OKLAHOMA VOTERS TO SELECT NOMINEES TODAY

August Primary Promises Bitterest Political Campaign In State History

TEXAS VOTERS PREPARE FOR TORRID RACE

Mrs. Ferguson Retains Big Lead Over Sterling For Governor

LOSERS TAKE SIDES

Tom Love Opposes 'Ma' As Walker and Putnam Support Her

DALLAS, July 28, (AP)—Texas Democrats looked today at the 60,382 lead Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, former governor of the state and wife of a two-term governor, had run up over Ross S. Sterling, rich Houston publisher, in last Saturday's primary and began forming alignments for the campaign leading to the run-off primary Saturday, Aug. 23, when the Democratic nominee for governor will be chosen.

Thomas B. Love, Dallas lawyer and state senator, was the first of the defeated candidates to declare himself. He announced he would support Sterling. He polled 74,443 votes. Frank Putnam of Houston, "wet" candidate, said he would support Mrs. Ferguson since Ferguson was "wet" although Mrs. Ferguson is a "dry." Dr. C. E. Walker stated Mrs. Ferguson would get his support as the "champion of the plain people." The Putnam-Walker vote totaled 4,775 votes.

Moody for Sterling

Gov. Dan Moody, who defeated Mrs. Ferguson four years ago but who declined to run for a third term after Sterling announced, came out with a statement of support for Sterling.

In the selection of Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling, Texas voters were regarded as possibly having reached to the extremes of the 11 voting opportunities offered them in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and thereby to have assured the state its most torrid campaign.

The Fergusons, "Ma" and James E., campaigned together. They promised two governors for the price of one; lowered tax rate, less legislation, opposition to a proposed $300,000,000 road bond issue, and pleaded for further vindication for Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from office in the middle of his second term.

Recess in Politics

Sterling, rated a multimillionaire despite a very humble beginning, for some time has been chairman of the state highway commission under appointment of Governor Moody, and assumed sponsorship for the proposal to issue the $300,000,000 in road bonds. He promised a business administration for the state and a recess of politics.

German Fliers Prepare To Take-Off for America

KIRKWALL, Orkney Islands, July 28, (US)—Wolfgang Hirth and Oscar Weller spent today seeking a favorable site for the takeoff of their 700-pound plane on the first of its transatlantic hops to Reykjavik, Iceland.

From Reykjavik, the two German sportsmen plan to fly to Chicago, via Greenland and St. Johns, Newfoundland.

They reached here last night from Hanworth airdrome, London, having started on their argosy from Berlin Friday. The flight northward from London was made in two stages with a stop for luncheon near Edinburgh.

3,098 Attend Short Course at A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 28. (AP)—Men and women and boys and girls from the farms and ranches of virtually every section of Texas gathered here today to attend the 21st farmers' short course at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college.

The total registration at noon was 3,098.

In welcoming the visitors, T. O. Walton, president of the college, urged all to take full advantage of the discussion and consideration of the latest scientific developments of agricultural production and marketing.

Steel King and His Aged Mother

"He was a mighty good boy and I'm proud of him," says Mrs. Pauline Schwab, 84, of Loretto, Pa., shown here with her son at a recent family picnic. And she has a right to be, for while her boy, Charles M. Schwab, once drove the hack line between Loretto and Crescent for a few dollars a week, he is now chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation at a salary said to approximate a million dollars a year.

'Ma' Opens Run-Off Fight in Torrid Attack on Sterling, Moody and Love

Leader in First Primary Sounds Opening Gun of August Campaign With Typical Fergusonian Vigor

AUSTIN, July 28. (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor and choice of more than 200,000 Texans for another chance at the office, opened her campaign for the Democratic run-off tonight with a barrage at the "Sterling-Moody-Love" forces.

R. S. Sterling, her opponent in the runoff; Gov. Dan Moody and State Senator Thomas B. Love, defeated candidate, constitute the leaders of the Ferguson opposition, she said, adding that under the cry of "Fergusonism" they seem to desire to decide all public questions.

Cites Platform

"Taking them at their word as being opposed to whatever I stand for, the people will understand that they oppose my desire to double the capacity of the tubercular colony; to my demand for an old age pension; and to the Ferguson platform from beginning to end."

Opposition to her platform, Mrs. Ferguson said, meant her opponents favored that public officers be allowed to drink all the confiscated bootleg liquor and at the same time prosecute the private citizen for doing the same thing; that big banks "like Mr. Sterling's in Houston" be allowed to have the people's tax money deposited with them and they in turn loan it to stock gamblers in New York.

Highway Posts

Declaring the three men had opposed an elective highway commission, Mrs. Ferguson said Sterling probably would, if elected, appoint Governor Moody and Senator Love to positions on the commission. She also stated her opposition to the highway bond issue advanced by Mr. Sterling and the plan of prison centralization advocated by Governor Moody. The prison plan, she declared, would cost $20,000,000 to complete.

"These are the issues," the statement concluded, "and if the issues can be more quickly described as Fergusonism against Moodyism, then so be it, and I welcome the contest. If people want a continuation of present conditions, vote for Mr. Sterling. If they want a change, vote for me."

AIRSHIP R-100 OVER ATLANTIC

British Dirigible Starts Flight to Canada

CARDINGTON, Eng., July 29. (Tuesday)—(AP)—The British dirigible R-100 started her transatlantic flight to Canada at 3:45 a. m., (8:45 p. m., Monday C.S.T.) today.

The actual route depended on the commander's discretion immediately before and during the flight. It was believed the conditions forecast indicated the northerly course would be followed—perhaps the great circle course—by way of the north of Ireland to a point south of Cape Farewell, Greenland, across Labrador and along the St. Lawrence river to the St. Huberte air station at Montreal, approximately 3,385 miles.

England's most famous airship commander, Maj. C. H. Ecott, was aboard but not in command. That responsibility devolved upon Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, who had under him a crew of four officers and 32 men. Lieut.-Com. Sir C. Dennistoun Burney, director of the firm which constructed the R-100, was aboard as was an admiralty observer, a meterological officer and one or two others. The whole company, including crew, was 44 persons.

LAMESA, Texas, July 28. (UP)—Search for three negroes who wounded B. J. Barrett, night officer here, continued tonight. Barrett attempted to stop a fight between two negroes who had drawn a crowd of spectators from among their race. The officer was wounded during a scuffle which followed.

Democrats at Washington Rejoice Over Tom Love's Defeat in Primary

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, July 28. (US)—Another Hoovercrat has gone down to defeat in the rather rapid process of proving that the South is solidly Democratic after all.

This time it was Thomas B. Love, assistant secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration and something of a figure in the Democratic party for a generation until he bolted Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 campaign.

This year Tom Love thought he heard the people of Texas calling upon him to come forth for governor. And that is exactly where he came—fourth—in a 10-man race, as indicated by the returns today from the Democratic primaries.

Thus, Love follows the political oblivion Prof. William Mosley Brown, Hoovercrat candidate for governor of Virginia last fall, and Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, in the recent primary in the old North state.

Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama is running for re-election on an independent ticket, having been barred under a ruling of the Democratic state committee after bolting Smith in 1928. He is reported to find going heavy and difficult. His

14 TRUE BILLS REPORTED IN 30TH COURT

Continuous Session Of Grand Jury Urged To Speed Trials

SCHOLL 'NO BILLED'

Wichitan Cleared of Charge Filed After Auto Strikes Man

With the recommendation that a grand jury be kept in session in Wichita county continuously in order to speed up the administration of justice and prevent delay in the trial of accused persons, the grand jury for the July term of the 30th district court Monday afternoon filed its final report to Judge Allan D. Montgomery and reported an additional 14 indictments.

Hanners Indicted

Six of the persons named in the 14 indictments were under arrest Monday evening, according to information given in the office of Sheriff W. G. Bralley. Warrants for the arrest of the other defendants were issued by Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk.

Among the new indictments was that of Dewey Hanners, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank Blumhoff at Blumhoff's home here several days ago. Hanners has been held in the county jail since the shooting, awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Other indictments returned Monday included the following: C. L. Snyder, driving while intoxicated, Alva Jennings, theft over $50 and receiving and concealing stolen property; Curtis Rogers, theft over $50; Ruth Short, now being held in the county jail at Vernon on a hot check charge, charged here with forgery and passing a forged instrument; and Arthur Osborn, negro, burglary.

78 True Bills

The jury report indicated the jurors had been in session five days during the month, had examined 185 witnesses, returned 78 true bills and 15 no bills. Among the no bills returned at Monday's session was that of Guy Scholl, charged with negligent homicide in connection with the death of R. W. Moore from injuries sustained when he was struck by Scholl's automobile here a few days ago.

In its recommendation for a continuous grand jury, the jurors pointed out that many of the cases brought before the body were from 30 to 60 days old and that grand juries under the present system are convened only once every three months. The report was signed by J. T. Harrell, acting foreman.

Civil War Veteran Dies at Harrold

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 28.—S. J. Field, 85, civil war veteran and a resident of Wilbarger county for 42 years, died Sunday night in his home in the Harrold community.

Mr. Field came to Texas almost half a century ago from Alabama. He has been a leading Wilbarger county farmer since that time, persisting in his activities until within a few days of his last illness.

Funeral services will be held from the Harrold Baptist church at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Rev. W. E. Wood, pastor, assisted by Rev. J. O. Goss, will officiate. Interment will be in the Electra cemetery at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Field is survived by his widow and two step-sons, E. G. Whirlow of Electra and C. H. Whirlow of Harrold, a sister, Mrs. W. E. Sheldon of Terrell, and five stepgrandchildren.

Shamrock Negro Sentenced To Die For Slaying Woman At Farm Home

Heavily Guarded Prisoner Enters Plea of Guilty

MIAMI, July 28. (AP)—Jesse Lee Washington, negro slayer of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, clubbed to death at her farm near Shamrock several weeks ago, was sentenced to death in the electric chair by a jury in district court tonight.

The jury returned its verdict 10 minutes after receiving the case. Judge W. R. Ewing passed sentence after the negro, through his appointed attorney, had waived an appeal.

While the crowded courtroom was guarded by deputies, five Texas state rangers escorted Washington out of the room and disappeared. They would not say whether they would return the negro to the Pampa jail where he had been held the last week or take him to another part of the state.

The crowd which had taken great interest in the trial which started this morning appeared orderly and apparently was satisfied with the conduct of the case and the speedy verdict.

Henry Vaughan, husband of the slain woman, requested that he and one or two relatives be permitted to witness the execution which will take place at the state penitentiary at Huntsville Sept. 5.

Washington pleaded guilty and asked the mercy of the court.

Husband Takes Stand

The state placed the slain woman's husband on the stand as the first witness after the negro was arraigned and acknowledged his guilt.

Washington was screened from view of the crowded courtroom by five Texas Rangers and several deputy sheriffs. He had been brought here when court opened from Pampa, where he had been held in jail. Rangers were armed with two machine guns and a quantity of gas bombs.

The negro had been hastened to Granite, Okla., for safekeeping after his arrest. Feeling in Shamrock

Hobo 'King' Starts Move For Eads Monument

WASHINGTON, July 28. (US)—Jeff Davis, self-styled "king of hoboes," and more properly president of the International Itinerant Workers of America, made an unsuccessful effort today to interest President Hoover in a monument to James Eads How, recently deceased millionaire comrade.

Davis called at the white house to ask that the government cede a tract of land at East St. Louis, where a monument is to be erected from contributions from the jobless. He was unable to see the president and directed to take the matter up with congress.

Air Derby Contestants To Resume Hop Today

LOS ANGELES, July 28. (UP)—Disrupting their plans to remain here until Wednesday, the 12 pilots remaining in the all-American Air derby, were ordered today to resume the flight tomorrow.

The fliers had asked for an extra day in which to repair their planes, but officials of the flight refused this delay and told the contestants they must follow the original schedule and leave tomorrow for Ogden, Utah, the next stop over.

Lieutenant Lee C. Gehlbach, Little Rock, Ark., leading the derby so far, will be the first off tomorrow at 9 a. m.

Mexican Guard Officer Killed by Army Major

MEXICO CITY, July 28. (AP)—Jeronimo Olarte, an officer of the home guard troops of Oaxaca, was shot dead today by Maj. Jose Alamo Gonzalez of the regular army before crowds of people in front of the war department building.

After being arrested the major declared Olarte had been responsible for the assassination of one of his relatives. When they met in the street today he said Olarte gloated over the deed, upon which he killed him.

Will Support The Nominee

An Editorial

THIS newspaper would have much preferred to have seen other candidates lead in the race for governor in the Democratic primary than the two who did lead.

This newspaper would have much preferred to have seen Clint C. Small, a representative citizen of West Texas and that sterling Democrat of East Texas, James Young, the candidates in the runoff primary.

But the fortunes of politics have placed Ross Sterling and Mrs. M. A. Ferguson in the runoff next month.

A campaign of unexampled bitterness is before the Democrats of Texas during the next few weeks.

One of these two candidates will then become the Democratic nominee for governor. And this newspaper will consider it its duty as a Democratic newspaper to support the nominee of the party. It will, therefore, not join in attack of incrimination or recrimination upon either of the candidates, to one of whom it must so shortly give its support, but will attempt as it always has, to report the progress of the campaign as fairly and accurately as possible.

Republicans Vote in Both Primaries

What Do You Make of This, Watson?

Texas battered primary election law, construed and misconstrued during the last few months, chalked up another inconsistency to its credit Saturday when Republicans not only voted in the Democratic primary in Wichita county, but at least two Republicans voted in both primaries.

This was revealed Monday by a Republican election judge who told of two incidents in which voters informed him that they had previously cast ballots in the Democratic primary.

"If I had known they had already voted in the Democratic primary I would have refused to issue the two voters ballots," said this judge.

"Both of the men refused to withdraw their ballots at my request. They insisted they had voted for Democratic county officers and wished to vote for Republican state officers. The Texas law is so confusing, I did not know if I had the power to destroy the two ballots or not."

Democratic officials said Monday they were confident that scores of Republicans had participated in the Democratic primary here, but said they had not previously been informed of any instance of double voting.

Congress Totals Wait Archer-Montague Vote

Unreported votes in Montague and Archer counties will determine whether W. D. McFarlane of Graham or B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls goes into the run-off primary with Guinn Williams of Decatur for the congressional nomination for the 13th district, it was indicated Monday afternoon.

Practically complete returns from the district with the exception of the two counties had been received Monday, leaving the positions of the candidates unchanged. Several hundred votes are unreported in Archer and Montague counties, which may place McFarlane in the run-off although his chances were diminished Monday by a correction in the totals from Young county. This revision increased Sartin's total by 92 votes and reduced McFarlane's by 322 votes. It also brought the total of Guinn Williams over the 15,000 mark. The total votes reported Monday night follow: Williams 15,083, Sartin 11,170, McFarlane 10,594 and Smith 4,181.

A few scattering votes previously unreported in the race for state senate failed to change the positions of the candidates, leaving Ben

Oil Worker's Complaint To Hoover Gets Attention

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—The complaint of a Seminole oil field worker to President Hoover about unemployment will be answered.

The tool dresser wrote to Hoover advising him to tell congress that unless something was done about unemployment, the control of the government would be taken from the Republicans. Hoover sent the letter to the secretary of labor who mailed it to State Labor Commissioner W. A. Pat Murphy.

Murphy said he would write to the Seminole man.

MERCURY HITS 106 DEGREES

Twelfth Day Sets Record For Heat Wave

The thermometer Monday went through its usual getting up exercises and got up to 106 degrees, the day marking the end of exactly one dozen consecutive days in which the mercury has not failed to tickle the degree marks above the century line.

Monday's temperature was the highest for the current heat wave, the thermometer having varied between 101 and 103 during the hot portions of the 11 days preceding, only to climax the 12th day by exerting itself to the extent of 106 degrees. The wind, as in each of the days before Monday, remained at low ebb, still from the southeast and still with an average of only five miles an hour. The barometer, however, had dropped somewhat Monday, giving indication of at least some sort of change.

Weather forecasts issued by the government gave Southern Oklahoma and Northwest Texas no hope for a let-up in the heat, the predictions having remained "little change in temperature." The forecasts for Northern Oklahoma, however, gave promise of cloudy and unsettled conditions and thundershowers, which may or may not mean that cooler days on the way toward Wichita Falls.

HOPE SEEN FOR MIDWEST

CHICAGO, July 28. (UP)—Believe it or not, but the weather bureau insists the heat-sodden Midwest is going to be so cold tomorrow that perspiring citizens will have to haul out their overcoats.

The cool wave, said Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnell as he wiped his brow and glanced at the thermometer which registered in the nineties, is blowing down from the Canadian northwest, bringing with it temperatures which probably will go as low as 60.

Murder Suspect Moved To Mexican Prison

MEXICO CITY, July 28. (AP)—Special dispatches received here today said William J. Meers, an American, who shot and killed a Mexican in Juarez several weeks ago, had been transferred from the Juarez jail to the state penitentiary in Chihuahua City pending trial.

The transfer was due to representations by friends of the victim, Antonio Visconti. They feared Meers would escape from Juarez and return to the United States.

SOONER RACES DEFY EXPERT FORECASTERS

Senate and Gubernatorial Contests Cluttered By Many Entries

OUSTED MEN OFFER

Henry S. Johnston and 'Jake' Walton Seek Post In Upper House

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (AP)—Voters of Oklahoma tomorrow will assay the pledges and qualifications of hundreds of candidates for state and county offices, with a run-off primary Aug. 12.

The run-off primary is an innovation in Oklahoma, having been adopted last year by the legislature after it had ousted Gov. Henry S. Johnston as a political panacea designed to insure the selection of candidates favored by the majority.

Outcome Uncertain

So scattered are the fields in the two major races—those for the Democratic nomination for governor and United States senator—that even the most confident of campaign prognosticators have not ventured to claim a clear majority in the first primary for any candidate. Virtually all of the candidates, however, have claimed one of the two places in the run-off for the two nominations.

This is a Democratic year, so far as major interest in the election runs. Senator W. B. Pine virtually is assured of re-nomination on the Republican ticket and Oklahoma never has elected a Republican governor.

Gore Is Candidate

Issues of his impeachment trial have been kept alive by Johnston, who is competing with two other former governors, a former senator and C. J. Wrightsman, wealthy Tulsa oil man, for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Lee Cruce and J. B. A. Robertson are the other past governors seeking the nomination.

The blind T. P. Gore, who held an Oklahoma senate post for 13 years after he and R. L. Owen had been designated as the two senators of the new state in 1908, has made a strenuous bid to regain office lost in the Republican landslide of 1920. J. C. Walton impeached and removed from the governor's chair in 1923, will go in the November general election as an independent candidate.

Vigorous newspaper partisanship which has beaten up interest in the closing days of the campaign has made the Democratic race for governor the most colorful from a local standpoint.

Cotton Co-Op Meet Called at Seymour

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, July 28.—Farmers and business men of Baylor county will assemble at the city hall at Seymour at 8 o'clock Tuesday night for the organization of a branch office of the cotton cooperative association.

Lem Bellows, president of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, will preside, introducing T. M. Carnwell, secretary of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, and Clyde Daniel, representative of the farm board.

