the precarious mountainside for more men. So far 14 bodies have been recovered. At least 13 are missing.

Continuing heavy snowfall, darkness and threat of more slides hampered tired rescue crews. The finding of Myllyla renewed hopes that still more might be found alive.

Rescuers used hand tools, afraid heavy equipment would trigger another slide as they continued sifting through the devastation around the clock.

Several other miners were dug out alive earlier from under the tons of ice, snow and debris — saved only by pockets of air buried with them. About 40 were rescued Thursday from a tunnel where the miners were boring under the glacier for Granduc's low-grade copper ore.

A bachelor from Winnipeg, Man., Myllyla was saved by an air pocket in the cold, wet darkness.

Mine Blast In Japan Traps 103

TOKYO (AP) — A gas explosion ripped a coal mine in Japan's northernmost main island of Hokkaido today, trapping 103 miners, police said. Nine of them crawled to safety.

Seeping gas prevented more than 100 rescuers from approaching the mine for hours. The National Police Agency said an appeal was made for gas masks.

They arrived four hours after the explosion and the rescue workers began digging.

A police spokesman said there were no details as to the cause of the accident in Yubari, a major coal mining city about 600 miles north of Tokyo. The explosion occurred at 6:30 p.m. at the Yubari refinery of the Hokkaido Colliery Co.

The accident came 15 months after 453 miners died in Japan's worst postwar mine disaster after an explosion ripped through a mine on the southern island of Kyushu.

S. Viet Junta Seeks To Exile Ex-Chief

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's new junta negotiated long distance with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh today as it tried to carry through its ouster of the armed forces chief and get him out of the country.

Three members of the Armed Forces Council were reported back from Dalat where they have been dickering with the former strong man. There was speculation that they offered Khanh a post abroad to get him to agree to leave South Viet Nam.

Military leaders in Saigon had announced that Khanh had agreed to step down but said later he had asked to meet with a full session of the Armed Forces Council to discuss his future.

One report said Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, impatient with Khanh's stalling, had threatened to drop paratroops in the Dalat area 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

New military activity around Saigon Airport kept tension up.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that the "Young Turk" generals who toppled Khanh had already begun squabbling. One report said the 1st Corps commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, and the air force commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, were contending for power.

The military leaders conferred throughout the night behind barricades at the Saigon airport. The airport was reopened to traffic at dawn, but at noon troops loaded antiaircraft guns around the airport headquarters building and drew up recoilless rifles at entrances to the field, indicating that the crisis was not over.

An unconfirmed report said the 5th Cavalry unit of about 40 tanks might still be loyal to Khanh.

Despite all the alarms and threats, there had been no shooting since the latest upheaval began Friday.

The generals of the Armed Forces Council decided to oust Khanh after crushing an attempted coup against him Friday. Sunday they stripped him of his title of commander in chief, named Maj. Gen. Tran Van Minh "temporary acting chairman" of the council, or chief of the armed forces, and voted to send Khanh into exile.

Khanh, who had held power for 13½ months, flew to Dalat Saturday to try to muster support but his plane ran out of gas there. Apparently fearing an attack by Khanh's followers, the members of the council barricaded themselves inside the airport and conferred among themselves and with American advisers.

Heart Sunday Report Good

A tally of Heart Sunday receipts from various areas of Snyder was just over $500, the Scurry County Heart Association announced today. However, this total represented only about one - third of the assigned areas in Snyder, and none of the rural areas.

All Heart Sunday area captains, both for Snyder and the rural areas, are urged to complete the canvass of their areas during the current week, and to report their results to Doug Flynn, Scurry County Heart Fund treasurer, at the Snyder Public Schools administration building on Thirty - seventh Street in Snyder. Chairmen and captains in Snyder are reminded to return their Heart Sunday envelopes which have the maps of their respective areas.

Persons who were missed by a Heart Sunday worker, as well as others who may wish to contribute to the Heart Fund, should mail their contributions to "Scurry County Heart Fund, Snyder, Texas."

Court Buys New Trucks

The Scurry County commissioners court this morning accepted the low bid of Wellborn Motors for two new pickups and a truck for use in Precinct 3.

The low bid was $3,157.98 plus trade for the pickups, and $3,322 for the truck. Wilson Motors was the only other bidder. They bid $3,185 on the pickups and $3,941 on the truck.

Jay Ramsey, superintendent of county parks, met with the court with a request which he had received from the mothers of Pony League baseball players that the concession stand at the Pony League diamond be enlarged and made a permanent building.

The court instructed Ramsey to check with local contractors to get their opinions of what should be constructed, and to report back to the court with a recommendation.

In other business the court appointed election judges for the coming year, and also approved county bills as presented by the county auditor.

Nasser Says US Feeds Arab Feud

CAIRO (AP) — East German President Walter Ulbricht sailed toward Egypt today for the visit with President Gamal Abdel Nasser that has produced a crisis in relations between West Germany and the Arabs.

Ulbricht flew Sunday to Dubrovnik, the Yugoslav coastal resort, and boarded an East German ship for the trip. The vessel is due in Alexandria Wednesday, and Ulbricht will go by train to Cairo for an official welcome from Nasser.

The Bonn government fears Ulbricht's visit may mean the United Arab Republic plans to recognize the Communist East German regime despite West German threats to cut economic aid and break relations with Cairo.

Nasser told a rally Sunday the United States was at the bottom of the United Arab Republic's feud with Bonn over shipment of West German arms to Israel. Nasser charged that Washington organized "an international conspiracy" to send Israel arms via West Germany because "it did not want to do it openly."

He said Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government gave in to pressure from the United States against the wishes of the West German people. "If it is not independent, then we will have to deal with it on that basis," Nasser declared.

West Germany halted arms shipments to Israel because of Nasser's objections.

The government-controlled Cairo press said leaders of the Arab world would draw up a statement warning that any West German reprisals against the U.A.R. would be viewed as actions against the entire Arab world.

Statements of support for Nasser have already been issued by President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia who is visiting Cairo.

Nasser refused to call off Ulbricht's visit even though the West Germans cut off arms aid to Israel. Israel charged that the West Germans were giving in to blackmail. Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol turned down Bonn's offer of $16 million in money in lieu of arms which were not delivered.

Scientists Tell Moon-Man Walk Softly -- Carry Stick

By DAVE SMITH

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The first man on the moon should walk softly and carry a big stick.

So says the head of a scientific team studying more than 7,000 pictures beamed to earth early Saturday in the final 23 minutes before the Ranger 8 spacecraft crashed into the face of the moon.

Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, chief of the five-man analysis team, said the photographic bonanza indicates the lunar surface may be a froth of dust and fragile lava that might hide dangerous tunnels and caverns.

"This could be very tricky and treacherous stuff," said Kuiper, of the University of Arizona. "Many parts of the moon might be hard enough to support considerable weight, but an explorer could not assume that he would be safe everywhere.

"It may be that the first astronauts would be wise to carry long poles to probe the surface ahead of them to be sure it would hold their weight."

As with the 4,316 photos relayed last July 31 by Ranger 7, the five men disagreed about what the new, high-quality photos showed, but agreed that they were not surprised.

The insect-shaped Ranger 8's six television cameras returned sharp close-ups of lunar mountains and plains in the final minutes of its death plunge into the flat, broad, dusty Sea of Tranquillity, 15 miles from its original target. Its impact point was 1,000 miles east of where Ranger 7 crashed in the Mare Cognitum.

