Enterprise zone plan may draw business

Tax breaks would go to those locating there

Sales and use tax breaks will go to businesses that locate in south Pampa if plans to create an enterprise zone there materialize.

The City of Pampa and the Pampa Economic Development Corporation are working to get the designation which must meet size and "distress criteria."

The idea behind an enterprise zone is to bring businesses into areas that are harder hit economically. In return, the businesses get economic breaks.

"The enterprise zone is important because it provides us with another incentive to use when marketing our community, particularly the industrial park," Lew Mollenkamp, PEDC executive director, said. "Also, it is important because it can provide extra incentives for businesses to locate in areas of the community where an extra incentive is needed."

Among the incentives the state offers businesses are rebates of state sales and use taxes paid for machinery, equipment, building materials, labor for renovating existing buildings, and on electricity and natural gas used in the enterprise zone. Zone businesses also can get preferential treatment in some state programs.

Mollenkamp said Pampa had an enterprise zone in the past but the designation had expired. The PEDC and the city are looking at the exact areas that might be designated under state guidelines. The areas that are being considered now are the, as yet undeveloped, industrial park just east of the city limits, and areas south of Highway 60 in Pampa.

Mollenkamp said residents living inside an enterprise zone would benefit by having businesses and services available but probably don't exist there now. It could also increase the value of some of the real estate.

The next step for the PEDC is to decide exactly where the zones will be located and make application. A city can have up to three.

Busy PEDC gets more money

Because the Pampa Economic Development Commission is having a better than anticipated year when it comes to prospecting for new business, the city commission this week granted a $52,425 budget amendment.

"When we did planning for the budget we didn't know we'd be this lucky," PEDC executive director Lew Mollenkamp told commissioners Tuesday.

Though not previously budgeted, the $52,425 is on hand in city coffers as part of the approximately $700,000 the PEDC half-cent tax generates yearly," said John Horst, city finance director.

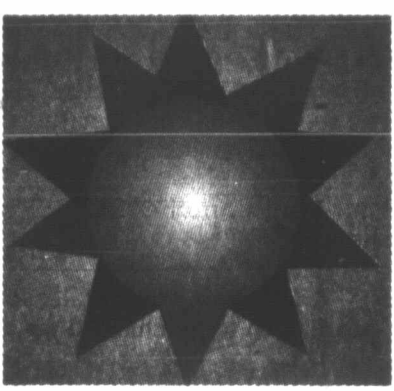

One area of increased spending is travel,

Mollenkamp said, telling commissioners, "We have come extremely close" on some projects.

"We are having a lot of interest related to dairies," he said, now that one dairy has committed to coming to Pampa.

Looking over the requests by category, Commissioner Jeff Andrews said, "All of these are prospect related — legal, supplies and travel. If the PEDC didn't have prospects they wouldn't be coming to us."

Mayor Bob Neslage said, "The PEDC has been aggressive, energetic and relentless in pursuing industry. We will lose some, but if you don't try you'll never win."

PAMPA— Today is the last day to buy raffle tickets for one of two Beanie Baby "Princess" Bears. Tickets are $1 each and all proceeds will go to the Make-A-Wish Foundation of the Texas Plains. To purchase tickets call Cottage Collection at (806) 665-4396.

PAMPA — Sausage, eggs and pancakes are on the menu for St. Mark's monthly breakfast Saturday.

The breakfast, hosted the first Saturday of each month, is served for free, although donations are accepted.

The meal will be served from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. at St. Mark CME Church, 406 Elm.

PAMPA — The Pampa Shrine Club will host its annual Bar-B-Que Sunday, May 3, from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the Top O' Texas Sportsman Club on South Barnes. Proceeds go to pay for treatment for crippled children.

Two tickets correctly matched all six numbers drawn Wednesday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said.

The tickets together were worth an estimated $17 million.

The tickets were sold in Rosenberg and San Antonio.

The numbers drawn from a field of 50 were 3, 4, 7, 40, 44 and 50.

Saturday night's drawing will be worth an estimated $4 million.

- James Russell McKinley, 65, veteran of 35 years of law enforcement service.
- Minnie Pauline Orr, 74, retired waitress.

PHS band booster carnival returning

Carnival thrills and chills will be back again as the city commission gave the go-ahead for the PHS Band Booster-sponsored event.

Ed Burlingame's "Pride of Texas Shows" organization will return June 10-15. They'll set up on the parking lot of the M.K. Brown Civic Auditorium.

The carnival will close at 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and will run until midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Once again, commissioners agreed to waive the permit fee for the band which last year gave a donation to the auditorium.

"During the carnival, there will be no activities planned for the auditorium and a city spokesman said the down time will be used for extra maintenance and painting in the building.

The band boosters is an unincorporated association of parents and interested persons who help promote projects, trips and other programs to aid and assist in the development and promotion of the Pampa High School Band.

Commissioners discussed complaints from last year from nearby apartment dwellers who said the all-night running of generators bothered them.

To reduce the noise, commissioners are considering asking that generators be re-positioned.

Deborah R. Johnson, 31, Borger, was taken to Golden Plains Hospital in Borger yesterday afternoon after her 1994 Cutlass collided with a 1988 Chevy pickup driven by Sandy Dawn Mann, 26, 1818 Chestnut, at Kentucky and Perry. No one in the pickup reported injuries.

IBP recalls 282,000 lbs. of beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of the 282,000 pounds of ground beef recalled by the nation's biggest processor for fear of E. coli bacteria contamination probably has already been eaten, federal officials say.

No illnesses have been reported.

Texas did not receive any of the tainted beef, said Doug McBride, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Health, quoting an official at the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A single 20-pound package of tainted meat was discovered during routine tests by the Agriculture Department at the IBP Inc. plant in Joslin, Ill., April 14. The recall represents the day's entire production at the plant.

The coarsely ground meat was intended for institutional use; it typically is processed further by grocers and restaurants, so there are no product codes for consumers to check.

Officials know for certain that the beef was shipped to these states: Iowa, Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, Louisiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, Georgia, Arkansas, Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio, Kentucky, Florida, Indiana, West Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama and Pennsylvania.

In addition, one military shipment of 215 cases destined for Europe is being retrieved.

"There is no indication that any other product produced on this day would test positive for this bacteria," the IBP statement said. "However, in an abundance of caution, IBP is conducting this voluntary recall."

In fact, USDA officials say it is likely that because the beef was fresh and produced more than two weeks ago, much of it could have already been consumed.

Pampa High School is presenting "Tricky Dick" a mockery of Shakespeare's Richard III. The play, which runs May 3-4 at 7 p.m. at the high school, has 40 people in the cast including Sadina Rider (left), Jeremy Halaevi and Rebecca Gaddis.

Texans to vote Saturday

With various elections being held statewide Saturday, some of those drawing the most interest are:

- Corpus Christi voters replacing Hugo Berlanga in state House.
- Lubbock's mayoral race.
- Dallas' $246 million bond election to build levees, a toll road, a lake, nature and bike trails and a nature preserve around the Trinity River.

—Austin's $65 million bond election to create a 15,000-acre buffer of undeveloped land over the Edwards Aquifer to the city's southwest.

—An 18-year-old college freshman running for the school board in Abilene.

Odds and ends...

ATLANTA (AP) — Jonathan Thompson, Dion Hughes and Darthy Brown have had plenty of ups and downs over the past seven weeks. They're ready for more.

The three have spent about 14 hours a day riding a roller coaster at Six Flags Over Georgia in hopes of winning a new Jeep. The contest started March 13 with 24 riders.

"We have one Jeep and three determined people," said John Bement, the president of the amusement park, which teamed with radio station WKLS and Atlanta Area Jeep Dealers to stage the contest.

The promotion promised a Jeep Wrangler worth $16,000 to the person who could ride the roller coaster the longest. Second and third place prizes are season passes to Six Flags.

"It should have been a Cadillac. We're all going to need one," said Thompson, a 21-year-old technician.

Ms. Brown, 20, is a data entry operator, and Hughes, 29, is a customer service worker. All three are on leaves of absence from their jobs.

They have already broken the U.S. record of 11 days and the world record of 23 consecutive days of riding a roller coaster.

They have turned down the radio station's offers of $1,000 each to stop. They ride from 8 a.m. until 1 a.m. each day, with breaks for lunch, dinner and a five-minute break each hour.

They must sleep on sleeping bags on the platform next to the coaster. They can't carry books or radios to relieve their boredom on the ride. They are not allowed to take aspirin to relieve the aches and pains of being knocked around on the coaster.

