Fantastic Swindle Of Ransom Funds Lands Former Federal Sleuth In Jail

GASTON MEANS ARRESTED IN KIDNAP CASE

Woman Claims She Turned Over Sum for Return Of Lindy Baby

$100,000 IS PAID

Accused Man Involved In Numerous Sensational Cases in Past

WASHINGTON, May 5. (US)—Gaston B. Means, sleuth extraordinary and former justice department secret investigator, was arrested today in connection with a $100,000 ransom for the Lindbergh baby.

He is charged with larceny after trust. It is alleged that Means was given the $100,000 by Mrs. Evelyn McLean, wife of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The money, it is alleged, was turned over to Means after he had represented to Mrs. McLean that he had inside information regarding the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby and that he could effect the return of the baby.

Mrs. McLean alleges, however, that Means has not carried out his plans and has not returned the money.

Caused Sensation

The arrest, causing a sensation in the capital, became known after Means had been taken into custody and rushed to the department of justice for questioning.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Needham Turnage, Means was held in $100,000 bond for a hearing next Tuesday.

The size of the bond was vigorously protested by Means' counsel, who said his client had never been a "fugitive from justice." The government insisted, however, that the amount of the bond should be as large as the sum of money involved.

The government has indisputable evidence that the $100,00 was turned over to Means by Mrs. McLean, government counsel told the commissioner.

Know He Got Money

"We have unimpeachable evidence that Means got the money from Mrs. McLean," District Attorney Rover said after the brief hearing.

"We know that he went to her early in March and told her his story that he could recover the child. We know that he got the money, that it was Mrs. McLean's money and I am sure that none of it was turned over to alleged kidnapers."

Means, known as a man of unusual calm, was unmoved as he entered the little office of the commissioner to answer the warrant. A smile wreathed his large round face as he spoke to several acquaintances. Outside the building as he was about to enter he posed for the cameramen. Such a crowd gathered that police had to be called to disperse it. Inside he literally basked in the flashlights as he waited for the hearing to begin.

Refused to Discuss

Before beginning Commissioner Turnage made a speech imploring the cameramen not to take pictures that a nearby bank had complained "people would think there was a run on the bank."

Means never stopped smiling, and although he was affable would not discuss the case except to say he had known for some days he was going to be arrested and had made no effort to escape.

When the warrant was read and he was asked to make a plea he said "not guilty" in a calm matter-of-fact tone. He was represented by J. W. Tomlinson.

Rover said that he was not ready with the necessary witnesses to proceed with the hearing today and asked for a continuance until next Tuesday. Asked about bond, he said:

"We are not here to try Means for his past crimes, but from his past record if the bond is not fixed at $100,000 he will not be here when we want him. We have unimpeachable evidence of his guilt and the bond is not too high."

Counsel Protests

Mean's counsel portested, but was promptly overruled.

Unable to raise the $5,000 fee which four professional bondsmen demanded for a $100,000 bond, Means was taken to the district jail. His attorney said, however, that he expected to procure the $5,000 fee and Means' liberty late tonight.

The arrest of Means came after an investigation by U. S. District Attorney Leo A. Rover, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the justice department also conducted an inquiry into the case.

The story leading up to the arrest is fantastic. It is alleged that Means, shortly after the Lindbergh baby had been kidnaped from the home of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J., approached Mrs. McLean with his "contact" story.

Woman Convinced

He is alleged to have declared that he could contact the kidnapers of the baby and that he could bring about its recovery if ransom money was provided.

Mrs. McLean, it was said, became convinced after a series of conferences with Means that he actually was in a position to contact the kidnapers and secure the child.

Finally Means, it is alleged, de-

Murray Orders Troops To Halt Oil Drilling Within Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 5. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray late today employed, his favorite resort, martial law, in his crusade to regulate oil operations.

His sweeping mandate applicable the oil activity within the city limits halted all drilling. Besides restricted zones, a great area of Capitol hill, south suburban district where most of the oil activity is located, was declared closed to oil development.

In his executive order, the governor commanded Adjt. Gen. Charles Franklin Barrett, in command of the state militia, to use national guard troops to effect enforcement if necessary.

Receives Report

The order was issued upon receipt of a report of a special committee the governor had delegated to inspect all city areas. He promised to take drastic action if they considered an extension of oil development created a fire hazard.

The committee report held that any considerable advance of drilling would endanger millions of dollars worth of city property in addition to potential danger of life.

At present 225 wells are located within the city limits. Certain groups and oil companies persistently have attempted to advance activity further into the metropolitan area.

City Covers Field

Geologists have reported that perhaps the richest part of the vast Oklahoma City oil field lies under city streets and skyscrapers. The most productive wells are those located either within the city limits or near the boundary.

J. T. Jones, state fire marshal, who headed the investigating committee, said extension of present drilling zones would be a serious menace to the city.

Catastrophe Possible

He pictured catastrophe should even a major fire break out in some of the developed wells within the city.

"If wells advance further in, an explosion, a common occurence in an oil field might ignite pockets of gas. Whole blocks might be wiped out in a flash by the conflagration," he said.

City officials have had difficulty resisting the intracity drilling campaign. In certain cases, they have admitted impotency in stemming the steady march of the gushers.

"Well, by God, that will stop them," Murray said as he signed the executive order.

Oil Theft Bared By Rail Board Workers

AUSTIN, May 5. (UP)—Returning to Austin from their investigation of oil thefts in the East Texas field, Railroad Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith attributed the discovery to H. W. McCurley and J. H. Inglish, commission employes.

Soldiers acting as spies among the by pass men had been heralded as the discoverers.

McCurley and Inglish and other commission employes have been carrying on a secret investigation for seven weeks, the commissioners said in a prepared statement. They also quoted Col. L. S. Davidson, commander of troops in the field, as saying that 90 per cent of the indictments were obtained on testimony furnished by the employes of the railroad commission. They cited also commendation of the commission employes work in the grand jury report in Rusk county.

Mysteriously Deserted Schooner Reported at Sea by Greek Seamen

GALVESTON, May 5. (UP)—The captain and crew of the Greek steamer Eugenia S. Embiricos, coming into port here today, told a strange story of encountering a deserted schooner off the Bermuda Islands, with nothing missing but the crew and an anchor.

The story, told by Capt. Themistocles Goulandris, recalled the mystery of the Marie Celeste, famed derelict schooner of the Atlantic, the fate of whose crew has never been learned.

Captain Goulandris said on April 23 his steamer encountered the John and Mary, two-masted fishing schooner of New York registry, about 50 miles south of the Bermudas. Her sails were furled, the hull was freshly painted and the ship seemed in good condition but not a soul was aboard.

An inspection party found nothing missing but the anchor. The party narrowly escaped drowning when their boat capsized on the way back to the Embiricos. Gales and heavy seas prevented towing the schooner to port.

The incident paralleled somewhat the finding of the Marie Celeste, derelict in mid-Atlantic, many years ago. All her sails were set and there were fires burning in the galley but no persons were aboard. The reason for abandonment never was learned.

Extortion Threats Bring Guards to Realtor's Home

CLEVELAND, May 5. (AP)—An attempt to extort $25,000 from Ellsworth H. Augustus, wealthy real estate man and nationally known golf star, under penalty of death was revealed today. The 80-acre Augustus estate has been placed under a heavy guard.

A letter demanding the money and threatening death unless its terms were complied with was received Monday by Augustus, he said today. He was instructed to put the money on a fence post by a gate at his estate in Waite Heights village, home of many Cleveland millionaires.

Augustus said he turned the note over to private detectives. Police Chief Theodore A. Myers of Willoughby also was notified.

BORAH SPEECH OUTLINES WAY TO RECOVERY

Armament, Reparations and Silver Subject Of Economic Talk

SENATE SPELLBOUND

Restlessness of People in All Nations Pointed Out By Iowan

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Three pathways to the economic recovery of the world were charted in the senate today by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee in a denunciation of international leadership and "timidity of governments."

Disarmament, settlement of the reparations problem, and restoration of silver were demanded by the Idaho orator, his powerful voice booming a challenge to the rulers of the world.

Senate Listens

Borah's frank discussion of economic and international problems held a crowded senate intent through most of the usual lunch hour. Unheralded, however, the speech was made before half filled galleries.

His unruly hair falling over his forehead, Borah warned that a failure of the Geneva disarmament conference would have world-wide effects and discourage investors.

He pointed to a restlessness of the masses, everywhere, at the failure of governments to meet the problems, adding "I do not know how long the people will be willing to carry the burden they are now carrying."

Restore Silver

Denouncing "gold mentality," Borah called upon the American government to take the lead in an international conference looking to the restoration of silver.

He warned that Rome did not fall from a lack of wealth, but because of a "defect in its administration."

Turning to reparations, Borah raised his hands for emphasis and warned they would "destroy Europe" unless they are settled.

"I venture this opinion," he said, "that unless armaments are reduced so that burden is lifted, unless reparations are settled so Europe can start on economic recovery and unless silver is restored to the place it occupied prior to 1925, to restore to some extent the purchasing power of one-half the world, there will not be any ready return to prosperity."

Burden Increased

The Idaho senator began with a statement that "when a man is lying on his bed with a broken leg and gangrene is setting in, he needs a doctor."

Then turning to the Geneva conference, he said it now is generally believed that it "will not accomplish anything of great moment in the way of reducing armaments."

Asserting that the leading nations are now devoting 75 per cent of their budget to wars, past and present, Borah said:

"I do not know of anything so calculated to discourage investors as the knowledge that the burden of armaments is not to be lifted, but increased.

Masses Restless

"We must not be unmindful of the fact that the masses everywhere, including our own country, are becoming restless.

"We do not accomplish things

Japanese Order Troops Withdrawn

SHANGHAI, May 5. (AP)—The Japanese high command announced tonight that evacuation of the troops who fought the battle of Shanghai already had been ordered in accordance with terms of a formal armistice signed earlier in the day by emissaries of the Chinese and Japanese governments.

The signing of the truce was a most unusual procedure. It was necessary to carry the document to two sickbeds.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister, affixed his signature in the hospital where he has been a patient since the Sanguinary Hongkew bombing last week—and a short time after he had written his name he was taken to an operating room where one of his legs was amputated.

Quo Tai-Chai, the Chinese representative, signed in his home, where he is recuperating from wounds inflicted by a group of students who attacked him Tuesday because they thought he was going to approve a peace in which China would be the loser.

INCOME TAXES GIVEN BOOST

1922 Rates Incorporated In Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, May 5. (US)—The senate finance committee cracked down on the American taxpayer with a vengeance today by boosting income tax rates skyward in the new revenue bill.

It voted to collect no less than one-fourth of the total revenues out of income taxes.

High 1922 normal and surtax rates were incorporated in the bill a few minutes after the committee, by a close margin of 12 to 8, defeated a general manufacturers' sales tax of one per cent. The sales tax, exempting food, clothing, medicine and farm implements, was estimated to yield $100,000,000.

A Democrat, Connally of Texas, who had voted to put tariff embargoes in the bill to protect lumber, oil, copper and coal interests, made the motion to jack up income taxes even higher than the doubled rates approved by the committee last week. Estimated to produce an additional $100,000,000, the new income schedules raised the bill's total revenues approximately to the $1,032,000,000 figure of the house.

The budget, however, is still not balanced because of the economy bill's butchering by the house. The committee expects to complete its work tomorrow after hearing Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

New normal rates are for 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income, and 8 per cent on the remainder. The present law ranges from 1½ to 8 per cent. The burden was made even more severe, however, when the committee struck out the present 25 per cent reduction on earned incomes. Exemptions are $1,000 for single persons, $2,000 for married couples with a net income above $5,000, and $2,500 with incomes less than $5,000.

Astronomers Attempt To Locate New Comet

PASADENA, Calif., May 5. (US)—Mount Wilson astronomers are making an effort to locate the new comet reported to have been first seen at Madrid, Spain. The comet is of the 12th magnitude, but when exactly located, Mount Wilson observers say, will be clearly visible in the 100-inch telescope.

NORRIS WON'T BACK HOOVER FOR PRESIDENT

Nebraska Republican To Support Roosevelt If He's Nominee

'STOP GARNER' MOVE

F. D.'s Men Like Idea Of Running Texan For Vice President

WASHINGTON, May. 5. (AP)—Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, said tonight he would not support President Hoover in the November elections but would throw his strength behind Franklin D. Roosevelt if the Democrat party nominates the New York governor.

Norris, who bolted the Hoover standard in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith, said the president "has not done anything he said he was going to do."

The Nebraskan insurgent Republican spoke after being told that Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, had quoted him as advising that the Democrats nominate Roosevelt and urging the Louisiana delegation to the Chicago convention cast its votes for the leading Democratic candidate.

"Senator Long saw me before he went away," Norris said, "and I expressed the opinion that the only hope of the country was for the Democrats to nominate Roosevelt.

"That would be the best way out. I didn't support President Hoover before and I don't expect to support him now.

"History has demonstrated that I was right in opposing him four years ago. He has not done anything he said he was going to do."

ROOSEVELT-GARNER TICKET NURTURED

NEW YORK, May 5. (AP)—Serious consideration is being given to the possibility of offering John N. Garner the Democratic vice presidential nomination and lining up Garner's presidential support behind Franklin D. Roosevelt, it was learned tonight in the Roosevelt camp.

Garner's victory in the three-cornered race for California's 44 delegates and the assurance he will get the 46 from Texas have made him a formidable figure in the preconvention picture.

Roosevelt's campaign managers are convinced the New York governor will be shy only about 100 votes of the 770 necessary for nomination when the convention opens next month. Garner's 90, in that event, would almost clinch the nomination.

No Overtures Made

No overtures have been made, however, to Garner as yet, it was said.

Massie Transferred To San Francisco

WASHINGTON, May 5. (US)—The navy today issued orders transferring Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, one of the principles in the Honolulu "honor slaying" case, from Hawaii to San Francisco. At the same time the house deferred action on all bills concerned with the case and Hawaiian conditions generally.

The navy's action was taken on recommendation of Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, commandant of the Hawaiian naval district, and Massie and his wife, the victim of the assault that led to the "honor slaying", will sail from Honolulu next Sunday for his new post.

Congress May Continue Until Party Conventions

WASHINGTON, May 5. (US)—Doubt that congress would be able to adjourn before the national party conventions was expressed today by Speaker John Garner following conferences with senate leaders.

The house, however, will have finished its work before the conventions, he said.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Our advice to reformers is not to waste their time any place but in New York.

