Norwood Lions Slate Big Benefit Pie-Box Supper

Samnorwood Lions will stage their big benefit event of the year, a pie and box supper, on Friday evening, January 4, in the school gymnasium. It will start at 7:30 p.m. This is the major money-raising event of the year for that civic club, and all money cleared will be divided between the crippled children's fund and the Kidetics, the Samnorwood-sponsored summer athletic program for boys and girls of that school district.

Doug Coleman, Lions president, will be in charge. Auctioneers will be Cortez Barnett and Bill Kirkland. "There will be prizes for the prettiest box and the organization bringing the most boxes, etc., and some more," W. R. Breeding, who is helping with the arrangements, announced. The Norwood Lions are seeking to make this more than a community event, and have extended a special invitation to Wellington business people and other friends of the school, as well as those from other nearby towns.

"This is a program everyone of us can help support. The Lions don't benefit one dime. All the money goes to the two children's groups," Breeding continued.

Commissioners to Push Brucellosis Control Work

The commissioners court and livestock men will meet Wednesday, January 2 to map plans of completing the brucellosis program in Collingsworth.

The meeting will be at 1 p.m. in the commissioners court room and any interested livestock men are invited, Commissioner W. R. Breeding said. John R. Henard is chairman of the brucellosis control campaign for the county.

Approximately 150 signatures are lacking on the petition asking that the county be put under the brucellosis control program, Breeding pointed out. It is at this point that the commissioners court came in to assist in the program.

"Testing for brucellosis will get under way in the counties around us in just a short time, and it is an imposition on the people buying cattle if we are (Continued on back page)

Mrs. J. J. Conner Dies Suddenly at Her Home

Mrs. J. J. Conner, a Wellington resident 35 years, died suddenly at her home, 101 Amarillo Street, at 5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Christian Church at 2 p.m. Saturday, with Gilbert Forrest, minister, officiating. Burial was in West Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Grandsons were pall bearers: Floyd Marvin Hood, Odie Hood, Don Hood, Charles David Hood, Joe Johnson and Clifford Beard.

Mrs. Conner was the former Mittie Caron Kelley, daughter of N. A. and Mary Jane Kelley. She was born June 13, 1892, at Texarkana, Ark.

She was married in 1908 to Odie Hood, who died in 1930. On April 6, 1943, she was married to J. J. Conner. She had been a member of First Christian Church 19 years at (Continued on back page)

Economic Development Plan Accepted for Collingsworth

The preliminary Overall Economic Development Plan for Collingsworth county was accepted Thursday, Dec. 20, by the Overall Economic Development Board as an initial step to set in motion the Area Redevelopment Program.

The acceptance was made at a meeting of the board, presided over by Henry Sullivan, chairman of the Executive Committee.

This 90-page report goes first to J. E. Lyle, state representative for the Area Redevelopment Administration for the Texas Employment Commission, and later it will be submitted to other agencies of the Area Redevelopment Administration for approval.

This county-wide plan and the movement behind it seeks to revitalize Collingsworth, Sullivan pointed out.

"The average age of Collingsworth county is away up yonder," he remarked. "The labor survey people who were in here were appalled at the number of houses where they knocked and there would be a retired couple."

Briefly Sullivan summed up the report: It spells out the authority of the Overall Economic Development Board; it describes the redevelopment and the economy of this area, which covers the entire county. It describes the labor force, the economic resources and the unemployment and under-employment status of the county.

The report gives reasons contributing to the economic decline of the county and the solutions sought to those problems.

Basic among the solutions is the overall development of Collingsworth county water resources, under the program of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District.

"We can have enough water to irrigate 30,000 acres, but we have 60,000 that could be irrigated," Sullivan said.

Bob Crawford, member of the technical committee, outlined some of the solutions which would include education, technical assistance, and adequate long-term credit.

"We must try to get venture capital in this area," he declared.

The remainder of the meeting was given over to a discussion of agricultural and industrial development possibilities for the county.

"If anyone tells you ARA is a government give-away program, that isn't right. It does make available money for a longer time and at a little bit cheaper interest, but it has to be paid back," Sullivan said. (Continued on back page)

Mrs. J. D. Aaron will be installed as county treasurer, a post she now holds.

Judge C. C. Bishop will begin another term in the office of county judge.

Claude McKinney will become justice of the peace, succeeding Raymond Horton.

Father of Mrs. Mauldin Dies

V. E. Watson, 65, died in a Dallas hospital Tuesday, Dec. 18 at 12:15 p.m., as a result of a stroke he suffered about 11 p.m. the preceding night. He was the father of Mrs. Hubert Mauldin.

As Mr. Watson suffered the stroke, he fell onto a stove and was badly burned, however, after an autopsy doctors attributed his death to the stroke.

Mrs. Watson found her husband when she returned home from work, a few minutes after the accident occurred.

Funeral services were conducted at Dallas Thursday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Watson had been in failing health for seven years and had not visited the Mauldin family here in about nine years.

Mr. and Mrs. Mauldin and their sons, Richard and Charles and their nieces, Sandra and Beverly Owens, attended the funeral.

Where Trucks Can't Go

Firemen Test New Tanks at Racing Grass Fire

Wellington firemen tried out new equipment for the first time Saturday night, Dec. 22, at a spectacular grass fire a short distance west of town that kept them out most of the night.

This was one of three fires to which the department was called that day, Police Chief Troy Marsh said.

Rising wind around 8:30 p.m. whipped up the blaze from the burning burr pile, maintained by the Farmers Co-op Gin a half mile west of the north-west corner of town, he said.

The fire jumped the road and went down the creek bed on the Sam Hollingsworth farm.

Here, firemen put to use two new "Indian" fire pumps, recently bought by Collingsworth county for the department.

Unable to get the rural fire truck up to the blaze, Firemen Johnny Cagle and Jim Sikes put on the pumps and quickly cut off the blaze.

"They really worked," Cagle said. The pumps, he explained, are carried on the firemen's backs and hold seven and one-half gallons of water, which comes out as a fine spray.

Saturday about 11 a.m. firemen were called to Matt Johnson Buick and Pontiac Co., where a car caught fire while it was being repaired. The wiring system of the vehicle was destroyed, Cagle said.

At 6:30 p.m., the department was called to the Lutie Gin, where the burr pile was burning. Shamrock firemen also answered the call and had the blaze under control when Wellington firemen arrived.

A Quiet Holiday

Christmas in Germany Recalled by City Woman

Most Christmas festivities in Germany fall between Christmas and New Year, rather than in the days beforehand, Mrs. Ray Hill, who came here eight years ago as a bride, recalled during the holidays.

Some of the customs of her homeland she still observes with her own children. Others are typically American.