The three, who ride together in the last car, say they can now doze during the ride. They look forward to May 11, when the park opens daily instead of just weekends.

"You're in isolation," Thompson said. "But where else can you get up and ride a roller coaster every day?"

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The first time Charles

Campbell gave blood, it saved his mother's life. Since then, countless strangers have been helped by his regular donations. Now he may be the latest beneficiary.

Campbell had a heart attack in January. Doctors told him that his frequent blood donations over the past 40 years caused his blood to become thin enough to leak through his dangerously clogged arteries and save him.

"They can't prove it without more studies, but I'm sure that's what pulled me through," Campbell told The Dallas Morning News.

Campbell, owner of a thrift store, has made a speedy recovery and has resumed his prompt bimonthly donation schedule at Carter BloodCare in Dallas, where he's given 152 pints — 19 gallons — of blood since moving here 31 years ago.

Campbell first gave blood to transfuse his adoptive mother, who needed emergency surgery. The operation saved her life. In 1972, he donated to help his 3-year-old son, Charles II, through surgery for a heart defect.

Giving blood doesn't hurt, Campbell said: "I've hurt myself worse shaving."

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — State Rep. David Gleason would like nothing more than to be chalked up as a loser this June.

The Claire City Democrat filed a petition to seek re-election, but later decided not to run. He did what he could to get out of it, but it was too late: his name will be on the June 2 primary ballot.

"Usually you go on the radio telling people, 'Vote for me,'" Gleason said this week. "I'll be telling people, 'Don't vote for me.'"

Gleason said he has enjoyed his eight years in the House, but it's time to give someone else a chance.

There are two other Democrats in the race, and if Gleason can withdraw if he happens to finish in one of the top two spots in the primary. The party then would choose a candidate to replace him for the fall.

Names in the news

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Evel Knievel, who survived hundreds of spectacular motorcycle jumps, said he has no more than six months to live unless he receives a liver transplant.

Bloodied over the years when his stunts went awry, Knievel said he contracted hepatitis C from a blood transfusion somewhere along the way. His condition has deteriorated in recent weeks.

"Three years ago, the doctor diagnosed five years (to live). But now it's just crept up on me so fast, they say three to six months," Knievel said Wednesday from his winter home in Clearwater, Fla.

He said he is on the list for donor livers. Knievel, 59, has lost 15 pounds, down to 165, over the past few weeks.

Health officials estimate 4 million Americans have hepatitis C, some 300,000 of whom were infected by tainted blood transfusions before a reliable test was developed six years ago.

Knievel broke at least 35 bones and had 14 surgeries during his career, which included a jump at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas in 1967 when he crashed head-over-handlebars, crushed his pelvis and was unconscious for 29 days.

Since retiring in 1981, he has toured the country doing endorsements and promotions. His son, Robbie, also performs daring motorcycle jumps.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A free high school concert by the Grammy-winning Indigo Girls has been canceled after parents complained about the lesbian duo.

The May 7 concert at Irmo High School by Amy Ray and Emily Saliers was canceled by Principal Gerald Witt, school district spokesman Buddy Price said Wednesday. Some complained about the sexuality of the group, while others complained about having a rock concert during school hours.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Authorities say a man took things from Paul McCartney's ranch house and videotaped the break-in.

John Cowie, 31, of Thornton, Colo., was held here this week on suspicion of burglary.

Officers who arrested him Friday said Cowie jumped over McCartney's gate last week and recorded his 30-minute tour of the property. Police say he was found with two stolen rubber rats and a gate opener.

Reporters and others have besieged the ranch outside Tucson after it was learned that Linda McCartney died there rather than in Santa Barbara, Calif.

A search warrant obtained by Pima County sheriff's deputies said Cowie and a brother were at McCartney's property on April 23, then watched the video later that day.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A $337 deli spread of tainted cold cuts, bread and vegetables sickened members of a crew working on a promotion for the hit TV show "Frasier," crew members testified.

The lawsuit claims Jerry's Famous Deli of Studio City delivered a deli plate in 1994 that caused crew members who ate from it to become violently ill. Many described their experiences in testimony Tuesday.

"I felt like I was going to die, almost," producer-director Mark Edward Zavad said.

Attorneys for the restaurant have denied the allegations in the Los Angeles Superior Court lawsuit. The plaintiffs are seeking thousands of dollars for lost wages and pain and suffering.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dorothy Menger, better known as David Letterman's mom, has been honored by Kiwanis International for her efforts to curb iodine deficiency disorders and mental retardation in infants.

For the past two years, Menger has sold signed copies of her cookbook, "Home Cooking with Dave's Mom." So far, she's raised about $100,000 to help pay for salt iodization programs in more than 60 countries.

Pampa High School recently announced several awards its students have received.

Several of these have come from high scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) given especially for Juniors in October each year.

Corporations and Organizations across the country award special scholarships to family members of their employees based on the PSAT scores. This year Hoechst Celanese awarded a scholarship to Senior Michael Plunk.

The Macy Minorities in Medicine Program, a consortium of six medical schools, recognized Seniors Andrea Rodriguez and Lucinda Silva for their performance on the PSAT.

Juniors "Trey" Mark Ford and John Leland recently received a request to send information to colleges based on their performance on the PSAT this school year. Out of over 1 million juniors who took the PSAT in October, 1997, these two young men scored in the top 50,000. Colleges sometimes offer scholarships based on PSAT scores.

Senior Steve Willet received a $1,000 scholarship from Career Colleges and Schools of Texas. He is an excellent student who is attending one of these technical schools.

The Tandy Technology Scholars Program has awarded an Academic Certificate to Seniors Amy Harvey, Kimberlea McKandles, Michael Plunk, Heather Robben, and Andrea Rodriguez for their outstanding work in Science, Mathematics and Computer Science.

The Prudential Spirit of Community Award, sponsored by Prudential and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, which recognize outstanding self-initiated community service, awarded Deanna Dreher with the Certificate of Merit and Daniel Dreher the Certificate of Achievement. Daniel's entry was forwarded for competition in the state and national competitions. He could receive a $1,000, a silver medalion, and a trip to Washington, D.C.

Whitewater: One more week for Arkansas grand jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facing a final week of work, a Whitewater grand jury in Arkansas is examining the testimony of first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton while a separate panel in Washington focuses on the first lady's former law partner, Webster Hubbell.

The grand jury here is investigating possible tax violations stemming from more than $700,000 in payments that Hubbell received in 1994 and 1995 after his resignation from the Justice Department.

Many of the payments were arranged by friends of the president and first lady.

Whitewater prosecutor Kenneth Starr went to the federal courthouse in Little Rock, Ark., for 45 minutes Wednesday where the grand jury was shown five hours of testimony Mrs. Clinton gave by videotaped last weekend.

Her testimony involved her work for the failed savings and loan at the center of the probe. The grand jury in Little Rock is scheduled to meet four days next week before it goes out of business next Thursday.

Mrs. Clinton declined to answer two questions in Saturday's five-hour White House session — "conversations that plainly fell under the long-standing common law privilege for marital communications" — attorney David Kendall disclosed on Wednesday.

Three prosecutors questioned Mrs. Clinton in the videotaped testimony, according to lawyers familiar with the probe.

Deputy Whitewater prosecutor W. Hickman Ewing Jr., head of the Little Rock office of Starr's operation, conducted most of the questioning of Mrs. Clinton. Other questioning was done by deputy prosecutors Robert Bittman and Sol Wisenberg.

Bittman has focused on allegations that there has been obstruction of the Whitewater probe. Wisenberg has been handling the grand jury probe in Washington of an alleged presidential affair and cover-up involving former White House intern Monica Lewinsky.

Mrs. Clinton's decision to invoke the marital privilege is the latest instance in which Whitewater prosecutors have been unable to get answers to questions in the investigation. Former Whitewater partner Susan McDougal has refused to answer their questions before a grand jury.

Woman says she was convinced her abductor would kill her

HOUSTON (AP) — A topless dancer has testified how she decided to jump from William Reece's speeding truck on Interstate 45 between Houston and Galveston when she became convinced that her abductor planned to kill her.

Sandra Sapaugh testified Wednesday how, 19 and pregnant with her third child, she was abducted at knifepoint after Reece offered to fix a flat tire on her van May 17.

Reece, a 38-year-old construction worker who lived near the restaurant where the abduction occurred, is charged with aggravated kidnapping.

He has also been named as the prime suspect in the slaying of Laura Smither, a 12-year-old Friendswood girl who was killed after being abducted near her home last April. Her family attended Wednesday's proceedings.