Yesterday one reformer visited 12 speakeasies. He ate and drank and Uncle Sam signed the tab.

Another agent saw three burlesque shows and got sore because he had to pay his own car fare home.

The toughest of all the investigators was a guy who took a microscope to the flea circus on Forty-second street.

But the fleas had been tipped off. They all blacked up like Al Jolson and sang mammy songs.

Boys, this is the heaven for reformers. They see everything and go places other people can't afford.

Crutchfield testified he was defending himself against another man when Shea stepped between them.

PLAN CALLED OPEN PLEA FOR DICTATORSHIP

Executive Criticises Action On Economy and Asks For More Power

SENATORS IN UPROAR

House Members Call Paper 'Cheap Campaign Talk' In Hot Replies

By FULTON LEWIS
Universal Service Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Hoover today turned congress into an uproar by sending a message to both houses, accusing them of destroying public confidence by muddling the economy program, and requesting that the expense-cutting job be turned over to him.

As soon as the message was read, both senats and house broke out in the most indignant revolt in the history of the administration, tore the recommendations to shreds, and launched a bombardment against him seldom equalled in the capitol.

The message, in effect, said the congress has not the courage to make proper appropriation cuts and "earnestly recommends" that the executive be immediately empowered to effect such cuts on his own responsibility, including the consolidation of government bureaus and departments.

Asks Further Cuts

After stating that "fear and alarm prevail in the country" as the result of house efforts toward economy, the message calls for a further slash in appropriations of $330,000,000, and for the rejection of any expenditures except those of "emergency nature."

The attack was opened by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, and the initial salvo was so severe that Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, administration spokesman, rose in a quiet defense. He made matters no better by reiterating that the congress has failed to accomplish any real savings, and then declared:

"If this country ever needed a Mussolini, it needs one now. I am not proposing to make Mr. Hoover our Mussolini, but if we are to get economies made, they must be made by someone who has the power to make the order and stand by it."

Borah Dismayed

Senator Borah, with a dismayed expression, rose and asked Reed whether he was willing to have the statement stand, to which Reed replied that "this country needs courage, and it has not been getting it from congress."

At this point, with the chamber filled and the galleries packed to the doors, the veteran Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, took the floor. His eyes blazing, he first defended the senate and house for their economy efforts. Then turning directly to Reed he said:

"There is one thing that has been said today that I cannot permit to pass unanswered. I recognize the faults of democracy.

"But democracy represents something that is bigger, higher, nobler, something that is greater than that which is recognized or represented by any dictator on the face of the earth.

No Need for a Duce

"I deny that America now or at any other time needs a Mussolini.

"Democracy will do the job for this great republic of ours. To say to us that we need now or at any other time a Mussolini is but to echo the cry of every exploiter in this land."

Then, shouting, shaking his fist high in the air, he continued:

"I deny, that we need a Mussolini, democracy is good enough for me. It ought to be good enough for you, sir."

Upon the conclusion of his speech other members of the body flocked around his desk to shake his hand. Reed quietly left the chamber.

In the house, Representative Rainey, Illinois, floor leader, said:

"If these suggestions had come from the executive before the house had acted on the economy bill which was presented by the economy committee, they might have

Scurry Tells Garner He'll Help Him Hold Job When He's Elected President

When John Garner is elected president he will have the able services of a veteran jurist of Wichita Falls at his command, the same being Judge Edgar Scurry of corporation court here, who is a close friend of Mr. Garner's. Judge Scurry wired Mr. Garner Wednesday that he would tell him how to run his job when elected.

Judge Scurry and Mr. Garner served as representatives together in the state legislature in 1899 and were roommates at Austin during the term of the 26th legislature. The telegram to Mr. Garner follows: Dear John: Congratulations on your California victory—and hoping you will be our next president. When you are, I will be up and spend the week end with you and tell you how to run the job. Edgar Scurry."

Judge Scurry, who has visited Mr. Garner several times in Washington, regards the house speaker as a strong leader, a capable man for president. John Garner was of more assistance in securing the federal court for Wichita Falls than any other person a decade ago, Judge Scurry declared. Judge Scurry went to Washington when the court was secured and found Speaker Garner's aid invaluable in securing required legislation for establishing the local court.

Intermittent correspondence between the friends serves to keep them in touch with each other and Judge Scurry has several personal letters on file received from Mr. Garner.

AL NOW KNOWN AS NO. 40886

Capone Sinks in Oblivion Of Federal Pen

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5. (US)—A new prisoner, with the freshly stenciled numbers 40886 glistening across the back of his cheap sack-like denim jacket, slept tonight behind frowning granite walls of the United States penitentiary.

Yesterday he was Alphonse Capone, overlord of gangdom, but today the king was dead and in his place stood a slightly bewildered fat man, stripped of his finery, his glory and his name.

Oblivion that is equaled only by death descended upon the gangstar, who must serve 10 years for income tax evasion. When a deputy warden last night slammed behind the racketeer a massive, steel-barred door, that sent crackling echoes down the long, gray corridor, that was Capone's symphony of life and death.

Today no sound—no word of him who once was king, came from behind the door slammed shut for 10 years.

"Capone?" replied prison officials to all queries. "We know no Capone. Here all men are numbers. We do not give information. All are treated alike, none as individuals."

Somewhere behind these silent walls the mobster whose relentless fate finally overtook him, spent his first restless 24 hours.

Three times he sat down to eat, and all three meals cost only a fraction more than 25 cents—a sum he would have scorned to toss as a tip to a waiter in the days when he was the "big shot."

He faced the photographer who rapidly turned the dazed hoodlum from side to side and held numbers across the chest and shoulders of the "newest prisoner."

Fingerprinted, given a thorough physical examination, the new prisoner was confined to the isolation war.

Here it is that Capone will spend the long, idle silent hours for the two weeks that must pass so there will be no possibility of his carrying a contagious disease into the penitentiary.

From there, prisoner No. 40886 will march forth to a new world—to a world where he is only a sweating workman over a laundry tub, or two clumsy hands at a machine that stitches out United States mail bags in the duck mill.

Farm Interests Oppose Freight Rate Increase

CHICAGO, May 5. (INS)—Because farmers are not prospering, railroad rates on their grain and grain products should not be raised, W. F. Ehmann, rate expert for the public service commission of Wisconsin, declared today at a hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Due to the decline in prices, making production unprofitable, Wisconsin farmers grew only 1,544,000 bushels of wheat in 1931 as compared with the 5,152,000 produced in 1920.

Land values have also decreased materially, especially in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, Ehmann pointed out. Many farms are heavily mortgaged, he said.

This was expected to be the final Chicago session of the commission's inquiry into the rates on grain. The hearing will probably shift from here to Kansas City, Mo.

Earth Shocks Cause Alarm in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., May 5. (INS)—Renewed severe earthquake shocks that struck the Hawks bay district today threw inmates of a hospital at Hastings into a panic.

Residents of Taradale, terrified by the tremors which followed a previous shock earlier in the day, fled into the streets from their homes.

Only slight damage was done. There were no casualties.

Radio Manufacturer Says Business Gaining

NEW YORK, May 5. (AP)—Leslie S. Gordon, president of De Forest Radio company, informed stockholders in a statement today that the company had "concrete assurance" its business was "stepping up."

The corporation's sales for the first quarter increased month by month, he said, and its unfilled orders at present are larger than at any time during the past eight months. February was 14 per cent ahead of January, March was 19 per cent above February and April was 18 per cent higher than March.

RUSSIA MAY BUY U. S. GRAIN

Report Indicates Soviet In Wheat Market

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—While having no authentic reports, agricultural department grain officials said today it is quite likely that Russia has entered the world wheat market as a buyer and may take quantities of North American stocks.

They point out that the Soviet had a short crop last year and that rationing has been resorted to to provide seed for new planting and some wheat for export.

From press dispatches, officials have been wondering if the Russian purchases are not for its army in Siberia. It might be cheaper to buy wheat in Canada and ship it across the Pacific than to bring it up from Russian points.

It was held probable that Russia is buying Western Canadian wheat because it is cheaper, and that may be the means of removing a large part of the North American wheat surplus.

There is some wheat available for export in the American Northwest, but it seems Canada would benefit more than the United States from any wholesale Russian buying inasmuch as it would prove too costly for midwestern growers to compete with Vancouver shipments the exchange rates favor Canada.

Tillman Grain Harvest To Start Late in May

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 5.—Small grain harvesting will be in progress the last of this month, farmers now are using some of their surplus time in getting their equipment in shape. There appears to be a greater demand for binders than for a long time, indicating that considerable of the coming crop will be cut by this method instead of handled by a combine. For the past few seasons most of the small gran crop was combined.

According to John Cassidy of the Cassidy Grain company, there is a greater acreage of wheat in Tillman county this year than last season, a number of farmers in the sandy regions around Tipton and Davidson having sowed small fields last fall to land which had been in cotton.

Boy, 4, Calls Cops When Small Girl Friend Throws Rocks

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 5. (AP)—Teufel Van, who is four, knows how to get production.

Today a police radio broadcast that a man had been struck in the head with a rock sent scout cars speeding to a vacant lot. Under a tree was Teufel, tearful.

"I'm the man who was hurt," he said. "Josephine just got mad and started throwing rocks at me."

It developed Teufel, who wasn't hit by his small girl friend, had heaped up enough of the stones to reach a taxi station telephone box.

"I betcha she won't throw any more rocks now, with you guys here," said Teufel, confidently.

ORDER TO FREE ALBERT B. FALL

Term of Former Government Official Ends Sunday

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—The department of justice will forward an order to the warden of the New Mexico state penitentiary for the release of Albert B. Fall probably tomorrow and expects it to be obeyed.

Warden Swope of the penitentiary said today he would not release the former cabinet officer Sunday unless the order came from the president or the parole board.

Fall's sentence, with time off for good behavior expires Sunday, but a $100,000 fine is yet unpaid.

Department of justice officials pointed out, however, that the parole board had nothing to do with the case and that since Fall had been committed to the New Mexico prison on an order of the department prison bureau, it was logical that he should be released at its command.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1981 C. M. Co.

HOBO SCIENTIST AWAITS A JOB

He Missed Boat and Settled Down in Trash Dump

NEW YORK, May 5. (UP)—When he missed his ship for Africa, Langlan Heinz, 44, bachelor of science of the University of Colorado, retired to a Brooklyn dump to wait out the depression.

The police interrupted Heinz's vigil today before it had become one hundred per cent successful. At the moment he was reclining on a couch of old automobile cushions under a blanket. He had a can of beans, a bag of buns and an air of contented skepticism.

Hard Luck Trails Him

Missing the African freighter was the 57th variety of hard luck that has befallen Heinz since he came back from Shanghai, where he had been paid $4,500 for 10 months' work in 1929, he told police. He left a seven-year job and $1,000 worth of instruments as a civil engineer for the city of New York to make the Shanghai gesture. When he came back, something they called the depression had happened.

Undaunted, Heinz took an engineering job in Panama. Then he worked for a company in Venezuela. Headquarters of engineers were removed to a jungle area and he fell ill.

"I didn't know it at the time," said Heinz, "but I got out of my hammock and started for this flatbush dump right then."

Visits Mother

First, he visited his mother in Los Angeles. He then set out for Cairo, Egypt, on a structural engineering job, but lost his passport and was not permitted to land. He was put ashore at Naples, where he worked for 10 months in a wine shop and then shipped aboard a freighter for the states. His money ran out while he was making a futile effort to recover his $1,000 set of drafting instruments from the city of New York. At this point he heard of the ship bound for Africa.

When its fading stern was pointed out to him from a Brooklyn pier, Heinz walked as far as the dump and sat down. School children who had been sharing lunches with him and firemen of a nearby station who had supplied the blanket said that he had been there nearly two months.

"The charge is vagrancy, your honor," said Patrolman Vincent Vitale.

"Feed and hold until Friday for investigation," ordered Magistrate Jacob Ellperin.

Safe Pleasant Way

To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

To take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY, take Kruschen every morning—don't worry it's the SAFE way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Allison's Drug store or any drug-store in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.—Adv.

The pamphlets 1,000 of which were seized by police, decried the entertainment accorded the royal visitor while "thousands of our fellow citizens are in acute distress from lack of food, clothing and shelter."

TYDINGS LAYS PRESIDENT OUT

Hoover Challenged to Give Prohibition Views

WASHINGTON, May 5. (INS)—President Hoover was bitterly assailed in the senate today by Senator Tydings, Democrat of Maryland, for his failure to advise the country on his attitude on prohibition, modification, or repeal.

"Is there a man in this chamber who can say where the president stands on this issue?" Tydings demanded.

"I say no. To have no view of this question is equivalent to having no president in the White House."

Tydings called attention to recent public addresses by Secretary of War Hurley and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke intimating that the president will consent to run on a moist or referendum platform.

"Yet the senator from Ohio (Fess) who serves as the party's spokesman assures us the president will continue to espouse the dry cause," he added.

Tydings was cheered from the galleries when he remarked: "It is my belief that if the Anti-Saloon league, so called, could be put on a boat and sent to the north pole for a year, congress would act within 24 hours to repeal this ridiculous farce saddled upon the country by the 18th amendment."

"If it were possible to take a secret vote in congress the glorious experiment wouldn't last until sundown tonight," he continued.

Electra Schools Reduce Budgets

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 5.—At a meeting of the board of education of the Electra independent school district this week, a decided cut was made in the school budget for the coming year. The salaries of grade teachers were reduced five per cent, and the custom of increasing salaries in proportion to the length of time served was discontinued.

Supt. B. M. Dinsmore asked that his salary be reduced 10 per cent as an economy measure. His salary was reduced at his request last year when he was re-elected superintendent for a three year term. The reduction of other items of expense will be discussed later. However, it was announced that the local school system was in good shape as salaries have been met and installments on bonded indebtedness have been paid.

The present indications are that the schools will begin the 1932-33 term with a sum of money on hand as the state owes the district sufficient funds for the first month.

Loans for the week ending May 6, 1931, were $1,699,000,000.

Arctic Scientists Get Food Dropped From Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 5. (US)—Allen Carpe and Theodore Koven, scientists, who are studying cosmic rays on Mt. McKinley at about 10,000 feet above the base of the great mid-slope, today were partaking of a generous food supply, dropped to them yesterday by aviators Joe Crosson and Jerry Jones, according to Crosson on his return here last night.