"In Germany, we do not decorate the tree until Christmas eve afternoon," Ruth Hill said. "We use real wax candles, which are lighted. We wrap walnuts in silver paper and hang them from the tree."

The Christmas tree itself is a tradition of her native Germany, and from there the lovely custom has spread around the world.

Christmas eve night, Mrs. Hill recalls, her father dressed as Santa Claus and appeared to distribute gifts from the tree to her and her brother and sister.

"Everyone stayed at home on Christmas eve," she added.

The traditional Christmas eve supper was of bockwurst, a German sausage.

Christmas day itself was observed quietly.

"New Years was when we had our celebrations. After we received our gifts, my brother and sister and I shined our shoes and set them outside our door. During the night St. Nicholas visited us and left gifts in our shoes," Mrs. Hill added.

Mrs. Hill grew up in Berlin, (Continued on back page)

Wreck Damages Two Vehicles

An intersection collision at the corner of Seventh and Dalhart resulted in considerable damage to a pickup and a car, Police Chief Troy Marsh reported.

Involved in the collision were the 1959 pickup driven by C. C. Taylor, who was traveling east on Seventh, and a 1955 car, driven south on Dalhart by Winford Downs.

Both were shaken but neither was reported as injured.

Large Group Visits The Jack Davises

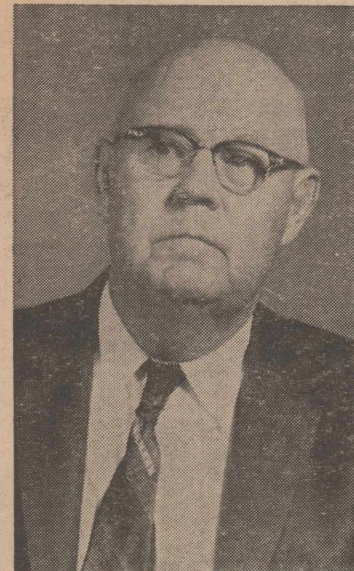

Holiday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis were their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas of Manhattan, Kan.; their son, A/2c Joe Davis of Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base, Clinton, Okla.; Mrs. Davis's mother and sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Ward and Miss Sue Ward of Ada, Okla.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Davis of Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Nichols of Columbus; Miss Annie Davis, Mrs. Woodson Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Horton, Kris, Kelly and Kathy, of Hollis.

In the first round, the Rockettes lost to Matador, then defeated Roaring Springs to go in the consolation finals, where they defeated Guthrie 45 to 42.

The Rockets lost their first game to Matador 50 to 46 to go into consolation play.

In their second game they won over Munday 41 to 29, and took their final victory from Chillicothe 42 to 30.

One November Accident

County Had 4 Traffic Fatalities in 1962

The Highway Patrol investigated one rural accident in Collingsworth county during the month of November, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

This wreck accounted for an estimated property damage of $900.

The rural traffic accident summary for Collingsworth county from January through November of 1962 shows a total of 16 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were four persons killed and 11 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $15,860.

Traffic-wise, December is traditionally the most dangerous month of the year. Just what makes it so dangerous? It is a time of goodwill, cheer and celebration. Why should it be so dangerous?

The sergeant stated there can be many reasons for this. The month of December has fewer daylight hours than any other month. We usually have some bad weather. People insist on celebrating holidays with intoxicating beverages. Many are preoccupied with holiday activities and do not apply their full attention to their driving and walking. There will be some traveling at excessive speed to reach their destination. Others will be fatigued because of not stopping for rest along the way.

"Facing the prospect of 92 traffic deaths during the holidays, our patrolmen are working overtime hours, and they will remain especially alert for those serious law violations which are responsible for most fatal accidents—such as excessive speed and driving while drinking," he said.

"In other words, we will be doing everything within our power to prove the statistics, which are so often right, are wrong for the holiday season. And we trust that holiday motorists will help by heeding the traffic laws and rules of safety."

In other nearby counties during November: Childress had two accidents, with $1250 property damage;

Cottle county, three accidents, one person injured, $1150 property damage;

Donley, one accident, $165 in property damage;

Gray, eight accidents, five persons injured, $3,910 property damage;

Hall, six accidents, one fatal accident, with one death, two persons injured, $2,085 property damage. (Continued on back page)

COUNTY OFFICIALS TO BE INSTALLED

Six county officials will take the oath of office in a ceremony Wednesday, January 3. In the top row from left are Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge; Mrs. Ruth Aaron, county treasurer; and Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, county-district clerk. Below are W. R. Breeding, commissioner of Precinct 4, left, and Alfred Knoll, commissioner of Precinct 2. Not shown is the sixth official, Claude McKinney, former sheriff, who will be installed as Justice of the peace.

Routine Day of Patrolman Features Former County Man

Editor's Note: A former Wellington man was featured recently by The Amarillo Daily News in its account of a routine day for a Texas highway patrolman.

Richard Beall, the young patrolman, grew up northwest of Wellington and is one of a number of young men from this county who have made law enforcement work a profession.

By SELDEN HALE
Staff Writer

Patrolman Richard Beall, a veteran of six years with the Texas Highway Patrol, stands behind his patrol car on the edge of a Panhandle highway—wonders.

Minutes before, the crackly-voiced radio in the patrol car told him a liquor store on the edge of Amarillo had been robbed. The getaway car is heading in Beall's direction.

Merchants Told to Advise

Babson Sees No Solution To Cuban Problem in 1963

By Roger Babson
Business and Employment

The business situation will vary with different industries, and hence with different cities. Some defense centers will boom; steel cities will still find the going tough . . . but better than a year ago. Considering the high level of the past ten years it will not be surprising for 1963 to show a moderate decline in business. If so it should come in the second or third quarter, with recovery in the fourth quarter, followed by a good 1964.

Disposable personal income will remain high. With increased savings deposits and little change in the cost-of-living, the public should continue to spend freely, especially if merchants maintain their advertising outlays.

Inventories will remain about the same during 1963. But government spending will increase over $3 billion—largely on defense—and $2 billion on new roads. Whether manufacturers will hike their expenditures for new machinery in 1963 in view of the depreciation tax credit, I would not now forecast.

All this means that business and employment for your city in 1963 will depend largely upon the attitude of its leading businessmen. If they will be optimistic and spend more on new plants, advertising, and salesmanship, we should have nothing to fear.

