REPARATION FOR FIGHTING IS UNDER WAY

DISPATCHES TELL OF COMBAT; BUDENNY IS CALLED

(By Associated Press)
Possibility of Japanese representation in the interest of peace in the Orient developed today as the Russian-Chinese crisis grew more tense.

With the breaking of diplomatic relations by Russia, numerous troop movements by Russians and Chinese along the Siberian-Manchurian frontier were reported.

General Budenny, noted Russian general, was reported to have been called from vacation. His program was understood to include the concentration of Russian forces including powerful air squadrons, cavalry and tank divisions on the frontier in addition to reinforcing the Leningrad and Moscow garrisons.

Chinese reinforcements also were reported headed for the frontier. Unconfirmed dispatches from the Chinese press stated Russian forces had crossed the Amur river on the frontier but were repulsed.

Despite the far reaching military movements, there was still insistence in diplomatic quarters that war would be avoided although the danger of border incidents was clearly recognized.

RELATIONS SEVERED BETWEEN NATIONS

NANKING, July 18 (AP)—The Nationalist government foreign office tonight announced receipt of the note from Moscow severing diplomatic relations between Russia and China.

FORCES REPORTED MASSED ON FRONTIER

PEIPING, China, July 18 (AP)—Japanese news agency dispatches from Harbin stated Russian forces were being massed at Pogranichnaya and Manchuria along the Siberian-Manchurian frontier.

The transportation of Chinese troops to the frontiers also was reported being rushed.

The Russian consulate-general in Harbin has been closed and the staff is preparing to leave.

TROOPS REPULSED IN BORDER ATTACK

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—The Daily Mail today published a report from its Peking correspondent of rumors in Chinese quarters that Soviet troops had been repulsed in an attempt to cross the Amur river, which forms the northern boundary of Manchuria.

POSEY GIRLS WIN CONTEST

HARDY CLUB FINISHES SECOND IN HOME DEMONSTRATION

In demonstrations this morning before Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, and Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent, and Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent, the Posey girls 4-H club was adjudged first place and the Hardy club second.

The eliminations were held to select representatives for Lubbock county to compete in the district, where two teams will be chosen to compete in demonstrations of the Texas A. and M. University.

Misses Geraldine Wicker and Jewel Wilson, who demonstrated dyeing and renovation of clothing, compose the Posey team.

Demonstrating appropriate foot-ware, Misses Fay Middleton and Elizabeth Hudson represented the Hardy club.

Duty Is Asked On Foreign Petroleum

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A duty of $1 a barrel on petroleum with compensatory duties on its products was requested today by Representatives of Mid-Continent producers before a sub-committee of the senate finance committee.

The domestic producers were permitted to appear because none were present to oppose the demands last week of representatives of American companies operating in Latin-American countries that petroleum be kept on the free list.

Ahrenberg Hops Off

WIGT, Greenland, July 18 (AP)—Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish aviator making a trans-Atlantic flight from Stockholm to New York in several jumps, took off here today for Labrador at 10 a. m. G. M. T. (6 a. m. E. S. T.).

"Mashing" War Is Planned Here

J. C. Levens, assistant city attorney of Lubbock, will go before the City Commission soon in an effort to influence creation of an ordinance against "mashing" in this city, he announced today, following reports received recently at police headquarters of several incidents wherein "strangers have parked at curbs to inveigle women into riding with them."

"This practice has become one of the greatest menaces officers confront," said Mr. Levens. "Two young girls recently reported that a pair of men, unknown to them, stopped three times in efforts to pick them up. There are one to three such complaints received each week."

Disrespect to Society
"Mashing is a most pungent gesture of disrespect for organized society, and participants of such practice in many cases fall into clutches of the lawless statutory charges."

Interest in the Avalanche-Journal and Federated Aid Societies Milk and Ice Fund campaign was augmented today when the announcement from Manager Chisum of the Lubbock Hubbers baseball team that all prorata proceeds of the local squad, discounting expenses, will be donated to the charitable fund in the event business men of this city decide to send the Hubbers to the Amarillo News-Globe tournament.

A drive for expenses to send the Hubbers to the tournament, which opens in Amarillo next Sunday, is being conducted in the city today.

"The merchants in aiding us will be performing a double mission," said Manager Chisum. "They will be advertising the City of Lubbock and will also contribute toward the milk and ice fund."

In case the Hubbers are eliminated at the tournament, a benefit game will be played here, it was indicated.

PARIS, July 18 (AP)—The congratulations of two nations were bestowed upon Captain Lewis Vancey and Roger Q. Williams for their successful trans-Atlantic flight from Old Orchard, Maine, to Santander and Rome in the monoplane Pathfinder.

They were received first at the American embassy where Charge d'Affaires Norman Armour told them how proud Americans were of their flight. The aviators were then taken to the ministry of air, where Air Minister Laurent-Eynac welcomed them in the name of France.

The crews of the Yellow Bird and Pathfinder, who were so long comraded before the take-off from Old Orchard, were reunited at luncheon today.

IN 1979, THERE WON'T BE ANY HOME COOKING, SAYS FAMOUS FOOD EXPERT

Samuel Slotkin... he foresees the end of kitchen drudgery... and home cooked meals

Slotkin is head of a large cooked meat concern that has recently merged and now represents a corporation of several million dollars, and he is one who does not deplore the delicatessen dinner, yearn for home grown, home cooked chickens, or sausage ground up in the family food chopper. The further we get away from the home cooked idea, the better he is going to be pleased.

He believes that the time mother used to make were one fourth sentiment and three fourths hard work and that mother had better get out and play golf with dad, than wear herself out cooking for him.

"It's the day of big business, consolidations, and mergers," he said. "Small businesses are being crowded out, and the kitchen is the last stand of the little business. It has got to go."

Home in 1979
Here is the home of 50 years from now, as Slotkin sees it.

"The apartments will be compact with mechanical contrivances to all the housework. All furniture will be built in and most articles of furniture will do double duty. Apartment buildings will be equipped not only with florist and candy shops as they are today, but with equally attractive shops from which all types of prepared food can be ordered over the phone. Meat shops will be beautiful."

TERRIFIC BLAST COLLAPSES STORE

HAMMOND, Ind., July 18 (AP)—terrible explosion today demolished the Goldie Department Store, new building in the foreign section of town, with estimated damage of $300,000. Police said they believed labor trouble resulted in the explosion.

The explosion lifted the roof of the three-story building and caved in the walls, reducing it to debris. Nearby buildings were slightly damaged, and windows for several blocks around were shattered. No one was injured.

It was the second major explosion in Hammond in two years. The State Theater, a new $2,000,000 structure, was demolished shortly after it was completed about two years ago.

Rural Vote Fails To Cut Election's Lead

DALLAS, July 18 (AP)—The rural Texas vote, though generally unfavorable to the two constitutional amendments voted on Tuesday, had failed today to cut down the affirmative lead piled up by the cities sufficiently to defeat the changes.

Although returns were by no means complete, the amendment proposing increasing the supreme court membership from three to nine and abolishing the six-member commission of appeals had more than 20,000 counted ballots in its favor with more than 10,000 against.

The other amendment, that to increase the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 annually, had a similar lead.

Relief Given From Hot Weather Here

Offering relief from the sweltering heat of Wednesday afternoon, when the mercury extended to a maximum of 106 degrees in this city, an autumnal breeze, augmented in comfort by a partly cloudy sky, sent the thermometer down this afternoon at 2 o'clock to 95 degrees.

Ideal weather for sleep was afforded by a minimum temperature of 70 degrees early this morning.

WESTBOUND ROCK ISLAND TRAIN PLUNGES THROUGH BRIDGE NEAR STRATTON

DENVER, Colo., July 18.—Eight persons were killed and more than a score injured in the wreck near Stratton, Colo., today of the Westbound Colorado Express of the Rock Island lines, several cars of which plunged through a bridge weakened by a sudden flood following a cloudburst.

One car of the train carried most of its occupants to death when it submerged in the swirling waters of Landmans creek.

Railroad officials said it had been established that seven passengers and a negro porter had been killed.

Twenty-seven passengers were listed as injured, none apparently in a dangerous condition.

100 KILLED

SHANGHAI, July 18 (AP)—Chinese press dispatches today from Hsuehchow, Honan, said 100 persons were killed when a Luanghai train broke through a viaduct near Kaifeng, Honan.

Morris Gest, theatrical producer of New York city, who was on the train, aided in rescue work and later went to Stratton where he telephoned a graphic account of the accident to the Denver Post and the Associated Press.

MONEY SENT TO FLORIDA

FIVE MILLION RUSHED TO BANKS; CRISIS BELIEVED PASSED

TAMPA, Fla., July 18.—Five million dollars in cash, sent here from the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, and promise of a Federal Reserve official of "all the money needed to meet the situation," today bolstered Florida bankers and business men in their efforts to restore public confidence in the banking institutions of the state, of which 15 in this section closed yesterday.

Twenty-three banks have closed in the last two weeks.

Federal authorization for two $1,000,000 currency deposits in the state, one here and one at Miami—also was expected by local bank officials to aid what they said was increasing confidence of depositors in banks of this section.

Comptroller Ernest Amos said he believed the primary cause of the failures was "unnecessary withdrawals, propaganda, and a financial depression through the state which has been accentuated by the effect of the Mediterranean fruit fly and quarantine."

FORMAL ENTRY TO BE DELAYED UNTIL IN SPRING 1930

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, July 18.—Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller's announcement for governor makes six candidates for the democratic nomination so far with the primaries a year off.

Lieutenant Governor Miller gave notice yesterday he intended to become a candidate, but stated he would defer his formal entry into the race until after he had retired as grand master of the Texas Odd Fellows next March.

"I do not propose to involve that great order in the turmoil of a political conflict," he stated in declaring he would not become an active candidate until his term of office expired.

"I also feel Texas has had enough political controversy in the past year to entitle it to a rest, at least until the spring of the year in which the election will actually be held."

Other announced candidates are Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas; Oscar F. Holcombe of Houston; T. N. Mauritz of Galveston; E. G. Semler of Dallas; and Miss Katie Duffan of Ennis.

WASHINGTON FEARS WAR; WATCH KEPT

FIGHTING IMMINENT IN TROUBLE IN ASIA IS BELIEF

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, July 18.—With mingled feelings of apprehension and hope that armed hostilities may yet be avoided, the Washington government is keeping close watch on the rapidly developing controversy between Russia and China.

Press dispatches and consular advices from Manchuria are being given detailed study in a search for the proper interpretation of the action of the Soviet union in breaking off diplomatic relations with the Nanking government.

Outlook Is Gloomy
While it was pointed out war would not necessarily follow, and circumstances were cited which were regarded as virtually compelling an amicable settlement, it was generally agreed the diplomatic rupture had served at best to add considerable gloom to the outlook.

With America's extensive far eastern interests necessarily involved, the state department has kept in constant touch with the situation since its inception a week ago today in the seizure of the Chinese eastern railway by the Chinese. President Hoover himself has followed developments with an interest induced not only by the gravity of the situation, but by an intimate knowledge of the places and conditions involved which he gained during years of travel in Siberia and Manchuria as a mining engineer.

Break Is Logical
By some officials, the severance of the thin thread of diplomatic intercourse that has kept Russia and China on speaking terms since the communistic outbreak in Canton two years ago was accepted as logical. To them, it was the expected result of the stand taken by the Soviet government, its ultimatum and veiled threat of retaliation, and its interpretation of the Chinese reply as unsatisfactory.