The meeting has been called to organize Baylor county cotton growers for the marketing of the coming crop, leaders announced.

Infant Son of Former Wichita Couple Killed in Auto Crash

Eli Willis Jr., five-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli D. Willis, formerly of Wichita Falls and now residing in Pampa, was almost instantly killed Monday morning in a highway accident near Marlow, Okla., when the machine in which the parents and the infant were riding and another automobile collided near the outskirts of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis escaped without serious injury. Their machine overturned following the crash, according to messages received here Monday afternoon by friends and relatives of the family. They were on the way to Duncan, Okla., to visit Mrs. Willis' mother at the time of the tragic accident.

The body of the infant will be brought to Wichita Falls Tuesday morning. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning from the home of W. T. Willis, 1601 Tenth street.

Eli Willis is the son of W. T. Willis of this city and formerly lived here, he and his wife having moved to Pampa some time ago. Mrs. Willis was before her marriage Miss Janie McAllister.

The body will be received here by the Hines mortuary, arrangements for forwarding overland having been made in Oklahoma Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Willis will accompany the body here. Following the rites at the home, interment will be in Rosemont Burial park.

RUN-OFF BODES TORRID FIGHT

Battle Lines Drawn For Second Primary

dent of a bank when he first ran for governor 16 years ago, has a tremendous hold upon a vast part of the Texas Democratic strength. He is fiery on the stump and his speaking engagements usually attract vast throngs to hear his outspoken appeals.

Sterling never before ran for public office and facing voters with an appeal for personal support was new to him. As the polls closed last Saturday, he issued a statement that, win or lose, he had had a good time campaigning.

Heavy Vote Cast

As the counting of returns by the Texas Election bureau ended tonight, 733,607 votes had been tallied and it was estimated a possible 90,000 votes remained to be counted. There was no thought, however, the trend would be changed. The vote stood:

Ferguson, 214,385; Sterling, 154,003; Small, 116,482; Love, 74,443; Young, 66,752; Mayfield, 49,007; Miller, 48,163; Moody, 4,045; Loven, 2,640; Putnam, 2,586 and Walker, 1,991.

For Lieutenant Governor—Witt, 150,831; Strog, 142,384; Parnell, 96,995; Rogers, 71,429; Darwin, 65,130; Arnold, 40,238, and Hair, 37,590.

Allred 20,929 Ahead

For Attorney General—Allred 243,720; Bobbitt 222,791; Storey 104,970, and Becker, 60,617.

For Comptroller—Mills 197,447, and Sheppard 394,136.

For State Treasurer—Davis 177,371; Lockhart 156,294; Ball 101,350; Christian 79,693, and Clark, 79,280.

For Commissioner of Agriculture—McDonald 155,223; King 110,968; Freeman 97,735; West 68,718; Maddox, 68,054, and Waller, 61,244.

For Land Commissioner—Johnson, 158,039; Walker, 318,790, and Burks, 89,481.

For Railroad Commissioner—Neff, 307,151; Hatcher, 143,701; Johnson, 91,290, and Patton, 80,133.

For Supreme Court — Cureton, 366,045, and Thomas, 220,533.

For Criminal Appeals—Stephens, 246,936; Lattimore 346,765.

Republican Races

Republican returns from 31 counties, including 13 complete:

For Senator — Haesley, 800; Haines, 362; Harris, 596.

For Governor — Exum, 1,015; Butte, 670; Grant, 263, and Gaines, 16.

For Lieutenant Governor—Thomas, 875; McMillan, 712, and Tanner, 176.

For Attorney General—Atkinson, 1,352, and Sanford, 381.

For Comptroller—Beck, 938; Dorsey, 246, and Welty, 491.

For State Treasurer — Johnson, 1,469, and King, 456.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—Reynolds, 749; Cooner, 667, and Rea, 313.

For Commissioner of Agriculture—Brock, 1,078, Thurman, 196, and Yates, 363.

For Land Commissioner—Beard, 1,218, and Cocking, 423.

For Criminal Appeals — Girard, 1,216, and West, 456.

Box Defeated

Based on returns which the Texas Election bureau considered indicative of the result, John C. Box of Jacksonville, 12 years a congressman, was defeated for renomination by Martin Dies Jr., of Orange, whose father Box succeeded when the elder Dies retired.

The latest tabulation, including nearly complete returns from all except one county in the district, gave Dies 29,055 votes to 23,325 for Box.

All other Texas congressmen who sought renomination appeared victorious in the first primary except Guinn Williams of Decatur. Williams led, but a runoff will be necessary with either state Senator W. D. McFarlane of Graham or B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls, Hoover-Democrat leader.

R. Ewing Thomason, mayor of El Paso, appeared to have been nominated for the seat to be relinquished by Claude Hudspeth of El Paso.

"Wets" Lose Out

"Wets" received no consolation in the races for congress. In the El Paso district, Marvin L. Birkhead, a wet, received about a tenth as many votes as Thomason. The latest returns gave Leo C. Buckley of Refugio, a wet, 3,444 vote to 10,883 for Congressman J. J. Mansfield of Columbus. In the Dallas district, Walter J. Reid, a wet, got less than a fifth as many votes as Hatton W. Sumers, the incumbent. John M. Snell, a wet, did not show quite as well against Congressman Daniel E. Garrett of Houston.

The show of strength made by Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, one time superintendent of the state Anti-Saloon league, in the lieutenant governor's race was a surprise to many observers. Strong was only a few thousand votes back of Edgar E. Witt of Waco, second oldest state senator in point of service, and was assured of a place with Witt in the runoff.

Former Governor Pat M. Neff of Waco still lacked 8,000 votes of having a majority over his three opponents for railroad commissioner on the latest tabulations. State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas will be Neff's opponent if a runoff is necessary.

With a runoff certain in the attorney general's race, James V. Allred of Wichita Falls continued to lead Robert Lee Bobbitt, incumbent.

Exum Beats Butte

H. E. Exum, Amarillo cattleman, had a two to one lead over Dr. George C. Butte of Austin for the Republican nomination for governor on the basis of tabulation of nearly 2,000 votes. Dr. Butte unsuccessfully opposed Mrs. Ferguson in 1924.

Returns from the same counties showed Harve H. Haines of Port Arthur and Doran John Haesley in a close fight for the Republican nomination for the United States senate.

Carlos G. Watson of Brownsville was leading for the Republican nomination to oppose John N. Garner of Uvalde, minority leader in the house, in the general election.

RULES GIVEN IN ABSENTEE VOTE

County Clerk Advises On Second Primary

Wichita county voters who expect to be absent from the county on Aug. 23, the date for the second primary election, may cast their absentee ballots in the office of Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, not more than 10 nor less than three days before the election or may have the ballots mailed to them out of the county not more than 20 nor less than 10 days before the primary, according to an announcement issued in the clerk's office Monday.

Voters who expect to leave the county prior to 10 days before the election may obtain ballots by making application before a notary public at any time after Monday, Aug. 4, or before Thursday, Aug. 14. Such applications must be sent to Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, and the ballots will then be mailed in time to be marked and returned before the primary.

Those who expect to be in the county within the 13-day period before the election but who will be away on election day may mark their ballots in person at the county clerk's office by presentation of poll tax receipts at any time after Thursday, Aug. 14, or before Wednesday, Aug. 20. The Wednesday preceding the election on Saturday will mark the deadline for absentee voting, Miss Hall said.

Testimony Completed In $10,000 Suit Here

Testimony in the $10,000 damage suit brought against the United States Torpedo company in behalf of Mrs. Minnie Huff, who alleges she sustained a broken arm in a collision between the machine in which she was riding and another driven by an employe of the torpedo company several months ago, was completed in the 30th district court Monday afternoon. The case will be argued and given to the jury Tuesday morning, according to Judge Allan D. Montgomery.

COUNTY COURT SESSION

A total of six pleas of guilty were received in the county court at law Monday from six defendants accused on misdemeanor charges, according to Judge Irvin J. Vogel. Fines totaled $22, with costs having been added in each case. Jail sentences aggregated 15 days in the county jail.

PICKETING IN INDIA RENEWED

BOMBAY, India, July 28. (AP)—While diplomatic efforts continued among Nationalists leaders today to end the campaign of civil disobedience more than 700 men and women began the severest campaign of picketing yet undertaken here.

Seven hundred congress volunteers alternated in four hour shifts before all shops dealing in foreign cloth, frightening away most of the customers and seriously crippling business.

At the same time the peace mission of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar, which last week visited Mahatma Gandhi in his prison quarters at Poona, finished up a week-end of conferences in the Naini jail with Pandit Motalil Nehru and Jaharlal Nehru and returned to the Yeroda jail with a letter from the Nehrus to Gandhi.

Political observers of the Gandhi campaign and its more recent peaceful turn today were of the opinion that the Sapru-Jayakar peace negotiations would come to naught. These observers insisted that Jayakar himself was the stumbling block; that the Mahatma Gandhi neither likes nor trusts politically the man whom Sapru chose as his fellow statesman in the present negotiations.

Acquaintances here of Mahatma Gandhi declared that Gandhi considered he had been "double crossed" some years ago when Jayakar was leader of the independent party in the Bombay council, Jayakar later resigning from the congress in a huff. The politically wise furthermore insisted today that the two Nehrus had not enough regard for Jayakar to give him their full confidence, the deduction which they made being that Sapru, head of the peace mission, would eliminate his companion and start all over again alone to bring about a settlement of the disturbed congress conditions in time for the best results to be had in the forthcoming round table conference.

Alamo Casts No Votes In Democratic Primary

HARLINGEN, Texas, July 28. (UP)—The Democratic party held no inducement Saturday for the voters of Alamo, Texas.

A hotbed of the fight in Hidalgo county to oust the administration headed by Sheriff A. Y. Baker, the Alamo polling place did not open Saturday. There was no one to vote and no one to hold the election.

Alamo in 1928 polled 240 votes. The census gives a population of 1,021. The precinct was fully represented in the county convention Saturday of the good government party.

Navy Heads Planning Building on Pact Terms

WASHINGTON, July 28. (US) — The building program permitted under the London naval treaty "is now having the careful consideration of the secretary of the navy," Assistant Secretary Jahncke announced in a radio address over a national broadcasting company network tonight.

"His recommendations will be made to the president and submitted to congress for legislation," Jahncke added.

Capper to Make 57 Speeches on 'Vacation'

WASHINGTON, July 28. (US)—Senator Capper, Kansas, today began a vacation which calls for 57 speeches at as many country picnics in his native state.

"Some politicians like to rest," he said following a farewell call at the White House, "but my idea of a vacation is to get out among the people. I really have a good time that way and get to know the people better."

Blasts Rock Buildings In Chemical Plant

BALTIMORE, July 28. (AP)—Fire in one of the main buildings of the United States Industrial Chemical company plant at Fairfield, near here, today caused loss estimated at $250,000 and explosions of gasoline and chemicals for a time threatened the 36-acre plant and nearby establishments. A worker was overcome by alcohol fumes while fighting the flames and two others were injured.

Indian Refugees Flee Swollen River Waters

KARACHI, India, July 28. (AP)—The swollen waters of the great Indus river and its tributaries tonight drove to safety here and in Sukkur 15,000 refugees from the flooded upper Sind region.

Love's Defeat Heartens Demos

defeat would eliminate all of the outstanding Smith bolters.

While the Democratic executive committee had nothing official to say, inasmuch as it is not supposed to take sides in primary contests, there was much rejoicing over Love's decisive defeat.

For the unusually heavy vote in the Democratic primary is accepted as an indication that all of the bolters have returned to the Democratic party. It is doubtful whether more than 10,000 votes were cast in the Republican primary in Texas and the Democratic candidates will have their customary walk-away in the fall election.

Although "Ma" Ferguson had a lead of more than 60,000 over Ross Sterling, Houston millionaire and publisher, in the 10 "man" race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, it is probable that she will be defeated in the run-off some four weeks hence.

"Farmer Jim" Ferguson, who was impeached while he was governor back in 1917 and is therefore barred from holding any Texas state office, walks around with 250,000 votes in his vest pocket, but that appears to be the maximum of his strength.

Electrans Present Iowa Park Program

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 28.—Fifty people from Electra attended the program given by the young people of the Church of Christ at Iowa Park Sunday afternoon. The program, at which Myrl Russell presided included: song service led by Milton Woolard; Scripture reading, John Broesh; prayer, Rev. Wilbur H. White of Dallas; "Why a Young People's Work," Myrl Russell; "Facts About the Bible," Maria Simmons; duet, Thelma and Grenada Bristo; Beatitude drill, juniors; "What Jesus Means to the World," Maxine Hughes; "How a Christian Should Live," Alma Bates.

Reverend White who is conducting a revival at Iowa Park gave a talk to the young people in which he stressed the importance of encouragement; the necessity of young people's work; and the duty of parents toward their children. Milton Woolard of Electra voiced the appreciation of the local organization for the opportunity to give the program and invited the Iowa Park young people to present a program here.

Work on New Texas Railroad Starts Oct. 1

SAN ANTONIO, July 28. (AP) — Work on the new railroad to connect San Antonio with San Angelo will begin before October 1, it was announced Monday following a statement by R. W. Morrison, president of the Gulf and West Texas Railway company, that the road would be built by the Southern Pacific company. A permit granted by the Interstate Commerce commission provides that work must begin by October 1 and the Southern Pacific company acquired all rights and requirements of the permit with the agreement to build the road, Morrison said.

Portes Gil to Visit Texas in U. S. Tour

NEW ORLEANS, July 28. (AP) — Emilio Portes Gil, former president of Mexico, arrived in New Orleans today aboard the steamship Parismina from Havana with his wife and three-year-old daughter, Rosa Alva.

He was met by the Mexican consul general and his staff and escorted to a hotel, where he planned to remain two days. Then he will go to San Antonio, Texas, and later to Rochester, Minn., where the daughter will undergo medical attention.

REPORT DUE ON LINGLE PROBE

Investigators to Tell Of Progress

CHICAGO, July 28. (AP)—Investigators of the murder of Jake Lingle were ready tonight to "report progress" to the July grand jury.

While the jurors listened today to the last of a number of witnesses summoned to tell of alleged racketeering among other newspaper reporters and of the assassination of Lingle, the prosecutors in conference agreed to report the status of the murder inquiry to the grand jury if requested.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced after the conference that the jurors would be asked to express their wish. He said he would offer no objection if the jury desired to hear Charles F. Rathbun, Tribune attorney and chief of the Lingle murder investigators; James Moshane, his assistant, and Patrick Roche, chief of the state's attorney investigators.

Accepting the prosecutor's offer, the grand jury asked Roche and Rathbun to appear before them tomorrow.

William H. Stuart, political editor of the Evening American, testified before the jury today as the inquiry begun last week with the examination of Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis newspaperman, was renewed. As Stuart emerged he said:

"I know of no profession whose ethics or ideals are higher than journalism. Regarding newspaper rackets, I don't know of any."

It was Brundidge's charge that several Chicago newspapers reporters were profiting from rackets through gangland connections as Lingle had done, without the knowledge of their employers.

Stuart was followed on the stand by Samuel Ettelson, corporation counsel of Chicago and chief aide to Mayor Thompson. The final witness was Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Tribune. Neither would say what they were asked or what they testified.

USED FOR

SUNBURN

...by Lifeguards—First Aid Stations Everywhere

Ends pain instantly— doesn't stain clothes

WHAT'S the best remedy for sunburn? Lifeguards, doctors and nurses at First Aid Stations at America's largest beaches are in a position to know,—they treat thousands of cases every year, and all agree on Noxzema.

Beach authorities at Atlantic City, Asbury Park, Coney Island and other popular resorts along the Atlantic coast, where it has been used for years, enthusiastically recommend Noxzema for sunburn. The letter quoted at the right is typical of what they think.

They know there's nothing better than Noxzema for sunburn because its mild, gentle medication soothes away pain instantly and prevents torturous blistering.

Because Noxzema is snow-white and greaseless, it cannot soil or stain clothing. Spread it on at night or during the day,—it will not stain. Get a jar today at any good drug or department store.

As CONEY ISLAND "This is the fifth season we've been using Noxzema in our First Aid Station here at Coney. It is by far the best remedy for sunburn."

Mrs. Goodwin Honoree At Pretty Surprise Shower

Mrs. C. M. Goodwin was honoree Saturday at a delightful surprise shower given at the home of Mrs. Earl Stuckey, where Mrs. Goodwin is a guest since her home on Taft street was recently burned. With Mrs. Stuckey, the house party included Mrs. Goodwin, the honoree, Mesdames Austin Leach, F. H. Corbin, M. T. Clement, R. B. Melat, John Taylor, Joe Crouch, W. J. Stuckler, M. J. McGuigan, W. L. Roper, Lester Jones and Clyde Tittle.

Members of the missionary society of Floral Heights Methodist church gathered in honor of one whom they regard with the highest esteem and approximately 175 lovely gifts suitable to the furnishing of another home, were presented to Mrs. Goodwin.

Mrs. Stuckey served punch and wafers during the afternoon and friends calling lingered to enjoy the rooms that were made pretty with many dainty pastel flowers.

Mrs. Goodwin has been press reporter for the Floral Heights Methodist Missionary society for several years and is an active worker in the church and Sunday school.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The only place where one is really comfortable of late, is in a bathtub. In the unsanitary middle ages, it is no wonder that thousands died of the plague. We learned from an article in March Mentor that Isabelle of Spain rather prided herself on the fact that she had only two baths in her life, one when she was born and one when she married Ferdinand. She knew of course they would give her another when she died.

Coming much closer home, our strong admiration for Andrew Jackson was weakened by the knowledge that he threw out the tin tubs installed in the White House by Dolly Madison, saying they were obnoxious to the "common people."

Puritans proscribed public bathing (and the clothes that were then worn!), deeming it a means of fleshly pride.

But both private and public bathing has become quite respectable and private bathing is certainly much more easy than in that day when the washtub was hauled out for family ablutions on Saturday night. It was not so luxurious to stand and take a bath.

The owner of a tub, who feels comfortable while soaking in it, gets out and makes a terrific noise over the heat. In these days he feels something like the lawns that have burned brown, soaked up the water from the hose and then grown hotter than ever.

But the swimming pools are not empty any part of the day and we wonder sometimes what those Puritan forefathers of ours would do if they could look upon the romping.

Only 10 or 15 years ago, they wore full skirts and stockings and bathing shoes. It has been only a year or so since a bathing suit without a skirt was not allowed. But this year, they have a suit they call a "diving suit" that is much beloved.

Low necks in front are not enough. The suit is not the thing unless it is a "sunback suit." And some of those even, have oval cuts taken out beneath the arms.

But they look cool when one has been in the water—and for many days, they are the only thing that has looked cool—with the exception, we might say, of one lawn we have seen.

The yardboy must have kept busy with hose there. The cool green around the house, the little silver spruce and the deep green of other species, is a pretty background for the low blooming pink and purple and maroon petunias that bloom so freshly in the shade of the Hamilton's sheltering hedges.

Pioneer Families United in Iowa Park Marriage

IOWA PARK, July 28.—Members of two pioneer families of Iowa Park were united in matrimony Sunday when Miss Mary Louise George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. George became the bride of Elgin Denney, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Denney.

