Other features include: a large living room with a television set, an outdoor patio for outside recreation, an all-electric kitchen where meals will be planned and prepared, complete central heating and refrigerated air conditioning and wide halls with hand rails.

Two Women In Hall County Jail After Theft Of Clothing From Turkey Store

Mary Trevino and Lucio Roijos are in the county jail, and will be charged with felony theft, Sheriff Elmer Neel stated Wednesday afternoon.

According to the sheriff's report, the two women stole two men's suits and a dress for a small girl from Salem Dry Goods Co. in Turkey at some time between 11:30 and 12 noon Tuesday. Only one clerk was in the store at the time the two women entered. One of them occupied the clerk's attention; the other, who is one-legged and walks with the aid of two crutches, walked about the store for a few minutes, then walked out to a car which she entered. The other woman joined her soon afterwards, and they drove away.

According to information gathered by Sheriff Neel, the women then drove to Silvertown, entered a store there, then left. After they were gone, a customer in the store could not find a handbag, which she had placed on a counter. She and the store owner notified the Briscoe County sheriff, who immediately broadcast a description of the two women by radio.

Deputy Clyde Rogers of Turkey was in the sheriff's office in Memphis and heard the description. He remembered the one-legged woman from dealings with her a year ago, and remembered she lived in Plainview. He immediately notified the sheriff at Silvertown this information, who then radioed officers at Floydada to be on the lookout for the two women. Only a short time later they were arrested at Floydada, and returned to Silvertown.

Sheriff Neel was immediately notified of the apprehension, and was given a description of clothing found in their car. The two suits carried labels of Salem Dry Goods Co., which caused the store owner at Turkey to know that the garments were from his stock.

Several Persons Suffer Injuries In Collision

Several persons were injured in a two-car collision Tuesday afternoon at 6:30 on Highway 256, in front of Davis & Scott Super Market.

A 1960 model Ford being driven by A. C. Hartman was hit broadside by a 1960 model Chevrolet being driven by Mike Crow.

Mr. Hartman was not injured in the collision, which did considerable damage to both cars. However, Mrs. Hartman suffered a broken shoulder and a broken arm. This information was furnished by the attending physician after occupants of the Hartman car had been carried to a local hospital.

Other passengers in the Hartman car, also injured, included their daughter, Mrs. Tommy Peres of Amarillo, and one of her two daughters, Cindy Peres, who received a cerebral concussion and multiple bruises. Mrs. Peres suffered a fractured pelvis. She gave birth to a dead son early Wednesday morning. Her other daughter, Sandy, was not injured.

Mike Crow was not injured; however, Jimmy Don Sturdevant received a cut lip. He reported to a local physician Wednesday for a check-up which showed bruises. X-ray pictures were made. The third occupant of the Crow car, Jack Stargel, was not injured.

"We will be ready to play football," Head Coach Charley Chambliss said this morning when asked how he felt about the opening game with Price College, which will begin at 8 p. m. Friday in Cyclone Stadium.

Coach Chambliss added, "the boys have been showing improvement this week in workouts and we were especially pleased with Tuesday's practice session."

Another costly injury occurred Monday morning when Bill Thompson, one of the Cyclone's experienced fullbacks, received a knee injury. He will be out of uniform for an indefinite period.

Thompson, a junior, saw a lot of action last season in the fullback slot when Mike Crow was on the injured list. Mike Liner, a sophomore halfback, will replace Thompson in the top list of 22 boys, Coach Chambliss said.

Mike Branigan has a pulled muscle and will not see action Friday.

The starting offensive line for the Cyclone will be: Jim Odom and Larry Helm at ends, Jerry Lowe and Jerry Beasley at tackles, Larry Wynn and Richard Ellis at guards, and Donnie Bridges at center. The line will average 154 pounds per man.

The starting backfield for the Cyclone will include Jimmy Sturdevant at quarterback, Mike Crow at fullback, and Toby Crooks and Jack Stargel at the halfback slots. The backfield will average 151 pounds per man.

Coach Chambliss said this morning that little is known about the Price College team other than they are big and tough this year.