Others, while not discounting reports of troop movements on both sides of the Siberian-Manchurian border, were of the belief economic circumstances would avert actual warfare.

They pointed out that both the Nanking and Moscow regimes are young as governments go, have yet to attain financial stability, and could be expected to prove extremely reluctant to undertake an expensive war. The food shortage in both countries also was cited, together with the difficulty Russia would encounter in transporting troops and supplies across Siberia and maintaining communication lines over such a distance.

Rosebud in 1915 was the only filly ever to win the Kentucky derby.

No major league pitcher made more than one balk last season.

Mr. Williams has not announced exact locations for his tests, but he said that he would make locations public as soon as everything is ready. AVIATION IS INHERITING EARLY LAWSUITS OF RAILROADS

MRS. WILLEBRANDT HAS ISSUES RAISED BY VARIOUS ONES

By GILBERT SWAN
NEA Service Writer
LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 18.—In the early days of the railroads, a whole lot of people looked on these new public carriers as new courses from which a clever man could get money for nothing—and so the railroads were bombarded with all kinds of previously unheard-of lawsuits. The fledgling business of commercial aviation today is in precisely the same situation. Being something entirely new, it is constantly running into situations to which existing laws do not seem to apply—and, like the early railroads, is encountering a tangle of new and unusual lawsuits.

She'll Tackle New Problems
That is one reason why Mabel

Walker Willebrandt gave up her position as prohibition prosecutor for the United States government to become chief legal advisor for the Universal Aviation corporation.

She told me about it shortly after she had arrived in Los Angeles in one of the corporation's luxurious transport planes; told me of this brand new legal field in which she is going to help mark the right-of-way.

When, in 1926, congress prescribed certain air rights, it cautiously overlooked the matter of "eminent domain." And since certain flying fields have been forced to display beacons, who is to say that tomorrow any ordinary citizen may not be ordered to put a light on his roof to point the way to safety?

Here is another example. On Long Island a golf course adjoins an airport. Planes occasionally make forced landings on the golf course's fairways, to the anger of the golfers and the ruination of the turf. Besides, when they sail along close to the ground they ruin putts and cause many a topped drive.

The golf club, there, is preparing to build a 60 foot fence on its boundary line to prevent this; the air port people say this will ruin their flying field—and nobody knows exactly what each party's legal rights in the matter are.

"That sort of thing," said Mrs. Willebrandt, "is one of the chief reasons why I have become a legal counsellor for aviation. I am still young enough to be interested in new ideas and in pioneering. The questions which aviation is raising are largely those which were raised by the railroads in their infancy.

Take that dispute between the airport and the golf club on Long Island. Suppose that lawsuit is tried before a jury. Will that jury be air-minded or golf-minded? My wager, if any, is that it will be golf-minded. It is accustomed to golf links, but it isn't accustomed to the whirring of motors overhead. And therein lies my particular problem.

Livestock Cause Lawsuits
"When I was flying in the first passenger plane of the Universal Aviation corporation, I could look down and see sheep, cows and pigs stampeding to get away from us. Back in the days, when the first railroad trains were entering the western territory, you would find that many lawsuits arose in just that way—through the stampeding of livestock. We are looking for many such suits.

"If you ask me specifically what we are expecting legally, I can only say—almost anything! To be sure, the world has changed but little. There are plenty of people who are willing to try to get money for nothing. I expect to find the first air test cases arising from rural regions. And I expect these cases to be only slightly different from those met by the early railroads."

Mrs. Willebrandt again mentioned the way the planes caused livestock herds to go stampeding madly across their pastures.

"In the early days of the railroads," she said, "you would find many a lawsuit asking damages because a cow had run its head against a fence trying to run away from a train. What is there to keep a farmer from bringing action for large sums of money because his cattle ran amuck through fear of an airplane's motor?"

"Only a few weeks ago a student flier came down in a river and a team of horses dragged his plane out. The owner of the horses, a little later, sued for 50 per cent of the value of the plane.

"All sorts of test cases are likely to come up in the courts before the situation is settled. And the court of final resort will be the small town, which must eventually become air-minded just as it has become railroad-minded. Because in the small town is the population over which the airplane must fly.

Why don't the supporters of the Sane Fourth idea go a little farther and suggest that every body stay at home on all holidays?

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

The Fort Worth invasion of Houston Tuesday without the new Cat manager, was quite a disappointment to Buff fans who had hoped to see the Bluffs hand their old rival a beating. Jim Loughran did not Snyder wasn't along because of a jury that detained him in Fort Worth. The 1-0 triumph over the Pelicans was the 10th of the season for the Houston ace, and his fourth attempt to pass number 13. The defeat ruined the perfect record of McCabe new Panther hurler from the coast, who had made an auspicious start with the Kittens.

Snyder joins the Panthers within the next few days, and unless a flock of experts are wrong, Fort Worth is certain to be in the thick of the pennant fight for the remainder of the season. Improvement in the pitching department since Snyder took over the managerial duties of the Cat machine has put the C-town entry in the class with the strongest contenders.

Interesting are the ways of the ball-hoop experts, who manufacture the low down on the boxing racket. Especially interesting as well as amusing is the sort of hash put out by the heavyweight scribblers. The latest bit of astounding information centers around that strange but ever-fascinating figure of James Harrison-Dempsey-Jones-sham-sham. He has picked Max Schmeling, the German Dempsey, who recently annihilated Pauline Ursadum, the Basque Woodchopper, for his opponent in that comeback that has been promised the public for the past year. Jack Dempsey, the Old Killer, versus Max Schmeling, the German Dempsey in appearance and action—doesn't sound so bad, does it? It is not unlikely that Dempsey has deteriorated to the point where Schmeling would just beat him. Certainly the Max Schmeling of today in his prime cannot be compared to the ferocious Dempsey of Toledo.

Dempsey says that Schmeling is the best looking prospect of the present day crop, but if we remember correctly, he made a similar statement about Young Stribling just before Jack Sharkey came along. Miami Beach, Fla. The Mauler's public statements have been so varied and conflicting that he is undoubtedly losing public confidence. Every sizeable newspaper in the country holds a standing headline—"Dempsey To Make Comeback." At least once each week this headline comes into use, and within a few days a retraction is made, branding the first as unfounded.

Opinion on the battle between Tommy Loughran and Jersey Jimmy Braddock at the Yankee Stadium tonight for the Light-Heavyweight championship of the world has veered considerably within the last few days as the experts study the chances of the two pugilists. Tommy, the champion, has undergone a strenuous ordeal during his training for the scrap with the hard-punching youngster. He has found the task of training down to the weight unusually trying. Thus far has made the critics wonder if Loughran can go the full route and continue to ward off the potent right of the younger man.

Loughran runs smack into a two-fold proposition when he climbs into the ring tonight. With his eyes focused on the heavyweight crown, he has to prove that he can retain his own light heavy title and go on after the Turner trophy. Loughran has unlimited confidence in his polished fighting ability to offset the harder-punching Braddock but the Jersey City battler has hopes of landing a solid right or so and put Tommy on the canvas.

Lubbock baseball enthusiasts who bemoan the sort of crowds that turn out to games here can find a little comfort in the news dispatch which said only 865 persons saw the game Wednesday in St. Louis and the Boston Red Sox Sportsman's Park will seat close to 40,000 and less than 1,000 were there to see Sam Gray win his twelfth game of the season. The recent dispute between Manager Howie and the club owners in which the fans played no small part undoubtedly had something to do with the lapse in attendance.

Clark Griffith In Serious Condition

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club of the American League, today was in a serious condition following an operation for appendicitis.

Griffith, one of the most prominent figures in major league baseball, became acutely ill Tuesday night, and yesterday afternoon had a dangerously infected appendix removed.

PIRATE-CUB FIGHT FEATURES IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

FIGHT WILL TEST PUNCH AND ABILITY

LITTLE INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN EVENT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The light heavyweight championship falls some 20-odd pounds per man and many thousands of dollars short of being as big as the heavyweight title, but today it looks big enough to James J. Braddock of New Jersey. "Jersey Jimmy" has risen in a brief boxing career to the post of challenger for the 175-pound crown, and tonight he pits the devastating wallop that has carried him to the top over the battered form of such scrappers as Tuffy Griffiths and Jimmy Slattery against the boxing skill of the champion, Tommy Loughran.

Draws Little Interest
Although the fight is staged in the Yankee stadium, biggest of New York's open air arenas, and is scheduled for the full championship distance of 15 rounds, it is not expected to be very profitable to either the champion or the challenger. So far it has drawn little more than passing interest despite a frenzied publicity, and only about 25,000 fans are expected at the ringside when the go starts at 10 p. m. eastern daylight time.

The show is for the benefit of the hospital fund of the home of the Daughters of Jacob at prices ranging from $2 to $15. At these rates the gate is expected to be about $100,000.

As for the fight itself, the eternal question of the fistic world—whether a boxer is better than a puncher, is the question to be considered tonight. Loughran is the superior brawler but his hitting ability is almost non-existent while Braddock puts his trust in a death-dealing right hand and little else.

BOUT BETWEEN DEVOS AND WALKER PLANNED

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—A championship bout between Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, and René Devos, Belgian aspirant, the next title battle in prospect for Chicago.

The Illinois Athletic commission today had in its possession a check for $3,000 from Anthony J. Drevel Biddle Jr. of New York, as a for-ward and challenge on behalf of Devos.

Paddy Harmon, president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, is negotiating for the bout for his arena this fall.

Under a ruling by the National Boxing association, Walker must give his title on or before September 30 to save a $10,000 forfeit posted at the time he attempted to lift Tommy Loughran's light heavyweight crown here.

CAMPOLO'S ABILITY NOT REVEALED IN BOU

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Very little information concerning the fighting ability of Vittorio Campolo, Argentina's gigantic heavyweight, has come out of his North American debut.

Campolo was in action just seven minutes 37 seconds against Arthur DeKuh, Italian-American boxer, in his first New York battle at Ebbets field last night, winning on a foul half-way through the third round.

One thing proved was that the Argentine has the necessary qualifications to be a contender. De Kuhl is a small heavyweight but he was not in the same class with Campolo, who carries 226 pounds of solid beef on his 6 foot 7-inch frame. And it was that bulk that gave the Argentine the margin.

McKechnie assumed the management of the Rochester Red Wings after he had been deposed as chief of the team. The powers at St. Louis decided that Bill had to go following the Red Birds' sorry showing against the Yankees in the 1928 world series. They offered him the Rochester job and Bill accepted. Rochester is a Cardinal fan.

In coming to Rochester, McKechnie swapped jobs with Billy Southworth, who piloted the Red Wings to the International League title last year.

Tommy Loughran, left, world's light heavyweight champion and James J. Braddock, right, hard hitting challenger who are to meet in a colorful bout in Yankee Stadium tonight. Loughran, possibly fighting his last fight in the light ranks, is expected to be a contender for the heavyweight crown next year.

GERMANS TO TRY YOUTHS

YOUNG PLAYERS PUT AGAINST VETS OF AMERICA

BERLIN, July 18 (AP)—The struggle of youth and vigor against age and experience is the order of the inter-zone final of the Davis cup tennis competition which starts here tomorrow.

Germany, newest sensation of international tennis, is placing its hopes in the hands of two young players, Daniel Prehn and Hans Moldenhauer, while the United States has chosen the veteran champions, William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter to carry the singles burden.

