US Woman Shares Nobel Physics Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An American scientist today became the first woman to win a Nobel Prize in physics in 60 years. She will share the prize with a second U.S. scientist and a West German.

Winding up the 1963 Nobel awards, a West German scientist and one from Italy were named to share the prize in chemistry.

The Swedish Royal Academy of Science announced these winners of the physics and chemistry prizes, each worth $51,158.

Physics: Mrs. Maria Goeppert-Mayer of the University of California and J. Hans D. Jensen of Heidelberg for their work in determining the nature of the shell of the atom's nucleus. She is the first woman residing in America to win a Nobel physics prize and the first to be named since Marie Curie in 1903.

Eugene Wigner of Princeton University, who helped to lay the groundwork for the present advance study of nuclear physics. Wigner will get half the prize. Mrs. Goeppert-Mayer and Jensen will divide the other half.

Chemistry: Prof. Karl Ziegler of West Germany and Prof. Giulio Natta of Italy for their work with molecules that has helped to speed the development of useful plastics.

The award money comes from a $9-million bequest by the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who directed that the interest on the bequest be distributed among those who benefit mankind.

The formal award ceremony will be held Dec. 12 in Stockholm.

At her home in La Jolla, Calif., Mrs. Goeppert-Mayer exclaimed: "I really don't know what to say... it is really true? I still can't believe it's true. Oh, how wonderful!"

In Heidelberg, Jensen said: "That's fantastic. But I can't believe it until I get the official notification."

Wigner was away when the news was telephoned to his home near the Princeton University campus. Said his wife: "I haven't been awakened so suddenly since my neighbor's gas furnace blew up a few years ago."

Mrs. Wigner said her husband has devoted considerable time to research into the peaceful uses of nuclear power and added: "But I think he is a good teacher also."

"He is a sincere physicist," she said. "I'm delighted that he got it."

Wigner, who is 61 and a native of Hungary, was educated in Budapest and Berlin. He joined the Princeton faculty in 1930 as professor of mathematical physics.

Wigner in 1958 received the Fermi Prize and in 1960 was awarded the Atoms for Peace Prize.

Mrs. Goeppert-Mayer, 57, was born in Katowitz, Germany (now Katowice, Poland). She took her doctorate at Goettingen, Germany, in 1930, and then was on the staff of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore for 10 years along with her American husband, Joseph Mayer, a professor of chemistry.

During tonight's celebration, the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce will honor the county's "Outstanding Young Farmer" of the year.

Other awards will include presentations to the "Outstanding Conservation Farmer" and the "Outstanding Rancher" by the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District, and an award by the Downland Lions Club to Scurry County's "Outstanding Conservation Farmer."

Tickets for the event are priced at $1.50 each, which includes the barbecue supper. Tickets have been on sale several days at various agricultural agency offices and at the Chamber of Commerce Office.

Red Blockade Very Serious Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk described as "a very serious matter" today the Russian blockade of a U.S. convoy on the road to Berlin.

Rusk made the comment to newsmen after appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

President Kennedy was keeping in close touch with the situation, both by telephone and by direct briefings from McGeorge Bundy, his assistant for national security affairs.

Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador to Moscow who has been vacationing in London, was ordered to return quickly to his post in connection with the crisis.

Kohler launched a formal protest in Moscow last month, after a similar Soviet tie-up of a U.S. convoy on the autobahn. It was assumed the action would be repeated in the present case.

Rusk, leaving the Senate committee briefing, said that "unless the situation has changed in the last hour, the other side is attempting unilaterally to change procedures that have long been in use."

"Of course that cannot be permitted. We look upon it as a very serious matter."

He said earlier that "Berlin is on a moment-to-moment basis."

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger also told newsmen that the U.S. government is in touch with the Soviet government both through the Russian embassy in Washington and the American embassy in Moscow.

Deny Asylum To Viet Boss

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. officials notified the revolutionary Ngo Dinh Can, boss of central Viet Nam in the regime of his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem, was turned over to South Viet Nam's new revolutionary government today after he sought asylum at the U.S. consulate at Hue.

U.S. officials were understood to have received assurances from revolutionary officials that Can "would not be lynched and would receive the due process of law."

Diem and another brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, his closest adviser, were captured by the rebels Saturday. The revolutionary government said they committed suicide, but reports have been widespread in Saigon that they were assassinated.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that Can, 47, leader of the coup that ousted the Diem regime, said in a proclamation that a Republican form of government will be retained although the junta will be the country's final authority.

French Troops Halted Enroute To W. Germany To Stand By US Convoy

BERLIN (AP) — Russian troops briefly halted a French military convoy today on its way toward a U.S. Army convoy bottled up by Soviet armored cars at Marienborn checkpoint near West Germany.

After the French convoy started up again on the 119-mile trip over the autobahn through East Germany, a Western source in Berlin said the French were under orders not to go through the Marienborn checkpoint to West Germany unless the U.S. convoy blocked there is allowed to pass.

The 10-vehicle French convoy carried 50 men. Forty-four men were in the 12-vehicle American convoy held at Marienborn by three Soviet armored personnel carriers blocking its forward movement toward West Berlin. Two other Soviet armored cars bottled the convoy in from the rear.

The French convoy was stopped shortly after 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EST) when it reached the first checkpoint outside Berlin at Babelsberg. The Russians asked the men to dismount for a headcount and the French commander refused. This was the same set of circumstances that halted the U.S. convoy at Marienborn Monday morning.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk described the Russian blockade as "a very serious matter." President Kennedy was keeping in close touch with the situation.

At the United Nations, British Minister of State Peter Thomas warned that the "spirit of Moscow" might be jeopardized by continued Soviet interference with Western access rights to Berlin. Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, campaigning in Scotland for a seat in the House of Commons, called for a peaceful settlement of the blocking tactics.

The U.S. Army, meanwhile, began assembling a supply line for the blocked American convoy.

In West Berlin, 15 trucks and water tankers were ready to roll on a 110-mile trip over the autobahn through East German territory.

CRMWD Certain To Set A Record

The Colorado River Municipal Water District experienced by far its largest October and is certain to break for the first time 10 billion gallons in production for the year.

October production amounted to 923,718,361 gallons, 32.9 per cent more than the output for October of 1962. This included nearly 83 million gallons to Sun and a substantial quantity going to Rotan through Snyder, but taking these new factors out, the gain over the peak of 730,794,000 gallons in October of 1960 would still be over 100 million gallons.

The member cities showed an increase of 28.1 per cent in requiring 614,352,400 gallons. Chisaa had 222,020,000; up 26.07 per cent. Big Spring 226,592,000, up 15.04 per cent; Snyder (now finally serving the Rotan water district) 65,740,400, up 52.6 per cent. Oil companies used 309,386,564 gallons, an increase of 30.5 USAF took over the Colorado per cent, Texas GUL, used of the jet-engine T-37. Prior to that time, the propeller-driven T-28s used the Midland Air Field and the jet-powered T-33s used the "Take Her, She's Mine."

territory to Marienborn. A second U.S. military convoy of 4 trucks, 2 trailers and 56 men passed the western side of Marienborn, presumably in reverse.