The impressive ceremony was read at high noon at the First Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Paul E. Martin.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Denney are graduates of the '27 class of Iowa Park High school. Mrs. George was also a student at T. W. C. in Fort Worth for the past two years and Mr. Denney attended Junior college in Wichita Falls and the State Teachers college in Denton.

After a wedding trip to Carlsbad and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Denney will be at home to their friends in Iowa Park at the parsonage of the Church of Christ. Mr. Denney is connected with the John B. Barbour Trucking company and both Mr. and Mrs. Denney are prominent members of the younger society set in Iowa Park.

Additions to Air Mail Lines to Be Classified

WASHINGTON, July 28. (UP)—Projected additions to air mail routes throughout the United States will be classified this week either as extensions to existing lines or as new routes, under a detailed report on the subject made public today by Comptroller General McCarl.

The differentiation was necessary because extensions may be awarded immediately to operators of present routes, while new lines must be opened to competitive bidding.

Woman Can't Have Faith in Husband Who Is Faithless

Can a Wife Have Faith in a Man Who Is Faithless? Advice and Comfort to the Woman Whose Husband Killed Her Love for Him—Who Owns the Car?

Dear Miss Dix—My husband complains bitterly because he says I have not the proper faith in him. How can I have faith in him when that faith has been jolted time and time again? How can I have faith in him when I see him philandering with other women and when I know that he spends hours in questionable places? Is it possible and human not to wonder what he is doing when he stays out night after night? Can I help being suspicious of the letters he gets from other women or what happens when he goes joyriding with them?

I am only a poor, human woman and I don't seem able to summon up the faith in him that he expects me to have.

—MARIE LOUISE.

Answer: A cynic has defined faith as the ability to believe something that you know isn't true.

Evidently your husband belongs to this school of thought, and he expects you to be one of those gifted wives who can shut their eyes to all that they do not want to see and put an agreeable interpretation upon every act of the men to whom they are married and make it square with what they would like it to be.

And, curiously enough, there are such women. I once knew one who said that her faith in her husband was so great that even if she should see him doing something wrong she would know that it was her lying eyes that had deceived her and that he really had not done it.

But few, alas, of us have this happy faculty of believing that we are beloved just because we desire to be loved and that we are the only ones to our husbands just because we desire to monopolize them. This is a hard-boiled age in which we look our gift horses in the mouth and in which we take very little for granted.

Most wives hail from Missouri and have to be shown. And so, when their husbands cease to take any interest in holding their hand and pass up petting parties, and especially when their husbands display more interest in other women than they do in them, they grow suspicious and fail to show their lovely, wifely trust, which wandering husbands laud so loudly and do so little to deserve.

It always seems to me that men and women expect impossible virtues in the partners of their bosom. A husband will be unfaithful to his wife and then, because she finds it out or because he has an acute attack of conscience, he will ask her forgiveness, and feel ill-used because she does not have the same implicit faith in him that she had before he betrayed her.

He does not seem to realize that faith is not an act of volition, and that we can no more believe in a person that we have found untrustworthy than we can make a broken staff whole again.

And men and women expect their husbands and wives to love them whether they are lovable or not, whether they do anything to hold affection or not. The man who never shows his wife any tenderness or affection, who growls at her and curses her, who is stingy and mean to her, is surprised when he finds out that she hates him.

The woman who nags and whines and curses and complains, who is lazy and extravagant and never does a single solitary thing to make her husband comfortable or happy, considers herself a martyr when he ceases to care for her and falls in love with another woman.

Why? Goodness only knows, for it is certain that we cannot have our cake and throw it away, too. We can only have faith in the husbands and wives who deserve faith and we can only love those who are lovable. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married more than five years and have two beautiful children, but due to my husband's ugly disposition and abusive treatment of me my love for him is entirely dead. I have met another man for whom I care very much and who loves me. I told my husband about this other man and that I was thinking of leaving him. Since then he is a changed man and says that if I will only give him another chance he will prove that he can make me happy.

What must I do? Divorce my husband and marry this other man? Or stay with my husband? Do you think we can ever be happy together? Can love that is dead ever be revived? —WORRIED.

Answer: I think that all things considered, you will stand a better chance of happiness with your husband than you would with the other man. Because there are the children, you see, and they make an alien element in any second marriage that nearly always wrecks it.

It seems almost impossible for either a man or a woman to rise to the heights of not being jealous of their stepchildren. A man adores the maternal passion in a woman when it is expended on his own children. He excuses her absorption in them, but he resents it with every fiber of his being when she displays this mother love toward another man's children.

A woman gloats over their father's attention and generosity to her children, but she cannot endure him to be generous to his first wife's children and absorbed in them.

So if you take your children away from their own father and give them a stepfather, you not only do them a grievous wrong in depriving them of a father's love and care, but you will almost surely put yourself in the unhappy predicament of having always to keep peace between them, and will perhaps have to suffer the agony of seeing your little ones ill-treated.

Evidently your husband has received a badly needed lesson in finding out that he has lost your love by his cruelty toward you, so you may safely count on his trying to make things pleasant for you hereafter. He will mind his p's and q's and probably make a pleasanter companion than the other man whose peculiarities of temper and temperament you would have to risk. For every man shows himself in a different guise to a woman after he is married to her from the one he wore when he was courting her.

I do not believe that there is any way of breathing the breath of life into dead love. I do not think that you can ever bring back the thrill and the glamour once they are gone, but I do believe that on the ashes of a cold hearthstone you can light the fires of a friendship that will be very warm and comfortable to sit by during the declining years of your life.

And I think that you will always have the happiness of knowing that you have put duty before inclination and that you have done the brave thing and the right thing.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My husband has a car that he worships and when I ask him to lend it to me he refuses. We live in the country and he doesn't mind my driving the cows and pigs and chickens, but he won't let me drive the flivver. How can I persuade him to let me use it? —COUNTRY.

Answer: Don't ask him to let you use it. Just get in and drive off before he can say "Scat!" As his wife, you have a half interest in it. Any woman who drives the livestock on a place to water and pasture has earned the right to drive a Rolls-Royce, to say nothing of a flivver. —DOROTHY DIX.

Exquisite Warm Weather Frock

Pattern 1986

By ANNE ADAMS

Dressing with charm and distinction is easy for the woman who fashions her own frocks. For example, this adorable dress with becoming square neck and gracefully ruffled collar, may be made with ease and very little expense. There are four godets set in the skirt that afford additional grace and fullness.

Pattern 1986 is exquisite made of chiffon, georgette, voile or dimity. A dainty print on a pastel ground would be cool and fresh. If long sleeves are added, there are attractive flares to be attached that lend quite a bit of chic.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4¾ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our book of patterns for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Electran Wins Ride In Barrow on Election Bet

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 28.—Because of the outcome of the sheriff's race, Virgil Sandifer, Electra barber, had to push Otis Copeland, driller, through the business section of Electra in a wheelbarrow and buy cigars for the crowd Sunday afternoon. Sandifer had bet that Bralley would win and Copeland had bet Browning would be victorious.

Mexican Flier Freed After Fatal Crash

MEXICO CITY, July 28. (AP)—Col. Alfredo Lezama, chief officer of the first air regiment, arrested following the fatal crash of two airplanes last week, has been released by order of the secretary of war and absolved of any blame for the mishap.

The cause of the accident in which four pilots and a civilian were killed was not made public. Colonel Lezama denied that aviators in the first and second squadrons had placed a bet involving the ability of one of the planes to outperform the other.

SUSPEND PILOT LICENSE

WASHINGTON, July 28. (UP)—The transport pilot license of Roger Q. Williams, transatlantic flyer of New York, has been suspended for 90 days for violation of federal air commerce regulations, the commerce department announced today. Williams' license was suspended because of a flight he made June 29 over Bermuda without approval of authorities of the island.

FISHING BOAT'S CREW IS SAVED

Starlight Towed to Islands After Floundering

VENTURA, Calif., July 28. (UP)—The fishing smack Mary Ann and was credited today with saving the fishing boat Starlight and the latter's 25 passengers and crew of three.

The Mary Ann returned here this morning to report that it towed the Starlight to the Anacapa islands after it found the craft floundering in rough water in the channel near the islands.

The Starlight's motors failed and it was half filled with water when the Mary Ann arrived. All the passengers and the crew had donned life preservers in the belief that the craft was doomed.

The Mary Ann passed a line to the Starlight and then towed the craft to the Anacapas. Both ships remained there overnight and the Mary Ann came here this morning, bringing in six people from the Starlight.

The Mary Ann planned to go back to the Anacapas during the day to bring off the remaining passengers and crew.

Until the Mary Ann reported this morning fears were held for both it and the Starlight. Both were due back here with fishing parties last night but failed to return.

Internationally Famous among Consulting Chemists and Chemical Engineers says:

"Colgate's is by far the best cleanser"

Go to an eminent consulting chemist, an authority on scientific research, for convincing proof that Colgate's cleans teeth better. Such an authority is Jerome Alexander of New York. Let his tests—his scientific experiments — convince you as they convinced him.

Jerome Alexander made impartial, exhaustive studies of the cleansing action of well-known dentrifices. Colgate's was undeniably more effective. Why?

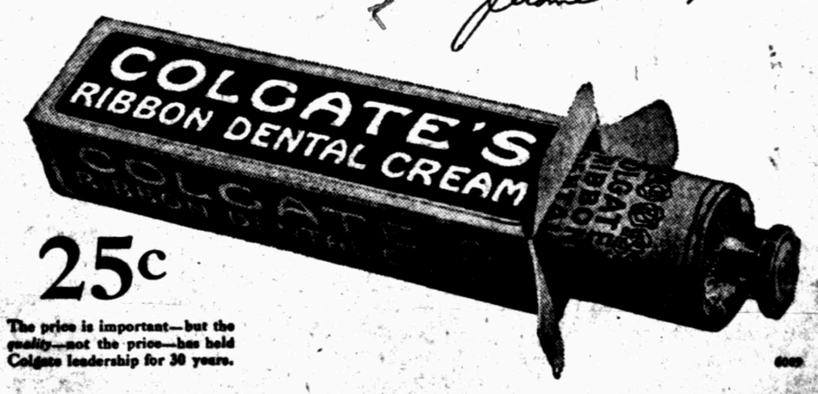

Because Colgate's gets down into the tiny crevices where decay begins. Because its penetrative foam brings to the surface food particles that are never reached by sluggish tooth pastes. Because—in Jerome Alexander's own words — "it penetrates into the tooth fissures, flooding away impurities which cause trouble."

Jerome Alexander's research agrees with the finding of other noted authorities — Dr. Hardee Chambliss, Dean of Sciences, Catholic University of America; Dr. Philip B. Hawks, internationally famous chemist; Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Commissioner of Public Health of New York City; Dr. Allen Rogers, head of the Department of Industrial Chemical Engineering, Pratt Institute; Dr. H. H. Bunzell, Ph.D., Chicago University, and others of equal fame who have been retained to make analytical tests and render expert opinion. Can you, in choosing your dentrifice, fail to be impressed by this array of scientific proof that Colgate's is the ideal cleanser? Take the safe course with your teeth—when you brush them with Colegate's, they're really clean.

Jerome Alexander says:

"I found that Colgate's exhibits the lowest surface tension. Because of this, Colgate's penetrates into the tooth fissures, flooding away impurities which cause trouble. Therefore, Colgate's is by far the best cleanser."

A Rich Man's Suicide Down to Last Million When Love Is Foolish Time and Stocks

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Another tragedy in the aftermath of the stock market crash. Harry S. Black, once one of the richest real estate operators in New York, a director of the National City bank, the George A. Fuller Construction company and chairman of the board of the United States Realty and Improvement company, shoots a bullet into his brain. In his sumptuous Long Island home, where he kept a retinue of servants, he ends a spectacular financial career because, his friends say, he was down to his last million.

Big men topple along with the smaller ones. But the big men cannot stand their losses as easily. The prestige of wealth has become synonymous to them with life. A capitalist can face every disgrace but poverty. And so, when stocks crash, he is the first to go.

To shield the brother of the girl he loves, an Italian workman, Angelo Macher, stands trial for murder in Paris. His innocence is finally proven through an accident. Where love is carried so far that is obstructs the performance of justice, permitting the guilty to go free, it may be questioned whether it is commendable. Macher's chivalry is the chivalry of a fool or an extreme egotist whose love for his inamorata is intense enough to embrace members of her family, and blind enough to involve his own life. There are men who would die to achieve an empty gesture of heroism. A sane world laughs at them.

Paul Wiehr, captain of the Hamburg-American liner Albert Ballin, watching a school of whales in mid-ocean, tells reporters they are as gallant in their love-making as human beings. He reports sighting 100 of these mammals "disporting themselves in a most gracious manner. The males seemed quite deferential, like courtiers to the females." Birds, mammals, fish and any number of land beasts still can teach the human species a lesson in love. Civilization has no corner on courtship. The more civilized we become, the less gallant we appear to be.

A daughter of John D. Rockefeller got a trust gift in 1917 of 12,000 shares of Standard Oil company stock. At that time the shares had a selling price of $6,933,320. Today, by the mere fact of the passage of time, the same shares are worth $18,262,990. Mr. Rockefeller's gift has almost tripled in value.

Not all things, however, improve with time. The bulk of our worldly goods suffers marked depreciation with every passing year. Affections, even friendships, show the ravages of time. The admonishment that we put our faith in things not temporal was sensible as it was inspired. "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt."

The rights of life guards over drowning bathers evidently takes precedence over the rights of the medical authorities. The stupidity of two of these "rescue heroes" indirectly causes the death of a Coney Island surf victim, Hyman Getzkin, who is hindered from deriving the benefit of an inhalator.

With the victim dead, the usual discussion arises as to which is the better method of resusciation: manual or mechanical. The best method is the intelligent one. When a man's life is in the balance, pig-headedness and stupidity need be shown scant courtesy. Those life guards should have permitted the doctors to set to work immediately with the inhalator.

A hot weather tip from the surgeon-general's office is to keep the spinal cord protected. We doubt, however, if women will make their frocks conform to the suggestion.

Walter Damrosch says: "The radio will save family life from disruption by the automobile." P. S.—Walter Damrosch plays for the radio.

Now that he has recalled Primo Carnera to the Italian army, Mussolini will feel that war can begin any time.

That $1,000,000 Salary

THE slightly worried American who lies awake at night wondering how he can boost his $60-a-week salary to $65 can be pardoned, probably, if he takes a keen, envious interest in the salary enjoyed by Mr. Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel.

Grace, according to published figures, draws $12,000 a year. That alone is not a great deal, as industrialists' pay checks go, although it would look like riches to 90 per cent of his fellow citizens. But in addition he has a sort of sliding scale percentage arrangement, by which his annual salary runs to something in excess of $1,000,000—and that, from any angle, is a great deal of money.

Indeed, it is so much money that some prominent people have been wondering, in print, if any executive can possibly be worth it. It has been suggested that no man's services, under any circumstances, can deserve such pay; that Grace, in short, is getting too much money.

No one except a stockholder in Bethlehem Steel need worry very greatly about it; and in a general way it may be said that American corporations are not in the habit of paying out money without getting full value for it. If Bethlehem's directors feel that their president earns such a salary, that would seem to settle it.

However, those who fear that wealth is tending to concentrate in the hands of a few people will probably find an ominous portent in this Grace salary. Grace may be worth a million a year to Bethlehem Steel; but is it to the best interest of the country to have such enormous salaries paid to single individuals?

If you set out to answer that question you probably would be discussing socialism before you got through. Without going into that phase of it, it seems safe to say that under our present economic system million-dollar salaries are not at all out of place.

A clever stock manipulator, for instance, can make more than a million dollars a year—and can do it without producing anything of value to anyone, simply by juggling trading accounts; by gambling, in plain English.

A heavily press-agented movie star can make very close to that sum—and be an empty-headed, shallow-souled moron into the bargain.

A heavyweight prize fighter, if conditions are right, can do it.

An unscrupulous racketeer in a big city can get his million a year—and remove a number of his fellow citizens from circulation while he is doing it.

The industrialist, like Grace, is at least giving his country something. He is producing things—turning out a definite product in return for his salary and providing employment for thousands and adding to the general prosperity of the country.

Obviously, this million-a-year that Eugene Grace is getting is not as disturbing as it might be.

Not Afraid of Reds

THE Chicago Evening Post quotes the general manager of the Ford Motor company as remarking that if the Russian communist agitators can do what they boast in America, "then there is something wrong with our system," and it is hard to find very much fault with that statement.

This Ford official, incidentally, added that his company has deliberately admitted active Reds to the Ford shops and finds that it has no trouble with them at all—simply because a Ford automobile factory is not hospitable ground for the seed sown from Moscow.

If we could realize the truth of all of this, it would save us from a good deal of useless worry. As long as this country can maintain anything like the prosperity of the last half dozen years, all the Reds in Russia cannot hurt us. Their doctrines will become alarming only if our economic system develops such faults that a radical change is imperative.

Glenn Curtiss' Record

AVIATION has lost one of its most distinguished pioneers in the death of Glenn Curtiss.

Curtiss was by no means an old man when he died; yet his active career had spanned all of aviation's infancy. He had seen airplanes develop from crude, unsafe experimental machines to the soaring, reliable affairs that carry mail and passengers all over the country today; and by his own efforts he aided materially in the amazing development which made aviation's position today possible.

The glory of making the first flight, and proving that man could sprout wings, belongs of course to the Wright brothers. But Curtiss was not a great distance behind the famous Dayton bicycle repairmen. His work was of great value. Aviation is distinctly the poorer by his death.

Alaska's Mild Winters

BOOSTERS of Alaska have always insisted that one of the great obstacles to the proper development of that potentially rich territory is the current misconception of its winter weather.

A western magazine points out that the lowest temperature recorded in Sitka, Alaska, in the past 100 years is four degrees below zero. In the year 1927 the lowest temperature recorded was 12 above—while on 10 days during that winter the mercury actually rose above the freezing point.

There is a record that a great many towns in the states can envy. If Alaskan winters can be that mild, the booster's complaint that we over-estimate the unpleasantness of Alaska's climate would seem to be justified.

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

The Shady Side of Broadway

The "canyon," as some prefer calling it, is a dream world, but take it from one who has pounded its pavements for a score of seasons, Broadway exists as a physical fact, as a symbol of a certain sort of national yearning for expression, as a standard of comparison in morals and as a way of thinking. As a physical fact, it is a crooked and somewhat narrow street, trailing from the lowest tip of Manhattan Island to the city limits of Yonkers and beyond, and so it is, with the disputed exception of Halsted street, Chicago, the longest metropolitan thoroughfare in the world.

As a symbol of a certain sort of national yearning for expression, it is a sublimated Coney Island or country fair or street carnival, with its mummer plays and catch-penny devices, its cacophony and gaudy lights, its peep-shows and wax-figure museums, its skating rink, hooch dancers, torso-tossers, freaks and fol-de-rol—all brought to a high degree of refinement and dignity, and yet still, in essence, only the merry-go-round with the steam calliope on which the adult infant spends his nickels away from his school books and other serious activities of life.