Germany's singles matches, which open the struggle of deciding whether Germany or the United States will meet France in the challenge round, send Tilden against Moldenhauer and Hunter against Prehn.

Sonnenberg Wins In Flying Match

TULSA, Okla., July 18 (AP)—Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg still occupies the wrestling pinning today as far as one Mastero Kirdink, Russian strong man, and circus performer, is concerned. Kirdink, who has been in the United States for five months, held his own with the world's champion until he missed a try for a flying mare and struck the canvas on his head. Dazed and blinded with blood from a gash over his eye, he was an easy victim for Sonnenberg's flying tackle in 35 minutes. Still in bad shape when he came back, the Russian lasted less than a minute.

Girl Will Be In International Race

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 18 (AP)—An 18-year-old girl, Miss Elizabeth Hovey of Brookline, will race for the United States in the international 30 square meter yacht races with Germany here next month.

The choice of the first American yachswoman ever picked for international competition was announced by the Corinthian Yacht club after Miss Hovey had skippered the Oriole in impressive fashion at the trial races here yesterday. The Oriole is owned by Miss Hovey's brother.

Two other American boats—the Yankee and Tippler III—will race beside the Oriole.

HARDWARE IS LOOP LEADER

CREW DOWNS A-B, 14 TO 9: MEET SANTA FE TODAY

Hardware Dealers found the pitching offered by the Auto-Barbers team to order Wednesday evening and batted out a 14 to 9 victory over the Oilman aggregation in a hectic slugfest featured by loose fielding.

The triumph was the second in a row over the Auto-Barbers and it gave the league leaders a firmer grip on first place. Hurlers again passed in review as the twilight slugfests fattened their batting averages. The batting rampage started earlier in the week by the Trademen and Railroaders was continued yesterday with even greater results.

Clements Hit Hard
"Big Train" Clements started on the mound for the Auto-Barbers, but his fast ball had little effect on the Hardware sluggers who drove him from the box in short order. Crites and Chisum followed in order but received the same treatment. Hinson went the route for the winners and was fairly tight in the pitcher.

Houston To Defend Swimming Titles

DALLAS, July 18 (AP)—Houston will be the defending champion in the NATIONAL Y. M. C. A. swimming tournament here Saturday with practically the same team which won high honors last year.

Stars of the Houston team include Alexander, Everts, Woodall, Pullman, Harkins, Shaw and Whitridge. All of these men placed last year. Everts was high point man of the meet, winning the 50 and 200 yard free style races and placing second in the 100 yard free style.

Port Worth has a strong two-man team in Jarvis and Wynn. Jarvis won 10 points in the last meet with firsts in the 100 yard free style and 100 yard back stroke.

CUBS AGAIN IN LEAD IN TEXAS LOOP

BEAUMONT HOLDS FIVE FOR DAY IN PAST TEN YEARS

BY GALE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern clubs dug their cleats into home loam and threw their northern rivals for another loss yesterday, making it six victories out of eight starts since the Norseman began their invasion two days ago. The visiting strong boys will have their first victory at that rate. Jim Galloway's Wichita clan prevented the southern clubs from gaining a clean sweep by noosing out the Exporters, 7 to 5, in a stirring 10-inning tilt. The set-back dumped the Shippers out of first place after a one-day tenure and enabled the Waco Cubs to regain the summit. The Cubs finished strong to trim the Sports, 8 to 7, and square their series.

Panthers Go Down
So far, the crippled Cats and Steers appear unable to cope with the stern opposition hurled at them on the road. The Panthers, minus the guiding hand of Frank Snyder, dropped their second straight to the Buffs, 7 to 1, while the first half champs were taking a 4 to 3 wallop from San Antonio. Chances for Dallas to win the second trip and avert a play-off are becoming dimmer and dimmer. They are, in fact, practically extinct.

George Washington Payne, Spud veteran and one of the starriest chunkers in the Texas League, finally stopped Beaumont after Robertson's team of cast-offs had won six straight victories. The Rob must have come as a pleasant surprise to George, however, as he was three runs in the red when the ninth period began. In that chapter his makes mounted old Tom Beattill for the necessary trio and then led the game with two more in the tenth.

Reinhardt Is Stingy
The Panthers barely averted a second straight blanking at Houston. Reinhardt limited the Cowtown crew to five hits, mostly scattered, while Walcup and Whitworth were routed vigorously. For a team which had shown little or no punch for a week, the Bisons have done themselves proud the last two days. Joe Brown should be ready to face the Cats today, and if he chances to be right the Buffs might achieve a sweep.

A three-run attack on Homer Blankenship in the eighth gave the Indians their scanty margin over Dallas. Up to that time Homer had done nobly. The blow that decided the issue was a single off the bat of Milton Gordon, rookie second baseman, borrowed by the Tribe from Abilene to fill in for Bailey. The tying and winning runs rode in on his timely punch. Andy Messenger got credit for the victory, although he went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Cubs put on a rousing finish to edge out on Tiny Owens in the second game at Waco. The Sports apparently had salted it away by driving Dumovich from the hill with a five-run rally in the second and adding two more at Bancheur's expense in the fifth. In the eighth the Fraters hopped on temperamental Tiny for four scores to knot the count and then put across the winner in the closing frame.

The Hardware nine meets the Santa Fe club today.

HE DOESN'T GET MAD
Jimmy won't get mad at this item. He isn't that kind of a fellow and perhaps that is the reason he gets along so well in supporting his 12 children.

To all the newspaper criticism Jimmy has received he always has said: "I don't care what you say about me as long as you spell my name correctly and do not call me Johnson. Be sure and get that 'J' in there."

ADD WISE CRACKS
Johnston is also the fellow who coined the wise crack—"It's a crime for a sucker to have dough. And it's a bigger crime to let him keep it."

MORE WISECRACKS
Art Shires, the fresh rookie of the Chicago-White Sox, who gets in print most every day, told the reporters in Cleveland that there were only two real players in the American league.

"Babe Ruth is the other one," he said. "And listen, don't mistake me. Whenever I come up to the plate the pitcher is in the hole."

A fan threw a firecracker at him on the Fourth and it popped right behind his head. He ducked and yelled up in the stands: "Made me feel right at home. Thought I was in Chicago."

MISSING BY A FOOT
PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—A visiting polo player made arrangements for his ponies and his mallets but had to forego his game when he discovered his boots had been left behind. He could not be fitted from available stocks which carried no No. 11 sizes.

No explanation is known for the peculiar method of computing points used in tennis.

GIANT STAR

BILL TERRY

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—William Harold Terry, generally known as Bill Terry, is one of the two members of the 1929 Giants playing as well this year as last.

Lindstrom, Benton and Hogan have slipped. But Terry and young Met are carrying on in excellent form.

Memphis Bill has been up with the leading hitters all season and for a time led the National league. He batted .369 for 79 games, making 121 hits and 54 runs.

Which reminds of three other Giants of other days, George Kelly, Phil Douglas and Fred Toney. It has been related how they were sold tickets to the Aquarium and got lost trying to find it.

They fell for every gag that came along and they used to get in a bus at Forty-second and Broadway and ride down through Chinatown about three times a week hoping they would see the Chinese at work with their hatchets.

JIMMY IS A SLICKER
The New York prize fight managers have been kicking for years that Jimmy Johnston, the self-named Boy Bandit, had too much influence with the New York boxing commission.

Johnston, a personal friend of Mayor Walker and Jim Farley, chairman of the commission, seldom has had a decision given against him. But he hasn't had many fighters lately.

The other managers, however, claim that they can't get any place unless they cut Johnston in on a piece of their fighter and they yell murder a few days ago when the commission ruled that Max Schmeling would have to fight Phil Scott, the British tumbler, before he could fight any other opponent in the state.

Scott, who is more terrible than the other American heavyweights, is managed by Johnston.

Attempt On Life Of Chancellor Foiled
VIENNA, July 18 (AP)—What was believed to have been an attempt against the life of Chancellor Schuschnigg was foiled today when a spy-urite was followed by a man's hand as the chancellor was about to enter his automobile in front of his office.

The man was arrested. He told police he only wanted to fire his shot into the air in order to attract attention.

The arrested man gave his name as Anton Leitner. He said he was an unemployed journeyman blacksmith.

Dorset Opposes Kent In Next Judge Race
RAYMONDVILLE, July 18 (AP)—R. S. Dorset, county judge of Wilcox county, has announced his candidacy for district judge of the 103rd district, now held by Judge A. M. Kent of Brownsville.

Of the entire Dodge pitching staff only three have not come to Brooklyn from another major league club.

Maurice McCarthy, former intercollegiate golf champion, also plays football and baseball.

In a recent National League game 84 balls were used in eight and one-half innings.

PITTSBURGH MARGIN CUT TO TWO GAMES

CRUCIAL SERIES FACES TEAMS; MACK LEAD HELD INTACT

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
With the National League race threatening to become a private affair between the Pirates and the Cubs, John McGraw deployed his forces upon the Polo Grounds from today in an attempt to stem the Corsair rush. The impending series may be called crucial for the Giants alone—the jaunty Buccaneers it constitutes just four more ball games.

The Giants brushed up yesterday for their do-or-die effort by bowing courteously to the fallen Cardinals, who came to life and accepted the decision, 6 to 1. The Pirates got off an even break at Boston, but only an even break at Boston, but nevertheless remained ten notches ahead of the Giants in the important column dealing with games lost. The Cubs profited from the Pirate slip by smothering the Phillies, 16 to 3, and so gaining half a game on the leaders. The Pittsburgh margin now is just two games.

Grimes Loses One
The defeat of Donie Bush's boys in the first game at Boston was most unexpected. Burleigh Grimes was pitched against Harry Sedbold, veteran rookie, who held the Buccaneers to nine well scattered hits as the Braves dusted Grimes for a 7 to 4 decision, the big spitballer's second defeat of the season. The Pirates came back in the nightcap to win by 13 to 5 behind Remy Kremer.

Brooklyn crowned three Cincinnati pitchers for seventeen hits to win the final game of the series by 10-6. The result delayed the march of the Reds upon seventh place.

The Athletics dropped another one to the Indians, who won 5 to 3 behind Walter Miller's six-hit pitching. Bill Shores was the victim.

Six Games Ahead
The Yankees nevertheless remained eight games ahead of the Cubs, who tossed off a four-run lead in the ninth and permitted the Tigers to win 9 to 8 in the tenth. Sammy Graef gained an even break for the Browns in their series against the Red Sox by pitching five-hit ball yesterday to win by 4 to 0.

The Senators won from the White Sox in the final game of the series at Chicago, by a score of 6 to 2.

Rusty Calow tried to quit as the rowing coach at Penn when his crew flopped at Poughkeepsie. And the Bosses wouldn't let him. And told him the job was his for life if he wanted it. They say the Blackbourns to be aired from the White Sox. And that Jakey Al, last of Fort Worth will succeed him. And that Billy Southworth is in peril. And they're beginning to yowl in Cleveland about Peckinpaugh. When Bobby Jones arrived home in Atlanta the crowd at the station rushed to the observation car. And the doctor told him to get back here. He's up front where he belongs. And Bobby says he's going to play in both the British open and amateur championships. And it will be his last big campaign. Henry Johnson, the Athletic killer of 1926 has a bad spine. And the doctors don't know what to do about it. And the Yankees are worried about the loss of a pitcher who was expected to win fifteen games anyway.

