

Sam Lemley, Long Time Community Leader, Dies

Sam Lemley, 72 a leader in the community life of the Loco area for 40 years, until his health failed, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday November 27, at 7:35 a. m. He had suffered from a heart ailment for several years and his condition had grown worse during the past two years. He was critically ill for only a few days before his death, however.

Mr. Lemley had lived in this county altogether for 45 years. When he retired from farming, in 1948, he and Mrs. Lemley moved to Wellington to make their home.

Although a man of quiet and retiring nature, he nevertheless took a lead in many phases of community life. For many years he served on the Loco School board and worked for the improvement of educational facilities of the area.

He was a member of the board of directors that organized the Loco Farmers Co-op Gin, and served two periods of several years on the board. His service to the group ended only when he retired from farming.

Likewise active in church work, he had been a member of the Church of Christ for 55 years.

Mr. Lemley was born in Clay County March 6, 1881. Later he moved with his family to Bosque County and Hill County, and it was from that area that he moved here.

Mr. Lemley was married to Miss Georgia Lawrence at Hollis January 10, 1912.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ in Dodson Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, with Minister Van Bonneau officiating.

Pall bearers were Phillip Wynn of Whitarrill, Elliott Wynn, Lunsford Jordan, and Newell McDanel of Dodson, Floyd Branum of Amarillo and Leland Bonneau of Wellington. Burial was in the West Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Lemley are his wife of Wellington; two sons and a daughter, F. L. Lemley of Trinidad, Colo.; Forrest Lemley of Wellington; and Mrs. Gerald Myers of Nazareth, Penna.; two brothers and two sisters, M. L. Lemley of Lynnwood, Calif., Jacob Lemley of Ashland, Oregon, Mrs. Alice Weaver of Dodson, and Mrs. Callie Biffle of Clifton. Eight grandchildren also survive.

Stolen Car Found At Duncan, Okla.

The 1949 Ford sedan, belonging to Mrs. Bunny Gammill and stolen while it was parked beside United Super Market where she is employed, was recovered in Duncan, Oklahoma, last week, Sheriff Claude McKinney reported.

Under arrest in connection with the theft is L. B. Williams, who twice broke jail here several years ago.

Williams is also charged with the theft of an old-model Pontiac at Lubbock, which he abandoned here when Mrs. Grammill's car was picked up. An Oklahoma license had been put on the car, Sheriff McKinney said.

Williams was being held in jail at Duncan, but Lubbock officers will have first call on him, since the Pontiac was taken first.

Norwood Women Plan Benefit Game Friday

The Samnorwood Home Demonstration Club basketball team will meet the Carver Dragonettes of Shamrock in a benefit game at Norwood Friday night, at 7:30 in the high school gym.

This is a benefit game. The dragonettes have waived their part of the proceeds, and the entire amount will go to help replace the school cafeteria money taken in the recent Samnorwood school burglary, Mrs. Orville Cunningham announced.

This is expected to be a likely game and the public is invited to attend.

Admission will be 35 cents for adults, 20 cents for high school students and 15 cents for grade students.

WELLINGTON'S CHRISTMAS TREE

Here is the giant community Christmas Tree, as it appeared a few hours before the lights were turned on in the evening program Monday, November 30. The traditional Christmas star is seen atop the court house. It is beneath this tree and at the near-by south entrance of the court house that the series of Christmas programs are being given.

Leader to Print Santa Claus Letters Again

The Wellington Leader will print the Letters to Santa Claus again this year, and every boy and girl in the county is invited to make his Christmas wishes known through the paper.

These letters should be written during the next two weeks, before December 15.

Already a number of letters have arrived at The Leader office. Each letter will be printed in the paper then sent to Santa's headquarters at the north pole where the orders will be filled.

Bunny Sherman Turns on Lights

Tree Lighting Ceremony Opens Holiday Season

At the end of an impressive tree-lighting service, Little Miss Bunny Sherman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman, turned on the lights of Wellington's giant Christmas Tree Monday night, November 30, to officially open the 1953 Christmas season.

This opening program, held on the court house lawn at 7:30 p. m., was given by the Domestic Science Club, the city's oldest study club, directed by Mrs. Deskins Wells, and Mrs. Walter Starr.

Paul Spillman, city attorney, gave the opening Christmas message.

Another highlight of the evening came with the appearance of Santa Claus.

Under the Christmas Tree

Four Xmas Programs During Coming Week

Four programs are scheduled under Wellington's Christmas tree during the coming week as part of the community-wide yuletide program, Mrs. Walter Winters, chamber of commerce secretary, said.

Saturday night, December 5, the Youth For Christ will be in charge of the program, with the Rev. Russell Allen as leader. This is the regular meeting night for the group and their program will be of a religious nature.

Monday night, December 7, the Camp Fire Girls will be presented. All groups, Horizon Club, Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds, will take part.

The two older groups will form a choir for the presentation of Christmas carols.

The younger girls will present their own part of the program, many of them becoming animated toys for the evening. Santa Claus will appear for the youngsters.

Dodson School will present the Tuesday night, December 8 program, with a large group from that town taking part.

Wednesday night, December 9, Christmas will take a military turn, when the Wellington National Guard unit gives the program.

This will include close order drill to music, according to Capt. Charles Allen, executive officer.

They will serve coffee, too—the only group that proposes refreshments along with the program. Actually, this will be to demonstrate to the people of the area how the national guard Tent-kitchen operates in time of emergency.

All of these programs will be given at the south entrance of the court house and under the beautiful lighted tree.

Wellington's decorations already have brought comment from a wide area and are conceded by local residents as the most beautiful the city has had.

Opposition, Based on Issues, Not Personalities

Farm Program, Foreign Trade Top Issues in Congress -- Johnson

Agriculture will be the most important fight in the new congress from the domestic standpoint, and the big issue in foreign policy will be the trade program, Senate Minority Leader Lyndon Johnson told an attentive crowd of approximately 250 farm men and women and business men in Wellington Tuesday night, December 1.

His talk came at the end of a day of Quail hunting with a few Amarillo and Wellington friends. They had only moderate success—about a dozen birds.

Throughout the middle of the road talk, Senator Johnson emphasized that his opposition to any Republican issues will be on the basis of principles and not personalities, and his Wellington talk was in keeping with that statement.

At the end of his talk, Senator Johnson outlined his "guesses" as to what the new congress will do on some of the most controversial and important legislation.

"I guess that there won't be much change in the Taft Hartley Law.

"I guess that there won't be much change in Social Security. (This from the standpoint of groups not now covered being brought into the program.)

"There will be some reduction in Foreign Aid.

"I guess that Congress will leave the agriculture program very much as it now is."

"I guess that reciprocal trade agreements will be continued, and in this the President's program is much more acceptable to the Democrats than to some of his own party."

Termining his address a report to the People of Texas, Senator Johnson pointed to a challenge facing our system of government today not unlike that facing our fathers and grandfathers, but in a way more deadly.