Superintendent of Schools W. C. Davis said this morning that the enrollment of Memphis High (Continued on Page Twelve)

Golf Tournament To Open Here Friday

Final plans were completed this week for the Annual Memphis Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament. According to Dink Miller, chairman of the tournament committee, everything is in readiness to handle a large number of out-of-town golfers as well as those who are members of the local club.

The tournament will start Friday, Sept. 6, when golfers who wish to qualify for tournament medalist will shoot rounds on the local course. Other golfers may shoot qualifying rounds during the day.

Then the contest will begin in earnest Saturday morning when all flights will start play, Miller said.

Deadline for entering the tournament is 6 p. m. Friday, Sept. 6. After that time, the committee will set up different brackets, which will be posted in the pro-shop. Entry fee is $12.50 for each golfer.

Prizes will be given to winners in each flight. They will consist of golfing equipment, with a set of irons going to each flight winner, set of woods to each runner-up, and a golf cart to consolation winners.

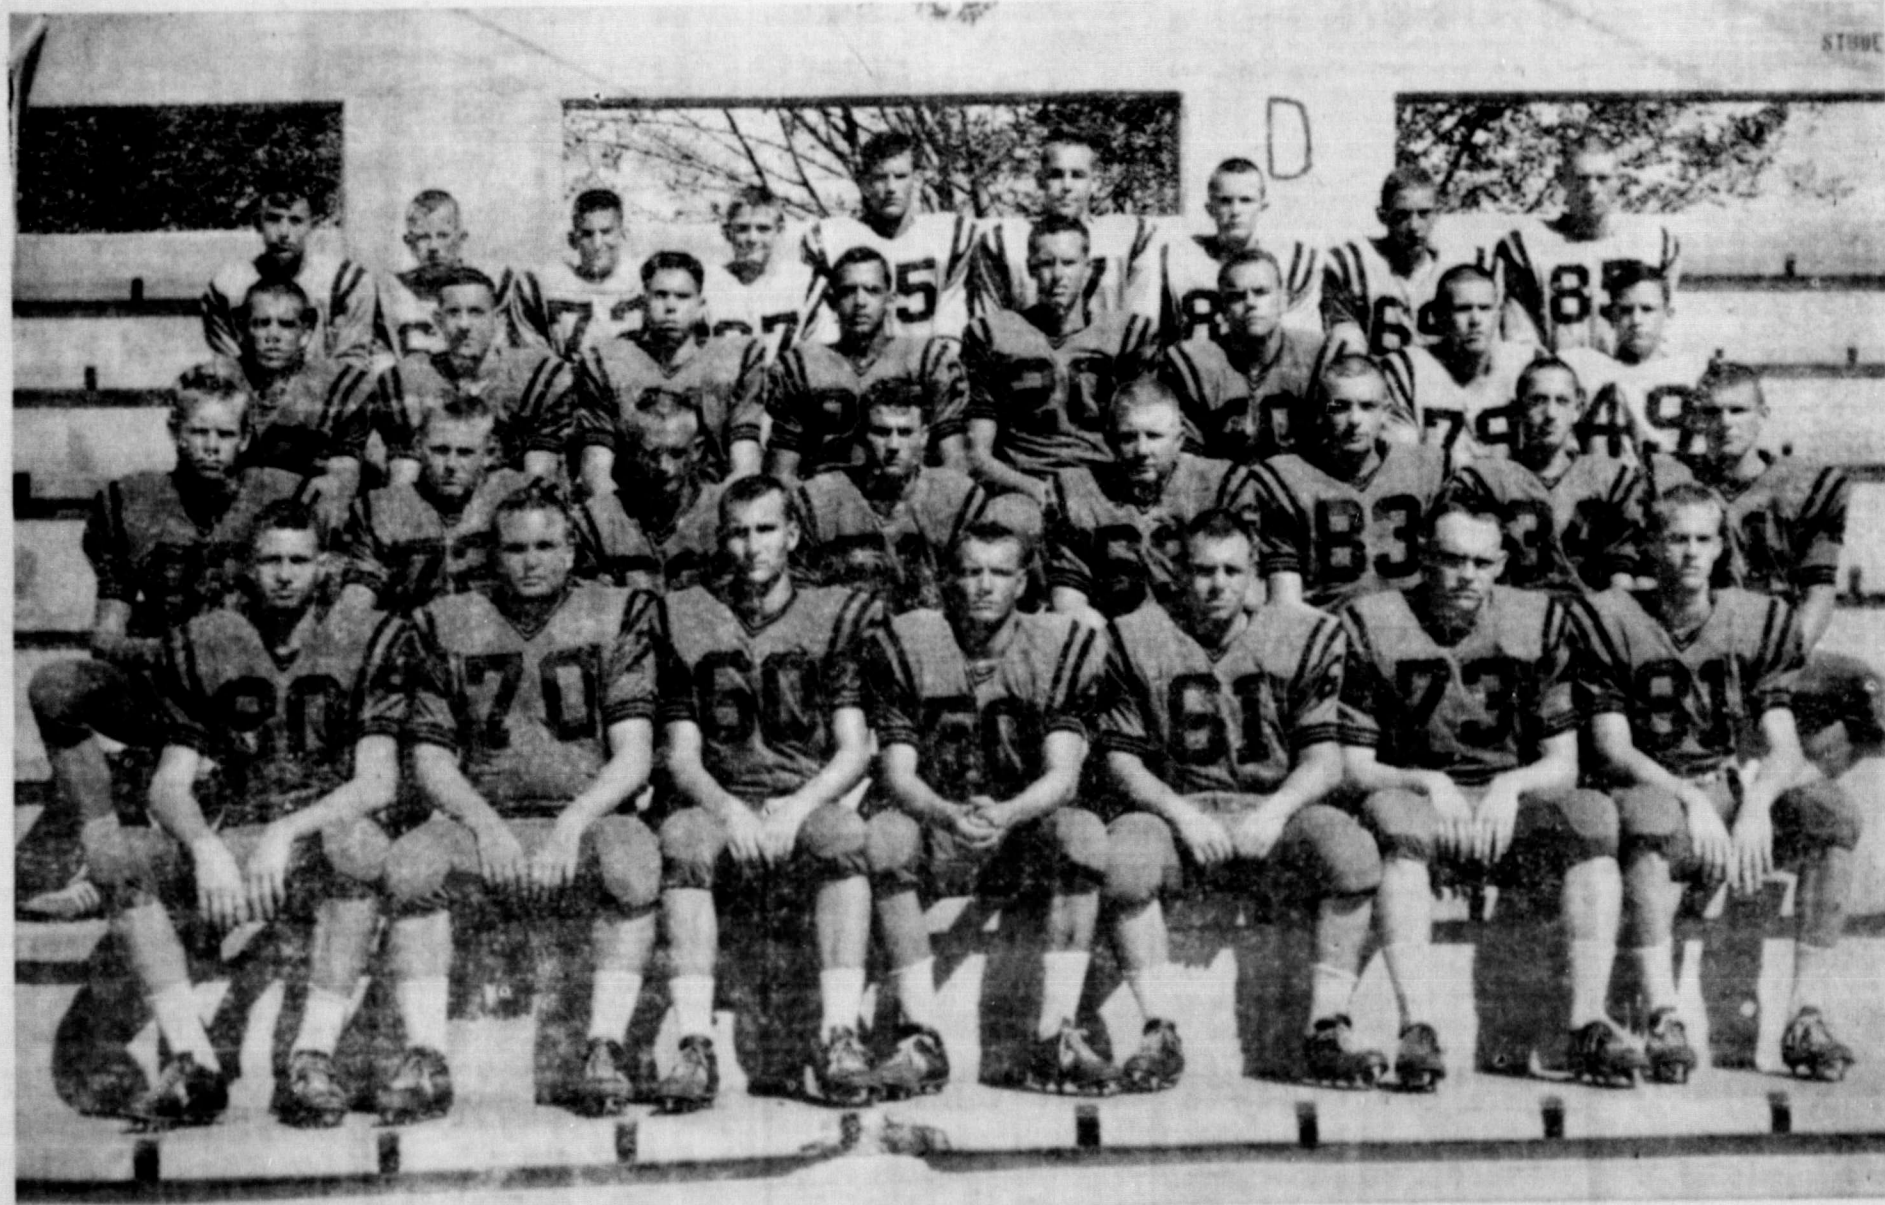

Don Kaplan, of Childress was winner of the 1962 Memphis Country Club Invitational. He will again be playing the local course this week. City Champion Frank Foxhall will not be able to play due to an injured back, Miller reported. Top golfers from many area towns and cities have indicated they will be here.

