Unrest And Disorder Spreads Throughout Near East

Outburst Of Race, Religious Hatred Follows Fighting

French Troops Are Sent To Protect Jews After Four Days Of Bloody Warfare Palestine And Damascus

Appeal For Peace

British Forces Rushing To Holy Land; Moslem Religious Head Urges Arabs To Stop Outbreaks

(By Associated Press) UNREST AND disorder is spreading through the Near East following four days of bloody fighting between Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

Outbursts of religious and racial hatred are reported in Trans-Jordan. Beirut stated French troops had been dispatched to protect Jews in Damascus. The rioting extends to all of Judea, part of Emek and Galilee.

Peace Possibility Seen. Possibility of cessation of warfare is seen in an appeal by the Grand Mufti, Moslem religious head, urging Arabs to stop the outbreaks. Airplanes patrol Jerusalem, and British troops continue to rush to the Holy Land.

Communications between Jaffa and Jerusalem are reported cut. The frontier toward the east has been closed to check advances of Arabs from Trans-Jordan.

Gretna Throwing Cause. The Moslem version is that the initial cause of the conflict was the throwing of a hand grenade at Moslems who were leaving the Mosque of Omar, of which the walling wall is an integral part.

The United States is giving close attention to the situation, both through its representatives in Palestine and by inquiries in London, where responsibility for order in the Holy Land is centered by virtue of Great Britain's mandate under the League of Nations.

Two Hundred Business Men, Farmers, And Agriculturists Gather In Annual Session On Tuesday

(Special To The Avalanche) BROWNFIELD, Aug. 27. (AP)—Approximately 200 county agents, farmers, business men and representatives from the A. & M. college extension service met in this city today for a Field Day program which occupied all of the day and part of the night.

The first farm to be visited at which demonstrations were held and results studied of deep planting was that of O. L. Berry, at Seagraves. It was found here that crops brought a better yield on land which had been broken 18 inches deep than on unbroken land.

The farm of W. H. Wharton, also near Seagraves, was visited and corn was contrasted grown on deep broken land and listed land.

Following the Seagraves visit, the chamber of commerce of that city, entertained the visitors with

Tragedy Mars Race

T. A. Wells, George Halsey Are Winners; Other Derbies On Way From Philadelphia, Oakland

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 27. (AP)—Two cross-country air derbies roared to a finish at the national air races today with T. A. Wells of Wichita, Kas., winning the dash from Portland, Ore., while George Halsey of Kansas City was declared victor in the race from Miami, Fla.

Two other derbies were still en route, one group spending the night at Syracuse, N. Y., in their race from Philadelphia by way of Boston, Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo, while the other group was quartered at Ft. Wayne, racing from Oakland, Cal., via Salt Lake City, Omaha, and Springfield, Ill.

Tragedy marred the Philadelphia Cleveland race today with the death of pilot D. J. Devereaux of New York, one of the racers, and Al Reiss, Devereaux's mechanic, who were killed when Devereaux's plane crashed at Boston. Mrs. Devereaux, a bride of three months, also a passenger was perhaps fatally injured.

The 50 mile speed race for women over the Cleveland airport Aerial Highway was awarded to Mrs. Keith Miller of Buffalo, N. Y., after Phoebe Omile of Moline, Ill., had been disqualified for crowding the plane of another contestant in banking.

Mrs. Miller's speed was 98.72 miles. A contest for airplane gliders was won by Elmer Westerlund of Jackson, Mich., who sailed a distance of 530 feet.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and two navy pilots showed eager air fans just what an airplane can do. The trio, flying as a combat unit, put their planes through virtually every pace known to pilots.

Huge Crowds Throng Large Tabernacle Here Tuesday Night For City-Wide Services; Slaton Honored

Huge crowds continue to throng the mammoth tabernacle of the city-wide revival being conducted by Dr. M. F. Ham, of Oklahoma City, at Texas Avenue and Sixteenth street. The subject of the evangelist last night was "Tests of Discipleship."

Dr. Ham brought out in his message the standards for a Christian as laid down by the Scriptures and declared that very few Christians were living up to these standards.

"A great majority of those professing membership in the church have not the requirements of Christianity and there are only a few who could really live up to the standards set by the Scriptures," declared Dr. Ham.

The meeting last night honored a large group of Slaton people and they were given special recognition by the speaker.

C. L. Wise Shot In Arm At Intersection Of Avenue G And Broadway About 10 O'Clock Yesterday

BILL DAVIS, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Davis, 306 Avenue O, Tuesday afternoon was released on $1,000 bond following the filing of charges of assault with intent to kill in connection with the shooting of C. L. Wise, of 302 Avenue N, in an altercation at the intersection of Broadway and Avenue O, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

Wise was shot with a .32-caliber pistol in his right arm, above the elbow, the bullet also searing a mark on his breast. The wounded man was taken to the Lubbock sanitarium in an automobile by V. C. Evans, 1223 Twenty-Fourth street, who drove by the scene shortly after its occurrence.

Many See Shooting. Young Davis was arrested by Chief Deputy O. B. Conley, while scores of persons crowded about the scene of shooting.

Intervention of S. A. Beard, 2602 Twenty-First street, and S. M. Delaney, 1914 Avenue F, probably saved Wise's life.

Scores of shoppers and persons going to and returning from the postoffice scattered in frenzied alarm as the first shot, which went wild, rang through the stillness of the early forenoon. The street was virtually cleared when the two men clashed following the first shot.

Beard, who was across the street, south of the service station owned by his son, rushed to the scene of the altercation, at the south side of the Hodges Brothers building, when the two men clashed. Wise was bleeding for help, said Beard. "I did not know the nature of the

Stores Will Open During Labor Day

Monday Is Not Included In Closing Agreement Made By Retail Merchants Association; Is Dollar Day

Lubbock stores will remain open all day Monday, Labor Day, September 2, according to an announcement from the local Retail Merchants Association yesterday.

Labor Day is not included in the closing agreement of the merchants of this city, there being only four such days throughout the entire year. These include July 4, November 11, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The attitude of local merchants did not favor such action on this date.

Monday also is Dollar Day throughout the city and Lubbock merchants consider it one of the best trade days of the week.

A parade will be staged through the streets of Lubbock on September 2 by labor unions of this city, according to an announcement Monday night.

Four hundred to five hundred union craftsmen will be in the parade which is expected to be the biggest of its kind ever staged on the South Plains.

County and City officials and units of the National Guard will have parts in the parade, and the craftsmen, in special uniform, will form their line of march on Avenue F, between Broadway and Sixteenth streets at 8:15 o'clock next Monday morning.

Following the parade most of the union men will go to Johnston's ranch to spend the balance of the holiday.

Giant Airliner Soars Over Levelland At 12 O'Clock Last Night

ACCORDING to telephonic advices to The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin, soaring high in the sky and with motors humming perfectly, passed over Abernathy, eighteen miles north of here shortly after midnight last night. Previous reports stated that the ship roared over Levelland, thirty miles west of here, at 11:55 o'clock last night.

The Zep was near Childress shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, apparently enroute toward Oklahoma City, according to a special Associated Press message received here.

Heads Russian Army On Border

Command of the Russian armies along the menacing Manchurian border, where war with the Chinese is impending, has been given to General Vassil Blucher, above.

At El Paso, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the world-grinding airliner, announced that he would take the southern route by way of Fort Worth and from there to Little Rock, Ark. The huge ship followed this route as far as Loving, N. M., Odessa and Wink, Texas, according to Associated Press dispatches received here. The Zeppelin then diverted its course to the north, next being seen over Tatam, N. M., and then at Levelland. The route apparently was changed due to reports of storms to the east.

False rumors circulating about Lubbock last night caused several announcements to be made that the Zep would be here. At that time it was near Wink. Following the announcements The Morning Avalanche was a veritable hot bed of enthusiasm. Scores of townspeople swarmed about until an early hour this morning and the telephone rang continuously throughout the night, with both local and out-of-town people seeking information about the famed Zeppelin.

The longest call recorded was one from the National Radio News, of New York City. Others were received from Roswell, N. M., Plainview, Amarillo, Slaton, Big Spring, Hale Center and other South Plains towns.