The 44-man convoy was halted Monday morning. It failed in an attempt to break through early this morning when the Russians parked three armored personnel carriers pulled up behind the convoy and boxed it in. Then, as a heavy rain fell, a lone Soviet soldier sat in the open at a heavy machine gun pointing diagonally across the road.

Early this afternoon, a U.S. Army sedan drove through the stranded convoy. The sedan was cheered by a group of West German children visiting the Iron Curtain as part of their school program.

The Americans had a hot breakfast at 6 a.m. and their morale was reported high.

In Bonn, the West German government was brought into a conference of the U.S., British and French ambassadors. Up to now, incidents involving military convoys had been considered matters concerning only the Soviet Union and the three Western Allies. In London, the British government announced its full support of the U.S. action in refusing to give in to Soviet demands for a headcounting of Army men in small convoys.

A West German government statement called the blockade a "serious provocation."

The blockade—the fourth involving Allied convoys in less than a month—caused grave concern in Washington.

Runway Is Set For Jets

The runway at Winston Field here has been made ready for use by Webb Air Force Base students and flights will begin in the near future, it was announced today.

The runway has been thoroughly swept and seal-coated, center line markers have been painted, and a crash truck is on duty.

Winston Field will be restricted to landings of T-37 aircraft. The short length of the runway (4,800 feet) precludes use of the field for the super-sonic T-38s used in the basic training.

For the present, only one mobile control unit is planned for use here.

The auxiliary field at Colorado City has been used by Webb since the coming of the jet-engine T-37. Prior to that time, the propeller-driven T-28s used the Midland Air Field and the jet-powered T-33s used the "Take Her, She's Mine."

Mine Rescue Efforts Are Delayed By Earth Shifts

By JOHN FIEHN Associated Press Staff Writer BROISTEDT, Germany (AP)

Shifting earth delayed rescuers today in their attempt to reach 11 men trapped in a flooded iron mine since Oct. 21. A report to the surface said some in the group were getting edgy and requested tranquilizers.

The rescuers had hoped to reach the men by Wednesday but at noon engineers said they were running 12 hours behind schedule because of difficulties in their drilling operations for both a rescue shaft and a supply shaft.

Engineers working on the rescue shaft reported that they had to halt the lining of the shaft with cement because the earth had shifted at a point 125 feet down—61 feet from the men. They said they would have to resort to using the drill again

Later Wolter reported back that only two of the men had taken the pills.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When the Dodgers won the Series, my father was so mad he kicked in our television set and now it isn't working. He has a terrible temper and he curses us kids out in a foreign language—our everybody on the block can hear him. I said to him, "Pa, if you're going to yell at us in front of the whole neighborhood, why don't you learn English?" For this he smacked me right in the mouth. Do you think he had a right to do that?

DEAR ABBY: He had a "right"—but he was wrong. If I have your pa pegged, I think you're lucky he didn't say what he said in English.

Many Messages Cheer Mrs. Nhu

By DORIS KLEIN
Associated Press Staff Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aide says Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, heartened by a number of sympathetic messages from Americans, is considering returning to the United States after a reunion with her three younger children in Rome.

Mrs. Nhu, originally scheduled to leave today for Rome, postponed her trip 24 hours in order to receive telephonic assurances that her children are in Rome before she leaves the United States.

The children arrived in Rome today and drove off to an undisclosed destination with their uncle, Roman Catholic Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc.

More than 3,000 telegrams and messages have poured into Mrs. Nhu's hotel suite since the military coup Friday which overthrew the regime of her brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Diem, the aide said.

Most of the messages were sympathetic, he added.

Col. William K. Elicu of New York City, a former Secret Service officer who has accompanied Mrs. Nhu on her U.S. tour, said many of the messages mentioned her personal life while others supported her anti-Communist stand.

Mrs. Nhu's husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu, Diem's political adviser, was killed in the coup—committed suicide—along with his brother.

Mrs. Nhu had feared her three younger children, ages 15, 11, and 4, had been killed in the bombardment of the presidential palace.

But the new Vietnamese government, through the U.S. State Department, informed Mrs. Nhu her children were safe.

Mrs. Nhu disclosed Monday the contents of a telegram she had sent Secretary of State Dean Rusk the day before asking that she be permitted to return to Saigon to take care of her husband and her three children. As an alternative she suggested that the State Department send the children to Rome via Los Angeles.

Instead, Mrs. Nhu received a telegram from the State Department late Monday telling her the children were being flown to Rome, via Bangkok, Thailand.

It was the first meeting between Mrs. Nhu and Tran Van Chung, 65, since she arrived in the United States.

The father, former Vietnamese ambassador to the U.S., and daughter had long been at odds over authoritarian policies of the Ngo Dinh ruling family.

Purchase Exhibit Set At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — The opening of huge, wooden shipping crates bearing "Made in England" stencils has stirred much curiosity and excitement around the Museum on the Texas Tech campus this past week. From these crates has come a major portion of the wide variety of paintings and graphics which make up the tremendous "Art to Own '63" purchase exhibition beginning at the Museum, Friday, Nov. 8 at 10:00 a.m. Exhibition hours have been announced as 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and 3 to 6 p.m. Sundays. The show will continue through November 21.

This million dollar exhibition, which is being presented by the Fine Arts Committee of the Museum's Women's Council, has been assembled from sources in both the United States and Europe by Mr. W. R. Fine, noted art collector of Dallas. Mr. Fine has obtained much of the show from Frost & Reed, Ltd. of London and Bristol.

Displayed in settings of green and gold in the Museum's Art Rotunda and Auditorium galleries, this collection of over 300 original oil paintings, watercolors and graphics is widely varied in both style and subject matter. Landscapes, for example, include both Scottish Highland scenes shrouded in misty mystery and the clear, blue brilliance of West Texas skies. Still life and figure paintings in traditional and contemporary styles add variety to the mammoth show. Widely varied, too, is the price range which begins at $15 for a Gene Kloss etching and moves upward to $45,000 for "Camp San Gallo, Venice" an oil by the 18th century Italian master, Bernardo Bellotto.

A preview of the "Art to Own '63" show will be held on the evening of November 7 at 7:30 and is open to everyone holding a Preview ticket. These tickets which are priced at $3 for one person, or $5 for two, may be purchased in advance at the Museum office or from Mrs. J. C. Chambers, 4911 43 Street, SW 9-746. Tickets will be on sale at the door that evening and Mrs. John Lott, chairman of the Fine Arts Committee has asked everyone wishing a "preview look" at the mammoth exhibition to attend.

Three "Door-Prizes" awards will be presented at 8 p.m. November 7, the evening of the Preview. These awards will be a $50 work of art, a $100 work and a $250 work. All persons who have purchased tickets to the Preview are eligible for these awards and the winners do not have to be present.

Of additional international interest to the "Art to Own '63" show and preview, will be the presence of two London art authorities. Flying into Lubbock directly from London by way of Dallas will be Miss Leonora Rochford, assistant Gallery Director of Frost & Reed, Ltd., and Mr. Michael Carter, conservator of paintings for the famous gallery. The Museum's "Art to Own '63" exhibition has provided Miss Rochford and Mr. Carter the opportunity to make initial visits to Texas and the Southwest and they have expressed much interest in viewing the ranching, agricultural and other features of the region.

