Forty-Five Dead Found After Blast

FDR Making Long Strides To Regain His Former Power

Three-Cornered Fight Possible In 1940 Drive

Recent Tactics Of President May Have Prompt Results; Good Headway Reported

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Definite progress President Roosevelt has made in the past two weeks toward regaining leadership of his own party in congress is of more immediate consequence to the administration than outcome of the liberal conference just called by Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Governor LaFollette's call for a meeting of liberals next Thursday raises possibility of a three-cornered presidential race in 1940. But this threat of a third party candidacy is still a matter of speculation rather than fact, and 1940 is two years away.

Prompt Results Expected

On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt's recent tactics may have prompt political results.

Direct White House pressure forced upon rebellious senate Democrats a tax revision compromise providing the business-criticized undistributed profits tax should be retained in a greatly-modified form. This gives the president at least a tactical advantage in his apparent effort to make this year's Democratic primaries and general elections a test of the administration's popularity with the voters.

Both house and senate are expected generally to approve the tax compromise. Their acceptance of it may influence final outcome of the renewed White House drive to write a wage-hour act into the statutes at this session.

In event both the tax bill compromise and a rewritten wage-hour bill were forced through congress by presidential pressure, Mr. Roosevelt could go to the country during the campaigning with a new slate of leadership accomplishments to stress.

In his lending-spending message, the president made much of the fact he had recommended to this congress "only four measures of

New Faith Seen In Late Pacts

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 23. — Great Britain's new agreements with Italy and Ireland have put new force behind Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's plans for a broad-scale attack on other problems facing European statesmen in the busy week ahead.

With new faith in his "realistic" policy as a result of these achievements in quick succession, Chamberlain returned from a fishing holiday to plunge into this packed schedule:

Four-Point Schedule

1 — Sealing a pact with Ireland Monday which may go far toward removing the long-standing differences between the two countries.

2—Giving final approval to a new budget from which the nation's taxpayers will learn Tuesday whether they must pay more to keep rearmament booming on a large scale.

3 — Mapping procedure for getting League of Nations approval to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia—a vital part of the new Anglo-Italian pact.

4—Conferring with French Premier Edouard Daladier and French Foreign Minister George Bonnet Thursday and Friday on a common policy for maintaining European peace and, if that fails, closer mili-

Bexar County Group May Draft Fergusons In Governor's Race

SAN ANTONIO, April 23. Gwan Home, Shouts Cop; No Wonder!

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 23. — The telephone rang in Brooklyn police headquarters about 3 a. m.

"This is Jack Shaw," said a voice. "I'm a taxicab driver, see? Well, I'm driving down Empire boulevard a little while ago and at Flatbush avenue I see a seal."

Waiting For Street Car

"You see what?" demanded the officer on duty.

"I see a seal. See? I see this seal waiting for a street car, and—"

"O. K., buddy. Take it easy now and go on home," headquarters advised.

"But I see this seal myself."

"Sure you saw him. I see seals all the time waiting for street cars. They like to ride the cars."

"But—" began Shaw.

"Aw, gwan home," he was told.

When the telephone calls began coming in from others, however, the police investigated. And it was a real live seal they

Purge Of Jews For Vienna Is Being Pushed

(By The Associated Press)

VIENNA, April 23 — Jews in Vienna were forced today to picket their own stores.

Jewish shopkeepers were made to hold upwards at arm's length signs reading "don't buy from Jews."

Draped about the necks of persons found in Jewish establishments were placards proclaiming:

Purge Is Started

"This stupid, common person still purchases at Jewish stores."

Hundreds of SA (brownshirt) Hitler youth directed the mass anti-Jewish boycott while German officials began a purge of the famed Austrian national library.

The chief librarian was supplied with a list of prescribed "non-aryan" works to be removed and burned from the 1,200,000 volumes in the magnificent collection.

Destroyed or relegated to cellars were the works of Thomas Mann, Stefan Zweig, Jacob Wasserman, Vickie Baum and others.

Warnings Are Given

In the picketing of Jewish stores, nazis put up signs, warning, "aryans, do not buy from Jews." Windows of a leading coffee shop were smeared with three foot red letters "Jew."

One aged man, forced to hold aloft an anti-Jewish placard, fainted twice. He was revived by cold water thrown into his face, then made to carry on again.

Store owners told police they were prevented from enforcing the 7 p. m. closing regulation by nazi pickets. They thereupon were threat-

Ernest Thompson Carries His Campaign Into East Texas

SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 23. (AP) — Ernest Thompson, candidate for governor, carried his campaign into East Texas today by voicing sharp opposition to cutting needy old people from the pension rolls in cases where their children barely make enough to cover the necessities of life for their own families.

Thompson chiefly stressed his stand on pensions, regulation of utilities, farm and ranch betterment and increasing employment by industrial expansion at an East Texas rally. He cited cases of needy aged people who have been denied pensions because of a son or a daughter made as little as two or three dollars a month more than the cost of necessities.

Wichita Falls To Play Host To Thousands

New York Mayor And Senator Connally To Speak; Affair To Offer Many Features

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, April 23.—From over the rolling plains of West Texas and beyond, thousands turned toward Wichita Falls today for the annual convention of the greatest regional chamber of commerce in the world.

They were drawn by the prospect of hearing and seeing New York's dynamic mayor, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, United States Senator Tom Connally and other notable speakers, as well as for the purpose of formulating a fresh program of progress for the vast area served by the West Texas chamber.

To Speak Tuesday

LaGuardia came to Wichita Falls from Oklahoma City and other points in that state where he had attended several pioneer celebrations and was slated to address the convention Tuesday afternoon, possibly on relief problems. Connally was to speak Wednesday.

As the vanguard of visitors arrived, suggestions for the new year's program were sifted for consideration of the work committee which will meet Monday with Herbert S. Hilburn of Plainview, chairman of the committee and vice president of the chamber, presiding.

Tax Questions Up

One would have the chamber work for abolition of ad valorem taxes for state revenue purposes while another would oppose punitive taxes tending to stagnate oil and business development.

Another of interest not only to West Texas but to the rest of the state would have the land laws amended so that vacancy suits could be tried in the county where the land was located and would give the possessor the prior right of purchase if a vacancy was discovered. Venue of such suits now is placed in Austin.

Expected to draw tens of thousands, the convention will begin officially tomorrow with a religious service.

Monday, in addition to the meet-

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Assistant District Attorney Edmund Rowan said today that Elizabeth Wagner, 22-year-old factory worker, had confessed killing her brothers, Henry, 21, and Charles, 14, by feeding them rat poison.

Rowan said the girl told him after an all-night questioning that she had administered—the posion in her brothers' meals over a period of a week. She was charged with homicide and held for arriagnment later today in felony court.

The assistant district attorney said Miss Wagner told him she did not know why she gave the poison to her younger brother but that she was angry at Henry because he shouted at her and once struck her in the face, knocking out two teeth.

Amherst Woman Is Mother Of 64-Year-Old Triplets; State Officials Puzzled

(By The Associated Press)

LEONARD, April 23.—Workers of the Texas old age assistance commission were puzzled when they received the application of Mrs. M. E. Nix, 88, of Amherst, for a pension. On the form on which she applied, she listed the ages of her three children as 64.

The commission thought the entry was a mistake and sent an investigator for an explanation.

Thus it was brought out that she is the mother of triplets who are believed to be among the oldest living triplets in the United States.

The triplets are Mrs. J. J. Aldridge and Mat Nix of Amherst and Mrs. F. N. Rigney of Leonard. They were born Sept. 27, 1873, in Polk county, near Duckworth, Tenn. The attending physician was Dr. John Calhoun Garner, a cousin of Vice President John Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. Nix brought their family to Texas in 1888 and settled in Fannin county and for many years made their home in and near Leonard. Mr. Nix died in 1908 and since then Mrs. Nix has made her home in Amherst.

Federal Funds In Southwest Asked

(By The Associated Press)

GUYMON, Okla., April 23. — The Southwestern Agricultural association, comprising 39 plains counties of Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado today petitioned congress for $10,000,000 in emergency farm aid for their counties.

They asked $5,000,000 for the same emergency listing and cover crop payment program as last year, and that half of the cover crop payment be made available when the crop is planted.

Earnings Are Cited

They said that under that program the farmers could earn 50 cents per acre establishment of a cover crop, and 25 cents for contour listing.

The farmers said unless the program were fulfilled, only 10 to 25 per cent of the row crop land could be worked this season, and that if 75 per cent thus is left to blow, the other 55 per cent could not be controlled.

Earmarking Asked

They also asked that $5,000,000 be earmarked for loans to them by the Farm Credit administration regional emergency crop loan offices at Dallas and Wichita, Kan.

M. James of Dalhart, Tex., was elevated to the presidency from the vice-presidency. Ray Jackson of Syracuse, Kan., was named vice-president and Roy Taffinder, Dalhart, secretary.

Congress Looks To June 1 For Adjournment

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Leaders today arranged a heavy program for congress next week and set June 1 as an approximate adjournment date.

President Roosevelt intends to complete his legislative recommendations during the week and leave Washington Friday for a fishing trip. Messages are expected from the executive on monopoly, removal of tax exemptions on salaries of public employes and income from federal and state securities.

Much Work Remains

Administration leaders on Capitol Hill hoped to send the tax revision measure to the White House next week, obtain senate approval of the naval expansion bill and clean up a half-dozen odds-and-ends of legislation in the house.

The president's multi-billion dollar spending-lending program will continue its journey through the house appropriations committee.

Drafting of a compromise tax law in the form it probably will go on the statute books hinged only on action of a senate-house conference committee in reconciling numerous details of separate bills passed by the chambers.

End Work Monday

Senator Harrison (D-Miss), a member, forecast the joint committee would complete its work Monday. Yesterday, the conference group agreed on a modified form of the house-approved undistributed profits tax, which has been endorsed by Mr. Roosevelt. It also accepted with slight change a capital gains levy voted by the senate and approved by business spokesmen.

Speaker Bankhead asserted he was "greatly pleased" that the agreement had been reached and predicted that the house would approve the compromise.

Predictions of senate approval came from leaders in that chamber.

McCraw Opens Drive Urging Cut In Taxes

Modernization Of The State Government Also Favored; Other Planks Outlined

(By The Associated Press)

ARLINGTON, April 23. — Attorney General William McCraw came to his birthplace today and took the formal plunge into the governor's race with a plea for modernization of state government and a declaration favoring no new taxes.

He chose this spot—once the mecca of horse race fans in North Texas—to affirm opposition to legalized gambling "in any form" and pledge insistence upon enforcement of local liquor laws by local officers to "relieve the state of a substantial portion of the heavy expense it now incurs in practically taking over this phase of law enforcement."

Old-Fashioned Rally

Arlington citizens and friends of the attorney general from all parts of the state arranged an old-fashioned political rally to background red-headed McCraw's hometown approach to the campaign.

In his own summary of his platform, McCraw emphasized modernization of the state government and urged that taxation be "systematized rather than increased."

Carefully explaining that the experience did not qualify him for the governorship, but had given him valuable contact with the common folk, McCraw told how he sold newspapers on the streets of Dallas as a boy. He outlined his World war service with the 36th division, and cited his record as attorney general. He said the department had brought more than $6,000,000 into the public treasury from varied litigation during his administration. McCraw reviewed the battle for control of hot oil.

Made Determined Stand

"With the aid of your legislature we made a determined stand in the courts of Texas, and stopped the racketeers. We banished the threat of federal control, and established and have maintained the right of the people to control natural resources," he said. "We have a record of 100 per cent victories in

Search For Big Defense Fund Reaches End

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 23.—Treasury experts ended their search today for more revenue to meet heavily increased rearmament and other costs in the fiscal year which began April 1.

The public will not know from whose pocket the cash will come until Tuesday, when Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, presents the 1938-39 budget to the house of commons.

Millions Are Needed

Britain faces necessity of finding millions of pounds sterling additional for rearmament under handicaps of slowly declining business and a tax rate already the highest in her history.

The cabinet will be given the budget details Monday at a special session.

Everyone knows some of the problems the budget figures must solve for it has been predicted 1938-39 expenditures will amount to $4,700,000,000 against an estimated revenue of $4,550,000,000 to $4,575,000,000.

Estimates Are Given

Rearmament estimates — exclusive of money to be spent on the new naval construction program—alone call for expenditure of $1,809,825,000 during the year.

For the 1937-38 fiscal year which closed March 31, the government had a technical surplus but 7.4 per cent of the income was borrowed money.

The same principle of borrowing, instead of taxing, to make a surplus may be applied this year by Sir John.

It is estimated that though the government expects to collect more taxes in the current year, income probably will fall short of outgo by as much as $150,000,000.

Sir John is getting paid $25,000 a year to figure out how to get the difference.

Underground Crew Is Believed To Have Died Instantly; All Bodies Of Victims Broken

(By The Associated Press)

GRUNDY, Va., April 23—Forty-five charred and broken bodies of miners were taken from the seared depths of the Keen mountain mine of the Red Jacket Coal company today, victims of volcano-like explosions which greeted the night shift as it entered the mine yesterday.

The United States bureau of mines officials said no further bodies were in the "drifts" which extend far under the mountain.

Work In Relays

Sweating, sooty-faced members of mine rescue squads, worked in thirty-minute relays in the furnace-like atmosphere until they had explored every avenue of the big mine. Two members were overcome by bad air which had to be blown out before the final group of bodies could be removed.

A sooty-faced miner named plain Bill Smith, who had been riding with bodies down the four-mile narrow gauge railroad for many hours, paused long enough to tell his eye-witness account of the disaster. He was standing fifty feet from the mouth of the mine when he heard the roar and saw flame belched from the mountain.

Spouted As If From Cannon

"The blast was away from me, and that's why I didn't get hurt," he said. "I saw coal-carrying cars, motors, slate and timber spouted as if from a cannon."

"All evidence indicates the underground crew died instantly," said C. P. Kelly, chief mine inspector of the state department of labor. He said federal, state and mine officials would make a full investigation after the rescue work. The mine was a new one, opened last November, and was described as up-to-date in every respect.

Mingo Keadle, vice president of the Red Jacket company, announced that air had been circulated through all passages but workers

Six Candidates In Race For Governor Of Texas Are Ordering "Full Speed Ahead"

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 23. — The six active candidates in the race for governor of Texas ordered "full steam ahead" tonight for the three months remaining before the first Democratic primary.

Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, Attorney General William McCraw, Mayor P. D. Renfro of Beaumont, Rep. Clarence E. Farmer of Fort Worth and Karl Crowley of Fort Worth all promised to give the people their tenets in frequent doses from now until July 23.

Highlights of the week were the entry of Hunter, who polled large votes in 1932, '34 and '36, McCraw's opening speech at his native city of Arlington and Crowley's return from Washington, where he was a solicitor in the United States postoffice department.

With Hunter joining in the scramble, talk that the race might be decided in the first primary subsided. The Wichita Falls man, who pleads for "the plain people," never has received less than 220,000 votes.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson still had given little indication whom he would support, if anyone, in the first primary. A "draft Mrs. Ferguson" movement is underway at San Antonio.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of James E., said a few weeks ago she would not run but some of her friends believe she possibly can be persuaded to change her mind. Ferguson backed Hunter in the 1934 run-off but not in the first primary in 1936.

Some observers speculated this week that Highway Commissioner Harry Hines was defin-

Entire Antarctic Continent Claimed For United States By Right Of Discovery

Michigan Man Cites Records

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Apriy 23—The entire Antarctic continent, including the South Pole, was claimed today for the United States by right of discovery in a report before the American Philosophical society by Dr. William H. Hobbs of the University of Michigan.

Speaking in the shadow of Independence hall where representatives of the American colonies signed the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Hobbs declared that the first map of the Antarctic, made by a New England sea captain, was deliberately suppressed by the English government in 1822 and a new one issued to give England priority in the discovery.

First Discovery Cited

The first discovery of the continent was made by Captain Nathaniel Brown Palmer, who served as commander of an American vessel in the war of 1812 as a youth of 18, Dr. Hobbs said.

In 1820 he sailed on a seal-hunting expedition to the South Polar seas in a ship little larger than the lifeboats of modern superliners. He landed on the Antarctic continent, sailed along its coast to map it and later discovered the South Shetland islands, he added.

During the following year he again coasted the polar seas and cooperated with a Captain Powell of the British navy in charting ohter areas, Dr. Hobbs declared. The original map of Captain Palmer, on which Antarctica was designated as "Palmer's land," was suppressed by English authorities, he added, with most of the names of bays, inlets, and prominences changed and Antarctica re-named "Trinity land."

Can Be Proved

These facts can be proved, the Michigan university geographer declared, from maps, log books, and other records which he found in libraries of the United States and foreign countries and in the British admiralty office.

Whether the proof of priority in discovery will ever prove useful is impossible to determine, members of the philosophical society said. They pointed out, however, that the United States had never asserted its rights of discovery of Canton island in the South Pacific until it recently became useful as an air base on the trade route to New Zealand and Australia.

The popular Plainsmen quartet, which broadcasts regularly over the Dallas station, will be heard in a special fifteen minute program over KFYO at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Another broadcast at 8 o'clock that night will originate in the High School Auditorium, where the Dallas group will put on an hour show.

WFAA artists who will be featured in the broadcasts include Roy Cowan, master of ceremonies on the Pepper-Uppers. Alex Kees, WFAA program director, Peg Moreland, cowboy singer, and a staff orchestra. Brunette Beard, popular KFYO vocalist, will be heard with the Dallas orchestra in several numbers.

BASEBALL BROADCAST TODAY

The first baseball game of the season will be aired over KFYO this afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock. Dewitt (Judge) Landis and R. B. McAlister will be behind the microphone to describe what goes on between the Lubbock Hubbers and the Borger Huber Carbons.

NEW PROGRAM SUCCESSFUL

"Matching Men and Jobs," new KFYO program heard on Sunday afternoons at 2 o'clock, has proved outstandingly successful in placing unemployed men and women. Throughout the broadcast jobless men and women are interviewed, and prospective employers are asked to call either the radio station or the Texas State Employment office. Immediately after the first broadcast, two of the seven persons interviewed received good jobs.

TO BROADCAST TALKS

In cooperation with the "Clean-Up- Paint-Up Week in Lubbock from May 4 to 17, KFYO will broadcast two daily short talks by prominent citizens as well as a large number of spot announcements calling attention to the event.

Heavy Damage To Range Areas In Cochran, Lea Is Reported

BLEDSOE, April 23 (Special) — Heavy damage to grass in Cochran county and in Lea county, New Mexico, was done by the early April freeze, ranchers report. Grass pasturing has been set back for a week to two weeks, it is indicated.

Ranchers report a 20 per gent loss on calves, dropped during the freeze and a 25 per cent loss on lambs.

Prior to the freeze ranchers had gotten through the winter with a minimum of expense, due to good pastures and no bad weather to force feeding of cottonseed cake and meal.

A large calf crop had been anticipated, probably 80 to 85 per cent or more. Cattle were in extra good shape.

Conditions on the New Mexico side of the state line were about the same as here. Ranchers said the grass was in the best shape it had been in years.

SUDAN ESCAPES DAMAGE

SUDAN, (Special) — No serious damage to cattle and calves especially was done by the early April blizzard. Grass was hurt some, but is coming out now and pasture will be a little late.

Indian Skeleton Given To Tech

A modern Indian skeleton, found near Lamesa last week, has been added as a permanent exhibit to the West Texas museum, on the Texas Technological college campus.

