Violations Cause Delay In Laos Talks

GENEVA (AP)—Britain today announced indefinite postponement of the conference on Laos because of "apparent serious violation" of the cease-fire.

Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the 14-nation conference on Laos.

The United States had previously announced it was boycotting the conference until Soviet Premier Khrushchev makes good on his agreement with President Kennedy that an effective cease-fire is necessary in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Malcolm MacDonald, head of the British delegation, said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gheorgi Pushkin for an hour this morning.

Afterward, MacDonald issued a statement that some delegations informed him they could not attend further meetings until they have finished consulting their governments.

The delegations were identified as those of the United States, Britain and France.

WON'T ATTEND

An American source said Wednesday night that the U.S. delegation would not attend any further sessions of the conference called to chart the future of Laos until the pro-Communist rebels stop their attacks and a real truce is achieved.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei

Gromyko is flying from Moscow to Geneva tonight. Western delegates hoped he would bring instructions for the Communist bloc to get behind the U.S. demand for more power for the international truce commission in Laos.

The American delegates to the Geneva conference forced cancellation of Wednesday's session after the Pathet Lao rebels captured the government-held village of Padong with a violent artillery barrage and an infantry charge. The rebel artillery, silent at Padong since Thursday, resumed Monday in what looked like a pointed rebuff to the Kennedy-Khrushchev declaration at Vienna.

STAND BY

For a time the Americans talked of packing up and going home, but Washington ordered them to stand by in hopes the Communists would modify their previous opposition to discussing ways of preventing cease-fire violations.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in Washington that the United States is not going to bring about a collapse of the Geneva conference "through any obstructive tactics or otherwise."

"Violations of the cease-fire in Laos are a matter of great concern to the United States and indeed to other delegations at Geneva," White said. "This is the central issue at Geneva—in other words, to see to it that the international control commission is given adequate instructions to investigate these matters and to put a stop to them."

MUST STOP

The Communist delegations have been contending that the cease-fire violations in Laos are inconsequential and that the truce commission needs no further powers or instructions. It wants the conference to get to work on arrangements for the political future of the kingdom, but the United States insists political matters cannot be discussed until the fighting has stopped.

American delegates felt that the fall of Padong, a government outpost in Xieng Khouang province dominated by the rebels, was of moral importance rather than a serious military setback for the pro-Western government in Vietnam. The Americans said there actually had been some military strengthening of the anti-Communist forces since the cease-fire was proclaimed May 3, and that the rebel forces had generally halted their advance while concentrating their activity on the Padong area.

Tractor Panel Sets Reply To Fidel's Terms

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee replies today to the terms under which Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro would trade 1,200 men for 500 machines despite a congressional leader's warning that it "will be getting on tenuous ground" if it attempts to negotiate with Castro.

Walter P. Reuther, committee co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said Wednesday the committee expected to have a reply ready to a cable from Castro in which the Cuban leader outlined his terms for the proposed tractors for prisoners trade. Reuther said no reply was made Wednesday because it was physically impossible to get the committee together.

Reuther said the committee felt Castro's terms "leave the way open for negotiations."

OFFER

The committee was formed after Castro made an offer May 17 to trade prisoners captured in the ill-fated April invasion of Cuba for tractors.

Reuther said no decision had been made as to whether the committee would send a delegation to Cuba for a personal meeting as Castro specified in his message but observed later that it was doubtful he or any of the other leading committee members would travel to Havana for such a discussion.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said at Washington Wednesday night the committee members "will be getting on tenuous ground" if they go to Havana to discuss the deal.

Castro had said "the raising and negotiation of this problem cannot be made only by cable, and it is better that a delegation should be sent to Cuba. In this there should be one of the principal members of the committee, preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in the political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

ON PANEL

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of the late president, is honorary chairman of the committee. Dr. Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and president of Johns Hopkins University, is a co-chairman.

Dirksen said that if the persons concerned accepted the Castro invitation they might run afoul of the Logan Act. The act bars individuals from dealing with foreign governments under specified circumstances. Kennedy administration officials contend the act is not involved in the tractor matter.

The committee was organized at the suggestion of President Kennedy. But the President also has said the U.S. government would take no part in any exchange, and Reuther has emphasized that Castro's cable has not been discussed with the President.

Wind, Rain, Hail Hit City, County

Crops Hurt, No Estimate Of Damage

Widely ranging rains, some in torrential volume and others of less intensity, accompanied by the most part by hail and wind, battered all sections of Howard County Wednesday afternoon and night.

Nearly every part of the county had rain but the amount varied widely. Heaviest precipitation was in the Vincent area, where 3.25 inches was gauged. Lightest rain fell in the Forsan area where only a sprinkle was reported.

CROPS BEATEN

Crops took a beating but the full extent of damage will have to be evaluated later. Much cotton will be replanted but there were many fields which were already facing replanting before the rains. Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that he believes the benefit from the rain will far offset any damage that it may have caused. One small area of the county, northeast of Big Spring on the Snyder highway, still needs rain, he said. Most other parts of the county now have received fair to average shares of moisture.

Big Spring received varying amounts of Wednesday's rains. U. S. Experiment Station measured .97 inch for the 24 hour period. HCJC gauged .91. Texas Electric Service Co. had 1.03. Webb AFB measured .38 but heavier rains fell in Webb Village. Joe Plock, near the rodeo grounds, reported 1.20. Moss Creek Lake reported 2.90.

2.50 INCHES

Arthur Leonard on South Scurry had 1.30 and southwest of Webb one gauge showed 2.20. Charles Morrell on West Second reported 1.10 and 90 inch fell in the South-haven Addition. Boyce Hale, south Big Spring, had 1.25. An inch fell at Big Spring City park.

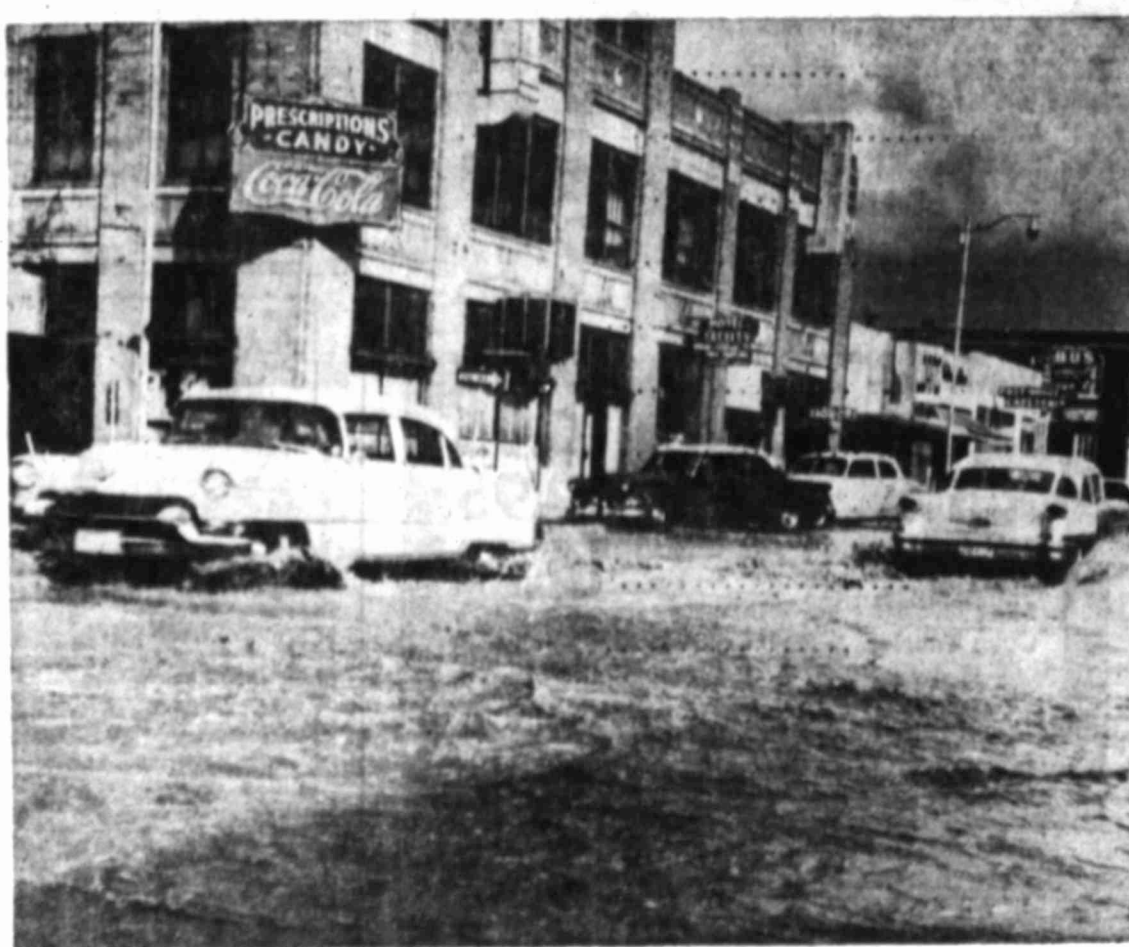

Hail accompanied the rains in all parts of the county but no important damage resulted from the stones. The hail which fell in Big Spring was small in size and not particularly heavy.

Winds were strong, especially Wednesday night. In the Vincent area, old timers said the straight winds which ushered in the rain were "terrific." Some television

OAS Today Begins Dominican Probe

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A commission from the Organization of American States begins investigating today to see if Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo's heirs are making good on their promise to end oppression.

President Joaquin Balaguer, the slain dictator's hand-picked chief executive, named Leland Rosenberg as the Dominican Republic's liaison man with the OAS mission.

Rosenberg talked at length Wednesday night with one of the OAS team, Carlos A. Clulow of Uruguay. The two had been in Bonn together until 1958 as their governments' ambassadors to West Germany.

Augusto Arango, Panamanian ambassador in Washington and head of the 13 OAS investigators, said there was no time limit and he did not know when the investigation would be finished. His group is from Panama, Colombia, Uruguay and the United States.

The investigators will determine whether OAS sanctions imposed last summer—economic boycotts and breaks in diplomatic relations—are still justified. The Dominican government insists they are not.

Since Trujillo's assassination May 30 after 31 years of rule, Balaguer and Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., made armed forces chief upon his father's death, have been busy trying to convince the rest of the Western Hemisphere that the Dominican Republic is now worthy of restored fellowship in the American community.

Rainfall Also Brought Wrecks

Accidents stepped up about the time the weather started getting wet Wednesday. Police investigated four, beginning at 3:40 p.m. Locations of the accidents and drivers involved were: Ranch Inn Cafe, U. S. 80 west, Florence Cline, 812 W. 8th, and the driver of a beer truck which left the scene; Third and Gregg, James Waidling, Abilene, and Jamit Cannon, 903 Rummel; Fourth and Gregg, Alfredo Sanchez, Tarzan, and Burton Ramsey, Stanton; 200 W. 3rd, John Clifford Hurt, 900 Scurry, and Vernon Perry, Magnolia, Ark.

Area Lakes Catch Water

Lakes in the area caught water, but in no great volume, as a result of Wednesday afternoon and night thundershowers.

Lake J. B. Thomas, where two inches of rain fell, was up 2 feet of a foot in reaching elevation 2255.03 shortly before noon Tuesday. The increase amounted to about 1,400 acre feet, or short of half a billion gallons of water, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported. Since last week, when first showers fell on the watershed the lake has picked up about 5,000 acre feet. The level is 3 feet below spillway.

The Texas Electric Service reservoir, Lake Colorado City, gained another 40 of a foot, boosting its level to 2090.60. Rains of the past week have added 1.6 foot to the lake level, or about 2,400 acre feet.

Moss Creek Lake had 2.10 inches of rain in two showers yesterday, making its level 31 feet, or 4 1/2 feet under spillway level. The catch amounted to 70 acre feet. Moss Creek now contains 1,720 acre feet. There were no reports from Powell Lake, but it already was brimming at 24 1/2 feet. It holds 1,650 acre feet.

Cosden Lake south of town barely had any run off and the level came up only two or three inches.

No Paving Lost, But Rains Litter Streets With Debris

The rains Wednesday afternoon and night did not cause much damage to streets, according to Skeet Foresyth, assistant director of public works.

Dirt and gravel washed into streets, especially in the north part of the city, he said, but no paving was lost.

Three hand crews, a dredger and a loader are working the city now to clear the debris. Foresyth said there was enough dirt in streets in the north part of town to require using a loader and dump trucks.

Most work in the downtown area is light enough, so a sweeper can handle it. A crew was working on Johnson Street this morning and upon finishing it will work east until all the streets have been cleaned.

"Most damage was caused by the shower last night," he noted.

Work on Scurry Street will be delayed for at least two days, he said. At least two days of sunshine will be needed to dry out the ground enough so the road can be reshaped for a primer coat of asphalt. The primer was scheduled to be put on today, Foresyth said.

"It will probably be the end of next week before we finish the portion between Fifteenth and Eighteenth Streets now," he added.

Foresyth said residents are co-operating with the clean-up drive and are putting out a lot of trash for pickup. During the first six days, his crews have hauled away 128 loads and he said it would take about another six days to finish the pickups.

Industrial Group Sets Meet Today

A meeting of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been called for 5:15 p.m. today by Chairman Marvin Miller.

This is the first meeting to be held by the group this year. Committee members will discuss industrial prospects which have been brought to their attention, according to Carroll Davidson, chamber manager.

Pilot Unhurt As Mesquite Sprayer Falls In Borden

Richard M. Hall of Crystal City walked away from a damaged aircraft in Borden County Wednesday without a scratch. He was flying a Snow S2A mesquite sprayer on the Muleshoe ranch for Gardner Bros. of Crystal City when he came up over high ground and hit a downdraft which caused his airplane to drop to the ground.

The downed plane was first sighted by 1st Lt. James W. Hurt III, instructor pilot of a Webb AFB T-37 jet at 11:50 a.m. Wednesday. He called the base, and the Big Spring police department was notified. A bulletin was broadcast to Borden and Dawson County officials.

The location was given as two miles south of the Gail-Lamesa highway and a half mile from the Vealmoor road. Officers began searching the area. A Webb AFB helicopter, piloted by Capt. Thomas C. Seeho and co-piloted by 1st Lt. Harry C. Evans, spotted the downed aircraft shortly after 1 p.m. and directed highway patrolmen and officers from Borden County sheriff's office to the scene.

Representatives of Gardner Bros., owners of the aircraft, said Hall left early Thursday for Crystal City to pick up another plane to carry on the brush-spraying work. They said the plane's undercarriage was damaged but that the craft would be repaired.

"Hall said he could not explain the accident except to say that as he came up to the high ground on the ranch he hit a down-draft and was down before he could do anything about it," the Gardner spokesman said.

Officers from Borden County, including Sheriff Sid Reeder and his deputies, Dawson County Sheriff Henry Mayfield, highway patrolmen, two aircraft from Howard County Airport, piloted by Ted McClung and Dick Standifer, after in the search for the plane after it was reported from Webb. Hall left the plane after it went down, and notified his office and the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

81 Freedom Riders Held; Minister Denies Charges

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Nine more "Freedom Riders" sit idle in Jackson jails today following unsuccessful attempts to desegregate terminal facilities at an airport and a bus station.