Reminding that there are two forms of government, democracy and the Soviet Union, he emphasized that Russia now dominates 11 countries, including over 800,000,000 million people—one third of the people and one fourth of the land of the earth.

Cotton Acreage Allotment 69,235 Acres; Referendum December 5

Announcement of Collingsworth county's cotton acreage allotment, the cotton referendum date, and a change in the cross compliance ruling by the department of agriculture was made this week by Millard Brown, ASC secretary.

The county's acreage allotment is 69,235 acres, about 5,000 less than that of 1950, the last year that acreage allotments were in effect.

This compares, however, to the approximately 117,000 acres in cotton here this year.

"We hope to have individual allotments mailed out to cotton growers over the week end," Mr. Brown said. The cotton marketing referendum will be held Tuesday, December 15, with voting between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m.

At this time, cotton farmers will vote for or against quotas. If the quotas carry by two-thirds or more, a price of 90 per cent of parity will be guaranteed to growers co-operating. If the quotas fail to carry, only 50 per cent of parity can be guaranteed to co-operators. Either way, the non-co-operator will not be guaranteed a price. If the quotas carry, there will be a penalty on all cotton grown on acres in excess of the cotton allotment.

If the referendum fails to carry, there will be no penalty, but no price support.

Voting places for the communities as set up under the farm program will be:

Shinnery, Reeves Store. Rolla, Rolla Gin. Wellington Cross Roads, County court room.

Quail, Neeley's Station. Marella, Pettitt's Store. Dozier, Tindall Gin. Norwood, Gymnasium. Aberdeen, Lutie Gin.

Voting on peanut referendum will be held at the same time in three communities, Cross Roads, Quail and Marella.

As to the cross-compliance question, Mr. Brown said his office has now been notified that this is not necessary, although earlier in the fall the department of agriculture had passed the ruling. A great many local farmers had been given information to that effect.

Under the cross-compliance regulation, a farmer would have had to comply with acreage allotments on all basic crops he planted before he got price supports on any one of them.

The new regulation provides that he will receive price support on a crop planted within the allotment, although he may exceed his allotment on other crops.

Rockets Place Two On All-District Football Team

Members of the All-district 3-AA football team, selected recently by coaches in Electra, were announced this week by Coach Maxey McKnight.

Instead of selecting an offensive and defensive team this year, the coaches chose one team of 22 men, representing the same play as in the past. In addition 21 players were placed on the honorable mention list.

Two Wellington boys placed on the first team and three others received honorable mention.

Douglas Duncan, a member of last year's all-district team, repeated in the 1953 selection as a backfield player.

He was described as "a great back who played amazing ball." Camal Dakil center, was the (Continued on Page Eight)

Samnorwood School Burglarized In Professional Job Wed. Night

The Samnorwood School was burglarized of about $200 Wednesday night, November 25, when entry was gained through a window, the door of Supt. Orville Cunningham's office prized open, and the knob knocked off the safe containing the money, Sheriff Claude McKinney has reported.

Sheriff McKinney has called in Texas Ranger Kelly Rogers of Amarillo, and following investigation, Mr. McKinney said this is bound to be a professional job, and not committed by local talent.

The burglary was discovered by Harry Boren, custodian about 6:00 a. m. Thursday, when he went to get the office ready for the day's work. Mr. Cunningham was called immediately and he in turn notified local authorities.

The money, from such school funds as the cafeteria, activity fund, athletic fund, and other, was emptied out of the money sacks, which were thrown on the floor.

It apparently took only a blow to knock off the knob and one other lick from a chisel to open the safe door, Sheriff McKinney said.

This is the second time this fall that the school has been burglarized. About six weeks ago, the office door was prized open, the files were gone through and some of them dumped in the floor, and a few cents taken from a desk drawer.

Government Farm Program Now Named ASC

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation is the new name of the government's farm program set up, formerly known as the Production Marketing Administration, Millard Brown, secretary who is in charge of the local office, has announced.

It will be known as ASC for short.

There will be no changes in the duties and services of the office so far as is known, nor will there be changes in personnel, Mr. Brown said.

Church Plans
Announcement was made this week that the First Baptist Church has bought from Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ellis the building of the Ellis Funeral Home, to be used in providing additional Sunday School rooms for the church's expanding program.

The church will have possession of the property after the first of the year. No structural changes will be made.

"We made this purchase to get additional Sunday School rooms," Rev. Chester O'Brien, pastor, announced. "The church needs to make provision for its younger adult department, and we also look (Continued on Page Eight)

Elbert Watts, Shamrock Man Hospitalized

TWO HURT, 4 VEHICLES DAMAGED IN LUCKY CORNER COLLISION FRI.

A collision at Lucky Corner Friday evening—the second within a week put two men in the St. Joseph's hospital and damaged two cars and two trucks, Sheriff Claude McKinney reported.

Hospitalized are Jerry F. Allen of Shamrock and Elbert Watts, who lives south of Wellington.

Allen is suffering from a crushed chest and other injuries, while Mr. Watts had one ear nearly torn off and received cuts and bruises.

Sheriff McKinney said investigation shows Allen was driving south-on Highway 88 in a 1950 Ford Tudor when he crashed into the back of the truck also driven south by Mr. Watts. The Watts truck was turned completely around and knocked into a parked butane transport truck owned by a Mr. Noble of Clarendon. This vehicle in turn was pushed into the parked car owned by Henard Gray.

Both the Allen car and Watts truck were severely damaged, and damage to the butane truck was estimated by the Sheriff at around $500 or $600.

With the announcement of the sale of the Ellis Funeral Home this week, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ellis are closing 23 years of ownership of that business.

They have sold their building to the First Baptist Church and their equipment and insurance business to the Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have not yet announced their future plans. They will remain at the Funeral Home, where they also have their home until, after the first of the year.

Since coming here March 1, 1930, they have been active in the civic and social life of the town, as (Continued on Page Eight)

Quail Teams Lose To High Powered Claude Cagers

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites lost a pair of games to the Claude teams there Friday night, November 27, in conference play.

The Claude girls are twice-winner of the State Class B Basketball championship.

The Bobwhites downfall came when they missed 20 free shots earned during the game. Coach Bill Phillips reported. The final score was 39 to 24 for the Claude team.

Lorene Welch, all-state forward, scored 24 points for Claude. But Latrice Moore, another all-state forward from that same team, was held to 5 points by the guarding of Fayette Peoples.

Nancy Stephens and Geneva White each scored 6 points for Quail. Erma Lee Farris got 5 and Mary Jo Phipps 4.

Both spectators and players regarded this as their best game of the year—one that could have gone either way until well into the third quarter.

As it was, the score stood 10 to 9 for Claude at the end of the first quarter; 20 to 14 at the half and 28 to 20 at the end of the third. It was in the last period that Claude pulled away.

The Quails lost their game 40 to 33. This game also was one that could have spelled victory for either side until the final period. Quail led at the end of the first half 16 to 11, and at the half the game was tied up 22-22.

