One Dead, Four Hurt In Crash

Final Rodeo Show Is Slated Tonight

By JERRY HALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

APPROXIMATELY 6,500 people attended the third annual performance of the ABC Boys Club World's Championship rodeo in Jones stadium Friday night and were greeted with the same thrills and spills which characterized the first two night's performance.

The weather was favorable for a change, but the rainfall Wednesday and Thursday night had left the turf of the stadium in slick and muddy condition. The cowboys and cowgirls found the going tough and spills were plentiful as well as painful.

Bulls Break From Chutes

The crowd was treated to an extra thrill when two big Brahma bulls lived up to their name of being the meanest animal on earth just after event number nine, the steer wrestling contest. The big bulls were being brought into the chutes for bull riding when one broke a hole in the side of the chute and escaped. It was followed by a companion and the two disappeared into the night in the direction of downtown Lubbock.

Cowboys proved they were good outside the arena as well as in it by taking off on horseback after the two animals, and a short time later brought one back, dragging it with their ropes. The other animal was cornered on Eighth street just off the Tech campus and tied to a pickup there until it could be brought back to the pens.

Two Riders Injured

The rodeo proper got off to a rough start when the first two contestants in the first event, bare back bronc riding were slightly injured.

Jimmy Schumacher of Phoenix was hurt when his horse threw him hard just in front of the chutes, but he managed to walk away after regaining consciousness. Tex Lewis of Fort Worth also received a hard jolt when his horse knocked him against the chute as it was coming out. Lewis had to be carried from the arena by stretcher but a short time later was back with only a bad limp.

Outstanding Friday night was the performance of the cowgirls trick riders who in spite of the slick turf, drew good applause from the crowd with their stunts. The four cowgirls, Jeanne Godshall of Victorville, Calif., Faye Blessing of Glendale, Calif., Norma Shoulders of Henrietta, Okla. and Mitzi Riley of Fort Worth, showed near perfect horsemanship with their excellent riding.

Clowns Please Crowd

The crowds were also well pleased with the antics of George Mills, Jack Knapp and Jimmy Schumacher, the cowboy clowns. Schumacher and Mills, in addition to being veteran clowns, are good cowboys as well. Mills proved his worth by taking second place in the steer wrestling contest and Schumacher was in the bare back bronc contest. Mills in the role of a comedy bull fighter was a big crowd pleaser.

Reds Accused Of Delaying Talks

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 10—Russia put a warmed over German peace proposal before the council of foreign ministers today and was accused of delaying the conference.

At the same time the U. S. insisted the meetings adjourn at the end of next week.

The Soviet proposal was the same as that presented at previous conferences in Moscow and London. Informants said it brought from western delegates a demand that the conference quit dancing a "diplomatic minuet" and get down to practical work.

New Meeting Set

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin bluntly told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky that his proposal was hopeless on the face of it, since the ministers had not been able even to agree on putting Germany into any condition to accept a treaty.

Vishinsky as bluntly retorted that "it is becoming more and more obvious that the west is working toward an occupation statute and not a peace treaty."

"We are not required to deal with proposals ridiculous to the whole world," Acheson put in.

Before adjourning for the day, the ministers agreed to a request by Vishinsky that they not meet tomorrow. To speed the conference, they agreed to a request by Bevin to meet again Sunday.

Program Is Given

Vishinsky's proposal today on Germany was in three parts:

1. That the four governments submit individual drafts of a new peace treaty within three months.

2. That the draft peace treaty should provide for withdrawal of occupation forces of the Allied powers within a year of the conclusion of a peace treaty.

3. That consideration of procedure for preparing a peace treaty should be concluded at the current session of the ministers.

"What is meant by evacuation one year after the treaty?" Acheson demanded. "With the present delaying tactics and present rate of progress, it would take not

Borger Boy Drowns In Ditch; Two Youths Rescue Companion

BORGER, June 10 (AP)—A 12-year-old boy saved one child from drowning in a rain-filled drainage ditch here today, but his attempts to rescue a second were futile.

James Ross Hooper, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hooper, Borger, drowned.

He and Daryl Ray Sussdorf, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sussdorf, were playing in the ditch.

Larry Ward, 12, pulled young Sussdorf from the ditch and he was revived by artificial respiration. But Ward and Howard Kiekbusch were unable to save the Hooper boy.

Heavy Rains Flood Parts Of Midland

DOWNPOURS which for the past week have poured over the South Plains hit to the south and southwest of the area Friday night, flooding sections of Midland and sending water eight to ten inches deep through streets of nearby Odessa.

Hail also rattled at the two West Texas cities, the Associated Press reported. Water overflowed streets and sidewalks at Midland and entered some downtown stores. Parts of south and east Midland were flooded and boats were used in the Latin American section in east Midland.

At the same time, lightning crackled in scattered thunderstorms over the rest of the state. And the Weather bureau said there was not relief from the steady rains in sight.

No Relief Seen

The South Plains apparently had escaped any heavy falls up until midnight, but the weather station in Lubbock said that showers were expected before morning at scattered points in the western parts of the area and possibly at other points.

The officials forecast also called for continued thunderstorms late today, tonight, again Sunday and Monday and Tuesday.

Heavy rains which struck, mostly just before and after midnight Friday morning left from one-fourth to one inch of rain over the area. Lubbock recorded .39 after midnight Friday to bring the year's total to 18.41 inches, just under the average year's total of 19.15 inches.

Idalou, with one inch, O'Donnell with one and one-half inches, Ropesville, Seagraves, Tahoka and Slaton, all with one-inch falls early Friday apparently bore the brunt of that storm.

Wheat Harvest Stalled

Meanwhile, showers and heavy rains over most of the Texas wheat belt continued to stall harvest operations, the Associated Press said.

Damage Is Feared

No casualties had been reorted in the Midland-Odessa section. The heaviest fall at Odessa was in a 40-minute period. Some damage was expected there.

The rain at Midland started in mid-afternoon. A total of 1.76

Strong Language Used In Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 10. (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's campaign manager was called a G.D.S.O.B. by a senator today, only the senator used the epithet in full.

The fighting words were tossed by Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) at C. P. Baldwin, secretary-treasurer of Wallace's Progressive party, at a hearing on legislation to curb Communists.

Just previously, Baldwin had been dismissed from the witness stand for failing to say whether or not he was a Communist. He accused Eastland of "fighting against negro rights" and it was then that Eastland applied the strong language to him.

Denies Being Red

That's not a very "proper" remark for a senator to make, Baldwin retorted.

Later, Baldwin issued a mimeographed statement saying, "As is well known, I am not now and never have been a Communist."

But as he did before the committee itself, he challenged its authority "to require that I disclose my political affiliation as a condition of the exercise of my constitutional right as a citizen to petition for redress of grievances."

Baldwin appeared before the Senate group to oppose bills which would require the registration of Communists and Communist front organizations, compel Communist literature and broadcasts to be so

German Rail Strikers Call Off Picketing Of Russian Building

BERLIN, June 10 (AP) — Anti-Communist rail strikers suddenly called off their picketing tonight at the Russian-run city railway headquarters in western Berlin. They said it was useless.

Their leaders said German police of the western sector first ordered them from in front of the building and then ordered their ranks cut to 15 persons. Less than half a dozen stayed around shivering in a drizzling rain.

They had numbered up to 200 since their aborted attempt to seize the building Wednesday night.

Cotton Loan Plan Given

(By The Associated Press)

HARLINGEN, June 10.—Anyone with money can make loans under the government's 1949 cotton loan program.

Farmers will be able to get advance loans on their crops from private agencies or individuals, officials of the Commodity Credit corporation announced here today. The loans will be guaranteed by the government.

These advance loans can be converted to government loans after the cotton passes government tests.

HST's Okay Seen

Ralph Raper of the Washington Production and Marketing administration office made the program public at a meeting of bankers and PMA representatives.

He said the new program has not yet been cleared with Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan and President Truman but that their approval is expected by next week.

Frank Biggs, PMA administrator from New Orleans, said delay in making money available to farmers in the past has sometimes forced premature sales.

New regulations call for a drop from the 92.5 per cent of parity program of 1948, Biggs said, adding that the grower in 1949 can expect 90 per cent of the August 1 parity price for his crop. He said it is impossible now to determine what the parity price will be then, but that present indications are it will be lower than parity as of August 1 of last year.

Setup Is Explained

Parity is a complex formula intended to give farmers a guarantee of a fair price for their products in relation to the products they buy.

The new, advance loans will be made on a regular bank note instead of a government form.

Biggs explained: "Once cotton samples have passed government tests, banks must convert the loans from their own notes to CCC forms and CCC terms. This conversion must be made by Sept. 1 or within 15 days after cotton samples have been passed, whichever is later."

The farmer, in getting an ad-

Demo Senator Opens Attack On T-H Act

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A charge that the Taft-Hartley law has bred "chaos" in industrial relations was made by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) today as the Senate debated the question of repealing the act.

Humphrey said the act has failed to prevent national emergencies, and also has brought "direct and detailed" government intervention in collective bargaining.

At one point in his speech Humphrey aroused the wrath of Senator Taft (R-Ohio) by referring to Gerard D. Reilly, former member of the National Labor Relations board, as a "propagandist for the Taft Hartley act."

Taft hotly accused Humphrey of "impugning the honor" of Reilly.

The bill under discussion, an administration measure, would repeal the T-H act and replace it with a modified version of the old Wagner act.

Humphrey spoke for four hours and 32 minutes. At the end of today's session he told reporters he is only half through his speech and will deliver the rest next Monday or Tuesday.

Floyd County Growers Fear Added Losses

Rains Slow Wheat Harvest Over Area

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

FLOYDADA, June 10.—A great many people in Floyd county are downright unhappy with the weather.

That in itself isn't unusual. Floyd countians will admit that themselves, for they have weathered dry years, windy and dusty years, stormy years, and about all the other kinds of years that can be produced within two decades or more on the South Plains and each year the weather conditions have brought many or few complaints depending on the wheat situation.

And wheat is the key to the unkind remarks being passed by the Floyd people. Like other counties on the South Plains, Floyd county has had more than enough rain, and for awhile, when the wheat was green and growing, that was fine.

Harvest Is Slowed

Now the stems are turning yellow and the long tassled heads are golden and ready for the combine, and still the rains come. Perhaps not a devastating downpour, but little showers, scattered hail, a little high wind.

All those "little things" keep the combines still and cost the wheat farmer money, and when the wheat farmer loses money the merchants lose money, and according to the people in Floyd county, "folks all over the county lose money."

Streaks of hail, high winds, hard rains and other factors have cost Floyd county an estimated 500,000 bushels of wheat in the past week, Homer Steen, Floydada newspaperman and recognized authority on about everything concerning Floyd county, has estimated, and his estimates came from the men who know, the growers and the elevator men.

Good Crop Still Seen

Figured at $1.50 a bushel, Steen pointed out that the wheat industry had lost $750,000 in one week in his county alone, and losses probably were similar in Hale and Crosby counties which lie to the west and south of Floyd.

"We'll probably make 4,000,000 bushels of wheat if we can get the combines into the fields within the next week, if the high winds and hail storms end and the fields dry up enough for our mechanized equipment to move," Steen said.

However, the wheat men have a bigger worry than hail storms, high winds and the other factors which cause scattered loss, and that is the continued rain that keeps the combines from the fields.

"Our wheat growers know this is the last year to catch the train of high prices," Steen said, "it is pulling out of the station right now and if the growers don't catch it this year they probably won't have another chance for a long time."

Crows Are On Scene

Several big growers have suffered heavy weather losses, but all figure they can make a neat profit from their crops despite these setbacks if they can roll their combines within a week. If they get started later than that time, within two weeks or more, there is a chance their profits will be cut to a considerable degree.

There is no shortage of labor or machines. The roads leading into Floydada and Lockney are lined with trucks bearing self-propelled combines. Vacant lots are crowded with "outfits" ranging from two to a half dozen combines, complete with crews, trucks and sleeping quarters.

They too are waiting for the rains to end. Some have been there for a week waiting to catch the "best fields" before going northward. Dean Sharp, of Olney, a crew leader, said:

"The cutting in the Olney area didn't turn out so good. We came up here with hopes of doing better, but then we hit the rains. We will hang around for a day or two to study the situation, but already we

Call Slated For LAFB Work Bids

Invitations to bidders will be issued Monday for extensive rehabilitation work at Lubbock Air Force Base, Lt. Col. A. R. Brousseau, project officer at the base, said Friday afternoon.

The call for bids was scheduled for Friday, but unforeseen delays postponed it until Monday.

The project officer expressed hopes that the bids can be opened June 22. That would give bidders approximately 10 days in which to prepare their bids.

To Make Awards Soon

At any event, the Air Force expects to award the contracts before July 1 in order to utilize funds currently available during fiscal 1949, which ends this month.

At present there is no indication of the dollar volume of work involved in the rehabilitation program, designed to restore the base to tip-top shape by the time the base is reactivated Aug. 1.

Work to be done involves general contracting, painting, roofing, plumbing, electrical work, steamfitting, concrete masonry, subsealing on airport runways and miscellaneous work.

It appears doubtful that additional runways will be constructed at present.

A group of civilian engineers and Air Force officers returned to Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., in a C-47 transport plane Friday afternoon. They are employed here preparing plans and specifications for the rehabilitation project.

SETTLEMENT IS POSSIBLE

NEW YORK, June 10. (AP) — Hopes for settlement brightened today in a dispute that threatens a tieup of ocean shipping from Maine to Texas next week. Negotiators met for three hours, apparently close to agreement on the thorniest issue of the dispute—the question of the union-operated hiring hall system of employing seamen.

'Veto' Seen On Rent Proposal

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 10—Statewide rent decontrol in Texas may be blocked in Washington if Gov. Beauford H. Jester doesn't block it first.

Rough sledding for the measure finally enacted by the legislature this week was revealed here today by federal Housing Expediter Tighe Woods.

Woods flew from Washington specifically to ask the governor to veto the legislation, he told newsmen following his conference with Gov. Jester.

May Not Recognize Law

If the governor doesn't veto it, he said, it is presently the attitude of the federal housing office not to recognize the law if it can find any way out.

The expediter under federal law has 15 days after the Texas law would become effective in which to act on it.

Woods said he felt that he has good reason not to recognize it.

He said he thought an amendment on the state law permitting cities to re-establish controls after they are removed is contrary to the federal law.

Asks For Veto

"From studies we have made we feel that housing is still acute in many communities here in Texas," he said. "I asked the governor if he could see his way clear to veto the decontrol law."

"The governor said he would give the matter his careful and prayerful consideration," he added.

Gov. Jester offered no immediate comment himself.

Woods warned that high rents have followed decontrols in housing-short areas.

Rents jumped 42 per cent in a Georgia community when controls were removed and the controls had to be reinstated, he said. In that instance, he added, controls could be returned because they had been removed by the expedit-

Shipping Is Halted In Shanghai Area

SHANGHAI, June 10. (AP)—The Communists set up foreign exchange control and invited tariff-free imports of cotton today, but Shanghai shipping was at a standstill for fear of Nationalists mines in the mouth of the Yangtze river.

There was no way of proving whether the river was or was not mined, but the suspicion—based on a cryptic warning yesterday from a Nationalist gunboat—was as effective as fact.

The only two foreign ships in port, the British Shengking from Hong Kong and the American freighter China Victory, remained at their moorings.

Two hundred former Nationalists soldiers, with Communist permission to leave Shanghai, forced their way aboard the Shenking and refused to leave. They so overcrowded the ship that is was doubtful she would sail with them even if the mine scare should end.

O. N. Nippert, Of Levelland, Wreck Victim

ONE man was killed and four other persons injured, one possibly seriously, in a head-on collision of a car and truck about 11:30 p.m. Friday on the Levelland highway, about 15 miles west of Lubbock between Hurlwood and Smyer.

Ovid Newton Nippert, 43, of Levelland, driver of the car, was believed killed instantly. He was pronounced dead on arrival at West Texas hospital here, where he was carried by Plains ambulance.

He was believed returning home from the Friday night performance of the Boys club rodeo here, since a souvenir program of the rodeo was found in his car. He was alone at the time.

Four Others Hurt

Injured were four passengers in the 1948-Chevrolet bob-tailed truck, which was returning to Lubbock from Levelland.

Earl Turnell, 32, of 2412 Seventh, driver of the truck, was believed most seriously hurt. He suffered undetermined chest injuries, presumably from contact with the steering wheel of the vehicle. X-rays had not been taken at 1 a.m. today.

Claudell Pryor, 17, of 313 North Monroe, suffered cuts and abrasions of the legs and arms, and about the head.

Bob Estes, 19, of Clyde route 1, had lacerations of the right leg below the knee, and a possible fracture. A physician said, however, that his cursory inspection did not reveal too much evidence to sustain the theory of a fracture.

Frances Anderson, 20, of 2807 Ruby, suffered an injury of the right ankle and cuts and abrasions about the legs, arms, head and face. X-rays will be taken to determine extent of the ankle injury.

Victims In Hospital

All the victims were still undergoing treatment at 1:30 a. m. this morning, and x-rays had not been taken of any of the patients at that time.

Miss Pryor and Turnell were carried to West Texas hospital by Plains ambulance from the scene of the accident, while Miss Anderson and Estes were carried in

Truman To Make Important Talk

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

LITTLE ROCK, June 10.—President Truman arrived here today for what he said would be a "very important" speech tomorrow on the international situation.

He thus described his prospective talk to Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas as he plunged into a round of 35th Division activities, swinging a gold-headed cane.

Mr. Truman is to speak at 2:30 p. m. (CST) Saturday on prospects for preserving the peace before a gathering of the men with whom he fought in France in 1918.