Kuiper said he saw evidence that much of the moon's surface is covered with three to six feet of loose, lava-like material, similar to tunnel-coursed, cavern-marked lava areas on Hawaii. He surmised that the material is volcanic overflow, a ger 9 in mid-March.

Dr. Harold Urey of the University of California at La Jolla said the lunar surface may be blanketed by 50 to 60 feet of dust. Several craters of that depth, he said, showed at their bottoms a "whitish button" which may be the moon's solid core beneath the dust.

Dr. Eugene Shoemaker, another team member, said he doesn't believe pictures can reveal the surface's strength but added that the photos do show the surfaces of the seas where Rangers 7 and 8 crashed to be "substantially the same."

The team will continue studying the giant photographic harvest for months — well beyond the scheduled launching of Ran-

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I don't know whether to feel sorrier for "About Had It" or his wife for being married to such a milquetoast. He cries that she won't "let" him go deer hunting, although he always loved to.

And you, of course, advised him to knuckle under. It is about par for the course in this female-dominated society for the woman to simper her way to the altar while plotting how to remold her man as soon as he slips the ring on her finger. I do not hunt and I am happily married (as is my wife).

And you, Dear Abby, are guilty of a bum piece of advice in this instance, which goes to the heart of something far more important than the question of deer hunting.

50-50 PARTNER IN SAN RAFAEL

DEAR PARTNER: Bum advice? I certainly would hesitate to advise a man who wants to hunt, but doesn't because his wife won't "let" him, to go anyway. She might turn out to be a better shot than he is.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 15 I got into trouble and I gave my baby to my father and stepmother.

I didn't really want to, but I had no choice. They were both in ther late 30's and my stepmother wasn't able to have children of her own. I signed some papers, so I imagine my child was legally adopted by then. I married at 19. That was six years ago. I don't seem able to have children and I would like to have my little girl back to raise as my own, as that is the way God intended it to be.

My husband knows that the little girl I call my baby sister is my illegitimate child, and he is crazy about her. My stepmother has taken to drinking lately and this child is not being given the kind of home I could give her. She seems shy and withdrawn, and I know she loves me. It tears me apart every time I see her. Should I try to regain custody of the child who is rightfully mine? Have I grounds?

WANTS MY BABY

DEAR WANTS: See a lawyer and give him the facts. But if you expect to regain custody of the child on the grounds that her parents are "unfit," you'd better have the evidence cold.

DEAR ABBY: As a member of the Abilene (Texas) "SLIMMIN' TOPS," I want to thank you for telling "Fat And Disguested" to join TOPS. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly.)

One of my four children was confined to bed for 18 months with an illness. During that time I ate and ate and ate. Naturally, I gained and gained and gained. My doctor advised me to join TOPS. I did, and in eight months I lost 66 pounds! I have 31 more pounds to lose, but I'm determined to do it. I can't say enough for what TOPS has done for me.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Fat And Disgusted's cry for help, you suggested she look into TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly.) I have heard that they have helped many, but I have another suggestion:

It's a club called 'Overeaters Anonymous." Please don't laugh. Compulsive eaters suffer from the same type of illness that compulsive drinkers suffer from, and "OA" has the solution to this problem. I know because it worked for me and for many of my friends. We help each other, just as alcoholics who belong to "AA" help each other. Thank you. We are anonymous, so just sign me —

Assault Charges Are Filed Following Fight

Charges of assault with intent to murder were filed today against Mario Ramerez of Snyder.

Snyder police officers were called to a South Avenue N address at 6 p.m. where a fight was reportedly in progress. They arrested Ramerez.

Johnson Cites Challenge Facing Younger Generation

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — President Johnson, addressing himself to the younger generation, said today "Your task is different and more difficult than any that have gone before."

"It is our central task to make this world serve to enrich the dignity and the value of the human being," Johnson said in a speech prepared for a Founder's Day centennial convocation at the University of Kentucky.

Johnson made only fleeting reference to foreign problems, devoting all of his remarks to what he called "the great transcendent issues which affect the life of nearly every human being on this planet."

In his only reference to foreign policy, Johnson said:

"We cannot, and will not, withdraw from this world. We are too rich, too powerful, and too important. And we are too concerned."

Saying that the younger generation — those under 25 — constitute the world's majority, Johnson said "You inherit a world with great danger, the largest difficulties and the most promising destiny in history."

He added: "No longer can we ignore the hopes of the poor and the oppressed. And for the first time we have the power to fulfill those hopes. You may witness a rebirth of hope or the ruin of civilization, the defeat of misery or the destruction of man. These are the choices which you, too, are called upon to make.

'As an American citizen today, you are also a citizen of the world. Your cause is truly the cause of all mankind."

Elaborating on his theme that the central task of the younger generation is to make the world serve to enrich the dignity and value of human beings, Johnson said:

'We will do this not through riches, power or comfort. You will find meaning only by sharing in responsibilities, the dangers, and the passions of your time. A great American (John F. Kennedy) told us to ask what we could do for our country. By asking, you will not only help others, but you will be giving purpose to your own life.

"Think of how much there is to do. You must rebuild the cities of America and rescue the countryside from destruction. You must wipe out poverty and eliminate racial injustice. You must labor for peace and freedom and an end to misery all around the world.

Malcolm X Knew Peril Was Close

EDITOR'S NOTE — A year ago AP reporter Jules Loh had a long interview with Malcolm X during a plane trip from Washington to New York. Malcolm X said he was in peril but asked that nothing be published on this aspect. In the following article, Loh recalls the conversation in the light of Malcolm X's violent death.

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP) — Malcolm X said a year ago that "hostile forces," which he wouldn't identify, were out to kill him. It sounded like far-fetched melodrama at the time, but now he is dead.

"They did make an effort to kill me," he said. "I can prove it."

The manner of his death Sunday — cut down while he was making a speech — fits Malcolm's own dramatic account of the intrigue and subsurface violence which he said was rampant within the Black Muslims at the time he left the sect.

His leaving, he said, was in no way voluntary. "They put me out," he insisted. He said he had announced publicly he had broken away of his own will merely to avoid any more discussion of his departure than necessary.

"We have our own law," Malcolm said, "our own way of taking care of ourselves."

The words came back forcefully Sunday.

Malcolm X asked that none of this be published at the time. He recounted it last March 26 during an airplane flight from Washington to New York. He had flown to Washington that morning to watch the Senate debate the civil rights bill. The trip, and Malcolm's conversation as he sat with the chair tilted back as the plane roared toward New York at dusk, provided some intimate glimpses of the Negro leader.

He called the civil rights bill debate "a con game." He said that if the bill were passed, it would never be enforced. "Enforcing it would bring a civil war to the South and a race war to the North," he said. For his part, Malcolm believed the answer to racial problems lay in neither legislation nor nonviolent direct action after the fashion of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He said he believed that unless Negroes lived in a separate land — and he didn't really see how this could ever come about — one race would simply dominate the other. He wanted the black man — Malcolm avoided the term Negro, "an invention of blue-eyed white devils" — to be on top.

Demand For Water Off In January

The Colorado River Municipal Water District got off to a slow start in January, but revenues managed to show a slight gain.

While cooler weather had some effect on municipal demands, blustery weather and some severe sandstorms had the greater hand in dulling consumption by 53,000,000 gallons. The three member cities were billed for only 383 million gallons as compared with 435 million in January of last year.

Revenues for the month amounted to $227,650, up slightly from $224,336 for January of 1964. Oil companies paid in $6,000 more than the year before, and the Perkins - Prothro pipeline lease in Coke county brought in $1,918 which was new revenue.