For 16 days segregation-defying Freedom Riders have converged on Mississippi's capital with no intention of letting up. And Jackson city police have promptly arrested 81 Negroes and whites on breach of peace charges.

Earlier in Chicago, the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, white Baptist minister, denied published reports he intended to quit the Freedom Riders or that he said the movement was dominated by Communists and atheists.

The Rev. Mr. Gleason was arrested in Jackson last week. He was convicted on breach of peace charges and paid a fine of $197. At that time he was quoted as saying he was through with Freedom Riders.

Wednesday's airport terminal integration attempt was the first here and adds to one similar attempt on the train terminal and numerous attempts at bus terminals.

The latest group of arrivals were three airborne riders from the St. Louis area Wednesday. They were arrested almost immediately after their arrival by Delta Airline. All were Negroes.

Only hours earlier three whites and three Negroes were arrested following their arrival by bus from Nashville, Tenn., via Memphis.

The airborne integrationists were arrested after attempting to use dining and restroom facilities at Municipal Airport. The terminal waiting room isn't segregated, but the other facilities are.

Gwendolyn Jenkins, 21, of St. Louis, was arrested as she attempted to enter the white women's rest room, while Robert Jenkins, 27, also of St. Louis (no relation) was arrested when he sat down at a table in the for-whites-only restaurant. The third rider, Ralph Washington, 25, of the Webster Grove community near St. Louis, was standing at the door of the white men's restroom when arrested.

The first claim of open integration in Jackson was made Wednesday night by Charles Jones, dean of Campbell (Negro) College. He said seven Negro students Tuesday used whites-only seating and white drinking fountains at the city zoo.

In two separate statements Wednesday Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, indirectly rebuked the Freedom Riders.

Wilkins told newsmen in the afternoon that unconstitutional laws could not be overturned by going to jail.

At a NAACP meeting Wednesday night Wilkins spelled out differences with other Negro organizations.

"We know that shock troops are necessary," he said. "We know that testing and challenging are necessary, but affirmative action by judicial, legislative and executive means is indispensable. This is still a nation of law."

Hail Wipes Out Half Wheat Crop In Panhandle Region

By The Associated Press

Hail wiped out half the wheat crop in spots around Canyon in the Texas Panhandle Wednesday night while tornadoes threatened parts of the Panhandle and South Plains and as far east as Sweetwater.

The Weather Bureau forecast more severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds in much of the same area for Thursday from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The forecast was for a 120-mile wide strip of West Texas from Marfa to Abilene.

Cities in the area include Abilene, Odessa, Midland, San Angelo, Big Spring, Sweetwater, Snyder, Marfa, Pecos, Monahans, Colorado City, Alpine, Ballinger, Coleman and Kermit.

A farmer north of Canyon said golf ball-sized hail Wednesday night "thrashed my wheat to the ground."

Another wheat grower said hail shredded the stalks.

High winds crashed into a number of places, particularly around Abilene, where a church tent went billowing and a garage and several power lines were blown down.

Violent winds knocked down three power poles west of Sweetwater and some authorities suspected the damage was a tornado rather than winds. A tornado was sighted at Colorado City, a few miles west, shortly before.

Sweetwater suffered under winds of 70 miles per hour and a cloudburst of 1.5 inches in 30 minutes.

Several tornado funnels were sighted near Snyder in Scurry County, one near Dalhart in the Panhandle, at Hartley in the Panhandle, and at Colorado City.

Twisters also were sighted on each side of the Panhandle—at Hooker, Okla., and Lovington, N.M.

At China Grove in Scurry County windows were broken and TV aerials twisted.

Lightning hit the tower of Radio KBYG at Big Spring, and hail the size of golf balls fell.

Many parts of the Panhandle reported hail, ranging from crop-destroying intensity to minor falls.

The winds tore limbs from trees at Spearman and wheat suffered damage. Two inches of rain fell there, accompanied by some hail.

The fierce winds at Colorado City blew air conditioning units from the top of store buildings. They caused extensive tree damage, and almost wrecked a lumber yard fence.

as, Sherman reported .4 inches and Denison .179.

Slaton in the South Plains had 2.50 inches in less than a half hour.

Other rainfall totals included Dalhart .56, Panhandle 2.00, Amarillo .83, Lubbock .16, Abilene .38, Brownwood .23, Wichita Falls .45, Canadian .71, Arthur City .76, Pampa .65, Borger .61 and Perryton .10.

Changes In Land Usage Help Block Omnibus Farm Measure

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Increasing popularity of beef cattle, dairy cows and poultry in the South is an important factor blocking the Kennedy administration's omnibus farm bill.

Congressmen from that section as well as many farm leaders say they fear the legislation might be used to put a brake on expansion in animal agriculture that has been taking place there in recent years.

As federal crop control programs squeezed land out of the production of the Southland's traditional crops—cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice—farmers have turned to beef cattle, milk cows and chickens, particularly broilers, to round out their incomes and production patterns.

The increases that have been taking place in recent years in livestock feed grains and forage crops have included the South as well as the Midwestern corn belt.

DRAFT PROGRAMS
The Kennedy program would authorize the secretary of agriculture and farmer advisory committees to draft programs to control supplies and production of individual farm products—including cattle, hogs and poultry. Such programs would go into effect if not rejected by either house of Congress and were approved by two-thirds of the producers voting in a referendum.

The establishment of production shares, quotas or allotments under a supply control program is based, for the most part, on past production. That means areas of largest production would get the largest quotas and farms with lowest production would get the lowest. The South might also have much to lose if controls were placed on broiler production. This type agriculture had grown rapidly in Southern states during the past few years. Ten years ago the South produced about 27 per cent of the nation's broiler supply. By 1960, its share had jumped to 63 per cent.

Quotas on broilers, based on production during the past ten years, would tend to penalize the South while giving larger production percentages to Middle Atlantic and Midwest areas whose output has been declining the past few years.

Southern leaders are under no great pressure to support the administration bill on cotton, tobacco, peanuts or rice. They and their growers are fairly well satisfied with existing farm programs covering these crops. Some say a new cotton program, for example, might tend to accelerate recent shifts in cotton production from the Southeast to the West.

Many far-sighted leaders in the South have noted the day when their region will rank high in livestock production. Much is being done in the region toward developing grassland pastures. Likewise, animal breeders are working on breeds of cattle that would stand the Southern heat better than some present breeds.

NATURAL ADVANTAGE
In the matter of pastures, the South has a natural advantage over Northern states. It can have year-round grazing, while Northern states have to depend on costly dry feeds and forage during the winter.

Of course, opposition to controls on beef cattle is not limited to Southern elements. Commercial cattlemen of the West and Midwest are, on the whole, opposed to either government controls or price supports.

'Coffin' Pad Blows Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A recently completed "coffin" launcher—and the only one of its kind bearing combat readiness—was destroyed when an Atlas intercontinental missile blew up on its pad.

Observers heard two, and possibly three, sharp blasts as the powerful new "series E" Atlas disintegrated Wednesday amid sheets of orange flame. The missile was intended to soar 4,000 miles out over the Pacific.

There were no reports of injuries and the Air Force offered no detailed explanation of the blast.

The launcher was valued at $2 million. It was part of a complex of coffin-type launchers here wherein the missiles are stored underground on their sides, protected by a sliding hangar from attack or sabotage. On signal, the hangar slides back and the missile is raised for fueling and firing.

Officials said the explosion would cause an indefinite delay in making the improved type of missile launcher operational.

Fishermen Prepare Annual Blessing

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Hundreds of scrubbed and gaily festooned shrimp trawlers will sail by a priest in this Gulf Coast port next weekend. He'll sprinkle the passing flotilla with holy water and ask the Lord's protection for the sea-toughened fishermen.

This is the blessing of the shrimp fleet, and the festivals that have grown up around it have come to be among the most colorful in the Gulf South.

The air rings with horns, sirens and bells. Awards go to the best decorated boat, the fisherman with the year's biggest catch, the prettiest girl.

There are boat races, balls, motorcades, harbor trips, water skiing, and a shrimp feast to end all shrimp feasts. Shrimp are barbecued, fried, broiled, contained in jambalaya, stuffed, green eggplant and tomatoes, green peppers, salads, patties, and even cocktails.

The two biggest pageants are at Morgan City, La. its 25th on Labor Day weekend—and Biloxi—June 10-11. There are other smaller ceremonies in Louisiana at Delcambre Canal near New Iberia, Delcambre Island, and Lafayette, where the old pirate Jean Lafitte headquartered.

Surprisingly, shrimp was virtually an unknown delicacy in the United States—except on the Gulf Coast—as recently as the 1920s. Not that shrimp is a recent food discovery. The Romans served shrimp at feasts during Nero's reign and Cortes found shrimp a staple diet among natives on the shores of Mexico.

But shrimp are highly perishable and shipping was practically impossible. Packers licked the problem when the frozen foods industry sprang up after World War

II. By 1949, shrimp was the best-selling sea food in America.

Today, Gulf coastal waters yield more than half the shrimp eaten in America—over 200 million pounds. Depending on the shrimp's size, fishermen get from $45 to $85 a barrel.

The descendants of French Acadian (Cajun) and Yugoslavian (Dalmatian) people, who sail many of the shrimp luggers, will tell you finding shrimp is a matter of fisherman's luck.

The water's surface gives no indication that shrimp are below. The captain puts down a small bag—"try net"—wherever he thinks there may be shrimp. If he gets as much as half a barrel after a half hour's drag, he probably has got a school that will net him about 25 barrels.

These hit-or-miss tactics may soon give way to sonar and other methods of underwater electronic detection.

For many years, shrimpers trawled inland or within sight of the coast. A decade or so ago, Gulf fishermen began to venture far offshore to go for the higher-price jumbo shrimp.

This involved more danger and so, in Catholic communities, they revived the centuries-old religious blessing.

PREACHING CHRIST

By F. H. Tarkenton, preacher
Church of Christ, West Highway 26
P.O. Box 1382

Should we preach Christ rather than preach the church? Should we preach Christ and say nothing about baptism, as some think we should? Certainly we should preach Christ (1 Cor. 2:1, 2). We are also charged to "preach the word" (1 Tim. 4:2). This is two ways of saying the same thing, for there is only one message (Gal. 1:8, 9). Read the 8th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and note verses 4, 5, 12, 14, 25 and 35. It says they preached "the word," "preached Christ," "preached the kingdom," "preached the name of Jesus Christ" and "preached Jesus." These terms are all used alternately. Thus the man who does not preach the word does not

DEAR ABBY

They Need Each Other

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this before Sunday. What would happen if, during a wedding ceremony when the preacher asks, "If there is anyone present who knows of any reason why these two should not be joined in holy matrimony, speak now or forever hold your peace," somebody stood up and stated an objection?

You see, Abby, this girl is 17 and pregnant. The man is a widower, about 30. He has two children, 3 and 5. He doesn't know who this girl got mixed up with, and says he doesn't care. All he is looking for is a mother for his children. And all the girl is looking for is a man who will save her from disgrace. Shouldn't some decent citizen object to this marriage?

NEEDS AN ANSWER

DEAR NEEDS: In my book, there is one ingredient that is essential to the success of every marriage—two people who truly need each other. This couple qualifies.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has been a "practical nurse" for thirty years. I have been engaged to stay in homes with as many as six children while their parents have gone on vacations for a month at a time. Yesterday I was called by a wealthy woman who asked me if I would accept a job in her home for three weeks while she and her husband took a trip. She said she had no children, but would pay me my regular fee to stay there and take care of her dog! Would you have accepted the position?

DEAR INSULTED: You're dogged right I would have!

DEAR ABBY: I have been going "steadily" with a very nice boy, but he has one very bad fault. When he walks, his back looks like a wet noodle, and his nose is poked down toward the ground, when we are waiting for a bus, he leans on anything that is handy. I would like to tell him to improve his posture, but I don't want to hurt his feelings. He is 15. Can you give me some advice?

SLUMPY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: If you like this boy, tell him in a friendly way that he would be much better looking if he straightened up and stood and walked erectly. If he likes you, he will realize that you are telling him for his own good, and he won't be hurt.

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago an unusual item appeared in your column. I thought it was wonderful and clipped it out. It was your recipe for happiness. Would you please print it again for others who might have missed it? It has helped me so very much. Thank you.

New Route Boon To Border Cities

BROWNSVILLE (U)—Browns-ville and McAllen are enjoying an increasing tourist trade with the reopening of a rebuilt shortcut into Mexico.

Tourists from the East, South and much of the Midwest save 300 miles by using a 198-mile stretch of new highway between Matamoros, opposite Browns-ville, and Ciudad Victoria.

They also miss considerable scenic splendors of the older route from Laredo, through Monterrey and Linares, to Victoria.

Leaving Matamoros, the traveler enters rural Mexico. The road, Mexico 101, crosses miles of cotton fields separated by occasional patches of dusty green mesquite.

Now and then a road runner trots across the asphalt road. High overhead the black vultures are usually present in the Mexico skies.

The beginnings of little Mexican boom towns, clusters of mud and stick huts with palm thatched roofs, are springing up along the road, but one travels 50 miles before there is a town large enough to put on the map.

Santa Teresa is like thousands of other Latin villages—built close to the store and cantina. Life proceeds much as it did in the days before the conquistadores.

Here the cotton fields begin to disappear and the road plunges into an area of arid, chaparral-covered hills. Dusty cattle trails wind through the brush and there is an occasional isolated hut.

San Fernando, with its pink and white houses, is the first town of any size.

The road leads south across a modern bridge spanning the Rio Conchos. For the next 106 miles to Ciudad Victoria, the road goes through such towns as Santander Jimenez and Padilla, both ancient and rich in history. Bullets scars of Mexican revolutions still can be seen in the soft, thick walls of the buildings.

Victoria is about three and one half hours by car from Browns-ville and Matamoros. It is the capital of Tamaulipas, which includes also the city of Nuevo Laredo, 326 miles to the north by the original Pan American Highway.

The new and old roads join here.

A fairly new route that eliminates much of the magnificent mountain driving attracts the bulk of traffic between Mexico City and the Texas border, however. Its main route is through Laredo, Monterrey and Saltillo to San Luis Potosi, or through Eagle Pass to Saltillo to San Luis Potosi.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Advice On Dressing To Please The Men

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — No one can say that Hal Wallis is afraid to give new talent a chance. When he spotted Pamela Tiffin in the Paramount commissary, he asked if she would like to test for the romantic lead in "Summer and Smoke," even though she told him that she had no previous acting experience.

"I had my heart set on college," Pamela told me as we sat in her dressing room, "and it was an important decision for me to sign a contract."

"I took up teen-age modeling in Chicago, working on weekends and at night to pay for my classes. Then I went to New York and did high-fashion modeling."

she said, "because it paid better."

"Do you have any definite ideas on fashion?" I wanted to know.

"I dress for the boys," she candidly told me. "They like feminine clothes and usually dislike extreme styles. I go for the relaxed look if it suggests the line of your body, and I love chiffon because it is so graceful. I won't buy a dress if the fabric is so stiff it doesn't move with the body."

"I think you should try to hide your figure faults, and one of my pet peeves is to see someone in slacks who shouldn't wear them. It is so easy to accent your best feature or conceal parts of your body that are not flattering to the rest of it if you know how. Do you agree?"

