Keep cards for 2 years:

Voter registration cards mailed out in mid-December

by JUANELL JONES

All Lynn County registered voters should have received their Voter Registration Certificates by now, as the yellow/white postcards were mailed out in mid-December by the Lynn County Voter Registrar/Tax Assessor-Collector Donna Willis. The cards are mailed every two years, and the current card is good from January 2018 through December of 2019, a two-year period. This is the official Voter Registration card that voters must bring to election polls, in order to vote.

This year, according to Willis, there has been some confusion over the words "RETURN SERVICE REQUESTED" that the Secretary of State's Office prints in bold capital letters on the front of the card just above the words Voter Registration Certificate, and some voters have mistakenly believed they should mail the cards back to the Tax Assessor/Collector's office in Tahoka.

"Please do not mail the cards back to our office," states Willis. "The Return Service Requested is merely of Wilson, or outside of O'Donnell, this parcel address will say Tahoka, and that is a little confusing but it is correct for our purposes. If you look to the lower right, in the white portion of the card, your mailing address is printed there, and should be your actual mailing address," Willis explained. "If your physical/mailling address is inside the city limits of Tahoka, Wilson, New Home and O'Donnell, then your parcel address will indicate those cities correctly. It is just the rural addresses that the

"The address on the bottom left, in the yellow, is called the 'parcel address' ... Even if you are located outside of New Home, outside of Wilson, or outside of O'Donnell, this parcel address will say Tahoka, and that is a little confusing but it is correct for our purposes.

-- DONNA WILLIS, LYNN COUNTY VOTER REGISTRAR

to inform the U.S. Postal Service to return the card to my office if the card is undeliverable to the person it is addressed to," she explains. "There seems to be some confusion that people think they are supposed to mail these back. Unless the information is incorrect on your card, please do not mail it back to us," she added.

Willis also wanted rural residents to understand why their addresses may include "Tahoka" in the address listed in the yellow portion on the bottom left of the card.

"The address on the bottom left, in the yellow, is called the 'parcel address.' This is the voter's physical address, but also may include Tahoka TX 79373 as the city, even though it is a rural or outlying area. This is because the Secretary of State's office requires all Lynn County addresses to be associated to the main town in the county, and so requires that we add that to all the rural addresses that are not located within a city. Even if you are located outside of New Home, outside

"Tahoka TX" line is added, in the parcel address."

The card contains information vital to the voter, including their Voting Box Precinct number, which is on the left side of the card in the box next to the voter's Year of Birth, titled "Prec.(Num.Pcto.). There are 14 Voting Box precincts in Lynn County, so that number will be a number from 1-14, and that number indicates the polling location the person may vote.

On the right side of the card are other numbers that include district or precinct numbers for U.S. Representative (USREP), State Representative (STREP), State Senator (STSEN), Commissioner Precinct (COMM), Justice of Peace Precinct (JP), City, School precinct, and State Board of Education precinct (SBE).

Anyone having questions about their Voter Registration card should contact Donna Willis at 806-561-4112, or visit her office located on the west side of the square (west of the courthouse) at 1521 Ave. J in Tahoka.

Form showing Voter Registration Certificate (Certificado de Registro Elector) for Lynn County (Condado). The form includes fields for Voter ID #, Year of Birth, and various precinct numbers (USREP, STREP, STSEN, COMM, JP, CITY, SCHOOL, SBE). It also includes a section for the voter's name and address, with a note about the "Parcel Address" and "Mailing Address".

Voter cards mailed ... Approximately 3,700 registered voters in Lynn County should have received their new Voter Registration Certificate in the mail sometime during mid-December. See story for explanation of this card.

New way to take your medicine

Scientists at Georgia Tech and Emory University in Georgia have come up with a painless and convenient way to get your flu shot via a patch you simply apply to your arm, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens.