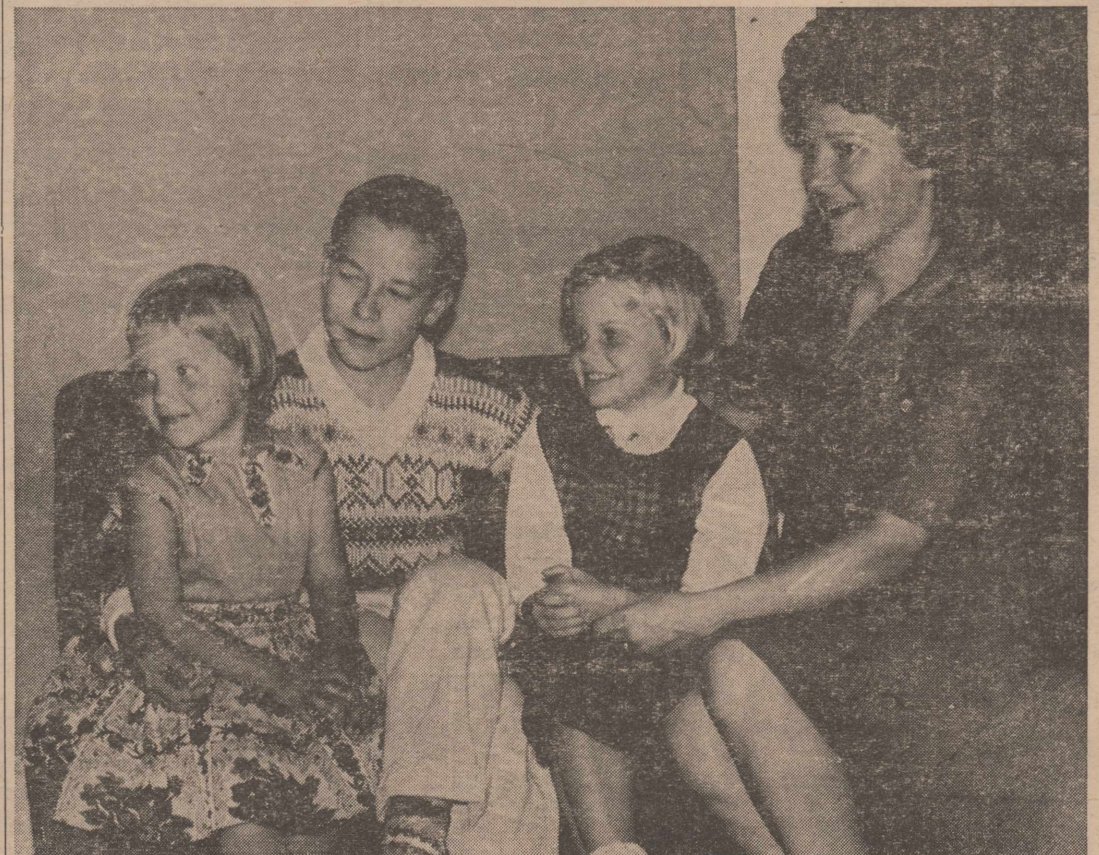

Stocks and Bonds

My father used to tell me, "It is okay, Roger for you to make forecasts . . . but never put dates on them!" I forecast that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average will register lower sometime during 1963 and stocks will show an average yield of about 4%. Either dividends must be increased or prices of stocks must go lower. Both cannot continue forever so poorly adjusted.

The above comment refers primarily to industrial stocks. I forecast that both the gross and net earnings of utility stocks will advance during 1963 and for some years thereafter. The utility cumulative preferreds have reached a point whereby they will closely follow interest rates as determined by the Federal Reserve Banks. The utility common stocks

CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS IN GERMANY TOLD

Mrs. Ray Hill during this holiday season has recalled some of the Christmas customs of her native Germany for her three children. From left, they are Joyce, Ronnie and Sheree, and Mrs. Hill. She came to Wellington 8 years ago. She and

Mr. Hill were married in Berlin, her home, while he was stationed there with the United States Armed Forces. She has not returned for a visit, and her parents have not seen the two girls.

should slowly rise in price provided they are not unjustly limited by legislation or by state and federal regulatory commissions.

As for the railroad stocks, I generally feel bearish. A war with Cuba or a world nuclear war breaking out anywhere could cause the stocks of all transcontinental railroads to go up sharply in price; but down they would come again. We are today in an electronic age and no longer in a railroad age. Those who desire to invest in common stocks should stick to the oils, chemicals, and electronics. Even then keep in mind Newton's Law of Action and Reaction which will always determine the time to buy and sell common stocks.

Regarding bonds I am not pessimistic for 1963. Certainly, the non-taxable bonds will sell higher during 1963. Also, good short-term corporation and government bonds will be safest to hold. Long-term corporation and government bonds may sell for less sometime during 1963. Long-term bond prices vary with interest rates and the probability of inflation.

Building and Real Estate

There may be some decline in residential building in 1963; and shopping centers in many suburban developments may remain at a standstill for a while. However, so much money is piling up in savings banks which must be invested, it seems that by 1964 many more new homes will be built. In this connection, when purchasing a house or business property, be sure to study the land, which usually improves in price while the value of the building declines.

When constructing new frame houses, build either single homes or houses with only two apartments on the ground floor. There will be considerable new building of brick apartment houses, which should keep filled so long as they are well maintained. Old apartments and old houses will decline in price during 1963.

The less attractive outlook for home building generally does not apply to government or public buildings, or to all commercial buildings. The real estate developers, however, must spend more on advertising in 1963 to meet the growing competition.

Retail Trade

Naturally, there will be a seasonal letdown in retail trade after Christmas and the mark-downs which follow January 1. That will be the time to look for bargains. Scan the advertisements well. This especially applies to merchandise that depends more or less on style, such as dresses, coats, hats, and shoes. Buy good quality items that can be passed down to the younger children. Over all, I expect 1963 to see a somewhat higher level of retail trade than has prevailed in 1962.

Purchases made at real mark-downs could be good cause for opening a new charge account. But be very careful to build up a name for good credit. You can arrange to pay some in 30 days, some in 60 days, and some at 90 days; but be sure to pay a little before your account is due. Good credit at a good retail store will help you and your husband (or wife) when you may need this credit later to buy real estate or start a business of your own.

Cuban Outlook

I forecast that the Cuban problem will not be settled in 1963. It may extend until after the 1964 presidential elections. The Russians have removed their missile installations and bombers from Cuba, in accordance with President Kennedy's demands. In return, Mr. Khrushchev will undoubtedly want some concession in Berlin, or in Turkey—which now bottles up Russia in the winter due to Turkey's control of the Dardanelles.

Khrushchev must placate his people at home by improving rather than reducing their standard of living. I saw this very clearly when I was in Moscow. He helped Castro only so that he would have something to trade with the United States, either in connection with Berlin or with our bases which we now have in Europe. Khrushchev expected to later withdraw from Cuba when he first decided to help Castro. He knew Russia could continue to use Cuba as a base for Russian submarines. Now both Khrushchev and Castro are looking to save face at home.