"I certainly do, and I have a special leaflet that tells how—'It's Fashion Do's and Don'ts.' Many of my readers have sent for it. Do you have any other suggestions?" I asked.

"Well, I have another pet peeve," she concluded. "It's make-up that is not blended. You see people all the time with their faces one color and their necks another. I always wonder why they are so careless."

If you would like Lydia Lane's Leaflet M-31, "Fashion Do's and Don'ts," send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to her in care of P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 33, California.

Dresses For 'The Boys'

Pamela Tiffin believes that it is easy to conceal figure faults if you know how. She is soon to be seen in "Summer and Smoke" for Paramount.

Mississippi Church Is Nuptial Site

In a double ring ceremony, May 27, the Rev. Darrell Robinson took as his bride Kathleen Kyrar in the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church, Pleasant Hill, Miss.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Kyrar of Pleasant Hill, parents of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson, Route One, The Rev. W. O. Langworthy, pastor of the church, read the nuptial vows, and wedding music was provided by Jan Cutrell, pianist and Berry Ruben Givens, soloist.

Mrs. Grover Smith of Mobile, Ala., attended her sister as matron of honor, while Mack Robinson was his brother's best man.

Chantilly lace fashioned the wedding gown, worn over hoops, and made with basque bodice and scalloped neckline. Her finger tip veil was of illusion and she carried a white orchid on a white ribbon.

After a reception, the couple left for Big Spring, where the bridegroom is pastor of the Midway Baptist Church.

Bridesmaids Lunch Given In Hall Home

Attendants for Letress Hall, who is to be married to Miss Tavagnone Monday evening, were guests at a bridesmaids luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hall, parents of the bride-elect.

Friends of the couple are expected at the wedding, slated for 8 p.m. at the East Fourth Baptist Church. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tavagnone of Pittston, Pa.

For the salad luncheon, served

Lori Shannon Has Birthday Party

The fifth birthday anniversary of Lori Shannon was marked with a party Wednesday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Shannon.

Fifteen little guests gathered in the back yard for games and refreshments. A cake decorated in pink and blue bore Mary and her lamb in tiny figurines, along with the five candles.

Favors were bubble gum and in eight, a turquoise and white color scheme was followed in the central arrangement of turquoise ice cubes in a brandy snifter holding pink rosebuds. This was based in turquoise net on a lace cloth over the same shade; turquoise tapers in silver holders flanked the floral piece.

A cake, made and decorated by Tavagnone, bore the couple's names and collection wedding favors.

Following the luncheon, the group joined in making tiny rice bags to be used on a tree at the wedding reception, scheduled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hall, 706 E. 16th, bride-in-law and sister of the bride-elect.

Club Plans Two-In-One Meeting

A combination meeting is planned for members of the College Home Demonstration Club for June 22. It was announced at a meeting of the group Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ray Swann was hostess.

The combined session will be a salad luncheon at the Baptist Church and will take in a course on parliamentary procedure as well as flower arranging.

Mrs. Bill Whitton was welcomed as a new member, and Mrs. R. L. Powell attended as a guest. Mrs. Sam Armstrong brought the devotion.

Table settings were arranged by Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. D. S. Phillips for a dinner and for parties or teas. Mrs. White was chosen as the auctioneer for delegates to the state meeting slated for San Angelo in August.

Nine were present for the meeting.

Cuddly Pets

Any child would be delighted to own these two little cutes. No. 721 contains cutting patterns, material requirements, and complete instructions. Scraps, or a discarded dress or apron may be used. Send 25 cents in coin for this pattern to MARTHA MADISON, Big Spring Herald, Box 1490, New York 1, N.Y. Add 10 cents for each pattern for first class mailing.

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

During the piano recital of ROBERT PHELAN Tuesday night the song title "Dear Hearts and Gentle People" kept running through my mind. That is the way the audience seemed to me as they watched the young pianist, who is a member of a family much loved by all us old timers and the new families, too. Looking over the people there, one could see they appreciated the talent and the work behind the performance, but it was also an intimate group who had come to hear and encourage one of the native sons. Such evenings make one glad to live in a city of this size. It still has lots of heart.

MRS. RAYMOND BELLFLOWER and her little son, Ronnie, of Corpus Christi are visiting in the home of her sister and her family, MR. and MRS. E. L. JENNINGS. Parents of the women, MR. and MRS. ROY SPILLERS of Sweetwater, visited here earlier in the week.

KAY HARRIS of Dallas, sister of MRS. BILL BRADFORD, is a guest in the Bradford home.

Shades of yellow turned out to be my favorite Tuesday morning at a coffee at the Camden Country Club. MRS. CHESTER CATHY was so attractively dressed in a sheath of printed lime-yellow and wore a becoming small, high crowned hat of pure yellow.

MRS. J. T. BAIRD chose a bright yellow linen with a petal type collar. MRS. WALTER MOORE wore a bone silk shirt waist frock and wore a pretty, white narrow-brimmed hat.

ALMA LEE CAGLE of Amarillo is visiting in the home of MR. and MRS. R. G. ROBERTSON.

MRS. W. P. CLAY of Los Angeles, Calif., and her grandson, CHARLES CLAY, are on an automobile trip that will take them to Hamilton, Athens, LaRue and Rusk. Mrs. Clay is the mother of C. T. CLAY, in whose home she has been a guest.

CATHY McREE left this morning by air for Calexico, Calif., where she will be a guest in the home of MR. and MRS. CHARLES DOWALBY and their two children. Miss McREE plans to stay in California until the latter part of June when she will drive with her sister and the children back here for a visit. Mr. Dowalby plans to join them later during his vacation.

To Grand Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ghoshe and Mrs. Choc Smith will travel to Beaumont this weekend as representatives of the local Pythian Lodge to the Grand Lodge which will be held there.

JIMMY HALE, formerly a Scout executive for the Lone Star district here, has been elected the first mayor of Daisetta in eastern Liberty County. As one of the incorporators of the town, he headed the ticket which won a landslide victory as the first council. Now, in addition to his duties as mayor of a Texas Service Station, he has a volume of municipal work as a volunteer. He's accustomed to that for he has been serving as fire chief and as a sort of an interim pastor for the Daisetta Christian Church pending the time it gets a new pastor.

Breakfast Marks End Of Year For Gardeners

For the last meeting of the club year, members of the Big Spring Garden Club were guests of Mrs. John Balch at breakfast Wednesday morning.

A table for 25, laid with a check wagon theme, held as favors, packets of seed and plant food from the hostess and ivy food presented by Mar-Vel Garden Center.

Mrs. J. D. Elliott showed pictures of gardens and tables recently on display during the club's pilgrimage; the group also viewed scenes from local gardens and from the spring and fall flower shows of 1960.

Themes for the fall flower show was announced as "The Blooming Cities of America" and will be carried, Oct. 28, in the exhibition set for Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

Announcement was made of the election of Mrs. Clyde Angel, member of the club, to the presidency of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs; Mrs. Elliott, reporting on the state convention, held recently in Odessa, stated that Mrs. Obse Brislaw, club members, was elected fourth vice president for the state.

State awards included the granting of Advanced Rating to the local group, to the Junior Garden Club, sponsored by the adult club, went third place in the yearbook division, with a standard of excellence award.

Among gardening tips, members were advised to plan gardens on paper before starting on the work.

Party Honors Huestises

FORSAN (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Gene Huestis and children were honored with a moving-away party in the Methodist Church annex following church services, Sunday. Group gifts were presented to the family. Andrews will be their new home.

Huestis was recently transferred there, but Mrs. Huestis and the children stayed in Forsan until the end of the school term.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wall, Randy and Teressa were "Gulet" City visitors with her parents, Bobby Dean Shelton of Andrews was here for a few days' visit in the Ted Henry and John Carwell homes.

Mrs. Arthur Gooch and children of Andrews have been here with her parents, the Leland Camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Craig and children are here to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Craig. They have also visited in Fort Worth with her brother, Jack Barber; in Corpus Christi with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Barber, and in Robert Lee with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Craig. They are now en route home to Hermosa Beach, Calif.

New residents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Day and family from Texon. They were transferred here by the Plymouth Oil Company.

MRS. GERALD BRADDOCK

Former Resident Is Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Braddock will make a home in Post following their Sunday afternoon marriage in the First Baptist Church of Post.

The bride, a former resident of Big Spring, was until her wedding, Ellen Ann McGovern, daughter of Mac McGovern of Post; Mrs. Martha Cass of Post and Lee Braddock of Plains, Kan., are parents of the bridegroom. The bride's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearson, 1807 E. 14th.

The Rev. C. B. Hogue, pastor of the church, read the double ring vows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace designed with a scalloped V-neck, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of rosebuds tied with ropes of pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Braddock attended the couple, as did Norma Gay Bruggs, Jan. Wilson, Jackie Braddock and Robbie Wilson.

Music was by George M. Wilson, pianist, and Maxine Durrell, who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

College Park Club In Welfare Work

Food and clothing for a needy family were collected by members of the College Park Home Demonstration club when they met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Preston Adams.

Mrs. Adams brought a devotion and a prayer, which was followed by a discussion of activities for the summer. These will include work on crafts and family outings.

Mrs. Kel Davis was elected vice president, and Mrs. Adams was named to serve as reporter. Mrs. D. C. Chambers gave a resume of the council meeting held on Monday.

The next session will be in the home of Mrs. Billy Pitcock, 2219 Auburn at 9:30 a.m., June 26. Refreshments were served to seven.

Invading Texans Fooled Yankees In N. Mexico

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of eight stories on the Civil War in Texas. Illustrations by Dmitri Vail.

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

When the Civil War broke out with the shelling of Ft. Sumter, most Texans were ready to fight. About one Texas in four was a Unionist, but these either took a back seat or moved north as quickly as wagon and railroads could carry them. Few chose to stand up for the Union as did Sam Houston.

Texas put 55,000 to 65,000 men into the Confederate forces, but when Lee finally surrendered the number was much smaller. Many had returned home, not always because they had tired of battle, but to protect their homesteads from marauding Negroes, looting Indians and guerrilla bands.

The proportion of Texans who fought in the war was large, since the white population of the state in the census of 1860 was 420,891. There were 182,921 Negroes, more than 150,000 of them slaves.

FEW TOWNS

Most of the men Texas sent to the war were from farms. San Antonio was then the largest town in Texas with 8,235 persons. Jefferson, north of Marshall, was next with 7,500. Then came Galveston's 6,000, Houston's 4,845, Marshall's 4,000 and Austin with 3,494.

Texas was growing and developing rapidly until the war halted her progress. Despite the warnings of Sam Houston, the Texas men believed it their moral duty to fight the North.

So it was that in 1861 there was no recruiting problem in Texas for the Confederate States of America.

One of the first Texas actions came quickly under Gov. Francis Pickens.

It was the Sibley expedition which took Albuquerque and Santa Fe and vast federal stores for the Confederacy. Due, however, to Sibley's hard drinking the occupation was short lived, and federal troops took over again in five or six weeks.

FIRST ACTION

The first action in New Mexico came when Col. John Robert Baylor, heading 250 men of the Texas Second Mounted Rifles, won a victory over the United States at San Augustine Pass. This occurred July 27, 1861.

Baylor, moving out of Ft. Bliss at El Paso, took Mesilla, N. M., without opposition after going around Ft. Fillmore, the Union post manned by a Vermont major, Isaac Lynde, and more than 700 Union soldiers.

When Baylor declared Mesilla the capital of the Confederate Territory of New Mexico, Lynde reluctantly decided to attack with his well equipped troops.

First, the timid Union commander advanced on Mesilla and short of the city boundaries began firing howitzer charges at the town, endangering helpless civilians. The shot were short of their mark, however, and Lynde—so his historians say—"suggested" an infantry attack.

Baylor, anticipating Lynde's move, had dismounted his Texans and placed them and their "Texas Rifles" on Mesilla's rooftops. In the brief skirmish that followed, three Union soldiers were killed and six, including two of Lynde's officers, were wounded. There is no record of a Confederate being wounded or killed.

Lynde quickly ordered a re-

San Augustine Pass

Outwitted by Texas scouts who infiltrated the Northern troops led by Vermont's Maj. Isaac Lynde, the Yankees filled their canteens with brandy and whisky rather than water. The next day they fell easy prey to the Texans under command of Col. John Robert Baylor, who reported that for five miles the Yankee soldiers, "fainting and famished," threw down their guns and begged for water from the Confederates. (Sketch by Dmitri Vail).

treat from the sharp-shooting Texans' fire, fell back to Ft. Fillmore, and then started an ill-fated, 154-mile march to Ft. Stanton in the northwest.

Baylor had put spies into Ft. Fillmore, and when the retreat was ordered they suggested to the Yankee soldiers that whisky and brandy from the fort's stores would better fill their canteens than Rio Grande water. The soldiers agreed.

Lynde was no disciplinarian and his troops were a rag-tag, though well equipped, outfit. He had 300 extra rifles when on July 25 he had asked Baylor to surrender Mesilla only to receive the answer: "Go to Hell!"

IT WORKED

It was a different outfit entirely when Baylor's scouts spotted the federal July 27 near San Augustine Pass in New Mexico's picturesque Organ Mountains. They were disheveled, thirsty and drunk on the burning sands.

The wily Baylor, knowing that Lynde's men were headed for San Augustine Pass, sent his Texans through another pass to the south a few miles, and then rode northward with them to await the column of Yankees.

Baylor rode through the Yankee ranks for five miles and reported that the way "was lined with fainting, famished soldiers" who were throwing down their guns and begging for water as the Confederates closed in on them.

The Baylor victory helped pave the way for the expedition led by Henry Hopkins Sibley and his wild horsemen from Texas who only wanted to fight the Yankees, no matter where. Besides, Gov. Pickens and other Confederate leaders believed that taking New Mexico would be a great boon to Rebel fortunes.

HEAVY TOLL

Sibley set out from Texas with 4,000 men, but the toll of sickness and of leaving men to reinforce garrisons along the rugged route reduced his force to barely 2,000 by the time he saw New Mexico action. Many of his men had died, too, the Jornada de Muerto—so named by Coronado's Spaniards who had traveled much the same route—taking its toll.

Sibley, a good organizer when sober, was rarely sober and at best was no more than a fair tactician. He had in his command three men who later in the war became Confederate generals. Apparently this gave him an advantage in his war with his brother-in-law, Canby.

THEY HELPED

These three good soldiers were Col. Thomas Green, Col. William Redi (Dirty Shirt Bill) Scurry, and Maj. A. P. Bagby. Their presence, there seems little doubt, made up for Canby's superior position at Ft. Craig on the Rio Grande and for the Union general's superlative fire power.

Sibley had 10 howitzers and barely 2,000 men, many untrained for warfare. Canby had 12 heavy cannons, 1,200 regular U.S. soldiers, and at least 2,800 volunteers. The latter included a regiment under the famed frontier scout, Col. Christopher (Kit) Carson, no mean soldier or tactician.

If this makes Canby's position seem overwhelming, it should be remembered that the federal commander's food was short at Ft. Craig. Apaches took a heavy toll of his scouts, desertions were frequent, and he had to beat down at least two mutinies.