The bones were excavated from a gravel pit near Lamesa where they were found by a Dawson county CCC troop, by museum assistants Porter Montgomery and Sybil Poteet, and E. J. Lowery, professor at Lubbock High school.

Jewelry Found On Bones

Artifacts recovered with the body identify age of the grave at about 65 years according to excavation party members. The exhibited bones show bright green stains in several places from bronze bracelets and rings that were found on them. Long skull, dozens of small metal bells and several beads found with the bones were similar to those of the Comanches.

The well-preserved bones, particularly the teeth, indicated to party members the individual was in youth or early middle age at time of death. An iron rod, believed to have been a pistol barrel, and a white man's tablespoon also were found.

Thirty Million People In U. S. To Lose An Hour's Sleep Today; Daylight Saving Starts

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Thirty million persons in the United States will lose an hour of sleep tomorrow.

That's because of daylight saving time—the institution whereby persons in 17 states obligingly rise an hour earlier so that suburbanites can have an extra hour of sunlight in which to spade their gardens or play golf.

It goes into effect at 2:00 a. m. (est) Sunday. Those who survive the months of early rising will get their lost hour of sleep back September 25. Texas remains on central standard time.

The Merchants Association of New York estimates daylight saving time also will be observed by 3,000,000 persons in Canada and 112,000,000 in Europe.

Further Plans For Tech Cotton Carnival To Be Made Tuesday

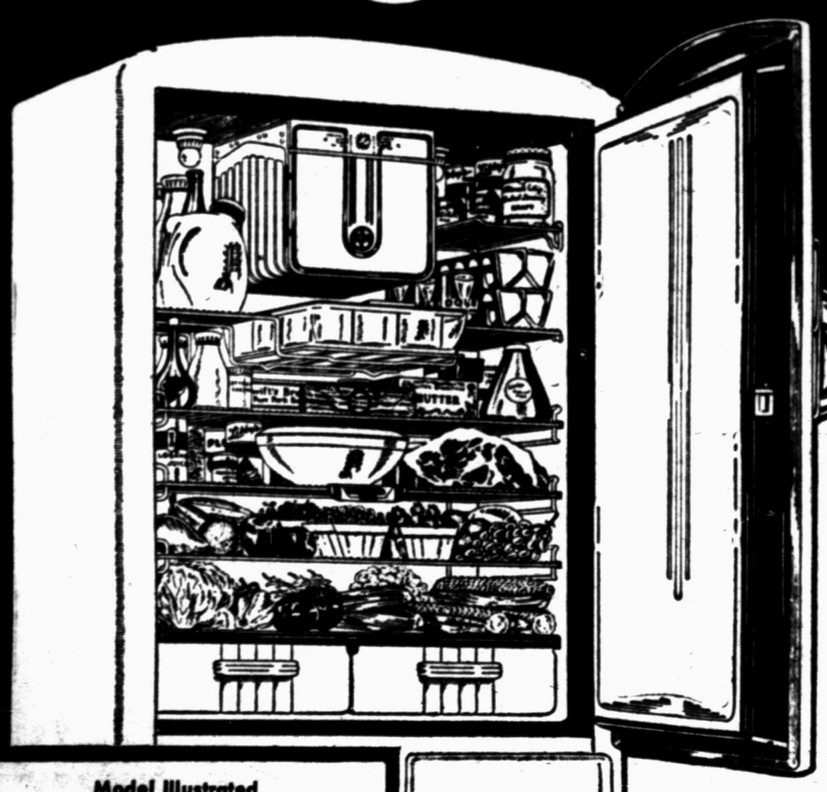

Further plans for the annual Cotton carnival to be sponsored May 20 by the Texas Technological college chapter of Phi Psi, national textile fraternity, will be made at a meeting at 7:15 o'clock Tuesday night in the textile engineering building.

The carnival has been postponed from May 13. A queen will be elected from among Tech co-eds soon. Lubbock firms will be represented by young women modeling cotton dresses. The carnival will be conducted in Senior High school auditorium.

Business Conference To Be Held Here

Modern Machines Never Before Seen In City Will Be Shown

Several modern business machines never before seen in Lubbock will be exhibited during a first annual business conference and show to be sponsored at Texas Technological college Friday night and Saturday by the business administration department and Business Administration club.

The exhibits will be open to Lubbock business men and any others interested, said T. C. Root, professor of economics and business administration. A conference of commercial teachers of West Texas will be conducted at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Theme will be "Improvement of Methods of Teaching Commercial Subjects".

Pictures To Be Shown

Exhibits and the conference will be in the lounge of the men's dormitory. Educational motion pictures will be shown elsewhere on the campus for students accompanying commercial teachers. A buffet luncheon will be conducted at noon Saturday in the dormitory for teachers.

Included in exhibits will be a billing machine which held much interest in a business show in New York and was described in a national radio network broadcast. Bills are fed into the machine, which also budgets mechanically. An electric typewriter, late-model fast adding machine and duplicating machine which operates under a new principle will be sent here by companies. In addition, Baker company, Hester's Office Supply company, and Lubbock Printing company will exhibit adding, calculating and duplicating machines, filing systems, typewriters and other office equipment. A model office will be demonstrated.

Program Not Complete

Program for the conference has not been completed. A champion typist probably will come here. Addresses will be presented.

Probably approximately 20 teachers will attend the conference, said Root. Approximately 600 students, in addition to faculty members and other visitors, are to view exhibits, which may be seen Friday night, and Saturday morning and afternoon.

New Grasshopper Hatch Is Said Under Way From The Plains Of Texas Northward To Nebraska

BY PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

LINCOLN, Neb., April 23—The 1938 grasshopper hatch is underway.

From the plains of Texas northward into Nebraska millions of the tiny insects pests are emerging daily from egg pods in the ground ready to begin their onslaught on vegetation.

Hatch Starts Early

The hatch this year started a week to ten days earlier than usual, O. S. Bare, Nebraska entomologist, said today.

"Indications are that the eggs wintered perfectly," he said, "and the mild spring weather helped to start the early hatching. Unless cold wet weather sets in farmers can expect the main hatching period in about ten days."

Entomologist Bare does not expect farmers to suffer as much damage to growing crops as they have before, estimates of which in previous years have run as high as $99,000,000.

Farmers Realize Seriousness

"After four years of grasshopper plagues," he said, "farmers have become grasshopper conscious more than ever this year. They realize now and are organized and prepared to kill off the pests before they have opportunity to ravage fields.

"Also this year there is between a million and one half and two million dollars in federal funds available now to use for poison bait."

"Farmers will begin to mop them up shortly now by spreading the poison bait on infested areas," Bare said.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

Weather outlook for week beginning Monday:

West Gulf states: showers in east portion at beginning of week and in most portions in latter part. Cooler first part, warmer latter part of week.

Numerous Activities Slated For Cleanup

Numerous activities were scheduled Saturday for the approaching week as preparations continued at the chamber of commerce for the opening May 4 of the two weeks' cleanup-paintup drive here.

Included on the week's program, as announced by W. B. Irvin, general chairman of the campaign, will be the mailing of letters seeking the cooperation of pastors; conference with city officials and employes Thursday afternoon; meeting of the American Legion cleanup committee Thursday, the building supply group Friday and the fire prevention group Saturday; the starting of "spot" announcements over KFYO, and the insertion of announcements of the campaign in the advertisements of business firms.

Unusual Activities

Two unusual activities are on the schedule. One will be the insertion of cleanup-paintup leaflets with the monthly statements from West Texas Gas company and Texas-New Mexico Utilities company. A group of Boy Scouts prepared the gas company statements for mailing Saturday.

The other activity will be a performance at Cactus theater, in the 1800 block on Avenue H, Saturday morning. Admission for boys and girls will be 15 tin cans strung together.

Irvin also announced that cleanup activities were discussed at a meeting of negroes and that they pledged enthusiastic cooperation. E. C. Scruggs, principal of negro schools, was named chairman of that group and will name his own committee.

Second Budding Of Fruit Trees Are Leaf Shoots, Jones Says

Scientific explanation of fruit authorities is discouraging to farmers who have been watching with interest the second budding of trees, resulting from warm weather's succeeding the recent cold spell.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural experiment substatiton east of Lubbock, said new shoots are leaf, rather than fruit, buds and probably will not be productive. Fruit buds, which preceed the leaf blossoms, rarely have a second growth.

Jones said trees "set back" by freezes rarely produce fruit that year and that "our only hope for fruit production lies in the late blooming varieties."

Probe Into The Discovery Of Nude Torso Being Started

Downward Revision Of Taxes Will Be Keynote Of East Texas C Of C Meet

Thousands Are To Be Present

LONGVIEW, April 23. (AP)—Downward revision of taxes and obtaining of new industries for East Texas, home of the world's largest oil field, will be the keynote of the twelfth annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce which opens here Sunday.

Special church services will begin the meeting, and convention officials expected 15,000 visitors to be registered when business sessions open Monday morning at 9:30. John J. Thomas, president of the Longview Chamber of Commerce, will call the meeting to order.

Homes Are Opened

Longview has been preparing for months to entertain the delegates and visitors in the headquarters city of the regional chamber. The city has been decorated and private homes have opened their doors to accommodate the overflow from hotels and tourist courts.

Pre-convention talk today was that Houston would make a strong bid for the 1939 meeting. All the larger cities of the area were sending big delegations, and delegates were already streaming in by automobile, train and bus from every section of East Texas.

Speakers of national prominence on industry, agriculture, business and taxation are on the program to enlighten delegates on the convention's keynote topics, E. L. Smith of Dallas is president and general manager.

Speakers On Sunday

At the special church services Sunday night speakers will be W. N. Blanton of the Houston Chamber of Commerce; Harry Hines of the state highway commission; W. H. Stillwell, Texarkana educator; Dr. Sam Whitley, president of the East Texas State Teachers college; A. E. Sheppard of Marshall and Curtis Morris of Longview.

E. L. Kurth of Lufkin Monday will talk on "newsprint from East Texas pine," relating progress in that field. Another feature of the Monday program will be an address by Mark G. Thornburg of Des Moines on the mutual problems affecting the interdependence of the southwest and the midwest farmer. William H. Zeller of Manchester, N. H., will tell of "Manchester—the city that refused to die."

Group Conferences

Group conferences and talks by agricultural experts headed by Carl H. Robinson, chief of the federal marketing division, Washington; Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro, chairman of the statewide cotton committee; Miss Jennie Camp, extension service specialist in home production planning, are on the Monday afternoon program.

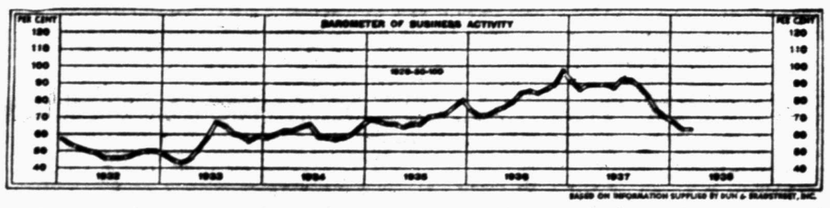

Entertainment interludes have been planned liberally for all sessions. Others on the program Monday are P. K. Birdwell, president of the Tyler Chamber of Commerce; G. D. Fairtrace, city manager of Tyler; H. L. Washburn, county auditor, Houston, and Curtis Morris, director of the tax department of the East Texas chamber.

The Longview Daily News will issue a special edition of over 100 pages Sunday, calling attention to the advantages of East Texas.

Panhandle-South Plains Area Is Nation's Business 'White Spot'

This map represents business conditions as of April 1, 1938, as shown in "Nation's Business", official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

THE MAP: The map darkened perceptibly in March, for which the late date of Easter was partially responsible.

THE BAROMETER: The sidewise movement during March indicates a check to the severe downward movement of the chart line which began last September.

Elimination Of The Grand Jury Urged

BATON ROUGE, La., April 23. (AP)—Judge Charles A. Holcombe of the East Baton Rouge parish district court today termed the grand jury "a useless and unnecessary appendage to our law" and recommended its abolishment.

In an address prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the Louisiana State Bar association, Holcombe said:

"Under our constitution an indictment by a grand jury is necessary only in capital cases.

"If there is any plausible argument in favor of the retention of the grand jury it is that in capital cases the power to indict should be more properly vested in 12 men than in one man, the district attorney.

"But I am not impressed even with this argument for the reason that under the law, after indictment, every substantial right of an accused is properly protected by the courts."

Tech Political Fires Are Low

With only four days remaining before nomination of student officials for the 1938-39 session at Texas Technological college, all was comparatively quiet on the student political front Saturday.

None of the co-ed-versus-male-candidate or "Alamo"-versus-"non-Alamo" political arguments attendant to last year's election had arisen.

Nominated In Convocation

Student officials will be nominated in a convocation at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the gymnasium, and will be elected the next Wednesday, in secret balloting. Maxine Fry, this year's president, will preside at the convocation. A revised student constitution drafted by student council committees will be submitted to vote.

Miss Fry has asked that the student body accept the entire constitution and later present petitions for amendments if they object only to certain clauses. Officers to be nominated are student president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, representative to the athletic council, and head cheer leader.

Office To Be Divided

Under the new constitution, office of secretary-treasurer would be divided into offices of business manager and treasurer, and a co-ed cheer leader would be elected in addition to the head male leader. If adopted, the constitution will not go into effect until next year, however.

Although several students were rumored as prospective candidates, no public mention had been made Saturday of plans to nominate any certain students, either co-eds or men students. Miss Fry is the first co-ed president.

The so-called "Alamo club", alleged secret political organization which figured in last year's student politics, has seldom been mentioned this year.

Editor Is Beaten And Nazi Emblem Placed On Chest; Refuses To Kiss Swastika

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Because he refused to kiss a swastika flag, a crippled editor told police today, four men beat him up in his office last night and scratched nazi emblems on his chest with sharp sticks dipped in ink.

Hospital physicians said the victim, Dr. Charles Weiss, 31, editor of "Uncle Sam," published by the Anti-Communist, Anti-Fascist, and Anti-Nazi league of Brooklyn, had brain concussion, a possible skull fracture in internal injuries.

Writing About Riot

When the men entered, Dr. Weiss said, he was writing a letter about the Yorkville riot Wednesday night in which nine persons were injured in a fight between nazis and American Legionnaires.

The editor said that after he refused to kiss the swastika flag one of the men carried, the intruders tore down an American flag in the room, beat him with the staff and fled after scratching the nazi emblems on his chest.

Burdine formerly was associated with Barrier-Durham, now Paul Barrier, Inc., four years, the latter two years of which he was assistant manager.

Paul Davis and R. I. McEarron are owners of McDavis Clothiers and of the Hub in Breckenridge. Davis has moved here.

Formal opening of the store will be conducted about May 15. It is being delayed by inability to obtain mirrors, show cases and other fixtures now because of a strike in Grand Rapids, Mich.

WHEAT STOCKS LARGER

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics estimated today that stocks of wheat in interior mills, elevators and warehouses on April 1 totaled 73,075,000 bushels compared with 39,009,000 on the corresponding date last year and 73,820,000 for the 1931-36 average.

Texas Cotton Farmers Receive More For Their Crop In Spite Of Price Slump

Average Price Is 8.6 Cents

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Texas cotton farmers received more for their 1937 than their 1936 lint even though a price slump slashed the national cotton income by $41,000,000.

Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Arizona were the only states, the bureau of agricultural economics said, which produced big enough crops to offset the price decline.

Average Of 8.6 Cents

The bureau said Texas farmers received $196,119,000 for sale of 4,584,000 bales of 1937 cotton at an average of 8.6 cents a pound compared with $178,517,000 for 3,053,000 bales in 1936 at 11.7 cents.

It said the 1937 Texas cotton income was the state's largest since 1930 with exception of 1934 when the total was $199,159,000. The 1930 total was $203,906,000.

The bureau reported the national cotton income dropped from $904,879,000 in 1936 to $863,970,000 in 1937.

Ice Nickels In Pay Telephones Latest Idea Of College Studes In Leland-Stanford University

PALO ALTO, Calif., April 23. (AP)—Impecunious Stanford students have been financing telephone calls with ice nickels minted in plaster of paris molds.

The molds are filled with water and placed in the refrigerator to freeze. When a fellow wishes to call the girl friend, he goes to the refrigerator, chips out an ice nickel and drops it in the telephone. That's what the collectors are complaining about.

When the collector comes around and opens the moneybox, water trickles out.

Approval Given Legion Session

Formal authorization for the transfer of district 19 convention of the American Legion from Post to Lubbock next May 21-22, the occasion of the visit here by National Commander Daniel J. Doherty, was received Saturday from Texas department headquarters, according to A. C. Jackson, commander of Allen Bros. post here.

The letter also advised that Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, state commander, Fred Young, state adjutant, and probably several other officials plan to be here.

Doherty To Speak May 21

Doherty will speak at the Legion hall the night of May 21. Business of the district convention will be transacted the following day.

Details of the program, Jackson announced, will be discussed at the semi-monthly meeting of Allen Bros. post at the hall Monday at 8 p. m. Another feature will be a showing of motion pictures made in Hawaii recently by Arno Dalby, member of the post. Chas. A. Whitacre is program chairman.

Willson Prepares Notices

Jim Willson of Floydada, district commander, also may attend.

He advised Jackson Saturday that he has prepared formal notices to various post commanders in the district of the changes in place and date of the convention. The notice also announces that a delegate and alternate to the national convention in Los Angeles next September will be chosen and that several important committee places will be filled.

Voting strength in the district convention will be based on 1938 paid-up membership, with two votes for the first 15 members and one for each additional 25.

Lubbock People Up On Garden-Raising, Just Ask Them; Data On Killing Insects Given

BY FUTRELLE McCLAIN

An old gag that gets some amateur gardeners on how to kill insects that destroy plants is this: take two smooth paddles, pick off the bug, place it on one paddle, and beat it to death with the other.

Sometimes this information is accompanied by the paddles, in return for a one dollar coupon entitled "A Sure Way to Kill Insects."

It is easy, however, to get correct information from Lubbock garden lovers, and you need go no further than your beauty shop, barber shop, or a neighbor. Lubbock people are full of information on the subject and pick any gathering to start a conversation on what to do and how.

It is generally agreed that Black Leaf Forty mixed with arsenic of lead is a good spray for most plant lice. Ernest Moor, colored yard boy for Dr. J. T. Hutchinson for 11 years, has found through experiment that a teaspoon of alcohol added to the mixture effects a more effective spray. He uses a teaspoon of Black Leaf Forty to a gallon of water for hardy plants and a solution of 15 drops to a quart for tender leafed plants. This spray is effective against aphids, a family of tiny white or green plant lice which are common at this time of year.

Winds Fatal To Insects

The hot winds kill many worms and bugs that destroy shrubs and flowers. In still, moist climates, these insects are more prevalent than they are here, said Mrs. Charles Watkins, 1709 Twenty-second street. Mrs. Watkins is one of the successful flower gardeners in quality of plants grown.

Mrs. Leo Konesko of 2006 Twenty-eighth street, picks bugs off and stomps them, she said. The hard shelled, chewer variety of bug often survives spraying. Yellow jackets have been eating her peony buds and she has resorted to paddles in that case. Konesko does all the spraying and scientific doctoring around their yard, she said. He uses Black Leaf Forty and arsenic in a large pump spray that shoots the mixture 15 feet in the air. They have also found that calomel used on the split bark of the tap root of trees is effective in preventing borers.

Must Have Its Iron

Plant foliage has to have its iron, too. An iron of copperas is being used to bring back the color to plants yellowing because of low temperature or lack of certain soil elements. Gas is sometimes used to fight the bugs and the user has to wear a mask to keep from being "exterminated" along with the insect. Most gardeners use small hand sprays. Commercial sprays and home made formulas are used.