The London visitors are long-time associates of Mr. Fine who arranged their visit, and will be on hand for most of the two weeks which the "Art to Own '63" show will be displayed.

Special tours of the exhibition, which will continue through November 21, may be arranged by calling the Museum secretary, Tech Station, phone PO 2-6311, Extension 3201.

Rusk Briefs Senators On Asia Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk briefed senators today on the effect the South-Vietnamese coup is expected to have on U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

And he's expected to tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee behind closed doors what bearing the overthrow of the Diem government may have on South Viet Nam's struggle against Communist guerrillas.

By the time the military completed its takeover last Friday in Saigon, President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were dead.

Foes Of Two-Price Cotton Push Bill Providing Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a bill that would eliminate the two-price system for cotton by providing a domestic subsidy will try to put the measure through the House in about two weeks.

Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., chairman of a House agriculture subcommittee, said today the bill probably will be called up in state representatives favoring the bill are seeking to line up support.

Gathings conceded that the bill, opposed by many Republicans, some urban Democrats and the Farm Bureau, faces rough going.

The bill would make cotton available to domestic textile mills at world prices, about 8 cents a pound. This would be done through a payment, in cotton, amounting to 8½ cents. In the complex cotton situation, growers received a supported price of 32.27 cents a pound. This means that the grower sells cotton commercial by if the price is above 32.27 cents a pound. If the price is below that figure he sells to the government.

This, in turn, puts U. S. Cotton higher than world prices. In order to move the cotton to state representatives favoring the bill are seeking to line up support.

Domestic mills say they cannot continue to compete with foreign mills under the price differential and ask some sort of equalizer. Without one, they contend, they cannot continue to purchase cotton and will turn to use of more synthetic fibers.

Opponents of the bill take the position that the domestic payment would amount to a third

News Media To Be Commended

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Municipal League was expected to adopt a resolution today lauding news media for "clarity and responsibility" reporting municipal affairs throughout the state.

A resolution to that effect was prepared Monday for presentation to the 2,300 delegates at the league's 51st annual conference.

The resolution states in part: "The league recognizes the official continuation of constructive cooperation with representatives of the public information media, recognizing that the informing of the public is the basic strength from which municipal progress comes and will continue in Texas."

At the opening session, league president Robert Willis Jr., mayor of Livingston, said he saw no genuine conflict between rural and urban areas and no situations making it necessary for the state to give financial aid to cities.

Willis warned that if cities permit their budgets to be supplemented by state funds they will lose their "self reliance, self pride" and destroy their initiative and incentive.

Trip Ends At Police Station

HOUSTON (AP)—A busload of 70 youths got an unexpected trip to the police station Monday night.

Driver C. H. Ledbetter, 32, said he stopped his city bus at a traffic light and several of the youths piled on him, forcing his head into the steering wheel. He said they took a sack containing about $50.

After he saw the money was gone, Ledbetter kept the bus rolling with his screaming and sprinkled with fresh.

shouting passengers until he spotted a police car. He flagged it down and the two officers in the car followed the bus to the downtown police station.

About 30 officers formed a double line and headed the youths into a courtroom. Officers took names and addresses. Meanwhile a search of the bus turned up eight knives with blades 2½ to 3 inches long. Then the youngsters, mostly teen-agers, were marched into the police station and released.

Local And State Candidate Choices Give Kennedy Variety Of Troubles

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is running into difficulties in its search for live candidates for governor and senator who might help President Kennedy carry big electoral vote states in 1964.

New York and California are giving the Kennedy candidate-pickers a variety of troubles. There are storm signs lying in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Michigan remained unsettled and, for the Democrats, unsettling.

All of the extra-curricular efforts of Stephen E. Smith, the President's brother-in-law, to bring some order out of the Democratic chaos in New York have not yet reached the point where the White House can begin to focus on a candidate to oppose GOP Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Mayor Robert Wagner is described in administration quarters as eager to make the run. Upstate Democrats insist on one of their own. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady is pushing his claims.

There is tacit agreement on the part of all concerned to wait until the first of next year to decide what shall be done about the case of Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., whose seat will be at stake in the elections.

Engle, under treatment for a brain tumor, has been permitted to leave the Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital for weekends. Whether he would be able to campaign for re-election is questionable.

If Engle is forced by illness to step out, there is every indication that administration strategists would encourage Gov. Edmund G. Brown to get into the senatorial race. Brown's term does not expire until January, 1967.

In Illinois, there is some obvious administration worry, about the strength of Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner.

The White House denied Monday any connection with a poll the Chicago Daily News said indicated Kerner could be beaten.

Faculty Nixes Ousting Of Director

PRAIRIE VIEW (AP) — The Prairie View A&M College faculty says it cannot go along with students' demands for ousting Dr. T. R. Solomon, director of student life at the school.

This demand, one of several by students, was based on a charge of "unfair treatment to students" by Dr. Solomon, a student spokesman said.

The ouster demand and several other grievances were placed before a faculty committee at a five-hours meeting Monday night.

J. M. Drew, dean of instruction, said afterward that the faculty "could not go along with" the students' demand but "I think we reached a compromise" on other matters.

He said the requests will be taken under consideration by the faculty.

Student leaders said Dr. Solomon's resignation was demanded because he had cut out all social activities at the college, outlawed off-campus and intramural activities and banned jazz sessions on the campus.

The state school is attended only by Negroes.

The students also complained of having no voice in setting up regulations to govern student activities. They accused the administration of apathy in the students' efforts to desegregate nearby Hempstead.

Seven Young In Flock Of Rare Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wildlife officials are hoping for a record flock of whooping cranes at the wintering grounds off the Texas coast.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall reported Monday that 31 of the rare birds, including seven youngsters, have arrived at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

The seven young are the largest number of small cranes counted since the winter of 1953-54. It is hoped that at least four more of the big white birds may still be en route to Texas.

"The whooping crane has become a national emblem of a determined conservation effort to preserve an almost vanished species," Udall said. "The good news on the flock's growth is heartening evidence that thoughtful men can help undo the ravages of thoughtlessness."

A record 38 wild whoopers arrived in the fall of 1961 and spent the winter at Aransas. Six failed to return last fall and there were no young.

Seven whooping cranes are in captivity at the New Orleans Zoo. One of the cranes was seen in the oceanarium's sea circus.

Rare Sea Creature Learns Very Swiftly

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. (AP) — What has large sharp teeth, can jump maybe 15 feet high and is a very fast learner?

A pseudorca, of course. For those unfamiliar with the lore of deep-sea mammals, a pseudorca is a whale and Marineland Oceanarium has one.

Named Swifty, the 11-foot-3-inch specimen was captured Oct. 10 off Marineland and at first was showing more learning ability than the pilot whales.

Swifty, the 11-foot-3-inch specimen was captured Oct. 10 off Marineland and at first was showing more learning ability than the pilot whales.

Marineland officials say the pseudorca is an extremely unusual species in the Western Hemisphere. Swifty is believed to be the first one caught alive in the open ocean.

She's already leaping up to 15 feet for food and is expected to reach 15 any day now.

7 Rescued From Snow-Bound Car

EAST PORTAL, Colo. (AP)—Death brushed three women and four children before they were rescued Monday from their snowbound car in which they were trapped for 21 hours.