Real Bargain days are here. Another one of Hemphill-Wells Co's. Semi-Annual Sale events is at hand, exactly on schedule time. For seven years we have offered you real worth while reductions in July and January. On each occasion we have seen to it that every offering was just as represented and that every discount was entirely worth while. This sale will follow the same policies.

It is the time when we clear our stocks by severe reductions and convert our resources into cash to enable us to make plans for a new season. It's decidedly a worth while event for you, for you will be choosing the finest merchandise this country offers at material reductions from correct regular prices.

Read this detailed list of prices. Many interesting items appear in small type. Plan to have a part in the savings that are offered.

Hemphill-Wells Co.

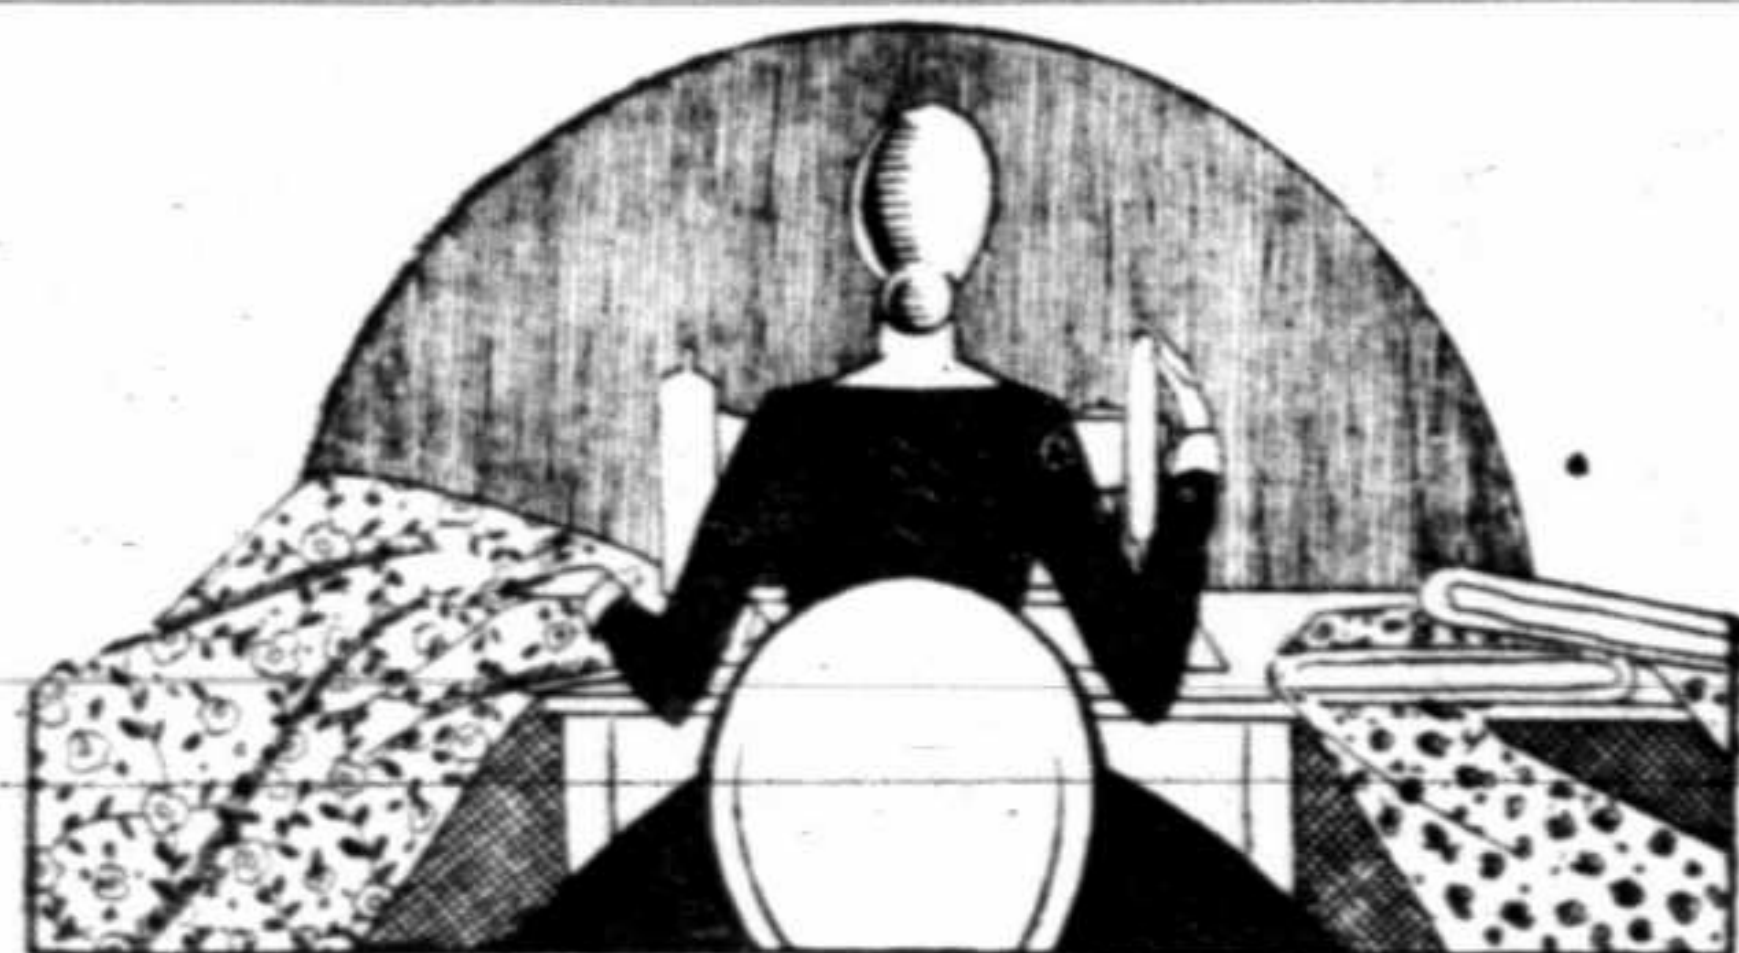

ANNUAL JULY CLEAN SWEEP SALE

The Time When All Spring and Summer Merchandise is Discounted 1-2 to 1-4 in A Quick Complete Clearance

ALL PRICES ARE CASH!
NO RETURNS—NO EXCHANGES—
NO APPROVALS—ITS THE TIME
WE GIVE BROOMS AWAY

Sales here have but one object. There are no secrets or under cover motives about them. We can frankly take you into our confidence and tell you the whole story, for it is a simple matter-of-fact business proposition for both of us. Throughout the season you expect us to show you ample assortments in all lines so that you may have a variety of selection. This we are glad to do, but toward the end of each season we must clear this merchandise away if we are to be able to present new lines during the new season. The only method we know is to completely sacrifice profits in a quick boni-fide old time value giving sale. That's the whole story—that's why we have only two such events a year—why values in these events are so outstanding. Past events have proven the truth of all these statements. They have also earned for us a reputation regarding sales that we guard most jealously. Hemphill Wells Co's Sales ARE DIFFERENT—You too should enjoy some of the benefits.

ONLY EIGHT DAYS THIS YEAR—
FROM JULY 19TH TO JULY 27TH—
COME AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE BEFORE
ASSORTMENTS ARE BROKEN

A New Bridge Table Cover

A LL sorts of new devices are offered to make the bridge party unusual, but one of the prettiest novelties has its roots, appropriately enough, in floral table covers.

To make one of these take a piece of coarse linen 30 inches square and crochet an ordinary picot stitch around the edge for a finish, after you have rolled the narrowest of hems. Now take a flower—say a wild rose—and trace the outline of it on pink gingham. This may be done by the use of an ordinary transfer, by carbon paper, or simply by putting an electric light in a box, covering the box with a bit of glass with first the pattern and then the cloth above it, and tracing the design upon the material with a pencil by the outline thrown on the glass by the light.

A flower should be selected which will have an expanse of solid material in the center—not one like the daisy, for example—and its general outline should measure about four or four and a half inches. Four blossoms will be required.

ON each corner of the cloth applique a flower. If you wish to elaborate it by touches of embroidery, or with French knots at the center, this will make it even more attractive. Do not applique it to the cloth all around, however; leave it open to form a pocket, finishing the edge of the left-open portion with the most inconspicuous of rolled hems.

This is the reason for the necessity of a solid center in the flower: one with a slashed center would not make a satisfactory pocket. Around the flower, on the cloth itself, embroider a design of flowers and leaves in lazy-daisy stitch. If you prefer you may vary this by more applique, outline, long and short, or any other stitch you wish.

Each pocket is meant to hold a small napkin so that when refreshments are served the players can enjoy them without further preparation. The napkins are nine inches square, are of the same material as the cloth and finished similarly in picot crochet.

On one corner of each is embroidered a flower of the same sort as that shown on the pockets of the cloth, done in lazy-daisy stitch. Applique on so small a space would be a little too heavy.

Not only is a cloth of this sort convenient for guests, but it enables the hostess to keep her covers and napkins together and to arrange her tables with very little trouble. It is a pretty idea at a large party to have such cloths for all the tables.

Sausage, Spinach And Shortcake

THIS is a good time of year to serve spinach. And once more before it gets too hot let's have sausages.

A good dinner might be made of spinach with cheese sauce, baked sausages and fruit salad. Dessert to suit yourself—a shortcake with any fresh fruit or with oranges dressed in sugar will be good.

Wash the spinach and cook in no more water than that which clings to the leaves. If you hate the thought of washing spinach through four or five waters, use canned spinach. Canned spinach is very good, though the color is never so attractive as that of the fresh product just out of the garden.

Drain the spinach well and chop to serve. Pour over it a cheese sauce which is no more than a medium thick white sauce in which has been melted about a quarter pound of cheese cut into small pieces.

PRICK large link sausages and brown well in a skillet. Cover closely and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. This is a good way to cook sausages because all the grease is cooked out and the meat is dryer and "leaner" than cooked any other way. Put the sausages for a necklace around the spinach.

Sausage and spinach is not an unusual combination; in fact, these two articles of food are frequently served together. But all too often the housewife merely puts the food on the plate without regard to the appearance of the dish.

Well cooked food is, of course, no more savory because of that little extra touch in serving, but it seems more appetizing when set before the diner with some consideration to arrangement. Surrounding the green spinach with a necklace of brown sausage is illustrative of this point.

If you're a family that simply must have potatoes—by all means give them potatoes. If they can bear it to go without potatoes, serve nice large portions of the shortcake. Plain boiled potatoes with melted butter and chopped parsley poured over them are good for a dinner of this kind.

The Added Touch To Plain Dessert

SOMETIMES you want to serve a very plain dessert for the children, yet you know that the grown members of the family will frown on anything too simple. You will find that often you may be able to add a touch or two here and there that will make the simple things seem really rather fancy.

Take, for instance, a simple rice pudding. Make the pudding in the usual way, using a scant half cup of rice to a quart of milk, adding a little salt and a half cup of sugar and baking for three hours, stirring occasionally.

There you have a dessert that is good for children of any age from 18 months on. For the grownups, add crushed fresh fruit—berries or peaches or cubed fresh pineapple plentifully sprinkled with sugar. Top with a big topknot of whipped cream.

THEN there is gelatine. Plain unadorned gelatine is fine for the little folks, even the babies. For children perhaps you add a little fruit. For grownups add more fruit over the top, and whipped cream. Ice cream instead of whipped cream is fine during the hot weather, too.