EL PASO, Aug. 27. (AP)—Riding high above the rugged mountains on a country between El Paso and Sierra Blanca the dirigible Graf Zeppelin roared along early tonight in its flight from Los Angeles to Lakehurst, N. J.

At Sierra Blanca, 90 miles from here, the gradually rising terrain leaps to an elevation of approximately 4,500 feet. Thereafter, the way becomes rapidly smooth and

Fifty Farmers At Annual Field Day Meeting Tuesday

ANNUAL Field Day sessions held at the state experiment farm, three miles east of Lubbock were attended for the first day's meeting yesterday by approximately fifty farmers and county agents of Lamb, Crosby, Hale and Bailey counties.

The afternoon's program was taken up with a general round table discussion, presided over by D. L. Jones, superintendent of the station, at which time general problems of the farmer were discussed and ways of relief proffered. Every farmer present was asked to put forth questions and they would be taken up and discussed.

Station Inspected. The afternoon's session followed a busy morning during which time a visit was made over the majority of the station. The various types of crops, including cotton, sorghums, kaffir and others were pointed out and discussed by Mr. Jones. Several varieties of plants were inspected and statistics given over to show the results obtained from each in the South Plains county. Experiments were analyzed by Mr. Jones and explained at length to the visiting farm men.

Following the morning inspection trip lunch was served at the station headquarters by a committee under W. W. Ritt from the Lubbock chamber of commerce, cooperating with Mr. Jones.

Is Annual Affair. "This meeting, an annual affair, gives the farmers of the South Plains a chance to see first hand the results of our experiments instead of studying them from book-lets," said Mr. Jones. "We feel that it accomplishes something for the good of all and each occasion has proved successful."

Today's meeting will be for Garza, Dawson and Lynn counties. Thursday for Lubbock county and Friday, Terry, Gaines and Hockley counties.

How to Achieve Beauty

With a little study and ordinary intelligence, any woman can learn to analyze her own skin. There are four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the normal and the combination skin.

The dry skin is usually thin and sensitive. When it is cared for correctly, it is the most beautiful of all skins—so fine pored and transparent! Neglected, it becomes scaly and chapped and cracks into lines and wrinkles. Thorough cleanliness is, of course, the first essential in skin care, but the dry skin cannot stand frequent washing. To wash the dry skin frequently with soap and water is to wash away what little natural oil it has and make the skin drier than ever. If yours is a dry skin, select a pure cleansing cream—one which will penetrate the depths of the pores and bring out all dust and impurities, leaving the skin free to breathe—and a cream which will, at the same time, lubricate the skin, keeping it soft and supple. Once or twice a week wash with warm water and a specially prepared washing preparation, to keep the skin clear and transparent. The dry skin, of course, needs nourishment—rich creams to feed the starved tissue and replenish those natural youthifying oils which exposure and nervous energy have robbed from it.

The oily skin should be washed at first once or even twice a day and subsequently three or four times per week with warm water and a washing preparation, compounded especially for the oily skin, for the problem here is to cut the excess oil and regulate the oil glands so that they may function normally—supplying just enough oil to nourish and lubricate the skin. The oily skin is usually sluggish and frequently inclined to large pores and blackheads. It needs stimulation! Each cell and pore must be made to work—must be whipped into activity. It will need to, a good astringent to close the pores and refine the texture.

The combination skin is a temperamental skin!—and at first its care seems complicated. But it really is a very simple matter. Each part should be considered separately and treated accordingly. Around the eyes the cheeks and forehead where the skin is dry, treat it exactly as you would a dry skin—cleaning with cream and nourishing with rich skin-foods. Where oil abounds on the chin and nose, wash frequently, stimulate daily and use your astringent regularly.

The woman with a perfectly normal skin is indeed fortunate! And with correct daily care its beauty can be enhanced and preserved throughout the year. Alternate washing with cold cream cleansing. A good rule is to wash the face in the morning, using warm water and a special washing preparation. Cleanse with cream at night. Stimulate daily to keep the blood flowing briskly and each tiny cell working actively.

These, then, are the four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the combination and the normal. Once you have determined which type your skin is, it is a simple matter to select the correct preparations.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson and family and Miss Rachel Jackson have returned from a trip through the west, including the Grand Canyon, California, Salt Lake City, Colorado and other points.

Funeral Services Held Tuesday For Dr. O. H. Westlake

Pioneer Physician Called By Death Monday Night; Had Been In Lubbock For Past Twenty-Three Years

Funeral services for Dr. Orville H. Westlake, 86, pioneer physician of this city, were held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Waters, 1621 Broadway. Services were conducted by Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which the deceased had been a member for several years prior to his death Monday night at 9:30 o'clock. Burial was in the Lubbock cemetery.

Dr. Westlake was born June 2, 1843, in Detroit, Mich., but he came to the South while a young man and attended school in New Orleans. He fought for the South during the Civil War and was so proud of his part in that conflict that he carried memories of it to his death bed.

Was Here 23 Years. Following the Civil War Dr. Westlake came to Texas and lived at various towns, Nocona, Sanger and other towns before he settled at Ranger. Later he drifted westward and during the last 23 years he had been in Lubbock. Until a few years ago he had an active practice here as a physician and until his last illness a few of his patients continued to come to him for ministry. Surviving Dr. Westlake are his widow, Mrs. Jennie Westlake, 83, who was at his bedside at the time of his death, and his daughter, Mrs. H. O. Waters, and family; Royce Waters, of Corpus Christi; Miss Willette Waters of this city; and Mrs. Jack McLarty of Midland. Mrs. McLarty was called to Lubbock several days ago by her grandfather's illness and was here with her baby at the time of his death.

New Organization Boosts Good Road And Civic Project

Southeast And West Texas Association Holds Meet At San Antonio To Form Plan Of Action

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 27. (AP)—Dedicated to good roads and civic problems, the recently organized Southeast and West Texas association met here today to draft a plan of action.

Mayor Walter E. Monteigh of Houston has been acting president since the organization meeting in Galveston a few weeks ago. Charles M. Tobin of San Antonio, brother of the late Mayor John W. Tobin, is acting secretary. Mayor C. M. Chambers of San Antonio is one of the prime movers.

The organization is unique in that it is working independently of regional chambers of commerce, and its membership is made up of city and county officials of that territory extending from Orange west to El Paso and some 150 miles or more wide.

The object as tentatively drawn was to conduct a campaign to get from the state highway commission and other governmental agencies this region's share of highways and other permanent improvements.

Mayor Monteigh said the association had no political connections. "Our primary object is to bring about a closer relationship between the county and municipal officials for the development of this great section represented by membership in our organization," he said. "We merely want to pull together and work in harmony to build up our respective communities, realizing that what helps one helps the other."

He said highways, especially improvement of the Old Spanish Trail, from Orange to El Paso would be first to receive attention.

A PICNIC on CONOCO!

Extra miles paid for everything at this party.

PERHAPS you have been accepting the extra miles that are packed into Conoco gasoline as a matter of course. You expect an organization with such facilities and resources as those of the Continental Oil Company to produce a motor fuel of highest efficiency and greatest economy. And you have never been disappointed! But have you ever figured in a concrete way just what you could buy with the savings which Conoco's extra miles bring to you... Last week's picnic, for instance... Did it occur to you that, after all, you were having that party on Conoco... That the extra miles you have been getting from Conoco all summer really paid the picnic bills? Prove this for yourself. Note your speedometer reading the next time you fill with Conoco... Then keep an accurate record of your miles per gallon. That will be convincing evidence of the economy which comes from using Conoco. Get extra mileage for your gasoline dollar at the Conoco sign.

Home Demonstration Club Of Slaton To Sell Home Products And Produce On Every Week-End

The City Line Club Market, to be operated by the City Line Home Demonstration club of Slaton, will begin a regular Saturday marketing plan September 14, according to an announcement yesterday by Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent and organizer of the club.

"The market will continue each Saturday throughout the winter months, or as long as it seems profitable," said Miss Baird. "The aim of the market is to sell produce and home products directly to the consumer through a central selling point and thereby increase profits."

To Stamp Products. "The present plan is to stamp those products which measure up to definite standards as to quality with a special stamp. These products will be on sale each Saturday. Other products which can be sold only in a limited quantity will not be stamped but will measure up to standard quality. Any home demonstration club member in the county will be able to sell through this market by signing the market agreement adopted by the City Line club."