Help came after the children's father, Hans Farwig, 29, struggled through waist-deep snowdrifts at the start of an arduous 16-mile hike to a railroad track bed. The road is not maintained in the winter.

Farwig, a Denver auto dealer, had taken the group on the 45-mile motor trip from Denver, intending to drive over the pass to Winter Park.

With him were his wife, Cora, 22; their children, Janet, 6, Susan, 5, Yvonne, 3, and James, 2; Mrs. Farwig's mother, Mrs. Mari Lopez, 58; and Rosario Pradel, 41, a family friend.

After the car stalled, the adults alternated at staying awake during the night and running the automobile's heater for short periods. Overnight temperatures were below zero.

Shortly after 7 a.m., Farwig left the car, which had been almost covered by high winds blowing snow over it, in search for help.

Reaching lower elevations, Farwig hiked to the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad and waved down a passing freight train.

The trainmen radioed for help.

A road grader driven by Francis Clegha and carrying Paul Galvan, a railroad maintenance foreman, plowed within a mile of the stalled car.

Galvan struggled through the snow and led the woman and children on the mile walk to waiting automobiles driven there by rescuers.

Farwig and the women and children were pronounced in good condition.

Former Mexico President Was Decendant Of Kings

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, who descended from ancient Mexico's Indian kings to become modern Mexico's 51st president, is dead at the age of 86.

Ortiz Rubio, who held the presidency from 1930 to 1932, died Monday. His term was marked by good relations with the United States and progress in restoring his country's international credit.

An engineer by profession, he visited a fellow engineer, President Herbert Hoover, at the White House and began what was called an era of "straight line" tactics between the neighboring countries.

On his inauguration day, Ortiz

Rubio was struck in the jaw by an assassin's bullets as he left the National Palace after taking the oath of office. His jaw heavily bandaged, he took up his duties a month later.

The assassin was one of a group of Mexicans who regarded Ortiz Rubio as a first man for powerful financial interests.

Despite this opposition, Ortiz Rubio was known for his personal integrity. He was Mexico's minister to Germany and ambassador to Brazil before becoming president. His survey of irrigation systems in Europe and Asia led to construction of similar waterworks in Mexico.

Born at Morelia in the province of Michoacan, he was a direct descendant of the kings of Tarascan, a tall and handsome Indian people who reigned in Mexico before the Spanish conquest. His father was governor of the province.

Ortiz Rubio joined Francisco Madero's revolutionary army in 1910 and campaigned with it until victory. He resigned the presidency in 1932 and moved to La Jolla, Calif. He returned to Mexico in 1934, left again, then came back permanently in 1940.

Mrs. Estes Kefauver To Become Consultant
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Estes Kefauver, widow of the late Democratic senator from Tennessee, will become a part-time consultant to the State Department around the first of the year, the Washington Post said today.

Mrs. Kefauver, who has had her own art studio and has taught art here for the past 10 years, will help choose paintings and other art objects to decorate American embassies, the Post said.

She will receive $50-a-day as a consultant.

Resigns To Enter Politics

HOUSTON (AP)—Wellington Abbey Jr. has resigned as editor of the Cotton Digest magazine to run for lieutenant governor in next year's Democratic primary.

Abbey, 46, styles himself a John Kennedy Democrat. In his announcement Monday he said his platform espouses sale of liquor by the drink, house racing and the end of curfew laws on liquor and beer.

"I'm pretty liberal in letting every one live his own life," he said. Abbey said although he resigned as editor of the Cotton Digest, he retains 50 per cent of the stock in the Cotton Digest Publishing Co., which also publishes the Oil Mill Gazetteer. Abbey worked in the campaigns of President Kennedy, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., Don Yarborough, an unsuccessful candidate for governor. He ran for governor himself in 1950 but failed to get elected.

Argentine Army Commander Guards Country's Democratic Constitution

EDITOR'S NOTE — Over the years revolts by the armed forces have played a major part in many Latin-American countries. Here is a look at the leadership that is keeping a close watch on the way things go in Argentina.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — As much as any one man can be, Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, commander of the Argentine army, is looking for the fact that this country is ruled today by an elected civilian president.

Onganía, 46, in the first interview he ever granted, made it clear that the army is supporting President Arturo Frondizi.

"You must remember," he told The Associated Press, "that the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and we are at his command."

No one should conclude that Dr. Illia has a blank check from the military to run a free-wheeling civilian government.

Military leaders are looking over his shoulder. There is no doubt they reserve the right — and they certainly have the power — to intervene if they decide that Illia is making too many mistakes.

Yet they evidently wish him success. They talk about "making democracy work."

They are keenly aware that a period of political stability would help the ailing Argentine economy.

The overarching power of intervention became apparent in the way Onganía sought to define the role of the military in Argentine politics, from the military's own point of view.

In essence Onganía said the military command has a constitutional duty to defend this country's democratic constitution and national security whenever these are threatened by acts or by failures of the other arms of government, including the presidency.

The Latin-American word for a military coup is "golpe." In Argentina the years of the golpe go back to 1930, when the old alternation of power between Conservatives and Radicals came to an end.

A military uprising ousted Radical President Hipolito Yrigoyen, the political ancestor of Illia, leader of today's People's Radical party.

Years of turmoil and frequent military dictatorships followed. The old, essentially two-party, order had broken up and since then Argentina has never been able to work out a stable balance of political forces. Corruption and irresponsibility in government frequently have been charged.

The rule of Juan D. Peron, which developed as a labor reform movement, degenerated toward its close in the mid-1950s into a corrupt drive for personal wealth, marked by political oppression and brutality.

Peron rose to power following a golpe, and a golpe drove him into exile in Spain.

Arturo Frondizi, an elected president starting in 1958, survived 35 crises during 46 months in office. In the end a golpe got him out.

In the post-Frondizi period Onganía jumped to national prominence. A great controversy had raged in the armed forces over whether the country should have an elected government or a dictatorship.

Onganía argued for elected government, and finally in September 1962 led a revolt against the military high command. He won the support of President Jose Maria Guido, then running a caretaker government. From that time on he has been the country's No. 1 military figure.

Onganía is a professional soldier. He was born of middle-class parents in a small town in the Pampas. He entered military college in March 1931.

This correspondent and an AP colleague spent several hours with the general and his nominal chief, Gen. Ignacio Avelos, the secretary of war. Both have close associates among U.S. military men.

In essence their concept of the military role in Latin-American affairs is that military leaders are the final defenders of the constitution.

Onganía was asked: "Now that the country has a constitutional government, will the military back the government of Dr. Illia in any situation?"

"The army believes," Onganía said, "that everyone has his duty and his missions within the constitution: The armed forces, the president, the congress, and the judiciary."

"Our mission is that of security, internal and external, for the national defense. Any action by the president or the congress is no immediate concern of ours. The armed forces as the presidents' advisers on security matters at the highest level will give their opinion when it is requested."

"Of course, there are times that actions of the president or strong position. In the difficult days that lie ahead for Illia, when he is trying to balance the budget, check inflation and institute economic and political reform, the military high command can either support him against all opponents or remove him from power in a twinkling.

Onganía has impressed many U.S. observers here, including diplomats, as a man who genuinely wants the Illia government to succeed and is prepared to back it a long way. Though Onganía would not be specific, it is understood that two things the military leaders will not tolerate. They will not let Communists begin to gain power and they will not permit a return of Peronism.