Breakfast Planned Today

Many of these "buddies," members of battery of the 129th Field artillery, were on hand at the Little Rock airport when the presidential plane, the "Independence" landed at 3:02 p. m. (CST).

There were many shouts of "Hi, Captain Harry," as the President stepped from his plane, swinging the gold headed cane they presented him at a 7 a. m. breakfast in Washington during inauguration week.

The President ordered them all to report for another 7 a. m. breakfast with him tomorrow at the Hotel Marion where he is making his quarters while here.

There was one disappointment in connection with the President's welcome. Less than 200 persons were on hand when he made an appearance at the Joseph T. Robinson auditorium at a 35th Division business session.

But, the President didn't seem

PHYSICIST DENIES DISLOYALTY

Former Atomic Worker Joined Reds At Meeting With Scientist

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 10—A wartime worker in a West Coast atomic laboratory testified today that he became a Communist after he was taken to a party meeting by an atomic scientist.

The worker, Robert Davis, told the House Un-American Activities committee that the scientist was Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz.

At one period during the war they both were employed at the important University of California radiation laboratory in Berkeley.

The price of a Communist card in capitalistic terms: 50 cents.

Lomanitz also was a witness before the committee today, but he preceded Davis to the stand.

The slender, 28-year-old Lomanitz now is an associate physics professor at Fisk university in Nashville, Tenn.

On grounds that he might incriminate himself, he refused to say whether he ever had joined the party, or whether he had ever asked anyone else to join.

But, said Lomanitz:

Secret FBI Reports Read At Spy Trial Disclose Red Intelligence Contacts In War Department

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 10—The Judith Coplon spy trial sizzled today with secret FBI reports disclosing Soviet intelligence contacts in the War department and "suspicious meetings" of U. S. Army officers.

A "data slip" allegedly found in Miss Coplon's purse the night of her arrest said that a man and wife employed on the War department's "secret Russian desk" in 1946 were suspected of giving information to NKVD, the Russian intelligence network.

The two were named as Williams Hermann Eckart Johnson and Annette F. Johnson.

One FBI report introduced in evidence included an informant's statement that "Emily Condon" gave to a "Morton Kent" the New York address of a Bulgarian suspected of espionage. "Emily Condon" was not identified, although the report indicated she lived in Washington.

Kent was said to be Washington manager of the Addressograph-Multigraph corporation. The report said he had been trying to rent or sell business machines to embassies and legations, and that he may have been interested in the Bulgarian as a contact at the United Nations.

Morton E. Kent, 48, former export director for the Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., was found dead, his throat slashed, floating in the Potomac river last Saturday.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald issued a certificate of suicide.

The Bulgarian was identified as Georgi Dimitrov Sotirov, a UN employe "suspected of working for the Bulgarian or Russian intelli-

U.S. Reported Getting 'Tough' With Israel Over UN Decisions

By JOHN A. SCALI
Associated Press Staff Writer

The United States is getting tough with the new republic of Israel.

It's probably only a temporary hitch in the usually friendly relations between the two countries, but at the moment it is very apparent behind the scenes.

Top-rank State department officials are annoyed at what they consider Israel's unnecessary delay in complying with United Nations decisions on Palestine.

U. S. Fires Stiff Note

Latest evidence of their displeasure is a stiff note to Tel Aviv about 10 days ago. Officials familiar with the note say it was intended as a "diplomatic spanking."

The contents have been kept secret, but it was learned that the State department sharply reminded the Israeli government that it has not yet abided by the United Nations resolution on Palestine passed last Dec. 11.

This resolution, approved by the 52-nation assembly, called upon Israel to permit all Arab refugees from Palestine who want to return to their homes.

It also provides for internationalization of the city of Jerusalem under the United Nations.

Refugees' Return Blocked

An estimated 900,000 Arab refugees, mostly women and children, are living in makeshift camps in neighboring Arab nations and in the Arab part of Palestine.

Thus far Israeli authorities have not permitted any substantial number to return because they believe this problem should be considered in connection with the final peace treaties, yet to be written.

The State department contends the Israeli should help solve the immediate problem by permitting several hundred thousand Arabs to return to their former homes.

The question of Jerusalem remains, along with the potentially ever more explosive problem of Israel's boundaries. Israeli troops now occupy about 30 per cent more territory than was allotted the new state under the United Nations partition of November 1947. They won it in battle with the Arabs and don't want to give it up.

But President Truman is on record saying that if Israel wants territory not assigned it by the UN it must give up other areas in exchange.

Pastor Armed With Bible, Shotgun To Discourage Vandals

SAN ANTONIO, June 10 (AP)—Armed with a Bible and a sawed-off shotgun, a Baptist preacher today continued a vigil against vandalism to his tent church.

Rev. Roland C. King admits the shotgun will be more effective in preventing another slashing of his tent, which he hopes to patch in time for his first service Sunday night.

Despite threats against his life and destruction to his humble church, worship of God will begin on schedule.

43 Patches Required

In the meantime he is busy patching 43 separate and long gashes to the tent done by an unidentified person Wednesday night.

Referring to his shotgun, King said:

"Sometimes preaching won't do it. A man has to protect his property."

As for the threats against his life, King said he figured he was a man of God and could take a chance.

There will be only a slight change in his plans for a Sunday night service, King said:

He's changed his sermon somewhat.

He'll discuss the four freedoms, one of which is the freedom to worship without fear of death and destruction.

Charter Presentation Rites Are Held By Whitharral Lions

WHITHARRAL, June 10. (Special)—W. R. Rutherford, District 2-T-1 Lions club governor, was principal speaker last night at charter presentation ceremonies for the recently-organized Whitharral Lions club.

Large delegations from Anton and Levelland attended the charter night program, held in the local school cafeteria under sponsorship of the Anton Lions.

Rutherford presented the Whitharral club charter to C. L. Borders, president of the new club.

Earlier, Borders had given an address of welcome, to which Jim Bridges, president of the Anton club, responded.

Ed Hart, of Anton, spoke on "What Makes a Successful Lions Club."

Mrs. D. S. Tullis led group singing, with Mrs. Bill Sharbutt as piano accompanist.

Invocation was by H. G. Richards.

Other officers of the new Whitharral club include H. G. Walden, first vice-president; Walter Williams, second vice-president; Bill Eggemeyer, third vice-president; Jay B. Harbin, secretary; D. S. Tullis, treasurer; Charlie Landers, tailtwister; A. B. Roberts, Lion-tamer; and A. A. Gray, Ed Johnson, C. A. Stephenson and N. B. Embry, directors.

Young Seagraves Men To Form Junior Chamber Of Commerce

SEAGRAVES, June 11 (Special)—Young men interested in forming a junior chamber of commerce here will meet at 8 p. m. Monday in the Community building.

Membership is limited to men between 21 and 35 years of age, however older men may continue to remain active without holding office in the organization, Harry Nunan, secretary of Seagraves Chamber of Commerce said. Not exclusively for businessmen, membership is open to all civic-minded men from the age of 21 to 35.

Preliminary work for the meeting was done by Horace Gearhart, president of Lubbock Jaycees, and several Lubbock members.

Big Job Of Running Billion-Dollar-A-Year Pennsylvania Railroad Filled By 'Big' Man

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 10. — Walter S. Franklin, six-foot-six and partially bald, isn't scared at the prospect of running America's largest railroad.

"Why should I be?" he asks.

Franklin assumes the presidency of the Pennsylvania railroad next Thursday. The giant PRR sprawls 12,000 miles across the U.S. countryside, employs some 135,000.

It's a big job—and physically the towering Franklin is a big enough man to handle it. He tips the scale at 225. Beneath his grey business suit there's plenty of muscle. You'd never know he was 65.

Headed Smaller Lines

Mentally, too, Franklin is capable of running the Pennsy, biggest privately-owned railroad in the world. He's been in the railroad business 43 years, ever since graduation from Harvard university.

Twice before he's been president of a railroad. In 1929 it was the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, two years later the Wabash.

"They might have been smaller than the Pennsylvania," Franklin told a reporter, "but they were railroads."

Franklin succeeds M. W. Clement who takes over the newly-created post of chairman of the board of directors. Clement was PRR boss-man for 14 years.

"I hope to do as well as Mr. Clement," the president-elect said, "but come around in three months and I'll let you know how I'm making out."

Franklin, however, is kidding—really! He knows he can do the job. So does the PRR board that picked him to run the billion-dollar business.

Business Is 'Okay'

And how is business?

"Okay," he says, "but it could be better."

Right now Franklin is executive vice president and sits behind a nine-foot-wide, glass-topped desk in a walnut-paneled room.

Franklin admits that America's railroads face a difficult problem today.

"We have a declining volume and an increasing expense," he declared, "But some of the labor-saving devices we've put into operation the past few years may get us by.

"Of course we'll need to have freight and passenger rate increases."

Franklin predicted the PRR would round out the first half of this year in the black.

Whether the last half of 1949 will be profitable depends on John L. Lewis.

Prolonged Strike Feared

"If there is no prolonged coal strike we'll be okay," Franklin asserted. He said "prolonged" meant a month or more.

Franklin, his eyes twinkling with mischief, insisted however there isn't a railroad problem that a game of tennis or golf won't help cure.

That's his only break from work, except when he goes sailing during vacation-time. Then he has his son and daughter for company.

Now and then, though, he admits he chops wood on his suburban farm "just for a little relaxation."

But the railroad—that's most important.

Funny thing, he recalls, my father started his career with the Pennsylvania.

Edinburg Man Changes Plea To Guilty In Murder Of Brothers

EDINBURG, June 10 (AP)—Delbert G. Woodruff changed his murder trial plea to guilty today—just as preparation of the judge's jury charge had been completed.

He pleaded guilty to murder without malice. District Judge Bryce Ferguson accepted the change. He announced Woodruff would be sentenced to two years in prison for the fatal shooting of Frank Evins.

Woodruff was accused of shooting Frank and Jesse Evins, brothers, in an Edinburg hotel room June 21, 1947. He was indicted for both murder with malice and murder without malice.

He was brought to trial in 92nd District court in Frank Evins' death. Testimony ended yesterday. As the judge's charge to the jury was prepared today the district court room filled.

Frank Phillips Is Named Head Of Lubbock Sales Executives

Officers of Lubbock Sales Executives club were elected by the board of directors of the organization at a luncheon Friday in Hilton hotel.

They are: President, Frank Phillips; vice president, Sam Leifeste; secretary-treasurer, Orville Stewart.

Those present were Phillips, Stewart and Cecil Kelsey, who were elected new directors at a recent meeting of the club; K. D. (Dinty) Moore, re-elected to the board at the last meeting; W. D. Rogers and James Gunn, who continued terms as board members; J. P. Watt, outgoing president, who will serve on the board two years, and John Hayes and John Robertson, outgoing directors.

Rites To Be Conducted Saturday For Retired Littlefield Farmer

LITTLEFIELD, June 10 (Special) — Funeral services for Joseph H. Williams, 76, of Littlefield, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the First Baptist church.

Rev. Lee Hemphill is to officiate.

Burial will be in Littlefield cemetery, under direction of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Williams, a retired farmer, died late Thursday in Lamb County Memorial hospital. He had lived in Littlefield the last 10 years.

Survivors include the wife; three daughters, Mrs. R. H. Park of Amarillo, Mrs. Fred Cornebise of Brownfield and Mrs. C. W. Wrenn of San Dioge, Marvin Williams of Groom and Clyde Williams of Amarillo; 32 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Panama plans a $2,000,000 race track.

Body Of Colorado University Student Found In Lover's Lane

BOULDER, Colo., June 10 (INS)—The body of a Colorado university honor student, bludgeoned to death by a mysterious assailant, was recovered today from Boulder creek, a short distance downstream from the wooded lover's glen where the attack took place.

Roy G. Spore, jr., of Denver, 19-year-old engineering student, had been the object of a search since early this morning. His co-ed companion had returned, bleeding and bruised, to tell authorities of a "tall, slender man," who beat the couple with an iron pipe.

Sheriff Arthur Everson said there are virtually no clues in the mystery slaying, and that the murderer's motive cannot be determined.

Boulder County Coroner George Howe of Longmont said Spore had been beaten "unmercifully" about the head. Howe said that two wounds, one over the left eye and another on the right rear of the head, had cut into the scalp about three inches and fractured the skull, penetrating the brain. Either would could have been fatal, Howe said.

A severe drought has hit Cuba's field crops this year.

Banquet Is For Visitor

Mrs. Bessie Carter of San Angelo, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, paid an official visit to the Lubbock lodge Thursday night. A courtesy banquet was given for her at the Hilton hotel. Mrs. A. L. Anderson was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Earl Nail, noble grand, gave the welcome and Mrs. Carter made response.

Marilyn Woods and Melba Holeman danced and Patsy Pattillo gave a number. They were accompanied by Mrs. Grace D. Hamilton.

Later in the evening the group went to the 100F hall for a business meeting and a social. There were guests from Levelland and Littlefield.

FRAUD, CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Tucker Motor Firm Head, Seven Associates Face Federal Charges

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP)—Preston T. Tucker, would-be mass producer of rear engine autos, was indicted on federal charges today. Seven of his associates, one an ex-convict, also were accused.

The charges were mail fraud, violating regulations of the Securities and Exchange commission, and conspiracy.

Tucker answered the federal grand jury with a statement declaring "I don't intend to take it lying down." He said he'll ask the Senate to investigate.

The grand jury's 31-count indictment came after 54 days of viewing documents and listening to testimony about the organization, financing and operation of Tucker Corp. The body began its investigation Feb. 12, and reported today to Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

Statement Issued

Although Tucker was reported in Michigan, his son-in-law, R. W. Parsons, distributed the statement here and said the 46-year-old corporation founder prepared it.

It said the Tucker Corp. had been a victim of "wrecking tactics of the SEC." He reiterated his claim that the firm has assets of $14,000,000 and debts of only $1,600,000.

The indictment named with Tucker:

Harold A. Karsten, 58, former Minneapolis lawyer who was disbarred and served three years in the Illinois State penitentiary for fraud. Karsten, who once used the name Abraham Karatz, lives in North Hollywood, Calif.

Floyd D. Cerf, 60, Chicago, former investment banker who floated the corporation's $17,450,000 issue of class A common stock.

Robert Pierce, 50, Detroit Athletic club, Detroit, former director and treasurer of Tucker Corp. and onetime associate with Briggs Manufacturing company of Detroit.

Fred Rockelman, 63, Chicago, with the Ford Motor company and Chrysler corporation for more than 27 years before joining Tucker where he was director, general sales manager and executive vice president.

Mitchell W. Dulian, 55, Oak Park, Ill., a former director and sales manager of Tucker.

Otis Radford, 45, Evergreen Park, Ill., former Tucker director, treasurer and comptroller.

Mail Fraud Charged

Cliff Knoble, 59, Chicago, formerly with Chrysler corporation and director of advertising for Tucker.

The indictment counts are 25 of mail fraud, five of violating SEC regulations, and one of conspiracy. Maximum possible penalties for conviction under the indictment would be 155 years imprisonment and $60,000 in fines for each defendant.

Judge Barnes fixed bond for Tucker, Cerf, Pierce and Karsten at $25,000 apiece, and set $10,000 bonds for the others.

The grand jury said that the defendants spent a total of $28 million in promotion and building of the car; made "false and fraudulent statements" about the proposed new car, and produced 25 hand-made cars "none of which had the engineering features which Tucker contended would go into his automobile."

For the first time in 20 years, on outbreak of yellow fever is reported from Pacora, northeast of the city of Panama.

Department Store Sales In Four Texas Cities Show Increase

DALLAS, June 10. (AP)—Government store sales in four major Texas cities showed slight gains for the week ended June 4 as compared with the same period last year.

Stores reporting from Fort Worth, however, showed business decreases of six percent. The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said today. This was attributed to lingering effects of the recent flood.

Dallas stores reported that business was up eight percent; San Antonio, three percent and Houston, one percent.

Loyalty Check Of Philippine Government Workers Ordered

MANILA, June 10. (AP)—Secretary of Interior Sotero Baluyut today ordered a loyalty check to prevent members of the Communist-led Hukbalahap guerrillas from getting government jobs.

Baluyut told provincial governors and mayors in a circular that "top commanders of dissident elements" are trying to get government jobs for their men or families. He said their purpose was to paralyze the armed forces and transportation services by sabotage "when the opportunity comes."

The port of Mombasa, Kenya, last year one of the world's most congested, has remedied the situation and sharply cut turn-around time for vessels there.

Mexican Oil Program Outlined For Texans By Pemex Official

AUSTIN, June 10. (AP)—A high official of Mexico's government oil monopoly told a conference here today that it was high time for "frank discussions" between Texas and his country over economic relationships.

Manuel Rodriguez Aguilar, chief of the central department of exploration of Pteroleos Mexicanos (Pemex), spoke at the University of Texas conference on basic industries in Texas and northern Mexico.

Aguilar addressed the conference in the place of Antonio J. Bermudez, general director of the monopoly, and delivered the speech Bermudez had planned to deliver.

Pemex Policy Outlined

Aguilar said his country was attempting to solve its economic difficulties by "intensive but rational" exploitation of natural resources. "A poor neighbor is not a good neighbor," he said, "and we intend to create wealth for our country through intensive productions and thus raise the standards of living to a point comparable with yours."

The Pemex official said "you can readily realize that the revival of the Mexican oil industry is a matter of vigorous exploitation and development drilling."

"There is no doubt in our minds that a great number of the structures found in northeastern Mexico contain a great wealth of oil and gas and this has begun to be substantiated by the results obtained by the drill," he said.