High scorer was Ray Thompson of Claude with 15 points, while Lester Cross added 11. Quail's high point man was Don Johnson with 12 points, while Darryl Morris got 8 and Norman Kennedy 7.

Norwood Basketball Teams Split Pair With Mobeetie

The Norwood Eagles won over the Mobeetie boys in a fast scoring spree Friday night on their opponents home court, 73 to 46, but the Eaglettes dropped behind late in the game to give the Mobeetie girls a 14 point lead on the final 70 to 56 score.

In the girls game, the lead changed hands several times during the first two quarters and at the half was tied 29 to 29, Supt. Orville Cunningham said. In the third quarter the Mobeetie boys stacked up a 7-point lead, 46 to 39, then in the final period pulled away to the 70-56 victory.

High scorer of the game was Morris of Mobeetie with 42 points. She is a tall girl who uses her height to a fine advantage in stacking up points.

Kay Newkirk with 29 points was high for Samnorwood.

The Norwood starting lineup included Kay Newkirk, Shirley Montgomery and Peggy Martindale, forwards, and Janice Oldham, Shirley Brown and Sue Pritchard, guards.

The Mobeetie boys never got a chance at the lead against the speedy Eaglettes. At the end of the first quarter there was only three points difference, however, 15 to 12. At the half it was 29 to 22 and at the end of the third 50 to 36.

High scorer for Samnorwood was Billy Bruce Oldham, with 23 points, but three other players contributed substantial pointage, George Cunningham 13, Jerry Martindale 14, and Thurman Taylor 15.

"The thing about these Eagles is that they are not only fast and well conditioned, but any one of them can score. You can get the forwards covered on a play, but you'll still have plenty of scoring material on the court," Mr. Cunningham said.

Starters included Cunningham and Martindale guards, Ray Newkirk center, Taylor and Oldham forwards.

Rockettes Win Over Carey For First Season Win

By DON SCOTT

The Wellington high school girls basketball team defeated Carey Tuesday night at the Wellington gym, by a score of 45-19, for their first win of the new season. They dropped their first game to Vinson earlier in the year.

The Rockettes led the Carey team throughout the game. They garnered 11 points in the first period to 2 for the visitors, while in the second quarter they were able to outscore the Carey sextet by only 2 points. In the third, the Rockettes scored 9 to the visitors' 1, and the fourth quarter saw more really fast action as the local girls sank tosses for 18 and Carey made 9.

Patsy Patton and Selma McAlister led the Rockettes in the first quarter, with Patton making 4 and McAlister chalking up 6. Betty McCutchen picked up 1. Carey's only marker for the period was a free shot by Wormesbaker.

In the second round, Wormesbaker counted for 3 and Hammer sank a field goal for Carey's 5 points. McAlister, for the Rockets, made 2, McCutchen 3, and German 2.

Need More Broadly-Educated Citizens

It is often said that this is an age of specialists. Enormously complex scientific and technological discoveries and developments have resulted in a demand on the part of both business and government for legions of men and women whose educations have been specialized to an extreme in chemistry, physics, engineering and allied fields. But this trend has created serious problems of its own. For, necessary as he is, the specialist, because of his training and his basic attitude, often is too immersed in a narrow channel to see the world and its problems as a whole. As a result, there is a renewed emphasis on liberal arts education. President Giddens of Hamline University, St. Paul, described this recently in these words: "Important though the development and training of the mind may be, there is more education than this. At Hamline we endeavor to prepare students to live a well-balanced life, not merely to make a living. All phases of life—the intellectual, spiritual, social, cultural, and vocational—are emphasized. Our aim is to develop broadly-educated citizens. Never in the history of our country or the world have we needed so much as now liberally-educated men and women as citizens—in business, the professions, and in government."

Careless Hunters, Posted Land

Some hunters are careless with the result that all hunters suffer. From all over the state come reports that more land is posted against hunters and with it is the report that land owners have found that too many men are careless. They destroy property and even shoot livestock. Hence, the farmer has posted his farm in self defense. Most of the farmers, however, are happy to give their permission to hunters if they are asked to do so. No one should blame them for wanting to know who is hunting on their premises. Few complaints have been heard in this area because poor sportsmanship and carelessness but some have come in from over the state. Two farmers who visited the office Thursday say they are more afraid of the hunter who throws his lighted cigarette on the ground than they are of any other type of carelessness. All vegetation is so extremely dry that it is easy to ignite. Every hunter should keep this in mind and carefully extinguish his cigarettes before casting them aside. The Brookings (S. D.) Register

Survey Indicates Need For Intelligent Voting

About a month ago, two men stood on the 400-block along Broadway in San Diego. That's one of the busiest blocks in downtown San Diego. They stood there from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. and made it a point to ask a question of as many men and women as they could contact in that time without stopping service personnel. They were making a survey to see how many people knew the name of their congressman (Bob Wilson). The showing was appalling. Only one person man from that district. (Wilson, incidentally, is not the congressman for the area that includes Escondido. His name is James B. Utt.) The interviewers also asked the people if they knew the names of the two California senators (Knowland and Kuchel). One person in 47 knew the names of both; one person in 32 knew that Knowland was one of the senators. Authority for the foregoing anecdote is Dick Richards, who represents an organization which is trying to get things done in behalf of small business in Washington. He was one of the interviewers and he admits frankly he was more than shocked by the findings.

It is our opinion that the ratio of people in this locality—or any small community, for that matter—who knew the names of their congressman and their senators would be a lot more favorable. We believe, in other words, that a higher proportion of people in smaller communities would be better informed. It's only a surmise, we admit, but we believe that people in the smaller communities pay more attention to such things by and large than do those in the crowded metropolitan areas. Our reason for that surmise is largely personal observations and conversations.

If this is so, it certainly becomes a good reason why efforts to increase the representation in state and federal government for metropolitan areas deserve close scrutiny. If those areas don't care enough about who their representative legislators are to even know their names, then things might be felt well enough alone. Such efforts, it might appear, could be fattered by cliques who are interested only in getting their boys in office by voting masses of people who don't particularly care. Could be, could be!

Farmers Should Control Grass Roots Policies

In an article in the last issue of the Clipper was a story of the vote of farmers on the price control question and some of their comments on the same. These answers and remarks reveal that the farmer is ready and capable of taking over and making his own directives as to price control or any other problem pertaining to agriculture.

It is hoped that the time has arrived when the trend back to grass roots controls are in the making. It is just good common sense that the farmer who is on the job every day in the year can better decide what is best for him and his neighbor than the swivel-chair expert (?) in Washington. It is time the farmer out here in the grass-roots was sending the directives to Washington, and that they see to it that they abide by the directives or abide the results just the same as they have been requiring of the farmer—or else.

After all, constructive plans and directives can not be made in a day, or at one meeting of a group of wheatgrowers or livestock men—it will take time to work out the right sort of grass roots program, but when it is done it will be, or at least should be, the best that can be devised—for farmers are vitally interested in working out the best ways possible to get out of some of the positions that Washington directives, price declines and drought have created. Later Prophets Enlarged Scope of God

Two conceptions, or attitudes, in conflict now were also in conflict in ancient Israel, where the Hebrew prophets spoke and wrote.