Under such conditions did Albuquerque and Santa Fe fall to the Texans in the Battle of Valverde, the key to the initial operation.

One bill that passed requires a $250 deposit with petitions to the Board of Water Engineers to organize water districts.

"This won't cover but it makes them be serious about what they are doing," Manford said.

Another new law authorizes the board to study water-bearing formations and sources of underground water.

Water well drillers must pay a $25 annual registration fee to the board under another bill.

Water districts can sell their bonds at no less than 95 per cent of their par value.

Report Blakley Sale Of Stock

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange officially reported Wednesday that Sen. William Blakley, director and chairman of the executive committee of Braniff Airways, sold all his 522,955 shares of Braniff common stock.

The Exchange said the Blakley-Braniff Foundation also sold its 483,217 shares of Braniff common.

The sales were made May 19. Blakley, a defeated Democratic candidate for senator from Texas, said he sold the stock to avoid possibility of conflict of interests. He resigned from the company.

Gov. Daniel Names Panel On Legislation

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel has named the first 19 members of his special committee to recommend a suitable tax program to the special session of the legislature July 10.

The committee will meet June 13. Daniel said last week he would appoint a committee of more than 50 members to draft a tax program acceptable to him and the legislature.

Daniel said he would ask the committee to plan a program for support of recommendations made for improving the state's public school, higher education, welfare, hospital, correctional and youth council programs.

Members of the committee he named are:

Chairman, Lee Lockwood of Waco, chairman of the Texas Commission on Higher Education; vice-chairman, French Robertson of Abilene, chairman of the board for state hospitals and special schools; J. M. Odom of Austin, chairman of the governing boards of state colleges and universities; Dr. W. W. Jackson of San Antonio, chairman of the State Board of Education; Burton Hackney of Brownfield, chairman of the Board of Public Welfare; H. H. Coffield of Rockdale, chairman of the Board of Corrections;

Thorton Hardie of El Paso, chairman of regents of the University of Texas; Eugene Darby of Pharr, chairman of directors of Texas A&M; Ben Wooten of Dallas, chairman of regents of North Texas State University; C. I. Wall of Amarillo, chairman of directors at Texas Tech; C. S. Ramsey of San Augustine, chairman of regents of the state teachers colleges; W. C. Windsor, Jr. of Dallas, chairman of the Texas Youth Council;

Dr. Richard Bowles of Austin, president of the Texas State Teachers Association; Charles Matthews of Plainview, president of the Texas Association of School Administrators; Miss Antoinette Miller of Houston, past president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association; Thomas A. Spencer, president of the Texas Public Junior College Association; W. B. Fehl of Beaumont, president of the Texas Association of School Boards; W. H. Meischner of Raymondville, president of the Texas Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association; and Dana Williams of Corsicana, legislative chairman of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Water Bill Called 'Most Significant'

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—The "most significant piece of water legislation in years" was approved by the 57th legislature, the chairman of the Board of Water Engineers says.

Durwood Manford said passage of a proposed constitutional amendment providing for state purchases of storage space in federally and locally built reservoirs was of major importance. This will make possible larger reservoirs.

The voters will make the final decision in the November 1962 general election. The measure cleared both houses unanimously. A similar proposal was killed in the closing hours of the 1957 legislature.

The amendment was one of 87 measures passed dealing with water. Most affected only local water districts.

Another major water bill authorizes the State Water Development Board to lend up to $15 million to water supply projects. The present limitation is one-third the project cost or $5 million.

Former state Sen. Joe Carter, now executive secretary of the board, said he hopes the law will increase the number of water conservation projects undertaken.

He said the Toledo Bend Dam project in the Sabine River will be hastened because Texas' $15 million share of the cost is now available from the board. Otherwise, the legislature would have to appropriate the money.

Under the proposed amendment, the state will be able to contract with the federal government or other agency building a dam for part of the potential water storage capacity in a reservoir under construction. Bonds could be issued to pay for the state's share or it could be financed by the water development board. Water sales later on to cities and industries could pay them off.

The need for this, Manford said, is that reservoirs are often built with less than their potential ca-capacity, despite state law that storage always should be at its "maximum practical potential."

This occurs, he said, because the water districts and municipalities that construct many of the state's dams lack the money to build them as high as they should be.

"There are only a few adequate reservoir and dam sites," Manford said. He stressed the need for economical dam construction utilizing the full potential of a dam site. "This will save the state several times its investment."

One bill that passed requires a $250 deposit with petitions to the Board of Water Engineers to organize water districts.

"This won't cover but it makes them be serious about what they are doing," Manford said.

Another new law authorizes the board to study water-bearing formations and sources of underground water.

Water well drillers must pay a $25 annual registration fee to the board under another bill.

Water districts can sell their bonds at no less than 95 per cent of their par value.

Sandy Koufax Gives Dodgers Big Assist

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers, struggling off slumps, are back on top in the National League race again, thanks to a handy guy named Sandy Koufax, who has put away four of their last eight victories.

After slipping to second with two straight setbacks by San Francisco and Pittsburgh, the Dodgers have bounced back and won two in a row, regaining a half-game lead with a 7-3 victory over the Pirates Wednesday night as Koufax became the first pitcher to win eight in the NL this season.

Milwaukee helped the Dodgers climb back on top by beating Cincinnati 3-1, and third place San Francisco moved within 1 1/2 games of first place with a 4-3 11-inning victory over Philadelphia. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-6.

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the second inning, beating Earl Francis in his first major league start on a two-run homer by John Roseboro and a clinching two-run double by Willie Davis. They added three unearned runs in the fifth, making it easy for Koufax (8-2). Homeless by Roberto Clemente, in the first inning, and Don Hoak, with a man on in the ninth, scored the runs.

The Braves beat the Reds behind the four-hit pitching of right-hander Don Nottebart, 3-2. The Reds scored in the second on a walk, Gene Freese's single and a passed ball, but the Braves then scored three in the third, two on Ed Mathews' double, against rookie Ken Hunt (3-3).

Stan Musial's pair of two-run homers giving him six for the season, built the Cards' winning cushion in the third and seventh innings. Larry Jackson (2-5) was the winner, but needed relief. Maury McDermott finally saved it, coming on when Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer off reliever Al Ciolette in the ninth. Bob Anderson (2-5) was the loser.

The Giants nailed their victory on two walks and a single by Orlando Cepeda in the 11th off losing reliever Chris Short (1-2). Held to one run and two hits for seven innings by Art Mahaffey, San Francisco tied it in the eighth on consecutive doubles by Matty Alou and Harvey Kuenn, both pinch-hitters, and Willie Mays. Jim Duffalo and Stu Miller shut out the Phils on four hits over the last six innings, with Miller winning his fifth without defeat.

Local Man Gets Several Catfish

I. E. Underwood of Big Spring has reported catching two yellow catfish in the vicinity of Earl Richardson's Lake View Camp on Lake Colorado City.

One of the fish weighed 15 pounds, the other 14. They were caught on a trotline and he was using perch and frozen shad as bait.

W. W. Atcherson of Stanton caught one yellow cat weighing 21 pounds, another tilting the scales to 10 pounds and still another weighing three pounds. In addition, he landed a 1 1/2 pound channel cat.

He was fishing on a trotline and with a rod and reel and was using shad and perch as bait.

Boston To Enter Meet Of Champs

HOUSTON (AP)—A banquet for coaches and officials will be held tonight preparatory to the Meet of Champions, a track and field carnival scheduled here Thursday afternoon and night.

A great field is expected for the meet, including Ralph Boston, the man who went over 27 feet to set a new world's record in the broad jump.

Hildebrand Is Webb Leader At Ent AFB

At the 1961 Worldwide Armed Forces Shoot, run off recently at Ent AFB, Colo., sportsmen from Webb aggregated 993 of a possible 1,000 to bag three team handicap trophies — second place Inter-Service; second Air Force Worldwide; and first in Air Training Command.

Webb's five-man team comprised one Class A, one Class D and three Class E shooters, and were therefore, below the top 10 in scratch events.

T. Sgt. James Hildebrand bagged Class E honors when he cracked 104 birds in a row. He also paired with T. Sgt. Cecil Raley to win the two-man team event. Raley had a string of 74.

Hildebrand's performance punched him up to Class D at the end of the meet.

Although scoring 103 hits in a row, Maj. Frank Shearin was "out of the money." He shoots in Class A.

The hosts, Ent Rod & Gun Club, had a surprise (pleasant they called it) when 380 Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps competitors turned up — instead of an expected 100. This tightened the schedule and extended the meet to 3 1/2 days. There was every indication that the success of this, the first Inter-Service Shoot Tournament, will make it an annual attraction for the U. S. forces all over the world.

The shoot took place near Pikes Peak, in weather varying from clear and warm, to thunderstorms with winds up to 40 m.p.h. M.Sgt. Charles W. Hargis and T. Sgt. Noble Hayden were other members of the Webb AFB team.

Representatives from 50 installations took part in the shoot. Twelve, 20, 28 and 410 shotguns were fired, in both single and team events.

No Decision On Decision 9

By JOHN WOODFIELD
WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — A little five-year-old mare, once marked for destruction because of a leg injury, may face the same fate again very shortly.

Decision Nine is her name, but despite her famous heritage—she was Ponder, one of a line of five consecutive Kentucky Derby winners—the little filly failed to make the grade. Then in May 1959 at Pimlico, she suffered a leg injury and was ordered destroyed by her owner, Miss Crystalline Waggoner of Decatur, Tex.

Somehow the instructions were never carried out.

The horse went through a series of owners after that. Then late in the same year, Ernest C. Rogers Jr., answered an ad in a Baltimore newspaper.

The 26-year-old Baltimore County man fell in love with the horse at first sight, and purchased her for $250.

For him, she was just what he wanted. She made an excellent hunter and family pet.

"I've never been to a race track in my life," Rogers said. "I wouldn't know a start from a finish. But for a hunter and a pet—they don't come any better."

Trouble developed when Rogers decided to try and obtain papers on the mare. He wrote to Miss Waggoner. Legal proceedings were immediately begun, and now Rogers has lost the first round of a court battle for the mare's possession.

A jury ruled that the animal still belongs to Miss Waggoner, who flew here from Texas for the trial.

Both Rogers and his father have said Miss Waggoner told them she wanted the horse only to destroy it, as she had originally ordered.

Rogers and his father, who now has the mare on his 80-acre Carroll County farm, both insist they will take the case as "as we have to" before relinquishing ownership.

They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Meanwhile, Decision Nine remains contentedly in her pasture, completely unaware of the struggle being waged around her.

Archie Moore May Fight Johansson

By MURRAY ROSE

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — If

Associated Press Sports Writer

Archie Moore gets by Giulio Rinaldi Saturday night, as he is favored to, the old gent may take off for Sweden this fall for a fight with Ingemar Johansson.

"That would go real big over there," said Jack (Doc) Kearns, who handles Archie's bookings.

"I've discussed the fight with Ed- die Ahlquist (Johansson's adviser) and he thinks it would be great."

"First of all it would make a lot of money for everyone," added Doc, who says he's only slightly older than his meal-ticket.

"Then if Archie wins it, and I'm confident he can, he'll be right in line for another shot at the heavyweight title."

"Archie still thinks he can beat (Floyd) Patterson and he'd like to get that heavyweight title before he quits in maybe six or seven years."

There was a merry twinkle in Doc's blue eyes as he blithely discussed Archie's future as if the champ was 21 instead of a magnificent antique, aged 44 or 47.

More definitely is interested in taking on Johansson and another trip to Europe wouldn't displease him a bit.

"One thing I've got to say about Doc—he's got a tremendous imagination," said Archie. "That's what I like about him. He can think up some mighty interesting propositions."

A Johansson-Moore fight could elbow Sonny Liston, top-ranking heavy contender, out of the picture. There's been plenty of dicker for the Liston-Johansson fight but it may not occur this year because Moore thinks he can lick Johansson and Ingo feels the same way about Archie. And both think it could be easy—and easy money.

As for the Moore-Rinaldi fight at Madison Square Garden, the principals declared themselves ready. Both finished their boxing drills Wednesday, Archie at his camp here and the Italian at a midtown gym.

Sarroz, the probable favorite, has scored a total of three wins during the year, with his best effort a $4,500 claiming event. That race was at the six and one-half furlong distance, and he should find the seven furlong just to his liking.

Sarroz' strongest competition is expected from Mr. Eddy (Leonard Wedell, Chino, Calif.) who placed well in his last outing; Sing'N Cat, (R. Nix, Artesia, N.M. and J. ## Odessa Duo Lead In Juco Tourney

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Odessa's duo of Jerry Cozby and Danny Swain led the way today into the second round of the National Junior College Golf Tournament as they sought a repeat of both the individual and team championships.

Cozby had a 5-under-par 67 for the individual lead and Swain shot a 72 to give the two the team lead with 139.

The Odessa pair led by three strokes over Mike Hill and Phil Marston of Jackson, Mich., who shot 70 and 72 respectively, for 142. Mel Gilbert and Ken Potok, another Jackson, Mich., team, was third with 145.

Cozby led his teammate, Charles Meisner by a stroke in the fight for individual honors. Meisner had a great 31 on the back nine for a 68.

The field plays 36 holes today and will wind up the meet Thursday with 18.

200 Due To Enter Trapshoot Meet

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Texas State Trapshoot opens here today with 200 expected to enter.

There will be shooters from over the nation since competition will be for out-of-state trophies as well as state championships.

The tournament, sponsored by the Texas Trapshooters Association, will run through Sunday.

Larry Gravestock, Amarillo, defending champion in the 16-yard, doubles and all-around titles, will be in the field.

Cookie To Relax Before He Works

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—It will be some fishing and golf for Calvin Griffith and Cookie Lavagetto before they start to talk about what can be done with their slumping Minnesota Twins, now in a 13-game losing streak.

"I hope to get Cookie's mind off baseball for a while," said Griffith as he greeted the manager, recalled from New York for a week's vacation, at the airport Wednesday.

"Of course, we plan to do some serious talking about possible personnel changes on the team but the relaxing comes first."

The warmth of Griffith's greeting for his field boss dismissed any rumors of animosity between the two. Neither would reveal where they plan to carry on their relaxing and chatting.

Lavagetto arrived only shortly before word came that the Twins had dropped their third in a row to the New York Yankees, carrying them into the American League cellar. They were tied for second before losing 18 of their last 19 games.

"I simply don't know now what can be done to help the club," said Cookie. "We have no bench at all, our relief pitching is terrible and we need a couple of good starters."

Lavagetto, 48, left the team in charge of coach Sam Mele after watching Tuesday night's game from the stands. The team moved into Baltimore today for a three-game series.

Griffith made the point that all American League clubs currently are short on the pitching side, "and that's what we need most." But he added that the National League wasn't going to let anyone go, what with expansion coming up, plus the availability of a $75,000 draft price.

Tribe Pads Lead By Ripping Sens

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, sweeping into the American League lead on a nine-game streak against the likes of Minnesota, Los Angeles and Washington, carry a half-game edge into Detroit tonight for a two-night doubleheader that opens a four-game series with the second place Tigers.

The Indians padded their lead beyond a percentage point margin with an 11-0 romp at Washington Wednesday night as unbeaten right-hander Jim (Mudcat) Grant won his seventh with a six-hitter.