The aviators reported that they had carried E. P. Beckwith, Percy T. Olton Jr., and Nicholas Spadeveckis, New York engineers, to the surface of a glacier at an altitude of 6,000 feet.

The engineers were laded safely, after which Crosson soared above the Carpe-Koven camp.

HUGE RANSOM SWINDLE BARED

Former Government Agent Held in Lindy Case

clared that he could recover the child if $100,000 was provided. Mrs. McLean alleges that she provided Means with $100,000 of her personal funds.

Means, it is alleged, pressed the need for utmost secrecy in regard to the deal.

For that reason, it was stated no word of the $100,000 deal was communicated to the police or even to Colonel Lindbergh.

Vague Information

Weeks passed and Mrs. McLean received only vague information from Means as to the progress being made to complete the deal. Finally she told her story to Rover.

Mrs. McLean in a formal statement this afternoon, said:

"In offering my services early last March to join in the search for the Lindbergh baby I requested that my name not be mentioned and this was the understanding with Colonel Lindbergh.

"It is of course not necessary for me to explain why I so deeply sympathize with Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh. I felt that I might make an effort to help even though I realized that the chances of success were necessarily very remote. Accordingly I conferred with Captain Land and Father Hurney and later arranged to place the ransom money in the custody of an intermediary whom I employed to make the ransom payment in case the Lindbergh baby were found. My plan was carried out without the knowledge of my closest friends and without the knowledge of my attorneys. When it became evident that no clue of any value had been discovered I realized that the plan had failed.

Acted With Caution

"With respect to Gaston B. Means who acted as intermediary, that is a matter which is now in the hands of the authorities."

Mrs. McLean if was explained acted with the utmost caution in regard to Means' plan. She consulted with Captain E. F. Land, a personal friend of Colonel Lindbergh and with the Rev. Francis J. Hurney, of the church of the Immaculate Conception.

After carefully considering Means' story she decided to act and turned the money over to intermediaries who in turn gave it to Means.

Although Mrs. McLean kept her plan a strict secret, it was learned that Captain Land informed Colonel Lindbergh of the steps Mrs. McLean was taking and also told Colonel Breckenridge of her act. Breckenridge is the personal attorney for Colonel Lindbergh.

Tendered Money

When Means failed to get results, Mrs. McLean then placed the facts before her attorney, Albert Fox. He declared that Means said he was about to return the money when he had met a man who had given him a mysterious signal which he said had been agreed upon between himself and the kidnapers agents.

Means, according to Attorney Fox, said he had turned the money over to this contact man and was still waiting for results.

Means at the arraignment had nothing to say but:

"I don't break confidences. If the people that I have been dealing with tell the truth, you won't need any story from me. If they don't, come around then and I'll tell you a real story."

Charged With Murder

Means has been in the headlines more or less consistently since 1917, when he was charged, tried and acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, in North Carolina, in which an estate of several million dollars was involved.

He was the "mystery man" in the Harding administration, and was closely associated for some time with Jess Smith, intimate of President Harding, who committed suicide in a local hotel when the probe into the oil and other scandals were at their height.

Means at one time lived on Sixteenth street. His home was then said to have been the "pay-off headquarters" for many sorts of irregular activities.

Served in Prison

Means was convicted of forgery in 1924 and served two years in the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

He later "wrote" a book, "The Strange Death of President Harding," in which it was implied that President Harding had been poisoned by Mrs. Harding. His collaborator, in writing the book, later repudiated many of the statements it contained, saying she had since become convinced that the information on which it was based was false.

Means was arrested one night last winter at his Chevy Chase home for alleged resentment of interference of Montgomery county police in a family squabble. He spent a night in jail and was bailed out by his wife, who posted $600 to assure his appearance in court.

Norris to Back F. D. Roosevelt

mate declared the two Democratic leaders are not on unfriendly terms and that there is great sentiment for Roosevelt in Garner's own state of Texas.

"It is the most ideal hookup on the political horizon at the moment," they explained.

After a search for precedent, the Cleveland-Stevenson combination in 1892 was pointed out as a parallel case.

The possibility of the Roosevelt-Garner combine was mentioned in Washington by Senator James Hamilton Lewis, favorite son in Illinois which has 58 convention votes.

Later the senator said it seemed "one of the possible outcomes of the convention."

Farley Silent

James A. Farley, field marshal of the Roosevelt forces, smiled but said nothing when asked his opinion of the idea.

In the meantime, the launching of a nationwide campaign for Garner is being planned, and Alfred E. Smith with 46 votes definitely pledged to him already, is counting on picking up enough more so he will go to Chicago with about 200.

HOOVER PLEA STIRS SENATE

President Awakens Wrath Of Congress

been of some value. But they come after the house has acted.

"I consider them as the first speech of the president in his campaign for re-election. The president has absolutely failed to make recommendations when they would have been effective."

Representative Mary Norton, Democrat, of New Jersey, said:

"It is the cheapest campaign speech I ever heard. Why didn't the president make his suggestions a year ago when he had a majority in the house?"

Lewis Kicks Cabinet

During the frenzy in the senate, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat of Illinois, assailed the president's attitude in the message, declaring that while he called for non-partisan support, his "little cabinet" continues to go throughout the country attacking the senate, and attempting to hold it up to public ridicule.

He said:

"The little army of gentlemen, who go fluting and piping over the nation, tell our people that every accomplishment of government for 20 years back is the accomplishment of President Hoover.

"Let him withdraw his little gentlemen who thus are the fifemen and drummers of his political brigade, and see that they keep his injunction. Let him admonish them to refrain from that unbecoming politics which is so destructive and dangerous at a time like this."

PRESIDENT RAPS CONGRESS' ACTIONS

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—Declaring that "uncertainty is disastrous," President Hoover in a special message to congress today emphasized the imperative need of the nation is "a definite and conclusive program for balancing the budget."

The president launched anew his plea that the program must be in every sense a national effort and that sectional, partisan or group interests must be submerged in the common good.

"Most expeditious action is necessary for enactment of the revenue bill and of economy measures to balance the budget before the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1," he asserted.

Advocates Economy

Advocating a "drastic economy" program he asked for reductions totaling $700,000,000 but including the $369,000,000 which he said the executive had pared from last year's expenditures in submitting this year's budget. He asked for authority for the president to reorganize the government.

The full text of the president's message follows:

"I should not be discharging my constitutional responsibility to give to the congress information on the state of the union and to recommend for its consideration such measures as may be necessary and expedient, if I did not report to the congress the situation which has arisen in the country in large degree as the result of incidents of legislation during the last six weeks.

Confidence Essential

"The most essential factor to economy recovery today is the restoration of confidence. In spite of the unquestioned beneficial effect of the remedial measures already taken and the gradual improvement in fundamental conditions, fear and alarm prevail in the country because of events in Washington which have greatly disturbed the public mind.

"The manner in which the house of representatives rejected both the revenue program proposed by the treasury and the program unanimously reported by the committee on ways and means; the character of the tax measures passed; the action of the house which would increase governmental expenditure by $132,000,000 for road building; the action further to enlarge expenditures in non-service connected benefits for the veterans' bureau at the very time when the house was refusing to remedy abuse in these same services; the virtual destruction of both the national economy program proposed by the executive officials and the program of the special house committee on economy; the failure of the house to give adequate authority for early reduction of government bureaus and commissions; the passage of legislation by the house placing burden of impossible execution upon the federal reserve system over the protest of the federal reserve board; the threat of further legislation looking to uncontrolled inflation—have all resulted in diminishing public confidence and offsetting the constructive, unified efforts of the executive and the congress undertaken earlier in the year for recovery of employment and agriculture.

Revenues Decrease

"I need not recount that the revenues of the government as estimated for the next fiscal year show a decrease of about $1,700,000,000 below the fiscal year 1929 and inexorably require a broader basis of taxation and a drastic reduction of expenditures in order to balance the budget. Nothing is more necessary at this time than balancing the budget. Nothing will put more heart into the country than prompt and courageous and united action in enacting the legislation which this situation imperatively demands, and an equally determined stand in defeating unwise and unnecessary legislation.

"Most expeditious action is necessary if the revenues, appropriations, economy legislation and a balanced budget are to be attained before the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1 next."

Garner Assured Of Texas Vote

anticipating no fuss and but little feathers in the conventions. Rural precincts will convene at 2 p. m.; those in the cities at 7:30 p. m.

6,400 Precincts

There are slightly more than 6,400 precincts in the state. Garner headquarters here do not anticipate that enough of them will instruct for other candidates to lose a single one of the 154 counties for the speaker.

A few scattered "second choice" instructions are anticipated by other observes for Governors Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and W. H. Murray of Oklahoma. The Roosevelt support is expected to come from Central-East Texas, the Murray support from the Panhandle and North Texas border counties.

Strife Expected

State Senator Walter F. Woodul, state Garner chairman, has directed his forces to move, in the precinct conventions, "to support John Garner." All other issues, particularly resolutions on prohibition, will be eschewed and if others bring them up, Garner men will try to vote them down.

The enhanced chances of Garner to win the nomination led today to fears that ambition for party honors now may cause strife and divide ranks at the state convention.

A fight is expected there over election of the national committeeman. Jed C. Adams, Dallas, will stand for re-election. Some South Texas Democrats are supporting Steve Pinckney of Houston, now a state committeeman. Former Gov. Dan Moody has been mentioned for the position, and so has former State Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin.

Interest High

This fight may be reduced in importance and potentiality by outcome of the precinct conventions. Political observers will watch these meetings closely to see who heads the delegations. Interest is high in precincts where party leaders and erstwhile leaders reside.

At Austin, one principal question is whether Moody will head his precinct delegation. At Fort Worth interest is in whether Cato Sells, former Wilson appointee but a Hoover supporter in 1928, controls his precinct; at Dallas, in the fates of Thomas B. Love and Dr. Atticus Webb, the state Anti-Saloon league superintendent; at Houston, in activities of Pinckney and Alvin S. Moody.

The latter, a Hoover supporter in 1928, has advised anti-Tammany Democrats to stay away from the conventions and probably will not participate at all.

BORAH POINTS TO PROSPERITY

Prescription for Economic Recovery Given

generally in this country by revolution, but there can bo no doubt of a general feeling among the peoples that the governments are not meeting the task before them."

Predicting failure of the Lausanne conference, Borah said:

"It must be apparent to all that unless those who hold in their hands the reins of power, who represent government in Europe, cannot grapple with the problems and work to a common solution, the conditions in Europe will be beyond the power of human language to express."

On the monetary problem, Borah said the United States and France have about 70 per cent of the world's gold, adding:

"I don't know how to pay the gold indebtedness of the world so long as the gold is held by two nations.

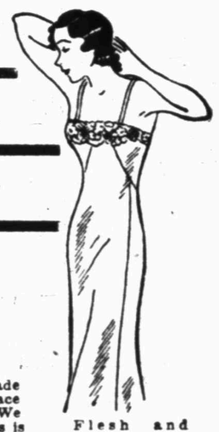

"Debts must be paid either in gold, in kind, or in services.

"While I am a believer in the protective tariff, it is obvious that our tariff will not permit payment in kind. There is no opportunity to render payment by services."

Health Program Names 115 Five Point Children

Child Health week was emphasized in the first district program given over KGKO Thursday morning by five point children of Wichita and adjacent counties. Mrs. Ben G. Oneal opened the program by reading th proclamation issued by Governor Sterling naming the first week in May as child health week. Mrs. St. Andrew Myers, retiring chairman of the 13th district Parent-Teacher association directed the program. An honor roll of five point children from Bellevue, Henrietta, Iowa Park, Electra, Geraldine and Nocona was read. Pupils in Henrietta and Bellevue schools assembled to hear the radio program.

Among those to whom the program was dedicated, Mrs. Bob Barker, president of the first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs was named, and her slogan, "What Texas Makes Makes Texas," was used as a basis for the statement that "five point children are the best products of Texas."

Margaret Virginia Myers the first five-point child issued a certificate in Texas, announced the program. The Bellevue school was crowned "Queen of the May" for reporting the first group of five-point children, 44 in number. Loubeth Ramey was named as the first five-point child from Electra and Anita Leeds of Geraldine, the first from Archer county. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A voice called me over the phone Wednesday, saying, "I met a charming lady who was a friend of yours at the library conference in New Orleans." When I asked who was speaking, I found it was Walter Cline at the end of the phone. He was on the program there, and said that he advised the ladies to be good librarians but not always look the part.

Our friend evidently made a hit with Mr. Cline because she told him that she had taken his advice and had gone out and bought two new dresses. The consequence, we gather, was a series of luncheons, night clubs and dinner parties, and knowing the young lady of whom he spoke, we believe that Mr. Cline's fellow Rotarians would have done likewise. (We will whisper that she was not the only young lady in the parties.)

We've often heard such advice given to school teachers and it has come to the point where any charming young girl may turn out to be a highly thought of teacher. It isn't like the old days when "by their garments and their carriage you might know them."

Remembering librarians whom we have known, we wonder that more men do not attend library conferences. (Probably they do if they have the good fortune to be invited.) But from our city, two delegates were Misses Lucia Powell and Avalon Rines, a petite brunette and a twinkling eyed blonde, both as up to the notch in style as in knowledge.

But we have the lowdown on the librarian from Clarksdale of whom Mr. Cline spoke. We were intimately connected at one time with the Carnegie library which she has built from a small organization into one that has several assistants and has fared forth with a traveling library. The building has almost filled the lot on which it was at first a very small, yet always a well equipped bit of architecture.

Miss Wilson, who completed her librarian's course in work at Columbia, (—no we are not correct, she is of the type who never finishes her education), came to Clarksdale, Miss., from Nashville, Tenn. We remember her as a person of remarkable executive ability and winning charm. She has dark eyes and smooth dark hair. When we knew her last, she had no bob. She has creamy skin and a winning smile.

But we remember her always in tailored clothes. They were her type and it was one of the griefs of our young life that we couldn't look as striking as she did with low heels and high collars. Wonder what she bought in New Orleans.

But here's the lowdown of which we spoke. Miss Wilson grew homesick this spring. In Tennessee, May apples grow and when she found to her astonishment that there were May apples in an old, old cemetery in the delta, nostalgia came over her. The cemetery, once owned by white people, had fallen into the hands of plantation negroes who never took care of it.

One day, accompanied by a sedate (but oh so lovely a pillar of the local Presbyterian church — for women may also be pillars), she drove to the graveyard and robbed it of May apples. That's the sort of librarian Walter Cline praised. We wish we might have been in Mississippi and had our share.