Here 20 Years L. H. Simpson Tells Of City Growth

L. H. Simpson, city fire marshal, 20 years ago at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon arrived in this city from Plainview to make his home. Lubbock at that time was a town of less than 1,000 population and was experiencing a slight growth through advantages offered by recent connection of the steel trail.

At that time Mr. Simpson was in the transfer and dray business, coming to the South Plains from Hamilton county. Mr. Simpson is now 51 years old, and he predicts that Lubbock will experience a greater growth in the next score of years than the city recorded during his 20 years citizenship.

Police and traffic officers will be stationed each night at the cooperative revival tabernacle at Texas avenue and Sixteenth street and the Harley Sadler show tent on North Avenue G to protect automobiles against pilferers and to facilitate safe traffic due to the vast number of persons attending these two attractions, according to an announcement yesterday by Chief of Police John Lemond. "There will be from one to two men stationed at each location," said Chief Lemond. "We want the public to be cautious and considerate with reference to parking."

Legion Asked To Aid In Criminal And Prison Plan

Governor Moody Urges Support Of Organization And Auxiliary In Port Arthur Joint Convention

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 27. (AP)—Gov. Dan Moody today asked the American legion and the auxiliary assembled in joint session in his honor—to meet their share of the responsibility of the state of Texas to its criminals and insane.

The governor, speaking almost immediately after a special reception committee had conducted him from Beaumont, was interrupted several times by applause.

Prison Reform Stressed. Prison reform, one of the governor's most cherished principles, came in for the major share of the discussion.

Texas' penitentiary system has been used as a sort of hobby-horse on which to ride people into office and ride them out again," the governor said.

Present System Shows. He painted a full-sized picture of the present prison system, describing the prison properties as overcrowded, spreading points for disease and without opportunities for reformation and segregation. He called the system "Siberian" and said Texas was 25 years behind the times.

Referring to the question of convict labor, the governor said the prisoners now were in competition with the most under-privileged class of laborer, the farmer, and asserted he was in favor of the penal institutions producing state-used products.

Recommendation Approved. The convention approved the recommendation of its grievance committee that the registration restrictions be tightened. The purpose of the additional restriction is to weed out the "undestrables" who sometimes are able to pose as legionnaires.

The resolutions committee recommended in the future the peace officers of a convention city be asked to enforce the law without fear or favor. This resolution was the outgrowth of "rowdism" which frequently prevailed, the committee stated, at a convention both among the former service men and the hangers-on.

AIR SERVICE PLANNED Route Will Be To City Of Guatemala From U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—Air mail service from the United States to Guatemala City three times weekly beginning September 2 has been announced by the postoffice department.

The service will be from Brownsville, Texas, via Vera Cruz, San Gerónimo and Tapachula.

Postage will be 15 cents a half ounce plus the United States air mail fee. The Guatemalan government is negotiating with a contractor for the carrying of the air mail from that country to the United States.

Reduction of the present daily Brownsville-Mexico City service to four times weekly will go into effect September 2, when the Mexico City mail will be handled by the new Guatemalan service and sent by train from Vera Cruz to the Mexican capital.

CORN CROP SUFFERING

REPORTS ARE DENIED Claim Rum Smuggling By Planes Untrue

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—Reports in Canada that a dozen airports scattered along the Canadian side of the border were bases for smuggling liquor into the United States were discounted today by Assistant Secretary Lowman.

"We have had reports in the last year that two or three airplanes have been used to smuggle liquor into the United States from Canada," Lowman said, "but investigation resulted in no proof of the reports except in one case along the northern border where our men captured a plane loaded with liquor."