New Refinery Planned

Aguilar estimated that the oil reserves in the 35 structures so far mapped in northeast Mexico would total more than 720 million barrels.

He said plans for the near future call for a new oil refinery in Monterrey which would handle 25,000 to 30,000 barrels of crude daily.

"The disposal of gas from fields already discovered has an immediate market in Monterrey, Torreon, and the nearby industrial centers of Saltillo and Monclava," Aguilar said. "At the present time Monterrey has its gas mostly supplied from Texas, but Torreon, Saltillo and Monclava have no gas."

He said Pemex planned to build a gas pipeline from northeastern Mexico to the valley of Mexico City through Tampico and the Poza Rica oil field.

Sigrid Undset, Winner Of 1928 Nobel Prize, Dies In Norway

OSLO, Norway, June 10. (AP)—Sigrid Undset, winner of the 1928 Nobel prize for literature and an ardent crusader against Nazism, died today at Lillehammer. She was 67.

Mme. Undset had been ill throughout the winter but had been feeling better this spring, her friends said. Then she suffered a stroke two days ago and was taken to Oppland County hospital.

Her prize work was the Kristin Lavransdatter trilogy which won world-wide acclaim as a novel of the middle ages.

With the rise of Hitler in Germany she put that literary triumph aside and directed her writings against the Nazis.

By 1936, three years after Hitler got to the top, she had won the ire of official Germany for her crusade against Hitler's racial theories.

Four years later the dangers she foresaw swept into her country with the German invasion and she joined the government as a censor in the short-lived Norwegian resistance. Then she had to flee over a route fraught with hardships to take refuge in Sweden.

From there she went to the United States carrying on the crusade against Hitlerism.

Algeria took sugar off rationing.

Tech Department Announces Purchase Of Registered Bull

Texas Tech's animal husbandry department has recently purchased a registered Jersey bull from the J. J. Smith farms near Petersburg according to Prof. Ray C. Mowrey, head of the department.

The animal will be used in the artificial breeding program which is being carried on at the college. It will be called Smith's Crest Signal and is the son of Signal Commander.

Signal Commander is the son of Observer's Blonde Signal. The latter is rated a very good bull and is winner of gold and silver medals of merit. Signal Commander's dam is Welcome Volunteer Sable who holds a record production of 1,034 pounds of butter fat.

Smith's Crest Signal's dam is China Cup's Gambouge Foxy, an unofficial ton of gold cow, rated by the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

Lamesa Drops Hubbers, 11-3

Guiterrez Hurls Loboes' Triumph

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, June 10—Jack Guiterrez made a place for himself on the Lamesa Lobo mound staff tonight with a brilliant 11 to 3 victory over the Lubbock Hubbers.

The victory, which snapped a three-game losing streak for the Loboes, also cut the Hubber fifth-place margin to a game and a half.

The two teams were rocking along in a 1-1 tie going into the bottom of the fourth, when the Loboes suddenly exploded for four runs on as many hits. That didn't clinch the game, so the Loboes chalked up four more runs the next frame to salt away the contest.

D. C. Miller, Lobo leftfielder, handed the Loboes a lead in the second inning when he led off with a home run, his 11th of the season.

The Hubbers tied it up in the third when Don Hensiek, who lost his fourth game of the year, singled. He completed his tour of the bases on Al Duarte's single. That set the stage for the explosion.

Eddie Melillo doubled to lead off, Miller strolled and Glenn Selbo singled to load the bases. Dan Pinto promptly unloaded the bases with a double and Manager Jay Haney scored Pinto with a single.

Rheingans led off the fifth with a walk and went to third on Eddie Melillo's single. And when Buddy McCallum's throw went through Jim Prince, Rheingans scored. Miller grounded out for the second death of the inning. But Selbo followed with a double to plate Melillo and Pinto doubled to send Selbo home, Pinto stole third and when Mike Dooley's throw went into leftfield, Pinto scored.

The Hubbers got back two of the runs in the sixth when Bo Dempsey, Dooley, Charley Willis and McCallum singled in succession, two runs crossing on the third baseman's hit.

Dempsey led off the eighth with a triple, but was left stranded.

Tomorrow night Haney will do the hurling for Lamesa when Pampa opens a three-game stand here.

Rookie Bobby Barron Signed By Hubbers

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 10. (Special) — Bobby Barron, a 20-year-old rookie, has been signed to his first professional baseball contract and assigned to the Lubbock Hubbers of the West Texas-New Mexico League.

George Schepps, owner of the Corpus Christi club of the Class D Rio Grande Valley League and general manager of the Hubbers, announced consummation of the deal today.

Barron is a native of Jacksonville, Texas, and is a rookie infielder. He bats and throws right-handed. He was purchased outright from the Tyler club of the East Texas League and was due to report to the Hubbers in Lamesa today.

Barron will be with the Hubbers on a five-day look pending final approval of the sale. If he is retained, one present member of the Hubbers will have to be reassigned.

Purchase of Barron brings to three the number of rookies on the Hubber roster. The other two are Charles Willis, pitcher and utility infielder-outfielder, and Buddy McCallum, infielder. McCallum, originally classed as limited service, was discovered to be a rookie after the season had started.

Jockey Ralph Neves Is Given Suspension By California Board

ARCADIA, Cal., June 10 (INS)—Jockey Ralph Neves, the "Portuguese Pepper Pot" who has booted many a thoroughbred home first under the wire, was suspended for 15 days today by the California horse racing board.

The board's action followed a similar step taken earlier in the day by Hollywood Park stewards, who charged that the rider participated in a touting scheme.

The board, while finding the stewards' charges to be true, tempered its decision by ruling that Neves had assisted a known tout without, however, "any intent of profit or gain for himself."

The touting scheme in which Neves was mixed up was reported to Hollywood park officials by the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Association.

Randy Gumpert Leads White Sox To 4 To 2 Triumph Over Bosox

Yankees Nose Out Cleveland, 3 To 2

CHICAGO, June 10 (INS) — Randy Gumpert led the Chicago White Sox to a 4 to 2 win tonight over the Boston Red Sox before 28,073 fans.

Gumpert yielded nine hits to the Bosox during the opener of a three-game series.

The White Sox copped the game on only four base hits to snap their three-game losing streak.

Earl Johnson, hurling six innings, was tabbed with the loss. The Chisox collected all their runs off him in the third on a hit batter, a walk, an error by Bill Goodman, and base hits by Gumpert and Dave Philley.

Cotton Belt League Games Set Sunday

Cotton Belt League baseball games will be resumed Sunday afternoon, with the Wolfforth Wolves, Lubbock and Cooper fighting to break a three-way tie for first place.

The tie probably will be broken before Sunday night, for the schedule calls for Lubbock to play the Wolfforth Eagles, Cooper to play Ropesville, Wolfforth Wolves to meet Meadow and Shallowater to oppose the Smyer entry.

Last week's play saw Lubbock fall out of the undisputed lead when Shallowater hung a defeat on the Hub City nine. At the same time, the Eagles beat Ropesville, the Wolves beat Smyer and Cooper beat Meadow.

Most games will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and more changes in the league standings are expected before night.

The standings:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Wolves	3	1	.750
Lubbock	3	1	.750
Cooper	3	1	.750
Shallowater	1	1	.500
Eagles	1	1	.500
Ropesville	1	2	.333
Meadow	1	3	.250
Smyer	0	3	.000

Clovis VFW Softballers Will Meet Cloverlake Nine Tonight

Clovis, N. M., will send its strong VFW softball team to Lubbock for a pair of games tonight with the Cloverlake Dairy nine of this city at Jumbo Webster field.

The first game is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p. m. and Ralph Garrett's Cloverlake team looks to be in for a rough night. The VFW team has piled up an impressive season's record of 17 victories and only two defeats.

Bill Flippin and Joe Robertson, two of the finest pitchers in Eastern New Mexico, will do the mound work for the invaders. Cecil "Smoky" Hale and Fred Schultz will do the hurling for the Cloverlake nine. And both games shape up as pitcher's duels.

Cloverlake's only loss in the City League here has been to the strong Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers nine and the dairymen are in second place at the present time.

Algeria has bought 500 dozen pairs of basketball shoes from Czechoslovakia.

Amarillo, Dukes Split Twin Bill

AMARILLO, June 10. (AP)—Amarillo divided a twin bill here tonight, the Dukes taking the opener 4-3 and the Gold Sox capturing the nightcap 12-5.

Amarillo Righthander Ray Faust hurled both games, losing the first one to Frank Shone in a pitcher's battle and winning the second after relieving Bob German with none out in the first inning.

The first-game win halted a six game losing skein for the Dukes but they had to go one extra inning to do it. Dawson singled home Len Tttyd from second with the winning run in the top of the eighth.

First Baseman Al Maul clouted two home runs, one in the third to tie the game at 2-2 and the other in the sixth to give the visitors a 3-2 lead. The Sox counted twice in the second and tied the score at 3-3 in the bottom of the sixth.

Faust whiffed 14 batters in the opener and added five more to the list in the second game.

Garth Takes Lead In Beaumont Golf Meet

BEAUMONT, June 10 (AP) — Defending champion Tyrrell Garth, jr., followed by a group of youthful Houston shot-makers lead the way into the quarterfinals of the seventh annual Beaumont Country club championship here today with a pair of easy victories over Bill Philpott of Beaumont and another fellow townsman, Kyle Alford to the tune of four and three and six and four respectively.

Garth's opponent Saturday morning will be Don Addington, Houston star and present national caddy champion, while Frank Clark of LSU, and who hails from Lafayette, tangles with a Houston school lad, better known as Bobbie Moncrief. Bobbie Riegel, Houston, winner of the Beaumont meet in 1946, encounters Bill Glassco of Beaumont and Texas State Publinx champ Mike Dicessaro, also of Houston, matches strokes with Floyd Addington of Houston's Lamar High school.

Don Addington first eliminated Cooke Wilson of Beaumont, four and three; then defeated Bill Hodges, also of Beaumont, one up. Frank Clark first disposed of J. C. Hardin, Los Angeles, one up, but almost met his 'Waterloo' in the form of Beaumont's F. E. Ames, whom he trailed by one hole at the turn.

Clark birdied three holes in a row for a four-under-par card and to best Ames, who also was four under regulation figures. Moncrief eliminated Sid Frink of Freeport, six and five, then took the measure of Leonard Stone, Beaumont, one up. Bill Glasgow first eliminated Jack Beasley of Crockett then bounced Reggie Overman of Port Arthur. Dicessaro disposed of Harry Walton, Beaumont, two and one, then won over Ray Moore, also of Beaumont, six and five. Floyd Addington first bested Bernard Riviere, Houston, then holed out of a trap for a birdie two on the 17th hole to defeat Mark Moore of Beaumont, two and one.

Pioneers Nose Out Borger Nine, 7-6

BORGER, June 10 (AP)—Not to be completely outdone in the series, the Clovis Pioneers edged out the Borger Gassers, 7-6 here tonight.

Clovis' big inning came in the second and four runs gave them a lead they never lost.

Bob Ferguson was the big bat for Borger wit htwo four masters and driving in four of the six runs, during the contest. One of these came with Jimmy Littlejohn on board. Gordon Nell brought in the remaining two runs with his big stick.

Hurler Pinso helped win his first game with the Pioneers, with two singles, driving in three runs. Centerfielder Moore was the hard ball driver, getting two fence rattling doubles, and one single for five times at bat.

Moniz, playing third base for the night, stopped Bob Ferguson's hard ball with his ankle in the ninth, and had to leave the contest. The extent of his injuries were unknown at the closing of the game.

Pinso gave nine hits, scattered two in the second, fifth and eighth innings, and one lone marker in the ninth. The Gassers missed making it four wins in a row over the Pioneers by two little ones.

Dallas Edges Exporters, 3-2

BEAUMONT, June 10 (AP)—Lefty Roy Sanner of Dallas ran his string of wins to six straight without a defeat here tonight when he pitched the Dallas Eagles to a seven single, 3-2 win over the Beaumont Exporters in the first of a three-game series.

The Eagles banged out eight hits off Carl Derose, one a 350 foot homer by Easterwood in the seventh inning. Zeke Melignano pitched to the last two Eagles in the ninth inning.

FORT WORTH RALLIES TO GAIN 3-2 WIN OVER SPORTS

SHREVEPORT, La., June 10 (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats rallied for two runs in the ninth inning after two were out to edge the Shreveport Sports here tonight, 3-2.

Ralph "Bruz" Hamner had held the Cats to one run and four hits up until the ninth and retired the first two batters in the last stanza before Dick Williams' infield bounder started a rally.

Chandler limited the Sports to six safeties, three of them coming in the second inning when the Sports took a two-run lead.

HOUSTON BUFFS GAIN 4-3 WIN OVER OKLAHOMA CITY

HOUSTON, June 10 (AP)—Hal Epp's single with the bases filled in the tenth inning gave the Houston Buffs a 4 to 3 victory over the Oklahoma City Indians in the opening game of a three game series.

A walk, Herb Conyers' wild throw to second after fielding Bollweg's grounder and an intentional pass to Burmeister filled the bases with one out. Preacher Dorsett struck out Bud Hardin but Epps delivered the game winning blow.

TULSA'S OILERS NOSE OUT SAN ANTONIO, 8 TO 7

SAN ANTONIO, June 10 (AP)—The Tulsa Oilers took the first game of the series from the San Antonio Missions tonight, 8 to 7.

The Oilers got off to a 6-0 lead and then had to stave off a late inning Mission attack in the sixth and eighth rounds.

Al Boresh started for the Oilers and received credit for the victory though he was not around at the finish. Frank Smith relieved him in the eighth and Dave Jolly pitched the ninth.

Pampa Spanks Blue Sox Again, 10-7

ABILENE, June 10 (AP) — With a four-run splurge in the ninth, Pampa's Oilers came from behind to defeat Abilene 10-7 here tonight and win the series, two games to one.

The Blue Sox played, and apparently prayed, for the rains to come earlier and while they had a lead. The rain did come in the ninth, but not in sufficient quantity, according to the umpires, to warrant stopping the game.

Lefty Roy Parker pitched fine baseball for Pampa, limiting the Blue Sox to eight hits and shutting them out consistently after the third inning. Two walks and two hits resulted in two runs for the Blue Sox in the third, and they led until the ninth, after five runs in the first.

Home runs by Ken Peacock and Pitcher Parker, the latter with a mate aboard, sparked the Pampa attack of 15 hits against four Abilene pitchers. Parker added two doubles after his homer and drove in four runs, or enough to win.

In a heavy drizzle and with a brilliant electrical storm hovering near, the Oilers batted around to score four times on hits by Matney, Peacock, Harper, Parker and Stringer in the ninth. Parker put three Abilene players on the bases in the last of the ninth, but had enough to get the side out without a score. Then the rain really let go.

Frisch To Pilot Cubs

Charlie Grimm To Get Office Job

BOSTON, June 10 (AP)—Jolly Charlie Grimm quit the Chicago Cubs bench for its front office and Frankie Frisch became his managerial successor for a three-year term today.

That shakeup was described by owner Philip K. Wrigley as "The best way to get the club ahead."

Wrigley said that Grimm, manager of the Cubs for about 14 years since 1932, suggested his own transfer as the club's vice president in charge of baseball operations and Frisch's appointment as his successor.

Durocher Called Him Back

Frisch, also a veteran pilot in the National league ranks, managed the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, in between a Boston baseball broadcasting assignment, from 1933-1946.

Again vowing he was "Through forever with managing," Frisch returned to the airways in New York in 1948. But this season he again was lured away from his microphone by Leo Durocher, who persuaded him to rejoin the New York Giants as a coach. He broke in with that club as the "Fordham Flash" in 1919.

"I felt the move was necessary to give the Cubs another baseball man in an executive position," Wrigley explained. "Charlie will live longer in his new job."

Wrigley added that Frisch would take over the Cubs in Chicago next Monday and that Jimmy Gallagher, who has been general manager, would continue with the club as its vice president in charge of business matters.

LEOPARDS WIN TITLE

DALLAS, June 10. (AP) — Adamson Leopards of Dallas hit at the right time tonight and won the first City Conference state baseball championship with a 6-2 decision over Fort Worth's Paschall Panthers. Carter-Riverside of Fort Worth took third place with a 4-0 victory over Sunset of Dallas.

POPE, WARDEN BLANK EAST NINE

West All-Star Softball Team Defeats East Twice, 4-1, 2-0

(Special To The Avalanche)

SAN ANGELO, June 10—West All-Stars proved superior to the East All-Stars of the Texas Softball League in a double-header here tonight, the West taking the first game 4 to 1 and the second, cut to six innings by rain, 2 to 0.

Warren "Stringbean" Pope and G. W. Warden of Lubbock's Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers, first place club in the western division, blanked the East All-Stars in the second game. And between them, Pope and Warden hurled a no-hit, no run contest.

Pope went the first four innings and allowed only one man to reach base—and he got there on an error. Warden faced only six men in the two innings he worked and fanned all six.

Meanwhile, the Sunbeamer hitters were busy scaring up two runs with which to win the game.

James Abbott opened up the scoring in the first frame when he reached base safely on an infield error. He promptly stole second and scored the winning run on Jimmy Joe Rieger's sharp single to centerfield.

Wally Fowler, big Lubbock first baseman, scored the second run in the fifth frame. Fowler led off by reaching base safely on an error. And he scored all the way from first when Abbott slammed out a long double.

In the first game, it was the work of the second place Crane Oilers that produced all the fireworks. One big inning, the sixth, was all the winning West needed, with four hits, a walk and an error chasing in all four runs. Boyd Reece, who worked the entire game on the mound for the winners, drove in the winning run in that inning with a single.