One is of a religious isolationism and of a limited conception of God, providence and duty. In this conception God is little more than a tribal or national deity, whose special favoritism is for one race or nation, called and chosen to the exclusion or neglect of all others.

This is not unrelated to the political isolationism which has broken down somewhat before the stern facts that in matters of war and peace, welfare and danger, the world, even though its divisions are sharp and its conflicts intense, is one in a way in which it has never been before.

Over against this religious isolationism is the conception of monotheism. Especially among the later prophets of Israel were the nobler souls who saw the law of God and His righteousness as being for every place and time, embracing all men and demanding the obedience devotion of all.

In this conception the call of God was not a matter of arbitrary preference. It was a call to duty and responsibility, as well to privilege. Israel was a spiritual nation, through which all the nations of the earth should be blest.

This large and noble conception of God found expression in many prophetic passages and in the rich and illuminating later chapters of Isaiah.

The great invitation of Isaiah: 55, marvelous in its conception of a God offering Himself and His salvation to all men everywhere, still stands today as a living word of God, undated, for every time and place. It reflects in its glorifying of God the glory of the prophet who wrote it.

And these noble prophets of Israel challenge our modern world with their world-wide outlook and their message concerning the God of all, with the only adequate way of peace and welfare for humanity.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

AGRO-CULTURE—AND YOUR MONEY

On the small Oklahoma farm where I was born and reared I used to spend six days a week throughout the summers plowing and cultivating with four or six head of horses. In the fall, I sometimes marketed a wagon load of wheat before school began, and then kept the team and wagon at school till evening. It was good to be in the field, seeing the crops growing, yearning how important the soil is to humanity, getting an understanding of nature.

In those days, a farmer's income wasn't very big. Sometimes we had to struggle to get by. But somehow we made it, and the struggle seemed to strengthen us to face the other problems of life confidently. Farming got in my blood. I loved it. I still do. One of the first things I did at Harding College after becoming its president 17 years ago was to secure land close to the campus and start raisin livestock, vegetables and grain. We now have two farms, with beef and dairy herd, and some of the college students work part time on them. They are not laboratories or experimental farms. They are part of our meat and bread at Harding. They are run like any family farm, standing on their own.

Subsidies Unsound

If my inclinations for sympathy were to be directed toward any one group, they would go to the farmers of America. Fathers ferretedly have problems beyond human control, for which no planning, no preparation can be entirely adequate. However, any common-sense appraisal of the long-range agriculture problem would reject a permanent program of high-level subsidies as a solution. Subsidies of any length duration are unsound. They would ultimately ruin any economy, and defeat the primary goal of a more stable and prosperous.

Some people are now seeking high level subsidies for the beef industry. Actually, a part of the present problem of falling prices can be attributed directly to the government-supported markets for beef or recent years which influenced production of beef cattle to a total of a hundred million head this year. That's 30 to 35 per cent more beef than the market normally demands. Much of this was raised by people who went to beef raising because of high supported prices but who really cannot compete, in production costs, with the long-time efficient cattle producers.

End Results

If we continue artificial measures and subsidize beef cattle, thus establishing an artificially high price so that these cattle raisers who cannot normally compete nevertheless are protected, what's going to happen? Well, the number of cattle will continue to increase, and the problem will get bigger and bigger, or we will limit the number producers may have and thus hold back the efficient producers. The potato and egg fiasco are examples. If on the other hand beef cattle were left to find their normal level on the market, the marginal producers, who can't produce beef as economically, as efficiently as the others would be obliged to get into other fields of agriculture where they can produce on equal terms with competitors.

Then the supply and demand on meat would level out, the efficient producers would have a profitable business, and the consumers would benefit through the efficient production—by getting meat at lower prices. And, as taxpayers, we'd all be relieved of subsidies.

The Consumer's Stake

In the South we raise lots of cotton. When the cotton market is held up rigidly to a price which the supply and demand does not justify, we see marginal producers on poor, worn-out or hillside land—with government subsidies. Take away the subsidies and these farmers couldn't plant cotton and make a profit. They'd have to get into something in which they could hold their own in competition. Farmers of the South who long ago were obligated to diversify—ending their enslavement to cotton—have done better than before.

"A case can be made, in some extraordinary circumstances, for short range subsidies. But government subsidies as a fixture in our economy are unsound. Also, subsidies spread. Give one group a subsidy and all other groups will, in time demand them. The government takes the consumer's money and artificially boosts the price of, say, butter. The consumer buys it at the inflated price—inflated with his own money. He has less money to spend on normally priced goods and services, and the whole economy is thrown out of kilter.

Let's develop common-sense help for agriculture. And let's be sure the consumer's voice is heard. It's his money as well as the Farmer's that's involved.

Crossroads Report

Dear Mr. Ike:

Maybe the government ought to look into this report that has just come out of Hollywood. It says that mediocrity is going to be taken out of the movies. This is a dangerous project. It might spread, and if you eliminate the mediocre in movies, politics, newspaper columns, cooking and some other phases of life, what will there be left?

The answer is obvious. Only the good and the bad. No in-between. The balance-wheel would be gone. No vast body of average things and people to cushion the best from the great numerical superiority of the worst. The more I think about it, the worse it seems.

You ought to issue an executive order to put a stop to this meddling with mediocrity before it gets out of hand. Even if it affected only the movies it would be bad. Take all the mediocre pictures away and there would be nothing for us mediocre people to do at night except stay at home and engage in some mediocre conservation.

Quail Juniors Down Wellington

The Quail junior high boys basketball team defeated the Wellington junior high team 37 to 30 in a recent game. This was the third game for the Quail boys, and likewise their third victory.

High scoring player for the winners was Hubert Price, with 10 points, while Denzil Patchell was close behind with 8 points and Dee Blasingame with 8.

Jerry Elbert, top man of the game, got 15 points, while Randall Baburn got 10.

Wellington led several times during the game, but at the quarter periods, Quail had the lead, 10 to 7 at the first 17 to 10 at half and 23 to 20 at the third.

Two quick baskets on the part to Quail near the end of the game were the deciding point.

"Wellington is going to be a really good team. They have the makings of one, and it looks as if they'll be among the best in the area," Coach Bill Phillips of Quail commented following the game.

Chevrolet Meets the Challenge of Modern Hauling with Re-engineered 1954 Trucks

CHEVROLET METS THE CHALLENGE

Completely re-engineered to give outstanding performances in meeting modern hauling requirements, a new line of 1954 Chevrolet trucks will be introduced by dealers Saturday (November 28.)

