Knowland Proposes Naval Blockade Of Red China

Senate Is Set To Resume McCarthy Case

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Senate got set today to resume the Sen. McCarthy censure debate Monday, with GOP Leader Knowland urging a decision by Dec. 11 and Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) renewing his call for a rebuke to the Wisconsin Republican.

Watkins declared that if Republicans "do the right thing" and vote for censure the party will gain stature nationally and need fear no lasting split.

Knowland did not say how he would vote. But he told newsmen he believes the Senate should dispose of the issue quickly and turn to what he considers more important things. He said there is "a growing demand that the present (censure) business be terminated and that the 96 members of the Senate begin to concentrate their attentions on how they can save the honor of the country."

Hinting that the Senate may be asked to remain in session beyond a censure vote, Knowland said international developments — including imprisonment of 13 Americans by Chinese Communists as spies — "require that the Senate give more time to the honor of the country and the dignity of the Senate."

He said there is no reason why a vote can't be reached in two weeks, by Dec. 11 at the latest, on a pending censure resolution. He denied there was any Republican leadership move to delay a showdown.

Watkins said in an interview that in his opinion "the right thing" for the Senate to do would be to rebuke McCarthy not only on two counts now pending against him but on a proposed charge that he maligned the Watkins committee which recommended these counts.

McCarthy is expected to be on hand when the debate resumes Monday after a 10-day recess in which he received treatment for an injured elbow. His physicians said today he should be able to leave Bethesda Medical Center tomorrow, barring any complications.

Taking cognizance of reports that some Republicans would like to avoid a showdown because they fear McCarthy might split away from the GOP in 1956, Watkins said he felt these fears were groundless.

Little Property In Kelly-Snyder To Be Outside SACROC

Consumation of the sale of oil properties in Scurry County by W. A. Moncrief of Fort Worth to Southern Methodist University will leave only a few scattered "holdouts" not cooperating with the Scurry Area Canyon Reef Operators Committee (SACROC)Unit, H. Hicks Allen, unit manager, said.

"When the deal is completed Monday there will be only one operating company, and a few royalty owner holdouts left," Allen said.

He said that about 1,250 of the 1,278 wells in the area will be under the unit's operation when the sale is completed.

"All the papers have been signed by the owners of the Ponies Oil Co. and other owners of the wells to turn operation of the wells over to the unit," Allen said.

Warren Petroleum Co. is the lone operating company holding its wells outside unit operation, and there are eight royalty owners who do not permit the unit to operate their wells.

Signing of papers completing sale of 42 and two-thirds wells in the SACROC area is scheduled tomorrow.

Moncrief, Fort Worth oil producer, is selling his interest to the Ponies Oil Co., which is owned and operated for the benefit of SMU. Sale of the properties is reported to involve about $21,000,000.

Moncrief and his associates in ownership of the wells involved have long been rivals of the SACROC unitization plan.

The associates with Moncrief in the property are his sons, W. A. Moncrief, Jr., who has operated the wells, R. B. Moncrief, who with their father owned 32 per cent of the property; Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, who own 16 per cent; Paul Teas of Dallas, 21 per cent; Clark & Cowden of Dallas, eight per cent; Westbrook Oil Corp. of Fort Worth, five per cent; and Fred Madera of Hobbs, N.M., two per cent.

The Hope and Crosby interests amount to $3,368,360.30 each.

Crosby has been reported unwilling to sell his interests, and is to trade them for fractional interests in SACROC holdings.

Second Man Arrested In Jewel Theft

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Arrest of a second man in connection with the theft of some $10,000 in jewelry from the wife of an Oklahoma oilman has led to the recovery of part of the missing gems, the FBI said today.

Martin Donald Summers, 27, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Arley Knight today on charges of interstate transportation of stolen property. FBI Agent Scott Werner said Summers led city detectives to where 18 diamonds, pried from a bracelet, were hidden.

FBI agents said Summers told them he and Ralph Ford, 23, an ex-bellhop arraigned on the same charge yesterday, pawned the bracelet, valued at $1,800, in Austin to finance a trip to Kansas City.

Police said Ford told them he found the jewelry in the bellhops' locker room of the hotel where he worked, and that he sold most of the items to a "fence" in Kansas City.

Summers said they later redeemed the bracelet from the pawn shop.

Mrs. S.B. Irelan of Bartlesville, Okla., wife of the president of Cities Service Oil, lost a diamond bracelet, diamond earrings, a gem-studded watch and two diamond rings from her hotel room in October.

Tankers Collide

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Two tankers — one loaded with 85,000 barrels of gasoline and the other empty — collided at the Port Arthur ship canal entrance today. There was no fire, and nobody was reported injured.

Officials said the Gulf Oil Corp.'s "Gulftide" was carrying gasoline and that Magnolia's "Shabbonee" was empty. They said the front end of the "Gulftide" hit the side of the "Shabbonee." Both were damaged, but the amount was not estimated in dollars.

Kiwanis To Hold Pancake Feast Friday

The annual Kiwanis Club pancake supper will be held here Friday night from 5:30 to 9:30 at the high school cafeteria.

Dawson Moreland, chairman of the pancake committee, said those attending may get all they can eat for 50 cents.

More than 500 tickets were sold by the time the club met last Wednesday. They are still on sale by members and can be bought at the door.

Proceeds from the supper will go into the club's fund for underprivileged children.

Last year, Moreland said, the club was slightly short of grills during the supper, but there will be plenty this time.

Aunt Jemima, who appeared here last year, will be here to entertain. There will be other entertainment throughout the evening.

This is a family supper, Moreland said, explaining that the whole family could attend.

American Is Convicted In Switzerland

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 27 (AP)—A Swiss jury today convicted Harold (Whitey) Dahl, 45-year-old thrill-seeking American flier, of stealing $33,000 worth of gold which paid for a gay whirl of European hot spots with his mistress. He was sentenced to two years in prison.

Dahl, once condemned to die after being shot down in the Spanish Civil War, was found guilty of taking the gold from a Swissair plane he was piloting from Paris to Geneva in October, 1953.

The five women and one man on the jury found Dahl "carried the gold from the plane and deposited it in the apartment of his mistress" — Miss Ella Eppenberger, a former Swissair hostess. She was arrested with Dahl in December, 1953, but later released. Miss Eppenberger sat in the rear of the courtroom with tears in her eyes as Dahl was taken away after being sentenced.

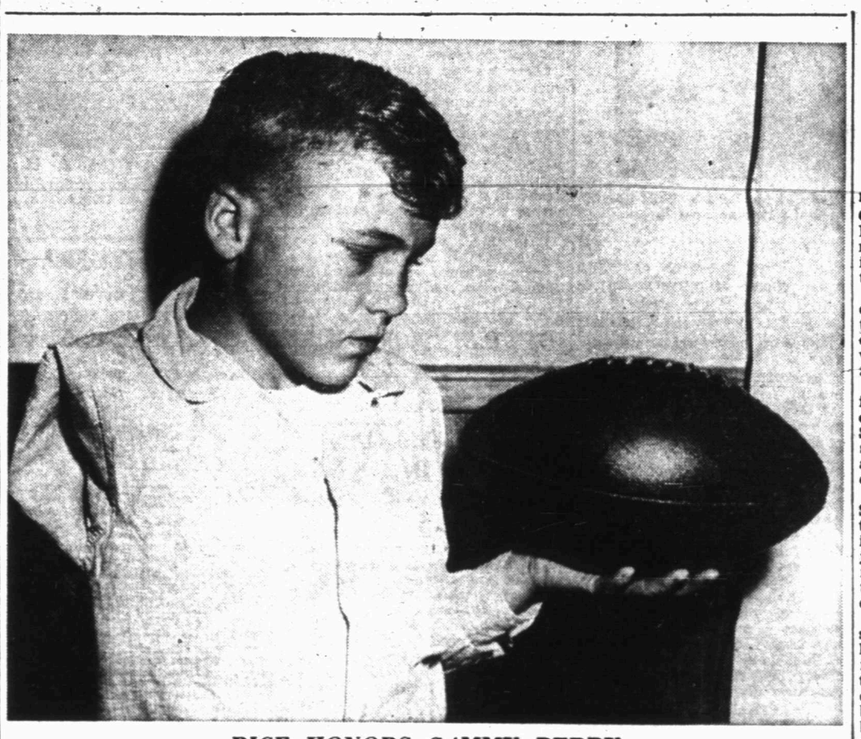

When the verdict was pronounced, Dahl said in a faltering voice:

"I am simply amazed at this example of justice in Switzerland, a country that is supposed to be famous for its justice."

Textile Mill Workers Will End Their Strike

McKINNEY, Nov. 27 (AP)—Striking CIO workers voted today to return to work at Texas Textile Mills here under a 90-day agreement was designed to put the work load changes into effect and would be written into a formal contract at the end of the three months.

Some 675 workers, members of the CIO textile Workers of America, struck the plant four weeks ago. They will return to work Monday and the plant is expected to be in full production by week's end.

The ball had been autographed by all the team members. Jess Neely, Owl coach, Dickie Moegle, and Kenny Paul, team captain, made the presentation while Sammy was getting a physical checkup at M. D. Anderson Hospital, where his right arm and part of the shoulder were amputated earlier this year. Sammy played football on the junior high team before the amputation. (Lee Watson photograph)

U. S. Will Protect Formosa Under Defense Agreement

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The United States and Nationalist China have substantially agreed on terms of a defense treaty by which American protection will be pledged to Formosa, the Pescadores and possibly some coastal islands held by the Nationalists.

The pact is expected to be signed before the end of the year, following further talks here soon between Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh and State Department officials.

Authorities view the projected treaty as a step which could help stabilize the Formosan area and, over a period of years, establish more peaceful conditions there. In this respect it is understood to be regarded favorably by Britain.

However, official hopes for a lessening of tensions in the Far East have received a setback in the last few days by the Chinese Communist announcement of the sentencing of 13 Americans to prison on spy charges.

The United States is trying to rally free world public opinion for the release of these men. It warned Red China yesterday that while the American people have borne such "outrages" with restraint "thus far" the list is growing ominously long.

The fact is that State Department officials see Communist actions of this kind as greatly strengthening demands for forceful action by the United States despite President Eisenhower's increasing emphasis on the need of finding some way to live with the Communist bloc and avoid a great new war.

Only today Sen. Knowland of California, Republican leader, urged a blockade of Red China in case the latest American note does not get results.

In negotiation of the proposed security pact, the nature and extent of the guarantees which Washington was willing to give Nationalist China constituted the main difficulties.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government, it was understood, wanted assurance of automatic U.S. participation in defense of all Nationalist-held islands. That would have blanketed in scores of small coastal islands like Quemoy and the Tachens, which the Reds have attacked in recent months.

The United States was unwilling to make such sweeping commitments. It insisted that the pact should follow established patterns and that this country would not be pinned down to a promise of precise action in defense of every spot of land where Nationalist forces are deployed.

Probers Looking At Victoria County Files

VICTORIA, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Three state investigators spent today in this South Texas town conferring with County Atty. James Fly on the veterans land program.

Fly said he has a file of complaints by Victoria County veterans on alleged irregularities in the program. Fly said the file dates back more than 10½ years.

Under the program, the state buys land for re-sale to veterans under long-term agreements. The price the state pays is based on state appraisals.

Veterans in some South Texas counties complained they found themselves buying land without having knowingly contracted for it. The complaints are under state and local investigation.

Knowland Calls For Censure Vote Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Knowland of California called today for a Senate decision by Dec. 11 on proposals to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), declaring that the Senate has more important matters at hand.

Knowland told a news conference he does not believe there will be prolonged debate on a censure resolution when the Senate resumes its meeting Monday.

Knowland said that international developments in the last few weeks have given the Senate much more important matters to consider than the censure resolution.

Says U. S. Should Protect Citizens

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—A naval blockade of Communist China was proposed today by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) if the Reds reject a strong U.S. note demanding the release of 13 Americans they have imprisoned as spies.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told a news conference the United States has a "moral obligation" to "use more than words to protect Americans abroad."

Making it clear he was speaking only for himself and without consultation with the Defense and State departments, the California senator said he believes a blockade could be made effective without any grave risk of war.

He proposed that the United States approach this action through the United Nations. He said American Allies ought to be willing to join in a blockade. But if they are not, he said, in no event should these Allies be given any veto over American action.

"If the Communists don't respond to our note and continue to hold our uniformed men in prison in direct violation of the Korean truce, with or without the support of the United Nations we would be justified in clamping a tight blockade on China," Knowland asserted.

"We should serve notice on them that no vessel can get in or out of China until these Americans are released. I believe we can make it so expensive to them that our men will be released.

"We have the power to do this and the moral obligation to do it. Those associated with us in the free world should cooperate but I don't think we should give them a veto on our actions."

The United States has transmitted through the British Foreign Office a note couched in the stiffest terms. It accused the Chinese Reds of violating international law, the Korean armistice and "elementary precepts of justice and humanity" in imprisoning fliers and two men listed as civilian employes of the U.S. Army. The 13 were captured during the Korean War. Following up its note, the administration was reported to be pressing the campaign for release of the 13 by rallying free world opinion against the Red "outrage."

But there was no indication that administration officials were considering any blockade action. Knowland gave no sign that they were but he indicated his belief that some action might be forthcoming by hinting he might ask the Senate to remain in session beyond a vote on its pending business, a resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Knowland told newsmen he believes there is "a growing demand that the present business be terminated and the 96 members of the Senate begin to concentrate their attention on how they can save the honor of the country."

Queried as to what the Senate could do if it remained in session until an automatic adjournment date of Dec. 24, Knowland said members would be on hand "to support the administration in any steps it might take."

"We'll see what develops," he said.

The California senator said he believes there is little reason to think that the Chinese Communists will yield to the demands of the American note.

He said he had asked the Defense Department for a report on any other plane incidents which might have occurred. He said he had asked the State Department to list the Americans, both civilians and military personnel, who are imprisoned, under house arrest or otherwise detained in Iron Curtain countries. He saw no reason, he said, why the public should not be given as much information as possible without endangering national security or the lives of those involved.

Fliers Not POWs, Red Radio Says

TOKYO, Sunday, Nov. 28 (AP)—A Red China news commentator said last night that U.S. fliers among the 13 Americans sentenced as "spies" recently were shot down over two provinces of Manchuria and therefore could not be considered as Korean War prisoners.

Kiang Nan, commentator for Hsinhua (New China News) was quoted in the Peiping broadcast.

"It is not easy, however, for the warmongers of the U.S. to deny their criminal dispatch of spies into China," the broadcast said.

"They now allege that these two groups of U.S. spies were merely prisoners of war captured during the Korea War. These spies, they claim, should be repatriated according to the Korean armistice agreement.

"But the plane (B29) in which Col. (John Knox) Arnold (of Silver Spring, Md.) was shot down was over Liaoning Province inside China and the plane (B29) in which (John Thomas) Downey (of New Britain, Conn.) and (Richard George) Fecteau (of Lynn, Mass.) were shot down was over Kirin Province inside China.

"Since the American planes carrying the U.S. spies were shot down inside Chinese territory and since these spies have admitted that their tasks were to engage in espionage activities in China, the Washington alibi that these persons were merely POWs in the Korean War is a smokescreen put up to deceive the public."

The commentator scoffed at U.S. Defense Department claims that Downey and Fecteau were civilian employes on a routine flight to Japan.

Kiang's argument is not new, having been broadcast before by Peiping radio. But it was timed with announcement in Washington that an unusually strong-worded protest has been made to Red China, demanding the quick release of the 13 Americans. The protest charged violation of the Korean armistice agreement.

Zippers Giving One Family Plenty Of Woe

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 27 (AP)—David Reasner, 2, of Fayetteville, Pa., got a new roommate at Washington County Hospital today. More about that roommate later.

David was sent to the hospital when one of the older folks in the family tried to use a pair of pliers to fix a zipper on his coat.

Dave was wearing the coat, the pliers slipped and he got quite a black eye. It was the left eye.

Now about the roommate.

He came in right after the doctors got through with David. His name is Douglas Grove, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Grove, of Williamsport.

Like David, Douglas is a 2-year-old.

He has the same trouble in the same eye.

And it happened the same way.

State Nearing Heart Of Its Case Against Dr. Sheppard

By RELMAN MORIN

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27 (AP)—The state is nearing the heart of its case—the "other woman" motive—in the trial of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, handsome Ohio osteopath who is accused of murdering his wife.

This pivotal point in the testimony may be reached within the next few days, attorneys indicated today.

It is expected to be developed largely through questioning of Susan Hayes, a pert, vivacious laboratory technician. Miss Hayes, 24, formerly worked as the doctor's assistant. The prosecutor has told the jury:

"The evidence will show . . . that this defendant became infatuated with Susan Hayes." He said further that last spring, in Los Angeles, "Sam Sheppard started living with Susan Hayes."

Then, pin-pointing the state's accusation, he said:

"This defendant and Marilyn Sheppard quarreled about the activities of Sam Sheppard with other women.

"That's the reason she was killed."

Sheppard denies this. He says he loved his 31-year-old wife, and that they were happy together. She was pregnant when she was battered to death as she lay in bed, some time after 12:30 a.m. last July 4.

The doctor says a bushy-haired marauder committed the crime. The murder weapon has never been found.

Miss Hayes has not yet been called to testify.

She is in a Cleveland suburb, living at her father's home, carefully shielded from the scores of reporters who have attempted to talk with her. Not even notes, slipped under the door, have brought any answers from her.

She will be one of the last of the state's witnesses. So far, 25 have been called in the six weeks since the trial began, and the total evidently will be around 30.

For days, the prosecution has been presenting results of scientific detection work by Cleveland police. It is mute evidence obtained from fingerprints, photographs, tests of stains, and objects in the Sheppard home.

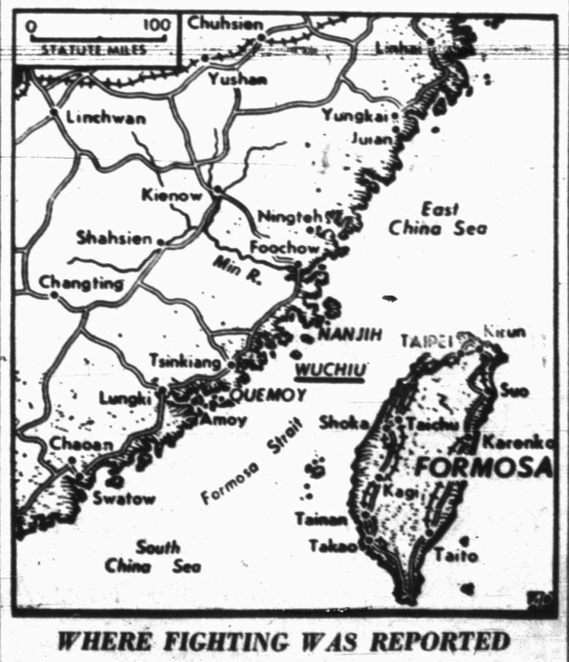

There will be more of this in the coming week, attorneys indicated.

They expect to call Miss Mary Cowan, 47, a coroner's laboratory technician. She may identify as to type, the blood a detective says he found staining the basement steps and the garage at the Sheppard home.

The prosecution introduced 16 photographs of stains, found all over the house, possibly made by human blood. In effect, the pictures mapped a trail of blood, from room to room, and out to the garage.

Prosecuting attorneys may argue from this, against the likelihood that a "bushy-haired" marauder would have roamed around the house and grounds after the murder, and after the struggle Dr. Sheppard says he had with him in the bedroom.

The defense has not yet begun its case.

WHAT IS A JEW?

Three Definitions Listed In America

(This is the first of a series of informative articles on the role of religion in today's world written for the Daily News by noted authorities of the various faiths and denominations. Later articles will discuss Catholics, Christian Scientists, Baptists, Episcopalians and Methodists.

By RABBI MORRIS N. KERTZER
Director of Interreligious Services for the American Jewish Committee

What is a Jew?

It is difficult to find a single definition. A Jew is one who accepts the faith of Judaism. That is the religious definition.

A Jew is one who, without formal religious affiliation, regards the teachings of Judaism — its ethics, its folkways, its literature— as his own. That is the cultural definition of a Jew.

A Jew is one who considers himself a Jew or is so regarded by his community. That is the "practical" definition of a Jew.

Prof. Mordecai Kaplan calls Judaism "a civilization." Jews share a common history, common prayer, a vast literature and, above all, a common moral and spiritual purpose. Judaism is really a way of life.

What are the principal tenets of Judaism?

Judaism holds that man can most genuinely worship God by imitating those qualities that are godly: As God is merciful, so must we be compassionate; as God is just, so must we deal justly with our neighbor; as God is slow to anger, so must we be tolerant.

Some 1800 years ago, one of our sages taught: "He who is beloved of his fellow men is beloved of God." To worship God is to love the works of His hands.

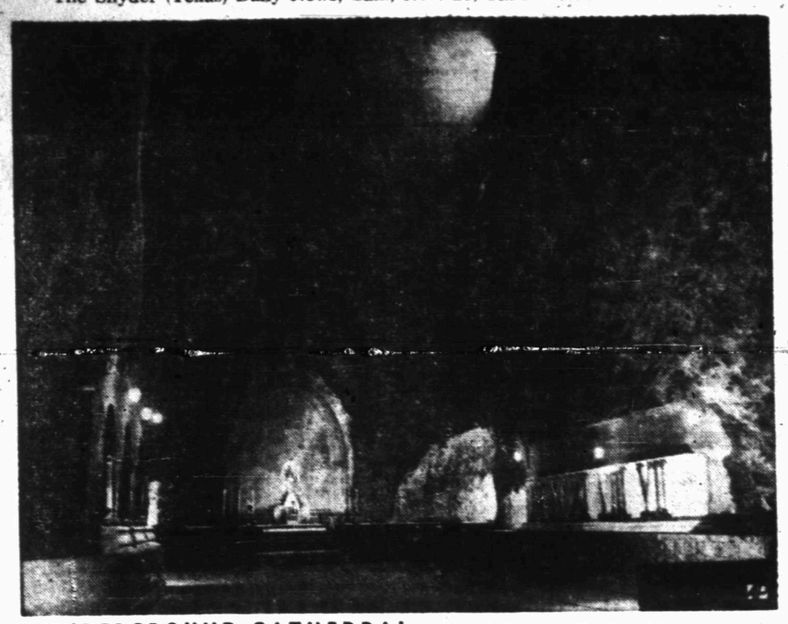

The Jewish prayer book speaks of three basic principles of faith:

1. The love of learning. As long ago as the first century, Jews had a system of compulsory education. The education of the poor and the fatherless was a responsibility of the Jewish community, as well as of the family. And the ancient rabbis knew something about the psychology of learning. On the first day of school, youngsters were fed honey cakes shaped in the letters of the alphabet, so that they would associate learning with sweetness.