As a standard of moral comparison it is at once an enticement and a hell—a Circe's cavern of lascivious and soul-destroying delights, an unholy place where producers are the seducers of women, where stars without talent are made meretriciously over night, where pure girls succumb to rich admirers for diamond bracelets, brooches, furs, imported automobiles, apartments and other luxuries—a Babylon, a Sodom and Gomorrah—all within the confines of a garish district extending from just below 42d street to Columbus Circle at 59th.

As a way of thinking, it is the home of the pert remarks, the smart-crack and the gag, the clever line, the flip quip, the supercilious and superficial attempt at a cynical and hard-boiled attitude toward life.

To hear its most affectionate peasants tell it—those wistful souls whose hierarchy of the gods is Erlanger, Ziegfeld, Dillingham, Woods and the Shuberts, and the rest—"Broadway is the greatest community in the world." And so also argue the concessionaires who work in or operate the hot dog stands, wheels of fortune, penny arcades and crazy houses at Coney Island. Coney Island is also "the greatest community in the world," and so is Hicksville, Ga., ever since they paved Main street.

Like any other "community," Broadway, for most of its denizens, is a place to make a living and to get ahead in life by the methods best suited to the talents God gave them. To the lonely and aspiring hoofer, the fanny-falling comedian, the ukulele player with the special technique and the singer with something peculiar about his voice or megaphone, trouping the one-night stands in the Southern swamps or Western prairies — Broadway is the Big Apple, the Main Stem, the goal of all ambition, the pot of gold at the end of a drab and somewhat colorless rainbow.

To those who have fought and struggled their way to Broadway and have played for a brief while before its glittering tungstens and to Broadway's applause—and have lost, or slipped out of, popular favor—it is a tragedy of hopes. It is a place where actresses and chorus girls, good actors and ham actors, talented people and untalented people are out of work for long stretches at a time, where poverty stalks in tarnished tinsel and where competition is perhaps crueler and more cut-throat in its methods than in any other part of the world.

It is a hard and destructive community even for those who "click" or make good on it, for those who play on Broadway are neurotic, restless and easily bored. They want novelty and are quickly fed up with repetition, in spite of the fact that Arthur Brisbane once epigrammed: "Repetition makes reputation!" And that goes for the buyer from a village store who gets on to New York once or twice a year for a combined business trip and unholy spree, as well as for night club promoters, gamblers, bootleggers, rich spend thrifts and other regular patrons on Manhattan's night loafing army.

What you accomplished last season doesn't matter! "What have you got now?" is the incessant inquiry. Yesterday's favorites, so far as Broadway cares a whoopee, are tomorrow's also-rans. There is nothing so dead on Broadway as a waning star. As far as the "Hardening of Artery" is concerned, a star that is no longer in the ascendant is already extinct.

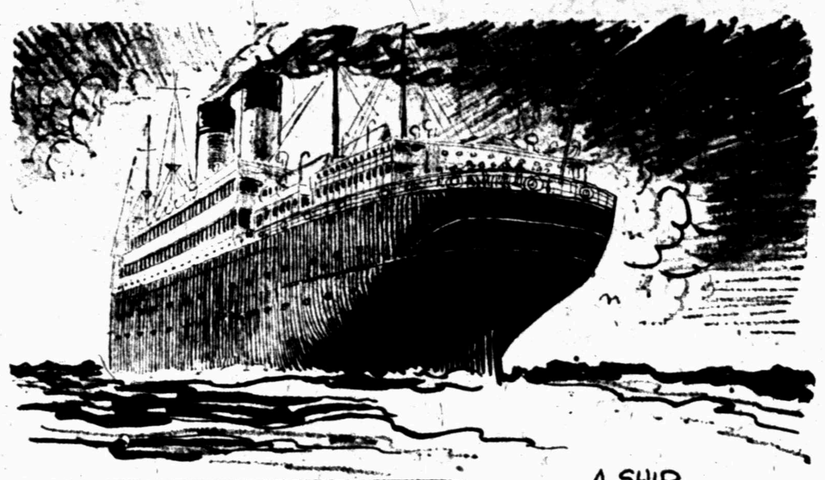

In fewer words: The double crossroads of the world is a pretty phoney boulevard. Its honest citizens are in the minority, and a small group they are, too. They help out at the laying of cornerstones, incidentally. But the battalions of racketeers and other shady manipulators along the incandescent belt are better off. They usually have the most currency, the better-looking motor cars, the most fashionable apartments and the prettiest women. This doesn't prevail only in the night club angle of Masda Lane, but that's where it is most obvious.

In the gay rendezvous, the laughing soup or giggle water parlors along the stem and its alleys, the "butter-and-egg-man" isn't the only one the sharpshooters clip. There the most intimate acquaintance's coin is as good as the other fellow's, and those who operate these bloodless dens check friendship up to: "How much money has he? How can I get it? And I want it!"

The lad who is left limp by the Broadway ethic when he first arrives on the scene from the provinces soon finds his way about, however, and within a short time elbows his way through the field and doesn't beg anyone's pardon either.

The street indeed is a pretty shady hades. You can believe that, considering that it doesn't come from an out-of-towner who could be interrupted with: "Oh, you visitors waste a lot of time hating New York!" I have one distinction, anyway. I am the only New York commentator who was born in New York! Broadway, then, is counterfeit—hybrid—two-timey—spoiled—not on the up-and-up, or if you understand Spanish—it isn't kosher. But I like it, and so do the rest of us phoneys who are incessantly trying to "stop the show" or retard the proceedings along the huge chasm. That is when we are not shoving or jostling the other guy out of the way in the hope of knocking him down—so that we might pass and beat him to whatever goal or reward is due people whose code is: "Get the gravy while you can—the hell with the fellow who comes in second!"

"STEP-CHILD"

BY ROB EDEN

Kay Smith has lost all recollection of her past life and is trying to determine her true identity. She loves Dan Talbot, who is engaged to Julie Drew. Jim Whalen believes Kay is Kitty Banning, confidence woman, and threatens to turn her over to the police. Returning from a drive with Gordon Drew, Kay is met at her door by a strange man.

CHAPTER XVII

"If you'll come with me quietly—"

Kay tried to make out the man's features in the dark, but could not. She knew, though, that his voice was not Jim Whalen's, and felt a little relief.

"Who are you?" She was playing for time, her key already in the lock. One twist and she would be inside, the man locked out. Then up the stairs, safe with Edith. Her mind was working very fast.

Evidently the man caught her idea, for he grasped her hand. "No, you don't. No tricks with me! Come along quietly, and I'll make no fuss."

"But I don't know who you are, nor why I should come!" Her fingers were forced to leave the key.

"I think you do—you're only stalling for time." His voice was gruff. His tones sharp.

The girl felt small, almost a child, before the great bulk of the man, for he towered far above her, his face still in the darkness.

"I'm sorry, but I don't."

Well, Kitty Banning, I've come to take you to jail—that's where. Now you know me, huh!"

"To the Police"

He thought she was Kitty Banning! Jim Whalen, his threats—he must have made them good—gone to the police. . . .

"I'm not Kitty Banning—" She attempted to jerk herself from his grasp, but his hand only tightened on her fingers.

"Don't want a fuss, do you, Kitty? Well, then come along, and come along silently. I haven't got any more time to waste. Been waiting here for you for two hours."

"I tell you—"

"Tell it down at the station. I said I didn't have time to hang around jawing."

He was strong and she was weak, so she stumbled after him, his hand never leaving her arm. Kitty Banning. How vile Jim Whalen was—when even she didn't know whether she was Kitty. Jim thought he knew. Was sure.

"Going to be quiet?"

"Yes, if you'll believe me—I'm not—"

"No lies, now. We got a tip you were Kitty Banning, and I'm taking you to the station. See? Orders. I can't do anything else. We've been looking for you for a year."

"You're a detective?"

Florid Face

"Yeh, Gran't my name." For the first time she saw his star, for he opened his heavy overcoat a little. Under an arc light on the corner she had a better view of him. A big man, his face rather florid, his eyes small and very blue, his hair sandy. Pale bushy brows hung out over his eyes. He beckoned a cruising taxi and helped Kay into it.

"Going by the name of Kay Smith now, eh? Change your moniker often, don't you, Kitty? In

"Well, Kitty Banning, I've come to take you to jail."

Chicago you had another name. Mary Desmond. That was it, wasn't it? If I remember right."

Kay's lips closed tightly. No use denying anything. The man would not believe her. No use even telling him she didn't know.

"Play a dignified game, don't you, Kitty?" Grant went on, in a taunting fashion. "That's what they said anyway, at the station. Always have an innocent air, look refined. Your best stock in trade. I knew you at once from the description at headquarters. Blond, damned pretty, brown eyes, young, small, rather frail looking."

"It might fit anyone," Kay remarked bitterly. She had to say something. Edith, waiting. Better to leave Edith out of this. Dane, all of them. She felt very much alone as she sat there beside the big detective, alone and helpless. Was it only yesterday Whalen had given his ultimatum? Yesterday? Already yesterday seemed years away. Centuries. A limp hand brushed the hair from her forehead.

What was this? Dane's overcoat. She was still carrying it. To return in the morning. A limp hand brushed her golden hair from her eyes, and she sighed deeply.

"No," Grant continued. "I never saw you—only pictures, but a few of the fellows have. They know you well."

"Pictures?" Kay pricked up her ears. "Have they pictures of me—at the station?"

"You ought to remember, Kitty. Of course they have. Made 'em several years ago, when you were picked up in the Mandell case. Gallery pictures, but as good as any. Funny how we got the tip on you—"

"Where from?" Then she was sorry she had asked. She didn't want to admit she knew Whalen, now she would have to.

Edith Worried

"Never mind, you'll know sooner or later. If you don't know now. This tip, though, was right for once. Not a mistake about it. Straight. A lot of them aren't. I called out at your place, and found out you were gone, so came to wait for you."

Called—Edith? Then Edith would be worried . . .

"Slipped away from us in the Mandell case, didn't you? Well, we still want you for it. Don't see myself how you had the nerve to come back to New York. You ought to be smarter than that. At least you might have dyed your hair. Pretty hair, though, isn't it? Maybe you don't want to dye it—" his voice was scornful as he jibed on. "What are you working on now?" Curiously. The same question Whalen had asked. All so interested in who she might be robbing . . .

A wave of nausea passed over her. If she were kitty Banning, and all this were true. Thievery, police, Jim Whalen, the house at Langley . . .

"I'd rather die," she whispered fiercly to herself.

"What's that?" Grant had caught the whisper.

"Nothing. What will they do with me at the station?"

"You ought to know, Kitty. You've been there before."

"But I don't—"

"Stringing me, eh?" He laughed, but she noticed that he was watching her closely. Never did his eyes leave her person. On the street, until the taxi wheeled up, his arm had been on hers. Afraid she would run away, she supposed.

"A slippery customer you are, Kitty, if I say it myself. Got away from us once, in the Mandell case,—but I'm wise to you now, you're not going to get away from me. Here we are!" The taxi had come to a top, and Grant sprang out, showed the driver a card, and then

The resources of our free information bureau are at your service. You are invited to call upon it as often as you please. It is being maintained solely to serve you. What question can we answer for you? There is no charge at all except two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Address your letter to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington D. C.

Q.—Is Don Aridgo in the Blackstone program a real Spaniard? Who is Captain Blackstone?—J. F. S.

A.—Don Aridgo is played by a Spaniard, Santos Ortega. Captain Blackstone is Alfred Swenson.

Q.—Is the song, Santa Lucia, an old song?—P. G.

A.—The Neapolitan song, Santa Lucia, was sung in the streets of Naples as early as 1853. It is a folk song of the composed variety, and is one of the most popular folk melodies. The composer is T. Cottran.

Q.—Do many prisoners go insane while confined in the death house at Sing Sing?—E. M.

A.—According to Warden Lewis E. Lawes, only nine prisoners out of 227 confined in the Sing Sing death house during the past 10 years have gone insane under the strain of their impending doom.

Q.—Does Buddy Rogers belong to a fraternity?—W. P.

A.—He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Q.—What do the Japanese call the collection of dolls that is made by each family?—J. G.

A.—It is called the Hina.

Q.—Who discovered insulin?—B. A.

A.—A young Canadian surgeon, Dr. F. G. Banting returned from four years of service at the front with the idea of this new remedy. He submitted his plans to Professor MacLeod of the University of Toronto and under the latter's direction, with the assistance of Mr. C. H. Best, and others, experiments were begun in May 1921. After a preliminary trial of the remedy on himself, Dr. Banting saw the first case of diabetes to be treated with insulin receive his injection in the Toronto General hospital, Jan. 10, 1922. This date marks an important discovery in modern medicine.

Q.—What states provide bonuses for their world war veterans?—W. A. L.

A.—The following states have provided bonuses for their world war veterans: Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin.

Q.—Why can't slack coal be burned in a furnace?—D. M.

A.—The reason slack coal cannot be used in the ordinary furnace is that the draft in domestic furnaces or stoves is usually insufficient to overcome the resistance to the flow of air through the fire bed.

Q.—Was The Hoosier Schoolmaster ever published serially?—T.

A.—In a copy of the first edition of this book given to Hamlin Garland, the author inscribed these lines: This story was published in Hearth and Home in October, November and December of 1871, and in book form, Dec. 15. It sold about ten thousand copies the first six months and about ten thousand in each of the two following half-years. It was pirated and sold in England in an edition of 10,000 copies, and has since been reprinted there with no profit to the author. Madame Blanc rendered it into French for the Revue des Deux Mondes. It was published in book covers in French, German and Danish, and perhaps other tongues. This copy has all the original crudities, exuberances, and violations of artistic canons that have helped to give the book a sale of more than a hundred thousand in the United States. These facts are set down here for my good friend, Mr. Hamlin Garland, with the sincere regards of Edward Eggleston.

Q.—What are the six rules of painting as laid down by Hsieh He in the fifth century?—M. G.

A.—The celebrated "Six Canons of Painting" which have been the basis of art criticism in the Far East throughout subsequent centuries are, translated freely, (1) life motion engendered by spiritual harmony; (2) use of the brush in rendering bone-structure; (3) delineation of forms in conformity with the objects; (4) application of colors appropriate to the kinds; (5) spacing based on proper planning; (6) copying of classic pictures thereby preserving tradition.

Q.—Has telephone service ever been used on a moving train in Canada?—S. I.

A.—Recently such service was inaugurated on the Canadian National railway between Toronto and Montreal. This permits passengers aboard the trains to speak with any selected subscriber in Canada, the United States or Europe. The system involves a combination of carrier-current transmission and radio, making use of the telegraph wires along the railway route.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on What to Wear

This is not a fashion guide, nor does it tell the correct costume for a morning wedding or an afternoon tea. But it will tell you the colors and the kinds of clothes you should wear if you are blonde or brunet, tall or short, stout or thin, or whatever your particular problem may be in selecting fabrics and modes that are most suitable and most becoming to one of your complexion, figure, and age. It is an exceedingly practical discussion of exceedingly practical questions that interest men as well as women.

What to Wear is just off the press and is now available to Record News readers. In ordering a copy use this coupon.

Frederic J. Haskin, Director, The Record News Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

I enclose herewith 10 cents in coin or stamps for a copy of the booklet, What to Wear.

Making DOLLARS Bigger

Next Thursday
SUBURBAN
DOLLAR DAY

Read the Advertisements in The Times and Record News

Just as efficient methods have dictated that our money currency will last longer and can be produced more cheaply in a new size, resulting in the saving of millions of dollars annually to the United States government, so have the business enterprises of the country steadily increased the purchasing power of your dollar, whether it be a new bill or of silver, until today a dollar will buy hundreds of things that were not only unpurchasable by the people but were undreamed of but a few decades ago.

However, it is generally recognized that a dollar will buy more in one community than in another, where conditions are distinctly different.

To demonstrate that Wichita Falls Merchants are able to "Make Your Dollars Bigger," to bring you more comfort or pleasure, a great cooperative Suburban Dollar Day has been arranged for Thursday, July 31. While special efforts have been made to offer you unusual values for this event, still Wichita Falls merchants are striving earnestly to give you fuller measure in the things you desire not for today alone but for every day.

In addition to the many Suburban Dollar Day prices the Wichita Falls Stores will offer other seasonable merchandise at special prices. Plan to come to Wichita Falls Thursday.

Health and Diet Advice

Healthful Cooking

The preparation of food has a far-reaching effect upon the health. Food that is well prepared leads to good health, good digestion, and a sense of inner satisfaction and cheerfulness, for one who has just dined on a well arranged meal surveys the world with contentment. On the other hand, poor cooking leads to indigestion, the "blues," and a vague discontent which is often transferred into a craving for stimulants.

Cooking is used to make food taste better, to make it more digestible, and to kill dangerous organisms. A housewife, who knows how to cook wholesome dishes, increases the nutritive elements of almost every kind of food, by breaking up the tougher particles with heat and dissolving the cellular portions so that they may be more readily acted upon by the chemicals within the digestive tract.

To cook properly and healthfully it is necessary to understand the various methods of cooking which include boiling, simmering, frying, stewing, baking, braising, grilling and steaming.

Boiling and Simmering

Boiling is no doubt the most popular and the most abused of all methods of cooking. Many cooks fail to get the most tenderness and flavor out of foods because they boil them in the wrong way. When preparing meat by this method, it is advisable that the water never be allowed to remain boiling. The temperature should be just sufficient to change the coloring matter of the blood, soften the red fiber and dissolve the connective tissues, which may be accomplished with water much below the boiling point. If one keeps meat in water that is actually boiling for any length of time, it results in over-coagulating the proteins, dissolving the mineral matter, and lowering the food value.

In boiling meat, first coagulate the interior by plunging the meat into rapidly boiling, unsalted water for three or four minutes. This envelops the meat in a waterproof casing of coagulated albumin and prevents the escape of juices from the interior of the cut into the water. The fire should then be turned down so that the temperature of less than 180 degrees is maintained for about 20 minutes for each pound of beef. If this is performed carefully, the meat will be tender and easily digested, whereas, if the boiling point is too long continued the meat will be tough and stringy. Any water added during the boiling should be hot. The meat should not be salted until ready for serving.

Boiling is often used for vegetables, and the quantity of water used depends upon whether the vegetables are to be served whole or in the form of soup. If they are to be served whole, as little water as possible should be used with a closely covered pot. Whereas, it is desired that some of the food elements enter the water, it is better to use a process of simmering, in which case the soup or stew should be started with cold water and kept on a slow fire until cooked. In boiling beef for soup, even the tougher cuts may be used, and the long slow, simmering will make it so tender that it will fall away under the fork.

By learning how to cook foods at the simmering point, the housewife may use many pieces which are economical and yet of the same food value as the higher priced cuts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—L. M. writes: "I have backache all the time—seems to be in my spine, and seems to affect my brain, as I can't think fast enough."

Answer—I would advise you to have an examination by some physician who understands manipulative treatment of the spine. He will doubtless be able to tell you what is causing your trouble.

Ice Cream

Question—Wisher writes: "My mother learned that a fruit diet was good for children from reading your articles in the paper. I am now on one and I wish that you would mention that ice cream is just as good so my mother would try it."