Truck operators will have an opportunity to see the new vehicles in an exclusive truck display at Chevrolet dealers' showrooms at that time. Improvements in every part of the vehicle—engine, chassis and body—have been designed with an eye to current and future needs of truck owners and drivers. Among the more important advancements are the following features:

1. Three new engines, with increased horsepower and outstanding, economical performance, include the most powerful truck engine ever built by Chevrolet.
2. Automatic transmissions optional through the one-ton (10,000 lbs. GVW) model range.
3. Increased durability, with heavier axle shafts in the two-ton models, bigger clutches on light and heavy-duty models and more rigid frames on all models. Optional heavy-duty three-speed transmissions available on light and medium-duty models offer greater gear reduction, more rugged construction and a steering-column gearshift level on one-ton models.
4. Dramatically improved comfort for the driver through a new Ride-Control seat, standard on cab-over-engine models and optional in all other cabs.
5. Appearance important with a new, more massive radiator grille and front-end design, while a one-piece curved windshield increases visibility and safety as well as adding to the distinction of the vehicle.
6. More space for payloads and easier loading. The body height of pickup, platform and stake models has been lowered through modified body mounting. Unobstructed loading space has been lengthened on several models.

Changes in the new Chevrolet trucks, according to the company, have been made to meet and anticipate the needs of drivers and operators. They are the results of suggestions made by users to Chevrolet field men, and long range planning by designers and engineers.

Most of the truck models are easier to load. In pickup bodies, although the sides are higher, the over-the-side loading height is less. The rigid, grain-tight tail gate will support long loads when lowered.

The new Chevrolet bodies are wider and longer. On the 161-inch heavy-duty chassis, the body of this multi-purpose truck measures a full 12 feet inside the stakes.

Loading on the stake models are lower, rear corners have been rounded and the stakes themselves are higher, extending 42 inches from the body floor on the nine- and twelve-foot bodies.

Major changes are reported in the new Thriftmaster and Loadmaster truck engines. Increased compression ratio of 7.5 to 1 provides greater economy and 112 horsepower, resulting in higher speed, faster acceleration and improved hill-climbing ability. Added durability and smoother operation result from full-pressure lubrication, lightweight aluminum pistons, insert type connecting rod bearings, more rigid crankshaft and connecting rods and strengthened valve-operating mechanisms.

Exhaust valve rotators, XCR valves and chrome top piston rings are standard on the Loadmaster. For heavy-duty models the most powerful engine in Chevrolet history, the Jobmaster is offered as optional equipment. It provides greater power for acceleration and grade-climbing. The need for operation in low gear is reduced, producing longer engine life and economy. With displacement of 261 cubic inches and a compression ratio of 7.17 to 1, it has 135 horsepower. Cylinders are larger and a new high lift cam provides freer breathing. The exhaust valve rotators, XCR valves and chrome top piston rings are standard.

The automatic transmission is a new optional feature, available on light and medium-duty models. It offers new driving ease and important time saving, particularly in frequent-stop delivery work. The automatic transmission is four-speed hydra-matic design, except on the sedan delivery model, on which Powerglide is available. The selector lever is conveniently mounted on the steering column.

Comfort for the driver has been increased greatly with the new Ride-Control seat. It provides real driver comfort even on long, continuous hauls. The seat and back are built as a unit, and the back moves up and down in unison with the seat cushion.

As part of the new external appearance, the hood problem, of bright metal, is of new design. The parking lights are near the edge of the fenders, marking the true width of the vehicle more clearly. A choice of 12 attractive colors is available at no extra cost.

A Banquet, too

DODSON MEN PRESENT STYLE SHOW AT CIVIC CLUB BANQUET

The November Civic Club meeting was a banquet, given recently in the high school cafeteria. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames M. R. Wynn and J. C. Howell.

Decorations in true autumn colors of orange, gold and brown, with autumn flowers and fruits, melons, and vegetables highlighting the theme, were used. A central table covered with a white and gold cloth, bearing a huge cornucopia filled with overflowing seasonal fruits, vegetables, and baskets of autumn flowers and leaves, also carried out this holiday motif.

Members and guests were greeted at the door by Betty Earl, who wore a black and white Puritan maiden costume. After registering in the reception room the guests were escorted to the lovely dinner tables decorated in gold and orange colors with cornucopias and baby mums used as centerpieces. The tables were set with colorful pottery dishes. Colorful miniature candy-filled turkeys were favors, and tables were loaded with festive foods befitting the occasion.

Invocation was given by Mrs. E. H. Ready, president of the club. An after dinner program was presented by program chairman, Mrs. Murry Dodson, with Mrs. Floyd Roberts acting as master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Earl furnishing back stage music from the accordion.

Here is how the club members reported the style show:

The skit was humorous "Style Review", staged by male models. Z. McKinney was attired in a lovely rose colored, street dress with appropriate accessories, and had a shoulder length hairdo, very fashionable styled arrangement of golden curls. T. E. Lennon styled the housewife's attire, complete with organdy apron, bonnet, and a small nosegay of flowers. Clyde Alexander modeled the afternoon frock, with accessories of green hat, bag, gloves and high heeled opera pumps. E. H. Ready wore the latest in wool coats from New York, and he had flat gold mesh sandals.

Burk Martin modeled an up-to-now dressmaker suit with matching accessories and fashionable oxfords. The final modeling was done by Murry Dodson who showed an evening gown. This was an off-the-shoulder gown with matching stole, and Mr. Dodson wore costume jewelry, gloves, gold strap sandals and carried a corsage. His lovely hairdo, hat and make up accentuated the beauty of this "Parisian" model as he glided about singing two of his most favored vocal numbers, accompanied at the accordion by Mrs. Earl.

Hugh Painter, judge of the models could make no decision, and the hostesses presented each participant with a fitting gift, such as headache powders and hat pin for the head, foot powder for the feet, sleeping cap for the evening, and moth balls for the all wool suit.

After the program a short business meeting was called and names were drawn for the Christmas party. Two candidates were elected to membership of the club—Mrs. J. T. Bogle and Mrs. Jack Allen.

The club presented Mrs. Earl with a gift honoring her birthday. Following this, the club voted to buy two basket ball suits for members of the high school team.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames. E. H. Ready, B. B. Martin, H. A. Painter, Joe Wilson, Edd Bennett, Floyd Roberts, J. C. Howell, T. E. Lennon, E. C. Alexander, Tom Bowling, J. T. Bogle, Ross Swift, Z. McKinney, Frank Smith, and Murry Dodson.

Mmes. Gendolyn Duffy, Grandmother Branum, Bessie Davis, Dolly Whisenant, Margaret Baker, Kate Smith, Maggie Webb, M. T. Charlton, Vey Wynn, Archie Martin, and Virginia Whitfield.

Misses Barbara Lennon, Zenith Swift, Lana Davis, Joy Carolyn Smith, Wade Bennett, Joe Lennon, and the hostesses, Mesdames. M. R. Wynn and J. C. Howell.

flu cases have been reported, too. Ernest Maxwell is on the sick list.

Mrs. C. A. Wright, Mrs. Bill Clifton and Mrs. R. H. Isbell attended District Conferences in Wellington last Thursday.

Mrs. J. P. Cummings spent last week with the Fred Cummings family. Little Garry Douglas has come to make his home with the Cummings family. He arrived last Monday, November 16.