Make a plain custard or cornstarch pudding for the children. Add fruit and whipped cream for the grownups. Shredded coconut, either toasted or plain, is good with these puddings, too, as well as chopped nuts.

Even the baby's apple sauce may be glorified to the extent of doing its duty for the family dessert. Beat an egg white until very stiff. Fold into the strained sauce. Heap in sherbet glasses and add a bit of hard sauce to the top. Serve with plain cookies or cakes.

Give the children plain ice cream and add a chocolate, butterscotch or fresh fruit sauce for the grownups. There will be some fresh fruits that the children may have, too, if they aren't too sweet and syrupy.

Another Marriage Illness Diagnosed

By ALLENE SUMNER

I'VE heard Tom Brown's little piece for many a moon. This year his plea for sympathy is something to the effect that his Marjorie doesn't like to play any more; that she's getting grown-up, almost old; that life's passing them by and Marjorie is perfectly content to let it and just sit at home keeping house and "not having any fun at all."

Tom spoke his piece something to this effect as we sat on the porch one evening after dinner while Marjorie was putting the kids to bed.

At dinner Tom had sprung his big surprise, by bursting out: "Say, Marj, the Talbots with all the kids will be in town tomorrow. Doris and a girl friend are coming, too. Talbot phoned this afternoon and I told him we'd have grand whoopees tomorrow. Let's pack a swell picnic and go down to the Glens for supper. The Talbots get fed up on this country club stuff, and they'll love it."

I SAW Marjorie flinch. She had told me as we got dinner that she was dyeing curtains the next day, and on the defensive had added: "It may seem strange to you as it does to all the others, why I economize the way I do. Everyone knows that Tom makes good money, but it's come easy, go easy. I do all the economizing, and I know I made a mistake in starting it. Sometimes it seems to me I spend my life hunting cheap recipes and dyeing curtains so Tom can have a new suit a month and tip the waitresses a half dollar at lunch."

"That's why I don't have a maid, and Tom expects so much. When we were first married we picked a lot. Tom liked it and so did I. Now he has the habit of expecting me to start out on a picnic for a crowd of a dozen or so with as much ease and alacrity as I used to put a couple of sandwiches and some cake in a shoebox and we'd start off for a day by ourselves."

And here, an hour later, Tom said: "Did you notice when I spoke about that picnic with the Talbots at dinner how she didn't say anything? Why, a few years ago she'd have been suggesting it herself."

"Maybe a maid to boil the ham and mince it and frost the cake would help matters a little," I suggested, made brave by the porch gloom.

I don't go there for dinner any more.

Averting Neighborhood War

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE mother of a little boy was in a quandary about permitting her child to play with some neighbor children, who were not obedient.

Her own boy had been trained to obey, to come when he was called, to keep out of the street; all the general home rules that children should respect to the letter, he understood. Her boy respected these rules, but the others didn't and she began to fear the consequences. Example might be stronger than precept.

Finally, as the neighbor children were nice children, and merely lacking in discipline, she decided that breaking off diplomatic relations might have more serious results than just permitting things to go on.

But one day when the whole crowd was in the back yard, and Johnny and Harry were called home—and didn't budge—she said, "Boys, don't you hear your mother calling?"

They didn't pay any attention but went on jumping off some boxes with renewed energy.

"Boys!" This time she went right up and took their arms. "Do you hear your mother?"

"Yeh! She just wants us for dinner."

"Well, aren't you going?"

"Come on, Johnny. I can jump over as far as that dandelion, I bet," and Harry jerked away and began jumping again. Johnny followed.

"Harry! Johnny!" came the call again.

"Boys!"

THE woman who owned the yard removed the boxes; then and not till then the little boys sauntered slowly away, eyeing her thoughtfully.

That afternoon things were reversed. Her own boy was in the neighbor's yard when she called him. He didn't come. She called again and still he didn't come. Then she decided to do something about it.

Now it's delicate business, starting to discipline the neighbor's children. Wars have been started for less. Yet she didn't want to break off relations, as I said before. To speak to the mothers of the boys she decided would be impertinent. So she went to work to do some thinking. Finally she hit on a plan.

She started what she called the "Scout Club," because she thought the name would appeal to the little boys. There were five members, for two other cronies down the street were initiated.

UP IN the playground there was a blackboard and colored chalk. Every day at five o'clock each boy who hadn't disobeyed once that day was permitted to make a yellow star beside his name. Five yellow stars, one blue one! Five blue stars, one red one! It was "student government" from the word go—everyone told and told truthfully on himself. The most red stars at the end of the month got a prize.

There isn't any particular lesson in this resourceful mother's stratagem, but it goes to show that a little thought and cleverness will often work out a problem that all the textbooks on training in the world couldn't touch.

What Goes in Face Lotions

"Irritates me beyond words," said Mrs. Adamson, looking up from the woman's magazine in her lap, "to have waded through a thousand-word beauty article which mentions astringent lotions a dozen times, and advising their use, but never tells what astringents are used in facial lotions."

For the information of Mrs. Adamson and others, here are a few astringents which are mild enough for use in toilet lotions meant to be applied to the delicate and sensitive epidermis of the face.

Diluted alcohol is one. The alcohol should be the pure unadulterated article, since many of the medicaments and denaturants used in the cheap grades are severe and caustic in their action on the skin. Instead of doing good, the ordinary so-called bathing alcohol is apt to set up an irritation of the skin when used on the face.

If it is impracticable to get the pure alcohol, it is better to buy cologne water, toilet water of a first-class make, or even to dilute your favorite perfume with an equal part of water.

ALCOHOL, toilet water, cologne water, bay rum, diluted perfume—they all owe their effectiveness in contracting facial pores, not to their appearance or their perfume, but to the alcohol they contain, and they are effective in exact proportion to their percentage of alcohol.

Dear old extract of witch hazel, reliable and dependable remedy and beautifier since the days of grandmother and great grandmother, is another of the world's best astringents for use on the face. Its action is so gentle and healing that it will not harm the tenderest skin. One might almost say, when in doubt as to an astringent lotion, try witch hazel.

Last, but not least, is the beloved beautifier of Cleopatra's time—fragrant and balmy gum benzoin. Its gentle action delicately contracts the pores of the skin, at the same time whitening and smoothing it.

The novice cannot make use of the gum in its natural state, but as prepared in the tincture, it is dissolved in alcohol and so becomes accessible for toilette purposes.

A few drops in the water in which the face is rinsed will tighten up the loose skin about the neck and chin as well as aid in closing unsightly enlarged pores.

Kitchen Corner

WHEN you are having tea on a rainy afternoon, why not serve plain bread and butter as the English do? Cut your bread very thin, butter plentifully, cut each slice in half and serve overlapping slices on a large plate. They are to be eaten by being folded over into a sandwich—at least that is a tidy way of doing it and the way the English do it.

ADD A QUARTER CUP of finely chopped suet for each cup of your dumpling mixture and boil as you do ordinary dumplings. You'll have a dumpling with a bit more flavor than ordinarily. And speaking of dumplings, add an egg for richness now and then if eggs are plentiful.

IF THE BABY won't eat cereal and is big enough to have pasteurized butter, try adding a bit of butter to the cereal. He may eat the cereal for the sake of getting the butter.

FOR A FINE accompaniment to creamed meats served in patty shells have French fried tomatoes. Have the tomatoes cold. Use either very small tomatoes or cut them in half. Roll in flour, egg and cracker crumbs. Be sure each tomato is well coated. Drop into hot fat and fry till brown. Drain on soft paper and serve very hot. They look nice when served with a large mushroom cap on top of each tomato. Slices of tomato may be served the same way, but whole or half ones seem to be a little more successful.

TRY SWEETENING your whipped cream with a wee bit of honey or a wee bit of maple syrup. It is fine and is especially nice for topping a cake or ice cream dessert.

DON'T TALK over important matters with your husband when he first comes home from work. Don't break disturbing news to him. Don't try to get the promise of a new dress. Give him a good meal first with his favorite dessert. It will pay you always.

WHEN YOU are preparing fresh string beans, cut off the ends and then cut them in lengthwise strips if you would have beans that are delicious when cooked and buttered.

Decorating Exteriors With Garden Pottery

By ALIDA VREELAND

FLOWER gardens and pottery have become as inseparable in thought as land and sky are to the painter and today even the humblest back yard may boast a bit of their charm. Our ever growing desire to be living outdoors as much as possible in the summer time has brought about a corresponding increase in the demand for things that will make the exterior of the home as hospitable and beautiful in feeling as the interior.

Hence, we find the gardens of today more and more ornamented with the enduring things of pottery and stone. And behold! when we cannot help being sensitive to the romantic impressions we feel in an old world garden.

To one who has wandered through the olive groves and gardens of southern Europe the sight of a handsome oil jar in some verdant nook outdoors with a gorgeous colored glaze dripping down from the top would surely bring much joy. Another happy use for oil jars is suggested in the small sketch where two jars with a light drip glaze flank the portals of a Spanish type house in California. They are a distinct decoration to the doorway and are a force in blending house and garden together.

SHRUBBERY plants and rock garden walls are invariably enhanced by the colorful addition of one of these Ali Baba jars. Often a smaller type, daintier and more graceful in line, is a better selection. It all depends on the character of the surroundings and the location.

Standing near the edge of a pool where the waters may catch the reflection, a colorful jar would be an appropriate ornament. Another way to make the sunken pool more attractive is to place potted plants in ornamental pottery jars near the edge. Larger types of these jars are frequently arranged on steps descending from a terrace or porch.

Artistically molded and painted flower pots are also an indispensable adjunct in the present-day plans for the roof gardens of pent-house apartments. Veritable avenues of small trees planted in pots of this kind may extend the length of one of these brick terraces overlooking the skyscrapers of a great city. They are also an important accessory in the arrangements of sunroom fountains. For the trickle and splash of water with growing green things standing close by seem to belong together.

This same association of flowers and water brings the thought of the bird bath to the planner of gardens, and today this lovely garden

Five objects to heighten the charm of a garden . . . an oil jar, a bird bath, a pedestal sun dial, a bench and a pottery jar for plants. (Sketches courtesy the Rockwood Pottery Co., Cincinnati) appointment is being more and more generally sought. Naturally a garden with birds is the happiest kind and a little bird bath such as the one shown in the large sketch will attract many of one's favored feathered friends.

Care should be taken to place it in a clear open space if it is to be low on the ground as this gives the bird a better chance to escape from stalking felings.

BIRD BATHS on pedestals are even more attractive, but one finds this type more often where grounds are larger and the whole atmosphere richer in foliage and furnishing.

Another graceful garden fixture on a pedestal is the sun dial. As a reminder of ancient ways of telling time it has a queer fascination for most people and draws many outdoor groups together when the sun is shining.

Treatment of pottery varies as greatly as other types of ornamentation. Where gardens are strictly formal following the Greek, Italian, Spanish or French tradition, the design in form or decoration may harmonize with it.

Colors, too, are carefully considered, according to the amount of light and background. Classic urns have an important place in beautifying doorways, adding interest to the top of a garden wall or terminating the end of an enchanting vista.

INDOORS, provided one's room or porches are adequately spacious, certain types of garden pottery are as necessary in the completeness of the decorative scheme as other appointments.

In a large hall with a tile or stone floor, a big oil jar will be indispensable to fill and give color to a corner or to perhaps flank one side of the broad stairway.

Likewise, plants that are to retain their place in the interior, need the decorative surroundings of suitable pottery whether in individual pots or the longer flower boxes that hold a veritable hedge of blossoms.