Forum President To Be Honored In Artistic Program

One of the most beautiful of the Woman's Forum annual events will be held at the clubhouse Tuesday morning, May 10, when the president will be honored in the May breakfast. Always an outstanding event, it will be especially accented this year with elaborate decorations and a superior program.

The committee on decorations has designed and is creating a gorgeous rose tree, to be hung with fresh blossoms an hour before breakfast is served. As a keynote of pastel color, it will bring forth the pretty spring dresses and garden hats of forum members and guests.

Promptness is one thing to be stressed in the luncheon. Service will start at 10 a. m., announcements will be completed by 11 o'clock and the program, featuring the drama department production, will complete the morning hours.

Mrs. E. L. Fulton, chairman of the drama department, will present Ella Merle Mathis Bristol, one of the talented readers of the city, in an interpretation of Barrie's immortal "Peter Pan." Mrs. Bristol will be assisted by outstanding musicians and the program is a sufficient guarantee for a large audience.

Reservations will be taken until Monday afternoon by Mrs. G. D. Fox and Mrs. A. N. Lummus.

Poetry Club Concludes Study of Folklore

Members of the Wichita Falls Poetry Study club met Thursday morning at the Woman's Forum clubhouse and finished their study of Texas folklore. Two very interesting papers were given. Mrs. Ann Sterling read a paper written by Mrs. Ann Barker, "Longhorn Cattle and Mustangs of Texas." The origins of the names, the old trails and interesting bits of history were covered in the paper.

Mrs. J. L. Elkin gave a beautiful travelogue of her recent trip through Central and Southern Texas, calling it "Across the Breast of Texas." Texas wild flowers were discussed by Mrs. O. P. Maricle.

A short review of forms of poetry studied in the past year was given and Mrs. Elkin gave a lesson on lyrics, odes, the elegy, pastoral, and sonnet forms.

Mrs. J. M. Thomas of Burkburnett was introduced as a new member and it was announced that Mrs. Elkin had won a subscription to "Arcadian," a nationally known magazine, for the best poem in the last issue of "Visions." The next number of this magazine will have poems by Mesdames ..... Stallings of Bowie and J. M. Thomas of Burkburnett.

Members present were Mesdames Thomas and Stallings, J. L. Elkin, J. Truman Stevens, Max Shain, O. P. Maricle and G. A. McWhirter.

Poetry Program Concludes Forum Department Season

A poetry program and a rose luncheon at the Forum clubhouse completed the work of the writers department of the Women's Forum in the most charming meeting of the season Thursday at 12 o'clock. Crystal bowls filled with the glowing radiance roses that are the chosen flower of Wichita Falls were arranged by the chairman, Mrs. M. T. Clements, and Mrs. J. L. Elkin.

Mrs. Clements, in opening the program, made a beautiful talk on the "Legacy of the Finished Task" and stating that it seemed fitting that the department work should be finished with a poetry program in the spring. "All of us," she said, "have beautiful things within our souls, but not all of us are able to put them on paper. Our program today will be given by those who can interpret the inner beauty in exquisite words."

Mrs. Clements presented Mrs. Henry C. Fulcher, vice president, who had charge of the poetry contest that concluded the original work contests of the year. The 15 poems sent in were forwarded to as able a committee as could be found in the state. Miss Rebecca Smith, head of the department of English in the Texas Christian university, assisted by Mrs. Artemesia B. Bryson, assistant head in the department and Miss Marion Mullins, who is assistant editor of a department in the Texas Outlook, criticized the numbers from every standpoint in poetry writing and gave special commendation for good work done.

Awards Made

Mrs. J. L. Elkin was awarded first place with a poem, "The Drouth"; Mrs. Sam Kruger and Mrs. Mona Nelson tied for second place, Mrs. Kruger having a poem called "Reb Berrill in America," and Mrs. Nelson, "Woman Walking in the Dark." Third place went to Mrs. O. P. Maricle for her poem "The Quickening Breath," and fourth, fifth and sixth were awarded in order to Mesdames Elkin, J. Truman Stevens and Otis Nelson.

Mrs. Curtis Atkinson, who acted as toastmistress, spoke briefly before the opening of the poetry program. She referred to the pool of Bethesda in Jerusalem, which an angel of the Lord occasionally touched and to which sufferers went to bathe and be cured of their ills. "I sometimes think," she said, "that people must be plunged into a pool of trouble before they can be healed and give the beauty of their spirits to the world."

Mrs. Atkinson stressed the fact that more people were reading and writing today than ever before, and stated that for the first time in the history of America, her people were coming in to their own. "They are rediscovering music, architecture, the dance, folklore and poetry," she said, and expressing themselves in beauty. "Prettiness," she emphasized, "is from without, but beauty is from within." The fact that the intelligentsia of America may rave, she said, would never prevent the writing of spring poetry, for at that time the hills of home; the memory of lilacs; of dogwood and red bud in canopies over the fields of beautiful wild flowers, would always bring forth spring poems. Before introducing the other writers, Mrs. Atkinson read her own greeting to spring—a poem that had the essence of spring in its spirit.

Program Numbers

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens was presented following Mrs. Atkinson's greeting and read a poem to "Spring," a lyric of the trail that ends at home and "Nazareth," a religious poem that drew fifth place in the contest. Mrs. J. L. Elkin read her prize winning poem, "Drouth," a study of drouth in Arkansas; "A Cry Went Up," and "Tribute to the Forum." Mrs. O. P. Maricle, gave a group of three poems, "Simple Poet," "The Quickening Breath," named third in the contest, and "In Memory." Mrs. Bentley Nelson, gave as her selections the poem which tied with Mrs. Kruger for second place in the contest, "Woman Walking in the Dark," "To an Old Photograph" and "The Way We Quarreled." Mrs. Otis Nelson gave "Scaffolds" sixth in the contest, and "To a Very New Baby Boy."

Mrs. Atkinson at this point, announced that with the beauty of spring, poets were beset with wanderlust and Mrs. Ann Barker would carry the audience to "Mammy Days," in Alabama and Mrs. Sam Kruger would give a group of Russian verses. Mrs. Barker read three dialect poems, "De Light Whut's in Sam's Eyes," "Encouragement" and "Possum and Taters." Mrs. Kruger read the beautiful "Reb Berrill in America" telling the beauty of a Jewish dreamer and his call for courage, and "A Jewish Lullaby."

"Petunias," "Inspiration" and "Confusion," by Mrs. Atkinson, two nature poems, closed the program. "Winter's Queen" was a study in verse of ice covered evergreens and "Confusion" a plea to the Heavenly Father for the upset world of 1932.

Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta and Mrs. J. M. Thomas of Burkburnett were presented as out of town guests and the 22 members present were served a delicious spring luncheon.

Floral Heights B. O. P. Class Has Monthly Party

Members of the Floral Heights Methodist B. O. P. class met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. F. Helmcamp on Beverly drive for the monthly business and social session. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Hal Yeager, first vice president, was in the chair.

Mrs. Yeager's devotional was a beautiful tribute to mothers. She told of the ideals which her mother had given her and, addressing the class, many members of whom are young mothers, made a pretty plea that they would inculcate in their children, the same beautiful ideals they had gained from a mother's teaching. Her devotional was closed with a prayer.

Reports were made by officers and chairmen during the business session and the class voted to give a party for the babies in the cradle roll department which they sponsor. They will entertain the cradle roll mothers in the same party.

In the program, Mrs. Merle Hooper sang "That Wonderful Mother of Mine," with Miss Lucile Elkins accompanying, and Miss Elkins gave as a piano number, "Praeludium," by McDonald. Two musical readings were given by Irvine Roberts with Mrs. Cunningham accompanist. They were "An Old Sweetheart of Mine" and "The Legend of the Twilight Bell."

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served to 30 members and guests.

Don't let them count you out!

Just for the lack of a clear skin ~ ~ ~

Why not try this reasonable, safe and effective way—

just as others are happily doing?

Say good-bye to a pimply skin

"I AM simply overjoyed that my skin is clear again—now I can mingle with my friends and associates with confidence and enthusiasm. It's wonderful the difference it makes in the way you feel and look when your blood strength is right."

Medical authorities stress the importance of building up the system when in a weakened, "run-down" condition, or to combat pimples and boils.

If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long-established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach . . . reviving the appetite . . . aiding digestion . . . regenerating hemoglobin . . restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. S.S.S. may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

S.S.S. builds sturdy health

Fry with CRISCO— It's digestible—it isn't "loaded"

Do you feel that you ought to say "no" to fried foods? What a shame! You shouldn't cheat your husband of such good eating. It's frying good foods in the wrong fats that makes them indigestible.

What is the right fat? What will keep fried foods digestible? Those are mighty good questions to ask and we're answering them.

Crisco is digestible! Crisco is not a "loaded" fat. Nothing has been added to Crisco to make it indigestible—not one speck of hard, indigestible fat has been added to Crisco to thicken it.

No—instead, by Crisco's own secret process, only wholesome oils are turned into creamy, snowy Crisco. No wonder that Crisco is so digestible!

Foods you fry in Crisco are the kind you want to see coming on the table often. Nothing greasy about them. Just for instance, try out these Veal Oysters (see recipe). Say, when they come out of the skillet, crispy and brown, you'll want to eat lots. Do! Crisco is not a "loaded" fat—so Crisco-fried foods are digestible!

VEAL OYSTERS

1½ lbs. veal — salt and pepper
2 eggs — 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
4 tablespoons water — 6 to 8 tablespoons Crisco, the pure digestible fat

Buy cheaper cut of veal from lower leg. Cut into pieces the size of oysters. Season with salt and pepper. Beat eggs lightly with water. Dip meat into egg mixture. Roll in crumbs. Melt enough Crisco in skillet to cover bottom ¼ inch deep. (Crisco is the pure wholesome fat that makes fried foods so digestible!) Heat slowly. When hot add veal oysters. Fry until golden brown on both sides. Serve with tomato sauce—

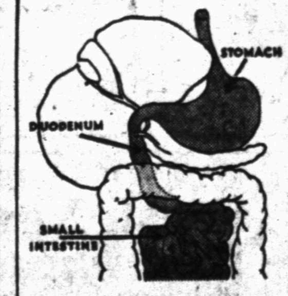

1 can tomato soup — ¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup hot water — ¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Crisco

Mix all ingredients and bring to a boil.

NOTE: Any Crisco that is left over from frying can be strained and used for frying over and over again. This Crisco keeps sweet and digestible.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS

At these 3 danger points, cheap fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily —because it isn't "loaded."

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible
CRISCO [IN VACUUM-TIGHT CAN] stays fresh and digestible

Why does CRISCO digest easily? It is not a "loaded" fat

'IF' BIG WORD IN POLITICS

Little Word Sways Future Of Texas Candidates

AUSTIN, May 5. (AP)—The so-called smallest word in the English language, having the greatest weight and the most far reaching effect, is playing an important part in Texas politics at the present time.

For on the word "if" depends, to a large extent, a great number of the scenes in the political picture the word being packed with dynamite as far as the political aspirations of several are concerned.

Small's "If"

For instance:

"If" Gov. R. S. Sterling announces he will seek re-election, Senator Clint Small of Amarillo will again be a candidate for the state senate. "If" Governor Sterling decides against seeking a second term, Small's hat will be one of the first to sail into the ring. The Panhandle senator has said as much, having been quoted most recently as saying he had completed his plans and "was ready to shoot from the hip" the minute the governor reached a decision.

"I shall become a candidate the minute he announces his decision, regardless of other aspirants 'if' Governor Sterling does not make the race," said Small.

Small ran third in the gubernatorial campaign two years ago, trailing Sterling, who ran second, by 32,000 votes.

Witt in Race

The political course of Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt depends largely, also, on the disposition Governor Sterling makes of the troublesome "if." For "if" Governor Sterling decides he is content with having served a single term and retires to private life, Witt also will seek the voters' favor in the gubenatorial campaign.

"If" Witt runs for the governorship (this "if" depending on the govenor's action) Fred Minor of Denton, veteran legislator who served during the 42nd legislature as a speaker of the house, will seek election as lieutenant governor, Minor having expressed a strong desire to move up the political ladder and preside over the senate.

To Practice Law

Here is the way Minor put it on a recent visit to Austin:

"If Governor Sterling decides not to run and 'if' Lieutenant Governor Witt enters the race for governor, you can announce me at once for the office of lieutenant governor in the next paragraph under Witt's announcement. 'If' Witt seeks another term as lieutenant governor I'll continue to practice law."

"If" Governor Sterling makes up his mind to let some one else steer the ship of state and "if" Small carries out his present intentions, Dewey Young, who has served several terms as a member of the state house of representatives will seek Small's place in the senate. "If" this condition does not materialize, Young also will retire to the practice of law, having given his pledge to a friend that he would not interfere with the friend's race for Young's seat in the house regardless of the "ifs."

Allred Involved

Another frequently heard "if" is: "If Allred wins his suit to oust 15 major oil companies from Texas for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws, he will be a candidate for governor in 1934." The reference is to Attorney General James V. Allred.

And still another "if", that depends, in this case, on Pat M. Neff, former governor and now a member of the railroad commission is: "If Neff decides to quit his post before the primary elections to accept the presidency of Baylor university, there will be plenty of candidates in the race for this vacancy."

Following is the definition given in the dictionary for the word "if": "in case that: granting, allowing or supposing that."

City Jewelry Company, in Fine New Home, Makes Bow to Public Friday

The City Jewelry company, after 20 years of successful operation on Ohio avenue, will make its formal bow to the public in new quarters and in the heart of the business section Friday morning. The store is one of the most modern in this section and one of the finest stocks of merchandise in the state is carried. The new home of the company will be at 713 Eighth street, next door to the Staley building.

From an humble start over a score of years ago, the business of the City Jewelry company has grown to such an extent that new quarters became imperative. Thus, this beautiful new store on Eighth street is the culmination of years of experience and diligent effort on the part of those who own the company.

The new City Jewelry company store is almost a replica of some of the most elegantly appointed jewelry shops in the eastern part of the United States. The fixtures, hardware, counters and appointments were carefully selected and no expense was spared in the general building plans of the new store to make it one of the most attractive jewelry emporiums in the state.