Some think the Cuban francs will make President Kennedy much tougher with labor here in the United States, but I disagree. Labor leaders may be more reasonable in their demands, but they will continue to have friends at the White House.

Labor and the Profit Margin
Readers should realize that the steel workers can reopen their wage contract after May 1, 1963. The settlement of this contract will be very likely to influence other labor disputes, depending largely on international conditions.

I feel that our country is becoming "immune" to crises, believing that the cold war will continue for years to come. There, however, will be no nuclear war within our generation and no international war of any kind in 1963.

Labor should begin to realize in 1963 that wages finally depend upon the employer's margin of profit. The year 1962 has seen many employers close down because of their slight margin. Small businessmen—both manufacturers and retailers—must have a larger margin of profit in order to exist. There are too many mergers into bigger units and too many failures of worthy employers. Labor leaders are largely responsible for this unfortunate development and are slowly pricing themselves out of business. Sooner or later this can result in much unemployment. A tax cut will not solve this difficulty.

Commodity Prices

Nineteen-sixty-three will see many basic commodities sell for lower prices. Despite domestic production cutbacks for many raw materials, world supplies will continue their uptrend. These surpluses in world markets will place additional downward pressure on commodity prices in the U. S. There will be exceptions in hybrid corn, Idaho seed potatoes, and other selected crops. Much depends upon the weather and the ability to hold over surpluses.

Prices of peaches, apples, citrus and other fruits depend principally upon the weather. Improvements in canning, freezing, and storage have been greatly advanced, while the big supermarkets have been beneficial in stabilizing prices. The hope of the fruit growers rests in co-operative advertisements in newspapers and other media.

Certain basic chemicals will surely decline in price due to over-production and competition from imports. The U. S. Justice Department claims to be working for consumers in its fights with many companies such as the dairy concerns, but in the end supply and demand will determine the result and not legislation or court decisions.

Taxes and Inflation

Before the Kennedy Administration retires, I forecast that we will have either more taxes or more inflation. Neither, however, need come in 1963. The stock market may discount the expected inflation by temporarily continuing above 600 on the Dow-Jones Industrial Average. The November elections indicate that the voters want a "welfare state" and I believe this means more inflation rather than more taxes.

The old saying, "We cannot have our cake and eat it too," is certainly true today. The elections referred to above indicate that the majority of voters really believe they can have all these temporal benefits such as medical care for the aged, medical and hospital payments, more social security, etc., without having to pay the bill either through increased taxes or through inflation.

With all that is promised to young people in the form of free education, college scholarships, etc., in addition to the above-mentioned help, this means that the employed people, from ages 25 to 65, must carry the entire burden. Sometime they will rebel, but it will not be in 1963 although it might come at the next presidential election. Certainly the enactment of a "real" all-inclusive tax cut is no sure thing. It may look good to the "working man" but not to investors or employers.

The United States Dollar and Gold

The purchasing power of our dollar will gradually be less, but this statement applies also to the currency of all countries. If our dollar declines in value it will be the same for every nation. If we devalue the dollar or temporarily look prosperous by phony bookkeeping, the other nations will gradually follow suit and we will all wind up where we started.

The dollar will not be devalued in 1963, although the Wall Street and Lombard Street brokers will put out propaganda to the contrary.

Now, a final word with regard to gold. The United States will continue to lose gold on balance during 1963. The only way to prevent it in 1963 is for us to export more goods and import less. This would require certain sacrifice on the part of our people.

Since my trip to Africa, I have concluded that the answer is in producing more gold than leaving it underground. If gold had a free market, its production would increase naturally and it would then represent one of the safest and most profitable investments available today. Another one may be uranium oxide.

Of course, large quantities of gold may be found on the surface of the moon—which brings me to my final subject, which I hope readers will take seriously.

Going To The Moon

Nobody will reach the moon in 1963 or in 1964, but you will see more and more about it in the newspapers during 1964—or 1965. Do not think that the United States will be the only country preparing for this trip. Russia, England, France, Germany, and possibly China are preparing today to go to the moon. With labor getting 15 cents for a twelve-hour day in China and with booster engines purchasable abroad, China may be the first to get to the moon. China does not need to be a member of the United Nations in order to send a rocket and three men to the moon and return. China's trip to the moon may be financed by foreign capital. China will win the territory it wants in India and ultimately get Burma.

Buying of "going to the moon" stocks may become a very active speculation. The original hoisters will be paid for by some government, but their operation will be left for profit. The situation may compare with our great "gold rush" in 1849. However, it will not be limited to gold, but will also include diamonds, platinum, and perhaps other elements which are not yet in our chemistry books. My great-grandparents were all seafaring men taking people from New England down the East Coast of South America around the Horn and up the Pacific Coast—a trip of two months. The astronauts say that they can make the trip to the moon easily in less than four days. One final thought. If the Kennedy Administration gets into too much of a jam between taxes and inflation, the promotion of trips to the moon may pull them out of their troubles. By enticing private capital which is now in need of some attractive speculative investments, this might even bring about another big stock market boom in the late Sixties.

The Cards Are on the Table...
Faces Up...

Pick Yourself a Winning Hand

SOME people say that Fate has a habit of dealing from the bottom of the deck when she's distributing cards for the high-stakes game of Making-a-Living.

But, as a matter of fact, many of the highest cards in this rugged game are lying right out on the table, in plain sight, just waiting for us to pick them up.

These optional cards—optional because we can do as we please about picking them up or ignoring them—are the Aces in the Making-a-Living game... the symbols of Better Business Opportunities, Better Jobs, and other aids to winning more chips.

It's very simple: these high cards... these valuable helps in making a living... are ours to keep and to hold... if we trade more with our own neighbors at home.

For the dollars we spend here make bigger trade volume and more prosperity... great cards to hold in a showdown.

Mrs. Dick Elbert

Quail Church Setting for Wedding of Miss Moseley and Dick Elbert

In a double ring service read in the Quail Baptist Church on Saturday evening, December 22, at five o'clock, Miss Betty Moseley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moseley of Quail, became the bride of Dick Elbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elbert, 1497 Childress St., Wellington.

An arch covered with foliage, and baskets of foliage alternating with candelabra holding white tapers were used as altar decorations. Candles also lighted the bridal aisle.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Lowell Wells, pianist, and Don Moore, vocalist.

Mr. Moseley gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown was of Alencon lace above a bouffant peau de soie skirt that swept to a chapel train. Seed pearls and sequins outlined the sabrina neckline and the long sleeves tapered to points at her wrists. Appliques of matching alencon lace accented the skirt. Her illusion veil was attached to a queen's crown of seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was of white flowers atop a white lace-covered Bible.