George Isbell attended church at the Nazarene church in Wellington Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Isbell attended the revival meeting in Wellington last Thursday night at the Methodist church.

There will be quarterly conference at Fresno next Sunday November 29th. Hope all four circuit churches will be represented with good reports.

Sunday was preaching day at Aberdeen. Bro. Allen and family were dinner guests in the Billy Waters home. A large crowd attended church there Sunday night. Those present from Salt Fork were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright and Edna Ellen, Mrs. G. C. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Isbell and Billy, Mr. George Isbell and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Isbell. Fresno was represented with Mr. and Mrs.

Marvin Clubb and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ford and Dwayne, Mrs. Ruth Aaron and Mary Beth. The Loco Methodist church was represented by Mr. B. F. King. A soul stirring message was brought by Bro. Allen.

The circuit churches are having prayer meeting and Bible study at the parsonage home of the Russell Allens next Wednesday night. Everybody invited. Don't forget the youth for Christ rally Saturday night and the Stamp Quartet program Monday night, November 30th sponsored by the Youth for Christ sponsors.

We were all very glad to see our former District Supt. and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hamiltons at conference last Thursday also our former pastor Rev. Cleveland. Sorry Mrs. Cleveland was sick and couldn't come. Another preacher friend and wife we've known for years was Rev. and Mrs. Manuel Reynolds of Tell. Most all other pastors and wives were strangers. Since we've just been in the Childress District a short time.

"Mush," the Alaskan term, is a contraction of the French "marchons" meaning to go on.

Nash Motors Introduces 1954 Line Featuring New Rambler

Detroit, Nov. 19 — Nash Motors today unveiled its new 15-model 1954 line, the most diversified line in the industry, featuring the all-new 108-inch wheelbase Rambler four-door sedans.

"We believe we have one of the most comprehensive lines in the automotive industry today — one or which Nash is justly proud," said H. C. Doss, vice-president in charge of sales. "Featuring modern styling and many mechanical advances, these new models provide the widest selection range ever offered the motoring public in this country by any one company."

Highlighted by the advanced continental styling of Pinin Farina, foremost European designer of custom-built cars, models available in the 1954 Nash line are: Ambassador and Statesman two and four-door super sedans and custom four-door sedans and Country Club hardtops; the new 108-inch wheelbase Rambler four-door custom and super sedans; and the 100-inch wheelbase Rambler custom series, including convertible, station wagon and Country Club hardtop models.

In the best Farina tradition, design, unity and simplicity keynote all models in the 1954 Nash line. Farina's styling, characterized by a low, wide and sleek appearance, with fenders above the hood line, has won country-wide acclaim for Nash, Doss said.

The entire range of 1954 models offer new exterior colors, including 14 solid and 14 two-tone combinations, and new upholstery and trim combinations.

Doss described these modern trends in the new models:

NEW 1954 RAMBLER FOUR-DOOR SEDAN

The completely new 1954 Nash Rambler four-door sedan is a compact custom car on a 108-inch wheelbase. This luxurious model of compact custom car on a 108-inch wheelbase offers traditional Rambler economy, performance, comfort and ease of handling, with greater rear seat luggage compartment roominess.

"Balanced engineering is a key feature of this new car," Doss said. "It combines compactness and beauty of design with outstanding maneuverability and economy of operation."

The regular factory delivered price of the new custom Rambler includes an attractive continental rear tire mount, Weather Eye conditional air system, radio, electric clock, courtesy lights, directional signals, foam cushions, custom upholstery and trim, and other deluxe features at no extra cost.

The Rambler four-door sedan is also offered in the super series and includes custom radio, Weather Eye conditional air system, and cigarette lighter as standard factory equipment.

Nash engineers have added eight inches to the overall length of the new custom model, which totals 193 3/8 inches. This increase provides ample rear entrance room and rear legroom, in addition to increasing the cubic capacity of the luggage compartment.

The Rambler four-door is powered by the improved six-cylinder L-head "Super Flying Scot" engine, developing 90 horsepower. It has a compression ratio of 7.3 to 1, with a displacement of 195.6 cubic inches. Major improvements have been made in the connecting rods, the main bearings oil seals, the crankshaft and camshaft, the exhaust manifold, and the ignition system.

As on all Nash cars, Dual-Range Hydra-Matic and automotive overdrive are available as optional equipment, and synchromesh transmission is standard equipment.

Featuring "Airflyte" construction used in all Nash cars, the new Rambler has a unitized body and frame welded together to form a single unit, said by Nash engineers to be safer, stronger and more rigid.

The exclusive newly improved

Nash convertible twin beds and "Airliner Reclining" seats are offered as optional equipment for the first time on the new Rambler four-door sedan.

NEW 1954 AMBASSADOR AND STATESMAN SERIES

The new 1954 Nash Ambassador and Statesman models feature numerous exterior and interior styling refinements, and many mechanical advancements, Doss said.

Major mechanical changes in this series: a new Statesman "Dual Powerflyte" engine, featuring an aluminum cylinder head and dual carburetors as standard equipment; increased horsepower in the Ambassador "Super Jetfire" engine; new power steering and power brakes, offered as optional equipment, and electrically operated window lifts, called "Power-Lift" windows, available at extra cost.

Styling refinements include a new dual die-cast grille, highlighting the latest trend in custom-built cars by Farina; a continental rear tire mount offered as standard equipment on all Ambassador and Statesman custom four-door and Country Club hardtop models; a redesigned and improved instrument dash panel and new interior styling.

The new Statesman "Dual Powerflyte" six-cylinder L-head engine has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1, one of the highest in the automobile industry, and horsepower increased to 110. It is designed to operate efficiently on regular gasoline.

The horsepower of the Ambassador "Super Jetfire" six-cylinder overhead valve engine has been increased to 130, with a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1, and retains the seven-bearing crankshaft. The "LeMans Dual Jetfire" engine, equipped with an aluminum cylinder head and two carburetors, is offered as optional equipment on all Ambassador models. This six-cylinder engine develops 140 horsepower and has a compression ratio of 8 to 1.

Nash power steering, available as optional equipment on both models, takes about 75 per cent of the effort out of steering, and allows the driver to retain the "feel" of the car at all speeds and under all conditions. Nash power brakes are available on both models when equipped with Hydra-Matic drive at extra cost. They reduce effort up to 40 per cent, according to Nash engineers.

The newly designed dual grille consists of two die-castings forming a modern oval design. The Nash medallion is centered on the concave vertical bars which highlight the new grille.

A new steering wheel overtake switch, called "Power Pass," is standard on Ambassador and Statesman custom models equipped with overdrive, and overdrive Ambassador models powered by the optional "LeMans Dual Jetfire" engine.

THE NEW 100-INCH WHEELBASE RAMBLER SERIES

The new 1954 custom Rambler 100-inch wheelbase series features three distinctive models, including, station wagon and Country Club hardtop.

The continental rear tire mount is standard equipment on the custom Rambler convertible and Country Club models, adding a distinctive and longer appearance to both cars. All custom Rambler models are delivered fully equipped with custom appointments at no extra cost.