The adhesive side of the patch features a hundred tiny needles that deliver the vaccine via your epidermis in just about 20 minutes. Patients would be able to safely self-medicate with this innovation that will be available in the not too distant future, after human studies required by the FDA. No more muscle-piercing needles. You could get your patch directly from your doctor or pharmacist via the mail.

One-vehicle rollover, and collision with hog reported

by JUANELL JONES

Two accidents were investigated during the past week, including one that involved a collision with a hog, and two thefts were reported.

A one-vehicle rollover occurred about 8 p.m. on Dec. 27, at County Road 2 and FM 400. The driver was Alexa Stabeno of Slaton. No injuries were reported. Ernestine Edkins of Hereford was the driver of a white Equinox that struck a hog on US 380 at the intersection of County Road A at 9:49 p.m. Dec. 29. No injuries were reported in this incident as well.

Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. responded to call at 6:53 p.m. Dec. 27, when a semi-truck hauling cattle was reported on fire on US 87 north of FM 1317. No cattle or people were injured, and the fire was quickly extinguished, discovered to be from a bearing on the back tires of the truck.

Sheriff's deputies responded to several domestic disturbances, including one in New Home at 12:29 p.m. on Dec. 31, where a woman told officers that she and her husband were going through a divorce, and that her husband had let the air out of all four tires on her vehicle. No arrests were made.

Mark West reported theft of items from a barn located off US 87, with items taken sometime Christmas night, and on Dec. 29 Rusty Cook reported theft of a toolbox and tools from a building adjacent to the driving range at T-Bar Country Club golf course.

At 1 a.m. Monday, Jan. 1, Tahoka Police investigated a case of criminal mischief in the 1300 block of Ave. K, where the front driver's side and passenger's side windows had been broken on a 2005 Ford Mustang, apparently with a bb-pellet type gun. Brandon Villareal is the owner of the vehicle.

Police arrested a 20-year-old Tahoka male on charges of Possession of Marijuana under two ounces and Possession of Drug Paraphernalia, after a wellness-check on a vehicle parked west of US 87 on a dirt road at 1 a.m. Dec. 22. As the driver of the vehicle, the man was also issued citations for Open Container and Minor in Consumption, and an 18-year-old male passenger was issued a citation for Possession of Drug Paraphernalia.

Two have been arrested locally on 106th Judicial District Grand Jury Indictments in the past two weeks, including:

• Leah Ann Muse, 56, of Dallas, for Unauthorized Use of a Vehicle;

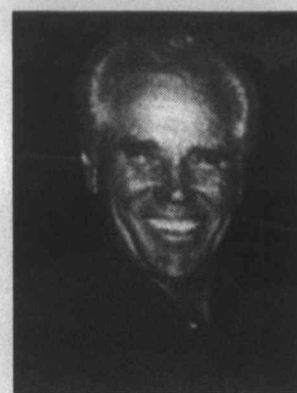

• K.C. Castaneda, 32, of Lubbock, for Driving While Intoxicated with 2 or more convictions.

A Tahoka woman reported to The News that she had received a scam phone call this week from someone claiming she had won a large sum of money from Publishers Clearing House, but she would need to send $299 to claim the prize. She immediately realized the call was a scam, and hung up on the caller.

"This caller knew more about me than he had any right to know, and I just want to warn other citizens about the scam," she told The News.

Lynn County Jail held 40 inmates during the past week, including 17 for Ector County, 18 for Lynn, and 5 for Dawson. Local charges included one for GJI Driving While Intoxicated; one for Possession of Marijuana; one for Assault Causes Bodily Injury to Family Member; and one for Warrant for Driving While License Invalid.

A look back at ... Woodwork

(Reprinted from the past)

Dalton Wood

RECENTLY I watched a movie on TV called "Insomnia," and I must have slept through part of it, because all I remember about it is that the main character went for a long time (days?) without sleep.