Flower containers of this type in pottery and raised on pedestals are most pleasing when placed before windows. And when the outlook from the window is not especially intriguing, a screen of this sort is a necessity.

Urns, pitchers and classic types of water jars in mellow tones or decorated pottery also make charming and picturesque receptacles for cut flowers. Sometimes the space occupied by a seldom used chair or table would be far more advantageously used with a colorful piece of pottery.

QUITE obviously one must either be artistic naturally or develop artistic sense in order to fully appreciate how best to use and enjoy decoration of this kind. For it cannot be selected or placed haphazardly.

But it is gratifying to know that more people, especially those whose garden areas are limited, are lured by its charm and color.

If space permits no more than a garden bench and bird bath, the household budget somehow is made to expand enough to include them. And then indeed do the master and mistress of the suburban cottage really feel they are the proud possessors of a house and garden.

A pair of pottery jars at the garden entrance . . . strikes an important note in many schemes of exterior decoration.

Thought For Today

The foolish shall not stand in thy counsel, thou hast hated all words of iniquity.—Psalms 1:1

After a man has sown his wild oats in the years of his youth, he has still every year to get over a few weeks and days of folly.—

A Tendency

It may be true, as Mark Antony remarked, that the evil that men do lives after them. There are times when it seems as if the surest way to win oblivion is to establish a reputation for wickedness.

The other day the newspapers printed a picture of a man whom the last 30 years have covered with the well of obscurity. Three decades ago every American knew him, and despised him. His name was a sort of symbol for cruelty and ruthlessness.
Yet in the picture he was frail, apologetic-looking, scooped with the weight of his 90 years. Not one American in ten thousand would have recognized him.

Who was he? Weyler—the former governor-general of Cuba during the last days of the Spanish regime there; the man we all blamed for the miseries and sufferings of that happless island.

Thirty years is not a long time.
The men who fought in the war with Spain are still, for the most part, hale and hearty. There are soldiers and sailors on active service who can wear the campaign ribbons of that conflict. Yet Weyler had been completely forgotten. We hardly remember that we once shuddered at the deeds that were attributed to him.

Part of this peripeteia may be due to the fact that Weyler was accused of many things that he did not do. There has to be a villain in every war, and this Spaniard was admirably cast for the part. Yet there is more to it than that.

It would seem, in fact, that the face is not very interested in remembering its villains. It is quite willing to let the men who have wronged it drop out of sight. It does not like to think about them very long.

We may not have reached the point where we are ready to forgive our enemies, but we do the next best thing; after all—we forget about them.

Who remembers the name of the German general who ordered Edith Cavell shot—or the skipper of the submarine that torpedoed the Lusitania—or the English official who inflicted the Black and Tan terrorism on Ireland after the war? There was a time when those names symbolized evil, for all of us, and now we can not recall them.

We are wiser, probably, than we know. The world is not quite as glad and blithe a place as we might want it. There are ugly traits in human nature that pop to the surface every so often and cause suffering and death. If we thought about them too long we could easily sink into a profound discouragement.

So we don't let ourselves remember too well. Unconsciously, we make optimum of ourselves. We force ourselves to believe that human nature is finer and nobler than it really is.

So, without exactly intending to,
we have set ourselves a standard to live up to. And gradually, age by age, we move a little bit closer to it.

Quirks of Law

The ins and outs of criminal law are beyond the comprehension of the average man—which, perhaps, is one reason for the average man's steadily growing distrust of the courts.

Al Capone, Chicago gunman, was arrested a month or so ago in Philadelphia for carrying concealed weapons. He promptly pleaded guilty and was sent to jail, where he now is.

But the other day his lawyers filed a brief in the Philadelphia courts seeking his release, alleging that his trial was "prejudiced."

This may be all very clear to lawyers. But what layman can help wondering how a man who pleaded guilty to a crime can possibly claim that he did not get a fair trial?

THE PLAINSMAN

Says

That Girl on Broadway says people who never put anything aside for a rainy day are the very ones who haven't sense enough to keep out of the rain.

It used to be that the eagle and the prairie schooner were the true symbols of the American people but it seems that the promissory note and the promise to pay papers of the installment plan folks have stolen the honor. If there is a white man or woman in the entire United States who is not paying out on something—or, perhaps better—trying to pay out they should be electrocuted embalmed and placed on exhibition at the Smithsonian Institute.

The natives around Carlsbad, New Mexico, claim their cavern is the eighth wonder of the world. Well, maybe it is now but if a non-installment paying person is ever found it'll be just too bad for the cave! It's getting so now that a man who doesn't believe he can finally pay for a car several times too expensive for his pocketbook is in dire danger of being snatched before a sanity commission and hustled off to the state bughouse at Terrell. That's no foolin'.

Why, it's gotten to the point where a man can't live with his own family unless he plunges himself as deeply into debt as the fellow next door. It's the stylish thing to do now and if you're not dodging collectors and process servers you're plumb out in the cold.

It used to be that a fellow wouldn't show his head on Main street if he owed somebody—even last week's grocery bill. Now-a-days, if everybody who owed somebody staid under cover there wouldn't be anybody left to transact business.
There wouldn't be any bridge-table conversation at all if it weren't for the installments on the washingmachine, the baby and gasoline buggies, the vacuum cleaner, the dishwasher, the electric refrigerator and the furniture. Everybody would be contented, contented and comfortable—and that at times her age feeling right with the world is as much of a crime as arson used to be.

But how in the world can you expect a man and a woman to run their home on a cash basis when the state, federal and city governments, of which they are a part, won't do it. Take the whole country, instance. Here a few years back we decided we'd have us a right good war—so we went and had it. Nobody knows at present just how won the war or how much it cost—but your great grandchildren will still be kicking in to pay the bill. If there is any city anywhere that hasn't hooked its future for sewers the people who live in it won't admit it and show in the world can people take bigger and better motor tripe if a state-wide paving program hadn't been fouled off on future generations that won't even use roads?

Oh, it's a great business this play now and pay later. It makes the wheels of industry go but it also makes the wheels weak and the hair gray. The Plainsman doesn't claim to be any tender-skinned infant, or anything approaching it, but this business of living yesterday on tomorrow's earnings is certainly anything but pleasant.

The Plainsman, personally, knows a lot of harassed birds who won't admit it, but who secretly would be glad to Lynch the bird who first figured out the now famous "installment plan." Yes sir, and the guy who decided that "interest" was a great boon to humanity wouldn't get to first base in a popularity contest save with those one or two men back east somewhere who have corralled all the jack. There's a reason for everything, we must admit, but just what it is in this case is still in doubt in most folks' minds.

However, there's nothing we can do about it except pay and like it. We are too smart, too stuck up, or "uppy" to live like our forefathers did when this nation was in the making. We've got to have automatic this, that and the other thing, power driven lawn mowers and wash-tubs, fancy automobiles and the latest clothes even if we live in a tent and eat out of tin cans.
This is the new generation, the "modern world" and those of us who object can only wish we'd been born a couple of generations ago and let it go at that!

That Man on Avenue Q says an "average driver" is one who thinks he has done his duty if he honks his horn just before running over somebody.

It begins to look like next summer will be about as hot for us as a political standpoint as it will be from a weather angle. Texans it appears, will have a lot of fun electing a governor and more than likely a few murders, assaults and fights will enliven the situation.

If Pat Neff, Earle Mayfield, Tom Love and Barry Miller all run—like it appears they will—we'll have the kind of a Klan, the palisade, the Revokes Promise

NEW YORK—Donald L. Samuels, age 28, weight 332, member of the New York Stock Exchange, is being sued for a separation because, his wife says, he failed to keep his ante-nuptial promise to reduce. Presumably he was foregoing breakfast saucers, he used to go out hungry mornings and eat at a restaurant. The husband avers his wife has a baffling psychosis and that she reads romantic novels and that at times her conduct has so perturbed him he has lain on the bed and cried. The wife says the husband earns $60,000 a year and has

Has New Role
NEW YORK—The "Lovely Lady" is more so in her latest role. In a musical comedy so named, Edna Leonard was starring when she married Frank George Doelger, heir to a fortune made in brewing. She is now the mother of an 8 pound boy.

Wants To Stick
LOS ANGELES—Anita Stewart hopes her next marriage will stick. She so remarked when she and George F. Converse of New York obtained a license to wed. She sloped when 18 for her first marriage, she added, and didn't have much sense.

Getting Even
NEW YORK—Flo Ziegfeld is getting even with Hollywood he says that in the past the screen has robbed him of some of his greatest beauties, now he re-venge the procedure. He has signed up Keith Morgan, Evelyn Pierce, Colette Merton and Dora Lee for his newest musical comedy.

TOMS RIVER, N. J.—Ruby Keeler is out $5 because her car was going 60. A chauffeur was driving the wife of Al Jolson.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is taking candy from Pocantico Hills. The village store is among his latest purchases which make his estate total some 8,000 acres. Railroads and whole villages have gone into making it.

Chorus girls have become one of the talkies' bare necessities. Henry Ford says the home of the future will be kitchenless. Where in the world will we keep the can-opener?

Attorney General Mitchell is pretty certain to continue to fail to act on the request of Congressman George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts that he investigate and prosecute the Methodist Board of Public Morals for not reporting campaign expenses. He is pretty certain to continue to fail to act.

The argument between Tinkham and Dr. Clarence True Wilson ends, like all prohibition arguments, inconclusively. Wilson called Tinkham a liar and Tinkham called the board a bunch of crooks. The row somewhat increased the temperature for it was only after Wilson had referred to Tinkham's motives as "loathsome" and accused him of "falsifying" that Tinkham tried to get the Justice Department after him.

Tinkham's motto is "Remember the Sabbath day and keep it newswy." Knowing that Sunday is always a dull day for news he has recently been mailing out his latest special delivery each Saturday, timed to reach the Washington correspondent next day when they most need help.

Border Towns Start War On Regulation
EL PASO, July 18. (AP)—El Continental, Spanish language newspaper, today announced that representatives of several border chambers of commerce will convene tomorrow at Del Rio, Texas, to "discuss steps to be taken to fight new regulations imposed by the Mexican government on American owning property or working on the Mexican side of the line."

Theater Employee Is Fined On Blue Law
GAINESVILLE, July 18. (AP)—Porter Lyman, theater employee, was fined $5 and cost here today after he was found guilty of operating a motion picture show on Sunday. His case was the first of a series against managers and employees of theatres.

The range of milk consumption in Boston is between 26,000,000 and 32,000,000 pounds per month.

Going Places

With Swan

HOLLYWOOD, July 18.—Not even the Wilhelmstrasse spy system could duplicate the underground wire circuit that seems to spread endlessly just below the surface of life here.

It is indeed an ill wind that blows no new "dirt" into the ears of the hotel lobby gossipers. Gossip and scandal are among the film capital's leading industries. The veriest cleavage boy can tell you, with a sly wink, that Certe de Puyster has dyed her hair. Or the bell hop as he carries your bag to your hotel room will inquire casually whether or not you have heard about that new mansion being built by H. Sherman Megaphone for the out- little Russian star that "hit the Coast" a few weeks ago. The barber, as he shaves you, will let you in on the domestic difficulties that beset the famous Offen Onna.

Before you have traveled between your hotel and the nearest Hollywood production plant your ears will fairly burst with "low down." It's part of the natural course of events in a city which has chosen to live in glass houses. Those who would have cinema followers from Du- buque, Ia., to Tokio, Japan, must protect themselves into a spotlight that has no beginning and no ending. They must stand in it, and for it.