TWU Head Says Rumors Are False

DENTON (AP)—Texas Woman's University president John A. Guinn has branded "all false" allegations that some students seek unnatural relationships at the all-girl institution.

Dr. Guinn confirmed Monday that a group of 10 students met with him recently because of what were described as unnatural relationships by some students at the college. He said all said an undesirable situation had existed ever since she enrolled at the university 2½ years ago.

Up home, the insurance company looks at your creased fender and says, "Okay, buy him a new one and we will sue the other guy, the city and Mickey Mantle."

The creased fender is tossed into the junk pile.

Down here it is the opposite. A street car plows into an auto but nobody would dream of suggesting a new vehicle for you. It is merely worked over until it looks new.

The reason I know about this is because a gentleman was edging the last inch out of a red light at the same moment I started on green. And the little Falcon wound up in a terrible mess that required major surgery while I pushed one of Mr. Hertz' autos over to Mazatlan.

Anyhow, I got back expecting the garage gentlemen to say well, they would get started on mine right away. A few years ago you would have your crumpled family bus carted off to a garage and every day you had to go in and do some agonizing.

Otherwise, they might think it was only a pile of spare parts and forget to iron it out. Now they have discovered unfinished jobs occupy space and space is money.

So naturally it came as a shock when the garage gentleman said, "All finished, señor. You may take it as soon as it is waxed and shining."

Let us join the metal smiths and study their operation. This sort of thing (belting metal) dates back centuries to when the Indians made all sorts of things of copper, gold or possibly pork and bean cans lying around the back yard.

You get clobbered at an intersection. The fenders look like rolled-up steves. You have a hood in several pieces smiths.

and the doors look like wings on a wrecked airplane.

First thing, the garage persons dismantle everything with a dent in it. The metal smiths then get out their tools and begin operating.

They weld the hood pieces together. Then get crazy looking files with handles on top and start smoothing. Then they pick out different types of hammers like a dentist selects his tools and begin tap, tap, tapping.

They will tap and weld and scrape and smooth until everything is in the correct shape.

The rolled-up fenders are unrolled and rips are hammered, welded, scraped, tapped and pretty soon they are fenders again.

You stand there inspecting things and for the life of you can't find what was wrong in the first place.

This type of operation would cost a zillion dollars up home due to the labor fees. A good fender unbender here gets about two dollars a day and probably has worked at such things since he was a child. The top men eventually set up a garage of their own and teach new kids how to work metal and that no scrap is thrown away.

And when I began inspecting the little Falcon, it looked like a brand new factory job. After the scraping and smoothing with emery discs, everything is bolted together and the painters get to work.

These metal boys have safecrackers' fingers and can detect flaws you can't see. The paint goes on like it was baked by mother. A crew of lads apply can of wax and rub for hours.

Everything is checked with scientific instruments so nothing is out of line and you wind up driving something that looks like a mirror. Until that sad day when you meet a person who figures he can cross an intersection as fast as the rays of a fading yellow light.

Then you continue your education watching the metal

Two Coaches Swap Praise

Coach John Briders of Baylor thinks Texas, his opponent this week, richly deserves its No. 1 national ranking and one of the big reasons is a great defense.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas doesn't quite agree with that analysis. He thinks the Longhorns are going to have to do some scoring in the last half if they expect to hold their rating.

Also, Royal didn't think his team's defense was quite so hot Saturday when Southern Methodist threatened repeatedly in the last half while Texas couldn't get an offense moving.

"I just don't know if we lack the killer instinct or what, but by not scoring in the second half we've had to sweat some half games we thought we had wrapped up," said Royal.

Besides, he added, he knew for sure that Texas would have to do some scoring in the last half to win against Baylor.

Bridders is trying to balance his attack so he won't have to depend on passing so heavily since he said Texas always gave Baylor the toughest pass rush.

Royal said he just hoped he could hold Baylor to 200 yards passing.

And so the jockeying went on as Baylor and Texas prepared for the big Southwest Conference showdown when the two undefeated teams clash at Austin Saturday.

Elsewhere in the conference the chief talk was over injuries.

Arkansas, which meets Rice at Houston Saturday, felt better about it when it learned that linebacker Gary Howard, who got a twisted ankle in the Texas A&M game, would be all right.

It sure was a break—had Arkansas lost Howard it would be plumb out of linebackers.

Rice was worried because it feared end John Sylvester might not be available. He broke two fingers in the game with Texas Tech last week.

Southern Methodist was cheered by the news that quarterback Danny Thomas, who got an injured hand in the Texas game, would be able to play Saturday when the Methodists go to College Station to meet Texas A&M.

Texas A&M also was pepped up with the return to fulltime duty of quarterback and punter Jim Keller. The Aggies got no injuries in the Arkansas game.

Texas Tech prepared for an interconference game with Kansas State, loser of six of its seven games thus far. Jim Ellis was promoted to No. 1 quarterback for what he did in the game with Rice, and there were no injuries.

Texas Christian goes to Baton Rouge to play Louisiana State and Coach Abe Martin moved to strengthen his team's pass-receiving, indicating he would like to throw some against the Tigers. He brought Larry Thomas up to the first team in place of Jim Fauver, who dropped some passes against Baylor.

No. 1 And 2 Vs. 2 And 1

DALLAS (AP) — The top offense goes against the top defense and the second best offense meets the second best defense Saturday as Baylor and Texas clash at Austin in the south west Conference's big game.

Which is to say that Texas and Baylor, who decide the lead in the conference race, dominate the statistics like a blanket.

Baylor has averaged 369.2 yards per game—235.0 of it on Don Trull's passing—to lead in total offense. It is 57.4 yards per game better than second place Texas.

Texas leads in defense by giving up just 136.6 yards per contest. This is 21.5 yards less than second place Baylor.

Tickets to the Snyder-Sweetwater football game scheduled for Friday night in Sweetwater were "moving like wild fire" this morning after a full day of brisk sales.

A total of 1,404 reserved seat tickets had been forwarded here for local fans.

By mid-morning today well over half of them had been gobbled up, and sales were continuing at a fast pace.

"We haven't had time to check up, but I know over half of them are gone, maybe 800," said Mrs. J. W. Headstream at the school administration building. "This phone has been ringing constantly and people have been coming in and taking them by fours and sixes," she said.

Once again local officials reminded at Friday night's game will begin at 7:30 p.m. The tickets list the starting time at 8 p.m., but District 3-AAA has a rule that all conference games start at 7:30 p.m.

With the exception of idle Alabama, all will be in action Saturday and Royal figures his top unbeaten, untied Texas is ranked Longhorns face a stiff test in Baylor, led by a top passing nation's No. 1 college football combination in quarterback team despite fears by Coach Don Trull and flanker Larry El Darrell Royal that the Longhorns may be battling "a complex about those zeroes in the second half."

Texas again drew an overwhelming vote Monday for the top spot in The Associated Press weekly poll, but Royal appeared apprehensive as he spoke in Austin, Tex., about Saturday's game against Baylor, tied with the Longhorns for the Southwest Conference lead.

As for the complex Royal mentioned, it's the fact that Texas has failed to score in the second half in their last three games—won by a total of only 13 points.