If I did sleep through part of that film, I should go purchase a copy and watch it again, because not many things put me to sleep. I do not sleep well, ever. I am uncomfortable lying down, and I usually turn over about 167 times a night trying to find a comfortable position. Sometimes I doze for maybe an hour, then wake up, and when I finally get out of bed the next morning I am exhausted.

When I am trying to sleep, I am at least two or three of the Seven Dwarfs—Grumpy, Sneezy, Dopey and Achy (was he one of them?). And whose fault is it that I have trouble sleeping? Mine, I guess, because I never acquired the ability to just let go of everything and sleep.

Some people (like my wife, who says she just turns off her thinker) can just simply lie down and go to sleep in minutes. I can't do that; I start thinking about all the things I did that day, many of them wrong, and all the things I need to do the next day. I worry that I'm still awake when I need to be sleeping and resting. And tunes keep running through my head.

I read last week that watching television or sitting in front of a computer for as much as three hours in the evening will interfere with a person's getting restful sleep. So maybe I watch too many late night movies.

The only times I really get sleepy are when I am driving while looking into the sun, or when I am in church. Most people (especially the preachers) do not like others to sleep in church.

One night a few years ago I needed to talk to our pastor and my very good friend about something we were supposed to do the next morning, and by the time I remembered to call, it was after 10 p.m. I called anyway, and when he answered, I told him, "I can't sleep. Would you mind preaching to me for a few minutes?"

He took that pretty well. Probably gave him another sermon topic, actually.

Consider obedience training for dogs

If you've recently added a puppy or dog to your family, consider obedience training to help build a healthy relationship between you and your pet. Though training your dog requires patience and commitment, the positive benefits of obedience training are worth it.

Kit Darling, Infection Control Coordinator for the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences, said there are many benefits of obedience training, including building a closer, positive relationship with your dog, teaching your dog life and social skills, and helping prevent your dog from developing unwanted behaviors. Additionally, Darling said a dog that will come when called may help avoid life threatening situations, such as being hit by a car or having a bad encounter with another animal.

Though obedience training has many benefits, dog owners may wonder how long the training process can take. According to Darling, the answer depends on what your goals are for the dog. To teach your dog basic manners, such as to sit, come, or stay, a basic level obedience class may be the best choice.

"Most of the basic level obedience classes are six to eight weeks," Darling said. "Each class is about an hour long, and training sessions at home may be as short as five to 10 minutes a couple times a day, four to five times a week."

In addition to basic level obedience classes, there are also intermediate and advanced classes, Darling said. But in order to teach your dog even the most basic commands, positive reinforcement is a must. Giving your dog treats is one of the most common ways to motivate your dog to learn new commands, but other forms of positive reinforcement, such as clickers, can be used as well.

"It is important to find out what motivates your dog and to use it as a positive reward during training," Darling said. "Clickers may be used to mark the wanted behavior and then the dog can be rewarded with treats, a toy, or praise."

If you decide to enroll your dog in obedience training, it is important to choose a trainer and training program that you are comfortable with. This could require some research, but Darling said your friends, veterinarian, humane society, groomer, and boarding facility may have good recommendations.

Some questions you should ask yourself when searching for a good obedience trainer and program include: What type of training is offered? Do they train the dog with or without you? Are there group classes, private instructors, or both? What type of training methods are used? What are the trainer's credentials? Furthermore, if it is a training facility, be sure to check for cleanliness and vaccination requirements before enrolling your dog into class. If possible, Darling said to observe a class to see if the trainers, dogs, and clients are happy during training.

"One of the best things you can do for your puppy or dog and yourself is obedience training," Darling said. "The experience is worthwhile and can help you raise a happy, well-adjusted companion."