And it takes a good mathemat- ician to figure out the correct an- swers. Divide by ten, almost any- thing that you hear and subtract the source of information, and you may get some slight approximation of what to believe.

It may be that neighbors gossip about each other, as they do in most parts of the world. But this universal form of diversion must become dull indeed and common- place in the presence of so many juicy tidbits concerning film folk whose names are household words throughout the realm. Why should they be bothered with the gossip- ings of Mary Jones, when Dottie Twinkleton is threatening a di- vorce which seems—at least ac- cording to chatter—about the fact- ously scandalous possibilities?

Few of these good householders know, or even have looked upon— save on the screen—the personali- ties whose names they use so glibly and familiarly. They speak of Gloria and Estelle and Nancy as though they were members of the family—or old friends—and, in a sense, they are. The mere residents seem satisfied to enjoy the debate- ble propinquity of the mighty ones in their midst, about the ram- pified affairs of fiction.

And the visitors from every spot upon the globe plunge eagerly into this peculiar game. None is so avid for "all the dirt" as the "visiting fireman" just as the out-of-town- ous on Broadway immediately demands a look at Texas Guinan, so does the new arrival in Los Angeles cry at once for a personal encounter with Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson and all the rest. It's fairly easy to see why a gunman about New York, but it isn't so simple to crash the gates into the sacred presence of the film elect.

The faithful followers know this full well—and hence the amazing demonstration that trails in the wake of some public occasion which will bring the screen celebrities out of their hiding places.

Thus, at a typical premiere per- formance the other evening, re- porters and visiting newspaper folk—such as myself—were handed variously yellow badges identifying us as "the press" and signs to hang on windshields, so that we might make our various ways through the crowds. It was like the occasion of some vast and impressive pageant—a presidential inauguration, for in- stance. And the size of the crowd was about as great. Police pres- orted in and ticket holders battled their way to the door.

Meanwhile, all the mob seemed to care for nothing but a fleeting glimpse of someone-or-other. Though heaven knows why—I don't.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

CAUSE OF SENSITIZATION TO SUNLIGHT NOT KNOWN; WRONG DIET SUGGESTED

"Dear Doctor: I am 15 years old and feel healthy in every way except one: I have a kind of rash, an itching, burning rash. The first time I noticed it was a year ago in the spring; it stayed with me during the summer, but left in the winter. This month it has come back again. I went to a doctor, who thought it was caused by strawberries. The rash continues and burns and itches if I become sunburned or go out into the sun. It itches not only when I am in the sun but also at night, and it has been itching continuously for two days and nights. This itching occurs mostly on the backs of my hands, on my neck and face. The doctor told me to not eat any starchy foods and gave me some medicine, with but little relief."

"RAPHAEL."

I think perhaps you belong to the small group of those whose skins are sensitive to the chemical rays of the sun. Raphael. Those who are so afflicted develop itchy rashes, and sometimes hive-like patches will form, and if scratched very much they may become eczematous.

What causes this sensitization is not known. Perhaps there is some- thing wrong with the diet, or some particular food that causes it. For instance, buckwheat will cause some to have a sensitized skin, so much so that they can't take it at all. Do you eat buckwheat cakes?

It's too bad for you, you have to forego your sunlight treatments for you are a growing boy, but perhaps you'll have to until you find out what is causing the sensitization.

There are certain creams ad- vertised now that are said to allow the ultra-violet or chemical rays, and the tanning rays of the sun to go through, but obstruct the chem- ical rays. Whether there is any vir- tue in these creams or not, I don't know; but you might try them.

If you find you have to keep out of the direct sunlight, I think you should take some cod liver oil, Ra- phael, for it is very high in vitamin D which is developed in the skin when exposed to sunlight. It usually is given to babies to keep them from having rickets. You are far from being a baby, but this vitamin D is also necessary for all of us, for it has to do with the normal use of calcium and phosphorus in the body. Have you studied chem- istry? Then you know that calcium and phosphorus are necessary for the bones and teeth and the blood. Cod liver oil is also very high in the growth vitamin A. You will be growing for some time yet. I hope you'll grow out of being sensitized to the sun! (If that is your trou- ble. It may be just prickly heat.)

Mrs. P.—If you do not tolerate well the three-day liquid diet at the beginning of your reduction course, don't take it. Simply go on a mixed diet of 1,000 calories (a little more or less, depending on what is your reducing number)—right away. Those who can go on the three-day liquid diet without discomfort, get a good start because the stomach is immediately "shunk" and then los- ing 5 to 10 pounds which is a great stimulus to carry one. The slight headache which sometimes occurs can be relieved by taking 100 of the allowed calories in a slice of bread.

(Those who need instructions on how to take the diet, or who want to have our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.)

Mrs. N. H.—Get the August num- ber of the Journal of the Outdoor Life (either at your news stand or from the publishers, Journal of the Outdoor Life, 370 Seventh Avenue, N. Y. City). MERCHANT MARINE DECLARED TO BE MAKING PROGRESS
BY E. C. PLUMMER, Vice Chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board

Edward Clarence Plummer was born at Freeport, Me., Nov. 3, 1861. He is a graduate of Bowdoin college. From 1889 to 1896 he was en- gaged in newspaper work at Bath, Me. Two years later he began the practice of law at Bath. For 17 years he was secretary of the Bath chamber of commerce. For 21 years he was attorney for the Atlantic Carrier's association. He has been a member of the United States ship- ping board since 1921 and vice chairman since 1923. He has written a number of sea stories and poems.

The need for an American mer- chant marine of substantial pro- portions is reflected in statistics re- garding water-borne foreign com- merce for last year, which show that 5100 vessels of 23,000,000 gross tons, representing 28 dif- ferent countries, found employ- ment in hand- ling the com- merce of this country.

We paid $750- 000,000 for ocean transportation— $2,000,000 per day for every day in the year; and of that sum the foreigner took $1,333,000 every 24 hours, not stopping in Sunday in statistics re- garding water-borne foreign com- merce for last year, which show that 5100 vessels of 23,000,000 gross tons, representing 28 dif- ferent countries, found employ- ment in hand- ling the com- merce of this country.

And still we hear criticism of this government because it now has made possible the building in this coun- try of 30 ships for the benefit of our foreign commerce. The cost of such aid to American shipping as the legislation contemplates, amounts to about one-fourth of one per cent of the $2,000,000,000 worth of ocean- borne cargoes which the United States sends to and takes from for- eign countries.

Just as a good name, once blighted may only be restored through long and arduous efforts, so our once famed merchant marine, blasted by governmental acts of omission, as well as of commission, only now has begun to reappear with something of its old-time prestige, after a wearying struggle of 60 years.

The effect of the Jones-White Merchant Marine Act of 1920, de- signed to retrieve for the United States its lost position on the seas already are noticeable.

American's Romance To Be Opera Theme

TOKYO, July 18. — A Japanese American opera, woven around the romance of Townsend Harris, first American minister to Japan, and Okichi, a pretty girl of Shimoda, where the first legation was established, is promised the musical world by the end of this year. The composer is Kosak Yamada and the librettist Percy Noel, an American newspaper man.

The new opera will be called "Okichi" and will be the first full length work of this sort by a Japanese musician. The libretto is in English and runs through five acts, with the scenes in the Shimoda of seventy years ago, a beautiful seaside town on the Izu peninsula. The authors hope to make the atmosphere of the work vivid of old Japan. They are trying particularly to achieve fidelity to historical facts.

Cuba Asks Farmers To Raise More Food

HAVANA, July 18 (AP)—An island nation whose one crop agriculture leaves its people dependent upon foreign production for food, not in the best of economic positions, the Cuban government, therefore it is urging its rural folk to raise more cattle, poultry, vegetables and grains and less sugar cane.

The extent to which Cuba depends upon the world at large for her food was shown by two recent reports issued by the federal treasury department. One revealed that Cuba spent $212,830 last year in the United States for potatoes alone, this figure comparing with $1,866 for the same commodity in 1912.

The other report, assembled by the statistical division of the government, said that in three years Cuba imported $20,768,309 worth of coffee, $12,221,926 of corn, $11,532,324 of beans, $17,795,866 of fresh and salted meats, $51,737,568 of lard and $12,267,115 of eggs. The major portion of the imports came from the United States, but Mexico, Brazil and Argentina also figured largely in the trade.

Sanity Hearing Bill Beaten In Senate

AUSTIN, July 18 (AP)—To some other legislation will fall the lot of providing more stringent regulation of sanity hearings for condemned men as a result of the failure Wednesday of the Senate to consider a measure by Representative George W. Coltrin of Austin, which was approved finally by the House Tuesday.

Representative Coltrin's bill required an affidavit from the sheriff, warden of the state prison or physician before a sanity trial for a prisoner under death sentence could be ordered.

Senator Walter Woodward, of Coleman, sponsor of the bill in the Senate, decided not to urge passage of the measure with less than a dozen lawmakers in the chamber.

Wilbur Starts Work On Survey of Lands

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Following a recently announced policy of turning over surface rights of public domain to states in which they are located, Secretary Wilbur has instructed the interior department to prepare summary of data on classification, administration, revenue yield and distribution of government lands.