2. The worship of God. From their earliest childhood, Jews are taught that He is to be worshipped out of love, not out of fear.

3. Good deeds — deeds that stem from the heart. There is no Hebrew word for "charity" because, to the devout Jew, there is, no such thing as "charity." According to the ancient rabbis: "We are required to feed the poor of the gentiles as well as our Jewish brethren. . . ." No one is exempt from obligations to his fellow men. The Talmud informs us that "even one whom the community supports must give to the poor." It is interesting to note that, in Jewish tradition, kindness to animals is the purest form of goodness because it is done without any hope of reward.

Do Jews believe in heaven and hell?

Jews believe in the immortality of the soul — an immortality whose nature is known only to God — but they no longer accept the literal idea of heaven and hell.

There was a time when heaven and hell were accepted in Jewish theology but, even then, rarely as physical entities. A soul tormented with remorse for misdeeds was "in hell"; a soul delighting in a life well lived was "in heaven."

The 12th - century philosopher Maimonides opposed the idea of rewards and punishments for behavior; the reward for virtuous living, he said, is simply the good life itself.

Do Jews believe that Judaism is the only true religion?

Jews do not presume to judge the honest worshiper of any faith. Our prayer book tells us:

"The righteous of all nations are worthy of immortality." We Jews know that there are many mountain tops—and all of them reach for the stars.

Do Christianity and Judaism agree on anything? On what points do they differ?

Christians and Jews share the same rich heritage of the Old Testament, with its timeless truths and its unchanging values. They share their belief in the fatherhood of one God — all-knowing, all-powerful, ever-merciful, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They share their faith in the sanctity of the Ten Commandments, the wisdom of the prophets and the brotherhood of man.

Central to both faiths is the firm belief in the spirit of man; in the pursuit of peace and the hatred of war; in the democratic ideal as a guide to the political and social order; and, above all, in the imperishable nature of man's soul. These are the points of agreement—the broad common ground of Judaism and Christianity that makes up the Judeo-Christian heritage.

The chief areas of disagreement between the two religions are these: Jews do not accept the divinity of Jesus as the "only begotten Son" of God. Jews recognize Jesus as a child of God in the sense that we are all God's children. The ancient rabbis taught us that God's greatest gift is the knowledge that we are made in His image.

Jews also cannot accept the principle of incarnation — God becoming flesh. It is a cardinal tenet of our faith that God is purely spiritual; He admits of no human attributes.

Nor can Judaism accept the principle of vicarious atonement—the idea of salvation through Christ. It is our belief that every man is responsible for his own salvation. We believe that no one can serve as an intermediary between man and God, even in a symbolic sense. We approach God —each man after his own fashion— without a "mediator."

Judaism does not accept the doctrine of original sin. We do not interpret the story of Adam and Eve as reflecting man's fall from grace. Nor do we consider our bodies and their appetites as sinful. We look upon them as natural functions of life itself, for God created them.

Do Jews try to convert Gentiles?

No. Modern Judaism is not a proselytizing creed. Jews have always welcomed converts who embraced Judaism out of true conviction. Our tradition makes no distinction between Jews born in or out of the faith.

Conversion of Judaism is not uncommon today. I have participated in the conversion of a number of Protestants and Catholics to the Jewish faith.

Does Judaism oppose intermarriage?

Practically all religions are opposed to marriage outside their faith. Religious Jews oppose intermarriage for the same reasons. When husband and wife disagree on an issue as basic as their religious creed, the prospect for a lasting and harmonious relationship may be harmed.

Are Jews forbidden to read the New Testament?

No. Jews cannot conceive of being "forbidden" to read anything. There has certainly never been a ban against reading the New Testament or any other Christian writings.

I have even seen pious Jews poring over the contents of missionary literature; and many Jewish scholars know the Gospels as intimately as the Old Testament which is the basis of our creed.

Are there various creeds and sects among Jews?

American Judaism contains three religious groupings: the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform (sometimes called the Liberal).

The Orthodox Jew regards his faith as the main stream of a tradition that has been unaltered for the past 3,000 years. He accepts the Bible as the revealed Will of God. He does not change with each new "wind of doctrine," he says that his way of life yields neither to expediency nor to comfort.

Orthodox Jews observe the Sabbath strictly (no work, no travel, no writing, no business dealings, no carrying of money). They observe every detail of the dietary laws. They maintain separate pews for women in the synagogue. They use only Hebrew in prayer and ceremonial services.

Reform Judaism differs sharply from Orthodoxy on the matter of Revelation. A Reform Jew accepts as binding only the moral laws of the Bible and those ceremonies that "elevate and sanctify our lives." He does not follow customs he believes "not adapted to the views and habits of modern civilization." Reform Jews feel that faith must be rational and capable of withstanding the careful scrutiny of reason and science.

The worship of Reform Judaism departs from traditional forms. There is complete equality of the sexes in the temple. Prayer is largely in English (or the vernacular). There is greater flexibility in the choice of prayers. Instrumental music is permitted in the temple. The prayer shawl (tallith) is not worn by the male worshipers.

Conservative Jews follow the pattern of traditional Judaism, by and large, but regard Judaism as an evolving and ever-growing religion. They feel that change should be the result of natural growth and in consonance with the spirit of Jewish law. They regard Reform Judaism as too sharp a break with the past.

The Conservative Jew follows the dietary laws, with only minor relaxations. He observes the Sabbath, high holidays and festivals in traditional ways. But he has borrowed many of the forms of Reform Judaism — such as the late-Friday-evening service and the use of English in prayers.

Next Sunday: What is a rabbi and what does he do? Is it true that Judaism in the home is more important than in the synagogue? Do all Jews wear hats when they pray? What are the "kosher" laws? Is an American Jew's first loyalty to Israel or America?

Yoshida Will Retire Soon

TOKYO, Sunday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who has kept Japan away from diplomatic ties with Communist nations during six years in office, was reported to have decided at a momentous two-hour conference yesterday to retire soon from Japan's stormy political scene.

Press reports of that decision raised the question whether his successor would be:

Ichiro Hatoyama, who feels that the need of trade with Red China and Russia justifies diplomatic relations.

Or Taketora Ogata, deputy prime minister, who follows closer to Yoshida's line of thinking.

Ogata met with Yoshida yesterday for two hours at the Prime Minister's seaside villa. Unofficial word of Yoshida's decision was given newsmen by leaders of the Prime Minister's Liberal (Conservative) party, possibly for "trial balloon" purposes.

There was no indication of how soon Yoshida might step down — if he does at all. If he does not, he faces a growing movement of foes to vote him out of office.

A Liberal party caucus was expected today to approve Ogata as president of the party, succeeding Yoshida. Party leaders are reported to believe the change may bring defectives back into the fold.

Hatoyama, who was purged during the U.S. occupation for his wartime writings, recently quit the Liberal party and formed an anti-Yoshida Democratic party with the help of 120 Conservative Diet members. He has the voting strength, if supported by the Socialist members of the Diet, to oust Yoshida by a Diet nonconfidence motion.

Police Checking Into Mysterious Deaths

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Letters found at the home of Mrs. Maxine Cruickshank indicate she was married four times, says State's Atty. Allan Bruce who is attempting to unravel the mysterious deaths of the woman and her last husband, Alex Cruickshank.

Cruickshank was found shot through the head in his home Nov. 18 with a pistol and note near his body. His wife was found dying of bullet wounds 16 hours later at their summer camp six miles away.

Bruce has declined to give a verdict as to whether the deaths were murder, suicide or murder and suicide.

Red Radio Reports Shelling Of Island

TOKYO, Sunday, Nov. 28 (AP)—Peiping radio last night said Red gunboats shelled the Nationalists on Wuchiu Island Thursday night but made no mention of an amphibious assault before dawn the next day.

The Nationalists reported from Formosa that its guerrilla forces on the island, 15 miles off the mainland in Formosa Strait, repulsed a seizure attempt Friday with the aid of Nationalist planes.

Peiping's broadcast said merely that gunboats shelled Wuchiu at 8 p.m. Thursday and that the island defenders fired back wildly with machine guns.

"All gunboats of the People's Liberation (Communist) army returned safely after the bombardment," Peiping said.

The Nationalists claimed that their planes sank six Red motorized boats and more than 30 junks Friday in the Wuchiu area.

GARNER REACHES 86

Former Vice President John Nance Garner, who turned 86 Monday, is shown in his Uvalde home holding a copy of the Uvalde Leader-News which featured a congratulatory spread of photos and cartoons. It was presented by the newspaper's publisher, Harry Hornby, Jr., standing. Garner, who traditionally heads for the hill country of Southwest Texas for some birthday deer hunting, wears one of his hunting jackets.

Toiletries Bring A Thrill To All Women

Gaily - packaged toiletries and cosmetics are a happy answer to the problem of finding low-priced remembrances for friends. They are sure to be a welcome gift—one that will be enjoyed for a long time.

Too, they are festive little gifts to hang on the tree or tuck into Christmas stockings as an extra Yuletide surprise. Even the least expensive appear in such gala Christmas wrappings they have a look of luxury — and an added gift appeal!

All of the famous cosmetics manufacturers have a special Christmas collection of perfumes, toilet waters, bath accessories, and makeup combinations in decorative and imaginative packages for women of every taste and temperment, as well as glamour-conscious young girls.

For the younger set, there is a clever "Skater" gift set, which features an amusing little tinsel figure atop a powder and lipstick duo. A "Drummer Boy", whose uniformed body is a stick of solid cologne and his drum a box of dusting powder makes a cute gift idea for a young girl.

Particularly popular as gifts are the lovely satin-lined boxes packed with gift sets of fragrances and cosmetics. These will serve as glamourous jewel boxes after Christmas.

One manufacturer is featuring a series of glittering ballet slippers containing their famous toiletries. Another charming gift wrap is an angel's head with tinsel hair and a golden halo and wings covering bottles of cologne.

The more expensive gifts include beauty, or train, cases that are filled with a manufacturer's best-loved cosmetics. These are shown in a wide price range; one of the outstanding ones being an alligator airplane case completely fitted with cosmetics.

Vanities for gift-giving are standouts in every line. These are available in a complete assortment from styles to complement tailored clothes to bejeweled cocktail and evening compacts.

For a glamour-gift for an especially loved one — or for a gay little gift to a friend, wise Christmas shoppers will do well to check the gift-laden cosmetics departments!

Trim Her Tree With Bright Accessories

In a season of fashions where necklines are news this year's gift collection of scarfs, wraps, collars, ties and stoles is truly inspiring.

The "little wrap" that has captured fashion's fancy is in inspired gift of choice! Keyed to the look of elegance prevailing throughout the fashion picture are the fake furs the "almost real" jackets of broadtail persian, chinchilla and leopard.

Another welcome gift for the style-wise girl on your list is a carefree little accessory wrap! Particularly smart in velvet, these capes and capelets are often lined in gleaming satin. Also in this group is the fichu — an over-size velvet triangle faced with satin—that is sure to be popular for gala wear.

Sharing cover-up (and gift!) honors with the ever-popular, ever-practical stole are shrugs, cardigans, bolero and eton jackets plus the new casual shapes such as the blouson. These are particularly smart in woven fabrics and bulky knits.

Vivid hues such as turquoise, shocking pink, capri blue, scarlet, and gold make colorful news in scarfs for gift-giving! The newest prints reflect the new look of the Eastern influence in colorful accessory accent to team with monotone sweaters and wools. Geometries, diminutive abstracts, and borderline prints remain a popular gift choice.

Catholics And Juan Peron Calling Truce

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 27 (AP)—A truce has been reached—at least temporarily—in the hot controversy between President Juan D. Peron and a part of the Roman atholic clergy in this predominantly Catholic country.

The controversy was stirred by attacks in the Peron-controlled press on Roman Catholic priests, then brought out in the open by Peron himself in a speech on Nov. 10. Peron accused three Catholic bishops and 21 priests as "open enemies" trying to infiltrate labor and student organizations and to harm his regime.

The truce was called 15 days later when Peron told his followers to forget the controversy, that he was sure the priests would quit intefering in his government.

But Peron, in his speech of last Thursday night, warned organizations like the Peronista party and the General Labor Confederation to be alert against any infiltration by priests or any other outside force. He spoke to a mass meeting of more than 25,000 for 35 minutes. What he said could be boiled down to this: The clergy should keep hands off politics and he would leave the priests alone.

Despite this, some Buenos Aires newspapers closest to the Peron government continued editorial criticism of the priests. But informed Catholics said the church was pleased with Peron's declaration of a truce even though the church recognized the two were still far apart on basic issues.

Peron is not a man to shun a battle but a fight with the Roman Catholic clergy could shape up to be the toughest of his turbulent career.

LOCOMOTIVE GETS OUT OF HAND

This 250-ton locomotive buried its nose in the mud of a turntable pit at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and at first proved more than a match for a giant hook wrecker. A specially-built inclining timber roadbed underneath enabled the wrecker to put the locomotive back on the tracks.

Rotation, Terracing Recommended Here

Terracing and practice of a three-year rotation program has been recommended for farmers who want to build up their soil by Jake Hodges, head of the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Hodges said that continuous cropping to grain sorghum and cotton year in and out, cutting feed low to the ground, and putting nothing back into the soil is a sure way to lower the productive potential of the soil. This type of farming, he said, depletes the soil by lowering the organic matter, nitrogen, phosphorous, and potash content, as well as making a poor biological environment for bacteria which work on decaying roots, stalks, and leaves to keep soil healthy.

Leaving the land unterraced is another way of lowering the production on the land. Topsoils which take hundreds of years to build may be washed away in a few years. The elements necessary for crop production will be carried away, especially on sandy or other porous soils.

Along with all these things the land will begin to run together and form a hard crust so it sheds water easily. Then after a good rain of average itensity falls, a person can dig up dry soil near the top of the ground.

"I hope most persons here have taken better care of their land than this, but if they feel they must start a program to improve the soil, the thing for them to do is follow a long-range conservation plan," Hodges said.

The first thing, he explained, is take care of the runoff water problems by building diversion terraces, waterways, or level closed end terraces. The farm is then in better shape for the raising of a crop and turning of more vegetation back to the soil. Some local gins have been grinding cotton burs which could be scattered on the land.

The land should be divided into different classes, and the farmer should use cropping systems best adapted to a particular class of land. Some land in this district is not adapted to cotton farming because it is either too shallow or has too much slope or is too sandy. But any land adapted to the growing of cotton will be benefited by a three-year rotation of cotton, grain sorghums or winter cover crop, and a legume.

A deep-rooted legume is best for tight land. Legumes which can be raised in this county are guar, cowpeas, vetch, and Austrian winter peas. Madrid clover could possibly be used in tight land which gets extra water, but this is a legume which lives two years from one seeding.

The legumes, the conservationist said, should be turned under while green, and care should be taken by the farmer not to plow deeper than six inches while he is doing this. Any green manure crop should be plowed under several months before the land is seeded to another crop. Grain sorghums should be stubble mulched after harvest to get the most benefit toward building the soil.

Cotton Vote Set Dec. 14

Scurry County cotton producers, along with others throughout the nation, will vote Dec. 14 in the national referendum on cotton marketing quotas, according to an announcement made by Claude K. McCan, chairman of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

This is the ninth such referendum held, the first was which was in 1938. In the last one, which was held in 1953, 94 per cent of the nation's farmers approved of using quotas for this year's crop. At least two-thirds must favor the quotas before they may continue in effect.

Under legislative provisions, the secretary of agriculture must proclaim a national marketing quota and acreage allotment whenever he finds the total supply exceeds the normal supply.

The time the proclamation was issued for the 1955 crop, the supply for this year was estimated at 21.5 million running bales, which included an Aug. 1 carryover of nine million bales, 1954 production at 12.4 million, and estimated imports of 50,000 bales. The normal supply figure of 17.7 million was based on domestic consumption, exports, and carryover reserve. The prospective total supply, then, exceeded the normal supply by more than 3.8 million bales.

The November crop report then increased the total supply by 716,000 bales.

Polling places will be announced for this county later by the local ASC office.

FARM AND RANCH

Hermleigh's FFA chapter recently carried four teams to a district leadership contest at Roscoe and came back with second place for its senior skill team, made up of Kenneth Lofton, Ray Brown, and E. J. Walton; third for its junior farm skill team, composed of Don Vinyard, James White, and Tommy Wimmer; fifth for the radio broadcasting group, made up of Jerry Clift, Wayne Buchanan, and Virgil Davis, and fifth for the FFA quiz team, which included Butch Nachlinger, Donald Joe May, and Arlon Groves.

Jake Greene, FFA advisor there, said the chapter's greenhand team went to Colorado City for a chapter contest but did not place. That team included Groves, president; May, vice-president; Tommy Wimmer, secretary; Elmer Walton, treasurer; Nachlinger, sentinel; Jesse Tate, reporter, and Clyde Wilcox, advisor.

Greene reports that the feeding program in his chapter is expanding rapidly. The group now has 38 lambs fed by 11 boys. There are also 47 pigs on feed. Ten of these are gilts for development. Most are registered pigs. The barrows will be shown at shows in Sweetwater and Snyder in the spring, Nachlinger and Lofton, he said, are feeding lightweight calves. Lofton's will be commercial.

About 80 purchase orders amounting to some $10,000 have been sent out of the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office to farmers approved for federal aid in feeding basic livestock herds under the drought emergency program, according to Henry Burchett, ASC office manager.

Applications are going in every day, made to the county Farmers Home Administration office. The FHA county committee considers applications. Those approved go to the ASC for issuance of purchase orders.

Mrs. Shivers Gets Her Portrait Free

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP) — A portrait in oils of Mrs. Allan Shivers, wife of the governor, will be delivered to the executive mansion in Austin Monday.

The portrait is the gift of John Moranz, Dallas artist.

Moranz painted Shivers' portrait which hangs in the mansion's Green Room, where traditionally a portrait of the incumbent governor of Texas is placed. It was commissioned by a group of San Antonio friends of the governor.

In her portrait, Mrs. Shivers is wearing the white evening gown she wore at the governor's inauguration in 1953.

In the Solomon Islands, the suppression of head hunting by British administrators so disrupted the society of the people that there was a sharp decline in population.

Snyder Boy On Tech Team

Texas Technological College's grain judging team which includes Bill Smith of Snyder, this week won first place in the National Collegiate Grain Judging Contest at Kansas City.

Smith, 20, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, route 2. Other members of the team are Richard Motl, 21, of Pampa and Edmund Schlabs, 21, of Friona. Winning individual honors was Dibrell Stowell, 21, of Pampa, another Tech student. Coach of the team is Cecil Ayers, associate professor of agronomy at Tech.

The Tech team won out over 10 other teams in the meet. The team yesterday was to be in Chicago for another judging contest before returning to Lubbock. In the Kansas City contest, Oklahoma A&M placed second, and the University of Nebraska third.

This was the fourth straight year the Tech team had won the Kansas City meet. The team scored 5,261.4 points out of a possible 5,400, the highest score since the contest was started in 1929.

Three plaques were presented the team, one each in judging of each class of the contest.

Hydrogen is the lightest known gas with helium second.

Lubbock Wells Give Crops Hefty Boost

By SAM WHITLOW
Texas Editor,
Farmer-Stockman Magazine
(Written for The Associated Press)

LUBBOCK (AP) — Lubbock County's 3,100 irrigation wells, pumping life-giving moisture to cotton and feed crops, have boosted agricultural productivity of this region into national prominence.

As production figures have soared, farmers have been constantly on the search for methods to build more productive power into heavily-farmed soils. Experience has shown that cotton following alfalfa will increase cotton yields. But a problem here is that alfalfa is a heavy user of water.

Some farmers are following the practice of using alfalfa on the same land 3 or 4 years, then following with cotton. They get the advantage of good hay crops, but plow under the last stand of alfalfa before cotton is planted.

D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock County agricultural agent, says a few farmers are following the practice of planting hairy vetch between rows in cotton and grain sorghum fields. Generally, the vetch is planted about mid-September and plowed under in April, making way for a crop to follow.

Cotton can be planted after the vetch, but grain sorghums fit better into the scheme because the sorghums are planted later than cotton.

Sherrill said if winter rainfall is light, the vetch may need one or two waterings. The relatively small number of farmers who have used vetch in this manner have had good results.

Cotton burs are being used on an increasingly large scale as a soil conditioner. Formerly the burs were burned as waste material. But Sherrill started an active campaign to have the burs processed for use in soil conditioning, and now 33 of the 40 gins in Lubbock County have processed burs available if farmers want them.

"We recommend about 4 tons of burs per acre on irrigated land," Sherrill said. "On dry land, we suggest two tons an acre." He explained that aside from the plant food available in the burs, they do their best work in opening up the soil to allow abundant amounts of air and water to reach the plant roots.

Agreement Is Made On Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 27 (AP)—The Western powers have agreed on the general principles of a resolution intended to keep negotiations alive for a settlement of the Korean deadlock without calling a new Geneva conference.

This was reported by Western sources as representatives of the Allies who fought for the U.N. in Korea and of India's V. K. Krishna Menon conferred in the U.N. in an effort to whip out a final resolution.

The U. N. Political Committee will take up the Korean case Tuesday or Wednesday and the West hopes the U.N. debate will be short and calm. The committee held its first Saturday meeting of this session for a round of talks on the West New Guinea dispute between the Netherlands and Indonesia.

While the Korean huddles went on, South Korea's envoy to Washington, You Chan Yang, protested vigorously that the Republic of Korea was being kept out of conferences vital to its future. He said in a statement that "when they (the conferees) are trying to decide our fate, they should call us in."

A Western source commented that the latest flurry of negotiations on a resolution had involved only a few countries and that South Korea would be kept informed. This source commented that South Korea had a hand in drafting a report to the Assembly on the Geneva conference, even though South Korea did not endorse that report.

One diplomat pointed out that a settlement was reached on Trieste by letting time work and it was hoped the same could be done on Korea by the Assembly and that the situation must have time to be worked out. This diplomat pointed out that a settlement was reached on Trieste by letting time work and it was hoped the same could be done on Korea.