Despite the squeakers, Texas gained 45 of the 53 first-place votes of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters for 502 points. Illinois was second with 425 points. The Longhorns defeated SMU 17-12 last Saturday while the Illinois crushed Purdue 41-21.

The only major change in the Top Ten was Michigan State's arrival on the scene in the No. 9 spot after a 20-13 wallowing of Wisconsin. The Badgers, who had been ranked eighth, dropped from the list.

Mississippi held third, with Navy fourth and Auburn, the only other unbeaten, untied team on the list, in fifth place. Oklahoma was sixth followed by Alabama, Pittsburgh, Michigan State and Ohio State.

Eagles' McVea Sets Fast Pace

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Having a one-man team—if it's named Warren McVea—is drawing the fans but not winning football games.

It isn't McVea's fault. He is averaging better than 26 points per game and if his mates at San Antonio Brackenridge High School could just keep the opposition from scoring more the Eagles might defend their State Class AAAA championship.

A crowd of 25,000 jammed the stadium Saturday night to watch McVea run. He did just that but his 21 points couldn't put Brackenridge over and Corpus Christi Miller beat the Eagles 40-27. It was Brackenridge's second loss.

The news, however, was about McVea, who ran his scoring total to 185 points in seven games. He racked up 111 yards carrying the ball.

McVea has romped for 655 yards on 78 runs—an average of almost 11 yards per carry. He also has caught passes for 338 yards, thrown four for 174 and he even kicks the points after touchdown when he scores. He has booted 21 of those.

A dozen college scouts are following McVea. One of them said the boy (a 9.5 sprinter in track) was fast enough to outrun practically everybody and "he's strong enough in the legs to run through the arm tackles of the boys who don't get a good shot at him."

Brackenridge coach, Weldon Forren, who once had his troubles with the temperamental youngster, now calls McVea "a model player."

He termed Warren a "team leader, the type the boys respect."

Until midway of his junior year, McVea stayed in hot water with Forren and the Brackenridge coaching staff but his overnight metamorphosis into a mature player became the talk of the town Saturday at South Bend, Ind., in the state championship despite three earlier losses in non-district competition.

The 17-year-old Negro is a superb physical specimen. He is a couple of inches shy of six feet, has broad-shoulders, well-muscled arms and legs and a knack of hitting full speed from a standing start within a couple of strides.

Top Teams Hang On In Latest Poll

DALLAS (AP) — San Angelo, Dumas, Rockdale and Albany hang doggedly to their No. 1 ratings in Texas schoolboy football as the final month of the campaign dawns.

San Angelo headed Class AAAA, Dumas Class AAA, Rockdale Class AA and Albany Class I in the Dallas News poll but shuffling occurred at many other places.

There could be more still this week since the rated teams in many instances face tough foes in district battles.

In Class AAAA No. 7 San Antonio Lee meets No. 10 San Antonio Highland, a newcomer to the poll.

In Class A White Oak, No. 2 plays Hallsville, No. 4.

San Antonio Brackenridge, the defending champion of Class AAAA, finally fell out of the top 10 last week. The Eagles were beaten 40-27 by Corpus Christi Miller.

INTRODUCING THE DEPENDABLES FOR '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500. You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Well-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Shift-to-still carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point. With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our wallowing, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with. Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.

Trade Of Craig Was No Surprise

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "I have no surprise for you. You've been traded."
Those were the first words Roger Craig heard after Johnny Murphy, the long distance caller from New York, had been assured by the telephone operator he had reached his party.
"I know you will like the club you're going to," said Murphy, who serves as assistant to George Weiss, the New York Mets' president and general manager.
"The first clubs that came to my mind were the Dodgers, Cardinals, Giants and Yankees," Craig recalled as he told how he first learned of Monday's trade which sent him to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for outfielder George Altman and Bill Wakefield, a minor league pitcher.
"I knew I'd be traded," the veteran pitcher said when contacted by telephone at his home in Lakewood, Calif. "I was praying it wouldn't be to another second division club. I felt I suffered enough."
The two seasons he spent with the Mets must have been the most frustrating of Roger's life. He pitched well enough in each of those years to have been a 20-game winner with a contending club. But with the cellar-mired Mets, he was a 20-game loser both years. His combined 15-46 record was misleading. Nine of his 24 defeats last season were by shutouts, four by scores of 1-0.
"This deal should help me mentally as well as physically," said Craig, who will be 33 in March. "The Cards have been the toughest team in the league for me to beat."
Altman, a 30-year-old south-paw swinger, batted only .274 last season. The Cards had expected a great deal more from him after acquiring him from the Chicago Cubs last winter.
Craig was in 46 games last season, starting 36 and completing 14.

Injuries Hit Dallas Team

DALLAS (AP) — The injury bugaboo struck the Dallas Cowboys just as they broke their losing streak.

The 35-30 victory over Washington produced three injuries that will handicap the Cowboys the remainder of the season, especially Sunday when they play the 49ers in San Francisco.

Among those going out was Lee Roy Jordan, star rookie. Jordan, who may be lost for the season, has suffered a concussion of the knee and Coach Tom Landry said it might be found to be a rupture.

If so, Jordan will be out the rest of the campaign.

The others out with injuries and destined to miss the game at San Francisco are guard Joe Bob Isbell and tackle Jim Ray Smith, who have knee injuries.

While the line has been hurt, the backfield should be better with halfback Don Perkins now able to navigate again. Perkins is one of the top runners of the National Football League.

Mrs. Elliott Won't Attend Illinois-Michigan Contest

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The Pete Elliott residence is a white house with a red walk on Green street.

A frequent visitor is 70-year-old Mrs. Alice Elliott, who lives in Bloomington, 50 miles away. She is the mother of Pete Elliott, who was killed in a football game at Michigan. The son, Bump, is 38 is a year older—are the only head football coaching brothers in Big Ten history.

Their teams meet here Saturday. Illinois is unbeaten but once tied, sharing the Big Ten lead with Ohio State and Michigan State with a 3-0 record. Michigan is 1-2-1, its first conference victory coming as a 27-20 stunner over Northwestern last Saturday while Illinois was smashing Purdue 41-21.

"I'm not going to attend the game," says Mrs. Elliott. "I just couldn't win either way.

"I don't think they'll play to a tie, although that would solve my feelings. Some one will have to lose. I'll feel sorry for him. And I'll feel happy for the winner."

"I don't want to be there to show my emotions. I'll listen to it on my radio at home in Bloomington."

The team, sparkling Mrs. Elliott has seen the other three games between Pete's Illinois and Bump's Wolverines. Pete has lost all of them—6-7 in 1960, 38-46 in 1961 and 14-10 last year. The 1962 victory was the only one for Bump's Wolverines in Big Ten competition that season.

"All I can say about this one is that it's another tough, important game for the Illinois," says Pete, who knows a defeat would hurt chances of a title and Rose Bowl trip.

The coaches' father, Dr. Norman Elliott, died four years ago. He was an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist and also coached football at Illinois Wesleyan in Bloomington. He once served as line coach at Northwestern.

"I shudder to think of the day when teams coached by Pete and Bump meet on the gridiron," he said not long before death deprived him of such a game.