The Tigers, idle Wednesday, confront the Tribe behind left-handers Don Mossi (6-0) and right-hander Frank Lary (8-3). Cleveland goes with right-handers Jim Perry (3-4) and Wynn Hawkins (5-2).

In the other AL games Wednesday: New York defeated Minnesota 5-1 on a two-hitter by Ralph Terry that plunked the Twins into the cellar with their 13th straight loss, the Los Angeles Angels beat Baltimore 4-0 behind Ted Bowsfield's five-hit pitching and Boston defeated Kansas City 6-2.

Willie Kirkland and Woodie Held hammered solo home runs in an 11-hit attack for the Indians who scored twice in the first off Pete Burnside (1-4). Grant walked but one and struck out six. Both Minnesota hits off Terry (3-0) came in the first inning, when Billy Martin tripled and scored on a double by Lennie Green. The Yankees then exploded for all five runs in the third against Pete Ramos (3-7), tagging the right-hander with his fifth straight loss on a three-run homer by Roger Maris and a two-run homer by Yogi Berra. It was No. 17 for Maris, tops in the majors, as the Yanks set an AL record with 31 home runs in 16 consecutive games.

Bowsfield (2-1) walked three, struck out three and allowed only one hit over the last seven innings. Three runs in the first inning, capped by Ken Aspromonte's two-run double, beat Billy Hoefft (1-3) and handed the Orioles their sixth defeat in eight games. Steve Bello homered for the Angels, who took the series 3-1.

Rookie Don Schwall won his fourth without defeat for the Red Sox, allowing nine hits, Boston beat the A's and Bud Daley (4-7) with four unearned runs in the fifth inning, scoring two on Jackie Jensen's double.

IN STATE AMATEUR Dill, Thornton Tangle Today

AUSTIN (AP)—Medalist Terry Dill, the collegian who stole defending champion Rufus King's thunder by blazing a 5-under-par 65 in the qualifying round, met John Thornton of San Antonio in the opening of match play in the State Amateur Golf Tournament today.

Dill, star University of Texas golfer, won the medal by a stroke Wednesday as he set an Austin Country Club competitive course record. Roane Puett, assistant golf coach at Texas, had a 66 for second place.

King, the Wichita Falls veteran, qualified with a 71. He met a tough campaigner today in the opening of match play, clashing with Herb Durham of Dallas, who matched King's qualifying score. These other low scores were tallied in Wednesday's round: George McCall, Austin, 67; Fred Marti, Houston, 68; Henry Richards, Jacksonville, 68; Frank Luke, Fort Worth, 70; Lee McDowell, Houston, 70; Gib Kizer, Austin, 70; Don Wilson, Mineral Wells, 70; Travis Bryan Jr., Bryan, 70; Richard Yates, Corpus Christi, 70; Walter Benson, Austin, 70; John Thornton, San Antonio, 71; Dudley Wyssong Jr., McKinney, 71; and Herb Durham, Dallas, 71.

The first day pairings: 9 a.m.—Terry King, Wichita Falls, and Herb Durham, Dallas; Jay Smith, Dallas, and Jackie D. Hawkins, Jacksonville.

9:07 a.m.—Henry Richards, Jacksonville, and John Vennard, Houston; Walter Benson, Austin, and John Smith, Dallas.

9:14 a.m.—Roane Puett, Austin, and Jim Greenwood, Houston; Billy Martindale, Jacksonville, and Lynn Sampson, Fort Worth.

9:22 a.m.—Frank Luke, Fort Worth, and David Gray, Jacksonville; Richard Yates, Corpus Christi, and Charles Crenshaw, Austin.

9:28 a.m.—Terry Dill, Austin, and John Thornton, San Antonio; Travis Bryan Jr., Bryan, and John Paul Cain, Lubbock.

9:35 a.m.—Fred Marti, Houston, and Jerry Dixon, Andrews; Don Wilson, Mineral Wells, and Steve Wheeler, Jacksonville.

9:42 a.m.—George McCall, Austin, and Mark Hopkins, Texas City; Gib Kizer, Austin, and Bill Kaarna, Dallas.

9:49 a.m.—Lee McDowell, Houston, and Martin Fleckman, Fort Arthur; Dudley Wyssong Jr., McKinney, and John Lively Jr., Athens.

Methodists Urge Unity

HOUSTON (AP) — A stronger unity with Methodists in other U.S. sections through a more centrally governed national church was advocated by the annual Texas Conference of the Methodist Church.

Delegates representing more than 200,000 voted 297-131 to accept an amendment to the Methodist Church constitution to permit the jurisdictional conference to be held either before or with the general conference.

The Texas Conference is one of the first southern Methodist conferences to accept the amendment which has already received approval by northern conferences.

The amendment was rejected by the North Texas Methodist Conference in Dallas last week.

An opponent, Dr. Joe Tower, executive secretary of the conference, said: "It will mean complete centralization of the government of the Methodist church."

He said it would allow bishops to be transferred from one jurisdiction to another too easily.

Dr. Stewart Clendenin, superintendent of the Beaumont district, speaking for the amendment, said: "Except for the election of bishops, the jurisdictional conference is already a dead duck."

He said if the two conferences were held closer together or at the same time, bishops could be consecrated by the general conference soon after their election.

Dr. Charles Allen, Houston, said he thought some opposition came from racial prejudice.

He said northern Methodists want to wipe out all jurisdictional lines within the church, especially the Negro jurisdiction, to which all Negro Methodist churches belong.

Critics Called Church Foes

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Conference of the Methodist Church has criticized "enemies of the church" for trying to destroy confidence in its ministers with charges of Communist infiltration in the ministry.

Conference delegates yesterday unanimously adopted the resolution which was introduced by the Board of Lay Activities of the conference.

"We as laymen, who are all members of your Conference Board of Lay Activities, go on record as desiring to hold high the hands of our men of God," said the resolution which was read by Pat Thompson, the conference's lay leader.

Thompson, Bay City, Tex., said he knew ministers in almost every church in the conference.

"I do not know one single man that I could say had the inclination to desert to the enemy," he said.

Thompson said those who made rash charges of communism in the churches were doing a service to the Communists by dividing Christians against each other.

Registrations For Class To Close

Repeated thunderstorms in West Texas sent creeks and rivers pouring over their banks, flooding surrounding land. This section of U.S. Highway 390 near Moran was flooded for almost a mile and a section of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway roadbed was washed away.

Driving, Cancer In Medical News

By The Associated Press

Highway stress, a possible cause of cancer, a summertime hazard, and advice to grandparents are subjects for focus on health.

Stress Of Driving

For some people there is a definite wear and tear in driving a car at high speeds or in city traffic.

German researchers found that out of a group of healthy persons, some show great changes in blood pressure and pulse rate after driving at 70 to 80 miles an hour, or after driving in traffic conditions.

In these otherwise healthy persons, the appearance of these changes indicates borderline disorders and may explain some faulty reactions that sometimes result in auto accidents, the researchers said.

Confidence delegates yesterday unanimously adopted the resolution which was introduced by the Board of Lay Activities of the conference.

Peace Corps Plea Falls On Fertile Earth

CHICAGO (AP)—A plea to lend 50,000 skilled Americans to work with the Peace Corps in underdeveloped nations has drawn prompt endorsement from most organized labor and generally favorable reaction from industry.

But many business leaders qualified their support of Wednesday's appeal by R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Peace Corps.

Shriver, in a commencement address at De Paul University, said the Peace Corps has 10,000 applicants and that almost 4,000 of them had taken their first round of qualification tests. But, he said, the Peace Corps already has requests for more than 4,000 Americans to work in just eight countries.

He added: "I am convinced that 50,000 jobs need filling—and they need filling now—in the 103 underdeveloped areas of the world."

He urged business and industry leaders to clear the way for "trained and aggressive people" — from top-level administrators and technicians to secretaries — to take two-year leaves of absence to work with the Peace Corps and assure them of re-employment benefits on their return.

He urged labor unions to provide the skilled manpower from its ranks without penalizing their re-employment rights.

Shriver's proposal was called a "grand idea" by Murray D. Lincoln, a Columbus, Ohio, insurance executive. He said "business and industry should encourage efforts to help people in other countries under the Peace Corps program."

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO in Washington said he is sure unions will seek to work out with employers new contract clauses to permit workers to serve in the corps and return to jobs without loss in seniority.

But E. B. Germany of Dallas, a steel company president, said he doubted whether skilled and professional workers would answer Shriver's call.

A survey of business leaders indicated they appeared divided on whether specific industries, or even the nation as a whole, could spare the manpower.

Cub Scouts Hold Meetings

Two Dens of Pack 14 Cub Scouts met Monday and Tuesday. Den 5 met in the home of Mrs. Bluford Turner, 606 E. 15th, Monday and after routine business, made a tour of the Coca-Cola plant. For refreshments the Cubs were taken to Otto's by Mrs. Turner and Mrs.

L. D. Thornton, assistant Den Mother. The boys were reminded of the Junior Olympics to be held June 17.

Den 2 met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. O. R. Gilliam. The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance. A tour of the Big Spring Herald office was made by the seven boys present. As a special treat they were taken to the malt shop afterward for refreshments.

However, doctors warn, little is known about the hazard of continued use of the treatment. It is possible in sensitive persons that even the allergy injections may bring on shock.

Advice For Gramps

With summertime here and visits to grandparents in order, a University of Michigan psychiatrist has some advice:

Grandparents should keep their hands off in matters calling for discipline of a grandchild. Leave it to the parents. Grandparents are likely either too strict and rigid, or too overly mellowed to be able to help the parents, suggested Dr. Stuart Finch.

And even a 3-year-old is capable of playing grandparent against parent to get what he wants.

With summertime here and visits to grandparents in order, a University of Michigan psychiatrist has some advice:

Grandparents should keep their hands off in matters calling for discipline of a grandchild. Leave it to the parents. Grandparents are likely either too strict and rigid, or too overly mellowed to be able to help the parents, suggested Dr. Stuart Finch.

And even a 3-year-old is capable of playing grandparent against parent to get what he wants.

Visiting ROC Officers

Status of Webb AFB projects under way are shown to Majors I-Chun Yu (center) and Tien-Chu Wei in the 356th Civil Engineering Group's work order section by Maj. John Z. Groves, group executive officer. The Republic of China officers are here for 12 weeks on the job training in civil engineering operations. An up-to-date record on projects such as construction are kept in the work order section, giving such data as progress rate, expected date of completion, etc. The officers graduated from the nine-week base civil engineering course at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, June 1. Four weeks of language school at Lackland AFB, preceded the course in Ohio.

Legislators Aver Sales Tax Needed

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Texas needs a sales tax to finance state operations and there is no point in trying to hide or disguise the unpleasant fact, a panel of legislators said here last night.

Sen. Wardlow Lane and a television team of House members said that even Gov. Price Daniel, sales tax foe, leans heavily on various forms of such levies in his most recent money-raising proposal. The governor should not try to "mislead" the people on this point, they agreed.

Their 22-station telecast from KWTX-TV slumped back at the governor's tax proposals it was set up as their reply to his recent statewide telecast urging citizens to join him in his "back to the wall" fight against a general sales tax.

The legislators said that the governor's proposal, rejected by the Senate conferees, was really a sales tax.

Lane scoffed at the Daniel amendment as "an upside-down tax, one you could call a sales tax or an excise tax, whichever suits you at the moment."

With Lane on the program were

Reps. Wade Spilman of McAllen, Reed Quilliam of Lubbock, Ben Atwell of Dallas and Jack Woods of Waco, who presided.

Most of the money that must be raised to finance the $350 million in spending suggested by the governor will have to come through retail sales taxes, the lawmakers agreed.

"We really don't have any choice," said Quilliam. "It's more or less a matter of telling the truth about it," Quilliam said. "We ought to be honest with ourselves and the people of Texas about this tax bill."

Spilman said that most of the various proposals offered the Legislature by the governor during the past session were based on sales taxes for their major revenue. If sales taxes were excluded, Quilliam then added, Daniel's suggestions would not produce a third of the money needed.

Daniel said his plan puts a longer-lasting call on natural gas pipelines and on interstate businesses than the one approved by the Senate and rejected by the House.

K Raised Voice On Only One Point In Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has informed congressional leaders that Premier Khrushchev raised his voice when he told him in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat.

The President also reported Khrushchev indicated he regards Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro as unstable—and not a Communist.

Kennedy briefed influential members of both parties at a 90-minute White House conference Tuesday before he told the nation in a television-radio broadcast a few hours later that the West is ready to maintain its rights in Berlin "at any risk."

The briefing, during which the President read from his translator's transcript of some of the conversations, was said to have disclosed that Khrushchev was vitaly interested in only two subjects at this time—Berlin and a change in the secretariat direction of the United Nations.

Khrushchev has not changed his position of more than two years' standing that he intends to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. He fixed no date for this action. He told Kennedy that nobody but the United States still believes East and West Germany can be reunited.

The only time Khrushchev raised his voice in the whole period of discussion was when he talked about Berlin and used the bone in the throat phrase he has employed before. (Kennedy said in his broadcast to the nation "there was no discourtesy, no loss of tempers, no threats or ultimatums by either side" during the Vienna conferences.)

GARDEN TALK

Dusting Will Eliminate Red Spider From Flowers

By BRUCE FRAZIER

Mrs. Dan Brasher of Rt. 1, Ackerly, says: "My dahlias and phlox are dying from the leaves on the bottom up toward the top. I don't find any worms or insects on them. My soil is very rich and I water two or three times a week. I have also lost violets and pansies the same way. Could you tell me something I could do?"

From what you say, Mrs. Brasher, I would think perhaps the trouble is red spider. This is a very small spider-mite and not often seen unless some sort of magnifying glass is used. This little fellow starts on the under side of the leaves and sucks away the plant juices, causing the plants to turn yellow and brown and shed leaves.

There is an insecticide that works well against red spider. Sulphur, dusted on the affected plants will eliminate the red spider, but it will take time for new leaves to replace the damaged ones and for the plants to regain their vigor. Cotton dust containing sulphur works well, and a spray of nicotine sulfate will also kill the pests.

The best thing to remove them is a sudden spring rain. These red spiders show up mostly during hot dry spells, and this is early for them to be bothering us this year. It has been so dry and they seem to be beginning early and in large numbers.

These pests are so tiny that they are hard to recognize, and their bodies are so delicate that their natural enemies destroy them quickly. Even a change in weather will eliminate vast numbers of their population. But in the meantime, a good dusting will help.

There is another insect that bothers plants much like the red spider, but is different in other ways. This is the aphid or plant louse. These insects are larger but still small. They are delicate, but produce in huge numbers, and they may injure plants by their vast populations. The plant louse, too, is also killed by a sudden change in weather or by its natural enemies. The lady bug is one of its chief enemies, as is the parasitic gnat. Spraying to kill aphids may well eliminate its natural enemies, and in so doing, make way for even larger populations of plant lice to follow soon after spraying or dusting. Aphids are a little harder to control than red spider.

Casseroles Still Tops After Year Of Cooking

Although they have been married almost a year now, Mr. and Mrs. James Drake have just in the past week begun to make a husband-go-to-work and wife-stay-at-home team.