A solution of 40 per cent nicotine sulphae in one gallon of water, sprayed on plants and shrubs, will usually keep dogs and cats out of the flowers and is not harmful to the plants.

It is the men who do the hard work around the homes, according to most of the gardeners. Women dig and plant, but the men study insecticides, formulas, and the various insect types, in order to fight them scientifically and effectively.

WHITE HAS CATTLE

LITTLEFIELD, (Special)—There are about 1,500 head of cattle on the range at the Yellowhouse ranch headquarters in Yellowhouse canyon, south of here on the Hockley county line. George L. White, son of the late J. Phelps White, is owner. He full fed several hundred head this winter.

More than 50,000 tons of old tin cans, pressed into 100-pound billets, have been imported from California by Japan since 1932.

Showings Given In 2 Wildcats

By JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

OIL showings in two northern Andrews county wildcats 4½ miles apart, one only 2½ miles west of the Means field, and starting of wildcats in Crockett, Culberson, Cochran, Gaines and Martin counties were among interesting developments in West Texas this week.

Tests encountering water included Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Paul Moss, 2½ miles southwest of the Harper pool in Ector county, which earlier struck oil in amount promising small production, and Humble No. 1 Lewis & Wardlaw, an Ordovician wildcat in western Tom Green county, at 7,586 feet.

Has Increased Oil Flow

H. C. Wheeler No. 1 F. E. Gardner, 2½ miles west of the Means field in Andrews county, showed oil and gas from 4,523-40 feet and had an increase in oil from 4,585-96 feet. It drilled to 4,631 feet and ran 7-inch casing preparatory to testing. Location is in the southwest corner of section 15-A35-psl.

Walter J. Donnelly No. 1 University, 4½ miles farther west and separated lime from the bottom of a core from 4,548-55 feet. It drilled ahead at 4,595 feet with an early drill stem test planned. Location is 1,980 feet out of the northeast corner of section 16-14-U, 1,980 feet north of Shasta Lake.

Tops Solid Lime

Landreth No. 1 Paul Dalmont in southern Gaines county topped the solid lime at 4,480 feet, 1,163 feet below sea level, reported about flat with Landreth No. 1 Kirk, first producer in the county, continued to 4,545 and cemented pipe. It is in the northeast corner of section 24-A21-psl. Finley & Cherry and Sawyer No. 1 Dalmont, 3½ miles northwest of Landreth No. 1 Dalmont and in the northwest quarter of section 6-A21-psl, topped the brown lime at 3,990 feet, 587 feet below sea level, and had reached 4,305 in lime and anhydrite.

Water well was being drilled for Riddle & Warr No. 1 Brown, a northeastern Gaines county wildcat, 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 26-G-C&MRR.

Pool Extension Uncertain

Shell No. 1 F. W. Hensley, which last week indicated an extension of the Denver pool in southwestern Yoakum county three-quarters of a mile northwest from the most northeasterly producer, flowed only 7½ barrels of oil in three hours after recovering the oil load run with 7,000 gallons of acid. It deepened from 5,085 feet and at 5,125 feet showed water. Whether or not the water was bottom hole or from the acid treatment had not been determined. No. 1 Hensley is 2,200 feet out of the northeast corner of section 767-D-John H. Gibson.

Shell No. 1 Dora Roberts, Yoakum wildcat in the southwest quarter of section 793, recovered more lime slightly porous but 100 per cent saturated and bleeding at intervals in coring from 4,900 to 5,006 feet. The test is 1½ miles northwest of The Texas No. 1 Walker, a small discovery three miles west of the Denver pool opener.

Only Scum Of Oil

Gulf No. 1 Dixon, wildcat 3½ miles east and slightly south of Bond and Bohago No. 1 M. M. West, a discovery well eight miles north of the Denver discovery and 4½ miles northwest of the Bennett pool, pumped 36 barrels of water with only a scum of oil in 12 hours, bottomed at 5,491 feet in lime. It is in the southeast quarter of section 609.

Honolulu No. 1-77 Slaughter, seventh producer in the Slaughter pool in southwestern Hockley county, flowed 265 barrels of oil the last eight hours before being shut in for storage following retreatment with 6,000 gallons of acid at 5,015 feet. It is in the southeast quarter of labor 77, league 37, Zavala county school land. Gulf No. 1 Gordon, in the northeast corner of section 6-X-psl, three-quarter mile southeast extension to the Slaughter field, was testing at a plugged back depth of 5,074 feet after treating with 1,000 gallons of acid. Gulf No. 1 Mallett, in the northwest corner of section 12-X-psl, two miles southwest of production, showed 2½ barrels of water and only four gallons of oil on a 24-hour bailing test at a plugged back depth of 5,035 feet.

Devonian and others' No. 2-A-13 Duggan in the Duggan pool in southeastern Cochran county flowed 60 barrels of oil in six hours after retreatment with 7,500 gallons of acid at 5,071 feet. It is in the southwest of labor 13, league 55, Oldham county school land. Honolulu started No. 1-91 Dean 440 from the north, 12,204 feet from the east line of league 91, Lipscomb county school land, three miles northeast of the Duggan pool.

Librarians At Tech Having Troubles; They Blame All Of It On Spring Fever

Librarians of Texas Technological college are having numerous difficulties with students' nodding heads, wrong books turned in, overdue books, and requests for books without knowledge of the title or author. They accredit the trouble to "spring fever."

One student filled out a slip for "Ma Peasant" when he wanted de Maupassant's books of stories on French life . . . "Lamb in His Bosom" must have been wanted when one card requested "Sheep in His Chest" . . . Shakespeare's "Twelve Knights." . . . was requested . . . "101 Ways to Mix Drinks" was returned instead of a chemistry formula volume. . .

Important History Written As Texas Tech Expedition Learns Yaqui Secrets

Unusual Tales Brought Back

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

WHEN an expedition sponsored jointly by Texas Technological college and West Texas Museum association visited a Yaqui Indian village in Mexico four years ago, it was without thought of making history.

Yet history was made.

Perhaps it wasn't history of destiny-shaking importance to the world.

It Was Important

But it was of sufficient importance to change the course of the lives of a primitive, half-tamed Yaqui tribe numbering several thousand people. It was enough importance to change the policy of a great nation, Mexico, in its dealings with her Indians.

It even may have done something to promote friendly relationship between the United States and Mexico because it tended to allay the suspicion inherent among Mexicans of the lower classes toward all things pertaining to the United States.

These were some of the observations Saturday of members as they analyzed observations of the third Tech-Museum expedition to that same Yaqui village, from which they returned earlier in the week.

Dr. Holden Is Leader

Leader of each of the expeditions was Dr. William Curry Holden, dean of archaelogical, antropological and historical research at Tech and curator of West Texas museum. Accompanying him on each of the trips was Dr. C. J. Wagner. Other members of the recent party were Dr. J. C. Anderson, Dr. G. C. Turner, Winston Reeves, Reeves Henly, Winford Baze and Louis Jones. Henly, Baze and Jones are students at Tech.

The village they visited and in which their observations centered is Torin, situated on the side of a mountain 30 miles inland from the Gulf of Mexico and approximately 300 miles south of the United States border. Within the adjacent mountain regions roam hundreds of Yaqui fugitives on whose heads the Mexican government has set a price.

Same Primitive Village

Members of the returning expedition said they saw no physical changes in the village from four years before. It was the same primitive collection of huts and shacks.

But the people themselves. They were a different matter.

Four years ago, Dr. Holden encountered difficulty in obtaining permission from the village chiefs to make it the expedition headquarters. The expedition was operating under the protection of the Mexican governments, and the Yaquis made no bones about their hatred for Mexicans. And that hatred seemed well founded because it was Mexicans who, many years ago, seized and enslaved Yaquis who had welcomed the Mexicans to their village. Most of the Yaqui slaves died within a year or two in silver mines. So aware were the Mexican soldiers quartered in Torin of that hatred they insisted that members of the expedition camp upon the porch of the military barracks.

Confidence Is Gained

However, several minor incidents enabled members of the party to persuade the tribesmen that they were for the Yaquis and not the Mexicans. Gradually their confidence was gained and their suspicions allayed. But still they would not give permission for the making of pictures. Many, however, were made secretly.

The attitude of the tribesmen four years ago contrasted amazingly with that discovered by members of the latest expedition. Before the third expedition was organized, the tribal chiefs sent word repeatedly to Dr. Holden, wanting to know "when are our American friends going to visit us again?" As an inducement, they promised that the visitors might make pictures as they wanted whenever and wherever they desired.

Invited Into Homes

Four years ago, the native women were shy and reticent toward the strangers. They chattered like magpies with members of the last expedition. On the first visit, no heads of families invited the visitors into their homes. On the last trip, such invitations were numerous — which is about the ultimate in hospitality for a Yaqui. Then every man was armed with pistol, rifle and knives wherever he went. The recent expedition discovered the men had discarded their weapons, though probably they were kept close at hand.

The only time the men wear their guns, now, members of the party reported, is when they are participating in dances forming part of the ritual of Fiesta de Gloria, a pre-Easter religious festival. Then the guns are worn seemingly because custom dictates that the weapons are, by tradition, a part of their costume on that occasion.

Four years ago, the women wore no shoes nor stockings, and many petticoats. Now many have stylish slippers and dresses. Most of them have discarded petticoats altogether.

Hatred Was Ever Present

Then the Yaquis hated the government. They had no land of their own. There was no irrigation to encourage agriculture. There were no schools and no livestock except a few scrubby native cattle. They hated the Mexican soldiers and the Mexican soldiers hated them. There was an ever-present danger of bloody outbreak.

Tenseness of the situation was reflected in an incident recalled by Dr. Holden. The motor of one of the expedition trucks suddenly backfired as it was nearing the Mexican barracks. Instantly the Yaquis sprang into skirmishing position, facing the barracks, each with his rifle ready.

Massacre Was Debated

Dr. Holden also recalled another incident, evidencing both the dangerous situation and the fact that members of the party had begun to gain the confidence of the Yaquis. In some manner, a crew of Mexican workers antagonized the villagers so bitterly the chiefs seriously debated a massacre of the offenders. However, they sought the advice of Dr. Holden before acting, and he counseled peace. So peace it was.

All those various conditions have changed since four years ago.

The Mexican government has adopted a new land policy, which will permit each Yaqui family to own its own farm. The government is building a 15-mile canal from the Yaqui river, from which the tribesmen will secure irrigation water.

Modern School Is Built

The government also has built a modern school conveniently located which will open next fall. It is to be a boarding school, providing dormitories for 200 boys and girls. The buildings are of brick and tile, and are modern in every detail. Just how the Yaquis, accustomed through generations to a desultory life in the open, will respond to the confinement of the classroom is problematical, but at least they will have the opportunity for education.

The government also has authorized the purchase of 500 head of blooded Hereford cattle for the Yaquis, and has assigned a colonel from the army veterinary corps to the task of teaching the Indians how to care for the livestock.

But perhaps of all the changes put into effect, a new army policy is the most important. Officers who have a friendly feeling toward the Yaquis have been put in command of the various garrisons. Many of them are of Yaqui extraction. Result is that a feeling of friendliness has displaced that of fear and suspicion which had existed between the soldiers and the Indians.

General Amnesty Offered

Further than that, the Mexican government has ordered a general amnesty to all the Yaqui fugitives. Some of them have returned openly to the village. Others still aren't taking any chances.

One of those who is playing safe is an old chief who has become a tribal legend. He clings to his hideout, and would do no visiting with the Americanos. But he learned that members of the expedition carried with them copies of an illustrated pamphlet prepared by Dr. Holden following the first trip.

The old fellow sent word to the village that he wanted to see one of the booklets. It was sent to him. Then he sent word that he wanted someone to read it to him, so one of the few people in the village who could read obliged him. Then he sent word of warm greeting to members of the expedition, inviting them to return.

Cardenas Given Credit

Dr. Holden has no official information as to what has brought about the changes. However, he gives President Cardenas of Mexico chief credit. And the Yaquis are strong for their president and they are friendly toward the government. Only one other president in Mexican history had succeeded in winning their friendship. That was Obregon, who later was assassinated. But before he died, Obregon alienated the Yaquis who accused him of appropriating their lands to himself and then irrigating them with water stolen from them.

Perhaps the real explanation for the new deal for the Yaquis may be traced to the intimate friendship between Dr. Holden and Ramon Beteta, who is assistant minister of foreign affairs in the Cardenas cabinet. Holden and Beteta were students together at the University of Texas. They roomed together. They have visited in each other's homes.

War Said Inevitable

So when Holden returned from Torin four years ago, he wrote frankly and at length to Beteta concerning his observations. He told him that unless something was done, a war of extermination was inevitable. He told him what the grievances of the Yaquis were. The Yaquis themselves had never attempted to voice their complaints to the Mexican government because they were convinced it would accomplish nothing. And even if honest attempts were made by the government to improve the lot of the Yaquis, it was to no purpose. The Indians didn't want Mexicans meddling in their affairs. But the Americanos were different, and thus it became possible for Dr. Holden to become an intermediary.

His recommendations to Beteta, as he subsequently learned, were referred immediately to President Cardenas, who apparently lost no time in putting them into effect. Later he wrote Dr. Holden a personal letter of appreciation for what he and members of the Tech-Museum expedition had done.

Will Be Among Friends

The net result is that other Americans who may visit the village will be among friends. Likewise, any such Americans likely will see a lot of gaily colored costume jewelry distributed by the Holden party to women and children.

That jewelry, incidentally, caused considerable excitement the last day of the expedition's stay in the village. The gifts had been distributed somewhat sparingly where they would do the most good on previous days. When time came to leave, a large supply remained. So Holden began giving it away.

"There was more excitement than if some Lubbock firm should start handing out $5 bills," said Dr. Holden.

Interesting Study Made

One of the most interesting, and potentially most important, studies made during the expedition's stay was that by Dr. Wagner. He learned on the first trip that Yaqui medicine men claim to know a cure for hydrophobia. If that should be true and could be made available to the world, it will be one of the most revolutionary developments in the history of medicine. So far as medical science knows, there is no cure for hydrophobia.

Dr. Wagner failed on previous trips to contact the desired medicine man. On the last trip he succeeded and accompanied him on searches for roots and plants which, according to the medicine man, are used in the compound. On all of the trips, Dr. Wagner has talked with natives—aggregating several score in number—who claim to have seen cures of hydrophobia.

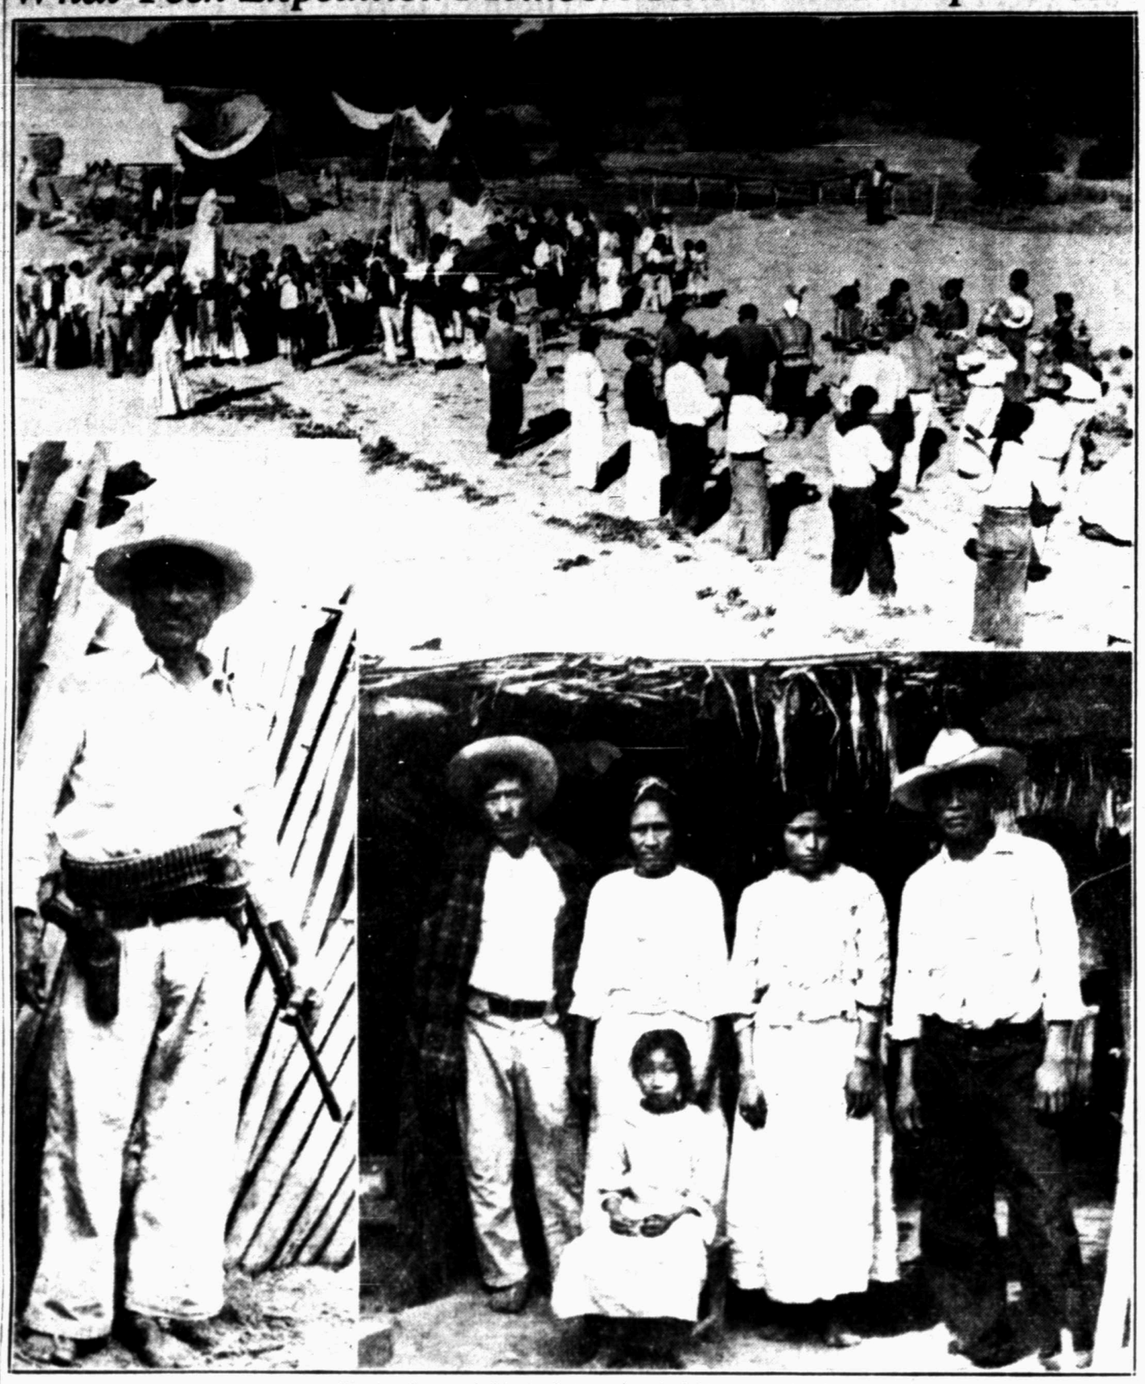

Still Is Skeptical

However, Dr. Wagner still is skeptical. He is inclined to the belief that there is nothing to the claims. But he still is sufficiently uncertain that he will not brand them as false.