Social Security Matters

by AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor Russell Gloor
Association of Mature American Citizens

Ask Rusty - Do Over Option

Dear Rusty: I just recently turned 62 and have not yet filed for Social Security, but I'm wondering - Is it possible to start my Social Security benefits at age 62, take benefits for about 6 months just to get some extra money in, and then stop benefits and restart them again at my full retirement age of 66? If it is possible would it affect the amount at 66, which at present would be about $1400.00 per month? Signed: Wondering

Dear Wondering: Well, the simple answer to your first question is yes but, since your goal is to get some money in, the details of the answer will probably make you not want to do that. Here's why: Social Security does allow a "do over" option, granting anyone who applies for and starts receiving their benefits the option to change their mind within one year, withdraw their application and delay re-applying until a later date when their benefit amount would be larger. But here's the catch - upon withdrawing your application you would be required to repay Social Security all of the benefits that they had paid you between when you first applied and when you withdrew. Not only that, any benefits someone else, such as a spouse or dependents, received on your application would have to be repaid also.

Said another way, if you start and later withdraw your application, you will need to wipe the slate clean with Social Security and repay any monies paid out on your behalf, including benefits, withheld taxes and Medicare premiums. So if your goal is to get some money in for the short term, then I don't believe that the "do over" option is one that will help you achieve it since you'll have to pay them back everything they paid out. As to your second question, if for some reason you did exercise the do-over option and pay them everything back, it wouldn't affect your benefit at age 66 - you would still get 100% of what you are entitled to at your full retirement age.

Ask Rusty - Social Security's Earnings Test

Dear Rusty: I'm 62 and still working but would like to get Social Security because we could sure use the extra money. I've heard that if I keep working that my Social Security benefit will be less, so now I don't know if I should go ahead with my Social Security or just wait. I sure don't want to lose money on my Social Security for the rest of my life. Signed: Perplexed

Dear Perplexed: The basic rule is that you can continue to work after you start collecting Social Security but, depending on how much you earn, they will reduce your benefit payments if you haven't yet reached your "full retirement age". But here's a key point: You don't actually lose the amount they will take away, because when you reach your full retirement age (in your case, 66) your Social Security benefit will be increased to account for what they withheld.

Here's how it works: If you're working and collecting Social Security while you're age 62 through 65, your benefit will be reduced by $1 for every $2 you earn over $16,920. In other words, they'll take back half of anything you earn over $16,920. In the year that you become age 66, you can earn up to $44,880, after which they will reduce your benefit by $1 for every $3 you earn over $44,880 (one third). Note that these earnings limits are for 2017; they change annually. Once you reach your full retirement age of 66, you can earn as much as you want and there will be no benefit reduction.

The way that Social Security gets back what you owe them is by withholding your benefit payments the following year, for as many months as needed for them to recover what you owe from over-earning the previous year. That means that you won't receive any Social Security payments for

Commissioners meet
in last session of 2017

Lynn County Commissioners met in their last regular session of the year, on Wednesday, December 27, 2017 at 9:00 a.m. in the County Judge's office. Commissioners Matt Woodley, John Hawthorne, Don Blair and Larry Durham were present with County Judge Mike Braddock presiding.

Commissioners had planned to discuss and act upon the county's financial audit with Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert & Moss, L.L.P. for 2016-2017, but a representative from the audit firm was unable to attend due to bad road conditions.

Commissioners moved to accept the resignation of Harold Hohn from the Lynn County Historical Committee and to fill the vacant position on the committee with Shiloh Braddock.

Sheriff Abraham Vega gave a report on his office, and then he met in executive session with commissioners to discuss personnel matters, meeting in closed session from 9:20-10:13 a.m. County Attorney Rebekah Filley and County Treasurer Amy Schuknecht also joined the court during executive session. No action was taken on any personnel matters upon returning to open session.