Answer—You just keep on watching for my weekly menus which are published in this column every Friday, and you will learn how to use ice cream properly. Show these menus to your mother and you will be sure to get ice cream at least once a week. Ice cream is one of our best foods, but you would soon tire of it as a steady diet.

Adhesions

Question: A. L. Asks—"(1) Will abdominal adhesions cause excessive gas in the intestines? (2) In breaking up the adhesions, how can one be sure to prevent their reformation?"

Answer—(1) Yes, as the adhesions binding the intestines in peculiar positions encourage pockets of gas to form. (2) After the adsions are cured, the use of proper food combinations to avoid intestinal irritation, and the taking of daily exercise, will prevent the adhesions from again forming.

Orange Juice Blood Purifier

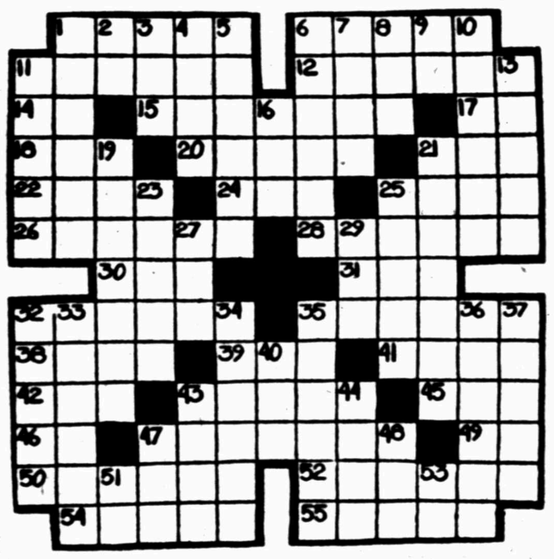

Question: R. B. asks—"Is orange juice a blood purifier?"

Answer—An exclusive orange juice fast is a valuable blood purifier. Oranges are best used by themselves rather than with other foods.

Oklahoma Highways In Good Condition

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—Proof that some state highways are in good condition was reported by State Engineer A. R. Losh, state highway engineer, who said he traveled 610 miles Sunday on highway 64 in the northwest part of the county. His inspection tour showed highways in good shape, he said.

WACO DEFEATS FORT WORTH IN NINTH INNING OF NIGHT GAME

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Ad Murad Ads

Wayland H. Sanford, local gentleman of the bar who was brave enough to be Republican candidate for attorney general in this battle-scarred Democratic sector, was the only candidate we know of who retained his composure election eve.

Coming in from a fishing trip Saturday night, the wife asked: "Well, how's the election going?"

"I don't know," replied the candidate. I haven't gone down to get a paper yet."

Recently we announced a contest would be conducted among fans to pick the fastest Spudder in the chase from the plate to first base. The contest apparently has excited as much interest as the damp race for governor. We invited fans to write us, naming their choice as the fastest runner, and called attention to the fact that a prize would be awarded the fan coming closest to the fact.

So far two letters have trickled in. These we print now, with hope diminishing that others will come in.

Henry Manning of Frederick, Okla., says: "In your contest as to who is the fastest man between the plate and first base of the Spudders, I guess Mr. Howard Fitzgerald, the greyhound of the garden."

Bill Austin, also of Frederick, writes: "I guess Storti, second baseman, to be the fastest man for the Spudders between the plate and first base."

With the present response, it should be easy to choose the winner. What we should do, however, is present ourselves with a dish of razzberries as a prize for starting the contest. Either that, or present the public with a crate of the jocular fruit for not taking a part in the discussion. Th razzberries, at least, should go to someone. For apparently this town doesn't care to jar loose in print in an effort to stimulate interest in the home team.

The boys are back on top at this writing, and limping heroically into a winning stride. The injured list is being cut down. Wiltse no doubt is recovering from his sprained shoulder, and Art Bradbury is back behind the bat after several days out with an injured finger. Crouch is still on the sick list, but should be back soon. Claude Robertson is still helping out the catching situation.

The injuries were bound to come sooner or later, and eventually the club was due to hit a slump. There are only three men on the team who as far as we know have not missed an inning this season. They are Jack Kloza, left fielder; Lin Storti, second sacker, and Irving Burns, first baseman.

Little Dick Florrid and Larry Bettencourt were the heroes of Sunday's double-header with the Exporters. Florrid's 5 to 0 shutout in the nightcap marked his first accomplishment of that kind this season, and Bettencourt gave impeccable indications that he is plodding out of a battig clump by belting two home runs. Fitzgerald, too, is picking up. He got three hits in nine times up. Nothing remarkable, but it at least beats his discouraging record in the last Dallas series here, when he went to the plate 10 times in a double-header, and didn't hit a thing.

When night baseball first began to be talked of, sport wits and columnists spoke sarcastically of the possibility of having a game called "on acount of daylight."

The truth is that should a game last long enough, it would certainly have to be called for that very reason.

The punsters apparently worked on morning newspapers, like myself, and probably hadn't seen the dawning of day for months and months. Nor have we any room to brag, for the last dawn we saw was y'ars and y'ars ago. But on that memorable occasion we remember that the first glimmer of another day completely ruined the effect of lectric lights. The manufactured article and daylight combined produced a blur in which nothing was thoroughly discernible. This, of course, lasts but a short while, for when the sun finally appears, everything becomes brighter. But it lasts long enough to spoil a perfectly good ball game.

This was evident last Friday night, when the Spudders played Waco. The game, according to telegraphic reports, was "delayed 15 minutes on account of daylight."

Italy's Gargantua May Be Reinstated

CINCINNATI, July 28. —(UP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer, will be reinstated by the National Boxing association providing he severs his relations with his present retinue of managers, Stanley Isaacs, president of the National Boxing association, announced today after conferring with John B. Clinton, Illinois chairman of the N. B. A. investigating committee.

Clinton's committee, in its review of the case, found that Carnera's managers were "avaricious" in handling the big Italian, but no evidence could be found that Primo himself was guilty of any offense.

The committee added, however, that should Carnera get a new manager, his present managers, Leon See, Frenchman, who brought him to this country, Bill Duffy, principal American representative, and Walter Friedman, still would remain indefinitely suspended.

CLEVELAND, July 28. (UP)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, is scheduled to meet George Cook of Australia in a 10-round buot here Tuesday night.

Former Princeton Star Dies of Heart Attack

NEW YORK, July 28. (UP)—John R. DeWitt, captain of Princeton university's championship eleven of 1903 and all-American guard, died today on a New Haven railroad train near Grand Central Terminal.

An attack of heart disease, with which he had been suffering for some weeks, was the cause of his death. DeWitt was 49 years old and made his home in Fairfield, Conn.

STEERS DEFEAT TRIBE IN NINTH

SAN ANTONIO, July 28. (AP)—Two home runs with one aboard each time was more than San Antonio could match and as a result of the timely stickwork by Gene Moore and Willingham, Cy Smith saw a well pitched game fade away as Dallas clouted him for four hits in the ninth to win, 8 to 6, Monday night. Gene Moore's drive in the second inning was the longest of the season, the ball clearing the score board. About 2,000 fans witnessed the game. Score:

Bill Terry Enters Ranks of Sluggers

(By The Associated Press)

Bill Terry, swinging a powerful bat for the New York Giants, pounded his way into baseball's big six yesterday as the remainder of the select, with the exception of Chuck Klein, lost ground. Terry's advance into the sextet removed Riggs Stephenson from the honor list and sent the Giants' first baseman into a threatening position for the National league batting leadership.

The standings:

Grain Rate Revision To Benefit Farmers

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—A $1,600,000 potential increase in the value of Oklahoma's annual wheat will result from a reduction in grain rates which becomes effective Oct. 1, State Corporation Commission Attorney Paul A. Walker said today.

The reduction was ordered recently by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The reduction will total about 3.5 cents a bushel or 6 cents a 100 pounds on wheat shipped from Oklahoma cities to gulf points for export, Walker said.

CUBS WIN PAIR

CHICAGO, July 28. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs won both games of a double-header from Cincinnati today to celebrate their return to Wrigley field. Guy Bush held the Reds to eight hits in the second game, winning by 5 to 3, after Charlie Root had gained a 3 to 2 decision in the opener. A four-run rally in the third gave Chicago its winning margin in the second contest. Scores:

Tilden's 'Comeback' Is Now Discussed

By L. S. CAMERON

NEW YORK, July 28. (UP)—American Davis cup players will return from France soon, bringing no cup, but carrying lots of speculation as to the next trophy onslaught.

Two of the most important figures of international tennis in the past decade have announced their definite retirement. They, of course, are "Big Bill" Tilden, and the French star, Jean Borotra.

There will be no end of discussion as to whether the retirements will stick.

Somehow, the impression prevails that Borotra positively is through. But Tilden—well, that's different. Who can say there won't be another international cable exchange, a last minute rejuggling of arrangements and a sudden dash by Big Bill into the racquet wars?

Bill said he didn't want to play this year—thought it against the best interests, etc., but he did play and that's the important thing. Of course, Tilden would scorn an alibi, but surely he has one in the fact he was drafted against his "better judgment."

And say what you will, the fact remains Tilden did save the Americans from utter rout. He scored the only American victory of the five played. This kept clear his record of at least one victory in each of the 11 Davis cup finals, he has participated in, beginning in 1920.

France's chances of making a fifth consecutive Davis cup victory will rest almost solely on Henri Cochet, and so long as little Henri plays as he did this year, no nation will have much chance to take the cup away. He virtually kept the cup for France this year, scoring victories in two singles and doing more than half of the work in winning the doubles while teamed with Jacques Brugnon.

Certificates Given 10,000 Oklahoma Teachers

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—Almost 10,000 school teachers have been given state certificates to teach by the state department of education during the past year, Supt. John Vaughan said today.

From July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930, the department issued 5613 elementary school certificates as compared with 3395 last year; 2264 high school certificates compared with 1502 last year, and 935 special course certificates compared with 700 last year.

In addition 466 certificates were issued through examination under supervision of county superintendents.

Foxx Hits 29th Homer In Ninth Inning

PHILADELPHIA, July 28. (AP)—Jimmy Foxx's 29th home run in the ninth plus Mickey Cochrane's single in the 12th gave the Athletics a 6 to 5 extra inning decision over the Yankees today. In the 12th Earnshaw led off with a triple. Bishop and Cramer were purposely passed, but Cochrane came through with a single that decided the game. Score:

Stribling-Campolo Match Is Planned

NEW YORK, July 28. (UP)—Frank Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden corporation, announced today he had opened negotiations for a heavyweight match at Yankee stadium Sept. 25, between Young Stribling of Georgia, who knocked out Phil Scott in the second round tonight in London, and Vittorio Campolo of Argentina.

"'Pa' Stribling told me before he left for England he was willing for his boy to meet Campolo," said Bruen, "and unless he has changed his mind the match will be made."