Will Show Public Reason For Tariff

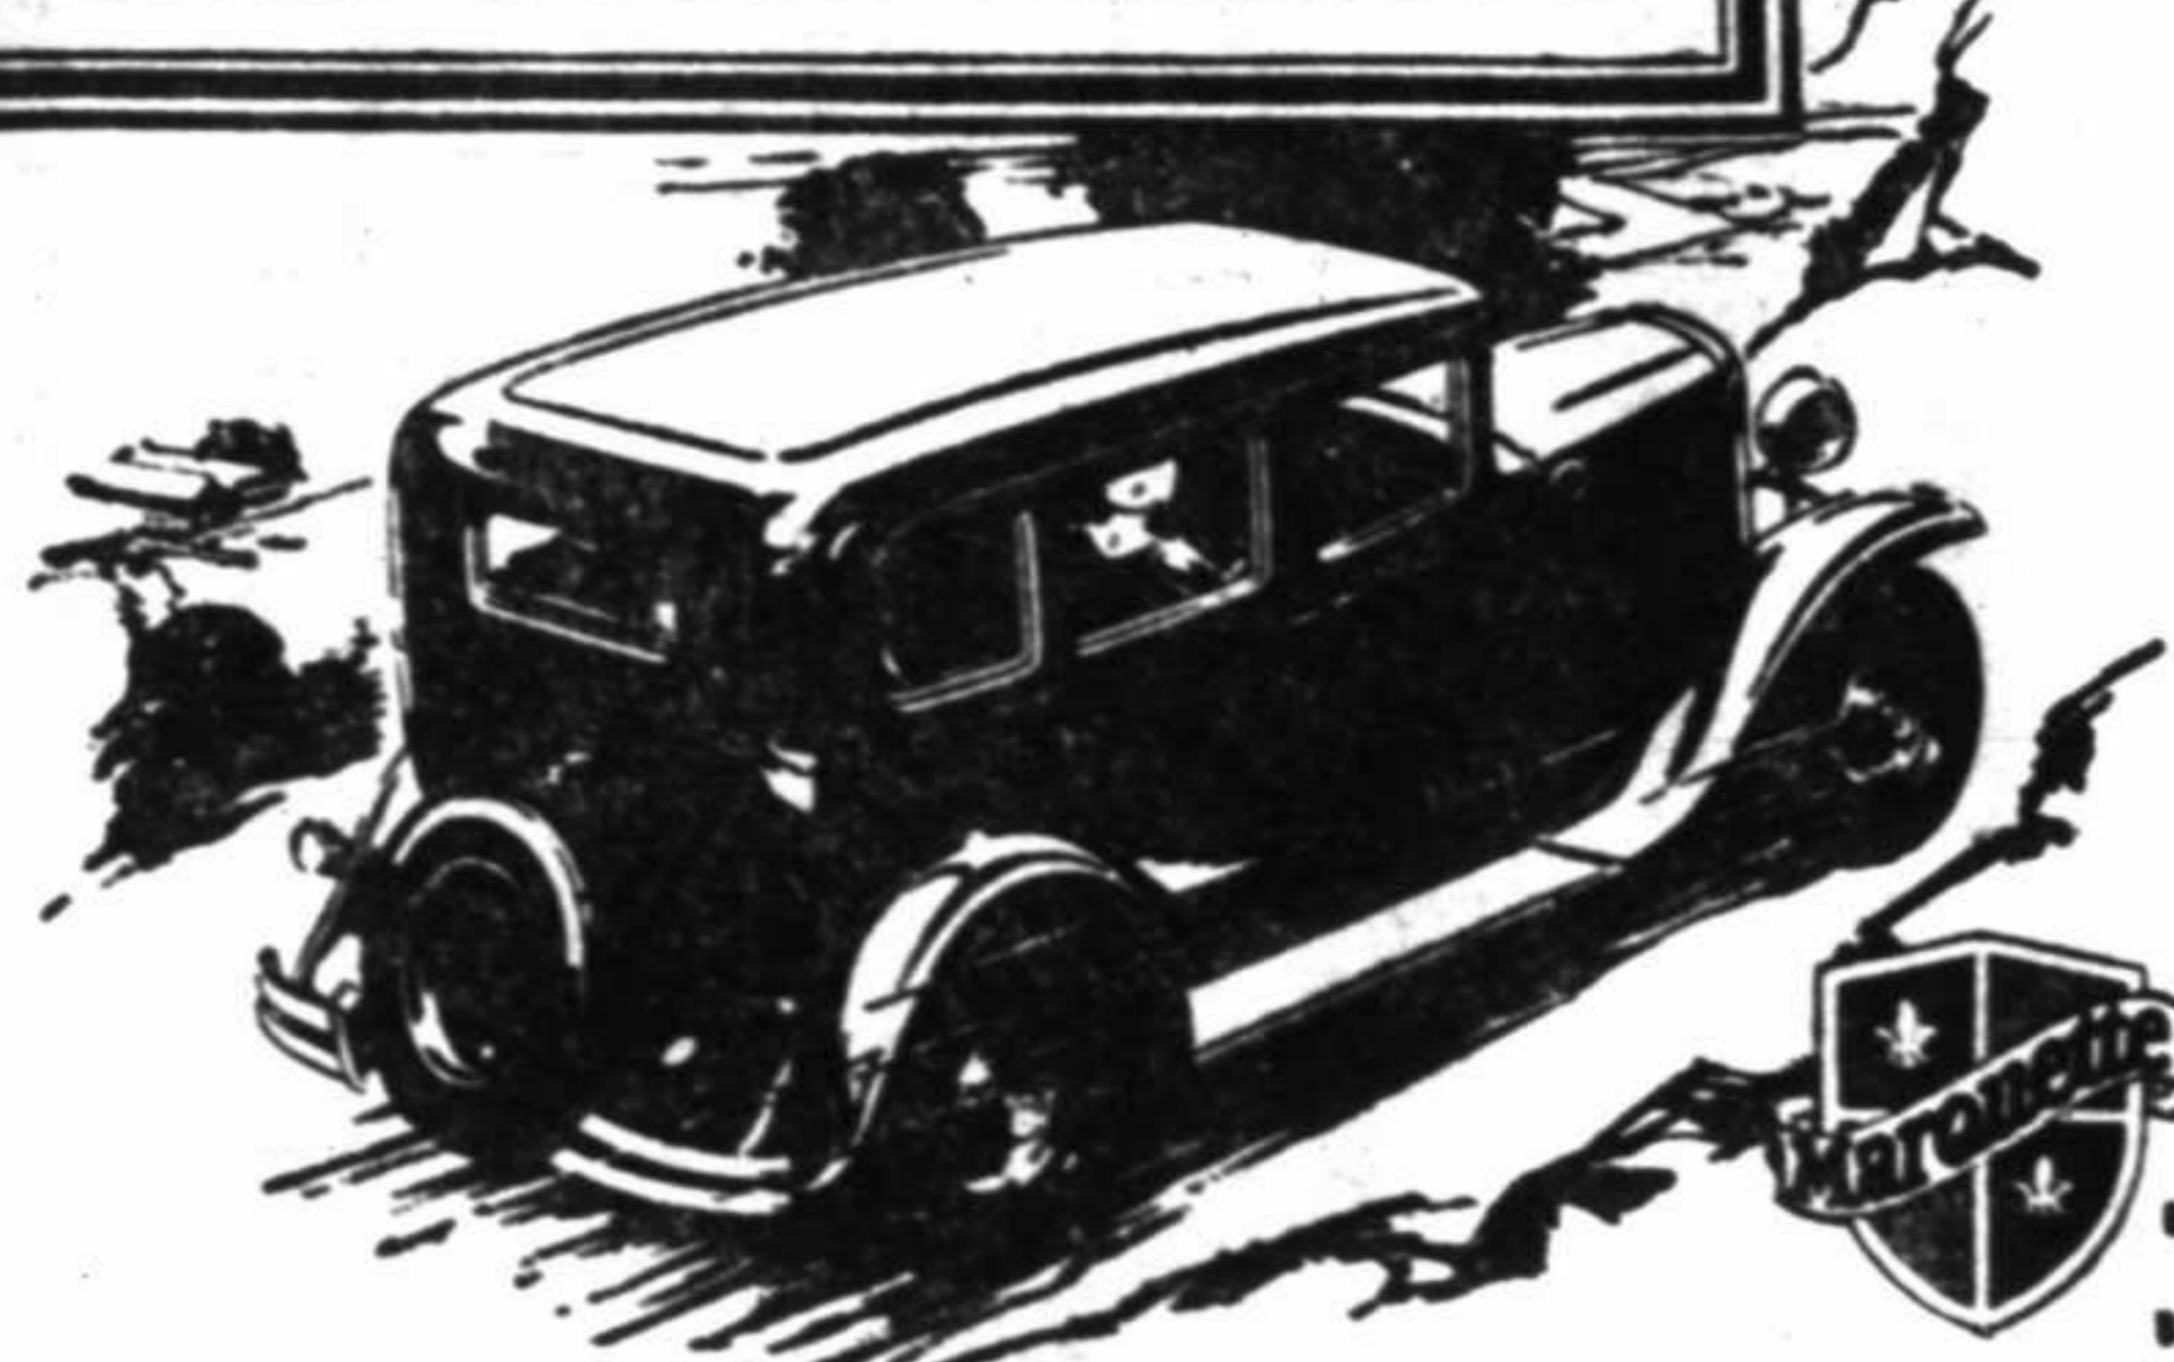

Rewritten Version Of House Tariff Bill Is To Be Announced By Senate Finance Republicans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—In the face of an increasingly intensive preliminary democratic attack, the senate finance committee republicans responsible for the rewritten version of the house tariff bill are preparing to lay the entire measure and the reasons for the changes they are sponsoring before the public.

The text of the bill will be made public tomorrow by Chairman Smoot, and a tentative draft of the majority report to be submitted to the senate next week will be released Thursday or Friday. Whether a special effort to answer the most recent democratic attacks will be made at that time has not been indicated.

One of those attacks, published today, came from the democratic national committee in a statement charging "the iniquitous character of the bill remains unchanged though some of its features have been altered" by the finance committee majority. Describing the rewritten measure as "intended to make a soft bed for the administration to fall upon," it said: "Defense of the pending bill on the ground that the finance committee has removed the curse from the Hawley bill, as it passed the house, is a transparent subterfuge."

GREAT BRITAIN NOT AS INTERESTED IN NAVAL REDUCTION AS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Ramsay MacDonald & Co. are not as much interested in naval reduction as Washington had expected they would be.

At first the Washington administration had high hopes of Premier MacDonald's labor government in London.

While the Tories, under Stanley Baldwin's premiership, remained at the English helm, it was recognized that little real progress could be made toward warship curtailment.

Accordingly the White House let out a 40-horsepower trumpet blast for a big armament cut directly following Mr. MacDonald's installation in office.

The theory was that this would evoke unbounded enthusiasm on both sides of the pond and the program would go through with a whoop and a shout.

Instantly thereafter Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden burst into an entirely different tune with German reparations as its motif.

In this busy country there are lots of things people would rather do than build cruisers.

To the already largely unemployed Britons a let-up in naval construction evidently suggests still less work to keep them alive.

Perhaps Premier MacDonald himself overestimated its strength among his countrymen.

At the time he was talking of visiting Washington to talk the subject over with President Hoover, he must have thought it had considerable vitality.