Dr. Anderson devoted much of his time to a study of the eyes of the Yaquis and discovered, he reported, that their sight is better than the average in the United States. That fact probably is due, he believes, that the Indians do little reading or other close work of a kind which would cause optical strain.

Dr. Turner made extensive study of the teeth of the Yaqui children, preparing charts of approximately 60 of the young Indians. He found considerable decay among them, he reported.

What Tech Expedition Members Saw In The Yaqui Area

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—The stock market tripped over light profit selling today and ended the week on a moderately downward slant.

In the lightest dealings for about six weeks, industrials yielded fractions to a point or so.

The principal news of the day, which some brokers thought may have been discounted in Friday's run-up, was the compromise on the tax revision bill reached by the senate and house conferees. While Wall Street on the whole viewed the agreement as constructive, traders generally exhibited a tendency to wait for final legislative action on the measure.

Analysts derived mild encouragement from the fact offerings were small throughout the two-hour proceedings. Transfers of 410,950 shares were the lowest since March 12 and compared with 1,657,840 last Saturday when the trend was sharply upward. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 2 of a point to 40.4. On the week, the composite suffered a net loss of .8 of a point. It was the first decline after three constructive weekly advances.

Prominent among the day's losers were U. S. Steel at 46, Santa Fe 27¼, American Telephone 128½, Anconda 29¼, Sears Roebuck 58½, Douglas Aircraft 42⅞, International Harvester 60⅛, Du Pont 120⅛, Goodyear 19¾ and Dome Mines 34⅛.

Consolidated Edison was an outstanding strong spot. The stock held a gain of a point at 22⅜. Minor improvement was also held by North American at 18⅛, Public Service of N. J. at 29⅛ and American Power and Light at 5⅛.

Others to contest the trend were J. I. Case at 79, Air Reduction 47, Cerro De Pasco 36⅜, and Pullman 28½.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—The cotton market was quiet but steady today under lack of incentives and prices closed 3 to 4 points below yesterday's final quotations.

The range was extremely narrow. No options varied more than 4 points.

The close was at the bottom with May at 9.01, July at 9.09, Oct. at 9.17, Dec. at 9.18, Jan. at 9.20 and March at 9.26.

The compromise between the house and senate on the undistributed profits tax was regarded with some favor but it had no apparent effect on trading. Likewise, there were no other developments of a character likely to stimulate business.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Cotton sagged following early steadiness today under week-end liquidation. July eased from 9.00@8.95 and closed at 8.96, with final prices 2 to 4 points net lower.

The market opened 1 point higher to 1 lower with easier Liverpool cables offset by trade and foreign buying. Locals also bought. May liquidation and exchanging from that month to later deliveries were well taken by the trade. Other scattering liquidation carried prices to the lowest levels for the day in late trading.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.94 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.71 cents a pound.

Grains . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Enough buyers appeared in the wheat pit today after a price drop of about a cent a bushel at the opening to rally the market and wipe out most of the losses.

Support which the market found on slight price recessions was credited largely to cash and export interests who traders said, believed in the value of domestic wheat particularly in view of the 20 cents a bushel premium to quotations at Liverpool and the even greater difference in prices at Winnipeg where the highest wheat figures in the world prevailed.

Bumper crop prospects and quiet export business together with prospects of precipitation over much of the grain belt helped induce early selling but this liquidation soon dried up and short covering appeared on the dip.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¾ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish. May 83¼@83⅞, July 81¼@82, September 82⅛@82⅝, corn ⅛ to ⅜ down, May 59¼@59⅜, July 61, September 62⅛@62⅜, oats ⅛ off to ¼ up, May 29⅛, rye ⅛ to ¾ higher, May 62⅛, lard 2 to 5 higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, April 23. (AP)—Demand was excellent for wheat here Saturday but only fair for other grains.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 96¾@97¾, No. 1 hard 95¾@101¾.

Barley No. 2 nominally 60@62.

MEINECKE BROS. "More Than Just a Hardware Store"

1110 Broadway

Nelson Speaker At Big Rodeo

(Special To Avalanche-Journal)

O'DONNELL, April 23.—Among the highlights of the annual tri-county rodeo and celebration here, Senator G. Hobart Nelson,candidate for lieutenant governor, reaffirmed his opposition to legalized gambling, the open saloon and the repeal of the chain store tax.

Speaking 20 minutes, he discussed the issues in his race.

He offered his proposal of a one-house legislature for the state as a sure cure for the evils of the present two-house system and as a method for effecting government economy.

Actually Do Something

"Is it not time," Nelson questioned, "for us to stop talking about lobby control and actually do something about its? In my proposal for a one-house legislature in Texas I bring an anti-lobby bill which, according to lobbyists themselves, cut their jugular vein."

After review of his record as Lynn county attorney, as a state district attorney and as a state senator, Nelson concluded with:

"If I am elected lieutenant governor, there will be no legalized gambling in Texas, and it is in my power to prevent it; there will be no open saloons in the state; and there will be no law written into the statute books which is not based on sound moral principles."

McCraw Speaks

the field of public utility regulation."

McCraw said the state constitution of 1876 was suited to its "age and time," but "almost unnoticed, waste, extravagance, duplication, and inefficiency have become the companions of state administration." He said the state government might continue its "slipshod, wasteful" course if it were not for the necessity of caring for aged citizens, the blind, dependent children, and matching of the teachers' retirement fund.

To Cut Out Inefficiency

McCraw promised if elected to exercise the governor's authority as chief budget officer and rid the capitol of "political favorites, lame ducks and the inefficient" and to "lay the basis for establishment of a merit system of emplcyment that will insure a full day of offical work for every day's pay."

The attorney general urged a single, consolidated department for administration of social welfare in his pledge for "humanized old age assistance" that would at the same time be economical. He said current payments were inadequate under present living conditions and many persons were not on the rolls who ought to be there, but decried "self-seeking politicians who talk about liberal aid to the needy. x x x When we have relieved need, then it will be time to talk of liberality."

Against Tax Increase

McCraw said he could see no need for an income or sales tax, and declared against any increase in ad valorem taxes on farms, homes, and business.

McCraw advocated enactment of a labor relations act "which will give assistance to industrial peace in Texas," favored legislation to "strengthen regulation of all business affecting the public interest" and favored "readjustment of the administration of our conservation statutes applicable to production of oil and gas to the end that favoritism and partiality may be eliminated."

The attorney general attacked "the patchwork system of regulation of public utilities. I favor a utility commission having appellate jurisdiction over rates fixed by the cities and towns and original jurisdiction over rates in all other communities not having rate-making powers."

FDR's Progress

major importance to business." He enumerated the farm bill, legislation to plug income tax loopholes, the wage-hour bill and a measure revising the undistributed profits tax "to remove inequities."

Two Are Accomplished

The first two were already accomplished, the president's message said, and the others were still before congress.

If the tax revision compromise proves an accurate indication of the outcome of the wage-hour controversy, Mr. Roosevelt would write that whole program off as achieved, despite party rifts and Democratic-Republican coalitions that have checked his legislative leadership increasingly ever since the court bill fight began in February, 1937.

As further eviddence of his regaining control, the senate's expected approval of the naval expansion bill next week has not been ignored in presidential strategy. The navy bill already has been approved overwhelmingly by the house.

The president's strategy appears to be aimed first of all at Democratic congressional primaries.

Trial Of Mrs. Cloe Johnson Likely To Be Postponed

LAMESA, April 23.—Murder trial of Mrs. Cloe Johnson, of Garza county, charged with slaying her husband Bob Johnson on July 11, 1937 in Pleasant Valley, near Post, is to be postponed until the fall term, it was indicated here. Calling of the case is scheduled for Monday in 106th district court.

The case was transferred here on a change of venue by Judge Louis B. Reed. Last fall it was postponed on account of absence of witnesses. It is expected that the state will ask continuance on account of absence of witnesses and possibility of securing additional evidence. This was the report of Truett Smith, district attorney.

itely out of the race because of his failure thus far to enter but Hines said he might not make up his mind finally until late next month.

Renfro, who promises to give the state the same business-like administration which admirers say he had given the city of Beaumont, was getting acquainted with voters in all parts of Texas. He expected to be in Longview early next week for the annual East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Although most of the interest was in the governor's race, the five-way contest for attorney general was beginning to attract more than passing attention.

Ralph Yarborough, Austin district judge and former assistant attorney general, directly attacked Lt. Gov. Walter F. Woodul of Houston, admittedly a powerful contender, in his opening speech at Tyler.

Yarborough charged that Woodul while acting governor had issued commissions as colonels to "spokesmen and executives of the monopolies that are draining Texas to enrich a few men in distant states."

Clyde Smith of Woodville, who garnered more than 200,000 votes against a strong field in the 1934 attorney general's race, announced he would take the stump for Woodul.

Gerald Mann, remembered by thousands of sports fans for his gridiron exploits with Southern Methodist university some ten years ago, announced he would fire his opening gun at Sulphur Springs next Saturday night. Other candidates for attorney general are Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, speaker of the house, and Lewis W. Goodrich of Shamrock.

Helping Chamberlain along in his efforts to strengthen Britain's friendships was young War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha. He visited Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano in Rome and planned to fly to aris tomorrow to see Daladier.

France also gave momentum to Chamberlain's peace efforts by launching talks with Italy, pointing to a possible French-Italian pact similar to the one Britain signed a week ago with Rome.

German Position Unknown

Where Germany stands in all this diplomatic maneuvering was a question likely to occupy an important place in the Anglo-French talks here.

Germany's new ambassador, Dr. Herbert von Dirksen, was expected to take up his London post during the coming week to succeed Joachim von Ribbentrop, now foreign minister. But whether von Dirksen would have instructions to try to reopen Anglo-German talks—suddenly broken off just as they were starting by Germany's annexation of Austria March 13—was not disclosed.

Mexican Boy Is Picked Up For Theft Of Toy In A Store

A Mexican boy, about 11, late Saturday was hailed into police headquarters for investigation into theft of a yo-yo from a Lubbock variety store.

After receiving a notice the boy was being held, the father hurriedly came to his son's rescue.

"How much is his fine?" M. N. Davidson, night police sergeant was asked.

"If you'll give him a thrashing when you get him home, we'll let him go," the night sergeant said.

"Tanks," said the father as he jerked the youngster up and left. "I'll sure spank him."

Big Residence Permit Issued

Largest building permit for a residence to be issued in Lubbock in more than a year hoisted 1938 building permit totals Saturday within the shadow of the $700,000 mark.

The permit was issued to C. R. Gallagher, of California, official of Western States Gasoline corporation, for a two-story frame and stucco residence costing $18,000 at 1902 Thirtieth street.

It was a companion permit to one issued to H. H. Van Aken of Lubbock, representative of the company here, for a one-story residence of similar type costing $7,500 at 1902 Thirty-second street.

Of California Type

Guy Posson, also connected with the same company, will supervise the construction.

The residences were described as being of the "California bungalow" type, and were said to be the first of that architectural style to be erected in Lubbock.

Gallagher, informants said, will continue to make his home in California but will spend considerable time in Lubbock.

Permit totals for the week were increased to $52,276, for April to $148,069 and for the year to $692,035.

Totals compare with $122,094 for the whole of April 1937, and $347,819 to May 1 last year.

Two Fixtures Eliminated

Meanwhile, it was announced two of Max Reinhardt's fixtures at the Salzburg festival would be eliminated this season.

In their brief weeks of domination the nazis have nearly finished their task of purging Austrian music and theaters of "non-German" and "Jewish" influences.

Playhouses have new managers. Their programs are designed to create "national socialist points of view," and "instruct the people in good German literature."

Jewish impresarios could do no business. Jewish actors and singers—there were many in Vienna—lost their positions overnight.

Foreign music students, among them a number of Americans, seemed to have stopped their lessons. They gave as the reason that their professors were non-aryans, and therefore had no opportunity to obtain engagements in the Vienna opera for them, or that the political situation ended the feeling of security they needed.

Crop Insurance For 1939 Is Explained

Possibility of crop insurance as regards wheat grown in 1939 was explained upon return of V. L. Cade of Slaton, member of the state committee on agricultural conservation, from Omaha, Neb.

If the insurance, premium rates on which possibly will be announced in from 30 to 60 days, "works well for wheat there is a likelihood it may be applied in a couple of years to other crops."

The county agent's office in Lubbock said it would have no information on the insurance rates until "they are announced at Washington in a month or two."

Protection from all elements that destroy wheat, with exception of fire, will be available—in whatever "percentage coverage" the farmer wants, said Cade.

Premiums may be paid in cash or its equivalent, at any time from this fall until a given crop is marketed, said speakers at Omaha.

C. L. Thomas of Pampa, another state committeeman; E. N. Holmgreen, administrative officer who directs the agricultural conservation program in Texas, and W. I. Glass, district agent of College Station were other Texans at the two-day Omaha meeting.

Generator Worn Out, Allred Says

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 23 — The breakdown of the electric chair in the Huntsville penitentiary yesterday was neither "an act of God" nor a result of sabotage but was due simply to a worn-out generator, Governor James V. Allred said today.

The chief executive disclosed he had received numerous communications urging him to commute sentences of John W. Vaughn of San Antonio and Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro, on the theory that God had stayed their executions. He pointed out he was powerless to take any action except on recommendation of the state pardon board.

Convinced No Tampering

Allred said talks with the penitentiary warden and mechanic convinced him there had been no tampering with the electric chair mechanism.

"It's just as if your car suddenly won't run because of some worn-out part when it has been working fine," he explained. "The generator had been used in 150 electrocutions and was getting old."

Two Negro Men Facing Charges Of Theft Are Returned Here

Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and John Keller, officer of the Texas Highway patrol, reported no lost motion in a trip to Corsicana.

They returned Saturday afternoon with two negro men wanted on a charge of theft of a trailer; hitched to the rear of the car was the assertedly stolen trailer; and in the trailer they returned an allegedly stolen cow.

The negro men, brothers, Prince Henry and Cecil Henry, are charged with theft of the $60 trailer, the complaint having been filed in the justice court of Walter Davies. The trailer belongs to A. F. Williamson and the cow to a woman who lives two miles west of Hurlwood.

Officers said they arrested the negroes at Corsicana and took possession of the trailer there. The cow was found near Seymour.

It is believed, now, that vultures for many miles around find a dead animal merely by following any fellow-vultures that seem to be going somewhere.

Strong Borger Nine Meets Hubbers At 3:30 Today; Lubbock Wins 2-0 Thriller

Lefty Blanchard Is Elected To Stop Invaders

The West Texas-New Mexico Baseball league championship season gets under way Wednesday. But Friday will be another "opening day" when the Lubbock club returns from Clovis to commence the revival of professional baseball here.

But between now and then, especially now, is a baseball game that should appeal to the fans of the community.

The Borger ball club, known as the Huber Carbons, comes to Lubbock today and will play the local professional Hubbers, if weather is willing, at 3:30 o'clock.

No Strangers Here

Borger's Hubers are not unknown around here. They invaded the local garden last season and went away with a couple of victories. The Lubbock semi-pros, good as they were, were unable to stop the old and experienced ball players now hired as hands in the Huber Carbon plant but who play baseball as a main event.

With but one or two exceptions, every player on the Borger nine, drawn from various spots of the country to the Panhandle boom town, are experienced ball players—of professional experience, that is.

Early in April, soon after the Borger squad started spring training, they came to Clovis, N. M., as the Amarillo Phillips "66" team, and played the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League off their feet to win a 2 to 1 game, going away. Since then they have won numerous other games, some of them from professional clubs—and they have not been defeated until yet!

The Hubbers, on the verge of opening a championship campaign, have fared well in exhibition games. They face their toughest test of the preseason campaign today.

Lefty Should Be Ready

Lefty Jerry Blanchard has been nominated by General Manager Harry Faulkner and Field Manager Hack Miller to start today's contest. Lefty is considered quite the stuff around here. A bit wild on occasion, he settles down to pitch some of the classiest ball locals have ever seen. He can not afford to be wild at the start today, however, because the Borgers know how to act at all times, especially when the pitcher is wild.

Blanchard has been kept out of games since the contest with the California All-Stars nearly two weeks ago, and should be ready to go today.

The Hubbers, victors over Amherst for the second time yesterday, will go into battle with what now is considered it's best lineup. Manager Hack Wilson, who rested yesterday while McEwen caught, will be behind the dish. Robert Mosel will be at first, and the southpaw looks plenty good. Sixteen-year-old Malcolm Stevens is at second. Joe Gedzius at short, and leading the batting order, and Johnny Taylor, a veteran of one year in pro ball, at third. In the outfield probably will be Watkins in left, Carr in center, Pope Mize in right.

Watkins is a fine fielder, Carr is a sensation catching flies labeled base hits in all parts of the outfield, and Mize is the powerhouse. Mize, troubled with an injured hand, may submit in favor of young Dorsey, but right field will be capably patrolled.

It's the Hubbers' big test before the league season starts, and with fair weather prevailing, the park should be filled.

Completion of roof over the new grandstand was announced yesterday, adding nearly 300 covered grandstand seats to the park. There'll be plenty of room for all comers. Admission is 40 cents.

Borger Is Stronger Than Last Season

BORGER, April 23. (Special) — The Hubers of Borger who clash with the Hubbers of Lubbock Sunday in one of the West Texas diamond classics of the season are virtually the same set of Hubers who invaded Lubbock last summer.

The club is made up of experienced ball players, most of whom have had considerable professional experience. The club, as it stands, has been playing together for two seasons or more.

So far this season, the Carbons have won four games without a defeat. They beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 to 1, at Clovis, N. M.; the Ponca City Angels of the Western Association, 10 to 7 and 16 to 0, and Clovis of the West Texas-New Mexico league, 19 to 6.

After Denver Title

The team won third place in the Denver Post tournament last season, and intends to take first place this year. Definitely the team is stronger due to addition of Dingman and Huffman to the infield and Littrell to the outfield.

Offensively, the club lacks nothing. The power and punch it packs are easily seen behind the scores of the games it has played.

A large crowd is expected here Monday night when the Hubbers return the game.

Taking the players up, briefly:

Roy Story, manager and utility man, formerly with New York Yanks, a strong hitter in the pinches.

Jim Carrithers, pitcher, from Atlanta in the Southern Association and Albany in the International league, a curve ball, left-handed artist.

Frank Warren, catcher and utility man, formerly with Toledo, a heavy hitter and the sparkplug of the team.

Carl "Powerhouse" Brown, right fielder, who played with Birmingham.

Hack Wilson, center fielder, formerly with Galveston in the Texas league, and a .300 hitter.

Buzz Ross, third base, formerly with Rochester and Houston, Cardinal farms.

Choppy Spencer, shortstop and utility, from Memphis of the Southern Association, fastest man on the team; stole 52 bases in 51 games last year.

Galan Huffman, first base, formerly with Sioux City and Tulsa.

Lefty Blair, pitcher, with professional experience in the Sally league.

Al Summers, second base, formerly of Oklahoma City and the Three-I league, hitting over .600 so far this season.

Luke Coburn, pitcher, right hander with a "fool 'em" ball, and a veteran in these parts.

"Lit" Littrell, left field, fleet on bases.

"Catfish" Smith, the Borger high school coach, who plays a mean game of catcher and hits well.

"Muscles" Dingman, shortstop, a fielder who seldom makes errors and is fast on double plays.

Deans Are Pretty Good As Sore Arm Lot, 'Lows Paul

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 23. — Paul Dean, who did all right in his only Texas league start this season except he had a little trouble getting the other side out, admitted with characteristic Dean modesty today that these Dean boys come high, especially for a sore arm bunch.