Mrs. Drake left her job in the IBM Department of Caden on May 31 to await the arrival of the new Drake, whose due date is the first week in October. Since she quit work she has found time to do a great many things to make their home pleasant.

During the time she was working she found casseroles the easiest dishes to prepare, because she and her husband could come home for lunch and quickly heat the dish. Of course they had quite a few sandwiches during those months, too.

Having gone with him for five years before they married, Mrs. Drake knew most of her husband's likes and dislikes like a diplomat that she is, she got his mother's recipe for cherry salad and ever so often she manages to get her mother, Mrs. Elmo Phillips, to whip up another favorite, an angel food cake; this she fills and ices with whipped cream and strawberries.

Since she has been home, she has concentrated on making desserts, mainly chocolate pie which is her favorite. Among the dishes for which she has given recipes today, the tastiest, to Mrs. Drake, is the Budget-Wise Steak which uses ground meat, as does the Meat Ball Dinner.

BUDGET-WISE STEAK
1 1/2 lbs. ground meat
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup grated onion
1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn, optional
1/2 cup rolled oats
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 cup milk
1 No. 2 1/2 can peach halves
Combine meat, rolled oats, salt, pepper, grated onion and milk. Shape in form of steak an inch thick. Place on broiler rack. Place corn in pan beneath broiler allowing 2 to 5 inches between surface of meat in broiler. Broil steak on one side until it is brown, 8 to 10 minutes. Turn. Place peach halves around meat. Broil on second side.

MEAT BALL DINNER
1 lb. ground beef
1/2 lb. ground pork
1 cup tomato soup
1 tsp. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
3 tbsps. hot bacon fat or other shortening
1 cup chopped onion
2 cups diced celery
4 cups potatoes
1 tsp. salt
Mix together ground beef, pork, tomato soup, flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and pepper. Shape into small balls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Brown in shortening in skillet. Cover with onions, celery and potatoes. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon salt over all. Cover and bake for 50 to 60 minutes in 350 degree oven. Baking utensil should be 12 inches in diameter. This dish may also be cooked while covered on top of the stove over a very low flame.

CHERRY SALAD
1 can sour cherries
1 cup crushed pineapple
Juice of 1 lemon and 3 oranges

Special Party Should Be Elegant

To make the occasion truly memorable, an open house will call for sophisticated, though simple, refreshments.

You won't want to overlook any of the little elegances, even when ice cream, cake and punch are the basic refreshments.

Little iced finger cakes instead of one or two large size cakes often are easier to manage. Ice cream molds, which some of the fancier ice cream companies produce, may be worth investigating for this event.

And remember, people like their beverages to look important, too. So why not prepare an easy one of equal parts pineapple-grapefruit drink and a carbonated beverage? Then float fresh strawberries and slivers of orange on top of the punch bowl.

Snap Beans Can Be Interesting

Spruce up beans this way:
FESTIVE SNAP BEANS
1 lb. snap beans
Salt
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
Pepper
3 tbsps. diced pimiento
Remove tips from beans; scrub in cold water; drain. Boil whole beans in saucepan with 1/2 inch boiling water and 1/2 tsp salt, uncovered, for 5 minutes.
Cover tightly and cook 5 minutes longer or until tender - crisp. Drain if necessary. Cook onion in butter until golden; mix with drained beans, adding salt and pepper to taste; reheat.
Mix in pimiento and serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cloves In Tea
Afternoon tea: stud lemon slices with whole cloves to offer with the tea.

These Are Busy Times

Mrs. James Drake finds it expedient to follow a recipe for the cake she is mixing while she carries on a conversation over the telephone. Indicative of the busy homemaker's versatility is the way she has made a home during the first year of her marriage, and at the same time, has worked for Caden Petroleum Corp.

TUNA CASSEROLE
1 flat can tuna
1 tsp. chopped onion
1 tsp. chopped green pepper
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup white sauce
Melt shortening in skillet. Sauté onions and peppers until tender. Add thick white sauce, tuna and salt. Put in casserole and top with biscuit pin-wheels.
Make pin wheels with regular biscuit dough rolled into thickness of 1/4 inch. Spread with grated cheese and pimiento then roll as for jelly roll. Slice into 1/4 inch slices; place on mixture, cut side up.

BANANA NUT BREAD
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
3 tbsps. sour milk
1 cup mashed bananas (3 or 4)
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2-3 cup nut meats
Cream shortening and sugar. Add sour milk, eggs, vanilla, and mashed bananas. Mix in dry ingredients and nuts. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) for 1 hour. The loaf may be frozen.

French Layer Cake Easily Made With Prepared Layers

You can make life easy for yourself by buying the sponge layers for this chocolate-filled cake.

FRENCH LAYER CAKE
1/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1 square (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate (shaved)
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 round 8-inch sponge cake layers

1 cup apricot preserves
3 ozs. chocolate shot
In a heavy saucepan (about 1 quart) stir together thoroughly the sugar and cornstarch. Add eggs; beat with whisk or fork just until blended and bubbly. Stir in milk. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate and vanilla until blended. Strain; cover; cool.

Gradually beat into creamed butter until blended. Split cake layers to form 4 layers; spread all layers except the top one with the chocolate cream, forming into a 4-layer cake.
Spread apricot preserves over top and sides of cake; cover sides with chocolate shot. Refrigerate until serving time.

Makes 8 servings. Do not cut asparagus so each portion can be served easily with the whole stalks.

COOKED VEGETABLE SALAD
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) mixed frozen vegetables
1 can or jar (about 1 lb.) asparagus
4 cups torn salad greens
Salad oil
Wine vinegar
Salt
Freshly-ground pepper
Cook vegetables according to package directions; drain; chill. Arrange in salad bowl with asparagus and salad greens. Toss with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper to taste. Classic proportions for dressing are 3 measures of oil and 1 of vinegar.

'Oldtimer' Potatoes

This is the season when the "old-timers" meet the "new-comers" in the potato bins of your local market.

The "old-timers" are well represented at this meeting since stocks from last fall's big potato crop run about 8 per cent larger than a year ago and are about the largest for this season in the last 10 years.

Also, the "new-comers" are numerous, reflecting increased shipments from spring potato crops in California, Arizona, Florida and several southern states.

This means your May supply of potatoes will be plentiful, says the Agricultural Marketing Service. Prices are expected to be very attractive for this early season.

"Old-timers" are the kind of mature potatoes you can use for almost any dish. They are usually more mealy than immature potatoes, so they are especially good for baking.

"New-comers" are dug before reaching full maturity, so their skins are thin, easily broken and liable to feather. They are highly perishable and must be used promptly. They contain more moisture with less starch than more mature potatoes. Generally, they are quite waxy after cooking and hold their shape well.

New potatoes are especially suited for boiling, creaming and for making salads. With skins of new potatoes so thin, it is best to cook them in their jackets to avoid waste as well as to retain more of their nutrients. How good new potatoes are, simply boiled in the jacket and salted.

ORANGE-CROWNED CHEESE

Muffins Will Perk Up Plain Luncheon

Put these good muffins into the oven shortly before your noon meal.

RAISIN HEALTH MUFFINS
1 cup sifted flour
3 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 tbsps. sugar
1 cup pre-sweetened wheat germ
1/4 cup raisins
1 egg (slightly beaten)
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 tbsps. butter (melted)
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in wheat germ and raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained). Beat egg lightly with milk, vanilla and melted butter; stir into flour mixture just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill greased muffin pan 2-3 full. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 20 minutes. Makes ten 2 1/2-inch or twelve 2 1/4-inch muffins.

Golf Tip

Tuck in a small package of mints into your husband's golf bag or jacket before he heads for the course. A few mints to munch along the fairway not only will be refreshing when he's hot and bothered, but will provide an extra energy dividend he may need when fatigue sets in.

True Tamale Has Pork-Beef Center

The center of a true Mexican tamale is made of equal parts of beef and pork. Some pork is essential, to give the filling the rich, juicy flavor that is typical of a tamale.

"Wet Masa," a type of corn flour dough, is used to prepare the cereal jacket that covers the filling, these experts point out. It is similar to the dough used in making Mexican tortillas, the source of the bread of Mexico for centuries.

Orange-Crowned Cheese Is Good

Orange-Crowned Cheese Salad should make you happy as kings, for it is chock-full of such wonderful things! Frosty white cottage cheese; plump, red strawberries; gay orange sections and avocado, to name a few.

And Orange-Crowned Cheese Salad makes a most appropriate salad to commemorate June is Dairy Month. For the golden crown pays homage rightfully due to creamy cottage cheese.

This delicious dairy product has long starred for its fine flavor, easy digestibility and low calorie content. The solid part of cottage cheese is chiefly high quality protein, and one of the least expensive sources of this important nutrient.

You can easily obtain the "crown" effect by arranging the orange slices as shown, then carefully pouring into the mold the gelatin mixture that has partially set.

Another important hint: pour the avocado layer over the cottage cheese layer before the latter is completely set. This way, the layers will be less apt to separate when the salad is unmolded.

CHEESE SALAD MOLD, 1 1/2-QUART
1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 6-oz. can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
3 tbsps. cold water
16 large orange sections
1 12-oz. carton cottage cheese, sieved
2 tbsps. grated orange rind
1/4 tsp. salt
1 pt. fresh strawberries
1 ripe avocado
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Blend in orange juice and cold water. Divide into two bowls and allow to partially set. Arrange orange sections in bottom of lightly oiled mold.
To one bowl of partially set gelatin add cottage cheese, orange rind and salt. Pour over oranges in the mold. Chill until set sufficiently to add second layer.
On top of cottage cheese layer arrange halved strawberries around the edge with the outer side of the berry against the mold. Mash avocado and heat in other portion of partially set gelatin until smooth.
Pour over cottage cheese layer inside the strawberry border. Refrigerate. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with remaining strawberries.

Good Substitute

Substitute chicken broth for the milk in a medium white sauce and season with white pepper and nutmeg; add salt if needed. Serve as a sauce for chicken croquettes.

Sodas From Your Fountain

What's so refreshing as an ice cream soda after a swim or a round of golf? Take your choice, tangerine, lime grape and lemon. All flavors team with vanilla ice cream.

Have A Home Soda Fountain For Summer

The ice cream soda is a symbol of America. It would be hard to tell a foreign visitor that nearly every town has a soda fountain, but that every town doesn't. But today, the soda fountain is a household word as well. Home freezers, frozen fruit juice concentrates, the increased availability of ice cream and handy carbonated beverages—all contribute to the popularity of the home-made ice cream soda.

If you don't have a soda fountain at your house, this is the summer to install one. You don't need a marble counter. Just a small bit of equipment and a little practice, and you'll be serving the best ice cream sodas in town. Any drinking glasses will do, although tall ones look most traditional. Iced-tea spoons are handy because of their long handles. Add straws to the collection. And an ice cream scoop if you want a professional looking ice cream ball; but you can get by with a large spoon.

All of these frosty fruit soda recipes use undiluted, frozen fruit juice concentrates, except the lime and lemon. For these, purchase frozen limeade and lemonade concentrates because neither lime or lemon juice is quite sweet enough. For extra eye appeal, a few drops of food coloring may be used for these sodas.

Frosty fruit sodas with eye-appealing garnishes have a tart refreshing flavor, just right for summer.

FROSTY FRUIT SODAS

For each soda: In the bottom of a soda glass mix frozen undiluted concentrate, 2 tablespoons vanilla ice cream and a little chilled carbonated beverage. Fill glass two-thirds full with chilled carbonated beverage, add one or two scoops of vanilla ice cream, and fill the glass to the top with carbonated beverage.

PINEAPPLE SODA

2 tbsps. frozen pineapple juice concentrate
1 tsp. sugar, if desired

ORANGE SODA

2 tbsps. frozen orange juice concentrate

PINEAPPLE-ORANGE SODA
1 tbsps. frozen pineapple concentrate

1 tbsps. frozen orange juice concentrate

GRAPE SODA

2 tbsps. frozen grape juice concentrate

LIME SODA

2 tbsps. frozen limeade concentrate. Few drops green food coloring, if desired

TANGERINE SODA

2 tbsps. frozen lemonade concentrate. Few drops yellow food coloring if desired.

Guests Will Like Peas A La King

Good enough for guests!
GREEN PEAS A LA KING
1/4 cup butter
2 tbsps. minced onion
1/4 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
Nutmeg
1 1/2 cups milk
1 can (8 ozs.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen peas
2 tbsps. thin strips pimiento
Toast or patty shells

Cook onion in butter in top of double boiler over direct heat. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and a pinch of nutmeg. Add milk and mushrooms, including liquid in can. Cook slowly and stir constantly until thickened and at boiling point. Add partly thawed peas. Place over boiling water in bottom of double boiler and cook, covered, until peas are just tender—about 25 minutes. Stir a few times. Add pimiento. Serve on toast. Makes 4 servings.

Sour Cream
Season sour cream with drained bottled horseradish, then add well-drained chopped cooked beets. Serve with roast beef.

Hearty Supper For A Hungry Family

Honey and hearty PORK CHOP CASSEROLE

6 pork chops
Salt and pepper
1 to 2 tbsps. fat
2 cups sauerkraut (drained)
2 medium-sized apples
1/4 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper and brown in hot fat in large skillet. Turn kraut into shallow baking dish; arrange chops over kraut.

Core apples but do not peel; slice thin; place over chops and kraut. Mix sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over apples.

Cover and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until chops are tender. Makes 6 servings.

Delicious supper ending!

LEMON COCONUT PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 1/4 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 eggs (separated)
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup flaked coconut
8-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of the milk in top of double boiler. Stir over boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Add remaining 2 cups milk, sugar and salt; stir until sugar dissolves.

Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in a little of the gelatin mixture; return to double boiler and, stirring constantly, cook until mixture coats spoon.

Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice; cool.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into cool gelatin mixture; pour into baked pie shell.

Garnish with coconut. Chill for 3 hours.

Fix-Ahead Pie Is Hot Weather Boon

Delicious supper ending!

LEMON COCONUT PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 1/4 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 eggs (separated)
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup flaked coconut
8-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of the milk in top of double boiler. Stir over boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Add remaining 2 cups milk, sugar and salt; stir until sugar dissolves.

Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in a little of the gelatin mixture; return to double boiler and, stirring constantly, cook until mixture coats spoon.

Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice; cool.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into cool gelatin mixture; pour into baked pie shell.

Garnish with coconut. Chill for 3 hours.

Pineapple Rings

When pineapple rings are used as a garnish for a main dish they may be sprinkled with minced parsley.

Here Is An Easy Idea For Do-It-Yourself Pizza Party

Here's an idea for one of the easiest parties ever! Thanks to pizza mix and sauce, everything can be prepared in advance. Just set the pizza ingredients out on the table and have your guests do the work. They'll love every minute of it too.

The pizza crusts are perfect for one serving and each guest can prepare his own combination of ingredients. Of course, have some scissors handy to cut the pizzas so everyone can sample the different creations.

Appoint a judge to decide the most original pizza-maker and have another contest to see who can guess the countries where the various ingredients originated.

You will need lots of pizza mix and sauce, Norwegian sardines, German knockwurst, Swiss cheese, Swedish meatballs, Italian grated cheese, Bermuda onions, Vienna meat, Canadian bacon (pre-cooked), French fried onion rings.