One of the highlights of the tournament will be the barbecue supper and stag party Saturday evening, Sept. 7. The meal will be served at 7:30 p. m., and tickets may be purchased by local club members and guests at $1.50 each. The entry fee entitles golfers to a ticket.

Golfers in the championship flight will shoot 54-hole stroke play, with 27 holes being recorded both Saturday and Sunday. This 16-man flight will be divided into the championship flight and the president's flight at the end of the first day's play.

In the lower flights, two 18-hole matches will be played Saturday (match play). The final winners of each flight will be decided by 18-hole stroke competition Sunday, Sept. 8. Winner, runner-up and consolation prizes will be awarded in each flight.

Helping Chairman Miller with committee duties will be J. W. Coppedge, Otis Cobb, Jack Norman and Bill Combs.

Working For A Better Education

This is "PTA Membership Week" in Memphis. All school patrons are asked to join one of the units of this city—then take an active part in the year's program.

The overall object of the organization is "Best Education for All Children." This can be attained only through the combined efforts of both parents and teachers. For many years, the Parent-Teachers Associations have shown the way here in our community. With even greater problems facing our schools today and in the future, the need is even greater for more active participation by the mothers and fathers of students.

The Texas Congress had its beginning in October, 1909. It was declared at that time that the organization's aim shall be, "to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community." This was pointed out last week by Mayor H. J. Howell as he proclaimed Membership Week in Memphis.

Membership in the PTA is a most effective way to bring better things to any community. This voluntary association of mothers, fathers, teachers, school administrators, and friends of children and youth bring combined effort to fulfillment of the worthwhile goals.

Don't wait to be invited to join your PTA. Contact one of its leaders; then do your part for better education.

Crime Is A Social Problem!

Is crime in the United States on an increase, or is it declining? According to a release by John Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation, crimes against property carried the total Crime Index to a nine percent increase during the period January through June, 1933, over the same months in 1932. All cities when grouped by population size, suburban and rural areas recorded similar upward trends for the total offenses.

In rural counties, Hoover pointed out, which experienced a slight decline in the crime level 1932 over 1931, the same sharp increases in the property offenses in 1933 as those registered by the cities and suburban areas were reported.

Total crime in rural areas is up 11 per cent with burglary and larceny $50 and over showing the largest increases. The only two offenses showing a decrease were murder and forcible rape.

Crime is a social problem, one which affects the entire community, entire state, and the entire nation. Law enforcement officers must have public support of public-spirited citizens in every community to do an effective job of law enforcement.

Actually, the role of the citizen in the fight against crime is relatively simple. It requires nothing more than the discharge of the responsibilities belonging to law-abiding individuals. On a single basis, such contribution may appear to be insignificant, but when combined with similar efforts of millions of other Americans, its potential is overwhelming.

Citizens should stand for law and order, avoiding illegal betting and gaudy deals, report criminal activities, testify in court when needed and work for crime prevention. They should keep informed on local matters and support clean government on all levels. Herein lies a great challenge for our society.

What Other Editors Say

How About Catching Up?

At the West Texas Press Association convention in Abilene in August, we heard William P. Stevens, editor of the Houston Chronicle, tell us how poor our system of higher education is and he challenged the newspaper people to try and wake up the people of Texas about this serious problem.

We will try, although admittedly our reading audience lacks a long way of being as large as that of the Houston Chronicle. And we have the feeling that people, regardless of where they live, are hard to "wake up" in these matters.

People had rather talk about high taxes than to dig down and provide a system of higher education in Texas that we can be proud of in this wealthy state.

But the fact of the matter is that higher education in Texas is suffering.

Church schools are calling upon their members to give more financial aid to take care of the rising enrollment and the urgent needs. State schools are getting by on limited budgets and the legislature didn't do much to help the situation this year, when some $13 million was cut out of the appropriation bill which was marked for higher education.

Texas colleges are being hit by a flood of students and it doesn't take a very smart man to see that it takes more money to educate 300,000 students than it did to educate 100,000 students.

Texas ranks way down on the list of Southern states when it comes to providing state support of its colleges. We spend $524 per student, ranking us 15th in the 16 Southern states. We rank way down toward the bottom of the pile in national standings.