Yang said that the Communist Chinese imprisonment of 13 Americans as spies was a violation of the Korean armistice and that there has been no punishment for the guilty.

The United Nations has circulated to the 59 other members a United States note to Red China protesting the imprisonment and demanding release of the Americans. Asked about reports that the Americans would bring the case before the General Assembly, an American source said that was a possibility that was under advisement but that no decision of any nature has been taken. This action would prolong the Korean debate.

It was reported that a Western resolution on Korea, expected to be introduced next week, would contain three points.

1. It would take note of the Geneva conference between the 15 U.N. Allies (all except South Africa) plus South Korea, on one side, and the Communists on the other. This conference ended without result.

2. Approve the report of the 15 U.N. Allies. This report reiterates the determination of the U.N. to strive for a unified Korea by peaceful means and for elections in all of Korea held under the U.N. authority and auspices.

South Korea has reacted strongly against the phrase "by peaceful means." South Korea has also reacted against the words "authority and auspices" of the U.N., insisting that the U.N. must directly supervise any election.

The Communists have not tipped their hand yet on this report but it likely would cause more debates than the West wants at this time.

3. A section leaving the door open for future negotiations and expressing the hope that the parties concerned will continue their efforts to settle the problem.

A diplomat concerned with drafting the resolution said there has been no final agreement as to how this would be done but that there was no thought of holding another conference. He suggested one method might be for the countries concerned to undertake negotiations among their various capitals.

Hiss Released From Prison, Still Claims He Is Innocent

By LEONARD A. UNGER

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—Alger Hiss, looking grim and rather haggard but appearing confident, walked to freedom today, asserting that he was "completely innocent" of the charges that he helped Communist spies.

A stretch of 3½ years behind the bars of Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary ended with an avowal by the 50-year-old former State Department aide that he meant to "vindicate my name" of the stigma of a conviction that he gave state secrets to Red spies.

"I am very glad to use this chance," he said, "the first I have had in nearly four years, to reassert my complete innocence from the charges that were brought against me by Whittaker Chambers."

Chambers, formerly a senior editor of Time magazine now living in retirement on a farm in Westminister, Md., accused Hiss of being a member of a Communist party group. Chambers accused Hiss also of turning over secret State Department documents.

The telephone at the Chambers farm rang, unanswered, today but a newsman managed to gain entrance and obtain a statement—typed personally by Chambers on a scrap of letter paper, saying:

"The saddist single fact about the Hiss case is that nobody can change the facts as they are known."

Hiss, of course, doesn't agree—as he reiterated he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

At the prison, his wife, son and two lawyer friends—Chester Lane and Robert Benjamin—met him inside and walked with him through the main gate to freedom. Moments later Hiss, smiling steadily, was engulfed in waves of reporters and photographers. There he made a brief informal statement.

He spoke extemporaneously and appeared to have chosen his words carefully. He spoke nearly two minutes without interruption. Afterwards newsmen fired questions at him. He replied to some, ignored most of the others.

The lines about his lean jaw tightened and harshness crept into his voice as he mentioned Chambers' name.

After saying "This is not a press conference, although it looks very much like one," Hiss went on:

"I have only one other thing I want to say at this time. That is I shall resume my efforts to dispel the deception that has been foisted on the American people. I shall renew those efforts with more enthusiasm because I am confident that their success will not only vindicate my name, relieve my family of harassment, but will assist in the allaying of the hysteria and fear of these days."

Hiss tried to parry further questioning with a terse "no more." But he did reply briefly to a few queries, paraphrasing what he had said earlier, saying that charges which sent him to prison were "untrue."

And as he shouldered his way past reporters and photographers, he said that he and the other prisoners were "revolted and horrified" by the death last Wednesday of William W. Remington in the Lewisburg penitentiary. Three convicts are accused by the FBI of beating Remington over the head with a brick wrapped in a sock.

Remington was jailed, like Hiss, on perjury charges but their trials were unrelated. There was never any official allegation that Hiss and Remington ever were associated in the same Communist ring in the nation's capital.

Hiss was released today at 9:03 a.m. only 15 minutes after his family arrived from New York.

As he strode from the prison administration building into sight of newsmen 50 yards away he paused to wave at guards and others leaning out of windows.

Hiss walked briskly, with his wife, Priscilla, and their 13-year-old son, Tony, through the main gateway and into the crowd of nearly 100 newsmen and photographers.

He then had his say, raising his voice above the tumult to make himself clear. The droning of a low-flying helicopter bearing photographers all but smothered some of his words.

Within five minutes after he strode out of the prison he was en route to New York by automobile. Except for prison personnel, reporters and photographers, there were no spectators.

Hiss spurned new garb given out by the prison. He wore a gray suit, a snapbrim gray hat and well-worn gray tweed topcoat sent him previously by his wife.

A SWITCH OF THE PITCH

-AND AWAY YOU GO!

The biggest sensation in years is what "variable pitch propellers" have done for Dynaflow Drive*

It happens like this. You need pickup—and pronto. So you get it. You get it by pushing the accelerator pedal of a 1955 Buick all the way to the floor board.

Then—without jerk or lag or lurch or pause—you get action! You get action whether you're just starting off—or asking for a safety-surge of power out on the highway.

There's nothing like it in past experience—because there has never been anything like it in an automobile before.

This is action that comes from the principle of variable pitch propellers used on modern planes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for take-off—and cut hundreds of feet off the time required to lift a plane from a runway.

And the amazing fact is—in a 1955 Buick Dynaflow Drive there are 20 little propeller-like blades that also change their pitch, just like the propeller blades of a plane.

This is a transmission engineer's dream of heaven. A build-up of momentum as smooth as flowing oil—and almost as quick as lightning—plus better gas mileage in cruising range. It's what the whole automobile industry has been shooting for—and Buick has it. So, that means there's only one thing for you to do. Try out a 1955 Buick, and soon.

Buick Power Hits New Peaks!
236 HP in the ROADMASTER
236 HP in the SUPER
236 HP in the CENTURY
188 HP in the SPECIAL
—and all with better gas mileage to boot!

Try it out for quick action, as we've mentioned. Try it out for room and comfort and ride. And by all means, cast an admiring eye on its style—for it beats the high-fashion Buicks which set the pattern in the successful year just ended. We're waiting and eager to hear from you soon. So drop in—or give us a call. We promise you a thrill that no other car can deliver.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

NEW YORK'S FIRST SNOW

The season's first substantial snowfall in upstate New York dumped a four-inch blanket of sludge on Syracuse, N. Y. This snow-festooned landscape is in the Syracuse University area. The snow was cleaned up quickly and caused only mild inconvenience.

Electrical current to transmit conversation over this demonstration telephone system is furnished from the Bell Solar battery which Gerald L. Pearson, one of the co-inventors, is holding under artificial light. The battery transforms the light into electrical energy. Details on the revolutionary new invention have been received in the local telephone office.

Sunbeam-Powered Phones Predicted

Sunbeam - powered telephones may someday flash messages about crops, market prices and the weather between farm homes in this area, predicts Manager Truban Black of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Information about a new invention of Bell Telephone scientists that may make sunlight energy usable to carry telephone messages and perform other tasks has just been received here by the district manager.

The new device, invented and presently being developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, is called a solar battery. It can convert energy from light into electrical energy, which already has been used in experiments to power telephones, operate small electric motors and lights, and operate switches to turn various devices on or off.

Since its invention several months ago, scientists have improved the efficiency of the battery by one-third until it now has about eight per cent efficiency, Black reported. This compares with 10 per cent efficiency of standard diesel engines.

The battery in its present form is a simple-looking gadget made of razor-thin strips of silicon, principal ingredient of common sand, which are glued to a clear plastic plate. Sunlight or other light falling on these silicon strips is converted into electrical energy, which is carried away on tiny wires connected to the silicon wafers.

At the moment, Bell scientists do not see the solar battery as a competitor for commercial power —its important use would be in places where commercial power was not readily available, and in communications where only a small amount of power is needed.

The battery in its present stage requires large amounts of space—one large enough to furnish power for an industrial plant might cover several acres; one large enough to furnish power for a city the size of Dallas would require about a square mile of surface.

A number of future possibilities have been suggested for the new battery. If houses had silicon roofs, for instance, a battery this size might furnish current to run the refrigerator, lights and other electrical appliances. Authorities say there is already a demand for small solar power machines, up to five horsepower, for irrigation, heating and cooling of dwellings, charging batteries and other farm and ranch uses.

Immediate practical uses, however, would be in the communications business, such as powering rural telephones, mobile radio-telephone systems, or in army walkie-talkies.

Interest High In Texas-Mexico Park

ALPINE, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—A group of Texans came back from Mexico today pleased with Mexico's reception of ideas for an international Big Bend Park on both sides of the Rio Grande boundary of Texas and Mexico.

Members of the committee from the United States left Mexico City by plane today at 8 a.m. and had lunch in Laredo.

They were due in Alpine this afternoon to assist with the final organization of a Big Bend National Park Development Assn.

Keaton In Austin

Paul Keaton, third vice president of the Texas Association of School Boards, was to leave for Austin today to attend a special meeting of the organization tomorrow.

Keaton, a member of the local school board, said the meeting tomorrow was in regard to research on Texas school buildings.

Mozart, Beethoven, Naumann and Hasse composed music for the harmonica, an instrument composed of glass bells, not a mouth organ.

Most animals which can hear can also produce sounds, although there are some exceptions to the rule.

Market Is Now Reaching 1929 Peaks

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market surged ahead this week with a final explosive rise that shot prices into the old 1929 peaks.

All week stocks continued stepping ahead from one record to another despite the holiday shortened market.

A day out for Thanksgiving feasting did nothing to sate the public appetite for stocks.

On each trading day, the market on average advanced to a new high mark since the dizzy bull market days of '29.

As measured by the yardstick of The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, here is what happened:

The average on the week was up $3.20 at $147.50. At that point it stood at the highest mark since Oct. 11, 1929, when it was at $147.90 thus the average currently is only a little more than $10 away from the historic peak of $157.70 reached on Sept. 3, 1929.

Only two weeks ago the market established an all-time record for the number of individual shares traded. This week it broke that old record when 1,271 issues were traded out of the 1,529 issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Out of these records and out of the feverish speculation and trading and investing going on in the stock market comes the question—how long is it going to last?

There are prophets of doom in Wall Street. Their voices aren't very strong.

Loudest are those who say that this market is different, this market is solidly based on dividends and earnings, this market has a lot of strength.

In between those two extremes are those who contend that no market keeps going up forever and that a reaction sooner or later is bound to slap prices back—perhaps quite hard.

Such a development would be considered normal. When that type of reaction runs its course, usually retracing one-third to two-thirds of the previous gain, the market is in a position to resume its advance.

Drive For Kefauver To Start Next Year

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 27 (AP)—A drive to obtain 10 million signatures boosting Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) for president will start in January, a group of his supporters announced today.

Barney Hasden, president of the Chattanooga "Youth Organization for Kefauver," said petitions will be sent to each state urging that people sign them in an effort to get Kefauver to seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

Kefauver, an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination at the 1952 Democratic convention, has stated, "I'm not a candidate, and I don't have any plans. But, of course, I don't think anyone can foresee what the situation will be one and one-half years from now."

Photography Field Offers Many Gifts

From the vast field of photo-taking and photo-making equipment comes a big, big assortment of gift items for young or old—novice or advanced photo fan!

From Christmas Day forward a camera — still or movie — is put to work capturing happy memories for all time to come.

For the young fry — there's a wide variety of simple-to-operate, inexpensive cameras. For their fun and instruction, too, come complete kits of picture-printing outfits that give hours of pleasure—and often starting a continuing hobby.

Before you buy that photographic accessory gift — be sure you know how advanced the hobby is with the recipient-to-be!

For the family group, a simple to operate movie camera might be just the right item for countless hours of pleasure. And for the movie addict there are projectors, screens, splicers, reels, film storage chests and even hundreds upon hundreds of home movies for gift giving!

For the real enthusiast — who always wants one or more cameras for specific "shooting" purposes — there are 35mm. flash-attached "candid" cameras . . . press cameras for the professional quality . . . stereo cameras for three dimensional photos — and the new "picture-in-minute" camera that develops the picture on the spot.

Flash guns, tripods, exposure meters, gadget-carrying cases and slide projectors will all give pleasure to the lucky "shutterbug" who gets these.

There's a wide assortment, too, of lighting equipment — from single lights to complete sets . . . bulbs, floor lamps . . .extra film—these too, can make Christmas merry for fans.

The darkroom enthusiast will give a hearty welcome to an enlarger, developing tanks, papers, and other important "little extras".

When selecting your gift of photo-pleasure, be sure and consult with your photographic supply dealer who will help you make the wisest choice for your gift dollar!

McCarthy Is Now In Better Condition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy's physicians reported today his condition is good enough to permit him to leave Bethesda Medical Center tomorrow barring any complications.

The Wisconsin Republican's attorney, Edward B. Williams, already has said that McCarthy will be back in the Senate Monday when the Senate's extraordinary session on censure charges against him is scheduled to resume.

Murder Count Filed Against Pecos Woman

PECOS Nov. 27 (AP)—A murder charge was filed here against Mrs. Sarah Adams of Pecos, about 30, in the fatal shooting of Paul Ward.

Police officer Cecil O'Neil said Mrs. Adams said she and Ward were sitting in a pickup truck last night when a .22 caliber pistol she was holding in her lap went off accidentally.

Accessories For Closets Smart Gifts

The good housekeepers on your gift list will assuredly welcome useful, little gifts for the home.

Gifts such as these too, are the ideal items for your holiday hostesses, your neighbors and hard-to-shop for friends.

Storage space, and accessories for storage are universal problems, and women always enjoy receiving gifts to help stretch her storage areas.

She'll love a gift of closet accessories to make her closets twice as useful — and doubly pretty. Sets of garment and shoe bags, closet liners, new padded hangers, —these can all be purchased separately or in matching sets.

Closet shops feature also multi-hanger units for blouses, skirts, handbags, belts and other apparel.

Zippered cases to store blankets and quilts — colored plastic bags for her sweaters — quilted satin envelopes for hosiery, lingerie, handkerchiefs, and other addenda —are good gift items for the fastidious.

Closet-sized chest of drawers for personal items — shoe racks of assorted shapes and sizes— are also dandy gift items.

Notion departments feature gaily colored, quilted boxes for handkerchief, jewelry, lingerie, and hosiery.

And, into these accessories, tuck her favorite fragrance in sachet form — and she'll love your forever!

Let Christmas Start A-Foot With Slippers

You'll want to slip her into slippers to make it a "Merry Christmas from toe-to-head".

This year's gift slipper selection offers a wide variety of exciting styles that will suit every gal — whether she puts comfort or fashion-novelty first.

Stressing comfort are the bunny-lined foot warmers, the slipper sox that have knitted tops and soft-as-butter soles, the traditional d'orsays, scuffs, felt and soft leather slippers.

With an eye to glamour come the moccasins in soft gay-colored leathers with bright beading . . . the jeweled slippers of satin or velvet. . . the ballerina types of embroidered, besparkled beauty.

Glamourized too, are the bowed, glittered or pom-pom'ed mules—and, in a variety of styles for milady's glamour come thong sandals, instep-strapped wedges, gold-or-silver thread slip-ons — and many, many more styles for at-least, and leisure-time wear.

Houston Taxes Rising

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP) — There will be a 20 per cent increase in Houston's city and school taxes in 1955, City Treasury Director Roy E. Floyd said today.

Floyd said property will be assessed next year at 92.4 per cent of formula value instead of the current 77 per cent. The city tax rate of $2 per $100 valuation, the school district $1.39 per $100.

Dazzling Jewelry Offered For Gifts

This year, Christmas shoppers will find themselves irresistably drawn to the costume jewelry counters for here they will find a wealth of gift magic!

There is just the right gift of imaginative costume jewelry for every woman on every Christmas list! Jewelry fashions, this season, have many moods, many aspects to satisfy every woman's need for variety and change.

Earrings are always a welcome gift for style-minded women and there are two trends that are destined to share honors for head-turning interest.

The bold, oversize button in everything from sleek tailored gold to huge cabachons of glowing jewel tones will make a popular gift choice. The other favorite is the shower earring. These appear in every imaginable variety from dainty decorous pearls spilling from golden discs to exotic, multi-strand tone-on-tone brilliants that almost touch the shoulder.

Lustrous simulated pearls are always greeted with genuine pleasure on Christmas morning. Look for the 22-inch matinee length rope that rates high in fashion popularity. Chokers, pins, and earrings in the always-popular pearls are lovely gift ideas.

The long rope is tremendously good in costume jewelry. Lengths of bead and gold ropes, sautoirs, and tasseled bead lariats of every description all create the deceptively bulky look that is so smart in costume jewelry. Massive and delicate golden chains by the yard offer still another aspect of the rope look. These chains are sometimes teamed with pearls or often end with conversational motifs such as urns or teapots.

Costume jewelry that is wrought in the manner of precious jewelry is well worth the gift shopper's attention. Marquise and emerald-cut stones are shown in real-looking versions of amethyst, sapphire, topaz, ruby, and emerald, as well as brilliant rhinestones.

Necklaces, earrings, brooches, and bracelets with this almost-real look will make a gift of glamour that is always welcome!

Fire Damages School

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP) — An early morning fire today caused an estimated $60,000 in damage to the Travis Elementary School. It was metropolitan Houston's second major school fire within 48 hours.

IPAA Sees Increase In Products Demand

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) predicts an increase of about four per cent in total demand for petroleum products this winter over the 1953-54 winter.

The IPAA, in this instance, figures the winter season as the October-through-March period.

Weather, however, will be a key factor in the season's picture, the IPAA said.

For August through October, this year, the IPAA said total petroleum demand, including domestic and export, averaged 7,684,000 barrels daily, an increase of 0.3 per cent over the demand for the corresponding period of 1953.

Included in the figures are gasoline, which accounted for 3,590,000 barrels daily of the total for August-October. Kerosene, distillate, residual and other.

In its look ahead, the IPAA said demand for U.S. crude would rise to about 6,500,000 barrels—the production rate before recent cuts in allowables—during December and January assuming:

That total demand is as predicted, that inventories are reduced to IPAA estimates of adequate levels by the end of January, that imports are at a rate reported recently to the Texas Railroad Commission and that November production is about 6,300,000 barrels a day as expected.

Total U.S production of crude in October was given as 6,170,000 barrels daily.

Discussing inventories, the IPAA said that a relatively low demand in October continued to offset partly the effect of reduced U.S production rates. It added that total inventories for the month still were about 16 million barrels above a year ago.

The association said a step-up in refining to meet winter fuel demands "makes the problem of holding down gasoline yields all-important."

Total imports of crude and petroleum products averaged 1,021,000 barrels a day in the quarter ending with October, compared with 984,000 barrels for the same period of last year, the IPAA reported, adding this was 13 per cent of the total U.S. supply.

The outlook for imports, as seen by the IPAA, is that about 1,190,000 barrels daily will be imported during the November-January period based on schedules of major importing companies reported to the Texas Railroad Commission last month.

"This is up 60,000 barrels daily or 5.3 per cent over the same period last year," the IPAA said.

Latest available figures gathered by the Bureau of Mines place world production of crude petroleum in 1953 at a total of 4,772,000,000 barrels, an increase of 6 per cent over 1952.

U.S. production in 1953 of 2,360,000,000 barrels was up 3 per cent from the previous year. Middle East output was reported at 902,000,000 barrels despite continued low production in Iran, a 16 per cent increase over 1952.

Northwest Upton Well Is Flowing Producer From Two Deep Zones

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 3-H-P-D McElroy, Northwest Upton County prospector, has been dually completed as a discovery from the Pennsylvanian and a one-location southeast extension to Devonian production in the Texel-Devonian field.

From the Pennsylvanian, the well flowed 261.25 barrels of 45.6-gravity oil in 24 hours. The flow is through perforations at 9,143-195 feet. That interval had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

The well flowed 81.42 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil plus 1.38 barrels of water in 24 hours from the Devonian. Production there is from perforations at 11,220-295 feet which had been treated with 1,000 gallons of mud acid and 5,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

This well was originally drilled to 12,505 feet in the Ellenburger, where it made salt water with a trace of oil. It is 25 miles north of McCamey and in section 38-42-t5s-T&P.

Queen Sand Production Extended In Andrews

One and a half miles northeast of production in the Means-Queen sand field of North Andrews County, George T. Adams of Odessa and Henry Livingstone of Fort Worth have a Queen sand producer.

It is the No. 1 Jessie M. Spinks, which was flowing 15 barrels of oil hourly through a quarter-inch choke at last report. It is being produced through perforations from 4,122-154 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 351-1.

Location is in the northeast quarter of section 13-A20-psl, 12 miles northeast of Andrews.

The same operators were preparing to start No. 3 Spinks in the same area. It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 13-A20-psl, one location west of the No. 1 Spinks.

Clear Fork Discovery Completed In Mitchell

Sid Katz has completed a Clear Fork discovery in West Mitchell County at his No. 1 Tom Morrison and others.

The strike was finaled for a 24-hour pumping potential of 68.58 barrels of oil plus 123.39 barrels of water. Production was through perforations opposite the Clear Fork at 2,648-654 feet, 2,660-672 feet, 2,678-683 feet, 2,692-700 feet, 2,714-722 feet and 2,722-730 feet.

Total depth is 3,051 feet with pipe set on bottom. Site is 467 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of a section 34-29-tln-T&P.

Lea County Wildcat Set Near State Line

Wayne Moore of Midland is to drill his No. 1 Turner and McQuinn as a 6,000-foot wildcat in East Lea County, New Mexico, approximately 10 miles northeast of Hobbs and near the Texas-New Mexico line.

The prospector is 1,980 feet from north and 435 feet from east lines of section 8-18s-39e. It is one and one-quarter miles southeast of the opener of the Carter-Lower San Andres field. Operations are to start soon.

Howard County Field Gets New, Deep Test

Goldston Oil Corp. of Houston has filed application to drill the No. 2 Morton-Atlas Life Insurance Co. in the Southeast Luther-Siluro-Devonian field of Howard County.

Location has been made 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 26-32-t2n-T&P, one and a half miles south of Luther. The drillsite is on a lease of 320 acres. Projected depth is 10,000 feet, with drilling to begin immediately.

Midland Test Making Oil

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-L Scharbauer, North Midland County multipay discovery four and one-half miles north of Midland, swabbed and flowed 251 barrels of new oil and three barrels of load water in 24 hours from the Simpson sand at 12,584-625 feet.