Ms. Sapaugh was to return to the stand today for more questioning, both from the prosecution and from defense attorneys. On Wednesday, she testified Reese drove up and offered to help her with her van when she pulled into a restaurant parking lot after midnight May 17.

58-year-old man says his obsessive blood donations saved his life

IRVING (AP) — The king of Dallas blood donors, 58-year-old Charles Campbell says he's convinced his obsession saved his life when he had a heart attack in January.

Too weak to walk, he crawled into a hospital emergency room on all fours, screaming and delirious from the pain that was crushing his chest.

Campbell said doctors think it was his frequent blood donations over the past four decades that caused his blood to become thin enough that it was able to leak through his

Attorney General Dan Morales decision brings cries of protest

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Dan Morales' announcement that he won't appeal the Hopwood anti-affirmative action court ruling is drawing fire from civil rights leaders.

"Mr. Morales is myopic in his view of the educational opportunities available to minority children in Texas," said Cynthia Cano, staff attorney with the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

"In a state where decades of discrimination have blocked the advancement of Latino and African American children, it is unrealistic to expect that anything short of affirmative action will remedy the longstanding and continuing effects of that discrimination," she said.

Texas ended its university affirmative action policies when a federal appeals court found that a University of Texas law school policy designed to increase minority enrollment discriminated against whites. That ruling was allowed to stand by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1996.

But another opportunity to appeal arose when U.S. District Judge Sam Sparks of Austin issued a final order in the case last month.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals had ordered Sparks to consider attorneys' fees and damages for four white plaintiffs, including Cheryl Hopwood, who had successfully sued the UT law school in 1992.

Need-exchange program sends wrong message

I've talked some over the past few weeks about how important it is to have role models, and to set a good example for young people in our lives.

Nowhere is this more important than in the war on drugs. Just six years ago, we were making progress in this war. Since that time, however, drug abuse among teenagers has more than doubled.

Now, different people have different explanations as to why this increase has occurred. But I believe that at least part of the explanation has got to be laid at the doorstep of the White House, and the failure of the president to send a clear signal to young people that drug use in America is wrong and will not be tolerated.

The administration's lifting the ban on the federal funding of needle exchange programs is a good example of this failure.

In case you're not familiar with them, needle exchange programs essentially give free syringes to drug abusers. The intent is to control the spread of AIDS among addicts. But in reality, many people believe they encourage the use of illegal drugs.

Moreover, according to the Office of National Drug Control Policy, while eight persons are infected by the AIDS virus each day as a result of using borrowed needles, more than 350 persons die each day as a result of injecting heroin. The President's chief drug advisor, General Barry McCaffrey, opposes lifting the federal ban on needle exchange programs. I oppose it, as well.

However well intentioned, it is wrong to spend tax dollars giving free needles to drug addicts. It not only promotes drug abuse, but also sends a signal to our young people that the federal government somehow expects they're going to use drugs and wants them to do it safely.

That's the wrong signal to send, and one I have no doubt Congress will try to reverse in the coming weeks.

Free speech being trod upon

When the famously contentious anti-abortion activist Joseph Scheidler was recently found to be a racketeer, few people came to his defense. That is no surprise: Abrasive, uncompromising zealots like Scheidler don't have a multitude of friends. But even his worst enemies ought to ask themselves if they really want this sort of justice. The head of the Pro-Life Action League is being punished under a law that may someday come back to haunt those on the other end of the political spectrum.

A federal civil jury in Chicago ruled that Scheidler and two associates, along with his organization and Operation Rescue, engaged in a conspiracy to commit extortion and threats of violence against those operating and patronizing abortion clinics, in violation of the federal Racketeer-Influenced and Corrupt Organizations law. They were held liable for nearly $86,000 in damages, which under RICO are customarily tripled. They also can expect to be assessed for the legal fees of the other side, which includes the National Organization for Women and two abortion clinics.

Scheidler has always said that since he can't pay, the award doesn't matter. "Triple nothing is nothing," he says. NOW attorney Fay Clayton acknowledges that her client may be unable to collect. But she believes the victory was worthwhile anyway, because "it sends a loud message."

Her opponents agree. The question is what message will be delivered: that someone who participates in a violent, disruptive protest is at risk? Or that someone involved in any protest is at risk? Those who organize political demonstrations about deeply emotional issues can't guarantee the event will proceed in total conformity to every applicable law. But failure could expose the organizers and the participants to vast monetary damages.

Steve Chapman

Chapman is a nationally syndicated columnist.

Many people who believe in animal rights or more AIDS funding or a clean environment may be willing to spend a night in jail occasionally to advance their case. They may not, however, be prepared to risk losing their homes, their cars or their savings.

University of Notre Dame law professor G. Robert Blakey, one of the nation's leading experts on the law, says the problem is that all it takes to trigger RICO is a minor illegality, which can transform a constitutionally protected demonstration into an attempt at "extortion."

Says Blakey, "Perfect demonstrations aren't possible. Somebody will step on an blade of grass, shouting will turn to pushing, a rock will get thrown through a window." If anyone associated with a protest group is accused of committing just two illegal acts over the course of 10 years, it can be sued under RICO. Organizers and demonstrators who did nothing wrong may find themselves liable for offenses by others that they neither encouraged nor condoned.

It's not enough to behave in such a way that you could win a court suit. RICO establishes an incentive to behave in such a way that you can't be sued, period — since a lawsuit can be a bankrupting experience, even if you win. The opened threat of being hauled into court and made to prove that you didn't conspire with others to break the law may be enough to convince many people not to exercise their First Amendment rights. Blakey says of those who brought the suit, "They don't want legitimate protests. They want no protests."

Abortion rights advocates like to tie Scheidler and his organization to bombings and arson, but this case was not about that sort of lethal force. Among the acts of "violence" and "extortion" cited by Clayton were such behavior as congregating in large numbers in front of entrances, blocking driveways with cars and putting glue in door locks.

Lawbreaking, even minor lawbreaking, warrants punishment. But using RICO to penalize people for behavior like this is akin to using artillery to clear a vacant lot: The lot will be cleared, but much needless damage will also be done. If this law had been around in the 1960s, it might have used against Martin Luther King Jr. or anti-war demonstrators, who often engaged in disruptive civil disobedience intended to rouse public sympathy.

Assuring access to abortion clinics has sometimes been a problem, but other laws are perfectly capable of dealing with it. And you may have noticed that Operation Rescue-style blockades have disappeared. That's because in 1994, Congress passed the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act, which makes it a federal crime to use force or threats to intimidate abortion clinic workers or patients, and the law has served its purpose.

RICO may advance the same goal but only by telling abortion opponents — and other activist groups — that they could pay a very high price for participating in demonstrations that are supposed to be protected by the Constitution. If that's the case, they're not the only ones who will lose.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, April 30, the 120th day of 1998. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On April 30, 1945, as Russian troops approached his Berlin bunker, Adolf Hitler committed suicide along with his wife of one day, Eva Braun.

On this date:

In 1789, George Washington took office in New York as the first president of the United States.

In 1803, the United States purchased the Louisiana Territory from France.

In 1812, Louisiana became the 18th state of the Union.

In 1900, Hawaii was organized as a U.S. territory.

In 1939, the New York World's Fair officially opened.

In 1948, the Organization of American States held its first meeting, in Bogota, Colombia.

In 1970, President Nixon announced the U.S. was sending troops into Cambodia, an action that sparked widespread protest.

In 1973, President Nixon announced the resignations of top aides H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, along with Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and White House counsel John Dean.

In 1975, the South Vietnamese capital of Saigon fell to Communist forces.

In 1991, an estimated 125,000 people died as a cyclone struck Bangladesh.

Ten years ago: Gen. Manuel Noriega, waving a machete, vowed at a rally to keep fighting U.S. efforts to oust him as Panama's military ruler.

Desperate people can be dangerous

Kenneth Starr seldom if ever has been more dangerous to President Clinton and the first lady than he is right now.

That's the consensus of more than a dozen political veterans in both parties, all of them appointive or elective officeholders, with whom your reporter talked to recently. They say Starr is absolutely determined to nail one or both of the Clintons on criminal charges.

Starr has little to lose just now. His standing in public opinion polls is low and sinking lower. Partly because of this, Republican leaders in both houses of Congress want nothing but distance between themselves and Starr. Starr has had to surrender hopes of a prestigious law deanship at Pepperdine University, and his once-bright dreams of one day becoming a U.S. Supreme Court Justice have vanished.

A disappointed, determined enemy with little to lose is an especially dangerous one, most particularly when he is a prosecutor with unlimited funds and time with which to strike.