We have been losing college professors and instructors to other states which pay better salaries. We have graduate students going to other states because they can get a better education there.

It is not that Texas is too poor to provide a good higher education system. It is that we as Texans have not become aware of the need and we don't know what it will take to make us aware of it.

Education comes from good books and good teachers, good facilities. Texas ranks way down the list on all three counts.

We know that Texans won't become concerned about the standing of their colleges and universities until they have a personal contact with the situation.

Parents whose children are now through college won't think much about the problem until their grandchildren get ready to go.

Parents whose children are still in grade school won't worry much about the college situation for another few years until maybe their child can't get into a college and then the problem will be acute and they will ask "Why didn't somebody do something before now?"

We have a problem in higher education, to be sure. Like a lot of other problems, it can be cured with money—our own money.

We are going to have to decide just how much a college education is worth and try to do something to remedy what is a sorry situation.

Effect of Polio Vaccine

If you've wondered about the effectiveness of the Salk and Sab-in polio vaccination campaigns, this little note from the State Health Department may give you a clue: Only four cases of polio have been reported in Texas so far this year!

Total caseload for the state last year was only 114 . . . a tremendous decline from the peak years but to have only four cases reported in 1933 this far into what used to be "the polio season" is positively sensational.

Health authorities continue to warn Texans not to be complacent, however. People of all ages are urged to follow up with booster shots. Polio appears to be down for the count, but fighters have come back before . . . and polio has proved itself a dangerous fighter.

Common Cold Serious

The brilliant young science students of today, who have thought that almost everything important has been discovered, might give some attention to the "common cold."

As school starts here in our city and in most of the rest of the nation, the statisticians already are able to forecast that most of the absences due to medical reasons this year in Texas will be due to this ailment. The National Education Association released figures from last year over the weekend, and it was found that Texas ranked 29th in days attended per pupil and that 19.1 days per days per elementary student would be missed this year for this reason.

The medical surveys indicated that children of elementary ages have five times as many colds as do adults. According to the 1933 Public Health Service report, respiratory illness is responsible for two-thirds of the days lost by children during the school year.

The report says the first onslaught of colds strike the children almost as soon as they assemble for the new year. One reason for this, the service says, is that the spread of colds, like other virus caused diseases, is accelerated by the mixing of populations.

Memories Turning Back To From The Democrat File

50 YEARS AGO
September 10, 1913

Our public schools opened Monday morning with quite an interesting program. This was one of the most rousing public meetings ever held in Memphis and especially at the opening of school. The main auditorium and Sunday school room was filled with school children and parents as also was the upper galleries of the church. The morning program opened with a song by the congregation. Invocation by Eld L. H. Humphreys, after which the announced program pertaining to school affairs was given with the exception of one or two subjects. All the subjects were ably and pleasingly handled by those to whom they had been assigned.

The Democrat acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to the marriage of Mr. Walter Howell of Hillsboro and Miss Estella Moon of Whitney. Walter is well and favorably known in Memphis, having lived here for a good many years, and is the son of Mrs. M. C. Howell of this city. The ceremony will take place at the First Baptist church next Thursday night.

Booster Club To Show Films Each Monday Night

The weekly Monday night meetings of the Memphis Cyclone Booster Club "got off to a good start" Monday night when the film of the practice game of the local team against Silverton was shown. Cleatus Lebow Has Been Accepted As Member Of Professional Bowlers Assn.

Cleatus Lebow, of 809 N. 17th, has been accepted as a member of Professional Bowlers Association. Approximately 1000 of America's 31,000,000 bowlers belong to this organization, which was organized to promote interest in the sport by working closely with ABC, the industry and the public. The first requirement to join PBA is to have an average over 190. Mr. Lebow finished the summer season in Childress with 191.

He started his bowling career in Lubbock, while living in Leveland, in 1955. His average the first night in league was 112. Midway in that season his average was up to 142. At this time he moved to Hobbs, N. M., and his starting average for the last half of that season was 168, which he brought up to 176 before seasons end. He has maintained averages in all leagues he has been in since that time, from a low of 176 to 193 which he had in Lubbock in 1959. His bowling was slowed down when he moved to Memphis, Texas in 1959. The closest lanes were 85 miles away in Amarillo, but in 1960 Greenbelt Lanes was opened in Childress, (only 30 miles from Memphis), and he came up with high average for the entire association, with 188.