Total operating expenses were $77,634 for January, compared with $70,261 for the same month a year ago. Of this difference, about $3,500 was in increased payments into the employe retirement fund. The $150,016 balance of revenues over expenditures was held for transfers to funds for debt service and other purposes.

Water billed to customers amounted to 701,394,000 gallons, down from 728,953,000 a year ago. All but 1,166,000 gallons, which was produced by city wells, came from Lake J. B. Thomas.

Apple Tart

½ cup butter, soft
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, soft
1¼ cups unsifted flour
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
¾ teaspoon salt.
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) apple slices
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup commercial sour cream
½ cup confectioners sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

In a medium mixing bowl with a wooden spoon, work together the butter and cream cheese until combined. Stir together the flour, granulated sugar and ½ teaspoon salt; with the spoon, work into butter mixture until combined; with floured hands, if necessary, pat into a ball. Using a well - prepared pastry cloth and stockinet - covered rolling pin, roll out dough into a 9-inch round. Fit pastry, without stretching, into a 9-inch pie plate; it should come up to rim. Chill about 30 minutes.

Into a medium saucepan turn the remaining ¼ teaspoon salt, undrained apple slices, brown sugar and lemon juice; cook and stir over moderate heat until sugar dissolves; continue to cook until practically all the liquid evaporates — about 15 minutes for whole cooking period; cool. Spread apple mixture over pastry. Stir together the sour cream, confectioners sugar and cinnamon; spoon and spread over apples. Bake on low shelf of hot (400 degrees) oven for 25 minutes. Serve warm or reheat. Just before serving, sift a little confectioners sugar over the top. Makes 6 servings.

American Rushes To Brink

THE BRINKMAN. By Desmond Meiring.

Meiring's first book is a fiction story set against actual happenings in Laos from November 1959 to December 1960. The author says he has nothing to prove about the ideologies of the world's two great power blocs, then goes on to show the ugly — us guessed it — American.

Moral of "The Brinkman" apparently is that United States policy of backing the farthest right wing government possible is like fighting a strictly defensive war — you can never win that way. Meiring is all for a coalition government in a place like Laos, with at least some chance of socialistic reforms and unifying the country.

He tells his story through a narrator, who neatly fulfills the conditions of being there and seeing everything but not taking a part himself in the main plot. Narrator Jean - Philippe Raymond is from France, a country whose major role in Indochina is over, a journalist and therefore observant; and his role in the book is as half the love interest. Raymond also is the best realized character in the novel. Perhaps he is based on Meiring himself, a political reporter and businessman who has traveled widely, including in Southeast Asia.

The book starts with a sharp scene between two Vietnamese Communists, one an emotionless walking textbook and the other something of a humanist. There also are moments when Peter Pridie, the American who is confident and wrong, is the center of a clear, searching scene. But the first two are not seen often enough again and frequently all three of these characters and their motivations and the things they cause to happen are about as clear as the mud in the Mekong Delta.

This is an interesting world-politics novel, if you don't mind alternating lucidity with a certain amount of heavy wading.

If you want to show off your carving skill, take note of this suggestion. Let the meat cool if it has just finished cooking, then put it in the oven at a low "keep - warm" temperature (140 to 200 degrees) for 20 to 30 minutes. The meat then will then have a better texture and be easier to carve.

Boyle Takes Peek In Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In Eskimoland you don't bring your best girl a box of candy, you give her a pair of stockings made of salmon skin.

Science has done much to increase the longevity of the young, but hasn't really added much to the life span of those in their elder years. Around 1900 a man of 80 could look forward to living 5.10 more years on the average; the figure for an 80-year-old man today has risen only to 5.90.

One of the diseases of modern living is the "boredom headache." Doctors say thousands get it every day.

The heaviest coffee drinkers are those between 40 and 50, about 4.33 cups a day.

Most women love dinky little ashtrays; most men think they are a nuisance. Well, they are more than a nuisance — they're a danger. About one-third of the 95,000 fires in the home attributed to careless smoking are blamed on unsafe ashtrays.

A Swedish color specialist claims you are 10 times less likely to get in an accident if you drive a pink instead of a black car.

Quotable notables: "America is a large, friendly dog in a very small room. Every time it wags its tail, it knocks over a chair." — historian Arnold Toynbee.

If you're an ordinary office worker, you spend up to 19 per cent of your energy trying to overcome the distractions of noise.

Gem legend: A jasper and silver ring will guard the wearer against illness. A ruby protects you from the wrath of enemies or the unreasonable demands of friends. Aristotle thought the amethyst kept away harmful vapors. An emerald is supposed to make you wiser, richer, and enable you to foretell the future. (If a woman cheats on her husband while wearing an emerald legend says the stone will crack.)

Cooking tip: To keep mashed potatoes from tasting like blah, a hotel chef recommends adding bits of crumbled bacon.

Apt definitions: An adult is someone who has stopped growing at both ends — but not in the middle.

The good old days: The 52nd U.S. Congress was the first to appropriate a billion dollars — and it took two years to do the job. It appropriated $507 million for the fiscal year of 1893, and $519½ million for the following year.

Bargains: The latest thing on the market for the guy who doesn't like to drink after meals is a liver-flavored shaving brush. For the proud new father who wants to impress the neighbors: A mink baby carriage robe — at $499.

Disorganized GOPs Might Puzzle George Washington

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The idea of political parties worried George Washington and in his farewell address he warned against the danger of them. If he were alive today he might not like Democrats or Republicans.

But it's the Republicans who would puzzle him more. They look just as disconnected now as they did in the 1964 campaign.

The Democrats, at least, are organized and know what they stand for: big government and government responsibility for the general welfare. The voters gave them overwhelming approval.

Sen. Barry Goldwater was against that. So when he lost, in one of the worst defeats in history, the Republicans, badly divided over him, had the job of trying to resurrect the party and decide what they stand for.

They won't resurrect the party unless they can unify it. It isn't clear they have achieved that. And it certainly isn't clear they're agreed on what they stand for.

Last year Goldwater and his handpicked brain trust were the constant critics of things as they are but were almost totally lacking on the constructive side in offering specific solutions for what ailed the country.

Before he got into the race Goldwater was positive on many things. Once in, he became vague, hedged on some of his unpopular previous statements, and used an extraordinary amount of time insisting he was not irresponsible.

This didn't add to the voters' enlightenment.

Last week some prominent Republicans discussed the party's future at a four-day session of the Young Republican National Leadership Training School. That wasn't very enlightening, either.

Sidney Captain, a GOP finance chairman from Baltimore, had some suggestions on how to raise campaign funds.

Successful political fund raising, he said, begins at a cocktail party with "plenty of booze and plenty of charming girls floating around so there'll be no arguments."

Captain is a fund-raiser, not an idea man. But one of Goldwater's idea men, in fact his right-hand man, Republican National Chairman Dean Burch, tried his hand at resurrecting the party.

He told the Republicans, among other things, to establish themselves in the South but he warned against racial appeals. Instead, he suggested the party appeal to the economic conservatism of the average Southerner.

Who the average Southerner is, he didn't say. Nor did he offer proof that the average one is an economic conservative. But in an area where so many are poor Negroes, alongside many poor whites, there isn't much for them to conserve although all are potential voters.

So Burch's ideas at this meeting didn't illuminate the party's problems.

The GOP House leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan, didn't criticize Burch but he blamed an "unfortunate image" of the party for lack of wider appeal to various segments of the electorate, including young people and minority groups.

"I do not think," he said, "we have been able, or tried hard enough, to sell the people on the fact that we do care for their problems."