Cullen Cranfill and Jim Kight shared mound duties for the losers, with Kight taking the loss. A good crowd watched the games, which were played under threatening skies that finally broke just as the seventh inning opened.

The line scores:

EAST ALL-STARS	000	010	0—1 2 1

American Legion Nines Are Picked

Out of a welter of candidates for the Lubbock American Legion Junior League baseball team, officials yesterday finally were able to narrow the group down to two teams comprising a total of 32 boys.

Each squad, called at present only squad No. 1 and squad No. 2, is composed of 16 players, all of whom reside in Lubbock County. Some of the players are from Shallowater, some from Cooper, some from Idalou and some from South Lubbock, while the remainder are Lubbock city residents.

Six Squads Picked

At the same time, officials picked six squads to play in the American Legion Junior League program sponsored by various stores and clubs. The six squads have been designated by alphabetical letters.

In charge of Squad A will be Bill Mims; in charge of Squad B, Herman Bailey, Tech athlete; in charge of Squad C, Cecil "Smoky" Hale, another Tech athlete; in charge of Squad D, Bobby Williams, Tech athlete; in charge of Squad E, Joe Lovelace. and in charge of Squad F, Lee Webb.

Squads A, B and C are comprised of Lubbock boys: Squads D, E and F are comprised of Idalou, Cooper and South Lubbock boys respectively.

Schedules To Be Named

Joe Holmes, director of the program for the Legion, said that information on dates of play, schedules, complete rules and other information would be available Monday. The first practice sessions probably will take place after that.

Members of Squad No. 1 are Bobby Brown, Neil Sikes, Powell Hinson, Bennie Day, Mac Taylor, Jimmy Sexton, Dave Clark, Benny Allen, Jerry Jackson, Bobby Reed, Truman Jones, Dean White, James Sides, Jerry Van Pelt, Johnny Tatum and Tommy Yelvington.

Rio Grande Valley League's President, Secretary Resign

SAN ANTONIO, June 10 (AP)—President Billey Byrd and secretary F. L. Nemeck of the Rio Grande Valley baseball league, both of San Antonio, announced today they will resign at the league's meeting next Monday in Corpus Christi because of press of other business.

Byrd is general manager of the San Antonio Missions of the Texas league and Nemeck is his assistant.

Losers Hitless For Almost Six Innings

Werle's Three-Hitter Gives Pirates 6-1 Win Over Giants

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP) — Southpaw Bill Werle spun a neat three-hitter as the last place Pittsburgh Pirates hung a 6-1 defeat on the New York Giants today.

For five-and-two-thirds innings the Giants swung without success at Werle's offerings. Not a New Yorker reached first until Larry Jansen, the Giant starting pitcher, slapped a single to center with two out in the sixth. He got no further.

The Pirates picked up two runs in the second when centerfielder Wally Westlake whacked a home run with Ralph Kiner on second base.

Jansen retired in the eighth after a home run by Pete Castiglione, and then failed to retire any of the next three men to face him. Sam Webb mopped up.

Boys Club JC's Beat Methodists

Boys Club Jaycee baseball team gained their first Junior league victory of the season at Boys Club diamond today with a smashing, 15 to 4, victory over Methodist Men.

David Morgan paced the Jaycee attack with two doubles in two times at bat. George Guy and Jimmy Welch made the Methodist's only two hits, both of them singles.

In the Pee Wee league game, the Indians trounced the White Sox, 14 to 3, behind the big bat of Joe Anthony, who banged out two homers and a single in four times before the plate. Today's loss was the first suffered by the White Sox this season. Joel Austin had two singles in two for the White Sox nine.

Pygmy league White Sox gained a 12 to 6 triumph over the Pygmy Indians. Hop Halsey Junior had a double and a single in three times up to lead the Sox bats. Ronnie Brown made two singles in twice up for the losing Indian nine.

No more Boys Club games are scheduled until Monday.

GOLF MEET SITE NAMED

BROWNWOOD, June 10. (AP)—Glen Garden country club, Fort Worth, was selected last night as site for the 1950 West Texas Golf Association tournament. The decision was reached at the annual membership meeting here. The 1950 meet will start June 8.

French Leads In West Texas Meet

BROWNWOOD, June 10 (AP) — Bobby French of Odessa defeated Doug Jones of Abilene, 1-up in the feature match of the second round of the West Texas Golf Tournament here today.

Jones, West Texas Golf Association titlist in 1946 and 1947, ousted defending champion Billy Maxwell, Odessa, 1-up in the opening round.

Bobby Watson, Southwest Conference champion from the university of Texas, advanced with a 5-4 win over Lee Pinkston, Abilene.

Bobby Malone, Fort Worth, reached the third round with a 4-3 victory over Don Bilbrey of Wichita Falls.

Spud Cason of Fort Worth reached the top quarterfinal bracket of four by posting a 3-2 win over Dick Stovall, Abilene.

In the lower bracket, medalist T. A. Avarello, Fort Worth, notched a 1-up win over Dick Patton, Fort Worth.

Wichita Falls' Don Cherry eliminated Paul Huntington, Brownwood, 4-3.

Carl Vandervoort, Fort Worth, won over Bob Gibson, Rising Star, 5-3.

And Bill Smith, Eastland, took a 19-hole, 1-up victory over Herb Gresbach, Brownwood. Smith fired a hole-in-one on the par-three, number 8 hole during the match.

The ace was the second during the West Texas Links meet. In the qualifying round yesterday, Bob Barber, San Angelo, holed out his tee shot on the par-three, number two hole.

Watson and Cherry are favored now to reach the 36-hole finals next Sunday.

Tomorrow, Watson meets French, Malone plays Cason, Avarello tangles with Cherry and Vandervoort tees off against Smith.

The tournament is being played at the Brownwood Country club course. The 1950 tournament will be played, beginning June 8, at Fort Worth's Glen Garden Country club.

In the first round today, Vandervoort won a 1-up decision in 19 holes over Jack Williams, Plainview.

Fort Worth's Cats Purchase Hurler From San Angelo Nine

FORT WORTH, June 10. (AP)—Fort Worth Cats baseball club of the Texas league today announced the outright purchase of left hand pitcher Kenneth Harold Carley, of San Angelo.

Carley, a free agent, is 21, a right-handed batter, and a 1945 graduate of the San Angelo High school. He has attended Rice Institute at Houston and North Texas State college at Denton. He participated in track and baseball in college and made honorable mention in the All-State football selections in 1943.

Al Brosch Leads In National Open Golf

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP) — Al Brosch, a sparse-haired redhead who can scarcely see the tee without his specks, paced the "Unknown Sweepstakes," better known as the 49th National Open golf championship today. He posted a halfway score of 141 as the second day firing came to a close.

Brosch, 37-year-old pro whose fame mainly is confined to the New York metropolitan area, matched par 71 on Medinah's deeply-wooded "graveyard of champions." He shot an opening 70 yesterday.

Falling a stroke behind Brosch were two seasoned pros, Carry Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist, who belted a course record-matching 67, and O'Neal (Buck) White of Greenwood, Miss., who slapped a 68.

That gave both a 142, Middlecoff having opened yesterday with a 75 and White a 74.

Middlecoff's round — equalling the course mark held jointly by four other pros—wrapped together 34-33.

Kennedy Threatens

In shaving two strokes off the first nine and two off the back nine, the rangy Memphis star sank three putts of 12 feet and greater in length, and barely missed an eagle on the par five 582-yard-tenth. On this hole, Middlecoff banged two prodigious woods to pull the carpet then fell inches short on a 25-foot putt.

Brosch was only one under par for the 36-hole distance, but it was plenty solid to shoot at as the 150-odd field of moneyed stars and amateurs battled for tomorrow's streamlined (top 50 and tie halfway scorers) entry in the final 36-hole showdown.

Brosch's chief threat loomed in the opening 18-hole leader, Les Kennedy, Pawtucket, R. I., professional, who wrapped up a 69 yesterday. Kennedy was even par through the first four holes in his late start today.

Brosch, who has missed only one National Open since 1936, left among his pursuers Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Clayton Heafner, the well-proportioned belter from Charlotte, N.C. Harmon, 1948 Masters champion and Heafner were two strokes behind with 143, belting 72 and 71 respectively.

Demaret Withdraws

The second day shooting over the 6,981-yard Medinah course produced withdrawals by two well-known performers.

Jimmy Demaret, of Ojai, Calif., runner-up to presently-sidelined Ben Hogan in last year's open, failed to start. Demaret was apparently disgusted with his starting 82, the highest count he ever shot in a major meet.

Marvin Ward, Spokane, Wash., twice former National Amateur titlist, banged one ineffective tee shot today after a night's illness and put his starting 75 on ice.

Brosch last neared golf glory in the 1937 open at Oakland Hills, Detroit when he wound up sixth with a par-matching 288.

He participated in six meets on the PGA's last winter tour and finished in the money three times but—in his own words—"earned only one-third of my expenses."

Oklahoma Aggie Baseball Team Will Meet Steers In Playoff

STILLWATER, Okla., June 10. (AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, who won the fifth district NCAA baseball title against the University of Kansas here Thursday, now face the Texas Longhorns at Austin June 15-18 in the regional playoff.

The Aggies could ask nothing better from the Texans, sixth district titlists, than the treatment they got from the Jawhawks in last night's 12-2 victory.

The Jawhawks reached a new peak in the "giveaway" series by committing nine errors in the rubber game. That's taking nothing from the Aggies, who found their batting eyes and collected nine hits—in addition to stealing 10 bases.

Black Hubbers Will Meet Dallas Sunday

Lubbock's Black Hubbers will take over Rosenthal Field Sunday afternoon and Monday night for a pair of games against the strong Dallas Red Sox.

The Red Sox, who annually play one of the toughest schedules of any negro team in Texas, appear to be loaded with good players again this year. They have been meeting such teams as the Kansas City Monarchs, Amarillo Colts and other strong nines.

Manager James Sedberry said that he would start John Childress and J. T. Hutchinson on the mound against the Sox, with Milton Granville doing the catching. So far the Black Hubbers have won five of the six games they have played.

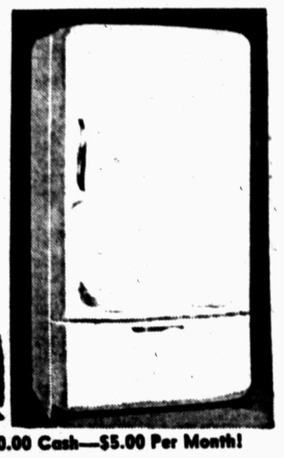

Sunday's game will begin at 3:30 p.m. and Monday night's game will begin at 8:15.

FBI Report Is Read At Trial

gence service."

Mrs. Edward U. Condon, wife of the director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, was the former Emilie Honzik. Condon, a noted physicist and figure in the atomic energy program, has been the center of a lengthy controversy over charges that he was a security risk.

Niles Involved In Report

Another FBI report introduced at the trial said that presidential assistant David K. Niles in 1944 helped a man identified in the report as Philip Levy get a passport to visit Mexico after the State department had exhibited "reluctance" to issue the travel permit.

A "confidential informant" was quoted as telling the FBI that Niles wrote the State department affirming his belief in Levy's loyalty.

The report in which this incident was mentioned dealt principally with Levy's brother, named as Jacob Levy Ceivian. The informant told G-men that Ceivian was considering going into business with an individual who "looks like a Russian general."

Admits Handwriting

At the close of the day's session, the defense conceded that a handwritten note on an FBI confidential document found in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested had been written by the defendant.

Defense department records showed that the Johnsons were employed by Army intelligence and were discharged in October, 1946, due to "a normal reduction in force."

Miss Coplon, a former Justice department employe who had access to secret documents, allegedly prepared the data slip by abstracting information from an FBI report on Irina and Bothidar Alexander.

The same document referred to "suspicious meetings" at a home in Arlington, Va., attended by "as many as six or seven" U. S. Army officers "all carrying brief cases" and by "an unknown civilian appearing to be a foreigner."

Ickes Called To Appear

The information disclosed at the trial showed that the Arlington meetings were reported to the FBI by a source identified as Elvin Sill. The informant said the meetings took place at the home of Vera Sandomirsky Dunham and her husband, Henry Warren Dunham.

A brief flurry was created at the trial by appearance of former interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, subpoenaed as a defense witness. Ickes was excused for the time being.

Presumably the ex-cabinet member will be questioned concerning Ruth Gruber, erstwhile Interior department employe named in one of the papers taken from Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested with Valentin Gubitchev, Russian employe of the United Nations.

The data slip which supplied most of the day's sensations was divided into six sections.

Claimed Friendly To Reds

One section said that "confidential informant T-1" reported to the FBI that Irina and Bothidar Alexander, especially Irina, "were extremely friendly with officials of the Russian consulate" in New York.

Another section of the slip said: Bernard Koten, research director of American Russian institute, is friend and contact of William Hermann Eckart Johnson and his wife, Annette F. Johnson, who are employed at present (1946) on the secret Russian desk of the War Dept., Washington, D. C., and who are suspected of giving out info to NKVD."

The third section of the report said new data had been received on Irina Alexander, strengthening indications that "she may be Russian espionage agent." The document continued:

"One anonymous letter indicates she acted as Russian agent in Yugo and Austria prior to coming to U. S. and that she caused first husband, a Russian officer, to be executed."

Secret Meeting Reported

The fourth section said that Irina "corresponded with one Major Karl Nurk, British army, who was stationed with British military mission in Bulgaria in October, 1945."

The report on the "suspicious meetings" in Arlington quoted Sill as telling the FBI in June, 1945, that the gatherings at the Dunham residence took place "approximately once a month."

The FBI agent who wrote the report said that Sill described how "great secrecy was maintained at the house, all curtains drawn," when the supposed foreigner met with U. S. Army officers.

Defense attorney Archibald Palmer is making public the documents allegedly found in Miss Coplon's purse the night of her arrest in an attempt to convince the jury that the pretty defendant is innocent of the government charge that she stole vital secrets.

Palmer said he wants Ickes to testify "regarding the truth of some of these reports of the FBI." Ickes told reporters:

"I don't know a damned thing about it except what I see in the papers."

One slip found in Judith's handbag named Ruth Gruber, identified her as Ickes' secretary, and said:

"Gruber has been reported to have been a contact of F. A. Garanin of the Soviet embassy, Wash."

Miss Gruber, pointing out that she never was Ickes' secretary, has denied that she was a contact for Garanin or anyone else.

Former Resident Of Lubbock Is Claimed

KERRVILLE, June 10 (Special) —Mrs. B. B. Baron, about 40, former Lubbock resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holmes, 1902 Broadway, Lubbock, died here at 9 p. m. today after a long illness.

Mrs. Baron, with her husband, moved to Kerrville in 1947 for her health after making her residence in Lubbock since 1921. She was the daughter of a pioneer South Plains family, and was widely known in cotton and ginning circles as her husband had operated a gin at Lubbock for a number of years.

The body will be returned to Lubbock for funeral services at 3 p. m. Monday. Rix Funeral home will be in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include her parents; her husband; a son, Bennie Bob Baron; and a brother, Graham Holmes, Lubbock.

been disloyal to the United States government."

He said that in his opinion membership in the Communist party doesn't necessarily mean that one is disloyal. And never, he insisted, has he given anyone restricted information.

He acknowledged that he had known "a Mr. Robert Davis" and his wife, Charlotte. But he would not say whether he ever had asked either to join the party.

Davis, who now lives in New York, followed Lomanitz to the stand.

Then Louis J. Russell, the committee's senior investigator, asked Lomanitz to come forward once more.

As the two men stared at each other, Davis said:

"He looks familiar."

Would Not Have Joined

But he refused to make the identification positive, saying that it had been six years since he had seen him.

Davis said that near the end of March, 1943, he was transferred to the Los Alamos, N. Mex., atomic plant. He burned his wife's and his party cards.

Never, Davis said, had he looked upon himself as a real Communist. He had joined out of curiosity, to see what went on, and he had found the meetings "very educational."

If he had known what it would lead to, he said, he wouldn't have joined.

Chairman Wood (D-Ga) said he was disturbed by witnesses who say they are loyal but decline to answer questions which he said are intended to protect the United States.

"This is not a witch hunt," Wood said. "But we have been amazed at the laxity in the handling of very vital information. And it is the intention of this committee to introduce legislation to correct this."

Rains Hit Midland

inches fell in the city in a two-hour period, and the rain continued. At the Midland airport terminal, 10 miles west, 1.96 inches fell. Water ran over the highway in west Midland, but roads were open.

The moisture extended only five miles south of the city.

Hail was heavy in some sections of Midland. Stones measured three quarters of an inch in size. Some telephones were knocked out.

The rain stopped about nightfall. The Latin American section apparently suffered the most damage. East of the city Midland rodeo grounds were flooded. Water ran over U.S. Highway 80 in that section for several hundred yards. Part of the Country club grounds in north Midland, and a low section in south Midland were under water.

The Longhorn league baseball game between Midland and Ballinger was rained out. A section of the park fence was blown down by wind which accompanied the rain.

Weekend Rains Feared

Earlier in the day rains were heavy again in the South Plains area. There wheat is ready for harvest and storms have damaged both wheat and cotton.

During the day there was rain at Lubbock, Amarillo, Clarendon, Lufkin, Beaumont, and the Houston area.

At the outset he was asked if he was or had been a member of the Communist party.

Baldwin disputed the committee's right to ask him that. Eastland rose from his chair at this point, saying Baldwin's statement would not be accepted and that the committee was through with him.

Baldwin lashed back that the southern senator represented "the cotton council" composed of "plantation owners," and opposed negro rights.