Every conceivable kind of jewelry, silverware and ornaments of a miscellaneous nature will be carried by City Jewelry company in ample sized stocks. All nationally known and advertised brands will be stocked so that customers will feel the utmost confidence in the purchase of any article. Every purchase will carry the further guarantee of the City Jewelry company in addition to that of the manufacturer.

Wichita Falls Owned

All the members of the City Jewelry company have resided in Wichita Falls for a period equal to or greater than the life of the company. Stock in the company is 100 per cent owned by citizens of Wichita Falls. M. Shain, for years manager of the City Jewelry company, will continue in that post at the new store. He will be assisted by Clyde C. Cawthon, D. K. Glidewell, John M. Fox and Alfred H. Harris. Mr. Fox is auditor of the new store, while Mr. Glidewell will be in charge of a special department for the servicing of all types of jewelry, including expert watch repairing.

One of the leading departments of this new jewelry store will be its luggage department. A special department has been created in the new store for luggage where a complete stock of such well known brands as Hartmann trunks, Belber luggage and aviation luggage will be on display. According to Mr. Shain, it is felt that this department will be one of the most popular of the entire store.

Commenting further on the opening of City Jewelry company's new store, Mr. Shain said, "We feel amply justified in giving Wichita Falls a store of the type of our new one at this time. The business of our company has grown since the time of its inception and there is no reason why it should not continue to do so, especially since we have successfully passed through the late period of business distress. We have always had the greatest confidence in Wichita Falls and its trade territory and our confidence has been well reflected by the faith our customers have shown in our own establishment. Many of them come to us from a radius of 100 miles around the city. Furthermore, our confidence in Wichita Falls has, if possible, been strengthened by many other businesses, large and small, which are beginning new enterprises or, like ourselves, are expanding their present businesses at this time."

Special souvenirs to commemorate the opening of the new City Jewelry company store will be given to all the ladies who attend the opening Friday, according to Mr. Shain.

A Washington Bystander

By BIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 5.—From the hour Senator Huey Long of Louisiana so belatedly took his back row seat in the senate, he has appeared restive there.

HUEY P. LONG

He disclosed a tendency to rove the senate chamber as the late Senator Caraway used to do.

But if there was any debate forward in which Senator Long was particularly interested, his wanderings always seemed to lead toward that front-and-center desk which is Minority Leader Joe Robinson's throne.

Senator Robinson frequently returned to the floor from brief absences to find Senator Long perched in the seats of the mighty. It happened so often that senate attaches joked about it.

Fighting Red Tape

All that was before Senator Long clashed with Senator Robinson in such dramatic fashion over Long's proposal to cut out all red tape and just level off incomes and estates respectively at the million and five million dollar marks.

Long capped his attack by resigning his committee assignments in what Robinson promptly dubbed a "comic opera gesture."

Senator Long becomes a committeeless one-man bloc on the Democratic side, a sort of lone wolf. Nobody was ever in a similar position in the senate, with all committee work scorned.

Former Senator Cole Blease of South Carolina was the nearest approach. He used to stand up now and then and declare himself on party caucuses. He was against them and refused to attend them or to be bound in any way by caucus action. But he never relinquished his committee jobs.

The senate actually does its work, as does every other legislative body, in committee. Committee jobs are the political plums.

Young Mr. Long is an ambitious man. In announcing his one-man revolt, he figured it might take two, four or six years to accomplish a reshaping of party management in house and senate along lines he approves. Since he expressed the hope of being in senate after six years, presumably he already plans another term.

There've Been Others

Senator Long might do well to consult General Dawes. The general, on his inauguration as vice president in 1925, announced a program for reformation of senate rules. Seven years later the general has moved on to other important duties but the senate rules remain.

Then there's that famous marine, General Smedley Butler, who made reformation of the senate a plank of his primary campaign in Pennsylvania, only to find that Senator "Puddler Jim" Davis had the primary situation completely in hand.

Childress Farm Boys Judge Dairy Cattle

CHILDRESS, Texas, May 5.—Sixteen farm boys made over 500 points out of a possible 600 points in dairy cattle judging in this city recently. The boys used two kinds of dairy cattle in their contests, one herd of Holsteins and one of Jerseys.

The 18 boys are to be coached for the next two months when another test will be made in judging dairy cattle, the four highest to get a free trip to College Station in July. In addition to these four the next two highest will be given a free trip to the Dallas fair in October.

There were 54 farm boys in the contest, all making good grades but short of the 500 points required. V. E. Hafner, county agent, expects to give the 16 boys tests every two weeks, drilling them as hard as possible. Judges said the boys did remarkably well and should be able to bring back some prizes at the College Station meeting.

La Guardia says the stock market is crooked! Something will have to be done about him. Next he'll be telling us that wrestling matches are fixed.

Well, well. The senate has found out that the banks have quit lending money. Who'll volunteer to tell that august body who won the last world series?

The Way We Do Things

ON MAY 14 there is going to be a big parade in New York City. It is to be a "beer parade," a vast demonstration by people who want the making and selling of beer made legal again, and New York's municipal government is making great plans to help put it over.

Now this is perfectly proper, of course, since the right of citizens to demonstrate against a law that they don't like is inalienable, but suppose, just for the fun of it, that this great parade were going to be put on, not by people who are thirsty but by people who are hungry?

What would happen then?

You could make a pretty fair-sized parade out of it, if you enrolled every man in New York who wants something to eat. But would your parade be permitted to move? Try to imagine the sensation that would arise, the thrills of fear that would circulate up and down various patriotic backs, if 50,000 people should try to parade down Broadway carrying placards saying, "We want bread!"

Unless the New York police handled it differently than they have handled every other demonstration by the jobless, such a parade would not get one block before the cops charged in with clubs swinging. A lot of heads would get busted and next day we would hear all about a dreadful riot.

As it is, though, there won't be a bit of trouble. The May 14 parade is to be held by the thirsty, not by the hungry. The marchers are going to demand beer, which is illegal, instead of bread, which isn't. Consequently nobody will be alarmed, no policemen will have to use his club and no marcher will be lugged home on a shutter.

This isn't to say that this beer parade shouldn't be held. That isn't the point. It's just that—well, doesn't the situation seem just a trifle paradoxical? Or, to put it in plain English, isn't there something a wee bit cockeyed about the way we do things?

Twelve Lost Years

THAT famous novel of two or three years ago, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," told how the machinery of war can enmesh and destroy a human life with a fiendish thoroughness, even though all of the officials who are handling that machinery have the best of intentions. The other day the newspapers told of a strikingly similar real-life case when they described the plight of Paul Schwartz, the former German soldier who has just been released after serving more than 12 years in Devil's Island prison.

Schwartz was born in Corsica of Germany parents, and taken to Alsace-Lorraine as a baby. A young man when the war started, he joined the German army, serving until the armistice. Then the French seized him, claimed him as a French citizen and sent him to Devil's Island as a traitor.

There he stayed, innocent of any crime, and utterly forgotten by officialdom, until some functionary happened to remember him the other day. His sentence was promptly commuted, very likely with suave Gallic apologies; but who is going to restore to him those lost 12 years?

Convention Battle Looms

IT IS beginning to look as if the Democratic national convention this summer would be a more exciting and spirited affair than seemed likely a few weeks ago.

No political convention is really exciting when one candidate has the victory cinched in advance; and until recently it looked very much as though Governor Roosevelt would go to the convention with the nomination practically assured. Recent primary elections, however, have made that seem very much less probable; indeed, it is quite possible that the convention will be the scene of one of the most spirited contests in recent history.

Much can happen, of course, between now and the day the convention meets. But it is hardly likely, any more, that there is going to be a walkaway.

SO THEY SAY!

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

(During Illness of Mr. Winchell This Column Is Being Conducted by Paul Yawita)

Things That Will Bore You No End!

(And remember, you don't have to read 'em).

That the poison fangs of a snake are used primarily for food killing and only secondarily as a means of defense. (So when you're dying, console yourself that the snake meant no harm. He was only hungry).

That the most perfect hand ever painted, according to art experts, is the right one on Da Vinci's Mona Lisa.

That smoking is not permitted on the floor of the house. (But its okay to take your shoes off, read a newspaper, or go to sleep).

That Henry Clay's famous utterance, "I had rather be right than be president" was never made in public but in private conversation with Senator Preston of S. Carolina. (At any rate, it's probably Hoover's sentiment, too).

That while Washington refused to accept a salary during the Revolutionary war, he did, however, enter an expense acc't for $64,315. (And newspaper reporters have followed his example ever since).

That the ear reacts to stimuli faster than the eye. (But so does the hand).

That most damaging flood in modern history was in 1887 when the Hoang-Ho in China overflowed drowning close to 7,000,000 lives.

That three layers of cellophane, properly arranged, will stop a bullet. (Make mine a double-breasted vest with whipped cream buttons).

That when you are hypnotized, it is simple to tell the front or back of a playing card by feeling it. (Oh, so those fellows I played with Satiddy night were hypnotized!)

That the old belief that hair grows after death is false. The apparent growth is due to the shrinkage of tissues around each individual hair. (That changes my opinion about my office boy's beard).

That the late Frank Harris worked as a sand-hog during the erection of the stone abutments on Brooklyn bridge.

That George Simenson, the French detective story writer, completed 18 full-sized novels last year. (That's for you lazy birds with lit'ry ambitions).

That Martha Washington was always called Lady Washington by the members of the Continental army.

That there is three times as much copper in a 5-cent piece as there is nickel. (But that's another subject that I wouldn't know much about).

That Cardinal Giuseppe Caspar Mezzofanti, who died in Rome in 1849 at the age of 74, could speak 114 languages and dialects, and that the ancient King Mithridates could speak the language of the 25 nations he ruled.

That Canfield, the famous gambler, declared the card game which lends itself to cheating most easily is Seven-Up. (No one has yet learned which is the hardest to cheat at).

That the 9 of diamonds is known as the Curse of Scotland because it was on that card that the drunken Duke of Cumberland is supposed to have written the order to give no quarter during the Battle of Culloden. (However, there are 52 cards in the deck known as the Curse of Yawitz).

That there are not more than 3 gorillas in the U. S. (Zoologically speaking, of course).

That the Eiffel tower in Paree cost slightly less than $1,000,000 and that it paid for itself via admission fee the first year.

That more than 600 people are still receiving financial aid from the Titantic fund which was established shortly after the disaster.

That during the early days of the war, French aviators carried a bag of bricks as part of their equipment in the hope that they might be able to hurl them into the enemy's propellers. Two German planes were brought down in this fashion. (And any number of French infantry men!)

That the great war was not the first in which dogs were used, the Greeks of Ionia having made use of them against the Cimmerians as long ago as 650 B. C.

That a watch balance vibrating exactly 18,000 times an hour will keep perfect time, but if it vibrates 18,001 times an hour, it will gain two and two-fifths minutes a mo. (Why do you worry about such things?)

That in most states it is illegal for the storekeeper to hand you a cigar out of a box. He must take the box out of the case and let you help yourself.

That discarded pipe heels cause more forest fires than either cigar or cigaret butts. (What do you expect of a heel?)

That the American government was compelled to pay for the burial ground of its dead in France.

O. Henry Memorial Planned At Austin

AUSTIN, May 5. (AP)—Establishment of an art center in honor of Elizabeth Ney, sculptress, and O. Henry, famous short story writer, is being advocated here.

It has been proposed that the art center be established at the present Ney museum, the city to acquire sufficient land around the museum to alolw the moving of O. Henry's old home and other historical landmarks to sites adjacent to the museum.

Another proposed being considered by city park officials is location of the O. Henry home in a park near the center of the city.

Samuel E. Gideon, professor of architecture at the University of Texas, is an ardent advocate of the plan to convert the park into a memorial for the short story writer.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE LONG DISTANCE WATER WALKING CHAMPION—Capt. Charles W. Oldrieve of Chelsea, Mass., won $5,000 on a bet and the world's championship in water walking when he covered 1,600 miles on the water from Cincinnati, Ohio, to New Orleans, La. This bizarre journey was accomplished on the waters of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers within the space of 46½ hours, Feb. 17-18, 1907. Captain Oldrieve supported himself on the surface with water shoes of his own invention. The shoes, weighing about 20 pounds each, were made of canvas stretched over a cedar framework. It was a very perilous as well as a strenuous journey, and the water walker faced death several times during his walk and suffered from severe attacks of rheumatism afterwards.

A MUSICIAN'S UBIQUITY—The date was Oct. 2, 1930. Within 12 hours, Joe Berryman played the saxophone with a high school orchestra in Texarkana, Texas, the clarinet with a quartet in Texarkana, Ark., and the trumpet with another high school band in Shreveport, La., in the order named.

TOMORROW—Forty miles an hour on water skiis.

Wanted—Love!

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of "Broadway Bride"

CHAPTER 46

Weak tea and thin slices of stale bread were passed to the 27 women that morning. Enough milk to make the tea muddy had been added before the thick cups were given out. There was no butter. But by dipping the bread into the warm tea it wasn't so distasteful.

When Lillian came back from the lavatory—she had to wait in line—her suitcase had disappeared from beneath her cot. She had removed it from the top of the cot during the night to give more room.

She reported her fate to the harsh-voiced matron.

"I ain't responsible, miss," she said, a gleam in her red-rimmed eyes. "I thought last night when you come here there was a lot of others needed that cot worse than you. You could have hocked that bag. I thought of that. It was a good one. I guess somebody else thought they needed it worse than you—seeing you're strong and healthy."

But instead of being infuriated because some one had taken her bag Lillian was prayerful because she had been fortunate enough to dress herself completely, in her woolen dress, even had on her coat and hat, before leaving the room.

She shivered to think of herself—had she left her cot without dressing. She hoped Eve had not met with the same luck. Eve's bag was gone. Eve probably had sense enough to take it to the lavatory with her.

Lillian sat on the side of her cot and waited.

"Hey, you," said the matron to Lillian, "you can't leave here without making your bed. What d'ya think? We don't have maids around here. You get a bed and your breakfast—and then you make the bed before you get out. You—with your hat on and everything ready to leave!"

Lillian looked about her. Most of the women had spread their cots neatly. She had been too worried about her bag's disappearance to notice or heed.

She started to spread the cot where she had slept. As she pulled the blanket back she found her gloves and rolled with them was a bit of paper, on which something was scribbled.

"Dear Lillian—Don't worry about me. And please forgive me for taking your bag. I will pawn it for enough to take care of me for a day or two. It's too hard, seeing you do this for me. Communicate with your family. You can send a wire collect you know. If I had a family or anybody to call on I would. You have the kindest heart in the world. And I love you too much to let you do any more for me. I know you'd go home if you knew what to do with me. Goodbye—for now.