"That 185,000 smackers and a fourth of a dozen players for Ole Diz was okay," Paul said, "but it ain't right. You know darned well he isn't worth $178,000 more than I am.

Okay For Sore Arms

"Even at that these Dean boys come pretty high, though, especially for a bunch of sore arm boys," he drawled. "But don't let 'em kid you that there's anything wrong with Dizzy's arm. It's his legs. He just hasn't rounded into shape yet. He will. He isn't through.

"If Dizzy has a big year with the Cubs he sure ought to be able to cash in on it better with Chicago," the minor league pitching Dean figured aloud. "He's done pretty well up there already, hasn't he?"

Bakes Arm Under Arcs

Paul is having his fling at a comeback in the minors. The Cards sent him down to the Houston farm, where they play night games, in the hope the Texas sun would do his arm some good.

In his only start of the season, Paul lasted seven innings against Beaumont and left the box trailing by one run. Another pitcher salvaged the game 6-5.

"He had plenty of stuff but his arm got tired along about the end of the seventh," Ira Smith, Houston manager, explained. "He'll do better next time."

Trouble For The Hubbers

By Collier Parris

THIS IS THE DAY we have been anticipating with mixed dread and pleasure since that stormy April 6 afternoon at Clovis when the Borgers beat the Pittsburghs. It was while the gale was at its worst that your correspondent, in a moment of weakness, challenged the Borgers, one and all, to come over and play the Lubbock professionals.

And Bob Takewell, business manager of the Borgers, snapped us up like a stuffed olive. "Sure, we'll play you—if you ain't afraid. We'll keep open the date of April 24. But don't expect us to show any mercy for your youngsters. We're out to win every game we play, including this one." The Borgers at the moment had a 2-1 lead over Pie Traynor's Pittsburgh Pirates, and the game ended that way.

Maybe we've got Harry Faulkner and his lads in trouble, we mused on the way home. He'd better have himself a hard nine if he plays any of the semi-pro teams in this land of heavy-swinging baseballers, and he'd better have a Class A nine to play them Borgers.

College Try Brings Hubbers From Behind

We hadn't seen the Lubbocks then, didn't know a soul on the club except Lefty B'anchard, but we were thinking strongly of Blanchard, concentrating on his No. 2 pitch, when we issued the challenge to Borger.

The Hubbers aren't a Class A ball club, even with Blanchard pitching. They're not supposed to be. But they aren't a bunch of give-ups or lay-down-and-take-its either. They are by way of developing into a first class team of young ball players, and they'll start hustling as soon as the weather warms up enough to allow the elbow grease to flow.

They are able-bodied, capable, ambitious young men, hand picked by heavy salaried scouts who were looking for natural ability when they signed the boys. That they have the old college try has been demonstrated twice during the past week when they were considerably behind in the score, only to start clouting the apple with victorious results.

IF Blanchard is right today, and the rest of the Hubbers get down to business from the start, they'll at least give the Borgers a good game—might even win. But the customers will be seeing one of the toughest crews in Texas when the Hubers from Borger take the field.

Lubbock's infield should be one of the best in the West Texas-New Mexico league, if not THE best. Johnny Taylor at third has one of the best throwing arms you ever saw, and is a nice hitter. Joe Gedzius at short has the same kind of arm and plays his position like a veteran. Young Malcolm Stevens at second will be okay when he gets that new glove broken in, and Lefty Bob Mosel at first fields like Lefty Barrett and hits better. They are rapidly getting used to the hard diamond, although the ball takes some very peculiar to them, hops out there.

Chunking Staff Looks Good, Thank You

THE outfield may need a bit of going over. Defensively, Boyd Watkins in left and Al Carr in center are all you could ask, but so far they haven't broken many fence boards loose from the plate. Pope Mize in right needs to shake off some ballast and take things a little more seriously. There are too many left-handed swingers and not enough punch hitters in that lineup.

Outside of that, the club is in fair shape as she stands. The battery department looks fine so far, with Blanchard, Casamir Kaliski, Angaran, Verne Wilson and possibly J. C. Vincent heading the staff of chunkers. Wilson and Vincent have yet to show before the local fans, but this Angaran fellow from Iowa, with his nervous attitude and his streaking fast ball, is very likely to become a local hero.

Manager James Eldridge "Hack" Miller can get the catching job done, and he's probably the club's leading hitter. We'd like to see Robert McEwen, the catcher from Chicago, hang around, too. Looks plenty capable in workouts.

NEXT FRIDAY is "opening day" in Lubbock! So get set, and let's have that opening day attendance prize here without the necessity of a re-count. Don't keep your hands on your pocket books when the A.B.C. boys come around, or if you miss them, get your three-in-one ticket at Jarrett-West Drug, Bowen Drug, Hilton or Lubbock hotel cigar stands, Clark Drug or Pinson Drug. They cost a buck, and you see three games for one ticket.

Champ Bait Caster To Exhibit In Lubbock

A very large treat is in store for the citizens of the town one week from tomorrow night. Of particular interest to fishermen, but worth the time of anybody will be the appearance at the Tech stadium on the night of May 2 of Tony Accetta of Cleveland, national fly and bait casting champion.

Tony takes up where Jack Lamb of Fort Worth leaves off. Recognized all over the country as THE champ, Accetta puts on a show that's worth a big admission price. It's all free here.

John Mallory of Mallory's store is sponsoring the appearance of Accetta here.

From time to time during the coming week you'll read more about Accetta, but plan now to see an exhibition of fly and bait casting you won't believe. The man is good.

SKEET SHOOT TODAY

Regular weekly skeet shoot of the Lubbock Skeet and Gun club will be staged at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the club's range one mile north of town on the Plainview highway, J. E. Mann, jr., secretary, said.

Waco Men Assessed Plenty For Bids

WACO, April 23. (AP)—Two Waco men paid $225 in fines today for killing seven plover and three quail out of season.

Game Wardens Sam Turner and C. C. Crow said it was the heaviest penalty ever given for game law violation in this county. Fines of $10 and costs, a total of $22.50 for each bird, were paid in Justice Claude Segrest's court.

The men were arrested at dinner time Monday after the birds had been dressed ready for frying.

The wardens said in addition to violation of state laws that the migratory bird treaty act between Canada, Mexico and the United States had been broken, but that federal prosecution would not be pushed.

Black Cats? They're OK By Jonnard

HOUSTON, April 23. (AP) — Black cats may be bad luck to some people but Claude Jonnard, manager of the Shreveport Sports of the Texas league, likes them.

"My cab ran over a black cat on the way to the ball park last night," he said.

Shreveport won the game 3-0. It was the first victory of the season for Shreveport after nine straight defeats.

"From now on," Jonnard said today, "it will be bad luck to any black cat crossing my path."

Texans Have Big Day In Kansas Relays; Wolcott Sets Record

(By The Associated Press)

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 23. — Eight records toppled and the great Glenn Cunningham suffered his first defeat in 22 starts in the 16th running of the Kansas Relays today. Cunningham was edged out by a fellow Kansan, Archie San Romani, in a special mile in the slow time of 4:23.

Records were bettered in the pole vault, high jump, 120-yard hurdles, shuttle hurdle relay, university mile team race, university sprint medley, half-mile college relay and the junior college sprint relay.

Wolcott Cracks Record

In only one record-breaking event—the high hurdles—did the wind play a role. Fred Wolcott, sensational Rice sophomore, breezed over the sticks in 14.2, to better the old mark by .3 second, but it was announced the mark would stand despite the tail wind.

The meet 100-yard dash record, without starting blocks, was tied by Jeffrey of Riverside, Calif.. Jun-

Kentucky, Suh, To Have Double-Barrel Program

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 23. (AP)—The vast army of Kentucky colonels is busying itself these days preparing for a double celebration in connection with the Kentucky derby.

It's been a long time between celebrations for the colonels, and, for that matter, it's been a long time between colonels.

So when the colonels gather at Louisville for their anual derby week get-together, they will have two things to celebrate—their annual conclave and elbow-bending, and an informal initiation of half a dozen recruits.

Gov. A. B. Chandler, ex-officio head man of the colonels, has promised to break one of his first rules and appoint about six colonels at the annual derby week meeting.

Rice Drops Third In Row, To SMU

DALLAS, April 23. (AP) — The Southern Methodist university Mustangs, collecting three runs in the opening inning and adding two more in the eighth, handed the Rice Owls their third setback in two days here today, 5-2.

Rice dropped both games of a doubleheader to Texas Christian at Fort Worth yesterday.

Nolen Jackson, second baseman, started the Mustang fireworks in the opening frame when he hit a high fly between pitcher and catcher and perched himself on second base before Frank Steen, catcher, picked up the ball from the spot where it fell safely among four Owl infielders.

Busacker singled, scoring Jackson. Red Ewing followed with another safety, scoring Busacker. After two outs, Churchill doubled, scoring O'Neill, who had gotten on base on a fielder's choice.

In the last of the eighth, S.M.U. collected two runs on Ewing's double, O'Neill's single and stolen base, and a walk.

The Owls score came in the fifth and ninth innings. Jake Schuble, who led the Rice batting attack, scored the first run on Mechler's double.

In the ninth, Steen doubled and scored on Schuble's single.

Amherst Victim Of Angaran In Tough Battle

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

AMHERST, April 23.—Once more the Amherst Reds, a very stubborn and die-hard nine indeed, gave the professional Hubbers of Lubbock and the West Texas-New Mexico league a scare and a run for the money, but—today young Signor Italio Angaran, a right hander from Iowa with a fast ball and a curve, was fogging them through there, and with the big help of Centerfielder Alfred Wayne Carr of Asher, Oklahoma, and the errorless support of the other seven men, he won himself a 2 to 0 shutout from the Amherstsd.

It was a very nifty ball game, and should have ended, 1 to 0. The Hubbers earned but one of their two runs, both of which came in the first inning. It was a game that justified a larger attendance than Amherst fans provided here at Welch Field. The weather was a bit rough, what with a howling duststorm, but the game was a work of defensive art.

Angaran, who used to pitch against Bob Feller when they were in different high schools together, mowed down the first three batters to face him with strikeouts. The next three were retired in order, thanks to the first two of seven splendid bits of outfield fly-shagging by Carr. The seventh man was retired, but Craig waited out a walk to be the first Amherster on base.

Red Pitcher Effective

Now we turn to Pitcher Gilliland, a huge righthander with an outside sinker that fooled the professionals no little. Except for the initial inning, Gilliland also pitched shutout baseball, and foolish were the grins that Hubbers wore after swinging futilely at Big Gil's offerings. Third man up in the third for Amherst, he swung at a curve and sent it past Carr in center field. Carr took it off the fence, shot it to Stevens at second, and Steve pegged a strike to McEwen, who did a sprightly job of catching for the Hubbers, and Craig was cut off by a dozen feet.

Angaran retired the next nine batsmen in order, with the help of his fielders, and it wasn't until the seventh that he pitched to more than three batsmen.

In the seventh, Carr ran from right field to left field to catch almost impossible flies to retire Daddy Gee and "Preacher" Dickson. Catcher Bennett, who can play his position alongside any professional under Class AA, singled sharply to right, and stole second, Bus Dorman, playing at first base—he has pitched, played right field and first base against the Hubbers—popped to Mosel, ending the threat.

A fast double play had stopped a fourth-inning threat after Dickson had singled, with one out. Bennett grounded to Stevens who caught Dickson at second, on a throw to Gedzius, and Joe threw a strike to first to catch Bennett.

Double Play Helps

Another double play, Gedzius to Stevens to Mosel, halted a rally in the eighth after George Harmon had led off with a close single. The ruling was protested. Harmon's slash was gathered in by Gedzius who threw a bit wildly at Mosel. The latter caught the ball, but the umpire ruled the runner safe. Lumpkin struck out, and Craig bounded to Stevens, who started a fast double killing completed by Mosel from Gedzuis. In the last of the ninth, still battling, the Amherst threatened again, after Pinch Hitter Bradley had grounded out, Angaran to Mosel, and Richards' long fly had been shagged by Carr, playing in deep left field. "Daddy" Gee came up then, and on the three-two count blasted a double to right, advanced to second on a wild pitch. Dickson also waited out a three-two count in a crucial moment, but the third strike was called and the game was over.

For the Lubbocks, offensively, Gedzius led off with a rap to third that Harmon mishandled. Carr came up, grinning at a right-handed pitcher, and sailed a triple to right field, scoring Gedzius. "Jeep" Williams, starting at third in place of Taylor, who had complained of a sore arm, struck out, and Pope Mize, hefty right fielder, singled through short to score Carr.

Mosel singled through second, Watkins fanned, and Stevens singled, but Mize failed to score from second, and the sacks were loaded. McEwen's liner was snagged by

Three Aggie Runs In 9th Beat Toads

FORT WORTH, April 23. (AP) — Three Aggie runs in the ninth inning broke up a pitchers' duel between Tony Polanovich and Lindsay of the Texas Aggies and Durward Horner of TCU and gave the Cadets a 5-2 victory here today.

The Southwest conference teams had gone into the ninth tied 2-2 as a result of three Aggie walks and a single that brought a run in the eighth.

Three singles and a double did the damage in the ninth with Paul Tankersley relieving Horner in time to absorb most of the punishment.

Lambert Of Muleshoe Sets New Mark In Regional Half-Mile Run Saturday

Westerners Cop First Place In Canyon Events

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CANYON, April 23.—Woody Lambert of Muleshoe stepped off the half mile in 2 minutes and four seconds for a new record in that event as the Lubbock High Westerners walked off with honors in the region 1 track and field meet here today.

Lambert Lifts Record

Lambert's performance was by far the most thrilling of the afternoon. Next probably was the mile relay which the Westerners copped by a wide margin. Muleshoe was making a strong bid for two laps when Horace McAdams failed to hold the baton when it was passed from Claude Riley.

James Simms, Lubbock, sailed the javelin 162 feet 3 inches, which was considered a fair throw although falling short of the regional mark.

Lubbock Point Makers

Besides the mile relay win, in which Kennedy Lyons, Jarvis Wright, John Moxley, and Melvin Cooksey ran, Lubbock took first places in the javelin throw, the 440-yard dash, and the pole vault. Cooksey and Henry Ford won the two latter events.

Ford was fourth in the 120-high hurdles, Jack Ware placed second in the shot put, Jumbo Webster was fourth in the 220-yard dash, Othello Upton was third in the pole vault.

Ray Caplinger of Spur soared 5 feet 10 1-2 inches to take first place in the high jump.

Oleta Franklin and Jamie Ruth Dechard of Meadow, defending champions of the regional girls tennis doubles, repeated with a finals victory over Billie June Preddy and Oneta Ross of Amarillo. Scores were 6-3, 6-2.

Amarillo's doubles team of Jack Childers and Francis Hightower edged out Lacey Burleson and James Burgett of Littlefield in the boys finals, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

Other teams scores in the tracks and field events were: Draw, 10, Pampa, 9, Happy and Amherst, 7 each; Spur, 6, Amarillo, 3 1-2; Littlefield, Abernathy, Flomot, Higgins, Quanah, Carey, and Hedley, 3 each; Adrain, 2 1-2, Olton, Estelline, Borger, Crowell, Becker, Farwell, and Pettit, 2 each, Crosbyton 1 1-2, Darrouset Spade, Tell, and Folette, 1 each.

lor college. He was timed in 9.6 seconds.

He also had the benefit of a breeze.

Six of the eight records were set by athletes from Oklahoma or Texas, with Colorado and California each contributing one new mark.

Dick Kearns, Colorado university's all-around track star won the decathlon crown for the second straight time. He swept his way to 6,840 points, more than 300 points better than his winning total in 1937.

Gilbert Cruter, lanky Colorado negro, leaped to a new top of 6 feet 7 9-16 inches, and the Riverside, Calif., Junior college quartet sprinted to a record of 1 28.7 in the half-mile college relay.

The old high jump mark of 6 feet 6 3-8 inches was set by Vickery of Texas and Stevens of Pittsburg, Kas., Teachers in 1937, and the replaced half-mile college relay mark of 1:27 was set by Oklahoma Baptist in 1930.

Burly Beefus Bryan of the University of Texas hit a new ceiling of 13 feet 11 3-4 inches in the pole vault, replacing the mark of 13 feet 9 3-4 inches set by Tom Warne of Northwestern in 1930.

Oklahoma A. and M. raced to a new mark of 1:06.6 in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, bettering the mark of 1:01.7 set by Kansas State in 1934.

Fielding Records Are Broken In Brown-Sox Game Friday

ST. LOUIS, April 23. (AP) — Two major league fielding records were bettered and another was equaled Friday in the 13-inning game between the Browns and the Chicago White Sox.

By accepting 23 chances (22 putouts and one assist), Joe Kuhel of the White Sox surpassed by one the previous high for total chances accepted by a first baseman in a single game. The listed mark is 22, set by Bill O'Brien of Washington back in 1888 and equaled eight times, most recently by Jack Burns of the Browns in 1931.

Don Heffner, the second sacker

Blaine—paced the North Texas Teachers to a new record of 4:16.3 in the university mile team race, finishing to new record of 4:16.3 in the university mile team race, finishing shoulder to shoulder. The old record of 4:23.2 was set by Don Lash of Indiana last year.

The Rice speedsters accounted for a new sprint medley relay mark of 3:27, displacing the 3:27.4 time hung up by Northwestern in 1936.

Rice came through with victories in the university class quarter-mile and sprint medley relays, and North Texas Teachers won the mile team race and the college distance medley.

Twins Run Dead Heat

Wolcott also had a big day individually, placing third in the 100 after his record-breaking hurdle performance. Blaine Rideout, given the decision over his brother in a virtual dead heat in the mile team race, also anchored the college distance medley winner.

Atchison of Texas was third in the broad jump, won by Hubbard of Minnesota with 24 feet 8 3-4 inches.

Wolfe of Texas won the discus throw with 147 feet 5 inches.

Graham Wins Javelin

North Texas Teachers with a team of Christian, Morgan and the Rideouts won the college distance relay with a time of 10 minutes 28.1 seconds.

Graham of Texas won the javelin throw with 212 feet 5 inches.

West Texas Gassers Win First Honors In Bowling Standings

Maintaining a lead throughout the campaign, West Texas Gas company keglers ended the Lubbock Bowling league season this week holding a fair margin over American Optical company.

The Gassers defeated the Opticians in all three games. Lubbock Printing company dropped two of three games to Lubbock Tailoring company but retained third place in final standings. Games were played at the Lubbock Bowling club alleys.

Bell Leads Scoring

Bell, ace pin-smasher of the Gas five, undisputedly captured all scoring honors for the season. His average of 195 was 20 points better than that of Laverty of Lubbock Printing company. He knocked over 8,784 pins in 45 games.

A single-game mark of 259, set by Bell, was high for the season. Laverty was second with 258; with Crites, West Texas Gas, third with 234; trailed by Conley, Lubbock Tailoring, and Hammett, American Optical company, in a tie with 224.

Other Statistics

Laverty also came in second in three-game totals with 615 to Bell's 701. Aderton, West Texas Gas, was third with 611, and Crites fourth with 598.

High single team score was bowled by the Opticians, crashing 959. The Gassers bowled 2,712, for the high three-game score for one team.

First game results Monday.

Longhorns' Attack Blasts Baylor

WACO, April 23. (AP) — Chasing Mike Duecy, Baylor southpaw, from the box with a five-run barrage in the first stanza, the Texas Longhorns coasted to an easy 11 to 1 victory over the Bears here today, thereby sweeping the two-game series and hanging up their sixth straight Southwest conference triumph of the season.