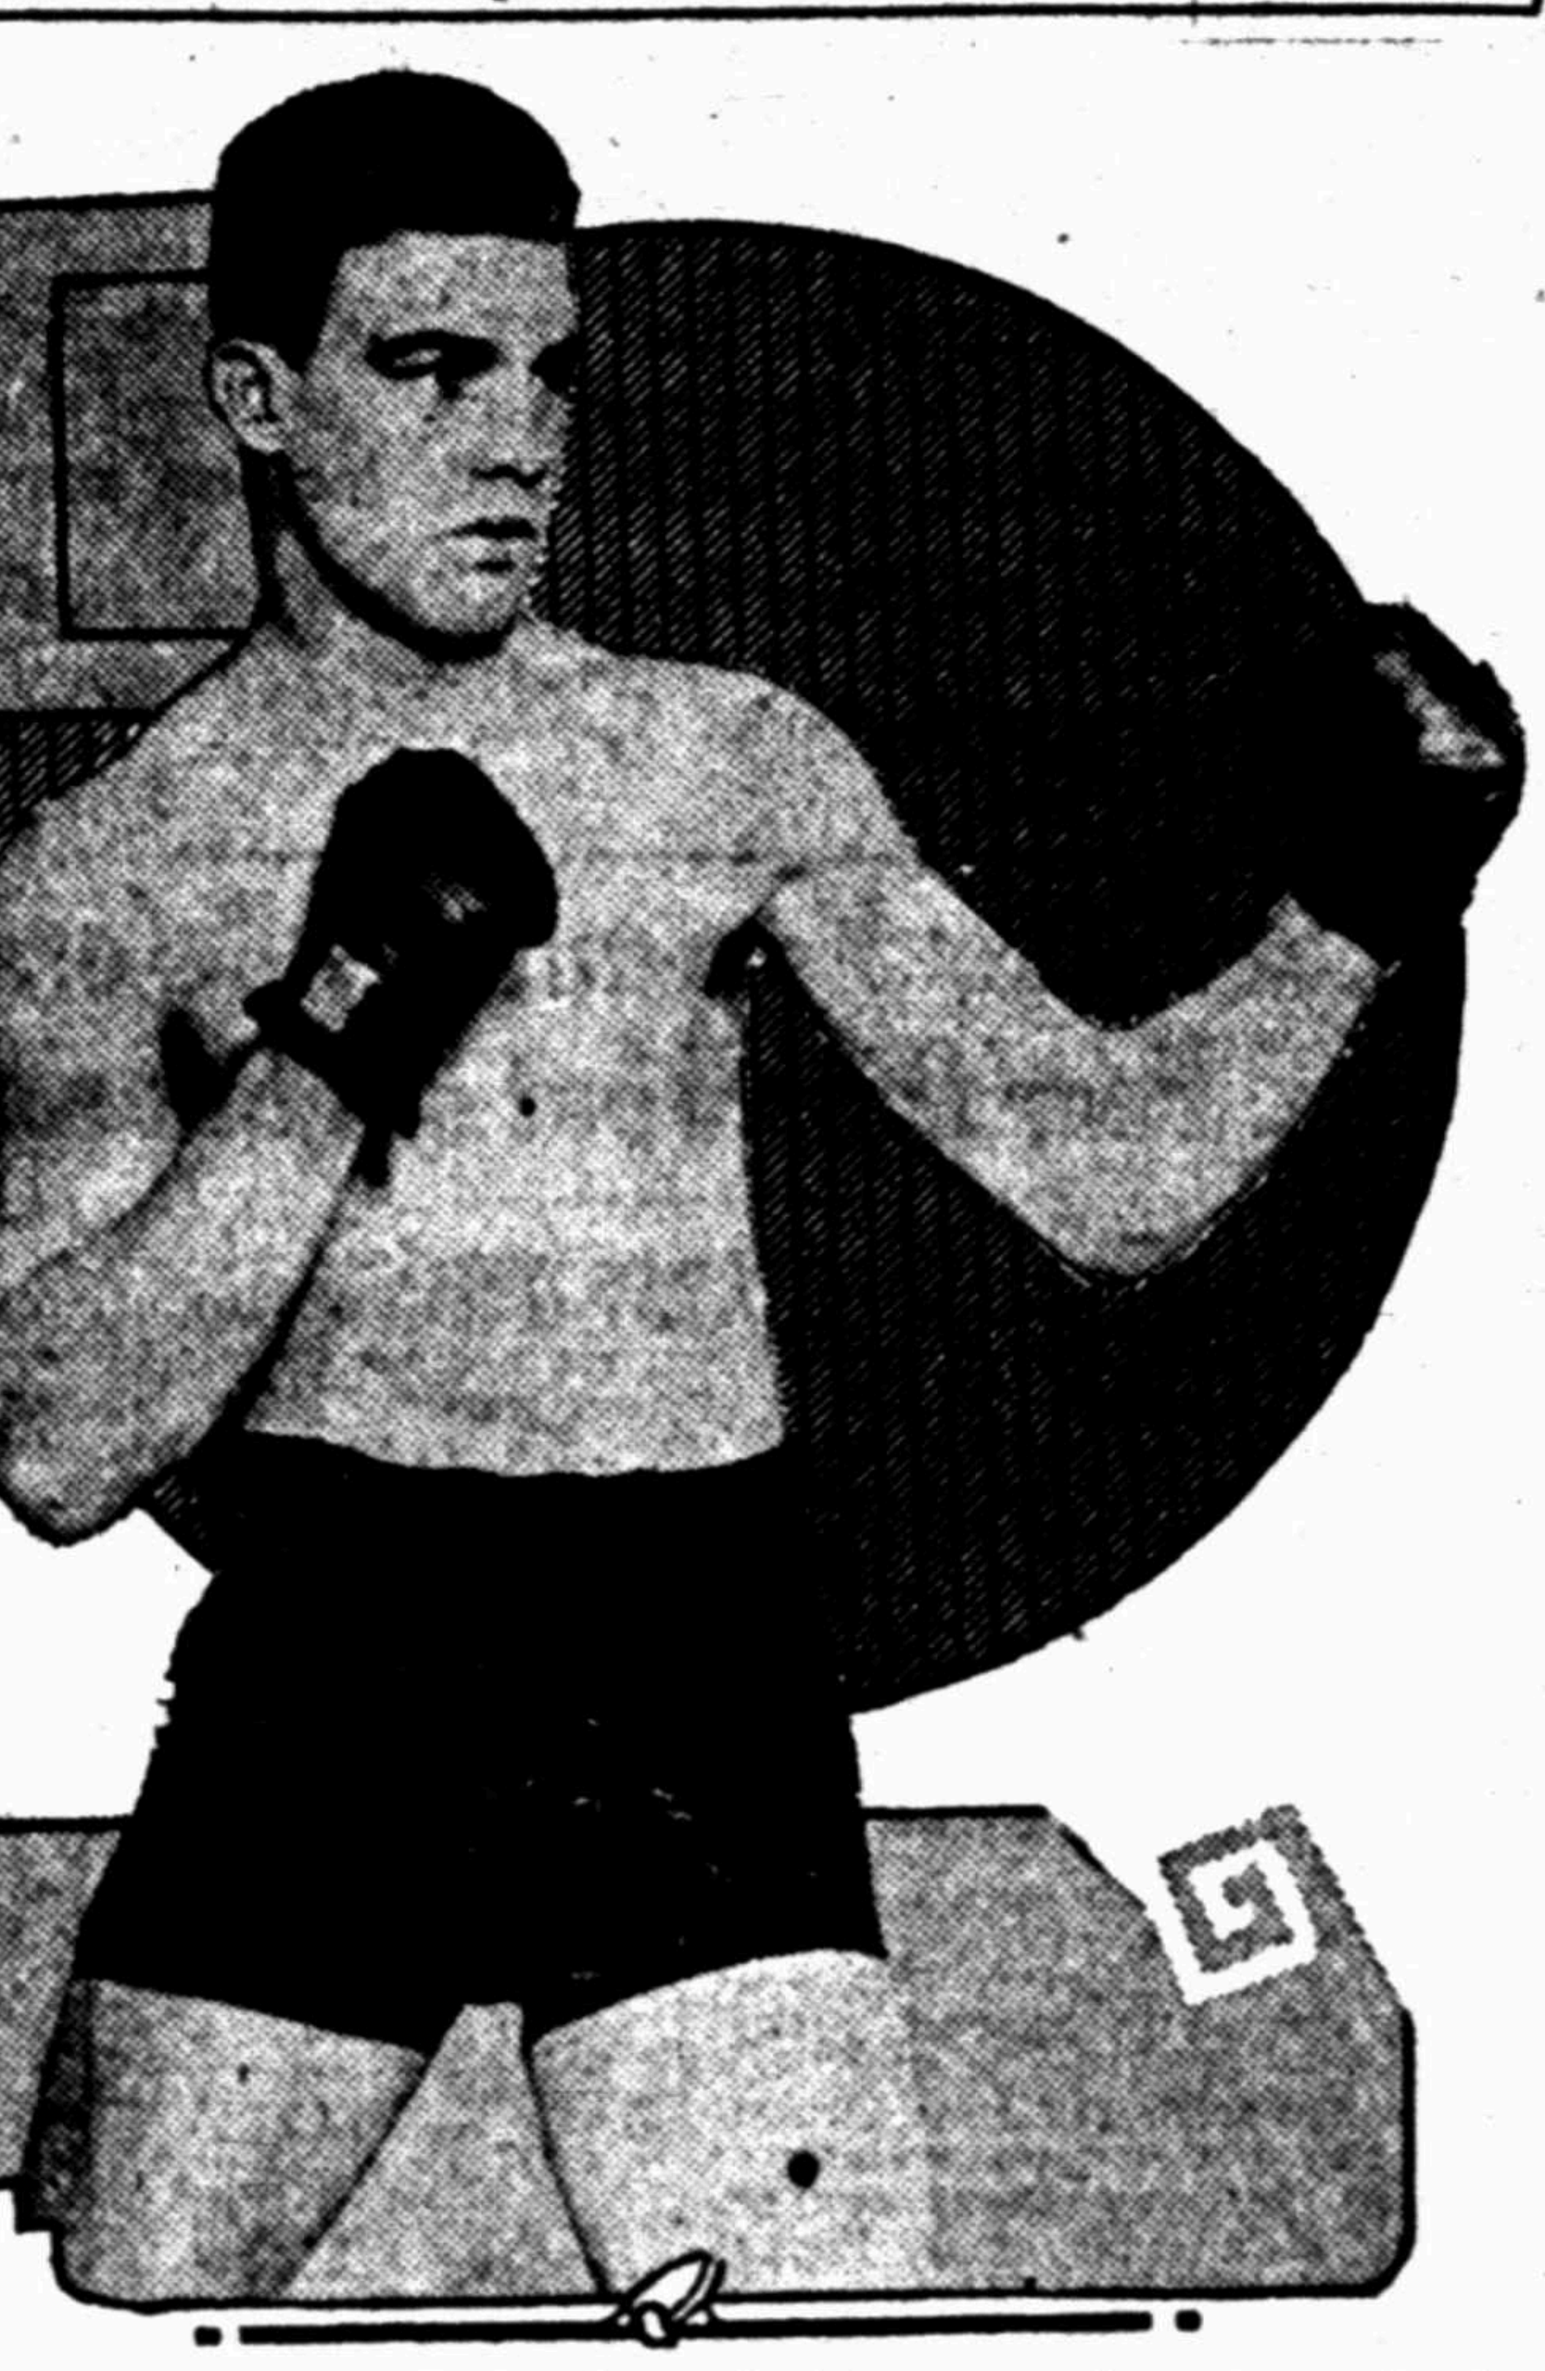

Cards Defeat Rochester After Regular Game

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 28. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Rochester, leader of the International league this afternoon, 6 to 1, after the regular league game. The attraction drew more than 16,000 paid customers to the stadium, one of the largest crowds of the season.

McClurkans Tighten Hold on Top With 8-7 Victory Over Bankers

The McClurkans baseball team of the Merchants league tightened their hold on the first rung of the ladder Monday afternoon on Harrison field with a wild 8 to 7 victory over the Security National bank team. The game was called in the fifth inning with the score 13 to 10 in favor of the Macks and the Bankers still batting the ball under the cover of darkness with only one out and a runner on first base. The score reverted to the totals at the end of the fourth inning.

Little Ed Satterwhite, Banker shortstop, led the batting attack for the day with a triple and two singles in three times at the bat. Rabbit Gordon, Banker third baseman, hit a home run his first time at the plate and followed this with two walks.

Keith Socks One

Ray Keith slapped out a double and a home run for his own cause in two trips to the plate for the Macks. Hogan, Thomas, C. Smith and M. Smith also collected twice for base hits with the Macks, the last three getting their third hits in the fifth inning which did not count in the box score.

After Gordon had opened the game with a home run for the Bankers, Satterwhite singled to center. Kellogg walked, and both men advanced on a passed ball, then both men scored on two consecutive infield outs to account for the first three runs.

The Mackmen came back in the second inning to run wild and score five men before the smoke of battle had cleared from the field. After C. Smith had grounded out, Denton walked and went to third on M. Smith's single past first. Smith went to second while Thomas was throwing out McCaleb. Dills hit a slow roller to Gordon who threw low to first and Denton and M. Smith scored while Dills went to second. Keith tied up the ball game with a double to left scoring Dills. Meyers walked. Hogan beat out a high hopper to second, filling the bases. Thomas poked a single past second scoring Keith and C. Smith singled past third scoring Meyers. Thomas then fanned Denton to retire the side.

After two were out in the second, Thomas and Gordon walked and Thomas scored on Satterwhite's single to left for the Security run in that inning.

Keith found M. Smith on the bases in the third inning and golfed one far over the center fielder's head for a home run to account for the two runs in the third inning for the Macks.

Singles by Hogan, Thomas and C. Smith accounted for another Mackman run in the fourth inning.

Bankers Rally

The Bankers staged a rally in their half of the fourth which netted them three runs, but was not enough to win the game. Posies Reed led off with a neat bunt down the third base line. A walk to Gordon, a triple by Satterwhite and a single by Kellogg scored the three runs.

AMERICAN SETS DASH RECORD

Bowen Wins 200-Meter At Helsingfors

HELSINGFORS, July 28. (AP)—Pete Bowen, short distance running star of the American track and field team competing here, won the 200-meter dash today in 21.6 seconds, setting a new Finnish record. Bowen won the 100 and 400-meter events yesterday.

In the 200 meters Akilles Jarvinen, Finland, was second in 21.9 with three other Finns, Astrom, Koponen and Mattila, bringing up the rear.

Stephen Anderson of the University of Washington, another of the invading American stars, won the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.8 with Sjostedt, Finland, second.

Paul Vonck of Harvard was beaten in the hammer throw by Eriksson of Finland who made a heave of 47.93 meters or 157 feet, 3 5-128 inches. Vonck whirled the hammer 47.48 meters or 155 feet, 9 3-12 inches.

FINN SETS NEW MARK WITH JAVELIN

STOCKHOLM, July 28. (AP)—Mattie Jarvinen of Finland set a new world's record today by throwing the javelin 72.38 meters or 237 feet, 5 85-128 inches in an international track and field meet here. The former record was 232 feet, 11 5-8 inches, made by Lundquist of Sweden at Stockholm in 1928.

International Leaguers Defeat Pirates, 13 to 8

CROWD BOOS NATIVE BOXER

Wimbledon Cheers Georgian After Victory

By T. C. WATSON
Universal Service Special Cable

WIMBLEDON STADIUM, Eng., July 28.—W. L. "Young" Stribling, the Georgia heavyweight, legally accomplished the levelling of Phaintin' Phil Scott tonight when he knocked out the British fighter in the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

The way it ended is simple to describe. It was the usual Scott procedure without the claim and odor of "foul! foul!" coming from Philip's corner.

Strib Cheered, Scott Booed

Stribling let him have that one-two to the stomach and Philip went down to his knees, and Russel began the toll. He got to nine, and looked as sheepish as Scott. Then the referee hesitated, waved Scott into the ozone and announced Stribling the winner by a knockout. The second round lasted two minutes and 35 seconds.

The crowd gave Stribling a rousing cheer, which he acknowledged, and the cash customers booed Scott, who had been their favorite, with all their strength. He had skipped off to Norway to get a rest and vacation before his training, and the cry which the crowd raised as they toted Phil down the aisle to his dressing room was:

"Carry him back to Norway, folks, And carry him quick!"

Joe Beckett, always willing to recline in the limelight, announced he was willing to fight the Georgian for $2,500 a side, and the crowd had its biggest laugh of the night.

Four Falls in First

Stribling had the British heavyweight down four times in the first round, twice for counts of nine, pummeling Phil right in that dangerous mid-section that has spelled "lost on foul" for so many other boxers, but which meant victory for Jack Sharkey in the recent "battle of the itching palms at Miami."

The Georgian waded right in at the start, with his plan of attack well figured. He was intent on getting in those telling blows on that paper stomach of the Briton's, and he certainly landed them without any interruption.

Two wallops right to the pit of the stomach sent Scott down for his first siesta, and not many seconds later, another stomach assault found Phil holding anything but an envious position. Another jab on the button sent Scott to the floor for a count of eight, and he was on his knees as the bell rang, ending the round.

Strib Ducks Clinches

As they came out for the second stanza, Scott was cautious and tried to tie Stribling up in one clinch after the other. But the American refused to carry Philip around on his shoulders, breaking away easily and coming back to pepper the Briton with rights and lefts to the stomach and the chin.

Stribling jumped out of the way of Phil's timid lefts without effort, and Scott was warned twice for holding. As they came together again, Strib shot out that terrific right and Scott crumpled at the middle, swaying slightly. The Georgian finished him off and the fight was ended, in the same drizzle in which it began.

It was announced as an elimination contest for the heavyweight championship of the world. It certainly was an elimination contest.

Stribling entered the ring at 9:25 o'clock, at the time when the announcer was assuring the crowd that the fight was going to be "very nice." The American got little applause, but the crowd went wild over Scott when he appeared. Fannie Ward, Sophie Tucker and Joe Beckett were among those at the ringside.

Stribling scowled and Scott smiled as Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager, watched closely the tying of the gloves. The "boy bandit" had to buy a B. B. C. license in order to act as Scott's second, which didn't please him. Just before the gong rang, A. M. Russell was announced as the referee, and went into the ring to have the customary chit-chat with the principals.

Wimbledon whippet stadium, ordinarily devoted to other forms of dog racing, found the cheaper "five-mile-back" seats almost full and the ringside rapidly filling up as the cash customers threw peanuts at the tame preliminary fighters along about 8:30 o'clock.

Young Mr. Stribling appeared with Pa Stribling in tow, and calmly stood at one of the entrances for a moment, making no comment except that someone whispered that it wasn't such a full house.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 28. (AP)—An early advance in cotton on continued dry weather was followed by declines under realizing and liquidation which seemed to be coupled with some local and southern selling during today's later trading. The new October contract, after selling up to 12.95 early or 20 points net higher, broke to 12.56 and closed at 12.58. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 16 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 9 to 14 points in response to the relatively steady Liverpool cables and the failure of over Sunday weather reports to show any rain in southwestern sections.

The market showed increasing weakness in the late trading when, in addition to scattering liquidation, there appeared to be some local or Wall street selling and some selling for southern account. The new December declined to 12.72 and March to 13.03, making net losses of about 16 to 20 points, and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

A private crop report was published, placing the condition of the crop at 66.8, compared with 71.0 a month ago, and the indicated yield at 14,005,000 bales against 14,435,000 last year.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling, covering and continental buying on the southern weather news and said the larger inquiry for cotton cloths in Manchester was maintained. Exports today 2,873, making 6,812,620 so far this season. Port receipts 3,657; U. S. port stocks, 1,560,800.

Futures closed barely steady, 14 to 20 points lower; spot quiet; middling 12.75.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 28. (AP)—Cotton was dominated to a great extent by the weather today and after gaining 20 to 21 points in early trading on better cables than due and continued drouth in the Southwest eased off 30 to 31 points later. This reaction was due to selling and liquidation on a bearish construction of the official weather forecast and some hedge selling. A private authority reported the condition of the crop 66.3 against 71.0 a month ago and the indicated yield 14,005,000 bales. The market closed at or near the lowest, showing net losses for the day of 16 to 18 points.

Liverpool came in 6 to 8 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 10 points. The market continued to advance after the start on continued dry weather in the western belt and October traded up to 12.98 and December 13.15 or to 21 poins above the Saturday's close.

Later in the morning the market turned reactionary on a bearish view of the weather forecast and after mid-session there was some hedging which carried prices down further to 12.67 for October and 12.85 for December, or 30 to 31 points below the earlier highs. The market again made new lows at the end on active speculative selling, October dropping to 12.60 and December to 12.76 or 38 to 39 points down from the highs. The close was at or near the bottom and 16 to 18 points net lower for the week.

Port receipts 6,407; for week 10,546; for season 8,681,570; last season 9,538,844. Exports 2,673; for week 2,873; for season 6,629,898; last season 7,491,496. Port stock 1,572,597; last year 540,292; combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 26,547, last year 48,373. Ten spots sales at southern 1,688, last year 2,500.

Futures closed steady at net decline of 16 to 18 points.

Stocks Falter Momentarily Before Bear Drives but Hold Positions

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 28. (US)—The tock market hesitated today but failed to turn downward as bear attacks against individual issues succeeded in unsettling the list only temporarily. Many leading issues crossed their former highs since the June break and this encouraged the bulls in their belief that the market has definitely broken into new high ground and will achieve further advance. The average of leading industrials closed up about a point. Several times during the day the market was subjected to severe test. A renewed outburst of selling in Warner Bros., pictures, which had the earmarks both of liquidation and bear selling, created nervousness which caused general selling, but this failed to last. The market seemed to appreciate that the Warner situation is quite distinct either from the general market or the motion picture stock as a group. Safeway Stores was uncovered as another weak feature and broke rather sharply to a level which suggested its $5 dividend may not be any too secure. The public utilities, however, were brought to the fore as leaders and succeeded in maintaining confidence. The volume of transactions for the day mounted to over 2,400,000 shares.

Revival of activity and strength in the Electric Bond & Share group, including American & Foreign Power, Electric Power & Light, American Power & Light, and National Power & Light, was attributed by the bears to manipulation. It is understood, however, that Sidney Z. Mitchell, head of Electric Bond & Share company, has been very aggressive on the bull side of the mrket. It will be recalled that Electric Bond officials announced some time ago that it was accumulating its subsidiaries' stocks in the open market. Apparently Electric Bond has extensive plans which it hopes to complete within the next few months, before congress reconvenes. National Power will probably be the first in this group to announce the initial steps in its continued expansion. In American & Foreign Power it was reported that Durant was aggressive, but no operation in this stock can be successful without Electric Bond sanction. Electric Bond added to its holdings at much lower than current prices.

Steel common reached 170 but was unable to hold the price, closing off 1⅝ points at 168¼. This stock as a leader of the market has been displaced by other popular issues. Its second quarter report will be issued tomorrow afternoon and probably meet with expectations, somewhat over $6 a share for the half-year being likely. American Can, however, was able to reach a new high and hold most of its gain, interest in the stock being stimulated by announcement over the week-end of the formation of a new holding company for its British company, exclusively forecast here a fortnight ago. Under influence of the Warner weakness, the motion picture group was irregular. Warner broke to 38 on heavy offerings as it became more generally realized its $4 dividend is in danger of being reduced or turned into a stock payment. Paramount and Fox are declared by competent authorities to be the two fully rounded-out units in the motion picture industry.

Although gaining only fractionally, General motors was steadily bought by powerful interests. Motors, it is declared, is being groomed as leader of the next forward movement in the market. Favored by constant investment buying attracted by the yield of over 6 per cent and the favorable six-months' statement, the stock is likely to have a tremendous influence on the entire market if its sponsors succeed in their campaign. In this respect, General Motors is more important even than U. S. Steel, since a maintained advance in Motors would be accepted as forecasting an upturn in the all-important motor industry.

Interest in the oils was revived by large-scale trading in Phillips Petroleum, the result of appearance of its six months' statement, showing $1.70 per share earned, and talk of further expansion in the company's acitivities. Standard Oil of New Jersey, in which aggressive sponsorship is evidenced, reached a new high on its present upturn. American Smelting advanced over a point and Anaconda was also firm, responding to continued buying for the account of people close to both companies. It is understood that the copper situation is much more encouraging than generally believed to be the case. It was reported that American Smelting actually has declined a sizeable order from Europe calling for delivery of copper in December at 11⅝ cents, compared with the present price of 11.30 cents for export copper. A slight advance in price of the metal would not be surprising. Trans-America continued in supply and dropped over two points.

Interest was shown in all rayon fabrics as new prices based on the recent rayon yarn reductions were made. Interest in household cottons and various finished fabrics were reported. Future shipment burlaps advanced about $2 per bale with spots quiet. Wool goods markets experienced some scattered demand. Spot raw silks were quiet and slightly easier both here and in Japan.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 28. (AP)—Good demand both domestic and foreign was reported for wheat on the Fort Worth cash grain market Monday. Exporters were bidding 93@93½c, basis ordinary No. 1 export wheat delivered Texas gulf ports. Mill bids ranged 93½@94½c for ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points with 14 per cent protein drawing 94½@95c.

Fair demand was found for corn and oats while barley was slow sale. Offerings generally were light and more would have been difficult to sell. Sorghum trade was in like condition. Prices quoted in all these grains are largely nominal.

Estimated receipts for the two day period: Wheat, 191 cars; corn, 2; oats, 7; barley, 2; and sorghums, 1.

Bids and offers in coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, nominal No. 2 mixed 98½@99½c; No. 2 white $1.02½@1.03½; No. 2 yellow $1.01½@1.02.

Oats, No. 2 red 45@46c.

Barley, No. 2 nominally 57@58c.

Sorghums, nominal; No. 2 mile per 100 pounds $1.68@1.70; No. 2 Kaffir $1.58@1.60.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 97@98c; No. 2 white corn $1.01@1.02; No. 2 yellow corn $1.00@1.00½. No. 3 white oats 45@46c, to which add tone cent for delivery Texas group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 28. (AP)—The largest receipts of wheat so far this season in Chicago and the greatest ever in Omaha did much today to pull down the values of all cereals.

The price breaking effect was intensified by the circumstance that the United States wheat visible supply today increased much more than expected, being augmented 14,503,000 bushels for the last week. This amount greatly exceeding the enlargement either for the week previous or a year ago.

Wheat prices closed unsteady at virtually the day's bottom level, 1⅝@2c a bushel below Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1⅛@2⅝c down, oats ⅛@1c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

Corn prices today showed a maximum drop of 3¼c a bushel below Saturday's finish, but were rallying somewhat in the final transactions. Oats were affected chiefly by the action of other grains.

Provisions closed somewhat firmer, helped by the fact that the arrivals of hogs at western points were fewer than was the case a week ago or at this time last year.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept. 88¼, 90⅞@90¼c; Dec. 93¼@90⅝c, 95⅝@96c; March 98⅝c, $1.00⅛. Corn, July, bids, 83⅛, Sept. 83⅛, 86⅞@86⅞, Dec. 77½@77⅝c, 81½@81⅝c.

Soviet Commerce With U. S. Drops

MOSCOW, July 28. (INS)—A gloomy picture of the future of the United States-Soviet trade relations was painted by S. O. Zuckerman, chief of the export department of the Amtorg Trading corporation, New York, the Soviet purchasing and selling organization in the United States, following his return to Moscow for a visit.