That flow was natural. On a previous test it had swabbed 119 barrels of new oil and 97 barrels of load water in 16½ hours. Operator is continuing to swab and flow to clean out.

The wildcat has already proven for production in the Ellenburger at 12,720-790 feet. On the last gauge from that zone it produced 116 barrels of oil in 13 hours, flowing through a half inch tubing choke. No water was developed during that test. This wildcat has also indicated possible production in the Wolfcamp and in the Pennsylvanian.

Location is in section 3-39-tls-T&P.

West Upton Prospector Will Seek Ellenburger

The Pure Oil Co. No. 2 R. S. Windham is to be a 12,250-foot exploration in West Upton County, 14½ miles northwest of Rankin.

It is five-eighths of a mile north of production in the Amacker-Tippett-Ellenburger field. The drillsite is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 107-D-CSD&RGNG.

The proposed destination is calculated to take the explorer into the Ellenburger.

Lynn County Wildcat

F. Kirk Johnson of Midland and Fort Worth No. 1 Florence Scott is to be a 6,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Lynn County, four miles east of Wilson.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 6, block L, Indianola Railroad survey. Drilling is to begin in the near future.

Oil Industry Begins Education Program

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 27 (AP)—After three years of experimenting, the petroleum industry has put on a permanent, expanding basis its program to inform young America on what makes the complex oil business tick.

The project is the American Petroleum Institute's coordinated school program in which basic information on all aspects of the industry is fitted to junior and senior high school classroom teachings through material supplied by the API's Oil Industry Information Committee.

Started in 1950 on a test basis in two dozen counties across the nation, it now reaches into every state and 3,766 schools. Its popularity with teachers and pupils and consequent growth led a few months ago to the decision for a full scale drive to tell oil's story in the schools.

Another aim is to encourage oil men to take a greater personal interest in the problems of education. It is through local oil men serving on its school committees that OIIC introduces the program and supplies classroom textual matter.

The oil men on the committees may be anyone in the petroleum business—service station operator, jobber, refiner, producer or pipeliner.

In presenting the program, these men first obtain approval and cooperation of such school officials as city and county superintendents or heads of parochial schools.

They then outline the project to principals and arrange meetings with science and social studies department heads and with groups or individual teachers. Here they provide instructors with brochures of the program materials and order blanks.

The teachers themselves are supplied handbooks to guide the studies from half a dozen pamphlets furnished each pupil, from film strips, wall charts and other visual training aids.

The study pamphlets, free of any advertising or promotion as are all phases of the program, describe petroleum's physics, chemistry and conservation and its relationship to modern-day living. They are designed for use as supplementary texts in general science social studies, chemistry, physics, conservation and American history classes.

Also in the series is a booklet, "Careers in Petroleum," for use by vocational guidance counselors. It explains many of the 2,000 jobs and career opportunities the oil industry offers.

The OIIC has many favorable testimonials from educators whose schools are using the petroleum information series in their curricula. Most of them praise the textual matter, its freedom from advertising, the illustrated material and the series' overall value in the classroom.

All of the OIIC's school materials are periodically revised to keep them abreast of the newest developments in industry operation and research.

SMS Well Staked

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. of Fort Worth has announced plans to drill the No. 1-C S. Neustadt in the SMS-Canyon sand field of Kent County.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 22-2-H&GN, 19 miles northwest of Clairemont. Contract depth is 6,300 feet, with drilling to begin at once.

DRILLING REPORT

Union Oil of California No. 1 M. I. Simmons, Northeast Scurry County wildcat, is shutin at total depth of 7,320 feet.

In West Scurry, Forest Oil No. 1 H. H. Eiland is drilling below 1,671 feet. General Crude No. 1 Hugh Taylor was last reported fishing at total depth of 4,815 feet. Lomax and R. J. Zonne No. 1 R. T. Martin in Northwest Scurry County is drilling below 2,100 feet in lime.

In Borden County, Shell Oil Co. No. 1 Clayton-Johnson is drilling in sandy lime and shale below 6,443 feet. Tennessee No. 1 Fambrough has cemented intermediate casing at 3,672 feet and is waiting for cement to cure before drilling deeper.

Texaco No. 1-C Clayton is drilling in lime and shale below 4,715 feet. Texas Crude and McFarland No. 1-9 good, bottomed at 7,890 feet, was attempting to restore circulation at last report. Tide Water No. 1-A Clayton is drilling in lime and shale below 4,685 feet.

Projects Are Plugged In Reeves, Andrews

Ralph Lowe of Midland and White Eagle Oil Company and Hanco Oil & Gas Co., Ltd., have plugged and abandoned projects in Reeves and Andrews Counties.

White Eagle and Hanco No. 1 Cox was abandoned on total depth of 4,600 feet in lime. Site was 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 6-A30-psl, three-quarters of a mile north and slightly east of the Biles Wichita-Albany field.

Lowe No. 1 Heinrich, wildcat in East Reeves County nine miles north of Pecos, was plugged at 4,688 feet in Delaware sand showing sulphur water. Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 7-4-H&GN.

New Wildcats Staked In Concho, Runnels

Luling Oil and Gas Co. of San Antonio will dig No. 1 J. R. Cox, Jr., as a 4,500-foot wildcat in Central Concho County, 15 miles south of Paint Rock and five miles northeast of the Speck field.

Site is 660 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of Pfanstiel survey No. 279.

American Trading & Production Co. spotted site for No. 1 J. M. Clayton, slated 4,000-foot wildcat, in Southeast Runnels County. It is 4,250 feet from east and 4,480 feet from north lines of George Alfred survey No. 234, but in Mrs. R. Boatright survey No. 1, 10 miles east of Ballinger.

Sharon Ridge Location

Ellis Drilling Co. of Colorado City No. 2 Ellis Brothers has been staked for immediate drilling in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field four miles southwest of Dunn.

The drillsite is 990 feet from north and west lines of section 142-3-H&GN, and on a 220-acre lease. Cable tools are to be used to drill to a possible bottom of 1,850 feet.

KIWANIS TOY DRIVE STARTS

The annual Kiwanis Club drive to collect used toys to be repaired and distributed to needy children was started last week. The club asks anyone who has such toys to bring them to the central fire station at the city hall. Later the toys will be taken to the high school vocational shops where they will be repaired by school students. At Christmas time the club members will distribute the toys, along with baskets of food to needy families. Shown above from left are H. A. Johnson, Jr., club president, L. A. McClanahan, toy committee chairman, and N. W. Autry, fire chief. (Lee Watson photograph)

H. R. Cullen's Life Marked By Risk, Ambition, Triumph

HUGH ROY CULLEN: A STORY OF AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY by Ed Kilman and Theon Wright, 369 pages. Prentice-Hall. $4.

Texas oil men who amass fabulous fortunes have become legendary figures on the American scene. Scurry County has had its share of these men. The stories of these men, their work, their risks, and sometimes their failures are perhaps too often overlooked in the glow of final success.

Hugh Roy Cullen of Houston is one of the oil men who refused to fail despite a lion's share of setbacks. The story of his life, written by Ed Kilman and Theon Wright, will be published tomorrow by Prentice-Hall, Inc., under the title "Hugh Roy Cullen: A Story of American Opportunity." It makes interesting reading, and provides some interesting sidelights on the development of this area as well.

Cullen, now 73, had gained the position of one of the richest men in the world by 1947. He then set out on a gigantic give-away program with a definite purpose. He gave $160,000,000, about 93 per cent of all his assets, for the establishment of a philanthropic fund in Houston. Not long ago he set up four million-dollar funds in two days, an all-time record in altruism, in which four hospitals benefited to an equal degree.

Cullen's career in business began when he left school at the age of 12 to work for $3 a week in a candy factory. Four years later he was learning the cotton business, working his way up to the position of cotton buyer in a highly competitive field. He and Lillie Cranz of Schulenberg were married and the parents of their first child by the time Cullen had reached 22.

Determined to support his family well and never satisifed to work for another man, Cullen was in business for himself when he moved his family to Houston in 1911. His venture in real estate there brought him in contact with Jim Creek, a big property holder who had just begun to dabble in the oil business. When he suggested that Cullen try to secure leases for him, Cullen protested, "I've never read an oil lease in my life." He undertook the lease work, however, on the condition that he and Creek would work together, that he would not be merely an employe. Creek advanced the first money for Cullen's expenses, and Cullen was still his own boss.

All Cullen knew about oil geology was what he had read in the public library. He never stopped studying, however, and he gradually learned "creekology" — the oilman's ability to read surface geology. When he began drilling at Pierce Junction, a few miles southwest of Houston, he found flowing production in an area where 52 dry holes had been plugged. The production failed after two years, and Cullen drilled deeper to find a pool almost as big as the first.

"Everbody expects to find oil on the surface," Cullen told his partners. "You've got to drill deep for oil." Deep drilling became such a fixation with him that a contractor once remarked, "When they say the last rites over Mr. Cullen and get ready to lower him into the ground, I'll bet he'll look over the side of his casket and say, 'Better dig a little deeper, boys'."

Cullen became "King of the Wildcatters," and finally found the biggest wildcat of them all on the O'Connor Ranch near the Gulf of Mexico. The field cost the life of Cullen's son, Hugh Roy Cullen, Jr., who was crushed to death under a falling derrick. A short time later Cullen saw a way in which the oil money could do great good and serve as a memorial to his son. He gave $345,000 for the University of Houston, and more money followed.

Cullen has always been a man of action, but one who could express himself with force when the occasion arose. "I never tried to out-trade a man — and I never let a man out-trade me," he once said, and he stuck by that ideal throughout his business dealings. He remembered his mother's counsel many times. "Don't ever lie. You can lock your house against a thief, but you have no protection against a liar."

Even if you are not normally a fan of biographies, this one should reach your interest. It's one of those "fact is stranger than fiction" stories that hit home.

'Wearables' Will Make Her Christmas Big

Make your gift to "her", one with a long-term policy and good-fit.

Yes, you'll flatter her femininity if you choose something to embellish her wardrobe.

No girl, but no girl, ever seems to have too many sweaters. So make it a sweater Christmas for her in either a classic style or one that foretells glamour times with its glitter-sparkle or dainty fur trim.

A good, really-good skirt in tweed or one of the magic fibers will thrill her with every wearing.

And from tailored "boy-shirts" in white stripes, conversation-piece patterns, or in bright color—to flattery-spelling dressy blouses, there's an "on-top" choice for your particular girl.

If she likes the wind and the rain, an exciting new raincoat with matching umbrella or hat — will have her saying, "it isn't raining rain to me".

For sportswomen and outdoor-lovers there are many jackets in everything from furry alpaca to buttery-soft sueds to put her at ease in smart comfort in any weather.

Too, she may welcome a rain or shine storm coat — or, warp her in the elegance of a velvet jacket or even full-length coat.

Sleek handbags; gloves of leather, wool, or fabric; a boxful of hoisery; distinctive handkerchiefs —all are welcome gifts for gals.

With suits and jumpers, dresses and coordinates wearing easy, relaxed lines, surely she'll take a fancy to the fancies in scarves, neckwear and lingerie-touched accessories that brighten this season's fashions.

Nothing but nothing can give the excitement that does a gift of fur —and your selection can be lovely, luxurious and not-terribly expensive if you select a small cape, a stole, a tiny jacket or a scarf in a fine fur!

Let these little gifts make her Christmas a "big one" — because these are the gifts every girl wants, needs and treasures for long times to come.

Unique Center Aid To Troublemakers

By TOM STONE

KAUFBEUREN, Germany, Nov. 27 (AP)—The U.S. Army straightens out its GI troublemakers in a unique rehabilitation center here.

Soldiers who go AWOL, talk back to superiors, get drunk or brawl while on duty in Europe are sent here to take their medicine.

Maximum punishment for such special court-martial offenses is six months, but Col. C. J. Nelson, Iowa - born commanding officer, says a soldier can cut his sentence in half by following the rigid rules and serving his time "in the right spirit."

"Treatment here is fair but firm," he says.

The rehabilitation center is the only one of its kind in Europe.

An average of 320 wayward soldiers wind up here monthly. Most are 21 or 22 years old. The prisoners are confined dormitory-style in clean two-story tile-roofed concrete barracks which were originally built for German Luftwaffe cadets.

The barracks are surrounded by 10-foot high hook-nose storm fence. Armed guards in watchtowers keep a sharp lookout for would-be escapees.

No one has scaled the fence yet. But escapees are picked up quickly. A soldier looks out of place here in the peaceful foothills of the Bavarian Alps.

Prisoners wear GI fatigues. They are assigned hard work, usually to improve the premises, but it is not too strenuous and it has a practical purpose.

Punishment consists primarily of intensified military training. It's like any other soldier gets but tougher.

The severest form of punishment—for prisoners who refuse to buckle down—is solitary confinement. There, prisoners sleep on pallets on the floor. They get clean clothes and blankets and take a shower every day. Prisoners are served the same food in solitary as on the outside but the portions are smaller and unseasoned.

Col. Nelson shudders when anybody mentions James Jones' novel "From Here to Eternity," which describes sadistic brutalities in a pre-war Army stockade in Hawaii.

Those days are gone, Col. Nelson says. "Soldiers now get humane treatment. The ones here are not criminals. They are just young soldiers who have made slips. Most of them are returned to army life as well-trained, well-disciplined, self - respecting soldiers."

Some soldiers convicted by a general court-martial for more serious offenses are sent here if they are "potentially restorable."

Col. Nelson says three out of four of the soldiers released from the Kaufbeuren center never get into trouble again.

"We prove here," Col. Nelson says, "that rehabilitation really works."

New Rayon Plant

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 27 (AP)—A 12-million-dollar rayon plant is to be set up near Bombay, the chief center of India's vast cotton milling industry. A silk producers' association announced the plans.

Under a normal pension plan, a fund which would provide $100 a month at age 65 would provide only $70 a month at age 60 but would give $140 at age 70.

Choose Toys Wisely For Small Tots

If you're buying toys for the infant up to one year old and the toddler under two, here are some tips to remember.

Infants naturally put everything into their mouths — so be careful to select smooth, washable, nontoxic toys — toys that are larger than the child's open mouth.

Squeezable rubber, or slick nontoxic, plastic-covered toys are best. Action toys such as cradle gyms, swing toys and colored beads can be attached to the crib, and help the tiny hands learn to grasp. Gay colors attract the infant's eyes and hold his interest.

For the toddler, toys that encourage his muscular coordination are so right. Those toys that develop his handling skills and give impetus to imaginative play.

Toys he can push, pull, rock or cuddle are his favorites at this age. Noise makers, tinklers, and squeakers fascinate him, too. Furry animals that can take a tubbing, soon become bosom companions, and blocks he can build with and then collapse with a mild crash — will keep him amused!

In centigrade thermometers zero is the freezing point of water (32 degrees Fahrenheit) and the boiling point of water is 100 degrees.

These three basketball players, all of them leaders on last year's team, may get a slow start this season because of injuries suffered during the football season. At top is Jimmy Bennett, left, and Jack Spikes, right. In the bottom picture is Don McNew. J. P. Ward, head basketball coach, Jack Dillon, B team coach, and Hal Battle, freshman coach, will start workouts for high school teamsters tomorrow. Junior high teams will work out under coaches Charles Storrs and Roy Carter.

Cagers Open Drills Monday

Basketball practice will get into full swing tomorrow for all high school boys trying out for spots on the varsity and freshmen teams.

Starting his first year here as head basketball coach will be J. P. Ward, who came here at the beginning of this school year to replace Gene Gibson, now freshman coach at Texas Tech. Ward was head coach at Vega before coming to Snyder. Before that time he was basketball coach at Anson. He is 1948 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University.

Basketball season will open for the Snyder Tigers Saturday night, when they will go to Abilene. The first home game will be on the following Tuesday night when they host Odessa. Season tickets are already on sale for the nine home games at $3.50 each at Reddin Drug, D&H Super Market, Everybody's Grocery, and the Chamber of Commerce. J. T. Hughes heads sales as chairman of the ticket committee for the Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the season ticket sales.

Six cagers who saw much action with the varsity squad last year are returning this season, but three of those are crippled with injuries suffered during the football season. Those three are Don McNew, 5-foot-9; Jimmy Bennett, 5-foot-11½; and Jack Spikes, 6-foot-1½. Spikes is the least injured of the three. It is not known yet just how long it will be before any of these will be able to play.

Other varsity veterans returning are Alan Snead, 6-foot-1; Steve Blair, 5-foot-9½, and Joel Tankersley, 6-foot-1½. Bennett last year, as a junior, ran 12th in district cage scoring. For the season last year, Bennett had 292 points to head the local team, Snead 182 points to run fourth, Spikes 103 for fifth place, McNew 101 for sixth, Blair 59 for seventh, and Tankersley 44 for eighth.

J. P. WARD, JR.
... starts workouts

Others seeing action with the varsity last year were Wayne Shuffield, 6-foot-2; Bernie Hagins, 5-foot-9; and Hubert O'Neal, 6-foot-1. These three were regulars for the B team, as were several others returning, Jerry Taylor, 5-foot-4; Berry Bolger, 6-foot-1; and Doug James 6 feet.

Up from last year's freshman team are Milton Ham, 6 feet; Powell Berry, 6 feet; Dwayne Prince, 6 feet; Robert Dabbs, 6-foot-3; Floyd Blackwell, 5-foot-8, Ronnie Smith, 5-foot-4; and Orville Ham, 5-foot-6. Others will be out for places on the varsity squad.

In preliminary workouts held last week with boys who had finished their football seasons with the B team and freshman team, Dabbs and O'Neal were showing up as prospects for regular spots this season. The A squad will be chosen tentatively sometime this week, Ward said, adding that the A and B squads will consist of 30 boys. The B squad will be coached by Jack Dillon, the freshmen by Hal Battle. The freshman team will have as many boys as remain in practice. The frosh schedule is not yet complete.

Last year the Tigers ran fourth in District 3A-1 with a 5-7 record. For the season, the team won 11 and lost 16, scoring 1,231 points to opponents' 1,431. As a team, the Tigers had a 61.4 per cent free throw average. Bennett is the top free thrower remaining. He had a 68 per cent average, while McNew had 65 per cent and Blair 64.

In the 1952-53 season, the Tigers tied up with four other teams in the district for the championship. Vernon won out in a tournament for the right to represent the district. The team that year had a 6-4 district record and 14-12 season marks, with 1,467 points scored against 1,428.

In 1951-52, the Tigers won the district championship but lost to Levelland in regional playoffs. That year the team had an 8-2 district mark and 18-13 record for the season. It scored 1,323 points to 1,118.

In 1950-51, the squad had a 6-4 record to end third in its district. It won 11 and lost 13 during the season while scoring 734 points to 707.

Last spring, when this year's varsity prospects played the ex-members of the squad, the varsity downed the exes 13-46. Bennett and Spikes paced the varsity.

The B team last year finished the season with an 8-11 record, with 885 points to 882.

The freshmen last year lost only one of 15 games during the season. It won the championship of the Plainview freshman tournament and second place in a similar San Angelo tourney. It scored 591 points to 415.

Junior high teams will be coached by Charlie Storrs and Roy Carter. Last year the junior high A team had a 15-3 season record and scored 712 points against 400. It won the championship of the Post junior high tourney and consolation title in the Plainview tournament. The junior high B team had a season record of 11-1 and scored 329 points to opponents' 181.

SPORTS

COMANCHE, LITTLEFIELD

Snyder Is Site For AA Playoff

Snyder will be the site Friday of a Class AA regional football bout between Littlefield of District 6-AA and Comanche of District 7-AA.

Officials of the two schools agreed Friday night on the site after Comanche had won its bi-district game over Monahans 48-12. Littlefield the day before had downed Tahoka 33-7 in a bi-district match.

The two had been invited here several days ago, provided those two won in their bi-district games, by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, Snyder school superintendent, for the schools. Friday night four Snyder men went to the Comanche-Monahans game at Monahans to give officials of the schools any information they need on Snyder as a prospective site. They were Clyde Godwin, member of the Snyder school board; Jake Phillips, member of the Chamber of Commerce recreation committee; Bob Crowell, chamber manager; and Herbert Feather, chamber director.

The game will be played at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Tickets were being prepared during the weekend. Each of the two schools had requested 750 reserved seat tickets. Other tickets will be on sale in Snyder, probably by tomorrow, in the office of Forrest Beavers in the courthouse. Reserved seats will cost $1.50. General admission price will be $1.25. Student tickets will be 50 cents.

Colorado City and Phillips are playing the next day at Lubbock in a regional game. The winner of that match will play the winner of the game here.

After the Thursday game, Littlefield's season record was 7-4. The team, coached by Gene Mayfield, lost its first four and then picked up to win the remainder of the tilts. Offensive leader of the team is Milton (Rabbit) Vaughn, scorer of 136 points this season.

Comanche has now won 10 games and tied one. The squad was slowed some in the last few weeks by the injury of star halfback Calvin Lee, but he is now back to roar through the holes his line is making. Lee Friday night scored six touchdowns in his team's win over Monahans. The tie was with Mineral Wells.

Minor Loops Will Undergo Facelifting

By JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP) — One of the two Triple-A leagues, perhaps both, will undergo a facelifting during the annual minor league baseball convention here this coming week.

The American Assn., trimmed to seven cities when Kansas City was awarded an American League franchise earlier this month, is experiencing stiff opposition in its efforts to find a replacement for the departed Blues.

The International League, which transferred two of its franchises to Havana and Richmond last season, is doubtful about Ottawa. The Kansas City major league club, which inherited the Canadian city from Philadelphia's Athletics, may transfer the franchise to either Miami or Jacksonville, Fla. Albany, N.Y., and Jersey City, N.J., also are possibilities.

In addition to the franchise shifts, which may shake the entire structure of organized baseball, the beleaguered minors will delve into numerous proposals designed to improve their lot in relation with the majors. Among the many proposals to be acted upon are 23 amendments to the major-minor league agreement and two resolutions scheduled for consideration at the executive session on Dec. 2. However, even if passed by the minors, the amendments must also be approved by the majors at their meetings in New York the following week.

Among the proposals are two for increasing draft prices and raising the number of players who may be drafted from a club. Included are regulations for broadcasting and telecasting games and for lowering player limits and increasing the number of options permitted.