This may sound human enough but one of the best ways for a political party to tell people how much its cares for their problems is to offer programs and Ford didn't offer any.

Goldwater talked to the Young Republicans, but he sounded like the Goldwater of 1964, still on the defensive at home but very militant abroad, while deriding President Johnson.

Junior Editors Quiz on BARRACUDA

QUESTION: Will a barracuda really bite people?

ANSWER: The barracuda looks something like the pikes and pickerel found in the streams and lakes of our eastern and central states—but this fish inhabits salt water. There a number of different species, the smaller kinds not being considered dangerous to human beings. It is different, however, with the largest-variety, the Great Barracuda, which lives off the coasts of the Carolinas, Florida and the West Indies. Large specimens of these can be from eight to ten feet long, although barracuda over five feet are rare. Wise swimmers, like the one in our picture, will head for shore at top speed if they know a barracuda is lurking around, as these fish do sometimes attack human beings. The barracuda has razor-sharp teeth and a habit of following any moving object, being likely to make a sudden rush or strike at anything which gleams in the water or catches the light.

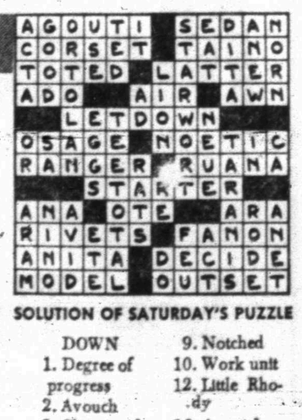

Although the barracuda's tendency to strike at something moving makes him dangerous to swimmers, it also leads him to seize lures cast out by fishermen. The Silver Barracuda of the coast of South California is said to be the kind most useful for food.

FOR YOU TO DO: Some time you may have occasion to visit tropical seas, and it's good to know about underwater dangers so you can avoid them. Look up 'shark' and 'piranha' in an encyclopedia. Another very dangerous creature is the moray eel. 2/22

Davidson Is Faced With Tournament

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lefty Driesell's Davidson Wildcats have won 22 straight games, the longest current streak in major college basketball, but it won't mean a thing if they don't sweep through the Southern Conference championship tournament this week.

"Our record is nice," the Davidson coach said. "But I'd trade it to go through the tournament unbeaten."

Driesell's feelings are understandable because the tournament winner gets an automatic bid to the NCAA playoffs and a chance at the national collegiate championship. And the Wildcats, fifth-ranked nationally, have been upset in the tournament the last two years.

Davidson is favored in the three-day tournament opening Thursday at Charlotte. Oddly, its first-round opponent is Virginia Military, the team that shocked the Wildcats in the semifinals a year ago.

With an over-all 8-12 record to Davidson's 23-1 it hardly seems possible VMI can do it again, but Driesell knows anything happens in this tournament.

Two days before Davidson puts its hopes on the line, the Michigan Wolverines, ranked No. 1 nationally in The Associated Press poll, invade Minneapolis for an acid test against ninth-ranked Minnesota.

With the Gophers only one game behind the Wolverines in the Big Ten race a sellout is expected for the Tuesday night clash. Minnesota beat Michigan in Minneapolis last year and the Gophers, after their first Big Ten title in 27 years, vow to repeat.

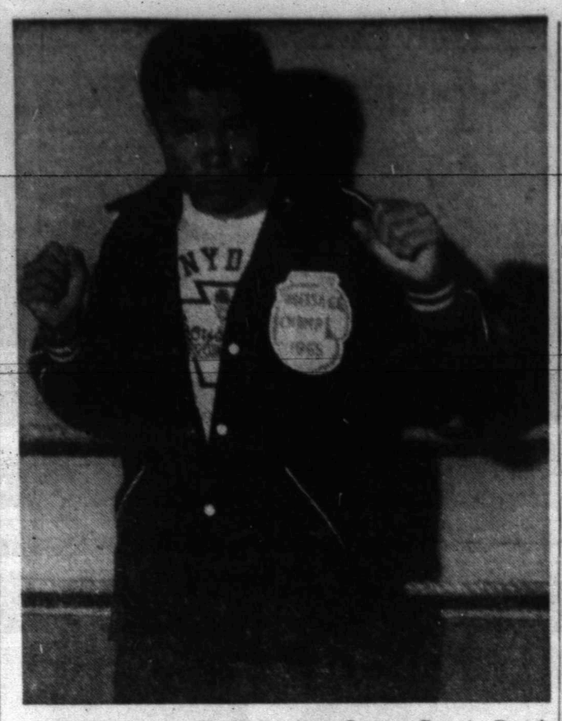

The Providence Friars, 19-0, visit Villanova and risk their record as the nation's only unbeaten major team and the Oklahoma State Cowboys, needing a win to protect their shaky Big Eight lead, host the Oklahoma Sooners at Stillwater Tuesday.

The Colorado Buffaloes who upset Oklahoma State 57-54 Saturday and pulled within one game of the Cowboys, entertain Missouri tonight. Also on tap tonight are two vital games in the Southeastern Conference, Georgia at Vanderbilt and Auburn at Tennessee.

Vanderbilt regained the No. 1 spot in the SEC by defeating Florida 80-78 Saturday while Alabama knocked eighth-ranked Tennessee off the top rung 63-58.

Sharing the headlines with the Crimson Tide's upset of Tennessee was Yale's stunning 71-69 victory over Cornell at Ithaca.

New Mexico regained first place in the Western Athletic Conference by defeating Arizona 70-66 and plays at Wyoming Friday night in another vital conference game.

IN SEMIFINALS—Rudy Benitez, Scurry County Boys' Club boxer, who is fighting with the Odessa regional team in the state Golden Gloves tournament, meets Fred Garcia in a Flyweight semifinal bout at Fort Worth. Benitez won the division title at Odessa and then won a unanimous decision over Leroy Moralez of Port Arthur in the state meet. Garcia, New Mexico and National Golden Gloves champion in 1963, is now fighting out of Plainview.

Finals Tonight In GG Tourney

FORT WORTH (AP)—Texas champions of the Golden Gloves will be decided tonight on a card that calls for 14 fights.

Finalists first will be determined in the flyweight, bantamweight and featherweight classes, then the boys will slam into determining the eight champions who will go to Kansas City March 15-19 for the national tournament, at which Texas is defending team champion.

Among those who appear certain to go is Jesse Valdez, the Houston schoolboy who is national AAU welterweight champion and defending state titlist.

Valdez has been regarded as one of the best ever to appear in the tournament now in its 29th year. He's so classy they think he could beat anybody in the tournament no matter what the class.

His foe in the finals tonight is Jim Miller of Corpus Christi.

Two other former champions also are in the spotlight. One is Fred Garcia of Plainview, who won the national bantamweight title in 1963. He meets Rudy Benitez of Odessa in a flyweight semifinal bout opening tonight's program:

Joe Gracie of Tyler and Ronald Hernandez of San Antonio are in the other semifinal.

Manuel Navarro of Austin, national bantamweight champion last year, is fighting in the featherweight class. He goes against Donald Jones of Fort Worth in a semifinal. Jesse Avalos Jr. of Corpus Christi clashes with Oscar Albarado of San Antonio in the other.

The bantamweight semifinals send Richard Cole of Dallas against Gary Swinney of Tyler and Eddie Gonzales of Plainview against Jimmy Arteaga of Fort Worth.

Final bouts scheduled include the following:

Lightweights—Ray Garay, Houston, vs. Johnny Gonzales, Ranger.