American firms, he said, have become dizzy with success—the phrase which Joseph Stalin, proletarian director, used to describe the blundering actions of provincial Soviet officials during the period when the drive to socialize agriculture was apparently going over big.

"American firms got the impression that we need their business," he continued. "They reduced their credit terms so that we could not buy. Last year, in contrast, they gladly extended our promissory notes whenever we requested."

In the first six months of the present Soviet fiscal year, which began last October, Amtorg, he said, placed $60,000,000 worth of orders in the United States as compared with $72,000,000 for the whole of the preceeding year. But in April and May of this year orders dwindled from an average of $10,000,000 a month to $3,000,000 a month. He also said that German propaganda was responsible for the change in the American business man's attitude on credits to Russia.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 28. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Continued light receipts of cattle around the eleven market circuit had a stabilizing influence to the trade on the slaughter grades. Eastern dressed beef markets reported demand very slow but prices higher than the dull close of last week. Killing classes were generally steady to strong with spots higher on desirable weight fed steers and yearlings.

In between grades of steers with weight, however, moved slowly. Choice yearling steers at Kansas City and Chicago cleared at $10.50 while in Chicago best weighty steers realized $10.25. Good 1,350 lb. fed Kansas grassers at Kansas City landed at $8.40 and at the river markets sales of common to medium grass steers were completed from $4.50@7.25. Stocker and feeder classes were comparatively scarce with country demand rather quiet and prices little changed. Supplies approximated 49,800, a decrease of 8,500 from a week ago and 39,500 short of the corresponding day a year ago.

Lighter weights of hogs, 230 lbs. down, found a fairly active outlet at steady to 15c higher rates, but weightier offerings ruled steady to 15c lower. The day's extreme top of $9.50 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 93,200 as compared with 115,487 last Monday and 125,314 a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of sheep, estimated at 62,000, were 7,000 less than a week ago but 4,000 more than a year ago. Fat lambs were weak to unevenly lower with rangers off 25 to 50c. Some weakness also developed on aged stock. Range lambs at several markets cashed up to $8.75 with choice lots in Chicago still held above $9.00 at a late hour.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 28. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—The bulk of today's cattle run consisted of slaughter steers. Practically no sales were reported. Trade in butcher cows, low cutters, slaughter yearlings and other classes of cattle held about steady, but movement proved rather dull in all divisions of the market. Good to choice fat yearlings topped at $9.90 and some desirable fat cows sold around $4.85@5.00.

Not enough business was transacted in stock cattle to make a quotable market. Heavy calves of fairly good grades moved around $6.00 and some desirable strong weights sold at much the same prices. Cull sorts were peddled around $3.00@3.50.

Better grades of both rail and truck hogs sold mostly to shippers and small killers at prices around 10c higher, occasional sales of good truck hogs showing advances of 10c@15. Best truck hogs brought $9.00 and bulk of the desirable truck hogs, light and medium weights, changed hands from $8.75@9.00.

Mutton sheep and feeder yearlings again formed bulk of the sheep and lamb receipts. Some desirable fat yearlings were included in the small supplies and these sold at $4.50, about 50c under values at last week's close. Aged fat wethers, slaughter lambs and feeder yearlings held about steady. Good aged fat wethers brought $4.00; several decks of feeder yearlings moved at $3.00 and $3.25 and truck lots of good fat lambs were reported up to $7.25.

FORT WORTH, July 28. (AP)—(U. S. Department Agriculture)—Hogs — Receipts 1,200; around 10c higher, some truck sales 10@15c higher; good to choice 199-pound rail hogs $9.10; top truck hog $9.10; packing sows $7.00; feeders $8.00.

Cattle—Receipts 3,200, including 1,800 calves; practically no slaughter steers sold during forenoon; scattered bids denoting lower values; other classes slaughter cattle rather slow, good to choice fed yearlings $9.50; good fat cows up to $4.85 and above; low cutters $2.50 to $3.00; bulls very scarce; stocker trade dull; slaughter calves slow, barely steady; good heavies and strong weights around $6.00.

Sheep—Receipts 3,000; fat yearlings $4.50; about 5c under last week; aged wethers, feeder yearlings and slaughter lambs about steady; good aged fat wethers $4.00; feeder yearlings $3.00 and $3.25; good fat lambs up to $7.25.

CHICAGO, July 28. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts 38,000; steady; top $9.50; bulk $8.25@9.45; heavy $8.15@9.00; medium $8.65@9.45; light $9.15@9.50; light lights $9@9.45; packing sows $7@7.75; pigs $8@9.00; holdovers 2,000.

Cattle—Receipts 10,000; 25c higher. Calves—Receipts 2,000; steady. Beef steers: Good and choice $9@10.50; common and medium $5@8.50; yearlings $5@10.50. Butcher cattle: Heifers $4.50@10.00; cows $3.75@8.00; bulls $5@8.50; calves $10@12.00; feeder steers $6@8.00; stocker steers $4.50@7.50; stocker cows and heifers $4@6.50.

Sheep—Receipts 10,000 steady; medium and choice lambs $9@9.85; culls and common $5@7.00; yearlings $6@8.50; common and choice ewes $2@4.00; feeder lambs $6@7.25.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts 600; calves 300; steady with last week's close; slaughter steers $4.50@5.50; grass steers $3.50@4.00; butcher cows and light sausage bulls $3.50@4.00; choice veals $6.00@7.00.

Hogs—Receipts 900; bidding higher; top $9.30; packing sows and stags $7.00.

KANSAS CITY, July 28. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs—Receipts 7,000; steady to 10c higher; top $9.10; packing sows $6.50@7.25; stock pigs, $8.00@8.85.

Cattle—Receipts 10,000; calves 3,000; matured fed steers and western grass cattle very slow; other classes steady; top yearling steers and fed heifers $10.50; steers, good and choice, 600-900 pounds, $8.50@10.75; 900-1,500 pounds $7.75@10.75; common and medium, 600 pounds up $4.00@8.50; heifers, good and choice, 550-850 pounds $8.50@10.75; cows, good and choice $5.25@7.25; vealers, milk fed, medium to choice $5.50@5.90; stocker and feeder steers, good and choice, $8.50@8.75.

Sheep—Receipts 9,000; lambs 25@50c lower; sheep around 25c lower; lambs, good and choice 90 pounds down, $7.50@8.75; ewes, medium to choice, 150 pounds down, $2.00@3.50.

"STEP-CHILD" BY ROB EDEN

helped Kay to the curb, his arm chummily on hers. The grasp, however, was not a chummy one. His fingers gripped her flesh until it ached.

Headquarters was almost deserted. No one in the halls, and only a few of the glass doors lighted on the main floor. Kay noticed it was 1 o'clock by a big clock on the wall. She hoped vaguely she wouldn't be late for work in the morning—then smiled grimly to herself. She might never go back to Dane's office. She might be kept—here.

Looks Sharply

"Here she is, chief," Grant announced as they passed through an open door into a room where several men were sitting smoking.

"Thought you'd lost her," the chief grumbled. He looked at Kay sharply.

"Didn't want to take the chance on phoning after once I had her. Too risky, so I brought her along."

"Good. Well, Kitty, how does it feel?"

Someone pushed over a chair, and the girl fell into it. She was so weak she felt she couldn't stand up another second.

"She denied, of course, she was Kitty Banning," Grant told his chief, who nodded, and remarked that she would.

The "Chief," too, was sure. Sure like Jake Whalen had been. Kay's heart sank. Her hope was leaving her fast. The chief had seen her before . . . knew her in a million . . .

"Now, Kitty, you're not going to get away this time. And you're going to answer some questions for me. See?" The chief was emphatic. Kay learned soon that his name was Ralf, detective inspector. He had a blustering, positive air that frightened her. Now, with his great bulk, for he was as large as Grant, he seemed a giant. His fist came down with a bang on the roll top desk. A few pencils scattered to the floor.

"Are you going to answer them willingly, or do you want to go downstairs for awhile, and wait until you do? You're going to stay here, until you tell me all you know, if it's 10 years. You're going to tell me everything about Mandell!"

"I never heard of him," Kay stammered.

"Him? Who said Mandell was a man? Mrs. Mandell, and you know it."

"I never heard of her then—" What difference did it make what she said?

Why, if she really was Kitty Banning, as Ralf, as Jim Whalen said, could she not remember something of Kitty's past? Why did it seem so impossible? So unfamiliar?

"Don't give me that line, Kitty. I won't have it. You know Mandell well enough, and I know your tricks."

"Detective Grant said you had a picture of Kitty Banning here!" Kay was eager now. Hope again. Fresh hope. "Could I see it? I want to know—"

"Want to know what?"

"I just want to see it—"

"You're stalling for time," Ralf accused sternly. "What's this you got here?" He tore Dane's overcoat from her hands. "Man's overcoat? What's the idea? Steal it?"

"No—" her strength was gone and she was sobbing aloud.

"She's breaking, chief," she heard Grant say to Ralf. "Kitty Banning isn't the crying kind. She's breaking—"

Tomorrow—Kay demands photographs.

Mexican Sought in Stabbing of Woman

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—Police searched today for a Mexican who stabbed Mrs. Joyce Overton last night on a downtown street. Opal Verton, 13, the victim's daughter, said the assault was made by a masked man while the two were returning from a store.

Mrs. Overton, whose condition was described as critical, said she had trouble with two Mexican women campers recently.

Two Oklahomans Die From Poison Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28. (UP)—The source of prison liquor that caused two deaths here Sunday was being traced today by police.

Physicians said two men taken to hospitals died shortly after being admitted, from effects of poison liquor, "probably wood alcohol." The victims were Charles Gilbert and Emil S. Fross, both laborers.

Burk Band to Give Free Concert Programs

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 28. Through the courtesy of the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce and for the amusement of Burkburnett folk and its many visitors on Saturday evening, the prize-winning band of the Burkburnett High school has started a series of band concerts which are being presented on Main street. E. L. Nichols, who is recognized as one of the most outstanding band directors in Texas and Oklahoma, is supervisor of the local band. The band has achieved high honors in practically every contest it has entered.

PENN POOL TO CURB OUTPUT

Operators Agree to Hold Yield to 10,275 Barrels

FORT WORTH, July 28. (AP) — Penn pool operators agreed to prorate production from the Ector county area to 10,275 barrels daily beginning August 1, which is the amount four pipe line companies purchasing oil elect to run. The agreement was reached at a meeting of the Ector County Proration Advisory committee meeting in Fort Worth today.

A four day gauge of 51 wells in the Penn pool show actual potential to be 20,997 barrels daily. There are 32 units of 40-acres each and proration will be based 100 per cent on average potential in units. In units where the ratio of curtailment restricts output below 150 barrels daily, special concession to permit that production from each well will be provided.

W. L. Todd, vice president of the Simms Oil company, Dallas, was in charge of the meeting.

FLOYD CASTS HEAVY VOTE

Hot Runoff Contests Seen Under Tabulations

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, July 18.—Democrats of Floyd county Saturday piled up the heaviest vote in the history of the county with the probability that the total will run in close proximity to 3,500. In so doing, they gave clear title to several nominations for county and precinct candidates.

In this battle of the ballots two of the present incumbents of office in this county were unseated according to the figures that have been tabulated. These are T. P. Guimeran, who was beaten by Roy O'Brien for district clerk, and Robert Sone, who was defeated by Toney Maxey for county attorney.

Results in Brief

The tabulations show the following results in brief for Floyd county: For county judge, John Howard is leading the present incumbent, Will McGehee, and will be his opponent in the runoff. For sheriff, P. G. Stegall, the present incumbent, will be in the runoff with Fred Clark. Stegall has a slight lead in the votes tabulated.

Tom W. Deen, the present county clerk, is the winner over T. W. Davidson and will be the nominee for re-election in the general election in November. In the county treasurer's race, Mrs. Maud Merrick retains her place in the office with a tremendous majority over Mrs. Porterfield.

For county superintendent, Price Scott, present incumbent, and Miss Ola Hanna, will be in the runoff campaign in August. For county tax assessor, Joe M. Day and Roe McCleskey will be the runoff team. For county tax collector, C. M. Meredith and Jess Wood will be in the runoff. Merredith, however, has a heavy lead over Woods.

Commissioners Race

Geo. A. Lider was nominated for county surveyor. In the county commissioners race for precinct No. 1, E. W. Henderson and W. F. Weatherbee will be in the runoff. In precinct No. 2, T. Z. Reed and E. R. Harris will be in the runoff. In commissioners precinct No. 3 there was no opponent to Milage Taylor, the present incumbent. In commissioners precinct No. 4, Geo. L. Fawver and Joe P. Hart will be in the runoff.

The figures for Floyd county as tabulated are as follows for the various county offices:

District judge, Kenneth Bain of Floydada, 1,289; Jeff D. Ayres of Floydada, 752; H. C. A. Brummett of Dickens, 696. District attorney, Jack Folley of Floydada, 2,977. District clerk, T. P. Guimeran, 1,108; Roy O'Brien, 1,658. County judge, John W. Howard, 1164; W. H. Henderson, 905; Will McGehee, 976. County clerk, Tom W. Deen, 1692; T. W. Davidson, 1400.

Stegall Leads

For sheriff, J. A. Grigsby, 607; Fred Clark, 1241; P. G. Stegall, 1264. For county attorney, Robert Stone, 1315; Toney Maxey, 1645. County treasurer, Mrs. H. N. Porterfield, 673; Mrs. Maud Merrick, 2410. County superintendent, J. B. Allen, 570; Price Scott, 1007; Miss Ola Hanna, 1005; Gilpin, 506.

County assessor, Roe McCleskey, 1028; A. A. Tubbs, 877; Joe M. Day, 1214. Tax collector, A. J. White, 408; C. M. Merredith, 1467; J. G. Wood, 634; Earl Rainer, 610. County surveyor, George A. Lider, 411. County chairman, Judge J. N. Stalbird, of Lockney, 3005.

Commissioner precinct No. 1, E. C. King, 304; E. W. Henderson, 577; W. F. Weatherbee, 452. Commissioner precinct No. 2, J. F. Dollar, 54; Sims, 92; Cooper, 88; Harris, 211; Bryant, 41; Reed, 308. Commissioner precinct No. 3, Taylor, 216. Commissioner precinct No. 4, Lyles, 78; Hart, 143; Anderson, 64; Nickels, 72; Spence, 37; Fawyer, 143.

$5,000 Suit Filed In Trolley-Ambulance Crash

The first damage suit growing out of the crash between an Albert's ambulance and a street car at Thirteenth and Holliday streets a few weeks ago, which resulted in injuries to several persons, was filed here Monday when Joe Jeter, who alleges was a passenger on the street car, brought suit against the Wichita Falls Traction company and Albert Liemkuehler, operator of the ambulance, on a claim to damages of $5,000.

Jeter claims he was thrown against a seat or some other object in the street car when the crash occurred. The force of the impact, his petition states, caused sprain in the ligaments of his back which have forced him to stop work and which will not permit him to earn as much in the future. He claims both the street car operator and the ambulance driver could have seen each other "if they had exercised ordinary care." He further claims the ambulance "was moving at an excessive and dangerous rate of speed in violation of the laws of Texas."

Father of Wichitan Dies in Clarinda, Iowa

Funeral services for W. S. Potts, father of Mrs. N. H. Martin, 2014 Eleventh street, who died in a Clarinda, Iowa, hospital Monday morning following a brief illness, will be held in that city at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, according to word received here.

Mr. Martin left Wichita Falls after receiving word of Mr. Potts' illness and arrived in Clarinda Monday morning. Mrs. Martin having already journeyed to the bedside from Denver, Colo., where she was on a vacation trip at the time she received news of her father's illness. Jack H. Martin and E. C. Potts of Vernon, a son of the deceased, left by airplane Sunday afternoon in order to reach the bedside.

Besides the daughter here and the son in Vernon, Mr. Potts is survived by his widow and another son, Harry Potts of Shanghai, China.

To insure having seed available for certification, Roy Weber of Iredell county, N. C., hand-picked four acres of wheat.

Midget Killed by Car After Battle With Rival Dwarf Over Woman

DETROIT, July 28. (INS)—Members of a troupe of midgets playing at a downtown theater are being questioned by police today about a boxing match from which one of the participants, Joseph Pozer, a dwarf 28 years old and two and a half feet tall, walked to his death in front of an automobile here.

Attaches at the theater said that Pozer and his opponent in the ring, Eddie Bures, three feet tall, were jealous of the attentions each had been paying a woman midget and fellow trouper. The midgets pummeled each other severely, police learned from spectators.

A few minutes after the fight the smaller midget walked into the front of an automobile.

Police said that Pozer was apparently dazed as the result of the fight.

Operators of Miniature Golf Courses Ask Later Closing Hour

Members of the city council and the city attorney took under advisement Monday night a plea entered by E. W. Napier, attorney for owners of miniature golf courses here, asking for amendment of the ordinance passed on July 21 to set the closing hour at least 45 minutes later than that named in the measure last week.

Protesting on behalf of the owners of such courses, Mr. Napier described the section of the ordinance requiring that lights be out by 11 p. m. as "unreasonable, and disastrously expensive to operators of these legitimate business places in that it cuts off much business daily."

Decision Deferred

The council was asked to amend the ordinance to read that selling of clubs must cease at 11 o'clock, and that lights must be out by 11:45 p. m. Owners of two local courses also were present, and added their statements to that of Mr. Napier. One declared that closing of the miniature courses so that lights must be extinguished at 11 o'clock causes a loss of from $8 to $10 daily at his course, resulting in his operation at a loss. At the other course, it was said, reflectors have been ordered for all outside lights, so that the light will be thrown straight to the ground instead of shining in the windows of nearby residences. After prolonged discussion in which all members of the council participated, Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. announced that decision of the council on the petition would be deferred until Tuesday.

The Security National bank was awarded the designation as city depository for the coming fiscal year, specifying in their bid a rate of 3¼ per cent interest to be paid on the daily balance, and fixing a rate of 6 per cent on the city's warrants.

A petition filed by Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Badgley, 2210 Grant street, for permission to establish a miniature golf course at that address, was granted upon the recommendation of George D. Fairtrace, city manager. Written permission of property owners and residents supported the petition, it was stated.

An application was received by the council from George W. Dimock, 1500 Eighth street, asking permission to erect a gasoline filling station at that address. The petition will be advertised during the coming week and any protests of property owners against issuance of a permit will be heard next Monday night, according to the action of the council.

Bat Invades Room

Ordinance 1037, to provide for refunding $640,000 worth of 5 per cent water bonds payable on Aug. 10, was passed on its first reading. The meeting recessed to reconvene upon call of the mayor at a later date this week.

Aldermen R. O. Harvey, J. H. Prothro, J. M. Spoonts, and C. E. McCutchen; Mr. Fairtrace, Mr. Nelson, W. E. McBroom, city clerk, and Thelbert Martin, city attorney, attended Monday night's meeting.

During the heated argument concerning the closing hour for miniature golf courses, proceedings were completely halted for several minutes while a large bat cut elaborate "figure-eights" at a level so low that the city fathers were dodging his thrusts more assiduously than the petitioners' arguments. The unsociable animal finally was captured and removed by P. B. Roberts.