Biggest fireworks are expect to stem from the American Assn.'s efforts to acquire an eighth city to replace Kansas City. The Class-A Western League already has rejected a request to place a price on Omaha and Denver and indicated it expects to fight to retain both of its key cities. At a meeting last week, directors of the Western League voted, 6 to 2, in favor of forcing the American Assn. to draft any of its territory, as per baseball law, instead of negotiating for either Denver or Omaha.

Tests Scheduled For Basketball Officials

Tests will be given in Abilene next Sunday for those who wish to qualify as members of the Southwest Basketball Officials Association.

The tests will be held at the high school gymnasium there, starting at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Abilene Basketball Officials Association is giving the tests.

North Carolina State's backfield ace George Marinkove weighs only 165 pounds and is 5 feet 6 inches tall. Marinkov leads the team in five offensive departments.

Paul La Palme of the Pittsburgh Pirates has an odd hobby. He makes gun stocks.

Villanova Finally Gets Itself A Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Winless Villanova finally found a team it could beat today and ended a nine-game losing streak by trampling Fordham 41-0 on the passing of Dick Scott and ball-hawking of Don McComb and Mike Mayock.

Once they found out how easy it was, Villanova turned the game into a rout in the second half after leading by only 13-0 at the half. Fordham, whose season's record was almost as dismal as Villanova's with only a victory and tie in nine games, also was the last team Villanova defeated, in the final game of the 1954 season.

The Milwaukee Braves won more games on the road than at home. They triumphed 46 times in opposition ball parks and won 43 at County Stadium.

Irish Have Rough Time With USC

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 27 (AP)—Notre Dame's relentless fighting Irish, forced to come from behind three times, today sprung sophomore halfback Jim Morse loose for a 72-yard touchdown scamper in the final six minutes of the game to down stubborn Southern California 23-17.

The hard-fought victory over the well-drilled Trojans was Notre Dame's fourth triumph in a row from their West Coast rivals, who will enter the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day against unbeaten Ohio State with a record of 8-3.

The men of Troy were defeated early by Texas Christian and last week were flattened by UCLA 34-0.

Morse, a 175-pounder from Muskegon, Mich., was the star of the day with his consistent gains, climaxed by his game-breaking scoring sprint that brought the throng of 56,438 fans to their feet. The Irish 4th ranked nationally by the AP, boosted their season mark to 8-1.

Morse, fullback Don Schaefer and halfback Joe Heap combined on a Notre Dame 86-yard scoring thrust in 22 ground plays at the outset of the last quarter. Schaefer drilled over from the 2 and placekicked the extra point to put the Irish ahead 14-10.

Then the battling Trojans sailed 72 yards, mainly behind the passing of Jim Contratto, to score. Contratto passed 21 yards to 6-6 end Chuck Griffith for the payoff and Ed Fouch converted to put USC ahead 17-14.

Minutes later, Morse took a pitchout from Ralph Guglielmi cut the sidelines and, after outmaneuvering Contratto, dashed into the clear for his touchdown romp.

The Irish added a 2-point safety late in the quarter when USC center, Marv Goux, who recovered two Notre Dame fumbles during the game, snapped back the ball over Frank Clayton's head from the 14. The ball rolled behind the end zone.

Southern California	7	0	3	7	—17
Notre Dame	0	7	0	16	—23

USC scoring: Touchdowns, Contratto, Griffith. Conversion, Tsagalakis, Fouch. Field goal, Tsagalakis. Safety (pass from center over end zone).

Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Morse, Schaefer, Heap. Conversions, Schaefer 3.

Rice Crushes Baylor 20-14

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

WACO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Dicky Moegle and a steel-touch Rice defense crushed Baylor's dreams 20-14 today and handed the Southwest Conference football championship to Arkansas undisputed.

Moegle scored two touchdowns, one on a great 91-yard punt return, and blasted the sagging Baylor line for 126 yards. The Rice defense stopped one of the finest passing attacks in the conference as the Owls intercepted five of Billy Hooper's throws.

Baylor had a chance to tie for the conference championship if it won today — and also prospects of an invitation to the Sugar Bowl. But the Owls, with Moegle and giant Jack Throckmorton leading the way, were not to be denied.

Rice led 13-7 at the half but Baylor shot in front on a 99-yard touchdown surge late in the third period after stopping Rice on the 1 with a tremendous goal line stand.

Then came the break Rice was waiting for. L. G. Dupre, the hard running Baylor back, fumbled on the Baylor 39 and James Peters, one of the greatest defensive players of the day, fell on the ball. With Moegel chipping in with 15 vital yards, the Owls rushed to the winning touchdown. Moegle made it with a 7-yard blast at right tackle.

Baylor wasn't whipped yet, however. After Throckmorton had intercepted a pass on the Baylor 28 and Rice thumped down to the 12 only to be held and forced to try a field goal, the Golden Bears staged one last wild drive, with Del Shofner, the great sophomore, doing most of it with a 62-yard dash. The Bears pounded to the Rice 7 but 4 tries netted only 4. It was Moegle who made the tackle as Shofner tried left end in the last desperate effort to score.

Rice crashed to 285 yards rushing and 31 in the air while Baylor got 286 on the ground and 51 passing in an offensive duel that kept a crowd of 24,000 in a continous uproar.

As the result of today's loss, Baylor fell down to a tie with Rice for third place in the final standings. It was another bitter disappointment for the Golden Bears, who haven't even shared a championship in 30 years.

Arkansas, which finished the conference race two weeks ago, wound up with its first undisputed title in 18 years, boasting a 5-1 record.

Rice scored first on a 50-yard march after Moegle had intercepted a pass. Throckmorton made 30 yards of the 59 in the steady march. He bounced over from the two and then kicked the extra point.

Next came Moegle's great punt return for a score with Atchley Proctor making one key block and Morris Stone and Marshall Crawford combining on another to shake Moegle clear.

Baylor came fighting back, however, rolling 67 yards for its first touchdown, with Dupre contributing 31 of it. Dupre also made the score-crashing run from two feet out.

Throckmorton missed the try for point after the first Rice touchdown as the result of a holding penalty. He had made it on the first try.

	Baylor	Rice
First downs	14	17
Rushing yardage	286	270
Passing yardage	51	51
Passes attempted	14	4
Passes completed	5	3
Passes intercepted	0	0
Punts	1	3
Punting average	46.0	30.3
Fumbles lost	2	2
Yards penalized	50	35

Charley Smith converted after the Baylor touchdown.

When Baylor scored a second time, Donnel Berry kicked the point to go ahead 14-13. So it looked as if Throckmorton's miss was going to loom large. Moegle took care of that, however, as he led the Owls on that last touchdown drive. He climbed over right tackle for the score. Throckmorton kicked the point.

Throckmorton almost hit on the point.

Rice	7 6 0 7 - 20
Baylor	0 7 7 0 - 14

Rice scoring: Touchdowns, Throckmorton, Moegle 2. Conversion, Throckmorton 2.

Baylor scoring: Touchdown, Dupre, Shofner. Conversion, C. Smith, Berry.

Tech Blasts Cowpokes By 61-19 Tally

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—Texas Tech sent a half - dozen members of its talent - rich backfield flashing to touchdowns today as the Red Raiders beat Hardin - Simmons 61-19 in the highest scoring game in Border Conference history.

It was the second straight week that the Raiders scored 61 points, and it gave them the Border Conference title for the second straight season.

Six difference backs found an end got in on the scoring as the Raiders ripped off two touchdowns in the first period, two in the second, one in the third and four more in the final quarters.

Plugging through holes opened most often by hard hitting tackle Jerry Walker, the Tech runners gained an awesome 534 yards rushing and added 84 through the air for a total offense of 617 yards. They counted 31 first downs.

An 80-yard pass play from Kenneth Ford to Charles Massegee gave Hardin - Simmons both the first touchdown and the longest play of the game, but the Cowboys had little else to show for the afternoon. They scored twice more in the third period but were behind 34-7 when the tallies came.

Halfbacks Walter Bryan and Ronnie Herr led the Tech scoring with two touchdowns each. Quarterback Jack Johnson came next with a touchdown and four extra points. Second - string Raider quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick scored one touchdown, passed for another and kicked three extra points.

Other Raiders in on the scoring were M. C. Northam and Rick Spinks, backs, and Don Waygood, an end.

Massegee scored two H-SU touchdowns and Rodney William took the third across.

Texas Tech	14 14 7 26 - 26
Hardin-Simmons	7 0 12 0 - 19

Boston Wears Down Holy Cross 31-13

BOSTON, Nov. 27 (AP) — Tom Magnarelli scored four touchdowns as he fired a brutal Boston College ground attack that wore down Holy Cross today 31-13 in the 51st football meeting before a standing room crowd of 40,642 at Fenway Park.

The rugged B. C. Eagles gaining their best season since 1942, put the game out of reach on the fourth play of the second period when Magnarelli burst 31 yards over left tackle to give the Eagles a 19-6 advantage.

GA. TECH IS COTTON BOWL TEAM

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP) — Georgia Tech tonight accepted an invitation to meet Arkansas New Year's Day in the Cotton bowl football game.

The Yellow Jackets were selected minutes after they defeated Georgia 7-3 today to end the season as runnerup in the Southeast Conference with a record of seven victories and three defeats.

Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference, finished with eight victories and two defeats, including today's 19-0 decision over the University of Houston.

Two of Georgia Tech's losses were by a single point, to Florida 12-13 and Duke 20-21. The Yellow Jackets also bowed to Kentucky 6-13.

This will be the second appearance of Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl and the second for Arkansas.

In 1943, Texas beat Georgia Tech 14-7. In the 1947 game, Arkansas battled Louisiana State to a scoreless draw.

Navy, Auburn, Penn State and West Virginia had been other teams considered for the Cotton Bowl.

Felix R. McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl Assn. Committee, announced the choice of Georgia Tech.

Earlier this year, Coach Bobby Dodd's Yellow Jackets defeated Southern Methodist University in the Cotton Bowl 10-7 in a regularly scheduled game.

Arkansas cinched the host role in the Cotton Bowl two weeks ago but it backed into a clear conference championship today when Rice licked Baylor 20-14. Baylor could have shared the title by winning.

The Southwest Conference champion automatically gets a bid to the Cotton Bowl. In case of co-champions, the one beating the other is invited. Arkansas beat Baylor by one point.

Arkansas and Georgia Tech will each draw down something like $160,000 for appearing in the game. Arkansas will have to kick back to the Southwest Conference all but $60,000 plus $7.50 per mile traveling expenses one way. The Conference will split the rest with other schools.

For Coach Bowden Wyatt of Arkansas, the Cotton Bowl will climax a rags-to-riches sage. The Razorbacks before the season were picked to finish next to last in the Conference.

The Razorbacks were undefeated through their first seven games, which included a 6-0 decision over Southeast Conference champion Mississippi.

Oklahoma Has Close Escape

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 27 (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, not given a chance to stay in the same stadium with the powerhouse Oklahome football team, threw up an amazing defense against the Sooners before going down to the nation's No. 3 club 14-0 today.

The Sooners were four-touchdown favorites, but in only one quarter were they able to score, making both their touchdowns in the second period.

The victory was Oklahoma's 19th straight and gave the Sooners their first all-victorious season since 1948.

Oklahoma has been a slow-starting club, finishing strong, but they could never overcome the stubbornness of the undermanned Aggies, who never let up the pressure.

Oklahoma quarterback Gene Calame scored his team's touchdowns on 1-yard plunges and halfback Buddy Leake kicked both extra points for all of the game's scoring. The game was exciting enough to keep the spectators in their seats until the last play.

The Aggies came close to scoring in the final quarter as A&M fullback Earl Lunsford, the Missouri Valley's leading ground gainer, led his team's longest drive. A&M rolled from its own 19 to the OU 15 before losing the ball.

The game ends the season for both teams. Although Oklahoma won the Big Seven Conference title, it cannot go to a bowl because of league rules.

Oklahoma	0 14 0 0—14
Oklahoma A&M	0 0 0 0— 0

Oklahoma scoring: Touchdowns, Calame 2. Conversions, Leake 2.

Near Riot Following Vanderbilt's Win

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 27 (AP)—Fullback Don Hunt ran and quarterback Jim Looney passed Vanderbilt to a decisive 26-0 victory over Tennessee today in a football game which wound up in a near-riot in the final 45 seconds.

The fracas broke out after a Tennessee punt, but policemen raced onto the field from all directions and restored order. Officials apparently held both teams equally to blame and returned the ball to its previous resting place without penalty.

The Commodores combined a solid running game with an effective passing attack to take their first victory from their cross-state rivals since 1948.

Mustangs Stick To Ground To Win 21-6

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—While the man who created Southern Methodist's famed "aerial circus" watched as an honored guest, the Mustangs stuck to the ground for an easy 21-6 victory over Texas Christian today.

Flashing a stable of fleet backs that could run like quarter-horses, SMU marched 80 and 33 yards for touchdowns in the first and third periods. Then as the game waned, end Doyle Nix stole a TCU pitchout and fled 67 yards to sew up second place in the Southwest Conference.

Duane Nutt scored the first Pony touchdown from inside the 10 John Marshall the second from the 5.

Charles Curtis sneaked over from the two for Texas Christian's only touchdown in the second period.

Neither team threw the ball like in the golden days of razzle dazzle in the Southwest Conference. The man who started the jazzy style, former SMU Coach Ray Morrison, was honored at halftime as a new member of football's "Hall of Fame."

	SMU	TCU
First downs	14	10
Rushing yardage	297	153
Passing yardage	0	55
Passes attempted	?	12
Passes completed	0	5
Passes intercepted by	2	0
Punts	?	5
Punting average	39.5	33
Fumbles lost	?	0
Yards penalized	40	80

SMU tried only two passes and didn't complete a one, but it really had no use for passing attack today. Its ground game rolled up 297 yards to 153 for TCU. Even the pass-happy Froggies tried only 12 passes, completed only 5 and had 2 intercepted.

Paced by Marshall and hard driving Frank Eidom, SMU moved to TCU's 5 yard line in the second period and to the 3 in the fourth. But these efforts bogged down.

Outside its scoring march, TCU had just two other good chances at points: In the third, when it reached the SMU 8 and in the fourth when it got to the 29. Nix ended that last effort with his interception.

Marshall gained 58 of the 80 yards SMU ground out in its first drive.

Stanley Bull and Gerald Redus ate up most of the yardage for TCU, 3 and 4 yards at a crack in a 56-yard drive.

On its second touchdown, it was Marshall and Eidom again doing the damage in short plunges.

Nutt broke his collarbone midway in the second quarter. The top Mustang quarterback will miss the season's final game with Notre Dame here next week.

TCU	0 6 0 0—6
SMU	7 0 0 14—21

TCU scoring: Touchdown, Curtis.

SMU scoring: Touchdowns, Nutt, Beal, Lucas.

Georgia Tech Gets Around Georgia 7-3

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 27 (AP)—A 19-yard pass from Wade Mitchell to Henry Hair gave Georgia Tech a 7-3 football victory over Georgia's fierce Bulldogs today, keeping Tech among the nation's top bowl candidates.

Georgia's rugged line and a muddy field combined to stop Tech's racehorse running game. But Mitchell's perfect peg and Hair's fine catch in the end zone were all Tech needed for a come-from-behind triumph over its Southeastern Conference arch-rival.

Rugged line play by Georgia bottled up Tech's offense for the entire first half and the Bulldogs led 3-0 at intermission on Joe Graff's 20-yard field goal. Both touchdowns were set up by fumble recoveries.

Rain which had been falling all day stopped shortly after the kick-off, but the field was slippery and players had trouble holding on to the ball.

Georgia fullback Bobby Garrard recovered Johnny Menger's fumble on Tech's 11 in the second quarter. The Bulldogs gained only one yard in three plays and Graff came on to boot his three-pointer. Graff had tried a field goal in the first period but it flew wide.

After intermission, Georgia quarterback Jimmy Harper fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and guard Franklin Brooks grabbed the ball for Tech at the 19.

Mitchell, who had been nursing a badly bruised chest since the Alabama game, then hit Hair, his right end, with Tech's only pass completion of the game.

Ticket Sales Begin For College Tourney

Tickets will go on sale here tomorrow for the second annual Canyon Reef College Basketball Tournament, which will be held in Snyder Dec. 10-11.

The tourney, sponsored jointly by the schools and the quarterback Club, features four college teams. Participating this year are Texas Tech, Lubbock; North Texas State, Denton; Howard Payne, Brownwood; and Centenary, Shreveport, La.

Centenary is coming here for the first time, replacing McMurry, last place team of the tournament last year. Tech is defending champion of this tournament, as well as of the Border Conference.

The basketball season is getting underway this week for most colleges. Schedules include the opening Wednesday of Texas Tech at home against Eastern New Mexico. Tech this year has on its varsity team Ned Underwood of Snyder, a sophomore who two years ago was starring for the Snyder Tigers. North Texas will journey to Canyon Wednesday to open its season against West Texas State. Also on Wednesday, Howard Payne will be at home to take on Louisiana Tech.

The Quarterback Club, which is handling all arrangements for the tournament, is now mapping out plans for lodging and feeding of the teams, which will average 15 members per party, trophies, officials, and workers for various phases of the tournament's operation.

Ticket sales will start tomorrow at Lee Motor Co., J. C. Penney Co., West Texas State Bank, and the office of Forrest Beavers in the courthouse. Prices have been set at $1 per night if tickets are bought in advance and $1.25 per night for tickets bought at the door. Student tickets will be 50 cents in advance or at the door.

Arkansas Gains 19-0 Win Over Houston

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Arkansas' Cotton Bowlers backed into their first undisputed Southwest Conference championship in 18 years today while three sophomores, Tommy Lockhart, George Walker and Buddy Benson, were leading them to a 19-0 intersectional victory over the University of Houston that had no bearing on the conference race.

Rice's upset of the favored Baylor Bears 20-14 at Waco saved the Razorbacks the necessity of sharing the conference title with the Bears.

Today's victory before a crowd of 25,000 sent Arkansas into the Dallas New Year's Day classic with a 7-2 season record, its best since 1927.

The Porkers finished their conference campaign three weeks ago with a 5-1 record but clinched the Cotton Bowl bid last week while Baylor was knocking Southern Methodist out of title contention. Today's victory snapped a two-game Arkansas losing streak, the Porkers' lone losses having been 21-14 to Southern Methodist and 7-6 to Louisiana State.

After a dull first quarter, Arkansas defeated Houston by waiting for and then methodically cashing in on the breaks.

Lockhart, a 19-year-old tailback playing his first game since the season opener, raced around right end from the 3 for the first touchdown after the Cougars punted out on their own 32 in the second quarter.

Walker plunged over from the 1 after a fumble recovery on the Houston 45 in the third period.

Benson then directed a 74-yard final period drive and passed to end Walter Matthews from the 7 for the last touchdown.

Walker kicked the first extra point but Preston Carpenter and Benson missed the others.

Arkansas, meanwhile, threw up a defense that prevented Houston from crossing the Porker 25-yard line. A fumble stopped a 34-yard Houston drive at that point in the first period. The Porkers also held for downs and took over on their 26 just before launching their final touchdown march.

Just before the final gun, halfback Kenny Stegall returned an Arkansas kickoff 58 yards to the Porker 32 but time ran out.

	Houston	Ark
First downs	8	14
Rushing yardage	88	154
Passing yardage	39	100
Passes attempted	10	16
Passes completed	4	8
Passes intercepted by	2	1
Punts	6	5
Punts	37.7	40.6
Fumbles lost	3	0
Yards penalized	10	35

Arkansas' only other serious threat came in the third period when Walker intercepted a Houston pass and returned 31 yards to the Cougar 14. After a penalty, Walker passed to Carpenter for 16 yards and a first down on the 4 but Houston held and took over on the 2.

In directing the first touchdown, Lockhart handled the ball on 8 out of 9 plays. He gained 17 yards in 5 carries and passed 13 yards to end Billy Lyons for a first down on the 6. His scoring race around right end was on fourth down.

Arkansas	0 7 6 6 -19
Houston	0 0 0 0 - 0

Arkansas scoring: Touchdowns, Lockhart, Walker, Matthews. Conversion, Walker.

Border Loop In Cage Play This Week

By The Associated Press

The Border Conference rings up the curtain on the basketball campaign this week, with thirteen games scheduled.

Four of the seven schools swing into action Wednesday.

Defending champion Texas Tech plays host to Eastern New Mexico of the Texas Conference. In other home openers New Mexico A&M entertains St. Michael's, independent from Winooski Park, Vt., and West Texas State, last year's runnerup, hosts North Texas State. Hardin-Simmons invades Austin for a clash with Texas.

Two other Border teams, Arizona University and Texas Western, open their season Thursday. Hardin-Simmons plays its second game that night. Arizona hosts Arizona State of Flagstaff; Western entertains St. Michael's, and Hardin-Simmons moves to Waco to tangle with Baylor.

Friday sees Arizona Tempe open at home against Arizona Flagstaff, New Mexico A&M hosting Sul Ross and West Texas State travelling to Wisconsin for a match with Beloit.

The week's play ends Saturday, with three games. Tech stays at home to play Abilene Christian College; Western plays host to Sul Ross, and West Texas goes to Illinois for a tilt with Wheaton.

Navy Upsets Army 27-20

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27 (AP) — Navy's football team named desire, seething and almost bubbling over with that elusive quality, upended favored Army, 27-20, today in a game that left more than 100,000 spectators breathless with excitement.

The victory probably earned the Midshipmen a trip to the Sugar Bowl. Navy had been approached by the backers of the New Orleans New Years Day spectacle and it was understood that the academy's reaction was favorable, given a successful finish to the regular season. They got that finish and more today.

It was the unquenchable spirit which Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz had singled out as the Middies outstanding asset which carried them to an early lead, enabled them to come back after falling behind and finally helped them smother Army's mighty attack in the closing minutes of a game which had produced almost nothing but offensive fireworks.

Schoolboy Grid Race Is Now Getting Hot

By BRUCE HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff

Phillips and Colorado City battle in Texas Tech Stadium at Lubbock Saturday afternoon in the banner game of the second-round fight for the Class AA Texas schoolboy football crown.

Both are unbeaten and untied. Their clash is a highlight of the week's action as the two lower classes, AA and A, roll into the second round of the state playoffs.

The other two divisions that fight to state championships AAAA and AAA, open bidistrict warfare with Abilene and Galveston rated the powers of AAAA and Lufkin and Port Neches called the teams to beat in AAA.

Bi-district action was completed in AA and all but wound up in A Friday night. Saturday, officials of schools still in the running were busy deciding sites and dates of second-round games.