Republican leaders, with November's elections in mind, want Starr to deal his hand — however he is going to do so — before the end of May, June at the latest.

But Starr has stated publicly, in no uncertain terms, that nobody will dictate his timetable.

And privately, two lawyers closely involved with Starr's efforts have told this reporter that his investigation into the Monica Lewinsky matter still has a long way to go. Starr is centering on obstruction of justice: Did the president perjure himself? Did he or his adviser Vernon Jordan ask Lewinsky to perjure herself? Starr is pouring his time and effort into finding out who wrote the "talking paper" Lewinsky allegedly gave to her colleague Linda Tripp, with a plan to avoid having to testify truthfully in the Paula Jones case.

Dan Rather

Starr apparently hasn't made up his mind whether to indict Lewinsky and/or her mother, but that remains an option. It also remains his best leverage against Lewinsky to get her to testify against the president.

From various sources, including some inside Starr's own camp, he has little if any case against either of the Clintons in the Whitewater, White House Travel Office or FBI file matters.

Starr is convinced the Clintons have gotten away with cover-ups in most, if not all, of these situations. He has repeatedly told his staff that he is determined that the Clintons "not get away with" cover-ups in the Lewinsky investigation.

So he slogs on. At a time of his choosing, Starr will reveal his case in its best light. Whenever that happens, the story will burst back into the news, big time.

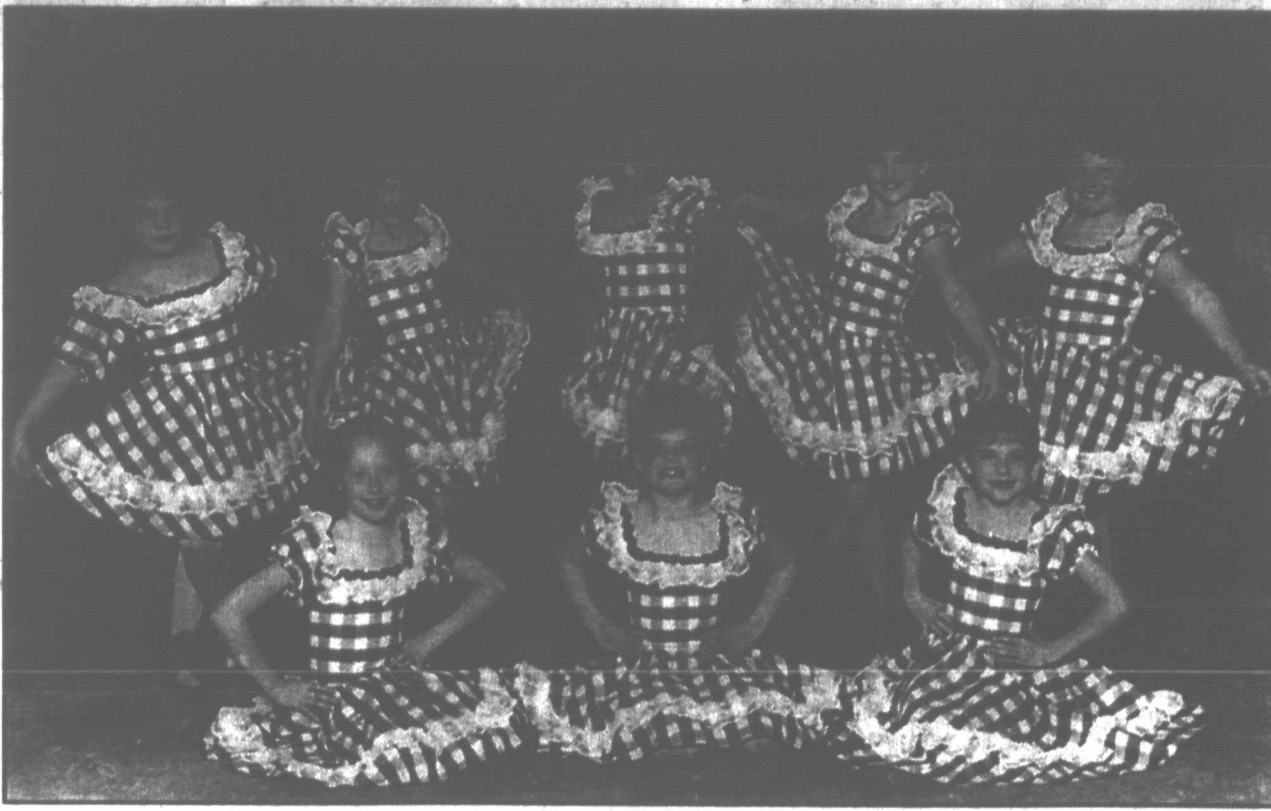

The president's top aides seriously discuss the possibility that this could ignite a "horrible, worst-case scenario," in which the House Judiciary or some other committee opens a televised "preliminary" hearing on possible impeachment proceedings. Under this scenario, Lewinsky would be given immunity and called to tell a tale of intimacy with the president.

"She testifies on national TV: It's the worst of all endgames from our standpoint — an ambiguous ending to a soap opera," says one of the president's White House defenders. "The Republicans wouldn't have to go as far as impeachment. They could just move into the fall election campaigns with the president and Democrats hemorrhaging support."

Whether any of that happens, Starr is compiling what he considers to be "substantial and credible" evidence of what he is convinced are a number of crimes committed by the president, and perhaps Hillary Rodham Clinton.

He will unload it sooner or later. Then the American people will decide if Starr is just another political hit man or a fair, conscientious prosecutor who has done his job well.

Mexican president challenges rebels to declare peace

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico (AP) — Challenging leftist rebels in their home state, President Ernesto Zedillo attacked the Zapatista movement during a two-day campaign aimed at convincing Chiapas' poor that better living standards will never come through violence.

Zedillo hop-scotched across central Chiapas, dropping in on Indian villages and cities with his message that the federal government is working to improve health services, schools and roads in Mexico's southernmost state.

Patience is needed, he told supportive audiences — and the Zapatista rebels are only blocking progress.

"We are part of the same cause, we think the same," Zedillo said Wednesday in the village of Tumbala. "But what I don't agree with, and will never agree with, is that this fight which seems so noble, so humane and so legitimate sustains itself on the threat of violence."

The Zapatista rebels took up arms four years ago to demand greater rights and democracy for southern Mexico's dirt-poor Indians. Nearly 150 people died before a truce was reached.

Peace talks stalled in mid-1996 when the rebels accused the government of acting in bad faith.

Wrapping up his tour in the state capital, Tuxtla Gutierrez, the president urged "all of those who one way or another have been part of the conflict" to remember the suffering of the Chiapas people.

"Perhaps the day has arrived for them to think more of those have died and think less of their personal interests," he said.

He called on the rebels to return to talks, and to avoid further splitting of communities, families and Mexico itself.

The country has suffered enough civil wars, Zedillo said. "Between Mexicans, there cannot be any more wars."

It was Zedillo's first visit to the state since a paramilitary group sympathizing with Zedillo's own Institutional Revolutionary Party massacred 45 Indians in the village of Acteal on Dec. 22.

Woman suffering from syndrome endangers sons

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 31-year-old mother of six who is said to be suffering from Munchausen's Syndrome has been arrested on federal charges of injuring and endangering two sons.

Cynthia Martinez Lyda, who is also under investigation in Arizona in the deaths of two sons, was taken into custody Wednesday, culminating an investigation that began almost 3 1/2 years ago.

She was released hours later on a $50,000 unsecured bond and ordered to wear an electronic monitor.

The arrest came at the Bexar County Courthouse as Ms. Lyda began civil proceedings to be reunited with her 1-month-old son, Benjamin.

Because of her diagnosis and the long history of unexplained injuries and deaths, the state took month-old Benjamin and his 16-month-old brother, Gideon, from their mother at birth. They now live with a foster family.

Munchausen's Syndrome by Proxy is a rare disorder in which mothers and other caregivers cause illnesses and trauma in children to gain admiration and respect as devoted caregivers.

An indictment alleges that Ms. Lyda injured another son, Joseph, four times during his stay at Wilford Hall Medical Center in San Antonio during November and December 1994, when the child was 8 months old.

A suspicious doctor persuaded hospital officials to use a hidden camera to videotape the mother in her son's hospital room.

Specifically, Ms. Lyda is accused of blowing into a feeding tube in the boy's stomach, putting gauze in his gastric tube, putting some foreign matter into an intravenous line and pouring a substance into his feeding bag.

Joseph, now 4, made a complete recovery after his mother was prohibited from seeing him.