NEW CITIZEN

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lazenby announce the birth of a son, Robert Clarke, at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Monday shortly after noon.

TEXAN KILLED IN CAR CRASH

Donna Youth Dies After Collision

HARRISONVILLE, Mo., July 28. (INS)—Lloyd Brown, 19, Donna, Texas, died in a hospital here today following an automobile crash eight miles south of here. Henry Bruner, Kansas City, Kan., driver of the other car, also was injured but not seriously.

Brown, accompanied by his sister, Violet Brown, 18, was returning to their Texas home in a Ford coupe after a visit with relatives and friends near Strasburg, Mo. The Browns formerly lived in Missouri.

Shamrock Negro Sentenced to Die

and vicinity was tense for several days after Mrs. Vaughan was found dying, her head crushed with an iron pipe.

Plowing in Field

Vaughan told the jury he was plowing in his field on the day of the tragedy and had sent the negro Washington, who was working for him, to the house to get water. Later he was attracted by his 12-year-old brother, George, who was running toward him waving a shotgun which, he said, the boy had obtained after finding Mrs. Vaughan mortally hurt.

His testimony was corroborated by George Vaughan.

Dr. J. W. Gooch of Shamrock said Mrs. Vaughan's skull had been fractured and her head beaten almost to a pulp. He said she had not been criminally assaulted.

Prosecutors exhibited to the jury a piece of blood-stained pipe they said was used in clubbing Mrs. Vaughan.

Sheriff McKinney of Collingsworth county, on the witness stand, told of taking the negro from the Vaughan home before a mob formed and going to Hollis, Okla., where he was joined by Sheriff Ed Smith. The officers then drove to Childress, Texas, where Smith stayed with the negro while McKinney went to Wellington and returned with County Attorney L. E. Gribble.

Confession Obtained

After Gribble had obtained Washington's confession, Sheriff Smith took the negro to the Granite reformatory by way of Hollis. Several days later, McKinney testified, he dressed as an oil field worker and took Washington from Granite to Pampa, Texas, where Texas state rangers took him.

Washington's confession showed he was 21 and had worked on a farm adjoining that of Vaughan. He said he went into the Vaughan house and attempted to attack Mrs. Vaughan who attacked him. He struck her several times and left her dying, the confession said.

Sheriff McKinney testified he traced Washington by tracks of a horse which Washington had ridden to the Vaughan farm.

Vaughan had faced and identified the negro after the slaying but had not tried to shoot him although Vaughan was carrying a gun, McKinney said.

HOBART POSSE SEEKS SLAYER

HOBART, Okla., July 28. (UP)—Armed posses tonight continued their search throughout Southwestern Oklahoma for Fred Wallace, identified as the negro who shot and killed Al Trentham, city watchman, here last night.

Trentham, who died today from shock and loss of blood, told authorities Wallace fired when he attempted to arrest him on a charge of drunkenness. Wallace escaped, but his brother, Tom, was held as a material witness.

Officers said they feared no racial disturbances as a result of the shooting.

DeMolays to Hold Dance Tuesday Night

A dance for all DeMolays and invited guests will be given Tuesday night in the Maskat temple auditorium atop the City National building by the members of Hope chapter of the order, according to an announcement issued Monday by John Cole, scribe of the chapter.

The dance will begin at 9 o'clock, with music provided by the Little Rovers orchestra. Admission will be free to all DeMolays in good standing and their invited guests, Mr. Cole said. The event is part of the Hope chapter program of summer activities.

MRS. MAGGIE WALLACE

Mrs. Maggie Wallace, 75, of Hamlin, Texas, died in a local hospital about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Mrs. Wallace had been brought to Wichita Falls from her home some time ago for treatment. The body was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary. A son, O. L. Wallace, also of Hamlin, arrived here Monday evening to make arrangements for forwarding the body to Hamlin Tuesday morning.

OIL MEN HEAR CLAUDE WILDE

Independent Program Aired At Graham

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, July 28.—Approximately 150 oil operators, royalty holders and Young county business men assembled in the Memorial auditorium here Monday night to hear Claud C. Wilde of Fort Worth, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum association of Texas.

Mr. Wilde outlined the history, purposes and problems of the organization, emphasizing the community of interests between the major companies and the independent operators.

The speaker declared that the independants are eager to cooperate with the major producers, quoting Tom Cranfill, president of the association, to the effect that the independants will agree to any program of curtailment provided that the major companies will similarly curtail their foreign production and importation.

"The organization has no radical ideas or program," Mr. Wilde asserted.

R. V. Tidwell, president of the Graham National bank, discussed the importance of the oil industry in Graham, giving figures to show that 75 per cent of the bank deposits come directly or indirectly through the industry.

A round table discussion, with D. H. Howlin presiding, followed the formal addresses.

Races Unchanged In County Vote

G. Oneal in the lead with Ruben Loftin of Henrietta second.

FINAL COUNTY VOTE LEAVES RACES UNCHANGED

Completion of the total unofficial returns from each of Wichita county's 45 voting boxes Monday made practically no changes in the outcome of the various races as previously reported, with the exception that Perry Browning's majority over Bralley and Hodgins for sheriff was increased to 85, definitely establishing Browning's nomination to the office.

Allan D. Montgomery's majority over J. W. Akin for 30th district judge was augmented Monday by additional returns from Young and Archer counties, Montgomery having carried each of the three counties in the district.

Irvin J. Vogel, candidate for re-election to county judge at law, received the largest individual vote of any county candidate, defeating E. E. Fischer almost three to one.

Official totals in the county will be announced following the called meeting of the county Democratic executive committee at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Judge Edgar Scurry, chairman, also called the county convention for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The new executive committeemen will take office following the second primary. Bert King, attorney here, defeated J. R. Ogle for the chairmanship and 28 of the "regular" Democrats won over their opponents, giving them control over the committee of 45.

Father of Wichitan Dies on Visit Here

W. R. Adams, 79, of Lufkin, Texas, died at the home of his son, A. B. Adams, 1826 Collins street, about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon following a brief illness which struck him shortly after he arrived here for a visit with his children in this city two weeks ago.

The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undrtaking company and was forwarded at 2 a. m. Tuesday to Hortense, Texas, the old family home, for interment there.

Besides the son here, Mr. Adams is survived by three other sons, B. F. Adams of Corrigan, Texas, J. O. Adams of Fort Worth and W. B. Adams of Sour Lake, Texas; and four daughters, Mrs. Hattie Parrish of Wichita Falls, Mrs. J. L. Jennings of Pasadena, Texas, Mrs. Susona Mayer of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. T. Parrish of Port Arthur.

FOARD PICKS COUNTY ROSTER

Heavy Vote Leaves Three Runoff Races

Special to The Record News

CROWELL, Texas, July 28. — A heavy vote in the Foard county races Saturday brought decisive victories in all but three county races where runoffs are scheduled in the second primary August 23.

Claude Calloway is leading Judge J. E. Atcheson, incumbent, in the race for county judge. M. M. Hart, Jr., having been eliminated.

Vernon Pyle heads the ticket in the tax assessor's race, with Pete Bell his runoff opponent. Mrs. Ella Rucker was the third candidate.

W. F. Thompson, present commissioner for precinct 4, will oppose T. S. Patton in the runoff. T. J. Tates trailed the ticket.

A. D. Wisdom, present commissioner from precinct 1, was re-nominated over the opposition of Roy Todd and J. C. Hysinger held his post as commissioner from precinct 2, defating Hiram Gray. The present board was again upheld in the victory of E. V. Halbert over A. B. Stears. In the race for justice of the peace in Crowell, J. W. Clabber defeated E. F. Henry.

Unopposed candidates nominated in the Saturday primary includes two new men, A. P. McGee as county and district clerk and R. D. Oswalt as county attorney. Q. R. Miller was re-nominated sheriff and tax collector and Miss Margaret Curtis renamed for county treasurer.

Atlanta's Census Dispute Renewed

WASHINGTON, July 28. (AP)—The long disputed question of whether the city of Atlanta should be counted in the 1930 census at its "greater" or its "borough only" figure was brought to attention again today by the census bureau announcement of Georgia totals.

The official summary of Georgia preliminary figures listed Atlanta among the principal cities as "Atlanta (Borough) 266,559, increase 65,943 or 32.9 per cent."

The greater Atlanta figure 359,668 was not included in the summary.

Queried as to whether this meant the greater Atlanta figure would not be used in comparison with other cities, Director William M. Stewart said:

"It was exactly what you see there."

The legal decision on the Atlanta figure was pending before the solicitor of the census bureau, he added.

"Dear Aunt Bella:

"Just noticed in this morning's paper the free advertising given William Powell, in which you give him credit for perfect imitation of every gesture of a New York attorney in his current picture here.

"You have never been north of Henrietta; how do you know what gestures are made by New York attorneys? Answer me that.

"Clara Bow."

Because Clara didn't leave her address, the answer is also printed here. Clara, incidentally, is apparently trying to attract William Powell's attention so she can mount him as Specimen No. 9 along with Harry Richman and Rex Bell and the Dallas doctor. But Aunt Bella strives to please, tee-hee, and cheerfully answers:

"Dear Clara:

"A Clay county girl like me and an East Side red-head like you ought to agree on lots of things. As for gestures, I can only judge by those who visit the Southwest (at least, he said he was a New York attorney!) You and Harry must come over to see me.

"Aunt 'Little Nell' Bella."

C.-C. Members Attend Iowa Park Fair Meet

About 15 members of the Junior chamber of commerce and John Boswell, manager, attended a called meeting of the Iowa Park chamber or commerce at that place Monday night when preliminary plans for the annual Wichita county fair were adopted.

The Wichita Falls delegation participated in the meeting at the invitation of Dr. Gordon Clark, president of the Iowa Park organization, and pledged the cooperation of the local chamber of commerce in staging the county fair in September.

Those who went to Iowa Park for the meeting were Jerry Vinson, president; Wilburn Page, secretary; Mr. Boswell, Walter Nelson Jr., W. P. Lacey, Paul Montgomery, J. E. Winegart, Allan D. Montgomery, Dick Dewey, P. R. Freeman, Milburn Nutt, Dick Kenley, Maurice Cheek, I. H. McCarty, and Clyde Greer.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. M. D. Berlien

Funeral services for Mrs. M. D. Berlien, 67, who died in Colorado Springs following an emergency operation Thursday, were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Loggie, 1010 Brook avenue, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. J. D. Barron of the First Methodist church officiating. Interment was in Rosemont under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

Active pallbearers included J. D. Bright, Bert Broady, J. M. Shook, W. T. Johnson, Charles E. Borland, and R. B. Baker.

Mrs. Berlien is survived by her husband; a son, C. M. Berlien of Crane, Texas; and a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Loggie of this city.

Boy Sits Atop Giant Cactus as Latest Endurance Feat

YUMA, Ariz., July 28. (UP)—On an old immigrant trail crossed by the gold seekers in 1849, Lawrence Peters, 13-year-old newsboy, perched atop a giant sagharo cactus today and defied the desert sun.

Lawrence, who spends his time playing solitaire, told his ground crew he intended to stay up 100 hours. He passed his 56th hour at midnight, undaunted by weather ranging from 108 degrees of heat to a drenching rain and electrical storm.

HEAT ADJOURNS MERGER TRIAL

Judge, Distracted, Recesses Steel Suit

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 28. (INS)—Adjournment of trial of the billion-dollar lawsuit over the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation, was suddenly called by Judge David G. Jenkins in common pleas court here today because of the oppressive heat.

Showing the strain of the long hearing in the stuffy overcrowded courtroom, Judge Jenkins explained to attorneys in the case that he has had no sleep for the last two nights.

Adjournment of the trial came just as anti-merger attorneys in the case were getting their fifth week's offensive against the merger under way. They were resuming their attack on the legality of proxies and ballots voted in favor of the merger at the sheet and tube stockholders meeting last April 8.

Walter E. Meub, secretary-treasurer of Sheet and Tube, was called to the witness stand to testify regarding details of the election procedure April 8 when the merger was approved.

Anti-merger attorneys indicated today that Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier and generalissimo of the forces opposing the combine, will be called to the witness stand later this week.

Present indications are that the hearing over the merger will consume at least two more weeks.

SIX HELD IN BANK HOLDUP

Chase Through Texas Canyon Traps Suspects

STINNETT, Texas, July 28. (UP)—After an automobile chase through a canyon near here last night which ended in the arrest of five men and one woman and the discovery of $1,200 in canyon caches officers today believed they had a solution to the recent robbery of a bank at Edna, Kan.

THREE SUSPECTS ADMIT IDENTITY

PARSONS, Kan., July 28. (AP)—The sheriff at Stinnett, Texas, today informed Undersheriff Earl Johnston here that three of the men held there as suspects in the Edna, Kan., bank robbery admitted they are the three whose identity was learned by Oklahoma and Kansas officers shortly after the bank was robbed of approximately $2,000 last Thursday.

They are Alvin Payten, George Magnes and John Nichols. A fourth man of the group who held up the bank is believed to be named Magnes also, Johnston said.

A member of the Labette county sheriff's force and an employe of the bank probably will leave tomorrow for Stinnett in an effort to identify the men.

Negro Student Death Avenged

White Man Convicted of Manslaughter

ATLANTA, Ga., July 28. (AP)—T. L. Martin, one of seven white men charged with the murder of Dennis Hubert, young negro college student, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a jury in superior court today. Sentence from 12 to 15 years in state prison was recommended.

The negro youth, a divinity student, was shot to death June 15 at a public school.

The state charged he was killed without provocation by a party of seven men while the defense pleaded that the men went to the school grounds to hold the negro for officers after he was alleged to have insulted two white women.

The case aroused unusual interest because of events following the slaying. Within a short time the home of Rev. G. J. Hubert, father of the youth, was burned. A few days later a mass meeting of negroes held in a church was broken up with a tear gas bomb, which police said was hurled by white men. A few days later an attempt was made on the life of Rev. Charles D. Hubert, cousin of Dennis.

The six other men await trial for the slaying.

Ambulance Driver Finds Own Wife in Crash

HOUSTON, July 28. (AP)—Raymond Hobbs, ambulance driver, rushed in his machine today in answer to a "hot shot" to find his wife had been hurt in a collision.

Mrs. Hobbs received a broken nose when her car collided with an automobile driven by Mrs. G. M. Crawford. Hobbs took his wife home.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address On Need for Judicial Reform in Texas

Contributions of the legal profession to judicial reform and improvement in federal and state statutes were commended by W. E. Fitzgerald, attorney, in an address before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Fitzgerald's talk, he said, was occasioned by an editorial which appeared recently in the Wichita Daily Times relative to the need for judicial reform. One phase in the editorial to which he took exception, according to the speaker, states that "lawyers in the legislature do not want judicial reform."

"There are two kinds of criticism," the speaker said, "One seeks the truth; the other is based on false premises and does not go far enough. Any criticism designed to antagonize any special class is futile.

"I hold no brief for my profession, but every worthwhile judicial reform has been sponsored and put through by the legal profession. All the improvements in the federal and state statutes have been the result of the work of lawyers.

"Criticism is too often based on prejudice, as in the matter of voting as well. Too many of us vote to defeat a candidate rather than to elect one.

"In my judgment, the judicial system is not so far wrong except in its administration, which is in the hands of the voters. A different method of electing judges, possibly in a convention rather than in the regular primary, would make more efficient judges.

"The trial judge is the most important element in judicial procedure, and his selection should be made more carefully."

Mr. Fitzgerald was introduced by Wiley S. Brown, program chairman. Clarinet solos by Rowan Fisher, accompanied by Mrs. J. E. O'Brien, were included in Monday's program.

Dr. H. T. Wood and Roy Grimes were named as delegates to the annual district Kiwanis convention at Lubbock on Aug. 1 and 2, with Dr. Austin F. Leach and A. A. Spencer as alternates. P. M. Cordell, district trustee, is ex-officio delegate.

Wichita Girl Sixth In Beauty Revue

Miss Virginia Stinson, winner of first place in a bathing beauty revue held here on July 18 under the auspices of the Junior chamber of commerce at Lakeside park, was adjudged winner of sixth place in the Pageant of Pulchritude held Sunday afternoon, July 27, at Lake Casino park, Fort Worth, it was announced Monday.

Miss Stinson competed Sunday with 44 other entries representing practically all of North and Central Texas, it was said. Sixth place carried with it a prize of $25 in cash.

First, second and third places in the pageant were awarded to representatives of San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth, respectively, it was said. According to those who accompanied "Miss Wichita Falls" to Fort Worth, winners of the first three awards have had extensive experience on the stage, and scored materially with the judges because of superior showmanship.

FRECKLES

Magic Treatment Fades Away Unsightly Freckles

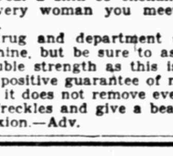

It is surprisingly easy now to remove those rusty little spots that blemish your skin. No time-taking frills, no long-drawn-out treatments. In only a few days you can banish your freckles and restore the natural dazzling whiteness of your skin.

Simply get a jar of Othine double strength and put a little of the dainty white cream on your freckles at night before you go to bed. Then look for results in two or three days. Almost before you realize it, your freckles will be gone!

It is always the exquisite skin that freckles, remember. If you remove those ugly little brown spots, you reveal a skin so enchantingly fair, every woman you meet will envy it.

All drug and department stores sell Othine, but be sure to ask for the double strength as this is sold with a positive guarantee of money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and give a beautiful complexion.—Adv.

who live with relatives of another name, most always depend on their friends' memories for telephone calls.

Because usually telephone numbers are listed with the name of the head of the family.

If you are "just another member of the family," it isn't necessary that you depend on unreliable memories for calls. All you need do to have calls directed to you...surely...swiftly...is have your name listed with the number of the telephone at your home.

In telephone language, what you need is an additional family listing.

Bill Thompson, for instance, lives with his father-in-law, John Burns. But he finds an additional listing helpful socially as well as in business.

The directory reads under the B's:

Burns John r 3600 Main.....2-1999

Under the T's:

Thompson William r 3600 Main.....2-1999

The cost is slight...25 cents a month.

Additional listings are money-getters, too . . . . .

Osborn Johnson's law firm is listed thus:

Adams Kennedy & Johnson attys 314 Main.....3-1099

But persons, who don't remember the firm name, find Johnson has an additional business listing:

Johnson Osborn atty 314 Main.....3-1099

Thomas White, painter, prevents loss or delay of calls when he is away from his shop. An alternate call listing directs calls to his home:

White Thomas paintr 411 Oak.....3-1899
(If no answer, call 3-2899)

* * *

Adam G. Youngman, contracting engineer, only is in his office early in the morning and late in the afternoon. He loses no calls because he lists his office hours:

Youngman Adam G contrg engr 420 Gray.....3-1200
Office hours 8 to 9 AM 4 to 5 PM

Because most people know him as "Tony," George F. McClure, life insurance salesman, has a duplicate listing:

McClure George F ins Arcade bldg.....1-1200
McClure Tony ins Arcade bldg.....1-1200

The extra charge for any of these listings is the same...25 cents a month.