Among his 58 trophies he has at least two for championships in every division that trophies are awarded for, in leagues and in tournament play. The past two years he has won scratch all-events in the Hall County Association Tournament with scores of 1846 and 1844. He has also won the ABC award for high game and high series in the Hall County Association the past two years. Of the nine tournaments he has entered this year, he has placed in the money in at least one event in each one of them. One of his best series being a 667 to help place 2nd in the big "D" doubles in Dallas during the state tournament.

He reports that he had a very interesting visit with Steve Nagy, President of PBA, when he was in Amarillo over the Labor Day weekend. Mr. Lebow plans to bowl in the final two open tournaments of the Summer Tour, which will be in Salt Lake City, Utah and Las Vegas, Nevada in October.

Correct Social Security Number Should Be Listed

"Loss of credit earned under social security may be the result of using an incorrect social security number," warned Hal Gelson, social security District Manager.

"Do not depend on memory; be sure every employer actually sees the social security card," he said.

When an employee gives his employer an incorrect social security number it may prevent the employer from properly reporting the wages paid the employee. This will, at best, delay the posting of the employee's earnings to his social security record.

Gelson stated that there is no need for an individual to memorize the social security number issued to him. If the card is lost it can easily be replaced by the Social Security Administration after he completes a simple application form. The application forms are available at any post office, as well as any Social Security Administration office.

Forestall A Rail Tie-Up to read the papers to what happened during rights march here last... Those of you who the event on television far better position than what occurred. Capitol Hill, more than a only the presence of a agent of Capitol Police ice that the day of the "march" had ar- ally, the civil rights leadership permitted red delegations to visit of Congressmen and although none came to and an unusual week- prevailed on the "Hill." slem facing the House day had nothing to do civil rights march. Con- was the threat that acted before the day country would become a nationwide railroad the railroads had served as of one minute after midnight they would impose a set of "work rules" bitterly opposed by the railroad brotherhoods. And the brotherhoods adamantly insisted they would strike if the rules went into effect. In the impasse that had developed in more than four years of controversy, it was apparent that a railroad work stoppage would have a catastro- phic effect on the nation's econ- omy. It was up to Congress to do something.

Congress had delayed action in the hope that as the deadline ap- proached the railroads and the brotherhoods would finally iron out their differences within the traditional framework of collec- tive bargaining. I was among those who hoped fervently that a settlement between the disputants would remove the necessity for Congressional action. But it be- came increasingly apparent dur- ing August, as the House Com- merce Committee of which I am a member and the Senate Com- merce Committee heard witnesses representing the railroads and the brotherhoods and the government, that some action by the Congress was going to have to come if the country was to keep its vital rail network functioning.

Time finally ran out. The Com- merce Committees of the House and Senate had determined the basic form the legislation should take. On Tuesday, the Senate (by a vote of 90 to 2) passed its ver- sion of a proposal to provide for a settlement of the dispute. Wed- nesday, the House passed what amounted to the same measure (by a vote of 286 to 66), and with less than six hours before the deadline the President added his signature to enact it.

None of us liked the idea that Congress should be used as a forum to settle an individual labor dispute. One of the objections raised against Congressional action in the matter was that any measure passed would constitute an order for "compulsory arbi- tration." It was said that Congress should avoid setting any prece- dent that might disrupt the long- established pattern of collective bargaining and bring future dis- putes before it for resolution. But the measure signed into law Wed- nesday actually provides for ar- bitration that the parties had al- ready agreed to in principle; their dispute was not over the question of whether there would be arbi- tration, the dispute was over when the arbitration would occur. Fu- ture proposals for compulsory ar- bitration, as Chairman Oren Har- ris of the Commerce Committee told the House, "are likely to in- volve both the question of 'wheth- er there shall be arbitration' and when shall arbitration occur." Congressman Harris said, "This resolution is only a precedent with respect to the latter question, since the parties to the dispute had already agreed among them- selves upon the answer to the first, and most crucial, of these two questions."