In his later statement, Baldwin reiterated he was willing to swear allegiance to the United States. He added he would be particularly glad to affirm the 14th and 15th amendments "which guarantee equality to our negro citizens."

"I doubt that some members of this subcommittee could, in good conscience, do likewise," he said.

three months but 50 years if the same procedure were followed."

A discussion of the possibility on writing a German peace treaty was begun after Vishinsky had abandoned his efforts to get some sort of currency agreement for Berlin. Earlier, the western ministers had demanded that any discussion of a German peace treaty be dropped at this session, since the council could not agree on uniting Germany or even Berlin.

Secret Atomic Hearings Voted

WASHINGTON, June 10 (INS)— The Senate-House Atomic committee voted nine to eight today to conduct in secret its investigation of Atomic Energy commission employes labeled as security risks.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn), said this applies to all personnel security cases which Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) intends to introduce except "case A."

The committee vote followed straight party lines except that Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) sided with Republicans voting for open hearings. Hickenlooper did not vote.

Decision Is Pending

A decision on "case A," identified by Hickenlooper as a man entrusted by the AEC with the "hottest document" on atomic energy, is yet to be made. The senator said the FBI had called the man a security risk in a 50-page report.

McMahon has said the man involved has asked for an open hearing. AEC Chairman David Lilienthal insists that the disclosure made by Hickenlooper has in effect identified him. He has also insisted on an open hearing on the case.

The committee chairman indicated that the entire "case A" matter may be aired in a public hearing.

Hickenlooper is offering the personnel cases in an attempt to bolster his charge that Lilienthal is guilty of "incredible mismanagement" of the atomic program. He fought in vain for public hearings.

FBI Files Protected

McMahon said that one of the principal factors in the secretary decision was protection of confidential FBI files.

He explained that public hearings would be a "trial in capsule form" because seven-eights of each personnel inquiry would have to be conducted behind locked doors anyway in the interest of security.

The chairman emphasized that only Hickenlooper's alphabetical cases will be heard in secret. Other aspects of the investigation of Lilienthal and the AEC, he said, will be conducted publicly.

Rep. Elston (R-Ohio) expressed dissatisfaction with the committee decision. He offered a motion under which the alphabetical cases would be presented openly and the commission given a chance to submit rebuttal testimony.

Closed Hearing Approved

The committee approved, however, a substitute motion by McMahon calling for a locked-door hearing and a subsequent committee report which will not disclose the names of the individuals involved.

Under McMahon's motion, the individual will be called "if necessary" to testify at the secret hearing.

McMahon said an open hearing will be held Monday if Hickenlooper is ready to proceed with phases of the investigation which are yet to be developed publicly. He added:

"We are interested in ascertaining whether or not the commission is guilty of incredible mismanagement."

"Consequently, as to personal security, we need only decide whether or not the commission's judgment was clearly erroneous or unreasonable.

"Whether or not we would have acted differently, if we were the commission is irrevelant-assuming that we should agree that reasonable men might have acted as did the commission."

time 11.7 seconds set by world's champion calf roper, Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, was not bested Friday night. It still stands as the fastest time in the rodeo to date. The nearest approach was 12.6 seconds made by Lanham Riley of Fort Worth. Mansfield roped and tied his calf in 12.5 seconds Friday but was fined 10 seconds for breaking the barrier.

Final Performance Today

Other events which pleased the crowd in the third performance of this year's rodeo were the dancing steps of Ann Hendrick's famous horse, "King Richard" and an added event, Carolyn Colborn and her horse, "Omar." Miss Colborn, daughter of Everett Colborn, the managing director of the rodeo from the Lightning C ranch in Dublin, put her horse through its paces behind a four wheel sulky.

The final performance of this year's ABC Boys Club rodeo will be held in Jones Stadium beginning at 8 p.m. today. The weatherman has forecast the possibility of showers but rodeo officials are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping to have the same good luck which they have had thus far.

Results Are Given

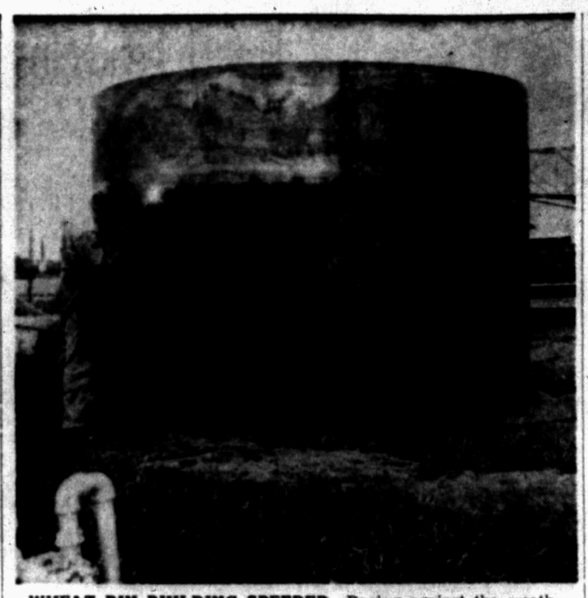

Results of the Friday night performance are as follows: Cowboy's Bareback Bronc Riding: First place, Jim Shoulders, Tulsa; second place, Manuel Enos, Fort Worth and third place, Harry Thompkins, Ardmore, Okla.

Calf roping: first place, Lanham Riley of Fort Worth with the time of 12.6 seconds; second place, Shoat Webster of Lenepah, Okla., with the time of 13.7 and third, Jack Skipworth of Clovis with the time of 14.6. Other ropers were Troy Fort, Lovington, N.M., 13.5 plus 10; Clark McEntire of Kiawa, Okla., 16.6; Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, 12.5 plus 10; B. J. Pierce of Clovis, with 15 flat; Willard Brock of Clovis, 31flat; Killy Kirk of Crosbyton, 16.8 plus 10; Bill Eaton of Crosbyton, no time; Bill Boman of Clovis, no time; Rex Beck of Coleman, 19 flat; Vic Montgomery of Ozona, 17.1; Polly Rushing of Plains, 14.5 plus 10; Jess Slaughter of Big Spring, no time; Tater Decker of Roswell, 18.4.

Saddle Bronc Riding: first place, Larry Finley of Phoenix; second place, Lee Roberts of Roswell and third, Manuel Enos of Fort Worth.

Steer Wrestling: first place, Dub Phillips of San Angelo with time of 5.7 seconds; second, George Mills, Pueblo, Colo., time, 13.2, and third, Hank Mills of Pueblo with time of 13.3.

Bull Riding: Loyd Lippie of Yuma, Ariz., first; Manuel Enos of Fort Worth, second, and W. N. Rice of Brookesmith, third.

Rent Decontrol Hit

er's own initiative—the only recontrol procedure provided for in the federal law.

Woods Offers Argument

Cities which have tried to reinstate their own controls have been blocked by court action, he said.

Woods quoted the governor as saying that most of the letters he has received favor the decontrol law.

"He said landlords felt they were being discriminated against because everything else had been decontrolled except rents."

Woods said the governor appeared to be impressed with his answer to that complaint.

"I told him that shelter is the one thing for which there can be no substitute. You can substitute one food with another or one kind of clothes for another. But you can't substitute anything for shelter. A man has to have a place to live."

He emphasized that landlords who feel discrimination can request adjustments on their property.

"We have granted 76 per cent of all requests made for such adjustments for increases averaging 22 per cent," he said.

Woods said the local option provision in federal law provides the best answer to decontrol.

"It is hard nationally or statewide, to tell conditions in every community. But the local option leaves decisions with the people who best know their needs locally."

The local option in the present law permits cities, after a public hearing and with the governor's approval, to request decontrol for themselves. Every such request has been granted, Woods said.

Woods said he and Washington military officials are particularly worried about military installations in Texas.

The Texas decontrol legislation was finally enacted by the legislature this week after a six-hour filibuster against it in the Senate. The House, which had already passed it, quickly approved Senate changes and hurried it to the governor for his action. The governor may sign it into law, let it become law without his signature, or veto it.

The President left his plane, holding his prized walking stick and wearing a white panama hat at a jaunty angle.

Crowds, many in shirt sleeves, thronged downtown streets of the Arkansas capital to greet the chief executive.

Governor McMath—also a combat veteran—extended another welcome to the President at the auditorium, referring to him as "Capt. Harry S. Truman." Also at the auditorium was Secretary of Defense Johnson, who preceded Mr. Truman here.

Tomorrow morning, Mr. Truman will walk in the reunion parade—swinging his gold-headed cane.

JESTER NAMES ATTORNEY

AUSTIN, June 10 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today named William B. Martin of Hillsboro as District Attorney of the newly created office of the 66th Judicial district. The appointment came simultaneously with the governor's signing into law of the bill creating the office, effective Sept. 1.

Farmers Face Loss

are thinking of moving northward and be set for the fields up in the Panhandle."

There are men from Iowa, Indiana, Oklahoma, Colorado, and from many points in Texas waiting to "hit the fields." So far it has been an annoying wait for the workers and the growers.

Storage Space Rushed

Perhaps the only bright spot to the waiting is that it is giving many growers a chance to build or provide extra storage space for the hoped-for bumper crop.

Steel or wooden bins are being erected in vacant lots. Larger storage units are going up on farms and at railroad spurs.

Dennis Dempsey and W. E. Watson, jr., both of Lubbock, have a crew of men rushing work on a loading and storage unit on the southeast edge of Floydada. The structure and equipment will cost approximately $15,000 and will provide space for 30 cars of wheat.

Most of the mass produced metal bins being erected and also the wooden bins will handle from 1,000 to 2,000 bushels each. No one will attempt to estimate the possible storage space made available through these temporary facilities, but some of the implement dealers who have handled the ready-made bins believe there is a possibility that a million bushels will end up in private storage units in the county.

May Use Building

A group of growers in the McCoy community are considering turning an abandoned brick school into a granary. Whether or not this is done may be decided within the next few days. Wheat men in that community believe the sturdy old school building would hold several thousand bushels of wheat and give it excellent protection from the elements.

The rush of wheat bin construction came as soon as the growers realized elevator facilities were clogged with "old wheat" and that apparently there was little chance that local elevators could be emptied by shipping wheat to terminal elevators at Galveston, Fort Worth and other points.

Steen said a check of elevators in his county indicated that storage probably could be provided for the "first 10 days cutting" unless the harvest got off to a "rip roaring start."

"What they will do after that no one knows. The elevators won't be able to take it, and private bins will be filled. Probably it will be piled on the ground. I don't know and the men who grow the wheat don't know," Steen declared.

As to constructing storage space, Steen said many of the growers were skeptical that it was a paying proposition. He pointed out that a 1,350 bushel bin cost about $250. Thursday wheat was selling for $1.50 a bushel, with the support price at $1.87 in Floydada.

It was pointed out that a 1,350 bushel bin would hold $2,025 worth of $1.50 wheat or $2,524 worth of federal support wheat, making the actual increase in value of the wheat about $499 if the storage unit met federal approval.

Some growers figure they will own the storage bin at the end of the season and still be $249 ahead under the federal support plan, but others point to possible loss through deterioration, cost of loading and unloading the stored grain and figure it is best to sell at the $1.50 market price than to gamble on the private storage.

The battle for storage will come later, right now all they want is the rains to quit and the combines to start rolling. Then Floyd county will be in a better mood to discuss the weather.

Chicago Policeman Unaware Of Day-Old Bullet Wound In Back

CHICAGO, June 10 (U.P.)—You can't deny that Chicago cops are tough.

Detective Phil Lauth complained of an aching back and asked his son, Ronald, 19, to rub some liniment on it. Ronald found a bullet wound and an X-ray revealed a bullet farther in.

The previous day Lauth and other policemen had fired at two burglars. A stray bullet had hit him, but he had not felt it.

'Traveling Man' Leaves Holdup Victim Cash, Drives Off In Car

CHICAGO, June 10 (U.P.)—Henry Graf, 32, was forced at gunpoint to give a ride to a man who jumped into his car.

The man told Graf he could keep the $55 in his billfold. He said he wanted the car and a package of cigarettes.

Before driving off in the car, the man explained: "You see, I'm a

Flags Picked Up From City Streets

Lubbock citizens are more patriotic than a lot of persons would have you believe.

Or at least that is the deduction drawn from an incident here Friday.

A resident called up The Morning Avalanche to complain that one of the flags now around town had been hanging "practically in the gutter" at Main and Avenue H throughout the day. When city officials were notified, the flag was promptly picked up, as were several others blown down by winds and rain the past few nights.

Steve Matthews, city manager, explained that the turbulent weather conditions had made it impossible to keep tab on all the numerous flags over the city.

Spain To Preserve Crumbling Castles

MADRID, June 10 (U.P.)—Belated protection for Spain's thousands of medieval castles has been ordered by the ministry of education.

A far cry from the "castles in Spain," symbolic of fanciful desires, the majority of the fortresses which dot the Spanish countryside are crumbling shells of stone, favorite haunts of goats and bats.

For the first time in centuries these ruined remains of Spain's past glories will be given the protection of the state. Under the decree, no castle may be altered in any way without official authorization.

Each municipality which includes a castle will be held responsible for the preservation of its ruins, and each will appoint an "architect of conservation" to prevent further deterioration of the buildings.

Castile, the central region of Spain, derives its name from the profusion of castles it contains. Most of these are severe, unornamented forts built during the Christian-Moorish wars. Many have been looted and demolished for building stone without regard for their historical and artistic importance. In southern Spain many Moorish castles have been restored. The most famous of them is the ornate Alhambra palace in Granada.

One Dead In Wreck

a private car driven by Frank Thorne of Whiteface.

Thorne and two companions had been passed by the car involved in the wreck only a few minutes before the crash occurred, they said. They were not close enough to see the accident when it happened, but arrived soon after the crash.

Investigating highway patrolmen said the accident apparently happened on the south side of the highway. Their deductions were made from skid marks and other such information at the wreck scene.

Turnell, driver of the truck, said the car had swerved in front of him just prior to the collision.

Both cars were heavily damaged in the collision, particularly on the right front of each machine. The cars were moved from the scene almost immediately because they were blocking the road.

Plains Funeral home here had made contact early this morning with the wife of the dead man, and it was indicated that the body would be returned to Plains Funeral home in Levelland. No funeral plans had been made.

The Highway patrol was continuing its investigation early today.

Milwaukee Youths To Travel To West Texas On Horseback

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 10 (U.P.) Two Wisconsin youths are going deep into the heart of western Texas the hard way, by horseback.

The young Milwaukeeans left the city May 16. They figure on arriving in King county, Texas, 1,500 miles away, within three months.

Clem Shefchik, 19, and Bob Heise, 20, have been hanging around horses since they were children. They bought their western stock horses last winter in preparation for the trip and have been getting them in condition ever since.

"If we feel like it, we'll keep right on going to California," Shefchik said. We'll probably be a bit tired of riding by that time, though."

The pair plans to visit a friend who works on a ranch. They intend to work at odd jobs along the way and camp beside the road at night.

Navy Resumes Large-Scale Mapping Of Alaskan Terrain

SAN ANGELO, June 10 (U.P.)— The Navy is resuming its large-scale mapping of Alaska.

Operating with the U. S. Coast Geodetic service, the Navy's VP-51 long range reconnaissance squadron will take up where it left off last fall in making this country's first complete survey of the northern territory.

First units of the squadron left San Diego late in April to establish ground bases; four four-engined patrol planes left during May, and the last group, including Cmdr. William Davidson, who is in charge, will leave in June.

Weather conditions in Alaska made it impossible to continue the mapping operation during the winter months.

Persistent Chicago Bandit Gets Loot In Three Installments

CHICAGO, June 10 (U.P.)—Frank Wronkiewicz, a butcher, hated to give up his meat money, but a bandit beat it out of him.

Not satisfied with the first installment of $15, the robber clubbed him on the head. Wronkiewicz handed over $120 more.

Buddhist Scriptures Given By Burmese To Library Of Congress

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 10 — Daw Nu was tired. Her day's earnings selling trinkets on the stairway of the Shwedagon pagoda in Rangoon, Burma, had been less than a rupee. Thirty cents in American money.

She was asked to donate for a gift to America. The old woman's eyes sparkled and she fished in her worn money bag for two rupees. Two day's profits.

Daw Nu made one of the last contributions to pay for a present to the Library of Congress, which will be accepted formally today by the librarian, Luther H. Evans. In return, Evans will present a gift to U So Nyun, Burmese ambassador to the United States.

Here is how this all came about.

Librarian Visits Burma

Cecil Hobbs, the Library of Congress reference librarian for south Asia, visited Burma in January, 1948. Before he joined the library's staff here, he had served for several years as a Baptist missionary at Insein, near Rangoon.

While there he became friendly with U Nyo Mya, editor of the Burmese language daily Oway. On his 1948 trip, Hobbs looked up his old friend. The editor arranged for the American to attend a meeting of the council of the Maha Sangha, the largest ecclesiastical body in Burma. It's composed of some 20 Buddhist monks and rules over about 20,000 monasteries. So far as is known, no other white man ever listened in on a council session.

Buddhist Scriptures Sought

Hobbs mentioned that there were no copies of the sacred Hinayana Buddhist scriptures, known as the Tripitaka, in America. The library of Congress would like a set, he said.

The council appointed a committee to solicit public subscriptions to pay for the 600 volumes in the collection—as a gift.

The original goal was 5,000 rupees—about $1,600 of our money. But so enthusiastic was the response that the campaign was oversubscribed three times. A total of 12,000 rupees and books worth 3,000 rupees were donated.