"Eve."

Poor little Eve!

Never saying a word about being unhappy. Always cheerful. Dependable.

"It was because I lost control," Lillian moaned, "last night. She couldn't stand to have me do that."

Lillian ran out of the close room, which smelled of stale bread and tea, disinfectant . . . echoed with moans and hollow laughter.

Lillian hurried into the street. The chill wind dried the persistent flow of tears on her cheeks.

Find Eve! Catch up with her! She couldn't have gone far. The suitcase was heavy.

But hurrying, scanning the streets, brought Lillian no nearer her departed friend.

After blocks of rapid steps, breathless rushing, Lillian was forced by sheer fatigue to give up her search.

All afternoon she tried desperately hard to get a job, going to first one place, then another. Always with the same result—discouragement, heart ache.

Her feet pained. Her eyes were tired. She felt as if she hadn't slept in weeks—or eaten.

About 4 o'clock, hungry from the long tiresome grind, Lillian noticed a line of people near St. Vincent's hospital

Men and women . . . old and young . . . some no more than children.

There was an aroma of freshly cooked soup . . . vegetables, meat . . . it made the walls of her empty little stomach ache. The pleasant smell of food drew that line of hungry people just as it compelled Lillian.

She stood against a lamp post and watched: "The bread line!"

There would be more than bread for that line of people. There would be delicious hot soup, flecked with nourishing vegetables, bits of meat.

Lillian started to step into the line. She looked at those there . . . seedily clothed, rumpled, dirty . . . shifty eyes . . . pinched, pasty, nervous faces.

"No . . . I can't . . . can't!"

Finally a door opened and women, wearing clean white aprons, passed out bowls of soup and rolls. Some hands received the free food reverently, others greedily.

The white-aproned women reminded her suddenly of the girls of Junior league hired to run their charity bazaar kitchens in New England.

That thought stabbed Lillian's last shred of pride. She pulled up her thin shoulders under her rumpled coat, pushed a stray lock of hair back under her hat and peeked into her compact. Breathing deeply she forced her steps in the opposite direction.

"Ten cents! Two nickels! All I have . . . every cent." She turned back toward the line. The hot soup smelled so deliciously . . . so temptingly.

But again that smarting shred of pride controlled her and she forced herself around.

Some one touched her arm.

"Shine, miss?" asked a mournful looking little fellow, with a child's body and a man's face. He pushed his shoe-shine box, with its iron foot toward her.

This little fellow didn't think she was one of the bread liners! He thought she could afford a shoe shine. She smiled at him.

"Shine for luck, miss!" he persisted.

Her pumps were dusty and scuffed. They were good pumps, though, except for their run-over heels. She thought: "I couldn't get a job with shoes like these. And a dime won't help me, anyway . . ." She said: "Shine for a dime? It's every cent I've got."

"Okay."

She propped her kid pump on the iron foot. "For luck!"

But the odor of the fresh hot soup reached her up the street. With a fresh shine and a bowl of hot soup she would have courage to talk some one into giving her work . . . her steps led back toward the bread line.

She started to take a place in line—but stomach and pride were again at odds. Pride getting the better side, she hesitated—and a hand rested on her arm. A cultured-voiced woman asked: "Why don't you, my dear?"

Lillian spoke her thoughts without intending to voice them: "I can't! I thought I could . . . I haven't the nerve . . ."

The hand, in its white kid glove, did not move from Lillian's arm. It patted. But Lillian took a few uncertain steps back.

"Perhaps I might help you?"

"It's not help I want!" flared Lillian's pride. "It's work!"

Mrs. Margaret Carlton—the newspapers often identified her as "one of society's leading social workers," had learned in her experience that many a girl can be down on her luck and still be a good girl. Lillian's remark was filled with meaning to her.

It was Mrs. Carlton's good will toward unfortunates which caused her large contribution toward establishing the free food kitchen. And instead of gossiping over tea cups or squabbling over bridge tables in the afternoons Margaret Carlton usually drove down to the food kitchen to see how it was being managed.

While Lillian was being torn between pride and hunger Margaret Carlton had watched and read her from her heated and veloured limousine.

"A girl with undeniable marks of culture—pretty in a refined way, fresh, young . . ." Margaret Carlton's troubled eyes took on a new gleam as they swept over Lillian. A gleam of hope. It would take beauty and youth to help solve Margaret Carlton's problem. She would pay to use, to direct, the charm of this girl. No doubt the girl needed money and a job. And a girl so near the bread line would not be too proud.

Readers' Opinion

Editor, The Record News

Believing that Tom Hunter's friends would like to know how he is progressing in his campaign, am quoting you a letter received this morning from El Paso.

J. B. Marlow, Chairman, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Herewith find $1 as a contribution for Mr. Hunter's campaign chest. I wish I could make it a thousand dollars, but a one spot is as big as the moon to me these days when the "big boys" are crushing out the lives of the little fellows at the base of the pyramid. If our nation is to survive we will need the help of many men like Mr. Hunter.

Yours sincerely, Henri Letord, D. D. S.

We are receiving many such letters from all parts of the state.

Yours truly, J. B. Marlow, Chairman.

As such it took part in the Austerlitz and Jena campaigns, but after the conquest of Prussia Napoleon augmented it, and divided it into the old guard and the young guard.

RICH INDIAN ASKS RECEIVER

Valuable Estate in Court For Nearly 20 Years

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 5. (UP)—Katie Fixico Daniels, wealthy Creek Indian heiress whose million dollar estate has been a continual subject of litigation for almost a score of years, has asked the federal court to declare her competent.

Her attorneys yesterday asked the court to appoint a receiver for the estate. Hearing on the petition was set for next Tuesday.

The estate, derived by an allotment in the old Cushing-Drumright-Oilton oil fields, now is valued at $500,000. The petition charged that Henry W. Metzger of Okmulgee, named her guardian, has dissipated the estate and has invested in many "near worthless securities."

Other defendants named in the petition are John T. Cole, Okmulgee and the Central National bank of Okmulgee.

The petition related that Katie went to Arkansas and established legal residence to get away from her husband, John Daniels. She charged he mistreated her and "threatened humiliations and outrages upon her and her children." Daniels has sued for divorce.

Year's Suspension of Arms Expenditures Asked

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—A proposal for a year's suspension of expenditures for military and naval construction was offered in the senate today by Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, as a substitute for a bill to build the navy up to treaty limits.

The Frazier resolution would declare such a suspension to be this government's policy.

It also would provide that the United States call the attention of the present Geneva disarmament conference to the action and take such other steps as may be necessary to obtain international agreement to such a truce.

Swapping of Horses Revived at Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, Texas, May 5. (AP)—This town early in April inaugurated something new for this section of Texas, a reminder of the early days, in an old fashioned "horse swapping" day.

At the first one, the second Monday in April, there were more than 1,500 people here from out of town. A still larger crowd is predicted for the next time, May 10.

WRESTLER DEPORTED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5. (US)—Yasuji Fujita, jiu jitsu wrestler, must return to Japan, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals today. He is also known as Yota Shima and Morgan Y. Fugita.

M'DONALD HAS EYE OPERATION

Second Surgical Treatment Is Successful

LONDON, May 5. (US)—Prime Minister MacDonald underwent a second eye operation today in an effort to restore his impaired vision so that he can carry on in office and attend the Lausanne reparations conference in June.

The operation on the prime minister's right eye, necessitated by glaucoma, the same infection that forced an operation on the left eye several weeks ago, was described in a terse bulletin issued from the nursing home where it was performer. Signed by Sir Thomas Horder, MacDonald's physician, and Dr. W. S. Duke-Elder, his oculist, it said:

"The operation on the prime minister's right eye was undertaken successfully at 4 p. m."

Concerning a report MacDonald is threatened with blindness, his secretary issued the following statement:

"It is a silly expression of extreme opinion. Neither Mr. MacDonald nor his oculist have the slightest fear of blindness. They are hopeful of a cure."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tablets for Reducing

Question—Mrs. F. writes: "Some time ago I started to take some tablets for reducing, using two after each meal, and lost 25 pounds, but whenever I stop taking them I begin to gain rapidly again. I am very nervous and everything I eat seems to disagree since starting the treatment, but I am afraid to stop taking the pills, as I would soon weigh 200 pounds. What would you suggest?"

Answer—It is possible that you have some glandular deficiency which causes you to gain weight rapidly. The tablets probably contain thyroid extract which causes you to reduce rapidly. I never advise this type of treatment unless the patient is under a doctor's supervision. I feel sure you will be able to reduce your weight if you will take plenty of exercise and use your will power to keep away from rich foods for a sufficient length of time. Where there is difficulty in reducing, as in your case, I sometimes advise a straight water fast for two or three days, using a glassful of water every half hour during the day, and following this fast with an orange juice or tomator juice diet. Such a diet, if continued long enough, usually corrects glandular conditions so that excessive gaining will not result after you start eating again.

Running Ears

Question—Mrs. A. writes: "What can be done to cure my daughter's running ears? They have been discharging ever since she had the flu three years ago."

Answer—The discharge from your daughter's ears can probably be cured by putting her on a diet which will cure her catarrhal tendency. Sometimes local treatments with the ultra-violet light in the ears speeds recovery. The treatment necessary is too long to describe in the limited space here, but if you will write again giving me your full name and address, I will send you the instructions.

State Commissioner Lauds Cotton Move

AUSTIN, May 5. (AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, is warm in his commendation of schools that are sponsoring "cotton commencements" in the campaign to remove a portion of the cotton surplus from the market. He urged other schools to follow the example, hailing it as a step toward increasing the price of Texas' greatest commodity.

"Cotton frocks adoring both teachers and students, with a bluebonnet, Texas' state flower, pinned upon them, should be a sight that should make Texas parents proud to behold," McDonald stated. "It would be an excellent exhibition of the utilization of the resources of the state, vitally needed at this time."

McDonald also commended textile engineers and cotton goods manufacturers for their efforts to make 'cotton commencements' more stylish and economical.

"It would be a wonderful sight to Old Man Texas to see 1932 graduates wear his cotton frocks at their commencement exercises."

The cotton commencement movement was started last year and has gained considerable momentum this year, McDonald reported.

CONSUL SAVES STRANDED MAN

Victim of Recent Assault In China Makes Rescue

By EDWARD S. HUNTER
(Copyr't, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

HARBIN, Manchuria, May 5.—Venturing into a no-man's land where Chinese and Japanese troops are preparing for a decisive major battle, Culver B. Chamberlain, American consul-general here, today brought back to safety an American medical missionary and his family.

Accompanied by this correspondent, Chamberlain crossed the Chino-Japanese lines under cover of darkness, met Dr. Carl Eskildsen, of Ixira, Iowa, his wife and two young children, behind the Chinese front at Hulan and smuggled them back into Harbin in the early dawn.

Chamberlain, who four months ago was painfully beaten by Japanese soldiers at Mukden, decided on the hazardous trip despite the refusal of Japanese authorities to vouch for his safe return.

Yesterday the Eskildsen journeyed by railroad hand car and pony cart from Suihua to Hailun, where Chamberlain had arranged the rendezvous. Their trip carried them through a region infested with Chinese irregulars and bandits.

Our trip back with the refugees from Hulan had one exciting moment. As our police launch sputtered across the Sungari river, the beam of a searchlight picked us out, dancing on the American flag flying from our bow.

We were quickly reassured when we saw that the spotlight was directed from a Japanese gunboat, standing by river steamers on which troops were being loaded for the drive on Fangcheng.

Dr. Eskildsen said Chinese forces are making extensive preparations to meet the Japanese advance. Gen. Ma Chan-Shan, former Japanese ally, has returned to Hailun to direct the battle, he said.

Japanese scouting planes flew over Suihua the morning of his departure, the doctor declared, and General Ma has plastered the streets of the town with proclamations stating he will resist the Japanese to the death. Eskildsen added:

"General Ma is enlisting anybody, even bandits, provided they vow not to give in to the Japanese."

According to a survey by the municipal council of Paris, the city is valued at $8,320,000,000.

Laboratory discoveries prove value of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here's why ALL-BRAN belongs on your table

IN THE past few months, many new scientific findings indicate that ALL-BRAN is a valuable addition to the daily diet. These laboratory investigations show that ALL-BRAN is an important source of two things needed to overcome constipation. "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. (You will be interested in reading some of the results of these tests in the panel on the right.)

"Bulk" and vitamin B will help protect you from constipation and its effects—the headaches, the loss of energy, the poor appetite, the sleeplessness, the backaches, the wrinkles that so frequently result.

Now, in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, you have both "bulk" and vitamin B in one delicious cereal. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Moreover, ALL-BRAN furnishes iron for the blood. Tests prove that this famous health-cereal provides twice as much assimilable iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Isn't it much pleasanter to enjoy this appetizing cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful and habit-forming?

Try two tablespoonfuls daily—usually sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If you suffer from a severe intestinal trouble, we suggest you consult your physician.

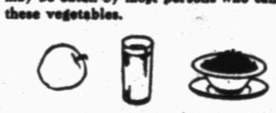

Special cooking and flavoring processes make ALL-BRAN particularly healthful. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Here are some of the results of recent laboratory investigations of bran

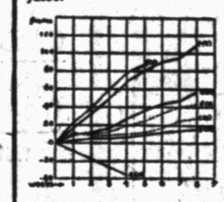

The Bulk in Bran

Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. It may be eaten by most persons who can eat these vegetables.

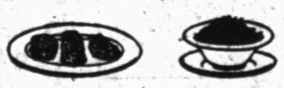

Vitamin B in Bran

One ounce of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains 45 vitamin B units, as much as that in one very large apple or 5 ounces of orange juice.

This chart* shows the effects of daily additions to the vitamin B-free basal diet of laboratory rats: (a) none, (b) 6.6 gm. prepared bran, (f) 1.6 gm. prepared bran.

Iron in Bran

Tests show bran provides twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Lindsay No. 1 Wilson A-5 Is Gauged and 'Pays Off'

Completion this week of the Lindsay Drilling company's No. 1, lease A-5 L. F. Wilson, in the southeast part of block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, Archer county, added another deep producing horizon to the many productive sands in that county. The new producing depth is at 3600 feet.