From the South Plains came word that Phillips and Colorado City will play their regional clash at 2 p.m. Saturday in Tech Stadium. Phillips blasted Floydada 32-13 in bidistrict and Colorado City whammed Seymour 41-27.

A banner second-round contest of Class A is unbeaten-untied Sundown against undefeated - but - tied McLean. They'll play Friday at 2:30 p.m. in West Texas State's Buffalo Stadium at Canyon. Sundown rolled through the bi-district round by smashing unbeaten - untied Hale Center 33 - 13. McLean crushed Dimmit 49-13.

Other Class AA second - round games scheduled include Littlefield vs unbeaten-but-tied Comanche in Snyder at 2 p.m. Friday; Weatherford vs Terrell at Weatherford Friday, 8 p.m.; and Athens vs unbeaten-but-tied Carthage in Tyler Friday at 8 p.m.

In Class A second - round warfare, Sonora plays Albany at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Ballinger.

As playoffs open in the two upper classes, Galveston Ball — the only unbeaten-untied team left in AAAA—takes on Austin of Houston at Houston Friday night. Abilene, the power of the West, battles El Paso Austin at Abilene Saturday afternoon. Fort Worth Poly and the Dallas district representative, South Oak Cliff, clash at Dallas Friday night. The other two district kingpins of AAAA, Waco and Corpus Christi Miller, meet at Corpus Christi Saturday afternoon.

Lufkin unbeaten and untied and rated the best in AAA, goes after Sherman at Sherman Saturday afternoon. Port Neches, the defending AAA champion, clashes with Temple at Temple Saturday afternoon. Garland, unbeaten and untied, take on tough Breckenridge at Breckenridge Friday afternoon. McAllen, unbeaten but with a tie on its record, comes out of the Rio Grande Valley to battle San Antonio Alamo Heights at San Antonio Saturday afternoon.

Sugar Bowl Matches Navy, Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sixth-ranked Navy and seventh-ranked Mississippi today accepted bids to play in the Sugar Bowl football game New Year's Day.

The announcement was made by Bernie Grenrood, president of the sponsoring New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Assn.

It will be the second major bowl appearance for both teams. Twice-beaten Navy earned its bid with a 27-20 victory over Army.

Mississippi, which lost only to Cotton Bowl bound Arkansas, clinched its bid, and the Southeastern Conference championship, with a 14-0 victory over Mississippi State.

Mississippi finished with a 9-1 record, the defeat being the 6-0 loss to Arkansas. The Rebels last previous bowl appearance was in the 1953 Sugar Bowl game when they lost 24-7 to Georgia Tech.

Navy won seven and lost two during the season. Pittsburgh upset the Middies 21-19 and Notre Dame defeated them 6-0.

Parker Saves Edmonton

TORONTO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Jackie Parker, one of Mississippi State's all-time greats, scooped up a wild lateral pass with three minutes to play and scooted 85 yards for a touchdown that gave the Edmonton Eskimos a 26-25 victory over the heavily favored Montreal Alouettes in Canada's Grey Cup football classic today.

The injury - riddled Eskimos, trailing by nine points in the final quarter, rallied strongly against a team called the best ever developed in Canada.

With Bernie Faloney, from Maryland calling the plays, the Eskimos moved 103 yards over Varsity Stadium's king-sized gridiron for a touchdown with Glenn Lippman from Texas A&M crashing 14 yards over the line.

Late in the quarter, Montreal moved steadily goalward until Chuck Hunsinger of Florida, apparently trapped for a loss, flung the pigskin wildly. Along came Parker with the dash that sent the prized cup to Western Canada for the first time since 1949.

West Germans To Pick New Parliament

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

27 (AP)—Nine million voters in two big West German slates choose new parliaments tomorrow in an election which could — but probably won't — break Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's tight hold on the federal government.

In Bavaria, 6,200,000 eligible voters name 204 Parliament members and in Hesse, 3,100,000 voters select 96.

It is the first parliamentary election in each state since 1950, when the Socialists captured control of Hesse, and a coalition Christian Social Union-Socialist government emerged in Bavaria.

Campaigning has been violent and vindictive, and are the first state elections in postwar Germany where national leaders have taken such a conspicuous part. Chancellor Adenauer, 78, sought vindication of his policies and stumped both states vigorously. Opposition Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer was just as active.

Beside a multitude of domestic issues plaguing both parties, two big factors are the pivotal points of the voting:

1. West German rearmament.

2. The Paris agreement "Europeanizing the Saar" under temporary French control.

Rearmament is the bigger question. There has been sharp, outspoken opposition. West German Defense Minister Tehodor Blank was attacked and beaten by a Bavarian crowd when he attempted to campaign on the rearmament issue.

The resentment against rearmament isn't all Communist-inspired. There are young Germans who regard as odious the prospect of becoming soldiers again. The Communists have tried to fan the fires against rearmament, and they have had some unwitting fuel in these young men.

FCC Worries About Rural Area Service

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Federal Communications Commissioner Robert E. Lee said today the FCC is "seriously concerned with the problem of providing radio and television service to all rural and small community areas of the country."

"The problem of unserved areas is in the forefront of the commission's deliberations and application processing," Lee told the National Assn. of Television and Radio Farm Directors.

Tower Fall Kills Two

SARATOGA, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—A radio tower [illegible] crashed here today, killing two workmen who plummeted from near its top.

The men were putting up the last section of the radio tower at a Sun Oil Co. tank farm. As they erected the last section, it fell and snapped two guy wires on one side. This caused the tower to topple.

Leslie M. Kermit, about 40, of Houston, fell some 90 feet. John Wier Isaacson, 32, also of Houston, fell about 100 feet. Both died instantly.

The tower would have been more than 100 feet high. It was being put up by Sun Oil for use in company communications.

TSTA Ends Meeting

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17 (AP)—Texas State Teachers Assn. today ended its 76th annual convention with the meeting of the House of Delegates.

Attendance was estimated at 8,000.

In one of the 23 resolutions passed today, delegates pledged "to cooperate fully with the State Board of Education and the Texas Education Agency in the carrying out of such decisions that may be made by the constituted authorities of the state concerning segregation in public schools."

SC Barely Is Winner

COLUMBIA, S.C., Nov. 27 (AP) — Fullback Bill Wohrman's barrelling runs for two touchdowns and reserve fullback Jim Jarrett's extra-point accuracy combined to give South Carolina a 20-19 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory over Wake Forest here today.

Wohrman plunged over from the 1 and set up a 1-yard sneak by soph quarterback Mackie Prickett for two first-period touchdowns. Halfback Carl Brazell converted after the first score, but Bob Bartholemew, Wake Forest tackle, blocked the second attempt.

Quarterback Nick Consoles waged halfback Bill Barnes with a 13-yard pass in the end zone for a Wake Forest score midway of the second period. Reserve quarterback Joe White converted.

Wake Forest opened the third period with a 100-yard scoring drive, halfback Burt Harrison plunging over from the 4. Tackle Harry Lovell blocked Barnes' conversion try.

Both teams scored in the final period. Wohrman plunging over from the 1 after he had partially blocked a Wake Forest punt on Wake's 22 to set up the short March. Jarrett's winning conversion followed.

Fullback Nick Maravic went through the line for 9 yards and Wake Forest's touchdown to end a 99-yard push following a South Carolina fumble. Halfback John Parham's conversion try for the tying point was wide.

Seaman Is Crushed As Tanker Docks

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—A seaman was crushed to death here last night as he became entangled in lines as the Gulf oil tanker Gulfwave was docking at the Gulf Terminal here.

Dead was Boatswain Allen N. Soderdahl, 42, who listed several home addresses, including New York, Norfolk, Va., and Texas City, Tex.

Rescue Crews Seek Survivors Of Storm

By STANLE GODFREY

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—an American Air Force helicopter crew and British seamen struggled today to save 14 sailors B trapped in the wreckage of their ships — caught off the ritish coast by the worst storm in 30 years. But hope faded as night fell and the fury of the storm increased.

The helicopter crew did manage to pick a bird-watching English scientist off the lightship South Goodwin wallowing helplessly on her side on the treacherous Goodwind Sands off Dover — notorious graveyard of ships. Increasing gales then forced abandonment of efforts to save seven sailors remaining in the battered hulk.

Seven seamen were feared lost in the foresection of the 20,125-ton Liberian tanker World Concord which had been ripped in two by boiling seas off the Welsh coast. Earlier 35 men were rescued from the stern half after spending eight hours in raging seas.

There was no sign of a letup in the storm's ferocity. Gale warnings were hoisted along the German coast as the storm center started moving eastward in a threat to the entire North Sea area.

In addition to the dramatic rescue attempts at opposite ends of the British Isles the storm saw hundreds of other seamen fighting for their lives in crippled ships.

Three seamen were believed killed in an explosion that ripped through the 9,829-ton Norwegian tanker Olov Ringdal in the Welsh port of Swansea. Fifteen were injured.

Wartime mines ripped free from rusty cables, bringing fresh hazards. Frantic SOS messages crackled out from the North Sea to the Atlantic.

Inland, rising floodwaters brought chaos to 18 counties in southwest England and the midlands. Raging seas lashed higher at each tide. Residents hastily moved furniture to top floors, mindful of the disastrous floods of January 1953.

Hereford Breeders Have $29,000 Sale

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Texas - Oklahoma Hereford Breeders Assn. sold 60 animals for $28,940 today, a per-animal average of $482.

The association sold 26 bulls for $18,490, an average of 3711. Nineteen females brought $6,344, an average of $335.

Three pens-of-three bulls brought an average of $305, and two pens-of-three females brought an average of $255.

The champion bull, consigned by W. B. Garrett, of Comanche, sold for $3,975. It was purchased by Rentie Hamilton of the ross S Ranch of Texhoma, Okla. The first 10 bulls sold for an average of $1,211.

The champion cow, consigned by J.S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls, was purchased for $820 by Fincrest Farms of Raleigh, N.C. The first 10 females sold for an average of $434.

Wayne Hammon, Wichita Falls, association president, expressed satisfaction at the sale. "It was the best sale I've seen this year," he declared.

Large Endowment Is Presented To Baylor

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—A $340,000 endowment has been presented to Baylor University College of Medicine by Lamar Fleming Jr., college officials said today.

Dean Stanley W. Olson said the $15,000 annual income from the gift will go to the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation.

Fleming is chairman of the board of Anderson, Clayton & Co., worldwide cotton firm.

The endowment was the initial sum to be raised by the endowment committee of Baylor Medical Foundation, Olson said. The committee, of which Fleming is chairman, has a goal of 10 million dollars.

Baylor's physical medicine and rehabilitation department provides direction and manpower for therapy units at four hospitals.

Fleming made the gift because of Mrs. Fleming's interest in that field of medicine, Olson said.

She has organized volunteer case aids at Jefferson Davis Hospital and at M. D. Anderson Hospital for cancer research.

Well-Known Texas Woman Dies In Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Hunter B. Stiles, 84, who was raised on a ranch between Abilene and Albany and was known for her fine rifle shooting, died today at the home of her son, Dr. Wendell A. Stiles.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church.

She also directed and produced several amateur plays in early-day Abilene. She was a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

In 1898 she was married to Dr. Hunter A. Stiles in Abilene. Her husband practiced medicine in Waco nearly 50 years. Upon his death in 1935, Mrs. Stiles moved to Dallas to live with her son.

She had been active in several clubs while living in Waco.

Her son is the sole survivor.

CONFIRMATION BLOCKED

Willard F. Libby is shown testifying before the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee on his appointment to the Atomic Energy Commission. Libby was appointed by President Eisenhower Sept. 15 to fill an interim appointment expiring June 30, 1956. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) blocked Libby's confirmation after the nominee said he favors the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract.

Luxury Lingerie Is Always Top Gift

Lavish her with lovely lingerie for a gift that every woman will cherish!

Put stars in her eyes with a soft-as-down, quilted robe in feathery-cottons, rich satins or airy nylons. This is luxury, too, when you give her a magic-fiber slip so lavished with lace, that it's pretty enough to show!

For her lie-abed moments— a perky-little bed jacket in quilted-fabric, or lacy loveliness, or wooly warmth, will give her many pleasant wearings.

For right-out-of-the-tub, she'll adore stepping into a thirsty terry robe. Or, she'll be the grandest lady in a festive hostess coat or dramatic pajama ensemble.

And speaking of pajamas— from exciting leopard prints, to ethereal, beribboned nylon tricots, the pajama "game" bespeaks excitement for milady!

And nighty-nice are the gowns that make her a "siren" in the night — from misty, romatic black sheers adorned with the most heavenly lace trims — to shorty, tailored styles that look like overgrown shirts.

She'll be all a-glow over the many captivating "fireman red" flannel numbers . . . or, besprigged challis to lend enchantment to feminine moods, or toasty-warm flannel ones to cuddle into on cold-cold nights.

Put her into a petticoat for her holiday whirl. From stiff nylon horsehairs that give shape to bell skirts, to yards and yards of filmy, net-ruffled can-can styles, there are petticoat pretties to charm her this Christmas.

Camisole tops: trim, slinky half slips or pleated flaring ones; saucy panties or sedate briefs — will give pleasure to the demure one or the sophisticate.

Add excitement to her gift of lingerie by tucking your gift into a lingerie case — or tucking a sachet into the lingerie — or "sopaing her up" with one of the many powders made 'specially for these lacy lovelies.'

Yes, this year — say "merry Christmas" to the lady you love with lingerie!

Pvt. Schine Bags Moose In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 27 (AP)—G. David Schine, better known as a former Communist hunter for the McCarthy committee, is doing pretty well as a big game hunter in Alaska.

Now serving with the Ft. Richardson Military Police Detachment, Schine utilized his pastime last weekend to bag a moose that may turn out to be No. 13 in the record books.

That's the way it was sized up by Chuck Sutter of Tazlina, the professional guide who took Schine on the hunt. All the figures weren't available, but Sutter said the antler spread was 62½ inches.

Red Buildup Underway In Hong Kong Area

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa, Sunday, Nov. 28 (AP)—A build-up of Chinese Red naval strength in the Swatow area between Hong Kong and Quemoy was reported yesterday by an official Nationalist news agency.

Tatao, mouthpiece of the Interior Ministry, said the reinforcements included more than 10 gunboats and five Soviet-built torpedo boats of the type which sank the Nationalist destroyer Taiping off the Tachens Nov. 14.

The agency said the crafts were transferred to the Swatow area, 120 miles southwest of Nationalist-held Quemoy, from the big South China island of Hainan and from Whampoa, on the Pearl River near Canton.

A Red China amphibious force, including gunboats, was reported beaten off Friday in an attempt to seize Wuchiu Island in the Formosa Strait, 72 miles west of Formosa. There was no further report of action in that area.

Pope Returns To Vatican

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 27 (AP)—Pope Pius XII returned to his Vatican apartment today, tired and suffering from a return of the hiccups that dangerously sapped his strength last February.

Sources close to the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church said his private physician has ordered a period of complete rest.

The pontiff consequently shortened the trip from his residence at Castel Gandolfo and did not visit the image of the Madonna of Divine Love in the basilica of St. Mary across the Tiber, where he had planned to pause and pray.

His five-car motorcade drove slowly out of the hill village of Castel Gandolfo, escorted by 20 Italian motorcycle policemen. The cavalcade held to a speed of 25 miles per hour. One policeman said Vatican authorities had ordered "a smooth ride."

As the big American car carrying the pontiff drove out of the summer residence courtyard, 400 residents of Castel Gandolo cheered him. The pontiff appeared pale and tired. But he smiled and lifted his hand in greeting.

Sources close to the Pope said the heavy program of audiences, speeches and ceremonies over which he presided during his four months at Castel Gandolfo had tired him greatly. They reported he has suffered a recurrence of the hiccups which confined him for months to his Vatican apartment earlier this year. At one stage this was accompanied by vomiting.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 5, No. 181 | SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1954 | SECTION B

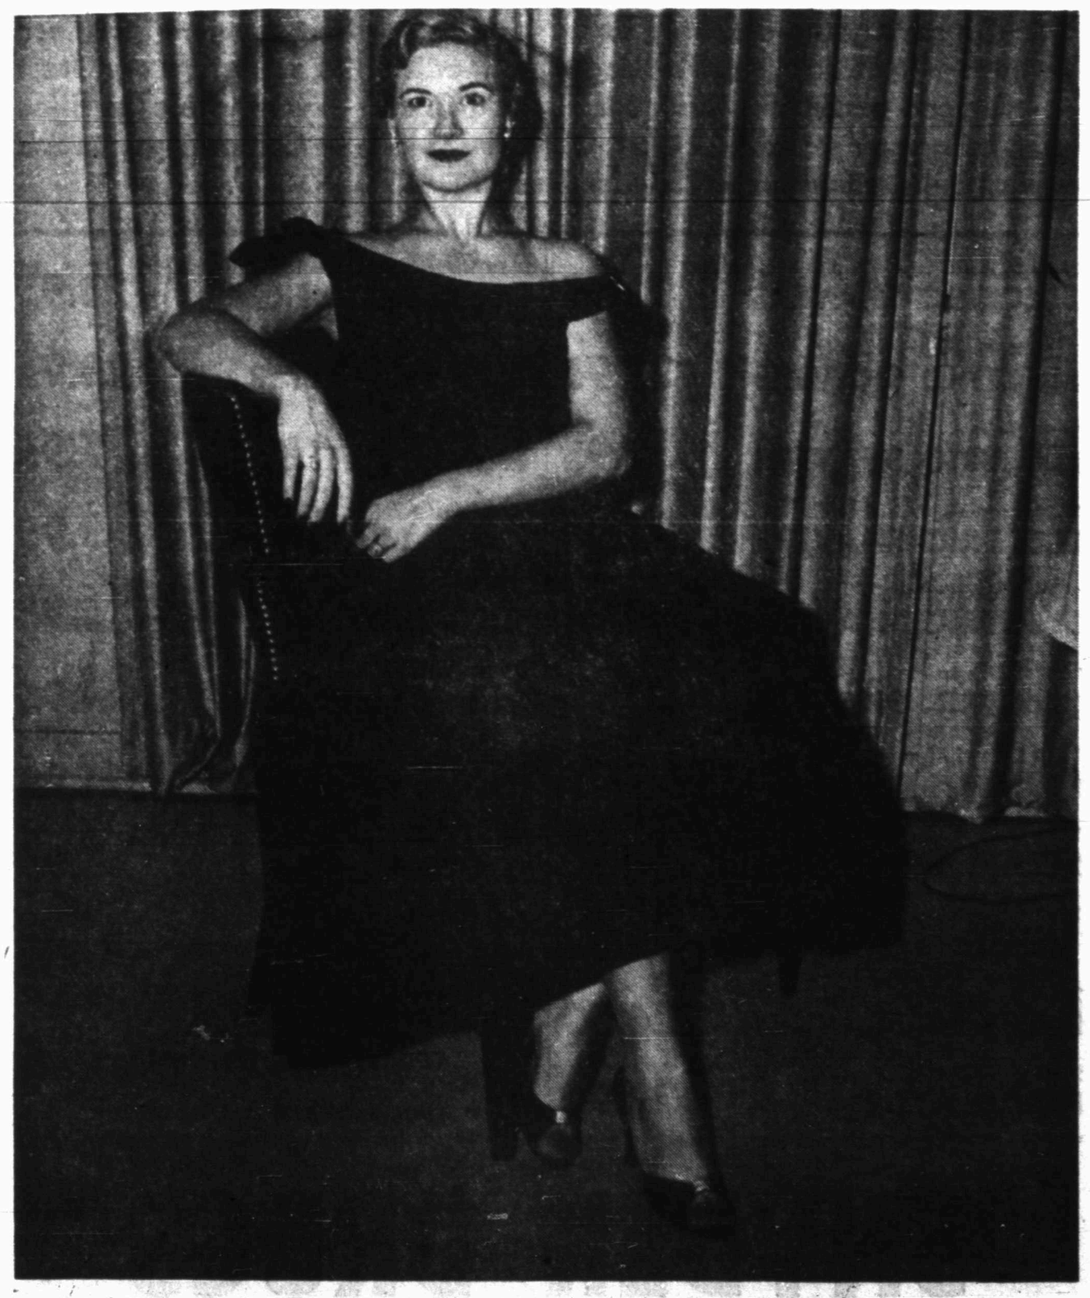

Ideal for the ultra-formal parties ahead for this season is the white formal worn by Mrs. H. H. Reed, 106 Peach Street. The net outer skirt features circular pleats with silver thread around the skirt, and the back of the dress is highlighted by a large white satin bow at the top of the strapless back with the long bow strings down the back of the dress.

DRESSES FOR PARTY SEASON

Mrs. Jim Reed, above, is ready for either informal afternoon parties, or formal night dances in this new party dress. The dress features a black velvet fitted top with light tan skirt with figured design which forms squares. The full skirt bustles over several petticoats.

A ballerina length solid [illegible] party dress is one of the highlights of Mrs. Charles G. McCaleb, Jr.'s party wardrobe for the coming season. Rhinestone clips at the shoulders of the scooped neckline match the rhinestone clips on her black shoes.

Perfectly fitted for the party season which will be in full swing for the next few months is the black silk dress Miss Ruth Ann Womack, 2903 Avenue T, is wearing above. The second grade teacher at East Elementary School is teaching her first year here after coming from Dallas where she taught last year. A red velvet jacket which has a black silk embroidery design makes the dress ideal for day or night wear. (Lee Watson photographs) american designer's pattern

This is a truly great dress by Sylvan Rich of Martini. It's great because it is flattering to any size from 12 to 20. The soft, surplice bodice is a foil for your own brilliant pin; the high-riding midriff, slightly off side to meet the base of the surplice closing is smoothed down into a longer torso; the skirt fullness starts well below the waist. Make this party dress in a brilliant color or black in a luxurious fabric like satin, taffeta, peau de soie, brocade or any of the formal novelty weaves. This pattern is cut to designer measurements not standard pattern measurements.

Do try this unusually delicious dessert with its delightfully flavored pastry and sauce.

ORANGE PEACH DUMPLINGS

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2-3 cup shortening
4 to 5 tablespoons orange juice
6 to 8 well-drained canned cling peach halves

Sift flour and salt. Add orange rind and cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives. Add 1 tablespoon of orange juice at a time, using only enough to make pastry stick together. Roll thin on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth and cut into 6-inch squares. Place a peach, cut side down, on each square. Pinch edges of pastry together to seal over peach. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until pastry is browned, usually about 25 minutes. Serve warm with the following sauce. Stir together 1-3 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar and 1½ tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually stir in 1¼ cups syrup from canned peaches, until smooth. Cook and stir over moderate heat until boiling and clear. Stir in 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ¼ cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

If water rings appear on your dining table here's a treatment you can try. Place a clean thick blotter over the ring and press with a warm (not hot) iron. Repeat until the rings disappear.