Miss Diane Moseley was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Linda Jenkins, Miss Rita Patterson, Mrs. Dan Hiett of Abilene, and Miss Linda Kay Elbert of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore dresses of red delustered satin, made with long tapered sleeves and bell-shaped skirts. Their pillbox hats were of matching satin to which were attached short veils. They carried cascade bouquets of carnations.

Alton Glenn of Denver, Colo., was best man, and ushering duties were taken by Bill Moseley, brother of the bride; and Mike Rainey, Larry Sullivan of Dallas, and Don Moore of Amarillo.

Miss Jenny Ann Kennedy and Miss Donna Glenn of Amarillo lighted the candles. They also wore red delustered satin dresses.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Moseley were hosts at the reception in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Mrs. Ronnie George of Canyon, Mrs. Bill Moseley, and Miss Glenn.

As the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a white wool dress and white cashmere coat, trimmed with a wedding ring collar of white mink.

A graduate of Quail high school, the bride is now a freshman in West Texas State College. Among her many high school honors, she was chosen to attend Girls' State, participated in the State Farm Bureau Contest, and was Area I president of the Future Homemakers of America.

The bridegroom, who was graduated from Wellington, attended West Texas State College and Draughton's Business College, where he was president of his fraternity. He is now employed by First Supply Company in Amarillo.

Upon returning from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert will be at home at 102 West 28th Street, Amarillo.

Mrs. Ralph Ball Observes Fiftieth Anniversary as Eastern Star Member

November 28 marked the fiftieth anniversary of Mrs. Ralph Ball as an active member of the Order of the Eastern Star, and one whose membership is continuous in both the order and the chapter.

The Wellington Chapter honored Mrs. Ball recently at a dinner. Mrs. Johnny Parker, worthy matron, presided and Mrs. Ruby Hardison of Chil-

District Deputy, presented Mrs. Ball with a 50-year pin and certificate as gifts of appreciation from the chapter.

Mrs. Ball is the second generation of her family to be active in the Wellington chapter. Her mother, the late Mrs. J. B. Curtner, was a charter member. Mrs. Ball was initiated into the organization, the women's order of the Masonic Lodge, in 1912.

Since then, she has held every office at least once. In 1940 and 1941, Mrs. Ball was worthy matron, and 10 years ago, in 1952, she was district deputy grand matron, chosen by the Grand Chapter of Texas. It was the first time a Wellington woman had held the office. Mrs. Ball is still active in the work, which she knows by memory, and she often helps others in this.

School Mixing Law Held Invalid

AUSTIN.—Attorney general has ruled that a Texas law requiring an election prior to integration of a public school system is unconstitutional.

Wilson says the Texas law conflicts with the decision in the original U.S. Supreme Court desegregation case in 1954.

About 50 Texas districts have voted to desegregate since the act was passed in 1957.

Several others voted against the change.

Capital Landmark Will Be Preserved

Money raised by the Austin Heritage Society prevented demolition of the old historic Lundberg Bakery building in Austin.

Sufficient funds were raised to make a down payment on the building, located just across from the Capitol grounds. Building was erected in 1876 and served as a bakery until 1937. An eagle and flagpole rising above the classical arch over the white brick facade are in keeping with the character of the 74-year-old State Capitol.

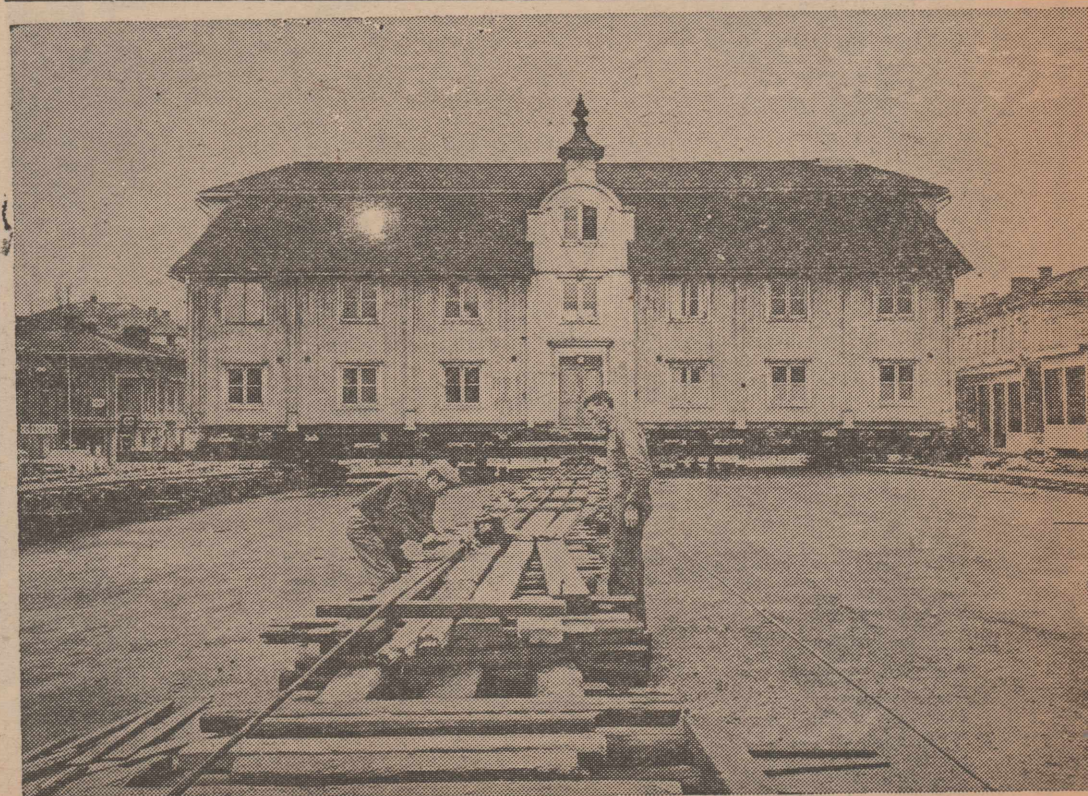

The Heritage Society and the Austin Junior League plan to restore the Lundberg building and make it a tourist information center. A coffee bar, a home-baked goods exchange and a crafts and souvenir center will provide operating expenses and pay off the mortgage.

NEWS LETTER

from Congressman
WALTER ROGERS

EXPENSE ACCOUNT RED TAPE

The subject of expense accounts has been in the news in recent weeks due to a proposed ruling of the Internal Revenue Service. The ruling was intended to close some suspected loopholes in the manner of reporting deductions for business expenses under income tax law. It generated deserved condemnation by a cross section of the business community, as well as others.