Bump and Pete pulled through high to a 1943 conference championship. Pete, the only 12-letter man in Michigan history, was quarterback and Bump was at right half on the undefeated 1947 Wolverines that walloped Southern California 49-0 in the Rose Bowl.

Many adventurous cooks and gardeners, in the country or city, enjoy fresh herbs from their gardens. It's a delight to pluck and sniff a leaf of rosemary, tarragon, parsley, or dill, to name a few.

Girls Seek Competition

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — More than 200 women from all 50 states gathered here Monday for the opening of a five-day conference aimed at bringing more American girls and women into athletic competition.

"We are seeking to increase the depth of experience and expand the opportunities for girls' and women's sports," said A. Gwendolyn Drew, national representative for the International Association of Physical Education and Sports for Women.

Miss Drew was keynote speaker at the opening general session of the National Institute on Girls Sports, first conference of its kind in this country.

The 200 women taking part in the conference are college and high school physical education instructors. Purpose of the institute is to provide them with knowledge and material on conducting similar institutes in their respective states.

Take Pick For Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Robertson or Wilt Chamberlain. Take your pick as to which one is the current scoring leader in the National Basketball Association.

Robertson, the Big O of the Cincinnati Royals, is listed as No. 1 in the weekly official NBA statistics released today on the basis of his 26 points in 19 games. However, it's the Big Dipper of the San Francisco Warriors who is on top if you prefer to list them according to per game averages. Chamberlain has scored 19 points in six games, but his average is 31.5 compared to 24.8 for Robertson.

This is how the top five looks, according to total points scored: 1. Robertson 246; 2. Bob Pettit, St. Louis, 222; 3. Jerry West, Los Angeles, 213; 4. Walt Belamy, Baltimore, 205; 5. Chamberlain, 189.

According to averages the top five would be 1. Chamberlain, 31.5; 2. West, 30.3; 3. Pettit, 27.8; 4. Belamy, 26.6; 5. Robertson, 24.8.

FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY...

Brace Yourselves; Tweter Is About To Sweep Nation

BY INEZ ROBB
If you saw, walking past your front yard, a figure with two heads, one trunk, three arms and four legs would you—

- (1) call the police?
- (2) call a psychiatrist?
- (3) call Alcoholics Anonymous?
- (4) or call it quits?

Well, sir, I probably would make the fourth choice. However, we must brace ourselves for such a phenomenon. Or should that read phenomena? Anyway, brace! Because I have a hunch that something called a "tweter" is about to sweep the nation, or at least its campuses.

A tweter, in case you don't know, is a single sweater-type garment designed for double occupancy. Literally, it is a two-in-one garment that advances the concept of togetherness into an entirely new field, that of clothing.

Let me see if I can paint a picture of this garment. It has one jumbo size body and two turtle necks, one for his and one for hers. I say one for his and one for hers because, obviously, the tweter is not only an advance in togetherness but is the revival of an even earlier American concept: bundling.

All right, if that is clear, let me advance a step further and suppose a going-steady couple is about to take off for a football game or a country walk. They stand close together, the boy on the right hand of his date. In the next operation—timing is everything. They pick up the tweter and, at a given signal, pull it on over their heads—a turtle neck for each.

His right arm, naturally, goes through the starboard of sleeve; just as naturally, her left arm goes through the port sleeve. This maneuver completed, she is left with a right arm, unaccounted for, and he with a left in similar position. However, the tweter provides for egress for both hands.

At approximately waist level at center-front there is a slit or hole in the tweter through which the young couple can thrust the inside hands. Since the opening is too small to offer much opportunity for movement, and the tweter is an awkward garment for golf, tennis, badminton, or bridge, the wearers are literally compelled to hold hands.

Hand-holding may have been the object of the tweter from the beginning, although when I was a campus type we managed that activity without the expenditure of $25 for a tweter-built-for-two.

The tweter is definitely a spectator-sports hug-me-tight. It takes two to tango, but not date. In the next operation—timing is everything. They pick up the tweter and, at a given signal, pull it on over their heads—a turtle neck for each.

At all odds, this will alert the nation to the double-headed sweater, worn by sloppy-time gal and her beau, as sweet a gruesome twosome as fashion is apt to produce this season. As the television commercial says, the tweter "doubles the pleasure, doubles the fun; doubles the date, gets two for the mon." It's the ultimate in the big, economy-size package.

Cary Grant Is Learning To Cook

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Cary Grant has decided to learn how to cook.

"Maybe if I learn how to cook, somebody'll marry me if I play my cards wrong," he said lightly.

"I once got a Boy Scout merit badge for cooking. But about all I remember now is that you have to cook things longer at a mountain altitude."

"If a man really goes into it, he makes a better cook than a woman. Take Danny Kaye—he's fantastic. My cook is rather jealous of his ability."

As a first step in acquiring culinary skill, Grant is having a modern electric kitchen installed in his hilltop home north of Beverly Hills.

The ageless movie actor, who recently completed his 61st starring film, was in a merry mood.

The evening before had been notable. The Theater Owners of America had presented Cary with their "Star of the Year" award. Two young ladies also had followed him into the men's washroom to kiss him—an impromptu award for which he had no prepared speech or ready ad lib.

Now, the morning after, as he dressed for a luncheon date, Cary pranced around his hotel suite as gay as a college sophomore.

As he went under the shower, he sang "Mother Machree" in a bathroom baritone that would never win him a Metropolitan Opera audition. He emerged a few moments later clad in a white towel.

Time is scattering more and more gray hairs on his head, but he still has the youthful build of a pro football halfback—lean, tanned and muscular.

Asked if he could touch his knuckles to the floor, Cary said he'd never tried, then bent easily down several times and knuckled the living room rug without strain.

"I don't take any regular exercise—I just move around," he said. "And I ride a lot. You can meditate well on a horse in a strict diet, but I really don't. I just try to please my stomach. I eat whatever I want whenever I want—but sometimes I go two days without eating at all."

As he completed his dressing chores, Cary gave tidbits of information about himself:

"I don't believe in luck. People make their own life by setting up their own problems."

"My biggest failing? Talking when I should be listening, I suppose."

Smiling and now faultlessly attired, he left for his luncheon date, looking as much like a matinee idol as he did 25 years ago—still charming and cheerful at 59.

Junior Editors Quiz on YAWNS

QUESTION: What really is a yawn?

ANSWER: Please don't fall asleep while we're explaining what a yawn is, as all the people in our picture seem to be doing. Although we don't really catch yawns as we might catch some illness, they certainly seem to pass from person to person. This is called suggestion; if we see another doing something, we often want to do it, too.

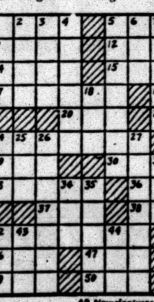

Scientists do not know the whole story about yawning; for example, they are not certain which section of the nervous system controls it. They tell us that it is an "involuntary reflex," that is, something you do without consciously meaning to. Once started, it's difficult to stop. You can close your mouth but the contraction of muscles goes on. The purpose of yawning is said to be to get more air into the lungs. It seems to be a warning signal that you need sleep, and also a safety measure to keep you awake until you can get the sleep you need. It is also thought that the stretching of muscles tends to awaken a person and make his blood circulate better. People cover their yawns with their hands because they know they don't look pretty when yawning.