Ned McDonald, rangy right-hander, limited the Baylors to three hits while his mates were socking Duecy and Williamson for 16 safeties. Six errors by the Bears aided the Steers scoring.

John Hill, slugging Bovine first sacker, clouted his second home run of the series in the ninth inning with nobody on base.

Newcomer Makes Appearance On Wednesday Night Rassle Show

New life will be injected into the regular weekly wrestling show Wednesday night at the Auditorium.

Billy Davis, a Houston boy, who comes here with a good record in the squared circle, meets squat George Hartay in the opening bout. Hartay will be out to regain a place in the sun after dropping a main event to Andy Tremaine last week.

In the main struggle swashbuckling Gorilla Pogi will get his chance against Dick Sampson. The Dentonite was the cock-of-the-walk in these parts until Hartay discovered a defense for his Sampson Special.

Pogi likes the going rough and Sampson can stand a little of the tough tactics himself, though he has a few gentlemanly traits for "them what rassles cleanly."

Soldier Thomas, an ex in Uncle Sam's khaki brigade, comes back to the local scene after several weeks in another section. Big Bob Cummings will furnish the opposition and likely plenty of it.

Thomas made his debut here a couple of months ago, but saw little service.

Light is not entirely absent in the ocean depths until a level of about 2000 feet is reached.

3. That pursuant to the provisions of the foregoing acts of Congress and Executive Orders and pursuant to the provisions of an act of Congress approved August 1, 1888 (25 Stat. 357), the Secretary of Agriculture has determined and is of the opinion that it is useful, proper, necessary, advantageous and in the interest of the United States to acquire title to the land hereinafter described by condemnation, under judicial process and has made application to the Attorney General of the United States to cause such proceedings to be commenced in pursuance of which application the Attorney General has instructed and directed the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas to institute these proceedings.

Kerr, Engineer, and by him duly certified to on April 16, 1936, a photostatic copy of which plat is hereto attached and marked "Exhibit A", and to which plat reference is hereby made for a more particular description of the above described premises.

5. That the estate taken for said public uses is the full fee simple title thereto, subject to and excepting all existing public roads, public utility easements and right of way, and now located on or across parts of said lands.

6. That the apparent and presumptive owners of the above described lands executed and delivered an option to your petitioner to convey said lands to the United States at the price stated therein, $5 per acre, which said option was duly exercised and accepted by the United States.

Stan Laurel To Wed Third Wife Again

HOLLYWOOD, April 23. (AP)—Stan Laurel, film stooge, and his third wife, Vera Shuvalova, are going to wed again Monday—for the third time.

"Ah-h-h, Easter brought me fond recollections of my native Russia," sighed Mrs. Laurel. "We decided we ought to have a Russian Orthodox wedding."

They filed notice yesterday of intention to wed and arranged with Father Znamenski to perform the ceremony in their Beverly Hills home.

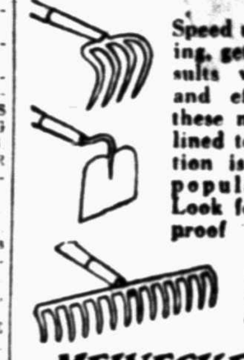

Laurel, 46, and his blonde bride, 26, first entered matrimony in an elopement to Yuma, Ariz., last January 1.

After legal difficulties with Laurel's second wife, Mrs. Virginia Ruth Laurel, they returned to Yuma for their second wedding.

The comedian's first wife was Mrs. Lois N. Laurel, whom he married in 1926. And then there was Mrs. Mae Laurel, his former vaudeville partner, who summoned him to court seeking to establish her claim she was his common law wife. The suit was dismissed.

Tickets may be obtained at the chamber of commerce. They will be issued, however, only to adults, according to the announcement.

Vaudeville Acts Booked

Program will include vaudeville acts by radio station WFAA performers and by the official band accompanying the trippers. Among those to appear on the program will be Pinky Martin and Wilbur Ard of the "Early Birds", Peg Moreland, singer, and the Plainsman quartet. Alex Keese, program director of the radio station, will be master of ceremonies.

A dance at Hotel Lubbock will follow the program. The special train, due to arrive at 4:20 p. m., will leave at midnight, with Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Sweetwater and San Angelo on Thursday's itinerary. Programs are scheduled at Canyon and Plainview before the arrival here Wednesday.

Senior High school band will greet the visitors at Santa Fe depot and will parade with them on Main to Texas, then south to Broadway, and then west to Lubbock hotel. The street east of the hotel will be roped off and a program will be presented after a brief official welcome by Mayor C. E. Slaton.

Ed D. Allen and J. H. Beasley are co-chairmen of the reception committee.

Seven Calves Are Purchased By 4-H Club Boys Of Area

Seven calves, from three to six weeks old, have been bought by six 4-H club boys from the Fred Snyder ranch west and south of Lehman and will be fed out by the boys for the 1939 Lubbock Quality Fat Stock show.

"Boys who are interested in buying calves, but who do not have the money, may be able to arrange with the Farm Security administration for loans," Homer Thompson, assistant county agent, said. "They can get money at 5 per cent interest."

A group of men and boys made the trip Friday to Cochran county. Several did not complete purchases because they did not have a mother cow for the calf. Calves cost $25 each.

Purchasers included: C. T. Potts jr., near Lubbock; Melvin Johnson and Alfred (Bud) Johnson, Posey; Claude B. Hamilton and Clifford Hamilton, Slide, one each and Joe Doyle, two.

Lubbock County 4-H Boys Have Good Record In Recent Show

Lubbock county 4-H club boys made a good record in the number of entries of 4-H club animals, the premium money and the sales, said Homer R. Thompson, assistant county agent, in a summary of results of the recent fat stock show, April 4-5-6.

There were 103 calves listed by club boys, 24 hogs and 15 sheep; of these, Lubbock county boys had 14 calves, five hogs and one sheep.

Premium money paid winners amounted to $223.50, of which Lubbock boys received $41.50.

Club animals sold numbered: 187 calves for $7,820.73; 18 hogs for $379.91 and 15 sheep for $159.26; a total of $8,359.90 for 120 animals. Lubbock county boys sold 11 calves for $981.60; three hogs for $61.93 and one sheep for $8.58, total of $1,052.11 for 15 animals.

Five Valuable Paintings Are Stolen From Man's Castle

LONDON, April 23. (AP)—Five valuable paintings—one Rembrandt valued at $250,000—were stolen early today from the 17th century Chilham castle home of Sir Edmund Davis, art collector and mining magnate.

But the thieves examined and passed up an idol said by Sir Edmund to be "pure gold."

Rembrandt's "Saskia At Her Mirror," along with two Gainsboroughs, a Reynolds and one Van Dyck, were stolen by a gang believed to be expert art thieves who entered a ground floor window and cut the paintings from their frames.

Winter Wheat Crop Makes Rapid Recovery In Past Ten Days

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics said today the American winter wheat crop made rapid recovery during the last ten days from the recent setback caused by early April frost in Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas.

It said, however, that some permanent injury to the crop resulted.

The bureau said no new estimate of the size of the crop would be made until next month.

AMERICA'S SWEETHEART, 1938

BASED on figures which jammed the accounting machines at the Radio City Music where "Snow White" played to a million attendance, the total number of people who will see Disney's masterpiece before it reaches the revival stage will exceed the population of the United States.

Merchandisers are now girding up their lines to see that nobody gets by Snowwhiteless in 1938. Seventy-five manufacturers representing practically every industry except tattooing have applied for Snow White licenses. It took only 100 manufacturers to retail $35,000,000 worth of Mickey Mouse merchandise in 1937.

Of course we knew Mr. Emerson said if a man built a better mouse trap than his neighbor the world would make a beaten path to his door, but if he does no better than build a better mouse he won't be considered a failure, eh Mr. Disney?

SCATTERINGS

MRS. Henry M. Robert, jr., of Annapolis, Md., elected president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution last week, is an authority on parliamentary law and why not. Her father-in-law wrote Robert's Rules of Order. . . . Collegiate and prep school smart sets in sending air mail wouldn't think of writing plain "Air Mail" on the envelopes. They scrawl phrases like "Let It Fly," "Join the Birdies" or "Take to Wings" but the postal employes understand what they mean . . . . You'd be surprised to know how many women feel as silly as they look when they wear those hats. . . . The New York world's fair crowd is aiming at 50,000,000 admissions as the first year's gate. Sounds silly until you recall that the movies have 85,000,000 admissions every week.

BEST surprise of the past week: The arrival of a studio photograph of Robert Taylor inscribed: "With best wishes to the editor of the Woman's Angle." We're pleased but puzzled as to where to hang it since its display is banned down at the A-J office and not encouraged at home . . . The choice of 2,000 men and women of Gary Cooper and Anthony Eden as the handsomest men in the world is too, too absurd. What a contrast, a former cowboy actor and a former foreign secretary!

"KIM," Kipling's famous novel of a boy in India, is scheduled to be produced with Freddie Bartholomew in the title role . . . When ironing wear an old pair of cotton gloves with the fingers cut off and you will not have "iron" callouses on your hand . . . We wonder if Tech social clubs will allow Jack Little's orchestra to stop with the concert to be given May 10 as the last number of the current artists course series. Surely someone will engage him for a dance . . . Of course they have to smooth the rouge but why do so many women wear "lipstick fingers?" Note the ring fingers on their right hands . . . Personal nomination for a pleasant-faced man: D. H. Stockton . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell who are observing their 31st wedding anniversary today.

HE WAS HURT!

TOWARD the end of the party the hostess asked a young woman to sing. The latter assented and, seating herself at the piano, played and sang "Come Back To Erin." Toward the end of the song the hostess spied another guest, near at hand, weeping profusely.

"Ah, Mr. Green," she said, "you must have some Irish in you to be so touched."

"No, 'Ma'em," he responded. "I'm not Irish and I'm not touched. I'm a musician."

City Federation Is Sponsored For Huge Display

PRIZED possessions of Lubbock's amateur and professional collectors and accomplishments of the city's most talented women were amassed in the most gigantic display of its type ever assembled in Lubbock Friday afternoon in the north ballroom of Hotel Lubbock.

The occasion was the third annual achievement tea given by the City Federation of Women's clubs. Two hundred women called.

After registering with Mesdames Robert Crawford and Frank Jones, the guests were invited to view the exhibits which lined the walls on three sides of the ballroom. Arranged according to clubs, the exhibits included art and needlework and literary accomplishments of Lubbock women and all types of hobbies and collections, ranging from canary birds, plants and flowers, cookings equipment, scrapbooks, antiques and curios and whatnots, attractively displayed on tables running the full length of the walls, hung on the walls or set on the floor.

Table Main Feature

The ballroom was decorated to resemble a huge, comfortable drawing room with rugs on the floor, upholstered furniture, floor lamps and draperies. The tea table, 13 1-2 feet long, was the central feature in the room.

It was covered with two lace cloths and had been decorated artistically under supervision of Mesdames J. O. Ellsworth and R. E. Garlin. Centerpiece was a weeping bouquet of assorted spring flowers and fern on a fern-edged reflector. The flowers, bougain villae, sweetpeas, carnations and others of the season, appeared to be draped from the top of the tall glass vase to the table below. On either side, four tapered, orchid-candles burned in reproductions of antique glass candelabra.

Mrs. Johnson Chairman

Mrs. J. S. Johnson, general arrangements chairman, and Mrs. Garlin presided at two large silver tea services belonging to Mrs. A. B. Cunningham.

During the first hour of the tea, Miss Ruth Dupree played piano selections. A trio, consisting of Doris Kolb, piano; Douglas Hardy, violin and Virginia Belle Gamble, cello, played during the second hour. The trio was directed by Mrs. Chester Elliott.

Mesdames N. H. Holt and R. T. Campbell received guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line in which stood Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, president of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, officers of the federation and presidents of all the federated clubs including:

Mesdames E. L. Banks, W. B. Irvin, C. C. Webb, Robert Hester, George S. Berry, J. H. Hankins, T. B. Duggan, jr., Elliott, A. B. Brown, J. E. Hartley, O. A. Terry, M. L. Shepherd, Hugh V. Newton, Renford Taylor, Mary W. Doak, and G. H. Ater.

Forty women, who were members of the exhibit committee or are club representatives to the federation, assisted in the house party.

Mrs. Johnson, who has been a prominent club woman of Lubbock the past 26 years and who has worked diligently with the City Federation since its organization about ten years ago said the achievement tea was decidedly the loviest event of its kind to be staged in Lubbock's history. She, as chairman of arrangements, was profuse in expressing appreciation for splendid cooperation of all the clubs and at least 60 women who made the affair possible and of the hotel in providing "everything the federation needed".

Tech Co-Eds Plan Varied Vacations During Summer Months; Some To Marry, Others To Take Extended Trips; Four Go To Europe

By SYLVIA SMITH

Some of them will marry, some will announce secret marriages, and many will remain in school throughout most of the summer. In any event, Texas Technological college coeds are anticipating an eventful vacation period upon the termination of the present school term.

"Nothing 'specially, but I'm going to raise the roof," said one miss to the what-will-you-do query.

Another will "apply home economics principles and try to keep house on a budget."

Still another had the objective in mind to "catch up on some courting."

Going To Get A Job

"I'm going to get a job, even if I have to wash dishes in a two-bit restaurant." This was from an ambitious graduating senior.

Predominant among the selected-at-random girls, are those who have chosen picturesque old Mexico as the site for sights. The Doss twins, Eleanor and Elizabeth, will visit relatives in Mexico, provided there is no revolution at that time.

Reservations have been made for four coeds at Red Horse inn at Stratford-on-Avon, England, in connection with tour accredited with the English department at the college. They are Vondelle Prideaux, Kathryn Weaver, Alice Staley and Esta Lee Hazelwood. There probably will be 30 making the Shakespearian study at his homeplace.

Eron Gafford, who has an original money-making scheme she hopes to put into operation, plans to tour Mexico with her father before returning to Lubbock to participate in a dramatic production.

Among the junior councilors, Mary Emma Owens will attend Kickapoo camp, New Mexico.

Combining work with play, Daurice Anderson will register at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Mary Florence Van Horne plans to work in her home town post office, Westbrook, after a visit to Santa Rosa and a club reunion at Cedar Vale, Okla.

Others Plan Vacations

Jo Marie Carmack too, will attend the Cedar Vale reunion, besides going to California and entertaining guests at home.

Franhes Turner will be engaged in decorating windows for a Lubbock merchant.

Merle Haynes and Virginia Knapp, members of a popular trio, will have to sing by remote control, if they sing during their vacations. Merle is going to New York city; Virginia will be in California.

Claudia Sue Mosely will teach dancing in Knox City.

Grace Kay Rea will be in Pennsylvania the Fourth of July to attend the annual twenty-fifth family reunion.

Nell Kathryn Speed will vacation at summer resort Estes Park, Colo.

Dinner Is Honor For Mrs. Ward

Honoring the teacher, Mrs. J. E. Ward, on her birthday, First Baptist Truth Seekers class entertained Friday night at Seaman hall with an annual banquet. The table, arranged in an "H" in honor of Mrs. Ward's first name, Henrietta, was centered with yellow roses and lighted with yellow tapers in crystal candelabra. Roses also were placed at the ends of the table.

Plate favors were miniature hat boxes containing mints and bearing the guests' names and tied with blue and gold ribbons, carrying out the class colors.

Mrs. Frank Earney presented Mrs. Ward with a book containing autographs and pictures of the class and sang a birthday song. Mrs. Claude Keeton played accordion selections, Miss Mary Ellen Jordan gave readings and Mrs. E. C. Kuykendall presented a novel plan for a class contest.

Members attending were Mesdames H. F. Maner, Beth Williams, Estelle Payton, Louis and Freeman Shell, C. A. Henderson, Jimmy Jameson, Keeton, A. E. Herring, Carl Killman, Earney, O. W. Langlotz, J. T. Langford, Henry Drake, Cliff Elliott, H. B. Hankins, J. D. Jones, Ray Allen, Ralph Moore, C. W. Ratcliff, W. Bogart, Newt Jackson and T. Younger.

Guests were Mesdames E. R. Langford of Whittington, Ariz., Clovis Pior and Vera Rockwell of Artesia, N. M., Mary Baker, J. D. Boucher, W. H. Trice and Mary Sparks of Dallas.

from Lou to Louella . . .

Dear Louella: My fan business is increasing by leaps and bounds, and if it keeps up I will really have an adequate coverage in the "scooping" business for your entertainment.

Last week, too late to be included in my letter to you, came an anonymous letter with the suggestion that "I'll be back soon with more gossip if you like the idea."

Then, in a few days I received an anonymous telephone call with the "news" that Pauline Jones and Preston Crawford have set June as the date for seeing the preacher. I didn't try to verify the information because June is too close upon us. Anyhow, if it is true, I'm not surprised and I am pleased.

The letter, which is extremely vague as to tangible detail, is interesting and I should like to hear more. It reads:

"Say, keep your ears and eyes open for the announcement of the marriage of a Lubbock girl and her out of town boy friend, either in June or July. I think you know who I mean. (Maybe the writer meant Katrina Brewer and Charles McDavid whose marriage was announced last Sunday after this letter was written.)

"I also understand that a charming young man from Fort Worth is to establish a business in our fair city. He is single, good looking and has all the qualities of a fine romance. I don't know his name, as yet. (Hope the writer isn't fooling.)

"Did you meet the handsome New Yorker, Dr. George Roberts, who has been in our city? The girls were all aflutter over him, but he seemed to be quite carried away by a tall, dark-eyed young lady with long, dark hair from Slaton. He met her one night at a party in Lubbock. I think we Lubbock girls (oh, oh, she gave herself away as being a woman) have some competition there."

I guess I'll have to call her my anonymous friend and give my old, old friend whose letters I've been quoting, a nickname. Let's see, I'll call her Lulu. That's what the youngsters call a person they can depend on, a lulu.

Now if Anonymous Friend follows through somewhat regularly with dependable tips, I'll think up a name for her.

Attending Lyall Pickett's announcement party in Post the other day I realized something that before hadn't occurred to me. Lyall is marrying Bob Davis of Austin in June. Lyall's sister, Elizabeth, is married to Robert Foster Davis and their infant son is named Bob Davis. The senior Davises are not related.

A reliable source has informed me that petite Cora Fox Yonge is to be married in June.

In August, Lubbock's Number 1 lovely girl and an out-of-town young man with (so I've heard) equally as much charm will be wed. By the way, do you suppose that's the marriage to which Anonymous Friend referred?

As beautiful a bride as this season will see is Eva Mae O'Neal whose marriage to Jack H. Womack of Waco is announced today.

Here's a wedding, planned for June or thereabouts, that the town has been waiting for: Maxine Burrus and M. K. Foster, jr., who've been sweethearts ever since I can remember. Maxine is wearing the engagement ring, and the wedding will take place soon after M. K.'s graduation from Tech college, I've been informed.

I learned Friday that Anna Bass Arnett who was injured in an automobile mishap about two weeks ago has been readmitted to the Plains hospital for further treatment. I hope she'll be getting well real soon.

People are always fussing at me for talking about how many parties I've been going to but if I didn't mention them how could I be convincing with my gossip. Anyhow, I went to three parties Friday and learned a bunch of things which will keep me chattering at least until June.