Certainly we would all agree that everyone should be covered by the same regulations with regard to payment of taxes. We would further agree that if persons were caught cheating, they should be required to respond in appropriate damages and penalties.

However, government employees sometimes become so dedicated and enthused with relation to their duties that they overlook some of the basic issues involved. Too many times greater attention is paid to streamlining the methods of forcing compliance with government rules and regulations than proper appreciation of the rights of the taxpayer.

It is very well for government employees to be efficient. Such efficiency should be rewarded in government employment. However, all government employees should be constantly reminded of the fact that the business people and the individual taxpayers who are subjects of these rules and regulations are the same people who are paying the government employees' salaries.

It must be remembered that these people cannot spend all of their time keeping records and filling out forms for the government if they are going to be able to produce the wealth from which the taxes are to be paid.

It would seem to me that if more effort were devoted to methods of decreasing the book work and other burdens on the business community and the individual taxpayers, and less effort toward trying to make the taxpayer do all of the accounting for the government, the better interests of the country would be served.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where some African so-called nations wouldn't let Senator Ellender come by to see them because he said their politicians are too ignorant to run a country.

Which is probably a factual statement, but it is pointed out by some commentators that in the new public - relationized world, being truthful shows bad taste.

And my barbecue expert neighbor says he can understand why many slightly-emerged Africans would like their visitors to be younger, juicier, and have a good taste.

I see where the government aims to expend its Food Stamp Plan, which provides groceries at a big discount to folks whose after-tax income won't cover the cost of proper nourishment.

A 16-months test shows the Plan is a success, like any other program to pass out money is considered a success if the beneficiaries like it.

My respective neighbor is writing his Congressman about bringing up a Car Stamp Plan now, for the benefit of people suffering from being taxed-down to driving second-hand cars.

I see where the President made a little speech at a Christmas party the other day, and casually recommended that people pray for the country.

My extremist Christian neighbor says he has tried this through several administrations, and if it has done any good, things would sure be in a mess if he hadn't.

Says, though, that giving official encouragement to people inviting the Lord to intervene in affairs of state is liable to get Mr. Kennedy declared unconstitutional.

I see where France, Russia, and several other close-fisted nations won't pay their part of the cost of U. N. troops going down to pacify the independent-minded Katangese.

My tu-tu neighbor says this tightwadishness may mean failure of the great United Nations crusade to shoot all Katanga people who are not agreeable to sharing their nation's wealth.

And this failure would probably set back the world's onward march to universal peace by two or three weeks.

I see where a Peace Corps for home use is being drummed up, with one of its jobs being to convey light to our troubled American Indians.

But my glumical neighbor says this program won't do the Indians much good, after all the years experience they have had under the guidance of other task forces of Federal weight throwers.

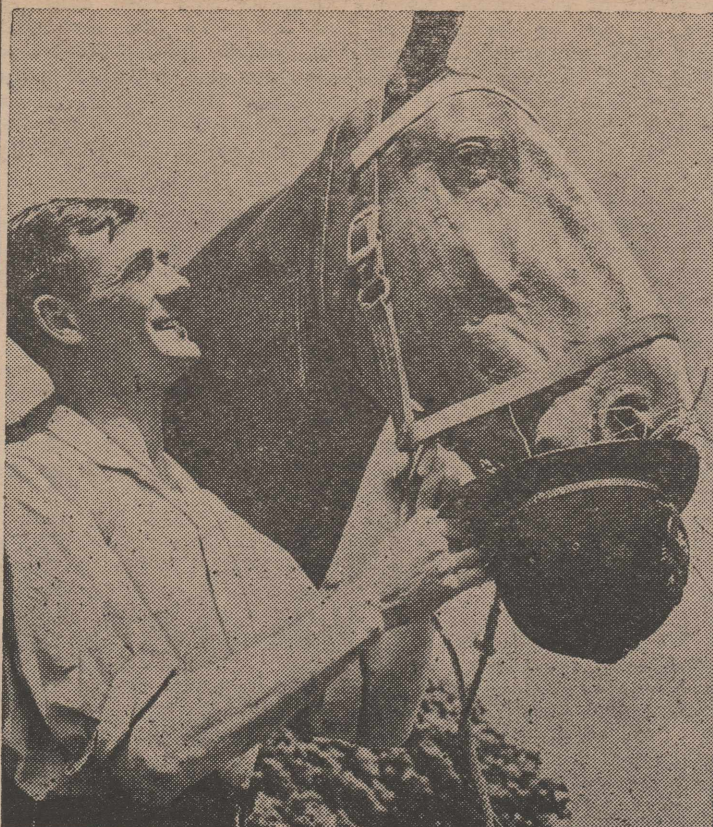

Says, though, when Washington's agents get a situation fouled up, it is customary to send out another crew to re-fumble it, until it looks good the way it was.

I note that new bureaucrats blossoming in Washington these days mostly tend to be younger, and soggy with the second-hand wisdom unloaded on them by book writers, who got their dope from other books, etc.

My seasoned neighbor says there is no substitute for youth and contentment of mind that prevails before a man learns how much there is that he don't know.

Says, though, in getting younger leaders, it looks like about all we have accomplished is replacing the dogmatic with the puppymatic.

HORSE'S MOUTH—Police Constable Robert Campbell of Liverpool, England, shows that more than a rabbit can be drawn out of a hat as he gives "Odine" a little supper.

Health Act Has Teeth in It

Joseph F. Lakey, director of the State Health Department's division of food and drugs, said that passage of the Texas Food Drug and Cosmetic Act of 1961, gave his enforcement officers a law with "teeth" in it.

Lakey, who became director in 1946, started working for the act in 1947 with the support of almost every civic club in Texas. It finally was passed last year.

It prohibits the manufacture, sale or delivery of any adulterated or misbranded food, drug, device or cosmetic.

"Teeth" in the act include:

1. A clause that says any food is adulterated if prepared, held packed or stored under conditions whereby it could be contaminated.

2. Labeling restrictions calling for a statement of ingredients, and the manufacturer's name and address; and

3. An embargo provision that allows time for laboratory tests of a suspicious product before it can be released on the market.

Sharpest "tooth" is a stiff penalty for a second offense—$100 to $1,000 fine, or one year in the county jail, in addition to destruction of the product.

Lakey stated that in the past year about 5,500,000 pounds of contaminated food had been removed from the market without court action.

Oil Allowable Formula Changed

Texas Railroad Commission changed its formula for setting oil allowables from a pattern of "day's production" to a "percentage-of-monthly-allowable" plan.

It's an advantage to the commission, since this makes it easier to set allowables closer to actual market demand.