The well, which is producing 100 barrels by actual gauge, was completed several months ago after drilling to a depth of 5700 feet and encountering a hard lime. During drilling operations two pay horizons were drilled. One was at 2200 feet, the original Chalk Hill deep production, and the new deeper stratum at 3614 feet. Both of these were passed through in an effort to pick up a much deeper sand before the contract depth of 5500 feet had been reached.

Later the well was taken over by the Lindsay Drilling company and plugged back to a depth of 3646 feet in order to test out the 3614-foot sand. The formation was given a shot and later considerable water trouble was experienced. This menace was practically eliminated and at present very little is shown. The well has been tubed and a gauge taken made, registering 100 barrels per day.

The well, an ordinary producer from this depth, is important due to the fact of its output coming from an entirely new pay in the county, and the fact it is the only well finished at this depth. Its completion is expected to be responsible for the deepening of a number of tests drilled to 2300 feet and abandoned on the adjoining tracts.

IT'S ABOUT TIME

"You remember when you cured my rheumatism a couple of years ago," asked the patient, "and you told me that I should avoid dampness?"

Personal experiences to be related in his talk here Friday night are said to include many thrilling episodes. Mr. Prommel also will discuss at some length the oil situation in Russia, according to R. A. Birk, president of the local geological society.

Members of the society are to assemble at the Wichita club at 6:30 for their regular monthly dinner meeting. Mr. Prommel will speak at 7:30. For his address, members of the North Texas Oil and Gas association, and of the local chapter of the A. P. I., have been invited, as well as other persons interested in the subject of geology and oil structures.

Mr. Birk will preside at both the dinner and the meeting which is to follow.

'Reflate' Bill Faces Defeat

Thomas Predicts Doom Of Goldsborough Plan

WASHINGTON, May 5. (UP)—Prediction that the Goldborough bill passed by the house and designed to raise the level of commodity prices, would be defeated in the senate was made on the floor today by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma.

The bill is now before the senate banking and currency committee.

"I am advised," Thomas said, "that the Democratic and Republican leadership already have agreed to defeat the Goldsborough bill. But I will not follow that leadership. I will attempt to get the bill out of the committee and bring it to a vote in the senate.

Committee procedure on the bill has not been determined.

"No, Jack," said one old gentleman. "No one in here wants to fight."

AUSTIN, May 5. (UP)—Gregg county again led all counties in oil drilling applications for April. A report issued late today by the oil and gas division of the railroad commission listed 244 for Gregg county; 148 for Rusk county; 35 in Smith; and 33 in Upshur counties.

Activity in Young and Archer counties was also shown, 36 applications to drill coming from Young and 38 from Archer. State total was 787. There were 524 new producers reported for the month. Gregg county alone had 225.

50 TO ATTEND LEGION MEET

Throckmorton Leader Chief Speaker Here

In an address packed with graphic descriptions of experiences overseas and the work of the American Legion, John Lee Smith of Throckmorton was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Pat Carrigan post of the legion Thursday night at the Memorial auditorium.

Mr. Smith emphasized the importance of the legion program of work and benefits to veterans enrolling with the organization, citing numerous reasons and describing the need for legion activities. Mr. Smith, who is a veteran public speaker, is chairman of the executive committee of the Ennis Irwin post of Throckmorton.

Tribute to Carrigan

In the address Mr. Smith paid a tribute to the memory of Pat Carrigan, for whom the local post is named, and told of a conversation with him shortly before the battle of St. Etienne, in which Carrigan lost his life.

A formal invitation to attend the convention of the 13th district legion at Throckmorton, June 4-5, was issued by Rev. R. E. Yearbrough, chaplain of the Throckmorton post. Olin A. Crockett, chairman of the entertainment committee; and Dan Masters, vice commander, both of Throckmorton, made short talks. Harry Anagnos of Amarillo, a charter member of the local post, complimented the legion here as the finest he had visited.

Scott Ralston of Iowa Park, vice commander of the Pat Carrigan post, presided at the meeting in the absence of Post Commander Roy J Daniel, Post Adjutant W. R. Irvin said.

The post plans to send more than 50 delegates to Quanah, May 7-8, for the 18th district legion convention and the drum and bugle corps will make the trip, J. H. Simmons reported. Other reports presented included the firing squad by C. W. Jackson, sick relief work by V. V. Musick and a report by Service Officer J. F. Friberg.

Memorial Program

Membership needs and plans were stressed in reports and talks by G. W. Curd, Victor Nobles, Wayne Somerville, Rabbi S. J. Schwab and Dr. A. F. Leach.

The post adopted a resolution advocating the continuance of the U. S. department of labor employment service in Wichita Falls throughout the year, pointing out the need for the bureau. H. H. Bailey reported more than 100 men had been given work in Wichita Falls, earning approximately $250 during the month since the opening of the "man-a-block" program by the legion.

Plans for a Memorial day program to be held Sunday, May 29, at a local church were announced by Chairman Milton J. Gaines. J. V. Leggett announced a child welfare program will be given under auspices of the legion auxiliary at the educational building of the First Methodist church Tuesday night, May 10, at 8 o'clock.

Nationally Known Peace Advocate Honor Guest and Speaker at Banquet

'Use Heads Instead of Fists' to Settle Arguments, Woman Urges in Talk to A. A. U. W.

To be truly patriotic and to advance the cause of world peace, we must join that group which "believes we must solve all our problems by using our heads instead of our fists," Miss Mary Ida Winder, associate secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War told about 50 women who met at the Wichita club Thursday night for her address.

Those present at the dinner which honored Miss Winder's visit here, and who heard her lecture, represented the American Association of University Women and the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Eleanor Pace acted as toastmistress and introduced the visiting speaker.

Miss Winder, who makes her headquarters in Washington, D. C., spent last summer in Europe for the purpose of attending conferences of the League of Nations, and to study the disarmament conference. She also spent the summer of 1928 studying and speaking in Europe.

"The world now has reached the place," she said, "where it must choose between the forces of destruction and those of construction. The nations of the world spent $5,000,000,000 on armaments last year, yet we have no more security, stability, nor happiness; only a few more million men, women, and children starving and freezing because the money which should have bought food and clothes was spent on armaments for war."

Miss Winder said that in England last summer a group of 18,000 persons, after hearing Ramsey MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin and David Lloyd George speak on disarmament adopted unanimously resolutions calling upon the government to exert every effort to obtain actual reductions in armaments. In Austria, Jugoslavia, and France, she continued, strong movements for disarmament and peace are under way. In Germany, the speaker said, the Hitlerites and Communists charge that the allies who won the war have violated the treaty of Versailles through failure to reduce armaments.

Taxpayers Hold Brief Meeting

About 50 persons attended a brief meeting of the Wichita County Taxpayers association at the courthouse Thursday night, and voted to hold another meeting on Monday night, May 16, in the 78th district courtroom.

In the absence of Chairman John C. Kay, Thursday night's meeting was called to order by Charles Quanstrom, who called for a report of last Saturday's meeting of the state taxpayers association held at San Antonio. Delegates to that convention from this county were J. B. Marlow and C. C. Hudson. Mr. Marlow was also absent from Thursday night's meeting. The brief report given by Mr. Hudson, however, revealed that the state convention's major action was the adoption of a questionnaire which is to be submitted to all legislative and other state candidates before they qualify for the primary in July.

The questionnaire consists of 13 questions, the report indicated. After the meeting here on May 16, it was said, the questionnaire will be submitted to candidates here as a means of ascertaining their attitude toward objectives of the taxpayers association. It will reflect the association's intention to abolish some public offices, and to consolidate others.

Mr. Hudson also said that taxpayers' associations in all the larger Texas cities report difficulty in obtaining the cooperation of the heaviest taxpayers in each community. He urged that the association and that group of taxpayers should be mutually helpful each to the other.

Suspects in Munday Kidnaping Released

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 5.—Four men arrested Wednesday in connection with the kidnaping and drugging of Walter Bevers, watchman, here Tuesday night and with the burglary of the Munday and Seymour postoffices the same night, were released here today following lengthy questioning by investigators.

Science Now Can Tell Six Months Before Birth

PASADENA, Calif., May 5. (US)—Medical science has been able positively to determine the sex of a child as early as five months before birth, it was revealed today at the closing session of the California Medical association's convention.

Dr. John H. Dorn, of San Francisco, told of the sensational experiment, which was made under the observation of Dr. Frank Lynch, of the University of California medical board, and Edward I. Sugarman, bacteriologist.

It means that a problem which for centuries has been the object of intense study by medical men has been solved.

To Stop Itching In Two Minutes

This formula for skin diseases is astounding the most skeptical in the marvelous way it heals severe cases of eczema, tetter, ringworm itch and athlete's foot. The minute it touches the sore you feel a cooling, soothing sensation; in a few days you marvel at how your skin has healed. If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, get from any druggist a 60c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back. Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.—Adv.

Back-To-Farm Move Gets Official Frown

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—Wholesale "back-to-the-farm" movement of industrial unemployed is opposed by the national advisory and legislative committee on land use, created under the direction of Secretary Hyde.

Citing personal tragedies and group distress attendant on such efforts in the past, the committee has requested congress to give the agriculture department authority to guide the movements now taking hold in many large industrial centers and which may react against farmers.

There is need, the committee said, "for a public policy in guiding and directing them and in preventing exploitation, resulting in the adoption of unwise types of land settlement."

Efforts to promote colonies on unemployed on undeveloped lands was frowned on by the committee.

The advisory group said in its opinion the best opportunity of aiding the jobless is through providing some of them with land near large cities on which they can raise sufficient food in gardens to tide them over.

BUFFS POUND FERRELL AND BYRAM FOR 13 TO 1 VICTORY

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Tread lightly here, the pennant hopes
Of Houston's Buffs lie buried;
Cvengros gave Green a base on balls
In order to get to Severeid.

To buy the Buffs a monument
Deposit here your coins;
For Judd gave Green a base on balls
In order to get to Owens.

Montague Natives Whipped

A number of towns in Montague county are included in the Red River Valley Baseball league. Some strong teams have developed therein, but the boys are biting the dust at the expense of a band of colored boys from Gainesville, according to our alert spy at Nocona, Mr. C. W. Giles.

"Mr. Rambler's corner man," writes Mr. Giles. "This is too good to keep and you simply MUST run it on the sport page.

"The Gainesville negro baseball team recently invaded Montague county in 'exhibition' games, and absolutely pulverized, demoralized, capsized and completely broke down the morale of the Red River Valley league baseball organization, of which members are all white men, and as far as they have gone, the Gainesville Blackhawks have 1.000 per cent to their credit.

"There being no negro population in Montague county, naturally makes these ball games unique, as well as very interesting to the natives.

"The first 'exhibit' was at Cap's Corner, Sunday, and there was a battle royal—but the negroes turned up the toes of the Cap's Cornerites to the tune of 5 to 2. A big crowd (all whites of course) was there to see it well done. Now, Cap's Corner is a member of the R. R. V. baseball league, and everything went off very pleasantly, mixed with lots of fun.

"But the half is not yet told. The colored domination continues, and the Gainesville 'pill hitters' are determined to clean up bodily, on the Red River Valley league—wipe 'em out. Now this is sad, but must be told. Those colored folk got 'into it' with Spanish Fort, another staunch member of this famous baseball league of rugged old Montague county, on Tuesday—and the worse is yet to be told. It was said that the largest crowd that ever witnessed a baseball game or anything else in the county, stood there terrified while the Blackhawks of Gainesville whipped the socks off'n of those Spanish Fort boys, 7 to 4. One of the negroes umpired and it is thought a sack of monkeys could not have caused half as much fun as that game of baseball.

"A conservative estimate of the number of people at the game puts it between 1,200 and 2,000, and from all over the county, as there are members of this baseball league in most towns in the county. It was said that Spanish Fort business houses were closed for the game, including the telephone office. It's not known whether the postmaster quit his post or not. Anyway, everything went off (oh, no, not quietly), but in the best of humor, and all got their money's worth. Everybody says the joke is on the other fellow, but apparently the joke is on Montague county, collectively.

"Page Nocona. They are NEXT. Being a member of this unfortunate league, during their 'dark days,' they will about be the next victims—and it is hoped they will take their medicine as the other clubs, without a gulp or frown."

About Paul Dean

Paul Dean, 18-year-old brother of Dizzy Dean, resents the fact that people call him Dizzy's brother, according to Andy Anderson's column in The Houston Press.

"Give me another year in baseball and they'll be callin' that dizzy so-and-so Paul Dean's brother," the youngster is quoted as saying.

It happened during the spring exhibition season, just after Paul had whipped the New York Yankees, 3 to 2, with Lefty Gomez, brilliant southpaw ace of the Yanks, as Dean's opponent.

Paul has even more reason now to resent the fact that he is just somebody's brother. Early in the American association season he pitched a one-hit game for Columbus.

Paul is a better pitcher than Dizzy, in the opinion of Charley Barrett, veteran Cardinal scout who discovered Pepper Martin.

East Texans Seek Sports' Franchise

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 5. (AP)—President B. A. Hardey and Business Manager J. Walter Morris of the Shreveport Texas league baseball club conferred today with a committee of Longview sportsmen concerning the transfer of all of the Sports home games this season to Longview.

This move was being considered in consequence of the Sports' park burning last night.

Longview sportsmen offered to construct a new baseball park and grounds and meet any other requirements. The two officials, however, said they were not at liberty to make a definite answer at this time, as the matter is one in which the league is concerned and will decide.

They said they would discuss the situation with league officials tomorrow morning at Dallas.

The first game of the three-game series between Shreveport and San Antonio will be played at Longview tomorrow afternoon.

Morris said the last two games of the San Antonio series would be played at Tyler. After Sunday's contest, the Sports go on a 12-day road trip.

TYLER, Texas, May 5. (AP)—A committee was named at a mass meeting here today to present Tyler's bid for the Shreveport baseball franchise in event a change is necessary.

The committee planned to accompany officials of the Shreveport team to a conference with Texas league officials in Dallas tomorrow.

MEDWICK HITS THIRD HOMER

Beaumont Opens Three-Game Series Today

By FRED THOMPSON

Wild Man Ferrell, Tarzan of the Spudder pitching staff, tried to pitch again yesterday. The score: Houston 13, Wichita Falls 1.

Wesleys' little brother in one and one-third innings—that's all he lasted—succeeded in giving Houston seven runs, five hits, and three bases on balls, and topped it off with hitting one batsman.