Days before the party, make the pizza shells and freeze or refrigerate them. Use one package of pizza mix and sauce for four crusts. Set the cans of sauce aside. Prepare the pizza mix according to package directions. Let rise 5 minutes.

Divide dough into four pieces. Spread each in greased 9" pie pan.

If you do not have enough pie pans, use 8" cake pans.

Bake in a 425 degree F. oven for 8-10 minutes or until crust is lightly golden brown. While these are baking, mix up the next package of pizza mix.

Cool crusts, wrap tightly in aluminum foil or freezer paper. Freeze or refrigerate until the day of the party.

The day of the party, open up the various cans and jars of ingredients. Slice or cut them so that they may be readily used on the pizzas. Arrange in serving dishes.

Open up the pizza sauce and put in a bowl. Cover all with pie of aluminum foil and put in the refrigerator. Set the table.

Now you can relax until it's time to serve refreshments. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees F. Place ingredients on the table.

As each guest finishes topping his pizza, put several on each baking sheet, pop in the oven for approximately 10 minutes or until toppings are hot and bubbling. Serve with your favorite cold drink or coffee.

A Devotional For Today

Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand. (Revelations 1:3.)

PRAYER: Almighty God, creator and ruler of all heavenly and earthly things, may our worship of Thee have more vitality and our lives encourage others to follow Thee. Lead everybody to read the Bible and spread the good tidings. For Christ's sake. Amen. (From The Upper Room)

'Good' Drivers

One of the main barriers to traffic safety is the attitude of most drivers. The typical man behind the wheel is likely to regard himself as careful and skilled. The chances are that he also thinks of himself as a stickler for obeying the rules and figures the fault is with the other driver.

Involvement in accidents apparently does little to shake this notion. In a recent survey, every one of those who had a record of traffic violations said he was a better-than-average driver.

This kind of attitude, though irrational, is convenient. The speeder thus is good enough to handle a car hurtling along far above the legal limit. The driver is never too drunk to drive. A business man's absorption with office problems does not hinder his driving. Women can drive and window shop simultaneously. They all think safety slogans should be taken to heart—by other drivers.

It is obvious that safety programs need a fresh approach, something that will penetrate the skulls and shatter the self-satisfaction of accident-prone drivers. The problem is one that safety experts are sweating over. But before even a partial solution is found, many more Americans will be killed by "good" drivers.

Another Test

Both the Republicans and the Democrats face a test in the special election coming up when Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio steps down to be judge of the Court of Military Appeals.

Fresh from a successful effort in electing John Tower to the U. S. Senate, the Republican party will be looking for a manifestation of genuine ascendancy as a force in Texas politics. From this point, the place is favorable, for Bexar is one of the five cities which gave Sen. Tower his victory.

Notwithstanding this, Bexar normally has a heavier percentage of voters in the Democratic column, hence the off-hand view would be that an acceptable Democrat could win. Yet here again the Democrats face the problem of avoiding the complete dilution of their forces through a limitless number of candidates.

If Sen. Tower won when a majority was required, how much easier would it be for a strong Republican candidate to win in a field where the high man takes all.

The test for the Democrats may not be so much whether they can muster a majority as whether they can get together and concentrate forces. State Sen. Henry Gonzalez, who is considerable more liberal than the extreme conservative wing of the Democratic party prefers, has announced he will run. If another well-known Democrat of somewhat diametrical persuasion runs, the ranks will have been split. Meanwhile the Republicans have demonstrated they have the organization and zeal for concentrating their efforts—something the Democrats haven't.

Personal Talks Won't Settle Issues

WASHINGTON — The American people may have to be content with the generalities of President Kennedy's half-hour speech on television about his meeting with Premier Khrushchev. But Congress, which is after all a coordinate branch of the government, cannot be satisfied with such a fragmentary account.

All the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs are entitled to a detailed report of any statements made in behalf of the United States during several hours of talk with the premier of the Soviet Union without the presence of even the Secretary of State.

IF THERE WERE any commitments or pledges or agreements which could directly or indirectly involve preparations to be made by our armed forces or the appropriation of public funds for foreign aid or other matters connected with foreign policy, the committees in Congress have a right to be informed about them.

Diplomacy normally is a proper means of communication for the executive branch, but when our government talks to another government in a crisis involving war or peace it is important that the legislative branch be advised and in detail. Many an executive agreement has been made in the past with a foreign government which was not submitted to the Senate for ratification, and this has produced many a controversy. The clear intent of the Constitution, however, is that Congress, through its leaders or committees, should be kept informed.

MR. KENNEDY acted at Vienna in the role of ambassador. But he reports to no body else in the executive branch. He talked alone for several hours with the head of the Soviet Union with only interpreters present. Notes of a sort were kept but hardly a complete stenographic record. Translators have a way of condensing long answers and sometimes they unwittingly soften harsh phrases. Sometimes they give meanings that are not as comprehensive as they should be as language differences are not always explainable.

CERTAINLY THE long hours of off-the-cuff conversation between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were hardly a substitute for the carefully prepared papers and documents of formal diplomacy. Yet the fate of the world may rest on the most effective communication possible between the head of the American government and the dictator of the Soviet government.

Plainly Mr. Kennedy thought that personal contact would be helpful in producing an atmosphere of cordiality and friendliness. But Premier Khrushchev is the kind of man who turns on the smile or the frown to suit his own purposes. His promises have proved meaningless in the past. He can fraternize with Dwight Eisenhower one day and not long afterward he can be calling him a "coward" or a "thief." He can be addressing the United Nations Assembly one day with all the dignity of a foreign potentate and the next day he can be pounding his shoe on the table like an uncivilized peasant.

SUBJECTS LIKE Laos and disarmament and nuclear test bans and the status of Berlin are never going to be settled by personal parleys at the "summit." Power and the pressures of the "cold war," in which many billions of dollars are spent on both sides, will alone affect the result. The threat of war will be used to force trades and deals and so-called agreements. The truth is that the Communist dictatorship is deploying its army of plain-clothes men in every country of the world.

IF THESE subversive activities were really outlawed and banished from this country, for instance, the Soviet government would begin to have more respect for the West. But inside the United States, as long as so-called "intellectuals"—various college professors and crusading students, as well as sections of the press and church groups—continue to call for a stifling of congressional investigations of subversion, the FBI will be helpless by itself to stamp out the movements that are, knowingly or unknowingly, playing the Communist game.

THE ONLY COURSE available, therefore, is to bring out into the open every statement made by Premier Khrushchev so that the world can witness his deception and trickery and be alert to the acts of treachery which have been so effective for his side in Laos, Africa, Cuba and Latin America.

For the Soviet government is carrying on the biggest intervention in the internal affairs of other nations the world has ever witnessed—and still the so-called free world sits by and carries on wordy conferences with its most powerful enemy. If the American objective is to win friends through public argument, then the sooner the United States establishes communication with the peoples behind the Iron Curtain and begins telling them the whole truth about the real threat to peace, the sooner will come the day when peoples inside the Communist bloc will deal with the dictator and the menace of war will be removed.

THE SOVIET UNION spends each year on its forces stationed inside the free world far more money than the United States spends for "foreign aid" of all kinds. It is more important today for America to spend money to win peace on earth than it is to spend 40 billions to invade the moon.

Lyndon - The Ice Cream Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has become the ice-cream man of the Kennedy administration.

He travels into all kinds of cheer. Busy, busy, busy. That was his life until he became vice president last January.

He wanted to be busy. He wanted to run things. And, as boss of the Senate Democrats, Johnson had a job made to order for him. He stayed busy for years running the Senate. Then, suddenly, when he became vice president, he had to take a back seat.

He had a boss now, Kennedy, who was younger, and strong-willed, and had beaten him for the presidency. And Kennedy left no doubt who was No. 1 man.

AND EVEN IN the Senate

there was a new boss: Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader of the Democrats.

Johnson couldn't, if he wanted to, push Mansfield around, or interfere, or kibitz, without an explosion.

Yet Johnson, full of fierce energy, was like a lot of politicians—full of ego.

How to make the best use of him? This was a problem for Kennedy. What would you have done if you were Kennedy? Probably what he did. It was a natural.

He found a way to keep Johnson happy while making use of him. He kept him busy.

Although Johnson had a severe heart attack in 1955, just a few weeks before President Eisenhower had his, he's been hitting a startling pace for months.

HE HIT IT during the presidential race, campaigning hard. And right after the election he lit out for Europe and a NATO conference.

Then there was a lull, right after Kennedy and Johnson took office Jan. 20, when the vice president, with nothing much to do, seemed in total eclipse.

It didn't last long. Kennedy sent him on a 13,000-mile tour of Africa and Europe as a goodwill spreader.

In May he sent him on a 29,000-mile journey through Southeast Asia and the Middle East to spread more of the same.

And, since his return toward the end of May, Johnson has been in a dizzy spin of speechmaking and reporting on his latest trip abroad.

FOR EXAMPLE: On the day he returned, May 24, he reported to Kennedy and then held a news conference for some public reporting.

That night he made a speech to the National Committee for Children and Youth. The next day he provided a fill-in for Kennedy's Cabinet and, later the same day, for 57 senators.

At a big news conference May 26 he revealed that in Hong Kong he bought 25 shirts (4 apiece) for those who traveled to Asia with him.

On June 3 an aide denied Johnson had just bought a house here for $265,000 and said the cost was under $200,000.

On June 5 Johnson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee such a hearty report on his trip that members called it thrilling, brilliant, wonderful.

One member even called him "the wonder boy of the age." Meanwhile: He addressed the graduating class at his alma mater, Southeast Texas State College; the senior class at Eastern Kentucky State College; and the graduating class at Gallaudet, the world's only college for the deaf.

On June 6 Johnson reportedly wowed the advertising council with the same meet-the-folks technique he had used in Asia.

They're Just Jealous

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a new-car owner gets tired of hearing:

"Now you've got it, where you gonna park it?"

"And just think, 35 more payments and you'll actually own it!"

"Yeah, it looks fine, but what was wrong with your old bus? I thought it was more comfortable."

"Is $750 all you got as a trade-in? Why, I know a fellow down the street would have been glad to give you $900."

"It certainly is a lovely color, dear, but it doesn't go with a thing I have. I guess I'll have to buy a completely new wardrobe."

"Well, I admit it rides nice going downhill—but so does a sled. Let's see if it can go uphill."

"Frankly, it looks too big to me to be called a small car, and too small to be called a big car. But I guess in time you can get used to anything, Right?"

"There's a nice clear stretch of road ahead. Push her in all the way to the floor and let's see if she can pass that bicycle."

"One thing about this car—it's nice and compact. You won't have any trouble hearing your mother-in-law's voice in the back seat."

"Don't tell me the dealer didn't give you a bonus? When I bought my new car, the dealer threw in a radio, an extra tire, two theater tickets and 10 shares of uranium mining stock."

"Is that all you got? Why, I get 20 miles to the gallon in my car, and I've had it nearly six years."

"Look, you got a big scratch on the hood already. Now, I wonder who could have done that?"

"The way he babies it, you'd think no one ever had a new car before in the history of the world."

"Hope the kids don't steal your hubcaps. I understand that on this model, they itemize at $24.67 each."

"No matter what you really think, tell him you like it. It'll make him feel better."

"I'd like to have a car just like it, George. How many box tops did you have to send away to get it?"

To Your Good Health

Cancer In A Girl Of 14 Is A Rarity

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for a 14-year-old girl to have cancer?"

"These are the signs I have or had: 1.—Loose bowel movements. 2.—Pains on side where heart is. 3.—Pains in legs which last two minutes. 4.—Little lumps in groin. 5.—Unusual discharge. 6.—At times I am very tired and I can't seem to get enough sleep. I am terribly worried.—K.D."

Yes, of course it is possible for a girl of 14 (or 4, or even younger) to have cancer. It can occur at any age, but it is rare at 14. You present a formidable list of symptoms for a youngster. Many doctors can't do as well.

Believe me when I assure you that I'm not laughing at you. I remember only too well the days when I (and at an age a little more than 14) was pretty thoroughly convinced that I had tuberculosis.

Sometimes I coughed. (Who doesn't?) Every time I gazed into a mirror I looked paler than the last time. I suspected that I was losing weight. I was "tired all the time"—except, of course, when I happened to be engrossed in something I wanted to do. I was "sure" I had TB. So sure that I even made up some brave little speeches that I was going to deliver to my friends. (Literary gems, those speeches were! Wow.)

All that was a long time ago. It is my feeling now that I would have been better off if, in those days, I had been encouraged to go to the doctor once a year, or thereabouts, in the interest of getting me in the habit of doing so and clearing my mind or even my body of whatever common and miserable ailments might be present.

I'm not opposed to young people having a fair experience with the art of worrying about their health. It's good for 'em. And the brighter they are, the more likely they are to have a phase of being sure that something's wrong.

Once in a great, great while, something is really wrong. But generally speaking, if young people learn to pay reasonable attention to health signs, and take simple steps when indicated, and don't worry, they'll establish a useful frame of mind that will last a lifetime.

It is highly improbable you have cancer. Your physician can untangle this list you presented and give you relief and reassurance.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have read that rye bread causes a certain type of disease when eaten over a long period. Is this also true of pumpernickel?—B.M.B."

There was a time, years ago when excessive use of rye bread could cause ergot poisoning. This danger no longer exists because of government regulations.

There are five grades of rye bread—white, light, medium, dark, extra dark. Pumpernickel is in the dark class. The color is dependent on pigment in the grain and the size of the rye granules.

Anyway, all classes of rye bread are healthful—unless, of course, an occasional individual is allergic to rye. But then, some are allergic to wheat flour, too, which is also present in rye bread.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any remedy for a man whose sperm is low in motility? Once my husband was told that the count was normal, and a year later he was told the motility was low. Is it possible for this to change?—Mrs. J. W."

Yes, fertility can vary considerably in the male. Commonest useful measures to increase fertility are adequate nutrition, proper rest, correction of hypothyroidism or other endocrine deficiency—any measures to bolster general health. Correction of overweight has been cited as important.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a 10¢ self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Around The Rim

The Lone Raiser Won't Ride Again

Goldfish in our living room worked out rather well. That is to say, they haven't died, moreover they appear to be thriving. The sea horses, however, failed to make the grade.

All of which surprised us. The sea horses had a better swimming area than the goldfish and were fed better. For instance, we gave them a huge glass stable, called a snifter in some quarters, and kept it out of the picture window. The goldfish are in a brick pool nearer the window and are subject to ogling by every passerby. Also, the dogs often take a fancy to sitting and drooling as they watch them swim by.

APPARENTLY, the fish are suspicious. They usually stay out of sight, under a rock or plant, when the dogs take up their vigil. In spite of all this, the goldfish are having a whale of a time, so to speak, and bustling with vigor.

Alas, the sea horses died. I can't understand it. We gave them fresh fish every day, albeit it was a mite soggy when they got to it. And I sent off for some shrimp eggs, supposedly a delicacy among sea horses.

When the eggs arrived, I figured I had been hoodwinked. I'm not sure about that yet. The eggs looked like a small packet of red pepper. Instructions with it informed me that by dipping a damp toothpick into the sack, I would have enough to feed the sea horses two days.