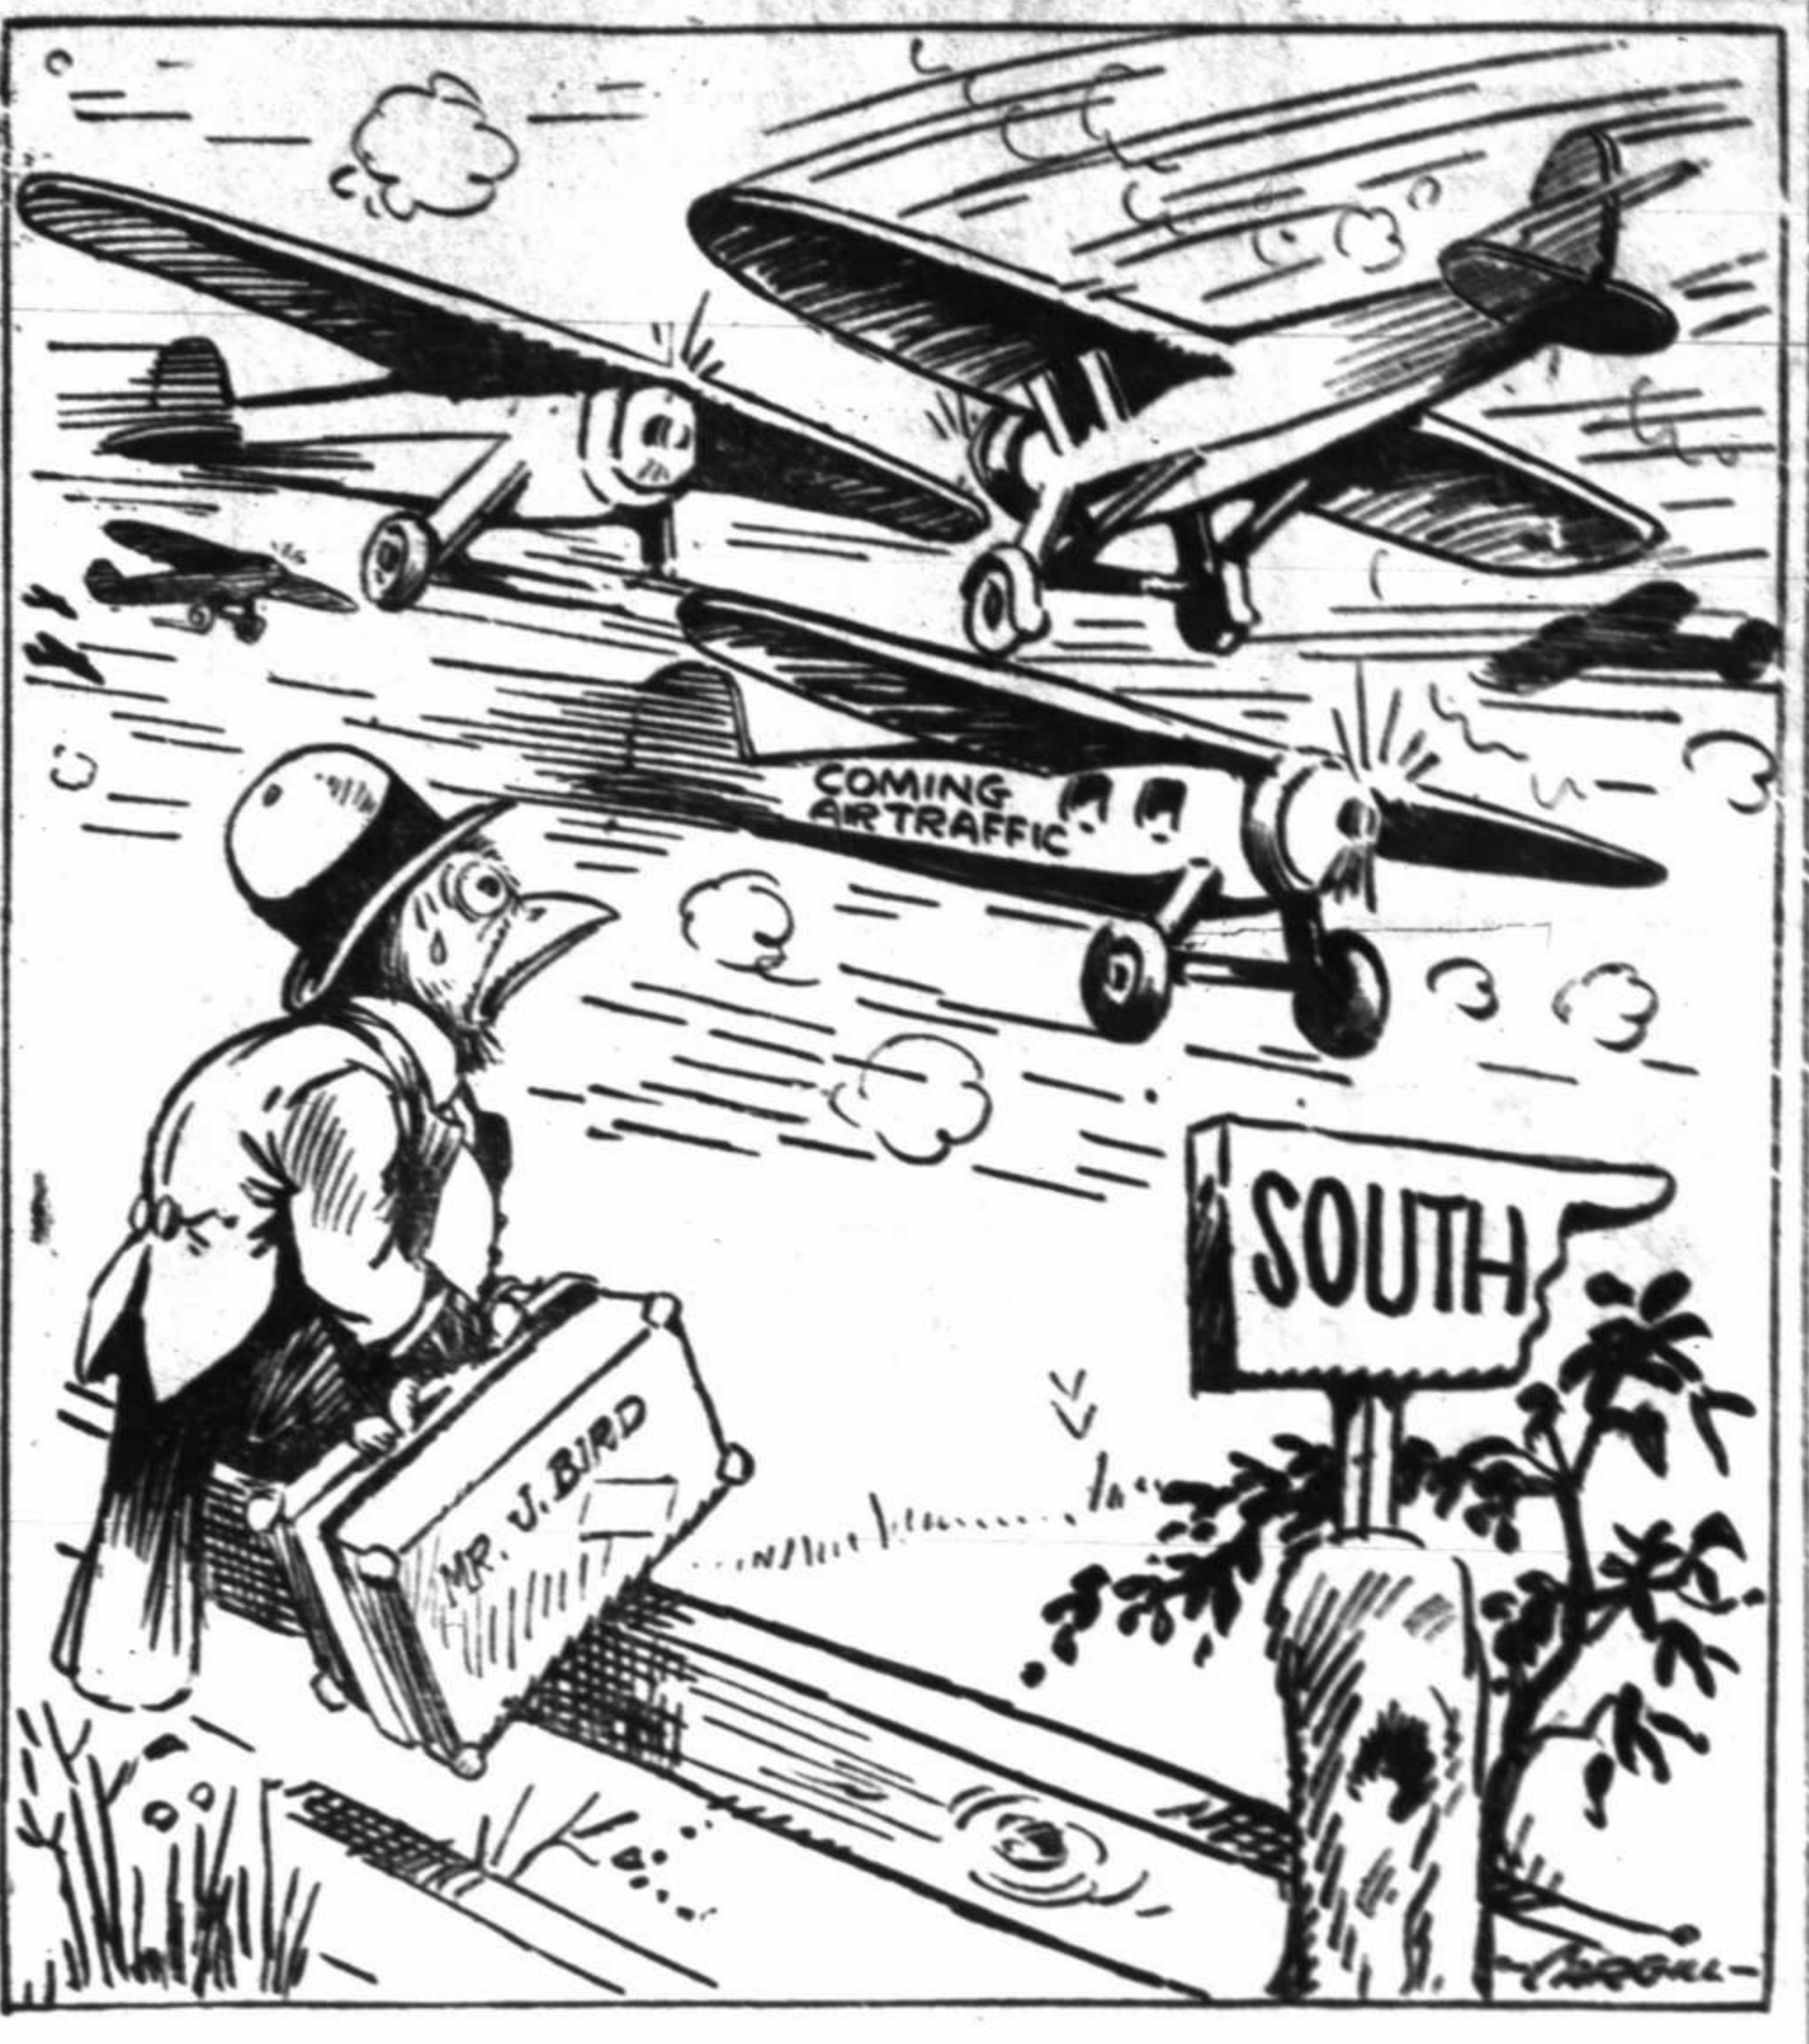

Simmered down to spot cash it hardly seems as if that amounted to much, either—an item of less than a dozen million dollars a year—not a very formidable sum for a country like England.

Anyhow, it falls to him at the red hot arms curtailment fever which Washington had taken for granted in the British side if it had existed, attention could scarcely have been distracted from it so easily.

Plenty of personal credit is given to Premier MacDonald as an exceptionally fair-minded Briton.

When it comes to naval negotiations with the British, however, the impression is unusually strong in Washington just now that allowances will have to be made for the ingrained prejudices of the original John Bull, under any premier, for a long while to come.

MONTENEGRO KINGDOM

Nineteen years ago today, on Aug. 28, 1910, Montenegro was proclaimed an independent kingdom.

Montenegro belonged in the middle ages to the great Serbian kingdom. In 1710 the Montenegrins sought and obtained the protection of Russia.

These restrictions were abolished in 1908 and Montenegro was proclaimed a kingdom two years later.

VERS LA VIE

The staine of Victor Rousseau in The Palais des Beaux Arts, Brussels.

Angels, hadst thou betrayed me! Long ago In the Forgotten Land of souls that wait,

Of earthward-rushing spirits, faint to know What are humanity and human fate

Of which the rumor reached to where we sat In our cool, hidden, dreamless anti-glow.

But I learned not, and am bewildered here To know why thou with seeming-kindly hands Didst let me forth, explorer of a star

Where all is strange, and very often Urges retreat to that Forgotten Unthoughtful shores where thou and Silence are! — Arthur Upson (1877-1908)

BURNED BY BLAST

GEORGETOWN, Aug. 27.—Walter Birch, 20, was burned perhaps fatally, today in a gasoline explosion while starting an engine to pump water on an irrigated farm five miles north of here on Berry's creek. The explosion threw burning gasoline over Birch, and although within a few feet of a water hole he fled in the opposite direction. He was brought to a hospital here.

MOTHER AND FOUR CHILDREN TAKEN TO AUSTIN

The TRAINING TALENT

By ELEANOR EARLY

"THIS HAS HAPPENED MOLLY BURNHAM, lovely playwright, had an old sweetheart, JACK WELLS. But Jack has sailed for Italy with a middle-aged mistress named MRS. BURNHAM."

Then along comes BOB NEWTON, with a proposal. Bob is a widower. His first wife was RITA MELNOTTE, with whom Molly roomed at college. After Rita's death, Molly took her baby. And now she loves the child as if it were her own.

With her hands on his chest, Molly held him from her. "Go on, Bob," she commanded. "I'd like to know exactly what you're driving at."

"You're different from most girls," he flattered. "You've got more sense. That's what experience does give a woman sense. As I was saying—if you'd been an innocent little kid, Red Flynn would have given you a thrill you'd have thought he was the only man. But you know better than that. You know enough to discount this thrill business. I don't mean that I think you're anything but the straightest girl that ever lived. If I didn't know that, I wouldn't ask you to marry me. I'm only trying to say... well, you know what it's all about. Molly, you're not an ingenue model, if you know what I mean."

"No," she conceded. "I'm no ingenue. Go on."

"Bob cleared his throat with evident embarrassment. "I know I don't give you much of a kick," he admitted. "No, you don't."