"The coffee's terrible but it's the only restaurant in town"

Muddy coffee. Soggy toast. Indigestible food. Bad luck for the hungry salesman who stops in that town for a bite to eat. The missing ingredient is "competition."

Funny how that word has a way of stirring up activity.

People who manufacture things, for example, prickle all over when they think about competition. They sit up evenings fretting about it, and spend millions to improve their products. The result, of course, is high quality at lowest possible cost. And the winner of a contest like that has to be the public.

People are tempted sometimes to wonder what life would be like without competition. For a clue, they might note the shabby fall in living standards in countries where clumsy fingers of state monopoly have strangled competition.

Over 3,000 manufacturing firms in America share in the electrical business. We can name offhand 20 sizable firms that compete at giving the public better refrigerators. There are more than 200 rivals in the making of electric motors. At least 37 in electric irons; 53 in home freezers; 25 turn out vacuum cleaners. And so on down the list.

Some companies competing with General Electric today actually sprang up from the seeds of General Electric research. New products have invited new companies. In certain cases, whole new industries. And more will come.

The competitive race just never ends. That sounds tiring for the contestants, but in fact it is healthy exercise. Healthy for the country, too. At General Electric we wouldn't have it any other way.

You can put your confidence in—

ERNEST ELLIOTT TO WORK ON HAITI IRRIGATION PROJECT

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elliott, former Wellington residents, were here during the week end to visit her mother, Mrs. J. A. Dukeminier, then left Monday, November 23, for Haiti, where they will make their home for the next three years.

Mr. Elliott is one of the key employees of Brown and Root Construction Company picked to help with construction of a $20,000,000 dam and flume in the Haitian mountains. Supervisory personnel only is going from the United States, and actual construction work will be done by Haitian residents.

The work is located approximately 80 miles from Port-au-Prince, the capitol city. This dam is to impound water for irrigation purposes.

"This surprises most people. Haiti has a heavy rainfall, but there are dry seasons when water is needed for farming in the valleys, and that is the purpose of this dam," Mr. Elliott explained.

Housing at the site will be provided the 80 to 90 families going from the United States. These will be quite modern, but at the same time, there are touches of the not-so-modern. All drinking water must be boiled.

One of the big chores for the Elliotts was shopping for clothing and other items to last them at least 18 months. Since these were summer clothes, and had to be washable, that was quite a problem, even in warmish Houston. Mrs. Elliott laughs over two of her purchases—an old fashioned wash tub and wash board.

"Friends already there write us that the native women who work as servants use only these," she said. "They can be bought in Port-au-Prince, but since they have to be imported, an ordinary tub costs around $8.00 we are told. I can't remember how many years it's been since I needed a tub and board."

A company commissary will provide food. The way things are appearing, Mrs. Elliott may return to her profession of teaching. There will be a number of children and only Mrs. Elliott and one other woman have had teaching experience.

The Elliotts left Wellington in 1940, for Leveland, then he was employed by Brown Shipbuilding Company during World War II. Later they lived at Plainview and still have their home in that city. Since returning to Brown and Root three years ago, they have lived at Marble Falls, Austin, Houston and Bryan.

His father, C. H. Elliott, now lives in Amarillo.

County Gets $58,000 for Practices

Approved Practices Under 1954 Farm Program Listed by Brown

Approved practices under the 1954 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Program were announced here this week by Millard Brown ASC secretary. The practices are still subject to approval in the state office but few if any changes are anticipated. The ASC is the new name for the PM Aset-up.

Collingsworth County will receive $58,200 for soil conservation and improvement practices in 1954, Mr. Brown said. This is compared to around $75,000 this year.

Application for approval on practices must be made in the ASC office before December 20, 1953, Mr. Brown said, but it will be approximately a week before the office is ready to begin taking applications.

This year, farmers will come to the office to make application, rather through a community committeeman at their farm.

The 1954 program was worked out by the county committee composed of Odie Bradley, chairman, Zeb Neeley, vice chairman, and Walter Camp; Fred Squyres of the Soil Conservation Service; County Agent J. W. Thomas; the supervisors of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, Zook Thomas, president, Tom Cunningham, Frank Ford, Frank Coleman and John Robert Henard; and Arrell Cummings, Farmers Home Administration supervisor.

Only a resume of the program practices is given below. Details may be had from Mr. Brown at the ASC office.

The approved practices include:

Permanent Cover

1. Initial establishment of a permanent cover of perennial legumes or grasses, or mixtures on severely eroded land or land which for other reasons should be in permanent vegetative cover.

Seeded preparation should consist of a sorghum cover planted in the late summer and allowed to grow 10 to 12 inches. Grasses and legumes should be drilled in with a regular grass seed drill for best results. Fertilizer should be used on land at the rate of at least 200 pounds of 20 per cent per phosphate or its equivalent per acre. The government pays for seeded preparation $2.50 per acre and for fertilizer $2.60.

The eligible seed, minimum rate of seeding per acre, and rate paid by the federal government includes:

Native mixture, (blue grama, side oats grama, mixed bluestem, Western wheat, sand love, switch and Indian) minimum rate of seeding 8 1/2 pounds per acre, government pays $4.35 per acre.

Native mixture, heavy soils (blue grama, side oats grama, buffalo, switch grass and western wheat grass) minimum eight pounds per acre; $4.80 per acre.

Blue Panic Grass, minimum rate of seeding, 2 pounds per acre, government will pay $1.75 per acre. Western Wheat Grass, 10 pounds per acre, $4.75 per acre.

Sand bluestem, 10 pounds per acre, $3.25 per acre.

Little bluestem 10 pounds per acre, $3.25 per acre.

King Ranch Bluestem, 10 pounds per acre, $3.75 per acre.

Indian Grass, 10 pounds per acre, $4.75 per acre.

Switch Grass, 4 pounds per acre, $4.55 per acre.

Weeping love grass, 2 pounds per acre, $2.35 per acre.

Sand Love Grass, 2 pounds per acre, $1.95 per acre.

Blue grama, 10 pounds per acre, $5.25 per acre.

Side oats grama, 10 pounds per acre, $5.25 per acre.

Buffalo grass, 4 pounds per acre, $2.55 per acre.

Biennial Sweet clover, 10 pounds per acre, $1.75 per acre.

Any other mixture of grasses or grasses and legumes as recommended by the county agent or Soil Conservation Service Technician, not to exceed $6.00 per acre.

Shrub Control

Controlling prickly pear and cactus by grubbing, 60 cents per acre for labor for infestations from one per cent to 4 per cent, plus 15 cents per acre for each per cent infestation in excess of four per cent.

Controlling mesquite by application of kerosene to base of tree by spraying at the rate of one quart to each one per cent infestation, or by grubbing with mechanical means: 12 cents per acre for each one per cent infestation.

Controlling sagebrush by (1) mechanical treatment, (rotary or roller cutter) done between June 1 and July 31: $1.20 per acre for labor and equipment; (2) by spraying with formulations of 2-4-D between April 20 and June 10: $1.20 per acre for chemicals, equipment and labor.