Make sure you remove all spots and stains from clothing before putting into hot water, or before ironing, because the heat of the water or the iron will tend to set them.

Feminine Wrap-Around

It's so easy-to-sew and so pretty, with its puffed sleeves, V-neck and oversized patch pocket. Make it in bright cottons and trim with gay braid.

No. 2219 is cut in sies 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46. Size 18: 4⅛ yds. 35-in. ric-rac, 4 yds.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Nov. 28, 1929.)

Challenges that were hurled at both the Rotary and Lions Clubs of Sweetwater Monday and Tuesday of this week have taken effect with the Rotary Club there voting Monday noon to give a banquet to their boys that night. The spirit that has been dormant was awakened to a high pitch and that the Nolan County capitol will operate a special train here goes without argument.

Sweetwater and Snyder both could lose every game of their conference schedule and be satisfied to win over each other. Sweetwater coaches have been scouring the Snyder Tigers for the past two months, and it becomes necessary for Head Coach Lowe there to win this game. Coach Moore of Snyder has likewise been saving up for Sweetwater, and in the Lamesa and Roby games held back on a group of new plays together with their real fighting ability to get at Sweetwater. Football fans will have every comfort at the game, for if a cold blustery win comes up, fires will be started on the side lines. . .

An evening school for adult farmers is being conducted in the Ira community by J. P. Jamison, local vocational teacher in the high school, and W. O. Logan, county agent. There have been two meetings, which were well attended by farmers. Mr. Taylor, superintendent of the Ira schools, is indeed a believer in better farm practices, and he is lending his every effort to make the school a success. Ira community is to be congratulated in having a man of Mr. Taylor's ability to head their school system.

John A. Newstadt, engineer of standing who came to Snyder to recuperate his health following an automobile accident at Houston, has been granted patents on a "Three-In-One" gas stove that will revolutionize heating, cooking and baking in homes and apartments with but a few minor improvements, he says.

Mr. Newstadt, born in Sweden, has been a construction engineer his entire life, having been architect on major building projects in many parts of the United States. During his spare time inventing things has been his habit, and with his newest activity it appears that he has reached the heights. . .

George W. Brown, who lives in the west part of Snyder, and incidentally one of the best carpenters that ever threw a hammer edgeways, dropped into the Times-Signal office Thursday to have us ask for the bootlegger who left several gallons of corn liquor in Mr. Brown's fodder patch. Mr. Brown told us to tell through the paper that whatever bootlegger the "dynamite" belonged to to call at his house for it. Apparently some fellow thought George's corn patch would be handy place to hide his contraband and somebody will go thirsty Thanksgiving, according to Mr. Brown.

Couple Sets Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Wagoner of Wichita Falls are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Ann Wagoner, to Billy Don Burk, son of C. R. Burk, 1212 Twenty-sixth Street. The wedding will be held December 26 in the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Wichita Falls.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Baylor University Hospital School of Medical Technology in Dallas, is employed there as a medical technician. Mr. Burk graduated from Snyder High School in 1948. He received his bachelor of arts degree from McMurry College at Abilene in 1951 and is now a member of the junior class of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

Elizabeth Dabbs, a student at Trinity University, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Dabbs, west Thirty-seventh Street.

Texas Tech students home for the holidays were Mary Fawvor, Billy Bearden, Audralene Head, Betty Richardson, Louise Crook, Ronald Neighbors and Sandra Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Spikes, Alpine, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spikes, 2806 Thirty-seventh Street, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sterling, 2511 Thirtieth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor of Alpine spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor, Fortieth Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Reid Estes, 3001 Thirty-ninth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Bright and sons, 2610 Thirty-sixth Street, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Bright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bright, in Monahans.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Birdwell, 1208 Twenty-eighth Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Alexander and children, D'Anna and Craig, visited Mrs. M. Caton Thursday in Lubbock. They also attended homecoming activities of Lubbock High School that day.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Covey, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Covey, Jr., entertained relatives at a dinner Thursday at the Covey, Sr., home northeast of Snyder. Those attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Carrell and children of Wink, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Patterson, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Patterson, Jr., and daughters of Seminole, Mrs. Dick Cantrell and son of Gail, Frank H. Patterson and Mrs. Joe Caton of Snyder.

Fluvanna 4-H Club Plans Yule Party

Plans for a Christmas party to be held December 14 were made when the Fluvanna 4-H Club met Tuesday. Malinda Cunningham is to be hostess for the party, and each member is to bring a gift which cost not more than 80 cents.

Ruby Butts, home demonstration agent, gave the program on preparation of a main dish with cheese. Fifteen members and a new member, Ella Mae Pullis, were present.

If you're a fortunate owner of a freezer, bear in mind that ice cream bought by the gallon is less expensive than ice cream purchased in separate quart containers.

MRS. MARVIN FOREST SENTELL
. . . married in Bryan church

Miss Head Becomes Bride Of Marvin Sentell In Bryan

The sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Bryan was the setting for the exchange of wedding vows between Sharon Yvonne Head and Marvin Forest Sentell at 6:30 yesterday evening. The double-ring ceremony was read by Dr. William Harvey Andrews, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lola Bills Head of Bryan and James Manley Head of Austin. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sentell, 3101 Avenue X.

A program of pre-nuptial music was given by Mrs. Imogene Nash Robertson, organist. She also accompanied Mrs. Robert W. Butler as she sang "Because," and the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The ceremony was performed before an altar framed by baskets of white chrysanthemums, fern trees, and branched floor candelabra entwined with fern and tiny chrysanthemums. White satin bows with fern and candytuft marked pews reserved for members of the families and close friends.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown designed with a Directoire influence. An arch of imported, handmade French lace re-embroidered with silk braid rose from the molded midriff to a decollete neckline. Tiny, self-covered buttons fastened the back. Long sleeves of lace tapered to form petal points over the hands. Below the bustline, marquise-sculptured petals melted into princess lines from which flowed the bouffant skirt of silk satin with a cathedral train. Her finger-tip-length veil of imported silk illusion fell in tiers from a crown of seed pearls accented by rhinestones. She carried a cascading bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel S. Harbaugh of Houston, sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Mrs. J. Sears Sentell of Sonora, his sister-in-law, Shirley Teague of Lubbock, Nancy Cooper of Midland and Jean Smith of Baytown. They wore identical waltz-length dresses of jade green taffeta designed with diagonally pin-tucked bodices accented by self banding at the neckline, cap sleeve and Empire waistline. Godets gave the skirts fullness. They wore matching bandeaux and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of shell pink carnations.

Lois Harbaugh, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a harmonizing green taffeta dress and carried a miniature basket of pink and white carnations from which she scattered petals. John Mark Harbaugh, nephew, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Sears Sentell of Sonora and Joe Sentell of Austin, his brothers, Daniel Harbaugh of Houston, his brother-in-law, and Lt. Jack Gorman of Killeen. Ushers included Franklin Brownfield of Blackwell, Lt. Gerald Heinzelmann of Fort Hood, and Bill Atkins, Charles Lynch and Robert Winkleman of Austin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Head chose a waltz-length dress of Delft blue peau de soie with Chantilly lace on the bodice and in a wide front skirt panel. Mrs. Sentell wore a waltz-length dress of deep plum pure silk taffeta with a harmonizing sequin hat and gray accessories.

Mrs. Head was hostess for a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ben Daniel following the ceremony. Guests approached by a walkway lighted by hurricane lamps looped with white satin bows, and were greeted by Mrs. Daniel. Assisting Mrs. Head in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. Sentell and the bridal couple, members of the wedding party, and Mrs. Minnie Howard Bills of Hubbard, Tex., maternal grandmother of the bride.

The bride's table was laid with an imported white cutwork linen cloth. It was centered with arrangements of pink carnations in matched crystal bowls encircled with a rope of fern and candytuft around the candle holders. Mrs. Ernest Belcher of Austin served the three-tiered wedding cake, embossed in pale pink and topped with miniature figures of a nuptial couple. Mrs. Pat Newton presided at the crystal punch service. Guests were registered by Mrs. William F. Turner of Austin. Others in the house party were Mrs. Forest Sears of Snyder, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Charles S. Myers, Mrs. Ottie Kelley, Mrs. Imogene Nash Robertson, Mrs. Jack S. Gorman of Killeen, Ann Dansby and Jean McCollough. Mrs. Ammon B. Medlen played background music.

For traveling, the bride wore a Dior blue suit with a white satin hat. Other accessories were white and black. The orchids from her wedding bouquet formed her corsage. Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Austin.

The bride attended Baylor University and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Mr. Sentell is to receive is degree from the University of Texas school of law in June. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity there. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the transportation corps last summer while at Fort Eustis, Va., and will enter the army upon graduation. He attended Texas Technological College before transferring to the University, and was a member of the Wrangler Club there.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception in addition to those mentioned above included Forest Sears of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. David Morris of Brownwood; Mrs. John Razor, Jr., of Crowell; Judge and Mrs. Ernest Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynch, Mrs. Robert Winkleman and Mrs. Margaret Westbrook of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Buster Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Head of Temple; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier, Marilyn and Bud Frazier, of Stephenville; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burnett of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Moore of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardison, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neville, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pless, Mrs. Ray Jarvis and Mrs. Richard L. Manning, of Hubbard.

Club To Sponsor Christmas Bazaar

Leaders in the field of sports were discussed by Mrs. Renal B. Rosson, program leader, at the Cosmorama Club meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Spears, 2212 Thirtieth Street, with Mrs. Lee Smyth, hostess. Mrs. Rosson gave a brief review of the careers of some famous sports figures. Among those mentioned were Sammy Baugh, Doak Walker, Pete Bane, J. C. Carroll, Ben Hogan, Dizzy Dean, Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Willie Mays.

Plans for the Club Women's Christmas Bazaar, which the club is sponsoring, were discussed. All of the federated women's clubs in Snyder are participating in the Bazaar in an effort to raise funds for a woman's clubhouse. It will be held December 6 in the show room of Wade Pipkin Motor Company.

The club also voted to assist two needy persons on Christmas with gifts and food. A Christmas dinner party, honoring their husbands will be held by club members on December 11 at the Country Club.

Refreshments were served to 16 members and two guests, Mrs. John Blum and Mrs. Bob Crowell.

Give a new taste to cornbread—but be sure you use a recipe for the Southern kind of cornbread that is made without sugar. Add lots of minced parsley to the batter, then when you have turned it into the pan, sprinkle the top with grated Parmesan cheese. Use kitchen scissors to cut the parsley fine, or chop it on a board with a cook's knife.

Hobbs School Sets Homecoming Event

HOBBS — The first Homecoming for ex-students of Hobbs schools is to be held December 3 on the high school campus.

A meeting to organize an ex-students association is to begin at 5 p.m., Mrs. Nathan Shepherd, temporary secretary of the association, said. All persons eligible for membership in the organization, both former students and teachers, are urged to attend. A steak supper is to be served at 6 p.m., with tickets on sale at the door at $1 per plate. Persons who plan to attend are asked to make reservations at the school, but reservations will not be required for the purchase of tickets.

Double-Ring Rites Unite Miss Trevey, J. F. Cargile

Double-ring vows read at 8 o'clock last night in the First Baptist Church united in marriage Mary Nell Trevey and Joe Franklin Cargile. The Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Trevey of Snyder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cargile, 3701 Avenue V.

Ralph J. Wesson, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Sally Glover, soloist. Candles were lighted by Ralph Trevey, brother of the bride, and Jimmy Jones of Fort Worth, a cousin of the bridegroom, preceding the ceremony.

The wedding party stood before an arch of rock ivy with bronze chrysanthemums intermingled. Baskets of bronze chrysanthemums decorated the altar, lighted by white tapers in seven-branched candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of angel white slipper satin and Chantilly lace. The basque bodice, cut with a v-neckline, was of lace with long sleeves which came to pixy points over the hands. Self-covered buttons fastened the bodice Queen Ann style in the back. The full skirt of satin was overlaid by pleated tulle and a lace skirt, draped petal style, cascading from hip length in front to a short train in the back. The bridal veil of fingertip length was held by a Juliet cap embroidered in seed pearls and rhinestones, as were the petal scallops of the veil. For the traditional something old, the bride wore her grandmother's wedding ring. Her flowers, gardenias and lilies of the valley, were carried on a white Bible and showered with floor-length streamers of white satin.

Margaret Trevey attended her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Kenneth Crook of Ballinger was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Camille Cloud, Rhelda Reed of Cisco, a cousin of the bride, and Jenny Cargile, twin sister of the bridegroom. They all wore ballerina-length gowns of gold champagne lace and ruffled tulle over hoop skirts of matching taffeta. Their headdresses were bands of ruffled tulle with tiny bronze chrysanthemums, and they carried white lace fans with a single large bronze chrysanthemum.

Ginger Faye Williams, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a frock of white tulle over white taffeta fashioned with a shirred yoke and tiered skirt. Her poke bonnet was of white shirred tulle and was trimmed with tiny yellow roses.

James Homer Little of Henderson was best man. Groomsmen were Kenneth Crook, Miles Davis, R. L. Drum and Joe Devenport.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom knelt on a white satin prayer bench as Miss Cargile sang "Wedding Benediction."

A reception to honor the couple was held in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church. The bride's table was covered with a handmade cutwork cloth, and centered with an arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums ringed by the attendant's fans. The four-tiered cake, topped with a miniature of the bride's bouquet, was served by Sarah Duke of Abilene. Mrs. Denton Lambert presided at the guest register.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride wore a suit of avocado green with angora trim and avocado green accessories. They will be at home in Snyder upon their return from the trip.

The bride, a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Hardin-Simmons University. Mr. Cargile, who was also graduated from Snyder High School, is employed by the West Texas State Bank here.

Toys Abound For Kiddies

From toddler to teen, the younger generation is simply "out of this world" in enjoyment of the science-fiction world of outer space.

Wise gift givers will come down to earth in their selections of gifts with that "interplanetary" feeling.

The atomic age has made its entrance into the children's play world — with "real" geiger counters, "atomic" laboratories, cloud chambers, super jet planes.

Space phones, atomic rocket ships, light-ray guns, flying saucer pistols, magic goggles and space helmets are ready for the 'avant-garde' of the new era.

Of course, every space boy or girl will want a suit such as his favorite hero "Flash Gordon", "Buck Rogers" or "Tom Corbett" wears — complete with official insignia and "secret" equipment.

For the young reader of science-fiction — there are many books available to keep his adventuresome appetite fully satisfied.

So, zoom the kids to supersonic adventures with gifts that lend excitement to their make-believe world.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ashley, route 3, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Margo Ashley, to Donald Ray Haney, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Haney, route 3. The couple was married August 10 in New Mexico. Mrs. Haney has been a student at Snyder High School, while Mr. Haney is attending Abilene Christian College. The couple is to be at home at 865 Orange Street in Abilene.

Gift Ideas On List For Newly-Weds

Are you puzzled as to what to give to the newly-weds on your gift list? Then take a moment and consider that it takes years to properly furnish a home — and lo, there's your answer.

Most couples furnishing their new homes — start, of course, with the "big" essentials that are concerned with food preparation— the clearing for "this" and living areas.

To these, however, must be added the extras that spell that fillip of comfort, beauty and decor.

Gracious lamps, framed pictures, ceramic pieces in smoking sets, vases, bowls and other display pieces, all are grace note of decor that are usually added later. And — all of these are fine, and natural gift items.

Trays, lazy susans, table lighters, nested tables, guest towels, fancy linens — all say "Merry Christmas" to any one just furnishing.

If the inside of the house is well furnished, but the outside needs accessoring — then consider a luminous lampost for the front yard — bearing number of the house or its owner's name.

A smart mailbox is a useful and different gift — as are outdoor furniture pieces that may be enjoyed almost all year 'round.

To make your gift choice truly worthwhile — think of your gift budget, but consider best to whom the gift is going, and their particular needs.

Always space place mats, silverware and glasses — when you are setting a table — as symetrically as possible. Silverware should be placed so that the bottom of each piece is an equal distance from the table edge.

German Baby Finds Home And New Life In America

By ANITA HALL

KENT TIMOTHY SCHUMACHER has had some vivid experiences in his short life. He was born of German parents on July 17, 1953 in Frankfurt, Germany. On November 7 of that year, he was greeted at an airport in Dallas, Texas by his new foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schumacher, now residents of Snyder.

Mrs. Schumacher, a graduate of Abilene Christian College, had a college friend, Kathryn Patton, who was doing missionary work in Germany. They corresponded frequently and Miss Patton planned to visit with the Schumachers when she returned to the States for a lengthy vacation. As time for the visit neared, Mr. Schumacher suggested to his wife that she ask her to investigate the possibilities of securing a German baby for them to adopt. She wrote Miss Patton of their desire, specifying only that the "younger the baby was, the better."

About this time, Kent, who had been christened Frank Friebel, was placed in an orphanage or Youth Home, as it is called in Germany. His parents and three sisters lived in one room and, on their meager income, they felt they could not care for the baby properly, Mrs. Schumacher said.

When Miss Patton visited the home where the child was located, she was shown every baby there but Kent. Directors of the home urged her to take babies who were older but when she finally saw Kent, she wanted him. "Notarized papers flew back and forth across the Atlantic and red tape was being cut on both sides of the ocean," Mrs. Schumacher said. The Fort Worth chapter of Volunteers of America and consul offices on both continents assisted the Schumachers in expediting the movement of all legal documents in order that the baby might return to the States with Miss Patton. The foster parents gave her a power of attorney to act in their behalf in all legal adoption matters. They sent money for his care so that he would be physically well enough to pass an examination by an American doctor in order to obtain a passport. Finally, legalities were completed and Miss Patton and Kent boarded a plane in Frankfurt with a final stop for them in Dallas. "I was fit to be tied, waiting for that plane to come in — the suspense had been terrific," Mrs. Schumacher said.

The family moved here from Fort Worth this month and is living at 1918 Coleman. Mr. Schumacher is manager of Hillside Memorial Gardens. They are members of the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ.

Madolyn Crow, a junior student at Texas Tech, is the only girl in her class majoring in mathematics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crow, Arah route.

Give Copy-Cat Fashions To Mother, Daughter

Do you have young mother and her youth daughter on your Christmas list? Then look for the "copy-cat fashions" that make such a hit with adults and child both.

From robes in junior and senior editions — to lounge-about pajama sets in the abridged and complete versions, there are also any number of cute and capable frocks, sweaters, skirts, rainwear and accessories that are made in "regular and miniature" models.

Picture the pleasure when first "sister", then "mother" unwrap their "copy-kitten" fashions on Christmas morning. Or where there are two or more girls in the family, there can be no jealousy or envy, when "Little miss, miss-in-between," and "junior miss" take a peak at their "look alikes."

Round out your intake of Vitamin C with raw cabbage — serve it in salads at lunch or dinner.

Local Students At Tech Make Honorary Society

Madolyn Crow, a junior student majoring in mathematics at Texas Tech, was initiated into the Alpha Chi fraternity at a banquet honoring new members held November 22 at the Caprock Hotel in Lubbock. Members of Alpha Chi, a national honorary scholastic fraternity, are chosen from junior, senior and graduate students having exceptional grade point averages.

Ellis Huddleston, a junior agriculture major, was also initiated into the fraternity. The Alpha Alpha chapter at Tech selected 40 juniors from a class of 1,064 students to become members.

Miss Crow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crow, Arah route, and Mr. Huddleston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Huddleston of Knapp.

Man Will Welcome Leisure Tog Gifts

This year, when planning Dad's Christmas gift, why not by-pass the old stand-bys and give him something he'll enjoy for a long time? A gift of co-ordinated casual wear is sure to heighten his enjoyment of his leisure.

It's important for men to get out of their business clothes when they come home and into "Leisure-loving" comfortable clothes, psychologists say. It puts them into a relaxed frame of mind. A gift of leisure clothes will improve his disposition and help make life pleasant for him and the family.

Let the first item for consideration be a smart-wool-tweed sports coat. The price tag may be steep for one member of the family, but it's within easy reach when the cost is shared.

Soft wool sports coats are the ideal garb for leisure activity and, most men show a strong preference for these regular weigh jackets for year-'round wear'.

The newest colors are darker and richer than in former years. Brown-with-black is a highly-favored new color combination shown in small patterns of overall diamonds, narrow diagonal stripes and fine-line herringbones.

Solid black is used in soft lamb's wool, wool shetland and luxurious cashmere sports jackets which would make a good choice for a gift that will also be suitable for dressy wear.'

Dark royal blue and medium gray, both used with black in typical tweed patterns such as the hound's tooth check are other handsome new color combinations.

Charcoal-gray worsted wool flannel trousers are the right complement for the sports coat. Worsted wool has greater wrinkle resistance and longer life, but plain wool trousers in the same dark gray shade are acceptable if the budget won't stretch.

Most stores will tailor the trouser cuffs after the holidays if they are told the trousers are a gift.

A gift of coordinated leisure also allows junior members of the family to present "smaller" gifts. A leisure shirt of springy, exceptionally comfortable worsted jersey, wool flannel or sheer worsted wool is a good choice.

The touch of color of a bright wool flannel vest makes it a good additional gift item. Choose the pattern to suit the man. If he is conservative, a solid color flannel in a cheerful yellow, scarlet or olive green is a good bet. If he's youthful-minded, a multi-colored tattersall check is smart, and many of the newest of these have a dull black background.

Note to weight-watchers: an 8-ounce glass of milk, made with non-fat dry milk solids, has only 82 calories. That is less than half the calories in a glass of whole fresh milk.

Ike Asks Cabinet Members To Study Narcotics Problem

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked a special committee of five Cabinet members to make a "comprehensive up-to-date survey" aimed at stamping out the scourge of narcotics addiction.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said the survey might lead to new anti-narcotics legislation in the regular session of Congress starting in January.

Hagerty said the government is especially concerned about illegal traffic and use of opium.

Eisenhower, vacationing during the long Thanksgiving weekend at the little White House here, sent identical letters on the narcotics problem to Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Attorney General Brownell, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of Welfare Hobby.