At a luncheon Friday I had the pleasant experience of sitting with Mrs. Harry Blocker and Miss Mary Meador, of hearing Charles Fike play "The Goldfish" and the arrangement of "The Beautiful Blue Danube" which he presents so remarkably, of meeting the personable George Oscar Bowen of Tulsa and his talented wife who have been here this week, of hearing Dorothy Rylander sing, of hearing W. B. Irvin speak, of renewing my acquaintance with lovely Mrs. Irvin, of hearing Carroll Thompson's repartee, of hearing Mrs. Elois Elliott preside cleverly and gracefully, and cf, in general, having an excellent time.

I was amused to hear Mrs. Blocker, who looks much too young, say that her eyesight had begun to fail. She noticed the weakness appeared soon after she learned she was a grandmother.

Mary and I agreed that we know of only one other young grandmother who is deeply pleased with her position. That is Mrs. C. D. Morrel of Post.

The Paul Sherrods are all ready to begin building a magnificent home 'way out on Nineteenth street.

I'll try to remember the rest of the gossip I have stored up for next week.

Yours, Lou.

Dr. Thorn arrived Saturday and will preach at the 11 o'clock services this morning and at 8 o'clock tonight. He is considered one of the best known evangelists in Texas, said Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the Lubbock church.

High School Students To Aid In Highway Planning Survey

Lubbock High school students have been granted permission by W. B. Irvin, superintendent, to assist in a special study of the use of state highways, county roads, and city streets by car owners of Lubbock county, according to J. E. Wright, district supervisor of the highway planning survey.

This is a part of a nationwide program to collect information needed in planning the construction and maintenance of highways, roads, and streets.

Can Furnish Information

Information which is being collected through Lubbock High school is an important part of the highway planning survey, according to Wright. It is anticipated that Lubbock students will furnish a great deal of much-needed and valuable information concerning Lubbock county.

Wright said that the survey, which is a new branch of the Highway department and is financed both by the state and federal governments, is doing several different types of work. A detailed road map is being prepared of each county. Traffic counts have been made on all state highways and are now being made on county roads; traffic flow maps will be prepared from this information.

Trucks which travel on state highways have been weighed in order to find out how great a strain they impose on the road surface. The average life and cost of each of the various types of road surfaces are being studied. Amounts of money spent by cities on streets, by counties on secondary roads, and by the state on highways are being analyzed.

A popular meeting for men and women will start at 8 o'clock that night. Mrs. McCutcheon is to give the address.

Both groups plan to close their work before Thursday afternoon, if possible.

Largest In U. S.

El Paso Presbytery is the largest in area of the Presbyterian church in the United States. Territory extends from Lubbock to Clovis and Portales, N. M., to Crosbyton on the east; south to Big Spring and west to El Paso.

There are 26 churches in the area, with 17 resident pastors. Churches have more than 2,500 members. Every church has either a regular pastor or a supply; in several instances a minister serves more than one charge.

A new church, or rather a reorganization, at Seagraves, is in progress at this time and may be reported at the meeting.

Rev. S. J. McMurry, Crosbyton, is stated clerk of the presbytery. He is also stated clerk of the Synod of Texas. Mrs. Hugh May, Clovis, is presbyterial president.

Hollywood On The Loose..

A Boy Washes, A Girl Gets Ideas, A Boy Catches On—It All Happens In Filmland

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—All over the lot: Bobby Jordan, one of the "Dead End" hellions, has been transformed by his role in "In Every Woman's Life." No longer talks in Brooklynese. He has a haircut, horned-rimmed glasses, and a crease in his pants.

The astonishing thing is that these aspects of gentility are to young Mr. Jordan's liking. The reason is that he has an awful crush on Bonita Granville, one of his co-players, and has had it for some time. She chilled him when he was a toughie, but is quite cordial now. He is self-conscious when acting with her, and there are witnesses who swear that he has learned to blush.

The truth is that all four of the "Dead End" gang remaining in Hollywood are relaxing somewhat from the tough-guy roles which they have played both on and off screen. But Huntz Hall, who's known as "Dippy," is still a problem to studio disciplinarians.

Hall, being under 18, has to attend the Warner Brothers school under pretty Beth Clopton. Other day he dashed into the building and full tilt into the classroom, almost colliding with the teacher. "Where's the fire?" she inquired, maybe a little tritely.

Dippy looked at her the way Humphrey Bogart looks at gals. Then, with just a shade of admiration in his voice, he answered, "In your eyes, baby!"

He's still doing overtime for that crack.

Fashions In Names

WHEN Georges Rigaud first was signed by Paramount, the studio decided to bill him under the single name, "Rigaud." He didn't mind until he began getting letters from women who thought he was a new dress designer. So he complained indignantly and now he has been given back his first name. The funny thing is that Rigaud used to work for a Paris fashion house.

Monkey See

FOR a scene in "Hello, Hollywood," three professional jugglers at a dinner table grab stacks of plates and go into an intricate routine. The plates are flying back and forth at dizzy speed when a colored maid enters with a loaded tray; then everything crashes.

Jane Withers is the star of the picture, and I was talking with her mother when the scene first was tried. She said sadly, "Oh, my china!"

"Your china? You can't mean—"

"I was thinking of the dishes at home. Jane will be trying that stunt."

I Got Titles

RAYMOND SCOTT (whose name isn't Scott), proprietor of the Raymond Quintet (which isn't a quintet), was telling me about some of his new music (which IS music). The latest numbers are "Siberian Sleigh-ride" and "Square Dance for Egyptian Mummies."

There is more justification for Scott's screwy titles than there is for most of the titles AND music written by other tunesmiths. He tries to tell something.

He picks out a subject and tries to describe it with harmony or dissonance or jazz or whatever. His stuff has dramatic content. Proof: A person who never has heard one of his compositions can take a list of the titles and fit them to his pieces.

Boy Linguist

A NEWLY-SIGNED Paramount child actor, Donald O'Connor, comes from a brother-act in vaudeville and works in his first screen role with precisely the same setup. In "Sing, You Sinners," he's the kid brother of Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray, and sings, dances and plays the accordion with them in vaudeville.

Wesley Ruggles, director of the picture, had been looking for such a kid for weeks. They found him at the benefit dinner for the Film Welfare League.

The youngster, who's 13 or 14, and isn't sure which, can sing and dance and act. In fact, he's such a veteran stage trouper that Ruggles was worried about one thing. He cautioned, "You mustn't project your voice as though you're talkin to an audience. Keep it conversational, intimate. Remember you're playing only to the camera."

"I getcha," assured Donald. "You don't want me to pitch to the customers on the shelf."

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" At Palace In Top Spot Of Today's Film Menu

Boy Star Is On Broadway Bill

THE punch of the French background is brought in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the picture of life among Europe's smart set, showing at the Palace through Tuesday.

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a brilliant new comedy team and Ernst Lubitsch's deft direction brings out the finer points of the plot.

Adapted From Famous Play

The story is adapted from the famous play of Alfred Savoir. It tells of a much-married American multi-millionaire who is subdued and put into a straight-jacket by his eighth wife, whom he marries for a new thrill.

Cooper is the millionaire, and Miss Colbert, a penniless French aristocrat, starts a campaign to bring him to his knees and humble his pride as his eighth wife.

A score of Europe's gay spots, including the Riviera, the Tyrol, Venice, Vienna and Paris, form the battleground.

Leader Of Youthful Gang

Leader of a neighborhood gang, Jackie Cooper, as Chuck in "Boy of the Street" at the Broadway through Tuesday, tries to imitate his father whom he thinks is a big shot of ward politcs. Maureen O'Connor, as Norah, a pretty little Irish girl worships the 16-year-old Chuck.

When the boy finds that his father is a stooge for the ward boss, and when Norah is sent away to a fashionable school, Chuck leaves home and joins forces with a gangster.

The gangster's cowardly attack on a policeman pal of the neighborhood kids teaches Chuck the meaning of honor and disillusions him with gangster methods. He joins the navy, feeling that it will remove him from a bad environment and teach him discipline.

New Star Introduced

Another hit from the typewriters of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, writers of "Mutiny on the Bounty," brings "Hurricane," and romantic spectacle of the South sea isles to the screen. The play, showing at the Texan today, tomorrow and Tuesday, introduces a new star in Jon Hall, a handsome young man of exceptional physique.

Dorothy Lamour, the comely dark-head who started in radio and made her film debut in "The Jungle Princess" a year ago, plays opposite Hall, as Marama, a South sea belle.

Story Laid On Island

The story, set on the low island of Manukura, 600 miles from Tahiti, opens with wedding of the native lovers, Terangi and Marama.

The high point of the picture is, of course, the amazing spectacle which gives the story its climax and name.

Fredric March, Charles Laughton, and Rochelle Hudson will be shown today and tomorrow at the Cactus in the screen adaption of Victor Hugo's immortal classic, "Les Miserables." Much of the Frenchman's fine writing has been transferred into the screen version.

"Women Men Marry," with Josephine Hutchinson and George Murphy is showing today and Monday at the Lyric.

Dick And Joan Co-Starred

Dick Powell and his flesh-and-blood wife, Joan Blondell, are co-starred in the swingy Warner Bros. production, "Stage Struck," showing through Monday night at the Tech.

Frank McHugh furnishes the comedy as Powell's assistant as a Broadway dance director.

A blacksmith wallop for Craig Reynolds and a backstage kick for Blondell send the latter on a drinking spree, climaxed by her shooting Reynolds. The mustachioed singer and Jeanne Madden sub on the stage for the pair.

They make a big hit with the audience and each other.

An automobile trailer, won by Joe Penner in a raffle, furnishes the background for some rib bending action in "Go Chase Yourself," at the Lindsey today and tomorrow.

The duck man, cast as a crooning bank teller, is kidnaped by bandits and whisked away in his trailer. He reveals clues to his whereabouts during a broadcast of a roving reporter and is given a wild ride down a mountain road.

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper are on a rocky road to romance in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," opening today at the Palace.

Here's one of the greatest of the younger stars, Jackie Cooper, who has the leading role in "Boy Of The Streets," current at the Broadway.

Bands To Enter Area Contests

More than 150 musicians and leaders representing Senior and Junior High schools here will participate Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the annual tournament of West Texas High School Band and Orchestra association at San Angelo, according to information given Saturday by H. A. Anderson, director.

Members of the high school orchestra will leave early Thursday and most of them will return that night following contests in that event. Lubbock and Abilene orchestras, each with the highest possible rating, tied for first honors at the tournament here last year.

Bandsmen Leave Friday

Most of the bandsmen will leave Friday, and will participate almost continuously in contests through the two days. Eighty-five musicians will be included in the senior band and 62 in the junior. Anderson will direct the senior band and Joe Hadden the junior.

In addition to participating in band and orchestra contests, Lubbock representatives also will compete for honors in saxette and other instrumental groups and in individual events. Bands will compete for both playing and marching honors.

First Real Competition

The tournament will provide Junior High band its first opportunity to compete seriously for honors. They participated in the tournament last year, but they were newly organized and had no uniforms.

This year they will wear the uniforms purchased for them several weeks ago by the Band Parents association and received only a few days ago. The costume consists of Russian shaked caps, royal blue military jackets, white Sam Brown belt and white trousers.

To Defend Highest Honors

Senior High band will defend the highest honors it has won at West Texas tournaments each of the last several years. It has never placed higher than second in national tournaments.

Contests of West Texas association are given equal rating by the national association with those of state associations. Bands and orchestras winning a rating of "A" at San Angelo will qualify for national contests, to be held next month at Abilene.

In rating the individual bands no attempt is made to place them in a given order. They are grouped only as to Class A, B, C or D. The Class A rating is the highest which may be won.

Designation of the Abilene tournament as a national contest is something of a misnomer. It, in reality, is a regional event in which the best bands from several states will compete. However, there is no "national" contest in the strict sense of the term. Bands winning Class A designation in the various regionals are given the same rating nationally.

Four Tech Faculty Members To Attend Session Of Colleges

Four representatives of Texas Technological college faculty will attend the annual meeting of the Association of Texas colleges at Waco April 28-30. A paper will be read by W. P. Clement, registrar, on adaption to individual differences. Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences, will participate in a panel discussion. Other faculty members attending are J. F. McDonald, extension director, and J. G. Allen, acting dean of men.

Theme of this year's program will be "Individual Differences at the College Level." Some outstanding speakers on the program will be Pat M. Neff of Baylor, Dr. J. U. Yarborough of Southwestern, Dr. Colby D. Hall of Texas Christian university, Dean A. J. Williamson of the University of Minnesota, Ben D. Wood, of Columbia, N. Y., and Dr. H. T. Manuel of University of Texas.

Last year the association met in Lubbock; it was the firts time the association had been brought this far west.

Tech representatives plan to leave Wednesday and to return Sunday.

Camera Club Session To Be Monday Night

An 8 o'clock meeting Monday night at Reeves Photo-Engraving company, 1719 Broadway, a recently organized camera club will see a demonstration of how "art" is prepared step by step from photographs to plates for printing presses.

The demonstration will be by Winston Reeves, commercial photographer and engraver.

First attempts to organize those interested in amateur photography, whether stills or movies, was April 4. Ray F. Red, secretary-treasurer of the club, said purposes of the organization were to elicit aid through suggestions of members and of companies catering to photographers.

Monday's meeting will be public.

Elimination Of Scrub Bull To Be Asked Of Cattle Breeders

By Staff Correspondent

PLAINVIEW, April 23. — National cattle breeders associations are to be asked to join in a movement to obtain national legislation to eliminate the scrub bull, W. J. Hardy of Chicago, secretary of the National Shorthorn Breeders association, said.

He was here as judge of an annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show.

Hardy pointed out the use of low production record bulls with grade dairy cattle herds had been one of the most serious drawbacks to an increase in milk production. No dairyman should use a bull whose family record did not show a high grade milk production record, he said.

Farmers should use animals whose daughters' records are available to show their milk production; quality, not quantity of milk produced is desired, he said.

SHORT COURSE PLANNED

A one-day short course, to which men and women will be invited, will be conducted at West Texas State Teachers college May 12, said Miss Ruby Mashburn, district home demonstration agent leader for the North Panhandle district.

H. H. Williamson of College Station, director of Texas' extension service, is to be principal speaker.

Miss Mashburn and Miss Opha Dennis, head of the home economics department at the college, are inviting extension workers and leaders of district 2 to attend.

A cubic inch of water makes approximately one cubic foot of steam.

Congressmen In Need Of Relief

They're Giving Their Time And Energy

SOMETHING must be done to save our poor congressmen.

For months now, they have been attending the regular session of congress, many of them doubtless with strained vocal cords. To ease their burdens, of course, they have had comfortable chairs and lounges, air-conditioned offices and assembly halls, abundant secretarial help, $10,000 a year in salary, and even free rides to save congressional legs the strain of carrying congressional paunches between office and meeting place.

Yet, worn as they are, a group of the hardier souls of our house of representatives has decided that they personally will inspect our coast defenses this summer to assure themselves that we as a nation are safe from invasion.

Instead of remaining in Washington to watch the rising play of the temperature they will start upon a journey which will take them to Maine, then to Alaska, next Hawaii and finally through the Panama canal.

They will deliberately expose themselves to the dangers of frostbite, the possibilities of volcanic eruption in Hawaii, even that their ship may sink at sea. Wisely, however, they will cruise in the most palatial liners, as befits the safety and the dignity of a congressman.

They will pause in their travels to see for themselves just what the nation has in the way of defense. They will appraise with the skill of congressional eyes the value of those defenses. They will see, and they will know. How? They are congressmen, aren't they? And when they have seen, perhaps they may be persuaded to say a few words.

Of course, the jaunt will cost a lot of money. But why think of that? They are giving their time and energy, aren't they? Let us not be commercial about it. Shouldn't we as taxpayers be willing, even anxious, to dig a little deeper into our pockets for this worthy cause?

So that proper recognition may be accorded the spokesmen for these self-sacrificing gentlemen, may we mention the names of Chairman Vinson of the house naval committee and Chairman May of Kentucky? You might like to support one, or perhaps both, for the presidency.

The LaFollette Reversal

ANOTHER striking evidence of the president's waning strength has been supplied by Governor Philip LaFollette in his bitter criticisms of the national administration for its handling of the relief problem.

Just what credit is due the LaFollettes for the immense electoral college majorities piled up by the president in his two campaigns is problematical, but without doubt, they were important factors. Probably, had they been on the opposition side, they could not have changed the result of either election, although well-informed opinion is that they probably would have swung several states in the northern midwest into the republican column. They still have immense influence and probably will continue to hold it in 1940. The defection would be a hard blow to hopes of the administration to perpetuate itself in power.

However, the criticism by LaFollette is not likely to gain him any considerable increase in personal strength from among even larger expenditures for relief than the President has sought or obtained.

We are convinced that most people are pretty well fed up with government spending. Even though they may agree wholly with the Wisconsin governor's criticisms of the handling of relief as a system of "tinkering and patching", they will not submit willingly to further tax burdens.

With Our Contemporaries

"The Lord takes care of our mosquito problem out here to an extent that we just don't have one," John Price declares in the Littlefield County-Wide News. "But he expects us to take care of our own fly problem—and we don't."

The One-Minute Sermon

And God saith unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment;

Behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart; so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall any arise like unto thee.—1 Kings 3; 11 and 12.

Veterans Of Auto Accidents Organize To Carry On Fight For Better Driving

They Know Value Of Safety!

MANY crutches and canes were seen at the first meeting of the Veterans of Automobile Accidents, pictured above. More than 50 persons attended this organization meeting in Nicholas Senn hospital at Council Bluffs, Ia. At left, John McKenzie and June Gugler, president and secretary of the organization, enroll James Crowe, who was so badly injured he could not go to the meeting.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 23 — Veterans of Automobile Accidents—that is the new organization which 33 scarred victims of America's greatest peacetime battle formed here in Council Bluffs the other day.

Meeting at Nicholas Senn Hospital, the "vets" launched a vigorous campaign for public safety on the part of their unique organization. More than 50 interested outsiders attended the meeting.

Disaster knows no class nor age limit. Represented at the meeting were plutocrats and poverty-stricken individuals. A 76-year-old grandfather whose leg was broken in an accident more than a year ago discussed preparations and precautions with boys and girls one-seventh his age.

From Plattsmouth, Neb., 20 miles distant, came a young man whose right leg had been amputated. So badly injured that he could not attend the session, aged James Crowe signed his enrollment card while flat on his back in a hospital bed.

To serve as temporary officers, the veterans elected John A. McKenzie, Omaha attorney, and June M. Gugler, Council Bluffs, girl, president and secretary, respectively. Then they sat back to hear the suggestions of several of the midwest's leading authorities on traffic safety measures and methods.

Promising full co-operation in the drive against the accident menace were such executives as the Council Bluffs police commissioner, the chief of the Nebraska highway department, a rehabilitation director in the Cornhusker state vocational educational department, a municipal judge, and a hospital association chairman.

"Vets" Optimistic

SURROUNDED by crutches and canes, the "vets" attempted to formulate a swift-moving and all-inclusive campaign pattern. Co-operative action on the city street on the cross-country pavement, in the traffic court, in the home and the school, and in the hospital accident ward may well result in their victory.

If the Council Bluffs experiment proves successful, similar "veterans'" organizations may be formed elsewhere in the United States. Within the wrecked bodies which careless driving has wrought, these people believe, may lie the elimination of careless driving itself.

Smiling, determined, the charter members are hopeful. They have turned a personal interlude of sorrow into an optimistic program of constructive action.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON—By Ray Tucker

A SHABBILY dressed merchant marine sailor paced back and forth in front of the "Hoover palace" which houses the United States Maritime commission. He carried a placard proclaiming to passers-by that the commission favored "company unions" as against the C.I.O. organization.