The indictment also charges that Ms. Lyda turned off a machine monitoring the respiratory and heart rate in 1993 of another son, Daniel, and failed to seek medical assistance when he went into cardiac and respiratory arrest. Daniel, now 6, remains in a vegetative state.

CC holds annual judging contest

CLARENDON - More than 1,800 students from across the state of Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma tested their judging skills during the 17th annual Clarendon College Judging Contest held recently in Clarendon.

Twenty-seven 4-H clubs and 126 Future Farmers of America chapter teams competed in more than 15 judging contests. Teams competed in contests ranging from livestock and horse judging to entomology and land judging.

The following area teams placed at competition: FFA Land, Shamrock, third place; FFA Livestock, Pampa, second place; FFA Horse, second place, FFA Dairy Foods, second place, and FFA Crops, second place, White Deer.

The following individuals placed at competition: FFA Horse, Cassie Salzbrenner, second place, and FFA Crops, Alberic Haiduk, third place, both of White Deer.

Lefors Senior Class Takes Off

Angie Davenport
editor

The senior class of 1998 left Lefors at 11:00am on Thursday, April 9th to catch some sun and surf at South Padre Island, Texas.

The group flew to Houston and rushed to their next flight. Brownsville was the next stop where the class was met with their first challenge. Fitting eight people, plus luggage, into a Cutlass. But we were one bag less since Tracy had no luggage at all delivered to Brownsville (Don't worry, we shared).

The problem was solved when part of the class hitched a ride with complete strangers (I happened to be part of the group that hitchhiked). After we checked into our condo, we took a midnight dip in the ocean, followed by a swim in the pool (which I might add the security guard was called to keep us quiet).

The next five days were filled with sunburns at the beach, near heart attacks because of big fish, bunji jumping, go carts, jet skis, and club hopping.

Only one more issue- The May 14 issue will be the last paper for this year.

Monday morning Misty McMullen had to catch a flight home a day early to make it to district golf. Her plane was scheduled to depart at 6:09am, so to be in Brownsville they had to leave at 5:00. The four o'clock wake up call, however didn't arrive until five. But with Mr. Carothers superb driving skills, (70mph in a 30 zone) Misty made it with three long minutes to spare.

After six days of unending fun and trouble, on Tuesday the 14th the class made the long trip home. After delays in Houston, a tired group arrived at the Lubbock airport ready to make the drive home. But one last problem existed. Not one of our bags was at Lubbock. Our bags took the long way home through Baltimore.

It took forever to fill out all the baggage claim forms for all the bags, and no one got home before 4:00am. There weren't too many seniors at school the next morning, but boy what a trip!

Two LHS Students Plan To Attend Citizenship Seminar

Shelly Murray

The Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar is only for those young adults who expect the very best from life by expecting the very best from themselves.

The program's purpose is designed to make you take a long, honest look at your ideas, attitudes, and abilities. The Citizenship Seminar will convey to the participants a better understanding of our American heritage and the capitalistic private enterprise system that has made ours the greatest of all nations. The ultimate goal is to cause the young adults attending to incorporate topics of free enterprise, constitutional government, leadership, goal setting, and self-awareness traits into their daily living and the ability to share this information with others. This year two Lefors High School students, Jeremy Pierce and Shelly Murray, were chosen as recipients for the Citizenship Seminar.

Jeremy, sophomore, and Shelly, junior, will arrive at Angelo State University in San Angelo on June 15 and return home on June 19. These two students will be eligible for Speech Contest Scholarships and Awards including trips to Washington D.C.

Tennis Team Takes Home a Win and Heads for Regionals
Angie Davenport
editor

On Tuesday April 7, the district tennis meet was held in Pampa. Four students participated in the meet.

Misty McMullen and Angie Davenport advanced to regionals after winning second place in girls doubles. The Lefors doubles team was beat out by Fort Elliott, who was seeded fourth in regional competition last year.

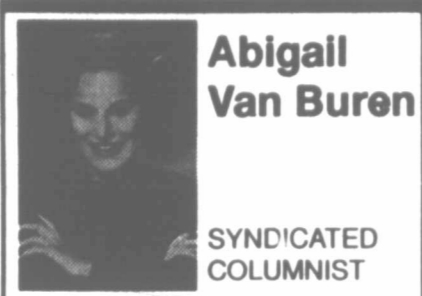

The regional tennis meet will be held April 27 at South Plains College in Levelland. The meet is two days and the top two teams will advance to state.

Nosy Nephew Should Hear 'No' When He Ask to Visit

DEAR-ABBY: My friend "Elaine" has a nephew who visits her often, but every time he and his wife stay overnight, she catches them going through her dresser drawers and desk.

Elaine has always been good to them, and even loaned them her car and travel trailer for their vacation. I am incensed that they nose around in her private belongings, and she's none too happy about it either. She's always happy to see them go.

Abby, what should Elaine say to them when they want to visit again? How would you handle this?
CURIOS

Abigail Van Buren
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR CURIOS: If Elaine feels obligated to entertain these nosy individuals, the least she can do to protect herself is to lock her desk and bedroom door while they are visiting.

Had I caught guests going through my personal belongings, I would have asked them to stop immediately, and guided them to another location in the house. It wouldn't happen a second time, because the next time they wanted to visit, I would tell them, "Sorry, it's not convenient at this time." And I would repeat it every time they had the nerve to ask.

When I called to thank her, she told me she got the recipe from your cookbooklet. She promised to share it with me, but kept procrastinating. The last time I asked her about it, she said she had lost the cookbooklet when she moved, and hadn't yet ordered another one.

I have a birthday coming up in a couple of months, and I would like to give myself a gift of that fudge.

Abby, would you please give me the recipe?
HAZEL IN HAMPTON, N.J.

DEAR HAZEL: I'd be delighted. Although chocolate is my preference, the penuche fudge is wonderful for people who are allergic to chocolate. It is in my second recipe collection, "More Favorite Recipes," and very easy to make.

1/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup walnut pieces

Butter a 9-inch square baking dish. Butter the sides of a heavy 2-quart saucepan. Combine sugars, cream, milk and butter in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugars dissolve and mixture comes to a boil. Cook to soft ball stage (238 degrees on candy thermometer), stirring only if necessary. Immediately remove from heat and cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Do not stir.

Add vanilla and beat vigorously until very thick and mixture starts to lose its gloss. Quickly stir in nuts and spread into prepared baking dish. Score while warm, and cut when firm.

Makes 3 dozen 1 1/2-inch squares. (P.S. You'll diet next week!)

Abby shares more of her favorite, easy-to-prepare recipes. To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

ABBY'S FAMOUS PENEUCHE FUDGE
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup packed brown sugar
1/3 cup light cream

DEAR ABBY: About five or six years ago, my Aunt Jolene sent me some homemade penuche fudge for my birthday. It was absolutely

Horoscope

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1998
BY JACQUELINE BIGAR

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Pace yourself, and get as much done as possible. Your instincts are right on. Luck follows you if you access your intuition. Remain optimistic. You are unusually tired or self-critical. Others demand your attention. Evaluate carefully. Tonight: Relax when your energy fails.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
* An offer to travel materializes. Listen carefully to what someone suggests. Your inner voice could be negative or untrusting about this undertaking. For now, squash it! Togetherness is OK with you. Head in a new direction. Tonight: Start planning that vacation now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Expenses are out of whack. Information provided lets you know that you cannot do everything you want. Put that extra effort into working harder to increase funds. It is your judgment call, but you must decide how to deal with this dilemma. Tonight: Could be a late night.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Listen to the whispering behind the scenes at work. What you hear is important, but play devil's advocate. A boss is unusually demanding and severe in his manner.

Pull back, and get a better view. Your ability to touch others is high. Tonight: Beam in what you want.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Acknowledge that you don't feel up to snuff. Take the day off if you can. Misunderstandings run rampant. A partner does his best to cheer you up, but your thoughts are stubbornly pessimistic. Get to the root of this negative thinking, to turn the situation around. Tonight: Take the night off!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
* Aim for what you want. Interference occurs when an associate decides to take a stand. Key in, and understand the gray pall this person casts on you. Others will cheer you on to the finish line. Hang out with those who help you get where you want. Tonight: Celebrate life!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
 Once more, that difficult person is in your face. The negativity he infuses into your environment isn't worth the damages. Allow more positive vibrations in your life. Work is plentiful, so you will have to put in overtime. Take responsibility. Tonight: Do what you must.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
* Your mind is already in weekend mode, but your body might not follow. You have pushed very hard. Be sensitive to your energy levels. Work has been unusually demanding. A child or new friend makes you laugh. Let fun back into your life. Tonight: Escape doldrums.