"But that doesn't make any difference," he insisted. "When a girl marries, it's because the man has something she wants. You know, as well as I do, the transitoriness of passionate love. You know it's not worth building on don't you? I may not have any particular physical attraction for you. But I have something infinitely more important. I have Rita."

"Molly stepped back. "You're not trying to bribe me with Rita, are you?" she asked. "Why, yes," he admitted. "I suppose I am—if you want to put it like that. You see, I know that you don't love me, Molly. I have to advance some reason to argue my plea."

"But it ghastry to talk of marriage without love," she protested. "No," he contradicted calmly. "I don't think it is. There's a chap named Collins—a doctor—who has written some pretty sensible things about love. He says it's a sort of disease, that lasts about two years. Now, you've seen a lot of life, Molly. What's the use of looking for romantic love, when you know it won't last?"

"I don't know anything of the kind," she contradicted indignantly. "I'm an incurable romanticist."

"Crying eternally for love. I suppose? No, you can't make me believe that, Molly. Some of us are that way, I know. But you're different."

"I'm not!" she flashed. "I shall never be loved enough for my happiness."

"But I love you!" he cried. "Molly, I'm crazy about you! I'll love you, dear, I swear it!"

"But you're not romantic, Bob—not really. You make beautiful grand protestations. But you're not a bit of a sweetheart. You'd never do all the silly, sweet things I'd adore. Why, you'd simply laugh at my adolescent burnings."

"What kind of notions?" he demanded. "What do you mean?"

"Silly things," she flattered. "I'd love a husband who'd write me love notes every day, and pick me nose-pieces. And buy me things like lollipops and peanuts, because I like them so. And play the guitar nights and sing me love songs. And kiss me before and after every meal."

"That sounds like a doctor's prescription." "I know," she confessed. "It's awfully silly. But there you are! That's the sort of a husband I want. I tell you I'm a born realist. You didn't know that, did you? You never guessed I was one of those dreadful sentimentalists who go round simply screaming for love."

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Can a man take fire in his bosom, and his clothes not be burned? Can one go upon hot coals, and his feet not be burned?—Proverbs, vi, 27.

WERE AIRMINDED, ANY WAY

"THE practical age of aviation," writes a newspaper-wise-cracker, "will be here when people lose interest in stunt flights."

Before Der Graf Zeppelin left Los Angeles the telephones in the Avalanche-Journal editorial offices began an incessant ringing—a ringing which continued throughout two days and part of two nights—

"I'm surprised in West Texas," an eastern newspaperman told the editor of The Morning Avalanche last yesterday, "I had no idea you folks were as far along in aviation as you are."

"In Amarillo Sunday morning I was breakfasting in a hotel when my attention was arrested by a man I thought at first was a train caller. To my surprise he was shouting 'Westbound Western Express plane arrives at Municipal airport at ten o'clock—Albuquerque and Los Angeles! Eastbound Western Express arrives at four o'clock—passengers for Wynoka, Kansas City and points North and East!' To my surprise no one seemed to give the matter a single second thought. They took it as a matter of course."