He also made things nice for Rebel Byram, who relieved him—going out in the second with one out and two on bases. Joe Medwick slammed a home run off Byram, his third in as many days, but from then on until the seventh the Rebel did a fine job, allowing only three hits. In the seventh, however, he was nicked for five hits and four runs. These, coupled with the three Houston scored in the first and six in the second, rounded out the score.

Spuds Get Six Hits

Ray Moss of the Buffs pitched a beautiful game, allowing the Spudders only six scattered hits. He would have had a shutout but for wildness in the first inning. Garms got to second on a pass and a wild pitch, took third on Bejma's infield out, and scored on Fuss' double for the lone Wichita Falls run.

Today the Spudders take on the Beaumont Shippers in the opener of a three-game series. It was Tom Conlan's turn to pitch yesterday, so it was assumed he would get the call today.

Furman Owens, hero of Wednesday's great extra-inning battle, had an off day yesterday, a passed ball and a wild throw in the first, and another wild throw in the second contributing to the Houston scoring.

Buffs Score Three

Hock beat out a bunt toward second to start the fracas. Stebbins singled through second, Hock taking third. Owens let one of Ferrell's pitches get through him. After recovering he threw wild to second, Hock scoring and Stebbins taking second. Carey walked. Medwick doubled to left, scoring Stebbins and Carey. Peel walked. Attempting to sacrifice, Narlesky popped to Euller, who doubled Medwick off second with a heave to Scharein. Peel was thrown out stealing, Owens to Bejma, to finally retire the side after the Buffs had taken a three-run lead.

The Spuds scored one tally in their half. Garms walked and took second on a wild pitch. Bejma grounded out to Hock, Garms taking third. Fuss doubled against the center field wall, Garms scoring. Fuss advanced to third on Badgro's infield out but Green popped to Carey to retire the side.

More Tallies

Ferrell hit Kott to start the second, and followed up by walking Ryba. Both runners advanced on Moss' infield out and scored on Hock's single to right. Stebbins singled to center, Hock taking second and Mr. Ferrell retired to the showers, Rebel Byram coming to the mound for the Spudders. Byram made Carey line out to Fuss but young Medwick, Buff left fielder, slammed the first pitch over the left field wall, scoring Hock and Stebbins ahead of himself. Peel walked, stole second and went to third when Owens threw low to second trying to prevent the theft, the ball bounding into center. Narlesky singled to left, scoring Peel, and stole second when Owens' throw again was low. Kott popped to Scharein to retire the side after six more runs had been scored.

In the home half Owens grounded out, Stebbins to Moss, who covered first. Scharein grounded out, Moss to Stebbins. Euller walked but Byram was called out on strikes.

Bejma Singles

Byram retired the Buffs hitless in the third. Ryba flied to Garms. Moss popped to Green, and after Hock had walked, Stebbins grounded out, Byram to Green. In the home half, Garms grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins. Bejma singled off Hock's glove but Fuss hit into a double play, Narlesky to Carey to Stebbins.

In the fourth Clift replaced Euller at third base for the Spudders and got two chances right off the bat, throwing out Carey and Medwick on their respective grounders. Peel popped to Scharein, retiring the side. In the home half, Badgro grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins. Green singled through third. Owens was called out on strikes and Scharein forced Green at second, Hock to Narlesky.

In the fifth, Narlesky fouled out to Badgro, who made a good running catch. Kott flied to Fuss. Ryba beat out an infield hit to short. Moss walked, Ryba taking second. Hock grounded out to Green, unassisted. Sanders replaced Peel in right field for the Buffs in the last of the fifth. With two out, Garms walked but was forced at second by Bejma, Hock to Narlesky.

Threat Averted

In the sixth Stebbins grounded out, Bejma to Green. Carey beat out an infield hit to third. Medwick was safe when Fuss dropped his fly to right, Carey taking second. Sanders hit to Clift, who threw Medwick out at second, Clift to Bejma, Carey taking third. Narlesky grounded out, Clift to Green, retiring the side. In the home half, Fuss flied to Kott in center. Badgro fouled out to Stebbins. Green grounded out, Carey to Stebbins.

In the seventh, Kott fouled out to Green. Ryba lined out to Badgro. Moss doubled off the left field fence and scored on Hock's double to left center. Stebbins beat out an infield hit to short, Hock taking third. Carey hit a blazer which bounced off Clift's glove and rolled for a double, scoring Hock, Stebbins taking third. Stebbins scored and Carey went to third on a wild pitch. Medwick beat out an infield hit to short, Carey scoring. Sanders grounded out to Green, unassisted, for the third out.

Scharein Doubles

In the home half, Owens grounded out, Hock to Stebbins. Scharein doubled to left and took third on Clift's infield out, but Byram grounded out, Hock to Stebbins.

In the eighth, Narlesky flied to Badgro. Kott grounded out, Scharein to Green. Ryba struck out. In the home half, Garms lined out to center. Bejma doubled to left. Fuss fouled out to Ryba. Badgro grounded out, Narlesky to Stebbins.

Moss grounded out, Clift to Green, to open the ninth. Hock singled to center. Stebbins grounded out, Bejma to Green, Hock taking second. Carey flied to Fuss. In the last half, Green grounded to Hock, who threw past Stebbins at first, Green continuing to second on the error. Owens grounded out, Hock to Stebbins. Scharein lined out to left. Clift singled past third, Green taking third. Byram fanned to retire the side.

HERD BEATS TRIBE AGAIN

Dallas Wins Fourth in Row, 4 to 3

DALLAS, May 5. (AP)—Excellent relief hurling by Rookie John Whitehead gave the Dallas Steers a 4 to 3 victory over San Antonio here tonight in the final of a three-game series. The Steers made a clean sweep of the three games. Cy Smith hurled eight-hit baseball for the Indians and received perfect support.

Rip Radcliff, leading hitter in the Texas league last year, slashed a hit into right field in the eighth to score Bernie James from third with the run that unlocked a 3 to 3 deadlock and gave the Steers their fourth consecutive win. Ralph Erickson, southpaw, started on the Dallas mound but had little and was knocked out. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, May 5. (AP)—Small early declines were followed by rallies in cotton today on some trade buying and covering promoted by reports of rallies from early declines in the stock and grain markets and the absence of active or aggressive selling.
After declining to 5.55 July closed at 5.68. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 3 to 5 points.
There was a little New Orleans selling accompanied by reports of unfavorable weather for farm work in most sections, however, and prices worked off gradually to 5.42 for May and 5.80 for October, making net declines of 7 to 10 points on the general list.
May sold up to 5.59 and October to 6.00 or 7 to 12 points higher, but the stock market failed to hold its rallies in the late trading and closing quotations for cotton showed reactions of some 3 to 9 points from the best.
There was some southern selling during the earlier trading, but it was in small volume, and reports received here from the Southwest, said the basis on spot cotton was higher at the ports with some buying for far eastern account.
Exports today 27,419, making 7,559,283 so far this season.
Futures closed barely steady, 3@5 higher.

Closely Watched Bonds Close Little Changed While Stocks Dip Again

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 5. (US)—Stock prices slumped again today. Bonds, while decidedly irregular, closed little changed on the average. Most informed people are watching bonds these days for signs of termination of financial nervousness.

It is recognized that little can be expected from stocks until the bond market witnesses completion of whatever necessary liquidation still is necessary, and until investment demand is attracted in sufficient amount to offset offerings.

Therefore, the rallies in stocks are obviously the result mainly of technical factors rather than of any major shift.

Wall street was still hopeful of cheerful news out of Washington soon, but aside from continued intimations of more sober judgment dominating politicians, there were few tangible signs to confirm this hope.

The market for stocks was a continuation of the steady dribbling liquidation. It is understood that the odd-lot houses have noticed persistent selling, probably liquidation, from the public over the last few days. Technically, for intermediate influence, such a development frequently leads to a rally.

However, ordinarily influential operations are being restrained these days during the general uncertainty not only with respect to governmental finances but also the craze for inquiries.

There were few exceptions to the trend. It was reported that one of the largest insurance accounts, which had been under steady liquidation, had finally completed its selling.

There was some hope that the world conference on oil problems, now under way, in which the Royal Dutch representative shortly will participate, may bring improvement for this industry.

An unexpected advance was announced in dealers' open market rates for all acceptances. The markup of one-fourth of one per cent came after a long series of repeated reductions. For the time being, the street was at a loss how to interpret the advance.

The weekly federal reserve statements disclosed continuance of government bond purchases, and the reporting member banks in New York revealed an increase of $22,000,000 in their loans on other than security collateral; these are loans to business.

Any one acquainted with the speculative aspects of the stock market recognizes that its current heaviness reflects to a considerable extent the virtual complete absence of speculative operations.

Few speculators are anxious to court investigation by attempting to "stabilize" or to "stimulate" quotations. This applies equally to the short side; it is fair to say that at the present time large scale speculative activities in stocks are almost completely suspended.

The orderliness of the markets both for stocks and bonds is the most encouraging phase of the present period of readjustment.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, May 5. (AP)—Corn came suddenly to the front today as grain trade leader, and finished at an advance in price, whereas wheat and other cereals were laggard.
Rebounding after a fall to the lowest quotations since 1897, corn attracted unusual speculative attention owing to curtailment of receipts and improvement of cash demand.
Corn closed firm, ¼@⅝c above yesterday's finish, wheat unchanged to ¼c lower, oats unchanged to ⅛c higher, and provisions 2 to 5 cents down.
It was disclosed that shipping purchases here in the last few days had totaled 750,000 bushels. Upturns in corn prices followed quickly. Receipts of corn at primary points totaled but 324,000 bushels, compared with 403,000 a week ago. The maximum rise in corn values from the day's bottom was almost 2c a bushel, with the close at virtually the day's top.
Wheat, rye and oats responded to corn price bulgest and wheat recovered most of an earlier loss of 1⅝c. Some late buying of wheat was attributed to bullish crop reports from the southwest.
Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 52½c, 54⅝c; July 55@55¼c, 56⅝@57c; Sept. 57⅝@57⅝c, 59¼@59⅝c; Dec. 60⅝c, bids. Corn—May 29⅝c, offers; July 31⅛@31⅝c, 32⅝@32⅝c; Sept. 34c, 35@35⅛c; Dec. 33⅞c, 34⅝c.

DEMOS READY FOR MEETINGS

Chairmen Listed for 45 Precincts in County

Wichita county's part in organizing a vast army of Texas Democrats in preparation for county, state, and federal elections next fall will begin Saturday afternoon, May 7, at 2 o'clock when precinct conventions will be held in 45 separate precincts for the selection of delegates to the county convention next Tuesday.

Complete instructions, both from the state committee and the local county executive committee, were given to precinct chairmen in a meeting held Wednesday by Chairman Bert King.

Every person sitting as a voting member in Saturday's precinct caucuses will be required to sign the pledge prescribed by the state committee, promising support to the party's presidential and vice presidential candidates in the November election. Lists of those who voted for Gov. Ross Sterling in November, 1930, have been furnished the precinct chairmen for use Saturday. One voting delegate to the county convention will be allowed for each 25 such voters, or major fraction of that number.

Chairman King reminded precinct chairmen also last Wednesday that they will be admitted to the county convention next Tuesday only if certified by their respective conventions as delegates. About 40 precincts were represented in the meeting held Wednesday. Chairmen of the 45 precincts who will conduct Saturday's conventions are as follows: Precinct 1, Nat L. Inge; No. 2 K. H. Anderson; No. 3, W. A. Bandy; No. 4, W. B. Corlett; No. 5, R. L. McFall; No. 6, N. B. Rawls; No. 7, John R. Macheckney; No. 8, C. B. Felder; No. 9, J. H. Patton; No. 10, George Davis; No. 11, R. E. Hordes Of Grasshoppers To Invade Texas In Summer, Expert Predicts

Farmers Warned to Take Early Steps to Protect Crops; Formula Given for Poison Mash

Strong possibility of a general infestation of grasshoppers equal in intensity to that of 1923 for all of Texas except the eastern portion is indicated in a letter received by G. C. McGown, county agent, from R. R. Reppert, etomologist of the Texas A. & M. college extension service.

"Following the recent warm rains eggs, are hatching and small grasshoppers appearing," he says, "and as soon as infested areas are located the immediate application of control measures may save later damage. Places to be watched are sloping pasture land and areas next to ditches, creeks, grassy fence rows and along stone fences and lines of outcropping rock ledges."

"Poison bran mash has been highly successful in fighting grasshoppers and this has become the standard control measure, the county agent states. The formula he gives consists of 25 pounds coarse wheat bran, one pound Paris green or white arsenic, one ounce of high grade amyl acetate (avoid cheap grades of banana oil or bronzing liquids), two quarts cane or sorghum molasses, one pound common salt, and enough water to make a moist mash.

"Mix the bran and poison together thoroughly. Dilute the amyl acetate and molasses in about two gallons of water. Pour this liquid over the mixture of poison and bran until every particle is moist. Make further additions of water and mix thoroughly until a mash is obtained that is quite moist, yet will fall apart after being tightly squeezed. In this form it will broadcast easily.

"This quantity should cover about five acres. A good practice is to mix at night and sow in the morning before nine o'clock. To kill hoppers in grass land sow over the entire acreage to be protected. Where they are migrating from fence rows or pastures into cultivated crops, sow the fence row or a fairly broad margin of pasture, and also a broad margin of the cultivated crop to be protected.

"If amyl acetate cannot be obtained substitute six lemons for one ounce of the former. Both juice and rind should be used, the rind being ground in a fine food chopper. The lemons should be diluted with water the same as with the amyl acetate.

"In sowing, mash should not be placed in piles. Lead arsenate is valueless for grasshopper poisoning."

YOUTHS HELD IN ROBBERY

Boys Do Big Trading With Loot From Store

A youngster's paradise of barter was broken up Wednesday night and Thursday by city police with the arrest of four youths, ranging from 11 to 13 years in age, in solving a raid on the Maxwell & Son hardware store Sunday, May 1.

More than a dozen knives, a .22 caliber rifle, numerous padlocks, fishing equipment and other small articles have been recovered by officers; and police believe the remainder of the loot, two dozen pocket knives and a .22 rifle will be recovered with the location of two more youths.

Only two of the boys arrested are connected with the burglary, police said, but four other youths figured in the case by helping themselves to the stolen property while the young burglars were out of the city. A wide circle of trades, consumated in true boyish style, was interrupted by the officers, Police Chief Dick Morris, Detective F. M. Dowdy and Juvenile Officer J. A. McDonald.