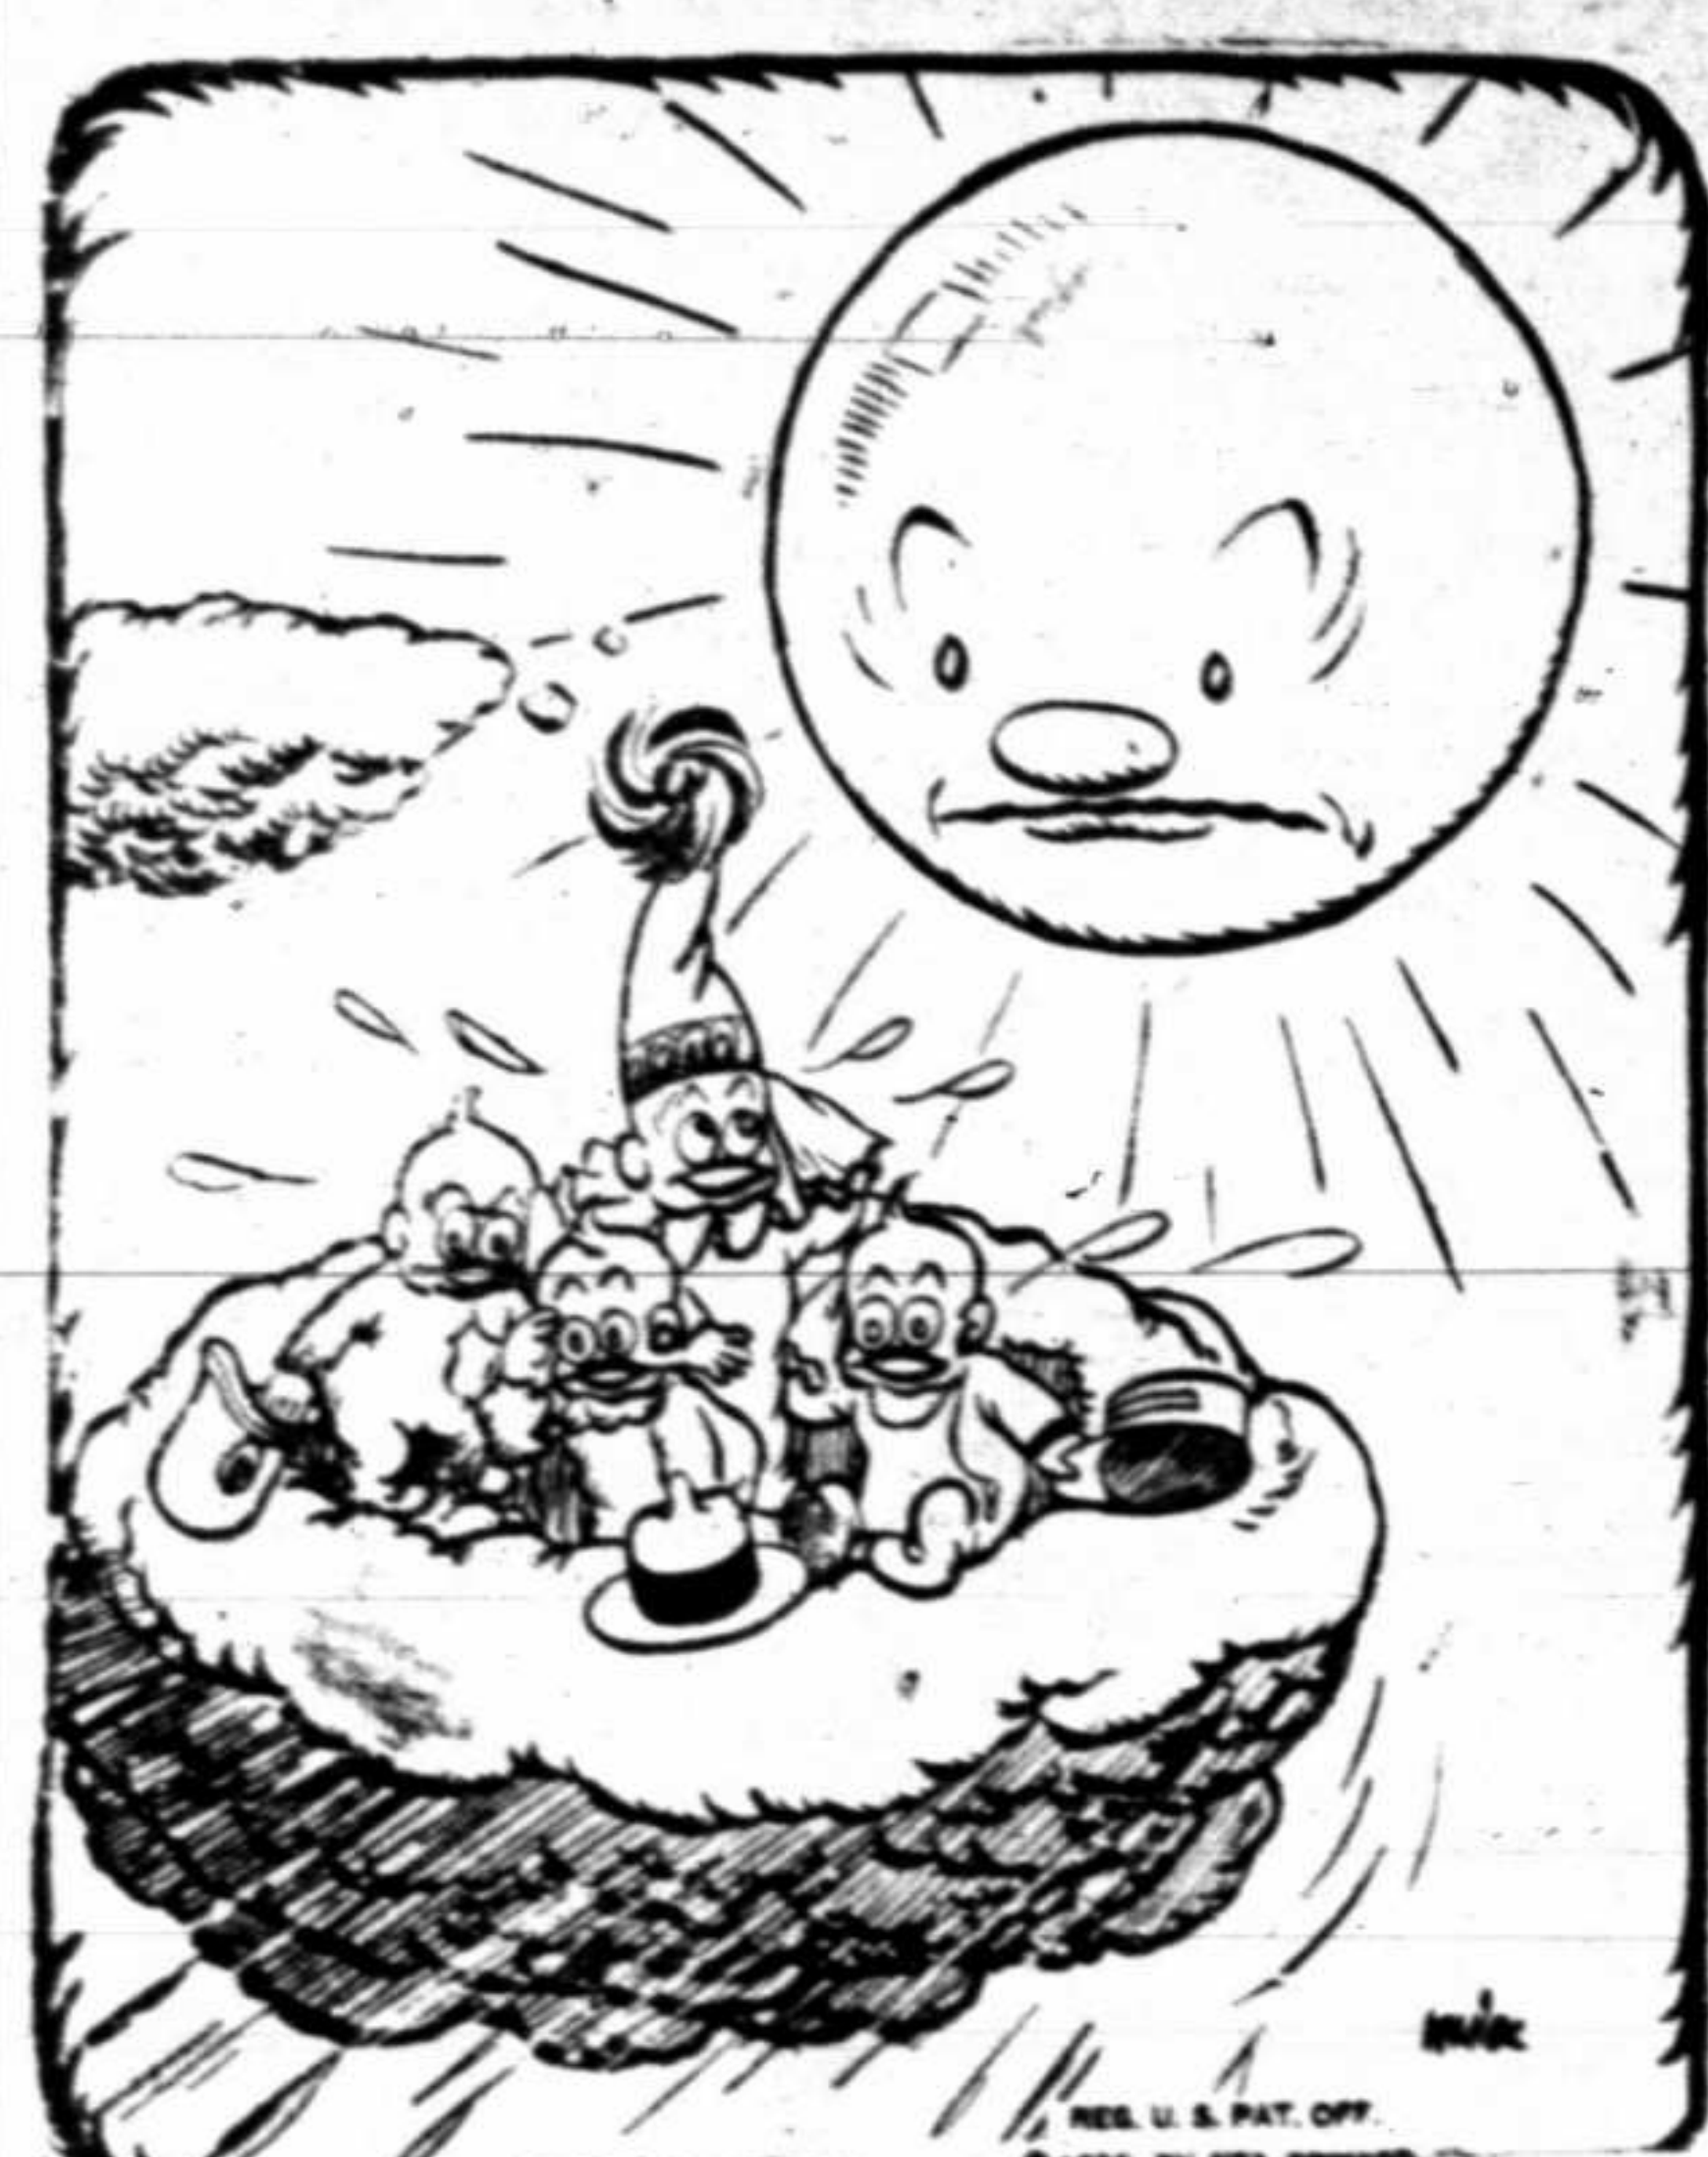

This survey is expected to make available information needed by state governments should they desire to act to take over public lands and by members of congress who would have to prepare legislation to accomplish the transfer.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCKMAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies didn't even peep, but all stayed very sound asleep as through the sky the Sky Tot pushed the cloud that they were in. One of the Tots said, "They look sweet. I'd like to tickle Clewmy's feet. I'm sure that it would startle him, and likely make him grin."

Another said, "Oh, don't do that. He might jump up and lose his hat. We promised we would stay nearby, but not disturb their snooze." A third Sky Tot then shouted, "Hey! A windstorm's coming right this way. We'd better move much faster, 'cause we have no time to lose."

"Perhaps, if we can travel fast the wind will whistle right on past, but if we're in its path I fear we'll all be blown away. Push hard and onward we will go. Oh, faster, faster! This is slow. Our task right now is real hard work. Don't take it just as play."

The Sky Tots did the best they could, but fate, it seemed, was not so good. The windstorm now was closed and they all grew scared to death. Said one, "Oh, goodness gracious, I fear we will be blown from the sky. This seems just like a cyclone. I can hardly catch my breath."

Just then the wind stopped very cold, and made the Sky Tots lose their hold upon the Tines floating cloud. It soon went out of sight. "Wee Scooby then woke up and cried, 'Oh, gee, this is a crazy ride. I can't see the Sky Tot. My, I hope that they're all right.'"

The others opened up their eyes and saw the windstorm in the sky. Their cloud was being tossed about, and they could hardly stand. "We are the victims of a storm. It's getting cold. I wish there were warm," said Coppy. "We'll be lucky if we find a place to land."

Mexican Fliers Seek Data On Endurance

MEXICO CITY, July 18 (AP)—Efforts to establish Latin American records for altitude and endurance flying will be made by Colonels Alfredo Lezama and Gustavo Leon of the Mexican army air service, the war department has announced.

The attempts are to be made within the next two weeks in American made planes. No attempts will be made at the present time to break records recently established in the United States.

Lamesa To Get New Telephone Exchange