District Clerk Sandra Laws reported to the court that the Grand Jury had approved the annual Road Reports, and monthly bills were approved. The meeting adjourned at 10:30 a.m.

one or more months the following year until they recover what's due. When you finally reach your full retirement age your benefit amount will be recalculated eliminating those months when your benefit was withheld because you exceeded the earnings limit. You don't actually get back the dollars that were withheld due to your over-earning, but rather a formula is used to recalculate your benefit when you reach your full retirement age. And here's how that works: If you start collecting benefits at age 62, your benefit will be reduced to about 75% of what it would be if you waited until your full retirement age of 66. But because you didn't actually collect benefits in some months you were paying back what you owed due to over-earning, when you reach your full retirement age they will give you time credit for those months as though you didn't begin collecting at age 62, but rather an age later than that - 62 plus the number of months they withheld your benefits due to over-earning. So, if you need the money and want to start collecting at 62 but also want to continue working, you can do that. Just be aware that when you exceed those earnings limits, they will withhold your benefits the following year(s) until they get back what's due them. But, when you reach your full retirement age, your benefit amount will be increased so that that you may eventually get back the money they withheld. And, that benefit increase at full retirement age will last for the rest of your life.

Our local economy is fragile ...

Shopping locally is a vital part of our growth
and prosperity.

Why send locally-owned, hard-earned dollars out of town to support someone else? Money spent in Lubbock or other surrounding towns does not support our community, our school, or our hospital.

The local businessperson pays a high percentage of local taxes and they are always great supporters of our community. Every time a business goes under, local taxes will go up in order to have the same tax base. That means homeowners and remaining businesses will inevitably pay more in taxes. So please, think before you shop out of town -- if prices seem cheaper elsewhere, are they really going to be cheaper in the long run? What will happen when you can no longer buy what you need in our town and there are no businesses left?

And all local businesses especially appreciate it when our taxing entities -- our school, county, hospital and city -- spend the taxes they collect from us in our own town and county.

Early day hotel ...

The Stokes Hotel was a popular gathering place for early day pioneers in Tahoka, built in 1906. The hotel was a Tahoka landmark that was destroyed by a fire in early March 1923. According to information in "Grassroots Upside Down: A History of Lynn County," the hotel was owned at that time by C.A. Miller, and the fire loss was estimated at $7,500. Also pictured (below) are the original owners, Mr. and Mrs. Stokes, and their children, Joe and Minnie. These photos are on display at the Tahoka Pioneer Museum. The museum is located at 1600 Lockwood, open 10:00 a.m.-2 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Admission is free.

Pages from the Past

By Pam Elrod
Excerpts taken from past issues of THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS.

Local couple gets married; Tahoka gets publicity

Many Tahoka people got a great kick out of the "Bride and Groom" program broadcast from Hollywood at 1:30 p.m. CST Monday for it was a Tahoka couple that staged the show and furnished the fun, our own likable "Jakie" Weathers and his bride, Miss Icaphe Stephens.

"Jakie," whose more formal name is John W. Weathers, son of Sam Weathers; and Miss Icaphe Stephens, were both reared here and were well known to most everybody. They announced their plans well in advance, and so when 1:30 p.m. arrived Monday, everybody tuned in.

Of course the credit for a lot of the fun must go to John Nelson, the gentleman who conducts the "Bride and Groom" program, for he is adept at asking impertinent and ridiculous questions so as to embarrass deftly the principals figuring in the marriage program. But they too perform their parts artistically and sometimes wittily, furnishing their full share of the entertainment.

At the conclusion of the program a number of congratulatory telegrams from Tahoka friends were read, including one from Ted Waggoner of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, one from L. C. Haney, president of the Rotary Club, one from T. J. Bovell, Mayor, and the members of the City Council, one from Clint Walker of the Marion G. Bradley Post of the American Legion, and Mrs. Charles Stewart, of the Auxiliary, Sheriff Sam Floyd, and possibly others.

Announcement of the gifts received by the couple included her bride's bouquet, a make-up kit, a Reflex Camera, a radio, set of sterling table silver, a Servel gas refrigerator, a Eureka sweeper with all the attachments, a plane trip to Big Bear Lake and a week's lodging in Lagorita Lodge at the winter sports area...