West Texas people are progressive people. That fact is reflected in everything they do. And you may rest assured that they will embrace commercial aviation at their earliest opportunity even if, as the paragrapher quoted above believes, interest in stunt flights may fall by the wayside.

A HOPE TO END WAR

The French government has granted the Luft-Hansa Company Germany's leading aviation organization, permission to fly its planes over Fort Chabour, near the principal airport of France in order to speed up delivery of mail between Germany and the United States. The mail bags will be dropped on the deck of the Bremen. Germany's record-breaking trans-Atlantic liner.

France's action is commendable because it indicates less of the distrust and suspicion that have marked relations between France and Germany since the Franco-Prussian war in 1870.

But at the same time will there be much necessity for any nation guarding the secrets of its forts if another big war should come? Will not those forts which helped stem the German advance into France in 1914 be as obsolete as the cannon of Civil War days?

If that is so, should one death rain from the skies and what good will a few forts be? The long-range cannon that bombarded Paris during the World war amazed the entire world, but since then aviation with non-stop flights for planes of more than 4,000 miles and for dirigibles of more than 6,000 miles has made the "Big Bertha" appear as a puny weapon of war.

The war cannot be confined to combatant armies. It is certain that the death toll of civilians—children, women and helpless old men—will be terrible.

For these reasons the statesmen and peoples of the world should do everything possible to prevent such a conflict. Anything looking toward that end must be encouraged fervently. The people of the world do not want war and their representatives in international councils must truly represent them.

CHARACTER AND POSTURE

William H. Blake, instructor in educational dramatics at Columbia University would have us believe that posture is an almost inflexible index to character. "I can point out a person's salient characteristics," he says, "simply by the way he holds himself, the way he distributes his weight and the way he uses his arms and legs."

Your Health

CARBON DIOXIDE, NOT OXYGEN, IS REAL REGULATOR OF BREATHING

This is the second of a series of articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein about gases and their effect on mankind.

Most people think that the oxygen they breathe is the important factor in regulating their respiration.

Dr. Yandell Henderson and Howard W. Haggard of the department of physiology in Yale University point out that oxygen is the fundamental controlling factor in the adjustment of breathing.

If a person is suddenly deprived of oxygen, he breathes more rapidly, but the oxygen reserve in the human body is small and if we were dependent on oxygen to regulate our breathing the rate and rhythm of respiration would be very uneven.

There are in the human being about five quarts of blood. The blood in the arteries contains about 19 per cent of oxygen and that in the veins about 15 per cent. The real regulator of breathing is not the oxygen breathed in, but the pressure of carbon dioxide that happens to be passing through the lungs. The carbon dioxide is the end product of breathing. The mass of carbon dioxide held in the body is large compared with the oxygen.

Every movement of the body or limbs results in the production of an increased amount of carbon dioxide and causes the absorption of an amount of oxygen which corresponds to the energy used. This carbon dioxide is carried by the blood to a place in the brain which controls the activities of the muscles of the chest and the diaphragm. Hence it controls the rate and rhythm of respiration.

To prove the pure oxygen, the experimenters caused men to breathe pure oxygen. The rate and the rhythm of respiration were not affected or but slightly decreased and a little more oxygen was taken up by the body. If, however, a small amount of carbon dioxide is added to the mixture, the volume of breathing is increased almost immediately, although the rate does not increase greatly.

Uses Rowboat Oil Field Found Upstream

AUSTIN, Aug. 27. (AP)—The part a rowboat played in the development of a prospective oil field in Irion county was to be related today to the state railroad commission by W. P. Rutledge and W. B. Burke of Meritson, who used a boat to reach the site of a proposed well when denied the use of a road leading to the location.

After obtaining a stream bed mineral permit from the land office, the drillers were enjoined by the Irion county court from traversing the land surrounding the well.

Mayor A. A. Glover of San Angelo and other citizens of the town were here today to protest the granting of a drilling permit for the well on the grounds the city's water supply might be endangered by oil production.

The sound of a bell which can be heard 45,200 feet through the water can be heard through the air only 456 feet.

Shining Talent

And she must blend them exquisitely, so the whole should be perfect. The delineation of a woman's life. A passionate woman, passionately seeking. Seeking the things of existence. The cheap, trumpery, lawdy things. Fame, and money, and thrills. Satisfaction unto satiety.

And—when she was sated—this woman, who had turned her back on love, would be lonely. And, in her desolation, she would cry through the prophet. "All is vanity and vexation of spirit."

For Molly meant, in her book, to show that the things of life are as nothing. And only the white-hot flame of love has power to comfort and to heal.

It would be a difficult thing to write. Difficult because it would be the baring of her own innermost existence. No longer should she keep silence to cloak her wounds. She would write her confession of failure, that all who would might read.

Fired with sudden determination, she began work with fervid enthusiasm. Until dawn, the keys of her little pink typewriter flew up and down beneath her fingers.

She would call her book "Ashes of Desire."

PRaises ORGATONE FOR GOOD IT DID

"I'm Glad To Endorse It So That Others May Know What Relieved Me," Says Lubbock Man

"I was just going down hill and kept getting weaker and my health was gradually leaving me," said Frank J. Null, of 415 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas, in a conversation with the Orgatone representative.

"I had suffered," he continued, "with stomach trouble and indigestion for four long years, until I was getting in such a bad condition I could hardly stand it. Everything I would eat hurt me and the pains in my stomach and chest were just awful. I also had intense pains that would run up and down my back, caused from the bad condition of my kidneys. At times the pains in my abdomen from indigestion would hurt me so I could hardly stand it. Every time I ate anything I would suffer hours after eating, and was tormented on my stomach until I could hardly get my breath. I certainly was in a terrible fix and just kept getting worse in spite of all I could do, until I began taking Orgatone.

"Orgatone is not like any other medicine I ever took. It seemed to soothe my stomach and give me an appetite in just a few days. I have just finished my second bottle and don't have any more gas or indigestion. I eat anything I want, breathe easy and sleep fine every night and get up in the morning ready for my day's work, willing and ready to enjoy the day. All of those tired, worn out, listless feelings have disappeared and I'm glad to endorse Orgatone, so that others may know what relieved me. For Orgatone has restored my health after everything else had failed. I can't ever say too much for Orgatone.

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store who are direct laboratory agents. Adv.

of Desire." And her heroine should be named Lalun. When Molly was quite a small girl, she had two favorite names. One was Lalun. And the other was Jale. She intended, in those days, to have twins, and named them Lalun and Jale. Jale is a Turkish name, and means Dewdrop. Molly never knew what Lalun meant, but it didn't make any difference. It was a beautiful name, and, since she was never to have twins now, she might as well use it somehow. It seemed more appropriate for the heroine of a tragic novel than Jale, because tragic heroines seldom suggest dewdrops. Lalun had an intriguing sound that might mean almost anything.

She had a hard time getting the first chapter started. It was different than writing plays. All you had to think of for a play was action. Action and dialogue.

But with a novel like "Ashes of Desire" one must be whimsical. Tender. Profound. Molly went to her book shelves, to see how other authors did. There was George Moore's "Sister Teresa," which was, also, the study of a woman's life.

Molly turned to the opening page:

"She was conscious of her indolence: within and without her there was a strange, lifeless calm, a strange inactivity in the air and in her mind. In the landscape and in her there seemed no before and no hereafter. But a glance inward revealed to her the ripple of some hidden anticipation moving under the sullen surface."

Molly loved introspective stuff. Lalun must be introspective. She wondered if it would be plagiarism, if she should begin, "Lalun was conscious of her own futility; within and without her there was emptiness..."

She considered a moment, and then began, swiftly, to type. Before she stopped, Lalun had become a living, breathing woman. A creature of fire and of promise. And, because she was beautiful, she was beloved, of course.

The man who loved her was six feet, one. He had dark hair, and eyes to catch. Laughing eyes. And a very strong, determined chin. His hair had a little wave in it, and his chin had a dimple.

Molly took the sheet out of the typewriter, to read what she had written about the man who was Lalun's lover.

"Good heavens!" she thought. "I've described Jack Wells!" ... And so she had. It was like a portrait.