Congress thus called for bind- ing arbitration of the two major issues in the controversy. The two big questions are over the 32,500 firemen's jobs on freight and yard diesels, jobs which man- agement says should be eliminated and which the brotherhoods insist are needed, and the crew consist issue—how many conductors and brakemen are to man each train. Under the new law, these two is- sues are to be submitted to a sev- en-man panel (two union, two carrier and three "public" rep- resentatives) which then must sub- mit a decision within 90 days from Wednesday. The "award," as it is called, would be effective 60 days later and remain in force for two years. In the meantime, the disputants would resume col- lective bargaining on six other issues which they have indicated can be settled in the traditional way. These include pay structure

Wise parents are recognizing that there is a better way than doling out a weekly allowance to the students in school. Hall County Hootenanny To Be Held Sept. 14 At City Park

By Virginia Browder
If you have never attended a Hootenanny, you don't know what you have missed.
The federated club women of Memphis are sponsoring just such a musical jamboree the night of Sept. 14 in the City Park Amphitheatre. The tickets will be the nominal fee of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.
That particular night was chosen for a proper time for two reasons: (1) The Sweet aroma of barbecued beef will be rising from the ovens of Pete Land of Clarendon and his crew of good cooks who will be on hand making ready for the Hall County Picnic the following day. (2) The aforementioned women are pledged to raise a tidy sum of money to defray the expenses of some improvement added to the building plan for the new Community House now under construction in Memphis. Besides these two good reasons for the "shindig," the audience and the entertainers will have the time of their lives.

Everybody is invited to participate from the audience or as a performer. If you can't "hoot" (sing) you can clap your hands in time with the music.

Bob Ayers of Memphis will be master of ceremonies for the festivities and Paul Hancock of Clarendon will lead the singing. There will be everything from ragtime music to hymn singing. A male quartet, fiddle music, rock and roll "compos," and square dancing will be some of the feature attractions.

It will be "fun fare" for the whole family. So, shine your boots, curl your hair, scrub the kids—and be there.

Don't you dare miss the Hall County Hootenanny!

Need More Desserts
Mrs. Lucile Wright, chairman of the desserts committee for the County Picnic, this week made an appeal for more cakes, pies and cookies for the noon meal.

"We would like to encourage more local people to bring more plates and platters of desserts to the City Park for the noon meal," Mrs. Wright said. "Last year, there was not enough desserts to be served to everyone, and was embarrassing to those who had worked so hard to make the day enjoyable."

She added that a larger number of fruit pies were preferred, since they could be handled and served quickly.

"Whatever you bring will be appreciated," she added. "We want to have a dessert of some kind for everyone."

Harrison said that full details of the Picnic and 73rd Anniversary Celebration will be announced next week.

Rev. Campbell To Preach Sunday At Travis Baptist

REV. P. D. FULLINGIM

Baptist Church In Hedley To Hold Revival

Revival services will be held at the First Baptist Church in Hedley beginning Sunday, Sept. 8 and continuing through Sept. 15. Rev. Gene Grace, pastor, announced this week.

Rev. P. D. Fullingim, pastor of the Plains Baptist Church of Lubbock, will do the preaching.

Services will be held twice daily. Morning services are scheduled for 10:00 a. m. and evening services at 7:30 p. m.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to come hear this series of Gospel sermons.

Sale of reserve seat tickets to home games of the Memphis Cyclone football team have been very good, according to T. O. Pounds, president of the Memphis Cyclone Booster Club. He made the report Wednesday afternoon, explaining that only about 60 seats remain to be sold.

"Anyone wishing to purchase a book of reserve seat tickets may contact the business office at the High School, call me, or contact any member of the Booster Club. We'll see that the tickets are delivered before game time Friday night," Pounds added.

Unsold reserve seat tickets, along with the diagram of the reserved section, were turned in to the school early Wednesday.

Tony Craig and Pounds recently checked out the score board, located at the north end of Cyclone Stadium. They reported that it appeared to be in good working order.

Last application of fertilizer to the field was made about 20 days ago, it was announced.

"Everything at the stadium looks good, with most permanent property being in first-class order," the president said.

He added that the club was most appreciative of the cooperation of local citizens, not only in purchasing tickets, but in supporting the team and club through purchase of advertising space in the 16-page football program.

Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders.