Welterweights—Jim Miller, Corpus Christi, vs. Jesse Valdez, Houston.

Middleweights—Gene Guess, San Antonio, vs. Burton Gilliam, Dallas.

Light heavyweights—Mark Tessman, Houston, vs. Daryl Stark, Dallas.

Heavyweights—David Zyglewicz, Houston, vs. Lynn Farr, Fort Worth.

Wichita Is Still Ahead

By The Associated Press

Wichita still has the inside track for its second straight Missouri Valley basketball championship, despite a shaky road trip to Tulsa and North Texas. Three of Wichita's last four games are at home, where the Shockers are unbeaten this season.

Dave Leach's 14-foot jump shot at the gun lifted Wichita past North Texas 69-67 Saturday, two days after the Shockers took their first Valley defeat at Tulsa. Leach's shot might prove the eventual title winner for Gary Thompson in his first year as head coach.

The Shockers head into the home stretch with a 9-1 record and a two-game bulge over improved St. Louis at 7-3.

Teams For State Meet Being Picked

By The Associated Press

They pick the teams for the state schoolboy basketball tournament this week, and there are 173 district champions seeking the 22 places that come from five divisions.

There can be only one repeating state champion and even this is clouded. McAdoo, kingpin of Cass B, won its district title and is in the playoffs. But McAdoo still has quite a way to go—bi-district and regional tournament.

Houston Austin of Class AAAA, Graham of Class AAA, Canyon of Class AA and Talco of Class A failed to make it back to the playoffs.

Bi-district games are scheduled tonight and Tuesday night, then will come the regional tournaments unless some of the regions choose to play it out on an individual team basis.

In Class AAAA the teams pair like this in the bi-district round: El Paso vs. Midland Lee, Pampa vs. Fort Worth Haltom, Fort Worth Arlington Heights vs. Dallas Jefferson, Highland Park vs. Marshall, Houston Jones vs. Houston Memorial, Beaumont French vs. Texas City, Austin McCallum vs. Kingsville, San Antonio Lee vs. San Antonio Brackenridge.

In Class AAA it's Dumas vs. Seminole, Levelland vs. Brownwood, Mineral Wells vs. Sulphur Springs, Kilgore vs. Waxahachie, West Orange vs. Houston Furr, Wharton vs. Clear Creek, Belton vs. San Marcos, San Antonio Marshall vs. Weslaco.

Tech Can Clinch Title This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech's boisterous Red Raiders, traveling at an 86.8 points per game pace, can sew up the Southwest Conference basketball championship this week if they get the proper cooperation from Rice or Baylor.

First, they must beat Baylor and second Rice or Baylor must beat Southern Methodist to make all this come about. Also, Texas Tech must lick Texas Christian, which, however, doesn't seem too big a hurdle being as TCU has been beaten by almost everybody.

Tech lashed Texas 87-73 and Rice 77-67 last week to rest on top of the race with a 9-1 record and four games to play.

Southern Methodist also won two games, edging Texas Christian 96-95 and Texas 73-70, to hang in second place, two games behind the fast-moving Red Raiders.

Texas Tech plays Baylor at Waco Tuesday night and will have a double incentive. Baylor is the only team able to beat Texas Tech.

Southern Methodist hosts Rice which has won only one game but has given the best of them trouble. Saturday night, for instance, the Owls had Tech in a fog most of the way before losing in the final minutes.

Texas and Arkansas battle at Little Rock tonight while Texas A&M plays Texas Christian at Fort Worth in games meaning little in the race.

Friday night Texas Tech gets Texas Christian at Lubbock. Saturday night Texas and A&M clash at Austin, Arkansas and Rice joust at Houston and Baylor tackles Southern Methodist at Dallas.

While it isn't absolutely certain that Tech will win the championship, a lot of talk has arisen over chances of the conference in the NCAA playoffs. And Texas Tech is given a good chance of going places in the event it is the conference representative.

Borger Still Has No Coach

TULIA, Tex. (AP)—Jimmie Keeling said Sunday night he would not go to Borger as head football coach but would remain at Tulia.

Keeling, announced as taking the place of Gene Mayfield at Borger, told radio station KTUE he had thought it over and had decided to stay here where he has been coaching four years.

Mayfield resigned at Borger to go to Odessa Permian.

Keeling has a 31-10 record at Tulia High School, winning one district championship. He had won a district title at Dublin before coming here.

Bob Charles Can Relax Easier Now

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bob Charles almost took off last week from his work as a pro golfer but he'll relax this week instead, $6,800 richer for waiting a few days.

The former British Open champion entered the $46,000 Tucson Open tournament five minutes before the deadline and led from start to finish with rounds of 65-69-67-70—271.

His 17-under-par total gave the 28-year-old left-hander from New Zealand, a four-stroke victory over Al Geiberger, who trailed by five strokes going into the final round.

Five strokes back at 266 was Don January, who has won the Tucson Open twice. January closed with a brilliant 63 Sunday on the 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National Club golf course.

Bill Casper Jr., top over-all money winner on the tour this year, was a stroke behind January at 277.

Charles had just about decided to pass up the Tucson event because he was tired after six straight weeks on the tour.

"However, my game was in good shape and I didn't have anywhere to go," he said. "So I decided I might as well come down here and take the week off."

Jim Grelle Can 'Kick' With Best

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Grelle may not be the best miler in the world, but there are few who would argue that the lean Californian is the best 4:07 miler around.

The veteran from Los Angeles has won three major mile races on the indoor circuit this season, and each was tailor-made for him. The fastest was 4:07.1.

"That's fine, just fine," Grelle said today. "If they want to set a slow pace, it's fine with me. I'm happy to lay back there and let them plod — then kick with them. I can kick with 'most anyone."

That was his strategy Saturday when he loafed along in the slow-moving pack for 10 of the 11 laps of the AAU indoor championship mile at Madison Square Garden, then started his kick.

He whipped past the front-running Witold Baran of Poland just at the gun and took it going away by five yards. The time was 4:07.4.

It was his third victory on the indoor circuit this season. The others were 4:07.1 in the New York A.C. Games, and a plodding 4:13.2 in the Toronto Maple Leaf Games.

"I'm running to win" Grelle said. "If it's 4:30 and I win, I'm delighted."

Lumberjacks Can Clinch Loop Tie

By The Associated Press

Stephen F. Austin can clinch a tie for the Lone Star Conference basketball championship tonight —and might even win it.

The Lumberjacks, leading by a game with two to play, can run their record to 9-2 by beating last place Sam Houston at Nacogdoches.

Dennis Ralston Has Suggestions

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Dennis Ralston has some suggestions for U.S. Davis Cup officials if they're really intent on getting the big trophy back from Australia.

The suggestions are these:

1. Name a Davis Cup captain immediately — preferably Bill Talbert.

2. Return Pancho Gonzales as Coach.

3. Persuade the semi-retired Chuck McKinley to stay on the team as a doubles player.

"Something should be done right away — we should have a captain, get a squad and start organizing," America's No. 1 ranking player from Bakersfield, Calif., said. "The longer we sit, the worse are our chances."

Ralston was in an expansive mood in the Salisbury Civic Center after losing the National Indoor tennis championship final Sunday to Jan-Erik Lundquist, the Swedish Davis Cup star, 4-6, 13-11, 6-4, 11-9.

On the match itself, the crew-cut Californian had no excuses.

"Jan simply played better," he explained. "His serve was awfully tough and he kept the pressure on me from the start."