'Baby Sitters Need Patience' - - Dennis

BABY SITTER'S GUIDE BY DENNIS THE MENACE, Hank Ketcham and Bob Harmon. 50 pages. Henry Holt and Company, Inc. $1.50.

Dennis the Menace has evoked chuckles from cartoon and comic strip readers since he was introduced by Henry Ketcham in 1951. Now that Dennis is five, he has written a book entitled "Baby Sitter's Guide." If you are a parent, grandparent, or just a bystander and part-time baby sitter, there's meat in the book for you.

"The first thing a baby sitter needs most of all is the patience of Job — whoever he is," Dennis reveals. "Kids like people with lots of patience. Most people don't have any. Or very little. Especially neighbors. And especially my neighbors. Grandparents have more patience than anybody else. Except mothers."

The only real reason big people can boss kids around is that they are stronger, he continues, so baby sitters need to be real strong. Good diet and rest are among his recommendations. "Don't worry about exercise," he concludes. "You'll get plenty."

In following chapters, Dennis deals with Things You Should Ask Parents, Sitting with Real Babies, Making the Kid Mind You, Pets, Self Defense, Kinds of Kids, and Things to Watch Out For. In a philosophical vein, he has a few words to say about Baby Sitters I Have Known. His last bit of advice is directed to parents. "They come in pairs, like shoes," he has observed. "The father parent is bigger, but this don't seem to do him any good. The mother parent runs things, . ."

Readers who have found some true-to-life situations in the comic and cartoon adventures of Dennis will recognize the same blend of humor and fact in this book. Light reading, illustrated with cartoons, it would make a novel gift for those closely associated with some Dennis-type youth.

Gardener Messes Up Garden Party

KABUL, Afghanistan, Nov. 27 (AP) — U.N. technical assistance officials muffed just one detail in planning a garden party, complete with newly dug barbecue pit and rich Afghan carpets covering the lawn.

They forgot to tell their gardner.

It was his regular day for watering. Without inspecting the garden, he turned in a stream from the irrigation canal as usual.

Officials checking things just before the guests showed up were dismayed to find the pit flooded and the carpets floating in several inches of water.

But meeting crises is a part of their job. So they kept chins up and threw the party in a side yard the water hadn't reached.

DeSapio Due Big Role At Demo Convention

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Carmine Gerard DeSapio is the tall, well-tailored chieftain of Tammany Hall who grew up believing that any man could be postmaster general of the United States.

As matters stand at the moment, the dream of a boy from Manhattan's West Side may come true after the presidential election two years hence.

But DeSapio today believes the traditional politicking role of the postmaster general's job isn't what it used to be. And he indicates that he's much more interested in becoming chairman of the Democratic National Committee—later on.

Right now DeSapio is the new wonder boy of Democratic politics; the man who, in five years, revitalized a moribund Tammany Hall. He is credited, in the last two elections, with a key role in putting a Democratic mayor in New York's City Hall and a Democratic governor in the state's executive mansion.

The gubernatorial victory is by far the most dramatic of the two for in backing Averell Harriman for the nomination. DeSapio bucked stiff opposition from upstate supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

As the lineal, though not the spiritual, descendant of a succession of Tammany leaders, DeSapio has tightened his control. He has presided over a Tammany housecleaning, firmly closed its door on mob influence and put an end to bitter intra organization battles.

DeSapio is, physically and mentally, the antithesis of the traditional cartoon-portrait of the old-time political boss, a term he detests. More than 6 feet tall, in fine physical health and without a suggestion of a paunch, DeSapio has almost an actor's handsomeness. He's 46 years old, a confirmed tea—and sometimes a scotch—drinker and the last place in the world he would go is a smoke-filled room.

Iritis—a painful eye condition—has plagued him most of his adult life. Even daylight is frequently irritating. Cigar and cigarette smoke is almost unbrearable.

In spite of this problem, DeSapio routinely works at politics an average of 18 hours a day.

When Bronx leader Ed Flynn died last year, DeSapio was the logical successor for his job as New York State committeeman on the Democratic National Committee.

None of these jobs pay DeSapio a salary, just expenses. His salary, $12,000 a year, comes from his appointive city job, Democratic member of the Board of Elections, a post he bucked for and got in 1946 because of its strategic location politically.

Power and an inherent liking for his job—rather than money—seem to be DeSapio's driving forces at the moment.

Much of his important work is done at home. With his attractive wife, Theresa, and their 17-year-old daughter, Geraldine, he occupies a pleasant four-room apartment at 37 Washington Square.

Mrs. DeSapio does her own housework and shopping and she is active in charitable and political work in the neighborhood.

DeSapio hasn't taken a real vacation in years, although the family sometimes rents a seashore cottage on Long Island for the summer. He enjoys swimming and sun-bathing. Year-round he travels the creamed-chicken-and-pea banquet circuit at night and his noon meal usually is a tray at his desk.

The day starts early as organization people, from big wheels to minor partisans, start gathering in the foyer of his apartment at 8 a.m. Somehow, DeSapio finds time to see everyone.

He is an early riser, and a religious man.

There are crucifixes and religious pictures on the walls of every room in his apartment. As soon as he arises in the morning, DeSapio walks directly to his bureau on which stands a plaster sculpture of St. Lucy, a Roman Catholic saint particularly concerned with sight.

Before he picked Robert F. Wagner last year as the regular party nominee for mayor against insurgent Vincent Impellitteri who had defeated Tammany-sponsored Ferdinand Pecora the previous elections DeSapio hired three mail-order houses to take an opinion poll of 41,000 city Democrats. Wagner won the voters' poll; DeSapio backed him. Wagner won the election.

When battling got rough for the recent gubernatorial nomination, DeSapio ordered a post-card poll of five per cent of the state's enrolled Democrats, giving them 12 names to choose from. When it was over, DeSapio reported the choice was Averell Harriman, followed by Wagner and Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr. He stuck with Harriman through the fierce convention battle with Roosevelt's forces. In the election Harriman squeaked through victor; FDR Jr. lost to his Republican opponent for state attorney general.

Although Harriman's victory was hardly a smashing victory, the legend of DeSapio magic is so strong that Roosevelt's defeat is, correctly or not, pointed to as an example of the Tammy chieftain's skill.

Franklin Roosevelt bucked Tammany successfully to win his Congress seat. He was supported by a leader, Bob Blaikie, an earnest insurgent who wanted to unseat DeSapio from Tammany leadership. Roosevelt's defeat, the second-guessers, maintain, had the effect of tightening DeSapio's discipline, vindicating his judgment of candidates, and smashing anti-Tammany elements within the party locally.

"That's nonsense," says DeSapio. "It's silly for anyone to say seriously I ever wanted any Democratic candidate to lose. My job is to work with people inside my county and outside of it so that Democratic candidates win."

DeSapio's Tammany is working its way back to a position similar, yet completely different from the one it held in the old days. Then its great strength grew from the personal attentions it lavished on the masses. They received their 'holiday' food baskets or a supply of coal. All that was wanted in exchange was a vote, and it was given gratefully.

Today Tammany again is engaged in serving people in exchange for votes.

DeSapio, for example, is shrewdly interested in getting more and more representation of minority groups into Tammany. There is an important Italian-American wing building. Tammany has sponsored Negroes for judgeships, and elected a Negro borough president. In DeSapio's time, a Puerto Rican became a district leader; a Chinese went onto the attorney general's staff.

"But to say that the Irish-American influence, is dead is wrong," DeSapio says. "I think if you look at the names, you'll find that about 80 per cent of them are still Irish."

Santa Claus Has A Lot Of Yule Helpers

The jolly rotund Santa Claus we know in this country has many counterparts and helpers around the world.

In other lands, his good deeds and wonderful spirit are represented and performed by other symbols — and on days other than Christmas.

The "Julenissen" — a gay little elf — takes over Santa's duties in Norway — and, kiddies cater to him by placing a bowl of pudding for him to enjoy in the hayloft, on the eve of Christmas.

In Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland, France and Greece, Saint Nicholas rides o'er the housetops on his bright, white steed — leaving gifts and candies for the little children. St. Nicholas, who is the patron saint of children, performs these happy duties on December 5th.

In Italy, "La Befana", visits the kiddies on January 5th, the Eve of Epiphany. Legend says he seeks the Babe of Bethlehem.

Children in Spain fill their shoes with straw for the horses of the Three Wise Men — who visit them on January 5th, also. For their thoughtfulness, they find their shoes in turn, filled with gifts.

It is the Christ Child Himself, who visits the children in Germany and Switerland on Christmas Eve. The Germans say He goes afoot, the Swiss say He rides in a reindeer drawn seligh.

Unpredictable Winnie Near 80th Birthday

(Editor's Note—No man alive has played a more active part in the history of our times than Winston Churchill. Still he gives no hint of planning to retire. In fact, Britain's grand old man, after almost [illegible] years in public life, has some big plans for the future. Here's an up-to-date portrait of a man who has won most of the world's great honors on the eve of his 80th birthday.)

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Winston Churchill approaches his 80th birthday next Tuesday restless, impish and unpredictable as ever.

Age has dealt gently with The Old Man and if he has any immediate intention of retiring as Britain's Prime Minister, he has not confided it to his closest political associates.

He enjoys keeping them guessing.

Lady Churchill, his doctor and a few intimate cronies have tried to slow him down where the passing years have failed.

They have a difficult patient.

He shuffles when he walks—but then he always did; he slouches and growls a lot—but then he always has; he is stubborn—but he always was.

Britons are chuckling over this story going the rounds:

A group of conservative friends hinted diplomatically to The Old Man that perhaps he should take it easier and give Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden his chance now to succeed him as Prime Minister.

Churchill listened patiently and then grumbled with a twinkle in his eyes:

"Maybe you are right. After all Anthony can't live forever."

Eden is 57.

Churchill can still hold his own in the daily skirmishing in the House of Commons.

Slightly deaf, he wears a hearing aid that he can turn off when he wants to—and often does.

And sometimes The Old Man is inclined to wander in debate. But he's still quick on the comeback when the occasion demands it.

Growing old is something Churchill has always treated lightly. He once quipped, "I am ready to meet my maker. Whether my maker is prepared for the great ordeal of meeting me is another matter."

Agitation for Churchill to retire because of his age can be heard in Britain — but heard openly only from opposition Laborite quarters.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, in a public opinion poll of all parties, found 51 per cent of the people want him to stay as Prime Minister, 43 per cent think he is too old and 6 per cent are undecided.

Over and again he has said the "last prize" he seeks is lasting world peace. As an elder world statesman — a role he loves — Churchill is determined to make another dramatic attempt to secure it.

Uppermost in his mind, according to friends, is the idea for a blunt talking, face-to-face meeting with Soviet Premier Malenkov when the time is ripe.

A year ago a shock left him partially paralyzed but he shows no after effects and is as active as before. He gave up his usual vacation this summer and took over additional duties of running the Foreign Office when Eden was abroad on diplomatic missions.

Age has increased Churchill's reliance on his beautiful wife, Clementine. They recently celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary and whenever possible she is by his side at all official functions.

Sir Winston likes comfort and good living in the Victorian style.

Especially he prides himself as a connoisseur of good food and drink. Champagne is regular with meals; brandy afterwards.

Churchill has said, "I have been brought up and trained to have the utmost contempt for people who get drunk."

His own capacity is legendary—and he jokes about it.

At his desk, he often has a scotch and soda — American style with ice—by his elbow to sip.

Churchill is happiest at Chartwell, his country home in Kent where he has had his bedroom arranged for use as an office.

Normally a late riser, he usually does a couple hours paper work in bed. A true son of the Victorian era, he still prefers a night gown to pajamas. A nap after lunch is a ritual.

Every weekend, and any other time possible, he slips away to Chartwell—away from 10 Downing Street—to live the life of a typical English country gentleman.

A faithful companion everywhere the Prime Minister goes is Rufus, his pet poodle.

Some of Churchill's nine grandchildren usually are playing around the grounds when grandpa is at Chartwell.

While in the past year Churchill is inclined to spend more of his leisure time surrounded by his family, he still enjoys small, intimate dinner parties with old friends with whom he can reminisce far into the night and early morning. Frequent weekend guests are those colleagues of the days of World War II.

No longer able to engage in the more vigorous hobbies of his younger days — polo, bricklaying and chopping down trees—Churchill has turned more to paint for relaxation. And he prides himself as a painter.

Of course, Churchill is always busy writing. Writing, however, has been more than a hobby with Churchill. His facile pen has been one of the chief sources of his income from the time when, as a young man, he paid his own way in the Boer War by becoming a soldier-war correspondent.

He was awarded the Nobel prize for literature last year.

Retirement by the fire side would never fit the Churchill temperament. During the recent visit of Japanese Premier Yoshida he confided an urge to travel more.

Young Couple Stopped Here

A boy and his sweetheart, both 17 and runaways from Jefferson Town, Ky., forfeited the balance of their trip to California when they were stopped by highway patrolmen here Friday.

E. W. (Red) Green and Bill Zimmerman, patrolmen, said they stopped the couple for speeding Friday afternoon, then telephoned the boy's father who was quoted as saying, "Hold him there, and I'll send an officer after him."

Both were placed in the county jail. Green said it was learned that the parents of both were seeking them although no alarm had been given to Texas officers.

The two said they were going to California and that they had to stop once in Alabama, where the boy worked as a grocery clerk long enough to earn $5. They had $12 with them when stopped here.

Green said he stopped the car after clocking it at 70 miles an hour near Snyder.

Cub Pack 35 Plans Christmas Party

Plans were made for a Cub Scout Pack 35 Christmas party in the troop's meeting last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grimmett, 1311 Avenue R.

The Cubs in the pack plan to repair toys for underpriveledged children for Christmas.

Next meeting of the pack will be the night of Dec. 14 at the North Elementary School cafeteria at 7 o'clock.

ATTEND HOMECOMING

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Tibbets of Snyder, second and third from the right, students at Wayland College in Plainview more than 40 years ago, were among those present for the college homecoming recently. Pictured with them are, left to right, Raymond Jones of Tulia, president of the Association of Former Students, E. H. Childress, Sr., of Stamford, first graduate of the college, President A. Hope Owen, and Carl L. Hale of Tulia. Childress was the first graduate and only member of the class of 1911 when Wayland was a junior college.

Detailed Platform Outlined By Dr. Wasson, Senate Candidate

Dr. Robert F. Wasson, lone Snyder candidate to be listed on the ballot in the Dec. 11 special election to name a state senator for the 24th district, has released a detailed platform.

Dr. Wasson, a well known Snyder physician, is one of seven candidates in the race. The candidate receiving the most votes on Dec. 11 will succeed the late Harley Sadler in the state senate.

Dr. Wasson's platform follows:

"I am thirty-six years old. After my discharge following more than five years Army service and after completing my medical studies and training I returned to this district and have since practiced medicine and surgery in Snyder. I am married and have two children, a boy nine and a girl three years old.

"I represent no special group. I am a citizen like the others in this race. As such I am interested in the civil affairs of our district and our people as well as their physical ails and bodily pains. I am offering myself as a candidate for the state senate because I think a well rounded democracy should have representatives of all walks of life in its legislature. Not in many years has there been a medical doctor or surgeon in the state senate, yet each year the state spends millions of dollars of tax money for public health and sanitation projects and upon our state hospitals.

"A big portion of all of the expense of our state government is now borne by taxes upon our virgin natural resources which God has seen fit to provide for use here in Texas. When these natural resources are depleted as they surely will be: First, a greater portion and then all of the cost of state government will have to be borne by our farms and ranches and the industries we hope to have by then. With the threat of drought and unstable prices our agriculture, farming and ranching cannot assume the big end of the current expense of state government and still carry on the necessary building and expansion program in our state institutions which the growing population will require. The only solutions to this is that while we have taxes from natural resources every dollar spent be required to net it's full value to the state. It is generally believed that full value is not now realized to the state for each tax dollar spent. As your senator, I shall study carefully each building plan and insist on full value for every dollar spent so that we may have as much of our building program behind us as possible before our natural resources become depleted.

"The Big Spring State Hospital for the insane and mentally ill is less than forty miles from many people living near my office, yet my patients are required to go about one hundred and fifty miles to another state hospital. This is an additional unnecessary expense to the county as well as the patient and his family. As your senator I shall insist upon an appropriation for the Big Spring State Hospital large enough that it can adequately serve the patients from all the adjoining counties to Howard and this area. I shall study carefully the districting for the hospitals and insist that for the convenience of the patients and their families that the patient be committed to the hospital closer to his home. I shall work to the end that more money be spent for equipment where needed and less on decorative granite. I shall work for better research staffs in our hospitals so that our state hospitals may become institutions for cure and not merely for incarceration. I shall attempt to guide the cancer research programs which may be entered into by the state. There is not an adequate state hospital or school in Texas for the feeble minded. I shall strongly support the movement already well under way to establish a school to train mentally retarded children and help them grow into useful citizens. As your senator I shall favor the complete re-organization of the Abilene State Hospitals for epileptics, to give it additional research staff and equipment and to make it also a reception center for mentally retarded children who are in need for treatment.

"I shall favor no law that will hamper in any way the development of oil, gas and other minerals or will place any undue burden on the land owner or the developer in this district.

"As your senator I shall not favor a tax for road purposes on gasoline used in the fields. Our farmers in this district already have all they can do to combat drought and other hazards without placing on them an additional burden. The amount of money that this tax would bring to the state would be negligible to the state but would be a big burden on the farmer.

"I am for private enterprize first, last and always. I am no more for socialized medicine than I would be for socialized farming and I do not favor either.

DR. ROBERT F. WASSON

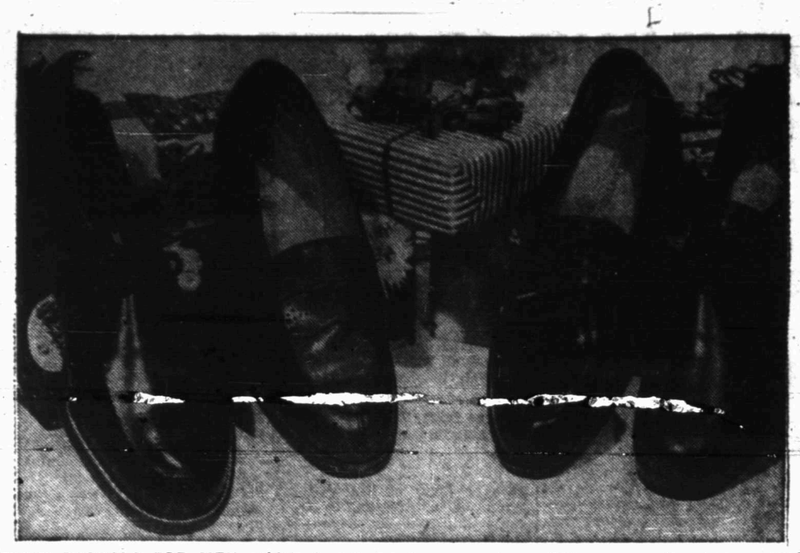

"I feel that the present workmen's compensation law is inadequate and I am open minded to suggested conservative changes but I shall favor no law that will take away the working man's constitutional right of trial by jury.

"I shall represent the people of this district and their general welfare above and beyond any special or minority group including my own profession.

"It has recently been called to the attention of all of us that our insurance loans are inadequate to protect the insured. Advertising is in many instances misleading and the assets and reserves of many insurance companies are not sufficient. As your senator I shall insist on legislation to correct these deficiencies.

"Until the time that the pensions of the old aged, needy and blind shall be superceded by the social security program I shall favor liberal payments in line with the increased cost of living.

"Although we do not have as much underground water for irrigation in this district as many of our neighboring districts, I realize a need for water conservation. I believe that control of soil erosion and other soil conservation measures is the best manner of water conservation in our district, but I shall study all underground and surface water laws to be submitted, and there will be many, to see that they are favorable to our district."

Reds Insure Return Of Their Men

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Frogmen sent out by the Chinese Reds to spy on the Nationalists are forced to swallow delayed action poison pills as a fatal warning not to desert, the Nationalist Defense Ministry claimed today.

The Ministry said the pills prove fatal unless certain secret antidotes, available only if the underwater agents return to their base, are administered within 24 hours.

A frogman captured on the offshore island of Matsu on Nov. 19 gave the Nationalists this information, the Ministry claimed.

The prisoner said he would die unless he returned to his base and took the antidotes awaiting him. And sure enough, the Ministry said, he died 24 hours after setting out on his mission.

The Ministry termed the alleged practice a "shocking, unspeakable, unthinkable atrocity."

The Communists use frogmen for sneak visits to offshore islands where they try to kidnap Nationalist soldiers for intelligence-gathering purposes.

Hot Note Is Sent Reds About Prisoners

LONDON (AP)—A U.S. note vigorously protesting imprisonment of 13 Americans in Communist China has been delivered to the Chinese Foreign Ministry in Peiping, the British Foreign Office said today.

The note was handed over by Humphrey Trevelyan, British charge d'affaires in Peiping. The United States has no diplomatic representative in the Chinese capital. The note was received here last night from Washington and immediately relayed to Trevelyan.

Turkeys And Geese Favorites On Table

What is the Holiday without the Feast? And what is the Christmas dinner without the turkey? At least, that is the way we feel about it here in America. But in other lands other tempting dishes provide the piece de resistance for the festive occasion.

Even in the United States the goose is gaining in popularity, a custom borrowed largely from the Scandinavian countries, where an impressive list of meats and fish are served during the Christmas season.

In Sweden the Smorgasbord is centered with the roast suckling pig, lavishly decorated with such colorful fruits as spiced oranges, apples and plums.

The goose finds favor in France and Ireland, with the stuffings and sauces revealing the tastes of each land. German celebrants look with favor upon apple stuffings, and in the Netherlands the seasoning defines the cook. Across Western Europe many weeks of preparation are given to the accompanying puddings, fruit cakes, honey cakes and dessert breads.

Roast beef brings delight to the eyes of the English, while the Latin countries regard lamb con mucho gusto. Cuba garnishes the gala board with roast pig, and in Portugal it's fish and fowl.

But here in America, King Turkey rules the feast, and since it's all a matter of tradition, we like it that way.

And when could be a better time than Christmas to get just what we like.

No More Recreation

HONG KONG, Nov. 27 (AP) — Chinese just in from Shanghai report the Communists have shut down about 40 amusement centers, skating rinks and cabarets. The Reds termed these places rendezvous for "spies, unlawful merchants, spreaders of dangerous rumors, counter-revolutionists and saboteurs."