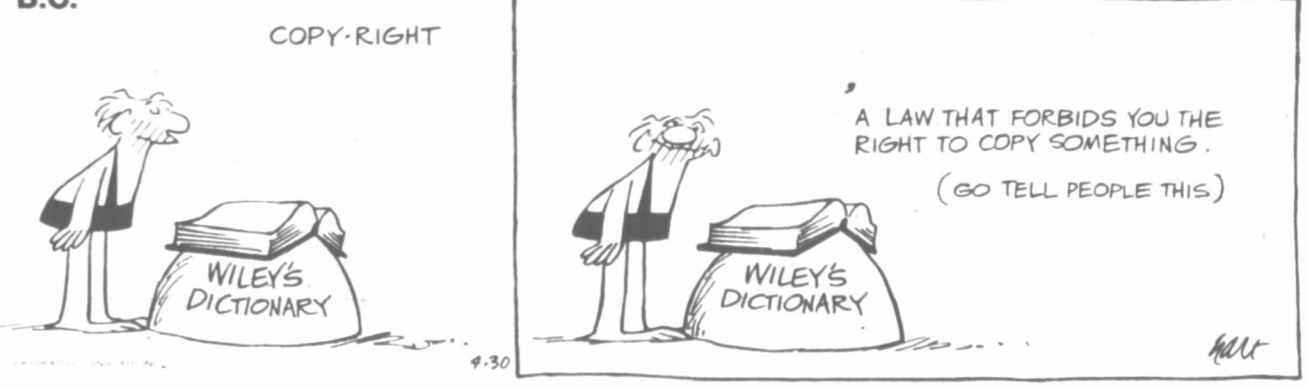

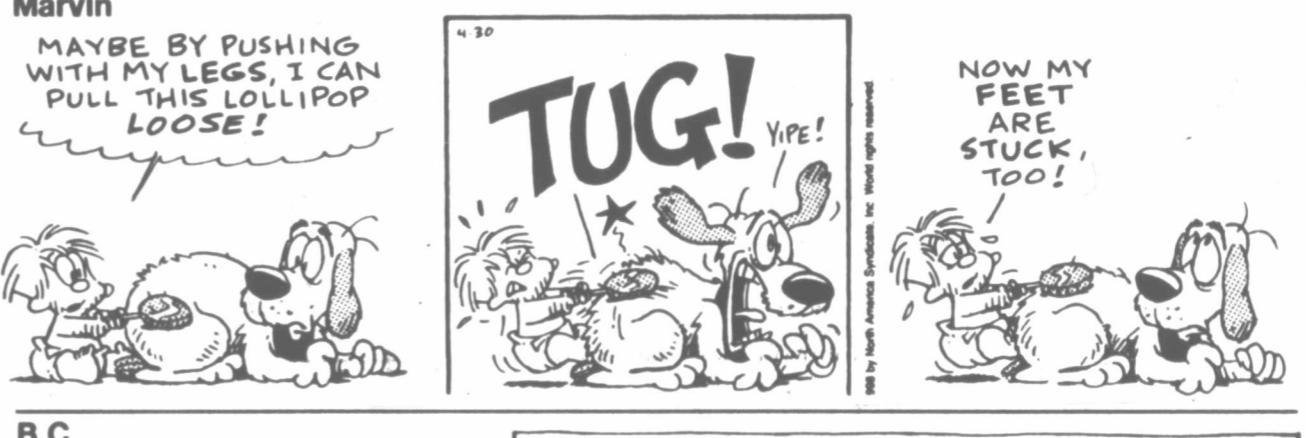

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 2)
* Creativity is off, and confusion runs rampant. Examine what you expect from a partnership, both financially and emotionally. Limitations become apparent. An investment in your domestic life proves to be a winner. Happiness lies close to home. Tonight: A tete-a-tete.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Pressure proves to be nearly too much. Partners are testy, and problems develop on the home front. Keep talking. Someone will eventually hear. Your smile and positive attitude can break through barriers. Do not let upset mar your mood. Tonight: Accept a TGIF invitation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 Pace yourself, and do not take on more than you can handle. Completing the week's work becomes a major struggle. Others bring chaos and confusion into your life. Be smart, and screen your calls. Prioritize, and you'll get it all done. Tonight: Do not let someone rain on your parade.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
* You are amorous, cheerful and ready to appease. Nevertheless, finances are not subject to your charisma, as you quickly find out. Establish spending limits. You have a lot to offer and can get past the current limitation. Take charge. Tonight: Go for cheap fun.

PAMPA — Pampa High golfer Matt Heasley had a first-round 86 at the Class 4A regional tournament in San Angelo. Monday's edition of The Pampa News had his score incorrectly published as 96.

BASEBALL

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Ben Grieve went 5-for-5 with two RBIs and Kenny Rogers won his third straight decision Wednesday night as the Oakland Athletics won their fourth straight, 11-4 over the Cleveland Indians.

Grieve had two doubles, three singles and was hit by a pitch, raising his average to .317 and tying a club record for hits in a game.

Rogers (4-1) improved to 2-0 against Cleveland this season, allowing four hits in seven innings. The left-hander had the same line when he beat the Indians on April 8.

Matt Stairs hit a two-run homer in Oakland's three-run third off Jaret Wright (1-2).

Shawon Dunston drove in two runs for Cleveland, which has lost nine of 13.

NEW YORK (AP) — David Cone struck out a season-high 11 in six innings and the New York Yankees hit three home runs to beat the Seattle Mariners at their own game, winning 8-5 Wednesday night.

Ken Griffey Jr. hit his ninth home run for Seattle, which leads the majors with 42. His solo shot over the center-field wall cut the Mariners' deficit to 6-5 in the seventh.

The Yankees won for 15th time in 17 games. At 16-6, they're off to their best start since 1951.

Cone (3-1) gave up six hits and walked none in winning his third straight start.

Mariano Rivera, the third Yankees reliever, pitched the ninth for his third save.

Jeff Fassero (2-1), who was 3-0 against the Yankees last season, also was hurt by poor fielding. He allowed six runs, although only two were earned, in five innings.

BASKETBALL

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas basketball coach Rick Barnes has signed his first recruit: Nathaniel Bailey, a 5-10, 175-pound point guard from North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Texas announced Wednesday that the Johnson City, Tenn., native had signed a national letter of intent. Barnes was hired April 13 to replace Tom Penders.

"Quick, quick, quick, quick is the best way I can describe him," North Idaho coach Hugh Watson said. "He really plays hard. He can take the ball to the bucket and also hit the open man. I think he'll really do a good job for Texas."

Barnes said, "We're excited about the addition of Nathaniel to this year's recruiting class. He fits in very well with both William Clay and Vohn Hunter. All three have a chance to be an important part of what we do in the future."

HOCKEY

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Dominik Hasek made 44 saves as the Buffalo Sabres beat the Philadelphia Flyers 4-1 on Wednesday night to take a 3-1 series advantage in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Hasek put together his best performance of the postseason and the Sabres scored three power-play goals as they rolled over the Flyers for the second straight game.

Dixon Ward, Miroslav Satan, Matthew Barnaby and Brian Holzinger each scored for the Sabres, who beat the Flyers 6-1 in Game 3 and came back with a similar effort in Game 4. Game 5 will be played Friday night in Philadelphia.

Buffalo won the only playoff series in which it had a 3-1 lead, in 1975. Philadelphia is 0-9 when trailing in the same situation.

Rockets a game away from series victory

HOUSTON (AP) — By now, everyone figured the Utah Jazz would already be in the second round, or at least one victory away. Everyone, that is, except the Houston Rockets.

"The rabbit has the gun," Charles Barkley said after the Rockets beat the Jazz 89-85 Wednesday night for a 2-1 lead in the best-of-5 series. "Utah started out the series as the hunter and we were the rabbit. Now, the rabbit has the gun."

The Rockets need one more victory in Game 4 here Friday night to become the second No. 8 seed to beat a No. 1 seed. No. 8 Denver upset top-seeded Seattle in 1994.

Hakeem Olajuwon had 28 points and 12 rebounds, Clyde Drexler finished with 22 points, nine rebounds and five assists and Barkley contributed eight points, six rebounds and a victory-clinching steal in the closing seconds despite playing with a hernia.

The Jazz had no answer for Olajuwon.

"I thought he was very sharp and aggressive," Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "I believe in him so much. He's going to deliver for us. Our spirits are very high, but we have to keep it on an even keel."

"We were playing against a good team that won't give up. We almost broke, but we made some big plays. Eighty-five points, that's Rockets basketball."