Cotton Quiet, Stock Credit Tightens

Prices Range On Generally Higher Plane In Market

Opening Steady Tuesday At Advances Of From Ten To Fifteen Cents In Response To Liverpool

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. (AP)—Cotton prices were generally higher today, December contracts sold up from 18.76@18.83 and closed at 18.89, with the general market closing steady at new advances of 9 to 25 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 10 to 15 points in response to Liverpool, and a private report stating that the condition of the crop had declined to about 58 per cent of normal.

Reports of showers in the south-west encouraged selling and the market reacted several points. October contracts sold off from 13.35 to 13.45 while March reacted to 10.07 or back within a point or two yesterday's closing quotation.

Rain Show. The official weather reports showed rain at only a couple of stations in the interior of Texas with continued high temperatures.

October sold up to 18.90 and March 12.20, making net gains of 54 to 18 points. Closing prices were within a few points of the best on most positions. Some private reports of showers in Texas reached here during the afternoon and may have accounted for some of the realizing noted on the later seaboard.

Liverpool cables reported covering and local buying in that market.

Exports today, 5,861 making, 169,818 so far this season.

Port receipts, 27,404. U. S. port stocks, 575,528.

Reaction Feature Of Stock Market For Light Losses

Wave Of Selling Comes To Tuesday's Session After Unexpected Early Tightening Sets Signal

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER. Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, Aug. 27. (AP)—An unexpectedly early tightening of credit set the signal for a corrective reaction in the stock market today.

Banks called between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 in loans, presumably in preparation for the Labor Day holiday cash requirements.

All Grains Show Advance At Finish Of Market In Tuesday Session; Buyers Take Courage

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN. Associated Press Market Editor. CHICAGO, Aug. 27. (AP)—Wheat buyers took courage today as figures swung upward. All grains were up at the finish.

Wheat gained 3-4 to 1 1-4c for the day and corn 1-2 to 1 3-4c. Oats steaded up to 1-4 to 1-3c higher while hard and bellies weakened.

Market Bolstered. Estimate of 1,000,000 bushels sold for export in Monday's late day business bolstered the market today.

While Canadian spring wheat reports continue pessimistic, the rate at which the new crop is moving to market is threatening to tax storage capacity earlier than usual.

The visible supply at Canadian points decreased only 400,000 bushels, and today's receipts at Winnipeg included 418 cars of new wheat.

A few minutes later the pair met at the corner of Broadway and Avenue G. Davis asked me why I had it in for him.

He told me that I had better leave town, said Wise, and also told me that he'd kill me if I didn't. I told him I wouldn't leave town.

When I said that he went to his truck parked against the curb south of the building.

Wise continued, "I picked up his gun which was in the back of the seat. I was standing about 10 feet from the truck. He shot at me through the windshield, the shot going wild.

I ran up the street west and he followed. I knew that I didn't have a chance in the open, so I turned back and rushed upon him. We scuffled. He was trying to point the gun at my stomach, but I had the mouth of the pistol at a glance away from my body when he fired.

The two engaged in a fist fight last fall, while Wise and his wife were living together. Davis admitted after charging that the wounded man had been cruel to his sister.

Following separation about three months ago, Wise had tried several times to see his one-year-old daughter, Billie Joyce, he said.

Davis, my wife's father, had refused to allow me to see her," Wise claimed.

At 3:14 a. m. Eastern standard time the great air vessel left Los Angeles. During the day she glided swiftly along above Arizona and New Mexico. Just as the border of Texas almost was in sight, head winds began an assault on the Graf and her commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, radioed that he was checking his original plan to fly over the Texas Panhandle and that after passing El Paso would head directly for Fort Worth.

El Paso Pays Homage. If the unfavorable air currents affected the Zeppelin adversely there was no indication of it as she appeared over El Paso. A convoy of civilian planes darted out to greet her and followed, some of them within 100 feet, as she struck out to the east. A great roar from the spectators supplemented the shrieks of whistles, sirens and automobile horns and she sped away, the air-planes darting about her smooth sides.

Bandits' Confessions Clear $238,000 Lamar, Colorado Bank Robber Hunt

By NEA Service.
Lamar, Col., Aug. 27.—From the lips of three of the men who did it, has come the "inside story" of the worst crime in the history of the modern west—the $238,000 holdup of the First National bank of Lamar on May 23, 1928, featured by the murder of four persons.

Three of the men arrested by Sheriff L. E. Alderman and Police Chief Hugh D. Harper of Colorado Springs in the course of a sensational 15-month manhunt, have confessed. They are Ralph Fieagle, of Garden City, Kan., captured by Sheriff Alderman in Illinois; George J. Abshier, Colorado oil drifter and gambler, and Herbert L. Royston, a trusted engineer in a large cement plant at San Andrea, Cal.

$7,000 Reward for "Killer."
With a reward of $7,000 on his head, the fourth man, Jake Fieagle—a brother of Ralph—now being hunted throughout the civilized world as the actual killer, with the Colorado State Bankers' association determined to effect his capture, dead or alive.

After sitting sullenly in his cell for weeks, Ralph Fieagle confessed and implicated Abshier and Royston, who were quickly captured. Fieagle broke down after officers had threatened to take an X-ray picture of an old wound in his face to prove it was made by a bullet. Abshier and Royston, enraged by the "double crossed" then "told all."

According to their stories, it was Jake Fieagle who shot and killed A. N. Parrish, aged bank president, and his son, John Parrish, after the elder Parrish had shot Royston in the mouth while resisting the abduction of a Kesinger bank employee whom they kidnaped, the bandits fled to Fieagle's ranch near Garden City, Kan., using Kesinger as a human shield when Sheriff Alderman fired on them in hot pursuit.

Doctor Celdy Murdered.
Then Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Dighton, Kan., was decoyed to the ranch by Jake Fieagle to treat Royston's terrible wound in the mouth. This completed, Abshier says, Jake Fieagle shot and killed the doctor to silence him. The body was thrown into a canyon, and the doctor's auto driven over behind it.

Meanwhile, Kesinger was kept bound and gagged in a shack on the ranch. For two days, Abshier says, Jake and Ralph Fieagle argued over who was to kill Kesinger. Finally, they both entered the shack together and a shot was heard. Then they took Kesinger's body several miles away and dumped it beside the road.

Royston, Herbert L. Royston; below, George J. Abshier.

The bandits separated, but a fingerprint left on Dr. Wineinger's auto by Jake Fieagle when he decoyed the doctor to the ranch proved the clue that led to their undoing. It was by this means that Sheriff Alderman traced the gang.

Abshier says that only $25,000 of the loot was in cash and Liberty bonds, the rest being in non-negotiable paper. The Fieagles, he said, took $9,000 each, leaving only a little more than $9,000 to be divided between Abshier and Royston. Abshier and Royston says he paid out almost all his share to have his wounded leg treated at St. Paul, where he fled.

The three probably will go to trial in Lamar on September 17. Officers say they realize that they probably will be hanged for the crime.

Relief To Grain Growers Sought

Farm Leaders Seek To Iron Out Difficulties And To Perfect Organization As Aid To Grain Farmers

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Farm leaders who had reached a virtual impasse over plans to relieve the farmer sought today to iron out differences and perfect an organization which would bring financial relief to grain growers this season.

At yesterday's session, the committee of 16 appointed to organize the Farmers' National Grain Corporation were unable to agree upon one of two plans submitted. One plan, suggested by the Federal Farm Board, would establish a national wide corporation in which identities of the various grain cooperative organizations would be merged.

Objections Made.
Cooperatives, it is understood, have objected to losing their identities and urge formation of a holding corporation with the already organized marketing groups buying the stock in their own names.

Several leaders have urged immediate acceptance of the farm board's plan to assure a Federal loan to help market this year's crops without loss to the growers. The loan, authorized for $20,000,000, cannot be made. It was pointed out, until some definite organization has been achieved.

COMMISSION APPROVED Group To Study Transfer Of Public Lands

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—President Hoover said today Governor Baldrige of Idaho, chairman of the government conservation conference at Salt Lake City, had wired him the conference approved the appointment of a commission to study transfer of public lands to the states.

Such a commission, the president added, would be appointed as quickly as possible.

Baldrige's telegram was in answer to the president's letter to the conference outlining plans for the states to handle public lands.

Mr. Hoover said the proposal not only would simplify the relationship between the federal government and the states but also was a highly important conservation measure.