With the excess funds, in addition to the Tripitaka, a collection of Burmese literature was provided. The books were bound in leather, with gold embossed covers. Three bookcases of the finest Burmese teakwood were built to hold them.

Collection Given To U.S.

Then the collection was turned over to the U. S. charge d'affaires at Rangoon. The special ceremonies lasted a whole day. There was a formal presentation of the books in the audience hall of the official residence of the president of the Union of Burma.

After the ceremony, the books were carried down the 300 steps of the Shwedagon pagoda by 100 Burmese nuns and placed in a gilded chariot. The chariot was trailed by 100 loaded buses and private cars and paraded for more than an hour through the streets of central Rangoon. Devout Buddhists along the way fell on their knees and worshipped the Tripitaka.

Donations by individuals had ranged down from 500 rupees.

But the proudest along the route, they say, was Daw Nu, the little old lady trinket-seller who had donated 60 cents—her income for two days.

NEWS BRIEFS

Approximately 35 paintings by Harpid Gore are being shown in an art exhibit at Lattimore's, 1706 Broadway. They will remain on exhibit through today. They include western scenes, portraits, florals, and landscapes.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, deputy district governor of the Lions International and professor of education at Texas Tech, will be the principal speaker at the regular noon luncheon of the Lions club in Plainview Wednesday.

Czech Amnesty Granted Holders Of 'Illegal' Foreign Money

PRAGUE, June 10 (U.P.) — The Czech government has declared an "amnesty" for all holders of unregistered foreign currencies.

Czech hoarders of foreign currencies now are able to buy high-quality merchandise hitherto reserved for export only, and the government is filling its tills with unregistered currency and gold.

Six "Darex" shops, originally introduced to sell export goods to foreigners and for legally-obtained dollars and Swiss francs, now have been opened to currencies of all Marshall plan countries and also Hungarian forints, no matter how obtained.

During the first few days, the shops were crowded. Apparently the government was keeping its amnesty promise. Czechs with long-hoarded gold pieces (some of them family heirlooms), greenbacks and pounds have brought them out of hiding to buy perlons (Czech nylons), radios, shirts, refrigerators and automobiles.

But there is a hitch. If the buyer has English pounds or any currency except U. S. dollars and Swiss francs, the Darex cashier makes a deduction from the official exchange rate. Discounted are: Norwegian crowns, Israel pounds, French francs, Danish and Swedish crowns, Italian lire, Austrian schillings, Hungarian forints, Turkish pounds, Argentine pesos and Dutch guilders.

Milwaukee Zoo's Polar Bear Finally Swims After Bad Start

MILWAUKEE, June 10 (U.P.) — After six months during which its mother fretted and worried, the newest polar bear cub at the Washington Park zoo here finally has learned how to swim.

The cub got a low opinion of water last winter, when it slipped into the icy water accidentally.

Like any sensible person on a cold day, the young polar bear got out of there as fast as possible and went shivering to the warmest part of the cave.

After that, Sultana II, the cub's mother, couldn't get it near the pool. The keepers tried, too, but the cub wanted no more of it.

But suddenly things changed. Without warning, the cub started swimming, and now there's no keeping it out of the water. Nobody knows what happened. The keepers guessed the cub might have slipped in. Or its mother may have feared her child was becoming abnormal and pushed it in.

Scientist Estimates Cost Of Atom-Driven Car At $3 Million

BOSTON, June 10 (U.P.)—If you want to buy an automobile powered by atomic energy it will cost you about $3,000,000.

Sumner T. Pike, a member of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission, made the estimate in an address before the Harvard Business school alumni.

Pike said, "We are over-rating atomic energy as a source of possible cheap power."

'Buckner's Boys' Ranch,' Orphans' Home, To Open In Texas Hill Country Near Burnet

BURNET, June 10 (INS)— A new home for the homeless will open soon in the Texas hill country near Burnet.

Buckner's Boys' ranch, a branch of the Buckner Orphan's home in Dallas, is scheduled to begin work on its first dormitory on June 16. Upon completion of this building, the new boy's ranch will receive its first group of 28 boys. It is expected to become the largest home for orphans in the world.

The 2,000 acre ranch was founded a year ago this month. Besides receiving a general education, the boy ranchers will be taught agriculture and stock raising.

Situated On River

Situated in the verdant valley of the Colorado river, the ranch includes areas heavily wooded with cedar and live oak. From the high ridges at the east border, the terrain drops quickly to the broad river valley and on to the river's edge. For two and a half miles, the ranch's western boundary winds along the course of the Colorado.

Two hundred and forty acres of fertile land in the river valley has already been terraced and will be farmed in accordance with modern principles.

Ranch headquarters have already been built. After the first dormitory has been constructed, a chapel and a dining hall and kitchen are next in the plans.

Later, as contributions from churches and individuals come in, the founders hope to build classrooms, more dormitories and a technical trade school building.

Olen S. Miles, manager of the ranch, says the organization has one primary motive:

"We will make men out of boys."

Yugoslavia has clamped down new controls on its export trade to assure that only goods of satisfactory quality shall be sold abroad.

Army Deserter Who Posed As Woman Gets Two-Year-Term

BURTONWOOD, Eng., June 10. (U.P.)—A deserter from the U. S. Army who hid behind his own skirts for three years by posing as the world's only woman fire eater was sentenced by an Army court today to serve two years at hard labor.

A seven-man Army court found Pvt. Delbert E. Hill, 36, of Philadelphia, guilty on a desertion charge, ordered the two-year sentence, and decreed a bad conduct charge for the soldier who wowed 'em with his magic in British theatres.

Hill, 36, of Philadelphia, trod the boards of British music halls as Donna Delbert, woman fire eater. Besides gulping flaming torches — o rso it seemed to the audiences — he would produce a cat or a dog from an empty barrel, or for variety cut paper or snuff a candle with a whip.

Desertion Charge Denied

The soldier who donned feminine attire and let his hair grow was charged with deserting the Army on July 3, 1945.

Pleading innocent, he told the court today that he merely went AWOL, because he had too much "latrine duty."

Hill took the sentence calmly. He walked over to the officer presiding at the court and saluted smartly. Before the trial opened, he said he was going to make it "my greatest performance." And he did his best.

He lighted a cigaret and calmly placed the burining end in his mouth to put out the fire. Then he juggled coins in a demonstration of his prowess at sleight of hand.

'Memoirs' Planned

"Oh, it's not going to be so bad in the clink," Hill told reporters. "I'm going to write a book on my years as a woman. That will show them."

Hill, who wore slacks and falsies when he was arrested in Newcastle last April on the tip of a jealous girl friend, was dressed in GI pants and shirt as he faced the court.

He said masquerading as a woman was "a lot of fun"—much more interesting than the latrine duty which he said caused him to go over the hill from his Air Force post just before V-J day.

Poole, England, has its first woman sheriff, Miss Margaret Llewellin, sister of a Lord.

Historic Fort In Galveston Harbor To Be Sold By WAA

DALLAS, June 10. (AP)—Historic Fort Travis will be sold to the highest bidder.

Gone are the frowning big guns that guarded the entrance to Galveston harbor for more than 50 years. The War Assets administration announced today it will open sealed bids on the site June 27.

The emplacements, the gun pits and the underground chambers for storing ammunition remain at the site on the southern tip of Bolivar peninsula. Those underground chambers long have served as hurricane shelters.

"Whoever buys the site must agree to allow access to these rooms should a hurricane threaten," Col. Karl E. Wallace, regional WAA director said.

The site includes about 97 acres of land and 27 buildings.

"It would make an ideal recreation center," Wallace stated. "The location, both on protected water and the open Gulf, would lend itself to a wonderful development."

The fort's site was bought by the government in 1898 from Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Adams for $36,000. Other parcels of land later were added.

At one time the fort boasted one of the strongest coast defenses in the country. It had an estimated dozen big guns, capable of firing from seven to ten miles. The fort was rehabilitated during the secon world war.

Whitehouse Man Dies Of Heart Attack While Watching Blaze

WHITEHOUSE, June 10. (U.P.)—Two persons were burned and another died of either shock or a heart attack last night when a gasoline tank truck exploded and burned as it was being unloaded at a highway intersection in this small Smith county town.

The fire, which burned out of control for nearly six hours before being extinguished early today, destroyed the truck, filling station and an adjoining store.

Andrew Herron of Whitehouse and James Robertson of Troup were burned, but not seriously, by the exploding gasoline.

Charles Mink, jr., who lived across the street from the filling station, dropped dead and authorities believed the aged man died of a heart attack brought on by shock.

Herron's clothing was drenched by flaming gasoline, but the quick action of a 22-year-old ex-infantryman, James Dickson, probably saved his life. Dickson pulled Herron from the scene and rolled him on the ground to snuff out the blazing clothing.

Llano Senator May Run For Governor

AUSTIN, June 10. (AP)—Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano jumped up yesterday as a new prospect for the governor's race next summer.

Lawyer-rancher Ashley said there is an increasing trend toward turning Texas into a "gravy train" government, and "somebody ought to receive a mandate from the people to stop it."

Ashley is a surprise gubernatorial hopeful. Other probable candidates are Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers; Attorney General Price Daniel; Land Commissioner Bascom Giles; and Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson. Caso March, law professor from Waco, already has announced.

Methodist Group Hears Plan To Boost Pastors' Retirement Pay

FORT WORTH, June 10. (AP)—Pastors in the Central Texas Methodist conference now can expect retirement pay based on a rate of $18 per service year.

But Dr. P. E. Riley of Fort Worth told the conference yesterday that the board of conference claimants proposes $20 as its retirement rate for 1949-50.

He said the reserve pension fund has $195,000 in cash now.

Rev. Randall Rogershof, Valley Mills, was appointed conference secretary for town and country work. L. H. Nichols of Temple and Rev. S. A. Baker of Bartlett were named for the board of managers on the Town and Country conference, which will meet August 15-20 at Southwestern university, Georgetown.

Rev. G. Bowman of Palmer and Rev. Ernest Dewald of Kennedale were appointed members of the Town and Country commission.

Lubbock Woman, Daughter Leave To Attend Funerals In Dallas

Mrs. Mary Clements of 2214 Twenty-eighth, and her daughter, Tommy Jean, left by plane Friday afternoon for Dallas, where they will attend joint funeral services for Mrs. Clements' sister, Mrs. I. J. Bonnie, and her father, J. P. Mooney, 69, of Hastings, Nebr.

Mrs. Bonnie died at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning in Houston.

Mr. Mooney was on his way to Dallas to attend funeral services for his daughter when he suffered a heart attack in Wichita Falls, according to incomplete information Mrs. Clements had received before she left Friday afternoon.

She was informed that his body was taken on to Dallas.

Her brother, C. C. Mooney, lives at 3918 Mount Royal street in Dallas.

Return Of Controls On Wheat Is Seen

1949 Crop Near All-Time High

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 10 — An official forecast today of a near-record wheat crop this year virtually assured a return to production controls in 1950.

Controls, which were in effect before World War II but were lifted during the war, would be designed to keep grain supplies from becoming a burden on the market.

Controls could be acreage planting allotments, or a combination of allotments and marketing quotas. Quotas are more restrictive in their effect than allotments alone, because they carry greater financial penalties on those not complying.

Decision Due Soon

A decision will be made by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, possibly next week. Marketing quotas would have to be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a nation-wide referendum. But planting allotments do not require grower approval.

The department's crop reporting board estimated this year's wheat crop at 1,336,997,000 bushels, or about 24,000,000 more than forecast a month ago. The estimate is only 31,000,000 bushels short of the record 1947 crop.

Secretary Brannan said, in effect, that if today's estimates of the 1949 crop exceeded 1,300,000,800 bushels—which it did—it might be necessary under terms of crop control laws to proclaim quotas.

July 23 Vote Seen

Quotas tell farmers how much they can sell without running into stiff penalties. Excess sales are subject to a penalty tax equal to half the government's price support rate. On next year's wheat, the penalty might be as much as 90 cents a bushel.

The department has informed its field offices that if Brannan proclaims quotas, they will be submitted to a referendum July 23.

Allotments tell a farmer how much he can plant and keep himself eligible for price support aid. The only penalty for over planting is loss of such aid.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE

BROWNFIELD, June 10. (Special) — Extensive improvements to Brownfield schools began this week, C. G. Griffith, president of the school board said. All schools in Brownfield and one in Gomez are included in the program set up following an inspection tour by school board members last month.

New Changes In Sponsors Made

Additional changes had to be made in sponsors of boys entered in Lubbock's second annual Soap Box Derby, scheduled to be run Monday, July 4, Thursday as a result of errors in assignment of sponsors.

John Buck is sponsored by The Vogue instead of Central Labor Union and Central Labor Union was assigned as sponsor of A. M. Perry, 501 Ave. D, previously assigned by error to Household Supply Co.

Blackwell Mattress Co. was assigned as sponsor of Jerome Head, Crosbyton boy, who had been erroneously assigned.

Casey Carpet Co., was assigned as sponsor of Bobby Mickler, 1624 Fourth street.

James Williams 719 Hub Homes, has a new sponsor, Hester's Office Supply Co., after reassignment.

Andy Wayne Reynolds, 710 Ave. C, now has Furr's Creamery as his sponsor, R. L. Armstrong, having withdrawn.

American State Bank is sponsor for Norvin Nieman, route 4, Tahoka, who had been assigned by error to S. & Q. Clothiers.

Domino Taxi is sponsor of Richard Bell, who had been previously assigned to Lubbock hotel.

Lubbock County Co-Op Ass'n. is sponsor of Carroll Kent instead of Newsom Paint & Supply Co., assigned by error.

If other errors are detected in assignment of sponsors, boys or sponsors should call the Derby editor, Avalanche-Journal, and corrections will be made immediately.

Public Hearings Are Slated At Post On Paving Projects

POST, June 10 (Special)—A public hearing on proposed paving projects for Precinct 2 will be held here.

Scheduled for 10 a. m. June 17, in Commissioners Court room, the hearing will be concerned with proposals for paving in southwest Post, the South Caprock road, in the oil field, and in Graham community, totaling approximately 28 miles.

After the hearing a date for a bond election probably will be set, the Post Dispatch said.

State Medical Official Is Speaker

U. S. Health Program Is Claimed Adequate

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, June 10—No other people in the world are privileged to have better health care than the citizens of this nation, Dr. George V. Brindley of Temple, president of the Texas State Medical association, told graduates of the University of Texas School of Medicine and John Sealy College of Nursing tonight.

Dr. Brindley, in addressing the 58 medical and 34 nursing graduates emphasized the need of facing the problems that confront the medical profession today.

Awards Are Presented

He pointed out that there is no limit to the growth and development of medical science, but declared that nothing will take the place of work.

He explained that 80 per cent of the health needs of the people can be taken care of by the general practitioner of medicine, and expressed the hope that some members of the class would choose the specialty of general practice.

Dr. T. S. Painter, University President, conferred degrees upon the graduates, among whom was his son, Joseph T. Painter of Austin.

Young Doctor Painter was selected as class orator and gave the salutatory address on behalf of the student body.

The John Sealy College of Nursing alumnae awards were presented to Elinor Dorothy Newman of Gibbings and Edith Mae Braubick of Seguin.

William McCray of El Paso, second year student received the Coca Cola Bottling Co. scholarship for proficiency.

Major John F. Pfeiffer, professor of military training commissioned two graduates in the Army Medical corps. These were Peter I. Long of Maryland and Paul Higgs of Detroit.

The degree of doctor of medicine was conferred on Dr. Wendell Gingrich, member of the medical branch faculty since 1932. Dr. Gingrich, who has received national recognition for his research received his PHD degree from the University of Chicago.

SCHOOL IS CONDUCTED

Jap Railway Strike Is Ordered Halted

TOKYO, June 11 (Saturday) (INS)—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters ordered an immediate end to the Japanese railway strike that has paralyzed Tokyo's business and industrial life.

Nearly every rail line feeding the city's great railway loop has been halted by the shut down which began with a series of wildcat strikes in the Yokohama area several days ago.

Acting SCAP labor division Chief R. T. Amis called government and labor officials into headquarters this morning and ordered labor to resume operations before any disputed issues are discussed.

He also ordered labor to leave political issues out of discussions.

Amis pointedly remarked that the law provides for the discharge of both strike instigators and strikers but said he is after the instigators, not the "duped strikers."

He added that he expects the strikers to obey occupation orders "which have not yet been disregarded in any instance."

Colorado River Water Group Holds First Meeting In Odessa

ODESSA, June 10. (AP) — City councils of Odessa and Big Spring last night held the first meeting of the Colorado River Municipal Water association and set July 12 for a taxpayers conformation vote. The meeting came less than 36 hours after Gov. Beauford H. Jester put the water district into law.

Ten men from each city were named as association members with R. T. Piner, Big Spring, chairman, and Charles Perry, Odessa, vice chairman.

Test Planned On Well In Borden

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williams, northwest Borden county discovery for commercial production from the Mississippian and possibly from the Ellenburger, cemented a string of 7-inch casing at 10,023 feet below the surface. That would put the casing approximately at the bottom of the hole which is 10,035 feet below the rotary table.

A total of 750 sacks of cement was used to secure the pipe. Operator is to wait 72 hours before drilling the plug and starting production tests through perforations opposite the various zones between 9,830 feet and 10,000 feet, which showed oil in drill-stem tests.

Northwest Of Gail

The exploration is 11 miles northwest of Gail, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, TP survey, T-6-N.

Barnsdall Oil Company No. 1 Williams, central Lynn county wildcat, four and one half miles southwest of Tahoka, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 8, EL&RR survey, ran a 50-minute drillstem test in the Spraberry section of the lower Permian at 7,049-82 feet.