The aging Rockets are trying to go out on a high note. Drexler is retiring after this season to become coach at his alma mater, the University of Houston, and Barkley will have surgery after the season. Only Olajuwon is assured of returning next season.

Game 5, if necessary, would be played in Utah on Sunday.

The Rockets had to fight to the very end to beat the Jazz in Game 3.

Utah never led until John Stockton hit two free throws with 44 seconds left for an 85-84 lead. But the Rockets then made five free throws, including one by Matt Maloney with 7.6 seconds left, to take an 89-85 lead.

Barkley then clinched it by stealing Bryon Russell's inbounds pass, which was intended for Karl Malone.

"They came out very strong and we didn't compete at all," Jazz coach Jerry Sloan said. "I really didn't think we deserved to win. I think Houston was ready and we weren't ready. I don't know if we were intimidated or what."

Malone led the Jazz with 19 points and 14 rebounds. Russell also scored 19 points, while Stockton finished with 15 points and six assists.

The Rockets led 47-43 at halftime and built a 13-point lead with 6:19 left in the third quarter following a basket by Matt Bullard. But the Jazz outscored the Rockets 18-9 over the rest of the period to pull within four.

Houston led 82-74 with 7:43 to play before the Jazz scored six straight points on baskets by Howard Easley, Malone and Stockton to make it 82-80 with 3:11 left.

After Stockton's free throws put the Jazz up 85-84, Olajuwon made two foul shots with 37 seconds remaining. Drexler added two more 20 seconds later, and Maloney made one of two to put the Rockets up 89-85.

The game was intense, but nothing like Game 2, which featured four technical fouls and one ejection.

Sloan drew the only individual technical in Game 3 when he got upset following a collision between Olajuwon and Stockton in the third quarter.

The Rockets made their first four baskets from 3-point range and Olajuwon hit four free throws for a 16-9 lead. Houston missed its next five shots, but still led 28-19 after Barkley made the first shot of the second quarter.

The Jazz cut Houston's lead to two points three times over the final six minutes of the second quarter, the last at 43-41 with 1:45 to go. But Olajuwon got an alley-oop dunk and Drexler added a basket to help the Rockets take a 47-43 halftime lead.

Notes: The Rockets are 17-0 in series in which they win the first game. They won Game 1 against the Jazz.

... The Rockets and Jazz have met in the playoffs in four of the last five years. The Jazz eliminated the Rockets last season in the Western Conference finals, but the Rockets beat the Jazz in both of Houston's championship seasons (1994 and 1995).

Spurs go to second round

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, known for winning with "Tall Ball," got a spectacular performance from their smallest player to secure a first-round playoff victory over Phoenix.

Avery Johnson helped clinch the best-of-5 series 3-1 Wednesday night with a career-high 30 points on 11-of-15 shooting as the Spurs beat the Suns 99-80.

Johnson, who averaged just 10 points during the regular season, scored 20 points per game in the four games, and might have quieted critics who say he is the weak link on a team with David Robinson and NBA Rookie of the Year Tim Duncan.

"He's always getting it below the belt, people saying he's not a shooter," Spurs coach Gregg Popovich said. "He's been hearing that for nine years. This was an important game, shooting the way he did."

Johnson has played on five NBA teams in 10 years, but found a home playing for Popovich.

At the end of Wednesday night's game, a sellout crowd was chanting Johnson's name.

"That was the first time in my career that I've heard that," Johnson said. "I know my wife will remind me about 10 years ago in Seattle when the crowd did the same thing, but then I was the 12th man for the Sonics, and they just wanted me to get in for the last 30 seconds."

The Spurs also got help from Chuck Person, who was 6-of-8 from 3-point range and hit three 3s in a decisive second-half surge.

Johnson and Person came through on a night when San Antonio stars Robinson and Duncan struggled early against double-teams.

"We couldn't get anything going until Avery and Chuck stepped up," said Robinson, who finished with 15 points and 21 rebounds, but shot only 3-of-12 from the field.

Duncan, the NBA's rookie of the year who led the NBA in double-doubles during the regular season, had only 11 points and five rebounds for the Spurs.

Gymnastics of Pampa team members (l-r) Alyssa Bromwell, Abby Cavalier and Jaclyn Spearman display their awards won at the West Texas Championships. Alyssa won the All Around trophy in the 11-year-old and up division, Level 6. Abby tied for second in All Around in Level 8 and Jaclyn placed third in All Around in the 10-year-old division, Level 6.

Lady Harvesters ready for next level

PAMPA — The unbeaten Pampa girls' track team competes in the Region 1-4A meet Friday and Saturday at San Angelo and expectations are high for a victory.

Compared to other regional qualifiers from other schools, the Lady Harvesters are at or near the top in every event.

"We're right up there with the others. It's just a matter of going out and doing it," said Pampa coach Mike Lopez.

Barbara Wine (shot put), Lavonne Evans (200) and the 800-meter relay team (Lavonne Evans, Jennifer Ross, Audrey Wilson and Lacrese Ford) are ranked No. 1 going into the regional meet.

Katy Cavalier is ranked No. 3 in the long jump and No. 4 in the triple jump. She's the first Lady Harvester to compete at regionals, going in the long jump at 2 p.m. Friday.

Lacrese Ford (100) and Jenny Fatheree (800, 1600) are both ranked No. 3.

Tandi Morton (100 hurdles) is ranked No. 4. Robin Williams qualified for regionals in the 300 hurdles.

"They're all capable of coming out of regionals No. 1," Lopez said. "Evans, Ford and Fatheree are something like a tenth of a second from the best."

Dismal weather early in the week hampered workouts, but Lopez said the Lady Harvesters are ready to go.

"We couldn't get outside on Monday, but we were able to work out Tuesday and we had our last workout Wednesday morning," Lopez said. "Our conditioning suffered a little bit, but we're going to be okay."

Rangers set club record

DETROIT (AP) — Winning teams take advantage of everything. Losing teams have a knack for letting every little mistake prove fatal.

That's exactly why the surging Texas Rangers took a 4-1 victory over the reeling Detroit Tigers on Wednesday night.

Texas, setting a club record with their 18th win in April, turned two Detroit errors into two unearned runs. That, in turn, led to Detroit's 18th loss in 23 games as the Tigers' anemic offense couldn't overcome their equally impotent defense.

"We haven't been able to swing the bats. Then every time we make a defensive mistake, we can't counterattack," Detroit manager Buddy Bell said. "That's because our offense has been so inconsistent."

Detroit, which scored four runs off Pedro Martinez en route to a 7-5 win Tuesday at Boston, managed just four hits off John Burkett and two relievers.

Burkett (2-3), rocked for 17 earned runs in 8 2-3 innings in his last two starts, allowed the Tigers' lone run on Joe Oliver's leadoff homer in the sixth. Otherwise he cruised, scattering three other hits with four strikeouts and no walks.

"It hasn't been going real good for me," Burkett said. "One thing that's kept me going is watching everybody else and what they've done. It's nice to contribute tonight."

Burkett left after Damion Easley's leadoff single in the eighth. Danny Patterson finished the inning before John Wetteland pitched a perfect ninth for his sixth save.

Greg Keagle (0-5) lost despite his best start of the season. He gave up three runs — just one earned — and three hits in a career-high eight innings, striking out five and walking one.

"It's frustrating because I had a good outing and I got outpitched by Burkett," Keagle said.

PHS sending four Harvesters to track regionals

The Pampa girls' track team went unbeaten this year enroute to winning their third consecutive district championship. But let's not forget about boys' track in Pampa. The Harvesters didn't win district, but they will be represented at regionals.

Four athletes have qualified for the Region 1-4A meet next weekend in San Angelo. That's a pretty solid number compared to '97 when only one (Gabe Wilbon) got past the district meet. Two years ago, Pampa's 400-meter relay team qualified for the state meet by placing second at regionals. Two other Harvesters, Tim Fields (second place, 300 hurdles) and Coy Laury (second place, 200) also advanced to Austin that year.

Two of the '98 regional qualifiers, Curtis Johnson and Josh Taylor, are both juniors. The other two, Aaron Hayden and Ronnie Proby, are seniors.

Any of the foursome has that chance of advancing to the state meet, but coach Tad Smith believes the muscular Hayden may have the best opportunity when stacked up against shot put qualifiers from other districts.

"Hayden is sitting pretty solid in second place with his 53-5. A kid from Weatherford is first with a 59-0," Smith says.

Hayden had the winning throw at this year's district meet.

Pampa's best district performance came from the versatile Johnson, who won both the long jump and 100 while placing second in the high jump. Johnson's 22-4 in the long jump earlier in the year was just two and a half inches shy of the school record.