Soon the picket was joined by a short, stocky, snappy fellow with the easy tread of an athlete. The newcomer fell into step, and for 15 minutes they marched up and down the sidewalk, meanwhile engaged in animated conversation. They agreed on some points, and disagreed on others, that was obvious. Eventually the second man shook hands, swung on his heel and entered the building.

"Who was that guy?" asked the picket of a guard standing nearby, only to learn that the "guy" was Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the commission which the placard consigned to Suez and hotter points east.

COLUMBIA! President Roosevelt is sporting a new pair of patriotic suspenders—the gift of Secretary of War Woodring.

Mr. Woodring recently showed up at a cabinet meeting with a set of galusses which almost broke up any discussion of important affairs of state. They were, he explained, an advertisement for the army in that their decorative pattern consisted of flags, eagles, stars and bars, military insignia. He was so proud of them that he interrupted official statements with the noise he made while snapping them.

After the meeting the President admitted that he would like a duplicate of the sporty pants-holders. So did several other members of the cabinet, especially when they learned that the suspenders were the product of the New York shop of one of America's most famous designers of clothes. On Army day Mr. Woodring presented F.D.R. with a pair, and the latter has worn them ever since.

SORROW: Scores of Democrats in the House have fallen into a state of melancholy. They are so disgusted with economic and political conditions that they are contemplating voluntary retirement from public life.

Numerous members of the majority party, including at least one chairman of an important committee, are thinking of quitting, even though they represent fairly safe districts—safe, that is, for themselves. Some figure that the party is heading for a bustup in 1940, and they don't want to be on hand for the sad rites. Others refuse to become entangled in the controversies which Mr. Roosevelt's policies have provoked. Most of their personal friends—the bankers, the business men, the manufacturers back home—detest the New Deal, and it would be uncomfortable for the honorable members to run as presidential regulars.

They have had a taste of future unhappiness on their infrequent trips home. People out of work besiege them at all hours for public jobs, while applicants for relief picket their homes. When they seek recreation and a rest at the club, they have to face an angry mob of critics. And sometimes they don't know the answers. A Congressman's lot is no longer a happy one.

RETREAT: Although it is only a suspicion so far, the report persists around the White House that President Roosevelt may soon abolish the system of bi-weekly conferences with the press. It has been obvious for some months that these get-togethers irked him, whereas once they seemed to stimulate him.

Mr. Roosevelt's personal relations with the majority of the Washington press corps have been exceptionally happy. Even those who disagree most sharply with his basic policies concede his charm and like him. He, in turn, has played no favorites—or only a few. But lately the reporters have begun to press him, to cross-examine him, more severely than ever before. This was especially notable when they asked about his tiff with the Vice-President, and Mr. Roosevelt resented their curiosity, growing red with anger. The old days of camaraderie have disappeared.

Mr. Roosevelt will be in good company, however, if he should abolish or restrict the system of meeting with the press. Woodrow Wilson closed the doors in the last two years of his administration, and Herbert Hoover repeated the performance toward the end. When things get bad, Presidents, like other people, prefer to be alone.

NEW YORK—By James McMullin

PUT this one down in your political futurity book. A group of ardent New Dealers who move in inner White House circles have picked their ticket for 1940—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace of Iowa for President and S.E.C. Chairman William O. Douglas, formerly of Minn., now of N. Y., for Vice-President.

Recent New York visitors to the capital have repeatedly encountered this suggestion. Its promoters figure that Mr. Roosevelt, while he obviously cannot make commitments now, can be induced to give this team his blessing at the psychological moment—which is still a couple of years away.

The adage about "many a slip" doesn't seem to trouble such persistent would-be Warwicks as Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen. As you might suspect, they are among the chief engineers of the scheme. They have soured on their earlier choice for the Presidency—Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson—who has turned out to be somewhat deficient in political "It".

TOPS: The Wallace-Douglas boosters must still face such trifling problems as selling the philosophical pair to hard-boiled Democratic politicos like John N. Garner, James A. Farley and Pat Harrison—or overriding their opposition. That task might daunt a political Hercules—but not the self-appointed kingmakers. It can safely be predicted that they will raise plenty of smoke and thunder on behalf of their selections. Watch for Wallace and Douglas to become increasingly prominent in the news from now on.

As we have previously reported, the agriculturist and the S.E.C.-er rank tops among the President's current crop of advisers. Financial and industrial leaders who have sought to get ideas across to the administration lately have found it invariably necessary to route their approach through one or the other.

Wallace has been fairly close to the throne all along. Douglas has shot up rapidly in stature as a counsellor in the past two months. He is the administration's white-haired boy on all matters relating to business and finance. No reckless radical, he, like Wallace, is thoroughly New Dealish in his general attitude towards problems of government.

QUALIFIED: Mayor LaGuardia's fervent plea for enactment of the new Roosevelt spending program is interrupted by insiders as a "feeler" for the possible formation of a new "liberal" party for 1940. As we have previously reported, a coalition of New Deal Democrats, Progressive Republicans and various minority political groups, based on New Deal political and economic philosophy under LaGuardia-Norris-LaFollette leadership, is being planned backstage.

The mayor's 22 stormy years in politics qualify him as a leader in such a movement. He was a New Dealer in the Coolidge-Hoover era; he has always had strong pro-labor and under-dog sympathies. He's a member of the American Labor party and has long been on friendly terms with John L. Lewis. William Green addresses him as Fiorello. He had the run of the White House from his first election in 1933 until last fall, when he grew impatient at F.D.R.'s failure to support him publicly for reelection.

Senator George Norris, liberal leader in the Senate for three decades, taught him the rudiments of political liberalism. The LaFollettes look upon him as a brother. New York City Republicans gave him their mayoralty nomination last year without his lifting a finger to get it. Even conservative Wall Streeters respect him for his efficiency and integrity. Whether he runs for office under a new banner or not, he will be a potent factor behind the national political scenes between now and 1940.

Our Curious World --- By William Ferguson

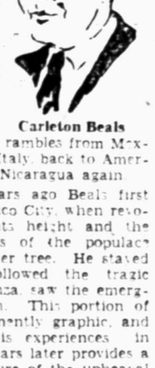

Many of our great mountain peaks are solid granite. Yet these peaks stand thousands of feet above the surrounding country, and we know that even the peaks once were buried beneath thousands of feet of earth. It is estimated that 12 miles of materials have been removed from above certain granites found in Scotland.

Carleton Beals Remembers Excitement

Random Notes Of Wanderer Recorded In "Glass Houses"

"GLASS HOUSES," by Carleton Beals. (Lippincott, Philadelphia).

REPORTER, novelist, but above all wanderer, Carleton Beals has been pretty much on the move for the last 20 years. The result is a remarkable series of experiences, most of which he seems to have corralled between the covers of his latest book, "Glass Houses."

Carleton Beals

Actually the volume consists of the recollections of a free-lancer, so if the author rambles a bit, as he most certainly does, he is to be excused. As a matter of fact, Beals rambles from Mexico to Spain, to Italy, back to America, Mexico and Nicaragua again.

Exactly 20 years ago Beals first barged into Mexico City, when revolution was at its height and the macabre corpses of the populace dotted every other tree. He stayed three years, followed the tragic course of Carranza, saw the emergence of Obregon. This portion of his book is eminently graphic, and coupled with his experiences in Mexico a few years later provides a penetrating picture of the upheaval below the Rio Grande.

Went To Spain In 1920

In 1920, Beals went to Spain, then Italy, saw the march on Rome and came away with some very biting conclusions about Il Duce's Fascism. In the light of present developments, his views are singularly striking, for says the author "long before he (Mussolini) came into power, he said clearly that the Fascist revolution was not a social revolution but a means of oganizing Italy for international war and conquest, a Santa Guerra, which would liberate Italy from the powerful nations of the earth."

Beals concludes his book with a background to the war in Spain. The whole is a story to jar you from beginning to end.

Extent Of Wheat Damage In Recent Freeze Still Unknown; Crop Is Expected

Few Fields Are Plowed Under

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer.

WHEAT damage from the freeze and sand storms of the first week in April is still a major topic among farmers and others, but the extent to which damage was done is as much a matter of conjecture as before, with more than two weeks passed since the storm struck.

Several important factors are still to be taken into consideration before a definite figure can be determined. Generally, the opinion now is that it will be harvest time, if at all, before one can say just what the extent of damage was, even then, some doubt, if the total damage can be accurately estimated.

Big Damage Reported

In some sections of the South Plains green bug damage is considered as great, or greater, than wind or freeze. In Hale and Floyd counties particularly the green bugs are still at work, farmers state. Hot weather is needed to stop ravages of these pests.

Generally, it is now conceded, sand did as much or more damage to the crop than the freeze. Records of the state experiment sub-station here show that the ground temperature did not get to freezing. Lowest ground temperature was on Saturday after the wind, when the low was 37 degrees. The day before it was 38 and the day following 43 degrees.

Frozen Only Short Depths

During the winter soil was frozen for only short depths and not for any extended period.

High winds that prevailed both before and after the freeze, have sapped the top soil of more moisture than can be lost. This situation has retarded the growth of the wheat to some extent in many communities. The dry soil situation is considered serious by many.

In some areas tops of the stalks are being cut by mowers in order to permit growth of heads and stalks. New suckers will have a better chance to come out.

Some Plowed Under

Some reports indicate a few farmers have plowed under their wheat and are preparing ground for another crop. Abandonment of the acreage so far is only minor.

Early sown wheat was the hardest hit. It had attained such growth that two and three stems had come and heads had begun to form. Irrigated early wheat was larger than the later sown grain and more susceptible to damage.

"Wheat is greening up in many sections, especially where there has been a little moisture since the freeze. Heads are growing, new suckers have been put out and new life shown.

Later sown wheat, that is sown in late October or November or even later, was not as far advanced.

Dry land wheat in the counties with large irrigation fields, apparently stood the storms better.

Reports Are Given

Reports from sections of the area indicate the following:

FLOYDADA: Final yields depend upon whether it rains and how soon; degree of injury from the freeze and green bug damage which has increased since the freeze. Late wheat needs moisture but is less injured. An 8 to 17 bushel crop is indicated by many.

PLAINVIEW: Dry land wheat stood the freeze well and will make a fair crop. late wheat was not much hurt; the irrigated wheat was the hardest hit.

HALE CENTER: No abandonment of the 80,000 acres estimated in crop reported; damage ranges from 50 to 75 per cent; late wheat not hurt.

ABERNATHY: Crop will be four to six weeks late on account of the freeze, farmers unwilling to estimate damage, believe 15 to 18 bushels per acre possible with proper conditions.

TULIA: South part of the area was harder hit by the wind than by the freeze. early wheat may make good yields; cold weather has kept the old wheat from growing too much.

KRESS: Early wheat was most seriously hurt; late wheat is not in nearly as bad condition.

HAPPY: Wheat is growing; heaviest damage to old wheat, young wheat is looking good.

IDALOU: Estimates of damage ranges are from 10 and 15 per cent to 75 to 90 per cent.

CROSBYTON: Wheat is greening up considerably, 50 per cent damage is estimated.

RALLS: Heads growing in many clumps; farmers uncertain as to extent of the damage.

LORENZO: Early wheat 50 per cent damaged, late wheat not as much.

LOCKNEY: Damage estimated now at 50 per cent, wheat greening up and growing.

MULESHOE: Damage estimated at from 10 to 70 per cent, with average not over 40 to 50 per cent, if that large.

AMHERST: Extent of damage still doubtful, estimated 25 to 80 per cent.

LITTLEFIELD: Little wheat in this section, damage not great.

LAMESA: Little damage reported.

TAHOKA: Late wheat, comprising 60 per cent of the crop, not much damaged.

O'DONNELL: Small acreage here, has about 30 per cent damage.

SOUTHLAND: Several thousand acres here has 50 per cent.

POST: Farmers say they are unable to accurately estimate damage; small acreage here.

DICKENS: Rains since freeze has helped some; crop is reviving rapidly.

SPUR: East plains report good showers that helped revive wheat; damage not expected to be as large as was first expected.

Thinks Iowa Needs
A Real Dirt Farmer
As Its Governor

By NEA Service

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 23. — Grizzled, bespectacled Samuel Freeman thinks it's about time Iowa had a real dirt farmer for a governor.

He thinks, moreover, that he's just the man for the job, and that's the reason he has announced his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the state where the tall corn grows.

Freeman, who has been a dirt farmer all his life, once owned about 800 acres of rich agricultural land in Jefferson county, but recently has reduced his holdings and says he now has time to get into politics.

Freeman says he was induced to throw his hat in the gubernatorial ring by a "group of my friends, all younger than I am."

"Too much of the people's money is being spent for public purposes," is the way in which Freeman explains what he thinks is wrong with Iowa government at present. He didn't explain what purpose he thought the people's money should be spent for, but said he believed in "general reduction of taxes and repeal of a lot of rattle-headed laws."

Mules May Be Doomed But Their Era Isn't Forgotten

By ARGO PEEK

Mules may be doomed in West Texas, according to mule traders in Lubbock, but their era is not forgotten.

Mule dealers have watched the prices drop from $500, $600, and even $1,000 for a team of mules to approximately $165 as the best price.

Tractors are replacing the mule industry in West Texas, say mule traders and buyers of Vernon, Abilene, Fort Worth and all the smaller mule trading centers of the past. Tractors have been bought, according to Jonnie Russell, mule barn manager in Lubbock; G. M. Martin, mule trader for 40 years; and Jinks McGee, an old time trader of Abilene, since 1934 to save feed bills.

But the mule era is not forgotten!

Talk Over Buys Of Past

Buyers and traders may be found in groups, after the modern Thursday auction at the Lubbock mule barns, talking over mule trades and buys of the past.

Such words as dinks, skins, chain breakers, and knee pads, bring back memories to every mule trader. Knee pads or bee stings means to the trader that a mule has very large knee joints. When a mule has one eye, the trader never calls it a one-eyed mule, he merely says Iowa. A mule which will not breed good is said to be a "little weedy."

Nothing Guaranteed

Russell explained that many mules are sold now at the halter with the feet and legs to go, which means the trader will not guarantee anything about the mule. He may be blind, stubborn, deaf, or just unable to work. Often such a mule sells for as little as $2. The buyer buys it as it stands, without looking it over carefully.

Each mule trader has his own firm beliefs about habits of mules, and how the best mules look and act.

In speaking of the habits of mules they say, "A mule will live and work for you always, only to kill you in the end," or "The only mule that won't kick is a dead one," and "When a mule gets ready to die, he will live another day to get a chance to kick another person."

Crazy Mule Cited

A mule with a Roman nose is a crazy mule, according to most traders. One trader mentioned one which he once owned that wouldn't cross a bridge, even if it was blindfolded and led by a rope.

Martin said that cheap mules sell faster now than the good ones, explaining that those who have the money to buy a good one, pay it on a tractor.

Freight on the cheap mules may cost more than they will bring on the eastern market, Russell stated. That lowers the price here.

Mule buyers consider flesh, style, teeth, hair, eyes, brightness of color, and straightness of the back, of the mule they are bidding on, in deciding its worth.

Some pay more attention to the teeth of a mule, and others to his general style and color. Those who insist upon the importance of good teeth in telling the age of a mule can tell whether it has been fed properly or just "brought up on grass." "Grass wears the teeth off, and those fed properly have long fine straight teeth," one explained.

The mule barn owned by Jimmy Baker and J. K. Applewhite of Tahoka has handled approximately 10,800 mules in the last year, sending many of them to markets in Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Mules are often put on auction at the rate of two or three a minute Russell explained, showing that the buyers had to decide about the mule's worth quickly.

At the Thursday auctions there are usually as many as 20 traders and perhaps 10 or 15 buyers.

The average price of mules is approximately $35 a head.

Russell agreed that the day of the mule is past, but he said that West Texas has a larger crop of colts this year than in a long time.

Deadline Is Set On Work Sheets

COLLEGE STATION, April 23. (Special)—May 15 has been set as the final date for accepting farm work sheets and application for range inspection under the 1938 Federal Agricultural Adjustment Administration program, Chairman George Slaughter, of the Texas Agricultural conservation committee, has announced.

Work sheets and range inspection applications are the first step in participation in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Farms and ranches will not be eligible to take part in the program unless these forms are executed by that date, Slaughter said. May 15 was selected by the state committee, in session at Texas A. & M. college, and approved by I. W. Duggan, director of the southern region of the AAA.

Tulia Creamery Is To Produce Cheese

TULIA, April 23. (Special)—Manufacture of cheese will be under way in the Swisher creamery within 30 days, according to Henry Teubel, manager and owner, who announced that machinery was being installed in a recently completed building next door to the creamery.

The new building is 32 x 80 feet of brick and tile, with concrete floor and of fireproof construction. A car load of machinery has been unloaded in the plant and is being installed. The equipment will cost about $15,000.

Capacity will be about 30,000 of raw milk, 3,000 pounds of cheese a day. Teubel said he believed the territory around Tulia would supply the additional milk.

Teubel took over the plant January 1. Since he has added equipment and the plant is handling considerably more butter than a year ago. The plant has been in operation several years.

Tech Cow Sets Milk Record

Texas Technological College, is owner of a pure bred Holstein-Friesian cow which recently completed a lactation record in the Herd Improvement test of the Holstein-Friesian association of America. Tech Inka Fayne Alcartra 1704095 freshened at the age of three years and eleven months and produced 17,124 lbs. milk and 540.4 lbs. fat in 363 days in Class C. Her sire is Carnation Inka Matchless 647144, who has three daughters with herd test records averaging 15,370 lbs. milk and 533 lbs fat on a Mature B basis, and her dam is Tech Fayne Alcartra 1254598.

The Holstein-Friesian herd test continues to increase in popularity and during the past year 493 herds of registered Holsteins were tested for herd improvement registry throughout the United States. These 493 herds included 10,517 cows and heifers of all ages that averaged 11,210 lbs. milk and 386.5 lbs. butter fat each for the year or nearly two and one-half times the general average production of the dairy cows of the country.

TAHOKA, (Special)—Lynn county had 222,929 acres of cotton and land available for cotton during the 1937 season, County Agent V. F. Jones reports.

Total crop acreage in the county is 587,778. Balance is land available for other crops and other uses.

ENLARGE STOCK PENS

ABERNATHY, (Special) — The Santa Fe railroad here is enlarging its stock pens. Capacity will be increased 10 cars, or one third, to handle 2,500 more sheep. Seven water troughs have been constructed.

POST, (Special) — Garza county ranges were not seriously damaged by the early April freeze, ranchers report. There were no losses among calves. Fruit was hurt by the freeze but wheat damage was not very extensive.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 85 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now Tarzan ordered that Mafka the captive tyrant, be given into the hands of the Kaji warriors, to do with him as they pleased. An expression of dismay and infinite pity filled Gonfala's eyes. She grasped Tarzan's arms and whispered: "They must not kill him!"

Though she had felt that cruelty of Mafka's ruthless hand, he was nevertheless her father. She could not stand by and see him slain by the Amazons. Tarzan understood, and told the warriors: "There is no need to kill him. Without the diamond he is powerless."

Tarzan raised a hand majestically. "Let the Kaji and the Zuli be united in peace. And if someday you leave your mountain fastnesses and come down into the outer world, you must all share the proceeds of the great diamond, which will be returned to you."

The ape-man turned then and led the exodus of captives toward the frontier of the land of Kaji. Stanley Wood and Queen Gonfala walked behind him, deliriously happy in their new-found freedom, little dreaming of the shadow of tragedy that hovered above them.