Recovery was a 1,000-foot water blanket, with no shows of oil, gas or water. There was no other fluid in the drill pipe when it was pulled. No pressures were reported. The venture is drilling ahead under 7,215 feet in sand, shale and lime.

New Outpost Staked

One mile west outpost to the Kelly field in central Scurry county has been staked as Tex-Mex Drilling Company, et al, of Dallas No. 1 T. W. Doswell.

It will be 330 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of the lease in section 205, block 97, H&TC survey, about five miles west of Snyder.

With rotary tools, the exploration is starting immediately to 7,200 feet, projected to attempt production in the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian.

Castleman & O'Neill, and J. R. Hunter, et al, of Midland, have filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting permission to start operations within two weeks at their No. 1 A. L. Wren, an outpost to production in the North Snyder field of north-central Scurry county.

The venture will be 660 feet from north and 690.5 feet from west lines of the west half of tract 12, section 20, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

It is slated to dig to 7,000 feet, if necessary to explore the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian. It is six miles northwest of Snyder.

SEEIN'S BELIEVIN'—You can't always believe what you hear but when you see it—well that's another story. Or, rather the same story dressed up. Friday afternoon some northwest Lubbock residents went fishing and they didn't even leave their front yards. One, more enterprising than the rest, even set himself up in business and rented poles and "bait." For 25 cents a day anyone could 'fish' in 'Lake Walnut.' Most of the time 'Lake Walnut' passes for a street, the 2500 block just off College Avenue. In the picture above, left to right, Sandra Gentry, 2504 Walnut; Jerry Jones, 514 N. Adams; Fred Gentry, holding four-pound catfish; little Max David Harding and brother Julian, 2519 Walnut. B. L. Altman stands on the 'shore' in the background and doubts his eyes. Gentry said he used 'lettuce' for bait and confessed he lured the fish from the depths of a deep-freeze. Anyway Gentry thinks it illustrates the conditions of Walnut, Maple and other streets in northwest Lubbock. "The fish may take over here yet," he says. (Staff Photo by Edward Welsh.)

Lamesa Funeral Services For John H. Combs Slated Today

LAMESA, June 10. (Special) — Funeral services for John Henry Combs, 79, of Lamesa, were held at 3 p.m. today in Higginbotham Funeral chapel. Dr. Julian Atwood, pastor of Lamesa First Baptist church officiated, assisted by Rev. Troy Dale.

Burial was in Lamesa cemetery under the direction of Higginbotham Funeral home.

Combs, a native of Cottle county, has lived here the last 11 years. He was a member of the Baptist church the last 33 years.

Survivors include the wife; two daughters, Mrs. A. B. Poteet, and Miss Janie Combs, both of Lamesa; five sons, C. D. of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Joe of Lamesa, J. L. of El Paso, A. P. and O. L., both of Galveston; and four grandchildren.

$1,000 Reward Posted To Spur Hunt For Missing Texas Fliers

HOPE, Ark., June 10. (AP)—The search for a missing Texas plane and its two occupants was spurred today by the posting of a $1,000 reward.

Citizens of Stephenville and Merkel, where the missing men, T. C. Elkins and Ben Ferguson lived, offered the money to the first person locating the plane.

R. M. Ferguson, father of the pilot, and Gene Elkins, son of T. C. Elkins, announced the reward here.

'LEGISLATIVE' ACTION LIGHT

Young Texans Take Over Reins Of Government In 'Boys State'

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 10—Boys took over the legislature today and learned quickly what makes it creak.

In the House five bills were introduced, one passed.

In the Senate three bills were introduced, none passed.

Then both Houses adjourned sine die (finally) because lunch was ready and besides "we had to have our pictures made."

The youngsters, chosen to represent their hometowns in the American Legion-sponsored Lone Star Boys State, took over the House and Senate with the aplomb of veterans.

Communism Assailed

The Senate passed a resolution condemning Communism. Then the youthful senators tossed around a $500 million bill just like their elders. This one was for soil conservation. They discussed it a while and then sent it to a committee for further study.

The House passed a bill making an employer subject to $500 fine if he refused to allow a worker time off to go vote on election day. Two other bills introduced in the House got left by the wayside when lunchtime came. The regular House gets hungry, too.

The Senate killed one bill outright—a roads bill. The boys decided the highways were all right, now.

Boys Cheer State

One difference was that the House was quieter and in better order. At the end of their session the boys gave 15 rahs for Boys State and Texas. The Regular House can make that much noise any old day, but not in unison. Anything but unison.

Larry Stone of Robstown started the Senate off. Bob Carraway of Beaumont led the House. Lieutenant Governor Ray Lee of Baytown later took over the Senate gavel.

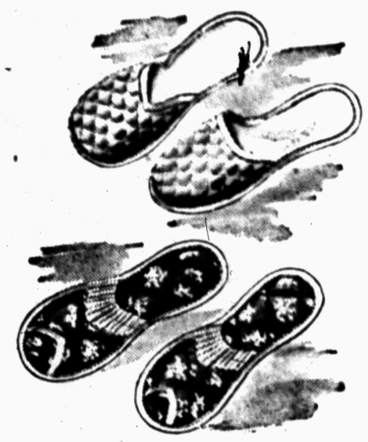

Both groups met in joint session at 11 a. m. to hear their own governor—Kent Bendall of Houston—and Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

"The best way to fight Communism is to know your own government and participate in it," Jester told the group.

"When we see boys like you," Speaker Durwood Manford told them, "we know that this younger generation not only can take over our jobs but can do it better when the time comes."

NEW VOTING LAW

What's So Secret

GOVERNOR JESTER made quite a ceremony the other day of signing the so-called "Secret Ballot bill" just enacted by the Legislature. Numerous individuals beamed for the cameras as Mr. Jester attached his signature to the measure. The governor, to his credit, did not cook up the ceremony. But there have been no reports that anyone had to twist his arm to be photographed, and he took advantage of the occasion to praise the new law.

Such praise is so much clap-trap. The new law does not guarantee the secrecy of the ballot. It still will be possible for machine politicians to ascertain how individual citizens voted. It will be somewhat more time-taking for powerful political bosses to check up on the voters they may control than has been the case in the past. Those who have voted in obedience to orders in machine-ruled areas, because they feared to do otherwise, probably will continue to do that. The evils and dangers of machine rule which afflict some sections of Texas have not been greatly improved.

Under the new law, the voter has to sign his or her name to a stub bearing the number of the ballot cast. These stubs, under the law, must be kept in a sealed box which can be opened only by court order. A comparison of the stubs with ballots bearing corresponding numbers will reveal how any person voted. True, it will be a violation to make such a chetkup except by court order. But political bosses are never stopped by laws unless they are pretty certain of getting caught. The secrecy of the ballot will be protected only so long as the law is observed. The present law provides that theoretical protection.

The only way to insure secrecy of the ballot is to make it impossible for anyone to find out how any individual voted. The present law will not do that. Anyone who pretends otherwise either is sadly misinformed, or guilty of deliberate deception. The best that can be said for the new law is that it is perhaps somewhat better than the old.

Tip To Newcomers

THE MANY newcomers to Lubbock and the South Plains—those already here and those soon to arrive— will find one of the outstanding pleasure spots of the area in Mackenzie State park just east of this City.

Lubbock is quite proud of the park —with good reason, we think.

It includes approximately 549 acres, about half of which are landscaped. The magnitude of the landscaping job can be appreciated better by those who inspect the undeveloped areas, where native grasses are about the only vegetation.

Not so many years ago, the entire park was like the areas still undeveloped. There were a few trees, but no lawns. The fact that shaded and grassed picnicking areas of large extent have been developed, which compare favorably to those found anywhere, bears testimony to the richness of the South Plains soil, as well as to vision and diligence.

More than 1,000,000 people entered the park gates last year, with another record-breaking attendance virtually certain this year. Last year's attendance was 39 percent of all Texas State parks, of which there are about 40. More people visited Mackenzie than the next 15 State parks combined.

The park is a delightful place for outings. The picnicking areas are the principal attraction. But there are numerous playgrounds, with a miscellany of games suitable for any age group. Fireplaces and barbecue pits are available on a first-come-first-served basis. The City swimming pool is in the park. So is a small amusement park midway.

Those who have resided in Lubbock and the South Plains any length of time probably know and have taken advantage of these attractions. Newcomers will have to find out about them, and it will be a neighborly service to acquaint them with Mackenzie State park.

A four-month-old baby elephant, caught in Assam, accidentally, while working elephants were being rounded up, could not be left to fend for itself in the jungle, so was shipped to London Zoo by air.

Safety Hazards

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Disributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: First a murder, then fire and explosion which destroy everything on the island, make the "New Eden" of Henry Gough Harding an Spears Island anything but a paradise. Eight islanders are now without shelter and very little food with a murderer in their midst. Then another body is found, that of the mate on the Simpatico, a fishing boat which brought Bea Cosgrove and others to the island. Harding believes the fisherman started the fire because of a grudge. Then George Bascombe picks up the rifle found by the body and points it at Fred Sillwell.)

HENRY HARDING snapped "We haven't time for this nonsense. There is much to do." The rifle covered him, and he stopped abruptly as Bascombe's eyes held his.

George tapped the rifle with his left hand. "You're not headman any more, Harding. We've just had a plebiscite, and I've been elected king. This rifle's my vote and assurance of the best will of the people. You're all the people, and you'll all decide to work for me, do what I say. As long as I'm duly elected and hold the rod of authority."

Henry Harding's big body tensed. "What do you want? What do you expect to gain?"

Bea waited for his leap for the rifle blast.

Mollie Stark spoke suddenly. "Mollie wants to be queen! Mollie's tired of that old nasty man. She's tired of talk and an old man. Can Mollie be queen?"

George Bascombe laughed but the rifle did not waver. "Why not? Why not?" He darted a glance at Nona McGuire. He said, "You can be queen, Mollie."

Bea watched the strength leave Harding's legs, saw purpose drain from his set face. He looked old as he sat down in the mud.

* * *

"I'M hungry," Mollie whined. "Cold and wet and hungry." "Come on then," George said. "Fred'll hunt around until he finds some food to bring to us."

"I'll see you in hell first," Sillwell said, but the words lacked any conviction.

"Have it your way. But you're the one with the thirst and I'm the one with the whiskey."

Fred licked his cracked lips. "I'll buy it. I'll pay you for it."

"With food," Bascombe insisted. "And from the looks of things you'd better start hunting. Whoever blew things up did a first-class job."

The stone steps and a small portion of the western foundation wall of the house remained. It marked now the edge of a cliff which dropped abruptly to the water.

On the southern side where the funicular had been, the blast and ensuing slides had laid bare blank rock. Sliding stone, mixed with debris from the house had piled up in the treacherous currents of the cove. There was no sign of either dock or lower storeroom, just a formless, smothering mass of rubber. All outbuildings had been knocked flat by the explosions and partially burned before the deluge.

Bea Cosgrove said, "What can you gain by this? Some ship must have see the fires. Or a fishing boat will come. You won't be king very long, George."

"Maybe no. I doubt if anyone could have seen the fires any distance at all through that storm. At any rate, I'll be king for a day." He looked at Nona again. "Come on, Mollie, let's get a fire going where it's dry."

"Yes. Dry matches. Strange, isn't it? Last night too much fire. Today, no fire, but the one I'm going to light. So if the rest of you want fire, you'd better help Fred collect luxuries for me."

"You're horrid," Agnes Firth said. "I always thought people stuck together in times like this."

George laughed again. "The emergency is over. This is reconversion. Come on, Mollie."

AGNES, Mabel, Bea, Nona and Fred Sillwell watched them go.

Nona McGuire said, "I'm cold and wet. Shall we move around at least? And I guess I'm the one who ought to do most of the food hunting for George. He's acting this way because he's mad at me." She added softly, "I hope." She pointed suddenly and laughed. Mollie and George had stopped beside the collapsed and splintered hut. The girl obeyed his obvious order, gathered up a full armload of the splintered wood, then followed him down the trail a few paces behind.

"Squaw work," Nona said. "I could almost feel sorry for Mollie. Almost, but not quite."

"We've wasted too much time," Mabel said briskly. "Too much time on his foolishness. We need shelter, a fire and food. We won't get them standing around feeling sorry for ourselves."

Henry Harding looked up then. "They've gone. They've gone." He got slowly to his feet. "We must work." The words gave him strength. "We must work to live. Miss Firth, you and Mr. Sillwell will go to the lower storeroom. There may be some food left uncovered. Mrs. Jones, you will help me make a shelter of some sort. There will be plenty of tools left at least. Miss McGuire and Miss Cosgrove can hunt for ainything of value. And perhaps some of the sheep are still alive. There may be others we can use also."

"Is there a chance the fires were seen?" Agnes asked.

"A small chance. And it wouldn't help now if they had been. Not for days at least. Nothing can get close to the island and live, until the surf goes down."

Nona McGuire's teeth were chattering again. "What about t-the d-dead man?"

Henry Harding picked up the body. He walked slowly the distance to the stone steps, to the edge above the sheer drop. He stood on the top step for a long moment. His arms straightened and this burden slid from sight.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

TODAY is Nonsense Day again. Do you ever get Nonsense Days?

The kind of day when you can't take anything seriously? When nothing that happens upsets you, and you have a wonderful "so what?" outlook on life?

The first thing that happened this morning was that I upset a so-called colonial antique lamp on the dining-room table, one of those things that used to be a kerosene lamp and was converted into electricity. I broke both chimneys and the glass spattered all over my eggs.

BRANDEIS

You can imagine my wife. She didn't say anything, but you should have seen "you-fool-you" look she gave me.

Guess who did the cleaning up. You're right. The wife did. I just went upstairs and had a good laugh. I never liked the darn lamp, anyhow.

Next the cleaning woman phoned. Her car was busted again and she couldn't come over. The wife was furious. But "Good," I said to myself. "Now I don't have to listen to that vacuum cleaner while I write my column."

I started to read my newspaper. A story from Japan.

When you tip a waiter or a porter over there, he expresses his thanks by bowing, sticking out his tongue, thumbing his nose and hissing.

Not very different from the waiters in our swanky restaurants and night clubs.

Except that while you can see their bowing, they thumb their noses, stick out their tongues and hiss at you inwardly if the tip isn't big enough.

Next item in my papers was a dispatch that Yale scientists have just declared that it wasn't St. Patrick at all who drove the snakes out of Ireland, but ice.

Snakes don't like ice. And Ireland, having once been not an island but attached to England by land, all the snakes went to England, where they still are.

Any good Irishman will corroborate that statememnt.

MY next nonsensical item is the case of Paddy O'Neill of Ballymena, Northern Ireland.

He went to his doctor with a chronic stomach ache. He thought he had ulcers.

The doctor operated and took out two balls of straw weighing one pound and twelve ounces.

Then Paddy remembered that he had a habit of chewing straw and swallowing it.

He feels better now and is chewing straw no longer.

Another medical note, this one from London.

The Medical Press has published an article recommending the French way of kissing—on both cheeks, instead of on the mouth.

"The adoption of the French mode of kissing," says the article,

TO AVOID DEPRESSION

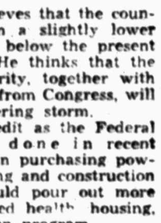

Economy Aids Studied

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The most undiscussed, behind-the-scenes question at Washington on the eve of the end of the 1949 fiscal year is how the government can combat an economic decline that seems to be heading into at least a minor depression.

While no specific plans have been unfolded because both official economists and the politicians refuse to face the facts, they have quietly prepared three entirely different programs for cushioning a fall.

President Truman blithely dismisses the problem in his public talks, although he has asked his Council of Economic Advisers to prepare him a formula entirely different from the anti-inflation cures he proposed in the presidential campaign.

TUCKER

His concern accounts for the Administration's willingness to compromise on the Taft-Hartley Act, to delay Senate action on the North Atlantic Pact and for his new agreement to let Congress wind up its work and get out of Washington as quickly as possible.

HEALTHY: Publicly, Mr. Truman still maintains that the nation's economy is in a healthy state of "disinflation," despite increasing unemployment, buyers' resistance, the flight of capital from Wall Street and other investment markets into seemingly safe but low-return government bonds, and many other indications the post war boom has busted in a big way.

Frankly, the White House professes to believe that another ten percent drop in the economic activity and level—wages, prices, purchasing power etc.—would be a constructive rather than a dangerous trend. The economists who have dinned this theory into presidential ears insist that there should be and can be a further drop without any serious repercussions as in 1929.

They liken the present movement to the minor downward flurry which occurred from 1921 to 1923, when the Harding-Coolidge regimes took no extraordinary steps to check the descent from World War I peaks.

COURSE: It is generally agreed in Administration circles that the government cannot stand by in the event of another depression, and adopt a laisses faire attitude, permitting the country to go through the wringer in the hope that all will come out right in the wash.

Washington's economic, financial, political and foreign policy decisions now outweigh the effect and impact of all other pressures on the national economy and standard of living.

Although President Truman still maintains that there is no cause for alarm, a feeling not shared by his more conservative advisers at the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board, here is the course he will pursue until and unless conditions become far worse than they are now:

PROGRAM: First, he believes that the country will be better off on a slightly lower level, at least 10 percent below the present status, and possibly 20. He thinks that the use of his present authority, together with new powers he has asked from Congress, will steer us out of the gathering storm.

He would stimulate credit as the Federal Reserve Governors have done in recent weeks. He would maintain purchasing power through foreign spending and construction of public works. He would pour out more funds through his proposed health, housing, farm and federal education program.

If unemployment becomes threatening, with seven or eight million unemployed, he would fall back on the work relief program of the early New Deal days.