L.D. Strate

Sports Editor

"Johnson may have his best chance in the high jump (of advancing to state). He's ranked No. 2 in the region. The only problem is there are five others tied for second," Smith said.

Johnson geared for regionals by winning the long jump in a regional qualifiers meet last weekend at Amarillo Tascosa.

Proby's 139-0 toss in the discus captured second place at district. Caprock's Joe Gonzales won handily with a hefty 153-3 1/2, so Proby is considered a long shot at regionals.

Taylor's 12-6 in the pole vault tied him for second with Borger's Mickey Foster at district. Taylor advanced with fewer misses. He goes into regionals ranked No. 5.

"If he can get some good practice in, it's hard telling what he could do," Smith said.

Best of luck to both the boys' and girls' track teams as they head for regionals.

Taking a look at girls' track, the Pampa 7th graders duplicated the Lady Harvesters in going unbeaten this spring. Insiders say the 7th grade may have the best group of track athletes ever produced in Pampa.

Teamwork is what it's all about. At the Class 4A regional golf tournament, Shelbie Allison led the Pampa Lady Harvesters with a two-round total of 156 and was named to the all-region first team. Melissa Gindorf and Alison Piersall each shot 162 and both earned all-region second-team honors.

Those No. 4 and No. 5 players, Cortnie Allison and Maggie Cowan, also made a big contribution to Pampa's second-place finish and a trip to the state tournament in Austin.

Allison shot a first-round 88 at regionals while Cowan came in with a 90. Cowan shot 90 the second round while Allison had a 96.

"You just never know which one of those girls is going to step up and do the job, but it's always one of them," McCullough said. "You know the others are going to play pretty consistent. I've very proud of all of them."

Is anybody in charge of the Tri-State Rodeo Association? The Pampa News never receives any rodeo results. If Tri-State officials don't care about giving the athletes any publicity they need to turn the reins over to someone who does.

Flashback: Sept. 1954. Pampa defeated Austin High of El Paso, 32-13, in the season football opener. Harold Lewis rushed for 128 yards on 13 carries and scored three touchdowns. Bill Fullenwider added two touchdowns for the Harvesters.

Texas Tech's Thompson goes in first round of WNBA women's draft

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Alicia Thompson, who averaged 23.2 points and 8.9 rebounds in leading Texas Tech to the Big 12 championship last season, will be playing with the New York Liberty of the Women's National Basketball Association.

The Liberty made her the ninth selection overall on Wednesday in the pro league's draft.

She dropped to near the bottom of the first round, slightly lower than expected.

Her reward is she will have Rebecca Lobo for a teammate and join a club that played for the inaugural WNBA title last season.

"From that point of view, what a great choice," said Marsha Sharp, who coached Thompson through a four-year career with the Lady Raiders. "It's a great place to be."

The 6-foot-1 Thompson could not be reached for comment. She was to fly home from New York shortly after the draft. The night before the draft, she attended a Knicks-Heat NBA playoff game at Madison Square Garden, Sharp said.

That represented a dramatic change of scenery for Thompson, who went to Reagan County High School in Big Lake (population 3,672).

"She said this is really hard to believe, that you come from Big Lake and go to New York," Sharp told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. "But she had a couple of pretty big days. She was really excited about the experience."

Angela Jackson of Texas was the third pick of the fourth round by Washington.

Houston chose Polina Tzekova of Bulgaria in the first round, followed by Nyree Roberts of Old Dominion, Amaya Valdemoro of Spain and Monica Lamb-Lattin of Southern California.

The WNBA's 30-game regular season begins June 11.

The Liberty went 17-11 last season, losing to the Houston Comets in the league championship game. Lobo, the former Connecticut all-American, and guard Teresa Weatherspoon, who starred collegiately at Louisiana Tech, are the Liberty linchpins.

Lobo averaged 12.4 points per game and 7.3 rebounds last season while making second-team all-WNBA. So did Weatherspoon after pacing the league in assists (6.1 per game) and steals (3.0). Weatherspoon was named WNBA defensive player of the year.

Forward Sophia Witherspoon led the Liberty in scoring with a 14.5 average.

Nancy Darsch coaches New York. She coached Ohio State to the NCAA Tournament finals in 1993 before losing to Tech.

Thompson signed a WNBA contract in early April, and it was speculated she would be one of the top four players selected.

But the draft changed significantly when all-Americans Ticha Penicheiro of Old Dominion and Muriel Page of Florida signed with the league and entered its draft pool in the past week.

Penicheiro went second overall to the Sacramento Monarchs, and Page went third to the expansion Washington Mystics.

The 10 teams made three foreign players first-round picks, including 7-2 center Malgorzata Dydek, whom the Utah Starz made the No. 1 overall selection. Dydek, from Poland, has played six seasons professionally in Europe.

Sharp said Liberty officials contacted her in the past week to talk about Thompson, a possible indication that the team expected her to drop toward the end of the first round.

Tech names Wheeler native Distinguished Engineer

Garth Nash

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University recently named Garth Nash, Wheeler High School graduate and son of Mae Nash of Wheeler and the late C. Harold Nash, a Distinguished Engineer. Nash graduated from Tech with a bachelor of science degree in the Department of Electrical Engineering in 1963 and received his master of science degree in electrical engineering from Southern Methodist University.

His first employer after graduation was Collins Radio Company. In 1969, he went to work for Motorola where he has held positions in design, marketing, field technical management and systems sales management. In 1985, he joined VISIC as a regional sales manager, and in 1986 he moved to Thomson-Mostek/SIM as the vice president of Industry Marketing and Sales Director. In 1990, he returned to Motorola as vice president and director of the Communication Segment in World Marketing. In 1993, his responsibilities were expanded to include the Consumer Segment, and he was named a sector vice president. The Segment activities include worldwide sales, market development and directing the research and development activities of the Phoenix Technology Center.

Due to the emergence and the expansion of multimedia applications for semiconductors, Nash was named to direct the new Multimedia Segment of World Marketing in 1995. After this effort was successfully launched, he was promoted to technology director for World Marketing in 1996, to marketing director for Sector Technology in 1997 and then to his current position as vice president and director of communications for the Networking and Computer Systems Group of Motorola's Semiconductor Products Sector.

Nash is a Dan Noble Fellow, Motorola's highest technical recognition. He is also a Science Advisory Board Associate and holds twelve patents. He has also been recognized with a Motorola Distinguished Innovator Award.

He frequently speaks at business and technical conferences and has had several technical and marketing publications.

He is a new member of the Electrical Engineering Academy at Texas Tech.

He is an Elder in his church, and his hobbies include musical entertainment, tennis, golf, hunting, fishing and woodworking. He and his wife, Zandra, have raised two sons, Brett and Brannon.

China: President Clinton urges action on human rights, religious freedom

BEIJING (AP) — President Clinton urged Chinese President Jiang Zemin today to move forward on human rights and religious freedom while curbing exports of weapons technology. Clinton also gave assurances his long-term vision was one of "concrete cooperation" between their two countries.

With hundreds of Chinese still in prison and political expression still muffled, there are obstacles "to a fully comprehensive partnership," Secretary of State Madeleine Albright said at the end of two days of talks.

Albright was unable to persuade China to sign an international accord to curb export of missile technology nor reform its economy or open its markets enough to qualify for membership in the World Trade Organization, a senior U.S. official told The Associated Press.

Although Charlene Barshefsky, the U.S. trade negotiator will come here again before Clinton's summit meeting in June with Jiang, there is virtually no chance agreement can be reached by then on either front.

Clinton's appeal was contained in a message that Albright delivered to Jiang as they made preparations for Clinton's state visit in June. The Chinese leader, in a good mood, took Albright on a tour of his 600-year-old compound and a lakeside pavilion where some of the summit will be conducted.

The thrust of Clinton's letter was a desire to build on the momentum toward better ties that were established when Jiang visited Washington last October. He told the Chinese leader he wanted to see "new steps" taken to expand contacts between the two governments and their people.

Among Clinton's suggestions were exchanges of scientists and health and education specialists.

Braum's announces date of re-opening

Pampa's new and improved Braum's Ice Cream and Dairy Store, 901 N. Hobart, will re-open for business at 6 a.m. Friday, May 15. The 12-year-old store — closed since April 6 for renovations — will include a drive-thru window for customer convenience upon its re-opening.

This year, Bill and Mary Braum and their four children will celebrate 30 years of offering the highest quality ice cream and dairy products to their customers. With over 265 stores in five states, Braum's continues to be family-owned and operated.