Payment cannot be had of total payment from 1949 through 1954, inclusive, amounts to more than $5.00 per acres for all eliminations and control practices carried out on the same area. Nor will payment be made if it is determined the area is overgrazed. The practices must be carried out in accordance with principles of sound grassland management. On areas where it is found that control of these competitive shrubs will reduce the vegetative cover to such an extent that erosion will result, the practice will not be approved unless followed by seeding. Payment will not be allowed for any acreage where control measures are performed through normal farming operations in connection with land preparation for planting or cultivation.

Water Wells

Constructing of deepening wells for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock and encourage rotation grazing and better grassland management as a means of protecting established vegetative cover. Drilling wells with casing 5 inches or more in diameter, including installation of casing, $1.75. Adequate storage facilities must be provided. Pumping equipment must be installed. Payment will not be made on wells dug for use of farmed, nor to furnish the first water on farm or ranch. Principles of sound range management must be carried out.

The well must be cased sufficiently to prevent caving. A dry hole will not qualify.

Dams for Stock Water

Constructing, enlarging or reservoirs for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock and encourage rotation grazing and better grassland management as a means of protecting established vegetative cover — moving earth, 9c per cubic yard; materials used in sealing dams: salt 50c per 100 pounds; bentonite or drillers clay, 35c per 100 pounds; concrete, $6.00 per cubic yard.

Terraces

Constructing terraces to detain or control the flow of water and check soil erosion on sloping land—moving of earth in the construction of terraces including the necessary leveling and filling, $1.09 per 100 feet.

Necessary protective outlets or waterways must be provided. Federal cost-sharing for outlets or waterways may be authorized under Practice 20 or 16. Cost of construction may include necessary leveling and filling to permit installation of an effective system as well as construction of terrace levees. The practice may not be approved for the restoration of terraces constructed under a previous program unless it is determined that the failure of the original terraces was caused by conditions other than lack of proper maintenance by the operator. Terraces must be constructed to meet the requirements of Soil Conservation Service specifications.

Diversion of Spreader Terraces

Construction of diversion or spreader terraces to intercept runoff and divert water protected outlets, or to spread water to prevent erosion or to permit beneficial use of runoff — moving earth in construction diversion or spreader terraces, 3 cents per cubic yard.

Necessary protective outlets or waterways must be provided. Federal cost-sharing for outlets and waterways may be authorized under Practices 20 or 16. Cost of construction may include necessary leveling and filling to permit installation of an effective system as well as construction of terrace levees. Diversion or spreader terraces must be constructed to meet the requirements of Soil Conservation Service specifications.

Irrigation

1. Reorganizing farm irrigation systems to conserve water and prevent erosion—Cost: (A) moving earth in constructing or enlarging permanent ditches and laterals, 5c per cubic yard; (B) Materials used in the construction and installation of permanent siphons, flumes, drops or chutes, weirs, division box, turnouts, permanently located pipe and similar structures needed: (1) concrete, $6.50 per cubic yard; (2) concrete pipe, 24", $1.10 per foot, 18", 60c per foot; (3) complete unit concrete turnouts and checks, minimum length 3 feet, 10", $2.00 per unit; 12", $4.00 per unit; (4) complete unit concrete turnout and checks, minimum length, 6 feet: 10", $3.00.

The practice must be carried out in accordance with a reorganization plan approved by the responsible SCS technician. Money will not be allowed for cleaning a ditch, for repairs or replacement or existing structures, for maintenance or for structures installed for crossing or other structures primarily for the convenience of the farm operator.

2. Leveling irrigable land for more efficient use of irrigation water and to prevent erosion — 50 per cent of the cost of earth moving, not to exceed $15.00 per acre. Funds will not be allowed for floating or restoration of grade; not applicable in connection with irrigation land for which suitable water is not available. The level must be carried out in accordance with a plan approved by the responsible technician.

3. Constructing, enlarging or lining reservoirs for irrigation water — (1) moving earth in constructing reservoirs, 5c per cubic yard; (2) lining material: bentonite, 85c per hundred lbs., concrete $12.00 per cubic yard and asphalt 6c per square foot.

Federal cost-sharing will not be allowed for cleaning or maintaining existing structures or for the restoration of structures constructed under a previous program unless it is determined that the failure of the original structure was caused by conditions other than lack of proper maintenance by the operator. Funds will not be allowed for the excavation of pits for the interception of underground water for to build dams to catch runoff water for irrigation. Reservoirs must be built to meet SCS specifications.

Summer Legumes

Initial establishment in the cropping system of summer annual legumes for the improvement of soil structure and for summer protection from erosion: eligible legumes, (1) field peas, 8 minimum rate of seeding, 8 pounds per acre, federal costsharing, 80 cents per acre. (2) Guarantee, minimum rate of seeding, 5 pounds per acre in rows, federal cost sharing, 50c per acre.

A good stand and growth must be obtained and left on the land or turned under. Vegetable and truck crops for sale, soybeans, mung beans or peanuts and seeding interplanted with row crops are not eligible. None of the growth may be harvested for hay or seed. Volunteer stands will not qualify. Federal cost-sharing will be limited to the acreage in excess of the average of all such plantings on the farm during the years 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Subsoiling

Bringing clod-forming subsoil to the surface of sandy cropland to help control erosion—plowing 15 inches but less than 18 inches deep, $3.00 per acre; plowing 18 inches or deeper, $5.00.

This practice will qualify only on sandy soils where needed as a protection against wind erosion. Land must be broken to the depth required in a manner that will bring the heavier soil to the top to hold the shifting top sandy layer. Hummocked land must be spread sufficiently for the plow to bring up heavier soil.

Not applicable for full cost-sharing on land where the practice was carried out for assistance under a previous program, however, if the designated technician determines that the practice is again needed for wind erosion control on land where the practice was carried out under a previous program, Federal cost sharing may be approved for the given cost less the amount of assistance given for carrying out the practice under a previous program. Deep plowing must be done at least 30 days before seeding.

2. Subsoiling to permit better penetration on cropland — at a spacing of not more than 48 inches wide and a minimum depth of 12 inches, $1.25 per acre; at a spacing of not more than 42 inches in width and a minimum depth of 14 inches, $1.75 per acre.

This is applicable to land which the country committee determines can be benefited by subsoiling. Approval will not be given where equipment will not penetrate a clay soil or hardpan, nor for any acreage for which assistance was given for this practice under any previous program.

Winter Rye

Turning under or leaving on the land a satisfactory stand and growth of rye seeded in the fall of 1954 — $1.50 per acre. This practice is applicable only to land the country committee determines is subject to wind erosion.

Rye should be seeded at the rate of not less than 60 pounds per acre. A stand and growth that would justify harvesting as a feed crop must be obtained, but the crop must be left on the land or turned under. Volunteer crops and averages harvested for hay or grain will not qualify.

No seeded preparation is necessary since the rye is usually seeded on land that has had a row crop planted.