"I would like to see Bill Talbert brought back as captain," Dennis said. 'He's a very good captain and especially valuable in doubles. That's the most important point in the Davis Cup."

Talbert was fired as captain after leading the team from 1953 through 1958. A succession of captains followed, with Vic Seixas serving last year.

Ralston, who is the key to U.S. Davis Cup hopes, believes McKinley, who recently joined a financial firm in New York, could be talked into a part-time role on the team.

"Chuck could play doubles — that would be a tremendous help, and it wouldn't take up too much of his time."

"OLD GLIBERTONGUE"

Old Glibertongue aint selling nothing. Old Gliber is buying an interest in the future. Old Glibertongue looks at every boy he sees, and knows that, that boy must earn $237,600.00 to support he and his family from the time he is 21 until he is 65 years old. Old Glibertongue knows that it is only fair that we should shoulder our part of the responsibility of giving this boy an opportunity of earning this money here at home. That's the reason old Glibertongue glibered enough money to build a $161,000.00 plastic plant. Old Gliber voted for bonds to build new highways. Old Gliber knows that accidents are going to happen in his plastic plant, with legal sales and on the highway. But old Gliber knows that if people obey the laws under which these things are governed, far more good will comes from them than harm.

Old Glibertongue knows throughout the history of man Zealots have fought progress with an obsession that sometimes borders on cruelty, tyrany and oppression. This is the reason 22 million dollars has been spent in Big Spring in the past 16 years. This money could have been spent here at home, and we would of had industry that would have provided jobs for our children who have had to leave here to seek employment for themselves elsewhere.

82 per cent of the people and 131 counties in Texas have legalized the sale of beer to hold their population and to protect their own economy over the protest of the Zealots. These Zealots would turn us back to prohibition with its crime and its terror, and under their influence Texas would lose four new breweries that will spend 75 million dollars and create 1000 new jobs in 1965. 22 million spent for bottles and cans, 3½ million spent for cartons, 1½ million spent for crowns, ½ million spent for labels, 90 thousand spent for kegs. The state will lose $60,162.78 dollars every 24 hours of every day in the year. Washington will lose $125,592.10 every day of the year.

The counties will lost $1,309,240.60 in license and permit fees and the 669 thousand for light and power, 298 thousand for natural gas, 478 thousand for telephone service, over 1 million to the farmers for farm products, 12½ million for advertising, 4½ million for trucks, 2 old million for gas and oil, ½ million for tires, 1 million for truck repairs. 5,619 People who work in the wholesale end of it who earn 33 million dollars a year, pay $700,000.00 in taxes, pay 1 million a year for house rent, support 15,618 other people beside themselves, gave 158,885 hours and $1,217,662.59 in money to churches, civic and charity organizations and 1 billion dollars for brewries, retail stores and their employees.

This is the loss they would have us take under their influence. Our local loss will be every fourth business building empty in 5 years. When they leave we can gaze upon their monument of debris and speak of a job well done, of empty houses and buildings, all 6,000 of us.

Shame on our house, that won't provide for their own. Help get the petitions signed and we will move on with the 131 counties and 82 per cent of the people of Texas, to more industry, more tourists, more jobs. We will follow the advice of one of the greatest presidents we ever had, Woodrow Wilson, and prosper or we will follow the advice of the Zealots and fail. Some of you people send us a little money to help out on these ads. This is a free country, we can have an election on anything, anytime we see fit regardless of the Zealots.

All the poles of Midwest Electric Cooperative can't hold the appliances purchased by cooperative members.

This year alone they will spend more than 1,500,000 dollars for a wide variety of appliances to use the electric systems they built themselves. This money goes to home-town merchants and to the millions of people in industry who helped manufacture these appliances and equipment.

This productive pole . . . planted by the member-owners of the Midwest Electric Cooperative . . . and nurtured through the years has contributed a thousand times its original cost in a stronger rural economy . . . and a better way of life for its owners. Annual "Pride Of The West" Band Banquet Held

The Snyder High School "Pride of the West" band banquet was held Friday evening in the school cafeteria. The annual event is sponsored by the High School Band Parents' Club.

Dr. Robert Hargrove, president of the club was master of ceremonies for the evening. Gary Worley gave the invocation and Mrs. Jane Womack presented background music on the electric organ.

Chicken fried steak, tossed green salad, whipped potatoes, green beans, strawberry shortcake, hot rolls, butter, coffee and tea were served. Approximately 155 persons were seated at 12 long tables representing the 12 months of the year. Each held an outstanding array of decorations. They were: "Auld Lang Syne", "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", "Easter Parade", "Strolling Through The Park", "Over The Rainbow", "Yankee Doodle", "In the Good Old Summertime", "School Days", "Shine On Harvest Moon", "Tiger Fight Song", and "Jingle Bells".

Dr. Hargrove gave the welcome and Ray Martin the response.

Mr. M. B. Montgomery, band director, introduced the guest speaker and entertainer, Dr. A. B. Lightfoot. "Magic" was the course of entertainment in which Dr. Lightfoot had several of the boys and girls to aid him in his tricks. He then settled down to a more serious side of the program and spoke on "happiness", saying real happiness is to have peace of mind with oneself and with God.

Mrs. J. M. Kayser led the audience in a melody roundup with each group at the individual tables standing as they sang the song their table represented.

Mr. Montgomery gave special recognitions to members of his band.

Mr. Santa Claus made an appearance and brought a sack of "gag" gifts to various members of the school, including an authentic marriage license to Mr. Charles Shaw, assistant director. Other items such as beatle wigs, a framed picture by the noted artist Peter Hurd, Metrical, Geritol, spray deodorizer, free tooth pullin', change purse with a neck string and stuffed toy. The climax of the evening was the crowning of the "Band Sweetheart" Miss Connie Reynolds.

June Westfall led group in singing the alma mater at the close of the evening.

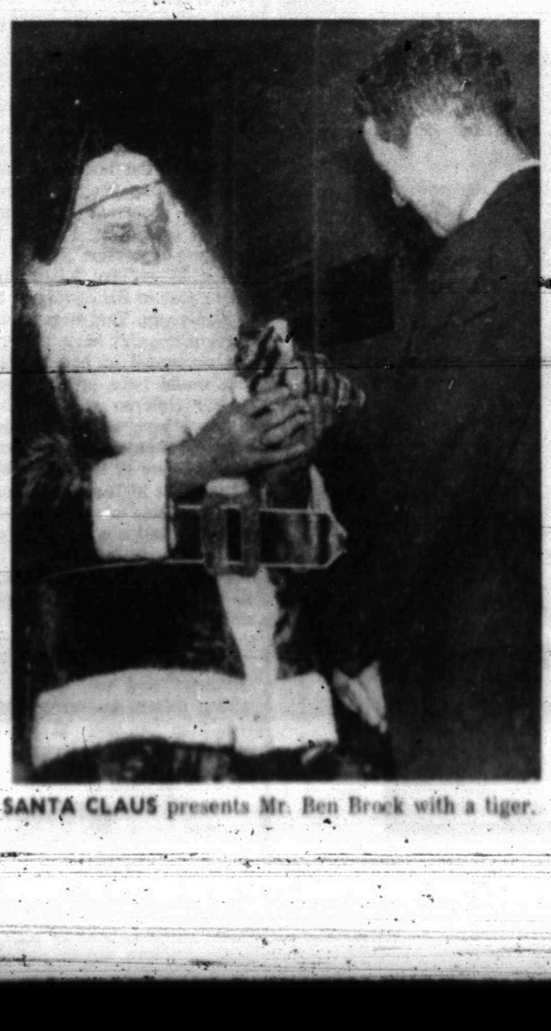

BAND SWEETHEART Connie Reynolds is presented gift by Dr. Robert Hargrove.