FOR YOU TO DO: Experiment a bit with yawning. Start a yawn, then see if you can stop it once started. Try a yawn when other folks are around and see if they start yawning, too.

(Jacqueline Ripley of Travis Air Force Base, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set, too.)

Solons Practice Subtraction; Foreign Aid Cut Certain

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's like a gloomy class in arithmetic: subtract, add a little, subtract, subtract. This is the way Congress handles foreign aid, as it did in the past and is doing now.

One thing is sure: The President gets less than he asked. Hostility to the program grows yearly, in and out of Congress, as it has since it started in 1947.

Rockefeller To Announce On Sunday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is expected to formally declare Thursday that he is a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. Informed sources say only an unforeseen development could force him to postpone the announcement. But in case of postponement, an alternate date—probably Nov. 12—is being kept open.

Rockefeller's long-expected announcement will be made in Albany.

Rockefeller backers in New Hampshire announced Monday they would open a Rockefeller-for-president headquarters in Concord, the state's capital. Friday, New Hampshire will hold the first of 1964's presidential preference primaries March 10. Rockefeller is expected to enter it.

Well-posted sources said Thursday was chosen for the formal announcement of candidacy in the hope it would win prominence in newspapers and broadcasts.

It was pointed out, however, that if there were signs that public interest might be monopolized Thursday by national or international developments, the announcement could be postponed.

Livestock Survey Set

Rural mail carriers from the local post office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning Nov. 15.

"Information on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," explained Postmaster H. D. Moreland.

Rural carriers distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Moreland said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."

Carriers assisting in the survey include Warren Dodson, Route 1; Hilton Lambert, Route 3; and Joel Hamlett, Route 5.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions. Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio and television.

CROP Drive Nets $314.83

Snyder youth representing nine area churches took part in the annual "Trick or Treat for CROP" Saturday night, collecting contributions totaling $314.83.

The activity was sponsored by the Snyder Ministerial Alliance, represented by the Rev. Roy R. Havens, and the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce, represented by Ed- dy Piland.

Music for a "hootenanny" at the Grace Lutheran Church was furnished by a combo headed by James Hamblen. Refreshments were served by the Jaycee-ette to the large group of youngsters.

The money collected in the drive goes to the Christian Rural Overseas Program for much-needed relief in underprivileged countries and disaster areas.

Helium was discovered in the sun in 1868, almost 30 years before its presence on earth was detected.

It's worse now. The aid in 16 years has gone over $100 billion. Tactics and figures tell the mood and the story.

Last year President Kennedy asked almost $5 billion. The House, always quicker with the clippers than the Senate, cut it fiercely. The alarmed Senate voted more than the House although less than Kennedy requested.

Because the two houses differed, they had to reach a compromise. The result: Congress voted roughly $4.8 billion, or again roughly, $200 million below Kennedy's figure of almost $5 billion.

But—and this is an important point—this was only the starting point. This was just Congress voting its authorization on how much could be spent. It was the ceiling. Congress still hadn't voted a dime for spending.

It had to do this in the next step: its appropriation bill. Some more pulling and hauling between the two houses, another compromise, and finally Congress voted about $4 billion, or $1 billion less than Kennedy's figure.

This year the same problem but with complications because Kennedy meanwhile had appointed a committee of distinguished citizens, headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, to examine the whole foreign aid program and make recommendations.

Last January Kennedy asked $4.9 billion, or almost as much as the year before. But then the Clay committee came in with its report which seemed to suggest, although this all got confused, Kennedy could do with $4.4 billion.

One of the most constant critics of foreign aid in Congress met this suggestion with some derision. This was Rep. Otto Passman, D-La. He said the committee suggestion was "absolutely meaningless."

He observed that Congress cuts the President's foreign aid request an average of $1 billion each year "anyway."

Kennedy, repeatedly quick to compromise when he runs into a trouble in Congress, compromised. Bowing to the Clay proposal, he said that instead of asking $4.9 billion he would settle for $4.5 billion. The House got to work.

On Aug. 25 House Republicans and Southern Democrats made Passman a good prophet by voting only $3.5 billion, or $1 billion less than Kennedy asked.

Kennedy, as he has before when his own Democrats teamed up with Republicans to give him a drubbing, denounced the Republicans and called the House action "shortsighted, irresponsible, and dangerously partisan."

Even Clay came to his rescue and said such a cut could "badly damage the U.S. position in the free world."

This criticism, in view of what followed, may have taken some of the economy out of the Republicans although, besides some outright opposition, there is a chilling coldness in the Senate to foreign aid.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee rejected the House figure of $3.5 billion—the billion-dollar cut—and decided on $4.2 billion, which is $300 million less than Kennedy asked but $700 million more than the House thought right.

But then the committee's bill went to the full Senate floor where a fight has been going on for days to chop the committee's figure. Finally Democratic and Republican leaders got together and decided:

What the House approved was too little but what Kennedy and the Foreign Relations Committee suggested was too much. So the two parties leaders said foreign aid should be $3.8 billion. The fight goes on; the Senate hasn't voted.

If it votes more than the House, there will have to be the inevitable compromise. But, when all that's finished, this will still be just the authorization, or top-limit figure, for foreign aid.

Then the two houses will have to vote the actual money to be spent in an appropriation bill. And, like last year, it may be $1 billion less than Kennedy wants, which will mean even a smaller total than last year.

Uneasy Truce Prevails On Disputed Moroccan Border

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
Associated Press Staff Writer
FIGUIG, Morocco (AP)—An uneasy truce prevailed along the disputed Moroccan-Algerian frontier today after three days of heavy shelling at this Moroccan oasis.

Both Morocco and Algeria reported Monday that fighting had stopped along the entire Sahara front for the first time since the undeclared war over disputed mineral-rich territory.

Technology Expert Expected To Resign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jerome B. Wiesner, special assistant to President Kennedy for science and technology, is expected to resign this winter, the Washington Post said today.

The Post said Wiesner, 48, is expected to return to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He left a position of teacher and research director there to take the White House job in 1961.

at the Bamako conference to an OAU study of their territorial claims.

The Bamako conference also called for withdrawal of Moroccan forces from areas claimed by Algeria. However, the agreement did not spell out exactly what areas had to be evacuated, and there was no indication of any plans for withdrawal of Moroccan forces.

The Moroccan government appeared in Rabat for a quick meeting of the Organization of African Unity in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to consider the border dispute. Moroccan King Hassan II and Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella agreed to a truce.

Rep. Foreman Makes No Apologies

EL PASO (AP)—"I make no apology from what I said and I only want to clarify," Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., said Monday in reviewing an Oct. 29 squabble with Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex.

Foreman, of Odessa, referred specifically to a Washington story asserting that he called 20 congressmen "pinks."

"I am sure all 20 of these fine, dedicated and distinguished liberals actually, honestly and sincerely do love their country," he said.

"I am sure they vote for more government programs and bureaus and controls because they believe that a welfare state is best for America."

Foreman said another congressman tried to give him a verbal spanking for his statements.

"Yet no reference whatever was made," he said, "concerning the violation of the decorum of this house by the gentleman from San Antonio (Gonzalez) who, during a fit of anger, struck me with his fist."

Foreman said Gonzalez owes him an apology.