January allowable of 26% means oil production in state will be increased by 11,055 barrels daily—an average total of 2,711,490 barrels a day.

Sponsor of the percentage plan, the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, was pleased, according to a commendation by TIPO president Johnny Mitchell of Houston.

Chairman William J. Murray Jr., surprised oil producers with the announcement that the commission intends to set a new rule, effective March 1, requiring oil gatherers to display lease signs and lease numbers on or nearby all lease tanks.

Junior Colleges Can Tax

Right of 34 local public junior college districts to levy ad valorem taxes was upheld by the Texas Supreme Court.

A majority of the justices failed to find anything in the State Constitution prohibiting the privilege.

Constitutionality of the creation of public junior college districts and their right to a district property tax was questioned by seven property owners in the San Jacinto Junior College District.

With the Supreme Court's decision, the school now can proceed with a $2,500,000 building program. Several other junior colleges — including those at Hillsboro, Athens, Wharton and Cisco — very likely also will now begin to build.

Court's decision was countered with a dissenting opinion written by Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert. He called the tax unconstitutional. Those who backed its validity admitted that the 1929 constitutional amendment for public junior colleges was a patchwork thing. In fact, they stated that all public school laws in Texas are "confused, vague and conflicting."

Land Program May Be Extended

AUSTIN. — Jerry Sadler, Commissioner of the General Land Office, says that he will recommend to the 1963 Legislature that it extend the Texas Veterans' Land Program.

"Only 29,000 out of the one million qualified Texans have purchased land under the program and I am receiving 600 letters each week from veterans who wish to participate," Sadler stated.

Funds currently on hand will not be sufficient to satisfy the demand if the present rate continues, he added.

Veterans' Land Program has proven to be a worthwhile experiment in rewarding Texas servicemen and women for their valorous defense of American freedom. It has not been a "give away" but has been paid for, without cost to the taxpayer, by those directly benefiting from it.

"Basic fairness and simple justice require a continuation of the program," Sadler concluded.

Some Money Is Tax Free

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in New York may use Texas money will to it, tax-free, under certain conditions.

Texas' Attorney General Will Wilson says such funds must be spent in Texas or in one of five states in the Texas region.

Wilson's opinion was requested by State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

He said money will be given to charitable organizations is taxable if the money is spent outside the specified area.

Collingsworth Starts a New Year With a New Promise of Progress

1963 could well be the decisive year for Collingsworth county.

Certain concrete work toward the county's progress will be done — is already in the mill, in fact, and will be carried out during the coming 12 months.

Part of this will come from private enterprise and personal get-up-and-go. Announcement will be made within a few days of an extensive enterprise to aid the county's cotton industry. This is already being discussed around but it is not quite ready for public announcement.

Another thing is the stud of the county's entry in the Area Redevelopment plan. This will use government money and other forms of assistance, but the sponsors of it, all solid business men, point out that it is no government give-away program.

This, too, is in the initial stage, but some of the best brains of the county are working on it, to determine how far the county wants to go in the program and what it wants to do about ARA.

Area Redevelopment ties in with the county's water improvement program and specifically, the building of dams. This is a dream — and dream it has been — of county leaders for many years. During 1962, concrete work was done in the form of surveys and engineering work.

This concrete work will be continued in 1963.

It cannot be said too often, nor urged too strongly, that this is going to require the work of everyone in Collingsworth county.

More work — far more — will be required of each individual if we are to accomplish it in 1963 than if we had done it in 1953.

Why? There are 25 per cent fewer people here to do it. That is a fact and a statistic.

And that is the trend that men who have put their shoulder to the wheel are trying to reverse in 1963.

It's different... I like it!

No matter how you open it, Dr Pepper tastes great. And no wonder. It's completely different — not a cola, not a root beer, but a happy blend of many fruit flavors. That's why so many people say, "It's different — I like it!"

Mrs. A. Tyrone Penick

Barbara Shanks Weds Tyrone Penick in Impressive Ceremony Fri. Evening

A double ring ceremony performed in the Bowie Street Church of Christ at five thirty o'clock in the evening, Friday, December 21, united in marriage Miss Barbara Shanks and A. Tyrone Penick, both students in Abilene Christian College.

Minister Grandol Forehand officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shanks, 1402 West Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winkler of Tipton, Oklahoma.

The wedding party entered by the center aisle, which was lighted by tall candelabra, entwined with smilax. The couple exchanged vows while standing on the top level of the podium. On either side of a wall screen of foliage, spiral standards held votive lights, and at the sides of the lower level, baskets held arrangements of greenery that cascaded to the floor.

Mr. Shanks gave his daughter in marriage.

She selected a formal princess gown of peau de soie, designed with elbow length sleeves. Oval and teardrop pearls accented the simulated jacket bodice, forming the gown's only embellishment. The controlled skirt with a bouffant back, enhanced with unpressed pleats, swept into a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil was attached to a cuff-shaped headpiece, encased in a fluted lace shell, intricately accented with pearls and crystal beads. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations, and her strand of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Peggy Shanks, only sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. Miss Sharon Penick, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sharon Skaggs, both of Tipton, Okla., were bridesmaids.

They were dressed identically in emerald green peau de soie dresses, made with batteau necklines, elbow-length sleeves and bell-shaped skirts. They wore matching circle veiled hats. The honor attendant carried an arrangement of gold grapes, while the bridesmaids each carried cascades of lime green grapes.

Melanie Cunningham of Memphis, the flower girl, wore a white peau de soie dress with emerald green sash and hair bow. John Wesley Bray of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Jimmie Smith of Tipton was the best man. Groomsmen were Max Logan and Jerry Logan, of Altus, Okla., while ushers were Dick Boggs of Snyder, and John Dudley of Tipton, Okla.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Shanks were hosts at a reception at the community building.

Members of the house party were Miss Johne Groves, Miss Donna Sherman, Miss Elaine Yarbrough, Miss Vicki Glenn, and Miss Anne Coleman of Wellington, and Miss Linda Sturgess of Tipton.

As the couple left on their wedding trip, Mrs. Penick wore a Dior blue suit with mink collar and a mink hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

After January 3, Mr. and Mrs. Penick will be at home at 1517 Avenue D, Abilene.

Granville King

Former Countian Has Remarkable Grid Record

A former Wellington man, described by Colorado sports writers as "a transplanted Texan with a flair for producing winning football teams," recently took his Class A Paonia Eagles into the state championship game, only to lose them to the Yuma high school team.

He is Granville King, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. King, who moved from here a number of years ago, living first at Childress, then in the Paonia, Colo., area.

In seven seasons of football coaching, King's teams have a record of 54-16-2.