Gold Drain May Slow Trips Abroad

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has told passport offices around the country to do nothing that might in any way encourage Americans to travel abroad while the nation suffers from a gold drain.

Among other things, the offices are being told to take down any posters or other displays that encourages foreign travel. However, passports will remain available to citizens who want them, and the number of applicants is expected to increase.

The State Department's directive is a follow-up to President Johnson's Feb. 18 balance-of-payments message. Johnson suggested that Americans 'see the U.S.A." on vacations rather than unload their dollars on foreign junkets.

Noting that American tourist spending overseas climbed $600 million in the last four years, Johnson said 'foreign travel should be encouraged when we can afford it — but not while our payments position remains urgent."

This part of the presidential message is now being brought to the attention of the State Department's passport offices in a memo from Abba P. Schwartz, administrator of security and counselor affairs.

State Department offices in 10 American cities have been doing a booming business in passports. About 3,800 court clerks throughout the nation also are authorized to receive passport applications.

Johnson asked Congress to cut in half the present $100 duty-free allowance now given returning Americans on goods they buy abroad. State Department employes have called off one of their vacation charter flights to Europe this year.

Whether either the President or the State Department thinks Americans actually will cut back overseas tours is another question.

Court Hears Arguments On Aid To Religious Schools

By TOM STUCKEY

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A battery of lawyers is to assemble in a small courtroom in Anne Arundel County courthouse Tuesday to argue a question that has long puzzled Americans — does the Constitution permit public funds to be given to religious colleges?

On the bench will be Judge O. Bowie Duckett, a gray-haired jurist who loves a good constitutional case.

Leading the attack on the Maryland practice of aiding church-related colleges will be Leo Pfeffer, a New York attorney and an authority on the church-state issue who has argued cases in this field in many American courts.

Heading the defense will be William L. Marbury, one of Maryland's most respected lawyers.

The focal point of the trial is four grants totaling $2.5 million made by the Maryland Legislature to four small church-affiliated colleges in 1962 and 1963.

The colleges never got the money, intended to help construct buildings, because the bonds approved by the legislature couldn't be sold after the suit was filed.

During two weeks of hearings in December and January evidence was presented by both sides.

It is likely that the decision will influence the future of public support of church schools at all levels in the United States, and it conceivably could affect the entire financial aspect of church-state relations.

Attorneys for both sides say the case probably will wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court. Accordingly, they carefully laid a foundation of evidence at the earlier hearings on which to build their constitutional arguments.

Although the constitutional question hasn't been argued yet, it cropped up a few times.

Marbury at one point cited several Supreme Court decisions which he said established a precedent that public aid is permissible if a church-related institution performs 'a legitimate secular function that does not advance or prohibit religion."

Pfeffer has contended, that Duckett must apply a different constitutional test — that tax support cannot be given to institutions "which either teach or practice religion."

The suit was brought by the Horace Mann League, which lists as its basic purpose "to strengthen our public schools," and a group of Maryland taxpayers.

Lawyers for the colleges are certain to argue that the plaintiffs can not legally bring the action, and Duckett will have to decide this question first.

Those who believe church-affiliated schools should receive public support agree that the decision will be a critical one.

A ruling against them would temporarily kill hopes for getting state and federal funds for parochial schools as well as cut off a valuable flow of tax funds to colleges.

A ruling in their favor could be used as a lever to get more tax support.

Navy Ready To Reactivate Ships

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is preparing to pull four rocket-firing ships out of mothballs to help plug a "gun gap" which has been worrying the Marines.

The four vessels — three of them dating back to World War II — each can deliver 'a tremendous amount of rocket fire" against shore defenses to soften them up just before U.S. assault troops land, the Navy said.

In a related action, the Navy will keep on duty the last two heavy gun cruisers, the Newport News and the St. Paul. These ships, mounting eight-inch guns, were scheduled for retirement.

For a long time, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., the Marine Corps commandant, and Navy amphibious experts have been concerned over a steady attrition in the Navy's lack of fire power to support over-the-beach assaults.

Buried in Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's annual report to Congress last week was a brief mention that three medium landing ships with rockets —LSMR — and one inshore fire support ship — IFS — would be taken out of the reserve fleet during the coming fiscal year "in order to provide increased ship-to-shore fire power to 'cover' the landing forces during an amphibious assault.

"The requirement for ship-to-shore fire power is still under study and we may recommend at a later time the activation of additional ships from the reserve fleet or the construction of a more efficient landing force support ship," McNamara told the House Armed Services Committee.

The LSMR's were built during the latter part of World War II, the IFS, one of a kind, is called the Carronad and was built in 1955.

Amplifying on McNamara's statement, the Navy said the addition of these rocket-firing craft to the active fleet "will improve significantly our capability to land assault forces over defended beaches."

The medium landing ships carry 10 automatic rocket launchers, each able to fire 30 five-inch rockets a minute — or a barrage of 300 rockets with high explosive warheads.

Foes Of Electric Chair Encouraged

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Foes of the death penalty say the chances of tossing Texas' electric chair on the scrap heap are the best in years.

Rep. Charles Whitfield of Houston introduced last week a bill to abolish capital punishment. Nine House members signed as co-sponsors — the most in recent legislative history.

"There is quite a bit of movement in the direction of reducing the death penalty," said Rob Cogswell, secretary of the Texas Society to Abolish Capital Punishment. "Juries are handing down fewer death sentences, and the difficulty in empaneling juries indicates people are more reluctant to impose capital punishment."

Past attempts to abolish the death penalty have been opposed by law enforcement officials, including county and district attorneys. They argued the penalty discourages would-be murders, rapists and armed robbers. Bills to end the penalty died in the house in 1961 and 1963 without coming to a vote.

In 1963 — the latest full year for which statistics are available — 21 executions were carried out in the United States. Texas had — more than any other state — four.

2 Space Generators Are Delivered

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. has delivered the first pair of prototype nuclear generators for use in space to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The first two units contain no radioactive fuel. They will be heated electrically for their qualification tests.

Each generator is designed to deliver 30 watts of direct current to the weather satellite Nimbus B, the first NASA satellite to use a nuclear power source.

Decay of plutonium 238, which is used for fuel, generates heat which in turn is converted directly into electricity by thermocouples.

Each generator weighs 30 pounds and has a life expectancy of five years.

Ceremonies Set At Washington Memorial

The ceremonies include posting of the colors, and placing of a wreath at the base of the monument.

Humphrey To Tour Cape Kennedy Site

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey takes his first look today at the billions of dollars worth of laboratories and launching facilities in the nation's spaceport.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

A NEW PROCEDURE which passed its "field test" in Texas and Pennsylvania is the taking of pictures of properties which are submitted to State Farm Insurance for coverage by the firm. Roy J. McCloskey, State Farm Insurance agent for Snyder, demonstrates the use of the camera which was provided by the company. The use of pictures rather than word descriptions is another method being used by State Farm to reduce costs so that the savings can be passed along to their customers.

'Instant Pictures' Aid In Writing Of Homeowners Policies By State Farm Ins.

A new innovation, using polaroid pictures instead of words to describe property and thus speed the writing of Homeowners Insurance has met with the approval of the 'home office" of State Farm Insurance, and will be eventually extended into use by all of the company's agents.

Two states were selected for the pilot program — Texas and Pennsylvania, and according to Roy McCloskey, State Farm Insurance agent here, the program was all that it was expected to be.