IT SEEMS that these eggs hatch into shrimp when placed in the water with the sea horses. They, in turn, gallop about chasing the shrimp over fern and rock for a tasty meal. At least this is the theory I was deluded into swallowing.

Goldfish are easier. Throw in a damp cracker, or table scraps, or what have you. It's just that easy. In spite of my care with damp toothpick and the thermometer, the sea horses turned in their bridles. I don't know why and have decided to give up this phase of my biological studies. Even had they lived, it is doubtful I could have broken them to saddle anyway. That has been my luck with so-called exotic pets.

MY GOOD WIFE Joyce said "no" to monkeys and alligators. I'm convinced that they would be easier to care for than sea horses. At least they can be fed with something larger than a toothpick and it isn't necessary to import salt water from Southeast Asia.

I explained that alligators are small and monkeys humorous. She replied that alligators, soon or late, grow up and that we have enough humor about the place. She said something else about monkeys, but I won't repeat the comparison.

At the moment, our house is rather humdrum. The bird cage is empty, two fish ponds carry only plants, the turtle race is empty. Even the red ant bed in the back yard looked vacated the other day.

Somehow, the place just doesn't seem the same.

Inez Robb

No More Breakfasts At Home

LONDON.—Oh, ho! Things are going to be different around Chez Robb when she who is laughingly known as Mistress of the Manse returns to home and hearth.

No matter how much resistance I meet on the domestic front, I am about to begin living it up in the indolent, push-button way in which all European observers picture the American housewife.

HE DOESN'T KNOW it yet and he is going to scream like a banshee, but the Head of Clan Robb is about to start eating his breakfast at the drugstore lunch counter down the block.

"Mrs. New York Goes on Strike at Breakfast" reads a headline in "The Evening News and Star." That newspaper's girl reporter, Margaret Hughes, is just back from a 14,000-mile journey of exploration through American fen, weir and jungle.

ON THE WHOLE she found the natives friendly, and does not hold them responsible for a blizzard in the Sierra Nevada that iced the roads. Even though that trip through the mountains was "hair-raising," Miss Hughes reports her "most vivid impression" is one of the strange folkways of New York, to wit: "The sight of hundreds of men crowding the drugstores and cafes for breakfast."

"The town wife," she continues authoritatively, "doesn't believe in getting up in the mornings, so her husband has to seek his first meal elsewhere."

FOR ALMOST 32 years one New York husband, related to me by marriage, has been getting away with murder: he has been breakfasting at home, and by any standard, breakfasting substantially. Fruit, hot cereal in winter, ham, eggs, bacon, a lamb chop now and then and, just to show who is master in the house, an occasional morning binge of fried chicken have been his lot. (And a lot it is, too!)

He is a coffee aficionado, and only knows of such unfortunate brews as instant coffee by hearsay. Cold bread for breakfast is unthinkable in his book. Hot toast is varied by crullers, popovers, a variety of muffins, flapjacks and coffee cake.

IT IS NOW CLEAR to me, since reading Miss Hughes, that my husband has been living la vita dolce at my expense for years. That man has been deceiving me, breakfasting at home and thus casting doubt if not on my Americanism then at least on my New Yorkerism. From now on he joins his brethren at the corner coffee pot. I don't intend that either of us shall let Miss Hughes down.

I also discover, by perusing Miss Hughes, that I am shy one car, one television set, a washing machine, a clothes dryer and a garbage disposal unit. She has revealed to me in a flash that I am putting up with substandard housing in New York, since our apartment is so high up the water pressure is too puny to support a garbage disposer.

"THE EASY LIFE" of the housewife is something women in Britain would envy," Miss Hughes writes of the American housewife. "Refrigerators, washing machines, dryers, garbage disposal units, two television sets and two cars are all stock equipment that no American woman would dream of being without."

It is pretty humiliating to admit that we are a one-car, one-television family without a garbage disposal unit, and dependent upon a coin-operated washing machine and dryer.

I DON'T KNOW what I can do to rectify the grubby image this projects of the American home life. But, by golly, I know what I can do about that New York husband who has the effrontery to eat breakfast at home!

Foreign Aid Is Foreign Invasion

WASHINGTON.—On a Japanese-made bicycle, weaving through traffic of British, French and German automobiles, destined to write a column on a Swiss-made typewriter, your reporter recently made his way toward Capitol Hill where the newest Secretary of State was making his pitch to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the latest foreign aid bill.

From the reaction of the senators, this is going to be a year of major inquest into the pathology of the compulsive give-away which has gripped our nation for so long.

THE WORK of the early statesmen, Hamilton and Clay, who built self-sufficiency into the American system, has been wholly reversed. They worked, through tariffs and encouragement of manufacturers, to weave a taut fabric of American jobs, skills, fabricators, buyers and users.

But, today, it is all but impossible to buy a made-in-America bike, or typewriter; unusual to buy an American camera; unfashionable and uneconomical to buy an American motor car; almost prohibitive to build an American ship.

WHY DO OUR economists pretend that there's anything mysterious about rising unemployment in this country? Where are our jobs? Gone overseas!

The matter would be more understandable if a foreign tyrant were extracting this terrible toll on American economy. After all, Tito broke from Stalin because the latter was doing this to Yugoslavia. But we—ah, Freud!—are doing it to ourselves. And the disease has reached an intensity and complexity, from Lend Lease in 1940 to this latest bill for fiscal year 1962, that we no longer know what it is we're doing.

HOW MUCH FOR foreign aid? See if you can figure out what Mr. Rusk was talking about. Some of the senators were doubtful.

"The legislation calls for . . . authority to the President to borrow from the Treasury $600 million in fiscal year 1962, and $1.6 billion in each of the succeeding four fiscal years derived from repayments on certain outstanding loans. The authorization of $1.69 billion in annual appropriations."

DOES THIS include the $600 million set aside for Latin America? Why borrow from the Treasury? Does this compromise the constitutional duty of Congress to appropriate funds for government spending? Are we trying to make the sum seem smaller by looking at them through the wrong end of the telescope? Is a "loan" really a loan when it is repaid in soft currency? Is foreign aid a disguised, therefore unwholesome, subsidy to American industry? Does the Pentagon, and do manufacturers, use foreign aid as a means of dumping obsolete machinery overseas? What happens to our sense of values when we follow this line of thought by Mr. Rusk?

"INSTEAD OF considering food 'an agricultural problem,' we must consider it . . . the most effective way possible to support our foreign policy."

We don't know the costs, the moral and economic effects at home, and we don't even know how much foreign nations we will aid with foreign aid. Mr. Rusk told the senators:

" . . . over 40 new nations have attained independence since the war, 19 since the beginning of last year."

OF THE SENATORS at the hearing only one, Wiley of Wisconsin, seemed to welcome the bill. He saw it as a legitimate aid to American industry and agriculture. But to paraphrase and digest the criticism of other senators who were present:

Chairman Fulbright: Absurd shipments of useless materials are still being made. The aid is spread too thin to be helpful. All these nations cannot possibly set up viable economies.

SPARKMAN: Disappointed that Point Four (technical assistance) has not been more successful.

Humphrey: Skeptical about the administrative set-up.

Aiken: Skeptical about the fiscal set-up. Morse: No aid program since the Marshall Plan has been successful, and all have been hurtful to American economy and prestige.

Symington: Skeptical about the use of military aid.

Capeland: Demanded, as did Morse, that the committee examine the bill sentence by sentence, item by item, and that the Secretary keep himself available for questioning.

BUT EVEN with skepticism, criticism, denunciation and opposition, it is doubtful if Congress can control the spread, or reform the administration, of foreign aid. Uncontrollability is the nature of this dread and devastating disease.

and William Hampton, petition for writ of habeas corpus.

Deadline for applications to take police department examinations has been set at noon Saturday, according to Chief E. J.
Banks.

The competitive exam for pa-trolmen's positions will be held at the station on June 20. All aplicants now on file may take the exam and following the test, other applications on file will be destroyed.

Banks said there are two vacancies now in the department.

Applicants, he said, should be over 21 years old, in good physical condition, and have a high school education. No maximum age has been set, but applicants will be eliminated who are considered too old to perform the duties of an officer.

On the written test, applicants must make a score of at least 60 out of a possible 100. During interviews by a screening board, fifty per cent out of a possible 100
will be added to his test score.

Top candidates will be subject to a rigid investigation of their background, Banks said, plus a physical examination before being placed on the eligible list.

SAND BAKERS—Instead of taking the sun, couple relaxes in the beach sands kept comfortably warm by underground thermal springs in Beppu resort area of Japan.

ON THE TOP AGAIN—The hull of the royal Swedish warship Vasa rests in dock after being raised from the waters of Stockholm harbor. The craft, 165 feet long and 40 feet wide, capsized and sank 333 years ago at the start of its maiden voyage in 1628.

NAMED—Theodore C. Achilles is the "director of special operations" in the new cold-war operations center set up to keep constant 24-hour check on world crisis locales.

TABLE CLEANUP—Gigi, a young Toy French Poodle, is given a lesson in cleanliness by Miss Blue after their common lunch at home of Max Richards, Louisville, Ky.

LISBON EMBASSY—This is the main entrance to the U.S. embassy in Lisbon. Building is located at corner of the Avenida Duque de Loule and Rua Bernardino Lima.

HEADS DRIVE—David L. Hackett, is the director of the committee formed by President Kennedy to coordinate federal activities in combating juvenile delinquency.

DRILL FOR SAFETY—Police instructors hold a class for school children in the proper road procedure at King's Lynn, England. Lessons are held on an indoor network of miniature roads, complete with signals and signs, to simulate traffic conditions.

FAIR QUEEN—Sondri Sodsai, 22-year-old brunette from Bangkok, Thailand, poses with crown after selection as "Miss World Trade Fair of 1961" in New York's Coliseum.

SETTING THE MOOD—Director Gene Kelly instructs his American compatriot Jackie Gleason at the start of shooting scenes for "Gigot." The rotund comedian enacts the title role of a deaf-mute team in the motion picture being made in Paris, France.

STEP FACES—A Tarascan Indian holds several of the expressive masks worn by young participants in the traditional Old Man's Dance of Huasteca in central Mexico.

WALK AND SWEEP—John W. Rochon, employed by a cement step-making firm at Rochester, N.Y., has a job that keeps him stepping along. With Spring cleaning in full vogue, it would appear to be plenty of house work ahead of him on the finished concrete.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

The Big Spring Film Club Inc. has chosen some entertaining and widely varied short movies to go with its regular feature films beginning in September.

The winner of the Academy Award for best cartoon several years ago, "Gerald McBoing-Boing," will be on the Sept. 21 program along with the Japanese feature film, "The Golden Demon." The cartoon was based on a Dr. Seuss character. Also on the program will be "The Canterville Ghost," with Monty Woolley, based on the biting satire by Oscar Wilde.

Lovers of railroads (real and model) will get their fill with the two shorts to appear with the Oct. 19 feature, Alec Guinness' "Our Man in Havana." The first short is titled "Go Slow on the Brighten," and is an English movie employing time-lapse photography to give the illusion of traveling 800 miles per hour. The second short is "Pacific 231," a (normally fast) train trip across the French countryside, set to the music of Honegger's tone poem. There is music only, no narration. Both shorts are international prize winners.

There will be no "shorts" as such Nov. 16, since the program itself, called "Package A," is an assemblage of short films. All are prize winners.

Jan. 12 will be the evening for members of the American Girl Watching Society. The feature film will be Brigitte Bardot's "Please! Mr. Balzac." The first short subject will be "The Mechanics of Love," in which the only actors are commonplace objects which, by their arrangement, tell a story of love. The second short is titled "Reflections on Black," and is a prize winner that features a blind man's visualization of four possible sexual dramas. The sound track is said to be startling.

Folk dance and ballet films will come with the Feb. 13 feature, "No More Fleeing." The first is "Shango," featuring voodoo rites from Trinidad, the second being "Afternoon of a Faun," with German music and ballet stars.

Orson Welles' "Othello" on April 19 will be balanced by a prize winning short movie, "Coming Shortly," an hilarious satire on movie trailers that follows the story of a richly endowed woman who climbs the Hollywood ladder "sin by sin." The other short also is a spoof on movie trailers, and is titled "The Loves of Frantistan." It inconspicuously combines old film clips with sassy captions.

An art film, "Toulouse-Lautrec," will precede showing of a French feature, "Nana," on May 17, and this program will close out the season.

All showings will be at Howard County Junior College Auditorium, and admission will be by season ticket only. Tickets may be had by mail from The Big Spring Film Club Inc., 2500 Morrison, Big Spring, Texas.

Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, Indonesia's minister of national security, conferred Wednesday with Soviet Defense Minister Rodion K. Malinovsky. The subject of their talk was not disclosed.

Church Task With Youth Is Laid Out

HOUSTON (AP)—A Tyler minister told Methodists Wednesday night that "it is the church's task to help the young people of today realize the dimensions of height and depth that God meant them to have in their lives."

Youngsters become impressed with the size of the world, the size of armies and the power of machines, continued Dr. Walter Kerr, who was named evangelist for the Texas Methodist Conference.

"But the Bible says to tell them of the height and depth of the world," he said.

The depth, he said, is the belief in God that forms the foundation of their lives.

"The height is the height to which their souls can rise if they believe in God."

Dr. Kerr resigned a month ago as pastor of Tyler's Marvin Methodist Church. He said Bishop Paul Martin of the Texas Methodist Conference has asked him to investigate the possibility of starting a youth crusade program.

Dr. Kerr was invited to speak about the work of the youth organization, known as the Youth for God and Freedom Foundation.

Since its organization the foundation has obtained its own home plus a home for Dr. Kerr, the executive director of the foundation. The center will serve as both a youth center in Tyler and as a showcase for visiting youth workers and religious leaders.

Wallace, Tough Question Master, To Get New Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Wallace, a broadcasting veteran who started—and remains the principal practitioner of—the "tough question" school of TV interviewing, is on the threshold of a new career.

Starting next Monday night, Mike will be star of a new, syndicated late-evening television program which may become the first real competition Jack Paar and vintage movies have yet encountered.

The new TV program is called "PM," and really consists of two parts: "PM East," an hour-long program of varied themes from New York presided over by Mike, assisted by Joyce Davidson, a pretty Canadian girl who has appeared often on the Dave Garroway Show, and "PM West," a half hour show hosted by Terrence O'Flaherty, a San Francisco newspaper columnist.

Mike insists he is not inviting Paar to a late-evening ratings battle similar to the old Ed Sullivan Show.

"PM" will not imitate the format of Paar's sit-around-and-meke-jokes show.

"We're going to build our program around themes, subjects or sometimes around one person," he explained.

Wallace himself will, of course, do some interviewing, but he will also do some commenting and talking.

Autry Faces DWI Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Western star Gene Autry is accused of drunken driving and speeding in a $5.1 million damage suit filed as a result of an automobile accident last March.

Elena Perna, 41, asked $5 million for her own injuries and $50,000 for each of her children, John, 14, and James, 4, both also hurt. Her complaint was filed in Superior Court Wednesday.

The complaint said Mrs. Perna's car was struck head-on by Autry's station wagon at Riverside Drive and Ponca Avenue last March 25.

Autry is now part owner of the Los Angeles Angels baseball club.