"Granville King, who has never experienced a losing season and never finished lower than second in his league in seven years of high school coaching, is preparing (this was written before the championship game) for their third entry into state playoffs in the last four years," wrote Roy Pace, sports editor of the Delta County Independent, a semi-weekly newspaper published at Delta, Colo.

"The personable young coach has spent his entire high school coaching career in Delta county. During his five years at Paonia, King's teams have worked up a remarkable record of 43-8.

"Oddly enough, King's longest season at Paonia was the year he directed the Eagles to their greatest triumph, the first championship in the history of the school, back in 1959," Pace continued.

"King, a native of Wellington, Texas, coached a service team one season while serving in Germany with the Army and then began his high school coaching career in 1956 at Hotchkiss. He spent two seasons at Hotchkiss where his charges won 9, lost 7 and tied 2.

In both 1961 and 1962, the Paonia team went undefeated through the regular season. The closest any team came to them this year was 13 points.

"The 30 year old King started ed his athletic career at Childress high school, where he took part in football, basketball and track. He went on to letter three years as a guard for the Hardin Simmons College football team at Abilene," Pace wrote.

King is married and has a young son, Travis Rae, born Oct. 12, while the Paonia Eagles were mauling Gunnison 34 to 0 in a crucial Gunnison Valley A league football encounter.

Prescription Plan Ruled Illegal

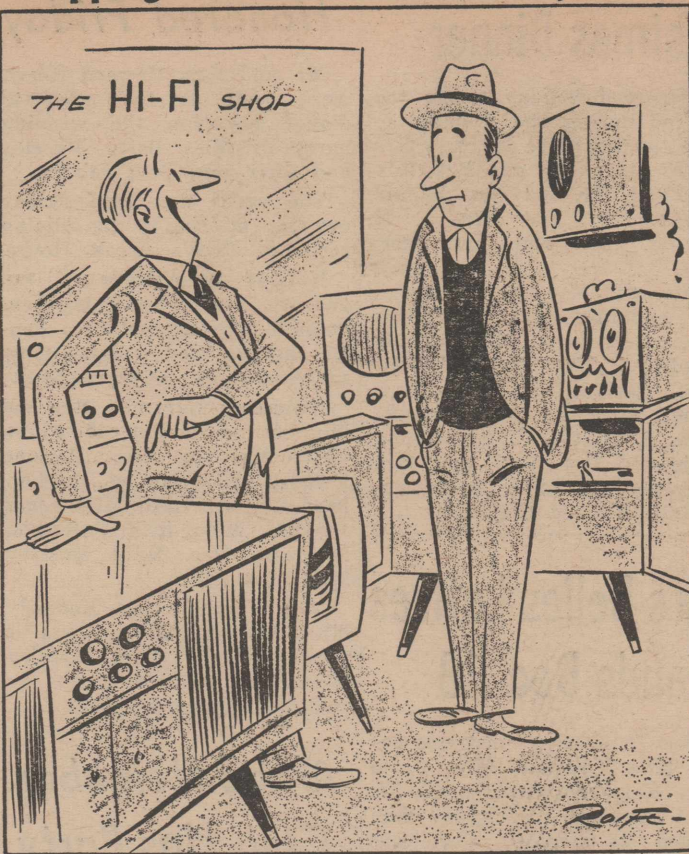

A proposed prepaid prescription plan has run afoul of the State Insurance Commission. Atty. Gen. Wilson has advised Ins. Commr. William A. Harrison that the plan would constitute engaging in the insurance business.

Harrison said that Prepaid Prescription Plan, Inc., had proposed a policy whereby prescriptions by doctors would be dispensed by licensed pharmacists to individuals or groups who become subscribers to the plan.

Company also planned to enter into contracts with pharmacists to provide this prescription service to subscribers.

President Garfield's term of office was completed by Chester A. Arthur.

Thereafter, licensing and supervision of all Texas firms or individuals using radioactive materials will be in the hands of the State Health Department.

Special Child Help Recommended

Texas Legislative Council has recommended state financing of public school classes for emotionally disturbed children.

Cost of the program would range between $320,000 and $375,000 the first year, according to Rep. C. W. Pearce Jr., of Temple, who headed the study committee making the recommendation.

Texas Citrus Production to Drop

Texas Employment Commission predicts a sharp cut in Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus production for 1962. Present estimate is about six per cent of last year's total—200,000 boxes of grapefruit and 80,000 boxes of oranges.

Drop was caused by a prolonged January freeze which killed or damaged a large number of trees.

Commission stated that seasonal agricultural employees in October totaled 204,600; a decrease of 76,000 from the total of harvest workers in October 1961.

Routine Day

Minutes pass and Beall wonders how soon the bandits will reach him. A .30 calibre semi-automatic rifle is strapped behind the seat of the patrol car and Beall wonders if he will need it. He wonders about his family at their new home in Amarillo. He wonders whether he paid the last premium on his life insurance. He just plain wonders.

Beall's day began at 6 a.m., when he told his family goodbye and stepped into the powerful, specially-equipped patrol car. It can easily travel up to 120 miles per hour and will turn corners at speeds that would fling ordinary cars spinning into a field.

Special springs stabilize the rear of the car, which is loaded with extra gear—ammunition, safety flares, fire extinguishers, chains, tools, several spare tires and more. The items in the trunk indicate the variety of problems Beall expects to run into each day. His primary job is traffic control, but giving stern lectures and/or tickets to speeders takes only a fraction of his time.

He gave one ticket just after leaving home this morning. Now, standing behind the shield of his car along the highway, Beall remembers the shadow of his present tension as he walked up to that car. Beall never knows what will happen when he steps up to a stopped car.

Only minutes after issuing a ticket to the motorist, a passing trucker told Beall of a suspicious car in high weeds down the road. A quick check showed it was stolen in Dallas and abandoned here, 300 miles away. Beall radioed for a wrecker to come get the car and resumed his routine patrol.

A few more speeding tickets and three warnings, then Beall was notified to pick up a package of blood and rush it to the hospital in a nearby town. The life of an injured man depended on getting the blood quickly and Beall headed for the Amarillo Blood Bank with siren and red light turned on. Within a few minutes he was back on routine patrol, the blood safely delivered—and in time.

A quick cup of coffee helped settle Beall's speed-jangled nerves, and then he was back at his regular patrol. He gave directions to some tourists and checked a hitchhiker's identification. He helped a stranded motorist get his stalled car to start.

It was all routine, the sort of things that crop up almost every day—and then the call about the holdup. That's when the day stopped being routine, and when Beall began wondering.

Then the routine asserts itself—Beall hears the radio saying the bandits have turned off the main highway and have been captured by other officers. Beall gets back in his car.