With the pictures, an underwriter can tell almost all he needs to know, and the approval can be given in a matter of minutes.

The use of cameras by agents is just one of the new ideas pioneered by State Farm Insurance. At any given time, several such projects are being tried out in different sections of the country. Those that work well, like the cameras, are made a part of the entire operation.

Sometimes, what seemed to be a good idea won't work out in practice. Those ideas are discarded, and others tried.

The State Farm Casualty Company is not a new company. It's a stock company that was organized almost 40 years ago, and through those years has always been looking for better ways to do business.

As a result of these improvements, the company was in a competitive position even before they went into the business of providing package policies — what they call their 'Homeowners Policy" — in 1956. So strong was their stock company, and so good their plan, that in 1964 they became the country's largest writer of this package Homeowners Insurance.

Homeowners Insurance provides protection against fire of course. But this modern policy does more than that.

And the best part is that by slightly raising the deductable amount on each claim, they are able to offer the protection at virtually the same cost as old-fashioned insurance.

The State Farm policy protects against everything that old - style policies did, but in addition, gives the policy holder protection against such additional perils as theft, liability, "all-risk" on the building, 'all risk" on personal property, and added fire coverage on damage.

The coverage is generous too. For example, the theft coverage is good for theft losses off the premises as well as on. Also under that coverage, losses from hold-ups or vandalism are covered.

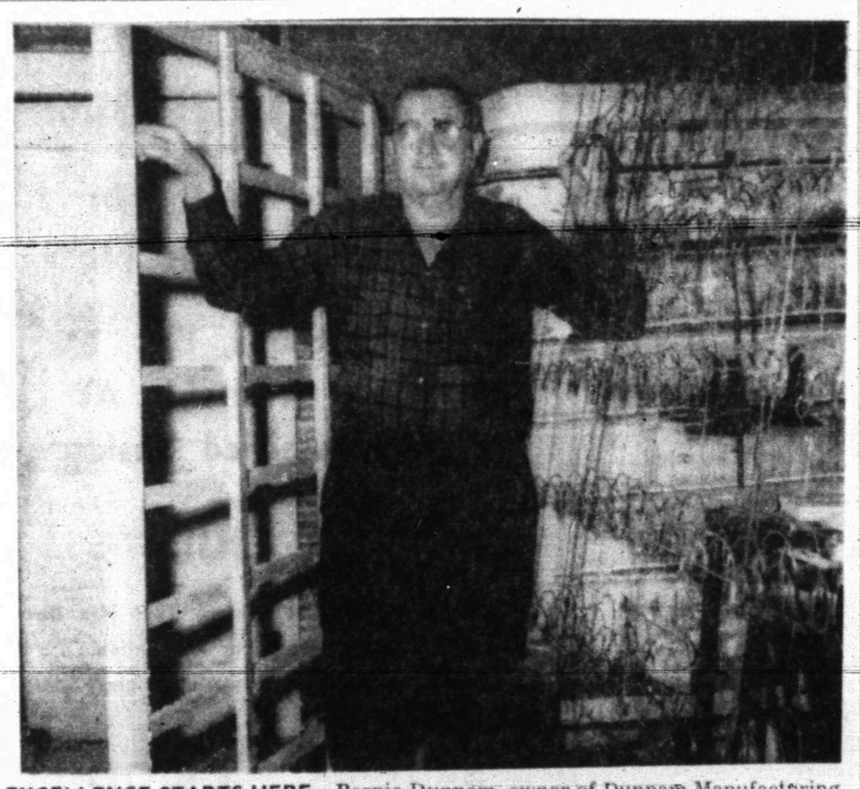

The liability provision covers bodily injury lawsuits, costs of suits whether liable or not, medical expenses from accidents to others, and damage to property of others.

The Homeowners Insurance by State Farm covers damage caused by rupture of heating systems, water damage from heating and plumbing systems, freezing of plumbing or heating systems, or collapse from the weight of ice or snow or falling objects.

Truly the Homeowners Plan is a modern insurance coverage. Not only does it pay for the homeowner's loss, but if the home is uninhabitable because of damage from an insured peril, the policy will pay the necessary extra expenses such as hotel and restaurant until the house can be lived in again.

The Homeowners Insurance is just one of the many forms of insurance offered by State Farm. Automobile insurance, life insurance, and new car financing are all services offered by Roy J. McCloskey Insurance at 3904 Avenue S.

In addition to providing modern insurance coverage for the folks of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. McCloskey also bring the 'Hymns of Faith" program each Sunday morning from 9 until 9:30 o'clock over KSNY Radio. They invite all to listen to this program which carries a minimum of commercial messages.

EXCELLENCE STARTS HERE—Bernie Dunnam, owner of Dunnam Manufacturing, holds the two basic components of a new box spring. The springs themselves are especially made for box spring construction, and the frame is also custom-made right here in Snyder by the Mar-San Western Manufacturing Co. The frames are made of magnolia wood, the same wood used in quality furniture frame building, and are built by these same fine furniture standards.

Anything In Bedding Line Can Be Furnished By Dunnam Manufacturing

Considering the fact that about a third of a person's life is spent in bed, it's sometimes surprising how little attention some folks pay to that important piece of furniture!

But proper rest is the first concern of Dunnam Brothers Manufacturing Co. If it has anything to do with beds or bedding, Dunnam's can furnish it!

Of course they are well-known as manufacturers of fine innerspring and foam mattresses. But that's just a start in describing the mattresses and bedding that are available from Dunnam Brothers Manufacturing Co.

Mattresses made by the firm come in all sizes — from those for baby beds through twin, full size three - quarter, full-size, queen and king size beds. Dunnams specialize in those larger sizes, and have so many calls for the extra long mattresses that they keep the 80-inch length twin and double size mattresses in stock at all times. Extra - length rails too, for converting any bed to an extra - length bed, are stocked in the 80-inch and 84-inch lengths.

Special mattresses for special needs can be made to order by Dunnam Brothers Manufacturing.

For example, hospital mattresses made by the firm are somewhat different from regular mattresses, and are made only up on order from nursing homes or hospitals. One way in which a hospital mattress differs is that they are made with zippered ticks for ease of laundering. Further, because of shrinkage, the ticks are washed before being completed and put on the mattress.

For unsurpassed comfort, long wear, and beauty, Bernie W. Dunnam, owner of the manufacturing firm, suggests that one consider the nationally advertised Orderest innerspring mattress

"No other mattress is able to give the degree of comfort and healthful rest that the Orderest does," Dunnam said. So since a third of one's life is spent in bed, why not spend that time on the very best mattress possible — an Orderest from Dunnam Manufacturing Company.

Californians Build Wall As Reminder

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) — A street corner in this Southern California community became Checkpoint Charlie for a few hours Sunday.

Motorists trying to reach the San Fernando Valley thoroughfare were surprised to find themselves halted before a cement block and barbed-wire barrier under a sign which declared: Now leaving the U.S. sector."

If drivers hesitated before proceeding, a young man with a white helmet and wearing an Army sergeant's blouse leaned into the window and advised them of the dangers of leaving the "free zone."

The purpose of the wall was more serious than just a college hoax, its builders said.

A group of San Fernando Valley State College students, with the blessing of the chamber of commerce and permission of city police, erected the waist-high barrier to remind motorists of a more serious one some 7,000 miles distant.

"It is our way of dramatizing that even though it's too late to tear down the real Berlin wall, we must see to it that no Berlin walls are built in Encino or any other place on the free world,".