Incidentally, although he still insists on an increase in taxes at his press conferences, he has not mentioned the idea to his Congressional Monday morning quarterbacks for at least two months. He knows that they do agree with him, in view of changing conditions, and he seems willing to forget it, too.

LONG-RANGE: Many presidential pals, however, think that this program falls short of staving off a recession or depression. They look to the government alone as the only power which can keep the national economy on an even keel.

Included in this group are such usually obedient Administration men as Leon Keyserling of the Economic Council of Advisers, Senator James E. Murray of Montana and Representative Brent Spence of Kentucky, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

They are formulating a long-range anti-depression program such as not even the late F. D. R.'s young New Dealers—Harry Hopkins, Robert A. Nathan, Harold L. Ickes, "Tommie" Corcoran and Ben Cohen, even Henry A. Wallace—ever dared to propose.

PROSPECT: They want a general increase in wages to boost take-home pay and on across-the-board lowering of prices, which means smaller profits. In their opinion it is the consumers' power to buy and to keep on buying which almost alone, will guarantee full employment and absorption of production. They would spend Uncle Sam's money to expand industrial capacity if private capital is hesitant, and they even talk of taking over certain basic industries.

In short, under their philosophy the government would assume all responsibility for the maintenance of the present level of prosperity. Incidentally, some of these enthusiasts for a controlled economy do not want to apply these principles solely in a time of crisis or depression. They demand their acceptance as a new and permanent way of life.

Indeed, a few seem to welcome the prospect of bad times, as they did in 1933, so that they can "roll up their sleeves—again—and remake the world."

* * *

GIVE-AWAY: Continued foreign grants and loans, even beyond the period envisaged in the Marshall Plan, figure in the plans of both groups. Only by shipping funds and goods abroad, even though there may be no repayment, in their opinion, can the United States absorb the industrial production for which even now there is not a domestic market.

And, surprisingly enough, many supposedly conservative industrialists and business men favor a permanent give-away policy of this kind.

State Governments Under Fire

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

HARTFORD, Conn.—When you leave Washington with its finely spun and intricate web of national government and go to take a look at state government, most any state government, you always have the same experience of moving from effect to cause.

Which is to say that the federal machinery has become so large and operates in so many fields to serve the people partly because state government has failed to perform adequately many functions of government. The people, through Congress, have transferred functions to the federal government of necessity. This is not to say, of course, that there are not many fields which require over-all national management due to common national interest that transcends local interests and state lines in our complex, machine-age society.

Government 'Moss Bound'

This state of Connecticut, one of the oldest and with an ancient tradition of local government, offers an example of hom, in many directions, local government has been weakened and become moss-bound through the years by clinging to stagecoach-day forms and methods.

It has one of the worst rotten borough systems of representation in the nation which discriminates in its house of representatives against its cities in favor of small towns and rural sections, so that city people are all but distranchised in this sector of government. There are 108 separate departments and agencies in its encrusted and overlapping state government. There has grown up a mixing of private, political and state business in some areas of government which is amoral, if not plainly immoral and unethical.

All of this conduces here, as in other states, to give private economic interests undue influence in state governments, particularly in legislatures, to get legislation favorable to their special interest and to block progressive measures on behalf of the whole people of the state. That as we know, is one of the principal reasons why the federal government has had to move in during the recent years to protect the public interest.

Gov. Chester A. Bowles, who came here to manage a state government after experience in the federal bureaucracy in Washington as OPA administrator and before that as a business man, is acutely conscious of the inadequacies and limitations of state government and their effect in building up big government in Washington. He has the advantage of the fresh viewpoint and the "outside look in."

He is trying to arouse the people to clear away some of the brush—which he naturally finds quite a task—in the effort to make local government a healthy organism that can do its part in the over-all job of government. Recently he dramatized in a speech to Connecticut mayors the effect of the rotten borough system which has grown up under statutes that, among other things, give two representatives to every city and town over 20,000 and two to every town incorporated before 1850. Some of the latter still are hamlets.

"There are 20 cities and towns in Connecticut with a population of more than 20,000. Two-thirds of all our people live in these cities and towns," he said. "But instead of having two-thirds of the representatives in the House of Representatives, they have less than one-sixth. Specifically, they elect 40 representatives to the lower House out of a total membership of 272."

He pointed out further that the 1,200,000 who live in these cities can be outvoted—and usually are—by representatives of 26 small towns with a total population of less than 50,000 and that 700,000 citizens who live in the five largest cities — more than a third of the population — have only 10 representatives out of 272 and can be outvoted by representatives of six towns with a total population well under 10,000.

In another direction here Governor Bowles has stirred up a real rukus by suspending the chairman of the state liquor control commission, John T. Dunn, jr., on the basis of the report of an investigation conducted by Edward J. Hickey, state police commissioner, charging that Mr. Dunn, an insurance man, had personal business dealings with liquor permits which, Commissioner Hickey alleged, constituted "questionable conduct," "neglect of duty," and a "probably violation of the criminal laws."

Current inquiries in other fields of state government indicate possible action of a similar nature in keeping with Governor Bowles' aim to improve the moral tone of Connecticut's government.

National Guard Prepares For Parade In Honor Of Governor

NORTH CAMP HOOD, June 10. (AP)—National Guardsmen of the Texas 36th division today were polishing their brass, cleaning their weapons and generally slicking up for their big day.

The division, here for two weeks of field training, will stage a parade and review Saturday morning in honor of Gov. Beauford H. Jester. Members of the Texas legislature have been invited.

The ceremonies and parade will last for two and a half hours and will involve more than 6,000 troops, 600 vehicles and planes of the division's light aviation section.

PALM OIL OUTPUT UP

Palm oil production is Malaya's most favored industry, just now, with estates back in production after occupation and world prices favorable.

MARKET AGAIN SLUMPS

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—The stock market dropped to a two-year low today in a fresh display of weakness.

Key issues lost fractions to as much as 2 points or so although most declines were a point or less. Despite a slight show of resistance late in the day, final prices in numerous cases were at the lows of the session.

Quotations turned out to be highly sensitive to small offerings of stocks. Selling pressure never did amount to much but buying was timid to the point of apathy. Another batch of unfavorable business and labor reports helped to stifle demand.

Trading activity increased to 800,000 shares from 590,000 yesterday—one of the slowest days of the year—but, at that, wasn't enough to get Wall Street excited.

Today's decline more than wiped out the gains painfully scored on Tuesday and Wednesday and put the general run of prices a bit below Monday. On Monday the market nosedived to what was then a two-year low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .6 of one point to 59.2, with the railroad and industrial groups the heaviest losers. Not since May 20, 1947, when the average hit 58.7 low for that year, has the market been lower.

The latest spell of weakness has driven prices back into the critical price territory toward which the market has been heading for the past month. A large bloc of opinion in Wall Street holds that the market will crack below this area despite the fact that a decisive break through was averaged in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

A total of 988 individual stocks were traded, of which 570 declined and 182 advanced. New lows for the year or longer were registered by 128 stocks—four made new highs.

Some important losers included U S Steel at 21, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 56, General Motors 53¼, Chrysler 45½, U S Rubber 33, Montgomery Ward 48⅝, American Smelting 40½, Phelps Dodge 39, Copper 37⅝, Du Pont 178½, Radio Corp 10⅝, Santa Fe 83⅛, Southern Pacific 34⅞ and Standard Oil (NJ) 62.

In the plus column were Firestone Tire, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric and Johns-Manville.

Lower in the curb were American Gas, Cities Service, New Mexico and Arizona Land, Kaiser-Frazer, Humble Oil and Electric Bond and Share.

Railroad issues slipped in the bond market. One or two U. S. government obligations improved in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today on increased profit taking and hedging. Evening-up operations in nearby July dominated the market with that month holding independently firm. Urgent covering met only scale-up offerings, reflecting tightness in free market supplies of spot cotton due to the fact that some 4,000,000 bales, or more than half of the current supply are held in the government loan. A leading spot firm said about 15,000 bales of nearby July on the scale-up.
Futures closed 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, June 10 (AP)—Wheat held firm while feed grains slumped on the board of trade today. Buying of wheat by mills helped that grain, and an advance in cash prices plus more unwanted rains in the southwest spurred along the upturn.
Wheat closed ¾-⅞ higher, July $1.94½-⅝, corn was 1⅛-1¼ lower, July $1.31⅛-⅜, oats were 1⅛-1¼ lower, July 58⅜.

Woman Accepts Proposal; Radio Show's 'Husband Derby' Ended

COLORADO SPRINGS Colo., June 10 (INS)—Lucille Archibeque of Los Angeles today jilted the Junior Chamber of Commerce contestants for her hand, to elope to Nevada with an "old flame."

"Luscious Lucille," who came to the national Jaycee convention in Colorado Springs to find a husband, accepted a telegraphed proposal from Jay Kinzer of Wenatchee, Wash., who arrived in the resort town this afternoon.

Lucille's search for a husband was sponsored by the "People Are Funny," program. Her acceptance of Kinzer's proposal eliminated Sandy Crews of St. Catherine, Ontario, who was the leading contender in the husband derby.

Famed Mexico City 'Main Street' Rebuilt To Speed Traffic Between Town, Suburbs

By A. CARL KUPFER
INS Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, June 10.—Paseo De La Reforma, Mexico's "Fifth avenue," is having its face lifted and a complete job of plastic surgery is expected to facilitate traffic between the downtown area and the top residential suburbs.

Known to every tourist as the starting point or "zero street" from which directions are given, the Paseo Reforma was laid out under direction of the French Empress Carlotta nearly a century ago. The eucalpytus trees and the scores of life-size statues that line its curbs are being retained. But much of the Paseo is being drastically altered and for the better.

Traffic Lanes Increased

Twelve lanes of traffic divided by banquettes will provide for local traffic turning on to or off the main boulevard and for high speed lanes in either direction. From the building fronts will be one lane for parking automobiles and two for slow vehicles and those planning to make turns. Separating this from the main stream of traffic will be the broad sidewalks and gardens with the statues and eucalyptus trees.

Three to four lanes of high-speed, through traffic will be next the center strip, a two-meter (68 inch) strip planted with scores of varieties of Mexican cactus. The same pattern will be repeated on the other side of this center strip.

Monuments Retained

The "glorietas," so well known to Americans who have visited Mexico, will be left undisturbed, with the exception of Cuauhtemoc. These glorietas are statues of monuments spaced in circles at the important intersections of Reform and the Diagonals at Artes, Insurgentes, Niza, Florencia, Sevilla and Melchoir Ocampo.

Traffic has been routed around these circles and will continue as before with the exception of the largest intersection, Insurgentes, where Cuauhtemoc, the Aztec emperor, has been moved a few yards southeast to control traffic from the cross street.

A new cement facing has been given the worn and rutted asphalt roadway and for months the street has looked as though an army of gophers had been holding carnival throughout its length.

Work Nears Completion

Work has been completed almost to the end of the Paseo Reforma where it joins the main east-west street of the city, Avenida Jurez at the intersection of the "caballito," central direction-finding point. A tourist asking how to go to such-and-such is invariably told, "you know the caballito? Well, from there . . ."

The last three blocks of the Paseo are still under construction, but it is expected the entire street from the exclusive Lomas suburb to the cabillito will be opened to traffic within a matter of weeks.

Estimates of costs or actual cost of the work have not been released and it is considered unlikely that this will be done. Much criticism has appeared in the capital press over the delays, "make-work" and inefficient management of the job. Charges of politics have been hurled but the one certainty is that, upon completion, the Paseo De La Reforma will be one of the most beautiful boulevards in the hemisphere.

Expert Tells Secret Of Good Peach Crop

COLLEGE STATION, June 10. (INS)—You can thank erratic blossoming of peach trees for the size and quality of the peaches you have for breakfast.

J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A&M college, speculates that it would be close to a calamity if the average peach tree's 25,000 blossoms all bore fruit the same year.

"Fortunately," said Rosborough, "nature allows only about 250 to 1,250 of these 25,000 to bear fruit."

He said that a total set of fruit would result in undersized fruit of poor quality and weakened or broken trees.

Trees Shed Blossoms

Although blossoms shed from the moment they first form until the fruit matures, there are three periods, or "waves," of blossom shedding.

The last takes place in late May or early June. By this time the fruit is easy to spot on the trees.

Strangely enough, even with three sheddings, growers must thin their fruit. Insects and bad weather also help to improve the size and quality of the fruit left on the tree, reduce the number of culls, and increase the uniformity of ripening.

Rosborough said that the best time to thin peaches is when the fruit is about the size of the end of the thumb.

"Sometimes an orchardist may thin from 600 to 1,200 peaches on a single tree," Rosborough said. "But he's not losing money in terms of pounds of fruit, since a tree wouldn't produce large fruit if it weren't thinned."

Health Officer Advises Texans To 'Quit Racing To Cemetery'

AUSTIN, June 10. (AP)—Better slow down, mister.

Take it easy. Quit worrying. Quit racing to the cemetery.

That was the advice today of Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, who has just added up last year's death causes in Texas.

There were 64,034 deaths from all causes. Heart disease was the cause of 16,638 of them. Cancer came second with 6,913. Apoplexy and accidents were third and fourth, in that order, with 5,406 and 5,164 deaths respectively.

Much of the heart disease, Dr. Cox said, brings death from doing too much, going too fast, worrying and fretting.

DAMAGE GROUP NAMED

Paraguay named a committee to judge and pay damages resulting from the armed uprising in Ascuncion last October, and claims are being filed with it.

NEW TURKEY GROWN

English farmers are starting to grow the new breed of turkey—white, plump-breasted and small-boned — designed especially for housewives with small ovens.

HOFFMAN URGED TO QUIT

Sen. McKellar, ECA Head Clash Over Amount Of Funds For Aid

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) got his dander up against Paul Hoffman today, bluntly telling the Marshall Plan boss: "The sooner you resign, the better it will be for the United States."

Then as Hoffman vainly tried to break in, McKellar shouted that the ECA chief was using resignation "threats" in an effort to keep the Senate Appropriations committee from cutting European recovery funds.

"You have undertaken to do it before," he stormed at Hoffman. But he added, "you are not going to do it this time."

Hoffman finally managed to get a word in.

Charge Is Denied

"Nothing I said implied any threat," he told McKellar. "I said if I came to the conclusion I could not administer the program successfully then I would resign."

The exchange came as a follow-up to Hoffman's testimony yesterday that he believes the foreign aid program cannot be carried on successfully on less than $4,000,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1. The House, however, voted only $3,568,470,000, with authority to spend that amount in 10½ months if necessary.

Hoffman told the Senate group yesterday if it makes a deeper cut than the House did it would "wreck" the recovery program.

Hoffman said he wished "someone would recognize the fact" that ECA is not asking for an increase in funds—but for 20 per cent less than the first year's program.

But several of the lawmakers have indicated that they intend to take another whack at the foreign aid funds in an effort to trim spending to avoid a budget deficit.

Losses Of Cattle, Sheep In Wyoming Total Almost 200,000

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 10 (INS) — Results of a survey conducted by mail in Wyoming showed today that nearly 200,000 cattle and sheep died in the state during and following the intense blizzards of January and February.

The first official estimate of livestock losses was made by Wyoming Bureau of Agricultural economics, and was based on reports from 1,000 farmers and ranchers in the state.

Wyoming livestock losses from Jan. 1 to June 1 totaled 41,000 head of cattle and calves and 154,000 sheep.

The loss of cattle was 4.1 per cent as compared with an average of 2 per cent, and 7.4 per cent for sheep, as compared with an average of 5 to 6 per cent.

POLIO FIGHT CONTINUES

SAN ANGELO, June 10 (AP)—Portable equipment was being used today to spray DDT in sections of this city as San Angelo fought a polio epidemic. No planes were being used in the spraying and the city commission said none would be used.

South Africa is to have an oil-from-coal refinery.

Last rites for Clark W. Abbott, about 53, former Lubbock resident who died late Wednesday in Pawhuska, Okla., will be conducted at 11 a. m. today in Smith-Kernke Funeral home chapel, Oklahoma City. Burial will be in Davis, Okla. Abbott managed the Lindsey theaters in Lubbock until his retirement because of failing health, in December, 1948.

Judgment was on file Friday forfeiting two of three recently seized marble machine to Lubbock county and ordering the third and its coins delivered to Eddie DeLavan, from whom it had been taken. Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district found in a Thursday hearing that two of the machines were gambling paraphernalia, but that the other was not "at the time of its seizure being used as a gambling table." Action of the forfeited machines awaits action of the county commissioners court, as prescribed by Judge Blair. The action was brought by Sheriff Grady Harrist as plaintiff.

Dr. Reginald Rushing, head of the department of accounting and finance at Texas Technological college, has recently been elected vice president of the Texas Association of University Instructors in Accounting for the coming year.

Accused Slayer Claims Police Refused Him Use Of Telephone

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 10 (INS) — Nineteen-year-old Milton Babich testified late today Milwaukee police wouldn't let him make outside telephone calls last March 26 until he admitted killing his wife's younger sister.

Babich took the witness stand during an argument between opposing counsel over whether his admission should be accepted as evidence. The jury was excluded from the courtroom while the argument raged.

The youth, on trial for slaying 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham last Feb. 10, said detective Capt. Adolph Kraemer told him he "wouldn't be allowed to see or talk to anyone until he made a statement."

Court adjourned for the day with the argument unended.

BASE IS NAMED

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Air Force named its Waco, Tex., base today for Col. James T. Connally, Texas airman killed in a raid over Japan May 29, 1945. Col. Connally was a B-29 bomber squadron commander. He was a native of McGregor and a distant relative of Senator Tom Connally of Texas.
